5 And as he lay and ſlept under a juniper-tree, behold, then an angel touched him, and ſaid unto him, Ariſe and eat.

6 And he looked, and behold, there was a cake baken on the coals, and a cruſe of water at his head; and he did eat and drink, and laid him down again.

7 And the angel of the Lord came again the ſecond time, and touched him, and ſaid. Ariſe and eat; becauſe the journey is too great for thee.

8 And he aroſe, and did eat and drink, and went in the ſtrength of that meat forty days and forty nights, unto Horeb the mount of God.

9 ¶ And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there. And behold, the word of the Lord came to him, and he ſaid unto him, What doeſt thou here, Elijah?

10 And he ſaid, I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hoſts: for the children of Iſrael have forſaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and ſlain thy prophets with the ſword; and I, even I only, am left; and they ſeek my life, to take it away.

11 And he ſaid, Go forth, and ſtand upon the mount before the Lord. And behold, the Lord paſſed by, and a great and ſtrong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake:

12 And after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire; and after the fire a ſtill ſmall voice.

13 And it was ſo, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out, and ſtood in the entering in of the cave. And behold, there came a voice unto him, and ſaid, What doeſt thou here, Elijah?

14 And he ſaid, I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hoſts: becauſe the children of Iſrael have forſaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and ſlain thy prophets with the ſword; and I, even I only, am left; and they ſeek my life, to take it away.

15 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Go return on thy way to the wilderneſs of Damaſcus: and when thou comeſt, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria;

16 And Jehu, the ſon of Nimſhi, ſhalt thou anoint to be king over Iſrael, and Eliſha, the ſon of Shaphat, of Abel-meholah, ſhalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room.

17 And it ſhall come to paſs, that him that eſcapeth the ſword of Hazael ſhall Jehu ſlay: and him that eſcapeth from the ſword of Jehu ſhall Eliſha ſlay.

18 Yet I have left me ſeven thouſand in Iſrael, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kiſſed him.

19 ¶ So he departed thence, and found Eliſha the ſon of Shaphat, who was ploughing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelfth; and Elijah paſſed by him, and caſt his mantle upon him.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah, and ſaid, Let me, I pray thee, kiſs my father and my mother, and then I will follow thee. And he ſaid unto him, Go back again: for what have I done to thee?

21 And he returned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen, and ſlew them, and boiled their fleſh with the inſtruments of the oxen, and gave unto the people, and they did eat. Then he aroſe and went after Elijah, and miniſtered unto him.

CHAP. XX.

1 Ben-hadad beſiegeth Samaria. 13 The Syrians are ſlain. 31 Ahab diſmiſſeth Ben-hadad. 42 A prophet reproveth him.

AND Ben-hadad the king of Syria gathered all his hoſt together; and there were thirty and two kings with him, and horſes and chariots: and he went up and beſieged Samaria, and warred againſt it.

2 And he ſent meſſengers to Ahab king of Iſrael into the city, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Ben-hadad,

3 Thy ſilver and thy gold is mine; thy wives alſo and thy children, even the goodlieſt are mine.

4 And the king of Iſrael anſwered and ſaid, My lord, O king, according to thy ſaying, I am thine, and all that I have.

5 And the meſſengers came again, and ſaid, Thus ſpeaketh Ben-hadad, ſaying, although I have ſent unto thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt deliver me thy ſilver, and thy gold, and thy wives and thy children;

6 Yet I will ſend my ſervants unto thee to-morrow about this time, and they ſhall ſearch thine houſe, and the houſes of thy ſervants: and it ſhall be that whatſoever is pleaſant in thine eyes they ſhall put it in their hand, and take it away.

7 Then the king of Iſrael called all the elders of the land, and ſaid, Mark, I pray you, and ſee, how this man ſeeketh miſchief: for he ſent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my ſilver, and for my gold: and I denied him not.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

2 Then Jezebel ſent a meſſage unto Elijah, &c.) This was certainly the effect of her blind rage, and not of prudence; for the latter would have adviſed her to conceal her deſigns till they were ripe for execution; whereas, by ſending him word, ſhe gave him notice of his danger, and admoniſhed him to eſcape by flight. Perhaps ſhe was determined to make him a public example; and his having the courage to come into the very city where ſhe was, gave her reaſon to think he would not fly from her threatnings.

17 Him that eſcapeth the ſword of Hazael ſhall Jehu ſlay: and him that eſcapeth the ſword of Jehu ſhall Elijah ſlay.) That is, God has, in his providence, appointed three perſons to puniſh the Iſraelites, according to their deſerts; one or other of which ſhall infallibly execute his judgments upon them. But it may be aſked, how the prophet Eliſha can be ſaid to ſlay, being by profeſſion a pacific man, and never engaged in war? But when we conſider the two and forty children which he deſtroyed, beſides others whom, upon the like occaſion, he might deſtroy; the ſore famine, which, by God's appointment, he ſent upon the Iſraelites, and the many ſevere comminations he denunced againſt them, and were fulfilled; we ſhall find ſufficient reaſon to juſtify the expreſſion.

19 Caſt his mantle upon him.) The mantle was the proper habit of prophets, therefore Elijah's caſting it upon him was the ceremony here uſed for his inauguration.

8 And all the elders and all the people ſaid unto him, Hearken not unto him, nor conſent.

9 Wherefore he ſaid unto the meſſengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou didſt ſend for to thy ſervant at the firſt, I will do: but this thing I may not do. And the meſſengers departed, and brought him word again.

10 And Ben-hadad ſent unto him, and ſaid, The gods do ſo unto me, and more alſo, if the duſt of Samaria ſhall ſuffice for handfuls for all the people that follow me.

11 And the king of Iſrael anſwered and ſaid Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his harneſs boaſt himſelf, as he that putteth it off.

12 And it came to paſs when Ben-hadad heard this meſſage, as he was drinking, he and the kings in the pavilions; that he ſaid unto his ſervants, Set yourſelves in array. And they ſet themſelves in array againſt the city.

13 ¶ And behold there came a prophet unto Ahab king of Iſrael, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Haſt thou ſeen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day; and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

14 And Ahab ſaid, By whom? and he ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even by the young men of the princes of the provinces. Then he ſaid, Who ſhall order the battle? and he anſwered, Thou.

15 Then he numbered the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty two: and after them he numbered all the people, even all the children of Iſrael, being ſeven thouſand.

16 And they went out at noon. But Ben-hadad was drinking himſelf drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him.

17 And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out firſt, and Ben-hadad ſent out, and they told him, ſaying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he ſaid, Whether they be come out for peace take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive.

19 So theſe young men of the princes of the provinces came out of the city, and the army which followed them.

20 And they ſlew every one his man: and the Syrians fled, and Iſrael purſued them: and Ben-hadad the king of Syria eſcaped on an horſe with the horſemen.

21 And the king of Iſrael went out, and ſmote the horſes and chariots, and ſlew the Syrians with a great ſlaughter.

22 And the prophet came to the king of Iſrael, and ſaid unto him, Go, ſtrengthen thyſelf, and mark and ſee what thou doeſt: for at the return of the year the king of Syria will come up againſt thee.

23 And the ſervants of the king of Syria ſaid unto him, Their gods are gods of the hills; therefore they were ſtronger than we: but let us fight againſt them in the plain, and ſurely we ſhall be ſtronger than they.

24 And do this thing; take the kings away, every man out of his place, and put captains in their rooms;

25 And number thee an army, like the army which thou haſt loſt, horſe for horſe, and chariot for chariot: and we will fight againſt them in the plain, and ſurely we ſhall be ſtronger than they. And he hearkened unto their voice, and did ſo.

26 And it came to paſs at the return of the year, that Ben-hadad numbered the Syrians, and went up to Aphek, to fight againſt Iſrael.

27 And the children of Iſrael were numbered; and were all preſent, and went againſt them: and the children of Iſrael pitched before them like two little flocks of kids: but the Syrians filled the country.

28 And there came a man of God, and ſpake unto the king of Iſrael, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe the Syrians have ſaid, The Lord is God of the hills, but he is not God of the valleys, therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

29 And they pitched one over againſt the other ſeven days. And ſo it was, that in the ſeventh day the battle was joined: and the children of Iſrael ſlew of the Syrians an hundred thouſand footmen in one day.

30 But the reſt fled to Aphek into the city; and there a wall fell upon twenty and ſeven thouſand of the men that were left; and Ben-hadad fled, and came into the city, into an inner chamber.

31 ¶ And his ſervants ſaid unto him, Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the houſe of Iſrael are merciful kings: let us, I pray thee, put ſackcloth on our loins, and ropes upon our heads, and go out to the king of Iſrael: peradventure he will ſave thy life.

32 So they girded ſackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Iſrael, and ſaid, Thy ſervant Ben-hadad ſaith, I pray thee, let me live. And he ſaid, Is he yet alive? he is my brother.

33 Now the men did diligently obſerve whether any thing would come from him, and did haſtily catch it: and they ſaid, Thy brother Ben-hadad. Then he ſaid, Go ye, bring him. Then Ben-hadad came forth to him: and he cauſed him to come up into the chariot.

34 And Ben-hadad ſaid unto him, The cities which my father took from thy father, I will reſtore: and thou ſhalt make ſtreets for thee in Damaſcus, as my father made in Samaria. Then ſaid Ahab, I will ſend thee away with this covenant. So he made a covenant with him, and ſent him away.

35 ¶ And a certain man of the ſons of the prophets ſaid unto his neighbour in the word of the Lord, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man refuſed to ſmite him.

36 Then ſaid he unto him, Becauſe thou haſt not obeyed the voice of the Lord, behold, as ſoon as thou

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

10 The gods do ſo to me and more alſo, &c.) He wiſhes he may periſh, if he did not bring ſuch an army againſt the king of Iſrael, that if every ſoldier in it ſhould take a handful of his country, nothing of it would be left remaining.

23 Their gods are gods of the hills, &c.) According to the doctrine of the pagan nations, there was a great variety of gods, each of which had their particular charge and juriſdiction: ſome preſided over whole countries, whilſt others had only particular places under their care and government; ſome were gods of woods, ſome of rivers, and others of mountains. And probably the Syrians imagined that the God of Iſrael was a god of the mountains, becauſe they ſaw that the land of Canaan was a mountainous country, and that the Iſraelites delighted to worſhip in high places. They might alſo have heard their law was given on the top of a mountain; they knew that their celebrated temple ſtood on the ſummit of a mountain, and that Samaria was alſo built on the top of a hill, near which they received ſo ſignal a defeat.

32 Girded ſackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads.) This was the dreſs of humble ſupplicants in theſe times: the ſackcloth on their loins was a token of great ſorrow for what they had done; and the ropes on their heads an indication that they ſubmitted to whatever puniſhment Ahab ſhould think proper to lay upon them.

art departed from me, a lion ſhall ſlay thee. And as ſoon as he was departed from him, a lion found him, and ſlew him.

37 Then he found another man, and ſaid, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man ſmote him, ſo that in ſmiting he wounded him.

38 So the prophet departed and waited for the king by the way, and diſguiſed himſelf with aſhes upon his face.

39 And as the king paſſed by, he cried unto the king: and he ſaid, Thy ſervant went out into the midſt of the battle, and behold, a man turned aſide, and brought a man unto me, and ſaid, Keep this man: if by any means he be miſſing, then ſhall thy life be for his life, or elſe thou ſhalt pay a talent of ſilver.

40 And as thy ſervant was buſy here and there, he was gone. And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto him, So ſhall thy judgment be; thyſelf haſt decided it.

41 And he haſted and took the aſhes away from his face; and the king of Iſrael diſcerned him that he was of the prophets:

42 And he ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe thou haſt let go out of thy hand a man whom I appointed to utter deſtruction, therefore thy life ſhall go for his life, and thy people for his people.

43 And the king of Iſrael went to his houſe heavy and diſpleaſed, and came to Samaria.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ahab denied Naboth's vineyard. 5 Jezebel cauſeth Naboth to be condemned. 17 Elijah denounceth judgments againſt Ahab and Jezebel.

AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

2 And Ahab ſpake unto Naboth, ſaying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs, becauſe it is near unto my houſe: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it; or if it ſeem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.

3 And Naboth ſaid to Ahab, The Lord forbid it me, that I ſhould give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.

4 And Ahab came into his houſe heavy and diſpleaſed, becauſe of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had ſpoken to him; for he had ſaid, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers: and he laid him down upon his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no bread.

5 ¶ But Jezebel his wife came to him, and ſaid unto him, Why is thy ſpirit ſo ſad, that thou eateſt no bread?

6 And he ſaid unto her, Becauſe I ſpake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and ſaid unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money; or elſe, if it pleaſe thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: and he anſwered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 And Jezebel his wife ſaid unto him, Doſt thou now govern the kingdom of Iſrael? Ariſe, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry; I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

8 So ſhe wrote letters in Ahab's name, and ſealed them with his ſeal, and ſent the letters unto the elders, and to the nobles, that were in his city dwelling with Naboth.

9 And ſhe wrote in the letters, ſaying, Proclaim a faſt, and ſet Naboth on high among the people;

10 And ſet two men, ſons of Belial, before him, to bear witneſs againſt him, ſaying, Thou didſt blaſpheme God and the king: and then carry him out, and ſtone him, that he may die.

11 And the men of his city, even the elders and the nobles, who were the inhabitants in his city, did as Jezebel had ſent unto them, and as it was written in the letters which ſhe had ſent unto them:

12 They proclaimed a faſt, and ſet Naboth on high among the people.

13 And there came in two men, children of Belial, and ſat before him: and the men of Belial witneſſed againſt him, even againſt Naboth, in the preſence of the people, ſaying, Naboth did blaſpheme God and the king. Then they carried him forth out of the city, and ſtoned him with ſtones, that he died.

14 Then they ſent to Jezebel, ſaying, Naboth is ſtoned, and is dead.

15 And it came paſs when Jezebel heard that Naboth was ſtoned, and was dead, that Jezebel ſaid to Ahab, Ariſe, take poſſeſſion of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refuſed to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.

16 And it came to paſs when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab roſe up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take poſſeſſion of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tiſhbite, ſaying,

18 Ariſe, go down to meet Ahab king of Iſrael, which is in Samaria: behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to poſſeſs it.

19 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Haſt thou killed, and alſo taken poſſeſſion? And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth ſhall dogs lick thy blood, even thine.

42 Thy life ſhall go for his life, and thy people for his people.) If it ſhould be aſked, in what Ahab's great offence conſiſted, that God threatens to puniſh him ſo ſeverely? It may be anſwered, that it lay in ſuffering ſo horrid a blaſphemer as Ben-hadad was, to go unpuniſhed, which was contrary to an expreſs law, Lev. xxiv. 16. If it ſhould be urged that this was nothing to Ben-hadad, ſince the law concerned the Iſraelites only, the reply is, that this law extended not to thoſe only that were born in the land, but as it is commonly expreſſed, to ſtrangers alſo that were among them, and in their power, as Ben-hadad certainly was. God had delivered him into Ahab's hand for his blaſphemy, as he had promiſed, ver. 28, and therefore this act of Providence, compared with the law, plainly intimated, that he was appointed by God for deſtruction; but Ahab was ſo far from puniſhing him as he deſerved, that he treated him like a friend and a brother, diſmiſſed him upon eaſy terms, and takes his bare word for the performance of the covenant, without the leaſt regard to the reparation of God's honour.

COMMENTARY ON Chap. XXI.

3 The Lord forbid it me, that I ſhould give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.) It is natural for all men to value the ancient poſſeſſions of their family. Beſides, the law of Moſes prohibited the alienation of lands, unleſs in caſe of extreme poverty, in which caſe it might be ſold till the jubilee, when it was to revert again to the ſeller, or his poſterity. But as Naboth had no occaſion to ſell his vineyard, ſo he conſidered with himſelf, that if he ſhould part with it purely to pleaſe the king, it would be annexed to the palace, and therefore neither he nor his children would ever be able to recover it; ſo that by this act, he ſhould both offend God, and injure his poſterity, which he, being a pious and religious man, would not venture to do.

9 Set Naboth on high, &c.) That is, Bring him to his trial, in which caſe the priſoner was ſet on high, to be eaſily ſeen by the judges and court.

19 Thus ſaith the Lord, in the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, ſhall dogs lick thy blood, even thine.) This prophecy was at firſt doubtleſs intended to be literally fulfilled, but upon Ahab's repentance, the puniſhment was transferred from him to his ſon Jehoram, in whom it was actually accompliſhed; for his dead body was caſt into the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite, for the dogs to devour, 2 Kings ix. 25. But ſince Ahab's blood was licked by dogs, not at Jezreel, but at Samaria; it ſeems neceſſary that

20 And

20 And Ahab ſaid to Elijah, Haſt thou found me, O mine enemy? and he anſwered, I have found thee. Becauſe thou haſt ſold thyſelf to work evil in the ſight of the Lord, 21 Behold, I will bring evil upon thee, and will take away thy poſterity, and will cut off from Ahab him that piſſeth againſt the wall, and him that is ſhut up and left in Iſrael.

22 And will make thine houſe like the houſe of Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, and like the houſe of Baaſha, the ſon of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou haſt provoked me to anger, and made Iſrael to ſin.

23 And of Jezebel alſo ſpake the Lord, ſaying, The dogs ſhall eat Jezebel by the wall of Jezreel.

24 Him that dieth of Ahab in the city the dogs ſhall eat; and him that dieth in the field ſhall the fowls of the air eat.

25 But there was none like unto Ahab, which did ſell himſelf to work wickedneſs in the ſight of the Lord, whom Jezebel his wife ſtirred up.

26 And he did very abominably in following idols, according to all things as did the Amorites, whom the Lord caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

27 And it came to paſs when Ahab heard thoſe words, that he rent his clothes, and put ſackcloth upon his fleſh, and faſted, and lay in ſackcloth, and went ſoftly.

28 And the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tiſhbite, ſaying,

29 Seeſt thou how Ahab humbleth himſelf before me? becauſe he humbleth himſelf before me, I will not bring the evil in his days: but in his ſon's days will I bring the evil upon his houſe.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahab ſeduced by falſe prophets, is ſlain at Ramoth-gilead. 37 The dogs lick up his blood. 41 Jehoſhaphat's good reign, 45 and acts. 51 Ahaziah's evil reign.

AND they continued three years without war between Syria and Iſrael.

2 And it came to paſs in the third year, that Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Iſrael.

3 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto his ſervants, Know ye that Ramoth in Gilead is ours, and we be ſtill, and take it not out of the hand of the king of Syria?

4 And he ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battle to Ramoth-gilead? and Jehoſhaphat ſaid to the king of Iſrael, I am as thou art, my people as thy people, my horſes as thy horſes.

5 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid to the king of Iſrael, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord to-day.

6 Then the king of Iſrael gathered the prophets together about four hundred men, and ſaid unto them, Shall I go againſt Ramoth-gilead to battle, or ſhall I forbear? and they ſaid, Go up: for the Lord ſhall deliver it into the hand of the king.

7 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord beſides, that we might enquire of him?

8 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, There is yet one man, Micaiah, the ſon of Imlah, by whom we may enquire of the Lord: but I hate him, for he doth not propheſy good concerning me, but evil. And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Let not the king ſay ſo.

9 Then the king of Iſrael called an officer, and ſaid, Haſten hither Micaiah, the ſon of Imlah.

10 And the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, ſat each on his throne, having put on their robes in a void place, in the entrance of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets propheſied before them.

11 And Zedekiah, the ſon of Chenaanah, made him horns of iron: and he ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, With theſe ſhalt thou puſh the Syrians, until thou have conſumed them.

12 And all the prophets propheſied ſo, ſaying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead and proſper: for the Lord ſhall deliver it into the king's hand.

13 And the meſſenger that was gone to call Micaiah ſpake unto him, ſaying, Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good unto the king with one mouth: let thy word, I pray thee, be like the word of one of them, and ſpeak that which is good.

14 And Micaiah ſaid, As the Lord liveth, what the Lord ſaith unto me, that will I ſpeak.

15 ¶ So he came to the king. And the king ſaid unto him, Micaiah, ſhall we go againſt Ramoth-gilead to battle, or ſhall we forbear? And he anſwered him, Go, and proſper: for the Lord ſhall deliver it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king ſaid unto him, how many times ſhall I adjure thee that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the Lord?

17 And he ſaid, I ſaw all Iſrael ſcattered upon the hills, as ſheep that have not a ſhepherd: and the Lord ſaid, Theſe have no maſter; let them return every man to his houſe in peace.

18 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would propheſy no good concerning me, but evil?

19 And he ſaid, Hear thou, therefore, the word of the Lord: I ſaw the Lord ſitting on his throne, and all the hoſt of heaven ſtanding by him, on his right hand and on his left.

20 And the Lord ſaid, Who ſhall perſuade Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? and one ſaid on this manner, and another ſaid on that manner.

21 And there came forth a ſpirit, and ſtood before the Lord, and ſaid, I will perſuade him.

22 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Wherewith? And he ſaid, I will go forth and I will be a lying ſpirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt perſuade him, and prevail alſo: go forth and do ſo.

23 Now therefore, behold, the Lord hath put a lying ſpirit in the mouth of all theſe thy prophets, and the Lord hath ſpoken evil concerning thee.

we ſhould underſtand the Hebrew word, which we render, in the place where, not as denoting the place but the manner in which the thing was done; and then the ſenſe of the paſſage will be; In the ſame manner as dogs licked the blood of Naboth, even ſo ſhall they lick thy blood, even thine.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

15 Go, and proſper; for the Lord ſhall deliver it into the hand of the king.) This anſwer to Ahab's queſtion was doubtleſs ſpoken ironically, and in mockery to the promiſes which the other prophets made him. Accordingly, we may obſerve by Ahab's reply, that he ſuſpected Micaiah's ſincerity, and either by his geſture, or manner of ſpeaking, gathered, that his meaning was to traduce theſe falſe prophets. The true purport therefore of Micaiah's anſwer is this--- "Since thou art more deſirous of pleaſing thyſelf, "than of knowing the truth, purſue the advice of thy prophets, "expect the ſucceſs they promiſe thee, and prove the truth of "their predictions by dear bought experience."

24 But Zedekiah the ſon of Chenaanah, went near, and ſmote Micaiah on the cheek, and ſaid, Which way went the Spirit of the Lord from me to ſpeak unto thee?

25 And Micaiah ſaid, Behold, thou ſhalt ſee in that day, when thou ſhalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyſelf.

26 And the king of Iſrael ſaid, Take Micaiah, and carry him back unto Amon the governor of the city, and to Joaſh the king's ſon;

27 And ſay, Thus ſaith the king, put this fellow in the priſon, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, until I come in peace.

28 And Micaiah ſaid, If thou return at all in peace, the Lord hath not ſpoken by me. And he ſaid, Hearken, O people, every one of you.

29 So the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, went up to Ramoth-gilead.

30 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, I will diſguiſe myſelf, and enter into the battle, but put thou on thy robes. And the king of Iſrael diſguiſed himſelf, and went into the battle.

31 But the king of Syria commanded his thirty and two captains, that had rule over his chariots, ſaying, Fight neither with ſmall nor great, ſave only with the king of Iſrael.

32 And it came to paſs when the captains of the chariots ſaw Jehoſhaphat, that they ſaid, Surely it is the king of Iſrael. And they turned aſide to fight againſt him: and Jehoſhaphat cried out.

33 And it came to paſs, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Iſrael, that they turned back from purſuing him.

34 And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and ſmote the king of Iſrael between the joints of the harneſs: wherefore he ſaid unto the driver of his chariot, Turn thine hand, and carry me out of the hoſt; for I am wounded.

35 And the battle increaſed that day; and the king was ſtayed up in his chariot againſt the Syrians, and died at even; and the blood ran out of the wound into the midſt of the chariot.

36 And there went a proclamation throughout the hoſt, about the going down of the ſun, ſaying, Every man to his city, and every man to his own country.

37 ¶ So the king died, and was brought to Samaria; and they buried the king in Samaria.

38 And one waſhed the chariot in the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood, (and they waſhed his armour) according unto the word of the Lord which he ſpake.

39 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory houſe which he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

40 So Ahab ſlept with his fathers; and Ahaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

41 ¶ And Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Aſa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Iſrael.

42 Jehoſhaphat was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shiſhi.

43 And he walked in all the ways of Aſa his father, he turned not aſide from it, doing that which was right in the eyes of the Lord: nevertheleſs the high places were not taken away; for the people offered and burned incenſe yet in the high places.

44 And Jehoſhaphat made peace with the king of Iſrael.

45 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoſhaphat, and his might that he ſhewed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

46 And the remnant of the ſodomites which remained in the days of his father Aſa, he took out of the land.

47 There was then no king in Edom: a deputy was king.

48 Jehoſhaphat made ſhips of Tharſhiſh to go to Ophir for gold; but they went not; for the ſhips were broken at Ezion-geber.

49 Then ſaid Ahaziah the ſon of Ahab unto Jehoſhaphat, Let my ſervants go with thy ſervants in the ſhips: but Jehoſhaphat would not.

50 And Jehoſhaphat ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father; and Jehoram his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

51 ¶ Ahaziah the ſon of Ahab began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria the ſeventeenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah, and reigned two years over Iſrael.

52 And he did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin:

53 For he ſerved Baal, and worſhipped him, and provoked to anger the Lord God of Iſrael, according to all that his father had done.

25 Behold thou ſhalt ſee in that day, when thou ſhalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyſelf.) This he had ſoon reaſon to do, as it appeared by the event that he was a falſe prophet; Ahab being ſlain by the Syrians at Ramoth-gilead, as the prophet Micaiah had foretold.

31 Fight neither with ſmall nor great, ſave only with the king of Iſrael.) This order was given by Ben-hadad, either out of policy, as ſuppoſing it the ſhorteſt way to put an end to the war, or with deſign to make him priſoner, in order to wipe out the ſtain of his own captivity, and recover the honour and advantage he had loſt.

38 The dogs licked up his blood.) That is, the dogs licked up the blood mixed with water, wherewith his chariot and armour was waſhed. Thus the prophecy of Elijah was partly fulfilled, even in the common acceptation.

48 Jehoſhaphat made ſhips of Tharſhiſh to go to Ophir for gold.) That is, he built ſhips after the model of thoſe which traded to Tharſhiſh.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE K I N G S:

COMMONLY CALLED,

The Fourth Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The ſecond Book of the Kings is a continuation of the firſt Book, and contains a relation of the memorable actions of ſixteen kings of Judah, and twelve of Iſrael; and the period of both kingdoms, by carrying the ten tribes captive into Aſſyria by Salmanaſſer, and the other two into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar.

CHAP. I.

1 Moab rebelleth. 2 Ahaziah, ſending to Baal-zebub, hath his judgment by Elijah. 5 Elijah twice bringeth fire from heaven on Ahaziah's meſſengers. 17 Jehoram ſucceedeth Ahaziah.

THEN Moab rebelled againſt Iſrael, after the death of Ahab.

2 ¶ And Ahaziah fell down through a latteſs in his upper chamber that was in Samaria, and was ſick: and he ſent meſſengers, and ſaid unto them, Go, enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, whether I ſhall recover of this diſeaſe.

3 But the angel of the Lord ſaid to Elijah the Tiſhbite, Ariſe, go up to meet the meſſengers of the king of Samaria, and ſay unto them, Is it not becauſe there is not a God in Iſrael, that ye go to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Now therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Thou ſhalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die. And Elijah departed.

5 And when the meſſengers turned back unto him, he ſaid unto them, Why are ye now turned back?

6 And they ſaid unto him, There came a man up to meet us, and ſaid unto us, Go, turn again unto the king that ſent you, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Is it not becauſe there is not a God in Iſrael, that thou ſendeſt to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? therefore thou ſhalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

7 And he ſaid unto them, What manner of man was he which came up to meet you, and told you theſe words?

8 And they anſwered him, He was hairy an man, and girded with a girdle of leather about his loins. And he ſaid, It is Elijah the Tiſhbite.

9 ¶ Then the king ſent unto him a captain of fifty with his fifty: and he went up to him (and behold, he ſat on the top of an hill) and he ſpake unto him, Thou man of God, the king hath ſaid, Come down.

10 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid to the captain of fifty, If I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty. And there came down fire from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

11 Again alſo he ſent unto him another captain of fifty with his fifty: and he anſwered and ſaid unto him, O man of God, thus hath the king ſaid, Come down quickly.

12 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid unto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty. And the fire of God came down from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

13 And he ſent again a captain of the third fifty with his fifty: and the third captain of fifty went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah, and beſought him, and ſaid unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life, and the life of theſe fifty thy ſervants, be precious in thy ſight.

14 Behold, there came fire down from heaven, and burnt up the two captains of the former fifties with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy ſight.

15 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Elijah, Go down with him; be not afraid of him. And he aroſe, and went down with him unto the king.

16 And he ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Foraſmuch as thou haſt ſent meſſengers to enquire of

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

4 Thou ſhalt not come down from thy bed.) At the end of each chamber in theſe ancient buildings, there was a little gallery raiſed three, four, or five feet above the floor, with a baluſtrade in the front of it, with a few ſteps likewiſe leading up to it: here they placed their beds; a ſituation frequently alluded to in the ſcriptures.

8 He was an hairy man.) Either the hair of his head and beard was long, or his habit was made of Skins with the hair on, as the ancient heroes were cloathed, particularly the prophets, who wandered about in ſheep-ſkins, and goat-ſkins, &c.

Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, (is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael to enquire of his word?) therefore thou ſhalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

17 ¶ So he died, according to the word of the Lord, which Elijah had ſpoken: and Jehoram reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah; becauſe he had no ſon.

18 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

CHAP. II.

1 Elijah divideth Jordan, and granting Eliſha his requeſt, is taken up. 12 Eliſha divideth Jordan: 19 he healeth the waters. 23 Children mocking Eliſha are deſtroyed.

AND it came to paſs when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Eliſha from Gilgal.

2 And Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, Tarry here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath ſent me to Beth-el. And Eliſha ſaid unto him, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Beth-el.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Beth-el came forth to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the Lord will take away thy maſter from thy head to-day? and he ſaid, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

4 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Eliſha tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath ſent me to Jericho. And he ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the Lord will take away thy maſter from thy head to-day? and he anſwered, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

6 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Tarry, I pray thee here; for the Lord hath ſent me to Jordan. And he ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.

7 And fifty men of the ſons of the prophets went, and ſtood to view afar off: and they two ſtood by Jordan.

8 And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and ſmote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, ſo that they two went over on dry ground.

9 And it came to paſs when they were gone over, that Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, Aſk what I ſhall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Eliſha ſaid, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy ſpirit be upon me.

10 And he ſaid, Thou haſt aſked a hard thing: nevertheleſs, if thou ſee me when I am taken from thee, it ſhall be ſo unto thee; but if not, it ſhall not be ſo.

11 And it came to paſs as they ſtill went on, and talked, that behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horſes of fire, and parted them both aſunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.

12 ¶ And Eliſha ſaw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof. And he ſaw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 He took up alſo the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back and ſtood by the bank of Jordan;

14 And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and ſmote the waters, and ſaid, Where is the Lord God of Elijah? and when he alſo had ſmitten the waters, they parted hither and thither: and Eliſha went over.

15 And when the ſons of the prophets which were to view at Jericho ſaw him, they ſaid, The ſpirit of Elijah doth reſt on Eliſha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themſelves to the ground before him.

16 And they ſaid unto him, Behold now, there be

17 And Jehoram reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah.) It has been aſked how could Jehoram, the brother of Ahaziah, begin his reign in Iſrael in the ſecond year of Jehoram, the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, when we read ſoon after that he began his reign over Iſrael in the eighteenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah; and in another place, that Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat began to reign over Judah in the fifth year of Jehoram king of Iſrael? In order to remove this difficulty, it muſt be remembered, that the kings of Judah and Iſrael, like other oriental princes, appointed their ſucceſſors, and even in their life-time gave them a ſhare in the adminiſtration, as is plain from ſeveral inſtances. And we read in 2 Chron. xxi. 3, that Jehoſhaphat gave the kingdom to Jehoram, becauſe he was firſt-born, and gave gifts to the reſt of his ſons. It is therefore natural to ſuppoſe that Jehoram reigned ſome time with his father, in order to prevent his brethren from forming parties againſt him, with regard to the ſucceſſion. Now if we grant that Jehoſhaphat declared his ſon Jehoram his partner in the kingdom ſeven years before his death, the whole difficulty will be removed; for then Jehoram the ſon of Ahab might begin his reign in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, that is, in the ſecond year that he reigned with his father, who was then alive: and Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat may be ſaid to have begun his reign in the fifth year of Jehoram the ſon of Ahab, meaning the time, when after his father's death, he began to reign alone.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Beth-el.) That is, ſuch as were educated at that place and trained up in religion and virtue, on whom God by degrees beſtowed the ſpirit of propheſy, and whom the ſuperior prophets employed in the ſame capacity as the apoſtles did the evangeliſts, namely to publiſh their propheſies and inſtructions to the people, in ſuch places as they themſelves could not viſit.

11 Behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horſes of fire, &c.) This account of Elijah's tranſlation is not to be taken in a literal ſenſe; ſince a fiery chariot and horſes would not have been a proper vehicle for a body as yet not impregnated with immortality. We read that our bleſſed Saviour was carried up by the ſubvention of a cloud, which raiſed him from the ground, and mounting with him gradually, carried him out of the Apoſtles' ſight. In like manner we may preſume, the tranſlation of Elijah was performed, namely, by a bright and radiant cloud, which, as it aſcended, appeared like a chariot and horſes of fire; this cloud raiſed him from the earth, and leaving this little globe behind, wafted him to the ſeats of the bleſſed. But we muſt obſerve, that Chriſt's body was at this time inveſted with the powers of ſpirituality, and therefore capable of aſcending without any vehicle; whereas that of Elijah was retarded with a load of matter: and therefore it was reaſonable to think, that by the miniſtry of angels, or rather by the power of God, the cloud which carried him up, was condenſed to a more than common conſiſtency, and that the whirlwind accelerated its motion and aſcent —But as fleſh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption: it has been aſked how Elijah was on a ſudden made meet to be a partaker of the inheritance of the ſaints in life? This queſtion will, however be eaſily anſwered, if we conſider, that the ſame Almighty Power, which, at the laſt trump, will make our corruptible nature put on incorruption, and our mortal put on immortality, doubtleſs changed in his paſſage to the regions of happineſs, his terreſtrial into a celeſtial body, and endowed it with ſuch faculties, as were neceſſary for the enjoyment of thoſe paradiſaical manſions in the great Jehovah's kingdom. And ſurely nothing could be a more convincing proof of a future life; eſpecially when we conſider that this inſtance was intended as a type of a much greater event, the aſcenſion of the great Redeemer, who was to deſtroy death and open the kingdom of heaven to all believers.

with thy ſervants fifty ſtrong men; let them go, we pray thee, and ſeek thy maſter: leſt peradventure the Spirit of the Lord hath taken him up, and caſt him upon ſome mountain, or into ſome valley. And he ſaid, Ye ſhall not ſend.

17 And when they urged him till he was aſhamed, he ſaid, Send. They ſent therefore fifty men; and they ſought three days but found him not.

18 And when they came again to him (for he tarried at Jericho) he ſaid unto them, Did I not ſay unto you, Go not.

19 ¶ And the men of the city ſaid unto Eliſha, Behold, I pray thee, the ſituation of this city is pleaſant, as my lord ſeeth: but the water is nought, and the ground barren.

20 And he ſaid, Bring me a new cruſe, and put ſalt therein. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went forth unto the ſpring of the waters, and caſt the ſalt in there, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, I have healed theſe waters; there ſhall not be from thence any more dearth, or barren land.

22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the ſaying of Eliſha which he ſpake.

23 ¶ And he went up from thence to Beth-el: and as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children out of the city, and mocked him, and ſaid unto him, Go up thou bald-head, go up thou bald-head.

24 And he turned back, and looked on them, and curſed them in the name of the Lord. And there came forth two ſhe-bears out of the wood, and tare forty and two children of them.

25 And he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

CHAP. III.

1 Jehoram's reign. 4 Meſha rebelleth. 20 Eliſha obtaineth water, and promiſe of victory. 24 The Moabites overcome.

NOW Jehoram the ſon of Ahab began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria the eighteenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years.

2 And he wrought evil in the ſight of the Lord, but not like his father, and like his mother; for he put away the image of Baal that his father had made.

3 Nevertheleſs, he cleaved unto the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon Nebat, which made Iſrael to ſin; he departed not therefrom.

4 ¶ And Meſha king of Moab was a ſheep-maſter, and rendered unto the king of Iſrael an hundred thouſand lambs, and an hundred thouſand rams, with the wool.

5 And it came paſs when Ahab was dead, that the king of Moab rebelled againſt the king of Iſrael.

6 And king Jehoram went out of Samaria the ſame time, and numbered all Iſrael.

7 And he went and ſent to Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, ſaying, The king of Moab hath rebelled againſt me: wilt thou go with me againſt Moab to battle? and he ſaid, I will go up; I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horſes as thy horſes.

8 And he ſaid, Which way ſhall we go up? and he anſwered, The way through the wilderneſs of Edom.

9 So the king of Iſrael went, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom; and they fetched a compaſs of ſeven days journey: and there was no water for the hoſt, and for the cattle that followed them.

10 And the king of Iſrael ſaid, Alas! that the Lord hath called theſe three kings together, to deliver them into the hand Moab.

11 But Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that we may enquire of the Lord by him? and one of the king of Iſrael's ſervants anſwered and ſaid, Here is Eliſha the ſon of Shaphat, which poured water on the hands of Elijah.

12 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, The word of the Lord is with him. So the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat, and the king of Edom, went down to him.

13 And Eliſha ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, What have I to do with thee? get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to thee prophets of thy mother. And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto him, Nay: for the Lord hath called theſe three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab.

14 And Eliſha ſaid, As the Lord of hoſts liveth, before whom I ſtand, ſurely, were it not that I regard the preſence of Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, I would not look toward thee, nor ſee thee.

15 But now bring me a minſtrel. And it came to paſs, when the minſtrel played, that the hand of the Lord came upon him.

16 And he ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye ſhall not ſee wind, neither ſhall ye ſee rain; yet that valley ſhall be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye and your cattle, and your beaſts.

18 And this is but a light thing in the ſight of the Lord: he will deliver the Moabites alſo into your hand.

19 And ye ſhall ſmite every fenced city, and every choice city, and ſhall fell every good tree, and ſtop all wells of water, and mar every good piece of land with ſtones.

20 ¶ And it came to paſs in the morning, when the meat-offering was offered, that behold, there came water by the way of Edom and the country was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight againſt them they gathered all that were able to put on armour, and upward, and ſtood in the border.

22 And they roſe up early in the morning, and the 24 There came forth little children out of the city and mocked him.) Bethel was one of the cities where Jeroboam had ſet up a golden calf, and was ſtrongly addicted to idolatry; and therefore the inhabitants had no ſmall averſion to Eliſha, as being the ſucceſſor of one who had been a profeſſed enemy to their wicked worſhip, and himſelf no leſs an oppoſer of it. It is therefore reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that thoſe children who mocked Eliſha were excited to it, and encouraged by their parents; and therefore the puniſhment was juſt, in God's puniſhing the wickedneſs of theſe parents by the death of their children, who, though they ſuffered in this life, had the happineſs of being reſcued from the danger of an idolatrous education, which might have been of fatal tendency both to their preſent and future ſtate. Nor is this all, the honour of God himſelf was ſtruck at in the reproaches thrown upon his ſervant, and in one of his moſt glorious and miraculous works, the aſſumption of Elijah into heaven; for by the expreſſion, go up, thou bald-head, it is plain that they made a mere jeſt of any ſuch tranſlation; and therefore ſarcaſtically bid Eliſha go up, whither, as he pretended, his friend and maſter had gone before.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

20 There came water by the way of Edom and the country was filled with water.) This water was doubtleſs procured in a miraculous manner, and probably from the rocks which ſurrounded the valley; and therefore muſt ſurely affect the idolatrous king of Iſrael, to ſee that the God whoſe worſhip he had deſpiſed, and whoſe altars he had thrown down, was able to ſupply ſo large a company with water, and even ſo kind as to ſupply thoſe with that neceſſary fluid who had abandoned his laws, and worſhipped other gods to provoke him to anger.

Jun

ſun ſhone upon the water, and the Moabites ſaw the water on the other ſide as red as blood.

23 And they ſaid, This is blood: the kings are ſurely ſlain, and they have ſmitten one another: now therefore Moab to the ſpoil.

24 And when they came to the camp of Iſrael, the Iſraelites roſe up and ſmote the Moabites, ſo that they fled before them; but they went forward ſmiting the Moabites, even in their country.

25 And they beat down the cities, and on every good piece of land caſt every man his ſtone, and filled it; and they ſtopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good trees: only in Kir-haraſeth left they the ſtones thereof; howbeit, the ſlingers went about it, and ſmote it.

26 And when the king of Moab ſaw that the battle was too ſore for him, he took with him ſeven hundred men that drew ſwords, to break through even unto the king of Edom; but they could not.

27 Then he took his eldeſt ſon that ſhould have reigned in his ſtead, and offered him for a burnt-offering upon the wall. And there was great indignation againſt Iſrael; and they departed from him, and returned to their own land.

CHAP IV.

1 Eliſha multiplieth the widow's oil. 8 He giveth a ſon to the Shunammite. 18 He raiſeth her dead ſon. 38 And at Gilgal, healeth the deadly pottage.

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the ſons of the prophets unto Eliſha, ſaying, Thy ſervant my huſband is dead; and thou knoweſt that thy ſervant did fear the Lord: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two ſons to be bond-men.

2 And Eliſha ſaid unto her, What ſhall I do for thee? tell me: what haſt thou in the houſe? and ſhe ſaid, Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the houſe ſave a pot of oil.

3 Then he ſaid, Go, borrow thee veſſels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty veſſels; borrow not a few.

4 And when thou art come in, thou ſhalt ſhut the door upon thee and upon thy ſons, and ſhalt pour out into all thoſe veſſels, and thou ſhalt ſet aſide that which is full.

5 So ſhe went from him, and ſhut the door upon her and upon her ſons, who brought the veſſels to her, and ſhe poured out.

6 And it came to paſs, when the veſſels were full, that ſhe ſaid unto her ſon, Bring me yet a veſſel. And he ſaid unto her, There is not a veſſel more. And the oil ſtayed.

7 Then ſhe came and told the man of God: and he ſaid, Go, ſell the oil, and pay thy debt, and live thou and thy children of the reſt.

8 ¶ And it fell on a day that Eliſha paſſed to Shunem, where was a great woman; and ſhe conſtrained him to eat bread. And ſo it was, that as oft as he paſſed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

9 And ſhe ſaid unto her huſband, Behold, now, I perceive that this is an holy man of God which paſſeth by us continually.

10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall; and let us ſet for him there a bed, and a table, and a ſtool, and a candleſtick: and it ſhall be, when he cometh to us, that he ſhall turn in thither.

11 And it fell on a day that he came thither, and he turned into the chamber, and lay there.

12 And he ſaid to Gehazi his ſervant, Call this Shunammite. And when he had called her, ſhe ſtood before him.

13 And he ſaid unto him, Say now unto her, Behold, thou haſt been careful for us with all this care; what is to be done for thee? wouldeſt thou be ſpoken for to the king, or to the captain of the hoſt? and ſhe anſwered, I dwell among mine own people.

14 And he ſaid, What then is to be done for her? and Gehazi anſwered, Verily ſhe hath no child, and her huſband is old.

15 And he ſaid, Call her. And when he had called her, ſhe ſtood in the door.

16 And he ſaid, About this ſeaſon, according to the time of life, thou ſhalt embrace a ſon. And ſhe ſaid, Nay, my lord, thou man of God, do not lie unto thine handmaid.

17 And the woman conceived, and bare a ſon at that ſeaſon that Eliſha had ſaid unto her, according to the time of life.

18 ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on a day that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 And he ſaid unto his father, My head, my head. And he ſaid to a lad, Carry him to his mother.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he ſat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And ſhe went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and ſhut the door upon him, and went out.

22 And ſhe called unto her huſband, and ſaid, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the aſſes, that I may run to the man of God and come again.

23 And he ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou go to him, to-day? it is neither new moon, nor ſabbath. And ſhe ſaid, It ſhall be well.

24 Then ſhe ſaddled an aſs, and ſaid to her ſervant, Drive, and go forward; ſlack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee.

25 So ſhe went and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel. And it came to paſs when the man of God ſaw her afar off, that he ſaid to Gehazi his ſervant, Behold, yonder is that Shunammite:

26 Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and ſay unto her, Is it well with thee? is it well with thy huſband? is it well with the child? and ſhe anſwered, It

---

23 And they ſaid, This is blood: the kings are ſurely ſlain.) The Moabites well knew there was no ſpring in the valley; and no rain having fallen, they were convinced it could not be water, and therefore concluded it muſt be blood, which the reflection of the red rays of the morning ſeemed to confirm. Hence they naturally imagined that the armies had ſlain one another, becauſe ſo large a quantity of blood could not have flowed from any other ſource; and being eaſily perſuaded to believe what they were ſo deſirous of finding true, they very imprudently attacked the confederate army, and were totally defeated.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 The creditor is come to take unto him my two ſons to be bond-men.) The Jewiſh law conſidered children as the proper goods of their parents, who had power to ſell them for ſeven years, as their creditors had to compel them to do it in order to pay their debts; and from the Jews this cuſtom was propagated to the Athenians, and from them to the Romans.

10 Make a little chamber on the wall.) Dr. Shaw obſerves, that the houſes of the Orientals have commonly a ſmaller one annexed, which ſometimes riſes one ſtory higher than the houſe; ſometimes it is built over the porch or gateway, and has a door of communication into the gallery of the houſe, beſides another door which opens immediately from a privy ſtairs, down into the porch or ſtreet, without giving the leaſt diſturbance to the family: in theſe back-houſes, as they are called, ſtrangers are uſually lodged: of this nature was the little chamber built by the Shunammite for Eliſha.

27 And when ſhe came to the man of God to the hill, ſhe caught him by the feet: but Gehazi came near to thruſt her away. And the man of God ſaid, Let her alone; for her ſoul is vexed within her: and the Lord hath hid it from me, and hath not told me.

28 Then ſhe ſaid, Did I deſire a ſon of my lord? Did I not ſay, Do not deceive me?

29 Then he ſaid to Gehazi, Gird up thy loins, and take my ſtaff in thine hand, and go thy way: if thou meet any man, ſalute him not: and if any ſalute thee, anſwer him not again: and lay my ſtaff upon the face of the child.

30 And the mother of the child ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. And he aroſe, and followed her.

31 And Gehazi paſſed on before them, and laid the ſtaff upon the face of the child: but there was neither voice nor hearing. Wherefore he went again to meet him, and told him, ſaying, The child is not awaked.

32 And when Eliſha was come into the houſe, Behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and ſhut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord.

34 And he went up, and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands: and he ſtretched himſelf upon the child; and the fleſh of the child waxed warm.

35 Then he returned, and walked in the houſe to and fro; and went up and ſtretched himſelf upon him: and the child ſneezed ſeven times, and the child opened his eyes.

36 And he called Gehazi, and ſaid, Call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when ſhe was come in unto him, he ſaid, Take up thy ſon.

37 Then ſhe went in, and fell at his feet, and bowed herſelf to the ground, and took up her ſon, and went out.

38 And Eliſha came again to Gilgal. And there was a dearth in the land: and the ſons of the prophets were ſitting before him: and he ſaid unto his ſervant, Set on the great pot, and ſeethe pottage for the ſons of the prophets.

39 And one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine, and gathered thereof wild gourds his lap full, and came and ſhred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew them not.

40 So they poured out for the men to eat; and it came to paſs as they were eating of the pottage, that they cried out, and ſaid, O thou man of God, there is death in the pot: and they could not eat thereof.

41 But he ſaid, Then bring meal. And he caſt it into the pot; and he ſaid, Pour out for the people, that they may eat. And there was no harm in the pot.

42 And there came a man from Baal-ſhaliſha and brought the man of God bread of the firſt fruits, twenty loaves of barley, and full ears of corn in the huſk thereof. And he ſaid, Give unto the people, that they may eat.

43 And his ſervitor ſaid, What, ſhould I ſet this before an hundred men? he ſaid again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus ſaith the Lord, They ſhall eat and ſhall leave thereof.

44 So he ſet it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

1 Naaman is cured of his leproſy. 16 Eliſha refuſeth Naaman's gifts. 27 Gehazi ſmitten with leproſy.

NOW Naaman captain of the hoſt of the king of Syria, was a great man with his maſter, and honourable; becauſe by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria: he was alſo a mighty man in valour; but he was a leper.

2 And the Syrians had gone out by companies, and had brought away captive, out of the land of Iſrael, a little maid, and ſhe waited on Naaman's wife.

3 And ſhe ſaid unto her miſtreſs, Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leproſy.

4 And one went in and told his lord, ſaying, Thus and thus ſaid the maid that is of the land of Iſrael.

5 And the king of Syria ſaid, Go to, go, and I will ſend a letter unto the king of Iſrael. And he departed and took with him ten talents of ſilver, and ſix thouſand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment,

6 And he brought the letter to the king of Iſrael ſaying, Now, when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have therewith ſent Naaman my ſervant to thee, that thou mayeſt recover him of his leproſy.

7 And it came to paſs when the king of Iſrael had read the letter, that he rent his clothes and ſaid, Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man doth ſend unto me to recover a man of his leproſy? Wherefore conſider, I pray you, and ſee how he ſeeketh a quarrel againſt me.

8 ¶ And it was ſo, when Eliſha the man of God had heard that the king of Iſrael had rent his clothes, that he ſent to the king, ſaying, Wherefore haſt thou rent thy clothes? let him come now to me, and he ſhall know that there is a prophet in Iſrael.

9 So Naaman came with his horſes and with his chariot, and ſtood at the door of the houſe of Eliſha.

10 And Eliſha ſent a meſſenger unto him, ſaying, Go, and waſh in Jordan ſeven times, and thy fleſh ſhall come again to thee, and thou ſhalt be clean.

11 But Naaman was wroth and went away, and ſaid, Behold, I thought, He will ſurely come out to me, and ſtand and call on the name of the Lord his God, and ſtrike his hand over the place, and recover the leper.

12 Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damaſcus, better than all the waters of Iſrael? may I not waſh in them and be clean? ſo he turned, and went away in a rage.

13 And his ſervants came near and ſpake unto him, and ſaid, My father, if the prophet had bid thee do

38 Seethe pottage for the ſons of the prophets.) Hence we may obſerve that they lived together in ſociety, and after being inſtructed, eat together with their maſter.

41 Then bring meal, and he caſt it into the pot---and there was no harm in the pot.) This alteration muſt be wholly aſcribed to the power of God, for meal was not at all calculated to anſwer this intention.

Commentary on Chap. V.

7 He rent his clothes, and ſaid, Am I God?) He looked upon it as blaſphemy, to aſcribe that power to him which belonged only to God.

10 And Eliſha ſent a meſſenger unto him, ſaying, &c.) Some aſcribe Eliſha's not appearing before the Syrian general to the retired courſe of life which the prophets led: but it may be aſked, why then did he enter into converſation with him when he returned? It therefore ſeems more probable to think, that he did it to ſupport the character and dignity of a prophet of the moſt high God; eſpecially as this had a tendency to raiſe the honour of his religion and miniſtry, and gave Naaman a truer idea of his miraculous cure, when he found that it was neither by the prayer nor preſence of the prophet, but entirely effected by the divine power and goodneſs.

ſome great thing, wouldſt thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he ſaith to thee, Waſh, and be clean?

14 Then went he down, and dipped himſelf ſeven times in Jordan, according to the ſaying of the man of God: and his fleſh came again like unto the fleſh of a little child, and he was clean.

15 ¶ And he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and came and ſtood before him: and he ſaid, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Iſrael: now therefore I pray thee, take a bleſſing of thy ſervant.

16 But he ſaid, As the Lord liveth before whom I ſtand, I will receive none. And he urged him to take it, but he refuſed;

17 And Naaman ſaid, Shall there not then, I pray thee, be given to thy ſervant two mules' burden of earth? for thy ſervant will henceforth offer neither burnt-offering nor ſacrifice unto other gods, but unto the Lord.

18 In this thing the Lord pardon thy ſervant, that when my maſter goeth into the houſe of Rimmon to worſhip there, and he leaneth on my hand, and I bow myſelf in the houſe of Rimmon: when I bow down myſelf in the houſe of Rimmon, the Lord pardon thy ſervant in this thing.

19 And he ſaid unto him, Go in peace. So he departed from him a little way.

20 ¶ But Gehazi the ſervant of Eliſha the man of God, ſaid, Behold, my maſter hath ſpared Naaman this Syrian, in not receiving at his hands that which he brought: but as the Lord liveth, I will run after him, and take ſomewhat of him.

21 So Gehazi followed after Naaman. And when Naaman ſaw him running after him, he lighted down from the chariot to meet him, and ſaid, Is all well?

22 And he ſaid, All is well. My maſter hath ſent me, ſaying, Behold, even now there be come to me from mount Ephraim two young men of the ſons of the prophets: give them I pray thee, a talent of ſilver, and two changes of garments.

23 And Naaman ſaid, Be content, take two talents. And he urged him, and bound two talents of ſilver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his ſervants; and they bare them before him.

24 And when he came to the tower, he took them from their hand, and beſtowed them in the houſe; and he let the men go, and they departed.

25 But he went in and ſtood before his maſter. And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Whence comeſt thou, Gehazi? and he ſaid, Thy ſervant went no whither.

26 And he ſaid unto him, Went not mine heart with thee, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? is it a time to receive money, and to receive garments, and olive-yards, and vine-yards, and ſheep, and oxen, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants?

27 The leproſy therefore of Naaman ſhall cleave unto thee, and unto thy ſeed for ever. And he went out from his preſence a leper as white as ſnow.

27 The leproſy therefore of Naaman ſhall cleave unto thee, and unto thy ſeed for ever.) This ſentence was juſtly merited by wicked Gehazi; for his crime was aggravated with the following circumſtances: a greedy covetouſneſs, which is idolatry; a profanation of the name of God: an abſolute theft, in keeping that to himſelf which was given for others: deliberate and impudent lying; a deſperate contempt of God's omniſcience, juſtice, and holineſs; an horrible reproach thrown on the prophet and his religion; and a pernicious ſcandal given to Naaman, and every other Syrian who ſhould happen to hear of this tranſaction.

CHAP. VI.

1 Eliſha cauſeth iron to ſwim. 8 He diſcloſeth the king of Syria's counſel, 18 and ſmiteth his army with blindneſs.

AND the ſons of the prophets ſaid unto Eliſha, Behold now, the place where we dwell with thee is too ſtrait for us.

2 Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan, and take thence every man a beam, and let us make us a place there where we may dwell. And he anſwered, Go ye.

3 And one ſaid, be content, I pray thee, and go with thy ſervants. And he anſwered, I will go.

4 So he went with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.

5 But as one was felling a beam, the ax-head fell into the water: and he cried, and ſaid, Alas, maſter! for it was borrowed.

6 And the man of God ſaid, Where fell it? and he ſhewed him the place. And he cut down a ſtick, and caſt it in thither: and the iron did ſwim.

7 Therefore ſaid he, Take it up to thee. And he put out his hand, and took it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Syria warred againſt Iſrael, and took counſel with his ſervants, ſaying, In ſuch and ſuch a place ſhall be my camp.

9 And the man of God ſent unto the king of Iſrael, ſaying, Beware that thou paſs not ſuch a place; for thither the Syrians are come down.

10 And the king of Iſrael ſent to the place which the man of God told him, and warned him of, and ſaved himſelf there, not once, nor twice.

11 Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was ſore troubled for this thing; and he called his ſervants, and ſaid unto them, Will ye not ſhew me which of us is for the king of Iſrael?

12 And one of his ſervants ſaid, None, my lord, O king; but Eliſha the prophet, that is in Iſrael, telleth the king of Iſrael the words that thou ſpeakeſt in thy bed-chamber.

13 And he ſaid, Go and ſpy where he is, that I may ſend and fetch him. And it was told him, ſaying, Behold, he is in Dothan.

14 Therefore ſent he thither horſes, and chariots, and a great hoſt: and they came by night, and compaſſed the city about.

15 And when the ſervant of the man of God was riſen early, and gone forth, behold, an hoſt compaſſed the city both with horſes and chariots: and his ſervant ſaid unto him, Alas, my maſter! how ſhall we do?

16 And he anſwered, Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them.

17 And Eliſha prayed, and ſaid, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may ſee. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he ſaw: and behold the mountain was full of horſes and chariots of fire round about Eliſha.

18 ¶ And when they came down to him, Eliſha prayed unto the Lord, and ſaid, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindneſs. And he ſmote them with blindneſs, according to the word of Eliſha.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

17 The mountain was full of horſes, and chariots of fire round about Eliſha.) It muſt be allowed that angels, whether ſpiritual, or as others think, cloathed with ſome material form, cannot be ſeen by mortal eyes; and therefore Eliſha himſelf, without a peculiar favour from God, could not diſcern the heavenly hoſt, which at this time encamped about him: ſo he requeſts of God, that for removal of his fears, and for the confirmation of his faith, his ſervant might be indulged with the ſame privilege.

19 And Eliſha ſaid unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city; follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye ſeek. But he led them to Samaria.

20 And it came to paſs when they were come into Samaria, that Eliſha ſaid, Lord, open the eyes of theſe men, that they may ſee. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they ſaw, and behold, thay were in the midſt of Samaria.

21 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Eliſha, when he ſaw them, My father, ſhall I ſmite them? ſhall I ſmite them?

22 And he anſwered, Thou ſhalt not ſmite them: wouldeſt thou ſmite thoſe whom thou haſt taken captive with thy ſword and with thy bow? ſet bread and water before them that they may eat and drink, and go to their maſter.

23 And he prepared great proviſion for them; and when they had eaten and drunk, he ſent them away, and they went to their maſter. So the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Iſrael.

24 And it came to paſs after this, that Ben-hadad king of Syria gathered all his hoſt, and went up, and beſieged Samaria.

25 And there was a great famine in Samaria: and behold, they beſieged it until an aſs's head was ſold for fourſcore pieces of ſilver, and the fourth part of a cab of dove's dung for five pieces of ſilver.

26 And as the king of Iſrael was paſſing by upon the wall, there cried a woman unto him, ſaying, Help, my lord, O king.

27 And he ſaid, If the Lord do not help thee, whence ſhall I help thee? out of the barn floor, or out of the wine preſs?

28 And the king ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? and ſhe anſwered, This woman ſaid unto me, Give thy ſon, that we may eat him to-day, and we will eat my ſon to-morrow.

29 So we boiled my ſon and did eat him: and I ſaid unto her on the next day, Give thy ſon, that we may eat him: and ſhe hath hid her ſon.

30 And it came to paſs, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he rent his clothes; and he paſſed by upon the wall, and the people looked, and behold, he had ſackcloth within upon his fleſh.

31 Then he ſaid, God do ſo and more alſo to me, if the head of Eliſha the ſon of Shephat, ſhall ſtand on him this day.

32 But Eliſha ſat in his houſe, and the elders ſat with him; and the king ſent a man from before him: but ere the meſſenger came to him, he ſaid to the elders, See ye how this ſon of a murderer hath ſent to take away mine head? look, when the meſſenger cometh, ſhut the door, and hold him faſt at the door: is not the ſound of his maſter's feet behind him?

33 And while he yet talked with them, behold, the meſſenger came down unto him: and he ſaid, Behold, this evil is of the Lord: what ſhould I wait for the Lord any longer?

CHAP. VII.

1 Eliſha propheſieth incredible plenty in Samaria. 17 The unbelieving lord is trodden to death.

THEN Eliſha ſaid, Hear ye the word of the Lord, Thus ſaith the Lord, To-morrow about this time ſhall a meaſure of fine flour be ſold for a ſhekel, and two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, in the gate of Samaria.

2 Then a lord on whoſe hand the king leaned, anſwered the man of God, and ſaid, Behold, if the Lord would make windows in heaven, might this thing be? and he ſaid, Behold thou ſhalt ſee it with thine eyes, but ſhalt not eat thereof.

3 And there were four leprous men at the entering in at the gate: and they ſaid one to another, Why ſit we here till we die?

4 If we ſay, We will enter into the city, then the famine is in the city, and we ſhall die there; and if we ſit ſtill here, we die alſo. Now therefore come, and let us fall unto the hoſt of the Syrians: if they ſave us alive we ſhall live, and if they kill us we ſhall but die.

5 And they roſe up in the twilight to go unto the camp of the Syrians: and when they were come to the uttermoſt part of the camp of Syria, behold, there was no man there.

6 For the Lord had made the hoſt of the Syrians to hear a noiſe of chariots, and a noiſe of horſes, even the noiſe of a great hoſt: and they ſaid one to another, Lo, the king of Iſrael hath hired againſt us the kings of the Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come upon us.

7 Wherefore they aroſe and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horſes, and their aſſes, even the camp as it was and fled for their lives.

8 And when theſe lepers came to the uttermoſt part of the camp, they went into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence ſilver, and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it; and came again and entered into another tent, and carried thence alſo, and went and hid it.

9 Then they ſaid one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace; if we tarry till the morning light, ſome miſchief will come upon us: now therefore come, that we may go and tell the king's houſhold.

10 So they came, and called unto the porter of the city; and they told him, ſaying, We came to the camp of the Syrians, and behold, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horſes tied, and aſſes tied, and the tents as they were.

11 And he called the porters, and they told it to the king's houſe within.

22 Wouldſt thou ſmite thoſe whom thou haſt taken captive with thy ſword, and with thy bow?) Though, according to the rigour of arms, a conqueror is at liberty to put whatever enemies fall into his hand to the ſword; yet the laws of humanity and compaſſion, of honour and good nature, ſhould always reſtrain us from treating with the utmoſt ſeverity ſuch as ſurrender themſelves, and implore our mercy. But beſides the humanity and charity of this action, it was both prudent and politic, as it was natural to ſuppoſe, that the hearts of theſe Syrians would by this means be molified towards the Iſraelites; and, upon their return, they would become as it were, preachers of the power and goodneſs of the God of Iſrael, and endeavour to perſuade their countrymen from oppoſing a people that had ſo great a protector.

28 Give thy ſon that we may eat him to-day, &c.) This is a moſt ſhocking relation, and a terrible effect of the divine vengeance, which Moſes had long ſince told the Iſraelites would fall upon them if they rebelled againſt God.

33 Behold this evil is of the Lord, what ſhould I wait for the Lord any longer?) Theſe words ſeem to have been ſpoken by the king, in a fit of raging deſpair. He could not but acknowledge that the evil was from the Lord; but declared he had no hopes of redreſs, ſince they were driven to ſuch extremities that women eat their own children.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

3 There were four leprous men at the entering in of the gate.) The Jews were of opinion, that theſe four lepers were Gehazi and three of his ſons. They do not ſeem to have been excluded the city merely on account of their diſtemper, but becauſe they were entirely uſeleſs. They could neither fight nor work in commnion with others.

Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, (is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael to enquire of his word?) therefore thou ſhalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

17 ¶ So he died, according to the word of the Lord, which Elijah had ſpoken: and Jehoram reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah; becauſe he had no ſon.

18 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

CHAP. II.

1 Elijah divideth Jordan, and granting Eliſha his requeſt, is taken up. 12 Eliſha divideth Jordan: 19 he healeth the waters. 23 Children mocking Eliſha are deſtroyed.

AND it came to paſs when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Eliſha from Gilgal.

2 And Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, Tarry here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath ſent me to Beth-el. And Eliſha ſaid unto him, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Beth-el.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Beth-el came forth to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the Lord will take away thy maſter from thy head to-day? and he ſaid, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

4 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Eliſha tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath ſent me to Jericho. And he ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the Lord will take away thy maſter from thy head to-day? and he anſwered, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

6 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Tarry, I pray thee here; for the Lord hath ſent me to Jordan. And he ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.

7 And fifty men of the ſons of the prophets went, and ſtood to view afar off: and they two ſtood by Jordan.

8 And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and ſmote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, ſo that they two went over on dry ground.

9 And it came to paſs when they were gone over, that Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, Aſk what I ſhall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Eliſha ſaid, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy ſpirit be upon me.

10 And he ſaid, Thou haſt aſked a hard thing: nevertheleſs, if thou ſee me when I am taken from thee, it ſhall be ſo unto thee; but if not, it ſhall not be ſo.

11 And it came to paſs as they ſtill went on, and talked, that behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horſes of fire, and parted them both aſunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.

12 ¶ And Eliſha ſaw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof. And he ſaw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 He took up alſo the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back and ſtood by the bank of Jordan;

14 And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and ſmote the waters, and ſaid, Where is the Lord God of Elijah? and when he alſo had ſmitten the waters, they parted hither and thither: and Eliſha went over.

15 And when the ſons of the prophets which were to view at Jericho ſaw him, they ſaid, The ſpirit of Elijah doth reſt on Eliſha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themſelves to the ground before him.

16 And they ſaid unto him, Behold now, there be

17 And Jehoram reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah.) It has been aſked how could Jehoram, the brother of Ahaziah, begin his reign in Iſrael in the ſecond year of Jehoram, the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, when we read ſoon after that he began his reign over Iſrael in the eighteenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah; and in another place, that Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat began to reign over Judah in the fifth year of Jehoram king of Iſrael? In order to remove this difficulty, it muſt be remembered, that the kings of Judah and Iſrael, like other oriental princes, appointed their ſucceſſors, and even in their life-time gave them a ſhare in the adminiſtration, as is plain from ſeveral inſtances. And we read in 2 Chron. xxi. 3, that Jehoſhaphat gave the kingdom to Jehoram, becauſe he was firſt-born, and gave gifts to the reſt of his ſons. It is therefore natural to ſuppoſe that Jehoram reigned ſome time with his father, in order to prevent his brethren from forming parties againſt him, with regard to the ſucceſſion. Now if we grant that Jehoſhaphat declared his ſon Jehoram his partner in the kingdom ſeven years before his death, the whole difficulty will be removed; for then Jehoram the ſon of Ahab might begin his reign in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, that is, in the ſecond year that he reigned with his father, who was then alive: and Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat may be ſaid to have begun his reign in the fifth year of Jehoram the ſon of Ahab, meaning the time, when after his father's death, he began to reign alone.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Beth-el.) That is, ſuch as were educated at that place and trained up in religion and virtue, on whom God by degrees beſtowed the ſpirit of propheſy, and whom the ſuperior prophets employed in the ſame capacity as the apoſtles did the evangeliſts, namely to publiſh their propheſies and inſtructions to the people, in ſuch places as they themſelves could not viſit.

11 Behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horſes of fire, &c.) This account of Elijah's tranſlation is not to be taken in a literal ſenſe; ſince a fiery chariot and horſes would not have been a proper vehicle for a body as yet not impregnated with immortality: We read that our bleſſed Saviour was carried up by the ſubvention of a cloud, which raiſed him from the ground, and mounting with him gradually, carried him out of the Apoſtles' ſight. In like manner we may preſume, the tranſlation of Elijah was performed, namely, by a bright and radiant cloud, which, as it aſcended, appeared like a chariot and horſes of fire; this cloud raiſed him from the earth, and leaving this little globe behind, wafted him to the ſeats of the bleſſed. But we muſt obſerve, that Chriſt's body was at this time inveſted with the powers of ſpirituality, and therefore capable of aſcending without any vehicle; whereas that of Elijah was retarded with a load of matter: and therefore it was reaſonable to think, that by the miniſtry of angels, or rather by the power of God, the cloud which carried him up, was condenſed to a more than common conſiſtency, and that the whirlwind accelerated its motion and aſcent —But as fleſh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption: it has been aſked how Elijah was on a ſudden made meet to be a partaker of the inheritance of the ſaints in life? This queſtion will, however be eaſily anſwered, if we conſider, that the ſame Almighty Power, which, at the laſt trump, will make our corruptible nature put on incorruption, and our mortal put on immortality, doubtleſs changed in his paſſage to the regions of happineſs, his terreſtrial into a celeſtial body, and endowed it with ſuch faculties, as were neceſſary for the enjoyment of thoſe paradiſaical manſions in the great Jehovah's kingdom. And ſurely nothing could be a more convincing proof of a future life; eſpecially when we conſider that this inſtance was intended as a type of a much greater event, the aſcenſion of the great Redeemer, who was to deſtroy death and open the kingdom of heaven to all believers.

Chap. II. Ver. 11.

Elijah carried up to HEAVEN.

12 And the king aroſe in the night, and ſaid unto his ſervants, I will now ſhew you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we be hungry; therefore are they gone out of the camp, to hide themſelves in the field, ſaying, When they come out of the city, we ſhall catch them alive, and get into the city.

13 And one of his ſervants anſwered, and ſaid, Let ſome take, I pray thee, five of the horſes that remain, which are left in the city, (behold they are as all the multitude of Iſrael that are left in it: Behold, I ſay, they are even as all the multitude of the Iſraelites that are conſumed,) and let us ſend and ſee.

14 They took therefore two chariot-horſes, and the king ſent after the hoſt of the Syrians, ſaying, Go and ſee.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan: and lo, all the way was full of garments and veſſels, which the Syrians had caſt away in their haſte. And the meſſengers returned and told the king.

16 And the people went out, and ſpoiled the tents of the Syrians. So a meaſure of fine flour was ſold for a ſhekel, and two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, according to the word of the Lord.

17 ¶ And the king appointed the lord, on whoſe hand he leaned, to have the charge of the gate: and the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had ſaid, who ſpake when the king came down to him.

18 And it came to paſs, as the man of God had ſpoken to the king, ſaying, Two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, and a meaſure of fine flour for a ſhekel, ſhall be to-morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria:

19 And that lord anſwered the man of God, and ſaid, Now, behold, if the Lord ſhould make windows in heaven might ſuch a thing be? and he ſaid, Behold, thou ſhalt ſee it with thine eyes, but ſhalt not eat thereof.

20 And ſo it fell out unto him: for the people trode upon him in the gate and he died.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Shunammite hath her land reſtored. 7 Hazael killeth his maſter, and ſucceedeth him. 16 Jehoram's wicked reign. 25 Ahaziah ſucceedeth him.

THEN ſpake Eliſha unto the woman whoſe ſon he had reſtored to life, ſaying, Ariſe and go thou and thy houſhold, and ſojourn whereſoever thou canſt ſojourn: for the Lord hath called for a famine; and it ſhall alſo come upon the land ſeven years.

2 And the woman aroſe, and did after the ſaying of the man of God: and ſhe went with her houſhold, and ſojourned in the land of the Philiſtines ſeven years.

3 And it came to paſs at the ſeven years end, that the woman returned out of the land of the Philiſtines: and ſhe went forth to cry unto the king for her houſe and for her land.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the ſervant of the man of God, ſaying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great things that Eliſha hath done.

5 And it came to paſs, as he was telling the king how he had reſtored a dead body to life, that behold, the woman whoſe ſon he had reſtored to life cried to the king for her houſe and for her land. And Gehazi ſaid, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her ſon, whom Eliſha reſtored to life.

6 And when the king aſked the woman, ſhe told him. So the king appointed unto her a certain officer, ſaying, Reſtore all that was hers, and all the fruits of the field, ſince the day that ſhe left the land even until now.

7 ¶ And Eliſha came to Damaſcus, and Ben-hadad the king of Syria was ſick, and it was told him ſaying, The man of God is come hither.

8 And the king ſaid unto Hazael, Take a preſent in thine hand, and go meet the man of God, and enquire of the Lord by him, ſaying, Shall I recover of this diſeaſe?

9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a preſent with him, even of every good thing of Damaſcus, forty camels burthen, and came and ſtood before him, and ſaid, Thy ſon Ben-hadad king of Syria hath ſent me to thee, ſaying, ſhall I recover of this diſeaſe?

10 And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Go, ſay unto him, Thou mayeſt certainly recover; howbeit, the Lord hath ſhewed me that he ſhall ſurely die.

11 And he ſettled his countenance ſtedfaſtly, until he was aſhamed; and the man of God wept.

12 And Hazael ſaid, Why weepeth my lord? and he anſwered, Becauſe I know the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Iſrael: their ſtrong holds wilt thou ſet on fire, and their young men wilt thou ſlay with the ſword, and wilt daſh their children, and rip up their women with child.

13 And Hazael ſaid, But what! is thy ſervant a dog, that he ſhould do this great thing? And Eliſha anſwered, The Lord hath ſhewed me that thou ſhalt be king over Syria.

14 So he departed from Eliſha and came to his maſter; who ſaid to him, What ſaid Eliſha to thee? And he anſwered, He told me that thou ſhouldeſt ſurely recover.

15 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that he took a thick cloth, and dipped it in water, and ſpread it on his face, ſo that he died: and Hazael reigned in his ſtead.

16 ¶ And in the fifth year of Joram, the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, Jehoſhaphat being then king of Judah, Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah began to reign.

17 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned eight years in Jeruſalem.

18 And he walked in the way of the kings of Iſrael, as did the houſe of Ahab: for the daughter of Ahab was his wife: and he did evil in the ſight of the Lord.

19 Yet the Lord would not deſtroy Judah for David his ſervant's ſake, as he promiſed him, to give him alway a light, and to his children.

20 In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themſelves.

17 And the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died.) Thus the ſentence pronounced by the prophet was literally fulfilled; for he ſaw the plenty, but was killed before he could eat of it. A juſt puniſhment for his unbelief; and ſuch will be the puniſhment of thoſe who place no confidence in the promiſe of eternal life.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 A famine---ſhall come upon the land ſeven years.) Hence we ſee that the wonderful deliverance had no effect upon the lives of the people: they continued deaf to all the prophet's admonitions, and ſhut their eyes againſt his miracles; and therefore God puniſhed them with a more grievous famine than that which happened in the days of Ahab, which continued only three years. The Jews will have this to be the terrible famine mentioned by the prophet Joel; four years of which was cauſed by noxious creatures devouring all the fruits of the earth, and the other three by a want of rain.

15 And he took a thick cloth, and dipt it in water, and ſpread it on his face, ſo that he died.) He ſuffocated him with the cloth, which he pretended to lay on his face to cool him.

21 So Joram went over to Zair, and all the chariots with him; and he roſe by night, and ſmote the Edomites which compaſſed him about: and the captains of the chariots and the people fled into their tents.

22 Yet Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. Then Libnah revolted at the ſame time.

23 And the reſt of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

24 And Joram ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Ahaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

25 ¶ In the twelfth year of Joram, the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, did Ahaziah, the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah, begin to reign.

26 Two and twenty years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri king of Iſrael.

27 And he walked in the way of the houſe of Ahab, and did evil in the ſight of the Lord, as did the houſe of Ahab: for he was the ſon-in-law of the houſe of Ahab.

28 ¶ And he went with Joram, the ſon of Ahab, to the war againſt Hazael king of Syria in Ramoth-gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram,

29 And king Joram went back to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him at Ramah, when he fought againſt Hazael king of Syria: and Ahaziah, the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah, went down to ſee Joram, the ſon of Ahab, in Jezreel, becauſe he was ſick.

CHAP IX.

1 Jehu is anointed. 24 He killeth Joram in the field of Naboth. 36 Jezebel eaten by dogs.

AND Eliſha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and ſaid unto him, Gird up thy loins, and take this box of oil in thine hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead:

2 And when thou comeſt thither, look out there Jehu the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Nimſhi, and go in, and make him ariſe up from among his brethren, and carry him to an inner chamber;

3 Then take the box of oil, and pour it on his head, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, I have anointed thee king over Iſrael: then open the door, and flee, and tarry not.

4 So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead.

5 And when he came, behold, the captains of the hoſt were ſitting; and he ſaid, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jehu ſaid, Unto which of all us? and he ſaid, To thee, O captain.

6 And he aroſe, and went into the houſe; and he poured the oil on his head, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I have anointed thee king over the people of the Lord, even over Iſrael.

7 And thou ſhalt ſmite the houſe of Ahab thy maſter, that I may avenge the blood of my ſervants the prophets, and the blood of all the ſervants of the Lord, at the hand of Jezebel.

8 For the whole houſe of Ahab ſhall periſh: and I will cut off from Ahab him that piſſeth againſt the wall, and him that is ſhut up and left in Iſrael:

9 And I will make the houſe of Ahab like the houſe of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, and like the houſe of Baaſha the ſon of Ahijah:

10 And the dogs ſhall eat Jezebel in the portion of Jezreel, and there ſhall be none to bury her. And he opened the door, and fled.

11 ¶ Then Jehu came forth to the ſervants of his lord: and one ſaid unto him, Is all well? wherefore came this mad fellow to thee? and he ſaid unto them, Ye know the man and his communication.

12 And they ſaid, It is falſe: tell us now. And he ſaid, Thus and thus ſpake he to me, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, I have anointed thee king over Iſrael.

13 Then they haſted, and took every man his garment, and put it under him on the top of the ſtairs, and blew with trumpets, ſaying, Jehu is king.

14 So Jehu the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Nimſhi, conſpired againſt Joram: (now Joram had kept Ramoth-gilead, he and all Iſrael, becauſe of Hazael king of Syria.

15 But king Joram was returned to be healed in Jezreel, of the wounds which the Syrians had given him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria,) and Jehu ſaid, If it be your minds, then let none go forth nor eſcape out of the city, to go to tell it in Jezreel.

16 So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went to Jezreel: for Joram lay there. And Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to ſee Joram.

17 And there ſtood a watchman on the tower in Jezreel, and he ſpied the company of Jehu as he came, and ſaid, I ſee a company. And Joram ſaid, Take an horſeman, and ſend to meet them, and let him ſay, Is it peace?

18 So there went one on horſeback to meet him, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? and Jehu ſaid, What haſt thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me. And the watchman told, ſaying, The meſſenger came to them, but he cometh not again.

19 Then he ſent out a ſecond on horſeback, which came to them, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? and Jehu anſwered, What haſt thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me.

20 ¶ And the watchman told, ſaying, He came even unto them, and cometh not again: and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the ſon of Nimſhi; for he driveth furiouſly.

21 And Joram ſaid, Make ready. And his chariot

22 Then Libnah revolted at the ſame time.) Libnah was a conſiderable city in the tribe of Judah, and belonged to the prieſts. The reaſon of this revolt ſeems to have been, becauſe he endeavoured to ſet up his idolatrous worſhip among them, contrary to the laws of God.

26 Athaliah daughter of Omri.) Athaliah was the daughter of Ahab, but brought up and educated by Omri her grandfather, and thence called his daughter.

Commentary on Chap. IX.

11 Wherefore came this mad fellow to thee?) The officers who were in company with Jehu might eaſily perceive, by the air and the manner of ſpeech of the perſon who had accoſted Jehu ſo boldly, and when he had done his buſineſs vaniſhed ſo ſuddenly, that he was a prophet; but then there might be ſeveral reaſons which induced men of their profeſſion to have a contemptible opinion of thoſe of that order. The rigid and obſcure courſe of life which the prophets led, their neglect of themſelves, and of the things of this world, might paſs with them for a kind of infatuation; and the holy exerciſes to which they devoted themſelves, for no more that a religious frenzy. Beſides the falſe prophets they had ſeen in the court of Ahab had given juſt offence; and their affected geſtures, and ſtudied contortions, rendered them ridiculous and contemptible. And therefore it is no wonder that theſe officers, at firſt ſight, ſhould cenſure a true, as they thought they had reaſon to judge the falſe prophet, with whom they had been acquainted; eſpecially when we find ſome leading men, in the tribe of Judah, treating the prophets of the Lord as fools and madmen, Jeremiah xxix. 26; Ezek. xxiii. 30, 31.

was made ready. And Joram king of Iſrael, and Ahaziah king of Judah, went out, each in his chariot, and they went out againſt Jehu, and met him in the portion of Naboth the Jezreelite.

22 And it came to paſs, when Joram ſaw Jehu, that he ſaid, Is it peace Jehu? And he anſwered, What peace, ſo long as the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel, and her witchcrafts are ſo many?

23 And Joram turned his hands, and fled, and ſaid to Ahaziah, There is treachery, O Ahaziah!

24 And Jehu drew a bow with his full ſtrength, and ſmote Jehoram between his arms; and the arrow went out at his heart, and he ſunk down in his chariot.

25 Then ſaid Jehu to Bidkar his captain, Take up, and caſt him in the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite: for remember how that, when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lord laid this burden upon him,

26 Surely I have ſeen yeſterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his ſons, ſaith the Lord; and I will requite thee in this plat, ſaith the Lord. Now, therefore, take and caſt him into the plat of ground, according to the word of the Lord.

27 But when Ahaziah the king of Judah ſaw this, he fled by the way of the garden-houſe: and Jehu followed after him, and ſaid, Smite him alſo in the chariot. And they did ſo at the going up to Gur, which is by Ibleam: and he fled to Megiddo, and died there.

28 And his ſervants carried him in a chariot to Jeruſalem, and buried him in his ſepulchre with his fathers in the city of David.

29 And in the eleventh year of Joram, the ſon of Ahab, began Ahaziah to reign over Judah.

30 And when Jehu was come to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it; and ſhe painted her face, and tired her head, and looked out at a window:

31 And as Jehu entered in at the gate ſhe ſaid, Had Zimri peace who ſlew his maſter?

32 And he lifted up his face to the window, and ſaid, Who is on my ſide? who? And there looked out to him two or three eunuchs.

33 And he ſaid, Throw her down. So they threw her down; and ſome of her blood was ſprinkled on the wall, and on the horſes: and he trode her under foot.

34 And when he was come in, he did eat and drink, and ſaid, Go and ſee now this curſed woman and bury her: for ſhe is a king's daughter.

35 And they went to bury her; but they found no more of her than the ſcull, and the feet, and the palms of her hands.

36 Wherefore they came again, and told him: and he ſaid, This is the word of the Lord, which he ſpake by his ſervant Elijah the Tiſhbite, ſaying, In the portion of Jezreel ſhall dogs eat the fleſh of Jezebel:

37 And the carcaſe of Jezebel ſhall be as dung upon the face of the field in the portion of Jezreel: ſo that they ſhall not ſay, This is Jezebel.

CHAP. X.

1 Jehu cauſeth ſeventy of Ahab's children to be beheaded. 18 He deſtroyeth the worſhippers of Baal, 29 yet followeth Jeroboam's ſins.

AND Ahab had ſeventy ſons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and ſent to Samaria, unto the rulers of Jezreel, to the elders and to them that brought up Ahab's children, ſaying,

2 Now, as ſoon as this letter cometh to you, ſeeing your maſter's ſons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horſes, a fenced city alſo and armour,

3 Look even out the beſt and meeteſt of your maſter's ſons, and ſet him on his father's throne, and fight for your maſter's houſe.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and ſaid, Behold, two kings ſtood not before him; how then ſhall we ſtand?

5 And he that was over the houſe, and he that was over the city, the elders alſo, and the bringers-up of the children, ſent to Jehu ſaying, We are thy ſervants, and will do all that thou ſhalt bid us; we will not make any king: do thou that which is good in thine eyes.

6 Then he wrote a letter the ſecond time to them, ſaying, If ye be mine, and if ye will hearken unto my voice, take ye the heads of the men your maſter's ſons, and come to me to Jezreel by to-morrow this time. (Now the king's ſons, being ſeventy perſons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up.)

7 And it came to paſs, when the letter came to them, that they took the king's ſons, and ſlew ſeventy perſons, and put their heads in baſkets, and ſent him them to Jezreel.

8 And there came a meſſenger, and told him, ſaying, They have brought the heads of the king's ſons. And he ſaid, lay ye them in two heaps at the entering in of the gate until the morning.

9 And it came to paſs in the morning that he went out, and ſtood, and ſaid to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold I conſpired againſt my maſter, and ſlew him: but who ſlew all theſe?

10 Know now that there ſhall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the Lord which the Lord ſpake concerning the houſe of Ahab: for the Lord hath done that which he ſpake by his ſervant Elijah.

11 So Jehu ſlew all that remained of the houſe of Ahab in Jezreel, and all his great men, and his kinſfolks, and his prieſts until he left him none remaining.

12 And he aroſe, and departed, and came to Samaria. And as he was at the ſhearing-houſe in the way.

13 Jehu met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and ſaid, Who are ye? and they anſwered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah: and we go down to ſalute the children of the king, and the children of the 26 Surely, I have ſeen yeſterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his ſons, ſaith the Lord.) We do not find in all the hiſtory of Naboth, any mention of the death of his ſons; but it is no uncommon thing for the ſcripture to ſupply in one place, what has been omitted in another. It is not therefore improbable, that, as Naboth had been accuſed of high treaſon, all his family were involved in his ruin. And what ſeems to confirm this opinion is, that we do not find Elijah ever putting the king in mind of reſtoring the vineyard to Naboth's children; nor the king, during his repentance, ever once thinking to do it; probably becauſe there were no heirs left.

32 And there looked out to him two or three eunuchs.) Theſe perſons, in the eaſtern countries, attended upon queens in their chambers; and, by their great care and diligence, were often promoted to places of great truſt and profit.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

9 I conſpired againſt my maſter, and ſlew him: but who ſlew all theſe? As if he had ſaid, I own indeed that I was a principal inſtrument in ſlaying the late king; but am I more culpable than the friends, the counſellors, the officers of Ahab? I do not pretend to conceal my fault; but the approbation which the principal men of Iſrael hath given it, in taking up arms againſt the houſe of Ahab, and the wonderful ſucceſs that has attended my enterprize, are ſurely proofs that God hath raiſed me up to execute the ſentence he long ſince denounced againſt him; and you ought to acknowledge, in this caſe, the interpoſition of his hand.

queen.

14 And he ſaid, Take them alive. And they took them alive, and ſlew them at the pit of the ſhearing-houſe, even two and forty men; neither left he any of them.

15 And when he was departed thence, he lighted on Jehonadab, the ſon of Rechab, coming to meet him: and he ſaluted him, and ſaid to him, Is thine heart right, as my heart is with my heart? and Jehonadab anſwered, It is. If it be, give me thine hand. And he gave him his hand; and he took him up to him into the chariot.

16 And he ſaid, Come with me, and ſee my zeal for the Lord. So they made him ride in his chariot.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he ſlew all that remained unto Ahab in Samaria, till he had deſtroyed him, according to the ſaying of the Lord which he ſpake unto Elijah.

18 ¶ And Jehu gathered all the people together, and ſaid unto them, Ahab ſerved Baal a little, but Jehu ſhall ſerve him much.

19 Now therefore, call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all his ſervants, and all his prieſts, let none be wanting; for I have a great ſacrifice to do to Baal: whoſoever ſhall be wanting, he ſhall not live. But Jehu did it in ſubtilty, to the intent that he might deſtroy the worſhippers of Baal.

20 And Jehu ſaid, Proclaim a ſolemn aſſembly for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 And Jehu ſent through all Iſrael; and all the worſhippers of Baal came, ſo that there was not a man left that came not: and they came into the houſe of Baal; and the houſe of Baal was full from one end to another.

22 And he ſaid unto him that was over the veſtry, Bring forth veſtments for all the worſhippers of Baal. And he brought them forth veſtments.

23 And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the ſon of Rachab, into the houſe of Baal, and ſaid unto the worſhippers of Baal, Search, and look that there be here with you none of the ſervants of the Lord, but the worſhippers of Baal only.

24 And when they went in to offer ſacrifices and burnt-offerings, Jehu appointed fourſcore men without, and ſaid, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands eſcape, he that letteth him go, his life ſhall be for the life of him.

25 And it came to paſs as ſoon as he had made an end of offering the burnt-offering, that Jehu ſaid to the guard and to the captains, Go in, and ſlay them: let none come forth. And they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword: and the guard and the captains caſt them out, and went to the city of the houſe of Baal.

26 And they brought forth the images out of the houſe of Baal, and burned them:

27 And they brake down the images of Baal, and brake down the houſe of Baal, and made it a draught-houſe unto this day.

28 Thus Jehu deſtroyed Baal out of Iſrael.

29 ¶ Howbeit, from the ſins of Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin, Jehu departed not from after them, to wit, the golden calves that were in Beth-el, and that were in Dan.

30 And the Lord ſaid unto Jehu, Becauſe thou haſt done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes, and haſt done unto the houſe of Ahab according to all that was in mine heart, thy children of the fourth generation ſhall ſit on the throne of Iſrael.

31 But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the Lord God of Iſrael with all his heart; for he departed not from the ſins of Jeroboam, which made Iſrael to ſin.

32 In thoſe days the Lord began to cut Iſrael ſhort: and Hazael ſmote them in all the coaſts of Iſrael;

33 From Jordan eaſtward, all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and the Manaſſites, from Aroer, (which is by the river Arnon,) even Gilead and Baſhan.

34 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehu, and all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

35 And Jehu ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria: and Jehoahaz his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

36 And the time that Jehu reigned over Iſrael in Samaria was twenty and eight years.

CHAP. XI.

Jehoaſh ſaved from Athaliah's maſſacre.

AND when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah, ſaw that her ſon was dead, ſhe aroſe and deſtroyed all the ſeed royal.

2 But Jehoſheba, the daughter of king Joram, ſiſter of Ahaziah, took Jehoaſh, the ſon of Ahaziah, and ſtole him from among the king's ſons which were ſlain; and they hid him, even him and his nurſe, in the bed-chamber from Athaliah, ſo that he was not ſlain.

3 And he was with her hid in the houſe of the Lord ſix years: and Athaliah did reign over the land.

4 ¶ And the ſeventh year Jehoiada ſent and fetched the rulers over hundreds, with the captains and the guard, and brought them to him into the houſe of the Lord, and made a covenant with them, and took an oath of them in the houſe of the Lord, and ſhewed them the king's ſon.

5 And he commanded them, ſaying, This is the thing that ye ſhall do; a third part of you that enter in on the ſabbath ſhall even be keepers of the watch of the king's houſe.

6 And a third part ſhall be at the gate of Sur; and a third part at the gate behind the guard: ſo ſhall ye keep the watch of the houſe, that it be not broken down.

7 And two parts of all you that go forth on the ſabbath, even they ſhall keep the watch of the houſe of 25 And they went to the city of the houſe of Baal.) The large buildings, adjoining to the temple of that idol, where the prophets and the prieſts, with the ſervants reſided, and called a city from their being ſo very ſpacious.

27 Made it a draught-houſe unto this day.) Which was the higheſt contempt that could poſſibly be put upon it. To this kind of puniſhment the decree which Darius made in favour of the Jews, plainly alludes: "Whoever ſhall alter this word, let timber be pulled down from his houſe, and being ſet up, let him be hanged thereon, and let his houſe be made a dunghill."

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 And when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah ſaw that her ſon was dead, ſhe aroſe, and deſtroyed all the ſeed royal.) The terrible fate of theſe royal families cannot be read without horror: The whole offspring of Jeroboam, Baaſha and Ahab, kings of Iſrael, was cut off for their idolatry, ſo that there was not one left; and the kings of Judah having contracted an affinity with the houſe of Ahab, and being by them ſeduced into the ſame crime, were ſo deſtroyed by three ſucceſſive maſſacres, that there was but one left. For firſt Jehoram ſlew all his brethren; then Jehu ſlew all his brother's children; and now Athaliah deſtroyed all that her executioners could meet with: enraged to ſee all Ahab's family cut off, ſhe determined to do the ſame by the houſe of David.

4 Jehoiada.) He was a perſon of great authority, and knowing that Athaliah was an uſurper, and that he had the right heir in his poſſeſſion, thought he had ſufficient warrant to dethrone her, and ſet up him who had the undoubted title to the crown.

the Lord about the king.

8 And ye ſhall compaſs the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand: and he that cometh within the ranges let him be ſlain; and be ye with the king as he goeth out, and as he cometh in.

9 And the captains over the hundreds did according to all things that Jehoiada the prieſt commanded: and they took every man his men that were to come in on the ſabbath, with them that ſhould go out on the ſabbath, and came to Jehoiada the prieſt.

10 And to the captains over hundreds did the prieſt give king David's ſpears and ſhields, that were in the temple of the Lord.

11 And the guard ſtood, every man with his weapons in his hand, round about the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left corner of the temple, along by the altar and the temple.

12 And he brought forth the king's ſon, and put the crown upon him, and gave him the teſtimony: and they made him king, and anointed him; and they clapped their hands, and ſaid, God ſave the king.

13 And when Athaliah heard the noiſe of the guard, and of the people, ſhe came to the people into the temple of the Lord.

14 And when ſhe looked, behold, the king ſtood by a pillar, as the manner was, and the princes and the trumpeters by the king: and all the people of the land rejoiced, and blew with trumpets. And Athaliah rent her clothes, and cried, Treaſon, treaſon!

15 But Jehoiada the prieſt commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the hoſt, and ſaid unto them, Have her forth without the ranges: and him that followeth her kill with the ſword. For the prieſt had ſaid, Let her not be ſlain in the houſe of the Lord.

16 And they laid hands on her, and ſhe went by the way by the which the horſes came into the king's houſe; and there was ſhe ſlain.

17 And Jehoiada made a covenant between the Lord and the king and the people, that they ſhould be the Lord's people; between the king alſo and the people.

18 And all the people of the land went into the houſe of Baal, and brake it down; his altars and his images brake they in pieces throughly, and ſlew Mattan the prieſt of Baal before the altars. And the prieſt appointed officers over the houſe of the Lord.

19 And he took the rulers over hundreds, and the captains, and the guard, and all the people of the land: and they brought down the king from the houſe of the Lord, and came by the way of the gate of the guard to the king's houſe. And he ſat on the throne of the kings.

20 And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was in quiet; and they ſlew Athaliah with the ſword beſide the king's houſe.

21 Seven years old was Jehoaſh when he began to reign.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jehoaſh reigneth well all the days of Jehoiada. 19 He is ſlain by his ſervants.

IN the ſeventh year of Jehu, Jehoaſh began to reign; and forty years reigned he in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Zibiah of Beer-ſheba.

2 And Jehoaſh did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord all his days wherein Jehoiada the prieſt inſtructed him.

3 But the high places were not taken away: the people ſtill ſacrificed and burned incenſe in the high places.

4 And Jehoaſh ſaid to the prieſts, All the money of the dedicated things that is brought into the houſe of the Lord, even the money of every one that paſſeth the account, the money that every man is ſet at, and all the money that cometh into any man's heart to bring into the houſe of the Lord,

5 Let the prieſts take it to them, every man of his acquaintance; and let them repair the breaches of the houſe, whereſoever any breach ſhould be found.

6 But it was ſo, that in the three and twentieth year of king Jehoaſh, the prieſts had not repaired the breaches of the houſe.

7 Then king Jehoaſh called for Jehoiada the prieſt, and the other prieſts, and ſaid unto them, Why repair ye not the breaches of the houſe? now therefore, receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it for the breaches of the houſe.

8 And the prieſts conſented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repair the breaches of the houſe.

9 But Jehoiada the prieſt took a cheſt, and bored a hole in the lid of it, and ſet it beſide the altar, on the right ſide as one cometh into the houſe of the Lord: and the prieſts that kept the door put therein all the money that was brought into the houſe of the Lord.

10 And it was ſo, when they ſaw that there was much money in the cheſt, that the king's ſcribe and the high prieſt came up, and they put up in bags, and told the money that was found in the houſe of the Lord.

11 And they gave the money, being told, into the hands of them that did the work, that had the overſight of the houſe of the Lord: and they laid it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought upon the houſe of the Lord.

12 And to maſons, and hewers of ſtone, and to buy timber and hewed ſtone to repair the breaches of the houſe of the Lord, and for all that was laid out for the houſe to repair it.

13 Howbeit, there were not made for the houſe of the Lord bowls of ſilver, ſnuffers, baſons, trumpets, any veſſels of gold, or veſſels of ſilver, of the money that was brought into the houſe of the Lord:

14 But they gave that to the workmen, and repaired

10 And to the captains over hundreds did the prieſts give king David's ſpears and ſhields, &c.) The captains and other officers who were admitted to a knowledge of Jehoiada's deſigns, came into the temple unarmed, for fear of giving ſuſpicion. But as David had erected a kind of ſacred armoury in one of the apartments of the temple, wherein the weapons and other trophies, taken by himſelf and ſeveral other generals from their enemies, and, as monuments of their victories, had dedicated them to the Lord, were depoſited; Jehoiada took care, upon this occaſion, to have this magazine of military ſtores opened, ſo that there was no want of any ſort of arms on this occaſion.

14 The king ſtood by a pillar, as the manner was.) There were two famous pillars erected by Solomon in the porch of the temple, called Jachin and Boaz; and near one of theſe, in all probability, the royal throne was placed; unleſs we can ſuppoſe, that what is here called a pillar was the brazen ſcaffold erected by Solomon at the dedication of the temple, and was afterwards placed for the king upon any ſolemn occaſion, and on which there was doubtleſs a throne of ſtate.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

4 Even the money of every one that paſſeth the account.) This money the prieſts and Levites were commanded to go through the kingdom and collect, for repairing the temple, 2 Chron. xxiv. 5.

15 They reckoned not with the men, &c.) They were ſo confident of the honeſty of the overſeers, that they took no account of the money they had paid to the workmen.

therewith the houſe of the Lord.

15 Moreover, they reckoned not with the men into whoſe hand they delivered the money to be beſtowed on workmen: for they dealt faithfully.

16 The treſpaſs-money and ſin-money was not brought into the houſe of the Lord: it was the prieſts.

17 Then Hazael king of Syria went up, and fought againſt Gath, and took it: and Hazael ſet his face to go up to Jeruſalem.

18 And Jehoaſh king of Judah took all the hallowed things that Jehoſhaphat and Jehoram, and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah had dedicated, and his own hallowed things, and all the gold that was found in the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and in the king's houſe, and ſent it to Hazael king of Syria: and he went away from Jeruſalem.

19 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Jehoaſh, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And his ſervants aroſe, and made a conſpiracy, and ſlew Jehoaſh in the houſe of Millo, which goeth down to Silla.

21 For Jozachar the ſon of Shimeath, and Jehozabad the ſon of Shomer, his ſervants, ſmote him, and he died; and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David. And Amaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Jehoahaz's wicked reign. 14 Eliſha's death. 20 His bones revive a dead man.

IN the three and twentieth year of Joaſh the ſon of Ahaziah king of Judah Jehoahaz the ſon of Jehu began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned ſeventeen years.

2 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, and followed the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, which made Iſrael to ſin: he departed not therefrom.

3 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Iſrael, and he delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of Ben-hadad the ſon of Hazael, all their days.

4 And Jehoahaz beſought the Lord, and the Lord hearkened unto him for he ſaw the oppreſſion of Iſrael, becauſe the king of Syria oppreſſed them,

5 And the Lord gave Iſrael a ſaviour, ſo that they went out from under the hand of the Syrians: and the children of Iſrael dwelt in their tents, as before time.

6 Nevertheleſs, they departed not from the ſins of the houſe of Jeroboam, who made Iſrael ſin, but walked therein: and there remained the grove alſo in Samaria.

7 Neither did he leave of the people to Jehoahaz, but fifty horſemen, and ten chariots, and ten thouſand footmen: for the king of Syria had deſtroyed them, and had made them like the duſt by threſhing.

8 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

9 And Jehoahaz ſlept with his fathers: and they buried him in Samaria. And Joaſh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

10 In the thirty and ſeventh year of Joaſh king of Judah began Jehoaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned ſixteen years

11 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord; he departed not from all the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael ſin: but he walked Therein.

12 And the reſt of the acts of Joaſh, and all that he did, and his might wherewith he fought againſt Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael;

13 And Joaſh ſlept with his fathers; and Jeroboam ſat upon his throne: and Joaſh was buried in Samaria with the kings of Iſrael.

14 ¶ Now Eliſha was fallen ſick of his ſickneſs whereof he died; and Joaſh the king of Iſrael came down unto him, and wept over his face, and ſaid, O my father, my father, the chariot of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof!

15 And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Take bow and arrows. And he took unto him bow and arrows.

16 And he ſaid to the king of Iſrael, Put thine hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it: and Eliſha put his hands upon the king's hands.

17 And he ſaid, Open the window eaſtward. And he opened it. Then Eliſha ſaid, Shoot. And he ſhot. And he ſaid, The arrow of the Lord's deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria; for thou ſhall ſmite the Syrians in Aphek till thou have conſumed them.

18 And he ſaid, Take the arrows: and he took them. And he ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, Smite upon the ground: and he ſmote thrice, and ſtayed.

19 And the man of God was wroth with him, and ſaid, Thou ſhouldeſt have ſmitten five or ſix times, then hadſt thou ſmitten Syria till thou hadſt conſumed it: whereas now thou ſhalt ſmite Syria but thrice.

20 ¶ And Eliſha died, and they buried him. And the bands of the Moabites invaded the land at the coming in of the year.

21 And it came to paſs, as they were burying a man, that, behold, they ſpied a band of men; and they caſt the man into the ſepulchre of Eliſha: and when the man was let down, and touched the bones of Eliſha, he revived, and ſtood up on his feet.

22 But Hazael king of Syria oppreſſed Iſrael all the days of Jehoahaz.

23 And the Lord was gracious unto them, and had compaſſion on them, and had reſpect unto them, becauſe of his covenant with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and would not deſtroy them, neither caſt he them from his preſence as yet.

24 So Hazael the king of Syria died: and Ben-hadad his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

25 And Jehoaſh, the ſon of Jehoahaz, took again out of the hand of Ben-hadad the ſon of Hazael, the cities which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war: three times did Joaſh beat him and recovered the cities of Iſrael.

Commentary on Chap. XIII.

5 And the Lord gave Iſrael a ſaviour, &c) This ſeems to be the ſon of Jehoahaz, who was probably joint ſovereign with his father: for, we read, that when Hazael was dead, he delivered them from their bondage.

15 Take bow and arrows, &c.) This was a ſymbolical action, whereby the prophet intended to repreſent the victory he had promiſed the king of Iſrael againſt the Syrians, more plainly to him. His ſhooting the arrow eaſtward, or to that part of the country which the Syrians had taken from his anceſtors, was a declaration of war againſt them: and ſtriking the arrows againſt the ground was an indication how many victories he was to obtain; but his ſtopping his hand too ſoon, denoted the imperfection of his conqueſts, which diſpleaſed the prophet.

21 They caſt the man into the ſepulchre of Eliſha.) The common places of burial among the Hebrews were in the fields, or caverns dug in a rock, with niches for the corpſe to be placed in, and at the entrance of the ſepulchre there was an hewn ſtone which might be removed at pleaſure.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Amaziah's good reign. 17 He his ſlain by a conſpiracy. 21 Azariah ſucceedeth him.

IN the ſecond year of Joaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael, reigned Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah.

2 He was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty and nine years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jeruſalem.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, yet not like David his father: he did according to all things as Joaſh his father did.

4 Howbeit, the high places were not taken away: as yet the people did ſacrifice and burnt incenſe on the high places.

5 And it came to paſs as ſoon as the kingdom was confirmed in his hand, that he ſlew his ſervants which had ſlain the king his father.

6 But the children of the murderers he ſlew not: according unto that which is written in the book of the law of Moſes, wherein the Lord commanded, ſaying, The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, nor the children be put to death for the fathers; but every man ſhall be put to death for his own ſin.

7 He ſlew of Edom in the valley of Salt ten thouſand, and took Selah by war, and called the name of it Joktheel unto this day.

8 Then Amaziah ſent meſſengers to Jehoaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz ſon of Jehu king of Iſrael, ſaying, Come, let us look one another in the face.

9 And Jehoaſh the king of Iſrael ſent to Amaziah king of Judah, ſaying, The thiſtle that was in Lebanon ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, ſaying, Give thy daughter to my ſon to wife: and there paſſed by a wild beaſt that was in Lebanon, and trod down the thiſtle.

10 Thou haſt indeed ſmitten Edom, and thine heart hath lifted thee up: glory of this, and tarry at home: for why ſhouldeſt thou meddle to thy hurt, that thou ſhouldeſt fall, even thou, and Judah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not hear: therefore Jehoaſh king of Iſrael went up: and he and Amaziah king of Judah looked one another in the face at Beth-ſhemeſh, which belongeth to Judah.

12 And Judah was put to the worſe before Iſrael, and they fled every man to their tents.

13 And Jehoaſh king of Iſrael took Amaziah king of Judah, the ſon of Jehoaſh the ſon of Ahaziah, at Beth-ſhemeſh, and came to Jeruſalem, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem, from the gate of Ephraim unto the corner-gate, four hundred cubits.

14 And he took all the gold and ſilver, and all the veſſels that were found in the houſe of the Lord, and in the treaſures of the king's houſe, and hoſtages, and returned to Samaria.

15 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoaſh which he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

16 And Jehoaſh ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Iſrael; and Jeroboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

17 ¶ And Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah lived after the death of Jehoaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael fifteen years.

18 And the reſt of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

19 Now they made a conſpiracy againſt him in Jeruſalem: and he fled to Lachiſh; but they ſent after him to Lachiſh, and ſlew him there.

20 And they brought him on horſes: and he was buried at Jeruſalem with his fathers in the city of David.

21 ¶ And all the people of Judah took Azariah, which was ſixteen years old, and made him king inſtead of his father Amaziah.

22 He built Elath, and reſtored it to Judah, after that the king ſlept with his fathers.

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah, Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael began to reign in Samaria, and reigned forty and one years.

24 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord: he departed not from all the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

25 He reſtored the coaſt of Iſrael from the entering of Hamath unto the ſea of the plain, according to the word of the Lord God of Iſrael which he ſpake by the hand of his ſervant Jonah, the ſon of Amittai, the prophet, which was of Gath-hepher.

26 For the Lord ſaw the affliction of Iſrael, that it was very bitter: for there was not any ſhut up, nor any left, nor any helper for Iſrael.

27 And the Lord ſaid not that he would blot out the name of Iſrael from under heaven: but he ſaved them by the hand of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh.

28 Now the reſt of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did, and his might, how he warred, and how he recovered Damaſcus and Hamath, which belonged to Judah, for Iſrael, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

29 And Jeroboam ſlept with his fathers, even with the kings of Iſrael: and Zechariah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XV.

Azariah's good reign.

IN the twenty and ſeventh year of Jeroboam king of Iſrael began Azariah, ſon of Amaziah king of Judah, to reign.

2 Sixteen years old was he when he began to reign,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

6 But the children of the murderers he ſlew not.) In this he acted like a good man, and contrary to the wicked cuſtom of many kingdoms, where, if any one be guilty of high treaſon, not only he but his children likewiſe, though neither conſcious nor partakers of any of his traitorous practices, are equally devoted to deſtruction, leſt they ſhould form any faction againſt the prince, or ſeek revenge for their father's death.

9 The thiſtle that was in Lebanon, ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, &c.) It was a cuſtom among the eaſtern people to deliver their ſentiments in parables, in which great part of their wiſdom conſiſted: and conſidering the circumſtances of the perſon this apology was addreſſed to, was a ſmall prince flushed with a little ſucceſs, and thence impatient of enlarging his kingdom, no ſimilitude could be better adapted than that of a thiſtle, a low contemptible weed; but upon its having drawn blood from ſome traveller, grows proud, and affects an equality with the cedar, the pride and ornament of the foreſt, till in the midſt of all its arrogance and preſumption, a wild beaſt treads it under foot; which Jehoaſh intimates would be the fate of Amaziah, if he continued to provoke a prince of his ſtrength and power.

25 By the hand of his ſervant Jonah, &c.) The only mention we have of this prophet is in this paſſage, and the account of his famous miſſion to Nineveh. The prophecies by which he encouraged Jeroboam to declare war againſt the king of Syria, are not recorded in ſcripture.

and he reigned two and fifty years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Jecoliah of Jeruſalem.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah had done;

4 Save that the high places were not removed: the people ſacrificed and burnt incenſe ſtill on the high places.

5 And the Lord ſmote the king, ſo that he was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a ſeveral houſe: and Jotham the king's ſon was over the houſe, judging the people of the land.

6 And the reſt of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

7 So Azariah ſlept with his fathers; and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David: and Jotham his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

8 In the thirty and eighth year of Azariah king of Judah did Zechariah, the ſon of Jeroboam reign over Iſrael in Samaria ſix months.

9 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, as his fathers had done: he departed not from the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

10 And Shallum, the ſon of Jabeſh, conſpired againſt him, and ſmote him before the people, and ſlew him, and reigned in his ſtead.

11 And the reſt of the acts of Zechariah, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.

12 This was the word of the Lord which he ſpake unto Jehu, ſaying, Thy ſons ſhall ſit on the throne of Iſrael unto the fourth generation. And ſo it came to paſs.

13 Shallum, the ſon of Jabeſh, began to reign in the nine and thirtieth year of Uzziah king of Judah: and he reigned a full month in Samaria.

14 For Menahem, the ſon of Gadi, went up from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and ſmote Shallum the ſon of Jabeſh, in Samaria, and ſlew him, and reigned in his ſtead.

15 And the reſt of the acts of Shallum, and the conſpiracy which he made, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.

16 Then Menahem ſmote Tiphſah, and all that were therein, and the coaſts thereof from Tirzah: becauſe they opened not to him, therefore he ſmote it; and all the women therein that were with child he ripped up.

17 In the nine and thirtieth year of Azariah king of Judah began Menahem the ſon of Gadi, to reign over Iſrael, and reigned ten years in Samaria.

18 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord: he departed not all his days from the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

19 And Pul the king of Aſſyria came againſt the land: and Menahem gave Pul a thouſand talents of ſilver, that his hand might be with him to confirm the kingdom in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money of Iſrael, even of all the mighty men of wealth, of each man fifty ſhekels of ſilver, to give to the king of Aſſyria. So the king of Aſſyria turned back, and ſtayed not there in the land.

21 And the reſt of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

22 And Menahem ſlept with his fathers: and Pekahiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the ſon of Menahem began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned two years.

24 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord: he departed not from the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

25 But Pekah the ſon of Remaliah, a captain of his, conſpired againſt him, and ſmote him in Samaria, in the palace of the king's houſe, with Argob, and Arieh, and with him fifty men of the Gileadites: and killed him, and reigned in his room.

26 And the reſt of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.

27 In the two and fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah the ſon of Remaliah began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned twenty years.

28 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord: he departed not from the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

29 In the days of Pekah king of Iſrael came Tiglath-pileſer king of Aſſyria, and took Ijon, and Abel-beth-maachah, and Janoah, and Kedeſh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and carried them captive to Aſſyria.

30 And Hoſhea, the ſon of Elah, made a conſpiracy againſt Pekah, the ſon of Remaliah, and ſmote him, and ſlew him, and reigned in his ſtead, in the twentieth year of Jotham, the ſon of Uzziah.

31 And the reſt of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.

32 ¶ In the ſecond year of Pekah, the ſon of Remaliah king of Iſrael, began Jotham, the ſon of Uzziah, king of Judah to reign.

33 Five and twenty years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Jeruſha the daughter of Zadok.

34 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord: he did according to all that his father Uzziah had done.

35 Howbeit, the high places were not removed: the people ſacrificed and burned incenſe ſtill on the

Commentary on Chap. XV.

5 The Lord ſmote the king ſo that he was a leper.) The cauſe of this ſtroke is related at large, 2 Chron. xxvi. 23. By a ſeveral houſe the Jews underſtand a houſe in the country, where he might have liberty to take his pleaſure, but not intermeddle with public affairs.

12 Thy ſons ſhall ſit on the throne of Iſrael, to the fourth generation.) God had promiſed Jehu, that for executing his will upon the houſe of Ahab, he would continue the crown of Iſrael in his family for four generations; and accordingly Jehoahaz, Jehoaſh, Jeboaam, and Zachariah ſucceeded him: but becauſe he did it, not ſo much in obedience to the divine command, as to ſatisfy his private and ambitious views, and in a method of cruelty abhorred by the divine nature, God cuts his family ſhort as ſoon as he had fulfilled his promiſe to him, and thereby accompliſhed the prophecy of Hoſea, I will revenge the blood of Jezreel upon the houſe of Jehu, and will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdom of the houſe of Iſrael, ch. i. 4. And perhaps it was in remembrance of this prophecy, as well as of the promiſe, which gave the kingdom to Jehu's poſterity during four generations only, that Shallum was encouraged to attempt the life of Zachariah.

29 And carried them captive to Aſſyria.) This was the ſecond deportation of the Iſraelites, the firſt being made by Pull, who carried away the two tribes and a half, ſituated beyond Jordan. The king of Aſſyria alſo carried away, among other rich plunder, the golden calf, which Jeroboam had ſet up at Beth-el, and which had been conſtantly worſhipped by the ten tribes: and the other which was in Dan, was taken away by Pul, when he invaded Galilee, in which province that city ſtood.

36 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

37 (In thoſe days the Lord began to ſend againſt Judah, Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah, the ſon of Remaliah.)

38 And Jotham ſlept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers, in the city of David his father: and Ahaz his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Ahaz's wicked reign. 17 He ſpoileth the temple. 19 Hezekiah ſucceedeth him.

IN the ſeventeenth year of Pekah, the ſon of Remaliah, Ahaz, the ſon of Jotham king of Judah, began to reign.

2 Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign, and reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem, and did not that which was right in the ſight of the Lord his God, like David his father.

3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Iſrael; yea, and made his ſon to paſs through the fire, according to the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord caſt out from before the children of Iſrael.

4 And he ſacrificed and burnt incenſe in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 Then Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah, ſon of Remaliah king of Iſrael, came up to Jeruſalem to war: and they beſieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him.

6 At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath to Syria, and drave the Jews from Elath: and the Syrians came to Elath, and dwelt there unto this day.

7 So Ahaz ſent meſſengers to Tiglath-pileſer king of Aſſyria, ſaying, I am thy ſervant, and thy ſon: come up and ſave me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Iſrael, which riſe up againſt me.

8 And Ahaz took the ſilver and gold that was found in the houſe of the Lord, and in the treaſures of the king's houſe, and ſent it for a preſent to the king of Aſſyria.

9 And the king of Aſſyria hearkened unto him; for the king of Aſſyria went up againſt Damaſcus, and took it, and carried the people of it captive to Kir, and ſlew Rezin.

10 And king Ahaz went to Damaſcus to meet Tiglath-pileſer king of Aſſyria, and ſaw an altar that was at Damaſcus: and king Ahaz ſent to Urijah the prieſt the faſhion of the altar and the pattern of it, according to all the workmanſhip thereof.

11 And Urijah the prieſt built an altar according to all that the king Ahaz had ſent from Damaſcus: ſo Urijah the prieſt made it againſt king Ahaz came from Damaſcus.

12 And when the king was come from Damaſcus, the king ſaw the altar: and the king approached to the altar, and offered thereon.

13 And he burned his burnt-offering and his meat-offering, and poured his drink-offering, and ſprinkled the blood of his peace-offerings upon the altar.

14 And he brought alſo the brazen altar which was before the Lord, from the fore-front of the houſe, from between the altar and the houſe of the Lord, and put it on the north ſide of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Urijah the prieſt, ſaying, Upon the great altar burn the morning burnt-offering, and the evening meat-offering; and the king's burnt ſacrifice, and his meat-offering; with the burnt-offering of all the people of the land, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings; and ſprinkle upon it all the blood of the burnt-offering, and all the blood of the ſacrifice; and the brazen altar ſhall be for me to enquire by.

16 Thus did Urijah the prieſt, according to all that king Ahaz had commanded.

17 ¶ And king Ahaz cut off the borders of the baſes, and removed the laver from off them; and took down the ſea from off the braſen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of ſtones.

18 And the covert for the ſabbath that they had built in the houſe, and the king's entry without, turned he from the houſe of the Lord, for the king of Aſſyria.

19 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And Ahaz ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David; and Hezekiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Hoſhea's wicked reign. 5 Samaria for their ſins is captivated.

IN the twelfth year of Ahaz, king of Judah, began Hoſhea, the ſon of Elah, to reign in Samaria over Iſrael nine years.

2 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, but not as the kings of Iſrael that were before him.

3 ¶ Againſt him came up Shalmaneſer king of Aſſyria; and Hoſhea became his ſervant, and gave him preſents.

4 And the king of Aſſyria found conſpiracy in Hoſhea: for he had ſent meſſengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no preſent to the king of Aſſyria, as he had done year by year; therefore the king of Aſſyria ſhut him up, and bound him in priſon.

5 ¶ Then the king of Aſſyria came up throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria, and beſieged it three years.

6 In the ninth year of Hoſhea the king of Aſſyria took Samaria, and carried Iſrael away into Aſſyria, and placed them in Halah, and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For ſo it was, that the children of Iſrael had ſinned againſt the Lord their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods,

8 And walked in the ſtatutes of the heathen, (whom

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

4 Hoſhea---ſent meſſengers to So king of Egypt, &c.) This So, with whom Hoſhea entered into confederacy, is, in profane authors, called Sabacon, the famous Ethiopian mentioned by Herodotus and Diodorus Siculus, who in the beginning of Hezekiah's reign invaded Egypt; and having taken Boccaris, the king thereof, priſoner, cauſed him to be burnt alive, and then ſeized on his kingdom.

the Lord caſt out from before the children of Iſrael, and of the kings of Iſrael, which they had made.

9 And the children of Iſrael did ſecretly thoſe things that were not right againſt the Lord their God, and they built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.

10 And they ſet them up images and groves in every high hill, and under every green tree:

11 And there they burnt incenſe in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the Lord carried away before them; and wrought wicked things to provoke the Lord to anger.

12 For they ſerved idols, whereof the Lord had ſaid unto them, Ye ſhall not do this thing.

13 Yet the Lord teſtified againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, by all the prophets and by all the ſeers, ſaying, Turn ye from your evil ways, and keep my commandments, and my ſtatutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I ſent to you by my ſervants the prophets.

14 Notwithſtanding, they would not hear, but hardened their necks like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the Lord their God.

15 And they rejected his ſtatutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his teſtimonies which he teſtified againſt them, and they followed vanity, and became vain, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the Lord had charged them that they ſhould not do like them.

16 And they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, and made them molten images, even two calves, and made a grove and worſhipped all the hoſt of heaven, and ſerved Baal.

17 And they cauſed their ſons and their daughters to paſs through the fire, and uſed divination and enchantments, and ſold themſelves to do evil in the ſight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger.

18 Therefore the Lord was very angry with Iſrael, and removed them out of his ſight: there was none left but the tribe of Judah only.

19 Alſo Judah kept not the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked in the ſtatutes of Iſrael which they made.

20 And the Lord rejected all the ſeed of Iſrael, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of ſpoilers, until he had caſt them out of his ſight.

21 For he rent Iſrael from the houſe of David; and they made Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, king: and Jeroboam drave Iſrael from following the Lord, and made them ſin a great ſin.

22 For the children of Iſrael walked in all the ſins of Jeroboam which he did: they departed not from them;

23 Until the Lord removed Iſrael out of his ſight, as he had ſaid by all his ſervants the prophets. So was Iſrael carried away out of their own land to Aſſyria unto this day.

24 And the king of Aſſyria brought men from Babylon and from Cuthah, and from Ava, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria, inſtead of the children of Iſrael: and and they poſſeſſed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 And ſo it was, at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they feared not the Lord: therefore the Lord ſent lions among them, which ſlew ſome of them.

26 Wherefore they ſpake to the king of Aſſyria, ſaying, The nations which thou haſt removed and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land: therefore he hath ſent lions among them, and behold, they ſlay them, becauſe they know not the manner of the God of the land.

27 Then the king of Aſſyria commanded, ſaying, Carry thither one of the prieſts whom ye brought from thence, and let them go and dwell there, and let him teach them the manner of the God of the land.

28 Then one of the prieſts, whom they had carried away from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they ſhould fear the Lord.

29 Howbeit, every nation made gods of their own, and put them in the houſes of the high places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

30 And the men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Aſhima.

31 And the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burnt their children in fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech the gods of Sepharvaim.

32 So they feared the Lord, and made unto themſelves of the loweſt of them prieſts of the high places, which ſacrificed for them in the houſes of the high places.

33 They feared the Lord, and ſerved their own gods, after the manner of the nations whom they carried away from thence.

34 Unto this day they do after the former manners: they fear not the Lord, neither do they after their ſtatutes, or after their ordinances, or after the law and commandment which the Lord commanded the children of Jacob, whom he named Iſrael:

35 With whom the Lord had made a covenant, and charged them, ſaying, Ye ſhall not fear other gods, nor bow yourſelves to them, nor ſerve them, nor ſacrifice to them:

36 But the Lord, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt with great power, and a ſtretched-out arm, him ſhall ye fear, and him ſhall ye worſhip, and to him ſhall ye do ſacrifice.

37 And the ſtatutes, and the ordinances, and the law and the commandment, which he wrote for you, ye ſhall obſerve to do for evermore: and ye ſhall not fear other gods.

38 And the covenant that I have made with you ye ſhall not forget, neither ſhall ye fear other gods.

39 But the Lord your God ye ſhall fear; and he ſhall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit, they did not hearken, but they did after their former manner.

41 So theſe nations feared the Lord, and ſerved their graven images, both their children and their chil-

14 They--did not believe in the Lord their God.) This was the ſource of all the ſins they committed; they did not believe the prophets of the Lord, but liſtened to deceivers.

25 They feared not the Lord; therefore the Lord ſent lions among them, &c.) It has been aſked, why theſe new inhabitants ſhould be afflicted with theſe creatures, for not fearing the Lord, when the Iſraelites, who feared the Lord as little as they, were never afflicted with any ſuch thing? But it ſhould be remembered, that though the Iſraelites were addicted to idolatry, yet they did not deny the Divine Power and Providence: they only imagined that their idols were the intermediate cauſes, whereby the bleſſings of the ſupreme God might be conveyed to them; whereas theſe newcomers believed the idols they worſhipped to be the true gods, and had no conceptions of an Almighty Being, who made and governed the world. The God of Iſrael they took to be ſuch a one as their own, a topical god, whoſe power and care extended no farther than to one particular nation and people; and therefore, to rectify their ſentiments in this particular, he took this method to let them know that all the beaſts of the foreſt were his; and that, whenever he is incenſed with a people, he does not want inſtruments to execute his wrath: the air, the earth, the elements, and creatures of every kind, can avenge him, and puniſh the tranſgreſſors.

dren's children: as did their fathers ſo do they unto this day.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Hezekiah's good reign. 4 He deſtroyeth idolatry, and proſpereth. 9 Samaria is carried captive for their ſins.

NOW it came to paſs in the third year of Hoſhea ſon of Elah king of Iſrael, that Hezekiah the ſon of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.

2 Twenty and five years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jeruſalem. His mother's name alſo was Abi, the daughter of Zechariah.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that David his father did.

4 ¶ He removed the high places, and brake the images, and cut down the groves, and brake in pieces the braſen ſerpent that Moſes had made: for unto thoſe days the children of Iſrael did burn incenſe to it: and he called it Nehuſhtan.

5 He truſted in the Lord God of Iſrael; ſo that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor any that were before him.

6 For he clave to the Lord, and departed not from following him, but kept his commandments, which the Lord commanded Moſes.

7 And the Lord was with him; and he proſpered whitherſoever he went forth: and he rebelled againſt the king of Aſſyria, and ſerved him not.

8 He ſmote the Philiſtines, even unto Gaza, and the borders thereof, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs in the fourth year of king Hezekiah, which was the ſeventh year of Hoſhea ſon of Elah king of Iſrael, that Shalmaneſer king of Aſſyria came up againſt Samaria, and beſieged it.

10 And at the end of three years they took it: even in the ſixth year of Hezekiah, that is the ninth year of Hoſhea king of Iſrael, Samaria was taken.

11 And the king of Aſſyria did carry away Iſrael unto Aſſyria, and put them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes:

12 Becauſe they obeyed not the voice of the Lord their God, but tranſgreſſed his covenant, and all that Moſes the ſervant of the Lord commanded, and would not hear them, nor do them.

13 Now in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah did Sennacherib king of Aſſyria come up againſt all the fenced cities of Judah, and took them.

14 And Hezekiah king of Judah ſent to the king of Aſſyria to Lachiſh, ſaying, I have offended; return from me: that which thou putteſt on me, will I bear. And the king of Aſſyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of ſilver, and thirty talents of gold.

15 And Hezekiah gave him all the ſilver that was found in the houſe of the Lord, and in the treaſures of the king's houſe.

16 At that time did Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple of the Lord, and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Aſſyria.

17 And the king of Aſſyria ſent Tartan, and Rabſaris, and Rab-ſhakeh from Lachiſh to king Hezekiah, with a great hoſt againſt Jeruſalem. And they went up and came to Jeruſalem. And when they were come up, they came and ſtood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is the high way of the fuller's field.

18 And when they had called to the king, there came out to them Eliakim the ſon Hilkiah, which was over the houſehold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joaſh the ſon of Aſaph the recorder.

19 And Rab-ſhakeh ſaid unto them, Speak ye now to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the great king, the king of Aſſyria, What confidence is this wherein thou truſteſt?

20 Thou ſayeſt, (but they are but vain words) I have counſel and ſtrength for the war. Now on whom doſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?

21 Now, behold, thou truſteſt upon the ſtaff of this bruiſed reed, even upon Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: ſo is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that truſt on him.

22 But if ye ſay unto me, we truſt in the Lord our God: is not that he whoſe high places, and whoſe altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath ſaid to Judah and Jeruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar in Jeruſalem?

23 Now therefore, I pray thee, give pledges to my lord the king of Aſſyria, and I will deliver thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders upon them.

24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the leaſt of my maſter's ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen?

25 Am I now come up without the Lord againſt this place to deſtroy it? the Lord ſaid to me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

26 Then ſaid Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joaſh, unto Rab-ſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy ſervants in the Syrian language; for we underſtand it: and talk not with us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rab-ſhakeh ſaid unto them, Hath my maſter ſent me unto thy maſter, and to thee, to ſpeak theſe words? hath he not ſent me to the men which ſit on the wall, that they may eat their own dung and drink their own piſs with you?

28 Then Rab-ſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſpake, ſaying, Hear the word of the great king, the king of Aſſyria;

---

41 So theſe nations feared the Lord, and ſerved their graven images.) That is, they joined the worſhip of their own idols with that of the Lord God of Iſrael: in the ſame manner as the Iſraelites before them had blended the worſhip of the golden calves with that of the Holy One of Iſrael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

4 He removed the high places.) He did not ſtay till he was firmly ſettled in his kingdom before he began a reformation in religion, though he muſt know that he run a great hazard in attempting to aboliſh idolatry, which had been confirmed by ſo many years preſcription. But he truſted in the Lord his God, whom he knew was both able and willing to ſupport him in ſo laudible an undertaking.

And he called it Nehuſhtan.) That is, mere braſs; as if he had ſaid, It is ſurpriſing how any perſon could be ſo ſtupid to worſhip this ſerpent, or flatter himſelf that it had any power to ſave, when it is only common braſs!

14 Three hundred talents of ſilver, and thirty talents of gold.) This ſum amounts nearly to three hundred and fifty one thouſand pounds of our money.

21 Now, behold, thou truſteſt upon the ſtaff of this bruiſed reed, even upon Egypt, &c.) This compariſon is excellently adapted to denote an ally, that is not only weak and unable to help, but alſo dangerous to thoſe who rely on him for ſuccour: and his repreſenting the power of Egypt to be as brittle as the reeds growing on the banks of the Nile, (for to theſe doubtleſs the Syrian orator alludes) is a great beauty in the ſimilitude. It muſt, however, be allowed, that what he here mentions in contempt of the ſtrength of Egypt, ſavours more of oſtentation than truth; for the Aſſyrian army having lately made an attempt to ſubdue that kingdom, was now returned with diſgrace.

29 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he ſhall not be able to deliver you out of his hand.

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you truſt in the Lord, ſaying, The Lord will ſurely deliver us, and this city ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

31 Hearken not unto Hezekiah: for thus ſaith the king of Aſſyria, Make an agreement with me by a preſent, and come out to me, and then eat ye every man of his own vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his ciſtern:

32 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil-olive and honey, that ye may live, and not die: and hearken not unto Hezekiah, when he perſuadeth you, ſaying, The Lord will deliver us.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered at all his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

34 Where are the gods of Hamath, and Arpad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah? have they delivered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the countries that have delivered their country out of mine hand, that the Lord ſhould deliver Jeruſalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and anſwered him not a word. For the king's commandment was, ſaying, Anſwer him not.

37 Then came Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, which was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joaſh the ſon of Aſaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rab-ſhakeh.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Hezekiah mourning, ſendeth to Iſaiah to pray for them. 6 He comforteth them. 8 Sennacherib ſendeth a blaſphemous letter to Hezekiah. 14 Hezekiah's prayer. 35 An angel ſlayeth the Aſſyrians. 36 Sennacherib is ſlain by his ſons.

AND it came to pass when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes and covered himſelf with ſackcloth, and went into the houſe of the Lord.

2 And he ſent Eliakim, which was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and the elders of the prieſts, covered with ſackcloth, to Iſaiah the prophet, the ſon of Amoz.

3 And they ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and blaſphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth.

4 It may be the Lord thy God will hear all the words of Rab-ſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God: and will reprove the words which the Lord thy God hath heard: wherefore, lift up thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the ſervants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 ¶ And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou haſt heard, with which the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt upon him, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and ſhall return to his own land; and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land.

8 ¶ So Rab-ſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 And when he heard ſay of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight againſt thee; he ſent meſſengers again unto Hezekiah ſaying,

10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God in whom thou truſteſt deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands, by deſtroying them utterly; and ſhalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed: as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelaſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and Ivah?

14 ¶ And Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the meſſengers, and read it; and Hezekiah went up into the houſe of the Lord, and ſpread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord God of Iſrael, which dwelleſt between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; thou haſt made heaven and earth.

16 Lord, bow down thine ear, and hear: open, Lord, thine eyes, and ſee; and hear the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent him to reproach the living God.

17 Of a truth, Lord, the kings of Aſſyria have deſtroyed the nations and their lands.

18 And have caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and ſtone; therefore they have deſtroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beſeech thee, ſave thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the Lord God, even thou only.

20 ¶ Then Iſaiah, the ſon of Amoz, ſent to Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, That which thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria, I have heard.

21 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn; the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee.

22 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

23 By thy meſſengers thou haſt reproached the Lord, and haſt ſaid, With the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the height of the mountains, to the

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

3 The children are come to the birth, &c.) A proverbial expreſſion for a critical time of extremity in any caſe.

8 So Rab-ſhakeh returned.) The army he brought with him did not retire from before Jeruſalem, but himſelf returned to give his maſter an account of his expedition.

21 The virgin, the daughter of Sion—the daughter of Jeruſalem.) By the daughter of Sion, he means the people that inhabited the upper part of the city, and by the daughter of Jeruſalem, the people of the lower part: they ſhaked their heads, that is, they laughed him to ſcorn—he calls Sion a virgin, becauſe this fortreſs, ſince David conquered it, remained inviolable.

ſides of Lebanon, and will cut down the tall cedar-trees thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof: and I will enter into the lodgings of his borders, and into the foreſt of his Carmel.

24 I have digged and drunk ſtrange waters, and with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of beſieged places.

25 Haſt thou not heard long ago how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte fenced cities into ruinous heaps.

26 Therefore their inhabitants were of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded, they were as the graſs of the field, and as the green herb, as the graſs on the houſe-tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up.

27 But I know thy abode, and thy going out, and thy coming-in, and thy rage againſt me.

28 Becauſe thy rage againſt me, and thy tumult, is come up into mine ears, therefore I will put my hook in thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt.

29 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch things as grow of themſelves, and in the ſecond year that which ſpringeth of the ſame: and in the third year ſow ye and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

30 And the remnant that is eſcaped of the houſe of Judah ſhall yet again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.

31 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and they that eſcape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts ſhall do this.

32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhield, nor caſt a bank againſt it.

33 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return, and ſhall not come into this city ſaith the Lord.

34 For I will defend this city to ſave it, for mine own ſake and for my ſervant David's ſake.

35 ¶ And it came to paſs that night that the angel of the Lord went out and ſmote in the camp of the Aſſyrians an hundred fourſcore and five thouſand: and when they aroſe early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpſes.

36 ¶ So Sennacherib king of Aſſyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

37 And it came to paſs, as he was worſhipping in the houſe of Niſrock his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his ſons ſmote him with the ſword: and they eſcaped into the land of Armenia. And Eſarhaddon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XX.

1 Hezekiah, receiving a meſſage of death, by prayer hath his life lengthened. 8 The ſun goeth ten degrees backward for a ſign. 20 Manaſſeh ſucceedeth him.

IN thoſe days was Hezekiah ſick unto death: and the prophet Iſaiah, the ſon of Amoz, came to him, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Set thine houſe in order; for thou ſhalt die, and not live.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall, and prayed unto the Lord, ſaying,

3 I beſeech thee, O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight. And Hezekiah wept ſore.

4 And it came to paſs, afore Iſaiah was gone out into the middle court, that the word of the Lord came to him, ſaying,

5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee: on the third day thou ſhalt go up unto the houſe of the Lord.

6 And I will add unto thy days fifteen years: and I will deliver thee, and this city, out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria: and I will defend this city for mine own ſake, and for my ſervant David's ſake.

7 And Iſaiah ſaid, Take a lump of figs: and they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.

8 ¶ And Hezekiah ſaid unto Iſaiah, What ſhall be the ſign that the Lord will heal me, and that I ſhall go up into the houſe of the Lord the third day?

9 And Iſaiah ſaid, This ſign ſhalt thou have of the Lord, that the Lord will do the thing that he hath ſpoken: ſhall the ſhadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah anſwered, It is a light thing for the ſhadow to go down ten degrees: nay, but let the ſhadow return backward ten degrees.

11 And Iſaiah the prophet cried unto the Lord: and he brought the ſhadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down in the dial of Ahaz.

12 At that time Berodach-baladan, the ſon of Baladan king of Babylon, ſent letters and a preſent unto Hezekiah; for he had heard that Hezekiah had been ſick.

13 And Hezekiah hearkened unto them, and ſhewed them all the houſe of his precious things, the ſilver, and the gold, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his dominion that Hezekiah ſhewed them not.

14 Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Heze-

28 I will put my hook in thy noſe, &c.) To underſtand this we muſt know that the dromedaries of the eaſtern countries were governed by a bridle, which was faſtened to a ring fixed in the noſtrils of the beaſt.

29 This ſhall be a ſign unto thee, &c.) Theſe words are ſpoken to Hezekiah, and was not intended as a truth of this prophecy, becauſe it was not to happen till after that was fulfilled, but as a token of God's peculiar favour and protection, after Sennacherib was departed; for though the Aſſyrians had trodden down the corn, and the ſucceeding year was the ſabbatical or year of reſt to the land, when they were not permitted either to ſow or reap, yet God promiſes that the earth ſhould of itſelf, without any labour from them, produce ſufficient for their ſupport.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

3 Hezekiah wept ſore.) Being as yet childleſs, he ſaw the royal family of David extinct, and all hopes of the Meſſiah's being born of his race, abortive; he ſaw the impending ſtorm that threatened his country with deſolation, and as there was none of his family to ſucceed him, all things in danger of falling into confuſion: this diſmal proſpect melted him into tears, as it ſeemed to extinguiſh all his hopes, and conſummate all his fears.

11 He brought the ſhadow ten degrees backward, &c.) The generality of interpreters have ſuppoſed that the ſun actually went backward, but had that been the caſe, it muſt have been perceived all over the world, which certainly it was not. The prophet here does not mean that the ſun went backward, but only the rays of the ſun: the words may be thus naturally rendered, The beams of the ſun (being miraculouſly inflected) cauſed the ſhadow to go back over ten of the degrees, or ſteps, which it had paſſed upon Ahaz's dial, or flight of ſteps. For to ſuppoſe, that the whole fabric of the univerſe went back, or that even the earth alone did ſo, is unneceſſary, becauſe the buſineſs was not to lengthen the day, as in Joſhua, but only to put the ſhadow back ſo many degrees. Beſides, the original word does not ſignify a dial, but ſteps or ſtairs, and ſo the LXX render it: for the gnomon dial is not ſuppoſed to have been invented till about 200 years after Hezekiah.

kiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country, even from Babylon.

15 And he ſaid, What have they ſeen in thine houſe? and Hezekiah anſwered, All the things that are in mine houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſures that I have not ſhewed them.

16 And Iſaiah ſaid unto Hezekiah, Hear the word of the Lord:

17 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore unto this day, ſhall be carried into Babylon: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the Lord.

18 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away; and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

19 Then ſaid Hezekiah unto Iſaiah, Good is the word of the Lord which thou haſt ſpoken. And he ſaid, Is it not good, if peace and truth be in my days?

20 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought water into the city, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21 And Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers: and Manaſſeh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Manaſſeh's reign. 3 His great idolatry. 19 Amon's wicked reign. 23 He being ſlain, Joſiah is made king.

MANASSEH was twelve years old when he began to reign, and reigned fifty and five years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Hephzi-bah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, after the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

3 ¶ For he built up again the high places which Hezekiah his father had deſtroyed; and he reared up altars for Baal, and made a grove, as did Ahab king of Iſrael; and worſhipped all the hoſt of heaven, and ſerved them.

4 And he built altars in the houſe of the Lord, of which the Lord ſaid, In Jeruſalem will I put my name.

5 And he built altars for all the hoſt of heaven in the two courts of the houſe of the Lord.

6 And he made his ſon paſs through the fire, and obſerved times, and uſed enchantments, and dealt with familiar ſpirits and wizards: he wrought much wickedneſs in the ſight of the Lord to provoke him to anger.

7 And he ſet a graven image of the grove that he had made in the houſe, of which the Lord ſaid to David, and to Solomon his ſon, In this houſe, and in Jeruſalem, which I have choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael will I put my name for ever.

8 Neither will I make the feet of Iſrael move any more out of the land which I gave their fathers; only if they will obſerve to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that my ſervant Moſes commanded them.

9 But they hearkened not: and Manaſſeh ſeduced them to do more evil than did the nations whom the Lord deſtroyed before the children of Iſrael.

10 And the Lord ſpake by his ſervants the prophets, ſaying,

11 Becauſe Manaſſeh king of Judah hath done theſe abominations, and hath done wickedly, above all that the Amorites did, which were before him, and hath made Judah alſo to ſin with his idols:

12 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Behold, I am bringing ſuch evil upon Jeruſalem and Judah, that whoſoever heareth of it, both his ears ſhall tingle.

13 And I will ſtretch over Jeruſalem the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the houſe of Ahab: and I will wipe Jeruſalem, as a man wipeth a diſh, wiping it, and turning it upſide down.

14 And I will forſake the remnant of mine inheritance, and deliver them into the hand of their enemies, and they ſhall become a prey and a ſpoil to all their enemies;

15 Becauſe they have done that which was evil in my ſight, and have provoked me to anger, ſince the day their fathers came forth out of Egypt, even unto this day.

16 Moreover, Manaſſeh ſhed innocent blood very much, till he had filled Jeruſalem from one end to another, beſides his ſin wherewith he made Judah to ſin, in doing that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord.

17 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Manaſſeh, and all that he did, and his ſin that he ſinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

18 And Manaſſeh ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own houſe, in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

19 ¶ Amon was twenty and two years old when he began to reign; and he reigned two years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Meſhullemeth, the daughter of Haruz, of Jotbah.

20 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, as his father Manaſſeh did.

21 And he walked in all the ways that his father walked in, and ſerved the idols that his father ſerved, and worſhipped them:

22 And he forſook the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the Lord.

23 ¶ And the ſervants of Amon conſpired againſt him, and ſlew the king in his own houſe.

24 And the people of the land ſlew all them that had conſpired againſt king Amon; and the people of the land made Joſiah his ſon king in his ſtead.

25 Now the reſt of the acts of Amon which he did,

19 Good is the word of the Lord which thou haſt ſpoken, &c.) The words in the original are to this effect: What thou haſt told me from God is good; I willingly ſubmit to it. But ſhall peace and truth continue for my time? "May I flatter myſelf with ſo much happineſs? and will God be ſo gracious as not to revoke the promiſe he hath made me of a longer continuance here? He is doubtleſs juſt in every thing he ſends upon us; but do theſe threats relate to me, or to my poſterity only? Happy for me, if he will ſuſpend the execution of his wrath during the ſmall portion of time I have to live."

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

4 He built altars in the houſe of the Lord.) That is, in the very ſanctuary: for the outward courts are mentioned in the next verſe.

13 I will ſtretch over Jeruſalem the line of Samaria.) This metaphor is taken from thoſe who uſe a line in laying out the lots and portions of ſeveral perſons: and ſignifies that Jeruſalem ſhould ſuffer the ſame fate as Samaria had done; be viſited with famine, demoliſhed by the enemy, and its inhabitants carried into captivity.

22 He forſook the Lord God of his fathers.) The moſt abominable wickedneſs and licentiouſneſs had overſpread the land: among the princes, judges, and magiſtrates, reigned injuſtice, oppreſſion, cruelty, and all manner of debauchery; among the prieſts, pride, avarice, and a ſhameful traffic of religion; among the people, ignorance and impiety; altars reared every where to Baal, and the whole hoſt of heaven, and the very ſanctuary polluted by the filthy idol of the groves.

are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

26 And he was buried in his sepulchre, in the garden of Uzza: and Josiah his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Josiah's good reign. 3 He taketh care for the repair of the temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the book of the law. 15 Huldah prophesieth the destruction of Jerusalem.

JOSIAH was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jerusalem: and his mother's name was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Boscath.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left.

3 ¶ And it came to pass in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, that the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, the scribe, to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 Go up to Hilkiah the high priest, that he may sum the silver which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the door have gathered of the people;

5 And let them deliver it into the hand of the doers of the work, that have the oversight of the house of the Lord: and let them give it to the doers of the work, which is in the house of the Lord, to repair the breaches of the house,

6 Unto carpenters, and builders, and masons, and to buy timber and hewn stone to repair the house.

7 Howbeit, there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, because they dealt faithfully.

8 ¶ And Hilkiah the high priest said unto Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord. And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 And Shaphan the scribe came to the king, and brought the king word again, and said, Thy servants have gathered the money that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of them that do the work, that have the oversight of the house of the Lord.

10 And Shaphan the scribe shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath delivered me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the book of the law, that he rent his clothes.

12 And the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Achbor the son of Michaiah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asahiah a servant of the king's, saying,

13 Go ye, enquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Judah concerning the words of this book that is found; for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according unto all that which is written concerning us.

14 So Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah, went unto Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe; now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college. And they communed with her.

15 ¶ And she said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah hath read.

17 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18 But to the king of Judah, which sent you to enquire of the Lord, thus shall ye say to him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, As touching the words which thou hast heard;

19 Because thine heart was tender, and thou hast humbled thyself before the Lord, when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, that they should become a desolation and a curse, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me; I also have heard thee, saith the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered into thy grave in peace; and thine eyes shall not see all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Josiah causeth the book to be read. 3 He reneweth the covenant of the Lord, 4 and destroyeth idolatry.

AND the king sent, and they gathered unto him all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem.

2 And the king went up into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, both small and great: and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the Lord.

3 ¶ And the king stood by a pillar, and made a covenant before the Lord, to walk after the Lord, and to keep his commandments, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all their heart, and all their soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book: and all the people stood to the covenant.

4 ¶ And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the keepers of the door, to bring forth out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the grove, and for all the host of heaven: and he burnt them without Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron, and carried the ashes of them unto Beth-el.

5 And he put down the idolatrous priests, whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incense in the high places, in the cities of Judah, and in the places

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

8 I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord.) This was doubtless the original book of the law written by Moses himself, and which was by God's command, laid up in the most holy place. The Jews tell us, that Manasseh had blotted the name of Jehovah out of all the copies he could find: Hilkiah therefore rejoiced that he had found the original, by which all the rest might be corrected.

20 Behold I will gather thee to thy fathers.) A strange promise, had it meant no more but, Thou shalt lie down with thy fathers, or thou shalt die: but certainly here is a twofold blessing, viz. that his soul should be gathered to the souls of his pious ancestors, and his earthly part should likewise be joined to theirs, and laid in the sepulchres of the kings of Judah.

places round about Jerusalem; them also that burnt incense unto Baal, to the sun, and to the moon, and to the planets, and to all the host of heaven.

6 And he brought out the grove from the house of the Lord, without Jerusalem unto the brook Kidron, and burnt it at the brook Kidron, and stamped it small to powder, and cast the powder thereof upon the graves of the children of the people.

7 And he brake down the houses of the sodomites, that were by the house of the Lord, where the women wove hangings for the grove.

8 And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burnt incense, from Geba to Beer-sheba, and brake down the high places of the gates that were in the entering in of the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were on a man's left hand at the gate of the city.

9 Nevertheless, the priests of the high places came not up to the altar of the Lord in Jerusalem, but they did eat of the unleavened bread among their brethren.

10 And he defiled Topheth, which is in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man might make his son or his daughter to pass through the fire to Molech.

11 And he took away the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun, at the entering in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nathan-melech the chamberlain, which was in the suburbs, and burned the chariots of the sun with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord, did the king beat down, and brake them down from thence, and cast the dust of them into the brook Kidron.

13 And the high places that were before Jerusalem, which were on the right hand of the mount of corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel had builded for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the children of Ammon, did the king defile.

14 And he brake in pieces the images, and cut down the groves, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Moreover, the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he brake down, and burned the high place, and stamped it small to powder, and burned the grove.

16 And as Josiah turned himself, he spied the sepulchres that were there in the mount, and sent, and took the bones out of the sepulchres, and burned them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words.

17 Then said he, What title is that that I see? and the men of the city told him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God which came from Judah, and proclaimed these things that thou hast done against the altar of Beth-el.

18 And he said, Let him alone, let no man move his bones. So they let his bones alone, with the bones of the prophet that came out of Samaria.

19 And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord to anger, Josiah took away, and did to them according to all the acts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he slew all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars, and burnt men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

21 And the king commanded all the people, saying, Keep the passover unto the Lord your God, as it is written in the book of this covenant.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover, from the days of the judges that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, nor of the kings of Judah;

23 But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this passover was holden to the Lord in Jerusalem.

24 Moreover, the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards, and the images, and the idols, and all the abominations that were spied in the land of Judah, and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might perform the words of the law, which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 And like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding, the Lord turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, wherewith his anger was kindled against Judah, because of all the provocations that Manasseh had provoked him withal.

27 And the Lord said, I will remove Judah also out of my sight, as I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem, which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, My name shall be there.

28 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

Commentary on Chap. XXIII.

6 And he brought out the grove from the house of the Lord.) That is, he brought out Ashteroth or the image of the grove.

11 And he took away the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun, &c.) It is certain, that all the people of the East worshipped the sun, and consecrated horses to it; because they were nimble and swift in their course. But then the question is, whether the people of Judah sacrificed these horses to the sun, as it is certain the Armenians, Persians, and other nations did, or only led them out in state every morning to salute the sun at its rising. The ancients had also a notion that the sun itself was carried about in a chariot; and therefore chariots, as well as horses, were dedicated to it. Since we find these horses and chariots, standing so near together, the horses we may suppose, were designed to draw the chariots, and the chariots to draw the king and his great officers out at the east-gate of the city, every morning to salute and adore the sun at its coming above the horizon.

13 Mount of corruption.) That is the mount of olives, but called by the prophets the Mount of Corruption, from the idols that were placed there, and which corrupted the people from their religion.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover since the days of the judges, &c.) That is, the rites and ceremonies of this feast were more strictly observed now, than they had ever been since the days of Samuel, it being held according to the ancient form prescribed in the authentic book of the law, lately found by Hilkiah the priest.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, &c.) All the purity of Josiah, his great zeal and indefatigable industry to extirpate idolatry, were not sufficient to obtain a revocation of the sentence God had pronounced against Judah, for their abominable transgressions. It seems indeed, that though the people complied with the present reformation, yet it proceeded principally from a fear of incurring the king's displeasure, or of feeling the severity of his justice. Their hearts were not right towards God, as appears from the writings of the prophets who lived in these times; and therefore God had no reason to reverse his decree.

29 In his days Pharaoh-nechoh king of Egypt went up againſt the king of Aſſyria to the river Euphrates: and king Joſiah went againſt him: and he ſlew him at Megiddo when he had ſeen him.

30 And his ſervants carried him in a chariot dead from Migiddo, and brought him to Jeruſalem, and buried him in his own ſepulchre. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the ſon of Joſiah and anointed him, and made him king in his father's ſtead.

31 Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

32 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

33 And Pharaoh-nechoh put him in bands at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jeruſalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundred talents of ſilver, and a talent of gold.

34 And Pharaoh-nechoh made Eliakim the ſon of Joſiah king in the room of Joſiah his father, and turned his name to Jehoiakim, and took Jehoahaz away: and he came to Egypt, and died there.

35 And Jehoiakim gave the ſilver and the gold to Pharaoh; but he taxed the land to give the money according to the commandment of Pharaoh: he exacted the ſilver and the gold of the people of the land, of every one according to his taxation, to give it unto Pharaoh-nechoh.

36 Jehoiakim was twenty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

37 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Jehoiakim rebelling, procureth his own ruin. 10 Jeruſalem is taken. 17 Zedekiah's evil reign

IN his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his ſervant three years; then he turned and rebelled againſt him.

2 And the Lord ſent againſt him bands of the Chaldees, and bands of the Syrians, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the children of Ammon, and ſent them againſt Judah to deſtroy it, according to the word of the Lord which he ſpake by his ſervants the prophets.

3 Surely at the commandment of the Lord came this upon Judah, to remove them out of his ſight, for the ſins of Manaſſeh, according to all that he did;

4 And alſo for the innocent blood that he ſhed, (for he filled Jeruſalem with innocent blood,) which the Lord would not pardon.

5 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

6 So Jehoiakim ſlept with his fathers: and Jehoiachin his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

7 And the king of Egypt came not again any more out of his land: for the king of Babylon had taken, from the river of Egypt unto the river Euphrates, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

8 Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign: and he reigned in Jeruſalem three months; and his mother's name was Nehuſhta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jeruſalem.

9 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.

10 ¶ At that time the ſervants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up againſt Jeruſalem, and the city was beſieged.

11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came againſt the city, and his ſervants did beſiege it.

12 And Jehoiachin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he, and his mother and his ſervants, and his princes, and his officers; and the king of Babylon took him in the eighth year of his reign.

13 And he carried out thence all the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and the treaſures of the king's houſe, and cut in pieces all the veſſels of gold which Solomon king of Iſrael had made in the temple of the Lord, as the Lord had ſaid.

14 And he carried away all Jeruſalem, and all the princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even ten thouſand captives, and all the craftſmen, and ſmiths: none remained, ſave the pooreſt ſort of the people of the land.

15 And he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon, and the king's mother, and the king's wives, and his officers, and the mighty of the land, thoſe carried he into captivity from Jeruſalem to Babylon.

16 And all the men of might, even ſeven thouſand, and craftſmen and ſmiths a thouſand, all that were ſtrong and apt for war, even them the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.

17 ¶ And the king of Babylon made Mattaniah his father's brother king in his ſtead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was twenty and one years old when he began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

20 For through the anger of the Lord it came to paſs in Jeruſalem and Judah, until he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Jeruſalem is beſieged. 4 Zedekiah taken, his ſons ſlain, and his eyes put out.

AND it came to paſs in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he, and all his hoſt, againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it: and they built forts againſt it round about.

2 And the city was beſieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

3 And on the ninth day of the fourth month, the 34 He took Jehoahaz away, and he came to Egypt and died there,) Thus the prophecy of Jeremiah was literally fulfilled. "Weep ye not for the dead, (that is Joſiah) neither bemoan him, but weep ſore for him that goeth away: for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native country, &c. but he ſhall die in the place whither they have led him captive," Jer. xxii. 10, 11, 12.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

3 Surely at the commandment of the Lord came this upon Judah,) Manaſſeh had ſo corrupted the whole body of the people, that all Joſiah's pains to reform them were of no effect: and accordingly we find, that, immediately upon his death, his ſon relapſed into the old idolatry.

13 And he cut in pieces all the veſſels of gold which Solomon—had made in the temple of the Lord.) That is, he carried them with him to Babylon, or cut them off from the temple; for theſe veſſels were preſerved entire, and not cut to pieces, as appears from Dan. v. 2.

famine prevailed in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land.

4 ¶ And the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled by night, by the way of the gate, between two walls, which is by the king's garden: (now the Chaldees were againſt the city round about;) and the king went the way toward the plain.

5 And the army of the Chaldees purſued after the king, and overtook him in the plains of Jericho: and all his army were ſcattered from him.

6 So they took the king, and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah; and they gave judgment upon him.

7 And they ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of braſs, and carried him to Babylon.

8 ¶ And in the fifth month, on the ſeventh day of the month, (which is the nineteenth year of king Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon,) came Nebuzar-adan, captain of the guard, a ſervant of the king of Babylon, unto Jeruſalem.

9 And he burnt the houſe of the Lord, and the king's houſe, and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and every great man's houſe burnt he with fire.

10 And all the army of the Chaldees, that were with the captain of the guard, brake down the walls of Jeruſalem round about.

11 Now the reſt of the people that were left in the city, and the fugitives that fell away to the king of Babylon, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan, the captain of the guard, carry away.

12 But the captain of the guard left of the poor of the land to be vine-dreſſers and huſbandmen.

13 And the pillars of braſs that were in the houſe of the Lord, and the baſes, and the braſen ſea, that was in the houſe of the Lord, did the Chaldees break in pieces, and carried the braſs of them to Babylon.

14 And the pots, and the ſhovels, and the ſnuffers, and the ſpoons, and all the veſſels of braſs, wherewith they miniſtered, took they away.

15 And the fire-pans, and the bowls, and ſuch things as were of gold in gold, and of ſilver in ſilver, the captain of the guard took away.

16 The two pillars, one ſea, and the baſes, which Solomon had made for the houſe of the Lord; the braſs of all theſe veſſels was without weight.

17 The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the chapiter upon it was braſs: and the height of the chapiter three cubits; and the wreathen-work, and pomegranates upon the chapiter round about, all of braſs; and like unto theſe had the ſecond pillar with wreathen work.

18 And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief prieſt, and Zephaniah the ſecond prieſt, and the three keepers of the door.

19 And out of the city he took an officer that was ſet over the men of war, and five men of them that were in the king's preſence, which were found in the city, and the principal ſcribe of the hoſt, which muſtered the people of the land, and threeſcore men of the people of the land that were found in the city:

20 And Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard took theſe, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babylon ſmote them, and ſlew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away out of their land.

22 And as for the people that remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, even over them he made Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan ruler.

23 And when all the captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, there came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Iſhmael the ſon of Nathaniah, and Johanan the ſon of Careah, and Seraiah the ſon of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the ſon of a Maachathite, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah ſware to them, and to their men, and ſaid unto them, Fear not to be the ſervants of the Chaldees: dwell in the land, and ſerve the king of Babylon, and it ſhall be well with you.

25 But it came to paſs in the ſeventh month, that Iſhmael the ſon of Nathaniah, the ſon of Eliſhama, of the ſeed royal, came, and ten men with him, and ſmote Gedaliah, that he died, and the Jews and the Chaldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 And all the people both ſmall and great, and the captains of the armies, aroſe, and came to Egypt; for they were afraid of the Chaldees.

27 And it came to paſs in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the ſeven and twentieth day of the month, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, did lift up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of priſon;

28 And he ſpake kindly to him, and ſet his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon,

29 And changed his priſon garments: and he did eat bread continually before him all the days of his life.

30 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him of the king, a daily rate for every day, all the days of his life.

Commentary on Chap. XXV.

7 And put out the eyes of Zedekiah—and carried him to Babylon.) Thus the two famous prophecies of Ezekiel and Jeremiah which ſeemed to contradict each other, were both fulfilled. I will bring him to Babylon to the lord of the Chaldeans, yet ſhall he not ſee it, though he die there, Ezek. xii. 13. He ſhall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and ſhall ſpeak to him mouth to mouth and his eyes ſhall behold his eyes, Jerem. xxxii. 4. Thus the word of the Lord, which he ſpake by his holy prophets, was fully accompliſhed: for Zedekiah was carried to Riblah, where he ſaw the king of Babylon, and ſpoke to him; but had afterwards his eyes put out, and was then carried to Babylon, where he was incapable of ſeeing the city.

9 He burnt the houſe of the Lord.) Thus was the celebrated temple, built by Solomon, laid in aſhes, after it had ſtood four hundred and twenty-four years three months and eight days, according to archbiſhop Uſher's computation.

21 So Judah was carried away.) Four hundred and ſixty eight years after the beginning of the reign of David; three hundred and eighty-eight years from the diviſion of the ten tribes from Judah and Benjamin, and one hundred and thirty-four ſince the deſtruction of the ten tribes, according to Uſher's account.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGUMENT.

It is not aſcertained which were firſt written, the Books of the Kings, or the Chronicles, ſince they each refer to the other. However that be, the latter are often more full and comprehenſive than the former; whence the Greek interpreters call theſe two books Paraleipomena, i. e. Supplements, or Additions, becauſe they contain many circumſtances omitted in the other hiſtorical books. Ezra is generally believed to be the author of theſe books. It is certain they were written after the Babyloniſh captivity, and in the reign of Cyrus, mention being made of that prince in the laſt chapter of the ſecond Book. They are a kind of abridgment of the ſacred hiſtory, from Adam to the return of the Jews from captivity.

CHAP. I.

1 Adam's line to Noah. 5 The ſons of Japheth. 8 The ſons of Ham. 17 The ſons of Shem. 24 Shem's line to Abraham. 29 Iſhmael's ſons. 32 The ſons of Keturah. 35 The poſterity of Abraham by Eſau.

ADAM, Sheth, Enoſh,
2 Kenan, Mahalaleel, Jered,
3 Henoch, Methuſhelah, Lamech,
4 Noah, Shem, Ham and Japheth,
5 ¶ The ſons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meſhech, and Tiras,
6 And the ſons of Gomer; Aſhchenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah.
7 And the ſons of Javan; Eliſhah, and Tarſhiſh, Kittim, and Dodanim.
8 ¶ The ſons of Ham; Cuſh, and Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.
9 And the ſons of Cuſh; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabta, and Raamah, and Sabtecha. And the ſons of Raamah; Sheba, and Dedan.
10 And Cuſh begat Nimrod; he began to be mighty upon the earth.
11 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, 12 And Pathruſim, and Caſluhim, (of whom came the Philiſtines,) and Caphthorim.
13 And Canaan begat Zidon his firſt-born, and Heth,
14 The Jebuſite alſo, and the Amorite, and the Girgaſhite,
15 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,
16 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite,
17 ¶ The ſons Shem; Elam, and Aſhur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram, and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meſhech.
18 And Arphaxad begat Shelah, and Shelah begat Eber.
19 And unto Eber were born two ſons; the name of the one was Peleg; becauſe in his days the earth was divided: and his brother's name was Joktan.
20 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazermaveth, and Jerah, 21 Hadoram alſo, and Uzal, and Diklah,
22 And Ebal, and Abimael, and Sheba,
23 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab. All theſe were the ſons of Joktan.
24 ¶ Shem, Arphaxad, Shelah,
25 Eber, Peleg, Reu,
26 Serug, Nahor, Terah,
27 Abram; the ſame is Abraham.
28 The ſons of Abraham: Iſaac and Iſhmael.
29 ¶ Theſe are their generations. The firſt-born of Iſhmael, Nebaioth: then Kedar, Adbeel, and Mibſam,
30 Miſhma, and Duma, Maſſa, Hadad, and Tema,
31 Jetur, Naphiſh, and Kedemah. Theſe are the ſons of Iſhmael.
32 ¶ Now the ſons of Keturah, Abraham's concubine: ſhe bare Zimran, and Jokſhan, and Medan, and Midian, and Iſhbak, and Shuah. And the ſons of Jokſhan; Sheba, and Dedan.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Adam, Seth, Enoſh.) In this chapter we have a compendious account of the poſterity of Adam to Noah; the poſterity of Noah by Japheth, Ham, and Shem, to Abraham, the father of the faithful: together with an account of the children of Abraham by Agar, Keturah, and Sarah, from whom the Iſraelites ſprung, and of whoſe ſeed the great Meſſiah was born in the fulneſs of time.

17 Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meſhech.) Theſe were not the ſons, but the grandſons of Shem, by Aram his youngeſt ſon, as appears from Gen. x. 22. But the ſcripture generally calls grandſons by the name of ſons. Thus Laban is called the ſon of Nahor, though he was only his grandſon by Bethuel, Gen. xxix. 5.

33 And the ſons of Midian: Ephah, and Epher, and Enoch, and Abidah, and Eldaah. All theſe are the ſons of Keturah.

34 And Abraham begat Iſaac. The ſons of Iſaac; Eſau, and Iſrael.

35 ¶ The ſons of Eſau; Eliphaz, Reuel, and Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah.

36 The ſons of Eliphaz; Teman, and Omar, Zephi, and Gatam, Kenaz, and Timna, and Amalek.

37 The ſons of Reuel; Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.

38 And the ſons of Seir; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, and Diſhon, and Ezar, and Diſhan.

39 And the ſons of Lotan; Hori, and Homam; and Timna was Lotan's ſiſter.

40 The ſons of Shobal; Alian, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shephi, and Onam. And the ſons of Zibeon; Ahiah, and Anah.

41 The ſons of Anah; Diſhon. And the ſons of Diſhon; Amram, and Eſhban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

42 The ſons of Ezer; Bilhan, and Zavan, and Jakan. The ſons of Diſhan; Uz, and Aran.

43 Now theſe are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before any king reigned over the children of Iſrael; Bela, the ſon of Beor: and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

44 And when Bela was dead, Jobab, the ſon of Zerah of Bozrah, reigned in his ſtead.

45 And when Jobab was dead, Huſham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his ſtead.

46 And when Huſham was dead, Hadad the ſon of Bedad, (which ſmote Midian in the field of Moab,) reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Avith.

47 And when Hadad was dead, Samlah of Maſrekah reigned in his ſtead.

48 And when Samlah was dead, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his ſtead.

49 And when Shaul was dead, Baal-hanan, the ſon of Achbor, reigned in his ſtead.

50 And when Baal-hanan was dead, Hadad reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Pai; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

51 Hadad died alſo. And the dukes of Edom were; Duke Timnah, duke Aliah, duke Jetheth,

52 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon,

53 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar.

54 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram. Theſe are the dukes of Edom.

CHAP. II.

1 The ſons of Iſrael. 3 The poſterity of Judah. 13 The children of Jeſſe. 18 Caleb's poſterity. 21 Hezron's poſterity. 25 Jerahmeel's poſterity.

THESE are the ſons of Iſrael; Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, Iſſachar, and Zebulun,

2 Dan, Joſeph, and Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Aſher.

3 ¶ The ſons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and Shelah: which three were born unto him of the daughter of Shua the Canaaniteſs. And Er, the firſt-born of Judah, was evil in the ſight of the Lord; and he ſlew him.

4 And Tamar his daughter-in-law bare him Pharez and Zerah. All the ſons of Judah were five.

5 The ſons of Pharez; Hezron, and Hamul.

6 And the ſons of Zerah; Zimri, and Ethan, and Heman, and Calcol, and Dara; five of them in all.

7 And the ſons of Carmi; Achar, the troubler of Iſrael, who tranſgreſſed in the thing accurſed.

8 And the ſons of Ethan; Azariah.

9 The ſons alſo of Hezron, that were born unto him; Jerahmeel, and Ram, and Chelubai.

10 And Ram begat Amminadab; and Amminadab begat Nahſhon, prince of the children of Judah;

11 And Nahſhon begat Salma, and Salma begat Boaz,

12 And Boaz begat Obed, and Obed begat Jeſſe.

13 ¶ And Jeſſe begat his firſt-born Eliab, and Abinadab the ſecond, and Shimma the third,

14 Nethaneel the fourth, Raddai the fifth,

15 Ozem the ſixth, David the ſeventh:

16 Whoſe ſiſters were Zeruiah, and Abigail. And the ſons of Zeruiah: Abiſhai, and Joab, and Aſahel, three.

17 And Abigail bare Amaſa: and the father of Amaſa was Jether the Iſhmeelite.

18 ¶ And Caleb the ſon of Hezron begat children of Azubah his wife, and of Jerioth: her ſons are theſe; Jeſher, and Shobab, and Ardon.

19 And when Azubah was dead, Caleb took unto him Ephrath, which bare him Hur.

20 And Hur begat Uri, and Uri begat Bezaleel.

21 ¶ And afterwards Hezron went in to the daughter of Michir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was threeſcore years old: and ſhe bare him Segub.

22 And Segub begat Jair, who had three and twenty cities in the land of Gilead.

23 And he took Geſhur, and Aram, with the towns of Jair, from them, with Kenath, and the towns thereof, even threeſcore cities: all theſe belonged to the ſons of Machir, the father of Gilead.

24 And after that Hezron was dead in Caleb-ephratah, then Abiah, Hezron's wife, bare him Aſhur, the father of Tekoah.

25 ¶ And the ſons of Jerahmeel, the firſt-born of Hezron, were Ram the firſt-born, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah.

26 Jerahmeel had alſo another wife, whoſe name was Atarah, ſhe was the mother of Onam.

27 And the ſons of Ram, the firſt-born of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, and Jamin, and Eker.

28 And the ſons of Onam were Shammai, and Jada. And the ſons of Shammai; Nadab, and Abiſhur.

29 And the name of the wife of Abiſhur was Abihail, and ſhe bare him Ahban, and Molid.

30 And the ſons of Nadab; Seled, and Appaim: but Seled died without children.

31 And the ſons of Appaim; Iſhi. And the ſons of Iſhi; Sheſhan. And the children of Sheſhan; Ahlai.

32 And the ſons of Jada, the brother of Shammai; Jether, and Jonathan; and Jether died without children.

38 And the ſons of Seir; Lotan, and Shobal, &c.) This Seir was neither Eſau, nor any of his poſterity; but the ancient Lord of the country of Seir, and from whom it doubtleſs had its name.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

3 The ſons of Judah.) The true reaſon why Judah is here placed firſt is, becauſe the Saviour of the world, the deſire of all nations, was to ſpring from that tribe, according to the celebrated prophecy of Jacob: The ſceptre ſhall not depart from Judah nor the lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come, Gen. xlix. 10.

7 Achar, the troubler of Iſrael.) His true name was Achan, but is here called Achar, which ſignifies troubler; becauſe of the ſin he committed in the accurſed thing, and brought wrath upon the whole congregation.

33 And the ſons of Jonathan: Peleth, and Zaza. Theſe were the ſons of Jerahmeel.

34 Now Sheſhan had no ſons, but daughters: and Sheſhan had a ſervant, an Egyptian, whoſe name was Jarha.

35 And Sheſhan gave his daughter to Jarha his ſervant to wife, and ſhe bare him Attai.

36 And Attai begat Nathan, and Nathan begat Zabad,

37 And Zabad begat Ephlal, and Ephlal begat Obed,

38 And Obed begat Jehu, and Jehu begat Azariah,

39 And Azariah begat Helez, and Helez begat Eleaſah,

40 And Eleaſah begat Siſamai, and Siſamai begat Shallum,

41 And Shallum begat Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begat Eliſhama.

42 Now the ſons of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel, were Meſha his firſt-born, which was the father of Ziph: and the ſons of Mareſhah, the father of Hebron.

43 And the ſons of Hebron: Korah, and Tappuah, and Rekem, and Shema.

44 And Shema begat Raham, the father of Jorkoam; and Rekem begat Shammai.

45 And the ſon of Shammai was Maon: and Maon was the father of Beth-zur.

46 And Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bare Haran, and Moza, and Gazez: and Haran begat Gazez.

47 And the ſons of Jahdai; Regem, and Jotham, and Geſhan, and Pelet, and Ephah, and Shaaph.

48 Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bare Sheber, and Tirhanah.

49 She bare alſo Shaaph, the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah, and the father of Gibea: and the daughter of Caleb was Achſah.

50 Theſe were the ſons of Caleb, the ſon of Hur, the firſt-born of Ephratah; Shobal, the father of Kirjath-jearim, 51 Salma, the father of Beth-lehem, Hareph, the father of Beth-gader.

52 And Shobal, the father of Kirjath-jearim, had ſons; Haroeh, and half of the Manahethites.

53 And the families of Kirjath-jearim; the Ithrites, and the Puhites, and the Shumathites, and the Miſhraites; of them came the Zarcathites, and the Eſhtaulites.

54 The ſons of Salma; Beth-lehem, and the Netophathites, Ataroth, the houſe of Joab, and half of the Manahethites, the Zorites.

55 And the families of the ſcribes which dwelt at Jabez; the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and Suchathites. Theſe are the Kenites that came of Hemath, the father of the houſe of Rechab.

CHAP. III.

1 The ſons of David. 10 His line to Zedekiah. 17 The ſucceſſors of Jeconiah.

NOW theſe were the ſons of David which were born unto him in Hebron; the firſt-born, Amnon, of Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs; the ſecond, Daniel, of Abigail the Carmeliteſs;

2 The third, Abſalom the ſon of Maachah the daughter of Talmai king of Geſhur; the fourth, Adonijah the ſon of Haggith;

3 The fifth, Shephatiah of Abital; the ſixth, Ithream by Eglah his wife.

4 Theſe ſix were born unto him in Hebron; and there he reigned ſeven years and ſix months: and in Jeruſalem he reigned thirty and three years.

5 And theſe were born unto him in Jeruſalem: Shimea, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon, four, of Bath-ſhua the daughter of Ammiel:

6 Ibhar alſo, and Eliſhama, and Eliphelet,

7 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

8 And Eliſhama, and Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine.

9 Theſe were all the ſons of David, beſide the ſons of the concubines, and Tamar their ſiſter.

10 And Solomon's ſon was Rehoboam; Abiah his ſon, Aſa his ſon, Jehoſhaphat his ſon,

11 Joram his ſon, Ahaziah his ſon, Joaſh his ſon,

12 Amaziah his ſon, Azariah his ſon, Jotham his ſon,

13 Ahaz his ſon, Hezekiah his ſon, Manaſſeh his ſon,

14 Amon his ſon, Joſiah his ſon.

15 And the ſons of Joſiah were, the firſt-born Johanan, the ſecond Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum.

16 And the ſons of Jehoiakim; Jeconiah his ſon, Zedekiah his ſon.

17 ¶ And the ſons of Jeconiah, Aſſir; Salathiel his ſon,

18 Malchiram alſo, and Pedaiah, and Shenazar, Jecamiah, Hoſhama, and Nedabiah.

19 And the ſons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel, and Shimei: and the ſons of Zerubbabel; Meſhullam, and Hananiah, and Shelomith their ſiſter;

20 And Haſhubah, and Ohel, and Berechiah, and Haſadiah, Juſhab-heſed, five.

21 And the ſons of Hananiah; Pelatiah, and Jeſaiah: the ſons of Rephaiah, the ſons of Arnan, the ſons of Obadiah, the ſons of Shechaniah.

22 And the ſons of Shechaniah; Shemaiah: and the ſons of Shemaiah; Hattuſh, and Igeal, and Bariah, and Neariah, and Shaphat, ſix.

23 And the ſons of Neariah; Elioenai, and Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three.

24 And the ſons of Elioenai were Hodaiah, and Eliaſhib, and Pelaiah, and Akno, and Johanan, and Dalaiah, and Anani, ſeven.

CHAP IV

1, 11 The poſterity of Judah by Caleb the ſon of Hur. 5 Of Aſhur the poſthumous ſon of Hezron. 9 Of Jabez, and his prayer. 21 The poſterity of Shelah, 24 and of Simeon. 39 Their conqueſt of Gedor, &c.

THE ſons of Judah: Pharez, Hezron, and Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal.

42 The father of Hebron.) The word Hebron here is the name of a perſon, not of a place, his poſterity being immediately mentioned.

49 The father of Gibea.) That is, the founder, prince, or ruler of Gibea, a city in the tribe of Judah; it being a common expreſſion to call the founder of a city, the father of it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

3 Eglah his wife.) The Jews are of opinion that this was Michael, the daughter of Saul, becauſe ſhe was his only legal wife; the others he took according to the cuſtom then reigning among the Iſraelites.

8 Eliſhama—Eliphelet.) Theſe words ſeem to be an interpolation, being before mentioned at the 6th verſe.

24 And the ſons of Elioenai, &c.) This chapter contains an exact genealogy of the family of David, as being the moſt conſiderable in the tribe of Judah, and from whom the great Redeemer of mankind was to be born.

2 And Reaiah the ſon of Shobal begat Jahath; and Jahath beget Ahumai, and Lahad. Theſe are the families of the Zorathites.

3 And theſe were of the father of Etam; Jezreel, and Iſhma, and Idbaſh. And the name of their ſiſter was Hazelelponi.

4 And Penuel the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Huſhah. Theſe are the ſons of Hur, the firſt-born of Ephratah, the father of Bethlehem.

5 ¶ And Aſhur the father of Tekoah had two wives, Helah and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hepher, and Temeni, and Haahaſhtari. Theſe were the ſons of Naarah.

7 And the ſons of Helah were, Zereth, and Jezoar, and Ethnan.

8 And Coz begat Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel, the ſon of Harum.

9 ¶ And Jabez was more honourable that his brethren: and his mother called his name Jabez, ſaying, Becauſe I bare him with ſorrow.

10 And Jabez called on the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Oh that thou wouldeſt bleſs me indeed, and enlarge my coaſt, and that thine hand might be with me, and that thou wouldeſt keep me from evil, that it may not grieve me. And God granted him that which he requeſted.

11 ¶ And Chelub the brother of Shuah begat Mehir, which was the father of Eſhton.

12 And Eſhton begat Beth-rapha, and Paſeah, and Tehinnah the father of Ir-nahaſh: theſe are the men of Rechah.

13 And the ſons of Kenaz; Othniel, and Seraiah: and the ſons of Othniel: Hathath.

14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah: and Seraiah begat Joab the father of the valley of Charaſhim; for they were craftſmen.

15 And the ſons of Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam: and the ſons of Elah, even Kenaz.

16 And the ſons of Jehaleleel; Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Aſareel.

17 And the ſons of Ezra were, Jether, and Mered, and Epher, and Jalon: and ſhe bare Miriam, and Shammai, and Iſhbah the father of Eſhtemoa.

18 And his wife Jehudijah bare Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Socho, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. And theſe are the ſons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, which Mered took.

19 And the ſons of his wife Hodiah, the ſiſter of Naham, the father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eſhtemoa the Maachathite.

20 And the ſons of Shimon were, Amnon, and Rimnah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. And the ſons of Iſhi were, Zoheth, and Ben-zoheth.

21 ¶ The ſons of Shelah the ſon of Judah were, Er, the father of Lecah, and Laadah the father of Mareſhah, and the families of the houſe of them that wrought fine linen, of the houſe of Aſhbea, 22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joaſh, and Saraph, who had the dominion in Moab, and Jaſhubi-lehem. And theſe are ancient things.

23 Theſe were the potters, and thoſe that dwelt amongſt plants and hedges: there they dwelt with the king for his work.

24 ¶ The ſons of Simeon were Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul:

15 Shallum his ſon, Mibſam his ſon, Miſhma his ſon.

26 And the ſons of Miſhma; Hamuel his ſon, Zacchur his ſon, Shimei his ſon.

27 And Shimei had ſixteen ſons and ſix daughters; but his brethren had not many children, neither did all their family multiply, like to the children of Judah.

28 And they dwelt at Beer-ſheba, and Moladah, and Hazar-ſhual,

29 And at Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormath, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-ſuſim, and at Beth-birei, and at Shaaraim; theſe were their cities unto the reign of David.

32 And their villages were Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Aſhan, five cities.

33 And all their villages that were round about the ſame cities, unto Baal. Theſe were their habitations and their genealogy.

34 And Meſhobab, and Jamlech, and Joſhan, the ſon of Amaziah,

35 And Joel, and Jehu the ſon of Joſibiah, the ſon of Seraiah, the ſon of Aſiel,

36 And Eliœnai, and Jaakobah, and Jeſhohaiah, and Aſaiah, and Adiel, and Jeſimiel and Benaiah,

37 And Ziza the ſon of Shiphi, the ſon of Allon, the ſon of Jedaiah, the ſon of Shimri, the ſon Shemaiah;

38 Theſe mentioned by their names, were princes in their families: and the houſe of their fathers increaſed greatly.

39 ¶ And they went to the entrance of Gedor, even unto the eaſt-ſide of the valley, to ſeek paſture for their flocks.

40 And they found fat paſture and good, and the land was wide, and quiet, and peaceable; for they of Ham had dwelt there of old.

41 And theſe written by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and ſmote their tents, and the habitations that were found there, and deſtroyed them utterly unto this day, and dwelt in their rooms: becauſe there was paſture there for their flocks.

42 And ſome of them, even of the ſons of Simeon, five hundred men, went to mount Seir, having for their captains Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the ſons of Iſhi.

43 And they ſmote the reſt of the Amalekites that were eſcaped, and dwelt there unto this day.

CHAP. V.

1 The line of Reuben: 9 Their habitation, and conqueſt of the Hagarites.

NOW the ſons of Reuben, the firſt-born of Iſrael, (for he was the firſt-born; but foraſmuch as he defiled his father's bed, his birth-right was given unto the ſons of Joſeph, the ſon of Iſrael: and the genealogy is not to be reckoned after the birthright.

2 For Judah prevailed above his brethren, and of him

Commentary on Chap. IV.

3 And theſe were of the father of Etam.) That is, deſcended from the founder or lord of the place called Etam.

18 Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh.) By Pharaoh is not here to be underſtood the king of Egypt, but ſome Iſraelite called by that name.

31 Theſe were their cities unto the reign of David.) That is, they dwelt in theſe cities when David aſcended the throne of Iſrael, and probably long after.

Commentary on Chap. V.

2 Of him came the chief ruler.) By the chief ruler is here meant firſt David, and after him the great Meſſiah, the prince of peace.

him came the chief ruler; but the birth-right was Joſeph's:)

3 The ſons, I ſay, of Reuben, the firſt-born of Iſrael, were Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

4 The ſons of Joel; Shemaiah his ſon, Gog his ſon, Shimei his ſon,

5 Micah his ſon, Reaia his ſon, Baal his ſon,

6 Beerah his ſon, whom Tilgath-pilneſer king of Aſſyria carried away captive: he was prince of the Reubenites.

7 And his brethren by their families, (when the genealogy of their generations was reckoned,) were the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah,

8 And Bela, the ſon of Azaz, the ſon of Shema, the ſon of Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, even unto Nebo, and Baal-meon.

9 ¶ And eaſtward he inhabited unto the entering in of the wilderneſs from the river Euphrates; becauſe their cattle were multiplied in the land of Gilead.

10 And in the days of Saul they made war with the Hagarites, who fell by their hand: and they dwelt in their tents throughout all the eaſt land of Gilead.

11 ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt over againſt them, in the land of Baſhah, unto Salcah:

12 Joel the chief, and Shaphan the next, and Jaanai, and Shaphat in Baſhan.

13 And their brethren of the houſe of their fathers, were Michael, and Meſhullam, and Sheba, and Jorai, and Jachan, and Zia, and Heber, ſeven.

14 Theſe are the children of Abihail, the ſon of Huri, the ſon of Jaroah, the ſon of Gilead, the ſon of Michael, the ſon of Jeſhiſhai, the ſon of Jahdo, the ſon of Buz;

15 Ahi, the ſon of Abdiel, the ſon of Guni, chief of the houſe of their fathers.

16 And they dwelt in Gilead in Baſhan, and in her towns, and in all the ſuburbs of Sharon, unto their borders.

17 All theſe were reckoned by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam king of Iſrael.

18 The ſons of Reuben, and the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh, of valiant men, men able to bear buckler and ſword, and to ſhoot with bow, and ſkilful in war, were four and forty thouſand ſeven hundred and threeſcore that went out to the war.

19 And they made war with the Hagarites, with Jetur, and Nephiſh, and Nodab.

20 And they were helped againſt them, and the Hagarites were delivered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cried to God in the battle, and he was entreated of them, becauſe they put their truſt in him.

21 And they took away their cattle: of their camels fifty thouſand, and of ſheep two hundred and fifty thouſand, and of aſſes two thouſand, and of men an hundred thouſand.

22 For there fell down many ſlain, becauſe the war was of God. And they dwelt in their ſteads until the captivity.

23 And the children of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh dwelt in the land: they increaſed from Baſhan unto Baal-hermon, and Senir, and unto mount Hermon.

24 And theſe were the heads of the houſe of their fathers, even Epher and Iſhi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaviah, and Jahdiel, mighty men of valour, famous men and heads of the houſe of their fathers.

25 And they tranſgreſſed againſt the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God deſtroyed before them.

26 And the God of Iſrael ſtirred up the ſpirit of Pul king of Aſſyria, and the ſpirit of Tilgath-pilneſer king of Aſſyria, and he carried them away, (even the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh) and brought them unto Halah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the river Gozan, unto this day.

CHAP. VI.

1 The ſons of Levi. 4 The line of the prieſts. 49 The office of Aaron and his line.

THE ſons of Levi, Gerſhom, Kohath, and Merari.

2 And the ſons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel.

3 And the children of Amram; Aaron, and Moſes, and Miriam. The ſons alſo of Aaron; Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

4 ¶ Eleazar begat Phinehas, Phinehas begat Abiſhua,

5 And Abiſhua begat Bukki, and Bukki begat Uzzi,

6 And Uzzi begat Zerahiah, and Zerahiah begat Meraioth,

7 Meraioth begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub,

8 And Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Ahimaaz,

9 And Ahimaaz begat Azariah, and Azariah begat Johanan,

10 And Johanan begat Azariah, (he it is that executed the prieſt's office in the temple that Solomon built in Jeruſalem.)

11 And Azariah begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub,

12 And Ahitub begat Zadok and Zadok begat Shallum,

13 And Shallum begat Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begat Azariah.

14 And Azariah begat Seraiah, and Seraiah begat Jehozadak,

15 And Jehozadak went into captivity when the Lord carried away Judah and Jeruſalem by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

16 The ſons of Levi; Gerſhom, Kohath, and Merari.

17 And theſe be the names of the ſons of Gerſhom; Libni, and Shimei.

18 And the ſons of Kohath were Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron and Uzziel.

19 The ſons of Merari; Mahli, and Muſhi. And theſe are the families of the Levites, according to their fathers.

20 Of Gerſhom; Libni his ſon, Jahath his ſon, Zimmah his ſon,

16 And in all the ſuburbs of Sharon.) The country of Sharon abounded with excellent paſtures, and at the ſame time produced the moſt generous wines. There were two places called Sharon; one in the eaſt, inhabited by the Gadites, and the other in the weſt, not far from the famous port of Joppa.

25 And they tranſgreſſed againſt the God of their fathers.) Probably they were the firſt that worſhipped the gods of the heathen; and therefore God delivered them firſt into the hand of their enemies, who carried them captive into a ſtrange land.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

14 And Azariah begat Seraiah, and Seraiah begat Jehozadak.) Seraiah was carried to Riblah by the Babyloniſh army, and there put to death by order of Nebuchadnezzar; ſo that in him ended the ſucceſſion of high prieſts under the firſt temple, and their number from Zadok amounted to twelve.

21 Joah his ſon, Iddo his ſon, Zerah his ſon, Jeaterai his ſon.

22 The ſons of Kohath; Amminadab his ſon, Korah his ſon, Aſſir his ſon,

23 Elkanah his ſon, and Ebiaſaph his ſon, and Aſſir his ſon,

24 Tahath his ſon, Uriel his ſon, Uzziah his ſon, and Shaul his ſon.

25 And the ſons of Elkanah; Amaſai, and Ahimoth.

26 As for Elkanah: the ſons of Elkanah; Zophai his ſon, and Nahath his ſon,

27 Eliab his ſon, Jeroham his ſon, Elkanah his ſon,

28 And the ſons of Samuel; the firſt-born Vaſhni, and Abiah.

29 The ſons of Merari; Mahli, Libni his ſon, Shimei his ſon, Uzza his ſon,

30 Shimea his ſon, Haggiah his ſon, Aſaiah his ſon,

31 And theſe are they whom David ſet over the ſervice of ſong in the houſe of the Lord, after that the ark had reſt.

32 And they miniſtered before the dwelling-place of the tabernacle of the congregation with ſinging, until Solomon had built the houſe of the Lord in Jeruſalem: and then they waited on their office according to their order.

33 And theſe are they that waited with their children. Of the ſons of the Kohathites; Heman a ſinger, the ſon of Joel, the ſon of Shemuel.

34 The ſon of Elkanah, the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Eliel, the ſon of Toah,

35 The ſon of Zuph, the ſon of Elkanah, the ſon of Mahath, the ſon of Amaſai,

36 The ſon of Elkanah, the ſon of Joel, the ſon of Azariah, the ſon of Zephaniah,

37 The ſon of Tahath, the ſon of Aſſir, the ſon of Ebiaſaph, the ſon of Korah,

38 The ſon of Izhar, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Iſrael:

39 And his brother Aſaph, who ſtood on his right hand, even Aſaph the ſon of Berachiah, the ſon of Shimea, 40 The ſon of Michael, the ſon of Baaſeiah, the ſon of Malchiah.

41 The ſon of Ethni, the ſon of Zerah, the ſon of Adaiah,

42 The ſon of Ethan, the ſon of Zimmah, the ſon of Shimei,

43 The ſon of Jahath, the ſon of Gerſhom, the ſon of Levi.

44 And their brethren the ſons of Merari, ſtood on the left hand: Ethan the ſon of Kiſhi, the ſon of Abdi, the ſon of Malluch,

45 The ſon of Haſhabiah, the ſon of Amaziah, the ſon of Hilkiah,

46 The ſon of Amzi, the ſon of Bani, the ſon of Shamer,

47 The ſon of Mahli, the ſon of Muſhi, the ſon of Merari, the ſon of Levi.

48 Their brethren alſo the Levites were appointed unto all manner of ſervice of the tabernacle of the houſe of God.

49 ¶ But Aaron and his ſons offered upon the altar of the burnt-offering, and on the altar of incenſe, and were appointed for all the work of the place moſt holy, and to make an atonement for Iſrael, according to all that Moſes, the ſervant of God, had commanded.

50 And theſe are the ſons of Aaron; Eleazar his ſon, Phinehas his ſon, Abiſhua his ſon,

51 Bukki his ſon, Uzzi his ſon, Zerahiah his ſon,

52 Meraioth his ſon, Amariah his ſon, Ahitub his ſon,

53 Zadok his ſon, Ahimaaz his ſon.

54 Now theſe are their dwelling-places throughout their caſtles in their coaſts of the ſons of Aaron, of the families of the Kohathites; for theirs was the lot.

55 And they gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the ſuburbs thereof round about it.

56 But the fields of the city and the villages thereof they gave to Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

57 And to the ſons of Aaron they gave the cities of Judah, namely, Hebron, the city of refuge, and Libnah with her ſuburbs, and Jattir, and Eſhtemoa with their ſuburbs,

58 And Hilen with her ſuburbs, Debir with her ſuburbs,

59 And Aſhan with her ſuburbs, and Bethſhemeſh with her ſuburbs:

60 And out of the tribe of Benjamin; Geba with her ſuburbs, and Alemeth with her ſuburbs, and Anathoth with her ſuburbs. All their cities throughout their families were thirteen cities.

61 And unto the ſons of Kohath, which were left of the family of that tribe, were cities given out of the half-tribe, namely out of the half tribe of Manaſſeh, by lot ten cities.

62 And to the ſons of Gerſhom throughout their families were given out of the tribe of Iſſachar, and out of the tribe of Aſhur, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan thirteen cities.

63 Unto the ſons of Merari were given by lot, throughout their families, out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

64 And the children of Iſrael gave to the Levites theſe cities with their ſuburbs.

65 And they gave by lot out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, theſe cities, which are called by their names.

66 And the reſidue of the families of the ſons of Kohath had cities of their coaſts out of the tribe of Ephraim.

67 And they gave unto them of the cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim with her ſuburbs: they gave alſo Gezer with her ſuburbs,

68 And Jokmeam with her ſuburbs, and Beth-horon with her ſuburbs,

69 And Aijalon with her ſuburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her ſuburbs:

70 And out of the half tribe of Manaſſeh; Aner with her ſuburbs, and Bileam with her ſuburbs, for the family of the remnant of the ſons of Kohath.

71 Unto the ſons of Gerſhom were given out of the family of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, Golan in Baſhan

---

43 The ſon of Gerſhom.) We have no account of the poſterity of Levi by his ſon Gerſhom twice given; ſee ver. 17, &c. but with great variation.

57 They gave the cities of Judah.) The Greek abſolutely diſallows the word Judah; it is alſo rejected in its parallel place; ſee Joſhua xxi. 13.

70 Bileam with her ſuburbs.) This place is called Ibleam in the book of Joſhua; but the length of time made great alterations in the names of places and things, as will appear by ſeveral other places mentioned in theſe chapters, and which I thought proper to mention here, though I have omitted to remark them as they occurred; it being an unneceſſary labour to endeavour to explain theſe things from whence we can reap no fruit, and of which we may be ignorant without any danger.

with her ſuburbs, and Aſhtaroth with her ſuburbs:

72 And out of the tribe of Iſſachar; Kedeſh with her ſuburbs, Dabereth with her ſuburbs,

73 And Ramoth with her ſuburbs, and Anem with her ſuburbs:

74 And out of the tribe of Aſher; Maſhal with her ſuburbs, and Abdon with her ſuburbs,

75 And Hukok with her ſuburbs, and Rehob with her ſuburbs,

76 And out of the tribe of Naphtali; Kedeſh in Galilee with her ſuburbs, and Hammon with her ſuburbs, and Kirjathaim with her ſuburbs;

77 Unto the reſt of the children of Merari were given out of the tribe of Zebulun, Rimmon with her ſuburbs, Tabor with her ſuburbs.

78 And on the other ſide Jordan by Jericho, on the eaſt ſide of Jordan, were given them, out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wilderneſs with her ſuburbs, and Jahzah with her ſuburbs,

79 Kedemoth alſo with her ſuburbs, and Mephaath with her ſuburbs:

80 And out of the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with her ſuburbs, and Mahanaim with her ſuburbs, 81 And Heſhbon with her ſuburbs, and Jazer with her ſuburbs.

CHAP. VII.

1 The ſons of Iſſachar, 6 of Benjamin, 13 of Naphtali, 14 of Manaſſeh, 20 and Ephraim.

NOW the ſons of Iſſachar were, Tola, and Puah, Jaſhub, and Shimron, four.

2 And the ſons of Tola: Uzzi, and Rephaiah, and Jerial, and Jahmai, and Jibſam, and Shemuel, heads of their father's houſe, to wit, of Tola: they were valiant men of might in their generations: whoſe number was in the days of David two and twenty thouſand and ſix hundred.

3 And the ſons of Uzzi; Izrahiah: and the ſons of Izrahiah; Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, Iſhiah, five: all of them chief men.

4 And with them, by their generations, after the houſe of their fathers, were bands of ſoldiers for war, ſix and thirty thouſand men: for they had many wives and ſons.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Iſſachar were valiant men of might reckoned in all by their genealogies, fourſcore and ſeven thouſand.

6 ¶ The ſons of Benjamin; Bela, and Becher, and Jediael, three.

7 And the ſons of Bela; Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five: heads of the houſe of their fathers, mighty men of valour; and were reckoned by their genealogies twenty and two thouſand and thirty and four.

8 And the ſons of Becher; Zemira, and Joaſh, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abia, and Anathoth, and Alameth. All theſe are the ſons of Becher.

9 And the number of them, after their genealogy by their generations, heads of the houſe of their fathers, mighty men of valour, was twenty thouſand and two hundred.

10 The ſons alſo of Jediael; Bilhan: and the ſons of Bilhan, Jeuſh, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tharſhiſh, and Ahiſhahar.

11 All theſe the ſons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers, mighty men of valour, were ſeventeen thouſand and two hundred ſoldiers, fit to go out for war and battle.

12 Shuppim alſo and Huppim, the children of Ir, and Huſhim, the ſons of Aher.

13 The ſons of Naphtali; Jaziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shallum; the ſons of Bilhah.

14 ¶ The ſons of Manaſſeh; Aſhriel, whom ſhe bare; (but his concubine the Aramiteſs bare Machir, the father of Gilead.

15 And Machir took to wife the ſiſter of Huppim and Shuppim, whoſe ſiſter's name was Maachah:) and the name of the ſecond was Zelophehad: and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maachah, the wife of Machir, bare a ſon, and ſhe called his name Pereſh; and the name of his brother was Shereſh: and his ſons were Ulam, and Rakem.

17 And the ſons of Ulam; Bedan. Theſe were the ſons of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh.

18 And his ſiſter Hammoleketh bare Iſhod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah.

19 And the ſons of Shemida were Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi and Aniam.

20 ¶ And the ſons of Ephraim; Shuthelah, and Bered his ſon, and Tahath his ſon, and Eladah his ſon, and Tahath his ſon, 21 And Zabad his ſon, and Shuthelah his ſon, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath, that were born in that land ſlew, becauſe they came down to take away their cattle.

22 And Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him.

23 And when he went in to his wife, ſhe conceived and bare a ſon, and he called his name Beria becauſe it went evil with his houſe.

24 (And his daughter was Sherah, who built Bethhoron the nether, and the upper, and Uzzen-ſherah.)

25 And Rephah was his ſon, alſo Reſheph, and Telah his ſon, and Tahan his ſon,

26 Laadan his ſon, Ammihud his ſon, Eliſhama his ſon,

27 Non his ſon, Jehoſhua his ſon.

28 And their poſſeſſions and habitations were Bethel and the towns thereof, and eaſtward Naaran, and weſtward Gezer with the towns thereof, Shechem alſo and the towns thereof, unto Gaza and the towns thereof;

29 And by the borders of the children of Manaſſeh, Beth-ſhean and her towns, Taanach and her towns, Megiddo and her towns, Dor and her towns. In theſe dwelt the children of Joſeph the ſon of Iſrael.

30 The ſons of Aſher; Imnah, and Iſuah, and Iſhuai, and Beriah, and Serah their ſiſter.

31 And the ſons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel, who is the father of Birzavith.

32 And Heber begat Japhlet, and Shomer, and Hotham, and Shua their ſiſter.

33 And the ſons of Japhlet; Paſach, and Bimhal, and Aſhveth. Theſe are the children of Japhlet.

34 And the ſons of Shamer; Ahi, and Rohgah, Jehubbah,

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

4 They had many wives and ſons.) They were very fruitful and propagated the more, becauſe they had many wives, who bare them many ſons: and theſe ſons probably took many wives for the greater encreaſe of their family.

21 Whom the men of Gath, that were born in that land, ſlew; becauſe they came down to take away their cattle.) This is the only place in the ſacred writings where this piece of hiſtory is mentioned, and probably the tranſaction happened before the children of Iſrael came out of the land of Egypt; for it appears, from the following verſe, that Ephraim was alive when theſe children of his were ſlain.

hubbah, and Aram,

35 And the ſons of his brother Helem, Zophah, and Imna, and Sheleſh, and Amal.

36 The ſons of Zophah: Shuah, and Harhepher, and Shual, and Beri, and Imrah, 37 Bezer, and Hod, and Shamma, and Shilſhah, and Ithran, and Beerah.

38 And the ſons of Jether: Jephunneh, and Piſpah, and Ara.

39 And the ſons of Ulla; Arah, and Haniel, and Rezia.

40 All theſe were the children of Aſher, heads of their father's houſe, choice and mighty men of valour, chief of the princes. And the number, throughout the genealogy of them, that were apt to the war and to battle, was twenty and ſix thouſand men.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The ſons and chief men of Benjamin. 33 The ſtock of Saul and Jonathan.

NOW Benjamin begat Bela his firſt-born, Aſhbel the ſecond, and Aharah the third,

2 Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.

3 And the ſons of Bela were Addar, and Gera, and Abihud,

4 And Abiſhua, and Naaman, and Ahoah,

5 And Gera, and Shephuphan, and Huram.

6 And theſe are the ſons of Ehud; theſe are the heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Geba, and they removed them to Manahath:

7 And Naaman, and Ahiah, and Gera, he removed them, and begat Uzza, and Ahihud.

8 And Shaharaim begat children in the country of Moab, after he had ſent them away; Huſhim and Baara were his wives.

9 And he begat of Hodeſh his wife, Johab, and Zibia, and Meſha, and Malcham,

10 And Jeuz, and Shachia, and Mirma. Theſe were his ſons, heads of the fathers.

11 And of Huſhim he begat Ahitub, and Elpaal.

12 The ſons of Elpaal: Eber and Miſham, and Shamed, who built Ono and Lod, with the towns thereof:

13 Beriah alſo, and Shema, who were heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove away the inhabitants of Gath:

14 And Ahio, Shaſhak, and Jerimoth,

15 And Zebadiah, and Arad, and Ader,

16 And Michael, and Iſpah, and Joha, the ſons of Beriah;

17 And Zebadiah, and Meſhullam, and Hezeki, and Heber,

18 Iſhmerai alſo, and Jezliah, and Jobab, the ſons of Elpaal;

19 And Jakim, and Zichri, and Zabdi,

20 And Elienai, and Zilthai, and Eliel,

21 And Adaiah, and Beraiah, and Shimrath, the ſons of Shimhi;

22 And Iſhpan, and Heber, and Eliel,

23 And Abdon, and Zichri, and Hanan,

24 And Hananiah, and Elam, and Antothijah,

25 And Iphedeiah, and Penuel, the ſons of Shaſhak;

26 And Shamſherai, and Shehariah, and Athaliah,

27 And Jareſiah, and Eliah, and Zichri, the ſons of Jeroham.

28 Theſe were heads of the fathers, by their generations, chief men. Theſe dwelt in Jeruſalem.

29 And at Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, (whoſe wife's name was Maachah:)

30 And his firſt-born ſon Abdon, and Zur, and Kiſh, and Baal, and Nadab, 31 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zacher.

32 And Mikloth begat Shimeah. And theſe alſo dwelt with their brethren in Jeruſalem, over againſt them.

33 ¶ And Ner begat Kiſh, and Kiſh begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchiſhua, and Abinadab, and Eſh-baal.

34 And the ſon of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal begat Micah.

35 And the ſons of Micah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tarea, and Ahaz.

36 And Ahaz begat Jehoadah, and Jehoadah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza, 37 And Moza begat Binea: Rapha was his ſon, Eleaſah his ſon, Azel his ſon.

38 And Azel had ſix ſons, whoſe names are theſe, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Iſhmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan. All theſe were the ſons of Azel, 39 And the ſons of Eſhek his brother were Ulam his firſt-born, Jehuſh the ſecond, and Eliphelet the third.

40 And the ſons of Ulam were mighty men of valour, archers, and had many ſons, and ſons' ſons, an hundred and fifty. All theſe are of the ſons of Benjamin.

CHAP IX.

1 The original of Iſrael and Judah's genealogies. 27 The charge of certain Levites. 35 Saul's and Jonathan's ſtock.

SO all Iſrael were reckoned by genealogies, and behold, they were written in the book of the kings of Iſrael and Judah, who were carried away to Babylon for their tranſgreſſion.

2 Now the firſt inhabitants that dwelt in their poſſeſſions in their cities were, the Iſraelites, the prieſts, Levites, and the Nethinims.

3 And in Jeruſalem dwelt of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manaſſeh:

4 Uthai the ſon of Ammihud, the ſon of Omri, the ſon of Imri, the ſon of Bani, of the children of Pharez the ſon of Judah.

5 And of the Shilonites; Aſaiah the firſt-born, and his ſons.

6 And of the ſons of Zerah; Jeuel, and their brethren, ſix hundred and ninety.

40 And the number throughout the genealogy of them---was twenty and ſix thouſand men) Though theſe people lived in a rich and delicious country, abounding with wine, oil, and other good things, yet they did not give themſelves up to ſloth and lazineſs, but were a warlike and valiant people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

13 Drove away the inhabitants of Gath.) This was probably done in revenge for the ſlaughter they had anciently made of their brethren the Ephraimites.

29 At Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon.) Here begins the genealogy of Benjamin, which is repeated at the 35th, 36th, &c. verſes of the next chapter, with ſome ſmall variation.

40 And the ſons of Ulam were mighty men of valour, archers.) The Hebrew words which we here render archers ſignifies thoſe that tread the bow; becauſe their ſteel bows were ſo ſtrong that they could not bend them with their arms, but ſat down, and preſſing them with their feet, drew the arrow with both hands, that it might fly with the greater force.

7 And of the ſons of Benjamin: Sallu the ſon of Meſhullam, the ſon of Hodaviah, the ſon of Haſenuah.
8 And Ibneiah the ſon of Jeroham, and Elah the ſon of Uzzi, the ſon of Michri, and Meſhullam the ſon of Shephatiah, the ſon of Reuel, the ſon of Ibnijah;
9 And their brethren, according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty and ſix. All theſe men were chief of the fathers in the houſe of their fathers.
10 And of the prieſts; Jedaiah, and Jehoiarib, and Jachin,
11 And Azariah the ſon of Hilkiah, the ſon of Meſhullam, the ſon of Zadok, the ſon of Meraioth, the ſon of Ahitub, the ruler of the houſe of God;
12 And Adaiah the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Paſhur, the ſon of Malchijah, and Maaſiai the ſon of Adiel, the ſon of Jahzerah, the ſon of Meſhullam, the ſon of Meſhillemith, the ſon of Immer,
13 And their brethren, heads of the houſe of their fathers, a thouſand and ſeven hundred and threeſcore: very able men for the work of the ſervice of the houſe of God.
14 And of the Levites; Shemaiah the ſon of Haſhub, the ſon of Azrikam, the ſon of Haſhabiah, of the ſons of Merari;
15 And Bakbakkar, Hereſh, and Galal, and Mattaniah the ſon of Micah, the ſon of Zichri, the ſon of Aſaph:
16 And Obadiah the ſon of Shemaiah, the ſon of Galal, the ſon of Jeduthun; and Berechiah the ſon of Aſa, the ſon of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.
17 And the porters were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren; Shallum was the chief:
18 Who hitherto waited in the king's gate eaſtward. They were porters in the companies of the children of Levi.
19 And Shallum the ſon of Kore, the ſon of Ebiaſaph, the ſon of Korah, and his brethren of the houſe of his father, the Korahites, were over the work of the ſervice, keepers of the gates of the tabernacle: and their fathers being over the hoſt of the Lord were keepers of the entry.
20 And Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar was the ruler over them in time paſt, and the Lord was with him.
21 And Zechariah the ſon of Meſhelemiah was porter of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
22 All theſe which were choſen to be porters in the gates were two hundred and twelve. Theſe were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages: whom David and Samuel their ſeer did ordain in their ſet office.
23 So they and their children had the overſight of the gates of the houſe of the Lord, namely, the houſe of the tabernacle, by wards.
24 In four quarters were the porters, toward the eaſt, weſt, north, and ſouth.
25 And their brethren, which were in their villages, were to come after ſeven days from time to time with them.
26 For theſe Levites, the four chief porters, were in their ſet office, and were over the chambers and treaſuries of the houſe of God.
27 ¶ And they lodged round about the houſe of God, becauſe the charge was upon them, and the opening thereof every morning pertained to them.
28 And certain of them had the charge of the miniſtering veſſels, that they ſhould bring them in and out by tale.
29 Some of them alſo were appointed to overſee the veſſels, and all the inſtruments of the ſanctuary, and the fine flour, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincenſe, and the ſpices.
30 And ſome of the ſons of the prieſts made the ointment of the ſpices.
31 And Mattithiah, one of the Levites, who was the firſt-born of Shallum the Korahite, had the ſet office over the things that were made in the pans.
32 And other of their brethren, of the ſons of the Kohathites, were over the ſhewbread to prepare it every ſabbath.
33 And theſe are the ſingers, chief of the fathers of the Levites, who remaining in the chambers were free; for they were employed in that work day and night.
34 Theſe chief fathers of the Levites were chief throughout their generations: theſe dwelt at Jeruſalem.
35 ¶ And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jehiel, whoſe wife's name was Maachah:
36 And his firſt-born ſon Abdon, then Zur, and Kiſh, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab,
37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.
38 And Mikloth begat Shimeam: and they alſo dwelt with their brethren at Jeruſalem, over againſt their brethren.
39 And Ner begat Kiſh, and Kiſh begat Saul; and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchi-ſhua, and Abinadab, and Eſh-baal.
40 And the ſon of Jonathan was Merib-baal: and Merib-baal begat Micah.
41 And the ſons of Micah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea, and Ahaz.
42 And Ahaz begat Jarah; and Jarah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza;
43 And Moza begat Binea; and Rephaiah his ſon, Eleaſah his ſon, Azel his ſon.
44 And Azel had ſix ſons, whoſe names are theſe, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Iſhmael, and Sheraiah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: theſe were the ſons of Azel.

CHAP. X.

1 Saul's overthrow and death. 8 The Philiſtines triumph over him. 11 Jabeſh-gilead's kindneſs to him and his ſons.

NOW the Philiſtines fought againſt Iſrael; and the men of Iſrael fled from before the Philiſtines, and fell down ſlain in mount Gilboa.
2 And the Philiſtines followed hard after Saul, and after his ſons; and the Philiſtines ſlew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchi-ſhua the ſons of Saul.
3 And the battle went ſore againſt Saul, and the archers hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.
4 Then ſaid Saul to his armour bearer, Draw thy ſword, and thruſt me through therewith, leſt theſe uncircumciſed come and abuſe me. But his armour-

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

11 The ruler of the houſe of God.) Or rather a ruler in the houſe of God; for he was not high-prieſt, that office being filled by Jeſhua, or Joſhua, as we learn from Ezra iii. 2, and Haggai i. 1. And it ſhould be obſerved, that by the houſe of God is to be underſtood the houſe of the tabernacle; for the temple of Solomon was deſtroyed, and the ſecond temple not yet built.

33 They were employed in that work day and night.) That is, they were conſtantly employed with their brethren to ſing, and play on different kinds of muſical inſtruments, as appears from chap. xxvi.

bearer would not: for he was ſore afraid. So Saul took a ſword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armour-bearer ſaw that Saul was dead, he fell likewiſe on the ſword, and died.

6 So Saul died, and his three ſons, and all his houſe died together.

7 And when all the men of Iſrael that were in the valley ſaw that they fled, and that Saul and his ſons were dead, then they forſook their cities and fled; and the Philiſtines came and dwelt in them.

8 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, when the Philiſtines came to ſtrip the ſlain, that they found Saul and his ſons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And when they had ſtripped him, they took his head and his armour, and ſent into the land of the Philiſtines round about, to carry tidings unto their idols, and to the people.

10 And they put his armour in the houſe of their gods, and faſtened his head in the temple of Dagon.

11 ¶ And when all Jabeſh-gilead heard all that the Philiſtines had done to Saul.

12 They aroſe, all the valiant men, and took away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his ſons, and brought them to Jabeſh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabeſh, and faſted ſeven days.

13 So Saul died for his tranſgreſſion which he committed againſt the Lord, even againſt the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and alſo for aſking counſel of one that had a familiar ſpirit to enquire of it;

14 And enquired not of the Lord: therefore he ſlew him, and turned the kingdom unto David, the ſon of Jeſſe.

CHAP. XI.

1 David made king. 4 He winneth the caſtle of Zion from the Jebuſites by Joab's valour. 10 A catalogue of his worthies.

THEN all Iſrael gathered themſelves to David unto Hebron, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy fleſh.

2 And moreover in time paſt, even when Saul was king thou waſt he that leddeſt out and broughteſt in Iſrael: and the Lord thy God ſaid unto thee, Thou ſhalt feed my people Iſrael, and thou ſhalt be ruler over my people Iſrael.

3 Therefore came all the elders of Iſrael to the king to Hebron; and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord; and they anointed David king over Iſrael, according to the word of the Lord by Samuel.

4 ¶ And David and all Iſrael went to Jeruſalem, which is Jebus; where the Jebuſites were the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus ſaid to David, Thou ſhalt not come hither. Nevertheleſs, David took the caſtle of Zion, which is the city of David.

6 And David ſaid, Whoſoever ſmiteth the Jebuſites firſt, ſhall be chief and captain. So Joab the ſon of Zeruiah went firſt up, and was chief.

7 And David dwelt in the caſtle; therefore they called it, The city of David.

8 And he built the city round about, even from Millo round about: and Joab repaired the reſt of the city.

9 So David waxed greater and greater: for the Lord of hoſts was with him.

10 ¶ Theſe alſo are the chief of the mighty men whom David had, who ſtrengthened themſelves with him in his kingdom, and with all Iſrael, to make him king, according to the word of the Lord concerning Iſrael.

11 And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had: Jaſhobeam an Hachmonite, the chief of the captains. He lifted up his ſpear againſt three hundred, ſlain by him at one time.

12 And after him was Eleazar the ſon of Dodo the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties.

13 He was with David at Paſ-dammim, and there the Philiſtines were gathered together to battle, where was a parcel of ground full of barley; and the people fled from before the Philiſtines.

14 And they ſet themſelves in the midſt of that parcel, and delivered it, and ſlew the Philiſtines; and the Lord ſaved them by a great deliverance.

15 Now three of the thirty captains went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam, and the hoſt of the Philiſtines encamped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And David was then in the hold, and the Philiſtines garriſon was then at Beth-lehem.

17 And David longed, and ſaid, Oh, that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate!

18 And the three brake through the hoſt of the Philiſtines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David; but David would not drink of it, but poured it out to the Lord.

19 And ſaid, My God forbid it me, that I ſhould do this thing: ſhall I drink the blood of theſe men that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it: therefore he would not drink it. Theſe things did theſe three mightieſt.

20 And Abiſhai, the brother of Joab, he was chief of the three: for lifting up his ſpear againſt three hundred, he ſlew them, and had a name among the three.

21 Of the three he was more honourable than the two, for he was their captain; howbeit, he attained not to the firſt three.

22 Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, the ſon of a valiant man in Kabzeel, who had done many acts, he ſlew two lion-like men of Moab: alſo he went down and ſlew a lion in a pit in a ſnowy day.

23 And he ſlew an Egyptian man of great ſtature, five cubits high; and in the Egyptian's hand was a ſpear like a weaver's beam; and he went down to him with a ſtaff, and plucked the ſpear out of the Egyptian's hand, and ſlew him with his own ſpear.

24 Theſe things did Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, and had the name among the three mighties.

25 Behold, he was honourable among the thirty, but attained not to the firſt three; and David ſet him over 47 Eliel, and Obed, and Jaſiel the Meſobaite.

CHAP. XII.

1 The companies that came to David at Ziglag. 23 The armies that came to him at Hebron.

NOW theſe are they that came to David to Ziglag, while he yet kept himſelf cloſe, becauſe of Saul, the ſon of Kiſh; and they were among the mighty men, helpers of the war.

2 They were armed with bows, and could uſe both the right hand and the left in hurling ſtones, and ſhooting arrows out of a bow, even of Saul's brethren of Benjamin.

3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joaſh, the ſons of Shemaah the Gibeathite, and Jeziel and Pelet, the ſons of Azmaveth, and Berachah, and Jehu the Antothite,

4 And Iſmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty, and Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Joſabad the Gederathite,

5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Jeſiah, and Azareel, and Joezer, and Jaſhobeam, the Korhites,

7 And Joelah and Zebediah, the ſons of Jeroham of Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites there ſeparated themſelves unto David into the hold to the wilderneſs, men of might, and men of war fit for the battle, that could handle ſhield and buckler, whoſe faces were like the faces of lions, and were as ſwift as the roes upon the mountains;

9 Ezer the firſt, Obadiah the ſecond, Eliab the third,

10 Miſhmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,

11 Attai the ſixth, Eliel the ſeventh,

12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbanai the eleventh,

14 Theſe were of the ſons of Gad, captains of the hoſt: one of the leaſt was over an hundred, and the greateſt over a thouſand.

15 Theſe are they that went over Jordan in the firſt month, when it had overflown all his banks; and they put to flight all them of the vallies, both towards the eaſt, and towards the weſt.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin and Judah to the hold unto David.

17 And David went out to meet them, and anſwered and ſaid unto them, If ye be come peaceably unto me to help me, mine heart ſhall be knit unto you: but if ye be come to betray me to mine enemies, ſeeing there is no wrong in my hands, the God of our fathers look thereon, and rebuke it.

18 Then the ſpirit came upon Amaſai, who was chief of the captains, and he ſaid, Thine are we, David, and on thy ſide, thou ſon of Jeſſe: peace, peace be unto thee, and peace be to thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then David received them, and made them captains of the band.

19 And there fell ſome of Manaſſeh to David when he came with the Philiſtines againſt Saul to battle. But they helped them not: for the lords of the Philiſtines, upon adviſement ſent him away, ſaying, He will fall to his maſter Saul, to the jeopardy of our heads.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manaſſeh, Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediael, and Michael, and Joſabad, and Elihu, and Zilthai, captains of the thouſands that were of Manaſſeh.

21 And they helped David againſt the band of the rovers: for they were all mighty men of valour, and were captains in the hoſt.

22 For at that time day by day there came to David to help him, until it was a great hoſt, like the hoſt of God.

23 ¶ And theſe are the numbers of the bands that were ready armed to the war, and came to David to Hebron, to turn the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The children of Judah, that bare ſhield and ſpear, were ſix thouſand and eight hundred ready armed to the war.

25 Of the children of Simeon, mighty men of valour for the war, ſeven thouſand and one hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi, four thouſand and ſix hundred.

27 And Jehoiada was the leader of the Aaronites, and with him were three thouſand and ſeven hundred.

28 And Zadok a young man mighty of valour, and

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

2 Even of Saul's brethren of Benjamin.) Something very extraordinary muſt have happened, to induce Saul's kindred to forſake him. Poſſibly they could not bear to ſee an innocent perſon perſecuted in ſo violent a manner, eſpecially after he had refuſed to hurt the perſon who thus purſued him, when he had it in his power.

15 Theſe are they that went over Jordan in the firſt month, when it had overflown all his banks.) This is given as an inſtance of their intrepidity, in venturing to paſs the Jordan at this dangerous ſeaſon; and in all probability without the help of any boat, notwithſtanding the violence and rapidity of the current.

18 The ſpirit came upon Amaſai.) That is, God inſpired him with an intrepid boldneſs and reſolution to profeſs, in the name of his companions, their fidelity to David in ſuch pathetic words, as convinced him they were really his friends.

of his father's houſe twenty and two captains.

29 And of the children of Benjamin, the kindred of Saul, three thouſand: for hitherto the greateſt part of them had kept the ward of the houſe of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim, twenty thouſand and eight hundred, mighty men of valour, famous throughout the houſe of their fathers.

31 And of the half tribe of Manaſſeh eighteen thouſand which were expreſſed by name, to come and make David king.

32 And of the children of Iſſachar, which were men that had underſtanding of the times, to know what Iſrael ought to do: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandment.

33 Of Zebulun, ſuch as went forth to battle, expert in war, with all inſtruments of war, fifty thouſand which could keep rank: they were not of double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thouſand captains, and with them, with ſhield and ſpear, thirty and ſeven thouſand.

35 And of the Danites, expert in war, twenty and eight thouſand and ſix hundred.

36 And of Aſher, ſuch as went forth to battle, expert in war, forty thouſand.

37 And on the other ſide of Jordan, of the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, with all manner of inſtruments of war for the battle, an hundred and twenty thouſand.

38 All theſe men of war, that could keep rank, came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over all Iſrael: and all the reſt alſo of Iſrael were of one heart to make David king.

39 And there they were with David three days, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover, they that were nigh them, even unto Iſſachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali, brought bread on aſſes, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, and meat, meal, cakes of figs, and bunches of raiſins, and wine, and oil, and oxen, and ſheep abundantly: for there was joy in Iſrael.

CHAP. XIII.

1 David fetcheth the ark from Kirjath-jearim. 9 Uzza being ſmitten, the ark is left at the houſe of Obed-edom.

AND David conſulted with the captains of thouſands and hundreds, and with every leader.

2 And David ſaid unto all the congregation of Iſrael, If it ſeem good unto you, and that it be of the Lord our God, let us ſend abroad unto our brethren every where that are left in all the land of Iſrael, and with them alſo to the prieſts and Levites which are in their cities and ſuburbs, that they may gather themſelves unto us.

3 And let us bring again the ark of our God to us: for we enquired not at it in the days of Saul.

4 And all the congregation ſaid, that they would do ſo: for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

5 So David gathered all Iſrael together, from Shihor of Egypt even unto the entering of Hamath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim.

6 And David went up, and all Iſrael, to Baalah, that is, to Kirjath-jearim, which belonged to Judah, to bring up thence the ark of God the Lord that dwelleth between the cherubims, whoſe name is called on it.

7 And they carried the ark of God in a new cart, out of the houſe of Abinadad. And Uzza and Ahio drave the cart.

8 And David and all Iſrael played before God, with all their might, and with ſinging, and with harps, and with pſalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came unto the threſhing-floor of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark; for the oxen ſtumbled.

10 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Uzza, and he ſmote him, becauſe he put his hand to the ark: and there he died before God.

11 And David was diſpleaſed becauſe the Lord had made a breach upon Uzza: wherefore that place is called Perez-uzza to this day.

12 And David was afraid of God that day, ſaying, How ſhall I bring the ark of God home to me?

13 So David brought not the ark home to himſelf to the city of David, but carried it aſide into the houſe of Obed-edom the Gittite.

14 And the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his houſe three months. And the Lord bleſſed the houſe of Obed-edom, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Hiram's kindneſs to David. 2 David's felicity. 8 His two victories.

NOW Hiram king of Tyre ſent meſſengers to David, and timber of cedars, with maſons and carpenters, to build him an houſe.

2 ¶ And David perceived that the Lord had confirmed him king over Iſrael; for his kingdom was lifted up on high, becauſe of his people Iſrael.

3 And David took more wives at Jeruſalem: and David begat more ſons and daughters.

4 Now theſe are the names of his children which he had in Jeruſalem; Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon,

5 And Ibhar, and Eliſhua, and Elpalet,

6 And Noga, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

7 And Eliſhama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 ¶ And when the Philiſtines heard that David was anointed king over all Iſrael, all the Philiſtines went up to ſeek David: and David heard of it, and went out againſt them.

9 And the Philiſtines came and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 And David enquired of God, ſaying, Shall I go up-

32 The children of Iſſachar, which were men that had underſtanding of the times.) This paſſage hath given riſe to a great variety of interpretations; ſome think it ſignifies that they underſtood the method of computing the beginning of their years and months, and the exact time when their feaſts were to be celebrated. Others, that they were great aſtronomers, and underſtood the proper ſeaſon for ſowing, planting, reaping, &c. But the true import of the phraſe is, that they were well verſed in political affairs, and knew what was moſt proper to be done in all exigencies of human life; as the words immediately following ſufficiently indicate.

40 For there was joy in Iſrael.) They were greatly pleaſed to ſee an end of their diviſions, by being united under one king, whom they had great reaſon to hope would procure them both peace and plenty in all their dwellings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

3 Let us bring again the ark of our God to us.) The firſt care of this pious prince was about religion; for he could not reſt till he had conſulted with the elders of the people about bringing up the ark of God; and which was accordingly done at the time fixed for it at this meeting.

For we enquired not at it in the days of Saul.) Or, as the words are in the Hebrew, we enquired not about it, &c. That is, we were not ſolicitous to find a proper place for it during the time that Saul governed the kingdom.

up againſt the Philiſtines? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord ſaid unto him, Go up; for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David ſmote them there. Then David ſaid, God hath broken in upon mine enemies by mine hand, like the breaking forth of waters: therefore they called the name of that place Baal-perazim.

12 And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burnt with fire.

13 And the Philiſtines yet again ſpread themſelves abroad in the valley.

14 Therefore David enquired again of God: and God ſaid unto him, Go not up after them; turn away from them, and come upon them over againſt the mulberry-trees.

15 And it ſhall be, when thou ſhalt hear a ſound of going in the tops of the mulberry-trees, that then thou ſhalt go out to battle: for God is gone forth before thee to ſmite the hoſt of the Philiſtines.

16 David, therefore, did as God commanded him: and they ſmote the hoſt of the Philiſtines from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands; and the Lord brought the fear of him upon all nations.

CHAP. XV.

1 David bringeth the ark from Obed-edom. 25 He performeth it with great joy. 29 Michal deſpiſeth him.

AND David made him houſes in the city of David and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then David ſaid, None ought to carry the ark of God but the Levites: for them hath the Lord choſen to carry the ark of God, and to miniſter unto him for ever.

3 And David gathered all Iſrael together to Jeruſalem, to bring up the ark of the Lord unto his place which he had prepared for it.

4 And David aſſembled the children of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the ſons of Kohath: Uriel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twenty.

6 Of the ſons of Merari; Aſaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty.

7 Of the ſons of Gerſhom; Joel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the ſons of Elizaphan; Shemaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the ſons of Hebron; Eliel the chief, and his brethren, fourſcore.

10 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Amminadab the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.

11 And David called for Zadok and Abiathar the prieſts, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Aſaiah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab.

12 And ſaid unto them, Ye are the chief of the fathers of the Levites: ſanctify yourſelves, both ye and your brethren, that ye may bring up the ark of the Lord God of Iſrael unto the place that I have prepared for it,

13 For becauſe ye did it not at the firſt, the Lord our God made a breach upon us, for that we ſought him not after the due order.

14 So the prieſts and the Levites ſanctified themſelves to bring up the ark of the Lord God of Iſrael.

15 And the children of the Levites bare the ark of God upon their ſhoulders, with the ſtaves thereon, as Moſes commanded, according to the word of the Lord.

16 And David ſpake to the chief of the Levites, to appoint their brethren to be the ſingers, with inſtruments of muſic, pſalteries, and harps, and cymbals ſounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the ſon of Joel; and of his brethren, Aſaph the ſon of Berechiah; and of the ſons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the ſon of Kuſhaiah:

18 And with them their brethren of the ſecond degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaſeiah, and Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah; and Obed-edom and Jeiel the porters.

19 So the ſingers, Heman, Aſaph, and Ethan, were appointed to ſound with cymbals of braſs:

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaſeiah, and Benaiah, with pſalteries on Alamoth;

21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps on the Sheminith to excel.

22 And Chenaniah, chief of the Levites, was for ſong: he inſtructed about the ſong becauſe he was ſkilful.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were door-keepers for the ark.

24 And Shebaniah, and Jehoſhaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amaſai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer, the prieſts, did blow with the trumpets before the ark of God; and Obed-edom and Jehiah were door-keepers for the ark.

25 ¶ So David and the elders of Iſrael, and the captains over thouſands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the houſe of Obed-edom with joy.

26 And it came to paſs, when God helped the Levites that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, that they offered ſeven bullocks and ſeven rams.

27 And

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

7 And Eliſhama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.) There are only eleven mentioned in 2 Sam. v. 14, 15, 16; but here there are thirteen. The reaſon for this difference is, that two of them died in their infancy, and for that reaſon are not mentioned in Samuel; but recorded here, becauſe it was the profeſſed intention of the author of this book to enumerate all David's ſons born at Jeruſalem.

12 And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burnt with fire.) It was no wonder they refuſed to preſerve ſuch gods as could neither ſave themſelves, nor the people who worſhipped them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 And David—prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent.) The tabernacle made by Moſes in the wilderneſs was now at Gibeon; but David did not think proper to bring it from thence, and therefore cauſed a new tent to be pitched. Perhaps it was now, by length of time, grown ſo ruinous, that it could not eaſily be repaired.

2 None ought to carry the ark of God, but the Levites.) The former miſcarriage, when they brought up the ark from Kirjath-jearim, had taught David to uſe it with greater reverence; and take care that the Levites, according to an expreſs precept of the law, ſhould bear it on their ſhoulders.

26 God helped the Levites that bare the ark.) That is, he preſerved them from committing any error, ſo that they brought it up to the place which David had prepared for it, without offending that tremendous Being whoſe preſence dwelt viſibly between the cherubims.

27 And David was cloathed with a robe of fine linen.) This was an honourable veſtment, and allowed to be worn by thoſe who were not Levites, as being proper in divine miniſtrations.

27 And David was cloathed with a robe of fine linen, and all the Levites that bare the ark, and the ſingers, and Chenaniah the maſter of the ſongs with the ſingers: David alſo had upon him an ephod of linen.

28 Thus all Iſrael brought up the ark of the covenant of the Lord, with ſhouting and with ſound of the cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a noiſe with pſalteries and harps.

29 ¶ And it came to paſs, as the ark of the covenant of the Lord came to the city of David, that Michal the daughter of Saul looking out at a window ſaw king David dancing and playing: and ſhe deſpiſed him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 David's feſtival ſacrifice. 7 His pſalm of thankſgiving.

SO they brought the ark of God, and ſet it in the midſt of the tent that David had pitched for it; and they offered burnt-ſacrifices and peace-offerings before God.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt-offerings and the peace-offerings, he bleſſed the people in the name of the Lord.

3 And he dealt to every one of Iſrael, both man and woman, to every one a loaf of bread, and a good piece of fleſh, and a flaggon of wine.

4 ¶ And he appointed certain of the Levites to miniſter before the ark of the Lord, and to record, and to thank and praiſe the Lord God of Iſrael:

5 Aſaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Seemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed-edom: and Jeiel with pſalteries and with harps; but Aſaph made a ſound with cymbals;

6 Benaiah alſo and Jahaziel the prieſt, with trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.

7 ¶ Then on that day David delivered firſt this pſalm to thank the Lord, into the hand of Aſaph and his brethren.

8 Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people.

9 Sing unto him, ſing pſalms unto him, talk ye of all his wondrous works.

10 Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that ſeek the Lord.

11 Seek the Lord and his ſtrength, ſeek his face continually.

12 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth;

13 O ye ſeed of Iſrael his ſervant, ye children of Jacob his choſen ones.

14 He is the Lord our God: his judgments are in all the earth.

15 Be ye mindful always of his covenant: the word which he commanded to a thouſand generations:

16 Even of the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Iſaac;

17 And hath confirmed the ſame to Jacob for a law, and to Iſrael for an everlaſting covenant,

18 Saying, Unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.

19 When ye were but few, even a few, and ſtrangers in it.

20 And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people,

21 He ſuffered no man to do them wrong; yea, he reproved kings for their ſakes,

22 Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.

23 Sing unto the Lord all the earth; ſhew forth from day to day his ſalvation.

24 Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations.

25 For great is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed: he alſo is to be feared above all gods.

26 For all the gods of the people are idols: but the Lord made the heavens.

27 Glory and honour are in his preſence, ſtrength and gladneſs are in his place.

28 Give unto the Lord, ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and ſtrength.

29 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering and come before him; worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs.

30 Fear before him all the earth: the world alſo ſhall be ſtable, that it be not moved.

31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice: and let men ſay among the nations, The Lord reigneth.

32 Let the ſea roar, and the fulneſs thereof: let the fields rejoice, and all that is therein.

33 Then ſhall the trees of the wood ſing out at the preſence of the Lord, becauſe he cometh to judge the earth,

34 O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

35 And ſay ye, Save us, O God of our ſalvation, and gather us together, and deliver us from the heathen, that we may give thanks to thy holy name, and glory in thy praiſe.

36 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael for ever and ever. And all the people ſaid, Amen, and praiſed the Lord.

37 So he left there before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, Aſaph and his brethren, to miniſter before the ark continually, as every day's work required.

38 And Obed-edom, with their brethren, threeſcore and eight: Obed-edom alſo the ſon of Jeduthun, and Hoſah, to be porters;

39 And Zadok the prieſt, and his brethren the prieſts, before the tabernacle of the Lord, in the high place that was at Gibeon;

40 To offer burnt-offerings unto the Lord upon the altar of the burnt-offering continually morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the law of the Lord, which he commanded Iſrael;

41 And with them Heman and Jeduthun, and the reſt that were choſen, who were expreſſed by name, to give thanks to the Lord, becauſe his mercy endureth for ever;

42 And

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

8 Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, &c.) This ſong of praiſe is principally taken from the hundred and fifth, and ninety-ſixth pſalms. It ſeems to have been compoſed by David ſome time before, but was now firſt given to the Levites to be daily ſung in divine ſervice. And ſurely nothing could be better adapted, as the divine perfections are admirably deſcribed, which could not fail of inſpiring the people to fear, love, and obey, the holy One of Iſrael.

39 And Zadok the prieſt and his brethren---before the tabernacle of the Lord, in the high place that was at Gibeon.) Zadok was the chief of the ſecondary prieſts, and miniſtered in the tabernacle of Moſes, which, with the altar of burnt-offerings was then at Gibeon. And here the ordinary worſhip of God was performed, and the daily ſacrifices was offered on the altar made by Moſes. But the extraordinary worſhip was performed before the ark at Jeruſalem, where Abiathar the high prieſt attended.

42 And with them Heman and Jeduthun, with trumpets and cymbals, for thoſe that ſhould make a ſound, and with muſical inſtruments of God. And the ſons of Jeduthun were porters.

43 And all the people departed every man to his houſe: and David returned to bleſs his houſe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 David forbidden to build God an houſe, 11 is promiſed bleſſings in his ſeed.

NOW it came to paſs, as David ſat in his houſe, that David ſaid to Nathan the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an houſe of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the Lord remaineth under curtains.

2 Then Nathan ſaid unto David, Do all that is in thine heart; for God is with thee.

3 ¶ And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the word of God came to Nathan, ſaying,

4 Go and tell David my ſervant, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou ſhalt not build me an houſe to dwell in:

5 For I have not dwelt in an houſe ſince the day that I brought up Iſrael unto this day; but have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another.

6 Whereſoever I have walked with all Iſrael, ſpake I a word to any of the judges of Iſrael, whom I commanded to feed my people, ſaying, Why have ye not built me an houſe of cedars?

7 Now, therefore, thus ſhalt thou ſay unto my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I took thee from the ſheep-cote, even from following the ſheep, that thou ſhouldeſt be ruler over my people Iſrael;

8 And I have been with thee witherſoever thou haſt walked, and have cut off all thine enemies from before thee, and have made thee a name like the name of the great men that are in the earth:

9 Alſo I will ordain a place for my people Iſrael, and will plant them, and they ſhall dwell in their place, and ſhall be moved no more; neither ſhall the children of wickedneſs waſte them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And ſince the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Iſrael: moreover, I will ſubdue all thine enemies. Furthermore I tell thee, that the Lord will build thee an houſe.

11 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs, when thy days be expired that thou muſt go to be with thy fathers, that I will raiſe up thy ſeed after thee, which ſhall be of thy ſons, and I will eſtabliſh his kingdom.

12 He ſhall build me an houſe, and I will ſtabliſh his throne for ever.

13 I will be his father, and he ſhall be my ſon: and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will ſettle him in mine houſe and in my kingdom for ever; and his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for evermore.

15 According to all theſe words, and according to all this viſion, ſo did Nathan ſpeak unto David.

16 ¶ And David the king came, and ſat before the Lord, and ſaid, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine houſe, that thou haſt brought me hitherto?

17 And yet this was a ſmall thing in thine eyes, O God; for thou haſt alſo ſpoken of thy ſervant's houſe for a great while to come, and haſt regarded me according to the eſtate of a man of high degree, O Lord God.

18 What can David ſpeak more to thee for the honour of thy ſervant? for thou knoweſt thy ſervant.

19 O Lord, for thy ſervant's ſake, and according to thine own heart haſt thou done all this greatneſs, in making known all theſe great things.

20 O Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beſides thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

21 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people Iſrael, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make thee a name of greatneſs and terribleneſs, by driving out nations from before thy people whom thou haſt redeemed out of Egypt?

22 For thy people Iſrael didſt thou make thine own people for ever; and thou, Lord, becameſt their God.

23 Therefore now, Lord, let the thing that thou haſt ſpoken concerning thy ſervant, and concerning his houſe, be eſtabliſhed for ever, and do as thou haſt ſaid.

24 Let it even be eſtabliſhed, that thy name may be magnified for ever, ſaying, The Lord of hoſts is the God of Iſrael, even a God to Iſrael: and let the houſe of David thy ſervant be eſtabliſhed before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, haſt told thy ſervant that thou wilt build him an houſe; therefore thy ſervant hath found in his heart to pray before thee.

26 And now Lord, thou art God, and haſt promiſed this goodneſs unto thy ſervant:

27 Now therefore let it pleaſe thee to bleſs the houſe of thy ſervant, that it may be before thee for ever; for thou bleſſeſt, O Lord, and it ſhall be bleſſed for ever.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 David ſubdueth the Philiſtines and the Moabites, 3 and ſmiteth Hadarezer and the Syrians.

NOW after this, it came to paſs that David ſmote the Philiſtines, and ſubdued them, and took Gath and her towns out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

2 And he ſmote Moab: and the Moabites became David's ſervants, and brought gifts.

3 ¶ And David ſmote Hadarezer king of Zobah unto Hamath, as he went to ſtabliſh his dominion by the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thouſand chariots, and ſeven thouſand horſemen, and twenty thouſand footmen: David alſo houghed all the chariot-horſes, but reſerved of them an hundred chariots.

5 And when the Syrians of Damaſcus came to help Hadarezer king of Zobah, David ſlew of the Syrians two and twenty thouſand men.

6 Then David put garriſons in Syria-damaſcus; and the Syrians became David's ſervants, and brought gifts. Thus the Lord preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

7 And David took the ſhields of gold that were on the ſervants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Jeruſalem.

8 Likewiſe from Tibhath, and from Chun, cities of Hadarezer, brought David very much braſs, where-

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

14 But I will ſettle him in mine houſe and in my kingdom for ever.) In 2 Sam. vii. 16, it is ſaid thine houſe, and thy kingdom; but here mine houſe, and my kingdom; which ſufficiently proves, that this principally belongs to the Meſſiah, of whom David was only type, or figure.

17 Thou--haſt regarded me according to the eſtate of a man of high degree, O Lord God.) Or, as the words may be rendered, Thou haſt looked upon me in the form of a man, who art in the higheſt the Lord God: which is plainly a prophecy of the Meſſiah, who was really the Lord God, but took upon him our nature, and appeared in the form of a man.

with

with Solomon made the braſen ſea and the pillars, and the veſſels of braſs.

9 Now when Tou king of Hamath heard how David had ſmitten all the hoſt of Hadarezer king of Zobah;

10 He ſent Hadoram his ſon to king David, to enquire of his welfare, and to congratulate him, becauſe he had fought againſt Hadarezer, and ſmitten him, (for Hadarezer had war with Tou,) and with him all manner of veſſels of gold, and ſilver, and braſs.

11 Them alſo king David dedicated unto the Lord, with the ſilver and the gold that he brought from all theſe nations; from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philiſtines, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover, Abiſhai, the ſon of Zeruiah, ſlew of the Edomites, in the valley of Salt, eighteen thouſand.

13 And he put garriſons in Edom; and all the Edomites became David's ſervants. Thus the Lord preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

14 So David reigned over all Iſrael, and executed judgment and juſtice among all his people.

15 And Joab, the ſon of Zeruiah, was over the hoſt; and Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Ahilud, recorder;

16 And Zadok, the ſon of Ahitub, and Abimelech, the ſon of Abiathar, were the prieſts; and Shavſha was ſcribe;

17 And Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and the ſons of David were chief about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

1 David's meſſengers ſent to comfort Hanun, are villainouſly entreated. 6 The Ammonites are overcome.

NOW it came to paſs after this, that Nahaſh the king of the children of Ammon died, and his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

2 And David ſaid, I will ſhew kindneſs unto Hanun, the ſon of Nahaſh, becauſe his father ſhewed kindneſs to me. And David ſent meſſengers to comfort him concerning his father. So the ſervants of David came into the land of the chi.dren of Ammon, to Hanun to comfort him.

3 But the princes of the children of Ammon ſaid to Hanun, Thinkeſt thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath ſent comforters unto thee? are not his ſervants come unto thee for to ſearch, and to overthrow, and to ſpy out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun took David's ſervants, and ſhaved them, and cut off their garments in the midſt, hard by their buttocks, and ſent them away.

5 Then there went certain, and told David how the men were ſerved: and he ſent to meet them: (for the men were greatly aſhamed;) and the king ſaid, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon ſaw that they had made themſelves odious to David, Hanun and the children of Ammon ſent a thouſand talents of ſilver to hire them chariots and horſemen out of Meſopatamia, and out of Syria-maachah, and out of Zobah.

7 So they hired thirty and two thouſand chariots, and the king of Maachah and his people; who came and pitched before Medeba. And the children of Ammon gathered themſelves together from their cities, and came to battle.

8 And when David heard of it, he ſent Joab and all the hoſt of the mighty men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battle in array before the gate of the city; and the kings that were come were by themſelves in the field.

10 Now when Joab ſaw that the battle was ſet againſt him before and behind, he choſe out of all the choice of Iſrael, and put them in array againſt the Syrians.

11 And the reſt of the people he delivered unto the hand of Abiſhai his brother, and they ſet themſelves in array againſt the children of Ammon.

12 And he ſaid, If the Syrians be too ſtrong for me, then thou ſhalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too ſtrong for thee, then I will help thee.

13 Be of good courage and let us behave ourſelves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God; and let the Lord do that which is good in his ſight.

14 So Joab and the people that were with him, drew nigh before the Syrians unto the battle: and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon ſaw that the Syrians were fled, they likewiſe fled before Abiſhai his brother, and entered into the city. Then Joab came to Jeruſalem.

16 And when the Syrians ſaw that they were put to the worſe before Iſrael, they ſent meſſengers, and drew forth the Syrians that were beyond the river; and Shophach the captain of the hoſt of Hadarezer, went before them.

17 And it was told David; and he gathered all Iſrael, and paſſed over Jordan, and came upon them, and ſet the battle in array againſt them. So when David had put the battle in array againſt the Syrians, they fought with him.

18 But the Syrians fled before Iſrael, and David ſlew of the Syrians ſeven thouſand men which fought in chariots, and forty thouſand footmen, and killed Shophach, the captain of the hoſt.

19 And when the ſervants of Hadarezer ſaw that they were put to the worſe before Iſrael, they made peace with David, and became his ſervants: neither would the Syrians help the children of Ammon any more.

CHAP. XX.

1 Rabbah is beſieged by Joab, ſpoiled by David, and the people tortured. 4 Three overthrows of the Philiſtines.

AND it came to paſs, that after the year was expired, at the time that kings go out to battle, Joab led forth the power of the army, and waſted the country of the children of Ammon, and came and beſieged Rabbah: but David tarried at Jeruſalem: and Joab ſmote Rabbah, and deſtroyed it.

2 And David took the crown of their king from off

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 Now after this it came to paſs, that David ſmote the Philiſtines, and ſubdued them, and took Gath and her towns, &c.) This chapter has been fully explained, 2 Sam. viii. and therefore nothing farther need be added here, except that it is there ſaid, that David took Metheg-ammah, being a region or province in which Gath and her towns are ſituated.

his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious ſtones in it: and it was ſet upon David's head: and he brought alſo exceeding much ſpoil out of the city.

3 And he brought out the people that were in it, and cut them with ſaws, and with harrows of iron, and with axes. Even ſo dealt David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And David and all the people returned to Jeruſalem.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs after this, that there aroſe war at Gezer with the Philiſtines, at which time Sibbechai the Huſhathite ſlew Sippai that was of the children of the giant, and they were ſubdued.

5 And there was war again with the Philiſtines; and Elhanan the ſon of Jair ſlew Lahmi the brother of Goliah the Gittite, whoſe ſpear ſtaff was like a weaver's beam.

6 And yet again there was war at Gath, where was a man of great ſtature, whoſe fingers and toes were four and twenty, ſix on each hand, and ſix on each foot: and he alſo was the ſon of the giant:

7 But when he defied Iſrael, Jonathan the ſon Shimea David's brother ſlew him.

8 Theſe were born unto the giant in Gath: and they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his ſervants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 David numbereth the people. 9 He repenteth and chooſeth the peſtilence.

AND Satan ſtood up againſt Iſrael, and provoked David to number Iſrael.

2 And David ſaid to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, number Iſrael, from Beer-ſheba even to Dan; and bring the number of them to me, that I may know it.

3 And Joab anſwered, The Lord make his people an hundred times ſo many more as they be: but, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's ſervants? why then doth my lord require this thing? why will he be a cauſe of treſpaſs to Iſrael?

4 Nevertheleſs, the king's word prevailed againſt Joab: wherefore Joab departed, and went throughout all Iſrael, and came to Jeruſalem.

5 And Joab gave the ſum of the number of the people unto David. And all they of Iſrael were a thouſand thouſand, and an hundred thouſand men that drew ſword: and Judah was four hundred threeſcore and ten thouſand men that drew ſword.

6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the king's word was abominable to Joab.

7 And God was diſpleaſed with this thing; therefore he ſmote Iſrael.

8 And David ſaid unto God, I have ſinned greatly, becauſe I have done this thing: but now, I beſeech thee, do away the iniquity of thy ſervant; for I have done very fooliſhly.

9 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Gad, David's ſeer, ſaying,

10 Go and tell David, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, I offer thee three things; chooſe thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

11 So Gad came to David, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Chooſe thee

12 Either three years famine; or three months to be deſtroyed before thy foes, while that the ſword of thine enemies overtaketh thee; or elſe three days the ſword of the Lord, even the peſtilence in the land, and the angel of the Lord deſtroying throughout all the coaſts of Iſrael. Now therefore, adviſe thyſelf what word I ſhall bring again to him that ſent me.

13 And David ſaid unto Gad, I am in a great ſtrait: let me fall now into the hand of the Lord: for very great are his mercies: but let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord ſent peſtilence upon Iſrael: and there fell of Iſrael ſeventy thouſand men.

15 And God ſent an angel unto Jeruſalem to deſtroy it; and as he was deſtroying, the Lord beheld, and repented him of the evil, and ſaid to the angel that deſtroyed, It is enough, ſtay now thine hand. And the angel of the Lord ſtood by the threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jebuſite.

16 And David lifted up his eyes and ſaw the angel of the Lord ſtand between the earth and the heaven having a drawn ſword in his hand ſtretched out over Jeruſalem; then David and the elders of Iſrael, who were clothed in ſackcloth, fell upon their faces.

17 And David ſaid unto God, Is it not I that commanded the people to be numbered? even I it is that have ſinned and done evil indeed; but as for theſe ſheep, what have they done? Let thine hand, I pray thee, O Lord my God, be on me, and on my father's houſe; but not on thy people that they ſhould be plagued.

18 Then the angel of the Lord commanded Gad to ſay to David, that David ſhould go up, and ſet up an altar unto the Lord in the threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jebuſite.

19 And David went up at the ſaying of Gad, which he ſpake in the name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned back, and ſaw the angel; and his four ſons with him hid themſelves. Now Ornan was threſhing wheat.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and ſaw David, and went out of the threſhing-floor, and bowed himſelf to David with his face to the ground.

22 Then David ſaid to Ornan, Grant me the place of this threſhing-floor, that I may build an altar therein unto the Lord: thou ſhalt grant it me for the full price: that the plague may be ſtayed from the people.

23 And Ornan ſaid unto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king do that which is good in his eyes: lo, I give thee the oxen alſo for burnt-offerings, and the threſhing-inſtruments for wood, and the wheat for the meat-offering: I give it all.

24 And king David ſaid to Ornan, Nay; but I will verily buy it for the full price: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt-offerings without coſt.

25 So David gave to Ornan for the place ſix hundred ſhekels of gold by weight.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

8 Theſe were born unto the giant in Gath; and they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his ſervants.) After this verſe the hymn which David compoſed in commemoration of his many deliverances from his enemies, eſpecially from Saul, is inſerted in 2 Sam. 23, &c. but is here omitted, as it would have been not only a repetition of what is there recorded at large, but alſo in the book of Pſalms.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the king's word was abominable to Joab.) We have here the true reaſon why neither the Levites nor the Benjamites were numbered, namely, becauſe the work was odious to Joab; and therefore he left off before he had numbered theſe two tribes.

26 And he anſwered him from heaven by fire upon the altar of burnt-offering.) This was the higheſt token that could be given of God's gracious acceptance of any ſacrifice. It was indeed ſo eminent a token of the favour of the Deity that even Julian himſelf could not deny it.

26 And David built there an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, and called upon the Lord; and he answered him from heaven by fire upon the altar of burnt-offering.

27 And the Lord commanded the angel; and he put up his sword again into the sheath thereof.

28 At that time, when David saw that the Lord had answered him in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 For the tabernacle of the Lord which Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of the burnt-offering were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.

30 But David could not go before it to enquire of God: for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

1 David prepareth for the building of the temple. 6 He instructeth Solomon.

THEN David said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar of the burnt-offering for Israel.

2 And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel: and he set masons to hew wrought stones to build the house of God.

3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates; and for the joinings; and brass in abundance without weight;

4 Also cedar-trees in abundance; for the Zidonians and they of Tyre brought much cedar-wood to David.

5 And David said, Solomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be builded for the Lord must be exceeding magnifical, of fame and of glory throughout all countries: I will therefore now make preparations for it. So David prepared abundantly before his death.

6 ¶ Then he called for Solomon his son, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And David said to Solomon, My son, as for me, it was in my mind to build an house unto the name of the Lord my God:

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shed blood abundantly, and hast made great wars: thou shalt not build an house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight.

9 Behold, a son shall be born to thee, who shall be a man of rest; and I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: for his name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness unto Israel in his days.

10 He shall build an house for my name, and he shall be my son, and I will be his father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel for ever.

11 Now, my son, the Lord be with thee; and prosper thou, and build the house of the Lord thy God, as he hath said of thee.

12 Only the Lord give thee wisdom and understanding, and give thee charge concerning Israel, that thou mayest keep the law of the Lord thy God.

13 Then shalt thou prosper, if thou takest heed to fulfil the statutes and judgments which the Lord charged Moses with concerning Israel: be strong, and of good courage, dread not, nor be dismayed.

14 Now, behold, in my trouble I have prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of silver; and of brass and iron without weight: (for it is in abundance:) timber also and stone have I prepared; and thou mayest add thereto.

15 Moreover, there are workmen with thee in abundance, hewers and workers of stone and timber, and all manner of cunning men for every manner of work.

16 Of the gold, the silver, and the brass, and the iron, there is no number. Arise, therefore, and be doing, and the Lord be with thee

17 David also commanded all the princes of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given the inhabitants of the land into mine hand; and the land is subdued before the Lord and before his people.

19 Now, set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God: arise, therefore, and build ye the sanctuary of the Lord God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house that is to be built to the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 David, in his old age, maketh Solomon king. 2 The Levites ordered. 7 The sons of Gershom, 12 Kohath, 21 and Merari. 24 The office of the Levites.

SO when David was old and full of days, he made Solomon his son king over Israel.

2 ¶ And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the priests and the Levites.

3 Now the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years and upward: and their number by their polls, man by man, was thirty and eight thousand.

4 Of which, twenty and four thousand were to set forward the work of the house of the Lord; and six thousand were officers and judges.

30 But David could not go before it, &c.) David was convinced that God had consecrated the spot, and consequently that he ought to offer a sacrifice immediately, and not stay till he could go to Gibeon.

Commentary on Chap. XXII.

1 This is the house of the Lord God.) David seems to have been inspired by God with this thought, and probably concluded, from the signal marks he had given of his acceptance of the sacrifice, that this was the spot on which the temple must be built.

5 Solomon my son is young and tender, &c.) David considered both the youth of his son, and the magnificence of the temple he was to build; and therefore thought himself obliged to do every thing in his power to assist him in this large and expensive undertaking.

8 Thou hast shed blood abundantly, &c.) This reason is not mentioned in the book of Samuel; but it is here recorded to shew, that none but a peaceable monarch was approved by God to build his house; that he might be an emblem of the King of Peace, the Lord of the Church, who was prefigured in all such great transactions.

10 He shall be my son, &c.) These words can, in their proper and full sense, belong to none but the great Messiah; for Solomon reigned but forty years, after which his kingdom was divided: and hence the author of the epistle to the Hebrews applies these words to Christ.

Commentary on Chap. XXIII.

4 Six thousand were officers and judges.) God had ordered judges and officers to be settled in all their gates, Deut. xvi. 18, but this command seems to have been long neglected; and that David himself was not able to restore their judicatures to their ancient dignity and order, till the latter end of his reign; when having subdued all his enemies, he took care of this necessary part of government, and having numbered the Levites, appointed their respective employments, which had, till now, been undetermined.

5 Moreover

5 Moreover, four thouſand were porters; and four thouſand praiſed the Lord with the inſtruments which I made, (ſaid David) to praiſe therewith.

6 And David divided them into courſes among the ſons of Levi, namely, Gerſhon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 ¶ Of the Gerſhonites were Laadan and Shimei.

8 The ſons of Laadan; the chief was Jehiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three.

9 The ſons of Shimei; Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haran, three. Theſe were the chief of the fathers of Laadan.

10 And the ſons of Shimei were Jahath, Zina, and Jeuſh, and Beriah. Theſe four were the ſons of Shimei.

11 And Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the ſecond: but Jeuſh and Beriah had not many ſons; therefore they were in one reckoning, according to their father's houſe.

12 ¶ The ſons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four.

13 The ſons of Amram; Aaron, and Moſes. And Aaron was ſeparated, that he ſhould ſanctify the moſt holy things, he and his ſons for ever, to burn incenſe before the Lord, to miniſter unto him, and to bleſs in his name for ever.

14 Now concerning Moſes the man of God, his ſons were named of the tribe of Levi.

15 The ſons of Moſes were, Gerſhom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the ſons of Gerſhom, Shebuel was the chief.

17 And the ſons of Eliezer were, Rehabiah the chief. And Eliezer had none other ſons; but the ſons of Rehabiah were very many.

18 Of the ſons of Izhar, Shelomith the chief.

19 Of the ſons of Hebron; Jeriah the firſt, Amariah the ſecond, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth.

20 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Micah the firſt, and Jeſiah the ſecond.

21 ¶ The ſons of Merari; Mahli, and Muſhi. The ſons of Mahli; Eleazar, and Kiſh:

22 And Eleazar died and had no ſons, but daughters: and their brethren the ſons of Kiſh took them.

23 The ſons of Muſhi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three.

24 ¶ Theſe were the ſons of Levi after the houſe of their fathers: even the chief of the fathers, as they were counted by number of names by their polls, that did the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord, from the age of twenty years and upward.

25 For David ſaid, The Lord God of Iſrael hath given reſt unto his people, that they may dwell in Jeruſalem for ever:

26 And alſo unto the Levites: they ſhall no more carry the tabernacle, nor any veſſels of it for the ſervice thereof.

27 For by the laſt words of David the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and above:

28 Becauſe their office was to wait on the ſons of Aaron, for the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord, in the courts, and in the chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things, and the work of the ſervice of the houſe of God;

29 Both for the ſhew-bread, and for the fine flour for meat-offerings, and for the unleavened cakes, and for that which is baked in the pan, and for that which is fried, and for all manner of meaſure and ſize;

30 And to ſtand every morning to thank and praiſe the Lord, and likewiſe at even;

31 And to offer all burnt-ſacrifices unto the Lord, in the ſabbaths, in the new-moons, and on the ſet feaſts, by number, according to the order commanded unto them continually before the Lord;

32 And that they ſhould keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the ſons of Aaron their brethren, in the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 The diviſion of the ſons of Aaron into four and twenty orders. 20 The Kohathites, 27 and the Merarites divided by lot.

NOW theſe are the diviſions of the ſons of Aaron. The ſons of Aaron; Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children; therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the prieſt's office.

3 And David diſtributed them, both Zadok of the ſons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the ſons of Ithamar, according to their offices in their ſervice.

4 And there were more chief men found of the ſons of Eleazar than of the ſons of Ithamar: and thus were they divided. Among the ſons of Eleazar there were ſixteen chief men of the houſe of their fathers, and eight among the ſons of Ithamar according to the houſe of their fathers.

5 Thus were they divided by lot, one ſort with another: for the governors of the ſanctuary, and governors of the houſe of God, were of the ſons of Eleazar, and of the ſons of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the ſon of Nathaneel the ſcribe, one of the Levites, wrote them before the king and the princes, and Zadok the prieſt, and Ahimelech the ſon of Abiathar, and before the chief of the fathers of the prieſts and Levites: one principal houſehold being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar.

7 Now the firſt lot came forth to Jehoiarib, the ſecond to Jedaiah,

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchijah, the ſixth to Mijamin.

10 The ſeventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah,

11 The ninth to Jeſhuah, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliaſhib, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeſhebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the ſixteenth to Immer,

15 The ſeventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Aphſes,

16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel,

17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul,

18 The three and twentieth to Delaiah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.

19 Theſe were the orderings of them in their ſervice,

14 Now concerning Moſes the man of God, his ſons were named of the tribe of Levi.) We have here a remarkable inſtance of modeſty and humility. This great prophet, who had ſuch remarkable familiarity with Omnipotence himſelf, never advanced any of his ſons to any poſt of dignity, but left them all ſimple Levites, and ſervants to the prieſts, who were the ſeed of Aaron.

29 And for all manner of meaſure and ſize.) All the ſtandard weights and meaſures were depoſited in the ſanctuary, and committed to the care of the Levites, being reckoned among the holy things.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

5 Thus were they divided by lot.) This method was doubtleſs taken to avoid all manner of complaint: all being now ordered by a divine diſpoſition, according to the cuſtom of the moſt early ages.

to

to come into the houſe of the Lord, according to their manner, under Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Iſrael had commanded him.

20 ¶ And the reſt of the ſons of Levi were theſe: Of the ſons of Amram; Shubael: of the ſons of Shubael; Jehdeiah.

21 Concerning Rehabiah; of the ſons of Rehabiah, the firſt was Iſſhiah.

22 Of the Izharites; Shelomoth: of the ſons of Shelomoth; Jahath.

23 And the ſons of Hebron; Jeriah the firſt, Amariah the ſecond, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth.

24 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Michah: of the ſons of Michah; Shamir.

25 The brother of Michah was Iſſhiah: of the ſons of Iſſhiah; Zechariah.

26 The ſons of Merari were Mahli and Muſhi: the ſons of Jaaziah: Beno.

27 ¶ The ſons of Merari; by Jaaziah; Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibri.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, who had no ſons.

29 Concerning Kiſh; the ſon of Kiſh was Jerahmeel.

30 The ſons alſo of Muſhi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth. Theſe were the ſons of the Levites, after the houſe of their fathers.

31 Theſe likewiſe caſt lots over againſt their brethren the ſons of Aaron, in the preſence of David the king, and Zadok, and Ahimelech, and the chief of the fathers of the prieſts and Levites, even the principal fathers, over againſt their younger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The number and offices of the ſingers. 8 Their diviſion by lot into four and twenty orders.

MOREOVER, David and the captains of the hoſt ſeparated to the ſervice of the ſons of Aſaph, and of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who ſhould propheſy with harps, with pſalteries and with cymbals: and the number of the workmen, according to their ſervice, was;

2 Of the ſons of Aſaph; Zaccur, and Joſeph, and Nethaniah, and Aſarelah, the ſons of Aſaph, under the hands of Aſaph, which propheſied according to the order of the king.

3 Of Jeduthun: the ſons of Jeduthun; Gedaliah, and Zeri, and Jeſhaiah, Haſhabiah, and Mattithiah, ſix, under the hands of their father Jeduthun, who propheſied with a harp, to give thanks and to praiſe the Lord.

4 Of Heman: the ſons of Heman; Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joſhbekaſhah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth:

5 All theſe were the ſons of Heman the king's ſeer in the words of God, to lift up the horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen ſons and three daughters.

6 All theſe were under the hands of their father for ſong in the houſe of the Lord, with cymbals, pſalteries, and harps, for the ſervice of the houſe of God, according to the king's order to Aſaph, Jeduthun, and Heman.

7 So the number of them, with their brethren that were inſtructed in the ſongs of the Lord, even all that were cunning, was two hundred fourſcore and eight.

8 ¶ And they caſt lots, ward againſt ward, as well the ſmall as the great, the teacher as the ſcholar.

9 Now the firſt lot came forth for Aſaph to Joſeph: the ſecond to Gedaliah, who with his brethren and his ſons were twelve:

10 The third to Zaccur, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

11 The fourth to Izri, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

12 The fifth to Nethaniah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

13 The ſixth to Bukkiah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

14 The ſeventh to Jeſharelah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

15 The eight to Jeſhaiah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

16 The ninth to Mattaniah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

17 The tenth to Shimei, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

18 The eleventh to Azareel, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

19 The twelfth to Haſhabiah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

20 The thirteenth to Shubael, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

21 The fourteenth to Mattithiah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

22 The fifteenth to Jeremoth, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

23 The ſixteenth to Hananiah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

24 The ſeventeenth to Joſhbekaſhah, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

25 The eighteenth to Hanani, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

26 The nineteenth to Mallothi, he, his ſons, and his brethren were twelve:

27 The twentieth to Eliathah, he, his ſons, and his brethren were twelve:

28 The one and twentieth to Hothir, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

29 The two and twentieth to Giddalti, he, his ſons, and his brethren, were twelve:

30 The three and twentieth to Mahazioth, he, his ſons, and his brethren were twelve:

31 The four and twentieth to Romamtiezer, he, his ſons, and his brethren were twelve.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The diviſion of the porters. 13 The gates aſſigned by lot. 20 The Levites that had the charge of the treaſures.

CONCERNING the diviſions of the porters: Of the Korhites was Meſhelemiah, the ſon of Kore, of the ſons of Aſaph.

2 And the ſons of Meſhelemiah were Zechariah the firſt-born,

19 Under Aaron their father.) That is, under the inſpection of the high prieſt, who, being the ſucceſſor of Aaron, is here called by his name.

21 Even the principal fathers over againſt their younger brethren.) This is very obſcurely expreſſed; but the meaning is, that both the elder and the younger had their places by lot, not by ſeniority of houſes. They that were of greater dignity drew lots againſt thoſe that were of leſs, and were to take their courſes according to the lot they drew.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

1 Who ſhould propheſy.) That is, ſing the pſalms which David and the other prophets compoſed: for theſe young men were not prophets; but are ſaid to propheſy, becauſe they ſung in the ſervice of God thoſe prophetical hymns compoſed by their fathers, who were divinely inſpired.

5 To lift up the horn.) That is, to blow aloud with trumpets made of horns.

firſt-born, Jediael, the ſecond, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth.

3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the ſixth, Elioenai the ſeventh.

4 Moreover, the ſons of Obed-edom were Shemaiah the firſt-born, Jehozabad the ſecond, Joah the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Nethaneel the fifth.

5 Ammiel the ſixth, Iſſachar the ſeventh, Peulthai the eighth; for God bleſſed him.

6 Alſo unto Shemaiah his ſon were ſons born, that ruled throughout the houſe of their father: for they were mighty men of valour.

7 The ſons of Shemaiah; Othni, and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad, whoſe brethren were ſtrong men; Elihu, and Semachiah.

8 All theſe of the ſons of Obed-edom; they, and their ſons, and their brethren, able men for ſtrength for the ſervice, were threeſcore and two of Obed-edom.

9 And Meſhelemiah had ſons and brethren, ſtrong men, eighteen.

10 Alſo Hoſah, of the children of Merari, had ſons: Simri the chief, (for though he was not the firſt-born, yet his father made him the chief.)

11 Hilkiah the ſecond, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the ſons and brethren of Hoſah were thirteen.

12 Among theſe were the diviſions of the porters, even among the chief men, having wards one againſt another, to miniſter in the houſe of the Lord.

13 ¶ And they caſt lots, as well the ſmall as the great, according to the houſe of their fathers for every gate.

14 And the lot eaſtward fell to Shelemiah; then for Zechariah his ſon (a wiſe counſellor) they caſt lots, and his lot came out northward.

15 To Obed-edom ſouthward; and to his ſons the houſe of Aſuppim.

16 To Shuppim and Hoſah, the lot came forth weſtward, with the gate Shallecheth, by the cauſeway of the going up, ward againſt ward.

17 Eaſtward were ſix Levites, northward four a day, ſouthward four a day, and toward Aſuppim two and two.

18 At Parbar weſtward, four at the cauſeway, and two at Parbar.

19 Theſe are the diviſions of the porters among the ſons of Kore, and among the ſons of Merari.

20 ¶ And of the Levites, Ahijah was over the treaſures of the houſe of God, and over the treaſures of the dedicated things.

21 As concerning the ſons of Laadan: the ſons of the Gerſhonite Laadan, chief fathers, even of Laadan the Gerſhonite, were Jehieli.

22 The ſons of Jehieli; Zetham, and Joel his brother, which were over the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord.

23 Of the Amramites, and the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites:

24 And Shebuel, the ſon of Gerſhom, the ſon of Moſes, was ruler of the treaſures.

25 And his brethren by Eliezer; Rehabiah his ſon, and Jeſhaiah his ſon, and Joram his ſon, and Zichri his ſon, and Shelomith his ſon.

26 Which Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treaſures of the dedicated things, which David the king, and the chief fathers, the captains over thouſands and hundreds, and the captains of the hoſt, had dedicated.

27 Out of the ſpoils won in battles did they dedicate to maintain the houſe of the Lord.

28 And all that Samuel the ſeer, and Saul, the ſon of Kiſh, and Abner the ſon of Ner, and Joab, the ſon of Zeruiah, had dedicated, and whoſoever had dedicated any thing, it was under the hand of Shelomith, and of his brethren.

29 ¶ Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his ſons were for the outward buſineſs over Iſrael, for officers and judges.

30 And of the Hebronites, Haſhabiah and his brethren, men of valour, a thouſand and ſeven hundred, were officers among them of Iſrael on this ſide Jordan weſtward, in all the buſineſs of the Lord, and in the ſervice of the king.

31 Among the Hebronites was Jerijah the chief, even among the Hebronites, according to the generations of his fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were ſought for, and there were found among them mighty men of valour at Jezer of Gilead.

32 And his brethren, men of valour, were two thouſand and ſeven hundred chief fathers, whom king David made rulers over the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, for every matter pertaining to God, and affairs of the king.

NOW the children of Iſrael after their number, to wit, the chief fathers and captains of thouſands and hundreds, and their officers that ſerved the king in any matter of the courſes, which came in and went out month by month, throughout all the months of the year, of every courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

2 Over the firſt courſe, for the firſt month, was Jaſhobeam, the ſon of Zabdiel; and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

3 Of the children of Perez was the chief of all the captains of the hoſt for the firſt month.

COMMENTARY on Chap XXVI.

6 For they were mighty men of valour.) This office required men of ſtrength and courage, for they were to watch and guard the houſe of God night and day. They alſo opened and ſhut the houſe, and attended there to prevent any thing being done to the prejudice of the peace, ſafety, and purity of the place.

15 The houſe of Aſuppim.) What this houſe was is not eaſy to determine abſolutely; but it ſeems to have been a place where the veſſels and treaſures of the temple were depoſited, the true import of the word being collections or gatherings: and Obed-edom, whoſe ſons were placed at Aſuppim, is ſaid, 2 Chron. xxv, 24. to have the cuſtody of the treaſures.

30 In all buſineſs of the Lord, and in the ſervice of the king.) Hence we may obſerve, that the ſame perſon took care both of the things pertaining to God, and thoſe that concerned the king. By the former is meant ſuch caſes as might be judged by the divine law; and by the latter, ſuch as could not be determined by the law, but were left to the judgment of the king.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

1 Now the children of Iſrael, &c.) The eccleſiaſtical affairs being ſettled, we have next an account of the manner in which the army was diſpoſed, in order to render it ſerviceable on all occaſions. It was diſtributed, into twelve legions, each conſiſting of twenty-four thouſand men, who were commanded by one of the chief of the fathers; under whom there were captains of thouſands in every legion, commanding a thouſand men. There were alſo captains of hundreds, and under them inferior officers. Each of theſe legions attended one month, for the ſecurity of the king and kingdom; at the end of which they retired to their reſpective places of abode, and another legion ſucceeded.

the ruler: in his course likewise were twenty and four thousand.

5 The third captain of the host for the third month, was Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, a chief priest: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

6 This is that Benaiah, who was mighty among the thirty, and above the thirty: and in his course was Ammizabad his son.

7 The fourth captain for the fourth month, was Asahel, the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

8 The fifth captain for the fifth month, was Shamhuth the Izrahite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

9 The sixth captain, for the sixth month, was Ira, the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

10 The seventh captain, for the seventh month, was Helez the Pelonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

11 The eighth captain, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zarhites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

12 The ninth captain, for the ninth month, was Abiezer the Anetothite, of the Benjamites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

13 The tenth captain for the tenth month, was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month, was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

15 The twelfth captain, for the twelfth month, was Heldai the Netophathite, of Othniel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

16 ¶ Furthermore, over the tribes of Israel: the ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri; of the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah;

17 Of the Levites, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; of the Aaronites, Zadok;

18 Of Judah, Elihu, one of the brethren of David; of Issachar, Omri the son of Michael.

19 Of Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; of Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel;

20 Of the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah;

21 Of the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead: Iddo the son of Zechariah; of Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner;

22 Of Dan, Azareel the son of Jeroham: these were the princes of the tribes of Israel.

23 But David took not the number of them from twenty years old and under; because the Lord had said, he would increase Israel like to the stars of the heavens.

24 Joab, the son of Zeruiah began to number, but he finished not, because there fell wrath for it against Israel; neither was the number put in the account of the chronicles of king David.

25 ¶ And over the king's treasures was Azmaveth, the son of Adiel: and over the store-houses in the fields, in the cities, and in the villages, and in the castles, was Jehonathan, the son of Uzziah:

26 And over them that did the work of the field, for tillage of the ground, was Ezri, the son of Chelub:

27 And over the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite: over the increase of the vineyards for the wine-cellars was Zabdi the Shiphmite:

28 And over the olive-trees, and the sycamore-trees that were in the low plains, was Baal-hanan the Gederite: and over the cellars of oil was Joash:

29 And over the herds that fed in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite: and over the herds that were in the vallies was Shaphat the son of Adlai:

30 Over the camels also was Obil the Ishmaelite: and over the asses was Jehdeiah the Meronothite:

31 And over the flocks was Jaziz the Hagerite. All these were the rulers of the substance which was king David's.

32 Also Jonathan David's uncle, was a counsellor, a wise man, and a scribe: and Jeiel the son of Hachmoni, was with the king's sons:

33 And Ahithophel was the king's counsellor: and Hushai the Archite was the king's companion:

34 And after Ahithophel was Jehoiada, the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar: and the general of the king's army was Joab.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 David exhorteth to fear God. 9, 20 He encourageth Solomon to build the temple.

AND David assembled all the princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and the captains of the companies that ministered to the king by course, and the captains over the thousands, and captains over the hundreds, and the stewards over all the substance and possession of the king, and of his sons, with the officers, and with the mighty men, and with all the valiant men unto Jerusalem.

2 Then David the king stood up upon his feet, and said, Hear me, my brethren, and my people, As for me, I had in mine heart to build an house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and for the footstool of our God, and had made ready for the building:

3 But God said unto me, Thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of war, and hast shed blood.

4 Howbeit, the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to be king over Israel for ever. For he hath chosen Judah to be the ruler: and of the house of Judah, the house of my father: and among the sons of my father, he liked me to make me king over all Israel:

5 And of all my sons, (for the Lord hath given me many sons) he hath chosen Solomon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of the Lord over Israel.

6 And he said unto me, Solomon thy son, he shall build my house and my courts: for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father.

7 Moreover, I will establish his kingdom for ever, if he be constant to do my commandments, and my judgments, as at this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God,

7 The fourth captain for the fourth month, was Asahel the brother of Joab.) Hence we learn, that these courses were established at the beginning of David's reign; for Asahel was killed while he reigned in Hebron, before he was king over all Israel and settled in Jerusalem.

17 Of the Aaronites, Zadok.) The Aaronites were the priests, and not a distinct tribe; but being a different order from the rest of the tribe of Levi, they had a peculiar chief to preside over them.

Commentary on Chap. XXVIII.

4 For he hath chosen Judah to be the ruler; and of the house of Judah, the house of my father, &c.) It was not known, before the days of David, from what family of Judah a king should be chosen, from whom the Messiah should come.

keep

keep and ſeek for all the commandments of the Lord your God: that ye may poſſeſs this good land, and leave it for an inheritance for your children after you for ever.

9 And thou, Solomon my ſon, know thou the God of thy father, and ſerve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind. For the Lord ſearcheth all hearts, and underſtandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts: if thou ſeek him he will be found of thee; but if thou forſake him, he will caſt thee off for ever.

10 Take heed now; for the Lord hath choſen thee to build an houſe for the ſanctuary; be ſtrong, and do it.

11 Than David gave to Solomon his ſon the pattern of the porch, and of the houſes thereof, and of the treaſuries thereof, and of the upper chambers thereof, and of the inner parlours thereof, and of the place of the mercy-ſeat.

12 And the pattern of all that he had by the ſpirit of the courts of the houſe of the Lord, and of all the chambers round about, of the treaſuries of the houſe of God, and of the treaſuries of the dedicated things:

13 Alſo for the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, and for all the work of the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord, and for all the veſſels of ſervice in the houſe of the Lord.

14 He gave of gold by weight for things of gold, for all inſtruments of all manner of ſervice: ſilver alſo for all inſtruments of ſilver by weight, for all inſtruments of every kind of ſervice:

15 Even the weight for the candleſticks of gold, and for their lamps of gold, by weight for every candleſtick, and for the lamps thereof, and for the candleſticks of ſilver by weight, both for the candleſticks, and alſo for the lamps thereof, according to the uſe of every candleſtick.

16 And by weight he gave gold for the tables of ſhew-bread, for every table; and likewiſe ſilver for the tables of ſilver:

17 Alſo pure gold for the fleſh-hooks, and the bowls, and the cups; and for the golden baſons he gave gold by weight for every baſon: and likewiſe ſilver by weight for every baſon of ſilver:

18 And for the altar of incenſe refined gold by weight: and gold for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubims, that ſpread out their wings, and covered the ark of the covenant of the Lord.

19 All this, ſaid David, the Lord made me underſtand in writing by his hand upon me, even all the works of this pattern.

20 And David ſaid to Solomon his ſon, Be ſtrong, and of good courage, and do it: fear not, nor be diſmayed; for the Lord God, even my God, will be with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forſake thee, until thou haſt finiſhed all the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord.

21 And behold, the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, even they ſhall be with thee, for all the ſervice of the houſe of God: and there ſhall be with thee, for all manner of workmanſhip, every willing ſkilful man, for any manner of ſervice: alſo the princes and all the people will be wholly at thy commandment.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 David, by his example, cauſeth the princes and people to offer. 10 His thankſgiving. 26 His reign and death.

FURTHERMORE, David the king ſaid unto all the congregation, Solomon my ſon, whom alone God hath choſen, is yet young and tender, and the work is great: for the palace is not for man, but for the Lord God.

2 Now, I have prepared with all my might for the houſe of my God, the gold for things to be made of gold, and the ſilver for things of ſilver, and the braſs for things of braſs, the iron for things of iron, and wood for things of wood; onyx-ſtones and ſtones to be ſet, gliſtering-ſtones, and of divers colours, and all manner of precious ſtones, and marble-ſtones in abundance.

3 Moreover, becauſe I have ſet my affection to the houſe of my God, I have of mine own proper good, of gold and ſilver, which I have given to the houſe of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy houſe.

4 Even three thouſand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir, and ſeven thouſand talents of refined ſilver, to overlay the walls of the houſes withal:

5 The gold for things of gold, and the ſilver for things of ſilver, and for all manner of work to be made by the hands of artificers. And who then is willing to conſecrate his ſervice this day unto the Lord?

6 Then the chief of the fathers and princes of the tribes of Iſrael, and the captains of thouſands, and of hundreds, with the rulers over the king's work, offered willingly,

7 And gave, for the ſervice of the houſe of God, of gold, five thouſand talents and ten thouſand drams; and of ſilver ten thouſand talents, and of braſs eighteen thouſand talents; and one hundred thouſand talents of iron.

8 And they with whom precious ſtones were found gave them to the treaſure of the houſe of the Lord, by the hand of Jehiel the Gerſhonite.

9 Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, becauſe with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord: and David the king alſo rejoiced with great joy.

10 ¶ Wherefore David bleſſed the Lord before all

9 Serve him with a perfect heart, and with a willing mind.) He was to expreſs his love by an entire obedience to God, in the moſt chearful manner; from choice, not conſtraint, in order to gain the favour of God, not of men; for ſincere piety, and not merely the outward appearance of it, is the ſureſt ſupport of a prince's power and authority; for it will diſpoſe his ſubjects to love and reverence him, as ſincerely as he doth God.

12 And the pattern of all that he had by the ſpirit.) As this houſe was to be the habitation of the Holy One of Iſrael, it was proper that it ſhould not be of mere human invention, but of a divine contrivance, as the tabernacle made by Moſes was. Accordingly God ſuggeſted to David, by his ſpirit, how he would have it built, and the ſeveral parts of which it was to be compoſed.

18 And gold for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubims.) They are called the chariot, becauſe God is ſaid not only to ſit but alſo to ride upon the cherubims, Pſalm xviii. 10. The other cherubims made by Moſes, were more properly his ſeat; but theſe repreſented him as filling the whole houſe.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

1 Solomon my ſon whom God hath choſen, is yet young and tender, &c.) He endeavours to awaken their attention, and induce them to aſſiſt his ſon more powerfully, becauſe God himſelf had appointed him for this work, and the ſtructure was to be very magnificent, ſuitable to the Majeſty that was to inhabit it, the Lord himſelf; who though he does not dwell in temples made with hands, yet was preſent there by a glorious light, which repreſented his Majeſty.

4 Three thouſand talents of gold, &c.) Dean Prideaux obſerves two things concerning this immenſe quantity of gold which David dedicated to the temple of God; firſt, that it was that of Ophir, therefore he muſt have eſtabliſhed a navigation in his time, otherwiſe he could not have heaped it to that degree; ſecondly, that the ſum was ſo prodigious, that it is probable it was reckoned by another ſort of talents, of leſs value than the Moſaic talents; for what David gave, chap. xxii. 14, and what is afterwards reckoned in this chapter, if valued by theſe talents, was enough to have built all the temple of ſolid ſilver.

the congregation: and David ſaid, Bleſſed be thou, Lord God of Iſrael our father, for ever and ever.

11 Thine, O Lord, is the greatneſs, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majeſty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reigneſt over all, and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give ſtrength unto all.

13 Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praiſe thy glorious name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people that we ſhould be able to offer ſo willingly after this ſort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee.

15 For we are ſtrangers before thee, and ſojourners, as were all our fathers; our days on the earth are as a ſhadow, and there is none abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this ſtore that we have prepared to build thee an houſe for thine holy name, cometh of thine hand, and is all thine own.

17 I know alſo, my God, that thou trieſt the heart, and haſt pleaſure in uprightneſs. As for me, in the uprightneſs of mine heart I have willingly offered all theſe things: and now have I ſeen with joy thy people which are preſent here to offer willingly unto thee.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Iſaac, and of Iſrael our fathers, keep this for ever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their heart unto thee:

19 And give unto Solomon my ſon a perfect heart, to keep thy commandments, thy teſtimonies, and thy ſtatutes, and to do all theſe things, and to build the palace for the which I have made proviſion.

20 And David ſaid to all the congregation, Now bleſs the Lord your God. And all the congregation bleſſed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads, and worſhipped the Lord and the king.

21 And they ſacrificed ſacrifices unto the Lord, and offered burnt-offerings unto the Lord on the morrow after that day, even a thouſand bullocks, a thouſand rams, and a thouſand lambs, with their drink-offerings, and ſacrifices in abundance for all Iſrael:

22 And did eat and drink before the Lord on that day with great gladneſs. And they made Solomon the ſon of David king the ſecond time, and anointed him unto the Lord to be the chief governor, and Zadok to be prieſt.

23 Then Solomon ſat on the throne of the Lord as king inſtead of David his father, and proſpered; and all Iſrael obeyed him.

24 And all the princes, and the mighty men, and all the ſons likewiſe of king David, ſubmitted themſelves unto Solomon the king.

25 And the Lord magnified Solomon exceedingly in the ſight of all Iſrael, and beſtowed upon him ſuch royal majeſty as had not been on any king before him in Iſrael.

26 ¶ Thus David the ſon of Jeſſe reigned over all Iſrael.

27 And the time that he reigned over Iſrael was forty years; ſeven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jeruſalem.

28 And he died in a good old age, full of days, riches, and honour: and Solomon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

29 Now the acts of David the king, firſt and laſt, behold, they are written in the book of Samuel the ſeer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the ſeer,

30 With all his reign and his might, and the times that went over him, and over Iſrael, and over all the kingdoms of the countries.

11 Thine, O Lord is the greatneſs, and the power, and the glory.) This is a moſt noble declaration of the ſenſe he had of the divine excellencies and perfections, with a thankful acknowledgement of his immenſity, power, goodneſs, eternity and majeſty, which are the properties or attributes of God. The Talmudiſts paraphraſe this and the next verſe in the following manner: Thine, O Lord is the greatneſs, for thou createdſt the world; and the power, for thou broughteſt our fathers out of Egypt, and carriedſt them thro' the Red-ſea; and revealedſt thyſelf in glory upon mount Sinai, to give the law to thy people; and obtainedſt victory over Amalek, Sihon, Og, and the Canaanites; and madeſt the ſun and moon to ſtand ſtill by the ſpirit of thy glory, till thy people were revenged of their enemies: for all things both in heaven and in earth, are the works of thy hands: thou ſupporteſt and ruleſt all things; and thou art exalted above all the angels in heaven, as well as all the kings upon earth. The riches of the wealthy, and the glory of kings and dominions, are given them by thee: thou ruleſt over all, and they rule by thy power; for thou art able to multiply and ſtrengthen all things.

26 Thus David the ſon of Jeſſe, reigned over all Iſrael.) That is, this is a brief account of the tranſactions of David during his reign.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGUMENT.

The ſecond Book of the Chronicles contains an account of the progreſs and end of the kingdom of Judah, from the beginning of Solomon's reign to the year of their return from the Babyloniſh captivity; it alſo enumerates ſeveral particulars omitted in the Book of Kings, particularly in the hiſtory of Jehoſhaphat and Hezekiah.

CHAP. I.

1 The ſolemn offering of Solomon at Gibeon. 7 His choice of wiſdom is bleſſed by God. 13 His ſtrength and wealth.

AND Solomon the ſon of David, was ſtrengthened in his kingdom, and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him exceedingly.

2 Then Solomon ſpake unto all Iſrael, to the captains of thouſands and of hundreds, and to the judges, and to every governor in all Iſrael, the chief of the fathers.

3 So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which Moſes the ſervant of the Lord, had made in the wilderneſs.

4 But the ark of God had David brought up from Kirjath-jearim, to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jeruſalem.

5 Moreover the braſen altar that Bezaleel, the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, had made, he put before the tabernacle of the Lord; and Solomon and the congregation ſought unto it.

6 And Solomon went up thither to the braſen altar before the Lord, which was at the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thouſand burnt-offerings upon it.

7 ¶ In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and ſaid unto him, Aſk what I ſhall give thee.

8 And Solomon ſaid unto God, Thou haſt ſhewed great mercy unto David my father, and haſt made me to reign in his ſtead.

9 Now, O Lord God, let thy promiſe unto David my father be eſtabliſhed: for thou haſt made me king over a people like the duſt of the earth in multitude.

10 Give me now wiſdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people that is ſo great?

11 And God ſaid to Solomon, Becauſe this was in thine heart, and thou haſt not aſked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet haſt aſked long life; but haſt aſked wiſdom and knowledge for thyſelf, that thou mayeſt judge my people, over whom I have made thee king;

12 Wiſdom and knowledge is granted unto thee, and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, ſuch as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither ſhall there any after thee have the like.

13 Then Solomon came from his journey to the high place that was at Gibeon to Jeruſalem, from before the tabernacle of the congregation, and reigned over Iſrael.

14 And Solomon gathered chariots and horſemen: and he had a thouſand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thouſand horſemen, which he placed in the chariot-cities, and with the king at Jeruſalem.

15 And the king made ſilver and gold at Jeruſalem as plenteous as ſtones, and cedar-trees made he as the ſycamore-trees that are in the vale for abundance.

16 And Solomon had horſes brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

3 So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon, &c.) Though the tabernacle and altar made by Moſes in the wilderneſs were now at Gibeon; yet the ark of the covenant was in the city of David. It has therefore been aſked how theſe came to be ſeparated? To which it may be anſwered, that even in thoſe days, God intimated to the Iſraelites, that he did not regard the ceremonial worſhip, when the people were under the government and inſtruction of ſuch men as Samuel and David; and were not tainted with idolatry. The Lord did not then exact ſo many legal ſervices, as he did in times of peace and tranquility, when they were more neceſſary for the people; leſt, after their cuſtom, when they lived in peace and proſperity, they ſhould fall into ſuperſtition and admire the worſhip of the heathens.

10 For who can judge this thy people, that is ſo great.) He well knew that among ſuch a numerous people, there would be often very intricate cauſes brought before him, and therefore impoſſible for him always to judge aright, without the aſſiſtance of the divine ſpirit.

17 And they fetched up, and brought forth out of Egypt a chariot for ſix hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and an horſe for an hundred and fifty. And ſo brought they out horſes for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria by their means.

CHAP. II.

1, 17 Solomon's labourers for the building of the temple.
3 His meſſage to Huram, 11 and Huram's kind anſwer.

AND Solomon determined to build an houſe for the name of the Lord, and an houſe for his kingdom.

2 And Solomon told out threeſcore and ten thouſand men to bear burdens, and fourſcore thouſand to hew in the mountain, and three thouſand and ſix hundred to overſee them.

3 ¶ And Solomon ſent to Huram the king of Tyre, ſaying, As thou didſt deal with David my father, and didſt ſend him cedars to build him an houſe to dwell therein, even ſo deal with me.

4 Behold, I build an houſe to the name of the Lord my God, to dedicate it to him, and to burn before him ſweet incenſe, and for the continual ſhew-bread, and for the burnt-offerings morning and evening, on the ſabbaths, and on the new-moons, and on the ſolemn feaſts of the Lord our God. This is an ordinance for ever to Iſrael.

5 And the houſe which I build is great; for great is our God above all gods.

6 But who is able to build him an houſe, ſeeing the heaven, and heaven of heavens, cannot contain him? who am I then that I ſhould build him an houſe, ſave only to burn ſacrifice before him?

7 Send me now, therefore, a man cunning to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs, and in iron, and in purple, and crimſon, and blue, and that can ſkill to grave with the cunning men that are with me in Judah and in Jeruſalem, whom David my father did provide.

8 Send me alſo cedar-trees, fir-trees, and algum-trees, out of Lebanon; (for I know that thy ſervants can ſkill to cut timber in Lebanon;) and behold my ſervants ſhall be with thy ſervants,

9 Even to prepare me timber in abundance: for the houſe which I am about to build ſhall be wonderful great.

10 And behold, I will give to thy ſervants, the hewers that cut timber, twenty thouſand meaſures of beaten wheat, and twenty thouſand meaſures of barley, and twenty thouſand baths of wine, and twenty thouſand baths of oil.

11 ¶ Then Huram, the king of Tyre, anſwered in writing, which he ſent to Solomon, Becauſe the Lord hath loved his people he hath made thee king over them.

12 Huram ſaid, moreover, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, that made heaven and earth, who hath given to David the king a wiſe ſon, endued with prudence and underſtanding, that might build an houſe for the Lord, and an houſe for his kingdom.

13 And now I have ſent a cunning man, endued with underſtanding, of Huram my father's;

14 The ſon of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, ſkilful to work in gold, and in ſilver, in braſs, in iron, in ſtone, and in timber, in purple, in blue, and in fine linen, and in crimſon; alſo to grave any manner of graving, and to find out every device which ſhall be put to him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord David thy father.

15 Now, therefore, the wheat, and the barley, the oil and the wine, which my lord hath ſpoken of, let him ſend unto his ſervants:

16 And we will cut wood out of Lebanon, as much as thou ſhalt need: and we will bring it to thee in floats by ſea to Joppa; and thou ſhalt carry it up to Jeruſalem.

17 ¶ And Solomon numbered all the ſtrangers that were in the land of Iſrael, after the numbering wherewith David his father had numbered them: and they were found an hundred and fifty thouſand, and three thouſand and ſix hundred.

18 And he ſet threeſcore and ten thouſand of them to be bearers of burdens, and fourſcore thouſand to be hewers in the mountain, and three thouſand and ſix hundred overſeers to ſet the people a work.

CHAP. III.

1 The place and time of building the temple. 3 The meaſures and ornaments of the houſe. 10 The cherubims.

THEN Solomon began to build the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem in mount Moriah, where the LORD appeared unto David his father, in the place that David had prepared in the threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jebuſite.

2 And he began to build in the ſecond day of the ſecond month, in the fourth year of his reign.

3 ¶ Now theſe are the things wherein Solomon was inſtructed for the building of the houſe of God: the length by cubits after the firſt meaſure was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

4 And the porch that was in the front of the houſe, the length of it was according to breadth of the houſe, twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty: and he overlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater houſe he cieled with fir-tree, which he overlaid with fine gold, and ſet thereon palm-trees and chains.

6 And he garniſhed the houſe with precious ſtones for beauty: and the gold was gold of Parvaim.

7 He overlaid alſo the houſe, the beams, the poſts, and the walls thereof, and the doors thereof with gold, and graved cherubims on the walls.

8 And he made the moſt holy houſe, the length whereof was according to the breadth of the houſe,

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

6 But who is able to build him an houſe, ſeeing the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain him?) He would not have Huram imagine, that he had ſuch a groveling and unworthy idea of God, as to think he could be confined and comprehended in any houſe, being immenſe beyond conception. And conſequently it would have been a high preſumption to build an houſe for any other intention, than for his worſhippers to aſſemble there, and pay and perform the duties and offices of religion.

17 And Solomon numbered all the ſtrangers that were in the land.) Theſe were the remainder of the Amorites, Hittites, &c. but had embraced the Jewiſh religion. And David had numbered them, that he might know their ſtrength and condition, and diſtinguiſh them from Jews, by employing them in ſuch offices as he did not think were fit for the Iſraelites.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

4 And the height was an hundred and twenty.) This is a very different account from that in the book of kings, where it is ſaid to be thirty cubits only. Some therefore think, that the porch was but thirty cubits high, whereas the temple itſelf was one hundred and twenty. Others are of opinion, that the porch and temple were of the ſame height; but the height of the ceiling from the floor was only thirty cubits, though above the ceiling there were chambers, or upper rooms, ninety feet high.

twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with fine gold, amounting to ſix hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nails was fifty ſhekels of gold. And he overlaid the upper chambers with gold.

10 ¶ And in the moſt holy houſe he made two cherubims of image-work, and overlaid them with gold.

11 And the wings of the cherubims were twenty cubits long: one wing of the one cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the houſe, and the other wing was likewiſe five cubits reaching to the wing of the other cherub.

12 And one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the houſe; and the other wing was five cubits alſo, joining to the wing of the other cherub.

13 The wings of theſe cherubims ſpread themſelves forth twenty cubits: and they ſtood on their feet, and their faces were inward.

14 And he made the vail of blue, and purple, and crimſon, and fine linen, and wrought cherubims thereon.

15 Alſo he made before the houſe two pillars of thirty and five cubits high, and the chapiter that was on the top of each of them was five cubits.

16 And he made chains, as in the oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars; and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them on the chains.

17 And he reared up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left; and called the name of that on the right hand Jachin, and the name of that on the left Boaz.

CHAP. IV.

1 The altar of braſs. 2 The molten ſea. 6 The ten lavers, candleſticks, and tables. 19 The inſtruments of gold.

MOREOVER he made an altar of braſs, twenty cubits the length thereof, and twenty cubits the breadth thereof, and ten cubits the height thereof.

2 ¶ Alſo he made a molten ſea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compaſs, and five cubits the height thereof; and a line of thirty cubits did compaſs it round about.

3 And under it was the ſimilitude of oxen, which did compaſs it round about; ten in a cubit, compaſſing the ſea round about. Two rows of oxen were caſt, when it was caſt.

4 It ſtood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the weſt, and three looking toward the ſouth, and three looking toward the eaſt: and the ſea was ſet above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickneſs of it was an hand-breadth, and the brim of it like the work of the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies: and it received and held three thouſand baths.

6 ¶ He made alſo ten lavers, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to waſh in them: ſuch things as they offered for the burnt-offering they waſhed in them; but the ſea was for the prieſts to waſh in.

7 And he made ten candleſticks of gold, according to their form, and ſet them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 He made alſo ten tables, and placed them in the temple, five on the right ſide, and five on the left: and he made an hundred baſons of gold.

9 Furthermore, he made the court of the prieſts, and the great court, and doors for the court, and overlaid the doors of them with braſs.

10 And he ſet the ſea on the right ſide of the eaſt end, over againſt the ſouth.

11 And Huram made the pots and the ſhovels, and the baſons. And Huram finiſhed the work that he was to make for king Solomon for the houſe of God:

12 To wit, the two pillars, and the pommels, and the chapiters which were on the top of the two pillars, and the two wreaths to cover the two pommels of the chapiters which were on the top of the pillars;

13 And four hundred pomegranates on the two wreaths; two rows of pomegranates on each wreath, to cover the two pommels of the chapiters which were upon the pillars.

14 He made alſo baſes; and lavers made he upon the baſes;

15 One ſea, and twelve oxen under it:

16 The pots alſo, and the ſhovels, and the fleſh-hooks, and all their inſtruments, did Huram his father make to king Solomon, for the houſe of the Lord, of bright braſs.

17 In the plain of Jordan did the king caſt them, in the clay-ground between Succoth and Zeredathath.

18 Thus Solomon made all theſe veſſels in great abundance; for the weight of the braſs could not be found out.

19 ¶ And Solomon made all the veſſels that were for the houſe of God, the golden altar alſo, and the tables whereon the ſhew-bread was ſet;

20 Moreover, the candleſticks with their lamps, that they ſhould burn after the manner, before the oracle, of pure gold;

21 And the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs, made he of gold, and that perfect gold;

22 And the ſnuffers, and the baſons, and the ſpoons, and the cenſers of pure gold: and the entry of the houſe, the inner doors thereof for the moſt holy place, and the doors of the houſe of the temple, were of gold.

CHAP. V.

1 The dedicated treaſures. 2 The bringing up of the ark of the covenant. 11 God being praiſed, giveth a ſign of his favour.

THUS all the work that Solomon made for the houſe of the Lord was finiſhed: and Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had de-

9 He overlaid the upper chambers with gold) The word eljoth, which we render upper chambers, ſignifies alſo the ceiling, and ſhould have been ſo tranſlated here; for the chambers were not overlaid with gold; but the whole ceiling, walls, and floor of the holy and moſt holy place were covered with that coſtly metal.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

3 Two rows of oxen were caſt, when it was caſt.) That is, the oxen and the ſea were caſt together, and not faſtened afterwards.

5 It held three thouſand baths.) 1 Kings, vii. 26, ſays only two thouſand baths; to reconcile theſe paſſages, we may ſuppoſe, that the quantity of water which was commonly in it was two thouſand baths, but if filled to the top, it would contain three thouſand.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had dedicated, &c.) David had made ſuch vaſt preparations for building the houſe of God, that there was more than ſufficient for the whole work; and this ſurplus Solomon depoſited in the treaſury of the temple, not thinking proper to uſe them in any other work. 1 Kings viii. contains nearly the ſame account as this chapter, and therefore the reader is referred thither for an explanation of any difficult paſſage he may meet with here, dicated,

dicated; and the ſilver, and the gold, and all the inſtruments put he among the treaſures of the houſe of God.

2 ¶ Then Solomon aſſembled the elders of Iſrael, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Iſrael unto Jeruſalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Zion.

3 Wherefore all the men of Iſrael aſſembled themſelves unto the king in the feaſt, which was in the ſeventh month.

4 And all the elders of Iſrael came; and the Levites took up the ark.

5 And they brought up the ark, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy veſſels that were in the tabernacle, theſe did the prieſts and the Levites bring up.

6 Alſo king Solomon, and all the congregation of Iſrael that were aſſembled unto him before the ark, ſacrificed ſheep and oxen which could not be told nor numbered for multitude.

7 And the prieſts brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, to the oracle of the houſe, into the moſt holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims:

8 For the cherubims ſpread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the ſtaves thereof above.

9 And they drew out the ſtaves of the ark, that the ends of the ſtaves were ſeen from the ark before the oracle; but they were not ſeen without. And there it is unto this day.

10 There was nothing in the ark ſave the two tables which Moſes put therein at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Iſrael, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And it came to paſs when the prieſts were come out of the holy place: (for all the prieſts that were preſent were ſanctified, and did not then wait by courſe:

12 Alſo the Levites which were the ſingers, all of them of Aſaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their ſons and their brethren, being arrayed in white linen, having cymbals, and pſalteries, and harps, ſtood at the eaſt end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty prieſts ſounding with trumpets:)

13 It came even to paſs, as the trumpeters and ſingers were as one, to make one ſound, to be heard in praiſing and thanking the Lord; and when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and inſtruments of muſick, and praiſed the Lord, ſaying, For he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever: that then the houſe was filled with a cloud, even the houſe of the Lord;

14 So that the prieſts could not ſtand to miniſter by reaſon of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the houſe of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Solomon having bleſſed the people, bleſſeth God. 12 his prayer at the conſecration of the temple.

THEN ſaid Solomon, the Lord hath ſaid, that he would dwell in the thick darkneſs.

2 But I have built an houſe of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for ever.

3 And the king turned his face, and bleſſed the whole congregation of Iſrael; and all the congregation of Iſrael ſtood.

4 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, who hath with his hands fulfilled that which he ſpake with his mouth to my father David, ſaying,

5 Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt, I choſe no city among all the tribes of Iſrael to build an houſe in, that my name might be there; neither choſe I any man to be a ruler over my people Iſrael:

6 But I have choſen Jeruſalem that my name might be there; and have choſen David to be over my people Iſrael:

7 Now is was in the heart of David my father to build an houſe for the name of the Lord God of Iſrael.

8 But the Lord ſaid to David my father, Foraſmuch as it was in thine heart to build an houſe for my name, thou didſt well in that it was in thine heart:

9 Notwithſtanding, thou ſhalt not build the houſe; but thy ſon, which ſhall come forth out of thy loins, he ſhall build the houſe for my name.

10 The Lord therefore hath performed his word that he hath ſpoken: for I am riſen up in the room of David my father, and am ſet on the throne of Iſrael, as the Lord promiſed, and have built the houſe for the name of the Lord God of Iſrael.

11 And in it have I put the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord that he made with the children of Iſrael.

12 And he ſtood before the altar of the Lord in the preſence of all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands:

13 For Solomon had made a brazen ſcaffold, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and had ſet it in the midſt of the court, and upon it he ſtood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands towards heaven.

14 And ſaid, O Lord God of Iſrael, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepeſt covenant, and ſheweſt mercy unto thy ſervants that walk before thee with all their hearts;

15 Thou which haſt kept with thy ſervant David my father that which thou haſt promiſed him: and ſpakeſt with thy mouth, and haſt fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now, therefore, O Lord God of Iſrael, keep with thy ſervant David my father that which thou haſt promiſed him, ſaying, There ſhall not fail thee a man in my ſight to ſit upon the throne of Iſrael; yet ſo that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou haſt walked before me.

17 Now then, O Lord God of Iſrael, let thy word be verified, which thou haſt ſpoken unto thy ſervant David.

6 Alſo king Solomon and all the congregation of Iſrael that were aſſembled, &c.) Nothing ſurely can give a greater pleaſure to the human mind, than to ſee ſuch harmony as here appeared among all orders of men; both teachers and learners, magiſtrates, ſoldiers, and people, all joined in promoting the ſervice and honour of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

5 Neither choſe I any man to be a ruler over my people Iſrael.) Theſe words are very different from thoſe in 1 Kings viii. 16, where it is ſaid, But I choſe David to be over my people Iſrael. 'Till the time of that monarch, there was no ſettled ſucceſſion of a ruler, that he and his poſterity ſhould reign over them; but God raiſed up judges out of what tribe and family he pleaſed: and when he made Saul king, he did not continue that dignity in his family, as he did to David.

13 A brazen ſcaffold.) That is the king's throne, which ſtood juſt within the entrance into the court of the prieſts, on the right hand, as you come in at the Eaſt gate.

18 (But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth! Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens, cannot contain thee; how much leſs this houſe which I have builded?)

19 Have reſpect, therefore, to the prayer of thy ſervant, and to his ſupplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy ſervant prayeth before thee:

20 That thine eyes may be open upon this houſe day and night, upon the place whereof thou haſt ſaid that thou wouldeſt put thy name there; to hearken unto the prayer which thy ſervant prayeth toward this place.

21 Hearken therefore, unto the ſupplications of thy ſervant, and of thy people Iſrael, which they ſhall make toward this place: hear thou from thy dwelling-place, even from heaven; and when thou heareſt, forgive.

22 ¶ If a man ſin againſt his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to make him ſwear, and the oath come before thine altar in this houſe:

23 Then hear thou from heaven, and do, and judge thy ſervants, by requiting the wicked, by recompenſing his way upon his own head; and by juſtifying the righteous, by giving him according to his righteouſneſs.

24 ¶ And if thy people Iſrael be put to the worſe before the enemy, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee, and ſhall return and confeſs thy name, and pray and make ſupplication before thee in this houſe:

25 Then hear thou from the heavens, and forgive the ſin of thy people Iſrael, and bring them again unto the land which thou gaveſt to them and to their fathers.

26 ¶ When the heaven is ſhut up, and there is no rain, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee; yet if they pray toward this place, and confeſs thy name, and turn from their ſin when thou doſt afflict them:

27 Then hear thou from heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy ſervants, and of thy people Iſrael, when thou haſt taught them the good way wherein they ſhould walk; and ſend rain upon thy land, which thou haſt given unto thy people for an inheritance.

28 ¶ If there be dearth in the land, if there be peſtilence, if there be blaſting, or mildew, locuſts, or caterpillars; if their enemies beſiege them in the cities of their land; whatſoever ſore, or whatſoever ſickneſs, there be.

29 Then what prayer, or what ſupplication, ſoever ſhall be made of any man, or of all thy people Iſrael, when every one ſhall know his own ſore, and his own grief, and ſhall ſpread forth his hands in this houſe:

30 Then hear thou from heaven thy dwelling-place, and forgive, and render unto every man according unto all his ways, whoſe heart thou knoweſt; (for thou only knoweſt the hearts of the children of men;)

31 That they may fear thee, to walk in thy ways ſo long as they live in the land which thou gaveſt unto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreover, concerning the ſtranger, which is not of thy people Iſrael, but is come from a far country for thy great name's ſake, and thy mighty hand, and thy ſtretched-out arm; if they come and pray in this houſe.

33 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling-place, and do according to all that the ſtranger calleth to thee for: that all people of the earth may know thy name, and fear thee, as doth thy people Iſrael; and may know that this houſe which I have built is called by thy name.

34 If thy people go out to war againſt their enemies by the way that thou ſhalt ſend them, and they pray unto thee toward this city which thou haſt choſen, and the houſe which I have built for thy name:

35 Then hear thou from the heavens their prayer and their ſupplication, and maintain their cauſe.

36 If they ſin againſt thee, (for there is no man which ſinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them over before their enemies, and they carry them away captives unto a land far off or near:

37 Yet if they bethink themſelves in the land whither they are carried captive, and turn and pray unto thee in the land of their captivity, ſaying, We have ſinned, we have done amiſs and have dealt wickedly;

38 If they return to thee with all their heart, and with all their ſoul, in the land of their captivity, whither they have carried them captives, and pray toward their land, which thou gaveſt unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou haſt choſen, and toward the houſe which I have built for thy name:

39 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling-place, their prayer and their ſupplications, and maintain their cauſe, and forgive thy people which have ſinned againſt thee.

40 Now, my God, let, I beſeech thee, thine eyes be open, and let thine ears be attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 Now therefore, ariſe, O Lord God, into thy reſting-place, thou, and the ark of thy ſtrength: let thy prieſts, O Lord God, be clothed with ſalvation, and let thy ſaints rejoice in goodneſs.

42 O Lord God, turn not away the face of thine anointed: remember the mercies of David thy ſervant.

CHAP. VII.

1 God giveth teſtimony to Solomon's prayer, the people worſhip him. 4 Solomon's ſacrifice.

NOW when Solomon had made an end of praying, the fire came down from heaven and conſumed the burnt-offering and the ſacrifices; and the glory of the Lord filled the houſe.

2 And the prieſts could not enter into the houſe of the Lord, becauſe the glory of the Lord had filled the Lord's houſe.

3 And when all the children of Iſrael ſaw how the fire came down, and the glory of the Lord upon the houſe, they bowed themſelves with their faces to the ground upon the pavement, and worſhipped, and praiſed the Lord, ſaying, For he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.

4 ¶ Then the king and all the people offered ſacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Solomon offered a ſacrifice of twenty and two thouſand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thouſand ſheep. So the king and all the people dedi-

41 Now therefore ariſe, O Lord God, into thy reſting-place, &c.) Theſe words are part of Pſ. cxxxii. 8, 9, with a little alteration. And which the king now uſed in his addreſs to Omnipotence, to beſeech him to take up here, his habitation, together with his ark: to defend his prieſts who miniſtered to him in this place, that they might obtain his bleſſings for others: ſo that all the people might rejoice in his goodneſs, and be ſafe under the ſhadow of his wings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

3 And when all the children of Iſrael ſaw how the fire came down, and the glory of the Lord upon the houſe.) This was a ſufficient aſſurance that God would be preſent in this place; for the glory of the Lord not only filled the houſe, but alſo appeared upon it. So that all the people were high witneſſes of the preſence of Jehovah, and that he had choſen the temple for his habitation.

cated

cated the houſe of God.

6 And the prieſts waited on their offices: the Levites alſo with inſtruments of muſick of the Lord, which David the king had made to praiſe the Lord, becauſe his mercy endureth for ever, when David praiſed by their miniſtry; and the prieſts ſounded trumpets before them, and all Iſrael ſtood.

7 Moreover, Solomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the houſe of the Lord: for there he offered burnt-offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, becauſe the braſen altar which Solomon had made was not able to receive the burnt-offerings, and the meat-offerings, and the fat.

8 Alſo at the ſame time Solomon kept the feaſt ſeven days, and all Iſrael with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eighth day they made a ſolemn aſſembly; for they kept the dedication of the altar ſeven days, and the feaſt ſeven days.

10 And on the three and twentieth day of the ſeventh month he ſent the people away into their tents, glad and merry in heart for the goodneſs that the Lord had ſhewed unto David, and to Solomon, and to Iſrael his people.

11 Thus Solomon finiſhed the houſe of the Lord, and the king's houſe: and all that came into Solomon's heart to make in the houſe of the Lord, and in his own houſe, he proſperouſly effected.

12 And the Lord appeared to Solomon by night, and ſaid unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and have choſen this place to myſelf for an houſe of ſacrifice.

13 If I ſhut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the locuſts to devour the land, or if I ſend peſtilence among my people;

14 If my people which are called by my name, ſhall humble themſelves, and pray, and ſeek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their ſin, and will heal their land.

15 Now mine eyes ſhall be open, and mine ears attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

16 For now have I choſen and ſanctified this houſe, that my name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart ſhall be there perpetually.

17 And as for thee, if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have commanded thee, and ſhalt obſerve my ſtatutes and my judgements;

18 Then will I ſtabliſh the throne of thy kingdom, according as I have covenanted with David thy father, ſaying, There ſhall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Iſrael.

19 But if ye turn away and forſake my ſtatutes and my commandments which I have ſet before you, and ſhall go and ſerve other gods, and worſhip them;

20 Then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land, which I have given them; and this houſe, which I have ſanctified for my name, will I caſt out of my ſight, and will make it to be a proverb and a by-word among all nations.

21 And this houſe which is high, ſhall be an aſtoniſhment to every one that paſſeth by it; ſo that he ſhall ſay, Why hath the Lord done thus unto this land, and unto this houſe?

22 And it ſhall be anſwered, Becauſe they forſook the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods, and worſhipped them, and ſerved them; therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Solomon's buildings. 7 The Gentiles made tributaries. 12 Solomon's yearly ſacrifices.

AND it came to paſs at the end of twenty years, wherein Solomon had built the houſe of the Lord, and his own houſe,

2 That the cities which Huram had reſtored to Solomon, Solomon built them, and cauſed the children of Iſrael to dwell there.

3 And Solomon went to Hamath-zobah, and prevailed againſt it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderneſs, and all the ſtore-cities which he built in Hamath.

5 Alſo he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, fenced cities, with walls, gates, and bars:

6 And Baalath, and all the ſtore-cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot-cities, and the cities of the horſemen, and all that Solomon deſired to build in Jeruſalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

7 ¶ As for all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, which were not of Iſrael,

8 But of their children, who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Iſrael conſumed not, them did Solomon make to pay tribute until this day.

9 But of the children of Iſrael did Solomon make no ſervants for his work: but they were men of war, and chief of his captains, and captains of his chariots and horſemen.

10 And theſe were the chief of king Solomon's officers, even two hundred and fifty, that bare rule over the people.

11 ¶ And Solomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David unto the houſe that he had built for her: for he ſaid, My wife ſhall not dwell in the houſe of David king of Iſrael, becauſe the places are holy whereunto the ark of the Lord hath come.

12 ¶ Then Solomon offered burnt-offerings unto the Lord, on the altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch;

13 Even after a certain rate every day, offering according to the commandment of Moſes, on the ſabbaths, and on the new-moons, and on the ſolemn feaſts, three times in the year, even in the feaſt of unleavened bread, and in the feaſt of weeks, and in the feaſt of tabernacles.

14 And he appointed, according to the order of David his father, the courſes of the prieſts to their ſervice, and the Levites to their charges, to praiſe and miniſter before the prieſts, as the duty of every day required; the porters alſo by their courſes, at every gate: for ſo had David the man of God commanded.

13 If I ſhut up heaven, &c.) Famine and peſtilence were two ſore puniſhments inflicted on them by God for their ſins; and the former was ſometimes cauſed by want of rain, and ſometimes by locuſts, which devoured all the fruits of the ground.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

3 And Solomon went to Hamah-zobah, and prevailed againſt it.) This country lay between the Euphrates and Damaſcus; the former being its eaſtern, and the latter its weſtern boundary.

5 Alſo he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth horon the nether.) Only the nether Beth-horon is mentioned, 1 Kings ix. 17, they were, however, both built before this time; ſo that Solomon only fortified, repaired, enlarged, and beautified them.

manded.

15 And they departed not from the commandment of the king unto the prieſts and Levites, concerning any matter, or concerning the treaſures.

16 Now all the work of Solomon was prepared unto the day of the foundation of the houſe of the Lord, and until it was finiſhed. So the houſe of the Lord was perfected.

17 Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth, at the ſea-ſide in the land of Edom.

18 And Huram ſent him by the hands of his ſervants, ſhips, and ſervants that had knowledge of the ſea; and they went with the ſervants of Solomon to Ophir, and took thence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to king Solomon.

CHAP. IX.

1 The queen of Sheba admireth Solomon's wiſdom. 13 His riches. 31 His death.

AND when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, ſhe came to prove Solomon with hard queſtions at Jeruſalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare ſpices, and gold in abundance, and precious ſtones: and when ſhe was come to Solomon, ſhe communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Solomon told her all her queſtions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.

3 And when the queen of Sheba had ſeen the wiſdom of Solomon, and the houſe that he had built,

4 And the meat of his table, and the ſitting of his ſervants, and the attendance of his miniſters, and their apparel; his cup-bearers alſo, and their apparel; and his aſcent, by which he went up into the houſe of the Lord; there was no more ſpirit in her.

5 And ſhe ſaid to the king, It was a true report which I heard in mine own land of thine acts, and of thy wiſdom:

6 Howbeit, I believed not their words until I came, and mine eyes had ſeen it: and behold, the one half of the greatneſs of thy wiſdom was not told me: for thou exceedeſt the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are theſe thy ſervants, which ſtand continually before thee, and hear thy wiſdom.

8 Bleſſed be the Lord thy God, which delighted in thee to ſet thee on his throne, to be king for the Lord thy God: becauſe thy God loved Iſrael, to eſtabliſh them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and juſtice.

9 And ſhe gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of ſpices great abundance, and precious ſtones: neither was there any ſuch ſpice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.

10 And the ſervants alſo of Huram, and the ſervants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum-trees, and precious ſtones.

11 And the king made of the algum-trees, terraces to the houſe of the Lord, and to the king's palace, and harps and pſalteries for ſingers. And there was none ſuch ſeen before in the land of Judah.

12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her deſire, whatſoever ſhe aſked, beſides that which ſhe had brought unto the king. So ſhe turned and went away to her own land, ſhe and her ſervants.

13 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was ſix hundred and threeſcore and ſix talents of gold;

14 Beſides that which chapmen and merchants brought. And all the kings of Arabia, and governors of the country brought gold and ſilver to Solomon.

15 And king Soloman made two hundred targets of beaten gold: ſix hundred ſhekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundred ſhields made he of beaten gold: three hundred ſhekels of gold went to one ſhield. And the king put them in the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon.

17 Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And there were ſix ſteps to the throne, with a footſtool of gold, which were faſtened to the throne, and ſtays on each ſide of the ſitting-place, and two lions ſtanding by the ſtays.

19 And twelve lions ſtood there on the one ſide and on the other, upon the ſix ſteps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.

20 And all the drinking veſſels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the veſſels of the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon were of pure gold; none were of ſilver; it was not any thing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

21 For the king's ſhips went to Tarſhiſh with the ſervants of Huram; every three years once came the ſhips of Tarſhiſh bringing gold, and ſilver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

22 And king Solomon paſſed all the kings of the earth in riches and wiſdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth ſought the preſence of Solomon, to hear his wiſdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought every man his preſent, veſſels of ſilver, and veſſels of gold, and raiment, harneſs, and ſpices, horſes, and mules, a rate year by year.

25 And Solomon had four thouſand ſtalls for horſes and chariots, and twelve thouſand horſemen; whom he beſtowed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jeruſalem.

26 And he reigned over all the kings, from the river even unto the land of the Philiſtines, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the king made ſilver in Jeruſalem as ſtones, and cedar-trees made he as the ſycamore-trees that are in the low-plains in abundance.

28 And they brought unto Solomon horſes out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Solomon, firſt and laſt, are they not written in the book of Nathan the

COMMENTARY on Chap IX.

2 Solomon told her all her queſtions, &c.) This chapter is little more than a repetition of what is before related in 1 Kings x. It may not, however, be amiſs to obſerve here, that the queſtions put to Solomon by the queen of Sheba were not philoſophical or political, but religious, and particularly concerning the ſervice of God: for our Saviour himſelf tells us, that ſhe came to hear the wiſdom of Solomon, and ſhould therefore riſe up in judgment againſt that generation who refuſed to liſten to his inſtructions. And it is ſaid,

1 Kings x. 1, that the fame ſhe heard of Solomon was concerning the name of the Lord.

27 And the king made ſilver in Jeruſalem as ſtones.) This is an hyperbolical expreſſion, ſignifying ſuch abundance of it as exceeded all belief.

29 Now the reſt of the acts of Solomon---are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, &c.) Abarbinel is of opinion, that there were two books of the acts of Solomon; one containing an account of the beginning of his reign, his noble buildings, and the ſplendor in which he lived, written by Nathan the prophet; and the other an account of what paſſed in the latter part of his life, how he doated upon women, and fell into idolatry, and the prophet,

prophet, and in the propheſy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the viſions of Iddo the ſeer againſt Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat?

30 And Solomon reigned in Jeruſalem over all Iſrael forty years.

31 And Solomon ſlept with his fathers, and he was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. X.

1 Rehoboam refuſing the old men's counſel, 16 ten tribes revolt, 18 and he fleeth.

AND Rehoboam went to Shechem: for to Shechem were all Iſrael come to make him king.

2 And it came to paſs when Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the preſence of Solomon the king, heard it, that Jeroboam returned out of Egypt.

3 And they ſent and called him. So Jeroboam and all Iſrael came, and ſpake to Rehoboam, ſaying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous; now, therefore, eaſe thou ſomewhat the grievous ſervitude of thy father, and his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will ſerve thee.

5 And he ſaid unto them, Come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam took counſel with the old men that had ſtood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, ſaying, What counſel give ye me, to return anſwer to this people?

7 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, If thou be kind to this people, and pleaſe them, and ſpeak good words to them, they will be thy ſervants for ever.

8 But he forſook the counſel which the old men gave him, and took counſel with young men that were brought up with him, and ſtood before him.

9 And he ſaid unto them, What advice give ye, that we may return anſwer to this people, which have ſpoken to me, ſaying, Eaſe ſomewhat the yoke that thy father did put upon us?

10 And the young men that were brought up with him, ſpake unto him, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou anſwer the people that ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it ſomewhat lighter for us; thus ſhalt thou ſay unto them, My little finger ſhall be thicker than my father's loins.

11 For whereas my father put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: my father chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king bade, ſaying, Come again to me on the third day.

13 And the king anſwered them roughly; and king Rehoboam forſook the counſel of the old men,

14 And anſwered them after the advice of the young men, ſaying, my father made your yoke heavy, but I will add thereto: my father chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

15 So the king hearkened not unto the people; for the cauſe was of God, that the Lord might perform his word which he ſpake by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat.

16 ¶ And when all Iſrael ſaw that the king would not hearken unto them, the people anſwered the king, ſaying, What portion have we in David? and we have none inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe; every man to your tents, O Iſrael: and now, David, ſee to thine own houſe. So all Iſrael went to their tents.

17 But as for the children of Iſrael that dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 ¶ Then king Rehoboam ſent Hadoram that was over the tribute; and the children of Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones, that he died. But king Rehoboam made ſpeed to get him up to his chariot to flee to Jeruſalem.

19 And Iſrael rebelled againſt the houſe of David unto this day.

CHAP. XI.

1 Rehoboam raiſing an army to ſubdue Iſrael is forbidden by Shemaiah. 18 His wives.

AND when Rehoboam was come to Jeruſalem, he gathered of the houſe of Judah and Benjamin an hundred and fourſcore thouſand choſen men, which were warriors, to fight againſt Iſrael, that he might bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, the man of God, ſaying,

3 Speak unto Rehoboam, the ſon of Solomon king of Judah, and to all Iſrael in Judah and Benjamin, ſaying,

4 Thus ſaith the Lord, Ye ſhall not go up nor fight againſt your brethren: return every man to his houſe; for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the Lord, and returned from going againſt Jeroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jeruſalem, and built cities for defence in Judah.

6 He built even Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Mareſhah, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachiſh, and Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and in Benjamin fenced cities.

11 And he fortified the ſtrong holds, and put captains in them, and ſtore of victual, and of oil and wine.

12 And in every ſeveral city he put ſhields and ſpears, and made them exceeding ſtrong, having Judah and Benjamin on his ſide.

13 And the prieſts and the Levites, that were in all Iſrael, reſorted to him out of all their coaſts.

14 (For the Levites left their ſuburbs, and their poſſeſſion, and came to Judah and Jeruſalem: for Jeroboam and his ſons had caſt them off from executing the prieſts' office unto the Lord.

15 And he ordained him prieſts for the high places, puniſhments with which he was threatened, written by Ahijah the Shilonite and Iddo the ſeer; for the latter wrote the acts of Jeroboam, which could not be well related, without touching upon ſome part of Solomon's reign.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 And Rehoboam went to Shechem, &c.) This complaint of the people, if true, was doubtleſs owing to Solomon's idolatry; for being unable, by the ordinary revenues of his kingdom, to ſupport the enormous expences of ſo many wives and concubines, and alſo of building them temples for the worſhip of their gods, he had recourſe to oppreſſive meaſures, and loaded the people with heavy taxes.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

13 And the prieſts and the Levites---reſorted to him out of all their coaſts.) Thus the tribe of Levi was added to that of Judah; but not the cities wherein they dwelt. The tribe of Simeon too ſeems to have been, partly at leaſt, united with Judah; for we read, verſe 6, that Rehoboam built, or rather repaired Etam, which was a town in the tribe of Simeon. And hence Judah was reckoned a very powerful kingdom, and for the devils, and for the calves, which he had made.)

16 And after them, out of all the tribes of Iſrael, ſuch as ſet their hearts to ſeek the Lord God of Iſrael, came to Jeruſalem to ſacrifice unto the Lord God of their fathers.

17 So they ſtrengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon ſtrong, three years: for three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam took him Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth the ſon of David, to wife, and Abihail, the daughter of Eliab, the ſon of Jeſſe:

19 Which bare him children; Jeuſh, and Shamariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her he took Maachah, the daughter of Abſalom, which bare him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maachah, the daughter of Abſalom, above all his wives and his concubines: (for he took eighteen wives, and threeſcore concubines; and begat twenty and eight ſons, and threeſcore daughters.)

22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the ſon of Maachah, the chief, to be ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him king.

23 And he dealt wiſely, and diſperſed of all his children throughout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin, unto every fenced city; and he gave them victual in abundance: and he deſired many wives.

CHAP. XII.

1 Rehoboam, forſaking God, is puniſhed by Shiſhak. 13 His reign and death.

AND it came to paſs, when Rehoboam had eſtabliſhed the kingdom, and had ſtrengthened himſelf, he forſook the law of the Lord, and all Iſrael with him.

2 And it came to paſs, that in the fifth year of king Rehoboam, Shiſhak king of Egypt came up againſt Jeruſalem, becauſe they had tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord,

3 With twelve hundred chariots, and threeſcore thouſand horſemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt: the Lubims, the Sukkiims, and the Ethiopians.

4 And he took the fenced cities which pertained to Judah, and came to Jeruſalem.

5 Then came Shemaiah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah that were gathered together to Jeruſalem becauſe of Shiſhak and ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Ye have forſaken me, and therefore have I alſo left you in the hand of Shiſhak.

6 Whereupon the princes of Iſrael and the king humbled themſelves, and they ſaid, The Lord is righteous.

7 And when the Lord ſaw that they humbled themſelves, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, ſaying, They have humbled themſelves, therefore I will not deſtroy them, but I will grant them ſome deliverance; and my wrath ſhall not be poured out upon Jeruſalem by the hand of Shiſhak.

8 Nevertheleſs, they ſhall be his ſervants; that they may know my ſervice, and the ſervice of the kingdoms of the countries.

9 So Shiſhak king of Egypt came up againſt Jeruſalem, and took away the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and the treaſures of the king's houſe; he took all: he carried away alſo the ſhields of gold which Solomon had made.

10 Inſtead of which king Rehoboam made ſhields of braſs, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, that kept the entrance of the king's houſe.

11 And when the king entered into the houſe of the Lord, the guard came and fetched them, and brought them again into the guard-chamber.

12 And when he humbled himſelf the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not deſtroy him altogether: and alſo in Judah things went well.

13 ¶ So king Rehoboam ſtrengthened himſelf in Jeruſalem, and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned ſeventeen years in Jeruſalem, the city which the Lord had choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael to put his name there: and his mother's name was Naamah, an Ammoniteſs.

14 And he did evil, becauſe he prepared not his heart to ſeek the Lord.

15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, firſt and laſt, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, and of Iddo the ſeer, concerning genealogies? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

16 And Rehoboam ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David: and Abijah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abijah ſucceeding, maketh war againſt Jeroboam, 13 and overcometh him.

NOW in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam began Abijah to reign over Judah.

2 He reigned three years in Jeruſalem. His mother's name alſo was Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

3 And Abijah ſet the battle in array with an army of valiant men of war, even four hundred thouſand men: Jeroboam alſo ſet the battle in array againſt him with eight hundred thouſand choſen men, being mighty men of valour.

4 And Abijah ſtood up upon mount Zemariam,

---

17 Three years they walked in the way of David, &c.) While they kept the commandments of the Lord, and worſhipped him in the beauty of holineſs, Judah had nothing to fear, being protected by the arm of Omnipotence; but when they forſook the God of their fathers, and introduced the idolatry of the heathen, they became a prey to their enemies, and were at laſt carried away captive by Nebuchadnezzar.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

3 The Lubims, the Sukkiims, and the Ethiopians. The Lubims were doubtleſs a people of Lybia, a famous country of Africa, adjoining to Egypt. And the Sukkiims were the people called Troglydites, becauſe they dwelt in Troglais, caves and dens of the earth, on the coaſt of the Red-ſea. As for the people called Cuſh, which we tranſlate Ethiopians, they were either the inhabitants of a country on the ſouth of Egypt, or the Sceaitæ in Arabia; for the name was common to both.

7 And when the Lord ſaw that they humbled themſelves.) Their humiliation ſo far prevailed upon God, that he moderated his anger, and reſpited the deſtruction, which then ſeemed inevitable; promiſing that he would not ſuffer Shiſhak to execute wholly the ſentence he had pronounced againſt them for their impieties.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

3 And Abijah ſet the battle in array, &c.) The whole ſtrength of both kingdoms was now united together, to decide whether the kingdom of Iſrael ſhould be reſtored to the houſe of David. Judah, indeed, had not half the number of men that Iſrael had; but they put their truſt in God, and therefore did not doubt of ſucceſs.

which is in mount Ephraim, and ſaid, Hear me, thou Jeroboam, and all Iſrael.

5 Ought ye not to know that the Lord God of Iſrael gave the kingdom over Iſrael to David for ever, even to him and to his ſons by a covenant of ſalt?

6 Yet Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat the ſervant of Solomon the ſon of David, is riſen up and hath rebelled againſt his lord.

7 And there are gathered unto him vain men, the children of Belial, and have ſtrengthened themſelves againſt Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and tender-hearted and could not withſtand them.

8 And now think ye to withſtand the kingdom of the Lord in the hand of the ſons of David; and ye be a great multitude, and there are with you golden calves, which Jeroboam made you for gods.

9 Have ye not caſt out the prieſts of the Lord, the ſons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you prieſts after the manner of the nations of other lands? ſo that whoſoever cometh to conſecrate himſelf with a young bullock and ſeven rams, the ſame may be a prieſt of them that are no gods.

10 But as for us, The Lord is our God, and we have not forſaken him; and the prieſts which miniſter unto the Lord are the ſons of Aaron, and the Levites wait upon their buſineſs:

11 And they burn unto the Lord every morning and every evening burnt-ſacrifices and ſweet incenſe: the ſhew-bread alſo ſet they in order upon the pure table; and the candleſtick of gold with the lamps thereof, to burn every evening: for we keep the charge of the Lord our God: but ye have forſaken him.

12 And behold, God himſelf is with us for our captain, and his prieſts with ſounding trumpets to cry alarm againſt you, O children of Iſrael: fight ye not againſt the Lord God of your fathers; for ye ſhall not proſper.

13 ¶ But Jeroboam cauſed an ambuſhment to come about behind them: ſo they were before Judah, and the ambuſhment was behind them.

14 And when Judah looked back, behold, the battle was before and behind: and they cried unto the Lord, and the prieſts ſounded with the trumpets.

15 Then the men of Judah gave a ſhout: and as the men of Judah ſhouted, it came to paſs, that God ſmote Jeroboam and all Iſrael before Abijah and Judah.

16 And the children of Iſrael fled before Judah: and God delivered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people ſlew them with a great ſlaughter: ſo there fell down ſlain of Iſrael five hundred thouſand choſen men.

18 Thus the children of Iſrael were brought under at that time, and the children of Judah prevailed, becauſe they relied upon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abijah purſued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him; Beth-el with the towns thereof, and Jeſhanah with the towns thereof, and Ephraim with the towns thereof.

20 Neither did Jeroboam recover ſtrength again in the days of Abijah: and the Lord ſtruck him, and he died.

21 But Abijah waxed mighty, and married fourteen wives, and begat twenty and two ſons, and ſixteen daughters.

22 And the reſt of the acts of Abijah, and his ways, and his ſayings, are written in the ſtory of the prophet Iddo.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Aſa ſucceeding, deſtroyeth idolatry, 9 calling on God, he overcometh Zerah, and ſpoileth the Ethiopians.

SO Abijah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Aſa his ſon reigned in his ſtead. In his days the land was quiet ten years.

2 And Aſa did that which was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God:

3 For he took away the altars of the ſtrange gods, and the high places, and brake down the images, and cut down the groves:

4 And commanded Judah to ſeek the Lord God of their fathers, and to do the law and the commandment.

5 Alſo he took away out of all the cities of Judah the high places and the images: and the kingdom was quiet before him.

6 And he built fenced cities in Judah: for the land had reſt, and he had no war in thoſe years; becauſe the Lord had given him reſt.

7 Therefore he ſaid unto Judah, Let us build theſe cities, and make about them walls and towers, gates and bars, while the land is yet before us; becauſe we have ſought the Lord our God, we have ſought him, and he hath given us reſt on every ſide. So they built, and proſpered.

8 And Aſa had an army of men that bare targets and ſpears, out of Judah three hundred thouſand, and out of Benjamin, that bare ſhields and drew bows, two hundred and fourſcore thouſand: all theſe were mighty men of valour.

9 ¶ And there came out againſt them Zerah the Ethiopian, with an hoſt of a thouſand thouſand, and three hundred chariots, and came unto Mareſhah.

10 Then Aſa went out againſt him, and ſet the battle in array in the valley of Zarephath at Mareſhah.

11 And Aſa cried unto the Lord his God, and ſaid, Lord it is nothing with thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: help us, O Lord our God, for we reſt on thee, and in thy name we go againſt this multitude. O Lord thou art our God; let not man prevail againſt thee.

12 So the Lord ſmote the Ethiopians before Aſa, and before Judah; and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Aſa and the people that were with him, purſued them unto Gerar: and the Ethiopians were overthrown, that they could not recover themſelves; for they were deſtroyed before the Lord and before his hoſt: and they carried away very much ſpoil.

14 And they ſmote all the cities round about Gerar;

13 But Jeroboam cauſed an ambuſhment to come about behind them, &c.) He did not attempt to anſwer the ſpeech of Abijah; but ſeems to have been greatly touched with it: for he no longer truſted to his numerous army, but had recourſe to ſtratagem to defeat Judah. Perhaps he imagined that his troops would not attack thoſe of Abijah, after the moving ſpeech he had made to them, and therefore had recourſe to this artifice to bring on the battle.

17 There fell down ſlain of Iſrael five hundred thouſand choſen men.) This is the greateſt ſlaughter we read of in any hiſtory, either ſacred or prophane; but far from appearing incredible, when it is remembered that Omnipotence himſelf fought for Judah.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

9 And there came out againſt them Zera the Ethiopian.) That is, the king of the Arabians, as the original word Cuſh here ſignifies.

13 And the Ethiopians were overthrown, &c.) The victory was ſo complete, that they could not rally their forces to renew the fight. The number of the ſlain is not mentioned; but it was doubtleſs very great, becauſe the Lord himſelf fought for Judah.

for

for the fear of the Lord came upon them: and they ſpoiled all the cities; for there was exceeding much ſpoil in them.

15 They ſmote alſo the tents of cattle, and carried away ſheep and camels in abundance, and returned to Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XV.

1 Aſa with others, make a ſolemn covenant with God.
16 He putteth down Maachah his mother for idolatry.

AND the ſpirit of God came upon Azariah, the ſon of Oded.

2 And he went out to meet Aſa, and ſaid unto him, Hear ye me, Aſa, and all Judah and Benjamin; The Lord is with you while ye be with him; and if ye ſeek him, he will be found of you: but if ye forſake him, he will forſake you.

3 Now for a long ſeaſon Iſrael hath been without the true God, and without a teaching prieſt, and without law:

4 But when they in their trouble did turn unto the Lord God of Iſrael, and ſought him, he was found of them.

5 And in thoſe times there was no peace to him that went out, nor to him that came in, but great vexations were upon all the inhabitants of the countries.

6 And nation was deſtroyed of nation, and city of city: for God did vex them with all adverſity.

7 Be ye ſtrong, therefore, and let not your hands be weak; for your work ſhall be rewarded.

8 And when Aſa heard theſe words, and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he took courage, and put away the abominable idols out of all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he had taken from mount Ephraim, and renewed the altar of the Lord that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the ſtrangers with them out of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, and out of Simeon: (for they fell to him out of Iſrael in abundance, when they ſaw that the Lord his God was with him:)

10 So they gathered themſelves together at Jeruſalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Aſa.

11 And they offered unto the Lord the ſame time, of the ſpoil which they had brought, ſeven hundred oxen, and ſeven thouſand ſheep.

12 And they entered into a covenant to ſeek the Lord God of their fathers with all their heart, and with all their ſoul;

13 That whoſoever would not ſeek the Lord God of Iſrael ſhould be put to death, whether ſmall or great, whether man or woman.

14 And they ſware unto the Lord with a loud voice, and with ſhouting, and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Judah rejoiced at the oath for they had ſworn with all their heart, and ſought him with their whole deſire; and he was found of them: and the Lord gave them reſt round about.

16 And alſo concerning Maachah, the mother of Aſa the king, he removed her from being queen, becauſe ſhe had made an idol in a grove: and Aſa cut down her idol, and ſtamped it, and burnt it at the brook Kidron.

17 But the high places were not taken away out of Iſrael; nevertheleſs, the heart of Aſa was perfect all his days.

18 And he brought into the houſe of God, the things that his father had dedicated, and that he himſelf had dedicated, ſilver, and gold, and veſſels.

19 And there was no more war unto the five and thirtieth year of the reign of Aſa.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Aſa by the aid of the Syrians, diverteth Baaſha from building of Ramah. 11 He ſeeketh not to God in his diſeaſe, but to the phyſicians. 13 His death and burial.

IN the ſix and thirtieth year of the reign of Aſa, Baaſha king of Iſrael came up againſt Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out, or come in to Aſa king of Judah.

2 Then Aſa brought out ſilver and gold out of the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and of the king's houſe, and ſent to Ben-hadad king of Syria that dwelt at Damaſcus, ſaying,

3 There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold, I have ſent thee ſilver and gold: go, break thy league with Baaſha king of Iſrael, that he may depart from me.

4 And Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Aſa, and ſent the captains of his armies againſt the cities of Iſrael; and they ſmote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the ſtore-cities of Naphtali.

5 And it came to paſs, when Baaſha heard it, that he left off building of Ramah, and let his work ceaſe.

6 Then Aſa the king took all Judah; and they carried away the ſtones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baaſha was a-building: and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 And at that time Hanani the ſeer came to Aſa king of Judah, and ſaid unto him, Becauſe thou haſt relied on the king of Syria, and not relied on the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoſt of the king of Syria eſcaped out of thine hand.

8 Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubims a huge hoſt, with very many chariots and horſemen? yet becauſe thou didſt rely on the Lord, he delivered them into thine hand.

9 For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to ſhew himſelf ſtrong in the behalf of them whoſe heart is perfect toward him.

---

15 They ſmote alſo the tents, &c.) The abundance of camels which Aſa took, ſufficiently prove that they were Arabians, who had great numbers of theſe creatures.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 And the ſpirit of God came upon Azariah the ſon of Oded.) Some are of opinion that he was alſo called Oded; but had the name of Azariah given him, to diſtinguiſh him from his father.

15 For they had ſworn with all their heart, &c.) That is, they had made a ſolemn profeſſion to ſeek the Lord God of their fathers with all their heart, and with all their ſoul. And, doubtleſs many of them at that time actually determined to ſerve the Lord, who had wrought ſo many wonders in Iſrael: but ſo treacherous is the human heart, that they ſoon forgot the oath they had ſworn, and relapſed into their former idolatry.

17 But the high places were not taken away out of Iſrael.) It was ſaid twice in the foregoing chapter, that he he did take away the high places; but theſe were the high places in Judah: whereas thoſe in the territories he had taken from Iſrael ſtill remained, eſpecially where the true God alone was worſhipped.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

7 And at that time Hanani the ſeer came to Aſa, &c.) The following remarkable hiſtory is omitted in the book of Kings, where we have an account of the tranſaction of his hiring the Syrians. See 1 Kings xv. 19, &c.

Herein

Herein thou haſt done fooliſhly; therefore from henceforth thou ſhalt have wars.

10 Then Aſa was wroth with the ſeer, and put him in a priſon-houſe: for he was in a rage with him becauſe of this thing. And Aſa oppreſſed ſome of the people the ſame time.

11 ¶ And behold, the acts of Aſa, firſt and laſt, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Iſrael.

12 And Aſa in the thirty and ninth year of his reign was diſeaſed in his feet, until his diſeaſe was exceeding great: yet in his diſeaſe he ſought not to the Lord, but to the phyſicians.

13 ¶ And Aſa ſlept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his reign.

14 And they buried him in his own ſepulchres, which he had made for himſelf in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which was filled with ſweet odours, and divers kinds of ſpices, prepared by the apothecaries' art: and they made a very great burning for him.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Jehoſhaphat reigneth well, and proſpereth. 7 He ſendeth Levites to teach Judah. 12 His greatneſs, captains, and armies.

AND Jehoſhaphat his ſon reigned in his ſtead, and ſtrengthened himſelf againſt Iſrael.

2 And he placed forces in all the fenced cities of Judah, and ſet garriſons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim which Aſa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Jehoſhaphat, becauſe he walked in the firſt ways of his father David, and ſought not unto Baalim:

4 But ſought to the LORD God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the doings of Iſrael:

5 Therefore the Lord ſtabliſhed the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah brought to Jehoſhaphat preſents; and he had riches and honour in abundance.

6 And his heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord: moreover, he took away the high places and groves out of Judah.

7 ¶ Alſo in the third year of his reign, he ſent to his princes, even to Ben-hail, and to Obadiah, and to Zechariah, and to Nethaneel, and to Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.

8 And with them he ſent Levites, even Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Aſahel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tobadonijah, Levites; and with them Eliſhama and Jehoram, prieſts.

9 And they taught in Judah, and had the book of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught the people.

10 And the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, ſo that they made no war againſt Jehoſhaphat.

11 Alſo ſome of the Philiſtines brought Jehoſhaphat preſents, and tribute-ſilver: and the Arabians brought him flocks, ſeven thouſand and ſeven hundred rams, and ſeven thouſand and ſeven hundred he-goats.

12 ¶ And Jehoſhaphat waxed great exceedingly; and he built in Judah caſtles, and cities of ſtore.

13 And he had much buſineſs in the cities of Judah: and the men of war, mighty men of valour, were in Jeruſalem.

14 And theſe are the numbers of them, according to the houſe of their fathers: Of Judah, the captains of thouſands; Adnah the chief, and with him mighty men of valour three hundred thouſand.

15 And next to him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and fourſcore thouſand.

16 And next him was Amaziah, the ſon of Zichri, who willingly offered himſelf unto the Lord; and with him two hundred thouſand mighty men of valour.

17 And of Benjamin; Eliada, a mighty man of valour, and with him armed men with bow and ſhield, two hundred thouſand.

18 And next him was Jehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourſcore thouſand ready prepared for the war.

19 Theſe waited on the king, beſides thoſe whom the king put in the fenced cities throughout all Judah.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jehoſhaphat goeth with Ahab againſt Ramoth-gilead. 4 Ahab, ſeduced by falſe prophets, is ſlain.

NOW Jehoſhaphat had riches and honour in abundance, and joined affinity with Ahab.

2 And after certain years he went down to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab killed ſheep and oxen for him in abundance, and for the people that he had with him, and perſuaded him to go up with him to Ramoth-gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat king of Judah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth-gilead?

12 In his diſeaſe he ſought not to the Lord, but to the phyſicians.) It was no fault to call in the aſſiſtance of phyſicians; but to rely more upon their ſkill than the goodneſs and power of his God; who had ſo wonderfully delivered him from his enemies, was a crime of the deepeſt dye.

14 And laid him in the bed, which was filled with ſweet odours —and they made a very great burning for him.) It has been aſked whether the body itſelf was burnt, or only ſome of the ſpices and odoriferous drugs, to prevent any bad ſmell that might attend the corpſe? The Greeks and Romans, indeed, when they burnt any dead bodies, threw frankincenſe, myrrh, caſſia, and other fragrant drugs, into the fire, and ſometimes in the utmoſt profuſion; but the Jews uſed to inter their dead, and therefore many ſuppoſe that the ſpices only were burnt. But others think that the body of Aſa, as well as the ſpices, was conſumed; adding that this is the firſt mention we find of burning the dead among the Jews, but it was afterwards very common. See 2 Chron. xxi. 19.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

6 His heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord.) That is, he formed very exalted reſolutions to promote the true worſhip of the God of Iſrael, and was not afraid of what man could do to oppoſe him.

18 An hundred and fourſcore thouſand, &c.) If we add the number of men mentioned in this and the four preceding verſes together, the total will be ſurpriſingly large. Indeed it is ſo prodigious, that ſome have been induced to think there is an error in the text: but when it is conſidered that the dominions of the kingdom of Judah, under Jehoſhaphat, were not confined to the narrow limits of Judah and Benjamin only, but reached into the tribes of Dan, Ephraim, and Simeon; into Arabia and the country of the Philiſtines; in a word, from Beerſheba to the mountains of Ephraim one way, and from Jordan to the Mediterranean ſea the other.

COMMENTARY on Chap XVIII.

1 Now Jehoſhaphat—joined affinity with Ahab.) We are told, 2 Kings viii. 18, that his ſon married Athaliah the daughter of Ahab. It is really ſurpriſing, that a prince ſo zealous for the law of God, and ſo attentive to promote his honour and ſervice, ſhould contract ſo cloſe an affinity with an abominable idolater. Perhaps he hoped, by this marriage, to reunite the kingdoms of Judah and Iſrael, and by that means to bring back the latter to the worſhip of the true God.

gilead? and he anſwered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people; and we will be with thee in the war.

4 ¶ And Jehoſhaphat ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord to day.

5 Therefore the king of Iſrael gathered together of prophets four hundred men, and ſaid unto them, Shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or ſhall I forbear? and they ſaid, Go up, for God will deliver it into the king's hand.

6 But Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord beſides, that we might enquire of him?

7 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may enquire of the Lord: but I hate him; for he never propheſieth good unto me, but always evil: the ſame is Micaiah the ſon of Imla. And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Let not the king ſay ſo.

8 And the king of Iſrael called for one of his officers, and ſaid, Fetch quickly Micaiah the ſon of Imla.

9 And the king of Iſrael and Jehoſhaphat king of Judah ſat either of them on his throne, clothed in their robes, and they ſat in a void place, at the entering in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets propheſied before them.

10 And Zedekiah the ſon of Chenaanah, had made him horns of iron, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, With theſe thou ſhalt puſh Syria until they be conſumed.

11 And all the prophets propheſied ſo, ſaying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and proſper: for the Lord ſhall deliver it into the hand of the king.

12 And the meſſenger that went to call Micaiah, ſpake to him, ſaying, Behold, the words of the prophets declare good to the king with one aſſent; let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and ſpeak thou good.

13 And Micaiah ſaid, As the Lord liveth, even what my God ſaith, that will I ſpeak.

14 And when he was come to the king the king ſaid unto him, Micaiah, ſhall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or ſhall I forbear? and he ſaid, Go ye up and proſper, and they ſhall be delivered into your hand.

15 And the king ſaid to him, How many times ſhall I adjure thee that thou ſay nothing but the truth to me in the name of the Lord?

16 Then he ſaid, I did ſee all Iſrael ſcattered upon the mountains, as ſheep that have no ſhepherd. And the Lord ſaid, Theſe have no maſter; let them return therefore every man to his houſe in peace.

17 And the king of Iſrael ſaid to Jehoſhaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not propheſy good unto me, but evil?

18 Again he ſaid, Therefore hear the word of the Lord; I ſaw the Lord ſitting upon his throne, and all the hoſt of heaven ſtanding on his right hand and on his left.

19 And the Lord ſaid, Who ſhall entice Ahab king of Iſrael, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? and one ſpake, ſaying after this manner, and another ſaying after that manner.

20 Then there came out a ſpirit, and ſtood before the Lord, and ſaid, I will entice him. And the Lord ſaid unto him, Wherewith?

21 And he ſaid, I will go out, and be a lying ſpirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And the LORD ſaid, Thou ſhalt entice him, and thou ſhalt alſo prevail: go out, and do even ſo.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a lying ſpirit in the mouth of theſe thy prophets, and the Lord hath ſpoken evil againſt thee.

23 Then Zedekiah the ſon of Chenaanah came near, and ſmote Micaiah upon the cheek, and ſaid, Which way went the ſpirit of the Lord from me to ſpeak unto thee?

24 And Micaiah ſaid, Behold, thou ſhalt ſee on that day, when thou ſhalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyſelf.

25 Then the king of Iſrael ſaid, Take ye Micaiah, and carry him back to Amon the governor of the city, and to Joaſh the king's ſon;

26 And ſay, Thus ſaith the king, Put this fellow in the priſon, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, until I return in peace.

27 And Micaiah ſaid, If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the Lord ſpoken by me. And he ſaid, Hearken all ye people.

28 So the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, went up to Ramoth-gilead.

29 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, I will diſguiſe myſelf, and will go to the battle: but put thou on thy robes. So the king of Iſrael diſguiſed himſelf, and they went to the battle.

30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots that were with him, ſaying, Fight ye not with ſmall or great, ſave only with the king of Iſrael.

31 And it came to paſs, when the captains of the chariots ſaw Jehoſhaphat, that they ſaid, It is the king of Iſrael; therefore they compaſſed about him to fight: but Jehoſhaphat cried out, and the Lord helped him; and God moved them to depart from him.

32 For it came to paſs, that, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Iſrael, they turned back again from purſuing him.

33 And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and ſmote the king of Iſrael between the joints of the harneſs: therefore he ſaid to his chariot-man, Turn thine hand, that thou mayeſt carry me out of the hoſt: for I am wounded.

34 And the battle increaſed that day: howbeit, the king of Iſrael ſtayed himſelf up in his chariot againſt the Syrians until the even; and about the time of the ſun going down he died.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Jehoſhaphat viſiteth his kingdom. 5 His inſtructions to the judges.

AND Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah returned to his houſe in peace to Jeruſalem.

2 And Jehu the ſon of Hanani the ſeer, went out to meet him, and ſaid to king Jehoſhaphat, Shouldeſt thou help the ungodly, and love them that hate the Lord? therefore is wrath upon thee from before the Lord.

3 Nevertheleſs, there are good things found in thee,

---

2 And Ahab killed ſheep and oxen, &c.) That is, he entertained Jehoſhaphat and his retinue with great ſplendor. This particular is not mentioned in the book of Kings; but the remainder of this chapter is there given almoſt in the ſame words, and therefore I ſhall refer the reader thither for remarks on the difficult paſſages that occur in it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

2 Shouldeſt thou help the ungodly, and love them that hate the Lord.) It is ſurely unjuſt to take thoſe for thy friends who are enemies to thy God, and to aſſiſt them againſt whom he hath denounced the ſevereſt puniſhments.

in

in that thou haſt taken away the groves out of the land, and haſt prepared thine heart to ſeek God.

4 And Jehoſhaphat dwelt at Jeruſalem: and he went out again through the people, from Beer-ſheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them back unto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 ¶ And he ſet judges in the land, throughout all the fenced cities of Judah, city by city.

6 And ſaid to the judges, Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the Lord who is with you in the judgment.

7 Wherefore now let the fear of the Lord be upon you; take heed and do it: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor reſpect of perſons, nor taking of gifts.

8 Moreover in Jeruſalem did Jehoſhaphat ſet of the Levites, and of the prieſts, and of the chief of the fathers of Iſrael, for the judgment of the Lord, and for controverſies when they returned to Jeruſalem.

9 And he charged them, ſaying, Thus ſhall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully and with a perfect heart.

10 And what cauſe ſoever ſhall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, between blood and blood, between law and commandment, ſtatutes and judgments, ye ſhall even warn them that they treſpaſs not againſt the Lord, and ſo wrath come upon you, and upon your brethren: this do, and ye ſhall not treſpaſs.

11 And behold, Amariah the chief prieſt is over you in all matters of the Lord; and Zebadiah the ſon of Iſhmael, the ruler of the houſe of Judah, for all the king's matters: alſo the Levites ſhall be officers before you. Deal courageouſly, and the Lord ſhall be with the good.

CHAP. XX.

1 Jehoſhaphat proclaimeth a faſt. 5 His prayer. 22 The overthrow of his enemies. 31 His reign.

IT came to paſs after this alſo, that the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them other beſides the Ammonites, came again Jehoſhaphat to battle.

2 Then there came ſome that told Jehoſhaphat, ſaying, there cometh a great multitude againſt thee from beyond the ſea on this ſide Syria, and behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Jehoſhaphat feared, and ſet himſelf to ſeek the Lord, and proclaimed a faſt throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered themſelves together to aſk help of the Lord; even out of all the cities of Judah they came to ſeek the Lord.

5 ¶ And Jehoſhaphat ſtood in the congregation of Judah and Jeruſalem, in the houſe of the Lord, before the new court.

6 And ſaid, O Lord God of our fathers, Art not thou God in heaven? and ruleſt not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, ſo that none is able to withſtand thee?

7 Art not thou our God, who didſt drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Iſrael, and gaveſt it to the ſeed of Abraham thy friend for ever?

8 And they dwelt therein, and have built thee a ſanctuary therein for thy name, ſaying,

9 If when evil cometh upon us, as the ſword, judgment, or peſtilence, or famine, we ſtand before this houſe, and in thy preſence, (for thy name is in this houſe) and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon, and Moab, and mount Seir, whom thou wouldeſt not let Iſrael invade when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and deſtroyed them not;

11 Behold, I ſay, how they reward us, to come to caſt us out of thy poſſeſſion, which thou haſt given us to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might againſt this great company that cometh againſt us; neither know we what to do: but our eyes are upon thee.

13 And all Judah ſtood before the Lord, with their little ones, their wives, and their children.

14 Then upon Jahaziel, the ſon of Zechariah, the ſon of Benaiah, the ſon of Jeiel, the ſon of Mattaniah, a Levite, of the ſons of Aſaph, came the ſpirit of the Lord in the midſt of the congregation:

15 And he ſaid, Hearken ye, all Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and thou king Jehoſhaphat: Thus ſaith the Lord unto you, Be not afraid nor diſmayed by reaſon of this great multitude; for the battle is not yours, but God's.

16 To-morrow go ye down againſt them: behold, they come up by the cliff of Ziz; and ye ſhall find them at the end of the brook, before the wilderneſs of Jeruel.

17 Ye ſhall not need to fight in this battle; ſet yourſelves, ſtand ye ſtill, and ſee the ſalvation of the Lord with you, O Judah and Jeruſalem: fear not, nor be diſmayed: to-morrow go out againſt them; for the Lord will be with you.

18 And Jehoſhaphat bowed his head, with his face to the ground: and all Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, fell before the Lord worſhipping the Lord.

19 And the Levites, of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Korhites, ſtood up to praiſe the Lord God of Iſrael with a loud voice on high.

20 And they roſe early in the morning, and went forth into the wilderneſs of Tekoa: and as they went forth, Jehoſhaphat ſtood and ſaid, Hear me, O Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jeruſalem: Believe in the Lord your God, ſo ſhall ye be eſtabliſhed; believe his prophets, ſo ſhall ye proſper.

21 And when he had conſulted with the people, he appointed

10 Between blood and blood.) Some underſtand this of kindred, and that the charge related to queſtions regarding who was neareſt of kin to the deceaſed. But others think it related to the queſtion, whether, when a perſon was killed, it was done intendedly, or by accident?

Commentary on Chap. XX.

6 O Lord God of our fathers, &c.) This is the moſt excellent prayer ever made by any of their kings; expreſſing the greateſt confidence in God, and repreſenting to him the juſtice of their cauſe. He begins with acknowledging God's irreſiſtible and ſupreme power, which extends over all creatures both in heaven and earth, being all the creatures of his hand.

11 Behold, I ſay, how they reward us.) Ingratitude is a ſin abominated by all civilized nations; nay, even the ſavages look upon it as the greateſt crime; but to return evil for good is the very higheſt pitch of wickedneſs; and this was even augmented by their invading the rights of God himſelf, whoſe land this was, and which the Iſraelites held under him as their Lord.

14 Then upon Jahaziel---came the ſpirit of the Lord in the midſt of the congregation.) He does not ſeem to have been a prophet before this time; when a ſudden inſpiration came upon him from God, to comfort this great aſſembly with the certain hope of deliverance, before they retired from the place where they had offered up their prayers to the Lord of hoſts.

appointed singers unto the Lord, and that should praise the beauty of holiness as they went out before the army, and to say, Praise the Lord; for his mercy endureth for ever.

22 ¶ And when they began to sing and to praise, the Lord set ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Judah: and they were smitten.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, utterly to slay and destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Judah came toward the watch-tower in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude, and behold, they were dead bodies fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoil of them, they found among them in abundance, both riches with the dead bodies, and precious jewels, (which they stripped off for themselves,) more than they could carry away, and they were three days in gathering of the spoil it was so much.

26 And on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore the name of the same place was called, The valley of Berachah unto this day.

27 Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat in the fore-front of them, to go again to Jerusalem with joy: for the Lord had made them to rejoice over their enemies.

28 And they came to Jerusalem with psalteries, and harps, and trumpets, unto the house of the Lord.

29 And the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries, when they had heard that the Lord fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet: for his God gave him rest round about.

31 ¶ And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem: and his mother's name was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not from it, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit, the high places were not taken away; for as yet the people had not prepared their hearts unto the God of their fathers.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Jehu, the son of Hanani, who is mentioned in the book of the Kings of Israel.

35 And after this did Jehoshaphat king of Judah join himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who did very wickedly.

36 And he joined himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion-gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast joined thyself with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy works. And the ships were broken that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Jehoram succeedeth Jehoshaphat. 5 His wicked reign, &c.

NOW Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren the sons of Jehoshaphat, Azariah, and Jehiel, and Zachariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel.

3 And their father gave them great gifts of silver and of gold, and of precious things, with fenced cities in Judah; but the kingdom gave he to Jehoram; because he was the first-born.

4 Now when Jehoram was risen up to the kingdom of his father, he strengthened himself, and slew all his brethren with the sword, and divers also of the princes of Israel.

5 ¶ Jehoram was thirty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, like as did the house of Ahab: for he had the daughter of Ahab to wife; and he wrought that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit, the Lord would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and as he promised to give a light to him and to his sons for ever.

8 In his days the Edomites revolted from under the dominion of Judah, and made themselves a king.

9 Then Jehoram went forth with his princes, and all his chariots with him: and he rose up by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him in, and the captains of the chariots.

10 So the Edomites revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. The same time also did Libnah revolt from under his hand; because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Moreover he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Judah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elijah the prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of David thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the ways of Asa king of Judah.

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go a whoring like to the whoredoms of the house of Ahab, and also hast slain thy brethren of thy father's house, which were better than thyself;

14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy goods.

15 And thou shalt have great sickness by disease of thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out by reason of the sickness day by day.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, &c.) The inhabitants of mount Seir were ordered to fall upon Judah by an ambushment; but by some mistake they fell upon the Ammonites, their own confederates. This exasperated them and the Moabites so much, that they destroyed all the inhabitants of Seir, mistaking them for the Jews; and when this was performed, they continued in such confusion, that they fell upon one another, still imagining they were destroying the Jews.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

4 Jehoram---strengthened himself, and slew all his brethren with the sword.) He first took care to strengthen himself in his kingdom, and then, that none of his brethren might dispute his right to the throne, he put them all to death. Perhaps they were pious men, and zealously attached to the worship of the true God, and therefore he destroyed them, least they might oppose his intention of introducing the old idolatry.

16 ¶ Moreover, the Lord ſtirred up againſt Jehoram the ſpirit of the Philiſtines, and of the Arabians, that were near the Ethiopians.

17 And they came up into Judah, and brake into it, and carried away all the ſubſtance that was found in the king's houſe, and his ſons alſo, and his wives; ſo that there was never a ſon left him, ſave Jehoahaz, the youngeſt of his ſons.

18 And after all this the Lord ſmote him in his bowels with an incurable diſeaſe.

19 And it came to paſs, that in proceſs of time, after the end of two years, his bowels fell out by reaſon of his ſickneſs; ſo he died of ſore diſeaſes; and his people made no burning for him, like the burning of his fathers.

20 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jeruſalem eight years, and departed without being deſired. Howbeit, they buried him in the city of David, but not in the ſepulchres of the kings.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah ſucceeding, reigneth wickedly. 5 He is ſlain by Jehu. 10 Athaliah deſtroying all the ſeed royal, ſave Joaſh, uſurpeth the kingdom.

AND the inhabitants of Jeruſalem made Ahaziah his youngeſt ſon king in his ſtead. For the band of men that came with the Arabians to the camp, had ſlain all the eldeſt. So Ahaziah the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah reigned.

2 Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jeruſalem. His mother's name alſo was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 He alſo walked in the ways of the houſe of Ahab: for his mother was his counſellor to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did evil in the ſight of the Lord, like the houſe of Ahab; for they were his counſellors after the death of his father, to his deſtruction.

5 ¶ He walked alſo after their counſel, and went with Jehoram the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael to war againſt Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead: and the Syrians ſmote Joram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Jezreel, becauſe of the wounds which were given him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah went down to ſee Jehoram the ſon of Ahab at Jezreel, becauſe he was ſick.

7 And the deſtruction of Ahaziah was of God by coming to Joram: for when he was come, he went out with Jehoram againſt Jehu the ſon of Nimſhi, whom the Lord had anointed to cut off the houſe of Ahab.

8 And it came to paſs, that when Jehu was executing judgment upon the houſe of Ahab, and found the princes of Judah, and the ſons of the brethren of Ahaziah, that miniſtered to Ahaziah, he ſlew them.

9 And he ſought Ahaziah: and they caught him, (for he was hid in Samaria,) and brought him to Jehu; and when they had ſlain him, they buried him; Because, ſaid they, he is the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, who ſought the Lord with all his heart. So the houſe of Ahaziah had no power to keep ſtill the kingdom.

10 ¶ But when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah ſaw that her ſon was dead, ſhe aroſe, and deſtroyed all the ſeed royal of the houſe of Judah.

11 But Jehoſhabeath the daughter of the king, took Joaſh the ſon of Ahaziah, and ſtole him from among the king's ſons that were ſlain, and put him and his nurſe in a bed-chamber. So Jehoſhabeath the daughter of king Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the prieſt (for ſhe was the ſiſter of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah, ſo that ſhe ſlew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the houſe of God ſix years: and Athaliah reigned over the land.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Jehoiada maketh Joaſh king. 12 Athaliah is ſlain. 16 Jehoiada reſtoreth the worſhip of God.

AND in the ſeventh year Jehoiada ſtrengthened himſelf, and took the captains of hundreds, Azariah the ſon of Jeroham, and Iſhmael the ſon of Jehohanan, and Azariah the ſon of Obed, and Maaſeiah the ſon of Adaiah, and Eliſhaphat the ſon of Zichri, into covenant with him.

2 And they went about in Judah, and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chief of the fathers of Iſrael, and they came to Jeruſalem.

3 And all the congregation made a covenant with the king in the houſe of God: and he ſaid unto them, Behold, the king's ſon ſhall reign, as the Lord hath ſaid of the ſons of David.

4 This is the thing that ye ſhall do: A third part of you entering on the ſabbath of the prieſts and of the Levites, ſhall be porters of the doors.

5 And a third part ſhall be at the king's houſe; and a third part at the gate of the foundation: and all the people ſhall be in the courts of the houſe of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the houſe of the Lord, ſave the prieſts, and they that miniſter of the Levites: they ſhall go in, for they are holy; but all the people ſhall keep the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Levites ſhall compaſs the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whoſoever elſe cometh into the houſe, he ſhall be put to death: but be ye with the king when he cometh in, and when he goeth out.

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the prieſt had commanded, and took every man his men that were to come in on the ſabbath, with them that were to go out on the ſabbath: for Jehoiada the prieſt diſmiſſed not the courſes.

9 Moreover, Jehoiada the prieſt delivered to the captains of hundreds ſpears, and bucklers, and ſhields that had been king David's, which were in the houſe of God.

10 And he ſet all the people, every man having his weapon in his hand, from the right ſide of the temple to the left ſide of the temple, along by the altar, and the temple, by the king round about.

20 He reigned in Jeruſalem eight years, and departed without being deſired.) That is, his ſubjects did not wiſh he ſhould live any longer, but were glad a period was ſo ſoon put to his reign.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

2 Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign.) In 2 Kings viii. 26, he is ſaid to be only twenty-two years old: and this is doubtleſs the true reading; for ſeveral ancient manuſcripts, as well as the Syriac and Arabic tranſlations, have twenty-two alſo in this place; and conſequently there is here an error, committed by the copyiſt or tranſcriber.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

2 And the chief of the fathers of Iſrael.) Some were under the government of the king of Judah: and perhaps others, who were well affected to religion, were invited to give their aſſiſtance. But it is moſt probable, Judah is here called Iſrael, the principal perſons of which were acquainted with Jehoiada's intentions.

11 Then they brought out the king's ſon, and put upon him the crown, and gave him the teſtimony, and made him king. And Jehoiada and his ſons anointed him, and ſaid, God ſave the king.

12 ¶ Now when Athaliah heard the noiſe of the people running and praiſing the king, ſhe came to the people into the houſe of the Lord:

13 And ſhe looked, and behold, the king ſtood at his pillar, at the entering in, and the princes and the trumpets by the king; and all the people of the land rejoiced, and ſounded with trumpets, alſo the ſingers with inſtruments of muſick, and ſuch as taught to ſing praiſe. Then Athaliah rent her clothes, and ſaid, Treaſon, treaſon.

14 Then Jehoiada the prieſt brought out the captains of hundreds that were ſet over the hoſt, and ſaid unto them, Have her forth of the ranges: and whoſo followeth her, let him be ſlain with the ſword. For the prieſt ſaid, Slay her not in the houſe of the Lord.

15 So they laid hands on her, and when ſhe was come to the entering of the horſe-gate, by the king's houſe, they ſlew her there.

16 ¶ And Jehoiada made a covenant between him, and between all the people, and between the king, that they ſhould be the Lord's people.

17 Then all the people went to the houſe of Baal, and brake it down, and brake his altars and his images in pieces, and ſlew Mattan the prieſt of Baal before the altars.

18 Alſo Jehoiada appointed the officers of the houſe of the Lord by the hand of the prieſts the Levites, whom David had diſtributed in the houſe of the Lord, to offer the burnt-offerings of the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moſes, with rejoicing, and with ſinging; as it was ordained by David.

19 And he ſet the porters at the gates of the houſe of the Lord, that none which was unclean in any thing ſhould enter in.

20 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the nobles, and the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought down the king from the houſe of the Lord: and they came through the high-gate into the king's houſe, and ſet the king upon the throne of the kingdom.

21 And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet, after that they had ſlain Athaliah with the ſword.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Joaſh reigneth well all the days of Jehoiada. 15 Jehoiada being dead, 17 Joaſh falleth into idolatry. 23 He is ſlain.

JOASH was ſeven years old when he began to reign; and he reigned forty years in Jeruſalem: his mother's name alſo was Zabiah of Beer-ſheba.

2 And Joaſh did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord all the days of Jehoiada the prieſt.

3 And Jehoiada took for him two wives, and he begat ſons and daughters.

4 And it came to paſs after this, that Joaſh was minded to repair the houſe of the Lord.

5 And he gathered together the prieſts and the Levites and ſaid to them, Go out unto the cities of Judah, and gather of all Iſrael money to repair the houſe of your God from year to year, and ſee that ye haſten the matter: howbeit the Levites haſtened it not.

6 And the king called for Jehoiada the chief, and ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou not required of the Levites to bring in, out of Judah and out of Jeruſalem the collection, according to the commandment of Moſes, the ſervant of the Lord, and of the congregation of Iſrael, for the tabernacle of witneſs?

7 For the ſons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken up the houſe of God: and alſo all the dedicated things of the houſe of the Lord did they beſtow upon Baalim.

8 And at the king's commandment they made a cheſt, and ſet it without at the gate of the houſe of the Lord.

9 And they made a proclamation through Judah and Jeruſalem, to bring in to the Lord the collection that Moſes the ſervant of God, laid upon Iſrael in the wilderneſs.

10 And all the princes and all the people rejoiced, and brought in, and caſt into the cheſt, until they had made an end.

11 Now it came to paſs, that at what time the cheſt was brought into the king's office by the hand of the Levites, and when they ſaw that there was much money, the king's ſcribe and the high prieſt's officer came and emptied the cheſt, and took it, and carried it to his place again. Thus they did day by day and gathered money in abundance.

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to ſuch as did the work of the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord, and hired maſons and carpenters to repair the houſe of the Lord, and alſo ſuch as wrought iron and braſs to mend the houſe of the Lord.

13 So the workmen wrought, and the work was perfected by them, and they ſet the houſe of God in his ſtate, and ſtrengthened it.

14 And when they had finiſhed it, they brought the reſt of the money before the king and Jehoiada, whereof were made veſſels for the houſe of the Lord, even veſſels to miniſter, and to offer withal, and ſpoons, and veſſels of gold and ſilver: and they offered burnt-offerings in the houſe of the Lord continually all the days of Jehoiada.

15 ¶ But Jehoiada waxed old, and was full of days when he died; an hundred and thirty years old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, becauſe he had done good in Iſrael, both toward God, and toward his houſe.

17 ¶ Now after the death of Jehoiada came the princes of Judah, and made obeiſance to the king: then the king hearkened unto them.

18 And they left the houſe of the Lord God of their fathers, and ſerved groves and idols: and wrath came upon Judah and Jeruſalem for this their treſpaſs.

19 Yet he ſent prophets to them, to bring them again unto the Lord; and they teſtified againſt them: but they would not give ear.

20 And the ſpirit of God came upon Zechariah, the ſon of Jehoiada the prieſt, which ſtood above the people and ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith God, Why tranſgreſs ye the commandments of the Lord, that ye cannot proſper? Becauſe ye have forſaken the Lord, he hath alſo forſaken you.

21 And they conſpired againſt him, and ſtoned him with ſtones at the commandment of the king, in

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

7 For the ſons of Athaliah that wicked woman, had broken up the houſe of God.) That is, Azariah, and the ſons of his brethren mentioned xxii. 8, for his brethren themſelves were carried away captive before their father died, xxi. 17.

21 And they conſpired againſt him, and ſtoned him with ſtones at the commandment of the king.) This crime, beſides the contempt they ſhewed to God's prophet, and the place where he was mur-

the court of the houſe of the Lord.

22 Thus Joaſh the king remembered not the kindneſs which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but ſlew his ſon: and when he died, he ſaid, The Lord look upon it, and require it.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs at the end of the year, that the hoſt of Syria came up againſt him: and they came to Judah and Jeruſalem, and deſtroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and ſent all the ſpoil of them unto the king of Damaſcus.

24 For the army of the Syrians came with a ſmall company of men, and the Lord delivered a very great hoſt into their hand; becauſe they had forſaken the Lord God of their fathers: ſo they executed judgment againſt Joaſh.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diſeaſes) his own ſervants conſpired againſt him for the blood of the ſons of Jehoiada the prieſt, and ſlew him on his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but they buried him not in the ſepulchres of the kings.

26 And theſe are they that conſpired againſt him; Zabad the ſon of Shimeah an Ammoniteſs, and Jehozabad, the ſon of Shimrith a Moabiteſs.

27 Now concerning his ſons and the greatneſs of the burdens laid upon him, and the repairing of the houſe of God, behold they are written in the ſtory of the book of the Kings: and Amaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Amaziah beginneth to reign well. 3 He executeth juſtice on the traitors. 5 Having hired an army of Iſraelites againſt the Edomites, at the word of a prophet he loſeth an hundred talents, and diſmiſſeth them. 11 He overthroweth the Edomites. 17 He provoketh Joaſh to his overthrow. 25 His reign. 27 He is ſlain by conſpiracy.

AMAZIAH was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jeruſalem.

2 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

3 ¶ Now it came to paſs when the kingdom was eſtabliſhed to him, that he ſlew his ſervants that had killed the king his father.

4 But he ſlew not their children, but did as it is written in the law in the book of Moſes, where the Lord commanded, ſaying, The fathers ſhall not die for the children, neither ſhall the children die for the fathers, but every man ſhall die for his own ſin.

5 ¶ Moreover, Amaziah gathered Judah together; and made them captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, according to the houſe of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty years old and above, and found them three hundred thouſand choice men, able to go forth to war, that could handle ſpear and ſhield.

6 He hired alſo an hundred thouſand mighty men of valour out of Iſrael for an hundred talents of ſilver.

7 But there came a man of God to him, ſaying, O king, let not the army of Iſrael go with thee: for the Lord is not with Iſrael, to wit, with all the children of Ephraim.

8 But if thou wilt go, do it, be ſtrong for the battle: God ſhall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to help, and to caſt down.

9 And Amaziah ſaid to the man of God, But what ſhall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the army of Iſrael? and the man of God anſwered, The Lord is able to give thee much more than this.

10 Then Amaziah ſeparated them, to wit, the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go home again; wherefore their anger was greatly kindled againſt Judah, and they returned home in great anger.

11 ¶ And Amaziah ſtrengthened himſelf, and led forth his people, and went to the valley of Salt, and ſmote of the children of Seir ten thouſand.

12 And other ten thouſand left alive did the children of Judah carry away captive, and brought them unto the top of the rock, and caſt them down from the top of the rock, that they all were broken in pieces.

13 But the ſoldiers of the army which Amaziah ſent back, that they ſhould not go with him to battle, fell upon the cities of Judah, from Samaria even unto Beth-horon, and ſmote three thouſand of them, and took much ſpoil.

14 Now it came to paſs, after that Amaziah was come from the ſlaughter of the Edomites, that he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and ſet them up to be his gods, and bowed down himſelf before them, and burned incenſe unto them.

15 Wherefore the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Amaziah, and he ſent unto him a prophet, which ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou ſought after the gods of the people, which could not deliver their own people out out of thine hand?

16 And it came to paſs, as he talked with him, that the king ſaid unto him, Art thou made of the king's counſel? forbear; why ſhouldeſt thou be ſmitten? Then the prophet forbare, and ſaid, I know that God hath determined to deſtroy thee, becauſe thou haſt done this, and haſt not hearkened unto my counſel.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Judah took advice, and ſent to Joaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz, the ſon of Jehu king of Iſrael, ſaying, Come let us ſee one another in the face.

18 And Joaſh king of Iſrael ſent to Amaziah king of Judah, ſaying, The thiſtle that was in Lebanon ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, ſaying, Give thy daughter to my ſon to wife: and there paſſed by a wild beaſt that was in Lebanon, and trode down the thiſtle.

19 Thou ſayeſt, Lo thou haſt ſmitten the Edomites, and thine heart lifteth thee up to boaſt: abide now at home, why ſhouldeſt thou meddle to thine hurt, that thou ſhouldeſt fall even thou and Judah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not hear; for it came of dered, was greatly augmented by the horrid ſin of ingratitude; for he was the ſon of him to whom the king owed both his life and crown.

22 The Lord look upon it and require it.) That is, the Lord will ſurely requite this unjuſt action: for the words muſt be conſidered as ſpoken by the ſpirit of prophecy, and not through a deſire of revenge. And this prophetic ſentence was no ſooner pronounced than executed; for before the year was expired, the Syrians came up againſt Jeruſalem, deſtroyed all the princes of the people; that is, all thoſe who had adviſed Joaſh to reſtore the worſhip of Baal, and left the king himſelf full of diſeaſes; ſoon after which his own ſervant conſpired againſt him, and ſlew him on his bed.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

9 The Lord is able to give thee much more.) Obey God and truſt in his goodneſs, and he will take care to provide every thing neceſſary.

14 Amaziah—brought the gods of the children of Seir, and ſet them up to be his gods.) No apology can be made for idolatry, conſidered in the moſt advantageous point of light; but ſurely it is the greateſt madneſs for any perſon to adore ſuch gods as could not deliver their own people, as the prophet very juſtly obſerves in his ſpeech to Amaziah in the following verſe.

God

God, that he might deliver them into the hand of their enemies, becauſe they ſought after the gods of Edom.

21 So Joaſh the king of Iſrael went up and they ſaw one another in the face, both he and Amaziah king of Judah, at Beth-ſhemeſh, which belongeth to Judah.

22 And Judah was put to the worſe before Iſrael, and they fled every man to his tent.

23 And Joaſh the king of Iſrael took Amaziah king of Judah, the ſon of Jehoahaz, at Beth-ſhemeſh, and brought him to Jeruſalem, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem, from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, four hundred cubits.

24 And he took all the gold and the ſilver, and all the veſſels that were found in the houſe of God, with Obed-edom, and the treaſures of the king's houſe, the hoſtages alſo, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah lived after the death of Joaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael fifteen years.

26 Now the reſt of the acts of Amaziah, firſt and laſt, behold, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Iſrael?

27 ¶ Now after the time that Amaziah did turn away from following the Lord, they made a conſpiracy againſt him in Jeruſalem; and he fled to Lachiſh: but they ſent to Lachiſh after him, and ſlew him there.

28 And they brought him upon horſes, and buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Uzziah ſucceedeth his father. 16 He invadeth the prieſt's office, and is ſmitten with leproſy. 22 He dieth, and Jotham ſucceedeth him.

THEN all the people of Judah took Uzziah, who was ſixteen years old, and made him king in the room of his father Amaziah.

2 He built Eloth, and reſtored it to Judah, after that the king ſlept with his fathers.

3 Sixteen years old was Uzziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jeruſalem. His mother's name alſo was Jecoliah of Jeruſalem.

4 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And he ſought God in the days of Zechariah, who had underſtanding in the viſions of God: and as long as he ſought the Lord, God made him to proſper.

6 And he went forth and warred againſt the Philiſtines, and brake down the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Aſhdod, and built cities about Aſhdod, and among the Philiſtines.

7 And God helped him againſt the Philiſtines, and againſt the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and the Mehunims.

8 And the Ammonites gave gifts to Uzziah: and his name ſpread abroad even to the entering in of Egypt; for he ſtrengthened himſelf exceedingly.

9 Moreover, Uzziah built towers in Jeruſalem at the corner-gate, and at the valley gate, and at the turning of the wall, and fortified them.

10 Alſo he built towers in the deſert, and digged many wells: for he had much cattle, both in the low country and in the plains: huſbandmen alſo, and vinedreſſers in the mountains, and in Carmel: for he loved huſbandry.

11 Moreover, Uzziah had an hoſt of fighting men, that went out to war by bands, according to the number of their account by the hand of Jeiel the ſcribe, and Maaſeiah the ruler, under the hand of Hananiah one of the king's captains.

12 The whole number of the chief of the fathers of the mighty men of valour were two thouſand and ſix hundred.

13 And under their hand was an army, three hundred thouſand, and ſeven thouſand and five hundred that made war with mighty power, to help the king againſt the enemy.

14 And Uzziah prepared for them, throughout all the hoſt, ſhields, and ſpears, and helmets, and habergeons, and bows, and ſlings to caſt ſtones.

15 And he made in Jeruſalem engines, invented by cunning men, to be on the towers, and upon the bulwarks, to ſhoot arrows and great ſtones withal: and his name ſpread far abroad: for he was marvelloufly helped till he was ſtrong.

16 ¶ But when he was ſtrong, his heart was lifted up to his deſtruction: for he tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord his God, and went into the temple of the Lord to burn incenſe upon the altar of incenſe.

17 And Azariah the prieſt went in after him, and with him fourſcore prieſts of the Lord, that were valiant men.

18 And they withſtood Uzziah the king, and ſaid unto him, It appertaineth not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incenſe unto the Lord, but to the prieſts the ſons of Aaron, that are conſecrated to burn incenſe: go out of the ſanctuary; for thou haſt treſpaſſed; neither ſhall it be for thine honour from the Lord God.

19 Then Uzziah was wroth, and had a cenſer in his hand to burn incenſe; and while he was wroth with the prieſts, the leproſy even roſe up in his forehead before the prieſts in the houſe of the Lord, from beſide the incenſe-altar.

20 And Azariah the chief prieſt, and all the prieſts, looked upon him, and behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they thruſt him out from thence; yea, himſelf haſted alſo to go out, becauſe the Lord had ſmitten him.

21 And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a ſeveral houſe, being a leper: for he was cut off from the houſe of the Lord: and Jotham his ſon was over the king's houſe, judging the people of the land.

22 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Uzziah, firſt and laſt, did Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz write.

23 So Uzziah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the burial which belonged

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

5 And he ſought God in the days of Zechariah.) This was not Zechariah the prophet, whoſe writings are found in the ſacred canon, but, in all probability, the ſon of that Zechariah, who was called after his father's name, and was eminent for his divine wiſdom.

9 Uzziah built towers in Jeruſalem, &c.) Great part of the wall of this city had been broken down in the reign of his father by Joaſh king of Iſrael, as we read in the foregoing chapter, though it is probable it had been again repaired before this time. But Uzziah thought proper to ſtrengthen it with towers, one of which he erected at the gate where the breach in the wall terminated, namely, the corner-gate.

15 And he made in Jeruſalem engines, invented by cunning men.) Theſe engines were doubtleſs for projecting ſtones and arrows from the walls and towers; and were afterwards very common in the Roman army, though probably ſomething different in their conſtruction.

21 And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death.) It was a capital crime to meddle raſhly with divine miniſtrations, as is evident from the caſe of Nadab and Abihu, Lev. x. 1, 2. And the leproſy was a kind of death, becauſe it ſeparated thoſe who were ſmitten with it from the ſociety of men.

longed to the kings: for they ſaid, He is a leper. And Jotham his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Jotham reigning well proſpereth. 5 He ſubdueth the Ammonites. 7 His reign. 9 Ahaz ſucceedeth him.

JOTHAM was twenty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem. His mother's name alſo was Jeruſhah the daughter of Zadok.

2 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father Uzziah did: howbeit, he entered not into the temple of the Lord; and the people did yet corruptly.

3 He built the high gate of the houſe of the Lord, and on the wall of Ophel he built much.

4 Moreover, he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and in the foreſts he built caſtles and towers.

5 ¶ He fought alſo with the king of the Ammonites, and prevailed againſt them. And the children of Ammon gave him the ſame year an hundred talents of ſilver, and ten thouſand meaſures of wheat, and ten thouſand of barley. So much did the children of Ammon pay unto him, both the ſecond year and the third;

6 So Jotham became mighty, becauſe he prepared his ways before the Lord his God.

7 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars, and his ways, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Iſrael and Judah.

8 He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem.

9 ¶ And Jotham ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Ahaz his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Ahaz reigning wickedly is afflicted by the Syrians. 26 He dying, Hezekiah ſucceedeth him.

AHAZ was twenty years old when he began to reign; and he reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem: but he did not that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, like David his father.

2 For he walked in the ways of the kings of Iſrael, and made alſo molten images for Baalim.

3 Moreover, he burnt incenſe in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, and burnt his children in the fire, after the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

4 He ſacrificed alſo, and burnt incenſe in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 Wherefore the Lord his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria; and they ſmote him, and carried away a great multitude of them captives, and brought them to Damaſcus: and he was alſo delivered into the hand of the king of Iſrael, who ſmote him with a great ſlaughter.

6 For Pekah the ſon of Remaliah, ſlew in Judah an hundred and twenty thouſand in one day, which were all valiant men, becauſe they had forſaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, ſlew Maaſeiah the king's ſon, and Azrikam the governor of the houſe, and Elkanah that was next to the king.

8 And the children of Iſrael carried away captive, of their brethren, two hundred thouſand, women, ſons and daughters, and took alſo away much ſpoil from them, and brought the ſpoil to Samaria.

9 But a prophet of the Lord was there, whoſe name was Oded; and he went out before the hoſt that came to Samaria and ſaid unto them, Behold, becauſe the Lord God of your fathers was wroth with Judah, he hath delivered them into your hand and ye have ſlain them in a rage that reacheth up unto heaven.

10 And now ye purpoſe to keep under the children of Judah and Jeruſalem for bond-men and bond-women unto you: but are there not with you, even with you, ſins againſt the Lord your God?

11 Now hear me, therefore, and deliver the captives again, which ye have taken captive of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is upon you.

12 Then certain of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah, the ſon of Johanan, Berechiah, the ſon of Meſhillemoth, and Jehizkiah, the ſon of Shallum, and Amaſa, the ſon of Hadlai, ſtood up againſt them that came from the war,

13 And ſaid unto them, Ye ſhall not bring in the captives hither: for whereas we have offended againſt the Lord already, ye intend to add more to our ſins and to our treſpaſs; for our treſpaſs is great, and there is fierce wrath againſt Iſrael.

14 So the armed men left the captives and the ſpoil before the princes and all the congregation.

15 And the men which were expreſſed by name roſe up and took the captives, and with the ſpoil clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and ſhod them, and gave them to eat and to drink, and anointed them, and carried all the feeble of them upon aſſes, and brought them to Jericho, the city of palm-trees, to their brethren: then they returned to Samaria.

16 At that time did king Ahaz ſend unto the kings of Aſſyria to help him.

17 For again the Edomites had come and ſmitten Judah, and carried away captives.

18 The Philiſtines alſo had invaded the cities of the low-country, and of the ſouth of Judah, and had taken Beth-ſhemeſh, and Aijalon, and Gederoth, and Shocho with the villages thereof, and Timnah with the villages thereof, Gimzo alſo and the villages thereof: and they dwelt there.

19 For the Lord brought Judah low, becauſe of Ahaz king of Iſrael: for he made Judah naked, and tranſgreſſed ſore againſt the Lord.

20 And Tilgath-pilneſer king of Aſſyria came unto him,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

6 So Jotham became mighty, becauſe he prepared his ways before the Lord his God.) Solomon Jarchi obſerves upon this paſſage, that all the kings of Judah had ſome crime or other laid to their charge, except this Jotham; that David himſelf ſinned grievouſly in the matter of Uriah; that Solomon by his wives was drawn into idolatry; that Rehoboam forſook the law of the Lord, and Abijah walked in his ſteps; that Aſa ſent the treaſures of the temple to the king of Syria, and put the prophet in priſon; that Jehoſhaphat entered into ſociety with idolaters, &c. But, adds this Jewiſh writer, in Jotham there is no fault found, except that we ſuppoſe that the people's ſacrificing and burning incenſe in high places, 2 Kings xv. 35, which he by his authority might have removed, be conſidered as a fault.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

10 But are there not with you—ſins againſt the Lord your God? He deſires them to reflect whether they had any reaſon, from their late victory, to conſider themſelves as the favourites of Omnipotence; or whether, if he puniſhed them according to their deſerts, they ſhould not fare the ſame fate with their brethren of Judah?

15 Arrayed them and ſhod them, &c.) Here was an extraordinary act of goodneſs not only to releaſe poor captives, but to diſmiſs them equipt with all things neceſſary for their return home.

him, and diſtreſſed him, but ſtrengthened him not.

21 For Ahaz took away a portion out of the houſe of the Lord, and out of the houſe of the king, and of the princes, and gave it unto the king of Aſſyria: but he helped him not.

22 And in the time of his diſtreſs did he treſpaſs yet more againſt the Lord: this is that king Ahaz.

23 For he ſacrificed unto the gods of Damaſcus which ſmote him; and he ſaid, Becauſe the gods of the kings of Syria help them, therefore will I ſacrifice to them, that they may help me: but they were the ruin of him, and of all Iſrael.

24 And Ahaz gathered together the veſſels of the houſe of God, and cut in pieces the veſſels of the houſe of God, and ſhut up the doors of the houſe of the Lord, and he made him altars in every corner of Jeruſalem.

25 And in every ſeveral city of Judah he made high places to burn incenſe unto other gods, and provoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 ¶ Now the reſt of his acts, and of all his ways, firſt and laſt, behold, they are written in the book of the Kings of Judah and Iſrael.

27 And Ahaz ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, even in Jeruſalem; but they brought him not into the ſepulchres of the kings of Iſrael, and Hezekiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Hezekiah's good reign. 3 He reſtoreth religion. 12 The houſe of God cleanſed.

HEZEKIAH began to reign when he was five and twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Abijah the daughter of Zechariah.

2 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done.

3 ¶ He, in the firſt year of his reign, in the firſt month, opened the doors of the houſe of the Lord, and repaired them.

4 And he brought in the prieſts and the Levites, and gathered them together into the eaſt ſtreet.

5 And ſaid unto them, Hear me, ye Levites, ſanctify now yourſelves, and ſanctify the houſe of the Lord God of your fathers, and carry forth the filthineſs out of the holy place.

6 For our fathers have treſpaſſed, and done that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have forſaken him, and have turned away their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and turned their backs.

7 Alſo they have ſhut up the doors of the porch, and put out the lamps, and have not burned incenſe, nor offered burnt-offerings in the holy place, unto the God of Iſrael.

8 Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jeruſalem, and he hath delivered them to trouble, to aſtoniſhment, and to hiſſing, as ye ſee with your eyes.

9 For lo, our fathers have fallen by the ſword, and our ſons, and our daughters, and our wives are in captivity for this.

10 Now it is in mine heart to make a covenant with the Lord God of Iſrael, that his fierce wrath may turn away from us.

11 My ſons, be not now negligent, for the Lord hath choſen you to ſtand before him, to ſerve him, and that ye ſhould miniſter unto him, and burn incenſe.

12 ¶ Then the Levites aroſe, Mahath the ſon of Amaſai, and Joel the ſon of Azariah, of the ſons of the Kohathites: and of the ſons of Merari; Kiſh the ſon of Abdi, and Azariah the ſon of Jehalelel: and of the Gerſhonites; Joah the ſon of Zimmah, and Eden the ſon of Joah:

13 And of the ſons of Elizaphan; Shimri, and Jeiel: and of the ſons of Aſaph; Zechariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the ſons of Heman; Jehiel, and Shimei: and of the ſons of Jeduthun; Shemaiah, and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and ſanctified themſelves, and came according to the commandment of the king, by the words of the Lord, to cleanſe the houſe of the Lord.

16 And the prieſts went into the inner part of the houſe of the Lord to cleanſe it, and brought out all the uncleanneſs that they found in the temple of the Lord, into the court of the houſe of the Lord. And the Levites took it, to carry it out abroad into the brook Kidron.

17 Now they began on the firſt day of the firſt month to ſanctify, and on the eight day of the month came they to the porch of the Lord: ſo they ſanctified the houſe of the Lord in eight days, and in the ſixteenth day of the firſt month they made an end.

18 Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and ſaid, We have cleanſed all the houſe of the Lord, and the altar of burnt-offering, with all the veſſels thereof, and the ſhew-bread table, with all the veſſels thereof.

19 Moreover, all the veſſels which king Ahaz in his reign did caſt away in his tranſgreſſion, have we prepared and ſanctified, and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 Then Hezekiah the king roſe early, and gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the houſe of the Lord.

21 And they brought ſeven bullocks, and ſeven rams, and ſeven lambs, and ſeven he-goats for a ſin-offering for the kingdom, and for the ſanctuary, and for Judah. And he commanded the prieſts the ſons of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they killed the bullocks, and the prieſts received the blood, and ſprinkled it on the altar; likewiſe when they had killed the rams, they ſprinkled the blood upon the altar; they killed alſo the lambs, and

---

20 And Tilgath-pilneſer—came unto him, and diſtreſſed him, but ſtrengthened him not.) It is ſaid, 2 Kings xvi. 9. that he did help him; and therefore it is aſked, how he could diſtreſs him; But this is eaſily anſwered; for as he came to his aſſiſtance againſt the king of Syria, ſo he took Damaſcus, carried the people away captive, and delivered Ahaz from the power of the Syrians; but this was of little ſervice to Ahaz, who was deſirous of recovering the cities taken from him by the Philiſtines. He lent him no forces, nor enabled him to recruit his own: on the contrary, he weakened him, both by exhauſting his treaſures, and taking Samaria, which laid his country open to an invaſion on that ſide, and which actually happened in the next reign.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

3 He, in the firſt year of his reign, in the firſt month.) His beginning ſo very ſoon to reform religion, ſufficiently demonſtrates his great zeal for the glory of God. He did not ſtay till he was ſettled in the throne, but began the reformation the very month he aſcended it, being doubtleſs perſuaded that the ſureſt way of rendering his reign proſperous, and his people happy, was to reſtore the worſhip of the God of Iſrael, and aboliſh the idolatry which had for ſome years been eſtabliſhed.

21 And ſeven he-goats.) It is remarkable, that the word Tſaphir, which here ſignifies a he-goat, was never uſed by the Hebrews till after the Babyloniſh captivity, when we find it in Daniel, who lived at Babylon: and is therefore an argument, that this book was written by Ezra, after the return of the Jews from that captivity, during which he had learned the Chaldee language.

they ſprinkled the blood upon the altar.

23 And they brought forth the he-goats for the ſin-offering before the king and the congregation: and they laid their hands upon them.

24 And the prieſts killed them, and they made reconciliation with their blood upon the altar, to make an atonement for all Iſrael. For the king commanded that the burnt-offering and the ſin-offering ſhould be made for all Iſrael.

25 And he ſet the Levites in the houſe of the Lord with cymbals, with pſalteries, and with harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the king's ſeer, and Nathan the prophet: for ſo was the commandment of the Lord by his prophets.

26 And the Levites ſtood with the inſtruments of David, and the prieſts with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt-offering upon the altar. And when the burnt-offering began, the ſong of the Lord began alſo with the trumpets, and with the inſtruments ordained by David king of Iſrael.

28 And all the congregation worſhipped, and the ſingers ſang, and the trumpeters ſounded; and all this continued until the burnt-offering was finiſhed.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the king and all that were preſent with him bowed themſelves, and worſhipped.

30 Moreover Hezekiah the king, and the princes, commanded the Levites to ſing praiſe unto the Lord with the words of David, and of Aſaph the ſeer: and they ſang praiſes with gladneſs, and they bowed their heads and worſhipped.

31 Then Hezekiah anſwered and ſaid, Now ye have conſecrated yourſelves unto the Lord, come near and bring ſacrifices and thank-offerings into the houſe of the Lord. And the congregation brought in ſacrifices and thank-offerings; and, as many as were of a free heart, burnt-offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt-offerings, which the congregation brought, was threeſcore and ten bullocks, an hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all theſe were for a burnt-offering to the Lord.

33 And the conſecrated things were ſix hundred oxen, and three thouſand ſheep.

34 But the prieſts were too few, ſo that they could not flay all the burnt-offerings: wherefore their brethren the Levites did help them till the work was ended, and until the other prieſts had ſanctified themſelves: for the Levites were more upright in heart to ſanctify themſelves than the prieſts.

35 And alſo the burnt-offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink-offerings for every burnt-offering. So the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord was ſet in order.

36 And Hezekiah rejoiced and all the people, that God had prepared the people: for the thing was done ſuddenly.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Hezekiah proclaimeth a paſſover. 13 The aſſembly deſtroy the altars of idolatry.

AND Hezekiah ſent to all Iſrael and Judah, and wrote letters alſo to Ephraim and Manaſſeh, that they ſhould come to the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, to keep the paſſover unto the Lord God of Iſrael.

2 For the king had taken counſel, and his princes and all the congregation in Jeruſalem, to keep the paſſover in the ſecond month.

3 For they could not keep it at that time, becauſe the prieſts had not ſanctified themſelves ſufficiently, neither had the people gathered themſelves together to Jeruſalem.

4 And the thing pleaſed the king and all the congregation.

5 So they eſtabliſhed a decree, to make proclamation throughout all Iſrael, from Beerſheba even to Dan, that they ſhould come to keep the paſſover unto the Lord God of Iſrael at Jeruſalem; for they had not done it of a long time in ſuch ſort as it was written.

6 So the poſts went with the letters from the king and his princes throughout all Iſrael and Judah, and according to the commandment of the king, ſaying, Ye children of Iſrael turn again unto the Lord God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael, and he will return to the remnant of you that are eſcaped out of the hand of the kings of Aſſyria.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which treſpaſſed againſt the Lord God of their fathers, who therefore gave them up to deſolation, as ye ſee.

8 Now, be ye not ſtiff-necked as your fathers were, but yield yourſelves unto the Lord, and enter into his ſanctuary, which he hath ſanctified for ever; and ſerve the Lord your God, that the fierceneſs of his wrath may turn away from you.

9 For if ye turn again unto the Lord, your brethren and your children ſhall find compaſſion before them that lead them captive, ſo that they ſhall come again into this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him.

10 So the poſts paſſed from city to city, through the country of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, even unto Zebulun: but they laughed them to ſcorn, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheleſs, divers of Aſher, and Manaſſeh, and of Zebulun, humbled themſelves, and came to Jeruſalem.

12 Alſo in Judah the hand of God was to give them one heart to do the commandment of the king and of the princes, by the word of the Lord.

13 ¶ And there aſſembled at Jeruſalem much people to keep the feaſt of unleavened bread in the ſecond month, a very great congregation.

14 And they aroſe, and took away the altars that were in Jeruſalem, and all the altars for incenſe took they away, and caſt them into the brook Kidron.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 And Hezekiah ſent to all Iſrael and Judah, &c.) Hezekiah had doubtleſs no right to invite the ſubjects of Hoſhea to repair to Jeruſalem, in order to celebrate his paſſover: but we may preſume that he was encouraged in this by Hoſhea himſelf, who with regard to religion, has the beſt character in Scripture of any king that ever reigned over Iſrael, from the diviſion of the two kingdoms. There is alſo another and more material reaſon why this was countenanced: the golden calves in Beth-el and Dan were taken away, one by Tilgath-pilneſer, and the other by his ſon Salmaneſer; and therefore the apoſtate Iſraelites, being deprived of their idols, began to return to the Lord, and to go up to Jeruſalem to worſhip, for ſome time before Hezekiah made them this invitation to celebrate his paſſover.

10 But they laughed them to ſcorn and mocked them.) They had been ſo long accuſtomed to ſerve other gods, that the hearts of the generality of the ten tribes were ſo hardened, as to laugh at the kind invitations of Hezekiah, and ſcorn the mercy offered them from the Lord, in caſe they repented and turned from their wicked ways. But the vengeance of Omnipotence did not long ſleep; for three years after, they were carried away captive out of their own land, and made ſervants to their enemies.

15 Then they killed the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the ſecond month: and the prieſts and the Levites were aſhamed, and ſanctified themſelves, and brought in the burnt-offerings into the houſe of the Lord.

16 And they ſtood in their place, after their manner, according to the law of Moſes the man of God: the prieſts ſprinkled the blood, which they received of the hand of the Levites:

17 For there were many in the congregation that were not ſanctified; therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the paſſovers for every one that was not clean, to ſanctify them unto the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, even many of Ephraim, and Manaſſeh, Iſſachar, and Zebulun, had not cleanſed themſelves, yet did they eat the paſſover otherwiſe than it was written: but Hezekiah prayed for them, ſaying, The good Lord pardon every one

19 That prepareth his heart to ſeek God, the Lord God of his fathers, though he be not cleanſed according to the purification of the ſanctuary.

20 And the Lord hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Iſrael, that were preſent at Jeruſalem, kept the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven days with great gladneſs: and the Levites and the prieſts praiſed the Lord day by day, ſinging with loud inſtruments unto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah ſpake comfortably unto all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the Lord: and they did eat throughout the feaſt ſeven days, offering peace-offerings, and making confeſſion to the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole aſſembly took counſel to keep other ſeven days: and they kept other ſeven days with gladneſs.

24 For Hezekiah king of Judah did give to the congregation a thouſand bullocks, and ſeven thouſand ſheep; and the princes gave to the congregation a thouſand bullocks, and ten thouſand ſheep: and a great number of prieſts ſanctified themſelves.

25 And all the congregation of Judah, with the prieſts and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Iſrael, and the ſtrangers that came out of the land of Iſrael, and that dwelt in Judah, rejoiced.

26 So there was great joy in Jeruſalem: for ſince the time of Solomon, the ſon of David king of Iſrael, there was not the like in Jeruſalem.

27 Then the prieſts the Levites aroſe, and bleſſed the people: and their voice was heard, and their prayer came up to his holy dwelling-place, even unto heaven.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people forward in deſtroying idolatry. 11 Hezekiah appointeth officers to diſpoſe of the tithes. 20 His ſincerity.

NOW when all this was finiſhed, all Iſrael that were preſent went out to the cities of Judah, and brake the images in pieces and cut down the groves, and threw down the high places, and the altars out of all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim alſo and Manaſſeh, until they had utterly deſtroyed them all. Then all the children of Iſrael returned every man to his poſſeſſion into their own cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites after their courſes, every man according to his ſervice, the prieſts and Levites for burnt-offerings, and for peace-offerings, to miniſter and to give thanks, and to praiſe in the gates of the tents of the Lord.

3 He appointed alſo the king's portion of his ſubſtance for the burnt-offerings, to wit, for the morning and evening burnt-offerings, and the burnt-offerings for the ſabbaths, and for the new-moons, and for the ſet feaſts, as it is written in the law of the Lord.

4 Moreover he commanded the people that dwelt in Jeruſalem to give the portion of the prieſts and the Levites, that they might be encouraged in the law of the Lord.

5 And as ſoon as the commandment came abroad, the children of Iſrael brought in abundance the firſtfruits of corn wine, and oil, and honey, and of all the increaſe of the field; and the tithe of all things brought they in abundantly.

6 And concerning the children of Iſrael and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they alſo brought in the tithe of oxen and ſheep, and the tithe of holy things, which were conſecrated unto the Lord their God, and laid them by heaps.

7 In the third month they began to lay the foundation of the heaps, and finiſhed them in the ſeventh month.

8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came and ſaw the heaps, they bleſſed the Lord and his people Iſrael.

9 Then Hezekiah queſtioned with the prieſts and the Levites concerning the heaps.

10 And Azariah the chief prieſt of the houſe of Zadok anſwered him, and ſaid, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the houſe of the Lord, we have had enough to eat, and have left plenty: for the Lord hath bleſſed his people; and that which is left is this great ſtore.

11 ¶ Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the houſe of the Lord: and they prepared them:

12 And brought in the offerings and the tithes, and the dedicate things, faithfully: over which Cononiah the Levite was ruler, and Shimei his brother was the next.

13 And Jehiel, and Azaziah, and Nahath, and Aſahel, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Iſmachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah, were overſeers, under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king, and Azariah the ruler of the houſe of God.

14 And Kore the ſon of Imnah the Levite, the porter toward the eaſt, was over the free-will offerings of God, to diſtribute the oblations of the Lord, and the moſt holy things.

15 And next him were Eden, and Miniamin, and Jeſhua, and Shemaiah, Amaria, and Shecaniah, in the cities of the prieſts, in their ſet office to give to their brethren by courſes, as well to the great as to the ſmall:

16 Beſide their genealogy of males, from three years old and upward, even unto every one that entereth into the houſe of the Lord, his daily portion for their

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

1 Now when all this was finiſhed, &c. That is, in the latter end of the ſecond month, after the paſſover and the following feſtivals were over, and the people diſmiſſed with pious inſtructions from the Levites, they deſtroyed the monuments of idolatry that remained in the ſeveral cities of the kingdom.

ſervice in their charges, according to their courſes;

17 Both to the genealogy of the prieſts by the houſe of their fathers, and the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, in their charges, by their courſes;

18 And to the genealogy of all their little ones, their wives, and their ſons, and their daughters, through all the congregation: for in their ſet office they ſanctified themſelves in holineſs:

19 Alſo of the ſons of Aaron the prieſts, which were in the fields of the ſuburbs of their cities, in every ſeveral city, the men that were expreſſed by name, to give portions to all the males among the prieſts, and to all that were reckoned by genealogies among the Levites.

20 ¶ And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and wrought that which was good, and right, and truth, before the Lord his God.

21 And in every work that he began in the ſervice of the houſe of God, and in the law, and in the commandments, to ſeek his God, he did it with all his heart, and proſpered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Sennacherib invadeth Judah. 21 An angel deſtroyeth the Aſſyrians. 24 Hezekiah's ſickneſs and recovery. 32 He dying, Manaſſeh ſucceedeth him.

AFTER theſe things and the eſtabliſhment thereof, Sennecherib king of Aſſyria came, and entered into Judah, and encamped againſt the fenced cities, and thought to win them for himſelf.

2 And when Hezekiah ſaw that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purpoſed to fight againſt Jeruſalem;

3 He took counſel with his princes and his mighty men to ſtop the waters of the fountains which were without the city. And they did help him.

4 So there was gathered much people together, who ſtopped all the fountains, and the brook that ran through the midſt of the land, ſaying, Why ſhould the kings of Aſſyria come and find much water?

5 Alſo he ſtrengthened himſelf, and built up all the wall that was broken, and raiſed it up to the towers, and another wall without, and repaired Millo in the city of David, and made darts and ſhields in abundance.

6 And he ſet captains of war over the people, and gathered them together to him in the ſtreet of the gate of the city, and ſpake comfortably to them, ſaying,

7 Be ſtrong and courageous, be not afraid nor diſmayed for the king of Aſſyria, nor for all the multitude that is with him: for there be more with us than with him.

8 With him is an arm of fleſh; but with us is the Lord our God, to help us, and to fight our battles. And the people reſted themſelves upon the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

9 After this did Sennacherib king of Aſſyria ſent his ſervants to Jeruſalem (but he himſelf laid ſiege againſt Lachiſh, and all his power with him) unto Hezekiah king of Judah, and unto all Judah that were at Jeruſalem, ſaying,

10 Thus ſaith Sennacherib king of Aſſyria, Whereon do ye truſt, that ye abide in the ſiege in Jeruſalem?

11 Doth not Hezekiah perſuade you to give over yourſelves to die by famine and by thirſt, ſaying, The Lord our God ſhall deliver us out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

12 Hath not the ſame Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall worſhip before one altar, and burn incenſe upon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers have done unto all the people of other lands? were the gods of the nations of thoſe lands any ways able to deliver their lands out of mine hand?

14 Who was there among all the gods of thoſe nations that my fathers utterly deſtroyed, that could deliver his people out of mine hand, that your God ſhould be able to deliver you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you, nor perſuade you on this manner, neither yet believe him: for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much leſs ſhall your God deliver you out of mine hand?

16 And his ſervants ſpake yet more againſt the Lord God, and againſt his ſervant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote alſo letters to rail on the Lord God of Iſrael, and to ſpeak againſt him, ſaying, As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people out of mine hand, ſo ſhall not the God of Hezekiah deliver his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cried with a loud voice in the Jews ſpeech unto the people of Jeruſalem that were on the wall, to affright them, and to trouble them; that they might take the city.

19 And they ſpake againſt the God of Juruſalem as againſt the gods of the people of the earth, which were the work of the hands of men.

20 And for this cauſe Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, prayed and cried to heaven.

21 ¶ And the Lord ſent an angel, which cut off all the mighty men of valour, and the leaders and captains in the camp of the king of Aſſyria. So he returned with ſhame of face to his own land. And when he was come into the houſe of his god, they that came forth of his own bowels ſlew him there with the ſword.

22 Thus the Lord ſaved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Aſſyria, and from the hand of all other, and guided them on every ſide.

23 And many brought gifts unto the Lord to Jeruſalem, and preſents to Hezekiah king of Judah; ſo that he was magnified in the ſight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 ¶ In thoſe days Hezekiah was ſick to the death, and prayed unto the Lord: and he ſpake unto him, and he gave him a ſign.

25 But Hezekiah rendered not again according to the benefit done unto him; for his heart was lifted up: therefore there was wrath upon him, and upon Judah and Jeruſalem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

4 So there was gathered much people together, who ſtopt all the fountains, and the brook, &c.) By the brook is meant Gihon, which ſome take to be Kidron. It was not eaſy to conceal this brook; but it is ſuppoſed the ſource of it was not far from the city, and this being filled with earth, they diverted the current, and by ſubterraneous paſſages, conveyed the water into large ciſterns in the city for the uſe of the people.

23 And many brought gifts unto the Lord to Jeruſalem, and preſents to Hezekiah.) They were ſo terrified with the tremendous ſtroke that had been given the Aſſyrian army, that they brought gifts to the God of Iſrael to deprecate this vengeance, and preſents to Hezekiah to purchaſe his friendſhip.

25 His heart was lifted up.) So many aſtoniſhing miracles having been wrought in his favour, he grew ſo preſumptuous of God's protection, that he forgot his benefits.

26 Notwithſtanding Hezekiah humbled himſelf for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſo that the wrath of the Lord came not upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

27 And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches and honour: and he made himſelf treaſuries for ſilver, and for gold, and for precious ſtones, and for ſpices, and for ſhields, and for all manner of pleaſant jewels;

28 Store-houſes alſo for the increaſe of corn, and wine, and oil; and ſtalls for all manner of beaſts, and cotes for flocks.

29 Moreover, he provided him cities and poſſeſſions of flocks and herds in abundance; for God had given him ſubſtance very much.

30 This ſame Hezekiah alſo ſtopped the upper water-courſe of Gihon, and brought it ſtraight down to the weſt ſide of the city of David. And Hezekiah proſpered in all his works.

31 Howbeit in the buſineſs of the ambaſſadors of the princes of Babylon, who ſent unto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to try him, that he might know all that was in his heart.

32 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodneſs, behold, they are written in the viſion of Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Iſrael.

33 And Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the chiefeſt of the ſepulchres of the ſons of David. And all Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem did him honour at his death. And Manaſſeh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manaſſeh's wicked reign. 11 He is carried into Babylon. 12 Upon his prayer he is releaſed. 20 Amon ſucceedeth him. 24 He being ſlain by his own ſervants, 25 Joſiah ſucceedeth him.

MANASSEH was twelve years old when he began to reign; and he reigned fifty and five years in Jeruſalem:

2 But did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, like unto the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

3 For he built again the high places which Hezekiah his father had broken down, and he reared up altars for Baalim, and made groves, and worſhipped all the hoſt of heaven, and ſerved them.

4 Alſo he built altars in the houſe of the Lord, whereof the Lord had ſaid, In Jeruſalem ſhall my name be for ever.

5 And he built altars for all the hoſt of heaven in the two courts of the houſe of the Lord.

6 And he cauſed his children to paſs through the fire in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, alſo he obſerved times, and uſed enchantments, and uſed witchcraft, and dealt with a familiar ſpirit, and with wizards: he wrought much evil in the ſight of the Lord to provoke him to anger.

7 And he ſet a carved image (the idol which he had made) in the houſe of God, of which God had ſaid, to David and to Solomon his ſon, In this houſe, and in Jeruſalem, which I have choſen before all the tribes of Iſrael, will I put my name for ever:

8 Neither will I any more remove the foot of Iſrael from out of the land which I have appointed for your fathers; ſo that they will take heed to do all that I have commanded them, according to the whole law, and the ſtatutes, and the ordinances, by the hand of Moſes.

9 So Manaſſeh made Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem to err, and to do worſe than the heathen, whom the Lord had deſtroyed before the children of Iſrael.

10 And the Lord ſpake to Manaſſeh, and to his people; but they would not hearken.

11 ¶ Wherefore the Lord brought upon them the captains of the hoſt of the king of Aſſyria, which took Manaſſeh among the thorns, and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon.

12 ¶ And when he was in affliction he beſought the Lord his God, and humbled himſelf greatly before the God of his fathers.

13 And prayed unto him: and he was entreated of him, and heard his ſupplication, and brought him again to Jeruſalem into his kingdom. Then Manaſſeh knew that the Lord he was God.

14 Now after this, he built a wall without the city of David, on the weſt ſide of Gihon, in the valley, even to the entering in at the fiſh-gate, and compaſſed about Ophel, and raiſed it up a very great height, and put captains of war in all the fenced cities of Judah.

15 And he took away the ſtrange gods, and the idol out of the houſe of the Lord, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the houſe of the Lord, and in Jeruſalem, and caſt them out of the city.

16 And he repaired the altar of the Lord, and ſacrificed thereon peace-offerings, and thank-offerings, and commanded Judah to ſerve the Lord God of Iſrael.

17 Nevertheleſs, the people did ſacrifice ſtill in the high places, yet unto the Lord their God only.

18 Now the reſt of the acts of Manaſſeh, and his prayer unto his God, and the words of the ſeers that ſpake to him in the name of the Lord God of Iſrael, behold they are written in the book of the kings of Iſrael.

19 His prayer alſo, and how God was entreated of him, and all his ſin, and his treſpaſs, and the places wherein he built high places, and ſet up groves and graven images, before he was humbled, behold, they are written among the ſayings of the ſeers.

20 ¶ So Manaſſeh ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own houſe: and Amon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

21 Amon was two and twenty years old when he began to reign; and reigned two years in Jeruſalem.

22 But he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord, as did Manaſſeh his father: for Amon ſacrificed unto all the carved images which Manaſſeh his father had made, and ſerved them;

23 And humbled not himſelf before the Lord, as Manaſſeh his father had humbled himſelf: but Amon treſpaſſed more and more.

24 ¶ And his ſervants conſpired againſt him, and ſlew him in his own houſe.

25 ¶ But the people of the land ſlew all them that had conſpired againſt king Amon: and the people of the land made Joſiah his ſon king in his ſtead.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

9 So Manaſſeh made Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem to err, and to do worſe than the heathen.) What a prodigious change was now wrought in this kingdom! In the laſt reign it was celebrated for righteouſneſs; now for being the very ſink of impiety.

13 And brought him again to Jeruſalem into his kingdom.) That is, God was prevailed upon ſo far, by the deep ſorrow and humiliation of Manaſſeh, that he mollified the heart of the king of Babylon, who reſtored him to his liberty, and re-inſtated him in his kingdom.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Josiah's good reign. 3 He destroyeth idolatry. 8 He repaireth the temple. 29 And causing the law to be read, reneweth the covenant with God.

JOSIAH was eight years old when he began to reign; and he reigned in Jerusalem one and thirty years.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of David his father, and declined neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 ¶ For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was yet young, he began to seek after the God of David his father: and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem from the high places, and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images.

4 And they brake down the altars of Baalim in his presence: and the images that were on high above them he cut down; and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images, he brake in pieces, and made dust of them, and strowed it upon the graves of them that had sacrificed unto them.

5 And he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem.

6 And so did he in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even unto Naphtali, with their mattocks round about.

7 And when he had broken down the altars, and the groves, and had beaten the graven images into powder, and cut down all the idols throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Now, in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land, and the house, he sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah, the governor of the city, and Joah, the son of Joahaz, the recorder, to repair the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doors had gathered of the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and of all the remnant of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin, and they returned to Jerusalem.

10 And they put it in the hand of the workmen that had the oversight of the house of the Lord, and they gave it to the workmen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repair and amend the house;

11 Even to the artificers and builders gave they it, to buy hewn stone, and timber for couplings, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the work faithfully: and the overseers of them were Jahath and Obadiah, the Levites, of the sons of Merari; and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to set it forward: and other of the Levites, all that could skill of instruments of music.

13 Also they were over the bearers of burdens, and were overseers of all that wrought the work in any manner of service: and of the Levites there were scribes, and officers, and porters.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the Lord given by Moses.

15 And Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord. And Hilkiah delivered the book to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan carried the book to the king, and brought the king word back again, saying, All that was committed to thy servants they do it.

17 And they have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and have delivered it into the hand of the overseers, and to the hand of the workmen.

18 Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath given me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Abdon the son of Micah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah a servant of the king's, saying,

21 Go, enquire of the Lord for me, and for them that are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the Lord, to do after all that is written in this book.

22 And Hilkiah, and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tikvath, the son of Hasrah keeper of the wardrobe; (now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college;) and they spake to her to that effect.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Judah:

25 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be poured out upon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shall ye say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the words which thou hast heard,

27 Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thyself before God when thou heardest his words against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thyself before me and didst rend thy clothes, and weep before me; I have even heard thee also, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. So they brought the king word again.

29 ¶ Then the king sent and gathered together all

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIV.

3 In the eight year of his reign—he began to seek after the God of David his father) His pious inclination of worshipping the God of Israel appeared very early: for he was only sixteen years of age when he openly declared his resolution of serving the Lord God of his fathers. See an account of the great reformation this prince made in his kingdom, 2 Kings xxii. xxiii.

14 Found a book of the law of the Lord given by Moses.) In the Hebrew it is, a book of the law of the Lord by the hand of Moses; that is in the hand-writing of Moses: for though there are fifteen places in the Old Testament which mention the words law of Moses, and book of Moses, yet this one place only mentions the book of the law in the hand (or by the hand) of Moses: the reason of which seems to be, that the other places speak of that law in general; but this place speaks of one particular MS, namely the original, for from the death of Moses to the death of Josiah, at the utmost computation, was not more than 950 years; an age exceeded by that of several MSS preserved at this day.

the elders of Judah and Jeruſalem.

30 And the king went up into the houſe of the Lord, and all the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and the prieſts and the Levites, and all the people, great and ſmall; and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the houſe of the Lord.

31 And the king ſtood in his place, and made a covenant before the Lord, to walk after the Lord, and to keep his commandments, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes, with all his heart, and with all his ſoul, to perform the words of the covenant which are written in this book.

32 And he cauſed all that were preſent in Jeruſalem and Benjamin to ſtand to it. And the inhabitants of Jeruſalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.

33 And Joſiah took away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Iſrael, and made all that were preſent in Iſrael to ſerve, even to ſerve the Lord their God. And all his days they departed not from following the Lord, the God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Joſiah keepeth a ſolemn paſſover. 20 He provoking Pharaoh-necho, is ſlain at Megiddo. 25 Lamentations for him.

MOREOVER, Joſiah kept a paſſover unto the Lord in Jeruſalem: and they killed the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the firſt month.

2 And he ſet the prieſts in their charges, and encouraged them to the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord.

3 And ſaid unto the Levites that taught all Iſrael which were holy unto the Lord, Put the holy ark into the houſe which Solomon the ſon of David king of Iſrael did build: it ſhall not be a burden upon your ſhoulders: ſerve now the Lord your God, and his people Iſrael.

4 And prepare yourſelves by the houſes of your fathers, after your courſes, according to the writing of David king of Iſrael, and according to the writing of Solomon his ſon.

5 And ſtand in the holy place according to the diviſions of the families of the fathers of your brethren the people, and after the diviſion of the families of the Levites.

6 So kill the paſſover, and ſanctify yourſelves, and prepare your brethren, that they may do according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

7 And Joſiah gave to the people of the flock, lambs, and kids, all for the paſſover-offerings, for all that were preſent, to the number of thirty thouſand; and three thouſand bullocks: theſe were of the king's ſubſtance.

8 And his princes gave willingly unto the people, to the prieſts and to the Levites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the houſe of God, gave unto the prieſts for the paſſover-offerings two thouſand and ſix hundred ſmall cattle, and three hundred oxen.

9 Cononiah alſo, and Shemaiah, and Nethaneel his brethren, and Haſhabiah, and Jeiel, and Jozabad, chief of the Levites, gave unto the Levites for paſſover-offerings five thouſand ſmall cattle, and five hundred oxen.

10 So the ſervice was prepared, and the prieſts ſtood in their place, and the Levites in their courſes, according to the king's commandment.

11 And they killed the paſſover, and the prieſts ſprinkled the blood from their hands, and the Levites flayed them.

12 And they removed the burnt-offerings, that they might give according to the diviſions of the families of the people, to offer unto the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moſes. And ſo did they with the oxen.

13 And they roaſted the paſſover with fire according to the ordinance: but the other holy offerings ſod they in pots, and in caldrons, and in pans, and divided them ſpeedily among all the people.

14 And afterward they made ready for themſelves and for the prieſts: becauſe the prieſts the ſons of Aaron were buſied in offering of burnt-offerings and the fat until night; therefore the Levites prepared for themſelves and for the prieſts the ſons of Aaron.

15 And the ſingers, the ſons of Aſaph, were in their place, according to the commandment of David and Aſaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the king's ſeer; and the porters waited at every gate: they might not depart from their ſervice; for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

16 So all the ſervice of the Lord was prepared the ſame day, to keep the paſſover, and to offer burnt-offerings upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Joſiah.

17 And the children of Iſrael that were preſent kept the paſſover at that time, and the feaſt of unleavened bread, ſeven days.

18 And there was no paſſover like to that kept in Iſrael, from the days of Samuel the prophet: neither did all the kings of Iſrael keep ſuch a paſſover as Joſiah kept, and the prieſts, and the Levites, and all Judah and Iſrael that were preſent, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Joſiah was this paſſover kept.

20 After all this, when Joſiah had prepared the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight againſt Carchemiſh by Euphrates: and Joſiah went out againſt him.

21 But he ſent ambaſſadors to him, ſaying, What have I to do with thee, thou king of Judah? I come not againſt thee this day, but againſt the houſe wherewith I have war; for God commanded me to make haſte: forbear thee from meddling with God, who is with me, that he deſtroy thee not.

22 ¶ Nevertheleſs, Joſiah would not turn his face from him, but diſguiſed himſelf, that he might fight with him, and hearkened not unto the words of Necho from the mouth of God, and came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the archers ſhot at king Joſiah; and the king ſaid to his ſervants, Have me away; for I am ſore wounded.

30 He read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant.) It can hardly be ſuppoſed that both Joſiah, and all the nation of Judah, were entirely ignorant of what the book of the law contained; eſpecially when it is remembered that Jeremiah and the other prophets were now living, who were very converſant in this book, and made it their buſineſs to inſtruct the people in the precepts it contained. But it is plain that they did not give a proper attention to the words of it; particularly that paſſage in Deut. xxviii. 38, where Moſes foretold the captivity of Samaria, and afterwards of Judah.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 Moreover Joſiah kept a paſſover unto the Lord in Jeruſalem.) This paſſover was kept in the eighteenth year of his reign, immediately after he had finiſhed his glorious reformation in aboliſhing idolatry.

24 His ſervants therefore, took him out of that chariot, and put him in the ſecond chariot that he had; and they brought him to Jeruſalem and he died, and was buried in one of the ſepulchres of his fathers; and all Judah and Jeruſalem mourned for Joſiah.

25 And Jeremiah lamented for Joſiah; and all the ſinging-men and the ſinging-women ſpake of Joſiah in their lamentations to this day, and made them an ordinance in Iſrael: and, behold, they are written in the Lamentations.

26 Now the reſt of the acts of Joſiah, and his goodneſs, according to that which was written in the law of the Lord, 27 And his deeds, firſt and laſt, behold, they are written in the book of the Kings of Iſrael and Judah.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Jehoahaz is depoſed by Pharaoh. 5 Jehoiakim reigning ill is carried into Babylon. 9 Jehoiachin ſucceedeth. 11 Zedekiah's ill reign. 22 The proclamation of Cyrus.

THEN the people of the land took Jehoahaz the ſon of Joſiah, and made him king in his father's ſtead in Jeruſalem.

2 Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jeruſalem.

3 And the king of Egypt put him down at Jeruſalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of ſilver, and a talent of gold.

4 And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Judah and Jeruſalem, and turned his name to Jehoiakim. And Necho took Jehoahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.

5 ¶ Jehoiakim was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem: and he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord his God.

6 Againſt him came up Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and bound him in fetters to carry him to Babylon.

7 Nebuchadnezzar alſo carried off the veſſels of the houſe of the Lord to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon.

8 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoiakim, and his abominations which he did, and that which was found in him, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Iſrael and Judah. And Jehoiachin his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

9 ¶ Jehoiachin was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jeruſalem: and he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord.

10 And when the year was expired, king Nebuchadnezzar ſent, and brought him to Babylon, with the goodly veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, and made Zedekiah his brother king over Judah and Jeruſalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem.

12 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himſelf before Jeremiah the prophet, ſpeaking from the mouth of the Lord.

13 And he alſo rebelled againſt king Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him ſwear by God: but he ſtiffened his neck, and hardened his heart from turning unto the Lord God of Iſrael.

14 Moreover, all the chief of the prieſts and the people tranſgreſſed very much, after all the abominations of the heathen; and polluted the houſe of the Lord which he had hallowed in Jeruſalem.

15 And the Lord God of their fathers ſent to them by his meſſengers, riſing up betimes, and ſending; becauſe he had compaſſion on his people, and on his dwelling-place:

16 But they mocked the meſſengers of God, and deſpiſed his words, and miſuſed his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord aroſe againſt his people, till there was no remedy.

17 Therefore he brought upon them the king of the Chaldees, who ſlew their young men with the ſword in the houſe of their ſanctuary, and had no compaſſion upon young man or maiden, old man, or him that ſtooped for age; he gave them all into his hand.

18 And all the veſſels of the houſe of God, great and ſmall, and the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and the treaſures of the king, and of his princes: all theſe he brought to Babylon.

19 And they burnt the houſe of God, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and deſtroyed all the goodly veſſels thereof.

20 And them that had eſcaped from the ſword carried he away to Babylon, where they were ſervants to him and his ſons, until the reign of the kingdom of Perſia.

21 To fulfil the word of the Lord, by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had enjoyed her ſabbaths: for as long as ſhe lay deſolate ſhe kept ſabbath, to fulfil threeſcore and ten years.

22 Now in the firſt year of Cyrus king of Perſia, (that the word of the Lord ſpoken by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accompliſhed,) the Lord ſtirred up the ſpirit of Cyrus king of Perſia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it alſo in writing, ſaying, 24 And they brought him to Jeruſalem, and he died.) It is ſaid, chap xxxiv. 28, that Joſiah ſhould be gathered to his grave in peace; and therefore it has been aſked, how this promiſe was performed, when he was ſlain in battle? His death was, indeed ſudden and immature; he fell in battle againſt the Egyptians, and yet he may, with great truth, be ſaid to have gone to his grave in peace, becauſe he was recalled from this tranſitory ſcene of things, while his kingdom was in a proſperous condition, before the calamities wherewith it was threatened were come upon it, and while he was himſelf at peace with God. Thus, when the righteous are taken away from the evil to come, though in the ſight of the unwiſe they ſeem to die, and their departure is taken for miſery; yet, in what manner ſoever their exit may be, they may well be ſaid to die in peace, who, after their diſſolution here, are numbered among the children of God, and their lot is among the ſaints.

25 Behold, they are written in the lamentations.) It is plain from hence, that the Jews uſed to make lamentations or mournful ſongs upon the death of great men, and had collections of this kind of compoſition. The author of the book of Samuel has preſerved thoſe that were made upon the death of Saul and Jonathan, of Abner and Abſalom: but this mournful poem, which the diſconſolate prophet made on the immature death of good Joſiah, has not been handed down to us; which is a loſs the more to be deplored, as in all probability, it was a maſter-piece in its kind, ſince there never was an author more affected with his ſubject, or more capable of filling it with all the tender ſentiments of ſorrow and compaſſion.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old.) The Syriac verſion reads properly eighteen years: Dr. Wall's note on this place is—It is a pity that the tranſlators have not mended ſuch apparent errata of the ſcribe of the preſent Hebrew out of 2 Kings xxiv. 8; or out of the LXX; or out of common ſenſe.

15 He had compaſſion on his people, and on his dwelling-place.) To this compaſſion they owed a ſucceſſion of prophets in every king's reign, who earneſtly preſſed them to reform. But the Jews had ſuch a ſtrange propenſity to idolatry, that if they worſhipped the Lord during the reign of a good king, they immediately returned to their old crimes when a bad one aſcended the throne.

23 Thus ſaith Cyrus king of Perſia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord God of heaven given me: and he hath charged me to build him an houſe in Jeruſalem which is in Judah: who is there among you of all his people? the Lord his God be with him, and let him go up.

21 To fulfil threeſcore and ten years.) Theſe years ended in the firſt or ſecond years of Cyrus; but when they began, is not ſo eaſy to determine; ſome will have it that it was in the fourth year of Jehoiakim; for then Jeremiah pronounced the following ſentence, The whole land ſhall be deſolation, and theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon ſeventy years, Jer. xxv. 12. But others fix the beginning of theſe ſeventy years at the captivity of Zedekiah.

22, 23 Now in the firſt year of Cyrus, &c.) Theſe two verſes which conclude the book of Chronicles, begin that of Ezra, where they will be explained.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Book of Ezra, and that of Nehemiah (which are a continuation of the Chronicles) were formerly reckoned by the Hebrews to be but one: accordingly, in the Latin Bibles, they are both inſcribed with the name of Ezra, though they originally belonged to diſtinct authors. The Book of Ezra was written towards the latter end of the author's life, and comprehends the tranſactions of about eighty, or, as ſome ſay, an hundred years. It includes the hiſtory of the Jews, from the time of Cyrus' edict for their return, to the twentieth year of Artaxerxes Longimanus. Part of the book of Ezra, namely, from the eighth verſe of the fourth chapter, to the twenty-ſeventh of the ſeventh chapter, was written in the Chaldee language: all the reſt in Hebrew.

CHAP. I.

1 The proclamation of Cyrus for the building of the temple. 5 The people provide for their return. 7 Cyrus reſtoreth the veſſels of the temple to Sheſhbazzar.

NOW in the firſt year of Cyrus king of Perſia, (that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled,) the Lord ſtirred up the ſpirit of Cyrus king of Perſia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it alſo in writing, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith Cyrus king of Perſia, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an houſe at Jeruſalem, which is in Judah:

3 Who is there among you of all his people? his God be with him and let him go up to Jeruſalem, which is in Judah, and build the houſe of the Lord God of Iſrael (he is the God) which is in Jeruſalem.

4 And whoſoever remaineth in any place where he ſojourneth, let the men of his place help him with ſilver, and with gold, and with goods, and with beaſts beſides the free-will-offering for the houſe of God that is in Jeruſalem.

5 ¶ Then roſe up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the prieſts, and the Levites, with all them whoſe ſpirit God had raiſed to go up to build the houſe of the Lord which is in Jeruſalem.

6 And all they that were about them ſtrengthened their hands with veſſels of ſilver, with gold, with goods, and with beaſts, and with precious things, beſides all that was willingly offered.

7 ¶ Alſo Cyrus the king brought forth the veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Jeruſalem, and had put them in the houſe of his gods;

8 Even thoſe did Cyrus king of Perſia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treaſurer, and numbered them unto Sheſhbazzar the prince of Judah.

9 And this is the number of them: thirty chargers of gold, a thouſand chargers of ſilver, nine and twenty knives.

10 Thirty baſons of gold, ſilver baſons of a ſecond ſort four hundred and ten, and other veſſels a thouſand.

11 All the veſſels of gold and of ſilver were five thouſand and four hundred. All theſe did Sheſhbazzar bring up with them of the captivity that were brought up from Babylon unto Jeruſalem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Now in the firſt year of Cyrus king of Perſia.) This is that famous Cyrus, who an hundred and forty years before the temple was deſtroyed, and two hundred years before he was born, was mentioned by name in the prophecy of Iſaiah, as deſigned by God for the reſtoring his people: Thus ſaith Cyrus, He is my ſhepherd, and ſhall perform all my pleaſure, even ſaying to Jeruſalem, Thou ſhalt be built; and to the temple, Thy foundation ſhall be laid, Iſaiah, xlv. 28. He is alſo mentioned by name, chap. xlv. 1, of the ſame prophecy.

The Lord ſtirred up the ſpirit of Cyrus king of Perſia, that he made a proclamation, &c.) It is highly probable, that this decree in favour of the Jews was, in a great meaſure, owing to the good offices of Daniel. Cyrus, at his firſt coming to Babylon, found him there an old miniſter of ſtate, famed for his great wiſdom over all the Eaſt, and, in many things, for a knowledge ſuperior to the reſt of mankind: and accordingly we find, that he not only employed him as ſuch, but upon ſettling the government of the whole empire, made him firſt ſuperintendant, or prime miniſter of ſtate, over all the provinces of it. In this ſtation of life, Daniel muſt have been a perſon of great authority at court, and highly in the eſteem of his prince; and therefore, as we find him earneſt in his prayer to God for the reſtoration of his people, Dan. ix. we cannot but think, that he would be equally warm in his interceſſions for it with the king. To which purpoſe it is not improbable, that he might ſhew him thoſe paſſages in Iſaiah: written one hundred and fifty years before he was born, which mention him by name, as a great prince, a conqueror, a ruler of many nations, and the reſtorer of his people, by cauſing the temple to be built, and the city of Jeruſalem re-inhabited.

26 The children of Ramah and Gaba, ſix hundred twenty and one.

27 The men of Michmas, an hundred twenty and two.

28 The men of Beth-el and Ai, two hundred twenty and three.

29 The children of Nebo, fifty and two.

30 The children of Magbiſh, an hundred fifty and ſix.

31 The children of the other Elam, a thouſand two hundred fifty and four.

32 The children of Harim, three hundred and twenty.

33 The children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, ſeven hundred twenty and five.

34 The children of Jericho, three hundred forty and five.

35 The children of Senaah, three thouſand and ſix hundred and thirty.

36 The prieſts: the children of Jedaiah, of the houſe of Jeſhua, nine hundred ſeventy and three.

37 The children of Immer, a thouſand fifty and two.

38 The children of Paſhur, a thouſand two hundred forty and ſeven.

39 The children of Harim, a thouſand and ſeventeen.

40 The Levites: the children of Jeſhua and Kadmiel, of the children of Hodaviah, ſeventy and four.

41 The ſingers: of the children of Aſaph an hundred twenty and eight.

43 The Nethinims: the children of Ziha, the children of Haſupha, the children of Tabbaoth,

44 The children of Keros, the children of Siaha, the children of Padon,

45 The children of Lebanah, the children of Hagabah, the children of Akkub,

46 The children of Hagab, the children of Shalmai, the children of Hanan,

47 The children of Giddel, the children of Gahar, the children of Reaiah,

48 The children of Rezin, the children of Nekoda, the children of Gazzam,

49 The children of Uzza, the children of Paſeah, the children of Beſai,

50 The children of Aſnah, the children of Mehunim, the children of Nephuſim.

52 The children of Bazluth, the children of Mehida, the children of Harſha,

53 The children of Barkos, the children of Siſera, the children of Thamah,

56 The children of Jaalah, the children of Darkon, the children of Giddel,

57 The children of Shephatiah, the children of Hattil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of Ami,

58 All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's ſervants, were three hundred ninety and two.

59 And theſe were they which went up from Telmela, Tel-harſa, Cherub, Addan, and Immer: but they could not ſhew their father's houſe, and their ſeed, whether they were of Iſrael:

Commentary on Chap. II.

1 Now theſe are the children of the province. &c.) By the province is undoubtedly meant Judea, as is plain from the parallel place in Eſdras, chap. v. 7. which ſays, Theſe are they of Jewry, that came up from the captivity, &c.

5 The children of Arah, ſeven hundred ſeventy and five.) So many gave then in their names at Babylon, as intending to return into Judea: but it appears, from Nehem. vii. 10, that no more that ſix hundred and fifty-two came thither: the reſt, therefore, either altered their minds, or died by the way. The ſame muſt be obſerved of ſeveral other differences between this account and that in Nehemiah.

55 The children of Solomon's ſervants.) Theſe were a diſtinct people among the Jews; but who they were is uncertain. The moſt probable opinion is, that they were the deſcendants of thoſe who came from the neighbouring nations to aſſiſt Solomon in building the temple; and having embraced the Jewiſh religion, were appropriated to take care of the repairs of that ſtructure.

60 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, ſix hundred ſifty and two.

61 And of the children of the prieſts: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai; (which took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name;)

62 ¶ Theſe ſought their regiſter among thoſe that were reckoned by genealogy, but they were not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the prieſthood.

63 And the Tirſhatha ſaid unto them, that they ſhould not eat of the moſt holy things, till there ſtood up a prieſt with Urim and with Thummim.

64 The whole congregation together was forty and two thouſand three hundred and threeſcore,

65 Beſides their ſervants and their maids, of whom there were ſeven thouſand three hundred thirty and ſeven: and there were among them two hundred ſinging-men and ſinging-women.

66 Their horſes were ſeven hundred thirty and ſix; their mules, two hundred forty and five.

67 Their camels, four hundred thirty and five; their aſſes, ſix thouſand ſeven hundred and twenty.

68 And ſome of the chief of the fathers, when they came to the houſe of the Lord, which is at Jeruſalem, offered freely for the houſe of God to ſet it up in his place:

69 They gave after their ability unto the treaſure of the work, threeſcore and one thouſand drams of gold, and five thouſand pound of ſilver, and one hundred prieſts' garments.

70 So the prieſts, and the Levites, and ſome of the people, and the ſingers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, dwelt in their cities, and all Iſrael in their cities.

CHAP. III.

1 The altar is ſet up. 4 Offerings frequented. 8 The foundations of the temple laid.

AND when the ſeventh month was come, and the children of Iſrael were in the cities the people gathered themſelves together as one man to Jeruſalem.

2 Then ſtood up Jeſhua the ſon of Jozadak, and his brethren the prieſts, and Zerubbabel the ſon Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Iſrael, to offer burnt-offerings thereon, as it is written in the law of Moſes the man of God.

3 And they ſet the altar upon his baſes; for fear was upon them becauſe of the people of thoſe countries: and they offered burnt-offerings thereon unto the Lord, even burnt-offerings morning and evening.

4 ¶ They kept alſo the feaſt of tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt-offerings by number, according to the cuſtom, as the duty of every day required;

5 And afterward offered the continual burnt-offering, both of the new-moons, and of all the ſet feaſts of the Lord that were conſecrated, and of every one that willingly offered a free-will-offering unto the Lord.

6 From the firſt day of the ſeventh month began they to offer burnt-offerings unto the Lord: but the foundation of the temple of the Lord was not yet laid.

7 They gave money alſo unto the maſons, and to the carpenters; and meat, and drink, and oil unto them of Zidon, and to them of Tyre, to bring cedar-trees from Lebanon to the ſea of Joppa; according to the grant that they had of Cyrus king of Perſia.

8 ¶ Now in the ſecond year of their coming unto the houſe of God at Jeruſalem, in the ſecond month, began Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel, and Jeſhua the ſon of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the prieſts and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jeruſalem; and appointed the Levites, from twenty years old and upwards, to ſet forward the work of the houſe of the Lord.

9 Then ſtood Jeſhua with his ſons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his ſons, the ſons of Judah together, to ſet forward the workmen in the houſe of God: the ſons of Henadad, with their ſons and their brethren the Levites.

10 And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the Lord, they ſet the prieſts in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the ſons of Aſaph with cymbals, to praiſe the Lord, after the ordinance of David king of Iſrael.

11 And they ſang together by courſe, in praiſing and giving thanks unto the Lord; becauſe he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Iſrael. And all the people ſhouted with a great ſhout when they praiſed the Lord, becauſe the foundation of the houſe of the Lord was laid.

12 But many of the prieſts and Levites, and chief of the fathers, who were ancient men that had ſeen the firſt houſe, when the foundation of this houſe was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many ſhouted aloud for joy;

13 So that the people could not diſcern the noiſe of the ſhout of joy from the noiſe of the weeping of the people: for the people ſhouted with a loud ſhout, and the noiſe was heard afar off.

CHAP. IV.

1 The building hindered. 7 The letter to Artaxerxes. 17 His decree.

NOW when the adverſaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity builded the temple unto the Lord God of Iſrael,

2 Then they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chief of the fathers, and ſaid unto them, Let us build with you; for we ſeek your God as ye do; and we do ſacrifice unto him, ſince the days of Eſar-haddon king of Aſſur, which brought us up hither.

3 But Zerubbabel, and Jeſhua, and the reſt of the chief of the fathers of Iſrael, ſaid unto them, Ye have 63 Till there ſtood up a prieſt with Urim and Thummim.) Till the Lord himſelf ſhould decide, by means of ſuch a high prieſt as there was in the firſt temple, whether they were the ſons of Aaron or not. Hence we may obſerve, that the Urim and Thummim were either loſt or burnt with the temple; and whether they were ever after reſtored, as the ſcriptures are ſilent, is therefore impoſſible to be known. But, however this be, it is more than probable that this, together with the other kinds of prophecy, and the many extraordinary tokens of God's power and preſence, ceaſed with that generation which returned from captivity, on immediately after the finiſhing of the ſecond temple: as if God had appointed that long interval of time for a faſt, or vigil, as an introduction to the fulneſs of time, when God would pour out his ſpirit upon all fleſh, upon the Gentile as well as the Jew; to teach the Iſraelites, that he was not their God alone, but alſo of the Gentiles.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

12 But many of the prieſts and Levites---who were ancient men that had ſeen the firſt houſe---wept with with a loud voice, and many ſhouted aloud for joy.) The young people ſhouted for joy, while the old men wept aloud: for though the temple was intended to be built as large as the former, yet there were not ſuch goodly ſtones for laying the foundations as in that built by Solomon; nor could they hope to finiſh it in ſo magnificent a manner. The Shechinah, or Divine Appearance, together with a prieſt with Urim and Thummim, were alſo wanting. But notwithſtanding all this, they ought ſo have been thankful to God for the liberty of worſhipping him in the beauty of holineſs, and again enjoying their own land.

nothing to do with us to build an houſe unto our God; but we ourſelves together will build unto the Lord God of Iſrael, as king Cyrus, the king of Perſia hath commanded us.

4 Then the people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah, and troubled them in building;

5 And hired counſellors againſt them, to fruſtrate their purpoſe, all the days of Cyrus king of Perſia, even until the reign of Darius king of Perſia.

6 And in the reign of Ahaſuerus, in the beginning of his reign, wrote they unto him an accuſation againſt the inhabitants of Judah and Jeruſalem.

7 ¶ And in the days of Artaxerxes wrote Biſhlam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the reſt of their companions, unto Artaxerxes king of Perſia; and the writing of the letter was written in the Syrian tongue, and interpreted in the Syrian tongue.

8 Rehum the chancellor, and Shimſhai the ſcribe, wrote a letter againſt Jeruſalem to Artaxerxes the king, in this ſort:

9 Then wrote Rehum the chancellor, and Shimſhai the ſcribe, and the reſt of their companions; the Dinaites, the Apharſathchites, the Tarpelites, the Apharſites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the Suſanchites, the Dehâvites, and the Elamites

10 And the reſt of the nations whom the great and noble Aſnappar brought over, and ſet in the cities of Samaria, and the reſt that are on this ſide the river, and at ſuch a time.

11 This is the copy of the letter that they ſent unto him, even unto Artaxerxes the king; Thy ſervants, the men on this ſide the river, and at ſuch a time.

12 Be it known unto the king, that the Jews which came up from thee to us, are come unto Jeruſalem, building the rebellious and the bad city, and have ſet up the walls thereof, and joined the foundations.

13 Be it known now unto the king, that if this city be builded, and the walls ſet up again, then will they not pay toll, tribute, and cuſtom, and ſo thou ſhalt endamage the revenue of the kings.

14 Now, becauſe we have maintenance from the king's palace, and it was not meet for us to ſee the king's diſhonour; therefore have we ſent and certified the king,

15 That ſearch may be made in the book of the records of thy fathers: ſo ſhalt thou find in the book of the records, and know, that this city is a rebellious city, and hurtful unto kings and provinces, and that they have moved ſedition within the ſame of old time; for which cauſe was this city deſtroyed.

16 We certify the king, that if this city be builded again, and the walls thereof ſet up, by this means thou ſhalt have no portion on this ſide the river.

17 ¶ Then ſent the king an anſwer unto Rehum the chancellor, and to Shimſhai the ſcribe, and to the reſt of their companions that dwell in Samaria, and unto the reſt beyond the river, Peace, and at ſuch a time.

18 The letter which ye ſent unto us hath been plainly read before me.

19 And I commanded, and ſearch hath been made, and it is found, that this city of old time hath made inſurrection againſt kings, and that rebellion and ſedition have been made therein.

20 There have been mighty kings alſo over Jeruſalem, which have ruled over all countries beyond the river: and toll, tribute, and cuſtom, was paid unto them.

21 Give ye now commandment to cauſe theſe men to ceaſe, and that this city be not builded, until another commandment ſhall be given from me.

22 Take heed now that ye fail not to do this: why ſhould damage grow to the hurt of the kings?

23 Now, when the copy of king Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, and Shimſhai the ſcribe, and their companions, they went up in haſte to Jeruſalem, unto the Jews, and made them to ceaſe by force and power.

24 Then ceaſed the work of the houſe of God, which is at Jeruſalem. So it ceaſed unto the ſecond year of the reign of Darius king of Perſia.

CHAP. V.

Zerubbabel and Jeſhua ſet forward the building of the temple.

THEN the prophets, Haggai the prophet, and Zechariah, the ſon of Iddo, propheſied unto the Jews that were in Judah and Jeruſalem, in the name of the God of Iſrael, even unto them.

2 Then roſe up Zerubbabel, the ſon of Shealtiel, and Jeſhua, the ſon of Jozadak, and began to build the houſe of God which is at Jeruſalem: and with them were the prophets of God helping them.

3 At the ſame time came to them Tatnai governor on this ſide the river, and Shethar-boznai, and their companions, and ſaid thus unto them, Who hath commanded you to build this houſe, and to make up this wall?

4 Then ſaid we unto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that make this building?

5 But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, that they could not cauſe them to ceaſe, till the matter came to Darius: and then they returned anſwer by letter concerning this matter.

6 The copy of the letter that Tatnai, governor on this ſide the river, and Shethar-boznai, and his companions the Apharſachites, which were on this ſide the river, ſent unto Darius the king:

7 They ſent a letter unto him, wherein was written thus: Unto Darius the king, all peace.

8 Be it known unto the king, that we went into the province of Judea, to the houſe of the great God, which is builded with great ſtones, and timber is laid in the walls, and this work goeth faſt on, and proſpereth in their hands.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

3 You have nothing to do with us, to build an houſe unto our God.) They well knew, that though from the time they had been infeſted with lions, in the days of Eſarhaddon, they had worſhipped the God of Iſrael, yet it was only in conjunction with their other gods, whom they worſhipped before; and therefore, notwithſtanding their worſhip of the true God, ſince they alſo worſhipped falſe gods at the ſame time, they were idolaters, which was a ſufficient reaſon why the true worſhippers of God refuſed to have any communion with them.

10 Whom the great and noble Aſnappar, &c.) Some ſuppoſe that the word Aſnappar is another name either for Salmanaſſer or Eſarhaddon, who ſent theſe colonies hither. But it is more reaſonable to ſuppoſe that he was ſome principal commander, who was intruſted by one or both thoſe kings to conduct them over the Euphrates, and ſee them ſettled in thoſe countries.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

4 Then ſaid we unto them, &c.) From theſe words it has been thought that Ezra was not the author of this book, becauſe, ſay they, the writer ſeems to have been preſent at this tranſaction; whereas Ezra did not come to Jeruſalem till the ſeventh year of Artaxerxes Longimanus chap. vii. 2. But if we conſider theſe words as ſpoken in the name of the Jews in general, the difficulty will be removed.

9 Then

9 Then aſked we thoſe elders, and ſaid unto them thus, Who commanded you to build this houſe, and to make up theſe walls?

10 We aſked their names alſo, to certify thee, that we might write the names of the men that were the chief of them.

11 And thus they returned us anſwer, ſaying, We are the ſervants of the God of heaven and earth, and build the houſe that was builded theſe many years ago, which a great king of Iſrael builded and ſet up.

12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heaven unto wrath, he gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who deſtroyed this houſe, and carried the people away into Babylon.

13 But in the firſt year of Cyrus the king of Babylon, the ſame king Cyrus made a decree to build this houſe of God.

14 And the veſſels alſo of gold and ſilver of the houſe of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took out of the temple that was in Jeruſalem, and brought them into the temple of Babylon, thoſe did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered unto one whoſe name was Sheſhbazzar, whom he had made governor:

15 And ſaid unto him, Take theſe veſſels, go, carry them into the temple that is in Jeruſalem, and let the houſe of God be builded in his place.

16 Then came the ſame Sheſhbazzar, and laid the foundation of the houſe of God which is in Jeruſalem: and ſince that time even until now, hath it been in building, and yet it is not finiſhed.

17 Now, therefore, if it ſeem good to the king, let there be ſearch made in the king's treaſure-houſe, which is there at Babylon, whether it be ſo, that a decree was made of Cyrus the king to build this houſe of God at Jeruſalem, and let the king ſend his pleaſure to us concerning this matter.

CHAP. VI.

1 Darius advanceth the building. 13 The temple is finiſhed. 16 The feaſt of the dedication is kept, 19 and the paſſover.

THEN Darius the king made a decree, and ſearch was made in the houſe of the rolls, where the treaſures were laid up in Babylon.

2 And there was found at Achmetha, in the palace that is in the province of the Medes, a roll, and therein was a record thus written:

3 In the firſt year of Cyrus the king, the ſame Cyrus the king made a decree concerning the houſe of God at Jeruſalem, Let the houſe be builded, the place where they offered ſacrifices, and let the foundations thereof be ſtrongly laid: the height thereof threeſcore cubits, and the breadth thereof threeſcore cubits:

4 With three rows of great ſtones, and a row of new timber: and let the expences be given out of the king's houſe.

5 And alſo let the golden and ſilver veſſels of the houſe of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took forth out of the temple which is at Jeruſalem, and brought unto Babylon, be reſtored, and brought again unto the temple which is at Jeruſalem, every one to his place, and place them in the houſe of God.

6 Now therefore, Tatnai governor beyond the river, Shethar-boznai, and your companions the Apharſachites, which are beyond the river, be ye far from thence.

7 Let the work of this houſe of God alone: let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this houſe of God in his place.

8 Moreover, I make a decree what ye ſhall do to the elders of theſe Jews for the building of this houſe of God; that of the king's goods, even of the tribute beyond the river, forthwith expences be given unto theſe men, that they be not hindered.

9 And that which they have need of, both young bullocks, and rams, and lambs, for the burnt-offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, ſalt, wine, and oil, according to the appointment of the prieſts which are at Jeruſalem, let it be given them day by day without fail:

10 That they may offer ſacrifices of ſweet ſavours unto the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king, and of his ſons.

11 Alſo I have made a decree, that whoſoever ſhall alter this word, let timber be pulled down from his houſe, and being ſet up, let him be hanged thereon: and let his houſe be made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath cauſed his name to dwell there, deſtroy all kings and people that ſhall put to their hand to alter and to deſtroy this houſe of God which is at Jeruſalem. I Darius have made a decree; let it be done with ſpeed.

13 ¶ Then Tatnai governor on this ſide the river, Shethar-boznai, and their companions, according to that which Darius the king had ſent, ſo they did ſpeedily.

14 And the elders of the Jews builded, and they proſpered through the propheſying of Haggai the prophet, and Zechariah the ſon of Iddo. And they builded, and finiſhed it, according to the commandment of the God of Iſrael, and according to the commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Perſia.

15 And this houſe was finiſhed on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the ſixth year of the reign of Darius the king.

16 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, the prieſts and the Levites, and the reſt of the children of the captivity, kept the dedication of this houſe of God with joy.

17 And offered at the dedication of this houſe of God an hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; and for a ſin-offering for all Iſrael, twelve he-goats, according to the number of the tribes of Iſrael.

18 And they ſet the prieſts in their diviſions, and the Levites in their courſes, for the ſervice of God which is at Jeruſalem; as it is written in the book of Moſes.

19 ¶ And the children of the captivity kept the paſſover upon the fourteenth day of the firſt month.

20 For the prieſts and the Levites were purified together, all of them were pure, and killed the paſſover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the prieſts, and for themſelves.

21 And the children of Iſrael which were come

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

2 And there was found at Achmetha, &c.) This city was afterwards called Ecbatana, where the kings of Perſia often kept their court. It is plain from hence, that Darius was a prince of great goodneſs; for though he ſearched in vain the records at Babylon, he did not decree any thing againſt the Jews; but ordered a further ſearch to be made at Achmetha, where the roll, containing the decree of Cyrus in favour of the Jews, was found.

16 And the children of Iſrael, the prieſts, and the Levites, &c.) By the children of Iſrael are to be underſtood not only the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin, but all thoſe of the other tribes, great numbers of whom were now at Jeruſalem, again out of captivity, and all ſuch as had ſeparated themſelves unto them, from the filthineſs of the heathen of the land, to ſeek the Lord God of Iſrael did eat,

22 And kept the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven days with joy: for the Lord had made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Aſſyria unto them, to ſtrengthen their hands in the work of the houſe of God, the God of Iſrael.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ezra goeth up to Jeruſalem. 11 The commiſſion of Artaxerxes. 27 God praiſed.

NOW after theſe things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Perſia, Ezra, the ſon of Seraiah, the ſon of Azariah, the ſon of Hilkiah,

2 The ſon of Shallum, the ſon of Zadok, the ſon of Ahitub,

3 The ſon of Amariah, the ſon of Azariah, the ſon of Meraioth,

4 The ſon of Zerahiah, the ſon of Uzzi, the ſon of Bukki,

5 The ſon of Abiſhua, the ſon of Phinehas, the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the chief prieſt:

6 This Ezra went up from Babylon, and he was a ready ſcribe in the law of Moſes, which the Lord God of Iſrael had given: and the king granted him all his requeſt, according to the hand of the Lord his God upon him.

7 And there went up ſome of the children of Iſrael, and of the prieſts, and the Levites, and the ſingers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, unto Jeruſalem, in the ſeventh year of Artaxerxes the king.

8 And he came to Jeruſalem in the fifth month, which was in the ſeventh year of the king.

9 For upon the firſt day of the firſt month began he to go up from Babylon, and on the firſt day of the fifth month, came he to Jeruſalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to ſeek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Iſrael ſtatutes and judgments.

11 ¶ Now this is the copy of the letter that the king Artaxerxes gave unto Ezra the prieſt, the ſcribe, even a ſcribe of the words of the commandments of the Lord, and of his ſtatutes to Iſrael.

12 Artaxerxes king of kings; Unto Ezra the prieſt, a ſcribe of the law of the God of heaven, perfect peace, and at ſuch a time.

13 I make a decree, that all they of the people of Iſrael, and of his prieſts and Levites, in my realm, which are minded of their own free will to go up to Jeruſalem, go with thee.

14 Foraſmuch as thou art ſent of the king, and of his ſeven counſellors, to enquire concerning Judah and Jeruſalem, according to the law of thy God which is in thine hand;

15 And to carry the ſilver and gold, which the king and his counſellors have freely offered unto the God of Iſrael, whoſe habitation is in Jeruſalem;

16 And all the ſilver and gold that thou canſt find in all the province of Babylon, with the free-will-offering of the people, and of the prieſts, offering willingly for the houſe of their God which is in Jeruſalem:

17 That thou mayeſt buy ſpeedily with this money, bullocks, rams, lambs, with their meat-offerings, and their drink-offerings, and offer them upon the altar of the houſe of your God which is in Jeruſalem.

18 And whatſoever ſhall ſeem good to thee, and to thy brethren, to do with the reſt of the ſilver and gold, that do after the will of your God.

19 The veſſels alſo that are given thee for the ſervice of the houſe of thy God, thoſe deliver thou before the God of Jeruſalem.

20 And whatſoever more ſhall be needful for the houſe of thy God, which thou ſhalt have occaſion to beſtow, beſtow it out of the king's treaſure-houſe.

21 And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treaſurers which are beyond the river, that whatſoever Ezra the prieſt, the ſcribe of the law of the God of heaven, ſhall require of you, it be done ſpeedily.

22 Unto an hundred talents of ſilver, and to an hundred meaſures of wheat, and to an hundred baths of wine, and to an hundred baths of oil, and ſalt without preſcribing how much.

23 Whatſoever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it be diligently done for the houſe of the God of heaven: for why ſhould there be wrath againſt the realm of the king and his ſons?

24 Alſo we certify you, that, touching any of the prieſts and Levites, ſingers, porters, Nethinims, or miniſters of this houſe of God, it ſhall not be lawful to impoſe toll, tribute, or cuſtom, upon them.

25 And thou Ezra, after the wiſdom of thy God that is in thine hand, ſet magiſtrates and judges, which may judge all the people that are beyond the rivers, all ſuch as know the laws of thy God; and teach ye them that know them not.

26 And whoſoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king, let judgment be executed ſpeedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or to baniſhment, or to confiſcation of goods, or to impriſonment.

27 Bleſſed be the Lord God of our fathers, which hath put ſuch a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the houſe of the Lord which is in Jeruſalem;

28 And hath extended mercy unto me before the king and his counſellors, and before all the king's mighty princes: and I was ſtrengthened as the hand of the Lord my God was upon me; and I gathered together out of Iſrael chief men to go up with me.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Ezra's companions from Babylon. 15 He ſendeth to Iddo for miniſters for the temple. 21 He keepeth a faſt.

THESE are now the chief of their fathers, and this is the genealogy of them that went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of Artaxerxes the king.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

6 Ezra---was a ready ſcribe in the law of Moſes.) It muſt not be ſuppoſed, that by the words ready ſcribe, Ezra was remarkable for being very expeditious in copying or tranſcribing the law; but for explaining the things it contained. For as the word Sepher ſignifies a book, ſo Sopher denotes one ſkilled in that book; and as there was no book comparable to the book of the law, therefore Sopher became a name of great dignity, and ſignified one that taught God's law, and inſtructed the people out of it, in which ſenſe we find the word ſcribes uſed in the New Teſtament: for when our Saviour is ſaid to have taught the people, as one having authority, and not as the ſcribes, we are plainly given to underſtand, that theſe ſcribes were not tranſcribers, but teachers and expounders of the law, though they did not do it with proper authority.

24 Touching any of the prieſts and Levites, &c.) That they who watched and prayed for the public good, might be freed from all other cares.

of Ithamar; Daniel: of the ſons of David; Hattuſh:
3 Of the ſons of Shechaniah, of the ſons of Pharoſh; Zechariah: and with him were reckoned by genealogy of the males an hundred and fifty.
4 Of the ſons of Phath-moab; Elihoenai, the ſon of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males.
5 Of the ſons of Shechaniah; the ſon of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.
6 Of the ſons alſo of Adin; Ebed the ſon of Jonathan, and with him fifty males.
7 And of the ſons of Elam; Jeſhaiah the ſon of Athaliah, and with him ſeventy males.
8 And of the ſons of Shephatiah; Zebadiah the ſon of Michael, and with him fourſcore males.
9 Of the ſons of Joab; Obadiah the ſon of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males.
10 And of the ſons of Shelomith; the ſon of Joſiphiah, and with him an hundred and threeſcore males.
11 And of the ſons of Bebai: Zechariah the ſon of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight males.
12 And of the ſons of Azgad; Johanan the ſon of Hakkatan, and with him an hundred and ten males.
13 And of the laſt ſons of Adonikam, whoſe names are theſe, Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah, and with them threeſcore males.
14 Of the ſons alſo of Bigvai; Uthai, and Zabbud, and with them ſeventy males.
15 ¶ And I gathered them together to the river that runneth to Ahava; and there abode we in tents three days, and I viewed the people, and the prieſts, and found there none of the ſons of Levi.
16 Then ſent I for Eliezer, for Ariel, for Shemaiah, and for Elnathan, and for Jarib, and for Elnathan, and for Nathan, and for Zechariah, and for Meſhullam, chief men; alſo for Joiarib, and for Elnathan, men of underſtanding.
17 And I ſent them with commandment unto Iddo the chief, at the place Caſiphia, and I told them what they ſhould ſay unto Iddo, and to his brethren the Nethinims, at the place Caſiphia, that they ſhould bring unto us miniſters for the houſe of our God.
18 And by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a man of underſtanding, of the ſons of Mahli, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Iſrael, and Sherebiah, with his ſons and his brethren, eighteen;
19 And Haſhabiah, and with him Jeſhaiah, of the ſons of Merari, his brethren and their ſons, twenty;
20 Alſo of the Nethinims, whom David and the princes had appointed for the ſervice of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinims: all of them were expreſſed by name.
21 ¶ Then I proclaimed a faſt there, at the river of Ahava, that we might afflict ourſelves before our God, to ſeek of him a right way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our ſubſtance.
22 For I was aſhamed to require of the king a band of ſoldiers and horſemen to help us againſt the enemy in the way: becauſe we had ſpoken unto the king, ſaying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that ſeek him; but his power and his wrath is againſt all them that forſake him.
23 So we faſted, and beſought our God for this; and he was entreated of us.
24 Then I ſeparated twelve of the chief of the prieſts, Sherebiah, Haſhabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,
25 And weighed unto them the ſilver and the gold, and the veſſels, even the offering of the houſe of our God, which the king and his counſellors, and his lords, and all Iſrael there preſent, had offered;
26 I even weighed unto their hand ſix hundred and fifty talents of ſilver, and ſilver veſſels an hundred talents, and of gold, an hundred talents;
27 Alſo twenty baſons of gold, of a thouſand drams, and two veſſels of fine copper, precious as gold.
28 And I ſaid unto them, Ye are holy unto the Lord; the veſſels are holy alſo; and the ſilver and the gold are a free-will-offering unto the Lord God of your fathers:
29 Watch ye, and keep them, until ye weigh them before the chief of the prieſts and the Levites, and chief of the fathers of Iſrael, at Jeruſalem, in the chambers of the houſe of the Lord.
30 So took the prieſts and the Levites, the weight of the ſilver and the gold, and the veſſels, to bring them to Jeruſalem, unto the houſe of our God.
31 Then we departed from the river of Ahava, on the twelfth day of the firſt month, to go unto Jeruſalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of ſuch as lay in wait by the way.
32 And we came to Jeruſalem and abode there three days.
33 Now on the fourth day was the ſilver and the gold, and the veſſels, weighed in the houſe of our God by the hand of Meremoth, the ſon of Uriah the prieſt; and with him was Eleazar, the ſon of Phinehas; and with them was Jozabad, the ſon of Jeſhua, and Noadiah, the ſon of Binnui, Levites;
34 By number and by weight of every one. And all the weight was written at that time.
35 Alſo the children of thoſe that had been carried away, which were come out of the captivity, offered burnt-offerings unto the God of Iſrael, twelve bullocks for all Iſrael, ninety and ſix rams, ſeventy and ſeven lambs, twelve he-goats for a ſin-offering: all this was a burnt-offering unto the Lord.
36 And they delivered the king's commiſſions unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors on this ſide the river: and they furthered the people and the houſe of God.

Commentary on Chap. VIII.

15 And I gathered them together to the river that runneth to Ahava.) It was common for thoſe who travelled from Babylon to Jeruſalem, in order to avoid the ſcorching heat in the deſerts of Arabia, to direct their courſe firſt to the northward; and then turning to the weſtward, to paſs through Syria into Paleſtine: but Ezra had a further reaſon for taking this rout; for as he intended to aſſemble as many Iſraelites as poſſible, and carry them with him to Jeruſalem, he paſſed through this country, and halted in that of Ava, or Ahava, from whence he might ſend meſſengers to the Caſpian mountains, in order to invite ſuch Jews as reſided there to join their brethren, now on their journey to their own land.

21 Then I proclaimed a faſt, &c.) This they had great reaſon to do, becauſe they carried with them things of conſiderable value, were apprehenſive of enemies who laid in wait for them, and were aſhamed to aſk any guard of the king: who, not being inſtructed in divine matters, might poſſibly think that what they had ſaid of the favour of God towards them, and the prophecies concerning their reſtoration, were only empty boaſts, in caſe they diſtruſted his power and favour, by making application to the king for his protection. They were therefore determined, rather than give any umbrage of that kind, to commit themſelves entirely to God; but then it was neceſſary that they ſhould implore that favour of him, which they could not without giving offence, requeſt of the king.

prieſts and the Levites have not ſeparated themſelves from the people of the lands, doing according to their abominations, even of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebuſites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themſelves, and for their ſons; ſo that the holy ſeed have mingled themſelves with the people of thoſe lands: yea, the hand of the princes and rulers hath been chief in this treſpaſs.

3 And when I heard this thing, I rent my garment and my mantle, and plucked off the hair of my head and of my beard, and ſat down aſtoniſhed.

4 Then were aſſembled unto me every one that trembled at the words of the God of Iſrael, becauſe of the tranſgreſſion of thoſe that had been carried away: and I ſat aſtoniſhed until the evening ſacrifice.

5 ¶ And at the evening ſacrifice I aroſe up from my heavineſs; and having rent my garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and ſpread out my hands unto the Lord my God.

6 And ſaid, O my God, I am aſhamed and bluſh to lift up my face to thee, my God; for our iniquities are increaſed over our head, and our treſpaſs is grown up unto the heavens.

7 Since the days of our fathers have we been in a great treſpaſs unto this day; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our prieſts been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the ſword, to captivity, and to a ſpoil, and to confuſion of face, as it is this day.

8 And now for a little ſpace grace hath been ſhewed from the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant to eſcape, and to give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reviving in our bondage.

9 For we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forſaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the ſight of the kings of Perſia, to give us a reviving, to ſet up the houſe of our God, and to repair the deſolations thereof, and to give us a wall in Judah and in Jeruſalem.

10 And now, O our God, what ſhall we ſay after this! for we have forſaken thy commandments,

11 Which thou haſt commanded by thy ſervants the prophets, ſaying, The land unto which ye go to poſſeſs it, is an unclean land with the filthineſs of the people of the lands, with their abominations, which have filled it from one end to another with their uncleanneſs.

12 Now therefore give not your daughters unto their ſons, neither take their daughters unto your ſons, nor ſeek their peace or their wealth for ever: that ye may be ſtrong, and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

13 And after all that is come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great treſpaſs, ſeeing that thou our God haſt puniſhed leſs than our iniquities deſerve, and haſt given us ſuch deliverance as this;

14 Should we again break thy commandments, and join in affinity with the people of theſe abominations? wouldeſt not thou be angry with us, till thou hadſt conſumed us, ſo that there ſhould be no remnant nor eſcaping?

15 O Lord God of Iſrael, thou art righteous: for we remain yet eſcaped, as it is this day: behold, we are before thee in our treſpaſſes: for we cannot ſtand before thee becauſe of this.

CHAP. X.

1 Shechaniah encourageth Ezra to reform the ſtrange marriages. 6 Ezra mourning, aſſembleth the people. 9 The people at the exhortation of Ezra, repent, and promiſe amendment. 18 The names of them which had married ſtrange wives.

NOW when Ezra had prayed, and when he had confeſſed, weeping and caſting himſelf down before the houſe of God, there aſſembled unto him out of Iſrael a very great congregation of men, and women, and children: for the people wept very ſore.

2 And Shechaniah, the ſon of Jehiel, one of the ſons of Elam, anſwered and ſaid unto Ezra, We have treſpaſſed againſt our God, and have taken ſtrange wives of the people of the land: yet now there is hope in Iſrael concerning this thing.

3 Now, therefore, let us make a covenant with our God to put away all the wives, and ſuch as are born of them, according to the counſel of my lord, and of thoſe that tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law.

4 Ariſe; for this matter belongeth unto thee: we alſo will be with thee: be of good courage, and do it.

5 Then aroſe Ezra, and made the chief prieſts, and the Levites, and all Iſrael, to ſwear that they ſhould do according to this word: and they ſware.

6 ¶ Then Ezra roſe up from before the houſe of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan, the ſon of Eliaſhib; and when he came thither he did eat no bread, nor drink water: for he mourned becauſe of the tranſgreſſion of them that had been carried away.

7 And they made proclamation throughout Judah and Jeruſalem unto all the children of the captivity, that they ſhould gather themſelves together unto Jeruſalem:

8 And that whoſoever would not come within three days, according to the counſel of the princes and the elders, all his ſubſtance ſhould be forfeited, and himſelf ſeparated from the congregation of thoſe that had been carried away.

9 ¶ Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered themſelves together unto Jeruſalem within three days: it was the ninth month, and the twentieth day of the month; and all the people ſat in the ſtreet of the

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

8 And to give us a nail in his holy place.) It is well known, that tents are faſtened to the ground by nails or pins: and that the ark, during the ſojourning of the children of Iſrael in the wilderneſs, and even after they were ſettled in Canaan, till the building of the temple, remained in a tent or tabernacle: and therefore the true meaning of the expreſſion is, that God had given them a ſetled abode, after a long captivity.

9 And to give us a wall in Judah and Jeruſalem.) The Hebrew word gedar, which we here render a wall, ſignifies alſo a hedge or fence, ſuch as were uſually made for the folds of ſheep, and ſhould have been ſo tranſlated; for the wall of Jeruſalem was now broken down, and the gate thereof burnt with fire. Ezra uſes it to expreſs the ſingular care of God, who being the ſhepherd of Iſrael, had gathered together his ſcattered flock, and brought them back into their ancient folds; in which he preſerved them even when they had no wall for their defence, under the powerful protection of the king of Perſia.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 Now when Ezra had prayed, &c.) As this prayer was made at the evening ſacrifice, when the greateſt part of the people were aſſembled to worſhip the Lord, and as it was uttered with great paſſion, and the higheſt expreſſions of grief and ſorrow, it is no wonder that the people were greatly moved; eſpecially to ſee ſuch a perſon as Ezra, a prieſt of God, and a great ruler under the king of Perſia, ſo dejected, full of fear, confuſion and aſtoniſhment.

houſe of God, trembling becauſe of this matter, and for the great rain.

10 And Ezra the prieſt ſtood up, and ſaid unto them, Ye have tranſgreſſed, and have taken ſtrange wives to increaſe the treſpaſs of Iſrael.

11 Now, therefore, make confeſſion unto the Lord God of your fathers, and do his pleaſure, and ſeparate yourſelves from the people of the land, and from the ſtrange wives.

12 Then all the congregation anſwered and ſaid with a loud voice, As thou haſt ſaid ſo muſt we do.

13 But the people are many, and it is a time of much rain, and we are not able to ſtand without, neither is this a work of one day or two: for we are many that have tranſgreſſed in this thing.

14 Let now our rulers of all the congregation ſtand, and let all them which have taken ſtrange wives in our cities come at appointed times, and with them the elders of every city, and the judges thereof, until the fierce wrath of our God for this matter be turned from us.

15 Only Jonathan the ſon of Aſahel, and Jahaziah, the ſon of Tikvah, were employed about this matter; and Meſhullam, and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.

16 And the children of the captivity did ſo. And Ezra the prieſt, with certain chief of the fathers, after the houſe of their fathers, and all of them by their names, were ſeparated, and ſat down in the firſt day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken ſtrange wives by the firſt day of the firſt month.

18 ¶ And among the ſons of the prieſts there were found that had taken ſtrange wives; namely, of the ſons of Jeſhua, the ſon of Jozadak, and his brethren; Maaſeiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they gave their hands that they would put away their wives; and, being guilty they offered a ram of the flock for their treſpaſs.

20 And of the ſons of Immer; Hanani, and Zebadiah.

21 And of the ſons of Harim; Maaſeiah, and Elijah, and Shemaiah, and Jehiel, and Uzziah.

22 And of the ſons of Paſhur; Elioenai, Maaſeiah, Iſhmael, Nethaneel, Jozabad, and Elaſah.

23 Alſo of the Levites; Jozabad and Shimei, and Kelaiah, (the ſame is Kelita) Pethaiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

24 Of the ſingers alſo; Eliaſhib: and of the porters; Shallum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 Moreover, of Iſrael: of the ſons of Paroſh; Ramiah, and Jeziaa, and Malchiah, and Miamin, and Eleazar, and Malchijah, and Benaiah.

26 And of the ſons of Elam; Mattaniah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jerimoth, and Eliah.

27 And of the ſons of Zattu; Elioenai, Eliaſhib, Mattaniah, and Jeremoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.

28 Of the ſons alſo of Bebai; Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.

29 And of the ſons of Bani; Meſhullam, Malluch, and Adaiah, Jaſhob, and Sheal, and Ramoth.

30 And of the ſons of Pahath-moab; Adna, and Chelal, Benaiah, Maaſeiah, Mattaniah, Bezaleel, and Binnui, and Manaſſeh.

31 And of the ſons of Harim; Eliezer, Iſhijah, Malchiah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah,

33 Of the ſons of Haſhum; Mattenai, Mattathah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manaſſeh, and Shimei.

34 Of the ſons of Bani; Maadai, Amram, and Uel,

35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, Chellum,

36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliaſhib,

37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaaſau,

38 And Bani, and Binnui, Shimei,

39 And Shelemiah, and Nathan, and Adaiah,

40 Machnadebai, Shaſhai, Sharai,

41 Azareel, and Shelemiah, Shemariah,

42 Shallum, Amariah, and Joſeph.

43 Of the ſons of Nebo; Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jadau, and Joel, Benaiah.

44 All theſe had taken ſtrange wives: and ſome of them had wives by whom they had children.

44 All theſe had taken ſtrange wives.) The number is not very great, if compared with all that came out of captivity; but they ſeem to have been eminent perſons, and their example would doubtleſs have ſpread the contagion, if a ſpeedy ſtop had not been put to this evil.

THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

That Nehemiah was the author of this book, there is no reaſonable doubt. He was advanced in Babylon to be cup-bearer to the king of Perſia, from whom he obtained leave to return to Judea for twelve years, in order to rebuild the city of Jeruſalem. He here continues the hiſtory of Ezra, from the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, to the reign of Darius Nothus, in all about forty years.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiah underſtanding by Hanani the miſery of Jeruſalem, mourneth, faſteth, and prayeth. 5 His prayer.

THE words of Nehemiah the ſon of Hachaliah. And it came to paſs in the month Chiſleu, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shuſhan the palace,

2 That Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and certain men of Judah; and I aſked them concerning the Jews that had eſcaped, which were left of the captivity, and concerning Jeruſalem.

3 And they ſaid unto me, The remnant that are left of the captivity there in the province are in great affliction and reproach, the wall of Jeruſalem alſo is broken down, and the gates thereof are burned with fire.

4 And it came to paſs when I heard theſe words, that I ſat down and wept, and mourned certain days, and faſted, and prayed before the God of heaven,

5 ¶ And ſaid, I beſeech thee, O Lord God of heaven, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that love him and obſerve his commandments.

6 Let thine ear now be attentive, and thine eyes open, that thou mayeſt hear the prayer of thy ſervant, which I pray before thee now day and night for the children of Iſrael thy ſervants, and confeſs the ſins of the children of Iſrael, which we have ſinned againſt thee: both I and my father's houſe have ſinned.

7 We have dealt very corruptly againſt thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the ſtatutes, nor the judgements, which thou commandedſt thy ſervant Moſes.

8 Remember, I beſeech thee, the word that thou commandedſt thy ſervant Moſes, ſaying, If ye tranſgreſs, I will ſcatter you abroad among the nations:

9 But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments and do them: though there were of you caſt out unto the uttermoſt part of the heaven, yet will I gather them from thence, and will bring them unto the place that I have choſen to ſet my name there.

10 Now theſe are thy ſervants and thy people, whom thou haſt redeemed by thy great power and by thy ſtrong hand.

11 O Lord, I beſeech thee, let now thine ear be attentive to the prayer of thy ſervant, and to the prayer of thy ſervants, who deſire to fear thy name: and proſper, I pray thee, thy ſervant this day, and grant him mercy in the ſight of this man. For I was the king's cup-bearer.

CHAP. II.

Artaxerxes underſtanding the cauſe of Nehemiah's ſadneſs, ſendeth him with two letters and a commiſſion to Jeruſalem.

AND it came to paſs, in the month Niſan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that wine was before him: and I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king. Now, I had not been beforetime ſad in his preſence.

2 Wherefore the king ſaid unto me, Why is thy

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 In the month Chiſleu.) This month anſwers to part of our November and December.

5 I beſeech thee, O Lord God of heaven.) This was the ſtile in which they mentioned God after the captivity, and ſignifies his ſovereign dominion over all things contained within the compaſs of the heavens, the ſun, moon, and ſtars, angels, men, and all creatures in general.

11 I was the king's cup-bearer.) This was a poſt of great honour and profit in the Perſian court, becauſe of the privilege he enjoyed of being daily in the king's preſence, and conſequently of gaining his favour for obtaining any petition he ſhould think fit to aſk: and that it was a place of great profit is evident, becauſe Nehemiah had gained ſuch immenſe riches, that he was enabled to ſupport himſelf, with all the charges attending his government, without laying any burthen on the people.

1 And it came to paſs in the month Niſan.) This was almoſt four months after he was informed of the deplorable ſtate of Jeruſalem; and therefore it has been aſked, why he did not ſooner petion the king for leave to viſit the city of his fathers? To which it may be anſwered, that in all probability, his turn of waiting did not come ſooner. Beſides, it cannot be ſuppoſed that he would undertake ſo long and dangerous a journey in the midſt of winter, the time he firſt heard this melancholy report.

countenance ſad, ſeeing thou art not ſick? this is nothing elſe but ſorrow of heart. Then I was very ſore afraid.

3 And ſaid unto the king, Let the king live for ever: why ſhould not my countenance be ſad, when the city, the place of my fathers' ſepulchres, lieth waſte, and the gates thereof are conſumed with fire?

4 Then the king ſaid unto me, For what doſt thou make requeſt? So I prayed to the God of heaven.

5 And I ſaid unto the king, If it pleaſe the king, and if thy ſervant have found favour in thy ſight, that thou wouldeſt ſend me unto Judah, unto the city of my fathers' ſepulchres, that I may build it.

6 And the king ſaid unto me, (the queen alſo ſitting by him,) For how long ſhall thy journey be? and when wilt thou return? So it pleaſed the king to ſend me, and I ſet him a time.

7 Moreover, I ſaid unto the king, If it pleaſe the king, let letters be given me to the governors beyond the river, that they may convey me over, till I come into Judah:

8 And a letter unto Aſaph, the keeper of the king's foreſt, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of the palace which appertained to the houſe, and for the wall of the city, and for the houſe that I ſhall enter into. And the king granted me according to the good hand of my God upon me.

9 Then I came to the governors beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. (Now the king had ſent captains of the army and horſemen with me.)

10 When Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the ſervant, the Ammonite, heard of it, it grieved them exceedingly that there was come a man to ſeek the welfare of the children of Iſrael.

11 So I came to Jeruſalem, and was there three days.

12 And I aroſe in the night, I and ſome few men with me, neither told I any man, what my God had put in my heart to do at Jeruſalem: neither was there any beaſt with me, ſave the beaſt that I rode upon.

13 And I went out by night, by the gate of the valley, even before the dragon-well, and to the dung-port, and viewed the walls of Jeruſalem which were broken down, and the gates thereof were conſumed with fire.

14 Then I went on to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's pool: but there was no place for the beaſt that was under me to paſs.

15 Then went I up in the night by the brook, and viewed the wall, and turned back, and entered by the gate of the valley, and ſo returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I went, or what I did, neither had I as yet told it to the Jews, nor to the prieſts, nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers, nor to the reſt that did the work.

17 Then ſaid I unto them, Ye ſee the diſtreſs that we are in, how Jeruſalem lieth waſte, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come, and let us build up the wall of Jeruſalem, that we be no more a reproach.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God which was good upon me: as alſo the king's words that he had ſpoken unto me. And they ſaid, Let us riſe up and build. So they ſtrengthened their hands for this good work.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the ſervant, the Ammonite, and Geſhem the Arabian, heard it, they laughed us to ſcorn, and deſpiſed us, and ſaid, What is this thing that ye do? will ye rebel againſt the king?

20 Then anſwered I them, and ſaid unto them, The God of heaven he will proſper us; therefore we his ſervants will ariſe and build: but ye have no portion, nor right, nor memorial, in Jeruſalem.

CHAP. III.

The names and order of them that builded the wall.

THEN Eliaſhib the high prieſt roſe up with his brethren the prieſts, and they builded the ſheep-gate: they ſanctified it, and ſet up the doors of it: even unto the tower of Meah they ſanctified it, unto the tower of Hananeel.

2 And next unto him builded the men of Jericho. And next to them builded Zaccur the ſon of Imri.

3 But the fiſh-gate did the ſons of Haſſenaah build, who alſo laid the beams thereof, and ſet up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

4 And next unto them repaired Meremoth the ſon of Urijah, the ſon of Koz. And next unto them repaired Meſhullam the ſon of Berechiah, the ſon of Meſhezabeel. And next unto them repaired Zadok the ſon of Baana.

5 And next unto them the Tekoites repaired: but their nobles put not their necks to the work of thier Lord.

6 Moreover, the old gate repaired Jehoiada the ſon of Baſeah, and Meſhullam the ſon of Beſodeiah: they laid the beams thereof, and ſet up the doors thereof, and the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

7 And next unto them repaired Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, unto the throne of the governor on this ſide the river.

8 Next unto him repaired Uzziel the ſon of Harhaiah, of the goldſmiths. Next unto him alſo repaired Hananiah the ſon of one of the apothecaries, and they fortified Jeruſalem unto the broad wall.

9 And next unto them repaired Rephaiah the ſon of Hur, the ruler of the half part of Jeruſalem.

10 And next unto them repaired Jedaiah the ſon of Harumaph, even over againſt his houſe. And next unto him repaired Hattuſh the ſon of Haſhabniah.

11 Malchijah the ſon of Harim, and Haſhub the ſon of Pahath-moab repaired the other piece, and the tower of the furnaces.

12 And next unto him repaired Shallum the ſon of Haloheſh, the ruler of the half part of Jeruſalem, he and his daughters.

13 The valley-gate repaired Hanun, and the inhabitants of Zenoah; they built it, and ſet up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and a thouſand cubits on the wall unto the dung-gate.

14 But the dung-gate repaired Malchiah the ſon of Rechab, the ruler of part of Beth-haccerem; he built

6 It pleaſed the king to ſend me, &c.) Probably he aſked leave to be abſent a few months; after which it is likely he returned to Shuſhan according to appointment: and the king ſent him back as his governor for twelve years.

20 We his ſervants will ariſe and build: but you have no portion nor right, nor memorial in Jeruſalem.) You have no part either in the labour or the merit of it: for you are not of our religion, and therefore have nothing to do with us, or the works we are going to erect.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 Then Eliaſhib the high prieſt roſe up with his brethren the prieſts.) He now ſhews by whom the wall was repaired, and the gates again ſet up, which the Babylonians had burnt with fire when they took Jeruſalem. The work was begun by Eliaſhib, the grand child of Jeſhua the high prieſt, who with his brethren gave a noble example, in being the firſt in rebuilding the wall of the city, which was broken down, it, and ſet up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountain repaired Shallum the ſon of Col-hozeh, the ruler of part of Mizpah; he built it, and covered it, and ſet up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and the wall of the pool of Siloah by the king's garden, and unto the ſtairs that go down from the city of David.

16 After him repaired Nehemiah the ſon of Azbuk, the ruler of the half part of Beth-zur, unto the place over againſt the ſepulchres of David, and to the pool that was made, and unto the houſe of the mighty.

17 After him repaired the Levites, Rehum the ſon of Bani. Next unto him repaired Haſhabiah, the ruler of the half part of Keilah, in his part.

18 After him repaired their brethren, Bavai the ſon of Henadad, the ruler of the half part of Keilah.

19 And next to him repaired Ezer the ſon of Jeſhua, the ruler of Mizpah, another piece over againſt the going up to the armoury at the turning of the wall.

20 After him Baruch the ſon of Zabbai earneſtly repaired the other piece, from the turning of the wall unto the door of the houſe of Eliaſhib the high prieſt.

21 After him repaired Meremoth the ſon of Urijah, the ſon of Koz, another piece, from the door of the houſe of Eliaſhib even to the end of the houſe of Eliaſhib.

22 And after him repaired the prieſts, the men of the plain.

23 After him repaired Benjamin, and Haſhub, over againſt their houſe. After him repaired Azariah the ſon of Maaſeiah, the ſon of Ananiah, by his houſe.

24 After him repaired Binnui the ſon of Henadad, another piece, from the houſe of Azariah unto the turning of the wall, even unto the corner.

25 Palal the ſon of Uzai, over againſt the turning of the wall, and the tower which lieth out from the king's high houſe, that was by the court of the priſon. After him, Pedaiah the ſon of Paroſh.

26 Moreover the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel, unto the place over againſt the water-gate toward the eaſt, and the tower that lieth out.

27 After them the Tekoites repaired another piece, over againſt the great tower that lieth out, even unto the wall of Ophel.

28 From above the horſe gate repaired the prieſts, every one over againſt his houſe.

29 After them repaired Zadok the ſon of Immer over againſt his houſe. After him repaired alſo Shemaiah the ſon of Shechaniah, the keeper of the eaſt-gate.

30 After him repaired Hananiah the ſon of Shelemiah, and Hanun the ſixth ſon of Zalaph, another piece. After him repaired Meſhullam the ſon of Berechiah over againſt his chamber.

31 After him repaired Malchiah the goldſmith's ſon, unto the place of the Nethinims, and of the merchants over againſt the gate Miphkad, and to the going up of the corner.

32 And between the going up of the corner unto the ſheep-gate repaired the goldſmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IV.

1 While the enemies ſcoff, Nehemiah prayeth. 7 He ſetteth a watch.

BUT it came to paſs, that when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, he was wroth, and took great indignation, and mocked the Jews.

2 And he ſpake before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and ſaid, What do theſe feeble Jews? will they fortify themſelves? will they ſacrifice? will they make an end in a day? will they revive the ſtones out of the heaps of the rubbiſh, which are burned?

3 Now Tobiah the Ammonite was by him, and he ſaid, Even that which they build, if a fox go up, he ſhall even break down their ſtone-wall.

4 Hear, O our God; for we are deſpiſed: and turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them for a prey in the land of captivity:

5 And cover not their iniquity, and let not their ſin be blotted out from before thee: for they have provoked thee to anger before the builders.

6 So built we the wall: and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof: for the people had a mind to work.

7 ¶ But it came to paſs, that when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Aſhdodites heard that the walls of Jeruſalem were made up, and that the breaches began to be ſtopped, then they were very wroth.

8 And conſpired all of them together to come and to fight againſt Jeruſalem, and to hinder it.

9 Nevertheleſs we made our prayer unto our God, and ſet a watch againſt them day and night, becauſe of them.

10 And Judah ſaid, The ſtrength of the bearers of burdens is decayed, and there is much rubbiſh, ſo that we are not able to build the wall.

11 And our adverſaries ſaid, They ſhall not know, neither ſee, till we come in the midſt among them, and ſlay them, and cauſe the work to ceaſe.

12 And it came to paſs, that when the Jews which dwelt by them came, they ſaid unto us ten times, From all places whence ye ſhall return unto us they will be upon you.

13 Therefore ſet I in the lower places behind the wall, and on the higher places I even ſet the people after their families, with their ſwords, their ſpears, and their bows.

14 And I looked, and roſe up, and ſaid unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, Be not ye afraid of them: remember the Lord which is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your ſons and your daughters, your wives and your houſes.

15 And it came to paſs, when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, and God had brought their counſels to nought, that we returned all of us to the wall, every one unto his work.

16 And it came to paſs from that time forth, that the half of my ſervants wrought in the work, and the other half of them held both the ſpears, the ſhields, and the bows, and habergeons; and the rulers were behind all the houſe of Judah.

---

26 Moreover the Nethinims.) Not only the prieſts and Levites, but the meaneſt perſons that belonged to the houſe of God, contributed to the work. The names of thoſe who repaired the walls of Jeruſalem are commemorated, becauſe it was a work of virtue and piety to reſtore the holy city: it was an inſtance of religion and courage, to defend the true worſhippers of God, that they might ſerve him in quietneſs and ſafety, and in the midſt of ſo many enemies to go on with this work in a pious confidence of the power of God to ſupport them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

10 The ſtrength of the bearers of burdens is decayed.) The labourers had wrought ſo long and ſo hard at the work, that ſome of the people told him they were no longer able to ſupport the fatigue.

17 They

17 They which builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, with thoſe that laded, every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon.

18 For the builders, every one had his ſword girded by his ſide, and ſo builded. And he that ſounded the trumpet was by me.

19 And I ſaid unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The work is great and large, and we are ſeparated upon the wall one far from another.

20 In what place therefore ye hear the ſound of the trumpet, reſort ye thither unto us. Our God ſhall fight for us.

21 So we laboured in the work: and half of them held the ſpears, from the riſing of the morning till the ſtars appeared.

22 Likewiſe at the ſame time ſaid I unto the people, Let every one with his ſervant lodge within Jeruſalem, that in the night they may be a guard to us, and labour on the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my ſervants, nor the men of the guard which followed me, none of us put off our clothes, ſaving that every one put them off for waſhing.

CHAP. V.

1 The Jews complain of their debt, mortgage, and bondage. 11 Nehemiah cauſeth reſtitution. 14 He forbeareth his own allowance, and keepeth hoſpitality.

AND there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives, againſt their brethren the Jews.

2 For there were that ſaid, We, our ſons and our daughters, are many; therefore we take up corn for them, that we may eat and live.

3 Some alſo there were that ſaid, We have mortgaged our lands, vineyards, and houſes, that we might buy corn, becauſe of the dearth.

4 There were alſo that ſaid, We have borrowed money for the king's tribute, and that upon our lands and vineyards.

5 Yet now our fleſh is as the fleſh of our brethren, our children as their children: and, lo, we bring into bondage our ſons and our daughters to be ſervants, and ſome of our daughters are brought into bondage already, neither is it in our power to redeem them; for other men have our lands and vineyards.

6 And I was very angry when I heard their cry, and theſe words.

7 Then I conſulted with myſelf, and I rebuked the nobles, and the rulers and ſaid unto them, Ye exact uſury, every one of his brother. And I ſet a great aſſembly againſt them;

8 And I ſaid unto them, We, after our ability, have redeemed our brethren the Jews, which were ſold unto the heathen: and will ye even ſell your brethren? or ſhall they be ſold unto us? Then held they their peace, and found nothing to anſwer.

9 Alſo I ſaid, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God, becauſe of the reproach of the heathen our enemies?

10 I likewiſe, and my brethren, and my ſervants, might exact of them money and corn; I pray you let us leave off this uſury.

11 ¶ Reſtore, I pray you, to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive yards, and houſes, alſo the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, that ye exact of them.

12 Then ſaid they, We will reſtore them, and will require nothing of them; ſo will we do as thou ſayeſt. Then I called the prieſts, and took an oath of them, that they ſhould do according to this promiſe.

13 Alſo I ſhook my lap, and ſaid, So God ſhake out every man from his houſe, and from his labour, that performeth not this promiſe, even thus be he ſhaken out and emptied. And all the congregation ſaid, Amen, and praiſed the Lord. And the people did according to this promiſe.

14 ¶ Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year even unto the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that is, twelve years, I and my brethren have not eaten the bread of the governor.

15 But the former governors that had been before me, were chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beſide forty ſhekels of ſilver; yea even their ſervants bare rule over the people: but ſo did not I, becauſe of the fear of God.

16 Yea alſo I continued in the work of this wall, neither bought we any land: and all my ſervants were gathered thither unto the work.

17 Moreover, there were at my table an hundred and fifty of the Jews and rulers, beſides thoſe that came unto us from among the heathen that are about us.

18 Now, that which was prepared for me daily was one ox, and ſix choice ſheep; alſo fowls were prepared for me, and once in ten days ſtore of all ſorts of wine: yet for all this required not I the bread of the governor, becauſe the bondage was heavy upon this people.

19 Think upon me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

1 Sanballat practiſeth to terrify Nehemiah. 15 The work is finiſhed. 17 Secret intelligence between the enemies and the nobles of Judah.

NOW it came to paſs, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geſhem the Arabian, and the reſt of our enemies heard that I had builded the wall, and that there was no breach left therein; though at that time I had 17 Every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon.) This is a figurative ſpeech, and ſignifies, that they were well appointed either to build or fight; it being impoſſible for them to work, if both their hands had not been at liberty.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 And there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives, againſt their brethren the Jews.) The poor now exhibited grievous complaints againſt the rich, for taking the advantage of their neceſſities in exacting uſury. This oppreſſion reduced them ſo low, that they were obliged to mortgage their lands, houſes and tenements, and even to ſell their children into ſervitude, to enable them to buy bread for their ſupport. And what increaſed the cruelty of this exaction was, that it was made at a time when their enemies threatened to deſtroy them all, and multitudes of people were employed in repairing the fortifications of the city; ſo that they were obliged to purchaſe corn at the unreaſonable rates demanded by their rich brethren, or periſh with hunger.

11 The hundredth part of the money, &c.) This was the uſury they exacted, being one per cent. for every month, or twelve per cent for the whole year. No wonder the people cried ſo loudly againſt their unfeeling brethren, when they demanded ſuch exorbitant intereſt.

19 Think upon me, my God, for good, &c.) He expected no reward from man, but from his God, who he hoped would ſhew him the ſame kindneſs he had done for his people. And ſurely it can never be conſidered as a flaw in the character of this excellent governor, or an indication of a mercenary ſpirit, that he ſhould in all his good works and labours, have a reſpect to the recompence of the reward, which God, the righteous judge had promiſed to give to his faithful ſervants.

had not ſet up the doors upon the gates;

2 That Sanballat and Geſhem ſent unto me, ſaying, Come, let us meet together in ſome one of the villages in the plain of Ono: but they thought to do me miſchief.

3 And I ſent meſſengers unto them, ſaying, I am doing a great work, ſo that I cannot come down: why ſhould the work ceaſe whilſt I leave it and come down to you?

4 Yet they ſent unto me four times after this ſort: and I anſwered them after the ſame manner.

5 Then ſent Sanballat his ſervant unto me in like manner the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand;

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and Gaſhmu ſaith it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel; for which cauſe thou buildeſt the wall, that thou mayeſt be their king, according to theſe words.

7 And thou haſt alſo appointed prophets to preach of thee at Jeruſalem, ſaying, There is a king in Judah; and now ſhall it be reported to the king according to theſe words. Come now therefore, and let us take counſel together.

8 Then I ſent unto him, ſaying, There are no ſuch things done as thou ſayeſt, but thou feigneſt them out of thine own heart.

9 For they all made us afraid, ſaying, Their hands ſhall be weakened from the work, that it be not done. Now therefore, O God, ſtrengthen my hands.

10 Afterwards I came unto the houſe of Shemaiah the ſon of Delaiah, the ſon of Mehetabeel, who was ſhut up; and he ſaid, Let us meet together in the houſe of God, within the temple, and let us ſhut the doors of the temple: for they will come to ſlay thee: yea, in the night will they come to ſlay thee.

11 And I ſaid, Should ſuch a man as I flee? and who is there that being as I am, would go into the temple to ſave his life? I will not go in.

12 And lo, I perceived that God had not ſent him; but that he pronounced this prophecy againſt me; for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired that I ſhould be afraid, and do ſo, and ſin, and that they might have matter for an evil report, that they might reproach me.

14 My God, think thou upon Tobiah and Sanballat according to theſe their works, and on the propheteſs Noadiah, and the reſt of the prophets that would have put me in fear.

15 ¶ So the wall was finiſhed in the twenty and fifth day of the month Elul, in fifty and two days.

16 And it came to paſs that when all our enemies heard thereof, and all the heathen that were about us ſaw theſe things, they were much caſt down in their own eyes: for they perceived that this work was wrought of our God.

17 ¶ Moreover, in thoſe days the nobles of Judah ſent many letters unto Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah came unto them.

18 For there were many in Judah ſworn unto him, becauſe he was the ſon-in-law of Shechaniah the ſon of Arah: and his ſon Johanan had taken the daughter of Meſhullam the ſon of Berechiah.

19 Alſo they reported his good deeds before me, and uttered my words to him. And Tobiah ſent letters to put me in fear.

CHAP. VII.

1 Nehemiah committeth the charge of Jeruſalem to Hanani and Hananiah. 5 A regiſter of the genealogy of them which came at firſt out of Babylon, 8 of the people, 39 of the prieſts, 43 of the Levites, 46 of the Nethinims, &c.

NOW it came to paſs when the wall was built, and I had ſet up the doors, and the porters, and the ſingers, and the Levites were appointed,

2 That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jeruſalem: for he was a faithful man and feared God above many.

3 And I ſaid unto them, Let not the gates of Jeruſalem be opened until the ſun be hot; and while they ſtand by, let them ſhut the doors and bar them; and appoint watches of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, every one in his watch, and every one to be over againſt his houſe.

4 Now the city was large and great: but the people were few therein, and the houſes were not builded.

5 ¶ And my God put into mine heart to gather together the nobles, and the rulers, and the people that they might be reckoned by genealogy: and I found a regiſter of the genealogy of them which came up at the firſt, and found written therein,

6 Theſe are the children of the province, that went up out of the captivity, of thoſe that had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and came again to Jeruſalem, and to Judah, every one unto his city;

7 Who came with Zerubbabel; Jeſhua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilſhan, Miſpereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah; the number I ſay, of the men of the people of Iſrael, was this;

8 ¶ The children of Paroſh, two thouſand an hundred ſeventy and two.

9 The children of Shephatiah, three hundred ſeventy and two.

10 The children of Arah, ſix hundred fifty and two.

11 The children of Pahath-moab, of the children of Jeſhua and Joab, two thouſand and eight hundred and eighteen.

12 The children of Elam, a thouſand two hundred fifty and four.

13 The children of Zattu, eight hundred forty and

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

10 Let us meet together in the houſe of God, within the temple, &c.) That is, in the ſanctuary; and whither he adviſed Nehemiah to retreat, becauſe it was a ſtrong and a ſacred place, being defended by a guard of Levites, and, by its holineſs, privileged from all hoſtile approaches. But his real deſign was not only to diſgrace Nehemiah, and diſhearten the people, when they ſaw the cowardice of their governor, but alſo to prepare the way for the enemy's aſſaulting and taking the city, when there were none to defend the walls; and at the ſame time, to give countenance to the calumny that had been maliciouſly ſpread of his affecting to be made king of Judah, becauſe he fled at the report of it. Perhaps Shemaiah, with the aſſiſtance of ſome other prieſts, who were his confederates, intended either to deſtroy him, or ſecure his perſon till the city was betrayed into the hands of the enemy.

15 So the wall was finiſhed—in fifty and two days.) This prodigious diſpatch will not appear at all incredible, when it is remembered that a vaſt number, not of hired, but voluntary men, full of zeal for the work themſelves, animated by the example of their rulers, and ranged and diſtributed in a proper manner for diſpatch, were employed in this work; that it was in the ſummer, when the days are long; that plenty of ſtones and other materials were at hand; the foundation of the wall unrazed, great part of it ſtanding entire, only ſome few breaches here and there to be ſtopped up; and that their deſign was not to render the wall beautiful, but ſtrong; and to provide themſelves with ſuch a fortification for the preſent, as would ſecure them from any ſudden invaſion of their enemies.

37 The children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, ſeven hundred twenty and one.
38 The children of Senaah, three thouſand nine hundred and thirty.
39 ¶ The prieſts: the children of Jedaiah, of the houſe of Jeſhua, nine hundred ſeventy and three.
40 The children of Immer, a thouſand fifty and two.
41 The children of Paſhur, a thouſand two hundred forty and ſeven.
42 The children of Harim, a thouſand and ſeventeen.
43 ¶ The Levites: the children of Jeſhua, of Kadmiel, and of the children of Hodevah, ſeventy and four.
44 The ſingers: the children of Aſaph, an hundred forty and eight.
45 The porters: the children of Shallum, the children of Ater, the children of Talmon, the children of Akkub, the children of Hatita, the children of Shobai, an hundred thirty and eight.
46 ¶ The Nethinims: the children of Ziha, the children of Haſhupha, the children of Tabbaoth,
47 The children of Keros, the children of Sia, the children of Padon,
48 The children of Lebana, the children of Hagaba, the children of Shalmai,
49 The children of Hanan, the children of Giddel, the children of Gahar,

57 The children of Solomon's ſervants: the children of Sotai, the children of Sophereth, the children of Perida,
58 The children of Jaala, the children of Darkon, the children of Giddel,
59 The children of Shephatiah, the children of Hattil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of Amon.
60 All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's ſervants, were three hundred ninety and two.
61 And theſe were they which went up alſo from Tel-melah, Tel-hareſha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer: but they could not ſhew their fathers' houſe, nor their ſeed, whether they were of Iſrael.
62 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, ſix hundred forty and two.
63 ¶ And of the prieſts: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai, which took one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was called after their name.
64 Theſe ſought their regiſter among thoſe that were reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the prieſthood.
65 And the Tirſhatha ſaid unto them, that they ſhould not eat of the moſt holy things till there ſtood up a prieſt with Urim and Thummim.
66 ¶ The whole congregation together was forty and two thouſand three hundred and threeſcore.
67 Beſide their man-ſervants and their maid-ſervants, of whom there were ſeven thouſand three hundred thirty and ſeven; and they had two hundred forty and five ſinging-men and ſinging-women.
68 Their horſes, ſeven hundred thirty and ſix: their mules, two hundred forty and five;
69 Their camels, four hundred thirty and five; ſix thouſand ſeven hundred and twenty aſſes.

Commentary on Chap. VII.

2 I gave my brother Hanani and Hananiah----charge over Jeruſalem.) Nehemiah, in all probability, was now returning to Shuſhan, to give the king an account of the ſtate of affairs in Judea, and therefore was particularly careful to place ſuch men in the city as he knew would execute the truſt repoſed in them with the ſtricteſt fidelity. Hanani had given proof of his zeal for God and his country, in taking a tedious journey from Judea to Shuſhan, to inform Nehemiah of the wretched ſtate of Jeruſalem, and to implore his aſſiſtance to relieve it. And the reaſon why Nehemiah put ſuch truſt and confidence in Hananiah was, becauſe he was a man of conſcience, and acted on religious principles, which would render him proof againſt all temptations, which doubtleſs would be made by the enemy during his abſence.

8 And the children of Paroſh, two thouſand an hundred ſeventy and two.) This genealogy differs, in ſome particulars, from that in Ezra, chap. ii. 5. But it ſhould be remembered, that they were taken at different times, and in different places; Nehemiah's in Judea, after the finiſhing of the wall of Jeruſalem; and Ezra's in Babylon, before they returned to their own land.

70 ¶ And ſome of the chief of the fathers gave unto the work: the Tirſhatha gave to the treaſure a thouſand drams of gold, fifty baſons, five hundred and thirty prieſts' garments.

71 And ſome of the chief of the fathers gave to the treaſure of the work twenty thouſand drams of gold, and two thouſand and two hundred pound of ſilver.

72 And that which the reſt of the people gave was twenty thouſand drams of gold, and two thouſand pound of ſilver, and threeſcore and ſeven prieſts' garments.

73 So the prieſts, and the Levites, and the porters, and the ſingers, and ſome of the people, and the Nethinims, and all Iſrael dwelt in their cities; and when the ſeventh month came the children of Iſrael were in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

The religious manner of reading and hearing the law.

AND all the people gathered themſelves together as one man into the ſtreet that was before the water-gate; and they ſpake unto Ezra the ſcribe, to bring the book of the law of Moſes, which the Lord had commanded to Iſrael.

2 And Ezra the prieſt brought the law before the congregation, both of men and women, and all that could hear with underſtanding, upon the firſt day of the ſeventh month.

3 And he read therein before the ſtreet that was before the water-gate, from the morning until mid-day, before the men and the women, and thoſe that could underſtand: and the ears of all the people were attentive unto the book of the law.

4 And Ezra the ſcribe ſtood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpoſe: and beſide him ſtood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Urijah, and Hilkiah, and Maaſeiah, on his right hand; and on his left hand, Pedaiah, and Miſhael, and Malchiah, and Haſhum, and Haſhbadana, Zechariah, and Meſhullam.

5 And Ezra opened the book in the ſight of all the people; (for he was above all the people:) and when he opened it, all the people ſtood up.

6 And Ezra bleſſed the Lord, the great God: and all the people anſwered, Amen, amen, with lifting up their hands, and they bowed their heads and worſhipped the Lord with their faces to the ground.

7 Alſo Jeſhua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaſeiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites cauſed the people to underſtand the law: and the people ſtood in their place.

8 So they read in the book, in the law of God, diſtinctly, and gave the ſenſe, and cauſed them to underſtand the reading.

9 And Nehemiah, which is the Tirſhatha, and Ezra the prieſt, the ſcribe, and the Levites that taught the people, ſaid unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord your God; mourn not nor weep: for all the people wept when they heard the words of the law.

10 Then he ſaid unto them, Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the ſweet, and ſend portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye ſorry; for the joy of the Lord is your ſtrength.

11 So the Levites ſtilled all the people, ſaying, Hold your peace; for the day is holy; neither be ye grieved.

12 And all the people went their way to eat, and to drink, and to ſend portions, and to make great mirth, becauſe they had underſtood the words that were declared unto them.

13 And on the ſecond day were gathered together the chief of the fathers of all the people, the prieſts, and the Levites, unto Ezra the ſcribe, even to underſtand the words of the law.

14 And they found written in the law, which the Lord had commanded by Moſes, that the children of Iſrael ſhould dwell in booths in the feaſt of the ſeventh month:

15 And that they ſhould publiſh and proclaim in all their cities and in Jeruſalem, ſaying, Go forth unto the mount, and fetch olive-branches, and pine-branches, and myrtle-branches, and palm-branches, and branches of thick trees, to make booths, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth, and brought them, and made themſelves booths, every one upon the roof of his houſe, and in their courts, and in the courts of the houſe of God, and in the ſtreet of the water-gate, and in the ſtreet of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the congregation of them that were come again out of the captivity made booths, and ſat under the booths: for ſince the days of Joſhua, the ſon of Nun, unto that day, had not the children of Iſrael done ſo: and there was very great gladneſs.

18 Alſo day by day, from the firſt day unto the laſt day, he read in the book of the law of God: and they kept the feaſt ſeven days, and on the eighth day was a ſolemn aſſembly, according unto the manner.

CHAP. IX.

1 A ſolemn faſt, and repentance of the people. 4 The Levites confeſs God's goodneſs, and their own wickedneſs.

NOW in the twenty and fourth day of this month, the children of Iſrael were aſſembled with faſting, and with ſackclothes, and earth upon them.

2 And the ſeed of Iſrael ſeparated themſelves from all ſtrangers, and ſtood and confeſſed their ſins, and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they ſtood up in their place, and read in the book of the law of the Lord their God one fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confeſſed, and worſhipped the Lord their God

4 ¶ Then ſtood up upon the ſtairs of the Levites, Jeſhua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherabiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cried with a loud voice unto the Lord their God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 And they ſpake unto Ezra the ſcribe.) This was doubtleſs the ſame Ezra who came from Babylon in the ſeventh year of Artaxerxes, with a full commiſſion to Jeruſalem, to aſſiſt Zerubbabel in the reformation of the whole ſtate of the Jewiſh church. After the death of Zerubbabel, the whole adminiſtration devolved upon him, for the remaining part of the twelve years which his commiſſion laſted, when other governors ſucceeded, though not recorded in ſcripture, and at laſt Nehemiah. But we hear no more of Ezra, till here called upon to read and expound the law to the people.

17 For ſince the days of Joſhua the ſon of Nun, unto that day, had not the children of Iſrael done ſo: and there was very great gladneſs.) It can hardly be thought that this feſtival had never been obſerved ſince the time of Joſhua, eſpecially as we read in the foregoing book of Ezra, that it was kept at their return from Babylon. The meaning therefore is, that the joy ſince that time had never been ſo great, as it was upon this occaſion: and indeed this feſtival was at that time, and now celebrated on ſimilar occaſions. In the days of Joſhua they rejoiced, becauſe they had gotten poſſeſſion of the land of Canaan; and now they rejoiced for being again ſettled in it, after ſo long a captivity.

5 Then the Levites, Jeſhua, and Kadmiel, Bani, Haſhabniah, Sherabiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, ſaid, Stand up, and bleſs the Lord your God for ever and ever: And bleſſed be thy glorious name, which is exalted above all bleſſing and praiſe.

6 Thou, even thou art Lord alone; thou haſt made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their hoſt, the earth and all things that are therein, the ſeas and all that is therein; and thou preſerveſt them all: and the hoſt of heaven worſhippeth thee.

7 Thou art the Lord the God, who didſt chooſe Abram, and broughteſt him forth out of Ur of the Chaldees, and gaveſt him the name of Abraham;

8 And foundeſt his heart faithful before thee, and madeſt a covenant with him, to give the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Jebuſites, and the Girgaſhites, to give it; I ſay to his ſeed, and haſt performed thy words; for thou art righteous:

9 And didſt ſee the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heardeſt their cry by the Red ſea;

10 And ſhewedſt ſigns and wonders upon Pharaoh, and on all his ſervants, and on all the people of his land: for thou kneweſt that they dealt proudly againſt them. So didſt thou get thee a name, as it is this day.

11 And thou didſt divide the ſea before them, ſo that they went through the midſt of the ſea on the dry land: and their perſecutors thou threweſt into the deeps, as a ſtone into the mighty waters.

12 Moreover, thou leddeſt them in the day by a cloudy pillar, and in the night by a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way wherein they ſhould go.

13 Thou cameſt down alſo upon mount Sinai, and ſpakeſt with them from heaven, and gaveſt them right judgments and true laws, good ſtatutes and commandments;

14 And madeſt known unto them thy holy ſabbath, and commandedſt them precepts, ſtatutes, and laws, by the hand of Moſes thy ſervant:

15 And gaveſt them bread from heaven for their hunger, and broughteſt forth water for them out of the rock for their thirſt, and promiſedſt them that they ſhould go in to poſſeſs the land which thou hadſt ſworn to give them.

16 But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to thy commandments,

17 And refuſed to obey, neither were mindful of thy wonders that thou didſt among them; but hardened their necks, and in their rebellion appointed a captain to return to their bondage: but thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſs, and forſookeſt them not.

18 Yea, when they had made them a molten calf, and ſaid, This is thy God that brought thee up out of Egypt, and had wrought great provocations;

19 Yet thou in thy manifold mercies, forſookeſt them not in the wilderneſs, the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day, to lead them in the way; neither the pillar of fire by night, to ſhew them light, and the way wherein they ſhould go.

20 Thou gaveſt alſo thy good Spirit to inſtruct them, and with-heldeſt not thy manna from their mouth, and gaveſt them water for their thirſt.

21 Yea, forty years didſt thou ſuſtain them in the wilderneſs, ſo that they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their feet ſwelled not.

22 Moreover, thou gaveſt them kingdoms and nations, and didſt divide them into corners: ſo they poſſeſſed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heſhbon, and the land of Og king of Baſhan.

23 Their children alſo multipliedſt thou as the ſtars of heaven, and broughteſt them into the land, concerning which thou hadſt promiſed to their fathers, that they ſhould go in to poſſeſs it.

24 So the children went in and poſſeſſed the land, and thou ſubduedſt before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gaveſt them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, that they might do with them as they would.

25 And they took ſtrong cities, and a fat land, and poſſeſſed houſes full of all goods, wells digged, vineyards, and olive-yards, and fruit-trees in abundance; ſo they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, and delighted themſelves in thy great goodneſs.

26 Neverthelefs, they were diſobedient, and rebelled againſt thee, and caſt thy law behind their backs, and ſlew thy prophets, which teſtified againſt them to turn them to thee, and they wrought great provocations.

27 Therefore thou deliveredſt them into the hand of their enemies, who vexed them: and in the time of their trouble, when they cried unto thee, thou heardeſt them from heaven; and, according to thy manifold mercies, thou gaveſt them ſaviours, who ſaved them out of the hand of their enemies,

28 But after they had reſt they did evil again before thee: therefore lefteſt thou them in the hand of their enemies, ſo that they had the dominion over them; yet when they returned, and cried unto thee, thou heardeſt them from heaven, and many times didſt thou deliver them, according to thy mercies;

29 And teſtifiedſt againſt them, that thou mighteſt bring them again unto thy law; yet they dealt proudly and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but ſinned againſt thy judgments, (which if a man do, he ſhall live in them;) and withdrew the ſhoulder, and heardened their neck, and would not hear.

30 Yet many years didſt thou forbear them, and teſtifiedſt againſt them by thy ſpirit in thy prophets: yet would they not give ear: therefore gaveſt thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Neverthelefs, for thy great mercies ſake thou didſt not utterly conſume them, nor forſake them, for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore, our God, the great, the mighty, and the terrible God, who keepeſt covenant and mercy; let not all the trouble ſeem little before thee that hath come upon us, on our kings, on our princes, and on our prieſts, and on our prophets, and on our fathers, and on all thy people, ſince the time of the kings of Aſſyria unto this day.

33 Howbeit, thou art juſt in all that is brought upon us: for thou haſt done right, but we have done wickedly:

34 Neither have our kings, our princes, our prieſts

Commentary on Chap. IX.

6 The hoſt of heaven worſhippeth thee.) Sometimes the ſtars, and ſometimes the angels are called the hoſt of heaven; but here is meant the latter, for the other are mentioned before, when he ſays, the heavens with all their hoſt.

7 Thou art the Lord the God, who didſt chooſe Abram, &c.) We have, in the following verſes, a compendious narrative of the affairs of the Hebrew nation. It was probably compoſed either by Nehemiah or Ezra, in the form of a prayer, and delivered by the author to the Levites, who were ordered to ſpeak it diſtinctly before the whole congregation, from ſeveral ſcaffolds, conveniently erected in different parts of the aſſembly, that every perſon might hear it.

20 Thou gaveſt alſo thy good ſpirit to inſtruct them.) The ſpirit of prophecy, which reſted upon Moſes, God imparted to ſeventy other perſons, that the people might be better governed, Numbers xi. 16, 17.

nor our fathers kept thy law, nor hearkened unto thy commandments and thy teſtimonies, wherewith thou didſt teſtify againſt them.

35 For they have not ſerved thee in their kingdom, and in thy great goodneſs that thou gaveſt them, and in the large and fat land which thou gaveſt before them, neither turned they from their wicked works.

36 Behold, we are ſervants this day, and for the land that thou gaveſt unto our fathers to eat the fruit thereof and the good thereof, behold, we are ſervants in it.

37 And it yieldeth much increaſe unto the kings whom thou haſt ſet over us becauſe of our ſins: alſo they have dominion over our bodies and over our cattle at their pleaſure, and we are in great diſtreſs.

38 And becauſe of all this we make a ſure covenant, and write it; and our princes, Levites, and prieſts, ſeal unto it.

23 Hoſhea, Hananiah, Haſhub,
24 Halloheſh, Pileha, Shobek,
25 Rehum, Haſhabnah, Maaſeiah,
26 And Ahijah, Hanan, Anan,
27 Malluch, Harim, Baanah,

28 ¶ And the reſt of the people, the prieſts, the Levites, the porters, the ſingers, the Nethinims, and all they that had ſeparated themſelves from the people of the lands unto the law of God, their wives, their ſons, and their daughters, every one having knowledge, and having underſtanding;

29 They clave to their brethren, their nobles, and entered into a curſe, and into an oath, to walk in God's law, which was given by Moſes, the ſervant of God, and to obſerve and do all the commandments of the Lord our Lord, and his judgments, and his ſtatutes;

30 And that we would not give our daughters unto the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our ſons:

31 And if the people of the land bring ware or any victuals on the ſabbath-day to ſell, that we would not buy it of them on the ſabbath, or on the holy-day; and that we would leave the ſeventh year, and the exaction of every debt.

32 Alſo we made ordinances for us, to charge ourſelves yearly with the third part of a ſhekel for the ſervice of the houſe of our God;

33 For the ſhew-bread, and for the continual meat-offering, and for the continual burnt-offering, of the ſabbaths, of the new moons, for the ſet feaſts, and for the holy things, and for the ſin-offerings, to make an atonement for Iſrael, and for all the work of the houſe of our God.

34 And we caſt the lots among the prieſts, the Levites, and the people, for the wood-offering, to bring it into the houſe of our God, after the houſes of our fathers, at times appointed, year by year, to burn upon the altar of the Lord our God, as it is written in the law:

35 And to bring the firſt-fruits of our ground, and the firſt-fruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year unto the houſe of the Lord.

36 Alſo the firſt-born of our ſons, and of our cattle, as it is written in the law; and the firſtlings of our herds and of our flocks, to bring to the houſe of our God unto the prieſts that miniſter in the houſe of our God:

37 And that we ſhould bring the firſt-fruits of our dough, and our offerings, and the fruit of all manner of trees, of wine, and of oil, unto the prieſts, to the chambers of the houſe of our God, and the tithes of our ground unto the Levites, that the ſame Levites might have the tithes in all the cities of our tillage.

38 And the prieſt, the ſon of Aaron, ſhall be with the Levites when the Levites take tithes: and the Levites ſhall bring up the tithe of the tithes unto the houſe of our God, to the chambers, into the treaſure-houſe.

39 For the children of Iſrael and the children of Levi ſhall bring the offering of the corn, of the new wine, and the oil unto the chambers, where are the veſſels of the ſanctuary, and the prieſts that miniſter, and the porters, and the ſingers; and we will not forſake the houſe of our God.

37 They have dominion over our bodies, &c.) Notwithſtanding they enjoyed the ineſtimable privilege of living by their own laws, yet they laboured under heavy burthens, and ſore diſtreſs. And hence we may learn how ridiculouſly they boaſted to our Saviour, John viii. 33, That they were never in bondage to any man; when it was well known, that they had been long ſlaves in Egypt; and afterwards in Babylon, and even after they came from thence, as they here complain. Nay, they paid tribute to the Romans at the very time they made ſuch fooliſh boaſts.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 Now thoſe that ſealed, were Nehemiah, &c.) Nehemiah, as being governor under the king of Perſia, and therefore the chief prince among them, ſealed firſt. It is obſervable, that Ezra is not among thoſe that ſealed this covenant; and therefore he was either now gone to Babylon, or hindered by ſickneſs, though the latter is more probable, becauſe he was at Jeruſalem in the beginning of the ſeventh month, chap. viii. 2, and alſo on the feaſt of dedication, xii. 36.

29 And entered into a curſe, and into an oath, &c.) They alſo obliged themſelves by oath to obſerve the law; adding an imprecation on themſelves, wiſhing all the curſes in the law might fall upon them, if they did not obey all the precepts of it.

30 And that we would not give our daughters unto the people of the land, &c.) From this and the three following verſes it is plain, that the principal articles they obliged themſelves to obſerve, by this covenant, were, 1ſt, Not to make intermarriages with the Gentiles. 2d, To obſerve the ſabbath and ſabbatical years. 3d, To pay their annual tribute for the reparation of the temple. And 4th, To pay their tithes and firſt-fruits for the maintenance of the prieſts and Levites. And hence we may learn, that theſe laws had been chiefly neglected ſince their return from the captivity.

CHAP. XI.

1 The rulers, voluntary men, and the tenth man chosen by lot, dwell at Jerusalem. 3 A catalogue of their names.

AND the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people also cast lots to bring one of ten to dewll in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts to dwell in other cities.

2 And the people blessed all the men that willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

3 ¶ Now these are the chief of the province that dwelt in Jerusalem: but in the cities of Judah dwelt every one in his possession in their cities, to wit, Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants.

4 And at Jerusalem dwelt certain of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the children of Judah; Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalaleel, of the children of Perez;

5 And Maaseiah the son Baruch the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni.

6 All the sons of Perez that dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred threescore and eight valiant men.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin; Salu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son Ithiel, the son of Jesaiah.

8 And after him, Gabbai, Sallai, nine hundred twenty and eight.

9 And Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer: and Judah the son of Senuah was second over the city.

10 Of the priests; Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, Jachin,

11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the ruler of the house of God.

12 And their brethren, that did the work of the house, were eight hundred twenty and two: and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchiah,

13 And his brethren, chief of the fathers, two hundred forty and two: and Amashai the son of Azareel, the son of Ahasai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer,

14 And their brethren, mighty men of valour, an hundred twenty and eight: and their overseer was Zabdiel, the son of one of the great men.

15 Also of the Levites; Shemaiah the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni.

16 And Shabbethai, and Jozabad, of the chief of the Levites, had the oversight of the outward business of the house of God.

17 And Mattaniah the son of Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, was the principal to begin the thanksgiving in prayer; and Bakbukiah the second among his brethren, and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.

18 All the Levites in the holy city, were two hundred fourscore and four.

19 Moreover, the porters, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundred seventy and two.

20 And the residue of Israel, of the priests and the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance.

21 But the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: and Ziha and Gispa were over the Nethinims.

22 The overseer also of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha. Of the sons of Asaph, the singers were over the business of the house of God.

23 For it was the king's commandment concerning them, that a certain portion should be for the singers, due for every day.

24 And Pethahiah the son of Meshezabeel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was at the king's hand in all matters concerning the people.

25 And for the villages, with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt at Kirjath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and at Jekabzeel, and in the villages thereof,

26 And at Jeshua, and at Moladah, and at Beth-phelet,

27 And at Hazar-shual, and at Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof,

28 And at Ziklag, and at Mekonah, and in the villages thereof,

29 And at Enrimmon, and at Zareah, and at Jarmuth,

30 Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, at Lachish, and the fields thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Beer-sheba unto the valley of Hinnom.

31 The children also of Benjamin from Geba, dwelt at Michmash, and Aija, and Beth-el, and in their villages,

32 And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,

34 Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat,

35 Lod, and Ono, the valley of craftsmen.

36 And of the Levites were divisions in Judah, and in Benjamin.

CHAP. XII.

1 The priests that came up with Zerubbabel. 10 The succession of the high priests.

NOW these are the priests and the Levites that went up with Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,

3 Shechaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abijah,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem.) The inhabitants of the neighbouring countries were so exasperated at seeing the wall of Jerusalem rebuilt, that many of the Jews were afraid to live there, thinking themselves much safer in the country, where they had not the least pretence for disturbing them. The rulers of the people therefore set them the example, by settling themselves at Jerusalem, in order to encourage the people to do the same: and this we find had the desired effect, great numbers, who sought the welfare of their country, the defence of the city, and the glory of God, retiring thither.

23 For it was the king's commandment concerning them, that a certain portion should be for the singers, due for every day.) Some are of opinion, that by the word king is meant David, who first appointed the singers to attend in a settled course; but if David ever made any particular provision for them it had been lost, and, in all probability, was not yet restored. It is therefore more reasonable to think that it was the king of Persia, who out of his great munificence, gave it for their better support; it being common in all countries, to have a particular regard for those who sung hymns in praise of their gods.

5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah. Theſe were the chief of the prieſts, and of their brethren, in the days of Jeſhua.
8 Moreover, the Levites: Jeſhua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, which was over the thankſgiving, he and his brethren.
9 Alſo Bakbukiah and Unni, their brethren, were over againſt them in the watches.
10 ¶ And Jeſhua begat Joiakim, Joiakim alſo begat Eliaſhib, and Eliaſhib begat Joiada, 11 And Joiada begat Jonathan, and Jonathan begat Jaddua.
12 And in the days of Joiakim were prieſts, the chief of the fathers: of Seraiah, Meraiah: of Jeremiah, Hananiah:
13 Of Ezra, Meſhullam: of Amariah, Jehohanan:
14 Of Melicu, Jonathan: of Shebaniah, Joſeph:
15 Of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai;
16 Of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meſhullam;
17 Of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of Moadiah, Piltai;
18 Of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan;
19 And of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi;
20 Of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber;
21 Of Hilkiah, Haſhabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethaneel;
22 The Levites in the days of Eliaſhib, Joiada, and Johanan, and Jaddua, were recorded chief of the fathers; alſo the prieſts, to the reign of Darius the Perſian.
23 The ſons of Levi, the chief of the fathers, were written in the book of the chronicles, even until the days of Johanan the ſon of Eliaſhib.
24 And the chief of the Levites; Haſhabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeſhua the ſon of Kadmiel, with their brethren over againſt them, to praiſe and to give thanks, according to the commandment of David the man of God, ward over againſt ward.
25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meſhullam, Talmon, Akkub, were porters keeping the ward at the threſholds of the gates.
26 Theſe were in the days of Joiakim the ſon of Jeſhua, the ſon of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the prieſt, the ſcribe.
27 And at the dedication of the wall of Jeruſalem they ſought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Jeruſalem, to keep the dedication with gladneſs, both with thankſgivings, and with ſinging, with cymbals, pſalteries, and with harps.
28 And the ſons of the ſingers gathered themſelves together, both out of the plain country round about Jeruſalem, and from the villages of Netophathi;
29 Alſo from the houſe of Gilgal, and out of the fields of Geba, and Azmaveth: for the ſingers had builded them villages round about Jeruſalem.
30 And the prieſts and the Levites purified themſelves, and purified the people, and the gates and the wall.
31 Then I brought up the princes of Judah, upon the wall, and appointed two great companies of them that gave thanks, whereof one went on the right hand upon the wall, toward the dung-gate;
32 And after them went Hoſhaiah, and half of the princes of Judah,
33 And Azariah, Ezra, and Meſhullam,
34 Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah;
35 And certain of the prieſts' ſons with trumpets; namely, Zechariah, the ſon of Jonathan, the ſon of Shemaiah, the ſon of Mattaniah, the ſon of Michaiah, the ſon of Zaccur, the ſon of Aſaph;
36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azarael, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the muſical inſtruments of David the man of God, and Ezra the ſcribe before them.
37 And at the fountain-gate, which was over againſt them, they went up by the ſtairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall, above the houſe of David, even unto the water-gate eaſtward.
38 And the other company of them that gave thanks went over againſt them, and I after them, and the half of the people upon the wall, from beyond the tower of the furnaces even unto the broad wall:
39 And from above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fiſh-gate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, even unto the ſheep gate: and they ſtood ſtill in the priſon gate.
40 So ſtood the two companies of them that gave thanks in the houſe of God, and I, and the half of the rulers with me:
41 And the prieſts; Eliakim, Maaſeiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets;
42 And Maaſeiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchijah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the ſingers ſang loud, with Jezrahiah their overſeer.
43 Alſo that day they offered great ſacrifices, and rejoiced; for God had made them rejoice with great joy: the wives alſo and the children rejoiced; ſo that the joy of Jeruſalem was heard even afar off.
44 ¶ And at that time were ſome appointed over the chambers for the treaſures, for the offerings, for the firſt-fruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them, out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the law for the prieſts and Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the prieſts and for the Levites that waited.
45 And both the ſingers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification, according to the command of David, and of Solomon his ſon.
46 For in the days of David and Aſaph of old, there were chief of the ſingers, and ſongs of praiſe and thankſgiving unto God.
47 And all Iſrael, in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, gave the portions of the ſingers and the porters every day his portion; and they ſanctified holy things unto the Levites, and the Levites ſanctified them unto the children of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

11 Jaddua.) This is the ſame Jaddua who went to meet Alexander the Great, in his pontifical habit, as he was coming to Jeruſalem from the conqueſt of Tyre and Gaza, and procured great privileges for the Jewiſh nation.

27 And at the dedication of the wall of Jeruſalem.) As Moſes dedicated the tabernacle in the wilderneſs, and Solomon the houſe of the Lord when it was firſt built, ſo Nehemiah, having put all things in good order, built the walls, and ſet up the gates, thought proper to dedicate the city, as a place which God himſelf had choſen, and ſanctified by his temple and gracious preſence; and by this dedication to reſtore it to him again after it had been laid waſte, and profaned by the devaſtations of the heathens.

47 And they ſanctified holy things unto the Levites, and the Levites ſanctified them unto the children of Aaron.) That is, the people ſeparated, and ſet apart the tenth part of their harveſt for the uſe of the Levites: and the Levites ſeparated from their tithes the tenth part of them for the prieſts; according to the law delivered by Moſes.

1 Separation made from the mixed multitude. 4 Nehemiah's return, and regulations.

ON that day they read in the book of Moſes in the audience of the people; and therein was found written, that the Ammonite and the Moabite ſhould not come into the congregation of God for ever;

2 Becauſe they met not the children of Iſrael with bread and with water, but hired Balaam againſt them, that he ſhould curſe them: howbeit our God turned the curſe into a bleſſing.

3 Now it came to paſs when they had heard the law, that they ſeparated from Iſrael all the mixed multitude.

4 ¶ And before this, Eliaſhib the prieſt, having the overſight of the chamber of the houſe of our God, was allied unto Tobiah:

5 And he had prepared for him a great chamber, where aforetime they laid the meat-offerings, the frankincenſe, and the veſſels, and the tithes of the corn, the new wine, and the oil, which was commanded to be given to the Levites, and the ſingers, and the porters: and the offerings of the prieſts.

6 But in all this time was not I at Jeruſalem, for in the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon came I unto the king, and after certain days obtained I leave of the king.

7 And I came to Jeruſalem, and underſtood of the evil that Eliaſhib did for Tobiah, in preparing him a chamber in the courts of the houſe of God.

8 And it grieved me ſore: therefore I caſt forth all the houſhold ſtuff of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 Then I commanded, and they cleanſed the chambers: and thither brought I again the veſſels of the houſe of God, with the meat-offering and the frankincenſe.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: for the Levites and the ſingers that did the work were fled every one to his field.

11 Then contended I with the rulers, and ſaid, Why is the houſe of God forſaken? and I gathered them together, and ſet them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithe of the corn and the new wine, and the oil unto the treaſuries.

13 And I made treaſurers over the treaſuries, Shelemiah the prieſt, and Zadok the ſcribe, and of the Levites Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan the ſon of Zaccur, the ſon of Mattaniah; for they were counted faithful, and their office was to diſtribute unto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and wipe not out my good deeds that I have done for the houſe of my God, and for the offices thereof.

15 In thoſe days ſaw I in Judah ſome treading wine-preſſes on the ſabbath, and bringing in ſheaves, and lading aſſes; as alſo wine, grapes, and figs, and all manner of burdens, which they brought into Jeruſalem on the ſabbath-day; and I teſtified againſt them in the day wherein they ſold victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyre alſo therein, which brought fiſh, and all manner of ware, and ſold on the ſabbath unto the children of Judah, and in Jeruſalem.

17 Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and ſaid unto them, What evil thing is this that ye do, and profane the ſabbath-day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and did not our God bring all this evil upon us, and upon this city? yet ye bring more wrath upon Iſrael by profaning the ſabbath.

19 And it came to paſs, that when the gates of Jeruſalem began to be dark before the ſabbath, I commanded that the gates ſhould be ſhut, and charged that they ſhould not be opened till after the ſabbath: and ſome of my ſervants ſet I at the gates, that there ſhould no burden be brought in on the ſabbath-day.

20 So the merchants, and ſellers of all kind of ware, lodged without Jeruſalem once or twice.

21 Then I teſtified againſt them, and ſaid unto them, Why lodge ye about the wall? if ye do ſo again, I will lay hands on you. From that time forth came they no more on the ſabbath.

22 And I commanded the Levites, that they ſhould cleanſe themſelves, and that they ſhould come and keep the gates, to ſanctify the ſabbath-day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this alſo, and ſpare me according

Commentary on Chap. XIII.

1 And therein was found written, that the Ammonite and the Moabite ſhould not come into the congregation of God for ever.) Thoſe who think that by the congregation of God is mean the public aſſemblies of divine worſhip, are greatly miſtaken; for no man of any nation was forbidden to come and pray to God in the temple. On the contrary, men of all nations, if willing to become proſelytes, were admitted into the Jewiſh communion; and if they ſubmitted to be circumciſed, were allowed to eat the paſſover, and to enjoy all the privileges of true Iſraelites, except with regard to marriage; and therefore this phraſe of not entering into the congregation of the Lord, muſt be underſtood to mean no more than a prohibition of marriage; for according to the Rabbins, no Iſraelite, of either ſex, was to contract marriage with any Gentile of what nation ſoever, unleſs firſt converted to their religion, and become entire proſelytes to it; and, even in that caſe, ſome were debarred from it for ever, others only in part, and others again only for a limited time. Of the firſt ſort were all the ſeven nations of the Canaanites, Deut. vii. of the ſecond ſort were the Moabites and the Ammonites, whoſe males were excluded for ever, but not their females; and of the third ſort were the Edomites and Egyptians, with whom the Jews were not permitted to marry, until the third generation; but with all others they might freely make inter-marriages, whenever they became thoroughly proſelyted to their religion.

4 And before this Eliaſhib, the prieſt, having the overſight of the chamber of the houſe of our God, was allied unto Tobiah.) Some imagine that this Eliaſhib was no more than a common prieſt, becauſe he is ſaid to have had the overſight of the chamber of the houſe of God, which they pretend, was an office too mean for the high prieſt. But it is natural to ſuppoſe, that this implied the whole government of the temple which certainly belonged to the high prieſt. Nor can I conceive how any perſon, leſs than abſolute governor of the whole temple, could make ſo great an innovation in it, as we find from the following verſes he did. He indeed, aſſiſted in repairing the walls of the city; but this is the only act recorded of him, that had any tendency to reforming what was amiſs, either in church or ſtate, during the governments of Ezra and Nehemiah: and yet it is very natural to think, that had he done any thing worth notice it would not have been omitted. On the contrary, we find (Ezra x. 18) that the pontifical houſe was in his time grown very corrupt; and, not improbably by his connivance, began to admit heathen families, (Nehemiah xiii. 28.) It ſeems moſt probable, that Eliaſhib the high prieſt was the author of the following profanation of the houſe of God; but he might die before Nehemiah returned from Babylon; for we hear nothing of the governor's reprehending him for it, which he doubtleſs would otherwiſe have done.

8 And it grieved me ſore, &c.) He was filled with ſorrow and indignation at ſeeing a ſtranger, nay, an enemy to the Iſraelites, brought into a part of the temple that none of the ſons of Jacob, except the prieſts were permitted to enter; and even the holy things removed, to make room for the houſhold ſtuff of this Ammonite: and what was ſtill a greater aggravation of the crime was, that all this was done by the high prieſt himſelf, who ought to have oppoſed ſuch an attempt with all his power.

22 And I commanded the Levites, that they ſhould cleanſe themſelves—and keep the gates, &c.) It was natural to think that the Levites, by virtue of their character, would meet with more deference and reſpect than his domeſtic ſervants. Beſides, as he was determined to continue this watch till the cuſtom of admitting dealers into the city on the ſabbath-day was quite broken, he appointed the Levites to this ſervice, that they might continue it when he and his ſervants were gone from Jeruſalem, cording to the greatneſs of thy mercy.

23 ¶ In thoſe days alſo I ſaw Jews that had married wives of Aſhdod, of Ammon, and of Moab:

24 And their children ſpake half in the ſpeech of Aſhdod, and could not ſpeak in the Jews language, but according to the language of each people.

25 And I contended with them, and curſed them, and ſmote certain of them, and plucked off their hair, and made them ſwear by God, ſaying, Ye ſhall not give your daughters unto their ſons, nor take their daughters unto your ſons, or for yourſelves

26 Did not Solomon, king of Iſrael, ſin by theſe things? yet among many nations was there no king like him, who was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Iſrael: neverthleſs, even him did outlandiſh women cauſe to ſin.

27 Shall we then hearken unto you to do all this great evil, to tranſgreſs againſt our God, in marrying ſtrange wives?

28 And one of the ſons of Joiada, the ſon of Eliaſhib the high prieſt, was ſon-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite: therefore I chaſed him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, becauſe they have defiled the prieſthood, and the covenant of the prieſthood, and of the Levites.

30 Thus cleanſed I them from all ſtrangers, and appointed the wards of the prieſts and the Levites, every one in his buſineſs;

31 And for the wood-offering, at times appointed, and for the firſt-fruits, Remember me, O my God, for good.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Book of Eſther contains the hiſtory of a Jewiſh virgin of that name, who was a kinſwoman of Mordecai, a Jew, dwelling at Shuſhan, in the reign of Ahaſuerus, one of the kings of Perſia. Her tranſcendent beauty advanced her to the throne of Perſia, and the bed of Ahaſuerus; and this gave her an opportunity, by her intereſt with the king, to ſave the lives of all her countrymen then in Perſia, whoſe deſtruction was plotted by Haman, a favourite of the king. Mordecai, who diſcovered the deſigns of Haman to the queen, &c. was advanced to the greateſt honours of the kingdom; and Haman, the enemy of the Jews, hanged on a gibbet of his own preparing.

CHAP. I.

1 Ahaſuerus maketh royal feaſts. 10 Vaſhti ſent for, refuſeth to come.

NOW it came to paſs, in the days of Ahaſuerus, (this is Ahaſuerus which reigned from India even unto Ethiopia, over an hundred and ſeven and twenty provinces,)

2 ¶ That in thoſe days, when the king Ahaſuerus ſat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in Shuſhan the palace,

3 In the third year of his reign, he made a feaſt unto all his princes, and his ſervants; the power of Perſia and Media, the nobles and princes of the provinces, being before him.

4 When he ſhewed the riches of his glorious kingdom, and the honour of his excellent majeſty, many days, even an hundred and fourſcore days.

5 And when theſe days were expired, the king made a feaſt unto all the people that were preſent in Shuſhan the palace, both unto great and ſmall, ſeven days, in the court of the garden of the king's palace.

6 Where were white, green, and blue hangings, faſtened with cords of fine linen and purple to ſilver rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold and ſilver, upon a pavement of red, and blue, and white, and black marble.

7 And they gave them drink in veſſels of gold, (the veſſels being diverſe one from another,) and royal wine in abundance, according to the ſtate of the king.

8 And the drinking was according to the law; none did compel: for ſo the king had appointed to all the officers of his houſe, that they ſhould do according to every man's pleaſure.

9 Alſo Vaſhti the queen made a feaſt for the women in the royal houſe, which belonged to king Ahaſuerus.

10 ¶ On the ſeventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the ſeven chamberlains that ſerved in the preſence of Ahaſuerus the king,

11 To bring Vaſhti the queen before the king, with the crown royal, to ſhew the people and the princes her beauty: for ſhe was fair to look on.

12 But the queen Vaſhti refuſed to come at the king's commandment by his chamberlains: therefore was the king very wroth, and his anger burned in him.

13 ¶ Then the king ſaid to the wiſe men which knew the times (for ſo was the king's manner toward all that knew law and judgment;

14 And the next unto him was Carſhena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarſhiſh, Meres, Marſena, and Memucan, the ſeven princes of Perſia and Media, which ſaw the king's face, and which ſat the firſt in the kingdom,)

15 What ſhall we do unto the queen Vaſhti, according to law, becauſe ſhe hath not performed the commandment of the king Ahaſuerus by the chamberlains?

16 And Memucan anſwered before the king and the princes, Vaſhti the queen hath not done wrong to the king only, but alſo to all the princes, and to all the people

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

2 When the king Ahaſuerus ſat on the throne of his kingdom.) That is, when he enjoyed peace and tranquility throughout his large dominions; for the hiſtory of his acceſſion to the throne is this—Xerxes, his father was privately murdered by Artabanes, captain of his guard. As ſoon as he had committed this horrid deed, he repaired to Ahaſuerus, who was the third ſon of Xerxes, and pretended that Darius his eldeſt brother had committed this parricide, in order to make his way to the throne, and intended alſo to ſet him off, to ſecure himſelf in the poſſeſſion of it. Ahaſuerus believing what Artabanes had told him was true, went immediately to his brother's apartment, and, by the aſſiſtance of this wicked perſon and his guards ſlew him, thinking he only acted in his own defence. The deſign of Artabanes was to uſurp the throne himſelf; but, for the preſent, he placed Ahaſuerus thereon, intending to depoſe him, as ſoon as matters were ripe for his own aſcent. But Magabyzus, who had married one of the ſiſters of Ahaſuerus, diſcovered to that monarch the whole plot; upon which Ahaſuerus cut off Artabanes and his whole party, before their treaſon was come to maturity: and it is very probable, that, to celebrate his deliverance, he appointed the extraordinary feaſt mentioned in the following verſes, and which the ſacred hiſtorian tells us continued an hundred and fourſcore days.

6 The beds were of gold and ſilver.) It was the cuſtom of the Eaſt to ſit, or rather lie on beds or couches at their meat. The beds themſelves were of the ſofteſt wool, but the bedſteads were of gold and ſilver, or overlaid with plates of theſe coſtly metals.

people that are in all the provinces of the king Ahaſuerus.

17 For this deed of the queen ſhall come abroad to all women, ſo that they ſhall deſpiſe their huſbands in their eyes, when it ſhall be reported, The king Ahaſuerus commanded Vaſhti the queen to be brought in before him, but ſhe came not.

18 Likewiſe ſhall the ladies of Perſia and Media ſay this day unto all the kings' princes, which have heard of the deed of the queen. Thus ſhall there ariſe too much contempt and wrath.

19 If it pleaſe the king, let there go a royal commandment from him, and let it be written among the laws of the Perſians and the Medes that it be not altered, that Vaſhti come no more before king Ahaſuerus; and let the king give her royal eſtate unto another that is better than ſhe.

20 And when the king's decree, which he ſhall make, ſhall be publiſhed throughout all his empire, (for it is great,) all the wives ſhall give to their huſbands honour, both to great and ſmall.

21 And the ſaying pleaſed the king and the princes; and the king did according to the word of Memucan:

22 For he ſent letters into all the king's provinces, into every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people, after their language, that every man ſhould bear rule in his own houſe; and that it ſhould be publiſhed according to the language of every people.

CHAP. II.

Out of the choice of virgins a queen to be choſen:

AFTER theſe things, when the wrath of king Ahaſuerus was appeaſed, he remembered Vaſhti, and what ſhe had done, and what was decreed againſt her.

2 Then ſaid the king's ſervants that miniſtered unto him, Let there be fair young virgins ſought for the king:

3 And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto Shuſhan the palace, to the houſe of the women, unto the cuſtody of Hege the king's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let their things for purification be given them:

4 And let the maiden which pleaſeth the king be queen inſtead of Vaſhti. And the thing pleaſed the king, and he did ſo.

5 ¶ Now, in Shuſhan the palace there was a certain Jew, whoſe name was Mordecai, the ſon of Jair, the ſon of Shimei, the ſon of Kiſh, a Benjamite,

6 Who had been carried away from Jeruſalem, with the captivity which had been carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away,

7 And he brought up Hadaſſah (that is Eſther) his uncle's daughter: for ſhe had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai (when her father and mother were dead) took for his own daughter.

8 ¶ So it came to paſs, when the king's commandment and his decree was heard, and when many maidens were gathered together unto Shuſhan the palace, to the cuſtody of Hegai, that Eſther was brought alſo unto the king's houſe, to the cuſtody of Hegai, the keeper of the women.

9 And the maiden pleaſed him, and ſhe obtained kindneſs of him: and he ſpeedily gave her her things for purification, with ſuch things as belonged to her, and ſeven maidens, which were meet to be given her, out of the king's houſe: and he preferred her and her maids to the beſt place of the houſe of the women.

10 Eſther had not ſhewed her people nor her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that ſhe ſhould not ſhew it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the women's houſe, to know how Eſther did, and what ſhould become of her.

12 Now when every maid's turn was come to go in to king Ahaſuerus, after that ſhe had been twelve months, according to the manner of the women, (for ſo were the days of their purifications accompliſhed, to wit, ſix months with oil of myrrh, and ſix months with ſweet odours, and with other things for the purifying of the women,)

13 Then thus came every maiden unto the king; whatſoever ſhe deſired was given her, to go with her out of the houſe of the women unto the king's houſe.

14 In the evening ſhe went, and on the morrow ſhe returned into the ſecond houſe of the women, to the cuſtody of Shaaſhgaz the king's chamberlain, which kept the concubines: ſhe came in unto the king no more, except the king delighted in her, and that ſhe were called by name.

15 ¶ Now when the turn of Eſther, the daughter of Abihail, the uncle of Mordecai, (who had taken her for his daughter,) was come to go in unto the king, ſhe required nothing but what Hegai the king's chamberlain, the keeper of the women appointed: and Eſther obtained favour in the ſight of all them that looked upon her.

16 So Eſther was taken unto king Ahaſuerus into his houſe royal in the tenth month (which is the month Tebeth,) in the ſeventh year of his reign.

17 And the king loved Eſther above all the women, and ſhe obtained grace and favour in his ſight more than all the virgins; ſo that he ſet the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen inſtead of Vaſhti.

18 Then the king made a great feaſt unto all his princes and his ſervants, even Eſther's feaſt; and he made a releaſe to the provinces, and gave gifts according to the ſtate of the king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered together the ſecond time, then Mordecai ſat in the king's gate.

20 Eſther had not yet ſhewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Eſther did the commandment of Mordecai, like as when ſhe was brought up with him.

21 In thoſe days (while Mordecai ſat in the king's gate) two of the king's chamberlains, Bigthan and Tereſh, of thoſe which kept the door, were wroth, and

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

16 So Eſther was taken unto king Ahaſuerus into his houſe royal.) She was not, like the reſt, ſent back in the morning to the ſecond houſe of the women, but kept in the royal houſe, the king intending to make her more than a concubine. According to this account of things, the Perſian monarch ſeems to have had but one wife, at leaſt but one in favour and eſteem with him; though it is certain he had an infinite number of ſecondary wives, or concubines; for ſuch was every one that was taken from among the virgins, and conducted to the king's bed; from which ſhe was carried in the morning to the houſe of the women, or concubines, and there treated with all the ſtate and ſplendor of an eaſtern court, being accounted one of the king's ſecondary wives. No man was permitted to marry them; and on the king's deceaſe they became the property of his ſucceſſor.

19 And when the virgins were gathered together the ſecond time, then Mordecai ſat in the king's gate.) It muſt not be ſuppoſed that there was another inquiſition of virgins after Eſther was advanced to the Perſian throne; the ſacred hiſtorian only here repeats what he had ſaid before, in order to connect the former with the latter parts of this narrative, informing us, that while this inquiſition of virgins was making Mordecai ſat in the king's gate, and fortunately diſcovered the plot formed againſt the king's life, as related in the following verſes.

ſought to lay hand on the king Ahaſuerus.

22 And the thing was known to Mordecai, who told it Eſther the queen; and Eſther certified the king thereof in Mordecai's name.

23 And when inquiſition was made of the matter, it was found out; therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the book of the chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman advanced by the king, and deſpiſed by Mordecai, ſeeketh revenge upon all the Jews.

AFTER theſe things did king Ahaſuerus promote Haman the ſon of Hammedatha the Agagite, and advanced him, and ſet his ſeat above all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the king's ſervants that were in the king's gate, bowed, and reverenced Haman: for the king had ſo commanded concerning him. But Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence.

3 Then the king's ſervants which were in the king's gate, ſaid unto Mordecai, Why tranſgreſſeſt thou the king's commandment?

4 Now it came to paſs, when they ſpake daily unto him, and he hearkened not unto them; that they told Haman, to ſee whether Mordecai's matters would ſtand: for he had told them that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman ſaw that Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence, then was Haman full of wrath,

6 And he thought ſcorn to lay hands on Mordecai alone; for they had ſhewed him the people of Mordecai: wherefore Haman ſought to deſtroy all the Jews that were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahaſuerus, even the people of Mordecai.

7 In the firſt month, that is the month Niſan, in the twelfth year of king Ahaſuerus, they caſt Pur, that is, the lot, before Haman, from day to day, and from month to month, to the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar.

8 And Haman ſaid unto king Ahaſuerus, There is a certain people ſcattered abroad and diſperſed among the people, in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverſe from all people; neither keep they the king's laws: therefore it is not for the king's profit to ſuffer them.

9 If it pleaſe the king, let it be written that they may be deſtroyed; and I will pay ten thouſand talents of ſilver to the hands of thoſe that have the charge of the buſineſs, to bring it unto the king's treaſuries.

10 And the king took his ring from his hand, and gave it unto Haman the ſon of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jews enemy.

11 And the king ſaid unto Haman, The ſilver is given to thee, the people alſo, to do with them as it ſeemeth good to thee.

12 Then were the king's ſcribes called on the thirteenth day of the firſt month, and there was written according to all that Haman had commanded unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors that were over every province, and to the rulers of every people of every province, according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language; in the name of king Ahaſuerus was it written, and ſealed with the king's ring.

13 And the letters were ſent by poſts into all the king's provinces, to deſtroy, to kill, and to cauſe to periſh all Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day, even upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, (which is the month of Adar,) and to take the ſpoil of them for a prey.

14 The copy of the writing, for a commandment to be given in every province, was publiſhed unto all people, that they ſhould be ready againſt that day.

15 The poſts went out, being haſtened by the king's commandment; and the decree was given in Shuſhan the palace. And the king and Haman ſat down to drink; but the city Shuſhan was perplexed.

CHAP. IV.

1 Mordecai and the Jews mourn. 15 Eſther appointeth a faſt.

WHEN Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on ſackcloth with aſhes, and went out into the midſt of the city, and cried with a loud and a bitter cry;

2 And came even before the king's gate: for none might enter into the king's gate clothed with ſackcloth.

3 And in every province, whitherſoever the king's commandment and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews, and faſting, and weeping, and wailing; and many lay in ſackcloth and aſhes.

4 So Eſther's maids and her chamberlains came and told it her. Then was the queen exceedingly grieved; and ſhe ſent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his ſackcloth from him: but he received it not.

5 Then called Eſther for Hatach, one of the king's chamberlains, whom he had appointed to attend upon her, and gave him a commandment to Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai, unto the ſtreet of the city, which was before the king's gate:

7 And Mordecai told him of all that had happened unto him, and of the ſum of the money that Haman had promiſed to pay to the king's treaſuries for the Jews, to deſtroy them.

8 Alſo he gave him the copy of the writing of the decree that was given at Shuſhan to deſtroy them, to ſhew it unto Eſther, and to declare it unto her, and to charge her that ſhe ſhould go in unto the king, to make ſupplication unto him, and to make requeſt before him for her people.

9 And Hatach came and told Eſther the words of Mordecai.

10 ¶ Again Eſther ſpake unto Hatach, and gave

Commentary on Chap. III.

2 But Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence.) Probably becauſe he was one of the ſeven nations devoted by God to deſtruction, and with whom therefore the Jews would neither contract friendſhip, nor ſhew them any kindneſs, remembering the injuries the Amalekites did their fathers when they came out of the land of Egypt, Deut. xxv. 18, 19. But the true reaſon for Mordecai's behaviour ſeems to have flowed from a determined reſolution not to prefer the glory of man to the glory of God, nor adore any but the Lord alone.

7 In the firſt month—they caſt—the lot—before Haman, from day to day, and from month to month, to the twelfth month.) It was a cuſtom among the Orientals not to undertake any buſineſs, or affair of importance, without caſting lots in an urn, to enquire what days would be fortunate, and what unlucky; and according to this ſuperſtition, Haman endeavoured to diſcover what days was moſt favourable, and what moſt unfortunate to the Jews. And by this means the deſtruction of the Jews was delayed till the laſt month of the year; an evident proof that though the lot be caſt in the lap, yet the whole diſpoſing thereof is from the Lord, Prov. xvi. 33. For hereby almoſt a whole year intervened between the deſign and its execution, which gave time for Mordecai to acquaint queen Eſther with it, and for her to intercede with the king for revoking or ſuſpending the decree, and, conſequently of diſappointing the conſpiracy.

him commandment unto Mordecai;

11 All the king's ſervants, and the people of the king's provinces, do know, that whoſoever, whether man or woman, ſhall come unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death, except ſuch to whom the king ſhall hold out the golden ſceptre, that he may live: but I have not been called to come in unto the king theſe thirty days.

12 And they told to Mordecai Eſther's words.

13 Then Mordecai commanded to anſwer Eſther, Think not with thyſelf that thou ſhalt eſcape in the king's houſe more than all the Jews.

14 For if thou altogether holdeſt thy peace at this time, then ſhall there enlargement and deliverance ariſe to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's houſe ſhall be deſtroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for ſuch a time as this?

15 ¶ Then Eſther bade them return Mordecai this anſwer;

16 Go gather together all the Jews that are preſent in Shuſhan, and faſt ye for me, and neither eat nor drink three days, night nor day: I alſo and my maidens will faſt likewiſe; and ſo will I go in unto the king, which is not according to the law; and if I periſh, I periſh.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Eſther had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

Eſther obtaining the king's favour, inviteth the king and Haman to a banquet.

NOW it came to paſs on the third day that Eſther put on her royal apparel, and ſtood in the inner court of the king's houſe, over againſt the king's houſe: and the king ſat upon his royal throne in the royal houſe, over againſt the gate of the houſe.

2 And it was ſo when the king ſaw Eſther the queen ſtanding in the court, that ſhe obtained favour in his ſight: and the king held out to Eſther the golden ſceptre that was in his hand. So Eſther drew near, and touched the top of the ſceptre.

3 Then ſaid the king unto her, What wilt thou, queen Eſther? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhall be even given thee to the half of the kingdom.

4 And Eſther anſwered, If it ſeem good unto the king, let the king and Haman come this day unto the banquet that I have prepared for him.

5 Then the king ſaid, Cauſe Haman to make haſte, that he may do as Eſther hath ſaid. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Eſther had prepared.

6 And the king ſaid unto Eſther at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition? and it ſhall be granted thee: and what is thy requeſt? even to the half of the kingdom it ſhall be performed.

7 Then anſwered Eſther, and ſaid, My petition and my requeſt is.

8 If I have found favour in the ſight of the king, and if it pleaſe the king to grant my petition, and to perform my requeſt, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I ſhall prepare for them, and I will do to-morrow as the king hath ſaid.

9 Then went Haman forth that day, joyful, and with a glad heart: but when Haman ſaw Mordecai in the king's gate, that he ſtood not up, nor moved for him, he was full of indignation againſt Mordecai.

10 Nevertheleſs, Haman refrained himſelf: and when he came home, he ſent and called for his friends, and Zereſh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had promoted him, and how he had advanced him above the princes and ſervants of the king.

12 Haman ſaid moreover, Yea, Eſther the queen did let no man come in with the king unto the banquet that ſhe had prepared, but myſelf: and to-morrow am I invited unto her alſo with the king.

13 Yet all this availeth me nothing, ſo long as I ſee Mordecai the Jew ſitting at the king's gate.

14 Then ſaid Zereſh his wife, and all his friends unto him, Let a gallows be made of fifty cubits high, and to-morrow ſpeak thou unto the king that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then go thou in merrily with the king unto the banquet. And the thing pleaſed Haman, and he cauſed the gallows to be made.

CHAP. VI.

1 Ahaſuerus rewardeth Mordecai. 10 Haman commanded to do him honour.

ON that night could not the king ſleep, and he commanded to bring the book of words of the chronicles; and they were read before the king.

2 And it was found written, That Mordecai had told of Bigthana and Tereſh, two of the king's chamberlains, the keepers of the doors, who ſought to lay hand on the king Ahaſuerus.

3 And the king ſaid, What honour and dignity hath been done to Mordecai for this? Then ſaid the

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

11 Whoever—ſhall come in unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death.) Herodotus informs us, that for the preſervation of royal majeſty it was enacted, in the reign of Darius king of Media, that, no perſon ſhould be admitted into the king's preſence, but that, if he had any buſineſs with him, he ſhould tranſact it by the intercourſe of his miniſters. This cuſtom paſſed from the Medes to the Perſians, and therefore, was not procured by Haman, as ſome have imagined; tho' doubtleſs, the reaſon of the law, at firſt, was not only to ſecure the king's perſon, but alſo to ſupport the power of ſome great officers of ſtate, by having only the privilege of ſpeaking to the king themſelves, and ſuch as they thought proper to introduce.

16 If I periſh, I periſh.) I am content to venture my life in ſo good a cauſe; and well know, that if I loſe a mortal, I ſhall gain an immortal life, and exchange the momentary pleaſures of this ſhort exiſtence for the unſpeakable raptures of eternity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 And the king held out to Eſther the golden ſceptre.) A ſceptre was the enſign of the higheſt and moſt abſolute authority; and therefore ſome have obſerved, that when Mordecai was advanced to the greateſt dignity, next to the king, being clothed in the royal robes, and other enſigns of ſupreme dignity, no mention is made of any ſceptre, that being proper and peculiar to the king only.

13 All this availeth me nothing, ſo long as I ſee Mordecai the Jew ſitting at the king's gate.) What trifling circumſtances will ruin all the ſatisfaction of thoſe, who to appearance, are arrived at the pinnacle of human felicity! Immenſe riches, with the glory and honours of the Perſian court, were diſtaſteful to Haman, for no other reaſon than the refuſal of homage from one private man; though, at the ſame time, his ſpeaking a ſingle word to the king would have been ſufficient to have laid his enemy in the duſt, if his pride and paſſion had not ſo far blinded his reaſon as not to be contented without the deſtruction of a whole people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 On that night could not the king ſleep.) Affairs now begin to take a very different and ſurpriſing turn; Divine Providence ſo ordering it, that the king ſhould take no reſt during that night; and inſtead of diverting himſelf with muſic, &c. he ordered the records of his kingdom to be brought and read before him.

king's ſervants that miniſtered unto him, There is nothing done for him

4 And the king ſaid, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the outward court of the king's houſe, to ſpeak unto the king to hang Mordecai on the gallows he had prepared for him.)

5 And the king's ſervants ſaid unto him, Behold Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſaid, Let him come in.

6 So Haman came in. And the king ſaid unto him, What ſhall be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour? (Now Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king delight to do honour more than to myſelf?)

7 And Haman anſwered the king, For the man whom the king delighteth to honour,

8 Let the royal apparel be brought which the king uſeth to wear, and the horſe that the king rideth upon, and the crown royal which is ſet upon his head:

9 And let this apparel and horſe be delivered to the hand of one of the king's moſt noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horſeback through the ſtreet of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus ſhall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

10 Then the king ſaid to Haman, Make haſte, and take the apparel and the horſe, as thou haſt ſaid, and do even ſo to Mordecai the Jew, that ſitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 Then took Haman the apparel, and the horſe, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horſeback through the ſtreet of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus ſhall it be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

12 ¶ And Mordecai came again to the king's gate: but Haman haſted to his houſe, mourning and having his head covered.

13 And Haman told Zereſh his wife and all his friends every thing that had befallen him. Then ſaid his wiſe men and Zereſh his wife unto him, If Mordecai be of the ſeed of the Jews, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou ſhalt not prevail againſt him but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him came the king's chamberlains, and haſted to bring Haman unto the banquet that Eſther had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

1 Eſther ſueth for her own life, and her people. 7 The king cauſeth Haman to be hanged on his own gallows.

SO the king and Haman came to banquet with Eſther the queen.

2 And the king ſaid again unto Eſther on the ſecond day, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, queen Eſther? and it ſhall be granted thee: and what is thy requeſt? and it ſhall be performed even to the half of the kingdom.

3 Then Eſther the queen anſwered and ſaid, if I have found favour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſold, I and my people to be deſtroyed, to be ſlain, and to periſh: but if we had been ſold for bond-men and bond-women I had held my tongue, although the enemy could not countervail the king's damage.

5 Then the king Ahaſuerus anſwered and ſaid unto Eſther the queen, Who is he, and where is he, that durſt preſume in his heart to do ſo?

6 And Eſther ſaid, The adverſary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the queen.

7 ¶ And the king ariſing from the banquet of wine in his wrath, went into the palace-garden: and Haman ſtood up to make requeſt for his life to Eſther the queen: for he ſaw that there was evil determined againſt him by the king.

8 Then the king returned out of the palace-garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Eſther was. Then ſaid the king, Will he force the queen alſo before me in the houſe? As the word went out of the king's mouth they covered Haman's face.

9 And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, ſaid before the king, Behold alſo the gallows, fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had ſpoken good for the king, ſtandeth in the houſe of Haman. Then the king ſaid, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified.

---

11 Then took Haman the apparel and the horſe, &c.) Nothing certainly could cut a proud man more to the heart than to be employed in ſuch an office: but the king's command was poſitive, ſo that Haman was forced to obey, how much ſoever it might go againſt the grain.

13 If Mordecai be of the ſeed of the Jews, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou ſhalt not prevail againſt him, &c.) Mordecai had declared himſelf a Jew, to ſatisfy the people at court that he could not, with a good conſcience, comply with the king's command, relating to the reverence which was to be paid to Haman: and the interpoſition of Providence in favour of the Jewiſh nation, even during their captivity, had been ſo viſible, that the wiſe-men about Haman might, from experience, form a conjecture, that if their God was become their friend (as this turn of affairs in favour of Mordecai ſeemed to indicate) no weapon forged againſt them would proſper, becauſe they had ſeen ſo many plots, which would have cruſhed any other nation, turn to their advantage, as well as their enemies deſtruction: and conſequently that the deſperate deſign, that was now formed againſt them, would never be executed; but on the contrary, the contrivers of it covered with ſhame and confuſion.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

5 Who is he? and where is he that durſt preſume in his heart to do ſo?) The king could not be perſuaded, that any man could entertain ſo vile a thought as to extirpate a whole people: a ſufficient proof that he did not conſider what decree he had ſigned, in favour of Haman, againſt the Jews; nor think that ſo great a number of innocent victims were to be ſacrificed, to ſatiate the rage of one man.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that was prepared for Mordecai.) Thus God returned the wickedneſs of Haman on his own head, and the gallows he had prepared for his enemy was uſed for his own execution. It is very obſervable, that though we find, through the whole narrative, no extraordinary manifeſtation of the power of Jehovah, no particular cauſe or agent that conducted the affair in a manner ſuperior to nature; yet the contrivance, or adapting thoſe ordinary agents, is, in itſelf, more wonderful than if the effect had been produced by means truly miraculous. That a king ſhould not ſleep, is no unuſual thing; nor that he ſhould divert his waking thoughts in hearing the annals of his kingdom, or the journals of his own reign, read to him; but that ſleep ſhould fly from his eyelids, at the very juncture of time when Haman was watching to deſtroy the Jews, and that in ſo large a book as the chronicles of his kingdom muſt neceſſarily be, they ſhould light on the place where Mordecai's unrewarded ſervices were recorded; that the king ſhould immediately reſolve to do him honour; and that Haman ſhould come in at the very inſtant of time, to determine what honour ſhould be done him, and be himſelf appointed to confer it; theſe are events that could not flow from chance, but muſt be directed by the great Shepherd of Iſrael, who neither ſlumbers nor ſleeps, and was truly marvellous in the ſight of his people. And though miracles, in their nature, are more apt to ſtrike the ſenſes, yet ſuch ſecret contrivances of God's wiſdom and providence have a greater effect upon the underſtanding: the one produces aſtoniſhment, the other admiration.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Mordecai is advanced. 7 Ahaſuerus granteth to the Jews to defend themſelves. 15 Mordecai's honour, and the Jews joy.

ON that day did the king Ahaſuerus give the houſe of Haman the Jews enemy, unto Eſther the queen: and Mordecai came before the king; for Eſther had told what he was unto her.

2 And the king took off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai. And Eſther ſet Mordecai over the houſe of Haman.

3 And Eſther ſpake yet again before the king, and fell down at his feet, and beſought him with tears to put away the miſchief of Haman the Agagite, and his device that he hath deviſed againſt the Jews.

4 Then the king held out the golden ſceptre toward Eſther. So Eſther aroſe, and ſtood before the king,

5 And ſaid, If it pleaſe the king, and if I have found favour in his ſight, and the thing ſeem right before the king, and I be pleaſing in his eyes, let it be written to reverſe the letters deviſed by Haman the ſon of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to deſtroy the Jews which are in all the king's provinces.

6 For how can I endure to ſee the evil that ſhall come unto my people? or how can I endure to ſee the deſtruction of my kindred?

7 ¶ Then the king Ahaſuerus ſaid unto Eſther the queen, and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I have given Eſther the houſe of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, becauſe he laid his hand upon the Jews.

8 Write ye alſo for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and ſeal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and ſealed with the king's ring, may no man reverſe.

9 Then were the king's ſcribes called at that time in the third month, that is the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded, unto the Jews, and to the lieutenants, and the deputies, and rulers of the provinces, which are from India unto Ethiopia, an hundred twenty and ſeven provinces, unto every province according to the writing thereof, and unto every people after their language, and to the Jews according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahaſuerus' name, and ſealed it with the king's ring, and ſent letters by poſt on horſeback, and riders on mules, camels, and young dromedaries:

11 Wherein the king granted the Jews which were in every city, to gather themſelves together, and to ſtand for their life, to deſtroy, to ſlay, and to cauſe to periſh all the power of the people and province that would aſſault them, both little ones and women, and to take the ſpoil of them for a prey;

12 Upon one day, in all the provinces of king Ahaſuerus, namely, upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar,

13 The copy of the writing for a commandment to be given in every province was publiſhed unto all people, and that the Jews ſhould be ready againſt that day to avenge themſelves on their enemies.

14 So the poſts that rode upon mules and camels went out, being haſtened and preſſed on by the king's commandment. And the decree was given at Shuſhan the palace.

15 ¶ And Mordecai went out from the preſence of the king in royal apparel of blue and white, and with a great crown of gold, and with a garment of fine linen, and purple; and the city of Shuſhan rejoiced and was glad:

16 The Jews had light, and gladneſs, and joy, and honour.

17 And in every province and in every city whitherſoever the king's commandment and his decree came, the Jews had joy and gladneſs, a feaſt and a good day. And many of the people of the land became Jews; for the fear of the Jews fell upon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Jews ſlay their enemies, with the ten ſons of Haman. 20 The two days of Purim are made feſtival.

NOW, in the twelfth month, (that is the month Adar,) on the thirteenth day of the ſame, when the king's commandment and his decree drew near to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to have power over them, (though it was turned to the contrary, that the Jews had rule over them that hated them,)

2 The Jews gathered themſelves together, in their cities, throughout all the provinces of the king Ahaſuerus, to lay hand on ſuch as ſought their hurt: and no man could withſtand them: for the fear of them fell upon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the provinces, and the lieutenants, and the deputies, and officers of the king helped the Jews; becauſe the fear of Mordecai fell upon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the king's houſe, and and his fame went out throughout all the provinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jews ſmote all their enemies with the ſtroke of the ſword, and ſlaughter, and deſtruction, and did what they would unto thoſe that hated them.

6 And in Shuſhan the palace the Jews ſlew and deſtroyed five hundred men.

7 And Parſhandatha, and Dalphon, and Aſpatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmaſhta, and Ariſai, and Aridai, and Vajezatha,

10 The ten ſons of Haman, the ſon of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews ſlew they; but on the ſpoil laid they not their hand.

11 On that day the number of thoſe that were ſlain in Shuſhan the palace was brought before the king.

12 And the king ſaid unto Eſther the queen, The Jews have ſlain and deſtroyed five hundred men in Shuſhan the palace, and the ten ſons of Haman; what have they done in the reſt of the king's provinces?

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

11 The king granted the Jews which were in every city, to gather themſelves together, and to ſtand for their life, &c.) It was reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that ſome out of hatred to the Jews, would be inclinable to obey Haman's decree; for though he himſelf was gone, yet it cannot be imagined, that all his friends and creatures periſhed with him. He might have a conſiderable party every where, and ſome of them ſo furiouſly enraged at his fall, that they would not fail, even at the hazard of their own lives, to ſhew their indignation againſt thoſe who were the occaſion of it: and therefore this ſecond decree, procured by Mordecai, gave them authority, if any attempt was made upon them, either by large numbers, or ſmall parties, not only to defend themſelves and repel them, but to make as great a ſlaughter of them as they were able, and even to take poſſeſſion of their goods, as Haman had procured them licence to ſeize thoſe of the Jews.

Now

Now what is thy petition? and it ſhall be granted thee; or what is thy requeſt further? and it ſhall be done.

13 Then ſaid Eſther, If it pleaſe the king, let it be granted to the Jews which are in Shuſhan to do to-morrow alſo according unto this day's decree, and let Haman's ten ſons be hanged upon the gallows.

14 And the king commanded it ſo to be done: and the decree was given at Shuſhan; and they hanged Haman's ten ſons.

15 For the Jews that were in Shuſhan gathered themſelves together on the fourteenth day alſo of the month Adar, and ſlew three hundred men at Shuſhan; but on the prey they laid not their hand.

16 But the other Jews that were in the king's provinces gathered themſelves together, and ſtood for their lives, and had reſt from their enemies, and ſlew of their foes ſeventy and five thouſand (but they laid not their hands on the prey.)

17 On the thirteenth day of the month Adar: and on the fourteenth day of the ſame reſted they, and made it a day of feaſting and gladneſs.

18 But the Jews that were at Shuſhan aſſembled together on the thirteenth day thereof, and on the fourteenth thereof: and on the fifteenth day of the ſame they reſted, and made it a day of feaſting and gladneſs.

19 Therefore the Jews of the villages that dwelt in the unwalled towns made the fourteenth day of the month Adar, a day of gladneſs and feaſting, and a good day, and of ſending portions one to another.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote theſe things, and ſent letters unto all the Jews that were in all the provinces of the king Ahaſuerus both nigh and far.

21 To ſtabliſh this among them, that they ſhould keep the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and the fifteenth day of the ſame, yearly,

22 As the days wherein the Jews reſted from their enemies, and the month which was turned unto them from ſorrow to joy, and from mourning into a good day; that they ſhould make them days of feaſting and joy, and of ſending portions one to another, and gifts to the poor.

23 And the Jews undertook to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written unto them;

24 Becauſe Haman the ſon of Hamedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had deviſed againſt the Jews to deſtroy them, and had caſt Pur (that is the lot) to conſume them, and to deſtroy them;

25 But when Eſther came before the king, he commanded by letters, that his wicked device which he deviſed againſt the Jews, ſhould return upon his own head, and that he and his ſons ſhould be hanged on the gallows.

26 Wherefore they called theſe days Purim, after the name of Pur: therefore for all the words of this letter, and of that which they had ſeen concerning this matter, and which had come unto them,

27 The Jews ordained, and took upon them, and upon their ſeed, and upon all ſuch as joined themſelves unto them, ſo as it ſhould not fail, that they would keep theſe two days according to their writing, and according to their appointed time every year;

28 And that theſe days ſhould be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city; and that theſe days of Purim ſhould not fail from among the Jews, nor the memorial of them periſh from their ſeed.

29 Then Eſther the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew wrote with all authority to confirm this ſecond letter of Purim.

30 And he ſent the letters unto all the Jews, to the hundred twenty and ſeven provinces of the kingdom of Ahaſuerus, with words of peace and truth,

31 To confirm theſe days of Purim in their times appointed, according as Mordecai the Jew and Eſther the queen had enjoined them, and as they had decreed for themſelves, and for their ſeed, the matters of the faſtings and their cry.

32 And the decree of Eſther confirmed theſe matters of Purim; and it was written in the book.

CHAP. X.

1 Ahaſuerus' greatneſs. 3 Mordecai's advancement.

AND the king Ahaſuerus laid a tribute upon the land, and upon the iſles of the ſea.

2 And all the acts of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the greatneſs of Mordecai, whereunto the king advanced him, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Perſia?

3 ¶ For Mordecai the Jew was next unto king Ahaſuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted of the multitude of his brethren, ſeeking the wealth of his people, and ſpeaking peace to all his ſeed.

Commentary on Chap. IX.

21 That they ſhould keep the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and the fifteenth day of the ſame yearly.) This is called the feaſt of Purim, from the Perſian word pur, which ſignifies a lot, becauſe of Haman's caſting lots, in order to divine which would be the moſt fortunate day for extirpating the Jews out of all the Perſian dominions. And this feaſt is, to this very day, celebrated by the Jews with ſome peculiar ceremonies.

Commentary on Chap. X.

2 And the king Ahaſuerus laid a tribute upon the land, and upon the iſles of the ſea.) That is, he laid a tax on every part of his dominions, both on the continent, and in the iſlands over which his power extended.

3 Seeking the wealth of his people, and ſpeaking peace to all his ſeed.) The greatneſs to which Mordecai was advanced in the court of Perſia, did not divert his attention from his brethren; but he made it his ſtudy to do them all the ſervice in his power.

THE BOOK OF

J O B.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book contains a narrative of a ſeries of misfortunes which happened to Job, the moſt extraordinary perhaps that ever happened to any man, the encomium of that extraordinary patience with which he bore them, and the conferences he had with his friends on the ſubject of his misfortunes. It is far from being agreed, among the learned, who was the author of this maſterly performance, for ſuch it undoubtedly is. Some aſcribe it to Job himſelf, ſome to Solomon, and ſome to Ezra: but their opinion ſeems beſt founded who impute it to Moſes.

CHAP. I.

1 The uprightneſs of Job; his wealth; his religious care for his children. 6 Satan appearing before God, obtaineth leave to tempt him.

THERE was a man in the land of Uz, whoſe name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eſchewed evil.

2 And there were born unto him ſeven ſons and three daughters.

3 His ſubſtance alſo was ſeven thouſand ſheep, and three thouſand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred ſhe-aſſes, and a very great houſehold; ſo that this man was the greateſt of all the men of the eaſt.

4 And his ſons went and feaſted in their houſes, every one his day; and ſent and called for their three ſiſters, to eat and to drink with them.

5 And it was ſo, when the days of their feaſting were gone about, that Job ſent and ſanctified them, and roſe up early in the morning, and offered burnt-offerings according to the number of them all: for Job ſaid, It may be that my ſons have ſinned, and curſed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually.

6 ¶ Now there was a day when the ſons of God came to preſent themſelves before the Lord, and Satan came alſo among them.

7 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Whence comeſt thou? Then Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſaid, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.

8 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Haſt thou conſidered my ſervant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man one that feareth God, and eſcheweth evil.

9 Then Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſaid, Doth Job fear God for nought?

10 Haſt not thou made an hedge about him, and about his houſe, and about all that he hath on every ſide? Thou haſt bleſſed the work of his hands, and his ſubſtance is increaſed in the land.

11 But put forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curſe thee to thy face.

12 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Behold all that he hath is in thy power, only upon himſelf put not forth thine hand. So Satan went forth from the preſence of the Lord.

13 And there was a day when his ſons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldeſt brother's houſe:

14 And there came a meſſenger unto Job, and ſaid, The oxen were plowing, and the aſſes feeding beſide them;

15 And the Sabeans fell upon them, and took them away; yea, they have ſlain the ſervants with the edge of the ſword; and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

16 While he was yet ſpeaking, there came alſo another, and ſaid, The fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath burnt up the ſheep, and the ſervants and conſumed them; and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

17 While he was yet ſpeaking, there came alſo ano-

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Whoſe name was Job.) It is evident, from ſeveral places of ſcripture, that Job was a real perſon, and not a fictious character. In the Old Teſtament he is joined with Noah and Daniel, and equally diſtinguiſhed for his righteouſneſs: and in the New he is commended for his patience. Indeed, the narrative itſelf has all the lineaments of a real hiſtory; the name, the quality, the country of the perſon, the number of his children, the bulk of his ſubſtance, and the pedegree of his friends, together with the names and ſituations of ſeveral countries, are all enumerated: though at the ſame time, it is plain that there is an allegorical turn given to ſeveral particulars, which as they relate to ſpiritual beings, would not otherwiſe ſo eaſily affect the imagination of the vulgar. The learned however are not agreed, either with regard to his family, or the time he lived.

4 Feaſted in their houſes every one his day. There is no reaſon to ſuppoſe the feaſts happened oftner than once a year, probably on their birth days.

12 Behold all that he hath is in thy power, only upon himſelf put not forth thine hand.) To prove the falſity of Satan's accuſation, that intereſt was not the motive of his piety, but a ſincere affection to his Maker, God gave Satan full power to afflict him with whatever misfortunes he pleaſed, except in his perſon only, which he was commanded not to touch.

ther,

ther, and ſaid, The Chaldeans made out three bands, and fell upon the camels, and have carried them away, yea and ſlain the ſervants with the edge of the ſword; and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

18 While he was yet ſpeaking, there came alſo another, and ſaid, Thy ſons and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldeſt brother's houſe:

19 And behold, there came a great wind from the wilderneſs, and ſmote the four corners of the houſe, and it fell upon the young men, and they are dead; and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Job aroſe and rent his mantle, and ſhaved his head, and fell down upon the ground and worſhipped,

21 And ſaid, Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked ſhall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; bleſſed be the name of the Lord.

22 In all this Job ſinned not, nor charged God fooliſhly.

CHAP. II.

1 Satan appearing again before God, obtaineth further leave to tempt Job. 7 He ſmiteth him with ſore boils. 9 Job reproveth his wife, moving him to curſe God.

AGAIN there was a day when the ſons of God came to preſent themſelves before the Lord, and Satan came alſo among them to preſent himſelf before the Lord.

2 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, From whence comeſt thou? and Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſaid, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.

3 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Haſt thou conſidered my ſervant Job, that there is none like him in the earth a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and eſcheweth evil? and ſtill he holdeth faſt his integrity, although thou movedſt me againſt him, to deſtroy him without cauſe.

4 And Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſaid, Skin for ſkin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life.

5 But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his fleſh, and he will curſe thee to thy face.

6 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand; but ſave his life.

7 ¶ So went Satan forth from the preſence of the Lord, and ſmote Job with ſore boils from the ſole of his foot unto his crown.

8 And he took him a potſherd to ſcrape himſelf withal; and he ſat down among the aſhes.

9 ¶ Then ſaid his wife unto him, Doſt thou ſtill retain thine integrity? curſe God, and die.

10 But he ſaid unto her, Thou ſpeakeſt as one of the fooliſh women ſpeaketh: What? ſhall we receive good at the hand of God, and ſhall we not receive evil? in all this did not Job ſin with his lips.

11 Now when Job's three friends heard of all this evil that was come upon him, they came every one from his own place; Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zopher the Naamathite; for they had made an appointment together to come to mourn with him, and to comfort him.

12 And when they lifted up their eyes afar off, and knew him not, they lifted up their voice, and wept, and they rent every one his mantle, and ſprinkled duſt upon their heads toward heaven.

13 So they ſat down with him upon the ground ſeven days and ſeven nights, and none ſpake a word unto him: for they ſaw that his grief was very great.

CHAP. III.

1 Job curſeth the day and ſervice of his birth. 13 The eaſe of death. 20 He complaineth of life, becauſe of his anguiſh.

AFTER this opened Job his mouth, and curſed his day.

2 And Job ſpake and ſaid,

3 Let the day periſh wherein I was born, and the night in which it was ſaid, There is a man child conceived.

4 Let that day be darkneſs; let not God regard it from above, neither let the light ſhine upon it.

5 Let darkneſs and the ſhadow of death ſtain it; let a cloud dwell upon it; let the blackneſs of the day terrify it.

6 As for that night, let darkneſs ſeize upon it; let it not be joined unto the days of the year; let it not come into the number of the months.

7 Lo, let that night be ſolitary: let no joyful voice come therein.

8 Let them curſe it that curſe the day, who are ready to raiſe up their mourning.

9 Let the ſtars of the twilight thereof be dark; let it look for light but have none; neither let it ſee the dawning of the day:

10 Becauſe it ſhut not the doors of my mother's womb, nor hid ſorrow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not from the womb? why did I not give up the ghoſt when I came out of the belly?

12 Why did the knees prevent me? or why the breaſts that I ſhould ſuck?

13 For now ſhould I have lain ſtill, and been quiet, I ſhould have ſlept: then had I been at reſt.

---

20 Then Job aroſe and rent his mantle.) He heard, with the greateſt tranquility and compoſure of mind, the repeated accounts of his unparalleled misfortunes; but when he was told of the death of all his children by a ſudden ſtroke, his grief was too great to be concealed, and laying aſide all other thoughts, abandoned himſelf to ſorrow and lamentation. But ſtill he continued his integrity, and, inſtead of uttering complaints againſt the conduct of Providence, reverently adored the Divine Majeſty.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 Again there was a day, &c.) Soon after the above afflictions were heaped on the head of Job, the angels again attended the Omnipotent to receive the divine commands, and give an account of their miniſtration. And Satan alſo boldly appeared among them, as deſirous of being examined with regard to his own conduct.

4 Skin for ſkin.) Who is there that will not give another's ſkin to ſave his own? nay part with his children, as well as his goods, to ſave his life!

12 And when they liſted up their eyes afar off, and knew him not.) They were ſo ſurpriſed at their approach with the miſerable ſpectacle of deformity he exhibited, that they burſt into tears, and expreſſed all the tokens of a poignant grief.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 After this opened Job his mouth, &c.) Here the ſecond part, containing the diſcourſes of Job and his friends, begins, and is delivered by the author in a very lofty and poetical ſtile. Job had till now ſupported his afflictions with admirable conſtancy; but being overwhelmed in grief, and deſtitute of the leaſt comfort from his friends, he could contain himſelf no longer, but burſts out into the moſt paſſionate complaints of the miſeries of human life, wiſhing he had never been an inhabitant of this miſerable world, or had reſigned his breath as ſoon as he perceived the light: adding, that he earneſtly now deſired to be releaſed from the labours and pains of a miſerable life, and ſleep quietly in the habitations of the grave, where none are ambitious of ſuperiority, none big with the ſwelling expectations of being greeted with honourable appellations. The ſervant is there equally accommodated with his maſter; and the poor indigent ſleeps as ſoundly as the moſt opulent poſſeſſor. All differences are there brought to an amicable concluſion, and ſworn enemies dwell together in unity. Pains and afflictions, ſorrow and oppreſſion, have no longer exiſtence; and the ſlave often ſleeps in the boſom of his maſter.

14 With kings and counſellors of the earth, which built deſolate places for themſelves;
15 Or with princes that had gold, who filled their houſes with ſilver:
16 Or as an hidden untimely birth I had not been; as infants which never ſaw light.
17 There the wicked ceaſe from troubling; and there the weary be at reſt.
18 There the priſoners reſt together; they hear not the voice of the oppreſſor.
19 The ſmall and great are there; and the ſervant is free from his maſter.
20 Wherefore is light given to him that is in miſery, and life unto the bitter in ſoul;
21 Which long for death but it cometh not; and dig for it more than for hid treaſures;
22 Which rejoice exceedingly and are glad when they can find the grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whoſe way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in?
24 For my ſighing cometh before I eat, and my roarings are poured out like the waters.
25 For the thing which I greatly feared is come upon me, and that which I was afraid of is come unto me.
26 I was not in ſafety, neither had I reſt, neither was I quiet; yet trouble came.

CHAP. IV.

1 Eliphaz reproveth Job for want of religion. 7 He teacheth God's judgments to be not for the righteous, but for the wicked. 12 His fearful viſion to humble the excellencies of creatures before God.

THEN Eliphaz the Temanite anſwered and ſaid,
2 If we aſſay to commune with thee wilt thou be grieved? but who can with-hold himſelf from ſpeaking?
3 Behold, thou haſt inſtructed many, and thou haſt ſtrengthened the weak hands.
4 Thy words have upholden him that was falling, and thou haſt ſtrengthened the feeble knees.
5 But now it is come upon thee, and thou fainteſt; it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Is not this thy fear, thy confidence, thy hope, and the uprightneſs of thy ways?
7 ¶ Remember, I pray thee, who ever periſhed, being innocent? or where were the righteous cut off?
8 Even as I have ſeen, they that plow iniquity, and ſow wickedneſs, reap the ſame.
9 By the blaſt of God they periſh, and by the breath of his noſtrils are they conſumed.
10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the fierce lion, and the teeth of the young lions, are broken.
11 The old lion periſheth for lack of prey, and the ſtout lions' whelps are ſcattered abroad.
12 ¶ Now a thing was ſecretly brought to me, and mine ear received a little thereof.
13 In thoughts from the viſions of the night, when deep ſleep falleth on men,
14 Fear came upon me, and trembling which made all my bones to ſhake.
15 Then a ſpirit paſſed before my face; the hair of my fleſh ſtood up:
16 It ſtood ſtill, but I could not diſcern the form thereof, an image was before mine eyes; there was ſilence, and I heard a voice, ſaying,
17 Shall mortal man be more juſt than God? ſhall a man be more pure than his Maker?
18 Behold, he put no truſt in his ſervants; and his angels he charged with folly:
19 How much leſs in them that dwell in houſes of clay, whoſe foundation is in the duſt, which are cruſhed before the moth?
20 They are deſtroyed from morning to evening: they periſh for ever without any regarding it.
21 Doth not their excellency which is in them go away? they die even without wiſdom.

CHAP. V.

1 The harm of inconſideration. 3 The end of the wicked is miſery. 6 God is to be regarded in affliction. 17 The happy end of God's correction.

CALL now, if there be any that will anſwer thee; and to which of the ſaints wilt thou turn?
2 For wrath killeth the fooliſh man, and envy ſlayeth the ſilly one.
3 I have ſeen the fooliſh taking root: but ſuddenly I curſed his habitation.
4 His children are far from ſafety, and they are cruſhed in the gate, neither is there any to deliver them.
5 Whoſe harveſt the hungry eateth up and taketh it even out of the thorns, and the robber ſwalloweth up their ſubſtance.
6 Although affliction cometh not forth of the duſt, neither doth trouble ſpring out of the ground,
7 Yet man is born unto trouble, as the ſparks fly upward.
8 I would ſeek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cauſe;
9 Which doeth great things and unſearchable; marvellous things without number:
10 Who giveth rain upon the earth, and ſendeth waters upon the fields:
11 To ſet upon high thoſe that be low; that thoſe which mourn may be exalted to ſafety.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite anſwered and ſaid.) Eliphaz, incenſed at the complaint of Job, forgets that his agonizing pains had extorted this bitter complaint from him; and inſtead of condoling with him, and applying lenitives to aſſuage the anguiſh of his heart, rebukes him very roughly for not following the good advice he had himſelf ſo often given to others in their adverſity: adding, that he had ſufficient reaſon to ſuſpect the ſincerity of his piety, becauſe he never knew the innocent ſo deeply afflicted; but on the contrary, God always humbled wicked oppreſſors.

11 The old lion periſheth for lack of prey, &c.) The greateſt tyrants, and their poſterity, after long enjoying dominion, are deprived of the riches they have acquired by oppreſſion, and baniſhed from their ſeats of power.

17 Shall mortal man be more juſt than God? &c.) Shall man, frail and wretched man, be juſt before the omnipotent Jehovah? Shall even the moſt upright and accompliſhed of mortals be pure in the ſight of his Maker? Behold, and conſider it attentively. He puts no ſuch truſt in his moſt exalted ſervants, as ſuppoſes them incapable of defect, or authoriſes them to arogate any honour to themſelves. And his very angels, without the leaſt injury to their character, he charged with folly, as ſinking infinitely beneath his tranſcendent perfections. And if angelic natures muſt not preſume to juſtify themſelves before immaculated and uncreated purity, how much leſs does ſuch a conduct become them that dwell in houſes of clay, whoſe original is from the duſt, and whoſe ſervices are a chaos of imperfections?

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

8 I would ſeek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cauſe.) Were the chaſtenings of Jehovah inflicted upon me, I would, with humble ſubmiſſion, lay myſelf at the footſtool of my Maker, implore his mercy, and ſubmit my cauſe entirely to his righteous deciſion.

12 He diſappointeth the devices of the crafty, ſo that their hands cannot perform their enterprize.

13 He taketh the wiſe in their own craftineſs; and the counſel of the froward is carried headlong.

14 They meet with darkneſs in the day-time, and grope in the noon-day as in the night.

15 But he ſaveth the poor from the ſword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty,

16 So the poor hath hope, and iniquity ſtoppeth her mouth.

17 ¶ Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth; therefore deſpiſe not thou the chaſtening of the Almighty:

18 For he maketh ſore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole.

19 He ſhall deliver thee in ſix troubles; yea, in ſeven there ſhall no evil touch thee.

20 In famine he ſhall redeem thee from death; and in war from the power of the ſword.

21 Thou ſhalt be hid from the ſcourge of the tongue: neither ſhalt thou be afraid of deſtruction when it cometh.

22 At deſtruction and famine thou ſhalt laugh: neither ſhalt thou be afraid of the beaſts of the earth.

23 For thou ſhalt be in league with the ſtones of the field; and the beaſts of the field ſhall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou ſhalt know that thy tabernacle ſhall be in peace; and thou ſhalt viſit thy habitation, and ſhalt not ſin.

25 Thou ſhalt know alſo that thy ſeed ſhall be great, and thine offſpring as the graſs of the earth.

26 Thou ſhalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a ſhock of corn cometh in in his ſeaſon.

27 Lo, this we have ſearched it, ſo it is; hear it, and know thou it for thy good.

CHAP. VI.

1 Job ſheweth that his complaints are not cauſeleſs. 8 He wiſheth for death, wherein he is aſſured of comfort. 14 He reproveth his friends of unkindneſs.

BUT Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 Oh that my grief were thoroughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together!

3 For now it would be heavier than the ſand of the ſea: therefore my words are ſwallowed up.

4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poiſon whereof drinketh up my ſpirit: the terrors of God do ſet themſelves in array againſt me.

5 Doth the wild aſs bray when he hath graſs? or loweth the ox over his fodder?

6 Can that which is unſavoury be eaten without ſalt? or is there any taſte in the white of an egg?

7 The things that my ſoul refuſed to touch are as my ſorrowful meat.

8 ¶ O that I might have my requeſt; and that God would grant me the thing that I long for;

9 Even that it would pleaſe God to deſtroy me; that he would let looſe his hand and cut me off!

10 Then ſhould I yet have comfort; yea, I would harden myſelf in ſorrow: let him not ſpare; for I have not concealed the words of the holy One.

11 What is my ſtrength, that I ſhould hope? and what is mine end, that I ſhould prolong my life?

12 Is my ſtrength the ſtrength of ſtones? or is my fleſh of braſs?

13 Is not my help in me? and is wiſdom driven quite from me?

14 ¶ To him that is afflicted pity ſhould be ſhewed from his friend; but he forſaketh the fear of the Almighty.

15 My brethren have dealt deceitfully as a brook, and as the ſtream of brooks they paſs away;

16 Which are blackiſh by reaſon of the ice, and wherein the ſnow is hid:

17 What time they wax warm, they vaniſh: when it is hot they are conſumed out of their place.

18 The paths of their way are turned aſide: they go to nothing, and periſh.

19 The troops of Tema looked, the companies of Sheba waited for them.

20 They were confounded becauſe they had hoped; they came thither and were aſhamed.

21 For now ye are nothing; ye ſee my caſting down, and are afraid.

22 Did I ſay, Bring unto me? or give a reward for me of your ſubſtance?

23 Or deliver me from the enemy's hand? or redeem me from the hand of the mighty?

24 Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: and cauſe me to underſtand wherein I have erred.

25 How forcible are right words! but what doth your arguing reprove?

26 Do ye imagine to reprove words, and the ſpeeches of one that is deſperate, which are as wind?

27 Yea, ye overwhelm the fatherleſs, and ye dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content, look upon me: for it is evident unto you if I lye.

29 Return, I pray you, let it not be iniquity; yea, return again; my righteouſneſs is in it.

30 Is there iniquity in my tongue? cannot my taſte diſcern perverſe things?

CHAP. VII.

1 Job excuſeth his deſire of death. 12 He complaineth of his own reſtleſſneſs, and God's watchfulneſs.

IS there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days alſo like the days of an hireling?

2 As a ſervant earneſtly deſireth the ſhadow, and as an hireling looketh for the reward of his work;

3 So am I made to poſſeſs months of vanity, and weariſome nights are appointed to me.

4 When I lie down, I ſay, When ſhall I ariſe, and

---

23 For thou ſhalt be in league with the ſtones of the field, &c.) Thoſe parts of thy land which are covered with ſtones ſhall ſmile with plenty, nor ſhall the beaſts of the field devour the exuberant harveſt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 But Job anſwered and ſaid.) Job, far from being convinced by the arguments of Eliphaz, renews his wiſhes for death, and upbraids his friends with their unkindneſs; who, inſtead of ſympathizing with him in his ſufferings, and pouring balm into his wounds, had augmented the weight of his diſtreſs, by heavy reproaches, and increaſed the poignancy of his torments by the unnatural application of bitter reproofs.

5, 6 Doth the wild aſs bray when he hath graſs? &c.) It is no difficult taſk for you, who are free from affliction, to forbear complaining: natural inſtinct teaches the brute creation to do the ſame. But, ſurely, he who labours under the moſt piercing calamities, may endeavour to alleviate his grief by paſſionate lamentations.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days alſo like the days of an hireling?) Is it not the fate of every man to maintain a perpetual conflict with troubles and misfortunes? And muſt not thoſe who enjoy the largeſt ſhare of happineſs, expect to meet with a ſufficient portion of labour, wearineſs, and pain?

the

the night be gone? and I am full of toſſings to and fro unto the dawning of the day.

5 My fleſh is clothed with worms and clods of duſt; my ſkin is broken, and become loathſome.

6 My days are ſwifter than a weavers ſhuttle, and are ſpent without hope.

7 O remember that my life is wind: mine eye ſhall no more ſee good.

8 The eye of him that hath ſeen me ſhall ſee me no more: thine eyes are upon me, and I am not.

9 As the cloud is conſumed and vaniſheth away; ſo he that goeth down to the grave ſhall come up no more.

10 He ſhall return no more to his houſe, neither ſhall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not refrain my mouth; I will ſpeak in the anguiſh of my ſpirit; I will complain in the bitterneſs of my ſoul.

12 ¶ Am I a ſea, or a whale that thou ſetteſt a watch over me?

13 When I ſay, My bed ſhall comfort me, my couch ſhall eaſe my complaint;

14 Then thou ſcareſt me with dreams, and terrifieſt me through viſions:

15 So that my ſoul chooſeth ſtrangling, and death rather than my life.

16 I loathe it; I would not live alway: let me alone; for my days are vanity.

17 What is man, that thou ſhouldeſt magnify him? and that thou ſhouldeſt ſet thine heart upon him?

18 And that thou ſhouldeſt viſit him every morning, and try him every moment?

19 How long wilt thou not depart from me, nor let me alone till I ſwallow down my ſpittle?

20 I have ſinned; what ſhall I do unto thee, O thou preſerver of men? why haſt thou ſet me as a mark againſt thee, ſo that I am burden to myſelf?

21 And why doſt thou not pardon my tranſgreſſion, and take away mine iniquity? for now ſhall I ſleep in the duſt; and thou ſhalt ſeek me in the morning, but I ſhall not be.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad ſheweth God's juſtice in dealing with men according to their works. 8 He alledgeth antiquity to prove the certain deſtruction of the hypocrite. 20 He applieth God's juſt dealing to Job.

THEN anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid,

2 How long wilt thou ſpeak theſe things? and how long ſhall the words of thy mouth be like a ſtrong wind?

3 Doth God pervert judgment, or doth the Almighty pervert juſtice?

4 If thy children have ſinned againſt him and he hath caſt them away for their tranſgreſſion;

5 If thou wouldeſt ſeek unto God betimes, and make thy ſupplication to the Almighty;

6 If thou wert pure and upright; ſurely now he would awake for thee, and make the habitation of thy righteouſneſs proſperous.

7 Though thy beginning was ſmall, yet thy latter end ſhould greatly increaſe.

8 ¶ For enquire, I pray thee of the former age, and prepare thyſelf to the ſearch of their fathers:

9 For we are but of yeſterday, and know nothing; becauſe our days upon earth are a ſhadow.

10 Shall they not teach thee, and tell thee, and utter words out of their heart?

11 Can theruſh grow up without mire? can the flag grow without water?

12 Whilſt it is yet in his greenneſs, and not cut down, it withereth before any other herb.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrite's hope ſhall periſh.

14 Whoſe hope ſhall be cut off, and whoſe truſt ſhall be a ſpider's web.

15 He ſhall lean upon his houſe, but it ſhall not ſtand: he ſhall hold it faſt, but it ſhall not endure.

16 He is green before the ſun, and his branch ſhooteth forth in his garden.

17 His roots are wrapped about the heap, and ſeeth the place of ſtones.

18 If he deſtroy him from his place, then it ſhall deny him, ſaying, I have not ſeen thee.

19 Behold, this is the joy of his way, and out of the earth ſhall others grow.

20 ¶ Behold, God will not caſt away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil-doers;

21 Till he fill thy mouth with laughing, and thy lips with rejoicing.

22 They that hate thee ſhall be clothed with ſhame, and the dwelling-place of the wicked ſhall come to nought.

CHAP. IX.

1 Job acknowledging God's juſtice, ſheweth there is no contending with him. 22 Man's innocency is not to be condemned by afflictions.

THEN Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 I know it is ſo of a truth: but how ſhould man be juſt with God?

3 If he will contend with him, he cannot anſwer him one of a thouſand.

4 He is wiſe in heart, and mighty in ſtrength: who hath hardened himſelf againſt him and hath proſpered?

5 Which removeth the mountains, and they know not; which overturneth them in his anger;

6 Which ſhaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble;

21 And why doſt thou not pardon my tranſgreſſion, &c.) Why wilt thou not pardon my tranſgreſſions, or ſo far mitigate their puniſhment, that I may quit this loathſome habitation of clay? For didſt thou not confine me under theſe afflictions, I ſhould, even before the dawn of the morning, take up my habitation in the chambers of the grave.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 Then anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid.) Job's apologies made no impreſſion on his friends; for he had no ſooner finiſhed his anſwer than Bildad the Shuhite continued the diſpute, by endeavouring to ſupport the argument advanced by Eliphaz, namely, that providence always rewards the juſt, and puniſhes the wicked, who, though they may flouriſh for a ſeaſon, are always rooted up at the laſt.

17 His roots are wrapped about the heap, and ſeeketh the place of ſtones, &c.) His roots have wreathed themſelves thick about the earth, and his head lifts itſelf above the higheſt edifices: but when God plucks him up by the roots, there ſhall remain no remembrance that ſuch a man ever lived there.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

1 Then Job anſwered and ſaid.) Job allows that the beginning of Bildad's ſpeech was dictated by truth; and after adoring the juſtice, wiſdom, and ſupreme power of Jehovah, declares he had no intention to arraign his juſtice; but to maintain, contrary to what they had advanced, that righteouſneſs will not always ſecure us againſt calamities, nor the actions of the wicked conſtantly provoke the vengeance of Omnipotence.

7 Which commandeth the ſun, and it riſeth not, and ſealeth up the ſtars;

8 Which alone ſpreadeth out the heavens, and treadeth upon the waves of the ſea;

9 Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the chambers of the ſouth;

10 Which doeth great things paſt finding out, yea, and wonders without number.

11 Lo, he goeth by me, and I ſee him not: he paſſeth on alſo, but I perceive him not.

12 Behold, he taketh away, who can hinder him? who will ſay unto him, What doeſt thou?

13 If God will not withdraw his anger, the proud helpers do ſtoop under him.

14 How much leſs ſhall I anſwer him, and chooſe out my words to reaſon with him?

15 Whom, though I were righteous, yet would I not anſwer, but I would make ſupplication to my judge.

16 If I had called, and he had anſwered me; yet would I not believe that he had hearkened unto my voice.

17 For he breaketh me with a tempeſt, and multiplieth my wounds without cauſe.

18 He will not ſuffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterneſs.

19 If I ſpeak of ſtrength, lo, he is ſtrong: and if of judgment, who ſhall ſet me a time to plead?

20 If I juſtify myſelf, mine own mouth ſhall condemn me: if I ſay, I am perfect, it ſhall alſo prove me perverſe.

21 Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my ſoul; I would deſpiſe my life.

22 ¶ This is one thing, therefore I ſaid it, He deſtroyeth the perfect and the wicked.

23 If the ſcourge ſlay ſuddenly, he will laugh at the trial of the innocent.

24 the earth is given into the hand of the wicked: he covereth the faces of the judges thereof; if not, where and who is he?

25 Now my days are ſwifter than a poſt; they flee away, they ſee no good.

26 They are paſſed away as the ſwift ſhips; as the eagle that haſteth to the prey.

27 If I ſay, I will forget my complaint, I will leave off my heavineſs, and comfort myſelf;

28 I am afraid of all my ſorrows, I know that thou wilt not hold me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why then labour I in vain?

30 If I waſh myſelf with ſnow-water, and make my hands never ſo clean;

31 Yet ſhalt thou plunge me in the ditch, and mine own clothes ſhall abhor me.

32 For he is not a man, as I am, that I ſhould anſwer him, and we ſhould come together in judgment.

33 Neither is there any days-man betwixt us, that might lay his hand upon us both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his fear terrify me;

35 Then would I ſpeak, and not fear him: but it is not ſo with me.

CHAP. X.

1 Job taking liberty of complaint, expoſtulateth with God about his afflictions. 18 He complaineth of life, and craveth a little eaſe before death.

MY ſoul is weary of my life; I will leave my complaint upon myſelf; I will ſpeak in the bitterneſs of my ſoul,

2 I will ſay unto God, Do not condemn me; ſhew me wherefore thou contendeſt with me.

3 Is it good unto thee that thou ſhouldeſt oppreſs, that thou ſhouldeſt deſpiſe the work of thine hands, and ſhine upon the counſel of the wicked?

4 Haſt thou eyes of fleſh? or ſeeſt thou as man ſeeth?

5 Are thy days as the days of man? are thy years as man's days,

6 That thou enquireſt after mine iniquity, and ſearcheſt after my ſin?

7 Thou knoweſt that I am not wicked; and there is none that can deliver out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands have made me and faſhioned me together round about; yet thou doſt deſtroy me.

9 Remember, I beſeech thee, that thou haſt made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into duſt again?

10 Haſt thou not poured me out as milk, and curdled me like cheeſe?

11 Thou haſt clothed me with ſkin and fleſh, and has fenced me with bones and ſinews.

12 Thou haſt granted me life and favour, and thy viſitation hath preſerved my ſpirit.

13 And theſe things haſt thou hid in thine heart; I know that this is with thee.

14 If I ſin, then thou markeſt me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity.

15 If I be wicked, wo unto me! and if I be righteous, yet will I not lift up my head: I am full of confuſion; therefore ſee thou mine affliction:

16 For it increaſeth: thou hunteſt me as a fierce lion; and again thou ſheweſt thyſelf marvellous upon me.

17 Thou reneweſt thy witneſſes againſt me and increaſeſt thine indignation upon me; changes and war are againſt me.

18 Wherefore then haſt thou brought me forth out of the womb? Oh that I had given up the ghoſt, and no eye had ſeen me?

19 I ſhould have been as though I had not been; I ſhould have been carried from the womb to the grave.

20 Are not my days few? ceaſe then, and let me alone, that I may take comfort a little.

21 Before I go whence I ſhall not return, even to the land of darkneſs, and the ſhadow of death;

22 A land of darkneſs as darkneſs itſelf, and of the ſhadow of death, without any order, and where the light is as darkneſs.

23 If the ſcourge ſlay ſuddenly, he will laugh at the trial of the innocent.) When any country is viſited by the peſtilence, the innocent are not defended from its ſtroke.

29 If I be wicked why then labour I in vain?) In the ſight of my Maker I know I am wicked; why then ſhould I endeavour to vindicate mine innocence?

Commentary on Chap. X.

1 My ſoul is weary of my life, &c.) Job now again renews his paſſionate complaints, and expoſtulates earneſtly with his Maker. Declaring that his ſevere torments were ſufficient to juſtify his firſt wiſhes that he had never been born, or been carried from the womb to the grave.

10 Curdled me like cheeſe.) Compacted all my members.

20 Are not my days few? ceaſe then and let me alone, that I may take comfort a little.) Am I not now on the borders of the grave? Forbear then awhile to ſtrike, that if thou wilt not remove thine hand, I may enjoy a ſhort interval of comfort.

CHAP. XI.

1 Zophar reproveth Job for juſtifying himſelf. 5 God's wiſdom is unſearchable. 13 The aſſured bleſſing of repentance.

THEN anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid,
2 Should not the multitude of words be anſwered? and ſhould a man full of talk be juſtified?
3 Should thy lyes make men hold their peace? and when thou mockeſt, ſhall no man make thee aſhamed?
4 For thou haſt ſaid, My doctrine is pure, and I am clean in thine eyes.
5 ¶ But, O that God would ſpeak, and open his lips againſt thee;
6 And that he would ſhew thee the ſecrets of wiſdom, that they are double to that which is! know therefore that God exacteth of thee leſs than thine iniquity deſerveth.
7 Canſt thou by ſearching find out God? canſt thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?
8 It is as high as heaven; what canſt thou do? deeper than hell; what canſt thou know?
9 The meaſure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the ſea.
10 If he cut off, and ſhut up, or gather together then who can hinder him?
11 For he knoweth vain men: he ſeeth wickedneſs alſo: will he not then conſider it?
12 For vain man would be wiſe, though man be born like a wild aſſes colt.
13 ¶ If thou prepare thine heart, and ſtretch out thine hands toward him;
14 If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedneſs dwell in thy tabernacles.
15 For then ſhalt thou lift up thy face without ſpot; yea, thou ſhalt be ſtedfaſt, and ſhalt not fear:
16 Becauſe thou ſhalt forget thy miſery, and remember it as waters that paſs away:
17 And thine age ſhall be clearer than the noonday; thou ſhalt ſhine forth, thou ſhalt be as the morning.
18 And thou ſhalt be ſecure, becauſe there is hope; yea, thou ſhalt dig about thee, and thou ſhalt take thy reſt in ſafety.
19 Alſo thou ſhalt lie down, and none ſhall make thee afraid; yea, many ſhall make ſuit unto thee.
20 But the eyes of the wicked ſhall fail, and they ſhall not eſcape, and their hope ſhall be as the giving up of the ghoſt.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job maintaineth himſelf againſt his friends that reprove him. 7 He acknowledgeth the general doctrine of God's omnipotency.

AND Job anſwered and ſaid,
2 No doubt but ye are the people, and wiſdom ſhall die with you.
3 But I have underſtanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you; yea, who knoweth not ſuch things as theſe?
4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God and he anſwereth him: the juſt upright man is laughed to ſcorn.
5 He that is ready to ſlip with his feet, is as a lamp, deſpiſed in the thought of him that is at eaſe.
6 The tabernacles of robbers proſper, and they that provoke God are ſecure; into whoſe hand God bringeth abundantly.
7 ¶ But aſk now the beaſts, and they ſhall teach thee; and the fowls of the air and they ſhall tell thee:
8 Or ſpeak to the earth, and it ſhall teach thee; and the fiſhes of the ſea ſhall declare unto thee.
9 Who knoweth not in all theſe, that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this?
10 In whoſe hand is the ſoul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind?
11 Doth not the ear try words? and the mouth taſte his meat?
12 With the ancient is wiſdom, and in length of days, underſtanding.
13 With him is wiſdom and ſtrength, he hath counſel and underſtanding.
14 Behold he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again; he ſhutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.
15 Behold, he with-holdeth the waters, and they dry up; alſo he ſendeth them out, and they overturn the earth.
16 With him is ſtrength and wiſdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his.
17 He leadeth counſellors away ſpoiled, and maketh the judges fools.
18 He looſeth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loins with a girdle.
19 He leadeth princes away ſpoiled, and overthroweth the mighty.
20 He removeth away the ſpeech of the truſty, and taketh away the underſtanding of the aged.
21 He poureth contempt upon princes, and weakeneth the ſtrength of the mighty.
22 He diſcovereth deep things out of darkneſs, and bringeth out to light the ſhadow of death.
23 He increaſeth the nations, and deſtroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations and ſtraighteneth them again.
24 He taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, and cauſeth them to wander in a wilderneſs where there is no way.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 Then anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid.) Job having ended his ſpeech, Zophar continues the diſpute. And inſtead of joining with Job in his prayer for a ſhort reſpite from his pains, accuſes him of irreverence towards his Maker, whoſe hidden counſels and irreſiſtible power he places in the ſtrongeſt light; but endeavours to maintain the opinion of his other two friends, that Job was certainly wicked, for otherwiſe he would not have been ſo heavily afflicted.

15 Thou ſhalt lift up thy face.) The ſcripture often expreſſes a fearleſs and chearful ſtate by this phraſe; and the contrary by the falling of the countenance, as in the caſe of Cain, Gen. iv. 5, 6.

18 And thou ſhalt be ſecure, becauſe there is hope, &c.) Thou ſhalt be ſecure whatever evil may threaten thee, for Omnipotence will be thy protector; thou ſhalt dig wells of water, nor ſhall any diſturb thy flocks, or ſpread alarms in thy tabernacle.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

1 And Job anſwered and ſaid. Job in this chapter accuſes his three friends of having too great a conceit of their own wiſdom, though it had not yet taught them the common duty of humanity to the afflicted. And gives them to underſtand, that they could not teach him wiſdom, as the propoſition of Zophar concerning the puniſhment of the wicked was ſufficiently contradicted by experience. Adding, that he had as adequate ideas of the wiſdom and power of the Almighty as they, and at the ſame time knew as much of the hiſtory of ancient times.

18 He looſeth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loins with a girdle.) He ſtrippeth kings of their royal ornaments, and bindeth them in chains.

24 He taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, &c.) He deprives the commanders of nations both of courage and judgment, and leads them into ſuch confuſion, that they know not which way to turn.

25 They grope in the dark without light, and he maketh them to ſtagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Job reproveth his friends of partiality. 14 He profeſſeth his confidence in God.

LO, mine eye hath ſeen all this, mine ear hath heard and underſtood it.

2 What ye know, the ſame do I know alſo: I am not inferior unto you.

3 Surely I would ſpeak to the Almighty, and I deſire to reaſon with God.

4 But ye are forgers of lies, ye are all phyſicians of no value.

5 Oh that ye would altogether hold your peace! and it ſhould be your wiſdom.

6 Hear now my reaſoning, and hearken unto the pleadings of my lips.

7 Will ye ſpeak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him?

8 Will ye accept his perſon? will ye contend for God?

9 Is it good that he ſhould ſearch you out? or, as one man mocketh another, do ye ſo mock him?

10 He will ſurely reprove you, if ye do ſecretly accept perſons.

11 Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his dread fall upon you?

12 Your remembrances are like unto aſhes, your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Hold your peace, let me alone that I may ſpeak, and let come on me what will.

14 ¶ Wherefore do I take my fleſh in my teeth, and put my life in mine hand?

15 Though he ſlay me, yet will I truſt in him: but I will maintain mine own ways before him.

16 He alſo ſhall be my ſalvation: for an hypocrite ſhall not come before him.

17 Hear diligently my ſpeech and my declaration with your ears.

18 Behold now, I have ordered my cauſe; I know that I ſhall be juſtified.

19 Who is he that will plead with me? for now, if I hold my tongue, I ſhall give up the ghoſt.

20 Only do not two things unto me; then will I not hide myſelf from thee:

21 Withdraw thine hand far from me; and let not thy dread make me afraid:

22 Then call thou, and I will anſwer; or let me ſpeak, and anſwer thou me.

23 How many are my iniquities and ſins? make me to know my tranſgreſſion and my ſin.

24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face, and holdeſt me for thine enemy?

25 Wilt thou break a leaf driven to and fro? and wilt thou purſue the dry ſtubble?

26 For thou writeſt bitter things againſt me, and makeſt me to poſſeſs the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou putteſt my feet alſo in the ſtocks, and lookeſt narrowly unto all my paths; thou ſetteſt a print upon the heels of my feet.

28 And he, as a rotten thing, conſumeth, as a garment that is moth-eaten.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Job entreateth God for favour, by the ſhortneſs of life, and certainty of death. 7 Though life once loſt be irrecoverable, yet he waiteth for his change. 16 By ſin the creature is ſubject to corruption.

MAN that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble.

2 He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth alſo as a ſhadow, and continueth not.

3 And doſt thou open thine eyes upon ſuch a one, and bringeſt me into judgment with thee?

4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one.

5 Seeing his days are determined, the number of his months are with thee; thou haſt appointed his bounds that he cannot paſs:

6 Turn from him that he may reſt till he ſhall accompliſh, as an hireling, his day.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will ſprout again, and that the tender branch thereof will not ceaſe.

8 Though the root thereof wax old in the earth, and the ſtock thereof die in the ground;

9 Yet through the ſcent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant.

10 But man dieth, and waſteth away; yea, man giveth up the ghoſt, and where is he?

11 As the waters fail from the ſea, and the flood decayeth and drieth up;

12 So man lieth down, and riſeth not: till the heavens be no more they ſhall not awake, nor be raiſed out of their ſleep.

13 Oh that thou wouldeſt hide me in the grave, that thou wouldeſt keep me ſecret until thy wrath be paſt, that thou wouldeſt appoint me a ſet time, and remember me!

14 if a man die, ſhall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come.

15 Thou ſhalt call, and I will anſwer thee: thou wilt have a deſire to the work of thine hands.

16 ¶ For now thou numbereſt my ſteps; doſt thou not watch over my ſin?

17 My tranſgreſſion is ſealed up in a bag, and thou ſeweſt up mine iniquity.

18 And ſurely the mountain falling cometh to nought, and the rock is removed out of his place.

19 The waters wear the ſtones: thou waſheſt away the things which grow out of the duſt of the earth; and thou deſtroyeſt the hope of man.

20 Thou prevaileſt for ever againſt him, and he paſſeth

Commentary on Chap. XIII.

7 Will you ſpeak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him?) Is there any neceſſity for having recourſe to falſhoods for juſtifying the proceedings of the Almighty? He may ſurely be righteous without my being wicked.

20, 21, 22, 23 In theſe verſes Job addreſſes himſelf to God, and beſeeches him in the moſt ſubmiſſive manner, before he enters into judgment with him, to grant him two things; to withdraw his afflicting hand from him, and to veil the terrors of his majeſty, that it might not ſtrike him with too much dread; and then to queſtion him, and he would anſwer; or permit him to ſpeak, and vouchſafe to inform him what his guilt was, and what was the reaſon of theſe ſevere inflictions.

Commentary on Chap. XIV.

11, 12 As the waters fail from the ſea, &c.) The meaning ſeems to be, that as we ſee every thing in flux, and ſubject to change, ſo the whole ſhall be one day changed. The ſea itſelf will at length be quite abſorbed; and the rivers which now flow perpetually, as if ſupplied by everlaſting ſprings, will nevertheleſs in time quite ceaſe and diſappear: this viſible frame of things ſhall be diſſolved, and the preſent heavens themſelves ſhall be no more: and then, and not till then, comes the reſurrection and the general judgment.

paſſeth: thou changeſt his countenance, and ſendeſt him away.

21 His ſons come to honour, and he knoweth it not; and they are brought low, but he perceiveth it not of them.

22 But his fleſh upon him ſhall have pain, and his ſoul within him ſhall mourn.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reproveth Job of impiety in juſtifying himſelf. 17 He proveth by tradition the unquietneſs of wicked men.

THEN anſwered Eliphaz the Temanite, and ſaid,

2 Should a wiſe man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the eaſt wind?

3 Should he reaſon with unprofitable talk? or with ſpeeches wherewith he can do no good?

4 Yea thou caſteſt off fear, and reſtraineſt prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth uttereth thine iniquity, and thou chooſeth the tongue of the crafty.

6 Thine own mouth condemneth thee, and not I: yea, thine own lips teſtify againſt thee.

7 Art thou the firſt man that was born? or waſt thou made before the hills?

8 Haſt thou heard the ſecret of God? and doſt thou reſtrain wiſdom to thyſelf?

9 What knoweſt thou that we know not? what underſtandeſt thou which is not in us?

10 With us are both the gray-headed and very aged men, much elder than thy father.

11 Are the conſolations of God ſmall with thee? is there any ſecret thing with thee?

12 Why doth thine heart carry thee away? and what do thine eyes wink at,

13 That thou turneſt thy ſpirit againſt God, and letteſt ſuch words go out of thy mouth?

14 What is man that he ſhould be clean? and he which is born of a woman that he ſhould be righteous?

15 Behold he putteth no truſt in his ſaints; yea, the heavens are not clean in his ſight;

16 How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinketh iniquity like water?

17 ¶ I will ſhew thee, hear me, and that which I have ſeen, I will declare;

18 Which wiſe men have told from their fathers, and have not hid it;

19 Unto whom alone the earth was given, and no ſtranger paſſed among them.

20 The wicked man travaileth with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppreſſor.

21 A dreadful ſound is in his ears: in proſperity the deſtroyer ſhall come upon him.

22 He believeth not that he ſhall return out of darkneſs, and he is waited for of the ſword.

23 He wandereth abroad for bread, ſaying, Where is it? he knoweth that the day of darkneſs is ready at his hand.

24 Trouble and anguiſh ſhall make him afraid: they ſhall prevail againſt him, as a king ready to the battle.

25 For he ſtretcheth out his hand againſt God, and ſtrengtheneth himſelf againſt the Almighty.

26 He runneth upon him, even on his neck, upon the thick boſſes of his bucklers:

27 Becauſe he covereth his face with his fatneſs, and maketh collops of fat on his flanks.

28 And he dwelleth in deſolate cities, and in houſes which no man inhabiteth, which are ready to become heaps.

29 He ſhall not be rich, neither ſhall his ſubſtance continue, neither ſhall he prolong the perfection thereof upon the earth.

30 He ſhall not depart out of darkneſs, the flame ſhall dry up his branches, and by the breath of his mouth ſhall he go away.

31 Let not him that is deceived truſt in vanity: for vanity ſhall be his recompence.

32 It ſhall be accompliſhed before his time, and his branch ſhall not be green.

33 He ſhall ſhake off his unripe grape as the vine, and ſhall caſt off his flower as the olive.

34 For the congregation of hypocrites ſhall be deſolate, and fire ſhall conſume the tabernacles of bribery.

35 They conceive miſchief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly prepareth deceit.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Job reproveth his friends for unmercifulneſs. 17 He maintaineth his innocence.

THEN Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 I have heard many ſuch things: miſerable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall vain words have an end? or what emboldeneth thee that thou anſwereſt?

4 I alſo could ſpeak as ye do: if your ſoul were in my ſoul's ſtead, I could heap up words againſt you, and ſhake mine head at you.

5 But I would ſtrengthen you with my mouth, and the moving of my lips ſhould aſſwage you grief.

6 Though I ſpeak, my grief is not aſſwaged; and though I forbear, what am I eaſed?

7 But now he hath made me weary: thou haſt made deſolate all my company.

8 And thou haſt filled me with wrinkles, which is a witneſs againſt me: and my leanneſs riſing up in me beareth witneſs to my face.

20 Thou prevaileſt for ever againſt him, and he paſſeth: thou changeſt his countenance, and ſendeſt him away.) Man is not able to ſtand before thee; but at thy command muſt retire for ever: thou ſpoileſt his beauty, and ſendeſt his ſoul into the regions of eternity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 Then anſwered Eliphaz the Temanite and ſaid.) Eliphaz, ſtimulated with anger at the ſlighting manner in which Job had treated their ſpeeches, renews the diſpute with more eagerneſs and violence than before. But urges no more than what he at firſt aſſerted, namely, that the wicked only are puniſhed by God with ſuch calamities as had now fallen upon Job: deſcribing, in very lofty language, the vengeance which God generally takes upon impious tyrants 20 The wicked man, &c.) The tyrant is never free from inward torment; he is continually in dread of ſome greater oppreſſor than himſelf.

23 He wandereth abroad for bread, ſaying, where is it? &c.) He travelleth far and near for bread; and when he hath found it, he imagines it will prove a poiſon.

33 He ſhall ſhake off his unripe grape as the vine, &c.) They ſhall all deſcend to the grave before their time, as the unripe grape, or the bloſſom of the olive, fall in a tempeſt of hail, or are deſtroyed by the nipping froſts.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

1 Then Job anſwered and ſaid.) Job reproves the vanity of his friends in repeating the ſame arguments, and perſiſting in their inhuman reproofs, though his ſufferings called for their pity and commiſeration.

7 But now he hath made me weary: thou haſt made deſolate all my company.) God hath long ſince wearied me with heaping one trouble on another; nor ceaſed till neither goods, children, nor friends remained to ſooth my anguiſh.

9 He teareth me in his wrath who hateth me: he gnasheth upon me with his teeth; mine enemy sharpeneth his eyes upon me.

10 They have gaped upon me with their mouth; they have smitten me upon the cheek reproachfully: they have gathered themselves together against me.

11 God hath delivered me to the ungodly, and turned me over into the hands of the wicked.

12 I was at ease, but he hath broken me asunder: he hath also taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces, and set me up for his mark.

13 His archers compass me round about; he cleaveth my reins asunder, and doth not spare; he poureth out my gall upon the ground.

14 He breaketh me with breach upon breach; he runneth upon me like a giant.

15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.

16 My face is foul with weeping, and on mine eyelids is the shadow of death;

17 ¶ Not for any injustice in mine hands: also my prayer is pure.

18 O earth, cover not thou my blood, and let my cry have no place.

19 Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high.

20 My friends scorn me; but mine eye poureth out tears unto God.

21 Oh that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbour!

22 When a few years are come, then I shall go the way whence I shall not return.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Job appealeth from men to God. 6 The unmerciful dealing of men with the afflicted may astonish but not discourage the righteous. 11 Job's hope is not in life, but in death.

MY breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me.

2 Are there not mockers with me? and doth not mine eye continue in their provocation?

3 Lay down now, put me in a surety with thee; who is he that will strike hands with me?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from understanding; therefore shalt thou not exalt them.

5 He that speaketh flattery to his friends, even the eyes of his children shall fail.

6 He hath made me also a by-word of the people, and aforetime I was as a tabret.

7 Mine eye also is dim by reason of sorrow, and all my members are as a shadow.

8 Upright men shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall stir up himself against the hypocrite.

9 The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger.

10 But as for you all, do ye return, and come now: for I cannot find one wise man among you.

11 My days are past, my purposes are broken off, even the thoughts of my heart.

12 They change the night into day: the light is short, because of darkness.

13 If I wait, the grave is mine house: I have made my bed in the darkness.

14 I have said to corruption, Thou art my father: and to the worm, Thou art my mother, and my sister.

15 And where is now my hope? as for my hope, who shall see it?

16 They shall go down to the bars of the pit, when our rest together is in the dust.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad reproveth Job for presumption and impatience. 5 The calamities of the wicked.

THEN answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 How long will it be ere ye make an end of words? mark, and afterwards we will speak.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and reputed vile in your sight?

4 He teareth himself in his anger: shall the earth be forsaken for thee? and shall the rock be removed out of his place?

5 ¶ Yea, the light of the wicked shall be put out, and the spark of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast him down.

8 For he is cast into a net by his own feet, and he walketh upon a snare.

9 The gin shall take him by the heel, and the robber shall prevail against him.

10 The snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Terrors shall make him afraid on every side, and shall drive him to his feet.

12 His strength shall be hunger-bitten, and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 It shall devour the strength of his skin: even the first-born of death shall devour his strength.

14 His confidence shall be rooted out of his tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the king of terrors.

15 It shall dwell in his tabernacle, because it is none of his: brimstone shall be scattered upon his habitation.

16 His roots shall be dried up beneath, and above shall his branch be cut off.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street.

18 He shall be driven from light into darkness, and chased out of the world.

19 He shall neither have son nor nephew among his people, nor any remaining in his dwellings.

20 They that come after him shall be astonished at

---

15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.) The sackcloth in which I at first arrayed myself, now cleaveth fast to my skin; and all my former authority and honour is changed into contempt.

Commentary on Chap. XVII.

1 My breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me.) My vital spirits are spent, the lamp of life gives but a glimmering and dying flame, just sufficient to render visible the graves, which on every side are open to receive me.

4 For thou hast hid their heart from understanding, &c.) Thou hast hid from these friends of mine the knowledge of thy judgments, therefore thou shalt appoint some other advocate.

Commentary on Chap. XVIII.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said.) Bildad again takes up the dispute, and pretends to answer the arguments of Job; but adding nothing to what had been offered before by himself and his friends: nor does he here so much as exhort Job to repentance, as he had done before, being very angry with him for the contempt he had expressed of their wisdom.

18 He shall be driven from light into darkness, and chased out of the world.) He shall be thrown from his splendid greatness into some obscure grave, and removed out of the land of the living, as some unclean thing.

21 Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.) This, certainly, is a true description of the miserable state of the wicked: such is the abject condition of those who pay no honour to their Maker.

his day, as they that went before were affrighted.

21 Surely ſuch are the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Job complaining of his friends' cruelty, ſheweth there is miſery enough in him to feed their cruelty. 21 He craveth pity. 25 He believeth the reſurrection.

THEN Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 How long will ye vex my ſoul, and break me in pieces with words?

3 Theſe ten times have ye reproached me: ye are not aſhamed that ye make yourſelves ſtrange to me.

4 And be it indeed that I have erred, mine error remaineth with myſelf.

5 If indeed ye will magnify yourſelves againſt me, and plead againſt me my reproach;

6 Know now that God hath overthrown me, and hath compaſſed me with his net.

7 Behold, I cry out of wrong, but I am not heard: I cry aloud, but there is no judgment,

8 He hath fenced up my way that I cannot paſs, and he hath ſet darkneſs in my paths.

9 He hath ſtripped me of my glory, and taken the crown from my head,

10 He hath deſtroyed me on every ſide, and I am gone; and mine hope hath he removed like a tree.

11 He hath alſo kindled his wrath againſt me, and he counteth me unto him as one of his enemies.

12 His troops come together and raiſe up their way againſt me, and encamp round about my tabernacle.

13 He hath put my brethren far from me, and mine acquaintance are verily eſtranged from me.

14 My kinsfolk have failed, and my familiar friends have forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in mine houſe, and my maids count me for a ſtranger: I am an alien in their ſight.

16 I called my ſervant and he gave me no anſwer; I intreated him with my mouth.

17 My breath is ſtrange to my wife, though I entreated for the children's ſake of mine own body.

18 Yea, young children deſpiſed me: I aroſe, and they ſpake againſt me.

19 All my inward friends abhorred me: and they whom I loved are turned againſt me.

20 My bone cleaveth to my ſkin and to my fleſh, and I am eſcaped with the ſkin of my teeth.

21 ¶ Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends; for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why do ye perſecute me as God, and are not ſatisfied with my fleſh?

23 Oh, that my words were now written: oh, that they were printed in a book!

24 That they were graven with an iron pen and lead in the rock for ever!

25 ¶ For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he ſhall ſtand at the latter day upon the earth.

26 And though after my ſkin worms deſtroy this body, yet in my fleſh ſhall I ſee God:

27 Whom I ſhall ſee for myſelf, and mine eyes ſhall behold, and not another: though my reins be conſumed within me.

28 But ye ſhall ſay, Why perſecute we him, ſeeing the root of the matter is found in me?

29 Be ye afraid of the ſword: for wrath bringeth the puniſhments of the ſword, that ye may know there is a judgment.

CHAP. XX.

Zophar ſheweth the certain downfal and portion of the wicked.

THEN anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid,

2 Therefore do my thoughts cauſe me to anſwer, and for this I make haſte.

3 I have heard the check of my reproach, and the ſpirit of my underſtanding cauſeth me to anſwer.

4 Knoweſt thou not this of old, ſince man was placed upon the earth,

5 That the triumphing of the wicked is ſhort, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment?

6 Though his excellency mount up to the heavens, and his head reach unto the clouds;

7 Yet he ſhall periſh for ever like his own dung: they which have ſeen him ſhall ſay, Where is he?

8 He ſhall fly away as a dream, and ſhall not be found; yea he ſhall be chaſed away as a viſion of the night.

9 The eye alſo which ſaw him ſhall ſee him no more; neither ſhall his place any more behold him.

10 His children ſhall ſeek to pleaſe the poor, and his hands ſhall reſtore their goods.

11 His bones are full of the ſin of his youth, which ſhall lie down with him in the duſt.

12 Though wickedneſs be ſweet in his mouth, though he hide it under his tongue;

13 Though he ſpare it, and forſake it not, but keep it ſtill within his mouth;

14 Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gall of aſps within him.

15 He hath ſwallowed down riches, and he ſhall vomit them up again: God ſhall caſt them out of his belly.

16 He ſhall ſuck the poiſon of aſps: the viper's tongue ſhall ſlay him.

17 He ſhall not ſee the rivers, the floods, the brooks of honey and butter.

18 That which he laboured for ſhall he reſtore, and

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 Then Job anſwered and ſaid.) The purport of this anſwer of Job to Bildad is to ſhew, that it would be ſufficient for him alſo merely to repeat what he had before delivered, as they had done in ten diſcourſes. And to aggravate their cruelty, he adds ſeveral particulars, which repreſent his condition ſtill more miſerable than he had hitherto painted it; but at the ſame time declared, that he had now a glimmering of hope, that God would at laſt take pity on his miſery, and reſtore him to happineſs.

25, 26, 27, For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he ſhall ſtand at the latter day upon the earth, &c.) Theſe words have a ſpiritual and prophetical ſenſe, ſignifying the reſurrection of the body at the laſt day, and the coming of our Great Redeemer to judgment: for we well know, that our Redeemer liveth; that he is the ſame from everlaſting to everlaſting; the ſame adorable Being; the ſame omnipotent and faithful friend; the ſame all-ſufficient and ineſtimable portion: and that he will ſtand at the latter day upon the earth: that he will, when time ſhall be ſwallowed up in eternity, deſcend from heaven with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God, to take vengeance on all ſuch as have deſpiſed his mercy, and mocked at his reproofs; and to reward his brethren with a crown of glory, which fadeth not away, and convey them to the bliſsful manſions of his Father's kingdom.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

6, 7 Tho' his excellency mount up to the heavens, &c.) Though he ſhould be advanced to the higheſt pinacle of human greatneſs, and riſe above the reſt of mankind as much as the lofty cedars of the mountains exceed in height the lowly herbage of the vale; yet he ſhall fall as low as his own dunghill, and like it be caſt out for ever with contempt: they who knew him in his flouriſhing condition, ſhall be aſtoniſhed at his ruin, and aſk, with terror and amazement, for the place of his retreat.

ſhall not ſwallow it down: according to his ſubſtance ſhall the reſtitution be, and he ſhall not rejoice therein.

19 Becauſe he hath oppreſſed and hath forſaken the poor; becauſe he hath violently taken away an houſe which he builded not;

20 Surely he ſhall not feel quietneſs in his belly, he ſhall not ſave of that which he deſired.

21 There ſhall none of his meat be left; therefore ſhall no man look for his goods.

22 In the fulneſs of his ſufficiency he ſhall be in ſtraits: every hand of the wicked ſhall come upon him.

23 When he is about to fill his belly, God ſhall caſt the fury of his wrath upon him, and ſhall rain it upon him while he is eating.

24 He ſhall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of ſteel ſhall ſtrike him through.

25 It is drawn and cometh out of the body; yea, the glittering ſword cometh out of his gall: terrors are upon him.

26 All darkneſs ſhall be hid in his ſecret places: a fire not blown ſhall conſume him; it ſhall go ill with him that is left in his tabernacle.

27 The heaven ſhall reveal his iniquity; and the earth ſhall riſe up againſt him.

28 The increaſe of his houſe ſhall depart, and his goods ſhall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the heritage appointed unto him by God.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Job ſheweth that even in the judgment of man he hath reaſon to be grieved. 7 Sometimes the wicked do ſo proſper as they deſpiſe God. 16 Sometimes their deſtruction is manifeſt. 23 The happy and the unhappy are alike in death.

BUT Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 Hear diligently my ſpeech, and let this be your conſolations.

3 Suffer me that I may ſpeak; and after that I have ſpoken, mock on.

4 As for me is my complaint to man? and if it were ſo, why ſhould not my ſpirit be troubled?

5 Mark me, and be aſtoniſhed, and lay your hand upon your mouth.

6 Even when I remember I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my fleſh.

7 ¶ Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea are mighty in power?

8 Their ſeed is eſtabliſhed in their ſight with them, and their offſpring before their eyes.

9 Their houſes are ſafe from fear, neither is the rod of God upon them.

10 Their bull gendereth, and faileth not; their cow calveth, and caſteth not her calf.

11 They ſend forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance.

12 They take the timbrel and harp, and rejoice at the ſound of the organ.

13 They ſpend their days in wealth, and in a moment go down to the grave.

14 Therefore they ſay unto God, Depart from us; for we deſire not the knowledge of thy ways.

15 What is the Almighty, that we ſhould ſerve him, and what profit ſhould we have, if we pray unto him?

16 ¶ Lo, their good is not in their hand; the counſel of the wicked is far from me.

17 How oft is the candle of the wicked put out? and how oft cometh their deſtruction upon them? God diſtributeth ſorrows in his anger.

18 They are as ſtubble before the wind, and as chaff that the ſtorm carrieth away.

19 God layeth up his iniquity for his children: he rewardeth him, and he ſhall know it.

20 His eyes ſhall ſee his deſtruction, and he ſhall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleaſure hath he in his houſe after him, when the number of his months is cut off in the midſt?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge? ſeeing he judgeth thoſe that are high.

23 ¶ One dieth in his full ſtrength, being wholly at eaſe and quiet.

24 His breaſts are full of milk, and his bones are moiſtened with marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitterneſs of his ſoul, and never eateth with pleaſure.

26 They ſhall lie down alike in the duſt, and the worms ſhall cover them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the devices which ye wrongfully imagine againſt me.

28 For ye ſay, Where is the houſe of the prince? and where are the dwelling-places of the wicked?

29 Have ye not aſked them that go by the way? and do ye not know their tokens?

30 That the wicked is reſerved to the day of deſtruction; they ſhall be brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who ſhall declare his way to his face? and who ſhall repay him what he hath done?

32 Yet ſhall he be brought to the grave, and ſhall remain in the tomb.

33 The clods of the valley ſhall be ſweet unto him, and every man ſhall draw after him, as there are innumerable before him.

34 How then comfort ye me in vain, ſeeing in your anſwers there remaineth falſhood.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Eliphaz ſheweth that man's goodneſs profiteth not God 5 He accuſeth Job of divers ſins, to which he imputeth his calamities.

THEN Eliphaz the Temanite anſwered and ſaid,

2 Can a man be profitable unto God, as he that is wiſe may be profitable unto himſelf?

3 Is it any pleaſure to the Almighty that thou art righteous? or is it gain to him that thou makeſt thy ways

27 The heaven ſhall reveal his iniquity: and the earth ſhall riſe up againſt him.) The thunders, lightnings, and tempeſts of heaven ſhall attack him to reveal his iniquity; and the wild beaſts of the earth ſhall make war againſt him.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

9 Their houſes are ſafe from fear.) That is, of the incurſions of robbers, we may ſuppoſe, or the depredations of the neighbouring clans, ſo uſual in thoſe ancient times, and of which Job had felt the miſchievous effects.

16 Lo, their good is not in their hand: the counſel of the wicked is far from me.) Do not imagine that I am of their opinion. I well know, that without the favour of the Almighty, riches and proſperity are of no value: and therefore far be it from me to join with them in their impiety.

22 Shall any teach God knowledge? &c.) Will you preſume to cenſure or correct the method of God's providence, or preſcribe laws to the great judge of the world? It is evident that good and evil are diſpenſed by him, for the moſt part, without any exact regard to the good or ill deſerts of men; and this during the whole period of human life, from the cradle to the grave. The inference is plainly this, that there is a future ſtate to be expected, where all theſe irregularities ſhall be adjuſted: The wicked is reſerved to the day of deſtruction.

ways perfect?

4 Will he reprove thee for fear of thee? will he enter with thee into judgment?

5 ¶ Is not thy wickedneſs great? and thine iniquities infinite?

6 For thou haſt taken a pledge from thy brother for nought, and ſtripped the naked of their cloathing.

7 Thou haſt not given water to the weary to drink, and thou haſt with-holden bread from the hungry.

8 But as for the mighty man, he had the earth; and the honourable man dwelt in it.

9 Thou haſt ſent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherleſs have been broken;

10 Therefore ſnares are round about thee, and ſudden fear troubleth thee;

11 Or darkneſs, that thou canſt not ſee; and abundance of waters cover thee.

12 Is not God in the height of heaven? and, behold, the height of the ſtars, how high they are!

13 And thou ſayeſt, How doth God know? can he judge through the dark cloud?

14 Thick clouds are a covering to him, that he ſeeth not, and he walketh in the circuit of heaven.

15 Haſt thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden;

16 Which were cut down out of time, whoſe foundation was overflown with a flood;

17 Which ſaid unto God, Depart from us: and what can the Almighty do for them?

18 Yet he filled their houſes with good things: but the counſel of the wicked is far from me.

19 The righteous ſee it, and are glad: and the innocent laugh them to ſcorn.

20 Whereas our ſubſtance in not cut down; but the remnant of them the fire conſumeth.

21 Acquaint now thyſelf with him, and be at peace: thereby good ſhall come unto thee.

22 Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart.

23 If thou return to the Almighty thou ſhalt be built up, thou ſhalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles.

24 Then ſhalt thou lay up gold as duſt, and the gold of Ophir as the ſtones of the brooks.

25 Yea, the Almighty ſhall be thy defence, and thou ſhalt have plenty of ſilver.

26 For then ſhalt thou have thy delight in the Almighty, and ſhalt lift up thy face unto God.

27 Thou ſhalt make thy prayer unto him, and he ſhall hear thee, and thou ſhalt pay thy vows.

28 Thou ſhalt alſo decree a thing, and it ſhall be eſtabliſhed unto thee; and the light ſhall ſhine upon thy ways.

29 When men are caſt down, then thou ſhalt ſay, There is lifting up; and he ſhall ſave the humble perſon.

30 He ſhall deliver the iſland of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureneſs of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job longeth to appear before God, 6 in confidence of his mercy. 8 God, who is inviſible, obſerveth our ways. 11 Job's innocency. 13 God's decree is immutable.

THEN Job anſwered and ſaid,

2 Even to-day is my complaint bitter, my ſtroke is heavier than my groaning.

3 Oh, that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his ſeat!

4 I would order my cauſe before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the words which he would anſwer me, and underſtand what he would ſay unto me.

6 Will he plead againſt me with his great power? No, but he would put ſtrength in me.

7 There the righteous might diſpute with him: ſo ſhould I be delivered for ever from my judge.

8 Behold, I go forward, but he is not there: and backward, but I cannot perceive him:

9 On the left-hand where he doth work, but I cannot behold him: he hideth himſelf on the right-hand, that I cannot ſee him:

10 But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I ſhall come forth as gold.

11 My foot hath held his ſteps, his way have I kept, and not declined.

12 Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have eſteemed the words of his mouth more than my neceſſary food.

13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his ſoul deſireth, even that he doeth.

14 For he performeth the thing that is appointed for me: and many ſuch things are with him.

15 Therefore am I troubled at his preſence: when I conſider, I am afraid of him.

16 For God maketh my heart ſoft, and the Almighty troubleth me:

17 Becauſe I was not cut off before the darkneſs; neither hath he covered the darkneſs from my face.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Wickedneſs goeth often unpuniſhed. 17 There is a ſecret judgment hangs over the wicked.

WHY, ſeeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not ſee his days?

2 Some remove the land-marks; they violently take away flocks and feed thereof.

3 They drive away the aſs of the fatherleſs, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.

4 They turn the needy out of the way; the poor of the earth hide themſelves together.

5 Behold, as wild-aſſes in the deſert, go they forth to their work, riſing betimes for a prey; the wilderneſs yieldeth food for them and for their children.

6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.

7 They cauſe the naked to lodge without cloathing, that they have no covering in the cold.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

15 Haſt thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden?) Didſt thou never read, or haſt thou forgotten, the paths followed by the atheiſtical inhabitants of the old world, who ran licentiouſly into every kind of wickedneſs!

29, 30 When men are caſt down, then thou ſhalt ſay there is lifting up, &c.) Thou ſhalt alſo pray to the Almighty to raiſe others from the duſt; and he ſhall grant thy petition, by delivering him that is depreſſed. Yea, a whole country ſhall owe its ſafety to thine innocence: by thy pious prayers ſhall it be delivered.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

10 When he hath tried me I ſhall come forth as gold.) When he hath tried me by afflictions and approved me, I ſhall be cleared from all theſe imputations.

13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him?) But all my care to walk in his ſtatutes will not move him to relieve me; he ſteadily purſues his purpoſe; nor can any divert him from it, nor hinder it from being fulfilled.

8 They

8 They are wet with the ſhowers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a ſhelter.

9 They pluck the fatherleſs from the breaſt, and take a pledge of the poor;

10 They cauſe him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the ſheaf from the hungry;

11 Which make oil within their walls, and tread their wine-preſſes, and ſuffer thirſt.

12 Men groan from out of the city, and the ſoul of the wounded crieth out: yet God layeth not folly to them.

13 They are of thoſe that rebel againſt the light: they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof.

14 The murderer riſing with the light, killeth the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief.

15 The eye alſo of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, ſaying, No eye ſhall ſee me: and diſguiſeth his face.

16 In the dark they dig through houſes, which they had marked for themſelves in the day time: they know not the light.

17 For the morning is to them even as the ſhadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the ſhadow of death.

18 He is ſwift as the waters; their portion is curſed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards.

19 Drought and heat conſume the ſnow-waters: ſo doth the grave thoſe which have ſinned.

20 The womb ſhall forget him; the worm ſhall feed ſweetly on him: he ſhall be no more remembered: and wickedneſs ſhall be broken as a tree.

21 He evil-entreateth the barren that beareth not, and doeth not good to the widow.

22 He draweth alſo the mighty with his power: he riſeth up, and no man is ſure of life.

23 Though it be given him to be in ſafety whereon he reſteth, yet his eyes are upon their ways.

24 They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.

25 And if it be not ſo now, who will make me a lyar, and make my ſpeech nothing worth?

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad ſheweth that man cannot be juſtified before God.

THEN anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid,

2 Dominion and fear are with him, he maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light ariſe?

4 How then can man be juſtified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?

5 Behold, even to the moon, and it ſhineth not: yea, the ſtars are not pure in his ſight:

6 How much leſs man, that is a worm; and the ſon of man, which is a worm.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Job reproving the uncharitable ſpirit of Bildad, 5 acknowledgeth the power of God to be infinite and unſearchable.

BUT Job, anſwered and ſaid,

2 How haſt thou helped him that is without power? how ſaveſt thou the arm that hath no ſtrength?

3 How haſt thou counſelled him that hath no wiſdom? and how haſt thou plentifully declared the thing as it is?

4 To whom haſt thou uttered words? and whoſe ſpirit came from thee?

5 Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof.

6 Hell is naked before him, and deſtruction hath no covering.

7 He ſtretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing.

8 He bindeth up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them.

9 He holdeth back the face of his throne, and ſpreadeth his cloud upon it.

10 He hath compaſſed the waters with bounds, until the day and night come to an end.

11 The pillars of heaven tremble, and are aſtoniſhed at his reproof.

12 He divideth the ſea with his power, and by his underſtanding he ſmiteth through the proud.

13 By his ſpirit he hath garniſhed the heavens: his hand hath formed the crooked ſerpent.

14 Lo, theſe are parts of his ways; but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his power who can underſtand?

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Job proteſteth his ſincerity. 8 The hypocrite is without hope. 11 The bleſſings which the wicked have are often turned into curſes.

MOREOVER, Job continued his parable and ſaid,

2 As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment; and the Almighty, who hath vexed my ſoul;

3 All the while my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God is in my noſtrils,

4 My lips ſhall not ſpeak wickedneſs, nor my tongue utter deceit.

5 God forbid that I ſhould juſtify you: till I die I will not remove my integrity from me.

6 My righteouſneſs I hold faſt, and will not let it

---

13 That rebel againſt the light.) That look upon the light as their enemy.

20 The womb ſhall forget him, &c.) He bears no ſuch marks of the divine diſpleaſure, as to cauſe his mother to remember him with regret; he is carried to his grave like other men, and the worm feeds as ſweetly upon him. There he reſts in quiet, and both him and his wickedneſs are forgotten, as a tree broken to ſhivers.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

5, 6 Behold, even to the moon, and it ſhineth not; yea, the ſtars are not pure in his ſight, &c.) So inconceivably holy is the Lord of hoſts, that he ſees defilement even in the brightneſs of yonder firmament. Thoſe living ſapphires, before his majeſty, loſe their luſtre: how much leſs man, who is little better than a worm, that crawls in the corrupted carcaſe; and the ſon of man, who, by reaſon of his manifold actual impurities, is too juſtly compared to an inſect that wallows amidſt ſtench and putrefaction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

2 How haſt thou helped him that is without power? &c.) How excellently haſt thou defended him, who wants none of thine aſſiſtance? Can thy diſcourſes be of any ſervice to the Almighty?

13 By his ſpirit he hath garniſhed the heavens; his hand hath formed the crooked ſerpent.) He hath adorned the heavens with thoſe innumerable penſile globes which glitter in the æthereal blue, and by his wiſdom he formed that large conſtellation called the Serpent.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

6 My heart ſhall not reproach.) Job does not ſay that he ſhall be free from ſin, but only from thoſe great crimes of which he had been accuſed.

go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.
7 Let mine enemy be as the wicked, and he that riseth up against me as the unrighteous.
8 For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul?
9 Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him?
10 Will he delight himself in the Almighty? will he always call upon God?
11 ¶ I will teach you by the hand of God: that which is with the Almighty will I not conceal.
12 Behold, all ye yourselves have seen it; why then are ye thus altogether vain?
13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of oppressors, which they shall receive of the Almighty.
14 If his children be multiplied, it is for the sword; and his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 Those that remain of him shall be buried in death; and his widows shall not weep.
16 Though he heap up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay;
17 He may prepare it, but the just shall put it on, and the innocent shall divide the silver.
18 He buildeth his house as a moth, and as a booth that the keeper maketh.
19 The rich man shall lie down, but he shall not be gathered: he openeth his eyes, and he is not.
20 Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night.
21 The east wind carrieth him away, and he departeth; and as a storm, hurleth him out of his place.
22 For God shall cast upon him, and not spare: he would fain flee out of his hand.
23 Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 There is a knowledge of natural things. 12 But wisdom is an excellent gift of God.

SURELY there is a vein for the silver, and a place for gold where they fine it.
2 Iron is taken out of the earth, and brass is molten out of the stone.
3 He setteth an end to darkness, and searcheth out all perfection: the stones of darkness, and the shadow of death.
4 The flood breaketh out from the inhabitant; even the waters forgotten of the foot: they are dried up, they are gone away from men.
5 As for the earth, out of it cometh bread; and under it is turned up as it were fire.
6 The stones of it are the places of sapphires: and it hath dust of gold.
7 There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen;
8 The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it.
9 He putteth forth his hand upon the rock, he overturneth the mountains by the roots.
10 He cutteth out rivers among the rocks, and his eye seeth every precious thing.
11 He bindeth the floods from overflowing: and the thing that is hid bringeth he forth to light.
12 ¶ But where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?
13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: neither is it found in the land of the living.
14 The depth saith, It is not in me; and the sea saith, It is not with me.
15 It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.
16 It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir; with the precious onyx, or the sapphire.
17 The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold.
20 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?
21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air.
22 Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears.
23 God understandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof:
24 For he looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven;
25 To make the weight for the winds, and he weigheth the waters by measure.
26 When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder;
27 Then did he see it, and declare it: he prepared it, yea, and searched it out.
28 And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Job bemoaneth himself when he remembereth his former prosperity and honour.

18 He buildeth his house like a moth, and as a booth that the keeper maketh.) He buildeth a costly structure, but is as easily deprived of it as a moth is shaken out of a garment: nor shall he be of longer continuance than the booth, erected for him that keepeth the fruit of a garden.

20 Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night.) Terrors innumerable, like an overflowing stream, break in upon him; the divine vengeance, like a sudden tempest, hurries him away, while the world is buried in night and silence.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

7 A path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen.) There is scarce any thing so concealed but what the industry of man hath brought to light; wisdom only excepted.

22 Destruction and death say, &c.) Destruction and death must mean the dead; the generation of men says Job, who have lived before us, and are now gone to the regions of the dead, these have told us, we have heard the hearing thereof with our ears, that is, we have had something relating to this question about wisdom handed down to us by tradition from our forefathers. This must be the meaning from the great regard which is paid by every speaker, in every speech to what was taught them by their ancestors.

28 Unto man he said, Behold the fear of the Lord, &c.) If the opinion of learned men be well grounded, that there was neither rain nor thunder before the fall of our first parents, then it follows that this Divine admonition to Adam, viz, the fear, &c. must be given after the fall; for God is said to give it, when he made a decree for the rain, &c. And if he accompanied this lesson of obedience with a display of his thunder in all its terrors, and this was the first time that Adam heard those awful sounds; what an impression must it make upon his heart? how could he chuse but remember it, and transmit it with care to posterity? and we have some reason to think, that this might be the case, as the law was delivered from mount Sinai, with the same awful solemnity. By wisdom here is to be understood, not Divine wisdom, but the wisdom proper for man, viz. the wisdom of religion: which when God revealed to Adam, no doubt but he at the same time explained: for he saw it, and declared it, made it manifest, and prepared it, suited it to man, yea, and searched it out, thoroughly examined it, and behold, it was very good.

MOREOVER

MOREOVER, Job continued his parable and said,

2 Oh that I where as in months paſt, as in the days when God preſerved me;

3 When his candle ſhined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkneſs;

4 As I was in the days of my youth, when the ſecret of God was upon my tabernacle;

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, when my children were about me;

6 When I waſhed my ſteps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil;

7 When I went out to the gate, through the city; when I prepared my ſeat in the ſtreet!

8 The young men ſaw me, and hid themſelves; and the aged aroſe, and ſtood up.

9 The princes refrained talking, and laid their hand on their mouth.

10 The nobles held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth.

11 When the ear heard me, then it bleſſed me; and and when the eye ſaw me, it gave witneſs to me:

12 Becauſe I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherleſs, and him that had none to help him.

13 The bleſſing of him that was ready to periſh came upon me: and I cauſed the widow's heart to ſing for joy.

14 I put on righteouſneſs, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.

15 I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.

16 I was a father to the poor: and the cauſe which I knew not I ſearched out.

17 And I brake the jaws of the wicked, and plucked the ſpoil out of his teeth.

18 Then I ſaid, I ſhall die in my neſt, and I ſhall multiply my days as the ſand.

19 My root was ſpread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch.

20 My glory was freſh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand.

21 Unto me men gave ear, and waited, and kept ſilence at my counſel.

22 After my words they ſpake not again; and my ſpeech dropped upon them.

23 And they waited for me as for the rain; and they opened their mouth wide as for the latter rain.

24 If I laughed on them, they believed it not: and the light of my countenance they caſt not down.

25 I choſe out their way, and ſat chief, and dwelt as a king in the army, as one that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Job's honour is turned into extreme contempt: 15 his proſperity into calamity.

BUT now they that are younger than I have me in deriſion, whoſe fathers I would have diſdained to have ſet with the dogs of my flock.

2 Yea, whereto might the ſtrength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was periſhed?

3 For want and famine they were ſolitary: fleeing into the wilderneſs in former time deſolate and waſte;

4 Who cut up mallows by the buſhes, and juniper roots for their meat.

5 They were driven forth from among men: they cried after them as after a thief;

6 To dwell in the cliffs of the vallies, in caves of the earth, and in the rocks.

7 Among the buſhes they brayed; under the nettles they were gathered together.

8 They were children of fools, yea children of baſe men; they were viler than the earth.

9 And now am I their ſong, yea, I am their by-word.

10 They abhor me, they flee far from me, and ſpare not to ſpit in my face.

11 Becauſe he hath looſed my cord, and afflicted me, they have alſo let looſe the bridle before me.

12 Upon my right-hand riſe the youth, they puſh away my feet, and they raiſe up againſt me the ways of their deſtruction.

13 They mar my path, they ſet forward my calamity, they have no helper.

14 They came upon me as a wide breaking in of waters: in the deſolation they rolled themſelves upon me.

15 ¶ Terrors are turned upon me: they purſue my ſoul as the wind: and my welfare paſſeth away as a cloud.

16 And now my ſoul is poured out upon me: the days of affliction have taken hold upon me.

17 My bones are pierced in me in the night ſeaſon: and my ſinews take no reſt.

18 By the great force of my diſeaſe is my garment changed: it bindeth me about as the collar of my coat.

19 He hath caſt me into the mire, and I am become like duſt and aſhes.

20 I cry unto thee, and thou doſt not hear me: I ſtand up and thou regardeſt me not.

21 Thou art become cruel to me: with thy ſtrong hand thou oppoſeſt thyſelf againſt me.

22 Thou lifteſt me up to the wind; thou cauſeſt me to ride upon it, and diſſolveſt my ſubſtance.

23 For I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the houſe appointed for all living.

24 Howbeit, he will not ſtretch out his hand to the grave, though they cry in his deſtruction.

25 Did not I weep for him that was in trouble? was not my ſoul grieved for the poor?

26 When I looked for good, then evil came unto me: and when I waited for light there came darkneſs.

27 My bowels boiled, and reſted not: the days of affliction prevented me.

28 I went mourning without the ſun: I ſtood up, and I cried in the congregation.

29 I am a brother to dragons, and a companion to owls.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

4 When the ſecret of God was upon my tabernacle.) That is, when that auguſt aſſembly where God's counſels and decrees are paſſed, was held, as it were over my habitation; and it ſeemed to be his peculiar care to proſper me and my family.

6 I waſhed my ſteps with butter.) Rather cream; a figurative expreſſion, ſignifying his great plenty.

19 My root was ſpread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch.) I was like a tree whoſe roots extended along the margin of the waters, and whoſe boughs were perpetually moiſtened by the enlightening dews of heaven.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 But now they that are younger than I have me in deriſion, &c.) But now, alas! the youths who formerly beheld me with reverence, have the confidence to mock me; nay; even thoſe whoſe fathers I diſdained to employ in the vileſt ſervices, look upon me with diſdain.

22 Thou lifteſt me up to the wind, &c.) Thou placed me on the pinacle of human greatneſs; and madeſt me, as it were, to ride upon the clouds: but haſt now thrown me to the ground, and ſhivered me to pieces.

owls.

30 My ſkin is black upon me, and my bones are burned with heat.

31 My harp alſo is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of them that weep.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Job maketh a ſolemn proteſtation of his integrity in ſeveral duties.

I Made a covenant with mine eyes; why then ſhould I think upon a maid?

2 For what portion of God is there from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?

3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked? and a ſtrange puniſhment to the workers of iniquity?

4 Doth not he ſee my ways, and count all my ſteps?

5 If I have walked with vanity, or if my foot hath haſted to deceit;

6 Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity.

7 If my ſtep hath turned out of the way, and mine heart walked after mine eyes, and if any blot hath cleaved to my hands;

8 Then let me ſow, and let another eat; yea, let my offſpring be rooted out.

9 If mine heart have been deceived by a woman; or if I have laid wait at my neighbour's door;

10 Then let my wife grind unto another, and let others bow down upon her.

11 For this is an heinous crime; yea, it is an iniquity to be puniſhed by the judges.

12 For it is a fire that conſumeth to deſtruction, and would root out all mine increaſe.

13 If I did deſpiſe the cauſe of my man-ſervant or of my maid-ſervant when they contended with me;

14 What then ſhall I do when God riſeth up? and when he viſiteth, what ſhall I anſwer him?

15 Did not he that made me in the womb make him? and did not one faſhion us in the womb?

16 If I have with-held the poor from their deſire, or have cauſed the eyes of the widow to fail;

17 Or have eaten my morſel myſelf alone, and the fatherleſs hath not eaten thereof;

18 (For from my youth he was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her from my mother's womb;)

19 If I have ſeen any periſh for want of clothing, or any poor without covering;

20 If his loins have not bleſſed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my ſheep;

21 If I have lifted up my hand againſt the fatherleſs, when I ſaw my help in the gate;

22 Then let mine arm fall from my ſhoulder-blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone.

23 For deſtruction from God was a terror to me, and by reaſon of his highneſs I could not endure.

24 If I have made gold my hope, or have ſaid to the fine gold, Thou art my confidence;

25 If I rejoiced becauſe my wealth was great, and becauſe mine hand had gotten much;

26 If I beheld the ſun when it ſhined, or the moon walking in brightneſs,

27 And my heart hath been ſecretly enticed, or my mouth hath kiſſed my hand:

28 This alſo were an iniquity to be puniſhed by the judge: for I ſhould have denied the God that is above.

29 If I rejoiced at the deſtruction of him that hated me, or lifted up myſelf when evil found him;

30 (Neither have I ſuffered my mouth to ſin, by wiſhing a curſe to his ſoul;)

31 If the men of my tabernacle ſaid not, Oh that we had of his fleſh! we cannot be ſatisfied.

32 The ſtranger did not lodge in the ſtreet; but I opened my doors to the traveller.

33 If I covered my tranſgreſſions as Adam, by hiding mine iniquity in my boſom;

34 Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrify me, that I kept ſilence, and went not out of the door?

35 Oh that one would hear me! behold, my deſire is, that the Almighty would anſwer me, and that mine adverſary had written a book.

36 Surely I would take it upon my ſhoulder, and bind it as crown to me.

37 I would declare unto him the number of my ſteps; as a prince would I go near unto him.

38 If my land cry againſt me, or that the furrows likewiſe thereof complain;

39 If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, or have cauſed the owners thereof to loſe their life:

40 Let thiſtles grow inſtead of wheat, and cockle inſtead of barley. The words of Job are ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu is angry with Job and his three friends. 11 He reproveth them for not ſatisfying of Job. 16 His zeal to ſpeak.

SO theſe three men ceaſed to anſwer Job becauſe he was righteous in his own eyes.

2 Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu the ſon of Barachel the Buzite of the kindred of Ram: againſt Job was his wrath kindled becauſe he juſtified himſelf rather than God.

3 Alſo againſt his three friends was his wrath kindled, becauſe they had found no anſwer and yet had condemned Job.

4 Now Elihu had waited till Job had ſpoken, becauſe they were elder than he.

5 When Elihu ſaw that there was no anſwer in the mouth of theſe three men, then his wrath was kindled.

6 And Elihu the ſon of Barachel the Buzite anſwered and ſaid, I am young and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid and durſt not ſhew you mine opinion.

7 I ſaid, Days ſhould ſpeak, and multitude of years ſhould teach wiſdom.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked?) It is plain Job muſt underſtand this deſtruction in another ſenſe than his antagoniſts did, viz. of their final retribution in a future ſtate: as he does likewiſe at the 14th verſe, What ſhall I do when God riſeth up? &c. that is, when he ariſeth to judgment: he cannot mean this of a temporal viſitation; for he ſeems to think his condition ſo miſerable already, that it could not be more ſo, and therefore often wiſhes for death as the happieſt thing that could befal him.

17 Eaten my morſel by myſelf alone.) Dr. Shaw ſays it is now the cuſtom for the Arabs, when on a journey, after they have prepared their food to go to the higheſt ground in the neighbourhood, and call thrice aloud to all their brethren, the ſons of the faithful, to come and partake of it, though none are in view, nor perhaps within 100 miles of them: this cuſtom they think is an inſtance of their great benevolence and hoſpitality.

26, 27 If I beheld the ſun when it ſhined, &c.) If the majeſtic appearance of the ſun at its riſing, or the luſtre of the moon in her full brightneſs, inſpired me with an opinion that they were gods, or if I kiſſed mine hand in token of paying them reverence, the judges would puniſh ſo fearful a crime; for I ſhould have given the honour I owe my Maker, to bodies formed by his own hand.

8 But there is a ſpirit in man: and the inſpiration of the Almighty giveth them underſtanding.

9 Great men are not always wiſe; neither doth the aged underſtand judgment.

10 Therefore I ſaid, Hearken to me; I alſo will ſhew mine opinion.

11 ¶ Behold, I waited for your words: I gave ear to your reaſons, whilſt ye ſearched out what to ſay.

12 Yea, I attended unto you: and behold, there was none of you that convinced Job, or that anſwered his words:

13 Leſt ye ſhould ſay, We have found out wiſdom: God thruſteth him down, not man.

14 Now he hath not directed his words againſt me: neither will I anſwer him with your ſpeeches.

15 ¶ They were amazed: they anſwered no more: they left off ſpeaking.

16 When I had waited, (for they ſpake not, but ſtood ſtill, and anſwered no more,)

17 I ſaid, I will anſwer alſo my part, I alſo will ſhew mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter; the ſpirit within me conſtraineth me.

19 Behold my belly is as wine which hath no vent, it is ready to burſt like new bottles.

20 I will ſpeak that I may be refreſhed; I will open my lips and anſwer.

21 Let me not, I pray you, accept any man's perſon, neither let me give flattering titles unto man.

22 For I know not to give flattering titles: in ſo doing my Maker would ſoon take me away.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu offereth himſelf inſtead of God with ſincerity and meekneſs to reaſon with Job. 8 He excuſeth God from giving man an account of his ways, by his greatneſs. 31 He inciteth Job to attention.

WHEREFORE, Job, I pray thee, hear my ſpeeches, and hearken to all my words.

2 Behold, now I have opened my mouth, my tongue hath ſpoken in my mouth.

3 My words ſhall be of the uprightneſs of my heart; and my lips ſhall utter knowledge clearly.

4 The ſpirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life.

5 If thou canſt anſwer me, ſet thy words in order before me, ſtand up.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wiſh in God's ſtead: I alſo am formed out of the clay.

7 Behold my terror ſhall not make thee afraid; neither ſhall my hand be heavy upon thee.

8 ¶ Surely thou haſt ſpoken in my hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words, ſaying,

9 I am clean without tranſgreſſion, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me.

10 Behold, he findeth occaſions againſt me: he counteth me for his enemy.

11 He putteth my feet in the ſtocks: he marketh all my paths.

12 Behold, in this thou art not juſt. I will anſwer thee, that God is greater than man.

13 Why doſt thou ſtrive againſt him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters.

14 For God ſpeaketh once, yea, twice, yet men perceiveth it not.

15 In a dream in a viſion of the night, when deep ſleep falleth upon men, in ſlumberings upon the bed;

16 Then he openeth the ears of men, and ſealeth their inſtruction.

17 That he may withdraw man from his purpoſe, and hide pride from man.

18 He keepeth back his ſoul from the pit, and his life from periſhing by the ſword.

19 He is chaſtened alſo with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with ſtrong pain:

20 So that his life abhorreth bread, and his ſoul dainty meat.

21 His fleſh is conſumed away that it cannot be ſeen; and his bones, that were not ſeen, ſtick out.

22 Yea, his ſoul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the deſtroyers.

23 If there be a meſſenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thouſand, to ſhew unto man his uprightneſs:

24 Then he is gracious unto him, and ſaith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ranſom.

25 His fleſh ſhall be freſher than a child's; he ſhall return to the days of his youth.

26 He ſhall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him; and he ſhall ſee his face with joy: for he ſhall render unto man his righteouſneſs.

27 He looketh upon men, and if any ſay, I have ſinned, and perverted that which was right, and it profited me not;

28 He will deliver his ſoul from going into the pit, and his life ſhall ſee the light.

29 Lo, all theſe things worketh God oftentimes with man.

30 To bring back his ſoul from the pit, to be enlightened with the light of the living.

31 Mark well, O Job, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I will ſpeak.

32 If thou haſt any thing to ſay, anſwer me: ſpeak, for I deſire to juſtify thee.

33 If not, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I ſhall teach thee wiſdom.

CHAP. XXXIV.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

9 Great men are not always wiſe, &c.) Wiſdom is not always the portion of thoſe who are placed in authority; nor do the aged always employ their experience in ſuch a manner as to underſtand the difference of things.

22 For I know not to give flattering titles, &c.) I am a ſtranger to the art of flattering men into a good opinion of themſelves; nay, ſhould I attempt ſo unjuſt a method, the Almighty would at once put a period to my life and adulation.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

3 My words ſhall be of the uprightneſs of my heart, &c.) My words ſhall paint the ſincere dictates of my heart, and my inſtructions ſhall be delivered with clearneſs and perſpicuity.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wiſh in God's ſtead; I alſo am formed out of the clay.) Thou haſt more than once requeſted, that ſome perſon ſhould repreſent the Almighty, and reaſon with thee on thy ſufferings. Thy wiſh is granted; I, who, in common with thee, am formed out of the duſt, will appear for him.

23, 24, 25 If there be a meſſenger with him, &c.) Even then, if the Almighty pleaſe to ſend a righteous meſſenger, one who can explain the reaſon for the proceedings of Providence, and perſuade the afflicted perſon to repent, and turn from the evil of his ways, he ſhall implore the mercies of God for him, ſaying, Spare thy ſervant, O Lord, and reſcue him from the chambers of the grave; let thy juſtice be ſatisfied with the correction thou haſt laid upon him, and thy pity be extended towards him, for I have found him a penitent. Then ſhall the ſick perſon begin immediately to recover; his fleſh ſhall appear as freſh as in his childhood, and his ſtrength and youthful vigour ſhall be reſtored.

1 Elihu accuseth Job for charging God with injustice. 10 God omnipotent cannot be unjust. 31 Man must humble himself unto God. 34 Elihu reproveth Job.

FURTHERMORE, Elihu answered and said,

2 Hear my words, O ye wise men; and give ear unto me, ye that have knowledge:

3 For the ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat.

4 Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among ourselves what is good.

5 For Job hath said, I am righteous: and God hath taken away my judgment.

6 Should I lye against my right? my wound is incurable without transgression.

7 What man is like Job, who drinketh up scorning like water;

8 Which goeth in company with the workers of iniquity, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should delight himself with God.

10 ¶ Therefore hearken unto me, ye men of understanding: Far be it from God, that he should do wickedness, and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity.

11 For the work of a man shall he render unto him, and cause every man to find according to his ways.

12 Yea, surely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment.

13 Who hath given him a charge over the earth? or who hath disposed the whole world?

14 If he set his heart upon man, if he gather unto himself his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall turn again unto dust.

16 If now thou hast understanding, hear this; hearken to the voice of my words:

17 Shall even he that hateth right govern? and wilt thou condemn him that is most just?

18 Is it fit to say to a king, Thou art wicked? and to princes, Ye are ungodly?

19 How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor? for they all are the work of his hands.

20 In a moment shall they die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and pass away: and the mighty shall be taken away without hand.

21 For his eyes are upon the ways of men, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.

23 For he will not lay upon man more than right, that he should enter into judgment with God.

24 He shall break in pieces mighty men without number, and set others in their stead.

25 Therefore he knoweth their works, and he overturneth them in the night, so that they are destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the open sight of others;

27 Because they turned back from him, and would not consider any of his ways:

28 So that they cause the cry of the poor to come unto him, and he heareth the cry of the afflicted.

29 When he giveth quietness, who then can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who then can behold him? whether it be done against a nation, or against a man only:

30 That the hypocrite reign not, lest the people be ensnared.

31 ¶ Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more:

32 That which I see not, teach thou me; if I have done iniquity, I will do no more.

33 Should it be according to thy mind? he will recompense it, whether thou refuse, or whether thou choose; and not I: therefore speak what thou knowest.

34 ¶ Let men of understanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken unto me.

35 Job hath spoken without knowledge, and his words were without wisdom.

36 My desire is, that Job may be tried unto the end, because of his answers for wicked men.

37 For he addeth rebellion unto his sin; he clappeth his hands among us, and multiplieth his words against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Comparison is not to be made with God, because our good or evil cannot extend unto him. 9 Many cry in their afflictions, but are not heard for want of faith.

ELIHU spake moreover and said,

2 Thinkest thou this to be right, that thou saidst, My righteousness is more than God's?

3 For thou saidst, What advantage will it be unto thee? and, What profit shall I have, if I be cleansed from my sin?

4 I will answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Look unto the heavens, and see; and behold the clouds, which are higher than thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what dost thou against him? or if thy transgressions be multiplied, what doest thou unto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what givest thou him? or what receiveth he of thine hand?

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIV.

1 Furthermore Elihu answered and said.) Job refused to answer Elihu, though he had lately invited him to make what exceptions he pleased to his discourse. In this Job shewed himself a far humbler person, and more open to conviction than his three friends; for he did not, like them, endeavour to evade arguments which could not be answered.

3 Who hath given him a charge over the earth?) For he never received from any the government of the universe; nor is there any superior being, that he might, to procure his favour, be tempted to act unjustly.

22 There is no darkness nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.) The thickest darkness is no obstacle to his penetrating eye: every sin, however secretly committed, is open before him. Remember this, ye deluded mortals, who endeavour to conceal your infamous practices from the sight of day; for an eye keener than the lightning's flash, brighter than ten thousand suns, beholds them all. In that very gloom to which you fly for covert, he erects his throne. What you reckon your screen, is the bar of his tribunal. Oh! remember this, stand in awe, and sin not. Remember that the great and terrible God is about your path, when you take your midnight range; is about your bed when you indulge any wicked thoughts; and spies out all your ways, be they ever so secretly conducted, or artfully disguised.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 Elihu spake moreover, and said.) Job still kept silence, notwithstanding Elihu had put the harshest construction on his words, because he was sensible he intended to do him service, and had, in the conclusion of his last discourse, given him very salutary counsel; admitted his integrity, and only charged him with some unhappy expressions, which had fallen from him, when he was in great anguish of spirit. In this chapter he puts the same harsh sense on his words, and which he refutes from the consideration of the infinite disproportion there is between God and man.

8 Thy wickedneſs may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteouſneſs may profit the ſon of man.

9 ¶ By reaſon of the multitude of oppreſſions they make the oppreſſed to cry: they cry out by reaſon of the arm of the mighty.

10 But none ſaith, Where is God my Maker, who giveth ſongs in the night?

11 Who teacheth us more than the beaſts of the earth, and maketh us wiſer than the fowls of heaven?

12 There they cry, but none giveth anſwer, becauſe of the pride of evil men.

13 Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou ſayeſt thou ſhalt not ſee him, yet judgment is before him; therefore truſt thou in him.

15 But now, becauſe it is not ſo, he hath viſited in his anger, yet he knoweth it not in great extremity.

16 Therefore doth Job open his mouth in vain; he multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu ſheweth how God is juſt in his ways, 16 and how Job's ſins hinder God's bleſſings. 24 God's works are to be praiſed.

ELIHU alſo proceeded, and ſaid,

2 Suffer me a little, and I will ſhew thee that I have yet to ſpeak on God's behalf.

3 I will fetch my knowledge from afar, and will aſcribe righteouſneſs to my Maker.

4 For truly my words ſhall not be falſe: he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee.

5 Behold, God is mighty, and deſpiſeth not any: he is mighty in ſtrength and wiſdom.

6 He preſerveth not the life of the wicked: but giveth right to the poor.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous: but with kings are they on the throne: yea, he doth eſtabliſh them for ever, and they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters, and be holden in cords of affliction.

9 Then he ſheweth them their work, and their tranſgreſſions that they have exceeded.

10 He openeth alſo their ear to diſcipline, and commandeth that they return from iniquity.

11 If they obey and ſerve him, they ſhall ſpend their days in proſperity, and their years in pleaſures.

12 But if they obey not, they ſhall periſh by the ſword, and they ſhall die without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites in heart heap up wrath: they cry not when he bindeth them.

14 They die in youth, and their life is among the unclean.

15 He delivereth the poor in his affliction, and openeth their ears in oppreſſion.

16 Even ſo would he have removed thee out of the ſtrait into a broad place where there is no ſtraitneſs, and that which ſhould be ſet on thy table ſhould be full of fatneſs.

17 But thou haſt fulfilled the judgment of the wicked: judgment and juſtice take hold on thee.

18 Becauſe there is wrath, beware leſt he take thee away with his ſtroke: then a great ranſom cannot deliver thee.

19 Will he eſteem thy riches? no, not gold, nor all the forces of ſtrength.

20 Deſire not the night, when people are cut off in their place.

21 Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this haſt thou choſen rather than affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: who teacheth like him?

23 Who hath enjoined him his way? or who can ſay, Thou haſt wrought iniquity?

24 ¶ Remember that thou magnify his work, which men behold.

25 Every man may ſee it; man may behold it afar off.

26 Behold, God is great, and we know him not; neither can the number of his years be ſearched out.

27 For he maketh ſmall the drops of water; they pour down rain according to the vapour thereof:

28 Which the clouds do drop, and diſtil upon man abundantly.

29 Alſo can any underſtand the ſpreadings of the clouds, or the noiſe of his tabernacle?

30 Behold, he ſpreadeth his light upon it, and covereth the bottom of the ſea.

31 For by them judgeth he the people; he giveth meat in abundance.

32 With clouds he covereth the light: and commandeth it not to ſhine by the cloud that cometh betwixt.

33 The noiſe thereof ſheweth concerning it, the cattle alſo concerning the vapour.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 God is to be feared for his great works. 15 His wiſdom is unſearchable in them.

AT this alſo my heart trembleth, and is moved out of his place.

2 Hear attentively the noiſe of his voice, and the ſound that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it under the whole heaven, and his lightning unto the ends of the earth.

4 After it a voice roareth: he thundereth with the voice of his excellency; and he will not ſtay them when his voice is heard.

5 God thundereth marvellouſly with his voice; great things doeth he, which we cannot comprehend.

6 For he ſaith to the ſnow, Be thou on the earth; likewiſe to the ſmall rain, and to the great rain of his ſtrength.

7 He ſealeth up the hand of every man, that all men may know his work.

8 Then the beaſts go into dens, and remain in their places.

9 Out of the ſouth cometh the whirlwind, and cold out of the north.

10 By the breath of God froſt is given; and the breadth of the waters is ſtraitened.

---

10 Songs in the night.) Joy and comfort in the midſt of affliction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, &c.) Whatever affliction the righteous may ſuffer, they are always under the care of his providence, and he often raiſeth them to the higheſt offices in the power of monarchs to beſtow, where they are eſtabliſhed, notwithſtanding the wicked practices of their enemies.

21 Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this haſt thou choſen rather than affliction.) Let thy ſufferings teach thee caution, and prevent thee from again provoking offended juſtice: a crime thou haſt too long practiſed, by chuſing rather to accuſe divine Providence, than patiently ſubmit to his afflictions.

31 For by them judgeth he the people, he giveth meat in abundance.) He uſes theſe for oppoſite intentions: they are ſometimes the inſtruments he employs to puniſh the ſons of men by ſtorms, tempeſts, and inundations; and at others to ſatisfy the hungry ſoul, and make plenty ſmile around their habitations, by the copious ſhowers they diſtil upon the earth.

11 Alſo by watering he wearieth the thick cloud: he ſcattereth his bright cloud,

12 And it is turned round about by his counſels; that they may do whatſoever he commandeth them upon the face of the world in the earth.

13 He cauſeth it to come, whether for correction, or for his land, or for mercy.

14 Hearken unto this, O Job: ſtand ſtill, and conſider the wondrous works of God.

15 ¶ Doſt thou know when God diſpoſed them, and cauſed the light of his cloud to ſhine?

16 Doſt thou know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him which is perfect in knowledge?

17 How thy garments are warm, when he quieteth the earth by the ſouth wind?

18 Haſt thou with him ſpread out the ſky, which is ſtrong, and as a molten looking-glaſs?

19 Teach us what we ſhall ſay unto him: for we cannot order our ſpeech by reaſon of darkneſs.

20 Shall it be told him that I ſpeak? If a man ſpeak, ſurely he ſhall be ſwallowed up.

21 And now men ſee not the bright light which is in the clouds; but the wind paſſeth, and cleanſeth them.

22 Fair weather cometh out of the north: with God is terrible majeſty.

23 Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of juſtice: he will not afflict.

24 Men do therefore fear him: he reſpecteth not any that are wiſe of heart.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 God challengeth Job to anſwer. 4 God by his mighty works convinceth Job of ignorance, 31 and of imbecillity.

THEN the Lord anſwered Job out of the whirlwind, and ſaid,

2 Who is this that darkeneth counſel by words without knowledge?

3 Gird up now thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and anſwer thou me.

4 ¶ Where waſt thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt underſtanding.

5 Who hath laid the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt? or who hath ſtretched the line upon it?

6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof faſtened? or who laid the corner-ſtone thereof,

7 When the morning ſtars ſang together, and all the ſons of God ſhouted for joy?

8 Or who ſhut up the ſea with doors, when it brake forth as if it had iſſued out of the womb?

9 When I made the cloud the garment thereof, and thick darkneſs a ſwaddling-band for it,

10 And brake up for it my decreed place, and ſet bars and doors,

11 And ſaid, Hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no further; and here ſhall thy proud waves be ſtayed?

12 Haſt thou commanded the morning ſince thy days: and cauſed the day-ſpring to know his place;

13 That it might take hold of the ends of the earth, that the wicked might be ſhaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to the ſeal; and they ſtand as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light is with-holden, and the high arm ſhall be broken.

16 Haſt thou entered into the ſprings of the ſea? or haſt thou walked in the ſearch of the depth?

17 Have the gates of death been opened unto thee? or haſt thou ſeen the doors of the ſhadow of death?

18 Haſt thou perceived the breadth of the earth? declare, if thou knoweſt it all?

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and as for darkneſs, where is the place thereof,

20 That thou ſhouldeſt take it to the bound thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt know the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Knoweſt thou it becauſe thou waſt then born? or becauſe the number of thy days is great?

22 Haſt thou entered into the treaſures of the ſnow? or haſt thou ſeen the treaſures of the hail,

23 Which I have reſerved againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of battle and war?

24 By what way is the light parted, which ſcattereth the eaſt wind upon the earth?

25 Who hath divided a watercourſe for the overflowing of waters? or a way for the lightning of thunder:

26 To cauſe it to rain on the earth, where no man is; on the wilderneſs, wherein there is no man;

27 To ſatisfy the deſolate and waſte ground, and to cauſe the bud of the tender herb to ſpring forth?

28 Hath the rain a father? or who hath begotten the drops of dew?

29 Out of whoſe womb came the ice? and the hoary froſt of heaven who hath gendered it?

30 The waters are hid as with a ſtone, and the face of the deep is frozen.

31 ¶ Canſt thou bind the ſweet influences of Pleiades, or looſe the bands of Orion?

32 Canſt thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his ſeaſon? or canſt thou guide Arcturus with his ſons?

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVII.

11 Alſo by watering he wearieth the thick cloud: he ſcattereth his bright cloud.) He alſo in ſerene evenings, diſſolves the cloud into drops of dew, which fall gently on the earth: or the diſburdening cloud, by reflecting the beams of the ſun, forms the moſt elegant arch, richly tinctured with dyes of heaven.

22 Fair weather cometh out of the north, &c.) The margin reads, gold cometh, &c. The LXX thus: out of the north come clouds of a golden colour; and there is in them a terrible brightneſs and glory of the Almighty. This is true of Arabia, and a probable argument that Job was of that country.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVIII.

1 Then the Lord anſwered Job out of the whirlwind and ſaid.) Every one having ſpoken what he thought proper, a general ſilence enſued, when the Almighty himſelf appeared as judge, to decide this great controverſy, and out of a whirlwind directeth his ſpeech to Job: wherein, with the higheſt amplifications, he deſcribes his omnipotence in the formation and diſpoſition of the ſeveral parts of the univerſe, and effectually convinced the ſuffering patriarch of his inability to underſtand the ways and the deſigns of Providence.

7 When the morning ſtars ſang together, and all the ſons of God ſhouted for joy,) Hadſt thou a being when the ſtars that deck the firmament of heaven firſt appeared, and with one conſent declared the power of their Maker; when the angelic powers of heaven joined in the concert, and the whole concave of heaven thundered with the ſound of their Hoſannahs?

11 And ſaid, hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no further: and here ſhall thy proud waves be ſtayed.) Thus far may thy floating tide extend, but no further, and here ſhall thy proud waves be ſtayed, though agitated with all the rage of an indignant tempeſt—All the foregoing paſſages in this chapter are finely conceived, but this is ſingularly ſublime. We are ſtruck with admiration to ſee the vaſt ungovernable ocean receiving commands, and punctually obeying them; to find it like a managed horſe, raging, toſſing, and foaming, but by the rule and direction of its maſter. This paſſage yields in ſublimity to that of let there be light, &c. ſo much only as the abſolute government of nature yields to the creation of it. The ſame ſpirit being found in theſe two paſſages, is no bad concurrent argument that Moſes is the author of the book of Job.

33 Knoweſt thou the ordinances of heaven? canſt thou ſet the dominion thereof in the earth?

34 Canſt thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that abundance of waters may cover thee?

35 Canſt thou ſend lightnings, that they may go, and ſay unto thee, Here we are!

36 Who hath put wiſdom in the inward parts? or who hath given underſtanding to the heart?

37 Who can number the clouds in wiſdom? or who can ſtay the bottles of heaven,

38 When the duſt groweth into hardneſs, and the clods cleave faſt together?

39 Wilt thou hunt the prey for the lion? or fill the appetite of the young lions,

40 When they couch in their dens, and abide in the covert to lie in wait?

41 Who provideth for the raven his food? when his young ones cry unto God, they wander for lack of meat.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Of the wild goats and hinds, 5 of the wild aſs 9 the unicorn, 13 the peacock, ſtork, and oſtrich, 19 the horſe, 26 the hawk, 27 the eagle.

KNOWEST thou the time when the wild goats of the rock bring forth, or canſt thou mark when the hinds do calve?

2 Canſt thou number the months that they fulfil? or knoweſt thou the time when they bring forth?

3 They bow themſelves they bring forth their young ones, they caſt out their ſorrows.

4 Their young ones are in good liking, they grow up with corn; they go forth, and return not unto them.

5 ¶ Who hath ſent out the wild aſs free? or who hath looſed the bands of the wild aſs?

6 Whoſe houſe I have made the wilderneſs, and the barren land his dwellings?

7 He ſcorneth the multitude of the city, neither regardeth he the crying of the driver.

8 The range of the mountains is his paſture, and he ſearcheth after every green thing.

9 ¶ Will the unicorn be willing to ſerve thee, or abide by thy crib?

10 Canſt thou bind the unicorn with his band in the furrow? or will he harrow the vallies after thee?

11 Wilt thou truſt him becauſe his ſtrength is great? or wilt thou leave thy labour to him?

12 Wilt thou believe him, that he will bring home thy ſeed, and gather it into thy barn?

13 ¶ Gaveſt thou the goodly wings unto the peacocks? or wings and feathers unto the oſtrich,

14 Which leaveth her eggs in the earth, and warmeth them in the duſt,

15 And forgetteth that the foot may cruſh them, or that the wild beaſt may break them?

16 She is hardened againſt her young ones, as tho' they were not hers: her labour is in vain without fear:

17 Becauſe God hath deprived her of wiſdom, neither hath he imparted to her underſtanding.

18 What time ſhe lifteth up herſelf on high, ſhe ſcorneth the horſe and his rider.

19 ¶ Haſt thou given the horſe ſtrength? haſt thou clothed his neck with thunder?

20 Canſt thou make him afraid as a graſshopper? the glory of his noſtrils is terrible.

21 He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his ſtrength: he goeth on to meet the armed men.

22 He mocketh at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the ſword.

23 The quiver rattleth againſt him, the glittering ſpear and the ſhield.

24 He ſwalloweth the ground with fierceneſs and rage: neither believeth he that it is the ſound of the trumpet.

25 He ſaith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: and he ſmelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the ſhouting.

26 ¶ Doth the hawk fly by thy wiſdom, and ſtretch her wings toward the ſouth?

27 ¶ Doth the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her neſt on high?

28 She dwelleth and abideth on the rock; upon the crag of the rock, and the ſtrong place.

29 From thence ſhe ſeeketh the prey, and her eyes behold afar off.

30 Her young ones alſo ſuck up blood: and where the ſlain are, there is ſhe.

CHAP. XL.

1 Job humbleth himſelf to God. 6 God ſtirreth him up to ſhew his righteouſneſs, power, and wiſdom. 15 Of the behemoth.

MOREOVER, the Lord anſwered Job, and ſaid,

2 Shall he that contendeth with the Almighty inſtruct him? he that reproveth God, let him anſwer it.

3 Then Job anſwered the Lord, and ſaid,

4 Behold, I am vile; what ſhall I anſwer thee? I will lay mine hand upon my mouth.

5 Once have I ſpoken, but I will not anſwer; yea, twice, but I will proceed no further.

6 ¶ Then anſwered the Lord unto Job out of the whirlwind, and ſaid,

7 Gird up thy loins now like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.

8 Wilt thou alſo diſannul my judgment? wilt thou condemn me, that thou mayeſt be righteous?

9 Haſt thou an arm like God? or canſt thou thunder with a voice like him?

37 Who can number the clouds in wiſdom, or who can ſtay the bottles of heaven?) Canſt thou, with all thy boaſted wiſdom, count the number of the clouds? or canſt thou hinder the rain from falling upon the earth?

40 Who provideth for the raven his food?) When the ravens are pinched with hunger, and cry importunately for food, who liſtens to their hoarſe requeſt, commiſerates their wants, and ſilences the clamour of their craving young?—The reaſon why the raven is particularly mentioned as the object of the care of providence is, becauſe by her clamorous and importunate voice, ſhe particularly ſeems always calling upon him for aſſiſtance.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIX.

5 Who hath ſent out the wild aſs free? &c.) Didſt thou diſcharge the wild aſs from ſervitude, break his bands, and declare him at liberty to live at large? The ample wilderneſs is his manſion, and the wild waſte his dwelling-place. Conſcious of freedom he ſcorns the inhabitants of the city, the threatning driver, and the ſervile rein. He feeds deliciouſly on the herbage of the mountains, and viſits the margin of every ſtream for paſture.

14 Which leaveth her eggs in the earth, and warmeth them in the duſt, &c.) Naturaliſts obſerve, that the oſtrich lays from thirty to fifty eggs; the firſt of which ſhe depoſits in the centre, and the reſt as conveniently as poſſible round it. In this manner ſhe is ſaid to lay, depoſit, or truſt, her eggs in the earth, and to warm them, by incubation in the duſt: and forgetteth that the foot of the traveller may cruſh them, or the wild beaſt may break them. It is alſo obſerved, that the oſtrich has a very ſmall ſhare of that natural affection which ſo ſtrongly exerts itſelf in other creatures. For upon the leaſt diſtant noiſe, or trivial occaſion, ſhe forſakes her eggs or young ones; to which perhaps ſhe never returns; or if ſhe does, it may be too late either to reſtore the genial warmth to the one, or preſerve the lives of the other.

10 Deck thyself now with majesty and excellency, and array thyself with glory and beauty.

11 Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath; and behold every one that is proud, and abase him.

12 Look on every one that is proud, and bring him low; and tread down the wicked in their place.

13 Hide them in the dust together, and bind their faces in secret.

14 Then will I also confess unto thee that thine own right hand can save thee.

15 ¶ Behold now behemoth, which I made with thee; he eateth grass as an ox.

16 Lo now, his strength is in his loins, and his force is in the navel of his belly.

17 He moveth his tail like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapped together.

18 His bones are as strong pieces of brass; his bones are like bars of iron.

19 He is the chief of the ways of God: he that made him can make his sword to approach unto him.

20 Surely the mountains bring him forth food, where all the beasts of the field play.

21 He lieth under the shady trees, in the covert of of the reed, and fens.

22 The shady trees cover him with their shadow; the willows of the brook compass him about.

23 Behold he drinketh up a river, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw up Jordan into his mouth.

24 He taketh it with his eyes; his nose pierceth through snares.

CHAP. XLI.

Of God's great power in the leviathan

CANST thou draw out leviathan with an hook? or his tongue with a cord which thou lettest down?

2 Canst thou put an hook into his nose? or bore his jaw through with a thorn?

3 Will he make many supplications unto thee? will he speak soft words unto thee?

4 Will he make a covenant with thee? wilt thou take him for a servant for ever?

5 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maidens?

6 Shall thy companions make a banquet of him? shall they part him among the merchants?

7 Canst thou fill his skin with barbed irons? or his head with fish-spears?

8 Lay thine hand upon him, remember the battle, do no more.

9 Behold, the hope of him is in vain: shall not one be cast down even at the sight of him?

10 None is so fierce that dare stir him up: who then his able to stand before him?

11 Who hath prevented me, that I should repay him? whatsoever is under the whole heaven is mine.

12 I will not conceal his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

13 Who can discover the face of his garment? or who can come to him with his bouble bridle?

14 Who can open the doors of his face? his teeth are terrible round about.

15 His scales are his pride, shut up together as with a close seal.

16 One is so near to another that no air can come between them.

17 They are joined one to another, they stick together, that they cannot be sundered.

18 By his neesings a light doth shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.

19 Out of his mouth go burning lamps, and sparks of fire leap out.

20 Out of his nostrils goeth smoke, as out of a seething pot or chaldron.

21 His breath kindleth coals, and a flame goeth out of his mouth.

22 In his neck remaineth strength, and sorrow is turned unto joy before him.

23 The flakes of his flesh are joined together: they are firm in themselves; they cannot be moved.

24 His heart is as firm as a stone; yea, as hard as a piece of the nether millstone.

25 When he raiseth up himself, the mighty are afraid: by reason of breakings they purify themselves.

26 The sword of him that layeth at him cannot hold: the spear, the dart, nor the habergeon.

27 He esteemeth iron as straw, and brass as rotton wood.

28 The arrow cannot make him flee: sling-stones are turned with him into stubble.

29 Darts are counted as stubble; he laugheth at the shaking of a spear.

30 Sharp stones are under him: he spreadeth sharp pointed things upon the mire.

31 He maketh the deep to boil like a pot: he maketh the sea like a pot of ointment.

32 He maketh a path to shine after him; one would think the deep to be hoary.

33 Upon the earth there is not his like, who is made without fear.

34 He beholdeth all high things: he is a king over all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Job submitteth himself unto God. 7 God preferring Job's cause maketh his friends submit themselves, and accepteth him. 10 He magnifieth and blesseth Job. 16 Job's age and death.

THEN Job answered the Lord and said,

2 I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be with-holden from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge? therefore have I uttered that I understood not; things too wonderful for me, which I knew not.

4 Hear, I beseech thee, and I will speak: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.

5 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ And it was so, that after the Lord had spoken

COMMENTARY on Chap. XL.

15 Behold now behemoth, &c.) This word has an Egyptian termination, and signifies a creature well known in that country, called by the Greeks hippopotamus, the river-horse.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLI.

1 Canst thou draw out leviathan with an hook?) By the leviathan is meant the crocodile, a monstrous creature found in the river Nile; for to this amphibious creature, and no other, every part of the description is conformable.

19 Out of his mouth go burning lamps, &c.) This expression is more literally true, than at first view may be imagined. The naturalists tell us, that the crocodile lying a long time under water, and being there forced to hold his breath, when he emerges, his breath, by being long repress, is hot, and bursts out so violently, that it resembles fire and smoke. This should teach our critics not to entertain a false opinion of the Eastern boldness, from passages ill understood.

theſe words unto Job, the Lord ſaid to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled againſt thee, and againſt thy two friends: for ye have not ſpoken of me the thing that is right, as my ſervant Job hath.

8 Therefore take unto you now ſeven bullocks and ſeven rams, and go to my ſervant Job, and offer up for yourſelves a burnt-offering; and my ſervant Job ſhall pray for you: for him will I accept: leſt I deal with you after your folly, in that ye have not ſpoken of me the thing which is right, like my ſervant Job.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord commanded them. The Lord alſo accepted Job.

10 ¶ And the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends; alſo the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before.

11 Then came there unto him all his brethren and all his ſiſters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his houſe: and they bemoaned him, and comforted him over all the evil that the Lord had brought upon him: every man alſo gave him a piece of money, and every one an ear-ring of gold.

12 So the Lord bleſſed the latter end of Job more than his beginning: for he had fourteen thouſand ſheep, and ſix thouſand camels, and a thouſand yoke of oxen, and a thouſand ſhe-aſſes.

13 He had alſo ſeven ſons, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of the firſt Jemima; and the name of the ſecond Kezia; and the name of the third Keren-happuch.

15 And in all the land were no women found ſo fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren,

16 ¶ After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and ſaw his ſons, and his ſons' ſons, even four generations.

17 So Job died, being old and full of days.

Commentary on Chap. XLII.

11 Every man a piece of money,) The word here rendered a piece of money, ſignifies alſo lambs, or young ſheep, as the Chaldee paraphraſt turns the word; and this ſeems moſt probable, as that particular piece of money was but of a very ſmall value, three halfpence Engliſh; but if all Job's acquaintance, which was very numerous, brought him a young ſheep each, it would ſet him up with a good flock at once.

17 So Job died, being old and full of days.) He had lived no leſs than one hundred and forty years after his troubles, enjoying all the pleaſures his virtue had procured for him, and departed hence when human nature could no longer ſubſiſt; or, to uſe the ſacred penman's expreſſion, went to his grave in a full age, like as a ſhock of corn cometh in, in its ſeaſon.

THE

THE BOOK OF PSALMS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is a collection of hymns and ſpiritual ſongs, written by king David and others. They are called Pſalms from the Greek pſallo, to touch ſweetly, becauſe the voice was aſſiſted by muſical inſtruments. Some are of opinion that the Pſalms were collected by the friends of Hezekiah before the captivity. But then they would, in all probability, have been diſpoſed in the order they were written; all the ſacred books being preſerved in the temple with the utmoſt care; whence copies might have been taken, with the names of all their authors, many of which are now wanting. It is therefore reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that after the temple and ſacred records were burnt by the king of Babylon's army, ſome pious perſons collected as many as they could find among their friends, who had taken copies of them for their own private uſe.

PSALM I.

1 The happineſs of the godly. 4 The unhappineſs of the ungodly.

BLESSED is the man that walketh not in the counſel of the ungodly, nor ſtandeth in the way of ſinners, nor ſitteth in the ſeat of the ſcornful.

2 But his delight is in the law of the Lord: and in his law doth he meditate day and night.

3 And he ſhall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his ſeaſon: his leaf alſo ſhall not wither, and whatſoever he doeth ſhall proſper.

4 ¶ The ungodly are not ſo: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.

5 Therefore the ungodly ſhall not ſtand in the judgment, nor ſinners in the congregation of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly ſhall periſh.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm I.

1 Bleſſed is the man, &c.) This Pſalm may be conſidered as a preface to the enſuing book, containing a ſhort diſcourſe on the end of man, which is bleſſedneſs; and the only way to obtain it, the obſervance of the laws of the Almighty. The pſalmiſt here diſtinguiſhes offenders into three ſeveral ranks; viz. the man that walketh in the counſel of the ungodly, the man that ſtandeth in the way of ſinners, and the man that ſitteth in the ſeat of the ſcornful: by the ſcornful are meant thoſe who not only neglect, but alſo ſcoff at religion, and make a mock at that, which of all things in the world is of the greateſt importance. Walking or ſtanding in the way of ſinners repreſents only particular wicked actions; but ſitting ſignifies a fixt, reſolute eſtabliſhment in a habit of wickedneſs.

PSALM II.

1 The kingdom of Chriſt. 10 Kings are exhorted to ſubmit to it.

WHY do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?

2 The kings of the earth ſet themſelves, and the rulers take counſel together againſt the Lord, and againſt his anointed, ſaying,

3 Let us break their bands aſunder, and caſt away their cords from us.

4 He that ſitteth in the heavens ſhall laugh: the Lord ſhall have them in deriſion.

5 Then ſhall he ſpeak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his ſore diſpleaſure.

6 Yet have I ſet my king upon my holy hill of Zion.

7 I will declare the decree: the Lord hath ſaid, unto me, Thou art my ſon; this day have I begotten thee.

8 Aſk of me, and I ſhall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermoſt parts of the earth for thy poſſeſſion.

9 Thou ſhalt break them with a rod of iron; thou

COMMENTARY on Pſalm II.

In this pſalm we have, under the hiſtory of David, whom God raiſed from the humble cottage of a ſhepherd, to the throne of Iſrael, a more illuſtrious prophecy of the kingdom of Chriſt, whom God raiſed even from the chambers of the grave, and placed him on a throne of glory, and extended his kingdom to the utmoſt parts of the earth, notwithſtanding the frantic rage and malice of the chief-prieſts, Herod, and other princes of the world.

7 I will declare the decree, &c.) Such I well know is the decree of heaven; and therefore I have publiſhed it to the whole world: for from a low and poor condition, the Lord hath raiſed me to the higheſt dignity. This day I begin to reign by his order, and therefore it may be called the birth-day of my kingdom: a ſlender type of the far more ſtrong and higher exaltation of his only begotten ſon, whom he hath determined to raiſe from the dead, and crown him with glory and honour in the courts of heaven.

ſhalt daſh them in pieces like a potter's veſſels.

10 ¶ Be wiſe now therefore, O ye kings: be inſtructed, ye judges of the earth.

11 Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling.

12 Kiſs the ſon, leſt he be angry, and ye periſh from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little: bleſſed are all they that put their truſt in him.

PSALM III.

The ſecurity of God's protection.

¶ A pſalm of David, when he fled from Abſalom his ſon.

LORD, how are they increaſed that trouble me? many are they that riſe up againſt me.

2 Many there be which ſay of my ſoul, There is no help for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou, O Lord, art a ſhield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of mine head.

4 I cried unto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill. Selah.

5 I laid me down and ſlept; I awaked: for the Lord ſuſtained me.

6 I will not be afraid of ten thouſands of people that have ſet themſelves againſt me round about.

7 Ariſe, O Lord? ſave me, O my God: for thou haſt ſmitten all mine enemies upon the cheek-bone; thou haſt broken the teeth of the ungodly.

8 Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy bleſſing is upon thy people. Selah.

PSALM IV.

1 David prayeth for audience. 2 He reproveth and exhorteth his enemies. 6 Man's happineſs is in God's favour.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth, a pſalm of David.

HEAR me when I call, O God of my righteouſneſs; thou haſt enlarged me when I was in diſtreſs: have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer.

2 O ye ſons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into ſhame: how long will ye love vanity, and ſeek after leaſing? Selah.

3 But know that the Lord hath ſet apart him that is godly for himſelf: the Lord will hear when I call unto him.

4 Stand in awe and ſin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed and be ſtill. Selah.

5 Offer the ſacrifices of righteouſneſs: and put your truſt in the Lord.

6 There be many that ſay, Who will ſhew us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us.

7 Thou haſt put gladneſs in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increaſed.

8 I will both lay me down in peace, and ſleep; for thou Lord only makeſt me dwell in ſafety.

PSALM V.

1 David prayeth, and profeſſeth his ſtudy in prayer. 4 God favoureth not the wicked. 7 David profeſſing his faith, prayeth unto God to guide him, 10 to deſtroy his enemies, 11 and to preſerve the godly.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Nehiloth, a pſalm of David.

GIVE ear to my words, O Lord, conſider my meditation.

2 Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my king, and my God: for unto thee will I pray.

3 My voice ſhalt thou hear in the morning, O Lord: in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up.

4 For thou art not a God that hath pleaſure in wickedneſs: neither ſhall evil dwell with thee.

5 The fooliſh ſhall not ſtand in thy ſight: thou hateſt all workers of iniquity.

6 Thou ſhalt deſtroy them that ſpeak leaſing: the Lord will abhor the bloody and deceitful man.

7 But as for me, I will come into thy houſe in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worſhip toward thy holy temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteouſneſs, becauſe of mine enemies: make thy way ſtrait before my face.

9 For there is no faithfulneſs in their mouth; their inward part is very wickedneſs; their throat is an open ſepulchre; they flatter with their tongue.

10 Deſtroy thou them, O God: let them fall by their own counſels: caſt them out in the multitude of their tranſgreſſions: for they have rebelled againſt thee.

11 But let all thoſe that put their truſt in thee rejoice: let them ever ſhout for joy, becauſe thou defendeſt them: let them alſo that love thy name be joyful in thee.

12 For thou Lord, wilt bleſs the righteous; with favour wilt thou compaſs him as with a ſhield.

PSALM VI.

1 David's complaint in his ſickneſs. 8 By faith he triumpheth over his enemies.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth upon Sheminith. A pſalm of David.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chaſten me in thy hot diſpleaſure.

2 Have mercy upon me, O Lord; for I am weak: O Lord, heal me; for my bones are vexed.

---

12 Kiſs the ſon, leſt he be angry, &c.) Pay the honour due to the vice-gerent of heaven, leſt he grow angry at your obſtinate refuſal, and you periſh in your rebellious courſes by the ſudden vengeance of the Almighty. Bleſſed are they that follow this advice, and fly to him as their mighty protector and deliverer.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm III.

2 Selah.) The word ſelah is often uſed in theſe divine poems, but it is not eaſy to aſſign the true and proper import of it. The Chaldee paraphraſt renders it for ever; and ſo ſeveral of the Rabbins expound it, though they can aſſign no ſufficient reaſon for it. Some take it for a muſical note, or direction to the muſicians in ſinging or playing. Others, again, will have it to be a note of obſervation or remark, affixed to ſuch ſentences as are moſt worthy of our attention. It is derived from ſalſal, to exalt; and therefore may denote the elevating of the voice in ſinging, and at the ſame time the lifting up of the heart to God.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm V.

6 Thou ſhalt deſtroy them that ſpeak leaſing, &c.) Thou ſhalt utterly deſtroy thoſe that employ their tongues in falſhoods and lies, to defame me and my government: their bloody deſigns which they endeavour to execute by fraud and treachery, render them an abomination in the ſight of the Almighty.

12 For thou Lord wilt bleſs the righteous, &c.) For thou Lord, who art true and faithful, haſt, by thy gracious promiſe, engaged to reward the righteous, whom thou loved, and in whom thou delighteſt; and therefore thou wilt crown him with thy favour, and defend him on every ſide, as with an impenetrable ſhield, againſt all the darts of his enemies.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm VI.

1 O Lord rebuke me not in thine anger, &c.) O Lord, who delighteſt in mercy, mitigate I beſeech thee, thy ſharp correction; and do not correct me according to the ſevereſt dictates of thy diſpleaſure.

3 My ſoul is alſo ſore vexed: but thou, O Lord, how long?

4 Return, O Lord, deliver my ſoul: oh ſave me for thy mercies ſake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee; in the grave who ſhall give thee thanks?

6 I am weary with my groaning; all the night make I my bed to ſwim: I water my couch with my tears.

7 Mine eye is conſumed becauſe of grief; it waxeth old becauſe of all mine enemies.

8 ¶ Depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my ſupplication; the Lord will receive my prayer.

10 Let all mine enemies be aſhamed and ſore vexed: let them return and be aſhamed ſuddenly.

PSALM VII.

1 David prayeth againſt the malice of his enemies, profeſſing his innocency. 10 By faith he ſeeth his defence, and the deſtruction of his enemies.

¶ Shiggaion of David, which he ſang unto the Lord concerning the words of Cuſh the Benjamite.

O LORD my God, in thee do I put my truſt: ſave me from all them that perſecute me, and deliver me:

2 Leſt he tear my ſoul like a lion, rending it in pieces while there is none to deliver.

3 O Lord my God, if I have done this: if there be iniquity in my hands:

4 If I have rewarded evil unto him that was at peace with me: (yea I have delivered him that without cauſe is mine enemy)

5 Let the enemy perſecute my ſoul and take it; yea, let him tread down my life upon the earth, and lay mine honour in the duſt. Selah.

6 Ariſe, O Lord, in thine anger, lift up thyſelf, becauſe of the rage of mine enemies: and awake for me to the judgment that thou haſt commanded.

7 So ſhall the congregation of the people compaſs thee about: for their ſakes therefore return thou on high.

8 The Lord ſhall judge the people: judge me, O Lord, according to my righteouſneſs, and according to mine integrity that is in me.

9 Oh, let the wickedneſs of the wicked come to an end: but eſtabliſh the juſt: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

10 My defence is of God, which ſaveth the upright in heart.

11 God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.

12 If he turn not, he will whet his ſword; he hath bent his bow and made it ready.

13 He hath alſo prepared for him the inſtruments of death; he ordaineth his arrows againſt the perſecutors.

14 Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived miſchief, and brought forth falſhood.

15 He made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made.

16 His miſchief ſhall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing ſhall come down upon his own pate.

17 I will praiſe the Lord according to his righteouſneſs: and will ſing praiſe to the name of the Lord moſt high.

PSALM VIII.

God's glory is magnified by his works, and by his love to man.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Gittith. A pſalm of David.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who haſt ſet thy glory above the heavens.

2 Out of the mouth of babes and ſucklings haſt thou ordained ſtrength, becauſe of thine enemies; that thou mighteſt ſtill the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I conſider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the ſtars, which thou haſt ordained;

4 What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the ſon of man, that thou viſiteſt him?

5 For thou haſt made him a little lower than the angels, and haſt crowned him with glory and honour.

6 Thou madeſt him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou haſt put all things under his feet:

7 All ſheep and oxen, yea, and the beaſts of the field;

8 The fowl of the air, and the fiſh of the ſea, and whatſoever paſſeth through the paths of the ſeas.

9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!

PSALM IX.

1 David praiſeth God for executing of judgment. 11 He inciteth others to praiſe him. 13 He prayeth that he may have cauſe to praiſe him.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Muth-labben, a pſalm of David.

I WILL praiſe thee, O Lord, with my whole heart; I will ſhew forth all thy marvelous works.

2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will ſing praiſe to thy name, O thou Moſt High.

3 When mine enemies are turned back, they ſhall fall and periſh at thy preſence.

4 For thou haſt maintained my right and my cauſe; thou ſatteſt in the throne judging right.

5 Thou haſt rebuked the heathen, thou haſt deſtroyed the wicked, thou haſt put out their name for ever and ever.

6 O thou enemy! deſtructions are come to a perpetual end; and thou haſt deſtroyed cities; their memorial

---

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee, &c.) For in the chambers of the grave I can have no opportunity of praiſing thee; the dead being utterly unable to commemorate thy wonderful works, and propagate the memory of them to poſterity.

Commentary on Pſalm VII.

1 O Lord my God, in thee do I put my truſt, &c.) O Lord, who haſt hitherto been my moſt gracious God, and defended my innocence againſt thoſe that have falſly accuſed me, I ought not to doubt of thy continual care and love towards me; and therefore fly to thee with a humble confidence in the Almighty goodneſs, that thou wilt preſerve and deliver me from this new perſecution now raiſed againſt me,

Commentary on Pſalm VIII.

3, 4 When I conſider the heaven, the works of thy fingers, &c.) When I ſeriouſly contemplate the vaſtneſs of the heavens, and thoſe ſtupendous orbs which thou haſt placed there in the moſt beautiful order, I am aſtoniſhed to think that thou, whoſe greatneſs the heavens ſo viſibly diſplay, ſhould ſo far condeſcend as to ſhew ſuch remarkable favour to that wretched creature, man; and in particular to me, who am the meaneſt of my father's houſe. Lord what am I, that thou ſhouldeſt work ſuch ſalvation by my hands? Or, what is the greateſt prince in the world, that thou ſhouldeſt thus honour him? Nay, even advance our natures by means of the ſon of man, the great Meſſiah, whom the world will villify and deſpiſe, exceeds all wonder, and ought to be the ſubject of our perpetual admiration.

morial is perished with them.

7 But the Lord shall endure for ever: he hath prepared his throne for judgment.

8 And he shall judge the world in righteousness, he shall minister judgment to the people in uprightness.

9 The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.

10 And they that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.

11 ¶ Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings.

12 When maketh he inquisition for blood, he remembereth them: he forgeteth not the cry of the humble.

13 ¶ Have mercy upon me, O Lord; consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me up from the gates of death;

14 That I may shew forth all thy praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoice in thy salvation.

15 The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken.

16 The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion; Selah.

17 The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God.

18 For the needy shall not alway be forgoten; the expectation of the poor shall not perish for ever.

19 Arise, O Lord, let not man prevail; let the heathen be judged in thy sight.

20 Put them in fear, O Lord; that the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

PSALM X.

1 David complaineth to God of the outrage of the wicked. 12 He prayeth for remedy. 16 He professeth his confidence.

WHY standest thou afar off, O Lord? why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?

2 The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined.

3 For the wicked boasteth of his heart's desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the Lord abhorreth.

4 The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts.

5 His ways are always grievous; thy judgments are far above out of his sight: as for all his enemies he puffeth at them.

6 He hath said in his heart, I shall not be moved: for I shall never be in adversity.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity.

8 He sitteth in the lurking-places of the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are privily set against the poor.

9 He lieth in wait secretly as a lion in his den: he lieth in wait to catch the poor: he doth catch the poor when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth and humbleth himself, that the poor may fall by his strong ones.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten; he hideth his face; he will never see it.

12 Arise, O Lord; O God, lift up thine hand; forget not the humble.

13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemn God? he hath said in his heart, Thou wilt not require it.

14 Thou hast seen it; for thou beholdest mischief and spite, to requite it with thy hand; the poor committeth himself unto thee: thou art the helper of the fatherless.

15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man: seek out his wickedness till thou find none

16 The Lord is king for ever and ever: the heathen are perished out of his land.

17 Lord thou hast heard the desire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cause their ear to hear;

18 To judge the fatherless and the oppressed, that the man of the earth may no more oppress.

PSALM XI.

1 David encourageth himself in God against his enemies. 4 The providence and justice of God.

¶ To the chief musician, a psalm of David.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, Flee as a bird to your mountain?

2 For lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the string: that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart.

3 If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?

4 The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lord's throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eye-lids try the children of men.

5 The Lord trieth the righteous: but the wicked, and him that loveth violence, his soul hateth.

6 Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest: this shall be the portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loveth righteousness: his countenance doth behold the upright.

COMMENTARY on Psalm IX.

14 The daughter of Zion.) It was a common turn of the Hebrew and Phœnecian languages to say, that a city or country was the daughter of the rocks, rivers, or mountains that surrounded her, or that were inclosed within her walls. Thus Jerusalem is often called the daughter of Sion, i. e. daughter of drought, or the daughter of the barren hills contained within its compass.

18 For the needy shall not alway be forgotten, &c.) For the Lord will, in his own due time, convince the wicked that he doth not neglect the righteous, when they are poor and helpless; tho', for the present, he defers their relief. Let them therefore patiently wait upon him under their affliction, and he will not fail to deliver them.

COMMENTARY on Psalm X.

It is not known by whom, or on what occasion, this psalm was composed: It is, however, a lively description of the insolence of wicked atheistical men, when they have acquired power and authority, by which they abuse those that are under them, making no conscience of using the basest arts to compass their ends. The psalmist therefore supplicates the Almighty to shower his vengeance upon those wicked men, and rests satisfied that they shall be suppressed.

COMMENTARY on Psalm XI.

6 Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire, and brimstone, and an horrible tempest, &c.) The wicked may perhaps flatter themselves, that their own strength and artful stratagems will protect them; but how will they be able to defend themselves against the arm of Omnipotence, who can as unexpectedly overthrow all their forces, as when the heavens appear bright and serene, a sudden storm of thunder, lightning, and tempestuous blasts, arises, and tears up the trees of the forests by their roots? and such punishments will all violent oppressors meet with from the great and righteous Judge of the human race.

PSALM XII.

1 David, deſtitute of human comfort, craveth help of God. 3 He comforteth himſelf with God's judgments on the wicked, and confidence in God's tried promiſes.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Sheminith, a pſalm of David.

HELP, Lord, for the godly man ceaſeth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.

2 They ſpeak vanity every one with his neighbour: with flattering lips, and with a double heart, do they ſpeak.

3 ¶ The Lord ſhall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that ſpeaketh proud things:

4 Who have ſaid, With our tongue will we prevail; our lips are our own: who is lord over us?

5 For the oppreſſion of the poor, for the ſighing of the needy, now will I ariſe, ſaith the Lord: I will ſet him in ſafety from him that puffeth at him.

6 The words of the Lord are pure words: as ſilver tried in a furnace of earth, purified ſeven times.

7 Thou ſhalt keep them, O Lord, thou ſhalt preſerve them from this generation for ever.

8 The wicked walk on every ſide, when the vileſt men are exalted.

PSALM XIII.

1 David complaineth of delay in help. 3 He prayeth for preventing grace. 5 He boaſteth of divine mercy.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

HOW long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

2 How long ſhall I take counſel in my ſoul, having ſorrow in my heart daily? how long ſhall mine enemy be exalted over me?

3 Conſider and hear me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, leſt I ſleep the ſleep of death:

4 Leſt mine enemy ſay, I have prevailed againſt him: and thoſe that trouble me rejoice when I am moved.

5 But I have truſted in thy mercy; my heart ſhall rejoice in thy ſalvation.

6 I will ſing unto the Lord, becauſe he hath dealt bountifully with me.

PSALM XIV.

1 David deſcribeth the corruption of a natural man. 4 He convinceth the wicked by the light of their conſcience. 7 He glorieth in the ſalvation of God.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

THE fool hath ſaid in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt; they have done abominable works; there is none that doeth good.

2 The Lord looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to ſee if there were any that did underſtand, and ſeek God.

3 They are all gone aſide, they are all together become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not upon the Lord.

5 There were they in great fear: for God is in the generation of the righteous.

6 Ye have ſhamed the counſel of the poor: becauſe the Lord is his refuge,

7 Oh, that the ſalvation of Iſrael were come out of Zion! when the Lord bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob ſhall rejoice, and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

PSALM XV.

David deſcribeth a citizen of Zion.

A pſalm of David.

LORD, who ſhall abide in thy tabernacle? who ſhall dwell in thy holy hill?

2 He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteouſneſs, and ſpeaketh the truth in his heart.

3 He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbour, nor taketh up reproach againſt his neighbour.

4 In whoſe eyes a vile perſon is contemned; but he honoureth them that fear the Lord; he that ſweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not.

5 He that putteth not out his money to uſury, nor taketh reward againſt the innocent. He that doeth theſe things ſhall never be moved.

PSALM XVI.

1 David, in diſtruſt of merits, and hatred of idolatry fleeth to God for preſervation. 5 He ſheweth the hope of his calling, of the reſurrection, and life everlaſting.

¶ Michtam of David.

PRESERVE me, O God: for in thee do I put my truſt.

2 O my ſoul, thou haſt ſaid unto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my goodneſs extendeth not to thee;

3 But to the ſaints that are in the earth, and to the excellent, in whom is all my delight.

4 Their ſorrows ſhall be multiplied that haſten after another god: their drink-offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips.

5 ¶ The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance, and of my cup: thou maintaineſt my lot.

6 The lines are fallen unto me in pleaſant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XIII.

3 Conſider and hear me, O Lord my God, &c.) O Lord, the Omnipotent Ruler and great Judge of all the earth, I beſeech thee to commiſerate my affliction, and as thou haſt hitherto done, to anſwer my prayer. Thou ſeeſt the dangers that ſurround me, and the diſmal condition in which I am involved. Inſpire me with wiſdom, that I may eſcape the ſnares laid for me, and revive and chear me under theſe heavy afflictions, leſt mine enemy take advantage of my mournful depreſſion of ſpirit, and deſtroy me.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XIV.

1 The fool hath ſaid in his heart, there is no God, &c.) The wicked, tho' not ſo imprudent as to deny openly the being of a God, yet their abominable ways, and ſhameleſs wickedneſs is ſuch, that they certainly flatter themſelves in ſecret with the thought, that either there is no God, or he is indifferent with regard to the tranſactions of mankind, and will never call them to an account for their filthy abominations.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XV.

4 In whoſe eyes a vile perſon is condemned, &c.) Who never courts the favour of the rich and honourable of the earth, when their wickedneſs has rendered them deſpicable; but honours the virtuous, however poor and deſpiſed: who hath ſo true a reſpect to religion, that whatever he promiſes with an oath, he never fails to perform, however injurious it may prove to his private fortune.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XVI.

4 Their ſorrows ſhall be multiplied, that haſten after another god, &c.) They here multiply idols, and are zealous in the ſervice of another god: but I will never forſake thee, by partaking with them in their abominable ſacrifices, nor by ſwearing by the name of any of their falſe gods.

7 I will bleſs the Lord, who hath given me counſel; my reins alſo inſtruct me in the night-ſeaſon.

8 I have ſet the Lord always before me: becauſe he is at my right hand, I ſhall not be moved.

9 Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth; my fleſh alſo ſhall reſt in hope:

10 For thou wilt not leave my ſoul in hell; neither wilt thou ſuffer thine holy One to ſee corruption.

11 Thou wilt ſhew me the path of life: in thy preſence is fulneſs of joy; at thy right hand there are pleaſures for evermore.

PSALM XVII.

1 David, in confidence of his integrity, craveth defence of God againſt his enemies. 10 He ſheweth their pride, craft, and eagerneſs. 13 He prayeth againſt them in confidence of his hope.

¶ A prayer of David.

HEAR the right, O Lord, attend unto my cry; give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips.

2 Let my ſentence come forth from thy preſence; let thine eyes behold the things that are equal.

3 Thou haſt proved mine heart; thou haſt viſited me in the night; thou haſt tried me, and ſhalt find nothing: I am purpoſed that my mouth ſhall not tranſgreſs.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me from the paths of the deſtroyer.

5 Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footſteps ſlip not.

6 I have called upon thee; for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my ſpeech.

7 Shew thy marvellous loving-kindneſs, O thou that ſaveſt by thy right hand them which put their truſt in thee from thoſe that riſe up againſt them.

8 Keep me as the apple of the eye; hide me under the ſhadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppreſs me, from my deadly enemies who compaſs me about.

10 ¶ They are incloſed in their own fat: with their mouth they ſpeak proudly.

11 They have now compaſſed us in our ſteps; they have ſet their eyes bowing down to the earth;

12 Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in ſecret places.

13 ¶ Ariſe, O Lord, diſappoint him, caſt him down: deliver my ſoul from the wicked, which is thy ſword;

14 From men which are thy hand, O Lord, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whoſe belly thou filleſt with thy hid treaſure: they are full of children, and leave the reſt of their ſubſtance to their babes.

15 As for me, I will behold thy face in righteouſneſs: I ſhall be ſatisfied, when I awake, with thy likeneſs.

PSALM XVIII.

David praiſeth God for his manifold and marvellous bleſſings.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David the ſervant of the Lord, who ſpake unto the Lord the words of this ſong in the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul: and he ſaid,

I WILL love thee, O Lord, my ſtrength.

2 The Lord is my rock, and my fortreſs, and my deliverer; my God, my ſtrength, in whom I will truſt; my buckler, and the horn of my ſalvation, and my high tower.

3 I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſaved from mine enemies.

4 The ſorrows of death compaſſed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.

5 The ſorrows of hell compaſſed me about: the ſnares of death prevented me.

6 In my diſtreſs I called upon the Lord, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears.

7 Then the earth ſhook and trembled: the foundations alſo of the hills moved and were ſhaken, becauſe he was wroth.

8 There went up a ſmoke out of his noſtrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.

9 He bowed the heavens alſo, and came down: and darkneſs was under his feet.

10 And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: yea, he did fly upon the wings of the wind.

11 He made darkneſs his ſecret place: his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the ſkies.

12 At the brightneſs that was before him his thick clouds paſſed: hail-ſtones and coals of fire.

13 The Lord alſo thundered in the heavens, and the Higheſt gave his voice; hail-ſtones, and coals of fire.

14 Yea, he ſent out his arrows, and ſcattered them: and he ſhot out lightnings, and diſcomfited them.

15 Then the channels of waters were ſeen, and the foundations of the world were diſcovered at thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blaſt of the breath of thy noſtrils.

16 He ſent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters.

17 He delivered me from my ſtrong enemy, and from them which hated me: for they were too ſtrong for me.

18 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my ſtay.

---

10 For thou wilt not leave my ſoul in hell, &c.) For thou wilt not ſuffer me to remain always in this forlorn condition, nor let him whom thou haſt anointed to be the king of thy people, be deſtroyed by Saul: much leſs let that great king periſh whom thou haſt promiſed of my ſeed; for though they put him to death, and lay him in the grave, thou wilt take him from thence, and raiſe him from the dead, before his body hath ſeen corruption.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XVII.

14 From men which are thy hand, O Lord, &c.) My perſecutor hath many that will join him to deſtroy me; but they are only mortals, O Lord, who can do nothing more than thou permitteſt them for my correction: worldly men, who never extend their views beyond this preſent life, and deſire no other reward than riches and a numerous poſterity, to whom they may bequeath their eſtates.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XVIII.

2 The Lord is my rock and my fortreſs, &c.) It was not the caves and ſecret retreats, the rocks and impregnable fortreſſes, the high mountains and ſteep precipices, to which I fled, that preſerved me from mine enemies; but the Almighty God of Jacob, whom I made my refuge, and whom I acknowledge for my deliverer. To his gracious providence, and powerful protection, I aſcribe my ſafety; and he alone ſhall always be my ſecurity: he defended me in the moſt dangerous aſſaults of mine enemies; he repelled all their forces, and placed me beyond the reach of their violence.

15 Then the channels of the waters were ſeen, &c.) For even the earth itſelf was rent and torn by them; they penetrated even to the ſecret abyſſes of the deep, which were viſible through the breaches: when thou, O Lord, in thy great indignation didſt rebuke mine enemies.

19 He brought me forth alſo into a large place: he delivered me becauſe he delighted in me.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteouſneſs; according to the cleanneſs of my hands hath he recompenſed me.

21 For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

22 For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his ſtatutes from me.

23 I was alſo upright before him, and I kept myſelf from mine iniquity.

24 Therefore hath the Lord recompenſed me according to my righteouſneſs, according to the cleanneſs of my hands in his eye-ſight.

25 With the merciful thou wilt ſhew thyſelf merciful: with an upright man thou wilt ſhew thyſelf upright:

26 With the pure thou wilt ſhew thyſelf pure: and with the froward thou wilt ſhew thyſelf froward.

27 For thou wilt ſave the afflicted people; but wilt bring down high looks.

28 For thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will enlighten my darkneſs.

29 For by thee I have run through a troop, and by my God, have I leaped over a wall.

30 As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all thoſe that truſt in him.

31 For who is God ſave the Lord? or who is a rock ſave our God?

32 It is God that girdeth me with ſtrength, and maketh my way perfect.

33 He maketh my feet like hind's feet, and ſetteth me upon my high places.

34 He teacheth my hands to war, ſo that a bow of ſteel is broken by mine arms.

35 Thou haſt alſo given me the ſhield of thy ſalvation; and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleneſs hath made me great.

36 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me; that my feet did not ſlip.

37 I have purſued mine enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were conſumed.

38 I have wounded them that they were not able to riſe; they are fallen under my feet.

39 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength unto the battle: thou haſt ſubdued under me thoſe that roſe up againſt me.

40 Thou haſt alſo given me the necks of mine enemies; that I might deſtroy them that hate me.

41 They cried, but there was none to ſave them: even unto the Lord, but he anſwered them not.

42 Then did I beat them ſmall as the duſt before the wind: I did caſt them out, as the dirt in the ſtreets.

43 Thou haſt delivered me from the ſtrivings of the people: and thou haſt made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known ſhall ſerve me.

44 As ſoon as they hear of me, they ſhall obey me: the ſtrangers ſhall ſubmit themſelves unto me.

45 The ſtrangers ſhall fade away, and be afraid out of their cloſe places.

46 The Lord liveth, and bleſſed be my rock: and let the God of my ſalvation be exalted.

47 It is God that avengeth me, and ſubdueth the people under me.

48 He delivereth me from mine enemies: yea, thou liſteſt me up, above thoſe that riſe up againſt me: thou haſt delivered me from the violent man.

49 Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O Lord, among the heathen, and ſing praiſes unto thy name.

50 Great deliverance giveth he to his king: and ſheweth mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his ſeed for evermore.

PSALM XIX.

1 The creatures ſhew God's glory: 7 the word, his grace. 12 David prayeth for grace.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

THE heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament ſheweth his handy work.

2 Day unto day uttereth ſpeech, and night unto night ſheweth knowledge.

3 There is no ſpeech nor language where their voice is not heard.

4 Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he ſet a tabernacle for the ſun;

5 Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a ſtrong man to run a race.

6 His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.

7 ¶ The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the ſoul: the teſtimony of the Lord is ſure, making wiſe the ſimple.

8 The ſtatutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.

9 The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.

10 More to be deſired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold; ſweeter alſo than honey, and the honey-comb.

11 Moreover, by them is thy ſervant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12 ¶ Who can underſtand his errors! cleanſe thou me from ſecret faults.

13 Keep back thy ſervant alſo from preſumptuous ſins; let them not have dominion over me: then ſhall I be upright, and I ſhall be innocent from the great tranſgreſſion.

14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy ſight, O Lord, my ſtrength and my redeemer.

PSALM XX.

1 The church bleſſeth the king in his exploits: 7 her confidence in God's ſuccour.

---

50 Great deliverance giveth he to his king, &c.) The Lord hath often and in a wonderful manner, delivered me; and by his ſpecial providence I am placed on the throne of Iſrael: and the ſame mercies that have been poured upon me, ſhall be extended to my poſterity till the coming of that great king the Meſſiah, of whoſe government there ſhall be no end.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XIX.

4 Their line is gone out through all the earth, &c.) They all read here, as in a ſpacious volume, the wonderful art and ſkill of that Almighty Being who framed this regular ſtructure; and though they are ever ſo remote, muſt hear them relate the greatneſs and goodneſs of the Lord, eſpecially if they liſten to that univerſal miniſter of Omnipotence, the ſun, which hath its habitation here fixed for ever; and cometh forth every morning, dreſſed in the robes of light, like a chearful bridegroom: nor is its ſwiftneſs leſs admirable than its beauty, the ſtrongeſt champion being able but faintly to imitate it in the rapidity, evenneſs, and continuance of its courſe.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

THE Lord hear thee in the day of trouble; the name of the God of Jacob defend thee.

2 Send thee help from the ſanctuary, and ſtrengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Remember all thy offerings, and accept thy burnt-ſacrifice. Selah.

4 Grant thee according to thine own heart, and fulfil all thy counſel.

5 We will rejoice in thy ſalvation, and in the name of our God we will ſet up our banners: the Lord fulfil all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the Lord ſaveth his anointed: he will hear him from his holy heaven with the ſaving ſtrength of his right hand.

7 ¶ Some truſt in chariots, and ſome in horſes: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.

8 They are brought down and fallen; but we are riſen, and ſtand upright.

9 Save, Lord: let the king hear us when we call.

PSALM XXI.

1 A thankſgiving for victory. 7 Confidence of farther ſucceſs.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

THE king ſhall joy in thy ſtrength, O Lord; and in thy ſalvation how greatly ſhall he rejoice!

2 Thou haſt given him his heart's deſire, and haſt not with-holden the requeſt of his lips. Selah.

3 For thou preventeſt him with the bleſſings of goodneſs: thou ſetteſt a crown of pure gold on his head.

4 He aſked life of thee, and thou gaveſt it him, even length of days for ever and ever.

5 His glory is great in thy ſalvation: honour and majeſty haſt thou laid upon him.

6 For thou haſt made him moſt bleſſed for ever: thou haſt made him exceeding glad with thy countenance.

7 ¶ For the king truſteth in the Lord, and through the mercy of the Moſt High he ſhall not be moved.

8 Thine hand ſhall find out all thine enemies: thy right hand ſhall find out thoſe that hate thee.

9 Thou ſhalt make them as a fiery oven in the time of thine anger: the Lord ſhall ſwallow them up in his wrath, and the fire ſhall devour them.

10 Their fruit ſhalt thou deſtroy from the earth, and their ſeed from among the children of men.

11 For they intended evil againſt thee: they imagined a miſchievous device, which they are not able to perform.

12 Therefore ſhalt thou make them turn their back, when thou ſhalt make ready thine arrows upon thy ſtrings againſt the face of them.

13 Be thou exalted, Lord, in thine own ſtrength: ſo will we ſing and praiſe thy power.

PSALM XXII.

1 David complaineth in great diſcouragement. 9 He prayeth in great diſtreſs. 23 He praiſeth God.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Aijeleth Shahar, a pſalm of David.

MY God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? why art thou ſo far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I cry in the day time, but thou heareſt not; and in the night-ſeaſon, and am not ſilent.

3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabiteſt the praiſes of Iſrael.

4 Our fathers truſted in thee: they truſted, and thou didſt deliver them.

5 They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they truſted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worm, and no man: a reproach of men, and diſpiſed of the people.

7 All they that ſee me laugh me to ſcorn: they ſhoot out the lip, they ſhake the head, ſaying,

8 He truſted on the Lord that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, ſeeing he delighted in him.

9 ¶ But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didſt make me hope when I was upon my mother's breaſts,

10 I was caſt upon thee from the womb; thou art my God from my mother's belly.

11 Be not far from me, for trouble is near; for there is none to help.

12 Many bulls have compaſſed me: ſtrong bulls of Baſhan have beſet me round.

13 They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax, it is melted in the midſt of my bowels.

15 My ſtrength is dried up like a potſherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou haſt brought me into the duſt of death.

16 For dogs have compaſſed me; the aſſembly of the wicked have incloſed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.

17 I may tell all my bones: they look and ſtare upon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and caſt lots upon my veſture.

19 But be not thou far from me, O Lord; O my

Commentary on Pſalm XXI.

David, in this pſalm, as well as in the preceding, ſpeaks in the perſon of the people, whom he inſtructs how to return thanks to the God of Jacob, for granting him the victory prayed for in the preceding pſalm. The moſt learned commentators are of opinion, that under the figure of a victory, the exaltation, glory, and majeſty of Chriſt, obtained by his cruel death and paſſion, are deſcribed. Many of the Jews themſelves apply this pſalm to the Meſſiah; ſo that it may be called a ſong of triumph after David had obtained a ſignal victory over his enemies, which was a type of Chriſt's victory over death, and of the triumph that enſued. And certainly there are ſeveral paſſages in it, which were more literally fulfilled in Chriſt than in David.

Commentary on Pſalm XXII.

In this pathetic pſalm, the royal prophet, under the type of his own perſon, deſcribes, at large, the ſufferings of our great Redeemer; and, in the concluſion, paints, in the moſt beautiful colours, his exultation, and the propagation of his kingdom to the ends of the earth. Nay, ſome of the particulars are delivered in ſuch expreſſions, that they were more literally fulfilled in our Saviour, than they ever were in David himſelf, to whom they can only be applied in a metaphorical ſenſe.

7, 8 All they that ſee me laugh me to ſcorn, &c.) All that behold the ſtraits to which I am reduced, openly deride me; they make mouths at me, and, in a ſcornful manner, ſhake their heads, and ſarcaſtically ſay, This is he that pretended to be ſo highly in the favour of God, and depended upon him for deliverance; let us now ſee how he regards him; let him deliver him out of our hands, and ſhew he was as dear to him as he pretended.—This was exactly and literally fulfilled by our bleſſed Saviour, Matt. xxxiii. 39, 40.

18 They part my garments among them, and caſt lots upon my veſture.) They are ſo ſure that I ſhall never recover, that they divide my garments among them, and caſt lots for my veſture.—This was more literally fulfilled in Chriſt than in David, in whoſe hiſtory we find nothing like it.

Strength

Strength, haſte thee to help me.

20 deliver my ſoul from the ſword; my darling from the power of the dog.

21 Save me from the lions mouth: for thou haſt heard me from the horns of the unicorns.

22 I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midſt of the congregation will I praiſe thee.

23 ¶ Ye that fear the Lord, praiſe him: all ye the ſeed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the ſeed of Iſrael.

24 For he hath not deſpiſed nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted, neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him he heard.

25 My praiſe ſhall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.

26 The meek ſhall eat and be ſatisfied: they ſhall praiſe the Lord that ſeek him: your heart ſhall live for ever.

27 All the ends of the world ſhall remember, and turn unto the Lord; and all the kindreds of the nations ſhall worſhip before thee.

28 For the kingdom is the Lord's; and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth ſhall eat and worſhip: all they that go down to the duſt ſhall bow before him; and none can keep alive his own ſoul.

30 A ſeed ſhall ſerve him; it ſhall be accounted to the Lord for a generation.

31 They ſhall come, and ſhall declare his righteouſneſs unto a people that ſhall be born, that he hath done this.

PSALM XXIII.

David's confidence in God's grace.

¶ A pſalm of David.

THE Lord is my ſhepherd; I ſhall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green paſtures: he leadeth me beſide the ſtill waters.

3 He reſtoreth my ſoul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteouſneſs for his name's ſake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the ſhadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me, thy rod and thy ſtaff they comfort me.

5 Thou prepareſt a table before me in the preſence of mine enemies: thou anointeſt my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodneſs and mercy ſhall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the houſe of the Lord for ever.

PSALM XXIV.

1 God's lordſhip in the world. 3 The citizens of his ſpiritual kingdom. 7 An exhortation to receive him.

¶ A pſalm of David.

THE earth is the Lord's, and the fulneſs thereof; the world and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the ſeas, and eſtabliſhed it upon the floods.

3 ¶ Who ſhall aſcend into the hill of the Lord? and who ſhall ſtand in his holy place?

4 He that hath clean hands and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his ſoul unto vanity, nor ſworn deceitfully.

5 He ſhall receive the bleſſing from the Lord, and righteouſneſs from the God of his ſalvation.

6 This is the generation of them that ſeek him, that ſeek thy face, O Jacob. Selah.

7 ¶ Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lifted up, ye everlaſting doors; and the King of glory ſhall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? the Lord ſtrong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlaſting doors; and the King of glory ſhall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hoſts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

PSALM XXV.

1 David's confidence in prayer. 7 He prayeth for remiſſion of ſins, 16 and for help in affliction.

¶ A pſalm of David.

UNTO thee, O Lord, do I lift up my ſoul.

2 O my God, I truſt in thee: let me not be aſhamed; let not mine enemies triumph over me.

3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be aſhamed: let them be aſhamed which tranſgreſs without cauſe.

4 Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths.

5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my ſalvation; on thee do I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy loving kindneſſes; for they have been ever of old.

7 ¶ Remember not the ſins of my youth, nor my tranſgreſſions: according to thy mercy remember thou me, for thy goodneſs ſake, O Lord.

8 Good and upright is the Lord: therefore will he teach ſinners in the way.

9 The meek will he guide in judgment, and the meek will he teach his way.

10 All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth unto ſuch as keep his covenant and his teſtimonies.

11 For thy names ſake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity; for it is great.

12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him

Commentary on Pſalm XXIII.

1 The Lord is my ſhepherd, I ſhall not want.) No ſhepherd exerciſes a more tender and conſtant care over his flocks, than he hath done over me: I am confident, therefore, that I ſhall never want any thing neceſſary either for my ſuſtenance, or defence, againſt thoſe who would bereave me of my happineſs.

Commentary on Pſalm XXIV.

This pſalm ſeems to have been written by David, when he brought up the ark from the houſe of Obed-Edom, and ſettled in mount Zion; and upon that account he prefers this place to all the reſt of the world; at the ſame time exciting the people, who attended it thither, with remarkable pomp and ſolemnity, not to content themſelves entirely with that ſpecies of piety, but to add to it the practice of all moral virtues, that they might thence enjoy the bleſſings which might be expected from the Divine Preſence now ſettled among them, and comfortably wait for the coming of the great Meſſiah, whoſe aſcenſion to heaven was repreſented by carrying the ark to the top of mount Zion, a type of heaven, as the ark was of Chriſt.

8 Who is the king of glory? &c.) If any ſhould aſk, who is the king of glory, the tranſcendent majeſty we proclaim? Let them know it is the Lord, who made and governs the world; that moſt mighty and invincible Lord, whoſe awful preſence hath made me to gain ſo many ſignal victories in the day of battle.

Commentary on Pſalm XXV.

7 Remember not the ſins of my youth, &c.) I am indeed a ſinner; and even in my youth went aſtray from thee: and committed more grievous offences, as I advanced in years. But thy mercies ſhield us from thy juſtice; thou pardoneſt the offences of man, when the ſinner implores thy forgiveneſs. Conſider not therefore, O my God, the greatneſs of my ſins; but for the ſake of thy tender mercy, forgive my tranſgreſſions.

ſhall he teach in the way that he ſhall chooſe:

13 His ſoul ſhall dwell at eaſe; and his ſeed ſhall inherit the earth.

14 The ſecret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will ſhew them his covenant.

15 Mine eyes are ever toward the Lord: for he ſhall pluck my feet out of the net.

16 ¶ Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me: for I am deſolate and afflicted.

17 The troubles of my heart are enlarged: O bring thou me out of my diſtreſſes.

18 Look upon mine affliction, and my pain; and forgive all my ſins.

19 Conſider mine enemies; for they are many, and they hate me with cruel hatred.

20 O keep my ſoul, and deliver me: let me not be aſhamed: for I put my truſt in thee.

21 Let integrity and uprightneſs preſerve me; for I wait on thee.

22 Redeem Iſrael, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSALM XXVI.

David reſorteth unto God in confidence of his integrity.

¶ A pſalm of David.

JUDGE me, O Lord: for I have walked in mine integrity: I have truſted alſo in the Lord; therefore I ſhall not ſlide.

2 Examine me, O Lord, and prove me; try my reins, and my heart.

3 For thy loving kindneſs is before mine eyes: and I have walked in thy truth.

4 I have not ſat with vain perſons, neither will I go in with diſſemblers.

5 I have hated the congregation of evil doers; and will not ſit with the wicked.

6 I will waſh mine hands in innocency: ſo will I compaſs thine altar, O Lord,

7 That I may publiſh with the voice of thankſgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous works.

8 Lord I have loved the habitation of thy houſe, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my ſoul with ſinners, nor my life with bloody men,

10 In whoſe hands is miſchief, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But as for me, I will walk in mine integrity; redeem me, and be merciful unto me.

12 My foot ſtandeth in an even place: in the congregations will I bleſs the Lord.

PSALM XXVII.

1 David ſuſtaineth his faith by the power of God, 4 by his love to the ſervice of God, 9 and by prayer.

¶ A pſalm of David.

THE Lord is my light and my ſalvation; whom ſhall I fear? The Lord is the ſtrength of my life; of whom ſhall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my fleſh, they ſtumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoſt ſhould encamp againſt me, my heart ſhall not fear: though war ſhould riſe againſt me, in this will I be confident.

4 One thing have I deſired of the Lord, that will I ſeek after; that I may dwell in the houſe of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he ſhall hide me in his pavilion: in the ſecret of his tabernacle ſhall he hide me: he ſhall ſet me up upon a rock.

6 And now ſhall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle ſacrifices of joy; I will ſing, yea, I will ſing praiſes unto the Lord.

7 Hear, O Lord, when I cry with my voice: have mercy alſo upon me, and anſwer me.

8 When thou ſaidſt, Seek ye my face: my heart ſaid unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I ſeek.

9 Hide not thy face far from me: put not thy ſervant away in anger, thou haſt been my help; leave me not, neither forſake me, O God of my ſalvation.

10 When my father and my mother forſake me, then the Lord will take me up.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, becauſe of mine enemies.

12 Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for falſe witneſſes are riſen up againſt me, and ſuch as breathe out cruelty.

13 I had fainted, unleſs I had believed to ſee the goodneſs of the Lord in the land of the living.

14 Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he ſhall ſtrengthen thine heart: wait, I ſay, on the Lord.

PSALM XXVIII.

1 David prayeth againſt his enemies. 6 He bleſſeth God. 9 He prayeth for the people.

¶ A pſalm of David.

UNTO thee will I cry, O Lord my rock: be not ſilent to me; leſt if thou be ſilent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.

2 Hear the voice of my ſupplications when I cry unto thee, when I lift up my hands toward thy holy oracle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity; which ſpeak peace to their neighbours, but miſchief is in their hearts.

4 Give them according to their deeds, and according

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXVI.

David in this pſalm aſſerts his integrity, and appeals to God as judge of his moſt ſecret intentions; but it ſeems to relate to the time of his perſecution by Saul, when he was conſidered as a public enemy.

8 Lord I have loved the habitation of thy houſe, &c.) Thou knoweſt, O Lord, with what ſincere affection I have attended the ſervice of thy houſe, and how I rejoiced when I viſited thy tabernacle, where thy glory dwelleth viſibly among us, to offer up thoſe devout ſacrifices to thee.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXVII.

5 For in the day of trouble he ſhall hide me, &c.) For in his tabernacle I ſhall be more ſecure in the day of trouble, than if encompaſſed with the ſtrongeſt bulwark, or concealed in the moſt ſecret caverns of the mountains; nor is the moſt impregnable rock a place of equal ſecurity.

14 Wait on the Lord, &c.) Let me perſuade thee, whoever thou art, that ſhalt hereafter be ſurrounded with dangers and difficulties, to learn by my example; to truſt wholly on the Lord, and not deſpair of relief, though it ſhould be delayed for a ſeaſon. Fortify thyſelf with a ſtrong faith, and hope ſteadfaſtly in the Lord when the greateſt dangers threaten thee, and he will, in his own good time, relieve thee from them all.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXVIII.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, &c.) Let not the deſtruction ſeize on me, which is the portion of the wicked: nor ſuffer me to be involved in the ſame puniſhment with thoſe pernicious wretches, who make no conſcience of committing the greateſt villainies; and pretend the moſt ſincere friendſhip to their neighbours, at the very time they are contriving their ruin.

to the wickedneſs of their endeavours; give them after the work of their hands, render to them their deſert.

5 Becauſe they regard not the works of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands, he ſhall deſtroy them, and not build them up.

6 ¶ Bleſſed be the Lord, becauſe he hath heard the voice of my ſupplications.

7 The Lord is my ſtrength, and my ſhield: my heart truſted in him, and I am helped, therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth, and with my ſong will I praiſe him.

8 The Lord is their ſtrength, and he is the ſaving ſtrength of his anointed.

9 ¶ Save thy people, and bleſs thine inheritance feed them alſo and lift them up for ever

PSALM XXIX.

1 David exhorteth princes to give glory to God, 3 by reaſon of his power, 11 and protection of his people.

¶ A pſalm of David.

GIVE unto the Lord, O ye mighty, give unto the Lord glory and ſtrength.

2 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs.

3 The voice of the Lord is upon the waters; the God of glory thundereth; the Lord is upon many waters.

4 The voice of the Lord is powerful; the voice of the Lord is full of majeſty.

5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars; yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them alſo to ſkip like a calf: Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.

7 The voice of the Lord divideth the flames of fire:

8 The voice of the Lord ſhaketh the wilderneſs; the Lord ſhaketh the wilderneſs of Kadeſh.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calve, and diſcovereth the foreſts: and in his temple doth every one ſpeak of his glory.

10 The Lord ſitteth upon the flood; yea, the Lord ſitteth king for ever.

11 ¶ The Lord will give ſtrength unto his people; the Lord will bleſs his people with peace.

PSALM XXX.

1 David praiſeth God for his deliverance. 4 He exhorteth others to praiſe him, by example of God's dealing with him.

¶ A pſalm and ſong at the dedication of the houſe of David.

I WILL extol thee, O Lord; for thou haſt lifted me up, and haſt not made my foes to rejoice over me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou haſt healed me.

3 O Lord, thou haſt brought up my ſoul from the grave; thou haſt kept me alive, that I ſhould not go down to the pit.

4 ¶ Sing unto the Lord, O ye ſaints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holineſs.

5 For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my proſperity I ſaid, I ſhall never be moved.

7 Lord, by thy favour thou haſt made my mountain to ſtand ſtrong: thou didſt hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 I cried to thee, O Lord; and unto the Lord I made ſuplication.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? ſhall the duſt praiſe thee? ſhall it declare thy truth?

10 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy upon me: Lord, be thou my helper.

11 Thou haſt turned for me my mourning into dancing: thou haſt put off my ſackcloth, and girded me with gladneſs;

12 To the end that my glory may ſing praiſe to thee, and not be ſilent. O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever.

PSALM XXXI.

1 David ſhewing his confidence in God, craveth his help. 7 He rejoiceth in his mercy. 9 He prayeth in his calamity. 19 He praiſeth God for his goodneſs.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

IN thee, O Lord, do I put my truſt; let me never be aſhamed: deliver me in thy righteouſneſs.

2 Bow down thine ear to me; deliver me ſpeedily: be thou my ſtrong rock, for an houſe of defence to ſave me.

3 For thou art my rock and my fortreſs: therefore for thy name's ſake lead me, and guide me.

4 Pull me out of the net that they have laid privily for me: for thou art my ſtrength.

5 Into thine hand I commit my ſpirit: thou haſt re-

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXIX.

This pſalm ſeems to have been compoſed by David immediately after ſome terrible ſtorm of thunder, lightning, and rain; whereby God had ſo diſcomfited his enemies, and put their forces into ſuch diſorder, that he eaſily obtained a compleat victory. And this remarkable aſſiſtance of Providence animated him to exhort all people to ſubmit to that glorious majeſty, from whom the thunder came, and who can ſo eaſily ſtrike a ſudden terror into the hearts of his boldeſt and moſt reſolute oppoſers.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calve, &c.) It opens the wombs of the hinds, which otherwiſe bring forth with difficulty; it lays bare the coverts of wild beaſts in the foreſts, whom it frightens to their dens, while the temple of the Lord remains unſhaken by thoſe tempeſtuous blaſts; and all his pious worſhippers aſſemble there ſecurely, to ſing the praiſes of his glorious majeſty and power.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXX.

The title of this pſalm is different from all the preceding, being called a pſalm and ſong; but in the Hebrew it is ſomething different, and may be conſtrued as follows: A pſalm; a ſong of dedication of the houſe built by David. This pious prince would not eat in his houſe 'till he had, in a ſolemn manner, addreſſed himſelf to God at his entrance into it. acknowledging the divine goodneſs in re-inſtating him in his throne, after he had been forced from it by the rebellion of his ſon.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXI.

5 Into thine hand I commit my ſpirit, &c.) To thy care and cuſtody I commit myſelf, and depoſit even my life in thine hand; for thou haſt often reſcued me from dangers when no human foreſight could have reſcued me; and I doubt not but thou wilt ſtill ſhew thyſelf the ſame gracious God and powerful deliverer; for thou never faileſt them that put their truſt in thee.

Theſe words were uſed by our Bleſſed Saviour when he was expiring on the croſs, to redeem a ſinful and rebellious world, and even in a more proper and literal ſenſe than they could ever have been uſed by David.

deemed deemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I have hated them that regard lying vanities; but I truſt in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy: for thou haſt conſidered my trouble; thou haſt known my ſoul in adverſities;

8 And haſt not ſhut me up into the hand of the enemy: thou haſt ſet my feet in a large room.

9 Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am in trouble: mine eye is conſumed with grief, yea, my ſoul and my belly.

10 For my life is ſpent with grief, and my years with ſighing: my ſtrength falleth becauſe of mine iniquity, and my bones are conſumed.

11 I was a reproach among all mine enemies, but eſpecially among my neighbours, and a fear to mine acquaintance: they that did ſee me without fled from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken veſſel.

13 For I have heard the ſlander of many: fear was on every ſide: while they took counſel together againſt me, they deviſed to take away my life.

14 But I truſted in thee, O Lord: I ſaid, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thy hand: deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that perſecute me.

16 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant: ſave me for thy mercy's ſake.

17 Let me not be aſhamed, O Lord: for I have called upon thee: let the wicked be aſhamed, and let them be ſilent in the grave.

18 Let the lying lips be put to ſilence; which ſpeak grievous things proudly and contemptuouſly againſt the righteous.

19 O how great is thy goodneſs which thou haſt laid up for them that fear thee; which thou haſt wrought for them that truſt in thee, before the ſons of men!

20 Thou ſhalt hide them in the ſecret of thy preſence from the pride of man: thou ſhalt keep them ſecretly in a pavilion from the ſtrife of tongues.

21 Bleſſed be the Lord: for he hath ſhewed me his marvellous kindneſs in a ſtrong city.

22 For I ſaid in my haſte, I am cut off from before thine eyes: nevertheleſs thou heardeſt the voice of my ſupplications when I cried unto thee.

23 O love the Lord, all ye his ſaints; for the Lord preſerveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer.

24 Be of good courage, and he ſhall ſtrengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord.

PSALM XXXII.

1 Bleſſedneſs conſiſteth in remiſſion of ſins. 3 Confeſſion of ſins giveth eaſe to the conſcience. 8 God's promiſes bring joy.

¶ A pſalm of David, Maſchil.

BLESSED is he whoſe tranſgreſſion is forgiven, whoſe ſin is covered.

2 Bleſſed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whoſe ſpirit there is no guile.

3 ¶ When I kept ſilence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long.

4 For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me: my moiſture is turned into the drought of ſummer. Selah.

5 I acknowledged my ſin unto thee, and mine iniquity hide I not hid. I ſaid, I will confeſs my tranſgreſſions unto the Lord; and thou forgaveſt the iniquity of my ſin. Selah.

6 For this ſhall every one that is godly pray unto thee in a time when thou mayeſt be found: ſurely in the floods of great waters they ſhall not come nigh unto him.

7 Thou art my hiding-place; thou ſhalt preſerve me from trouble: thou ſhalt compaſs me about with ſongs of deliverance. Selah.

8 ¶ I will inſtruct thee, and teach thee in the way which thou ſhalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 Be ye not as the horſe, or as the mule, which have no underſtanding; whoſe mouth muſt be held in with bit and bridle, leſt they come near unto thee.

10 Many ſorrows ſhall be to the wicked: but he that truſteth in the Lord, mercy ſhall compaſs him about.

11 Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous: and ſhout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart.

PSALM XXXIII.

1 God is to be praiſed for his goodneſs, 6 for his power, 12 and for his providence. 20 Confidence is to be placed in God.

REJOICE in the Lord, O ye righteous; for praiſe is comely for the upright.

2 Praiſe the Lord with harp: ſing unto him with the pſaltery, and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings.

3 Sing unto him a new ſong, play ſkilfully with a loud noiſe.

4 For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth.

5 He loveth righteouſneſs and judgment: the earth is full of the goodneſs of the Lord.

6 ¶ By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the hoſt of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the ſea together as an heap; he layeth up the depth in ſtore-houſes.

8 Let all the earth fear the Lord; let all the inhabitants of the world ſtand in awe of him:

9 For he ſpake and it was done; he commanded, and it ſtood faſt.

10 The Lord bringeth the counſel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect.

11 The counſel of the Lord ſtandeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

12 ¶ Bleſſed is the nation whoſe God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath choſen for his own inheritance.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXII.

This pſalm was compoſed by David when the calamities, attending his ſon's rebellion, had taught him how fearful a thing it was to offend the Almighty, and how infinitely he was beholden to him for remitting, in ſo merciful a manner, the vengeance his ſins deſerved. Some think it was intended to be publicly uſed on the great day of expiation, when the whole nation made a general confeſſion of their ſins, and called Maſchil, either becauſe it contains the moſt excellent inſtructions to obtain true bleſſedneſs, as the word literally ſignifies, or becauſe it was ſet to the tune of a hymn then in common uſe, which begins with the word Maſchil. The latter is the more probable, becauſe there are twelve pſalms beſides this, which have the ſame title, though the former reaſons cannot be applied to them all.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXIII.

12 Bleſſed is the nation whoſe God is the Lord, &c.) Happy is that nation which worſhips the great Jehovah, the creator of heaven and earth: thrice happy are they who live under the care of ſo juſt, ſo good, ſo powerful, and ſo wiſe a Being, and are ſo highly in his favour, that he hath choſen them to be a peculiar people to himſelf; among whom he will, in an eſpecial manner, reſide, and hath engaged himſelf, by a peculiar covenant, to be their guide and protector.

13 The Lord looketh from heaven; he beholdeth all the ſons of men.

14 From the place of his habitation he looketh upon all the inhabitants of the earth.

15 He faſhioneth their hearts alike; he conſidereth all their works.

16 There is no king ſaved by the multitude of an hoſt: a mighty man is not delivered by much ſtrength.

17 An horſe is a vain thing for ſafety: neither ſhall he deliver any by his great ſtrength.

18 Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy;

19 To deliver their ſoul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.

20 ¶ Our ſoul waiteth for the Lord: he is our help and our ſhield.

21 For our heart ſhall rejoice in him; becauſe we have truſted in his holy name.

22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be upon us, according as we hope in thee.

PSALM XXXIV.

1 David praiſeth God, and exhorteth others thereto by his experience. 8 They are bleſſed that truſt in God. 11 He exhorteth to the fear of God.

¶ A pſalm of David, when he changed his behaviour before Abimelech; who drove him away and he departed.

I WILL bleſs the Lord at all times; his praiſe ſhall continually be in my mouth.

2 My ſoul ſhall make her boaſt in the Lord; the humble ſhall hear thereof, and be glad.

3 O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together.

4 I ſought the Lord, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears.

5 They looked upon him and were lightened: and their faces were not aſhamed.

6 This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and ſaved him out of all his troubles.

7 The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them.

8 O taſte, and ſee that the Lord is good: bleſſed is the man that truſteth in him.

9 O fear the Lord, ye his ſaints: for there is no want to them that fear him.

10 The young lions do lack, and ſuffer hunger: but they that ſeek the Lord ſhall not want any good thing.

11 Come, ye children, hearken unto me; I will teach you the fear of the Lord.

12 What man is he that deſireth life, and loveth many days, that he may ſee good?

13 Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from ſpeaking guile.

14 Depart from evil, and do good: ſeek peace, and purſue it.

15 The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry.

16 The face of the Lord is againſt them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth, and delivereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and ſaveth ſuch as be of a contrite ſpirit.

19 Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the Lord delivereth him out of them all.

20 He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 Evil ſhall ſlay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous ſhall be deſolate.

22 The Lord redeemeth the ſoul of his ſervants: and none of them that truſt in him ſhall be deſolate.

PSALM XXXV.

1 David prayeth for his own ſafety, and his enemies' confuſion. 11 He complaineth of their wrongful dealing. 22 Thereby he inciteth God againſt them.

¶ A pſalm of David.

PLEAD my cauſe, O Lord, with them that ſtrive with me; fight againſt them that fight againſt me.

2 Take hold of ſhield and buckler, and ſtand up for mine help.

3 Draw out alſo the ſpear, and ſtop the way againſt them that perſecute me: ſay unto my ſoul, I am thy ſalvation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to ſhame that ſeek after my ſoul: let them be turned back and brought to confuſion that deviſe my hurt.

5 Let them be as chaff before the wind: and let the angel of the Lord chaſe them.

6 Let their way be dark and ſlippery; and let the angel of the Lord perſecute them.

7 For without cauſe have they hid for me their net in a pit, which without cauſe they have digged for my ſoul.

8 Let deſtruction come upon him at unawares; and let his net that he hath hid catch himſelf: into that very deſtruction let him fall.

9 And my ſoul ſhall be joyful in the Lord: it ſhall rejoice in his ſalvation.

10 All my bones ſhall ſay, Lord, who is like unto thee, which deliverеſt the poor from him that is too ſtrong for him, yea the poor and the needy from him that ſpoileth him?

11 Falſe witneſſes did riſe up: they laid to my charge things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me evil for good, to the ſpoiling of my ſoul.

13 But as for me, when they were ſick, my clothing

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXIV.

The title informs us, that this pſalm was written by David after his eſcape from Achiſh, king of Gath, who he was afraid would ſeize on him, when he heard it was openly reported that he was the perſon who ſlew their famous champion Goliath, and pretended to the ſovereignty over all theſe countries. He, therefore, put on the behaviour of a madman, hoping, that when Achiſh ſaw this, he would deſpiſe him, and ſend him out of his dominions. The ſtratagem ſucceeded according to his wiſh, and he was diſmiſſed from the court of Achiſh. He, however, did not forget to aſcribe his whole deliverance to the tender mercies of the Divine Being, who was pleaſed to make his ſtratagem to proſper. This pſalm is very curiouſly compoſed, according to the number and order of the Hebrew alphabet in the beginning of every verſe: a ſufficient proof that it was written after his eſcape unto ſome place of ſafety.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXV.

This pſalm ſufficiently appears to have been written by David when he was fiercely perſecuted by Saul, whoſe forces, which were unjuſtly raiſed againſt him, he beſeeches the Lord to diſperſe; and eſpecially to ſtop the mouths of his falſe accuſers, of whom he very pathetically complains. This pſalm contains the ſtrongeſt imprecations on the enemies of its author, which ſome have thought unbecoming the mouth of a good man; but theſe imprecations muſt be conſidered as an appeal to God, in a particular caſe, for juſtice againſt thoſe whom no court on earth, could, or would puniſh. He therefore, begged the Divine Majeſty to execute the judgment he had pronounced in his law againſt obſtinate and incorrigible offenders, who would otherwiſe eſcape the hand of juſtice, whereby others alſo might be hardened in their wickedneſs.

was ſackcloth: I humbled my ſoul with faſting, and my prayer returned unto mine own boſom.

14 I behaved myſelf as though he had been my friend or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourneth for his mother.

15 But in mine adverſity they rejoiced, and gathered themſelves together: yea, the abjects gathered themſelves together againſt me, and I knew it not: they did tear me, and ceaſed not:

16 With hypocritical mockers in feaſts, they gnaſhed upon me with their teeth.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou look on? reſcue my ſoul from their deſtructions, my darling from the lions.

18 I will give thee thanks in the great congregation: I will praiſe thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: neither let them wink with the eye that hate me without a cauſe.

20 For they ſpeak not peace; but they deviſe deceitful matters againſt them that are quiet in the land.

21 Yea, they opened their mouth wide againſt me, and ſaid, Aha, aha; our eye hath ſeen it.

22 This thou haſt ſeen, O Lord: keep not ſilence; O Lord, be not far from me.

23 Stir up thyſelf, and awake to my judgment, even unto my cauſe, my God and my Lord.

24 Judge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteouſneſs; and let them not rejoice over me.

25 Let them not ſay in their hearts, Ah, ſo would we have it: let them not ſay, We have ſwallowed him up.

26 Let them be aſhamed and brought to confuſion together that rejoice at mine hurt: let them be clothed with ſhame and diſhonour that magnify themſelves againſt me.

27 Let them ſhout for joy, and be glad, that favour my righteous cauſe: yea, let them ſay continually, Let the Lord be magnified, which hath pleaſure in the proſperity of his ſervant:

28 And my tongue ſhall ſpeak of thy righteouſneſs and of thy praiſe all the day long.

PSALM XXXVI.

1 The grievous eſtate of the wicked. 5 Th excellency of God's mercy.

¶ To the chief muſician, A pſalm of David, the ſervant of the Lord.

THE tranſgreſſion of the wicked ſaith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.

2 For he flattereth himſelf in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful.

3 The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit: he hath left off to be wiſe, and to do good.

4 He deviſeth miſchief upon his bed; he ſetteth himſelf in a way that is not good; he abhorreth not evil.

5 ¶ Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens, and thy faithfulneſs reacheth unto the clouds.

6 Thy righteouſneſs is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preſerveſt man and beaſt.

7 How excellent is thy loving-kindneſs, O God! therefore the children of men put their truſt under the ſhadow of thy wings.

8 They ſhall be abundantly ſatisfied with the fatneſs of thy houſe; and thou ſhalt make them drink of the river of thy pleaſures.

9 For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light ſhall we ſee light.

10 O continue thy loving kindneſs unto them that know thee; and thy righteouſneſs to the upright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of pride come againſt me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me.

12 There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are caſt down, and ſhall not be able to riſe.

PSALM XXXVII.

David perſuadeth to patience, and confidence in God, by the different eſtate of the godly and the wicked.

¶ A pſalm of David.

FRET not thyſelf becauſe of evil-doers, neither be thou envious againſt the workers of iniquity:

2 For they ſhall ſoon be cut down like the graſs, and wither as the green herb.

3 Truſt in the Lord, and do good; ſo ſhalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou ſhalt be fed.

4 Delight thyſelf alſo in the Lord; and he ſhall give thee the deſires of thine heart.

5 Commit thy way unto the Lord; truſt alſo in him, and he will bring it to paſs:

6 And he ſhall bring forth thy righteouſneſs as the light, and thy judgment as the noon-day.

7 Reſt in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyſelf becauſe of him who proſpereth in his way, becauſe of the man who bringeth wicked devices to paſs.

8 Ceaſe from anger, and forſake wrath: fret not thyſelf in any wiſe to do evil.

9 For evil-doers ſhall be cut off: but thoſe that wait upon the Lord they ſhall inherit the earth.

10 For yet a little while, and the wicked ſhall not be: yea, thou ſhalt diligently conſider his place, and it ſhall not be.

11 But the meek ſhall inherit the earth; and ſhall delight themſelves in the abundance of peace.

12 The wicked plotteth againſt the juſt, and gnaſheth upon him with his teeth.

13 The Lord ſhall laugh at him; for he ſeeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked have drawn out the ſword, and have bent their bow, to caſt down the poor and needy, and to ſlay ſuch as be of upright converſation.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXVI.

1 The tranſgreſſion of the wicked ſaith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.) The wicked man may uſe many arts to conceal his wicked intentions; but his actions, directly contrary both to the laws of God and humanity, ſufficiently convince me that he is not to be truſted; becauſe it is evident, that he hath no regard to God, nor will be reſtrained by the fear of him from doing me the greateſt miſchief.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXVII.

This pſalm is compoſed by David with great regularity, every alternate verſe following the order of the Hebrew alphabet, and ſeems intended to prevent the ſcandal which ſome might take when they ſaw the wicked in proſperity, and the godly under afflictions as it was quite contrary to the law which promiſed all good things to thoſe that kept it, and threatened all evil to thoſe that broke it. He exhorted them, therefore, to be patient for a time, and they would ſee both verified; for the proſperity of the wicked would be of ſhort continuance, and the juſt would not only ſee themſelves delivered out of their troubles, but their condition rendered very flouriſhing. The ſon of Syrach ſeems to have given the ſubſtance of this pſalm in the following words: A patient man will bear for a time, and afterwards joy ſhall ſpring up unto him. For the fear of the Lord is wiſdom; and faith and meekneſs are his delight.—Eccleſ. i. 23, &c.

15 Their ſword ſhall enter into their own heart, and their bows ſhall be broken.

16 A little that a righteous man hath is better than the riches of many wicked.

17 For the arms of the wicked ſhall be broken: but the Lord upholdeth the righteous.

18 The Lord knoweth the days of the upright; and their inheritance ſhall be for ever.

19 They ſhall not be aſhamed in the evil time; and in the days of famine they ſhall be ſatisfied.

20 But the wicked ſhall periſh, and the enemies of the Lord ſhall be as the fat of lambs: they ſhall conſume, into ſmoke ſhall they conſume away.

21 The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous ſheweth mercy, and giveth.

22 For ſuch as be bleſſed of him ſhall inherit the earth; and they that be curſed of him ſhall be cut off.

23 The ſteps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way.

24 Though he fall, he ſhall not be utterly caſt down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not ſeen the righteous forſaken, nor his ſeed begging bread.

26 He is ever merciful, and lendeth; and his ſeed is bleſſed.

27 Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for evermore.

28 For the Lord loveth judgment, and forſaketh not his ſaints; they are preſerved for ever: but the ſeed of the wicked ſhall be cut off.

29 The righteous ſhall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever.

30 The mouth of the righteous ſpeaketh wiſdom, and his tongue talketh of judgment.

31 The law of his God is in his heart; none of his ſteps ſhall ſlide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and ſeeketh to ſlay him.

33 The Lord will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged.

34 Wait on the Lord and keep his way, and he ſhall exalt thee to inherit the land: when the wicked are cut off, thou ſhalt ſee it.

35 I have ſeen the wicked in great power, and ſpreading himſelf like a green bay-tree:

36 Yet he paſſed away, and, lo, he was not; yea, I ſought him, but he could not be found.

37 Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the tranſgreſſors ſhall be deſtroyed together; the end of the wicked ſhall be cut off.

39 But the ſalvation of the righteous is of the Lord; he is their ſtrength in the time of trouble.

40 And the Lord ſhall help them, and deliver them: he ſhall deliver them from the wicked, and ſave them, becauſe they truſt in him.

PSALM XXXVIII.

David moveth God to take compaſſion of his piteous caſe.

¶ A pſalm of David, to bring to remembrance.

O LORD, rebuke me not in thy wrath: neither chaſten me in thy hot diſpleaſure.

2 For thine arrows ſtick faſt in me, and thy hand preſſeth me ſore.

3 There is no ſoundneſs in my fleſh, becauſe of thine anger; neither is there any reſt in my bones, becauſe of my ſin.

4 For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as an heavy burden, they are too heavy for me.

5 My wounds ſtink, and are corrupt, becauſe of my fooliſhneſs.

6 I am troubled, I am bowed down greatly; I go mourning all the day long.

7 For my loins are filled with a loathſome diſeaſe; and there is no ſoundneſs in my fleſh.

8 I am feeble and ſore broken: I have roared by reaſon of the diſquietneſs of my heart.

9 Lord, all my deſire is before thee; and my groaning is not hid from thee.

10 My heart panteth, my ſtrength faileth me; as for the light of mine eyes, it alſo is gone from me.

11 My lovers and my friends ſtand aloof from my ſore: and my kinſmen ſtand afar off.

12 They alſo that ſeek after my life, lay ſnares for me: and they that ſeek my hurt ſpeak miſchievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.

13 But I, as a deaf man, heard not; and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus I was as a man that heareth not, and in whoſe mouth are no reproofs.

15 For in thee, O Lord, do I hope: thou wilt hear, O Lord my God.

16 For I ſaid, Hear me, leſt otherwiſe they ſhould rejoice over me: when my foot ſlippeth, they magnify themſelves againſt me.

17 For I am ready to halt, and my ſorrow is continually before me.

18 For I will declare mine iniquity; I will be ſorry for my ſin.

19 But mine enemies are lively, and they are ſtrong: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied.

20 They alſo that render evil for good are mine adverſaries: becauſe I follow the thing that good is.

21 Forſake me not, O Lord: O my God, be not far from me.

22 Make haſte to help me, O Lord my ſalvation.

PSALM XXXIX.

1 David's care of his thoughts. 4 The conſideration of the brevity and the vanity of life. 7 The reverence of God's judgments.

¶ To the chief muſician, even to Jeduthun, a pſalm of David.

I SAID, I will take heed to my ways, that I ſin not with my tongue; I will keep my mouth with a bridle while the wicked is before me.

2 I was dumb with ſilence: I held my peace, even from good; and my ſorrow was ſtirred.

3 My heart was hot within me; while I was muſing

---

19 They ſhall not be aſhamed in the evil time, &c.) In the calamitous times, when God puniſhes the world by war or peſtilence, they ſhall not be aſhamed of the hope they have placed in the Almighty; for he will, doubtleſs, preſerve them: when others are pinched with famine, they ſhall be ſure to have enough.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XXXVIII.

This pſalm was compoſed by David, either during his affliction, to beg of God to remember him, and ſend him deliverance; or, afterwards, to put himſelf in remembrance of the groans he had uttered when in that ſad condition; and how earneſt he then was with God to pardon all the ſins which had brought it upon him, and to releaſe him out of it; and what hope and confidence he then had in God, which might encourage him and all others to place the like humble aſſurance in his goodneſs for the time to come.

2 For thine arrows ſtick faſt in me, and thy hand preſſeth me ſore.) The pains I feel are exceedingly ſharp, and touch me to the quick. Thou haſt laid on me a heavy puniſhment, which preſſeth me even to the ground.

the fire burned: then ſpake I with my tongue,

4 ¶ Lord, make me to know mine end, and the meaſure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am.

5 Behold, thou haſt made my days as an hand-breadth, and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his beſt ſtate is altogether vanity. Selah.

6 Surely every man walketh in a vain ſhew; ſurely they are diſquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who ſhall gather them.

7 ¶ And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee.

8 Deliver me from all my tranſgreſſions; make me not the reproach of the fooliſh.

9 I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; becauſe thou didſt it.

10 Remove thy ſtroke away from me: I am conſumed by the blow of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes doſt correct man for iniquity, thou makeſt his beauty to conſume away like a moth: ſurely every man is vanity. Selah.

12 Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a ſtranger with thee, and a ſojourner, as all my fathers were.

13 O ſpare me, that I may recover ſtrength, before I go hence, and be no more.

PSALM XL.

1 The benefit of confidence in God. 6 Obedience is the beſt ſacrifice.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

I WAITED patiently for the Lord: and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought me up alſo out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and ſet my feet upon a rock, and eſtabliſhed my goings.

3 And he hath put a new ſong in my mouth, even praiſe unto our God; many ſhall ſee it, and fear, and ſhall truſt in the Lord.

4 Bleſſed is that man that maketh the Lord his truſt; and reſpecteth not the proud, nor ſuch as turn aſide to lies.

5 Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou haſt done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and ſpeak of them, they are more than can be numbered.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didſt not deſire; mine ears haſt thou opened: burnt-offering and ſin-offering haſt thou not required.

7 Then ſaid I, Lo, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me.

8 I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart.

9 I have preached righteouſneſs in the great congregation: lo, I have not refrained my lips; O Lord, thou knoweſt.

10 I have not hid thy righteouſneſs within my heart; I have declared thy faithfulneſs and thy ſalvation; I have not concealed thy loving kindneſs and thy truth from the great congregation.

11 Withold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy loving-kindneſs and thy truth continually preſerve me.

12 For innumerable evils have compaſſed me about: mine iniquities have taken hold upon me, ſo that I am not able to look up: they are more than the hairs of mine head: therefore my heart faileth me.

13 Be pleaſed, O Lord, to deliver me: O Lord, make haſte to help me.

14 Let them be aſhamed and confounded together that ſeek after my ſoul to deſtroy it: let them be driven backward and put to ſhame that wiſh me evil.

15 Let them be deſolate for a reward of their ſhame, that ſay unto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all thoſe that ſeek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: let ſuch as love thy ſalvation ſay continually, The Lord be magnified.

17 But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God.

PSALM XLI.

1 God's care of the poor. 4 David complaineth of his enemies treachery.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

BLESSED is he that conſidereth the poor; the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble.

2 The Lord will preſerve him, and keep him alive; and he ſhall be bleſſed upon the earth: and thou wilt not deliver him unto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will ſtrengthen him upon the bed of languiſhing: thou wilt make all his bed in his ſickneſs.

4 ¶ I ſaid, Lord, be merciful unto me; heal my ſoul; for I have ſinned againſt thee.

5 Mine enemies ſpeak evil of me; When ſhall he die and his name periſh?

Commentary on Pſalm XXXIX.

4 Lord, make me to know mine end, &c.) Lord, I do not murmur nor repine at my preſent ſufferings; but that I may be able to bear them with a becoming patience, make me ſenſible, I humbly beſeech thee, how ſhort this frail exiſtence of human life is, and when it will have an end: that, duly conſidering this, I may be the leſs concerned with regard to the miſeries I endure, which will end with it.

5 Behold, thou haſt made my days as an hand-breadth, &c.) It is very ſtrange I ſhould forget the ſhortneſs of human life, ſeeing it ſo apparent, that thou haſt circumſcribed my days within a very narrow compaſs, and when compared with thy eternal duration, they are juſt nothing. Beſides, there is no man ſo ſtrong, ſo firm, but he may die in an inſtant, in the height of proſperity, and moſt flouriſhing condition: for, however firmly he may think himſelf ſettled, it is certain he is mere emptineſs and vanity.

Commentary on Pſalm XL.

This pſalm was delivered by David, the author of it, to the chief muſician in the tabernacle, for general uſe; wherein he thankfully acknowledges God's goodneſs to him, in delivering him from ſome great danger; and then declares his reſolution to ſerve the Lord faithfully and chearfully, in ſuch expreſſions as may be more properly applied to Chriſt's readineſs to do the will of his father, than to David.

7 Then ſaid I, Lo, I come, &c.) And therefore, when I knew what thou mighteſt juſtly expect from me, after this great deliverance, I immediately ſaid, Behold, I come to make an offering of myſelf unto thee, as the great Meſſiah will hereafter do, even of his very blood, for ſo the book of the law requires, wherein this great ſacrifice of Chriſt is more plainly deſcribed.

Commentary on Pſalm XLI.

The royal prophet, in this pſalm, pathetically commends and bleſſes that temper of mind which inclines men to pity and compaſſion, with regard to thoſe who are poor and afflicted with ſickneſs; aſſuring ſuch perſons, that they ſhall not fail of receiving a full reward from the Almighty; and then complains bitterly of their inhumanity, who inſulted over him in his calamity, and, with reproachful words and vile calumnies, exaſperated the grief of his mind. He therefore expreſſes his hope, that God, who loves the merciful, would take compaſſion upon him, and put him in a condition to chaſtiſe their inſolence.

6 And

6 And if he come to ſee me he ſpeaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to itſelf; when he goeth abroad he telleth it.

7 All that hate me whiſper together againſt me: againſt me do they deviſe my hurt.

8 An evil diſeaſe, ſay they, cleaveth faſt unto him: and now that he lieth, he ſhall riſe up no more.

9 Yea, mine own familiar friend in whom I truſted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted up his heel againſt me.

10 But thou, O Lord, be merciful unto me, and raiſe me up, that I may requite them.

11 By this I know that thou favoureſt me, becauſe mine enemy doth not triumph over me.

12 And as for me, thou upholdeſt me in mine integrity, and ſetteſt me before thy face for ever.

13 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael from everlaſting, and to everlaſting. Amen and amen.

PSALM XLII.

David's zeal to ſerve God in the temple.

¶ To the chief muſician, Maſchil, for the ſons of Korah.

AS the hart panteth after the water brooks, ſo panteth my ſoul after thee, O God.

2 My ſoul thirſteth for God, for the living God: when ſhall I come and appear before God?

3 My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually ſay unto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remember theſe things, I pour out my ſoul in me: for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the houſe of God with the voice of joy and praiſe, with a multitude that kept holy-day.

5 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted in me? hope thou in God: for I ſhall yet praiſe him for the help of his countenance.

6 O my God, my ſoul is caſt down within me: therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites from the hill Mizar.

7 Deep calleth unto deep at the noiſe of thy waterſpouts: all thy waves and thy billows are gone over me.

8 Yet the Lord will command his loving-kindneſs in the day-time, and in the night his ſong ſhall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life.

9 I will ſay unto God my rock, Why haſt thou forgotten me? why go I mourning becauſe of the oppreſſion of the enemy.

10 As with a ſword in my bones, mine enemies reproach me: while they ſay daily unto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I ſhall yet praiſe him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

PSALM XLIII.

David prayeth to be reſtored to the temple, promiſeth to ſerve God joyfully.

JUDGE me, O God, and plead my cauſe againſt an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unjuſt man.

2 For thou art the God of my ſtrength: why doſt thou caſt me off? why go I mourning becauſe of the oppreſſion of the enemy?

3 O ſend out thy light and thy truth; let them lead me, let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacle.

4 Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praiſe thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? hope in God; for I ſhall yet praiſe him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

PSALM XLIV.

1 The church, in memory of former favours, 7 complaineth of her preſent evil: 17 profeſſing her integrity, 24 ſhe fervently prayeth for ſuccour.

¶ To the chief muſician for the ſons of Korah, Maſchil.

WE have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us, what works thou didſt in their days, in the times of old:

2 How thou didſt drive out the heathen with thy hand, and plantedſt them; how thou didſt afflict the people, and caſt them out.

3 For they got not the land in poſſeſſion by their own ſword, neither did their own arm ſave them; but thy right hand, and thine arm, and the light of thy countenance, becauſe thou hadſt a favour unto them.

4 Thou art my king, O God: command deliverances for Jacob.

5 Through thee will we puſh down our enemies; through thy name will we tread them under that riſe up againſt us.

6 For I will not truſt in my bow, neither ſhall my ſword ſave me.

7 ¶ But thou haſt ſaved us from our enemies, and haſt put them to ſhame that hated us.

8 In God we boaſt all the day long, and praiſe thy name for ever. Selah.

13 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, &c.) Let the great God of all the earth, the God of Iſrael, be for ever bleſſed and adored. Let him be bleſſed throughout all generations, as long as the ſun and moon endure, and even to all eternity. Let him be bleſſed: I repeat it, with the moſt fervent affection, let him be bleſſed; and let all the people concur with me in theſe pious wiſhes, and with one conſent accompany me with their joyful acclamations, ſaying, The Lord be praiſed, the Lord be praiſed.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLII.

The Hebrews here begin the ſecond of the five Books of Pſalms. All in the preceding book, except four, have the name of David prefixed to them as their author; and thence the collector thought proper to place them all together. But the firſt part of this ſecond book conſiſts of pſalms, intitled, To the ſons of Korah, as ſeveral learned men underſtand the inſcriptions, and imagine that ſome pious perſons among them compoſed theſe pſalms in the time of the captivity. But I think our tranſlation, which directs theſe pſalms to the ſons of Korah, to be ſet or ſung by them under the chief muſician of the tabernacle, to be better founded than the former opinion. And if this be granted, there is little queſtion to be made, but David himſelf was the author of ſome of the pſalms which have this title, it being certain, that he directed moſt of thoſe contained in the latter part of this book, and which all allow to have been of his compoſition, in the ſame manner.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLIII.

3 O ſend out thy light and thy truth, &c.) Mighty armies beſet me round about, and I have nothing to protect me but thy favour and faithfulneſs: O ſend out therefore the happy effects of them, and, according to thy promiſes to thoſe that depend on thee, let thy Almighty power mercifully lead and conduct me: let it go before me, and bring me again to thy holy mountain, where thou haſt fixed thy dwelling-place.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLIV.

1 We have heard with our ears, O God, &c.) Our fathers, O God, have faithfully informed us of the wonderful works thou didſt in their time, and alſo in the ages far remote, as they are recorded by their anceſtors.

9 But thou haſt caſt off and put us to ſhame; and goeſt not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makeſt us to turn back from the enemy; and they which hate us ſpoil for themſelves.

11 Thou haſt given us like ſheep appointed for meat; and haſt ſcattered us among the heathen.

12 Thou ſelleſt thy people for nought, and doſt not increaſe thy wealth by their price.

13 Thou makeſt us a reproach to our neighbours, a ſcorn and a deriſion to them that are round about us.

14 Thou makeſt us a by-word among the heathen, a ſhaking of the head among the people.

15 My confuſion is continually before me, and the ſhame of my face hath covered me.

16 For the voice of him that reproacheth and blaſphemeth; by reaſon of the enemy and avenger.

17 ¶ All this is come upon us; yet have we not forgotten thee, neither have we dealt falſely in thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned back, neither have our ſteps declined from thy way,

19 Though thou haſt ſore broken us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the ſhadow of death.

20 If we have forgotten the name of our God, or ſtretched out our hands to a ſtrange god,

21 Shall not God ſearch this out? for he knoweth the ſecrets of the heart.

22 Yea, for thy ſake are we killed all the day long; we are counted as ſheep for the ſlaughter.

23 Awake, why ſleepeſt thou, O Lord? ariſe, caſt us not off for ever.

24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face, and forgetteſt our affliction and our oppreſſion?

25 For our ſoul is bowed down to the duſt; our belly cleaveth unto the earth.

26 Ariſe for our help, and redeem us, for thy mercies ſake.

PSALM XLV.

1 The majeſty and grace of Chriſt's kingdom. 10 The duty of the church, and the benefits thereof.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Shoſhannim, for the ſons of Korah, Maſchil, a ſong of loves.

MY heart is inditing a good matter; I ſpeak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer.

2 Thou art fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into thy lips: therefore God hath bleſſed thee for ever.

3 Gird thy ſword upon thy thigh, O moſt mighty, with thy glory and thy majeſty.

4 And in thy majeſty ride proſperouſly, becauſe of truth and meekneſs, and righteouſneſs; and thy right hand ſhall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrows are ſharp in the heart of the king's enemies; whereby the people fall under thee.

6 Thy throne, O God is for ever and ever: the ſceptre of thy kingdom is a right ſceptre.

7 Thou loveſt righteouſneſs, and hateſt wickedneſs: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee, with the oil of gladneſs above thy fellows.

8 All thy garments ſmell of myrrh, and aloes, and caſſia: out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad.

9 Kings' daughters were among thy honourable women; upon thy right hand did ſtand the queen in gold of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and conſider, and incline thine ear: forget alſo thine own people, and thy father's houſe.

11 So ſhall the king greatly deſire thy beauty: for he is thy Lord; and worſhip thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyre, ſhall be there with a gift: even the rich among the people ſhall intreat thy favour.

13 The king's daughter is all glorious within; her clothing is of wrought gold.

14 She ſhall be brought unto the King in raiment of needle-work: the virgins her companions that follow her ſhall be brought unto thee.

15 With gladneſs and rejoicing ſhall they be brought: they ſhall enter into the king's palace.

16 Inſtead of thy fathers ſhall be thy children, whom thou mayeſt make princes in all the earth.

17 I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations; therefore ſhall the people praiſe thee for ever and ever.

PSALM XLVI.

1 The confidence which the church hath in God. 8 An exhortation to behold his works.

¶ To the chief muſician, for the ſons of Korah. A ſong upon Alamoth.

GOD is our refuge and ſtrength, a very preſent help in trouble.

---

26 Ariſe for our help, and redeem us for thy mercy's ſake.) Ariſe and help us, thou Almighty creator of the world: O let not thy loving kindneſs, which hath been ſo long famous, ſuffer together with us; but for the ſake of thy goodneſs, which both we and our fathers have ſo often experienced, reſcue us from our miſeries, and the many dangers that now ſurround us.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLV.

The preceding pſalm is not more ſad and mournful, than this is joyful and comfortable; promiſing the moſt glorious things to the ſons of Jacob. The author is not mentioned; but it was, like the former, delivered to the chief muſician, and ordered to be ſung upon ſhoſhannim, inſtruments of ſix ſtrings, to the well-known tune of Maſchil, (ſee pſalm xxxii.) and being, as the title tells us, a ſong of love, plainly alluding to the name Jedidiah, given to Solomon by Nathan the prophet, (2 Sam. xii. 25,) moſt interpreters conclude, that it was compoſed upon the occaſion of Solomon's marriage with Pharoah's daughter. Some indeed will not allow that the author had any reſpect to Solomon, but to Chriſt only. This is certain, that many of the expreſſions in it are ſo magnificent, that they can only be applied in a very mean ſenſe to Solomon and his bride, and ſome of them ſcarce at all. But, on the other hand, many of the paſſages ſo plainly allude to that prince, that they can only be allegorically applied to our bleſſed Saviour. The principal parts of it, however, allude to Chriſt, it being ſufficiently evident that the prophet, while he was writing ſome part of this pſalm, was carried quite beyond King Solomon, to the great King, the Lord our righteouſneſs. So that we may ſay here, as our great Redeemer doth in another caſe, Behold, a greater than Solomon is here. This is even acknowledged by the beſt of the Jewiſh interpreters themſelves.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLVI.

It is not known either when, or on what occaſion, or by whom this pſalm was compoſed. It is, however, generally ſuppoſed to have been written by David, or ſome of the ſons of Korah, immediately after one of thoſe great victories mentioned 2 Sam. viii. 10. For it evidently appears to be a pious triumph in God, after ſome very remarkable deliverance from very powerful enemies; and none are recorded in the ſacred books, to which it can more naturally be referred than thoſe above-mentioned. And, in order to perpetuate the remembrance of ſuch remarkable victories, and thence inſpire the people with a ſure confidence in God, whenever they ſhould for the future be ſurrounded with dangers, and return thanks to that omnipotent arm that had ſaved them in the day of their diſtreſs. This pſalm was delivered to the chief muſician in the tabernacle, that it might be ſung upon alamoth, which is thought to ſignify ſome tune in common uſe, or a particular kind of muſical inſtrument, unknown to us, in which, according to ſome, young virgins delighted, and commonly played on it, and whence it is ſuppoſed to have derived its name.

1 God is our refuge and ſtrength, &c.) God is the moſt powerful protector, and on whom alone we may ſafely depend; he inſpires us with courage, and ſtrengthens our arms to meet our enemies: we were in the utmoſt danger, but found him ready to ſuccour us, and give us a ſafe deliverance, when we were ſorely diſtreſſed.

2 Therefore

2 Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midſt of the ſea;

3 Though the waters thereof roar, and be troubled, though the mountains ſhake with the ſwelling thereof. Selah.

4 There is a river, the ſtreams whereof ſhall make glad the city of God; the holy place of the tabernacles of the moſt High.

5 God is in the midſt of her; ſhe ſhall not be moved: God ſhall help her, and that right early.

6 The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved: he uttered his voice the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hoſts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, behold the works of the Lord, what deſolations he hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh wars to ceaſe unto the end of the earth; he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the ſpear in ſunder; he burneth the chariot in the fire.

10 Be ſtill, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hoſts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

PSALM XLVII.

The nations are exhorted cheerfully to entertain the kingdom of Chriſt.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm for the ſons of Korah.

O CLAP your hands, all ye people: ſhout unto God with the voice of triumph.

2 For the Lord moſt high is terrible: he is a great king over all the earth.

3 He ſhall ſubdue the people under us; and the nations under our feet.

4 He ſhall chooſe our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved. Selah.

5 God is gone up with a ſhout, the Lord with the ſound of a trumpet.

6 Sing praiſes to God, ſing praiſes: ſing praiſes unto our king, ſing praiſes.

7 For God is the king of all the earth: ſing ye praiſes with underſtanding.

8 God reigneth over the heathen: God ſitteth upon the throne of his holineſs.

9 The princes of the people are gathered together, even the people of the God of Abraham: for the ſhields of the earth belong unto God: he is greatly exalted.

PSALM XLVIII.

The ornaments and privileges of the church.

¶ A ſong and pſalm for the ſons of Korah.

GREAT is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed in the city of our God, in the mountain of his holineſs.

2 Beautiful for ſituation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion; on the ſides of the north the city of the great King.

3 God is known in her palaces for a refuge.

4 For, lo, the kings were aſſembled, they paſſed by together.

5 They ſaw it, and ſo they marvelled; they were troubled, and haſted away.

6 Fear took hold upon them there, and pain, as of a woman in travail.

7 Thou breakeſt the ſhips of Tarſhiſh with an eaſt wind.

8 As we have heard, ſo have we ſeen in the city of the Lord of hoſts, in the city of our God: God will eſtabliſh it for ever. Selah.

9 We have thought of thy loving kindneſs, O God, in the midſt of thy temple.

10 According to thy name, O God, ſo is thy praiſe unto the ends of the earth: thy right hand is full of righteouſneſs.

11 Let mount Zion rejoice, let the daughters of Judah be glad, becauſe of thy judgments.

12 Walk about Zion, and go round about her: tell the towers thereof.

13 Mark ye well her bulwarks, conſider her palaces; that ye may tell it to the generation following.

14 For this God is our God for ever and ever; he will be our guide even unto death.

PSALM XLIX.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm for the ſons of Korah.

HEAR this, all ye people; give ear, all ye inhabitants of the world:

2 Both low and high, rich and poor together.

3 My mouth ſhall ſpeak of wiſdom; and the meditation of my heart ſhall be of underſtanding.

4 I will incline mine ear to a parable; I will open my dark ſaying upon the harp.

5 Wherefore ſhould I fear in the days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels ſhall compaſs me about?

6 They that truſt in their wealth, and boaſt themſelves in the multitude of their riches;

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLVII.

This pſalm is thought by ſome to have been compoſed by David, when he brought up the ark either from Kerjath-jearim, or from the houſe of Obed-edom. Some think it was written by one of the ſons of Korah, when the ark was again removed by Solomon with the ſame rejoicing, from mount Sion to the houſe he had built for it on mount Moriah. And others, that it was a triumphant ſong performed before the ark as they brought it back to its place after ſome great victory, it being common for them to carry the ark before them to battle. Which of theſe gave occaſion to the writing of this pſalm, cannot be abſolutely determined; but the ark being a figure of Chriſt, as the mountain on which it had its dwelling-place was of heaven, the tranſlation or carrying back of the ark thither, may be conſidered as a figure of Chriſt's aſcenſion, after he had dwelt in this vale of miſery, and conquered death, into the heavenly manſions of eternal felicity, where he now ſitteth at the right hand of the omnipotent Creator of the univerſe.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLVIII.

1 Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed in the houſe of our God, &c.) Great is the majeſty and power of the Lord, who is therefore to be celebrated with the higheſt praiſes, eſpecially in his own city, by the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, in that mountain which he hath long ſince ſet apart for the place of his worſhip, and hath now ſo marvelouſly defended.

PSALM L.

1 The majeſty of God in the church. 5 His order to gather ſaints. 7 The pleaſure of God is not in ceremonies, 14 but in ſincerity of obedience.

¶ A pſalm of Aſaph.

THE mighty God, even the Lord, hath ſpoken, and called the earth from the riſing of the ſun unto the going down thereof.

2 Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath ſhined.

3 Our God ſhall come, and ſhall not keep ſilence: a fire ſhall devour before him, and it ſhall be very tempeſtuous round about him.

4 He ſhall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people.

5 Gather my ſaints together unto me; thoſe that have made a covenant with me by ſacrifice.

6 And the heavens ſhall declare his righteouſneſs; for God is judge himſelf. Selah.

7 Hear, O my people, and I will ſpeak; O Iſrael, and I will teſtify againſt thee; I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy ſacrifices or thy burnt-offerings to have been continually before me.

9 I will take no bullock out of thy houſe, nor he-goats out of thy folds.

10 For every beaſt of the foreſt is mine, and the cattle upon a thouſand hills.

11 I know all the fowls of the mountains: and the wild beaſts of the field are mine.

12 If I were hungry, I would not tell thee: for the world is mine, and the fulneſs thereof.

20 Thou ſitteſt and ſpeakeſt againſt thy brother: thou ſlandereſt thine own mother's ſon.

21 Theſe things haſt thou done, and I kept ſilence; thou thougheſt that I was altogether ſuch a one as thyſelf: but I will reprove thee, and ſet them in order before thine eyes.

22 Now conſider this, ye that forget God, leſt I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XLIX.

6, 7 They that truſt in their wealth, &c.) They place ſuch confidence in their ſtrength and power, that they think none is able to reſiſt them; and the fooliſh conceit they entertain of their heaps of wealth renders them ſo proud, that they inſult others, and threaten to ruin them. But alas! poor mortals, their weakneſs is ſufficiently apparent; not one among them, be his power ever ſo great, can ſave his dear friend from the chambers of the grave, when the Almighty demands his ſoul: nor is the wealth of the richeſt of them ſufficient to purchaſe a reprieve, when Omnipotence pronounces the ſentence of death upon them.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm L.

The title of this pſalm informs us that it was written by Aſaph, who, like David, compoſed ſeveral pieces for the uſe of the temple. But whether this was Aſaph the Levite, who lived in the time of David, or ſome prophet of that name who appeared in ſucceeding ages, cannot be determined. The latter, however, ſeems more probable, and that he lived in the reign of ſome pious prince, perhaps Jehoſhaphat, or rather Hezekiah, when the people and judges were filled with hypocriſy; the former placing all religion in ſacrifices, and other external ceremonies, and the latter never obſerving the precepts they expounded to the people. Both theſe vices the pious author endeavours to deſtroy, by repreſenting God as the ſupreme Judge of the world, coming in an amazing manner to call them all to a ſtrict account, and to take a ſevere vengeance upon them, unleſs they turned from the evil of their doings.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LI.

10 Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right ſpirit within me.

11 Caſt me not away from thy preſence: and take not thy holy ſpirit from me.

12 Reſtore unto me the joy of thy ſalvation; and uphold me with thy free ſpirit.

13 Then will I teach tranſgreſſors thy ways; and ſinners ſhall be converted unto thee.

14 Deliver me from blood-guiltineſs, O God, thou God of my ſalvation: and my tongue ſhall ſing aloud of thy righteouſneſs.

15 O Lord, open thou my lips, and my mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy praiſe.

16 For thou deſireſt not ſacrifice; elſe would I give it; thou delighteſt not in burnt-offering.

17 The ſacrifices of God are a broken ſpirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not deſpiſe.

18 Do good in thy good pleaſure unto Zion: build thou the walls of Jeruſalem.

19 Then ſhalt thou be pleaſed with the ſacrifices of righteouſneſs, with burnt-offering, and whole burnt-offering: then ſhall they offer bullocks upon thine altar.

PSALM LII.

1 David condemning the ſpiteſulneſs of Doeg, propheſieth his deſtruction. 6 The righteous ſhall rejoice at it.

¶ To the chief muſician, Maſchil, a pſalm of David, when Doeg the Edomite came and told Sauſ, and ſaid unto him, David is come to the houſe of Ahimelech.

WHY boaſteſt thou thyſelf in miſchief, O mighty man? the goodneſs of God endureth continually.

2 Thy tongue deviſeth miſchief; like a ſharp razor, working deceitfully.

3 Thou loveſt evil more than good; and lying rather than to ſpeak righteouſneſs. Selah.

4 Thou loveſt all devouring words, O thou deceitful tongue.

5 God ſhall likewiſe deſtroy thee for ever: he ſhall take thee away, and pluck thee out of thy dwelling-place, and root thee out of the land of the living. Selah.

6 The righteous alſo ſhall ſee, and fear, and ſhall laugh at him.

7 Lo, this is the man that made not God his ſtrength; but truſted in the abundance of his riches, and ſtrengthened himſelf in his wickedneſs.

8 But I am like a green olive-tree in the houſe of God: I truſt in the mercy of God for ever and ever.

9 I will praiſe thee for ever, becauſe thou haſt done it: and I will wait on thy name; for it is good before thy ſaints.

PSALM LIII.

1 David deſcribeth the corruption of a natural man. 4 He convinceth the wicked by the light of their own conſcience. 6 He glorieth in the ſalvation of God.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Mahalath, Maſchil, a pſalm of David.

THE fool hath ſaid in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that doeth good.

2 God looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to ſee if there were any that did underſtand, that did ſeek God.

3 Every one of them is gone back; they are altogether become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

4 Have the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread: they have not called upon God.

5 There were they in great fear where no fear was; for God hath ſcattered the bones of him that encampeth againſt thee: thou haſt put them to ſhame, becauſe God hath deſpiſed them.

6 ¶ Oh that the ſalvation of Iſrael were come out of Zion! when God bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob ſhall rejoice, and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

PSALM LIV.

1 David, complaining of the Ziphims, prayeth for ſalvation. 4 Upon his confidence in God's help he promiſeth ſacrifice.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth, Maſchil, a pſalm of David, when the Ziphims came and ſaid to Sauſ, Doth not David hide himſelf with us?

SAVE me, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy ſtrength.

2 Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth.

3 For ſtrangers are riſen up againſt me, and oppreſſors ſeek after my ſoul: they have not ſet God before them. Selah.

4 ¶ Behold, God is mine helper: the Lord is with

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LII.

5 God ſhall likewiſe deſtroy thee for ever, &c.) The God whoſe prieſts thou haſt ſlain, ſhall avenge their cauſe, and pluck thee from that greatneſs and honour to which thou ſeekeſt by theſe deteſtable methods to raiſe thyſelf: nay more, he will retalliate the ſame miſchief upon thine own head; he will deſtroy thee and ſnatch thee away as haſtily as thou didſt thoſe innocents, and root out not only thee, but all thy family from the face of the earth.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LIV.

The title of this pſalm tells us that it was written by David, when the treacherous Ziphites endeavoured to ingratiate themſelves with Saul, by diſcovering David's retreats in their neighbourhood, and offering to conduct the king's forces to every place, and aſſiſt themſelves, in taking him. By which means David was reduced to ſuch ſtreights, that had not Saul been delivered from his purpoſe by a ſudden invaſion of the Philiſtines, he could not have eſcaped. In this diſtreſs he had recourſe, by prayer, to that Almighty Being, who alone has power to relieve the diſtreſſed; and had the ſatisfaction to find that God liſtened to his prayers, and had diverted the arms of Saul to another part of his dominions; upon which he breaks out into the greateſt expreſſions of the goodneſs of Omnipotence: and when the danger was entirely over, added the two laſt verſes, wherein he expreſſes the joy he felt when, from the ſummit of the mountain where he was concealed, he ſaw Saul's forces retreating. Nor did he forget the mercy of his God as ſoon as the danger was over; but delivered the whole to the chief muſician in the tabernacle, to be ſung, as the fourth pſalm, to the tune of Maſchil.

them that uphold my ſoul.

5 He ſhall reward evil unto mine enemies: cut them off in thy truth.

6 I will freely ſacrifice unto thee; I will praiſe thy name, O Lord, for it is good.

7 For he hath delivered me out of all trouble; and mine eye hath ſeen his deſire upon mine enemies.

PSALM LV.

1 David in his prayer complaineth of his fearful caſe. 9 He prayeth againſt his enemies, of whoſe wickedneſs he complaineth. 16 He comforteth himſelf in God's preſervation of him, and confuſion of his enemies.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth, Maſchil, a pſalm of David.

GIVE ear to my prayer, O God; and hide not thyſelf from my ſupplication.

2 Attend unto me, and hear me: I mourn in my complaint and make a noiſe;

3 Becauſe of the voice of the enemy, becauſe of the oppreſſion of the wicked: for they caſt iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me.

4 My heart is ſore pained within me; and the terrors of death are fallen upon me.

5 Fearfulneſs and trembling are come upon me, and horror hath overwhelmed me.

6 And I ſaid, O that I had wings like a dove! for then would I fly away and be at reſt.

7 Lo then would I wander far off, and remain in the wilderneſs. Selah.

8 I would haſten my eſcape from the windy ſtorm and tempeſt.

9 Deſtroy, O Lord, and divide their tongues; for I have ſeen violence and ſtrife in thy city.

10 Day and night they go about it upon the walls thereof: miſchief alſo and ſorrow are in the midſt of it.

11 Wickedneſs is in the midſt thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her ſtreets.

12 For it was not an enemy that reproached me: then I could have borne it; neither was it he that hated me that did magnify himſelf againſt me: then I would have hid myſelf from him.

13 But it was thou, a man mine equal, my guide and mine acquaintance.

14 We took ſweet counſel together, and walked unto the houſe of God in company.

15 Let death ſeize upon them, and let them go down quick into hell: for wickedneſs is in their dwellings, and among them.

16 As for me, I will call upon God: and the Lord ſhall ſave me.

17 Evening and morning, and at noon will I pray, and cry aloud: and he ſhall hear my voice.

18 He hath delivered my ſoul in peace from the battle that was againſt me: for there were many with me.

19 God ſhall hear and afflict them, even he that abideth of old. Selah. Becauſe they have no changes, therefore they fear not God.

20 He hath put forth his hands againſt ſuch as be at peace with him: he hath broken his covenant.

21 The words of his mouth were ſmoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were ſofter than oil, yet were they drawn ſwords.

22 Caſt thy burden upon the Lord, and he ſhall ſuſtain thee; he ſhall never ſuffer the righteous to be moved.

23 But thou, O God, ſhalt bring them down into the pit of deſtruction: bloody and deceitful men ſhall not live out half their days; but I will truſt in thee.

PSALM LVI.

1 David, prayeth to God in confidence of his word, complaineth of his enemies. 9 He profeſſeth his confidence in God's word, and promiſeth to praiſe him.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Jonath-elem-rechokim, Michtam of David, when the Philiſtines took him in Gath.

BE merciful unto me, O God; for man would ſwallow me up: he fighting daily oppreſſeth me.

2 Mine enemies would daily ſwallow me up: for they be many that fight againſt me, O thou moſt High.

3 What time I am afraid, I will truſt in thee.

4 In God I will praiſe his word; in God I have put my truſt: I will not fear what fleſh can do unto me.

5 Every day they wreſt my words: all their thoughts are againſt me for evil.

6 They gather themſelves together, they hide themſelves, they mark my ſteps, when they wait for my ſoul.

7 Shall they eſcape by iniquity? in thine anger caſt down the people, O God.

8 Thou telleſt my wanderings; put thou my tears into thy bottle: are they not in thy book?

9 ¶ When I cry unto thee, then ſhall mine enemies turn back: this I know; for God is for me.

10 In God will I praiſe his word; in the Lord will I praiſe his word.

11 In God have I put my truſt: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me.

12 Thy vows are upon me, O God: I will render praiſes unto thee.

13 For thou haſt delivered my ſoul from death; wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LV.

This pſalm was written by David, and ſent to the chief muſician in the tabernacle to be ſung as the former; and ſeems to have been compoſed on a ſimilar occaſion; perhaps when Abſalom's rebellion was firſt known, and the royal prophet was forced to flee ſuddenly from Jeruſalem. For we read, that as he was going barefooted, and weeping up mount Olivet, news was brought him that Ahitophel was among the conſpirators, 2 Sam. xv. 31, upon which he had recourſe to the Almighty in prayer; and, in all probability, as ſoon as he came to a place of ſafety, poured out his ſoul to God, in the words of this pſalm, beſeeching him to diſappoint the counſels of the conſpirators, and concluding with an exhortation to his followers, not to be diſcouraged, but to caſt all their care upon God, who would not fail to reward their pious confidence in him, by protecting and delivering them, and deſtroying their enemies.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LVI.

This pſalm was compoſed by David, when for the fear of Saul, he fled like an innocent dove, into remote and ſolitary places; particularly when he was obliged to take ſhelter among the Philiſtines in Gath, 1 Sam. 21. But, in the midſt of theſe ſufferings, he never mentioned them to Achiſh, nor begged his aſſiſtance againſt his perſecuting enemy; but contented himſelf with bewailing in ſecret the ſadneſs of his condition, and complaining only to his God of the cruel proceedings of his inveterate foe. And poſſibly this, and his frequenting the ſolitary foreſts, was the reaſon why he compares himſelf to a dove in the remote woods, which, according to the learned Bochart, is the meaning of the words Jonathelim Rechokim, in the title. It is alſo called Michtam, becauſe it is a recapitulation of God's ſingular mercies over him, in many dangers, eſpecially in Gath, when he entirely depended upon his favour and protection, and ſupported himſelf wholly on his gracious promiſe to him, which he thankfully acknowledges in the concluſion of this pſalm.

PSALM LVII.

1 David in his prayer fleeing unto God, complaineth of his dangerous caſe. 7 He encouragth himſelf to praiſe God.

¶ To the chief muſician, Al-taſchith, Michtam of David, when he fled from Saul in the cave.

BE merciful unto me, O God, be merciful unto me: for my ſoul truſteth in thee; yea, in the ſhadow of thy wings will I make my refuge until theſe calamities be overpaſt.

2 I will cry unto God moſt high: unto God that performeth all things for me.

3 He ſhall ſend from heaven, and ſave me from the reproach of him that would ſwallow me up. Selah. God ſhall ſend forth his mercy and his truth.

4 My ſoul is among lions: and I lie even among them that are ſet on fire, even the ſons of men whoſe teeth are ſpears and arrows, and their tongue a ſharp ſword.

5 Be thou exalted, O God: above the heavens: let thy glory be above all the earth:

6 They have prepared a net for my ſteps: my ſoul is bowed down: they have digged a pit before me, into the midſt whereof they are fallen themſelves. Selah.

7 My heart is fixed, O God my heart is fixed: I will ſing and give praiſe.

8 Awake up my glory: awake pſaltery and harp, I myſelf will awake early.

9 I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the people: I will ſing unto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds.

11 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens; let thy glory be above all the earth.

PSALM LVIII.

1 David reproving wicked judges, 3 deſcribeth the nature of the wicked, 6 and devoteth them to God's judgments, 10 whereat the righteous ſhall rejoice.

¶ To the chief muſician, Al-taſchith, Michtam of David.

DO ye indeed ſpeak righteouſneſs, O congregation? do ye judge uprightly, O ye ſons of men?

2 Yea, in heart ye work wickedneſs; ye weigh the violence of your hands in the earth.

3 The wicked are eſtranged from the womb; they go aſtray as ſoon as they be born, ſpeaking lyes.

4 Their poiſon is like the poiſon of a ſerpent; they are like the deaf adder that ſtoppeth her ear;

5 Which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, charming never ſo wiſely.

6 ¶ Break their teeth, O God, in their mouth; break out the great teeth of the young lions, O Lord.

7 Let them melt away as waters which run continually: when he bendeth his bow to ſhoot his arrows, let them be cut as in pieces.

8 As a ſnail which melteth, let every one of them paſs away; like the untimely birth of a woman, that they may not ſee the ſun.

9 Before your pots can feel the thorns he ſhall take them away as with a whirlwind, both living, and in his wrath.

10 ¶ The righteous ſhall rejoice when he ſeeth the vengeance: he ſhall waſh his feet in the blood of the wicked.

11 So that a man ſhall ſay, Verily there is a reward for the righteous: verily he is a God that judgeth in the earth.

PSALM LIX.

1 David prayeth to be delivered from his enemies: 6 he complaineth of their cruelty: 8 he truſteth in God: 11 he prayeth againſt them: 16 he praiſeth God.

¶ To the chief muſician, Al-taſchith, Michtam of David; when Saul ſent, and they watched the houſe to kill him.

DELIVER me from mine enemies, O my God; defend me from them that riſe up againſt me.

2 Deliver me from the workers of iniquity, and ſave me from bloody men.

3 For lo, they lie in wait for my ſoul; the mighty are gathered againſt me; not for my tranſgreſſions, nor for my ſin, O Lord.

4 They run and prepare themſelves without my fault: awake to help me, and behold.

5 Thou, therefore, O Lord God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, awake to viſit all the heathen: be not merciful to any wicked tranſgreſſors. Selah.

6 ¶ They return at evening: they make a noiſe like a dog, and go round about the city.

7 Behold, they beſch out with their mouth: ſwords are in their lips; for who (ſay they) doth hear.

8 ¶ But thou, O Lord, ſhalt laugh at them; thou ſhalt have all the heathen in deriſion.

9 Becauſe of his ſtrength will I wait upon thee: for God is my defence.

10 The God of my mercy ſhall prevent me: God ſhall let me ſee my deſire upon mine enemies.

11 ¶ Slay them not, leſt my people forget: ſcatter them by thy power; and bring them down, O Lord our ſhield.

12 For the ſin of their mouth, and the words of their lips, let them even be taken in their pride; and for curſing and lying which they ſpeak.

13 Conſume them in wrath, conſume them, that they may not be; and let them know that God ruleth in Jacob unto the ends of the earth. Selah.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LVII.

The title informs us that this pſalm was, like the former, written during the perſecution of Saul, and at the time when both Saul and David were in the ſame cave, and the latter had a fair opportunity of deſtroying his enemy; (ſee 1 Sam. xxiv.) and when ſome of his men offered to diſpatch Saul, the perſecuted prophet replied, as in the title of the pſalm, Al-taſchith, deſtroy him not. It is called Michtam, for the ſame reaſon as the former, namely, becauſe of the ſingular favour which God had ſhewed him in this deliverance; more precious than any jewel, and deſerved to be had in everlaſting remembrance.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LVIII.

1, 2 Do ye indeed ſpeak righteouſneſs, O congregation? &c.) If juſtice be no longer found among the princes and rulers met together in council, where can we expect it? But I would aſk that grave aſſembly, Can you think the ſentence pronounced againſt me is really juſt? You well know the very contrary is true; that your hearts are full of malice, and that you practiſe wicked devices againſt me; notwithſtanding you are convinced that it is your duty to weigh every cauſe with ſincerity in the balance of juſtice; and that to oppreſs the innocent, is doing open violence to your country.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LIX.

6 They return at evening, &c.) After I have eſcaped the fury of Saul in the day-time, he renews his attempts in the evening, and ſends armed men to apprehend me; ſome of which lie round my houſe like a ſnarling dog to ſeize me, while others go round the city, and wait ſecretly for me in every corner.

14 And at evening let them return, and let them make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.

15 Let them wander up and down for meat, and grudge if they be not satisfied.

16 But I will sing of thy power; yea, I will sing aloud of thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast been my defence, and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Unto thee, O my strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, and the God of my mercy.

PSALM LX.

1 David complaining to God of former judgments, 4 now upon better hope, prayeth for deliverance. 6 Comforting himself in God's promises, he craveth that help whereon he trusteth.

¶ To the chief musician upon Shushan-eduth, Michtam of David, to teach; when he strove with Aram-naharaim and with Aram-zobah; when Joab returned and smote of Edom in the valley of Salt twelve thousand.

O GOD, thou hast cast us off, thou hast scattered us, thou hast been displeased: O turn thyself to us again.

2 Thou hast made the earth to tremble; thou hast broken it; heal the breaches thereof: for it shaketh.

3 Thou hast shewed thy people hard things: thou hast made us to drink the wine of astonishment.

4 Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth. Selah.

5 That thy beloved may be delivered: save with thy right hand, and hear me.

6 God hath spoken in his holiness: I will rejoice: I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine; Ephraim also is the strength of mine head; Judah is my lawgiver;

8 Moab is my wash-pot: over Edom will I cast out my shoe: Philistia triumph thou because of me.

9 Who will bring me into the strong city? who will lead me into Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast us off? and thou O God, which didst not go out with our armies?

11 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

12 Through God we shall do valiantly: for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

PSALM LXI.

1 David fleeth to God upon his former experience. 4 He voweth perpetual service unto him, because of his promises.

¶ To the chief musician upon Neginoth, a psalm of David.

HEAR my cry O God: attend unto my prayer.

2 From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

3 For thou hast been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy.

4 I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God hast heard my vows: thou hast given me the heritage of those that fear thy name.

6 Thou wilt prolong the king's life: and his years as many generations.

7 He shall abide before God for ever: O prepare mercy and truth which may preserve him.

8 So will I sing praise unto thy name for ever, that I may daily perform my vows.

PSALM LXII.

1 David professing his confidence in God, discourageth his enemies: 5 In the same confidence he encourageth the godly. 9 No trust to be put in worldly things. 11 Power and mercy belong to God.

¶ To the chief musician, to Jeduthun, a psalm of David.

TRULY my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation.

2 He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence; I shall not be greatly moved.

3 How long will ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shall be slain all of you: as a bowing wall shall ye be, and as a tottering fence.

4 They only consult to cast him down from his excellency: they delight in lies: they bless with their mouth, but they curse inwardly. Selah.

5 My soul, wait thou only upon God: for my expectation is from him.

6 He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence, I shall not be moved.

7 In God is my salvation, and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge is in God.

8 Trust in him at all times, ye people: pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us. Selah.

9 Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lye: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity.

10 Trust not in oppression, and become not vain in robbery; if riches increase, set not your heart upon them.

11 God hath spoken once, twice have I heard this, That power belongeth unto God.

12 Also unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou rendereſt to every man according to his work.

17 Unto thee, O my strength, will I sing, &c.) I will praise thee, O thou worshipper of Israel, with the same sincerity as I prayed to thee when persecuted by Saul. For, whoever was the instrument, it was God that brought me to a place of safety; that God who has been so merciful to me, and bound me to him by such innumerable benefits.

COMMENTARY on Psalm LX.

The title of this psalm tells us that it was written by David after he was advanced to the throne of Israel. The divisions between the kingdoms of Israel and Judah had for some years given encouragement to the Philistines, and other neighbouring nations, to afflict the Hebrews, as they had also done in the days of Saul, while he was pursuing David: at last they became too powerful for him, entirely defeating his army, and slaying both him and his sons on mount Gilboa. But when the kingdoms were again united under David, he subdued the Philistines, (2 Sam. viii.) smote the Moabites, (ib. v. 2) and in a memorable battle overthrew the Syrians, called here and in other places Aram, some of whom dwelt between the rivers Tigris and Euphrates, and were called Naharaim, and the rest inhabited that part of Syria called Zobah. And returning from this victory, after Abishai had slain eighteen thousand Edomites, Joab again fell upon them, and slew in the valley of salt, twelve thousand more, 1 Kings, ii. 15, 16.

COMMENTARY on Psalm LXII.

This psalm seems to have been written by David, after the forces of Absalom were defeated, but before he was again restored to his kingdom; and on his return, delivered to the chief musician in the tabernacle, to be sung according to the tune composed for the 39th psalm, by Jeduthun, a famous artist. It contains the strongest expressions of the royal prophet's faith and confidence in God, the most earnest exhortations for others to do the same, assuring them, that God would never fail those that rely wholly on him.

PSALM LXIII.

1 David's thirſt for God. 4 His manner of bleſſing God. 9 His confidence of his enemies deſtruction.

¶ A pſalm of David, when he was in the wilderneſs of Judah.

O GOD, thou art my God; early will I ſeek thee; my ſoul thirſteth for thee, my fleſh longeth for thee in a dry and thirſty land, where no water is;

2 To ſee thy power and thy glory, ſo as I have ſeen thee in the ſanctuary.

3 Becauſe thy loving kindneſs is better than life, my lips ſhall praiſe thee.

4 ¶ Thus will I bleſs thee while I live: I will lift up my hands in thy name.

5 My ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied as with marrow and fatneſs; and my mouth ſhall praiſe thee with joyful lips;

6 When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night-watches.

7 Becauſe thou haſt been my help; therefore in the ſhadow of thy wings will I rejoice.

8 My ſoul followeth hard after thee: thy right hand upholdeth me.

9 But thoſe that ſeek my ſoul to deſtroy it ſhall go into the lower parts of the earth.

10 They ſhall fall by the ſword; they ſhall be a portion for foxes.

11 But the king ſhall rejoice in God; every one that ſweareth by him ſhall glory: but the mouth of them that ſpeak lies ſhall be ſtopped.

PSALM LXIV.

1 David prayeth for deliverance, complaining of his enemies. 7 He promiſeth himſelf to ſee ſuch an evident deſtruction of them that the righteous ſhall rejoice at it.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

HEAR my voice O God, in my prayer: preſerve my life from fear of the enemy.

2 Hide me from the ſecret council of the wicked; from the inſurrection of the workers of iniquity:

3 Who whet their tongue like a ſword, and bend their bows to ſhoot their arrows, even bitter words:

4 That they may ſhoot in ſecret at the perfect: ſuddenly do they ſhoot at him, and fear not.

5 They encourage themſelves in an evil matter; they commune of laying ſnares privily; they ſay, Who ſhall ſee them?

6 They ſearch out iniquities: they accompliſh a diligent ſearch: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart is deep.

7 But God ſhall ſhoot at them with an arrow: ſuddenly ſhall they be wounded.

8 So they ſhall make their own tongue to fall upon themſelves: all that ſee them ſhall flee away.

9 And all men ſhall fear, and ſhall declare the work of God: for they ſhall wiſely conſider of his doing.

10 The righteous ſhall be glad in the Lord, and ſhall truſt in him; and all the upright in heart ſhall glory.

PSALM LXV.

1 David praiſeth God for his grace. 4 The bleſſedneſs of God's choſen. 5 His general providence.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm, and ſong of David.

PRAISE waiteth for thee, O God in Sion; and unto thee ſhall the vow be performed.

2 O thou that heareſt prayer, unto thee ſhall all fleſh come.

3 Iniquities prevail againſt me: as for our tranſgreſſions, thou ſhalt purge them away.

4 Bleſſed is the man whom thou chooſeſt and cauſeſt to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts; we ſhall be ſatisfied with the goodneſs of thy houſe, even of thy holy temple.

5 By terrible things in righteouſneſs, wilt thou anſwer us, O God of our ſalvation: who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off upon the ſea.

6 Which by his ſtrength ſetteſt faſt the mountains; being girded with power.

7 Which ſtilleth the noiſe of the ſeas, the noiſe of their waves, and the tumult of the people.

8 They alſo that dwell in the uttermoſt parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makeſt the out-goings of the morning and evening to rejoice.

9 Thou viſiteſt the earth, and watereſt it: thou greatly enricheſt it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou prepareſt them corn, when thou haſt ſo provided for it.

10 Thou watereſt the ridges thereof abundantly; thou ſettleſt the furrows thereof: thou makeſt it ſoft with ſhowers: thou bleſſeſt the ſpringing thereof.

11 Thou crowneſt the year with thy goodneſs: and thy paths drop fatneſs.

12 They drop upon the paſtures of the wilderneſs: and the little hills rejoice on every ſide.

13 The paſtures are clothed with flocks: the vallies alſo are covered over with corn; they ſhout for joy, they alſo ſing.

PSALM LXVI.

1 David exhorteth to praiſe God, 5 to obſerve his great works, 8 to bleſs him for his gracious benefits. 13 He voweth for himſelf religious ſervice unto God. 16 He declareth God's ſpecial goodneſs to himſelf.

¶ To the chief muſician, a ſong or pſalm.

MAKE a joyful noiſe unto God, all ye lands:

2 Sing forth the honour of his name; make his praiſe glorious.

3 Say unto God, How terrible art thou in thy works! through the greatneſs of thy power ſhall thine enemies ſubmit themſelves unto thee.

4 All the earth ſhall worſhip thee, and ſhall ſing

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXIII.

1 O God, thou art my God, early will I ſeek thee, &c.) O God, who haſt ever been my gracious God, and art my only confidence, to thee I early direct my morning ſacrifice of prayer, earneſtly beſeeching thee to take pity upon me, in this deſolate and forlorn condition; behold I languiſh, and am ready to faint in travelling through this thirſty and barren wilderneſs, where there is no water to refreſh my ſpirits.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXIV.

The enemy, of whom David here complains, was probably Saul, whoſe hatred to him was rendered more malignant by the calumnies and falſe ſtories which were told of him by ſome ſycophants of his court. In memory of which he compoſed this pſalm, and delivered it to the chief muſician, to be ſung in the tabernacle.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXV.

The latter part of this excellent hymn of praiſe renders it probable that David compoſed it after ſome great drought, which threatened the land with famine. Some imagine that it relates to the three years famine after the rebellion of Abſalom, which being removed by the plentiful ſhowers of rain, the royal pſalmiſt gives God thanks in this hymn for ſending them ſo ſeaſonably to his people.

unto unto thee; they ſhall ſing to thy name. Selah.

5 ¶ Come and ſee the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the children of men.

6 He turned the ſea into dry land: they went through the flood on foot: there did we rejoice in him.

7 He ruleth by his power for ever; his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themſelves. Selah.

8 ¶ O bleſs our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praiſe to be heard;

9 Which holdeth our ſoul in life, and ſuffereth not our feet to be moved.

10 For thou, O God, haſt proved us: thou haſt tried us, as ſilver is tried.

11 Thou broughteſt us into the net; thou laideſt affliction upon our loins.

12 Thou haſt cauſed men to ride over our heads: we went through fire and through water; but thou broughteſt us out into a wealthy place.

13 ¶ I will go into thy houſe with burnt-offerings; I will pay thee my vows,

14 Which my lips have uttered, and my mouth hath ſpoken, when I was in trouble.

15 I will offer unto thee burnt-ſacrifices of fatlings, with the incenſe of rams: I will offer bullocks with goats. Selah.

16 ¶ Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my ſoul.

17 I cried unto him with my mouth, and he was extolled with my tongue.

18 If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me:

19 But verily God hath heard me; he hath attended to the voice of my prayer.

20 Bleſſed be God, which hath not turned away my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

PSALM LXVII.

1 A prayer for the enlargement of God's kingdom, 3 to the joy of the people, 6 and the increaſe of God's bleſſings.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth, a pſalm or ſong.

GOD be merciful unto us, and bleſs us; and cauſe his face to ſhine upon us. Selah.

2 That thy way may be known upon earth, thy ſaving health among all nations.

3 Let the people praiſe thee, O God: let all the people praiſe thee.

4 O let the nations be glad and ſing for joy: for thou ſhalt judge the people righteouſly, and govern the nations upon earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praiſe thee, O God: let all the people praiſe thee.

6 Then ſhall the earth yield her increaſe; and God, even our own God ſhall bleſs us.

7 God ſhall bleſs us; and all the ends of the earth ſhall fear him.

PSALM LXVIII.

1 A prayer at the removing of the ark. 4 An exhortation to praiſe God for his mercies, 7 for his care of the church, 19 and for his great works.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm or ſong of David.

LET God ariſe, let his enemies be ſcattered: let them alſo that hate him flee before him.

2 As ſmoke is driven away, ſo drive them away; as wax melteth before the fire, ſo let the wicked periſh at the preſence of God.

3 But let the righteous be glad; let them rejoice before God; yea, let them exceedingly rejoice.

4 Sing unto God, ſing praiſes to his name: extol him that rideth upon the heavens by his name JAH, and rejoice before him.

5 A father of the fatherleſs, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation.

6 God ſetteth the ſolitary in families: he bringeth out thoſe which are bound with chains; but the rebellious dwell in a dry land.

7 O God, when thou wenteſt forth before thy people, when thou didſt march through the wilderneſs; Selah:

8 The earth ſhook, the heavens alſo dropped at the preſence of God: even Sinai itſelf was moved at the preſence of God, the God of Iſrael.

9 Thou, O God, didſt ſend a plentiful rain, whereby thou didſt confirm thine inheritance when it was weary.

10 Thy congregation hath dwelt therein; thou, O God, haſt prepared of thy goodneſs for the poor.

11 The Lord gave the word: great was the company of thoſe that publiſhed it.

12 Kings of armies did flee apace; and ſhe that tarried at home divided the ſpoil.

13 Though ye have lain among the pots, yet ſhall ye be as the wings of a dove covered with ſilver, and her feathers with yellow gold.

14 When the Almighty ſcattered kings in it, it was white as ſnow in Salmon.

15 The hill of God is as the hill of Baſhan; an high hill, as the hill of Baſhan.

16 Why leap ye, ye high hills? this is the hill which God deſireth to dwell in; yea, the Lord will dwell in it for ever.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXVI.

It is evident that this pſalm was written after a remarkable deliverance from ſome great calamity, under which the whole nation had groaned, but by whom, or on what particular occaſion, is not abſolutely known. The moſt probable opinion however is, that it was compoſed by David after he had aſcended the throne of Iſrael; before which the Hebrews had been in a very unſettled condition, not only during the government of the judges, but alſo in the reign of Saul, when the Philiſtines were ſo powerful, that the Iſraelites durſt not look them in the face, but hid themſelves in caves and thickets, and in high places, and in pits, (1 Sam. xiii. 6) and at laſt ſlew Saul and his ſons on mount Gilboa, and dwelt in many of the cities of the Iſraelites, who abandoned them after that fatal battle. To theſe events the pſalmiſt alludes, and probably the freeing the land from theſe inſolent enemies, and forcing them to be ſervants to the Hebrews, is the thing for which the royal prophet here gives praiſes to God, inviting all the country to join with him in bleſſing his Divine Majeſty, not only for this, but for the deliverances he had formerly vouchſafed to that nation.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXVIII.

David having brought the ark to Jeruſalem, with great joy and triumph, after it had long been neglected by Saul, hoped God would be more propitious to him, according to the prayer he had made in the foregoing pſalm; having now brought the ark near his own palace, and prepared a noble place for its reception, which it had been long without. For ſince the time it had been taken by the Philiſtines, it had been ſeparated from the tabernacle of the congregation made for it by Moſes, and which was the habitation or dwelling-place of the Moſt High.

16 Why leap ye, ye high hills? &c.) Be not proud of your heights, ye towering mountains; for neither the loftineſs of Salmon nor of Baſhan ſhall invite him there to make his habitation: Sion is the hill which he hath choſen to honour with that favour; yea, there the Lord hath reſolved to fix his tabernacle, and never remove it to any other place, 'till the Great Meſſiah deigns to viſit the ſons of men.

17 The chariots of God are twenty thouſand, even thouſands of angels: the Lord is among them as in Sinai, in the holy place.

18 Thou haſt aſcended on high, thou haſt led captivity captive; thou haſt received gifts for men: yea, for the rebellious alſo, that the Lord God might dwell among them.

19 Bleſſed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our ſalvation. Selah.

20 He that is our God, is the God of ſalvation: and unto God the Lord belong the iſſues from death.

21 But God ſhall wound the head of his enemies; and the hairy ſcalp of ſuch a one as goeth on ſtill in his treſpaſſes.

22 The Lord ſaid, I will bring again from Baſhan, I will bring my people again from the depths of the ſea:

23 That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongue of thy dogs in the ſame.

24 They have ſeen thy goings, O God: even the goings of my God my King, in the ſanctuary.

25 The ſingers went before, the players on inſtruments followed after, amongſt them were the damſels playing with timbrels.

26 Bleſs ye God in the congregations: even the Lord, from the fountain of Iſrael.

27 There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah and their council, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

28 ThyGod hath commanded thy ſtrength: ſtrengthen, O God, that which thou haſt wrought for us.

29 Becauſe of thy temple at Jeruſalem, ſhall kings bring preſents unto thee.

30 Rebuke the company of ſpear men, the multitude of the bulls, with the calves of the people, till every one ſubmit himſelf with pieces of ſilver: ſcatter thou the people that delight in war.

31 Princes ſhall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia ſhall ſoon ſtretch out her hands unto God.

32 Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth; O ſing praiſes unto the Lord. Selah.

33 To him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens which were of old; lo, he doth ſend out his voice, and that a mighty voice.

34 Aſcribe ye ſtrength unto God; his excellency is over Iſrael, and his ſtrength is in the clouds.

35 O God thou art terrible out of thy holy places: the God of Iſrael is he that giveth ſtrength and power unto his people. Bleſſed be God.

PSALM LXIX.

1 David complaineth of his affliction. 13 He prayeth for deliverance. 30 He praiſeth God with thankſgiving.

¶ To the chief muſician upon Shoſhannim, a pſalm of David.

SAVE me, O God; for the waters are come in unto my ſoul.

2 I ſink in deep mire, where there is no ſtanding: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me.

3 I am weary of my crying; my throat is dried: mine eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cauſe are more than the hairs of mine head: they that would deſtroy me, being mine enemies wrongfully, are mighty; then I reſtored that which I took not away.

5 O God, thou knoweſt my fooliſhneſs; and my ſins are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that wait on thee, O Lord God of hoſts, be aſhamed for my ſake: let not thoſe that ſeek thee be confounded for my ſake, O God of Iſrael.

7 Becauſe for thy ſake I have borne reproach: ſhame hath covered my face.

8 I am become a ſtranger unto my brethren, and an alien unto my mother's children.

9 For the zeal of thine houſe hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me.

10 When I wept, and chaſtened my ſoul with faſting, that was to my reproach.

11 I made ſackcloth alſo my garment; and I became a proverb to them.

12 They that ſit in the gate ſpeak againſt me; and I was the ſong of the drunkards.

13 But as for me, my prayer is unto thee, O Lord, in an acceptable time: O God, in the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy ſalvation.

14 Deliver me out of the mire, and let me not ſink: let me be delivered from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters.

15 Let not the water-flood overflow me, neither let the deep ſwallow me up, and let not the pit ſhut her mouth upon me.

16 Hear me, O Lord; for thy loving-kindneſs is good: turn unto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy ſervant; for I am in trouble; hear me ſpeedily.

18 Draw nigh unto my ſoul, and redeem it: deliver me, becauſe of mine enemies.

19 Thou haſt known my reproach, and my ſhame, and my diſhonour: mine adverſaries are all before thee.

20 Reproach hath broken my heart, and I am full of heavineſs: and I looked for ſome to take pity, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none.

21 They gave me alſo gall for my meat; and in my thirſt they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 Let their table become a ſnare before them: and that which ſhould have been for their welfare, let it become a trap.

23 Let their eyes be darkened that they ſee not; and make their loins continually to ſhake.

24 Pour out thine indignation upon them, and let thy wrathful anger take hold of them.

25 Let their habitation be deſolate, and let none dwell in their tents.

---

25 The ſingers went before, &c.) This is the order of the proceſſion of the ark, David at their head, and as they went along they ſung this ſong, (ver. 26) Bleſs ye God, &c. then followed the ſeveral tribes with their princes and elders: little Benjamin, i. e. little in point of number, the princes their council, i. e. their great ſupport.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXIX.

The matter of this pſalm ſufficiently informs us, that its author, the royal prophet, was in extreme danger, when it was written; and this danger was, in all probability, that occaſioned by his rebellious ſon, who preſſed him ſo cloſely, and reduced him to ſuch ſtreights, that he almoſt deſpaired of extricating himſelf; and therefore he could not find words proper to expreſs the agonies he endured. Indeed, ſome of the expreſſions are ſo ſtrong, that they were never literally fulfilled in that prince, but in our bleſſed Saviour, of whom David was a figure, both in his ſufferings, and afterwards in his advancement to a kingdom. Theodoret very juſtly obſerves, that the ſufferings of Chriſt, and the utter overthrow of the Jewiſh nation, the authors of theſe ſufferings, are here foretold. For, as they were ſo audaciouſly wicked to inflict theſe puniſhments on their Benefactor and Saviour, which they had themſelves experienced from their moſt ſpiteful enemies, God, the righteous Judge of all the earth, condemned them to ſuffer that themſelves, which they prayed might fall on the heads of thoſe enemies.

26 For they perſecute him whom thou haſt ſmitten; and they talk to the grief of thoſe whom thou haſt wounded.

27 Add iniquity unto their iniquity: and let them not come into thy righteouſneſs.

28 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous.

29 But I am poor and ſorrowful: let thy ſalvation, O God, ſet me up on high.

30 I will praiſe the name of God with a ſong, and will magnify him with thankſgiving.

31 This alſo ſhall pleaſe the Lord better than an ox or bullock that hath horns and hoofs.

32 The humble ſhall ſee this, and be glad: and your heart ſhall live that ſeek God.

33 For the Lord heareth the poor, and deſpiſeth not his priſoners.

34 Let the heaven and earth praiſe him, the ſeas, and every thing that moveth therein:

35 For God will ſave Zion, and will build the cities of Judah; that they may dwell there, and have it in poſſeſſion.

36 The ſeed alſo of his ſervants ſhall inherit it; and they that love his name ſhall dwell therein.

PSALM LXX.

David ſoliciteth God to the ſpeedy deſtruction of the wicked, and preſervation of the righteous.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David, to bring to remembrance.

MAKE haſte, O God to deliver me; make haſte to help me, O Lord.

2 Let them be aſhamed and confounded that ſeek after my ſoul: let them be turned backward, and put to confuſion, that deſire my hurt.

3 Let them be turned back for a reward of their ſhame, that ſay, Aha, aha!

4 Let all thoſe that ſeek thee rejoice, and be glad in thee: and let ſuch as love thy ſalvation ſay continually, Let God be magnified.

5 But I am poor and needy: make haſte unto me, O God: thou art my help and my deliverer: O Lord, make no tarrying.

PSALM LXXI.

1 David in confidence of faith and experience of God's favour, prayeth both for himſelf, and againſt the enemies of his ſoul. 14 He promiſeth conſtancy. 17 He prayeth for perſeverance. 19 He praiſeth God, and promiſeth to do it cheerfully.

IN thee, O Lord, do I put my truſt; let me never be put to confuſion.

2 Deliver me in thy righteouſneſs, and cauſe me to eſcape: incline thine ear unto me, and ſave me.

3 Be thou my ſtrong habitation, whereunto I may continually reſort: thou haſt given commandment to ſave me; for thou art my rock and my fortreſs.

4 Deliver me O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.

5 For thou art my hope, O Lord God: thou art my truſt from my youth.

6 By thee, have I been holden up from the womb: thou art he that took me out of my mother's bowels: my praiſe ſhall be continually of thee.

7 I am as a wonder unto many; but thou art my ſtrong refuge.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praiſe, and with thy honour all the day.

9 Caſt me not off in the time of old age; forſake me not when my ſtrength faileth.

10 For mine enemies ſpeak againſt me: and they that lay wait for my ſoul take counſel together.

11 Saying, God hath forſaken him: perſecute and take him; for there is none to deliver him.

12 O God be not far from me: O my God, make haſte for my help.

13 Let them be confounded and conſumed that are adverſaries to my ſoul: let them be covered with reproach and diſhonour that ſeek my hurt.

14 But I will hope continually, and will yet praiſe thee more and more.

15 My mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy righteouſneſs and thy ſalvation all the day: for I know not the numbers thereof.

16 I will go in the ſtrength of the Lord God: I will make mention of thy righteouſneſs, even of thine only.

17 O God, thou haſt taught me from my youth, and hitherto have I declared thy wonderous works.

18 Now alſo when I am old, and gray-headed, O God forſake me not, until I have ſhewed thy ſtrength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come.

19 Thy righteouſneſs alſo O God is very high, who haſt done great things: O God who is like unto thee.

20 Thou which haſt ſhewed me great and ſore troubles ſhalt quicken me again, and ſhalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.

21 Thou ſhalt encreaſe my greatneſs, and comfort me on every ſide.

22 I will alſo praiſe thee with the pſaltery, even thy truth, O my God: unto thee will I ſing with the harp, O thou holy One of Iſrael.

23 My lips ſhall greatly rejoice when I ſing unto thee; and my ſoul which thou haſt redeemed.

24 My tongue alſo ſhall talk of thy righteouſneſs all the day long: for they are confounded, for they are brought unto ſhame that ſeek my hurt.

PSALM LXXII.

1 David praying for Solomon, ſheweth the goodneſs and glory of his kingdom in type, and of Chriſt's in truth. 18 He bleſſeth God.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXI.

This pſalm has no inſcription, but it is generally thought to have been written by David, on occaſion of the unnatural rebellion of his ſon, which happened in his declining years, when he was grey-headed, as he complains, ver. 9 and 18.

3 Be thou my ſtrong habitation, whereunto I may continually reſort, &c.) I have been obliged to abandon my habitation, and have no place of ſafety whither I may retreat; let the Almighty protection therefore be my continual guard. Thou haſt hitherto preſerved me from every danger: and under the ſhadow of thy wings have I reſted, as in an impregnable fortreſs.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXII.

It is ſufficiently evident, from the concluſion of this pſalm, that David was the author of it. And it is alſo plain that it was written towards the concluſion of his life; when, by his command, Nathan the prophet, and Zadock the prieſt, took Solomon, and ſet him upon his throne, that David might have the ſatisfaction of ſeeing all the great men do homage to his ſon, and acknowledge him for their ſucceeding ſovereign, before he died. At this ſight, the ſpirit of this holy man, being tranſported with extraordinary joy, dictated this pſalm, and ſent it to Solomon; wherein he firſt recommends to him the divine benediction, and then inſtructs him how to render his people happy, by enumerating the qualities of a good king, and the proſperous ſtate of the kingdom under his government. He delivers ſome parts of it in ſo exalted a ſtrain, that the words were never fully accompliſhed 'till the appearance of the Meſſiah, of the happineſs of whoſe reign, and the juſtice of whoſe government, together with the power, extent, and eternal continuance of his kingdom, his father David here prophecies.

¶ A pſalm for Solomon.

GIVE the king thy judgments, O God, and thy righteouſneſs unto the king's ſon.

2 He ſhall judge thy people with righteouſneſs, and thy poor with judgment.

3 The mountains ſhall bring peace to the people, and the little hills by righteouſneſs.

4 He ſhall judge the poor of the people, he ſhall ſave the children of the needy, and ſhall break in pieces the oppreſſor.

5 They ſhall fear thee as long as the ſun and moon endure, throughout all generations.

6 He ſhall come down as rain upon the mown graſs: as ſhowers that water the earth.

7 In his days ſhall the righteous flouriſh; and abundance of peace ſo long as the moon endureth.

8 He ſhall have dominion alſo from ſea to ſea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

9 They that dwell in the wilderneſs ſhall bow before him; and his enemies ſhall lick the duſt.

10 The kings of Tarſhiſh and of the iſles ſhall bring preſents; the kings of Sheba and Seba ſhall offer gifts.

11 Yea, all kings ſhall fall down before him: all nations ſhall ſerve him.

12 For he ſhall deliver the needy when he crieth; the poor alſo, and him that hath no helper.

13 He ſhall ſpare the poor and needy, and ſhall ſave the ſouls of the needy.

14 He ſhall redeem their ſoul from deceit and violence: and precious ſhall their blood be in his ſight.

15 And he ſhall live, and to him ſhall be given of the gold of Sheba: prayer alſo ſhall be made for him continually: and daily ſhall he be praiſed.

16 There ſhall be an handful of corn in the earth upon the top of the mountains; the fruit thereof ſhall ſhake like Lebanon: and they of the city ſhall flouriſh like graſs of the earth.

17 His name ſhall endure for ever: his name ſhall be continued as long as the ſun; and men ſhall be bleſſed in him: all nations ſhall call him bleſſed.

18 Bleſſed be the Lord God, the God of Iſrael, who only doeth wondrous things.

19 And bleſſed be his glorious name for ever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. Amen and amen.

20 The prayers of David the ſon of Jeſſe are ended.

PSALM LXXIII.

1 The prophet prevailing in a temptation, 2 ſheweth the occaſion of it, the proſperity of the wicked, 13 the wound given thereby, diffidence: 15 The victory over it, knowledge of God's purpoſe in deſtroying of the wicked and ſuſtaining the righteous.

¶ A pſalm of Aſaph.

TRULY God is good to Iſrael, even to ſuch as are of a clean heart.

2 But as for me my feet were almoſt gone: my ſteps had well nigh ſlipped.

3 For I was envious at the fooliſh, when I ſaw the proſperity of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death; but their ſtrength is firm.

5 They are not in trouble as other men; neither are they plagued like other men.

6 Therefore pride compaſſeth them about as a chain; violence covereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes ſtand out with fatneſs: they have more than heart could wiſh.

8 They are corrupt and ſpeak wickedly concerning oppreſſion: they ſpeak loftily.

9 They ſet their mouth againſt the heavens, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people return hither and waters of a full cup are wrung out to them:

11 And they ſay, How doth God know? and is there knowledge in the moſt High?

12 Behold, theſe are the ungodly, who proſper in the world, they increaſe in riches.

13 Verily, I have cleanſed my heart in vain: and waſhed my hands in innocency.

14 For all the day long have I been plagued, and chaſtened every morning.

15 If I ſay, I will ſpeak thus: behold, I ſhould offend againſt the generation of thy children.

16 When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me;

17 Until I went into the ſanctuary of God: then underſtood I their end.

18 Surely thou didſt ſet them in ſlippery places; thou caſtedſt them down into deſtruction.

19 How are they brought into deſolation as in a moment! they are utterly conſumed with terrors.

20 As a dream when one awaketh; ſo, O Lord, when thou awakeſt, thou ſhalt deſpiſe their image.

21 Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins.

22 So fooliſh was I, and ignorant: I was as a beaſt before thee.

23 Nevertheleſs, I am continually with thee: thou haſt holden me by my right-hand.

24 Thou ſhalt guide me with thy counſel, and afterward receive me to glory.

25 Whom have I in heaven, but thee? and there is none upon earth that I deſire beſides thee.

26 My fleſh and my heart faileth: but God is the ſtrength of my heart, and my portion for ever.

27 For lo, they that are far from thee ſhall periſh: thou haſt deſtroyed all them that go a whoring from thee.

28 But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my truſt in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

---

16 There ſhall be an handful of corn in the earth, &c.) God ſhall bleſs the land with ſuch remarkable plenty, that an handful of corn ſown in the earth, nay, even on the ſummit of the barren mountains, ſhall ſpring up ſo thick, and produce ears ſo plump and full, that when ſhaken with the wind, they ſhall make a noiſe like the cedars of Lebanon: nor ſhall the city be leſs fruitful than the country; but become remarkably populous, and fully ſtored with all good things, as the earth is with graſs or flowers in the ſpring.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXIII.

This is the firſt pſalm of the ſecond book, according to the Hebrew diviſion; which book contains ſeventeen pſalms, moſt of them very diſconſolate, and full of bitter complaints. They were chiefly compoſed by Aſaph, probably a prophet, who lived in the days of Hezekiah, and called Aſaph the ſeer, (ſee 2 Chron. xxix. 30.) And this inſpired writer ſeems to be the author of this, who probably compoſed it, to comfort himſelf and all good men, when they ſaw the wicked thrive and proſper, while the righteous were ſorely afflicted.

19, 20 How are they brought into deſolation, as in a moment, &c.) Oh, what an aſtoniſhing change is this! which is the more frightful, when on a ſudden divine vengeance ſeizes on them; and when they leaſt expect it, a final period is put to all their greatneſs: nay, they are quite deſtroyed in the moſt terrible manner, as if they never had exiſtence; ſo that their whole life is nothing more than a dream of happineſs, and they pride themſelves in a mere imaginary glory, which not only vaniſhes away when thou, O Lord, calleſt them to judgment, but alſo becomes as contemptible in that very city where they appeared in all their pomp and ſplendor, as the pleaſing things which a perſon ſees in his ſleep, are when he awakes.

PSALM LXXIV.

1 The prophet complaineth of the deſolation of the ſanctuary. 10 He moveth God to help, in conſideration of his power, 18 of his reproachful enemies, of his children, and of his covenant.

¶ Maſchil of Aſaph.

O GOD, why haſt thou caſt us off for ever? why doth thine anger ſmoke againſt the ſheep of thy paſture?

2 Remember thy congregation, which thou haſt purchaſed of old; the rod of thine inheritance, which thou haſt redeemed; this mount Zion, wherein thou haſt dwelt.

3 Lift up thy feet unto the perpetual deſolations; even all that the enemy hath done wickedly in the ſanctuary.

4 Thine enemies roar in the midſt of thy congregations; they ſet up their enſigns for ſigns.

5 A man was famous according as he had lifted up axes upon the thick trees.

6 But now they break down the carved work thereof at once with axes and hammers.

7 They have caſt fire into thy ſanctuary; they have defiled by caſting down the dwelling-place of thy name to the ground.

8 They ſaid in their hearts, Let us deſtroy them together: they have burnt up all the ſynagogues of God in the land.

9 We ſee not our ſigns: there is no more any prophet; neither is there among us any that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long ſhall the adverſary reproach? ſhall the enemy blaſpheme thy name for ever?

11 Why withdraweſt thou thy hand, even thy right hand? pluck it out of thy boſom.

12 For God is my king of old, working ſalvation in the midſt of the earth.

13 Thou didſt divide the ſea by thy ſtrength: thou brakeſt the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakeſt the heads of leviathan in pieces, and gaveſt him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderneſs.

15 Thou didſt cleave the fountain and the flood: thou driedſt up mighty rivers.

16 The day is thine, the night alſo is thine: thou haſt prepared the light and the ſun.

17 Thou haſt ſet all the borders of the earth: thou haſt made ſummer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached, O Lord, and that the fooliſh people have blaſphemed thy name.

19 O deliver not the ſoul of thy turtle-dove unto the multitude of the wicked: forget not the congregation of thy poor for ever.

20 Have reſpect unto the covenant: for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty.

21 O let not the oppreſſed return aſhamed: let the poor and needy praiſe thy name.

22 Ariſe, O God, plead thine own cauſe: remember how the fooliſh man reproacheth thee daily.

23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: the tumult of thoſe that riſe up againſt thee increaſeth continually.

PSALM LXXV.

1 The prophet praiſeth God, 2 and promiſeth to judge uprightly. 4 He rebuketh the proud by conſideration of God's providence. 9 He promiſeth to praiſe God.

¶ To the chief muſician, Al-taſchith, a pſalm or ſong of Aſaph.

UNTO thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks: for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare.

2 When I ſhall receive the congregation I will judge uprightly.

3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are diſſolved: I bear up the pillars of it. Selah.

4 I ſaid unto the fools, Deal not fooliſhly: and to the wicked, Lift not up the horn;

5 Lift not up your horn on high: ſpeak not with a ſtiff neck.

6 For promotion cometh neither from the eaſt, nor from the weſt, nor from the ſouth.

7 But God is the judge; he putteth down one, and ſetteth up another.

8 For in the hand of the Lord there is a cup, and the wine is red; it is full of mixture, and he poureth out of the ſame: but the dregs thereof all the wicked of the earth ſhall wring them out, and drink them.

9 But I will declare for ever; I will ſing praiſes to the God of Jacob.

10 All the horns of the wicked alſo will I cut off; but the horns of the righteous ſhall be exalted.

PSALM LXXVI.

1 A declaration of God's majeſty in the church. 11 An exhortation to ſerve him reverently.

¶ To the chief muſician on Neginoth, a pſalm or ſong of Aſaph.

IN Judah is God known; his name is great in Iſrael.

2 In Salem alſo is his tabernacle, and his dwelling-place in Zion.

3 There brake he the arrows of the bow, the ſhield, and the ſword, and the battle. Selah.

4 Thou art more glorious and excellent than the mountains of prey.

5 The ſtout-hearted are ſpoiled, they have ſlept their ſleep; and none of the men of might have found their hands.

6 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, both the chariot and horſe are caſt into a dead ſleep.

7 Thou, even thou, art to be feared; and who may ſtand in thy ſight when once thou art angry?

8 Thou didſt cauſe judgment to be heard from heaven; the earth feared, and was ſtill,

9 When God aroſe to judgment, to ſave all the meek of the earth. Selah.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXIV.

1 O God, why haſt thou caſt us off for ever? &c.) Why haſt thou, O God, expelled us from our land, and continued our baniſhment ſo long, that very little hopes remain of our ever being reſtored to it again. Behold, O thou ſovereign judge of all the earth, the anguiſh of our ſouls, and how earneſtly we cry to thee for mercy; for we are confounded to ſee thee ſo highly incenſed againſt thoſe who were once the objects of thy indulgent care, as if thou wouldſt never more be reconciled to us.

19 O deliver not the ſoul of thy turtle-dove unto the multitude of the wicked, &c.) Deliver, we beſeech thee, thy church, which, like a turtle-dove, can only mourn in ſecret, and make ſilent complaints unto thee, from thoſe violent men, who, like birds of prey, ſeek utterly to deſtroy her. Let them not take away her life and being; but, though we are at preſent deſerted by thee, yet hear our cries, and at laſt deliver a poor helpleſs company, who flee unto thee, and depend upon thee alone for ſafety.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXVI.

1 In Judah is God known: his name is great in Iſrael.) The Almighty hath ſo fully demonſtrated himſelf to be the ſovereign Ruler and Judge of the world, that he muſt be more than blind who doth not acknowledge it. His glorious perfections are conſpicuous in every part of the earth; but are particularly magnified in Iſrael.

10 Surely the wrath of man ſhall praiſe thee: the remainder of wrath ſhalt thou reſtrain.

11 Vow, and pay unto the Lord your God: let all that be round about him bring preſents unto him that ought to be feared.

12 He ſhall cut off the ſpirit of princes; he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

PSALM LXXVII.

1 The pſalmiſt ſheweth what fierce combat he had with diffidence. 10 The victory which he had by conſideration of God's great and gracious works.

¶ To the chief muſician, to Jeduthun, a pſalm of Aſaph.

I CRIED unto God with my voice, even unto God with my voice: and he gave ear unto me.

2 In the day of my trouble I ſought the Lord; my ſore ran in the night, and ceaſed not; my ſoul refuſed to be comforted.

3 I remembered God, and was troubled: I complained, and my ſpirit was overwhelmed. Selah.

4 Thou holdeſt mine eyes waking: I am ſo troubled that I cannot ſpeak.

5 I have conſidered the days of old, the years of ancient times.

6 I call to remembrance my ſong in the night: I commune with mine own heart, and my ſpirit made diligent ſearch.

7 Will the Lord caſt off for ever? and will he be favourable no more?

8 Is his mercy clean gone for ever? doth his promiſe fail for evermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to be gracious? hath he in anger ſhut up his tender mercies? Selah.

10 And I ſaid This is my infirmity: but I will remember the years of the right hand of the moſt High.

11 I will remember the works of the Lord: ſurely I will remember thy wonders of old.

12 I will meditate alſo of all thy work: and talk of thy doings.

13 Thy way, O God, is in the ſanctuary: who is ſo great a God as our God?

14 Thou art the God that doeſt wonders: thou haſt declared thy ſtrength among the people.

15 Thou haſt with thine arm redeemed thy people the ſons of Jacob and Joſeph. Selah.

16 The waters ſaw thee, O God, the waters ſaw thee; they were afraid, the depths alſo were troubled.

17 The clouds poured out water: the ſkies ſent out a ſound: thine arrows alſo went abroad.

18 The voice of thy thunder was in the heaven: the lightnings lightened the world, the earth trembled and ſhook.

19 Thy way is in the ſea, and thy path in the great waters, and thy footſteps are not known.

20 Thou leddeſt thy people like a flock by the hand of Moſes and Aaron.

1 An exhortation both to learn and to preach the law of God. 9 The ſtory of God's wrath againſt the incredulous and diſobedient. 67 The Iſraelites being rejected, God choſe Judah, Zion, and David.

¶ Maſchil of Aſaph.

GIVE ear, O my people, to my law: incline your ears to the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will utter dark ſayings of old:

3 Which we have heard and known, and our fathers have told us.

4 We will not hide them from their children, ſhewing to the generation to come the praiſes of the Lord, and his ſtrength, and his wonderful works that he hath done.

5 For he eſtabliſhed a teſtimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Iſrael, which he commanded our fathers that they ſhould make them known to their children.

6 That the generation to come might know them, even the children which ſhould be born; who ſhould ariſe and declare them to their children.

7 That they might ſet their hope in God, and not forget the works of God, but keep his commandments:

8 And might not be as their fathers, a ſtubborn and rebellious generation: a generation that ſet not their heart aright, and whoſe ſpirit was not ſtedfaſt with God.

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle.

10 They kept not the covenant of God, and refuſed to walk in his law;

11 And forgat his works and his wonders that he had ſhewed them.

12 Marvellous things did he in the ſight of their fathers, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.

13 He divided the ſea, and cauſed them to paſs through, and he made the waters to ſtand as an heap.

14 In the day time alſo he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 He clave the rocks in the wilderneſs and gave them drink as out of the great depths.

16 He brought ſtreams alſo out of the rock, and cauſed waters to run down like rivers.

17 And they ſinned yet more againſt him, by provoking the moſt High in the wilderneſs.

18 And they tempted God in their heart, by aſking meat for their luſt.

19 Yea, they ſpake againſt God: they ſaid, Can God furniſh a table in the wilderneſs?

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXVII.

This pſalm was compoſed by Aſaph, and ſent by him to the maſter-ſingers who were over the children of Jeduthun; in which he bewails the calamity of the nation, either at the time when Senacherib over-ran the country, or during the Babyloniſh captivity. If we refer it to the latter, it could not be Aſaph the ſeer that wrote it, but one of his deſcendants, who here pathetically laments the long continuance of their captivity, which ſeemed to indicate that God had utterly forſaken them: but he at laſt comforts himſelf with the remembrance of what God had formerly done for them, when he delivered them out of the Egyptian bondage.

15 Thou haſt with thine arm redeemed thy people, &c.) Thou, O Lord, haſt claimed thy right to the equity of the redemption of thy people, whom thou hadſt ſold into the hands of their enemies: thou gaveſt Egypt for their ranſom, Ethiopia and Seba for them. The Hebrew word here uſed has a particular reference to the privilege which the neareſt relation among the Jews had to redeem his kinſman, or whatever his kinſman had ſold or pawned to another perſon.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXVIII.

The pſalmiſt has here given, for the uſe of his countrymen, an epitome of the hiſtory of the Iſraelites, from their coming out of Egypt to the time that David aſcended the throne. And hence it is probable that it was compoſed by that Aſaph ſo often mentioned as one of the principal ſingers in the tabernacle at that time. The intention of it was to place before the eyes of the people the many benefits their fathers had received, with their ſhameful ingratitude, and the puniſhments inflicted on them for ſo hateful a crime; and from thence to inſpire their ſucceſſors with more gratitude and fidelity to their great benefactor, leſt they ſhould incur his higher diſpleaſure, by taking no warning from ſuch melancholy examples.

ed out,

ed out, and the ſtreams overflowed. Can he give bread alſo? Can he provide fleſh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard this, and was wroth: ſo a fire was kindled againſt Jacob, and anger alſo came up againſt Iſrael:

22 Becauſe they believed not in God, and truſted not in his ſalvation:

23 Though he had commanded the clouds from above, and opened the doors of heaven,

24 And had rained down manna upon them to eat, and had given them of the corn of heaven.

25 Man did eat angels' food: he ſent them meat to the full.

26 He cauſed an eaſt wind to blow in the heaven: and by his power he brought in the ſouth wind.

27 He rained fleſh alſo upon them as duſt, and feathered fowls like as the ſand of the ſea.

28 And he let it fall in the midſt of their camp, round about their habitations.

29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own deſire.

30 They were not eſtranged from their luſt: but while their meat was yet in their mouths,

31 The wrath of God came upon them, and ſlew the fatteſt of them, and ſmote down the choſen men of Iſrael.

32 For all this they ſinned ſtill, and believed not for his wondrous works.

33 Therefore their days did he conſume in vanity, and their years in trouble.

34 When he ſlew them then they ſought him: and they returned and enquired early after God.

35 And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their Redeemer.

36 Nevertheleſs, they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues.

37 For their heart was not right with him, neither were they ſtedfaſt in his covenant.

38 But he, being full of compaſſion, forgave their iniquity, and deſtroyed them not; yea, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not ſtir up at all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that they were but fleſh: a wind that paſſeth away, and cometh not again.

40 How oft did they provoke him in the wilderneſs, and grieve him in the deſert!

41 Yea, they turned back and tempted God, and limited the Holy One of Iſrael.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the enemy.

43 How he had wrought his ſigns in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan.

44 And had turned their rivers into blood; and their floods that they could not drink.

45 He ſent divers ſorts of flies among them, which devoured them, and frogs which deſtroyed them.

46 He gave alſo their increaſe unto the caterpillar, and their labour unto the locuſt.

47 He deſtroyed their vines with hail, and their ſycamore-trees with froſt.

48 He gave up their cattle alſo to the hail, and their flocks to hot thunder-bolts.

49 He caſt upon them the fierceneſs of his anger, wrath and indignation and trouble by ſending evil angels among them.

50 He made a way to his anger; he ſpared not their ſoul from death, but gave their life over to the peſtilence.

51 And ſmote all the firſt-born in Egypt; the chief of their ſtrength in the tabernacles of Ham:

52 But made his own people to go forth like ſheep, and guided them in the wilderneſs like a flock.

53 And he led them on ſafely, ſo that they feared not: but the ſea overwhelmed their enemies.

54 And he brought them to the border of his ſanctuary, even to this mountain, which his right hand had purchaſed.

55 He caſt out the heathen alſo before them, and divided them an inheritance by line, and made the tribes of Iſrael to dwell in their tents.

56 Yet they tempted and provoked the moſt high God, and kept not his teſtimonies:

57 But turned back, and dealt unfaithfully like their fathers: they were turned aſide like a deceitful bow.

58 For they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to jealouſy with their graven images.

59 When God heard this he was wroth, and greatly abhorred Iſrael;

60 So that he forſook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent, which he placed among men;

61 And delivered his ſtrength into captivity, and his glory into the enemy's hand.

62 He gave his people over alſo unto the ſword; and was wroth with his inheritance.

63 The fire conſumed their young men; and their maidens were not given to marriage.

64 Their prieſts fell by the ſword; and their widows made no lamentation.

65 Then the Lord awaked as one out of ſleep, and like a mighty man that ſhouteth by reaſon of wine.

66 And he ſmote his enemies in the hinder parts: he put them to a perpetual reproach.

67 Moreover, he refuſed the tabernacle of Joſeph, and choſe not the tribe of Ephraim.

68 But choſe the tribe of Judah, the mount Zion, which he loved.

69 And he built his ſanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath eſtabliſhed for ever.

70 He choſe David alſo his ſervant, and took him from the ſheep-folds.

71 From following the ewes great with young, he brought him to feed Jacob his people, and Iſrael his inheritance.

72 So he fed them according to the integrity of his heart; and guided them by the ſkilfulneſs of his hands.

PSALM LXXIX.

1 The pſalmiſt complaineth of the deſolation of Jeruſalem. 8 He prayeth for deliverance, 13 and promiſeth thankfulneſs.

¶ A pſalm of Aſaph.

O GOD, the heathen are come into thine inheritance; thy holy temple have they defiled: they have laid Jeruſalem on heaps.

39 For he remembered that they were but fleſh, &c.) For he conſidered how very frail they were, and that they could continue only a ſhort time here, but would of themſelves moulder into duſt, and vaniſh like a blaſt of wind, which makes a noiſe for a ſhort time, and is then diſperſed and heard no more.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXIX.

1 O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance, &c.) We well know, O God, that thou art not ignorant of our calamity, for it proceeds from thine hand; but we humbly beg leave to repreſent to thy Divine Majeſty the ſad condition of thy people, and the ruinous ſtate of the place once dear to thee: prophane nations have not only invaded thine inheritance, but polluted thy ſanctuary, and laid it, together with Jeruſalem, in ruinous heaps.

2 The dead bodies of thy servants have they given to be meat unto the fowls of the heaven, the flesh of thy saints unto the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood have they shed like water round about Jerusalem; and there was none to bury them.

4 We are become a reproach to our neighbours, a scorn and derision to them that are round about us.

5 How long, Lord? wilt thou be angry for ever? shall thy jealousy burn like fire?

6 Pour out thy wrath upon the heathen that have not known thee, and upon the kingdoms that have not called upon thy name.

7 For they have devoured Jacob, and laid waste his dwelling-place.

8 O remember not against us former iniquities: let thy tender mercies speedily prevent us; for we are brought very low.

9 Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of thy name; and deliver us, and purge away our sins, for thy name's sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be known among the heathen in our sight, by the revenging of the blood of thy servants which is shed.

11 Let the sighing of the prisoner come before thee; according to the greatness of thy power preserve thou those that are appointed to die.

12 And render unto our neighbours seven-fold into their bosom their reproach, where-with they have reproached thee, O Lord.

13 So we thy people, and sheep of thy pasture, will give thee thanks for ever; we will shew forth thy praise to all generations.

PSALM LXXX.

1 The psalmist in his prayer complaineth of the miseries of the church. 8 God's former favours are turned into judgments. 14 The psalmist prayeth for deliverance.

¶ To the chief musician upon Shoshannim-eduth, a psalm of Asaph.

GIVE ear, O Shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Joseph like a flock; thou that dwellest between the cherubims shine forth.

2 Before Ephraim, and Benjamin, and Manasseh, stir up thy strength, and come and save us.

3 Turn us again, O God, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

4 O Lord God of hosts, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou feedest them with the bread of tears; and givest them tears to drink in great measure.

6 Thou makest us a strife unto our neighbours; and our enemies laugh among themselves.

7 Turn us again, O God of hosts, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou preparedst room before it, and didst cause it to take deep root, and it filled the land.

10 The hills were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She sent out her boughs unto the sea, and her branches unto the river.

12 Why hast thou then broken down her hedges, so that all they which pass by the way do pluck her?

13 The boar out of the wood doth waste it, and the wild beast of the field doth devour it.

14 Return, we beseech thee, O God of hosts: look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine;

15 And the vineyard which thy right hand hath planted, and the branch that thou madest strong for thyself.

16 It is burnt with fire; it is cut down: they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand, upon the son of man whom thou madest strong for thyself.

18 So will not we go back from thee: quicken us, and we will call upon thy name.

19 Turn us again, O Lord God of hosts, cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

1 An exhortation to a solemn praising of God. 4 God challengeth that duty by reason of his benefits. 8 God exhorting to obedience, complaineth of their disobedience, which proveth their own hurt.

¶ To the chief musician upon Gittith, a psalm of Asaph.

SING aloud unto God our strength: make a joyful noise unto the God of Jacob.

2 Take a psalm, and bring hither the timbrel, the pleasant harp with the psaltery.

3 Blow up the trumpet in the new-moon, in the time appointed, on our solemn feast day.

4 For this was a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Jacob.

5 This he ordained in Joseph for a testimony, when he went out through the land of Egypt: where I heard a language that I understood not.

6 I removed his shoulder from the burden: his hands were delivered from the pots.

7 Thou calledst in trouble, and I delivered thee; I answered thee in the secret place of thunder; I proved thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah.

8 Hear, O my people, and I will testify unto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken unto me;

9 There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god.

10 I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt; open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it.

11 But my people would not hearken to my voice; and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gave them up unto their own hearts lust; and they walked in their own counsels.

13 Oh that my people had hearkened unto me, and Israel had walked in my ways!

COMMENTARY on Psalm LXXX.

1 Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Joseph like a flock, &c.) O thou that art the ruler and protector of Israel, who long since gave a famous instance of thy power, in preserving Joseph, when he fell like an innocent lamb among a company of wolves, and conductedst him to the highest preferment; reject not the humble petitions we now offer to thee in the like distress: but shew, by some illustrious token of thy presence among us in thy holy place, that thou still favourest us, and from whence thou canst send angels to defend and deliver us from all our enemies.

COMMENTARY on Psalm LXXXI.

This psalm seems to have been composed for the solemn feast held on the first day of the seventh month, which was called a day of blowing the trumpets. God seems to have intended, by their blowing with trumpets longer on this day than on any other, to awaken their consciences, that they might, by a strict enquiry into their lives, and a sincere repentance, prepare themselves for the great day of atonement, which was the tenth of this month. The author, in all probability, was the Asaph so often mentioned in the reign of David, and who ordered it to be sung as the eighth psalm upon Gittith, at the feast of trumpets, which was instituted to commemorate the divine blessings then received from above.

14 I ſhould ſoon have ſubdued their enemies, and turned my hand againſt their adverſaries.

15 The haters of the Lord ſhould have ſubmitted themſelves unto him: but their time ſhould have endured for ever.

16 He ſhould have fed them alſo with the fineſt of the wheat: and with honey out of the rock ſhould I have ſatisfied thee.

PSALM LXXXII.

1 The pſalmiſt having exhorted the judges, 5 and reproved their negligence, 8 prayeth God to judge.

¶ A pſalm of Aſaph.

GOD ſtandeth in the congregation of the mighty; he judgeth among the gods.

2 How long will ye judge unjuſtly, and accept the perſons of the wicked? Selah.

3 Defend the poor and fatherleſs: do juſtice to the afflicted and needy.

4 Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked.

5 They know not, neither will they underſtand; they walk on in darkneſs: all the foundations of the earth are out of courſe.

6 I have ſaid, Ye are gods; and all of you are children of the moſt high:

¶ A ſong or pſalm of Aſaph.

KEEP not thou ſilence, O God: hold not thy peace, and be not ſtill, O God.

2 For, lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee have lifted up the head.

3 They have taken crafty counſel againſt thy people, and conſulted againſt thy hidden ones.

4 They have ſaid, Come and let us cut them off from being a nation; that the name of Iſrael may be no more in remembrance.

5 For they have conſulted together with one conſent; they are confederate againſt thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Iſhmaelites; of Moab and the Hagarenes;

7 Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek; the Philiſtines, with the inhabitants of Tyre;

8 Aſſur alſo is joined with them: they have holpen the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Do unto them as unto the Midianites; as to Siſera, as to Jabin, at the brook of Kiſon:

10 Which periſhed at En-dor: they became as dung for the earth.

11 Make their nobles like Oreb and like Zeeb; yea, all their princes, as Zebah and Zalmunna:

12 Who ſaid, Let us take to ourſelves the houſes of God in poſſeſſion.

13 O my God, make them like a wheel; as the ſtubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth a wood, and as the flame ſetteth the mountains on fire,

15 So perſecute them with thy tempeſt, and make them afraid with thy ſtorm.

16 Fill their faces with ſhame; that they may ſeek thy name, O Lord.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for ever; yea, let them be put to ſhame, and periſh:

2 My ſoul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my fleſh crieth out for the living God.

3 Yea, the ſparrow hath found an houſe, and the ſwallow a neſt for herſelf, where ſhe may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hoſts, my king and my God.

Commentary on Pſalm LXXXII.

6, 7 I have ſaid ye are gods: and all of you are children of the Moſt High, &c.) Hear therefore the ſentence of the Almighty: I have, ſaith the God of Jacob, put my majeſty upon you; and though in yourſelves you be no more than other men, yet, by my power, I have raiſed you to the ſame dignity upon earth that my miniſters have in heaven: but this ſhall not be a ſanction for your unjuſt proceedings. No, you ſhall periſh like one of the common race of mortals, without the leaſt reſpect to your honour, and be thrown from your ſeats like the tyrants and cruel oppreſſors that have been before you.

Commentary on Pſalm LXXXIII.

13 O my God, make them like a wheel, &c.) O my God, whoſe goodneſs hath never failed us in diſtreſs, let them not be able to ſtand before us: but utterly defeat them, and make them fly as ſwiftly as a ball down the ſteep declivity of a lofty mountain; diſperſe all their forces like the chaff, when blown about by a furious tempeſt.

Commentary on Pſalm LXXXIV.

5, 6 Bleſſed is the man whoſe ſtrength is in thee, &c.) Happy is that man, however mean his condition may be, who, relying wholly on thy divine protection, conſtantly repairs to the ſolemn feaſts at the temple: or when he is debarred that liberty, is one of thoſe devout perſons whoſe hearts are more in the highways that lead to thy ſanctuary, than in his own habitation, who, travelling through the thirſty valley of Baca, where there is no water, paſs it as chearfully as if it abounded with pleaſant ſprings; and depending on God, as the fountain of what they want, receive from him the bleſſing of plentiful and ſeaſonable ſhowers to refreſh them in their journey, ſo that the whole company go from ſtage to ſtage with an unwearied vigour, till they preſent themſelves before God, to receive his bleſſing in the temple, on the holy hill of Zion.

12 O Lord of hoſts bleſſed is the man that truſteth in thee.

PSALM LXXXV.

1 The pſalmiſt out of the experience of former mercies, prayeth for the continuance thereof. 8 He promiſeth to wait thereon, out of confidence of God's goodneſs.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm for the ſons of Korah.

LORD, thou haſt been favourable unto thy land: thou haſt brought back the captivity of Jacob.

2 Thou haſt forgiven the iniquity of thy people, thou haſt covered all their ſin. Selah.

3 Thou haſt taken away all thy wrath: thou haſt turned thyſelf from the fierceneſs of thine anger.

4 Turn us, O God of our ſalvation, and cauſe thine anger toward us to ceaſe.

5 Wilt thou be angry with us for ever? wilt thou draw out thine anger to all generations?

6 Wilt thou not revive us again that thy people may rejoice in thee?

7 Shew us thy mercy, O Lord, and grant us thy ſalvation.

8 I will hear what God the Lord will ſpeak: for he will ſpeak peace unto his people, and to his ſaints: but let them not turn again to folly.

9 Surely his ſalvation is nigh them that fear him: that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth are met together; righteouſneſs and peace have kiſſed each other.

11 Truth ſhall ſpring out of the earth; and righteouſneſs ſhall look down from heaven.

12 Yea, the Lord ſhall give that which is good; and our land ſhall yield her increaſe.

13 Righteouſneſs ſhall go before him; and ſhall ſet us in the way of his ſteps.

PSALM LXXXVI.

1 David ſtrengtheneth his prayer by the conſciouſneſs of his religion, 5 of the goodneſs and power of God. 11 He deſireth the continuance of former grace. 14 Complaining of the proud, he craveth ſome token of God's goodneſs.

¶ A prayer of David.

BOW down thine ear, O Lord, hear me, for I am poor and needy.

2 Preſerve my ſoul; for I am holy: O thou my God, ſave thy ſervant that truſteth in thee.

3 Be merciful unto me, O Lord for I cry unto thee daily.

4 Rejoice the ſoul of thy ſervant; for unto thee, O Lord do I lift up my ſoul.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and ready to forgive: and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon thee.

6 Give ear, O Lord, unto my prayer; and attend to the voice of my ſupplications.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee: for thou wilt anſwer me.

8 Among the gods there is none like unto thee, O Lord: neither are there any works like unto thy works.

9 All nations whom thou haſt made ſhall come and worſhip before thee, O Lord; and ſhall glorify thy name.

10 For thou art great and doeſt wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name.

12 I will praiſe thee, O Lord my God, with all my heart: and I will glorify thy name for evermore.

13 For great is thy mercy towards me; and thou haſt delivered my ſoul from the loweſt hell.

14 O God, the proud are riſen againſt me, and the aſſemblies of violent men have ſought after my ſoul: and have not ſet thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a God full of compaſſion, and gracious: long-ſuffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth.

16 O turn unto me, and have mercy upon me: give thy ſtrength unto thy ſervant, and ſave the ſon of thine handmaid.

17 Shew me a token for good: that they which hate me, may ſee it, and be aſhamed; becauſe thou, Lord, haſt holpen me, and comforted me.

PSALM LXXXVIII.

A prayer containing a grievous complaint.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXXV.

10 Mercy and truth are met together: righteouſneſs and peace have kiſſed each other.) Goodneſs and fidelity, juſtice and concord, ſeem to have met here together, and like ancient friends embrace each other with ſincere affection.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXXVII.

It is uncertain when this pſalm was written, or who was the author of it. But it was written in praiſe of Jeruſalem, ſituated on the holy mountains of Zion, where David prepared a tabernacle for the ark, and of mount Moriah, on which the celebrated temple of Solomon was built. The beginning of it is very abrupt, and properly expreſſes the rapture of the Pſalmiſt's mind when he compoſed it.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXXVIII.

This pſalm is ſaid in the title to have been compoſed by Heman the Ezrahite: but who that Heman was, is uncertain. We indeed read of Heman a famous ſinger in David's time; but he was a Levite, whereas the author of this pſalm was deſcended from Zerah, one of the ſons of Judah. Nor can the time he lived be certainly determined. But is very probable that he was carried with Jeconiah captive to Babylon, and there in ſome loathſome dungeon, bewailed his private calamity, and poured out his ſoul to God in the words of this pſalm. After his deliverance, it was delivered to the ſons of Korah, to be ſung alternately, (which is the meaning of the word Leanoth) upon the Mahalath, or flute, to the known tune of Maſchil. Some paſſages of it may naturally be applied to our Saviour's death and burial in the grave, which the prophet Iſaiah compares to a priſon.

A ſong

¶ A ſong or pſalm for the ſons of Korah, to the chief muſician upon Mahalath Leannoth, Maſchil of Heman the Ezrahite.

O LORD God of my ſalvation, I have cried day and night before thee.

2 Let my prayer come before thee: incline thine ear unto my cry;

3 For my ſoul is full of troubles, and my life draweth nigh unto the grave.

4 I am counted with them that go down into the pit: I am as a man that hath no ſtrength.

5 Free among the dead, like the ſlain that lie in the grave, whom thou remembereſt no more: and they are cut off from thy hand.

6 Thou haſt laid me in the loweſt pit, in darkneſs, in the deeps.

7 Thy wrath lieth hard upon me, and thou haſt afflicted me with all thy waves. Selah.

8 Thou haſt put away mine acquaintance far from me; thou haſt made me an abomination unto them: I am ſhut up, and I cannot come forth.

9 Mine eye mourneth by reaſon of affliction: Lord, I have called daily upon thee; I have ſtretched out my hands unto thee.

10 Wilt thou ſhew wonders to the dead? ſhall the dead ariſe and praiſe thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy loving-kindneſs be declared in the grave? or thy faithfulneſs in deſtruction?

12 Shall thy wonders be known in the dark? and thy righteouſneſs in the land of forgetfulneſs?

13 But unto thee have I cried, O Lord; and in the morning ſhall my prayer prevent thee.

14 Lord why caſteſt thou off my ſoul? why hideſt thou thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted and ready to die from my youth up: while I ſuffer thy terrors I am diſtracted.

16 Thy fierce wrath goeth over me; thy terrors have cut me off.

17 They came round about me daily like water, they compaſſed me about together.

18 Lover and friend haſt thou put far from me, and mine acquaintance into darkneſs.

PSALM LXXXIX.

1 The pſalmiſt praiſeth God for his covenant, 5 for his wonderful power, 15 for his care of his church, 19 and for his favour to the kingdom of David. 38 Then complaining of contrary events, 46 he expoſtulateth, prayeth, and bleſſeth God.

¶ Maſchil of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I WILL ſing of the mercies of the Lord for ever; with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulneſs to all generations.

2 For I have ſaid, Mercy ſhall be built up for ever; thy faithfulneſs ſhalt thou eſtabliſh in the very heavens.

3 I have made a covenant with my choſen, I have ſworn unto David my ſervant.

4 Thy ſeed will I eſtabliſh for ever, and build up thy throne to all generations. Selah.

5 And the heavens ſhall praiſe thy wonders, O Lord: thy faithfulneſs alſo in the congregation of the ſaints.

6 For who in the heaven can be compared unto the Lord? who among the ſons of the mighty can be likened unto the Lord?

7 God is greatly to be feared in the aſſembly of the ſaints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hoſts, who is a ſtrong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulneſs round about thee?

9 Thou ruleſt the raging of the ſea; when the waves thereof ariſe, thou ſtilleſt them.

10 Thou haſt broken Rahab in pieces, as one that is ſlain: thou haſt ſcattered thine enemies with thy ſtrong arm.

11 The heavens are thine, the earth alſo is thine: as for the world, and the fulneſs thereof, thou haſt founded them.

12 The north and the ſouth thou haſt created them: Tabor and Hermon ſhall rejoice in thy name.

13 Thou haſt a mighty arm; ſtrong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Juſtice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth ſhall go before thy face.

15 Bleſſed is the people that know the joyful ſound: they ſhall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance.

16 In thy name ſhall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteouſneſs ſhall they be exalted.

17 For thou art the glory of their ſtrength: and in thy favour our horn ſhall be exalted.

18 For the Lord is our defence; and the Holy One of Iſrael is our king.

19 Then thou ſpakeſt in viſion to thy Holy One, and ſaidſt, I have laid help upon one that is mighty; I have exalted one choſen out of the people.

20 I have found David my ſervant: with my holy oil have I anointed him.

21 With whom my hand ſhall be eſtabliſhed: mine arm alſo ſhall ſtrengthen him.

22 The enemy ſhall not exact upon him, nor the ſon of wickedneſs afflict him.

23 And I will beat down his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 But my faithfulneſs and my mercy ſhall be with him: and in my name ſhall his horn be exalted.

25 I will ſet his hand alſo in the ſea, and his right hand in the rivers.

26 He ſhall cry unto me, Thou art my father, my God, and the rock of my ſalvation.

27 Alſo I will make him my firſt-born, higher than the kings of the earth.

28 My mercy will I keep for him for evermore, and my covenant ſhall ſtand faſt with him.

29 His ſeed alſo will I make to endure for ever, and his throne as the days of heaven.

30 If his children forſake my law, and walk not in my judgments;

31 If they break my ſtatutes, and keep not my commandments;

32 Then will I viſit their tranſgreſſion with the rod,

COMMENTARY on Pſalm LXXXIX.

There is the ſame difficulty in diſcovering the author of this pſalm as the foregoing. They ſeem however, to have been of the ſame family, and to have written theſe pſalms on the ſame occaſion; but Heman bewailed his private affliction, whereas Ethan, after thankfully acknowledging the many benefits God had beſtowed on the Iſraelites, laments, in the moſt pathetic manner, the calamities of his people; the royal family and government being ſubverted by the captivity of Jehoiachin, or Zedekiah, whoſe miſerable fate he ſeems to bewail with great earneſtneſs in the concluſion of the pſalm; the Babylonians boaſting, that, notwithſtanding the promiſes they pretended to have received from heaven, there was now a final period put to both the family and kingdom of David. And in truth, the ſceptre was never reſtored to that family, till Chriſt the ſon of David came, and to him ſeveral paſſages in this pſalm are applied even by the Jews themſelves.

12 The north and the ſouth thou haſt created them, &c.) Whether we extend our eyes to the northern or ſouthern boundaries of the earth, weſtward to Tabor, or eaſtward to Hermon; all acknowledge thee for their creator, and rejoice in thy watchful providence, which pours upon them the bounties of thy hand.

and their iniquity with ſtripes.

33 Nevertheleſs, my loving-kindneſs will I not utterly take from him, nor ſuffer my faithfulneſs to fail.

34 My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 Once have I ſworn by my holineſs, that I will not lie unto David.

36 His ſeed ſhall endure for ever, and his throne as the ſun before me.

37 It ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever, as the moon, and as a faithful witneſs in heaven. Selah.

38 But thou haſt caſt off and abhorred, thou haſt been wroth with thine anointed.

39 Thou haſt made void the covenant of thy ſervant: Thou haſt profaned his crown by caſting it to the ground.

40 Thou haſt broken down all his hedges, thou haſt brought his ſtrong holds to ruin.

41 All that paſs by the way ſpoil him; he is a reproach to his neighbours.

42 Thou haſt ſet up the right hand of his adverſaries; thou haſt made all his enemies to rejoice.

43 Thou haſt alſo turned the edge of his ſword, and haſt not made him to ſtand in the battle.

44 Thou haſt made his glory to ceaſe, and caſt his throne down to the ground.

45 The days of his youth haſt he ſhortened: thou haſt covered him with ſhame. Selah.

46 How long, Lord, wilt thou hide thyſelf, for ever? ſhall thy wrath burn like fire?

47 Remember how ſhort my time is: wherefore haſt thou made all men in vain?

48 What man is he that liveth, and ſhall not ſee death? ſhall he deliver his ſoul from the hand of the grave? Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former loving kindneſſes, which thou ſwareſt unto David in thy truth?

50 Remember, Lord, the reproach of thy ſervants: how I do bear in my boſom the reproach of all the mighty people;

51 Wherewith thine enemies have reproached, O Lord; wherewith they have reproached the footſteps of thine anointed.

52 Bleſſed be the Lord for evermore. Amen, and amen.

¶ A prayer of Moſes, the man of God.

LORD, thou haſt been our dwelling-place in all generations.

2 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadſt formed the earth and the world, even from everlaſting to everlaſting, thou art God.

3 Thou turneſt man to deſtruction; and ſayeſt, Return, ye children of men.

4 For a thouſand years in thy ſight are but as yeſterday when it is paſt, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou carrieſt them away as with a flood; they are as a ſleep: in the morning they are like graſs which groweth up.

6 In the morning it flouriſheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth.

7 For we are conſumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou haſt ſet our iniquities before thee, our ſecret ſins in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our days are paſſed away in thy wrath; we ſpend our years as a tale that is told.

10 The days of our years are threeſcore years and ten; and if by reaſon of ſtrength they be fourſcore years, yet is their ſtrength labour and ſorrow: for it is ſoon cut off, and we fly away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? even according to thy fear, ſo is thy wrath.

12 So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wiſdom.

13 Return, O Lord, how long? and let it repent thee concerning thy ſervants.

14 O ſatisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

15 Make us glad according to the days wherein thou haſt afflicted us, and the years wherein we have ſeen evil.

16 Let thy work appear unto thy ſervants, and thy glory unto their children.

17 And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and eſtabliſh thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands eſtabliſh thou it.

3 Surely he ſhall deliver thee from the ſnare of the fowler, and from the noiſome peſtilence.

4 He ſhall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings ſhalt thou truſt: his truth ſhall be thy ſhield and buckler.

5 Thou ſhalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor for the arrow that flieth by day.

6 Nor for the peſtilence that walketh in darkneſs, nor for the deſtruction that waſteth at noon-day.

7 A thouſand ſhall fall at thy ſide, and ten thouſand at thy right hand: but it ſhall not come nigh thee.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XC.

Here the fourth book of Pſalms, according to the Hebrew diviſion, begins. This pſalm was compoſed by Moſes, when the people had ſo highly offended God in the wilderneſs, that he ſhortened their lives to ſeventy or eighty years, and ſuffered them not to arrive at the age of their anceſtors, except Moſes, Caleb, and Joſhua, whoſe lives he prolonged to an hundred and twenty years.

11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? &c.) Who, alas! notwithſtanding all thy judgments, ſeriouſly lays to heart the dreadful effects of thy diſpleaſures?

According to thy fear ſo is thy wrath.) In proportion to the fear and reverence which is due thee as the great lord and ſovereign of the world, ſo may the tranſgreſſors of thy law expect their puniſhments: i. e. in a future ſtate.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCI.

The author of this pſalm is unknown; but it was undoubtedly written on occaſion of ſome grievous peſtilence, in which the Pſalmiſt commends an humble confidence in God, and an ardent love for him, as the beſt ſecurity in that dreadful viſitation, and all other dangers whatever. Poſſibly this peſtilence was that which happened in the reign of David as a puniſhment for his numbering the people: and in all likelihood was compoſed by the prophet Gad, who taught the king to commend himſelf to the divine protection in the words of this pſalm.

8 Only with thine eyes ſhalt thou behold, and ſee the reward of the wicked.

9 Becauſe thou haſt made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the moſt high, thy habitation,

10 There ſhall no evil befall thee, neither ſhall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

11 For he ſhall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

12 They ſhall bear thee up in their hands, leſt thou daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone.

13 Thou ſhalt tread upon the lion and adder; the young lion and the dragon ſhalt thou trample under feet.

14 Becauſe he hath ſet his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will ſet him on high, becauſe he hath known my name.

15 He ſhall call upon me, and I will anſwer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

16 With long life will I ſatisfy him, and ſhew him my ſalvation.

PSALM XCII.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praiſe God, 4 for his great works, 6 for his judgments on the wicked, 10 and for his goodneſs to the godly.

¶ A pſalm or ſong for the ſabbath-day.

IT is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to ſing praiſes unto thy name, O moſt high:

2 To ſhew forth thy loving-kindneſs in the morning, and thy faithfulneſs every night;

3 Upon an inſtrument of ten ſtrings, and upon the pſaltery; upon the harp with a ſolemn ſound.

4 For thou, Lord, haſt made me glad through thy work; I will triumph in the works of thy hands.

5 O Lord, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep.

6 A brutiſh man knoweth not; neither doth a fool underſtand this.

7 When the wicked ſpring as the graſs, and when all the workers of iniquity do flouriſh; it is that they ſhall be deſtroyed for ever.

8 But thou, Lord, art moſt high for evermore.

9 For, lo, thine enemies, O Lord, for, lo, thine enemies ſhall periſh: all the workers of iniquity ſhall be ſcattered;

10 But my horn ſhalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I ſhall be anointed with freſh oil.

11 Mine eye alſo ſhall ſee my deſire on mine enemies; and mine ears ſhall hear my deſire of the wicked that riſe up againſt me.

12 The righteous ſhall flouriſh like the palm-tree; he ſhall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Thoſe that be planted in the houſe of the Lord ſhall flouriſh in the courts of our God.

14 They ſhall ſtill bring forth fruit in old age; they ſhall be fat and flouriſhing;

15 To ſhew that the Lord is upright: he is my rock, and there is no unrighteouſneſs in him.

PSALM XCIII.

The majeſty, power, and holineſs of Chriſt's kingdom.

THE Lord reigneth; he is clothed with majeſty; the Lord is clothed with ſtrength, wherewith he hath girded himſelf: the world alſo is ſtabliſhed, that it cannot be moved.

2 Thy throne is eſtabliſhed of old: thou art from everlaſting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O Lord, the floods have lifted up their voice; the floods lift up their waves.

4 The Lord on high is mightier than the noiſe of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the ſea.

5 Thy teſtimonies are very ſure: holineſs becometh thine houſe, O Lord, for ever.

PSALM XCIV.

1 The prophet calling for juſtice, complaineth of tyranny and impiety. 8 He teacheth God's providence. 12 He ſheweth the bleſſedneſs of affliction. 16 God is the defender of the afflicted.

O LORD God, to whom vengeance belongeth, O God to whom vengeance belongeth, ſhew thyſelf.

2 Lift up thyſelf, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long ſhall the wicked, how long ſhall the wicked triumph.

4 How long ſhall they utter and ſpeak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity boaſt themſelves?

5 They break in pieces thy people, O Lord, and afflict thine heritage.

6 They ſlay the widow and the ſtranger, and murder the fatherleſs.

7 Yet they ſay, The Lord ſhall not ſee; neither ſhall the God of Jacob regard it.

8 Underſtand, ye brutiſh among the people; and ye fools, when will ye be wiſe.

9 He that planted the ear, ſhall he not hear? he that formed the eye, ſhall he not ſee?

10 He that chaſtiſeth the heathen, ſhall not he correct? he that teacheth man knowledge ſhall not he know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man that they are vanity.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCII.

This pſalm was probably compoſed by Moſes, to raiſe the hearts of the Iſraelites to the proper buſineſs of the ſabbath-day, which was to praiſe God, when they meditated on his wonderful works, both of creation and providence; as they themſelves had ſeen ſeveral inſtances of rewarding the good, and puniſhing the wicked, ſince they came out of Egypt, and were to ſee more when they entered the promiſed land, where they were to keep their ſabbath, or reſt after their long travels in the deſert.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCIII.

1 The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majeſty, &c.) Let the nations boaſt of the ſplendor and power of their kings, and put their truſt in chariots and in horſemen; we glory and put our confidence in the Lord who reigneth over us; whoſe royal ornaments are not gold and precious ſtones, but is wholly arrayed in majeſty itſelf; is armed with omnipotence, and ready to aſſiſt us. Nor is it in the power of man to diſturb the excellent order he hath eſtabliſhed in the world.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCIV.

The author of this pſalm is uncertain; but whoever he was, his piety and love of juſtice are amiably diſplayed. He ſeems to have lived in the degenerate ages of Iſrael, when their kings and their princes did not regard the laws of the Lord, but pronounced unjuſt ſentences, and ſhed the blood of the innocent; and hence the prophet Iſaiah called them the rulers of Sodom. Upon ſuch notorious offenders, the pſalmiſt prays that he may ſee the juſtice of heaven inflicted; and at the ſame time exhorts good men not to be diſcouraged by their tyranny, but patiently wait for an happy iſſue out of all their troubles and afflictions.

6 They ſlay the widow and the ſtranger, &c.) They are deſtitute of compaſſion for the widow or ſtranger; nay, they make uſe of falſe accuſations to condemn them, that they may ſeize on their inheritance, well knowing they have no powerful patron to defend them; in the ſame manner they murder the helpleſs orphans, whom they ought to protect from violence.

12 Bleſſed is the man whom thou chaſteneſt, O Lord, and teacheſt him out of thy law;
13 That thou mayeſt give him reſt from the days of adverſity, until the pit be digged for the wicked.
14 For the Lord will not caſt off his people, neither will he forſake his inheritance.
15 But judgment ſhall return unto righteouſneſs: and all the upright in heart ſhall follow it.
16 Who will riſe up for me againſt the evil-doers? or who will ſtand up for me againſt the workers of iniquity?
17 Unleſs the Lord had been my help, my ſoul had almoſt dwelt in ſilence.
18 When I ſaid, My foot ſlippeth; thy mercy, O Lord, held me up.
19 In the multitude of my thoughts within me, thy comforts delight my ſoul.
20 Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowſhip with thee, which frameth miſchief by a law?
21 They gather themſelves together againſt the ſoul of the righteous, and condemn the innocent blood.
22 But the Lord is my defence; and my God is the rock of my refuge.
23 And he ſhall bring upon them their own iniquity, and ſhall cut them off in their own wickedneſs; yea, the Lord our God ſhall cut them off.

PSALM XCV.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God, 3 for his greatneſs, 6 and for his goodneſs; 8 and not to tempt him.

O COME let us ſing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noiſe to the Rock of our ſalvation.
2 Let us come before his preſence with thankſgiving, and make a joyful noiſe unto him with pſalms.
3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great king above all gods.
4 In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the ſtrength of the hills is his alſo.
5 The ſea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.
6 O come, let us worſhip and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our Maker.
7 For he is our God; and we are the people of his paſture, and the ſheep of his hand. To-day if ye will hear his voice,
8 Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderneſs;
9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and ſaw my work.
10 Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and ſaid, It is a people that do err in their heart and they have not known my ways:
11 Unto whom I ſware in my wrath, that they ſhould not enter into my reſt.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCV.

This pſalm is generally ſuppoſed to have been written by David, and intended as a ſolemn invitation to the people, when aſſembled on the ſabbath, or ſome ſolemn occaſion, to praiſe the Lord their God, and attentively liſten to the inſtructions given them out of his law: for it plainly relates to the days of the Meſſiah, as the Jews themſelves confeſs, and the prophet to the Hebrews proves, (chap. iii. 4) where he demonſtrates to the Iſraelites, that the reſt here ſpoken of, could not be merely that of the land of Canaan, which their forefathers were not ſuffered to enjoy, becauſe of their diſobedience to God in the wilderneſs; but another far exceeding it, and into which a Meſſiah, a far greater captain than Joſhua, was to carry them. And therefore it was abſolutely neceſſary for them to take care that they did not harden their hearts againſt him; when he came to invite them to a participation of the higheſt felicity: but entertain, with a chearful and joyful obedience, his moſt holy goſpel.

PSALM XCVI.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God, 4 for his greatneſs, 7 for his kingdom, 11 and for his general judgment.

O SING unto the Lord a new ſong: ſing unto the Lord all the earth.
2 Sing unto the Lord, bleſs his name; ſhew forth his ſalvation from day to day.
3 Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people.
4 For the Lord is great, and greatly to be praiſed: he is to be feared above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the nations are idols: but the Lord made the heavens.
6 Honour and majeſty are before him; ſtrength and beauty are in his ſanctuary.
7 Give unto the Lord, O ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and ſtrength.
8 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come into his courts.
9 O worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs: fear before him, all the earth.
10 Say among the heathen, that the Lord reigneth: the world alſo ſhall be eſtabliſhed that it ſhall not be moved; he ſhall judge the people righteouſly.
11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad, let the ſea roar, and the fulneſs thereof.
12 Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein: then ſhall all the trees of the wood rejoice
13 Before the Lord; for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he ſhall judge the world with righteouſneſs, and the people with his truth.

PSALM XCVII.

1 The majeſty of God's kingdom. 7 The church rejoiceth at God's judgments upon idolaters. 10 An exhortation to godlineſs and gladneſs.

THE Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice: let the multitude of iſles be glad thereof.
2 Clouds and darkneſs are round about him: righteouſneſs and judgment are the habitation of his throne.
3 A fire goeth before him, and burneth up his enemies round about.
4 His lightnings enlightened the world: the earth ſaw and trembled.
5 The hills melted like wax at the preſence of the Lord, at the preſence of the Lord of the whole earth.
6 The heavens declare his righteouſneſs, and all the people ſee his glory.
7 Confounded be all they that ſerve graven images, that boaſt themſelves of idols: worſhip him all ye gods.
8 Zion heard, and was glad, and the daughters of Judah rejoiced, becauſe of thy judgments, O Lord.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCVI.

10 Say among the heathen, that the Lord reigneth, &c.) Publiſh in every corner of the earth, that the great Meſſiah is the ſovereign of the world, who alone can make you happy. For he ſhall ſettle thoſe in peace who ſubmit to his government, and they ſhall not be diſturbed as formerly with wars and tumults: he ſhall adminiſter equal juſtice to all; nor ſuffer the good to be unrewarded, nor the evil to eſcape unpuniſhed.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XCVII.

This pſalm was probably compoſed by David, after he had brought up the ark to Sion, to inſpire the Iſraelites with confidence, and terrify their enemies, with the expectations of thoſe great things that would certainly enſue, upon the ſpecial preſence of God among them. But whatever was the carnal ſenſe, it belongs, in its ſublimer meaning, to Chriſt's triumph over the grave, and all the powers of darkneſs, at his reſurrection from the grave, and aſcenſion to his throne in heaven.

9 For thou, Lord, art high above all the earth: thou art exalted far above all gods.

10 Ye that love the Lord hate evil; he preserveth the souls of his saints: he delivereth them out of the hand of the wicked:

11 Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart.

12 Rejoice in the Lord ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.

PSALM XCVIII.

1 The psalmist exhorteth the Jews, 4 the Gentiles, 7 and all the creatures to praise God.

¶ A psalm.

O SING unto the Lord a new song: for he hath done marvellous things; his right hand, and his holy arm hath gotten him the victory.

2 The Lord hath made known his salvation; his righteousness hath he openly shewed in the sight of the heathen.

3 He hath remembered his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.

4 Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all the earth: make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise.

5 Sing unto the Lord with the harp: with the harp, and the voice of a psalm.

6 With trumpets and sound of cornet make a joyful noise before the Lord the king.

7 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands; let the hills be joyful together

9 Before the Lord; for he cometh to judge the earth: with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity.

PSALM XCIX.

1 The prophet setteth forth the kingdom of God in Zion, 5 exhorteth all, by the example of their forefathers, to worship God at his holy hill.

THE Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth between the cherubims: let the earth be moved.

2 The Lord is great in Zion; and he is high above all people.

3 Let them praise thy great and terrible name: for it is holy.

4 The king's strength also loveth judgment: thou dost establish equity, thou executest judgment and righteousness in Jacob.

5 Exalt ye the Lord our God, and worship at his footstool: for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron among his priests, and Samuel among them that call upon his name: they called upon the Lord, and he answered them.

7 He spake unto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the ordinance that he gave them.

8 Thou answeredst them, O Lord our God: thou wast a God that forgavest them, though thou tookest vengeance of their inventions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill: for the Lord our God is holy.

PSALM C.

1 An exhortation to praise God cheerfully, 3 for his greatness, 4 and for his power.

¶ A psalm of praise.

MAKE a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands,
2 Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing.

3 Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

4 Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name.

5 For the Lord is good, his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations.

PSALM CI.

David maketh a vow and profession of godliness.

¶ A psalm of David.

I WILL sing of mercy and judgment: unto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

2 I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O, when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.

3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes; I hate the work of them that turn aside, it shall not cleave to me.

4 A froward heart shall depart from me; I will not know a wicked person.

5 Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me.

7 He that worketh deceit shall not dwell within my house; he that telleth lies shall not tarry in my sight.

8 I will early destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all wicked doers from the city of the Lord.

---

11 Light is sown for the righteous, &c.) Be not discouraged, though the world should frown upon you, but rest assured, that God designs you, in due time, more chearful and happy days; which, if you continue faithful, and serve him with upright hearts, shall as certainly come, as the corn at last springs up, after it has lain all winter in the earth.

COMMENTARY on Psalm XCIX.

8 Thou wast a God that forgavest them, though thou tookest vengeance of their inventions.) What, forgiveness and vengeance upon the same persons! light and darkness in the same region at the same time! Who can unriddle these obscurities, or reconcile the seeming contradiction? Why, the resolution is not very difficult, if we consider that eternal mercy may very well consist with temporal severities, and the pardon of the sin with the correction of the sinner.

COMMENTARY on Psalm C.

This is the only psalm in the whole collection, stiled a psalm of praise, probably, because it was peculiarly appointed to be sung when their sacrifices of thanksgiving were offered to the Most High, and is generally thought to have been written by David, who invites all the world to join with the Israelites in the service of the omnipotent Jehovah, whose kindness to them was beyond expression; and accordingly we now use it in acknowledgment of God's wonderful love to us in Christ, who, by the sacrifice he made of himself, redeemed us from the power of sin and death, and made us heirs of life eternal.

COMMENTARY on Psalm CI.

This psalm seems to have been written by David while he reigned in Hebron over Judah, and expected to be made king over the whole people of God, and fix his throne in Jerusalem, which he here stiles the city of God, because he there intended to settle the ark, and erect a magnificent tabernacle for its habitation.

PSALM CII.

1 The prophet in his prayer maketh a grievous complaint. 12 He taketh comfort in the eternity and mercy of God. 18 The mercies of God are to be recorded. 23 He ſuſtaineth his weakneſs by the unchangeableneſs of God.

¶ A prayer of the afflicted, when he is overwhelmed, and poureth out his complaint before the Lord.

HEAR my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the day when I am in trouble; incline thine ear unto me: in the day when I call, anſwer me ſpeedily.

3 For my days are conſumed like ſmoke, and my bones are burned as an hearth.

4 My heart is ſmitten, and withered like graſs; ſo that I forget to eat my bread.

5 By reaſon of the voice of my groaning, my bones cleave to my ſkin.

6 I am like a pelican of the wilderneſs: I am like an owl of the deſart.

7 I watch, and am as a ſparrow alone upon the houſe-top.

8 Mine enemies reproach me all the day: and they that are mad againſt me are ſworn againſt me.

9 For I have eaten aſhes like bread, and mingled my drink with weeping;

10 Becauſe of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou haſt lifted me up and caſt me down.

11 My days are like a ſhadow that declineth: and I am withered like graſs.

12 But thou, O Lord, ſhalt endure for ever, and thy remembrance unto all generations.

13 Thou ſhalt ariſe, and have mercy upon Zion: for the time to favour her, yea, the ſet time is come.

14 For thy ſervants take pleaſure in her ſtones, and favour the duſt thereof.

15 So the heathen ſhall fear the name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory.

16 When the Lord ſhall build up Zion, he ſhall appear in his glory.

17 He will regard the prayer of the deſtitute, and not deſpiſe their prayer.

18 This ſhall be written for the generation to come: and the people which ſhall be created ſhall praiſe the Lord.

19 For he hath looked down from the height of his ſanctuary; from heaven did the Lord behold the earth;

20 To hear the groaning of the priſoner, to looſe thoſe that are appointed to death.

21 To declare the name of the Lord in Zion, and his praiſe in Jeruſalem:

22 When the people are gathered together, and the kingdoms, to ſerve the Lord.

23 He weakened my ſtrength in the way; he ſhortened my days.

24 I ſaid, O my God, take me not away in the midſt of my days: thy years are throughout all generations.

25 Of old haſt thou laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the work of thy hands.

26 They ſhall periſh, but thou ſhalt endure: yea, all of them ſhall wax old like a garment; as a veſture ſhalt thou change them, and they ſhall be changed.

27 But thou art the ſame, and thy years ſhall have no end.

28 The children of thy ſervants ſhall continue, and their ſeed ſhall be eſtabliſhed before thee.

PSALM CIII.

An exhortation to bleſs God for his mercy.

¶ A pſalm of David.

BLESS the Lord, O my ſoul; and all that is within me, bleſs his holy name.

2 Bleſs the Lord, O my ſoul, and forget not all his benefits:

3 Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diſeaſes;

4 Who redeemeth thy life from deſtruction; who crowneth thee with loving-kindneſs and tender mercies;

5 Who ſatisfieth thy mouth with good things; ſo that thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteouſneſs and judgment for all that are oppreſſed.

7 He made known his ways unto Moſes, his acts unto the children of Iſrael.

8 The Lord is merciful and gracious, ſlow to anger, and plenteous in mercy.

9 He will not always chide; neither will he keep his anger for ever.

10 He hath not dealt with us after our ſins, nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.

11 For as the heaven is high above the earth, ſo great is his mercy toward them that fear him.

12 As far as the eaſt is from the weſt, ſo far hath he removed our tranſgreſſions from us.

13 Like as a father pitieth his children, ſo the Lord pitieth them that fear him.

14 For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are duſt.

15 As for man, his days are as graſs; as a flower of the field ſo he flouriſheth.

16 For the wind paſſeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof ſhall know it no more.

17 But the mercy of the Lord is from everlaſting to everlaſting upon them that fear him, and his righteouſneſs unto childrens' children;

18 To ſuch as keep his covenant, and to thoſe that remember his commandments to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens, and his kingdom ruleth over all.

20 Bleſs the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in ſtrength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CII.

3 For my days are conſumed like ſmoke, &c.) For my days are ſpent as diſmally, as if I were wholly immerſed in a cloud of ſmoke; and the anguiſh I ſuffer is ſo ſharp, that it penetrates to my very bones, and renders them as parched and dry as the fire does the hearth.

7 I watch, and am as a ſparrow, &c.) Certainly a ſparrow is not the bird here meant; for he is not a ſolitary, but gregarious bird; does not uſe to watch, but ſleep at night. The generality of interpreters ſuppoſe the bird here intended to be ſome ſort of owl.

26 They ſhall periſh, &c.) All other things are changeable and periſhable, even the frame of the heavens above, and the foundations of the earth beneath; but thou art the ſame, the ſame thro' all generations, and beyond all generations ſtill unchangeably the ſame.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CIII.

5 Thy youth is renewed like the eagle's.) Eagles moult their feathers often, which might give riſe to the vulgar opinion, that they grew young again, after they had been old. It is ſaid their feathers fall by pairs, one in each wing; and that thoſe which fall at once, are the two feathers exactly correſponding to each other, in each wing, and that this pair is renewed by a new growth, before the next pair falls.

21 Bless ye the Lord, all ye his hosts; ye ministers of his that do his pleasure.

22 Bless the Lord, all his works, in all places of his dominion; bless the Lord, O my soul.

PSALM CIV.

1 A meditation upon the mighty power, 7 and wonderful providence of God. 31 God's glory is eternal. 33 The prophet voweth eternally to praise God.

BLESS the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great thou art clothed with honour and majesty.

2 Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain.

3 Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters, who maketh the clouds his chariot; who walketh upon the wings of the wind:

4 Who maketh his angels spirits; his ministers a flaming fire.

5 Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever.

6 Thou coveredst it with the deep as with a garment: the waters stood above the mountains.

7 At thy rebuke they fled; at the voice of thy thunder they hasted away.

8 They go up by the mountains; they go down by the vallies unto the place which thou hast founded for them.

9 Thou hast set a bound that they may not pass over, that they turn not again to cover the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the vallies, which run among the hills.

11 They give drink to every beast of the field: the wild asses quench their thirst.

12 By them shall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the hills from his chambers: the earth is satisfied with the fruit of thy works.

14 He causeth the grass to grow for cattle, and herb for the service of man, that he may bring forth food out of the earth;

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oil to make his face to shine, and bread which strengtheneth man's heart.

16 The trees of the Lord are full of sap; the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted:

17 Where the birds make their nests: as for the stork, the fir-trees are her house.

18 The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats, and the rocks for the conies.

19 He appointed the moon for seasons: the sun knoweth his going down.

20 Thou makest darkness, and it is night: wherein all the beasts of the forest do creep forth.

21 The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God.

22 The sun ariseth, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens.

23 Man goeth forth unto his work, and to his labour until the evening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this great and wide sea, wherein are things creeping innumerable, both small and great beasts.

26 There go the ships: there is that leviathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 These wait all upon thee: that thou mayest give them their meat in due season.

28 That thou givest them, they gather: thou openest thine hand, they are filled with good.

29 Thou hidest thy face, they are troubled: thou takest away their breath, they die, and return to their dust.

30 Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created: and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works.

32 He looketh on the earth, and it trembleth: he toucheth the hills and they smoke.

33 I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.

34 My meditation of him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless thou the Lord, O my soul. Praise ye the Lord.

PSALM CV.

1 An exhortation to praise God, and to seek out his work. 7 The story of God's providence over Abraham, 16 over Joseph, 23 over Jacob in Egypt, 26 over Moses delivering the Israelites, 37 over the Israelites brought out of Egypt, fed in the wilderness, and planted in Canaan.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord; call upon his name: make known his deeds among the people.

2 Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him: talk ye of all his wondrous works.

3 Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord.

4 Seek the Lord, and his strength; seek his face evermore.

5 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done; his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth,

6 O ye seed of Abraham his servant, ye children of Jacob his chosen.

7 He is the Lord our God; his judgments are in all the earth.

COMMENTARY on Psalm CIV.

Dr. Delany is of opinion that David composed this excellent psalm in the forest of Hareth, where he was daily surrounded with those pastoral scenes which he so finely describes. After some general observations upon the works and wisdom of God in the creation, he descends to the following particulars; the rise of springs, the course of rivers, the retreats of fowls and wild beasts of the forests and mountains; the vicissitudes of days and nights, and their various uses to the animal world; the dependence of the whole creation upon the Almighty for being and subsistence! He withdraws their breath, and they die; he breathes, and they revive; he opens his hand, and satisfies them all at once. These are ideas familiar to him, and the manner of introducing them plainly shews them the effect of his retired meditations in his solitary wanderings.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy works! &c.) O Lord, how many and how astonishing are thy works! and with what inconceivable wisdom hast thou performed them all! Even the earth we inhabit—with what astonishing variety of objects does it abound, and with what profusion of good things hath thy bounty enriched this habitation of the sons of men!

COMMENTARY on Psalm CV.

Though this psalm has no title, yet it is evident from 1 Chron. xvi. 8, &c. that David was the author of the first part at least; and that he delivered it to Asaph and his brethren, to be constantly used in the service of God in the tabernacle, when, after obtaining several memorable victories over the Philistines, he had brought up the ark from the house of Obed-Edom, and settled in mount Sion. And very probably he afterwards enlarged this psalm, that it might be a more compleat commemoration of all the mercies of God towards the Hebrews, from the days of Abraham to their taking possession of the promised land.

8 He hath remembered his covenant for ever, the word which he commanded to a thouſand generations:
9 Which covenant he made with Abraham, and his oath unto Iſaac;
10 And confirmed the ſame unto Jacob for a law, and to Iſrael for an everlaſting covenant;
11 Saying, Unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance:
12 When they were but a few men in number; yea, very few, and ſtrangers in it.
13 When they went from one nation to another, from one kingdom to another people,
14 He ſuffered no man to do them wrong; yea, he reproved kings for their ſakes;
15 Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.
16 Moreover, he called for a famine upon the land: he brake the whole ſtaff of bread.
17 He ſent a man before them, even Joſeph, who was ſold for a ſervant;
18 Whoſe feet they hurt with fetters: he was laid in iron,
19 Until the time that his word came; the word of the Lord tried him.
20 The king ſent and looſed him; even the ruler of the people, and let him go free.
21 He made him lord of his houſe, and ruler of all his ſubſtance;
22 To bind his princes at his pleaſure, and teach his ſenators wiſdom.
23 Iſrael alſo came into Egypt, and Jacob ſojourned in the land of Ham.
24 And he increaſed his people greatly, and made them ſtronger than their enemies.
25 He turned their heart to hate his people, to deal ſubtilely with his ſervants.
26 He ſent Moſes his ſervant, and Aaron whom he had choſen;
27 They ſhewed his ſigns among them, and wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He ſent darkneſs, and made it dark; and they rebelled not againſt his word.
29 He turned their waters into blood, and ſlew their fiſh.
30 Their land brought forth frogs in abundance in the chambers of their kings.
31 He ſpake and there came diverſe ſorts of flies, and lice in all their coaſts.
32 He gave them hail for rain, and flaming fire in their land.
33 He ſmote their vines alſo and their fig-trees, and brake the trees of their coaſts.
34 He ſpake, and the locuſts came, and caterpillers, and that without number,
35 And did eat up all the herbs in their land, and devoured the fruit of their ground.
36 He ſmote alſo all the firſt-born in their land, the chief of all their ſtrength.
37 He brought them forth alſo with ſilver and gold; and there was not one feeble perſon among their tribes.
38 Egypt was glad when they departed; for the fear of them fell upon them.
39 He ſpread a cloud for a covering, and fire to give light in the night.
40 The people aſked, and he brought quails, and ſatisfied them with the bread of heaven.
41 He opened the rock, and the waters guſhed out; they ran in the dry places like a river.
42 For he remembered his holy promiſe, and Abraham his ſervant.
43 And he brought forth his people with joy, and his choſen with gladneſs;
44 And gave them the lands of the heathen; and they inherited the labour of the people:
45 That they might obſerve his ſtatutes, and keep his laws. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CVI.

1 The Pſalmiſt exhorteth to praiſe God. 4 He prayeth for pardon of ſin. 7 The ſtory of the people's rebellion, and God's mercy. 47 He concludeth with prayer and praiſe.

PRAISE ye the Lord, O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.
2 Who can utter the mighty acts of the Lord? who can ſhew forth all his praiſe?
3 Bleſſed are they that keep judgment, and he that doeth righteouſneſs at all times.
4 Remember me, O Lord, with the favour that thou beareſt unto thy people: O viſit me with thy ſalvation;
5 That I may ſee the good of thy choſen, that I may rejoice in the gladneſs of thy nation, that I may glory with thine inheritance.
6 We have ſinned with our fathers, we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly.
7 Our fathers underſtood not thy wonders in Egypt, they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies: but provoked him at the ſea, even at the Red ſea.
8 Nevertheleſs, he ſaved them for his name's ſake, that he might make his mighty power to be known.
9 He rebuked the Red ſea alſo, and it was dried up: ſo he led them through the depths, as through the wilderneſs.
10 And he ſaved them from the hand of him that hated them, and redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.
11 And the waters covered their enemies: there was not one of them left.
12 Then believed they his words: they ſang his praiſe.
13 They ſoon forgat his works; they waited not for his counſel:
14 But luſted exceedingly in the wilderneſs, and tempted God in the deſert.
15 And he gave them their requeſt; but ſent leanneſs into their ſoul.
16 They envied Moſes alſo in the camp, and Aaron the ſaint of the Lord.
17 The earth opened and ſwallowed up Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram.
18 And a fire was kindled in their company: the flame burned up the wicked.
19 They made a calf in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten image.
20 Thus they changed their glory into the ſimiltude of an ox that eateth graſs.

39. He ſpread a cloud for a covering, and fire to give light in the night.) Jehovah did not forſake our fathers, when he had brought them out of Egypt; but, leſt they ſhould loſe their way in the barren waſtes, or be ſcorched with exceſſive heats, he defended them from the ſcorching beams of the ſun in the day by a cloud, and led them, during the night, by a pillar of fire. The intenſeneſs of the cold and heat, in theſe countries, by night or by day, very emphatically accounts for the proviſion of Providence, in ſpreading out for the Iſraelites a cloud for a covering from the daily heat, and a fire to diſpel the nightly cold.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CVI.

This pſalm is intitled Hallelujah, praiſe the Lord; but neither the author nor the occaſion of it are mentioned. It ſeems, however, to have been written by David, and to be one of the pſalms he delivered to Aſaph, when he prepared a tabernacle for the ark.

21 They forgat God their saviour, which had done great things in Egypt;

22 Wondrous works in the land of Ham, and terrible things by the Red sea.

23 Therefore he said that he would destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood before him in the breach, to turn away his wrath, lest he should destroy them;

24 Yea, they despised the pleasant land, they believed not his word:

25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not unto the voice of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to overthrow them in the wilderness.

27 To overthrow their seed also among the nations, and to scatter them in the lands.

28 They joined themselves also unto Baal-peor, and ate the sacrifices of the dead.

29 Thus they provoked him to anger with their inventions; and the plague brake in upon them.

30 Then stood up Phinehas, and executed judgment: and so the plague was stayed.

31 And that was counted unto him for righteousness unto all generations for evermore.

32 They angered him also at the waters of strife, so that it went ill with Moses for their sakes.

33 Because they provoked his spirit, so that he spake unadvisedly with his lips.

34 They did not destroy the nations concerning whom the Lord commanded them:

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works.

36 And they served their idols: which were a snare unto them.

37 Yea, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto devils.

38 And shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed unto the idols of Canaan; and the land was polluted with blood.

39 Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, insomuch that he abhorred his own inheritance.

41 And he gave them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them ruled over them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were brought into subjection under their hand.

43 Many times did he deliver them; but they provoked him with their counsel; and were brought low for their iniquity.

44 Nevertheless, he regarded their affliction when he heard their cry.

45 And he remembered for them his covenant, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.

46 He made them also to be pitied of all those that carried them captives.

47 Save us, O Lord our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks unto thy holy name, and to triumph in thy praise.

48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen, Praise ye the Lord.

PSALM CVII.

1 The Psalmist exhorteth the redeemed in praising God to observe his manifold providence, 4 over travellers 10 over captives, 17 over sick men, 23 over seamen, 33 and in divers varieties of life.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy;

3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south.

4 They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way, they found no city to dwell in.

5 Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted in them.

6 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses.

7 And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.

8 O that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!

9 For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

10 Such as sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron:

11 Because they rebelled against the words of God, and contemned the counsel of the most High.

12 Therefore he brought down their heart with labour; they fell down and there was none to help.

13 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses.

14 He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder.

15 Oh, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!

16 For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the gates of iron in sunder.

17 Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soul abhorreth all manner of meat: and they draw near unto the gates of death.

---

28 Ate the sacrifices of the dead.) They committed whoredom with the daughters of Moab, and devoted themselves to the service of Baal, whose temple stood on mount Peor, and partook with them in sacrifices which they offered to dead men. Numb. xxv. 1, 2, 3.

47 Save us, O Lord our God, and gather us from among the heathen, &c.) We still, O Lord, humbly hope that thou wilt continue the same mercies that thou shewedst to our forefathers; and beseech thee, most mighty Lord, who hast so often done wonderful things for this nation, to deliver us, how unworthy soever we may be, from our present enemies; and to restore such of us as are fallen into their hand, unto their own country, that they may join with us in giving thanks to thy incomparable goodness, and praising thy astonishing works, with the greatest joy, and in the most triumphant manner.

COMMENTARY on Psalm CVII.

The fifth and last book of psalms, according to the Hebrew division, begins here, with an exhortation to those whom God had delivered from the servitude of the heathen, to acknowledge his singular benefits, and praise him with the voice of thanksgiving; and from thence to take occasion to magnify his merciful providence over all the sons of men, and the assistance he vouchsafed to send them, when they call upon him in distress. Travellers who have lost their way in the howling deserts, prisoners, persons afflicted with sickness, mariners, husbandmen, nay, whole countries, are relieved from their distress, and rendered prosperous, if they have a regard to God, and love justice and virtue: while, on the other hand, the wicked are plunged into the depths of misery, and suffered to perish in their troubles. The author of this psalm is unknown; but, from the connection of it with the foregoing, it seems to have been David, who having, in psalm cv. reminded them of the promises made to the patriarchs, and of the blessings bestowed on their posterity; and in cvi. of their horrid ingratitude for such remarkable benefits, and the punishments he had inflicted on them for their enormous crimes, declares in this psalm the inexpressible kindness of the Lord, in freeing them from slavery, and his watchful providence over all mankind.

19 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he ſaveth them out of their diſtreſſes.

20 He ſent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their deſtructions.

21 Oh, that men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.

22 And let them ſacrifice the ſacrifices of thankſgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing.

23 They that go down to the ſea in ſhips, that do buſineſs in great waters:

24 Theſe ſee the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.

25 For he commandeth and raiſeth the ſtormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof.

26 They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths: their ſoul is melted becauſe of trouble.

27 They reel to and fro, and ſtagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end.

28 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their diſtreſſes.

29 He maketh the ſtorm a calm, ſo that the waves thereof are ſtill.

30 Then are they glad becauſe they be quiet, ſo he bringeth them unto their deſired haven.

31 Oh, that men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!

32 Let them exalt him alſo in the congregation of the people, and praiſe him in the aſſembly of the elders.

33 He turneth rivers into a wilderneſs, and the water-ſprings into dry-ground;

34 A fruitful land into barrenneſs, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein.

35 He turneth the wilderneſs into a ſtanding water, and dry-ground into water-ſprings.

36 And there he maketh the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation;

37 And ſow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increaſe.

38 He bleſſeth them alſo, ſo that they are multiplied greatly, and ſuffereth not their cattle to decreaſe.

39 Again they are miniſhed and brought low thro' oppreſſion, affliction, and ſorrow.

40 He poureth contempt upon princes, and cauſeth them to wander in the wilderneſs, where there is no way.

41 Yet ſetteth he the poor on high from affliction: and maketh him families like a flock.

42 The righteous ſhall ſee it, and rejoice; and all iniquity ſhall ſtop her mouth.

43 Whoſo is wiſe, and will obſerve theſe things, even they ſhall underſtand the loving-kindneſs of the Lord.

PSALM CVIII.

1 David encourageth himſelf to praiſe God. 5 He prayeth for God's aſſiſtance according to his promiſe. 11 His confidence in God's help.

¶ A ſong or pſalm of David.

O GOD, my heart is fixed; I will ſing and give praiſe, even with my glory.

2 Awake, pſaltery and harp; I myſelf will awake early.

3 I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the people: and I will ſing praiſes unto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great above the heavens, and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds.

5 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens; and thy glory above all the earth.

6 That thy beloved may be delivered, ſave with thy right hand, and anſwer me.

7 God hath ſpoken in his holineſs, I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead is mine; Manaſſeh is mine; Ephraim alſo is the ſtrength of mine head; Judah is my law-giver;

9 Moab is my waſh-pot: over Edom will I caſt out my ſhoe; over Philiſtia will I triumph.

10 Who will bring me into the ſtrong city? who will lead me into Edom?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, who haſt caſt us off? and wilt not thou, O God, go forth with our hoſts?

12 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

13 Through God we ſhall do valiantly: for he it is that ſhall tread down our enemies.

PSALM CIX.

1 David complaining of his ſlanderous enemies, under the perſon of Judas, devoteth them: 16 he ſheweth their ſin: 22 complaining of his own miſery, he prayeth for help: 30 he promiſeth thankfulneſs.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

HOLD not thy peace, O God of my praiſe;

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth of the deceitful, are opened againſt me: they have ſpoken againſt me with a lying tongue.

3 They compaſſed me about alſo with words of hatred; and fought againſt me without a cauſe.

4 For my love they are my adverſaries; but I give myſelf unto prayer.

5 And they have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love.

6 Set thou a wicked man over him: and let Satan ſtand at his right hand.

7 When he ſhall be judged, let him be condemned; and let his prayer become ſin.

8 Let his days be few: and let another take his office.

9 Let his children be fatherleſs, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be continually vagabonds, and beg: let them ſeek their bread alſo out of their deſolate places.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath: and let the ſtranger ſpoil his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy unto him, neither let there be any to favour his fatherleſs children.

13 Let his poſterity be cut off: and in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

---

27 Are at their wit's end.) The moſt noble deſcription of the dangers of a ſeafaring life is finely ſummed up with this expreſſion, and are at their wit's end: the Hebrew is, all their wiſdom is ſwallowed up.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CVIII.

The former part of this pſalm is nearly the ſame with the five laſt verſes of the fifty-ſeventh, and the latter part is but very little different from the eight laſt verſes of the ſixtieth pſalm. It ſeems to have been written by David when he had made ſome progreſs in the wars mentioned in the ſixtieth pſalm; and therefore begins this with giving thanks to God for his mercy, as there he laments the diſorder in which he found the affairs of his kingdom, when he firſt aſcended the throne.

14 Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered with the Lord, and let not the ſon of his mother be blotted out.

15 Let them be before the Lord continually, that he may cut off the memory of them from the earth;

16 Becauſe that he remembered not to ſhew mercy, but perſecuted the poor and needy man, that he might even ſlay the broken in heart.

17 As he loved curſing, ſo let it come unto him: as he delighted not in bleſſing, ſo let it be far from him.

18 As he clothed himſelf with curſing like as with his garment, ſo let it come into his bowels like water, and like oil into his bones.

19 Let it be unto him as the garment which covereth him, and for a girdle wherewith he is girded continually.

20 Let this be the reward of mine adverſaries from the Lord, and of them that ſpeak evil againſt my ſoul.

21 But do thou for me, O God the Lord, for thy name's ſake: becauſe thy mercy is good, deliver thou me.

22 For I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.

23 I am gone like the ſhadow when it declineth, I am toſſed up and down as the locuſt.

24 My knees are weak through faſting; and my fleſh faileth of fatneſs.

25 I became alſo a reproach unto them; when they looked upon me they ſhaked their heads.

26 Help me, O Lord my God: O ſave me according to thy mercy:

27 That they may know that this is thy hand, that thou, Lord, haſt done it.

28 Let them curſe, but bleſs thou; when they ariſe, let them be aſhamed: but let thy ſervant rejoice.

29 Let mine adverſaries be clothed with ſhame, and let them cover themſelves with their own confuſion as with a mantle.

30 I will greatly praiſe the Lord with my mouth: yea, I will praiſe him among the multitude.

31 For he ſhall ſtand at the right hand of the poor, to ſave him from thoſe that condemn his ſoul.

PSALM CX.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God for his excellency, 6 and for his mercy.

¶ A pſalm of David.

THE Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footſtool.

2 The Lord ſhall ſend the rod of thy ſtrength out of Zion; rule thou in the midſt of thine enemies.

3 Thy people ſhall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holineſs from the womb of the morning: thou haſt the dew of thy youth.

4 The Lord hath ſworn, and will not repent, Thou art a prieſt for ever after the order of Melchizedek.

5 The Lord at thy right hand ſhall ſtrike through the kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He ſhall judge among the heathen; he ſhall fill the places with the dead bodies: he ſhall wound the heads over many countries.

7 He ſhall drink of the brook in the way: therefore ſhall he liſt up the head.

PSALM CXI.

1 The pſalmiſt by his example exciteth others to praiſe God for his gracious, 5 and glorious works.

PRAISE ye the Lord. I will praiſe the Lord with my whole heart in the aſſembly of the upright, and in the congregation.

2 The works of the Lord are great, ſought out of all them that have pleaſure therein.

3 His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteouſneſs endureth for ever.

4 He hath made his wonderful works to be remembered: the Lord is gracious, and full of compaſſion.

5 He hath given meat unto them that fear him; he will ever be mindful of his covenant.

6 He hath ſhewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are ſure.

8 They ſtand faſt for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightneſs.

9 He ſent redemption unto his people; he hath commanded his covenant for ever; holy and reverend is his name.

10 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom: a good underſtanding have all they that do his commandments: his praiſe endureth for ever.

PSALM CXII.

1 Godlineſs hath the promiſes of this life, 4 and of the life to come. 10 The proſperity of the godly ſhall be an eye-ſore to the wicked.

PRAISE ye the Lord. Bleſſed is the man that feareth the Lord, that delighteth greatly in his commandments.

2 His ſeed ſhall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the upright ſhall be bleſſed.

3 Wealth and riches ſhall be in his houſe: and his righteouſneſs endureth for ever.

4 Unto the upright there ariſeth light in the darkneſs: he is gracious, and full of compaſſion and righteous.

5 A good man ſheweth favour and lendeth: he will guide his affairs with diſcretion.

6 Surely he ſhall not be moved for ever: the righteous ſhall be in everlaſting remembrance.

7 He ſhall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, truſting in the Lord.

8 His heart is eſtabliſhed, he ſhall not be afraid, until he ſee his deſire upon his enemies.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CIX.

18 Like oil into his bones.) There is nothing more pernicious to a naked bone, than to put oil, or any other moiſture upon it, which will cauſe a miſerable corruption therein: on which account it is, that the moſt ſkilful ſurgeons, in treating about the diſeaſes of the bones, do moſt carefully warn their readers againſt the ſame.

23 I am gone like the ſhadow, when it declineth, &c.) The ſhadow of the evening doth not vaniſh ſooner than I from the place of my preſent abode, which I am forced to abandon at the ſhorteſt warning, and to wander like the locuſt, which is driven by the wind from place to place.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CX.

It is abundantly evident that the royal prophet here ſpeaks of ſome perſon much greater than himſelf, whom he calls his Lord, and this can be no other than the great Meſſiah, the redeemer of the human race: for no other king can, in any ſenſe, be ſaid to ſit at God's right hand: nor was there any prieſt of the order of Melchizedek that could be a type of him.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXII.

This pſalm ſeems to have been compoſed by David, the author of the foregoing, and to be a commentary on the laſt verſe of it; ſhewing how wiſely they conſult their own happineſs, who obſerve the commands of the Lord, eſpecially thoſe relating to charity, and the love of our neighbour.

9 He hath diſperſed, he hath given to the poor; his righteouſneſs endureth for ever, his horn ſhall be exalted with honour.

10 The wicked ſhall ſee it, and be grieved; he ſhall gnaſh with his teeth, and melt away: the deſire of the wicked ſhall periſh.

PSALM CXIII.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God for his excellency, 7 and for his mercy.

PRAISE ye the Lord. Praiſe, O ye ſervants of the Lord, praiſe the name of the Lord.

2 Bleſſed be the name of the Lord, from this time forth and for evermore.

3 From the riſing of the ſun, unto the going down of the ſame, the Lord's name is to be praiſed.

4 The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory above the heavens.

5 Who is like unto the Lord our God, who dwelleth on high;

6 Who humbleth himſelf to behold the things that are in heaven, and in the earth!

7 He raiſeth up the poor out of the duſt, and lifteth the needy out of the dunghill;

8 That he may ſet him with princes, even with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to keep houſe, and to be a joyful mother of children. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXIV.

An exhortation, by the example of the dumb creatures, to fear God in his church.

WHEN Iſrael went out of Egypt, the houſe of Jacob from a people of ſtrange language;

2 Judah was his ſanctuary, and Iſrael his dominion.

3 The ſea ſaw it, and fled; Jordan was driven back.

4 The mountains ſkipped like rams, and the little hills like lambs.

5 What ailed thee, O thou ſea, that thou fleddeſt? thou Jordan, that thou waſt driven back?

6 Ye mountains, that ye ſkipped like rams? and ye little hills, like lambs?

7 Tremble, thou earth, at the preſence of the Lord, at the preſence of the God of Jacob;

8 Which turned the rock into a ſtanding water, the flint into a fountain of waters.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXIII.

This pſalm, with the five following, were by the Hebrews called Hallel, or hymns: which they recited at their tables in the new moons, and other feaſts, eſpecially in the paſchal night, after they had eaten the Lamb; concluding it with Hallelujah, to excite all the people of God, eſpecially thoſe that conſtantly attended in his tabernacle, to praiſe the benevolent providence of the Moſt High, which extends to this lower world, and ſupplies the wants of all the creatures that inhabit it.

6 Who humbleth himſelf, &c.) Who condeſcends to extend his kind providence not only to the innumerable worlds which he has eſtabliſhed in the heavens, but alſo to regard this earth with his tutelary care.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXIV.

This pſalm contains a brief narration of ſome miraculous works, whereby the Lord declared his power when he brought the poſterity of Jacob out of Egyptian bondage. There is great beauty in concealing the preſence of God in the beginning of this pſalm, and afterwards by introducing the Deity, diſcovering the reaſon why the mountains leaped, &c.

PSALM CXV.

1 Becauſe God is truly glorious, 4 and idols are vanity, 9 he exhorteth to confidence in God. 12 God is to be praiſed for his bleſſings.

NOT unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy, and for thy truth's ſake.

2 Wherefore ſhould the heathen ſay, Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in the heavens; he hath done whatſoever he hath pleaſed.

4 Their idols are ſilver and gold, the work of men's hands.

5 They have mouths, but they ſpeak not; eyes have they, but they ſee not;

6 They have ears, but they hear not; noſes have they, but they ſmell not;

7 They have hands, but they handle not; feet have they, but they walk not; neither ſpeak they through their throat.

8 They that make them are like unto them; ſo is every one that truſteth in them.

9 O Iſrael, truſt thou in the Lord; he is their help and their ſhield.

10 O houſe of Aaron, truſt in the Lord; he is their help and their ſhield.

11 Ye that fear the Lord, truſt in the Lord; he is their help or their ſhield.

12 The Lord hath been mindful of us; he will bleſs us: he will bleſs the houſe of Iſrael, he will bleſs the houſe of Aaron.

13 He will bleſs them that fear the Lord, both ſmall and great.

14 The Lord ſhall increaſe you more and more, you and your children.

15 Ye are bleſſed of the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men.

17 The dead praiſe not the Lord, neither any that go down into ſilence.

18 But we will bleſs the Lord from this time forth and for evermore. Praiſe the Lord.

PSALM CXVI.

1 The pſalmiſt profeſſeth his love and duty to God for his deliverance. 12 He ſtudieth to be thankful.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXV.

This pſalm was doubtleſs compoſed in a time of ſore diſtreſs, when the heathen nations began to boaſt that their gods were more powerful than the God of Iſrael. But who was the author, or on what particular occaſion it was written, cannot be abſolutely known. Perhaps it was compoſed at the time when Jehoſhaphat ſaw that vaſt army (mentioned 2 Chron. xx. 2) conſiſting of ſeveral nations, coming near him. And poſſibly this was the hymn the ſingers were appointed to uſe, when the army went out to give thoſe enemies battle.

17 The dead praiſe not the Lord, &c.) By the dead are moſt properly characteriſed the Gentile nations; who having no part in God's covenant or redemption, but being eſtranged from him by their idolatries and wickedneſſes, were to be left for ever in the ſtate of death, ſo as never more to riſe to happineſs at leaſt; while God's people hoped for a joyful reſurrection, and a future ſtate of bleſſedneſs.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXVI.

This pſalm was certainly written by David when he fled from his rebellious ſon, and when Ahitophel and others of his friends joined the rebels, and he had nothing to depend upon but the goodneſs of the Almighty, who was pleaſed to plead his cauſe, and deliver him; for which he reſolved to be truly thankful, and to call upon all his friends to rejoice with him.

I LOVE the Lord, becauſe he hath heard my voice and my ſupplications.

2 Becauſe he hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will I call upon him as long as I live.

3 The ſorrows of death compaſſed me, and the pains of hell gat hold upon me: I found trouble and ſorrow.

4 Then called I upon the name of the Lord: O Lord, I beſeech thee, deliver my ſoul:

5 Gracious is the Lord, and righteous; yea, our God is merciful.

6 The Lord preſerveth the ſimple: I was brought low, and he helped me.

7 Return unto thy reſt, O my ſoul; for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee.

8 For thou haſt delivered my ſoul from death, mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling.

9 I will walk before the Lord in the land of the living.

10 I believed, therefore have I ſpoken: I was greatly afflicted.

11 I ſaid in my haſte, All men are lyars.

12 What ſhall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will take the cup of ſalvation, and call upon the name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the preſence of all his people.

15 Precious in the ſight of the Lord is the death of his ſaints.

16 O Lord, truly I am thy ſervant; I am thy ſervant, and the ſon of thine handmaid: thou haſt looſed my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, and will call upon the name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the preſence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lord's houſe, in the midſt of thee, O Jeruſalem. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXVII.

An exhortation to praiſe God for his mercy, &c.

O PRAISE the Lord, all ye nations: praiſe him, all ye people.

2 For his merciful kindneſs is great toward us: and the truth of the Lord endureth for ever. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXVIII.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God for his mercy. 5 The pſalmiſt ſheweth how good it is to truſt in God. 19 The coming of Chriſt's kingdom typified.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: becauſe his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let Iſrael now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever.

3 Let the houſe of Aaron now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever.

4 Let them now that fear the Lord ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever.

5 I called upon the Lord in diſtreſs: the Lord anſwered me, and ſet me in a large place.

6 The Lord is on my ſide; I will not fear: what can man do unto me?

7 The Lord taketh my part with them that help me: therefore ſhall I ſee my deſire upon them that hate me.

8 It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in man:

9 It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in princes.

10 All nations compaſſed me about: but in the name of the Lord will I deſtroy them.

11 They compaſſed me about; yea, they compaſſed me about: but in the name of the Lord I will deſtroy them.

12 They compaſſed me about like bees; they are quenched as the fire of thorns: for in the name of the Lord I will deſtroy them.

13 Thou haſt thruſt ſore at me that I might fall: but the Lord helped me.

14 The Lord is my ſtrength and ſong, and is become my ſalvation.

15 The voice of rejoicing and ſalvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the Lord doeth valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord doeth valiantly.

17 I ſhall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord hath chaſtened me ſore: but he hath not given me over unto death.

19 Open to me the gates of righteouſneſs: I will go in to them, and I will praiſe the Lord.

20 This gate of the Lord, into which the righteous ſhall enter.

21 I will praiſe thee: for thou haſt heard me, and art become my ſalvation.

22 The ſtone which the builders refuſed is become the head ſtone of the corner.

23 This is the Lord's doing; it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it.

25 Save now, I beſeech thee, O Lord; O Lord, I beſeech thee, ſend now proſperity.

26 Bleſſed be he that cometh in the name of the Lord; we have bleſſed you out of the houſe of the Lord.

27 God is the Lord, which hath ſhewed us light: bind the ſacrifice with cords, even unto the horns of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praiſe thee; thou art my God, I will exalt thee.

29 O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.

3 The ſorrows of death, &c.) In the old tranſlation it is ſnares; the pſalmiſt alludes here to the ancient manner of hunting; they uſed to ſurround a conſiderable tract of ground with a circle of nets, and afterwards contracted the circle by degrees, till they had forced all the beaſts of that quarter into a narrow compaſs; and then the ſlaughter began: the ſame cuſtom is obſerved in Italy.

COMMENTARY on PSALM CXVII.

This pſalm, like the 67th, ſeems to be altogether prophetical of the joy that all the world ſhould conceive at the coming of the Meſſiah; to give ſalvation to the Jews firſt, and afterwards to all the nations of the earth, according to his faithful promiſe. The brevity of it renders it more remarkable, and eaſier to be remembered both by the Jews and Gentiles.

COMMENTARY on PSALM CXVIII.

This pſalm ſeems to have been compoſed by David after God had ſettled him on the throne of Iſrael as well as Judah, and ſubdued all his enemies round about him, who, during the beginning of his reign, attacked him on every ſide, hoping to have cruſhed him before he was ſettled in his kingdom: for it plainly appears to have been written after the ark was brought to the hill of Sion, and placed in the tabernacle the royal prophet had prepared for it. Several paſſages of it relate to the Meſſiah, and were never fulfilled 'till our Great Redeemer was made king of the world.

PSALM CXIX.

This pſalm containeth ſundry prayers, praiſes, and profeſſions of obedience.

ALEPH.

BLESSED are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the Lord.

2 Bleſſed are they that keep his teſtimonies, and that ſeek him with the whole heart.

3 They alſo do no iniquity: they walk in his ways.

4 Thou haſt commanded us to keep thy precepts diligently.

5 O that my ways were directed to keep thy ſtatutes!

6 Then ſhall I not be aſhamed, when I have reſpect unto all thy commandments.

7 I will praiſe thee with uprightneſs of heart, when I ſhall have learned thy righteous judgments.

8 I will keep thy ſtatutes: O forſake me not utterly.

BETH.

9 Wherewith ſhall a young man cleanſe his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart have I ſought thee; O let me not wander from thy commandments.

11 Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not ſin againſt thee.

12 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy ſtatutes.

13 With my lips have I declared all the judgments of thy mouth.

14 I have rejoiced in the way of thy teſtimonies, as much as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and have reſpect unto thy ways.

16 I will delight myſelf in thy ſtatutes: I will not forget thy word.

GIMEL.

17 Deal bountifully with thy ſervant, that I may live, and keep thy word.

18 Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.

19 I am a ſtranger in the earth; hide not thy commandments from me.

20 My ſoul breaketh for the longing that it hath unto thy judgments at all times.

21 Thou haſt rebuked the proud that are curſed, which do err from thy commandments.

22 Remove from me reproach and contempt, for I have kept thy teſtimonies.

23 Princes alſo did ſit and ſpeak againſt me: but thy ſervant did meditate in thy ſtatutes.

24 Thy teſtimonies alſo are my delight, and my counſellors.

DALETH.

25 My ſoul cleaveth unto the duſt: quicken thou me according to thy word.

26 I have declared my ways, and thou heardeſt me: teach me thy ſtatutes.

27 Make me to underſtand the way of thy precepts: ſo ſhall I talk of thy wondrous works.

28 My ſoul melteth for heavineſs: ſtrengthen thou me according unto thy word.

29 Remove from me the way of lying; and grant me thy law graciouſly.

30 I have choſen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me.

31 I have ſtuck unto thy teſtimonies: O Lord, put me not to ſhame.

32 I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou ſhalt enlarge my heart.

HE.

33 Teach me, O Lord, the way of thy ſtatutes, and I ſhall keep it unto the end.

34 Give me underſtanding, and I ſhall keep thy law; yea, I ſhall obſerve it with my whole heart.

35 Make me to go in the path of thy commandments: for therein do I delight.

36 Incline my heart unto thy teſtimonies, and not to covetouſneſs.

37 Turn away mine eyes from beholding vanity; and quicken thou me in thy way.

38 Stabliſh thy word unto thy ſervant, who is devoted to thy fear.

39 Turn away my reproach which I fear: for thy judgments are good.

40 Behold, I have longed after thy precepts: quicken me in thy righteouſneſs.

VAU.

41 Let thy mercies come alſo unto me, O Lord, even thy ſalvation, according to thy word.

42 So ſhall I have wherewith to anſwer him that reproacheth me: for I truſt in thy word.

43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth; for I have hoped in thy judgments.

44 So ſhall I keep thy law continually for ever and ever.

45 And I will walk at liberty: for I ſeek thy precepts.

46 I will ſpeak of thy teſtimonies alſo before kings, and will not be aſhamed.

47 And I will delight myſelf in thy commandments which I have loved.

48 My hands alſo will I lift up unto thy commandments which I have loved; and I will meditate in thy ſtatutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remember the word unto thy ſervant, upon which thou haſt cauſed me to hope.

50 This is my comfort in my affliction: for thy word hath quickened me.

51 The proud have had me greatly in deriſion: yet have I not declined from thy law.

52 I remembered thy judgments of old, O Lord: and have comforted myſelf.

53 Horror hath taken hold upon me, becauſe of the wicked that forſake thy law.

54 Thy ſtatutes have been my ſongs in the houſe of my pilgrimage.

55 I have remembered thy name, O Lord, in the night, and have kept thy law.

56 This I had, becauſe I kept thy precepts.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXIX.

This pſalm, of which David was confeſſedly the author, is written with great art: for it is not only divided into as many parts as there are letters in the Hebrew alphabet, but alſo each of theſe parts into eight verſes; each of which, in the original, begins with the ſame letter that forms the title of the part. For inſtance, all the eight verſes in the firſt part, termed Aleph, begin with an Aleph or A; and thoſe in the ſecond with a Beth or B, &c. And hence this pſalm is, in the Maſſora, ſtiled the great Alphabet. But notwithſtanding the pains the royal author muſt have taken in the compoſition of this pſalm, it appears, from ſeveral paſſages in it, that it was written during the perſecution of Saul. It muſt, however, be obſerved, that David had many intervals of reſt during that period; and theſe, it is natural to think, he employed in meditating on the goodneſs and mercy of the Almighty, the excellency of his laws, and the happineſs of thoſe who make them the conduct of their lives: and in theſe meditations, the pſalm under conſideration ſeems to have been compoſed.

18 Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.) Illuminate mine underſtanding, O thou great preſerver of men, that I may clearly diſcern the admirable wiſdom which appears in thy law.

CHETH.

57 Thou art my portion, I have ſaid that I would keep thy words.

58 I entreated thy favour with my whole heart: be merciful unto me according to thy word.

59 I thought on my ways and turned my feet unto thy teſtimonies.

60 I made haſte and delayed not to keep thy commandments.

61 The hands of the wicked have robbed me: but I have not forgotten thy law.

62 At midnight I will riſe to give thanks unto thee, becauſe of thy righteous judgments.

63 I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts.

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy ſtatutes.

TETH.

65 Thou haſt dealt well with thy ſervant, O Lord, according unto thy word.

66 Teach me good judgment and knowledge: for I have believed thy commandments.

67 Before I was afflicted I went aſtray, but now have I kept thy word.

68 Thou art good, and doeſt good; teach me thy ſtatutes.

69 The proud have forged a lie againſt me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 Their heart is as fat as greaſe; but I delight in thy law.

71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted: that I might learn thy ſtatutes.

72 The law of thy mouth is better unto me than thouſands of gold and ſilver.

JOD.

73 Thy hands have made me and faſhioned me: give me underſtanding, that I may learn thy commandments.

74 They that fear thee will be glad when they ſee me: becauſe I have hoped in thy word.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are right, and that thou in faithfulneſs haſt afflicted me.

76 Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindneſs be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy ſervant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come unto me, that I may live: for thy law is my delight.

78 Let the proud be aſhamed: for they dealt perverſely with me without a cauſe: but I will meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let thoſe that fear thee turn unto me, and thoſe that have known thy teſtimonies.

80 Let my heart be ſound in thy ſtatutes: that I be not aſhamed.

CAPH.

81 My ſoul fainteth for thy ſalvation; but I hope in thy word.

82 Mine eyes fail for thy word, ſaying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am become like a bottle in the ſmoke: yet do I not forget thy ſtatutes.

84 How many are the days of thy ſervant? when wilt thou execute judgment on them that perſecute me?

85 The proud have digged pits for me, which are not after thy law.

86 All thy commandments are faithful: they perſecute me wrongfully; help thou me.

87 They had almoſt conſumed me upon earth: but I forſook not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me after thy loving-kindneſs; ſo ſhall I keep the teſtimony of thy mouth.

LAMED.

89 For ever, O Lord, thy word is ſettled in heaven.

90 Thy faithfulneſs is unto all generations: thou haſt eſtabliſhed the earth, and it abideth.

91 They continue this day according to thine ordinances: for all are thy ſervants.

92 Unleſs thy law had been my delight, I ſhould then have periſhed in mine affliction.

93 I will never forget thy precepts; for with them thou haſt quickened me.

94 I am thine, ſave me; for I have ſought thy precepts.

95 The wicked have waited for me to deſtroy me: but I will conſider thy teſtimonies.

96 I have ſeen an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding broad.

MEM.

97 O how love I thy law! it is my meditation all the day.

98 Thou through thy commandments haſt made me wiſer than mine enemies: for they are ever with me.

99 I have more underſtanding than all my teachers: for thy teſtimonies are my meditation.

100 I underſtand more than the ancients, becauſe I keep thy precepts.

101 I have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might keep thy word.

102 I have not departed from thy judgments: for thou haſt taught me.

103 How ſweet are thy words unto my taſte! yea, ſweeter than honey to my mouth!

104 Through thy precepts I get underſtanding: therefore I hate every falſe way.

NUN.

105 Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.

106 I have ſworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep thy righteous judgments.

107 I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O Lord, according unto thy word.

108 Accept, I beſeech thee, the free-will-offerings of my mouth, O Lord, and teach me thy judgments.

109 My ſoul is continually in my hand; yet do I not forget thy law.

110 The wicked have laid a ſnare for me; yet I erred not from thy precepts.

111 Thy teſtimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart.

112 I have inclined mine heart to perform thy ſtatutes alway even unto the end.

SAMECH.

113 I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love.

114 Thou art my hiding-place and my ſhield: I hope in thy word.

115 Depart from me, ye evil doers: for I will keep the commandments of my God.

67 Before I was afflicted, I went aſtray: but now have I kept thy word.) If it be neceſſary ſtill to deprive me of other delights, I ſhall, with the greateſt readineſs, ſubmit to it; for I muſt confeſs, that before I was acquainted with afflictions, I committed many errors; but ſince I have felt thy loving corrections, I have been more obſervant of thy word.

81 My ſoul fainteth for thy ſalvation, but I hope in thy word.) I have waited ſo many years for deliverance from all mine enemies, that I am ſometimes ready to faint away with vehement deſire to ſee thy long-expected promiſes fulfilled.

96 I have ſeen an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding broad.) I never yet ſaw any thing ſo complete, but as it had its bounds, ſo it was exceeding frail; but thy commandment, or the wiſdom which thou haſt revealed, is eternal, and endureth for ever.

116 Uphold me according unto thy word, that I may live: and let me not be aſhamed of my hope.

117 Hold thou me up, and I ſhall be ſafe: and I will have reſpect unto thy ſtatutes continually.

118 Thou haſt trodden down all them that err from thy ſtatutes: for their deceit is falſhood.

119 Thou putteſt away all the wicked of the earth like droſs: therefore I love thy teſtimonies.

120 My fleſh trembleth for fear of thee, and I am afraid of thy judgments.

A I N.

121 I have done judgment and juſtice: leave me not to mine oppreſſors.

122 Be ſurety for thy ſervant for good: let not the proud oppreſs me.

123 Mine eyes fail for thy ſalvation, and for the word of thy righteouſneſs.

124 Deal with thy ſervant according unto thy mercy, and teach me thy ſtatutes.

125 I am thy ſervant, give me underſtanding, that I may know thy teſtimonies.

126 It is time for thee, Lord, to work; for they have made void thy law.

127 Therefore I love thy commandments above gold, yea, above fine gold.

128 Therefore I eſteem all thy precepts concerning all things to be right; and I hate every falſe way.

P E.

129 Thy teſtimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my ſoul keep them.

130 The entrance of thy words giveth light: it giveth underſtanding unto the ſimple.

131 I opened my mouth, and panted; for I longed for thy commandments.

132 Look thou upon me, and be merciful unto me, as thou uſeſt to do unto thoſe that love thy name.

133 Order my ſteps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me.

134 Deliver me from the opreſſion of man: ſo will I keep thy precepts.

135 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant: and teach me thy ſtatutes.

136 Rivers of waters run down mine eyes: becauſe they keep not thy law.

T S A D D I.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and upright are thy judgments.

138 Thy teſtimonies that thou haſt commanded are righteous and very faithful.

139 My zeal hath conſumed me: becauſe mine enemies have forgotten thy words.

140 Thy word is very pure: therefore thy ſervant loveth it.

141 I am ſmall and deſpiſed; yet do not I forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteouſneſs is an everlaſting righteouſneſs, and thy law is the truth.

143 Trouble and anguiſh have taken hold on me; yet thy commandments are my delights.

144 The righteouſneſs of thy teſtimonies is everlaſting: give me underſtanding, and I ſhall live.

K O P H.

145 I cried with my whole heart; hear me, O Lord; I will keep thy ſtatutes.

146 I cried unto thee: ſave me, and I ſhall keep thy teſtimonies.

147 I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word.

148 Mine eyes prevent the night-watches, that I might meditate in thy word.

149 Hear my voice, according unto thy loving-kindneſs: O Lord, quicken me according to thy judgment.

150 They draw nigh that follow after miſchief: they are far from thy law.

151 Thou art near, O Lord; and all thy commandments are truth.

152 Concerning thy teſtimonies, I have known of old that thou haſt founded them for ever.

R E S H.

153 Conſider mine affliction, and deliver me; for I do not forget thy law.

154 Plead my cauſe, and deliver me: quicken me according to thy word.

155 Salvation is far from the wicked: for they ſeek not thy ſtatutes.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord; quicken me according to thy judgments.

157 Many are my perſecutors and mine enemies; yet do I not decline from thy teſtimonies.

158 I beheld the tranſgreſſors, and was grieved; becauſe they kept not thy word.

159 Conſider how I love thy precepts: quicken me, O Lord, according to thy loving-kindneſs.

160 Thy word is true from the beginning: and every one of thy righteous judgments endureth for ever.

S C H I N.

161 Princes have perſecuted me without a cauſe: but my heart ſtandeth in awe of thy word.

162 I rejoice at thy word, as one that findeth great ſpoil.

163 I hate and abhor lying; but thy law do I love.

164 Seven times a day do I praiſe thee; becauſe of thy righteous judgments.

165 Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing ſhall offend them.

166 Lord, I have hoped for thy ſalvation, and done thy commandments.

167 My ſoul hath kept thy teſtimonies: and I love them exceedingly.

168 I have kept thy precepts and thy teſtimonies: for all my ways are before thee.

T A U.

169 Let my cry come near before thee, O Lord: give me underſtanding according to thy word.

170 Let my ſupplication come before thee: deliver me according to thy word.

171 My lips ſhall utter praiſe, when thou haſt taught me thy ſtatutes.

172 My tongue ſhall ſpeak of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteouſneſs.

131 I opened my mouth, and panted: for I longed for thy commandments.) I have panted with my eager purſuit of the moſt excellent wiſdom, the knowledge of thy law; for I longed to have a perfect underſtanding of thy commandments, which afford ſuch abundant ſatisfaction.

175, 176 Let my ſoul live, and it ſhall praiſe thee, &c.) O let me not periſh in the ſnare they have laid around me; but ſpare my life, and I will devote it to thy praiſe: ſend me relief, by executing the judgments thou haſt decreed againſt mine enemies, who have chaced me from place to place during this tedious baniſhment, that, like a wandering ſheep which has loſt its way, I know not whither to betake myſelf for ſafety: but be thou pleaſed, O thou watchful guardian of Iſrael, like a careful ſhepherd, to ſeek me, and place me in the right way of eſcaping all the dangers to which I am expoſed, and of once more recovering my liberty, reſt, and peace: for, however hard my condition hath been, I have not been careleſs in the obſervance of thy commandments.

173 Let thine hand help me: for I have choſen thy precepts.

174 I have longed for thy ſalvation, O Lord; and thy law is my delight.

175 Let my ſoul live, and it ſhall praiſe thee; and let thy judgments help me.

176 I have gone aſtray like a loſt ſheep: ſeek thy ſervant; for I do not forget thy commandments:

PSALM CXX.

1 David praying againſt Doeg, 3 reproveth his tongue.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

IN my diſtreſs I cried unto the Lord, and he heard me.

2 Deliver my ſoul, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue.

3 What ſhall be given unto thee? or what ſhall be done unto thee, thou falſe tongue?

4 Sharp arrows of the mighty, with coals of juniper.

5 Wo is me, that I ſojourn in Meſech, that I dwell in the tents of Kedar!

6 My ſoul hath long dwelt with him that hateth peace.

7 I am for peace: but when I ſpeak, they are for war.

PSALM CXXI.

The great ſafety of the godly, who put their truſt in God's protection.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

I WILL lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help.

2 My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

3 He will not ſuffer thy foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not ſlumber.

4 Behold, he that keepeth Iſrael ſhall neither ſlumber nor ſleep.

5 The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy ſhade upon thy right hand.

6 The ſun ſhall not ſmite thee by day, nor the moon by night.

7 The Lord ſhall preſerve thee from all evil: he ſhall preſerve thy ſoul.

8 The Lord ſhall preſerve thy going out and thy coming in; from this time forth, and even for evermore.

PSALM CXXII.

1 David profeſſeth his joy for the church, 6 and prayeth for the peace thereof.

¶ A ſong of degrees of David.

I WAS glad when they ſaid unto me, Let us go into the houſe of the Lord.

2 Our feet ſhall ſtand within thy gates, O Jeruſalem.

3 Jeruſalem is builded as a city that is compact together.

4 Whither the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord, unto the teſtimony of Iſrael, to give thanks unto the name of the Lord.

5 For there are ſet thrones of judgment, the thrones of the houſe of David.

6 Pray for the peace of Jeruſalem; they ſhall proſper that love thee.

7 Peace be within thy walls, and proſperity within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren and companions' ſakes, I will now ſay, Peace be within thee.

9 Becauſe of the houſe of the Lord our God I will ſeek thy good.

PSALM CXXIII.

1 The godly profeſs their confidence in God, 3 and pray to be delivered from contempt.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

UNTO thee, lift I up mine eyes, O thou that dwelleſt in the heavens.

2 Behold, as the eyes of ſervants look unto the hand of their maſters, and as the eyes of a maiden unto the hand of her miſtreſs; ſo our eyes wait upon the Lord our God, until that he have mercy upon us.

3 Have mercy upon us, O Lord, have mercy upon us; for we are exceedingly filled with contempt.

4 Our ſoul is exceedingly filled with the ſcorning of thoſe that are at eaſe, and with the contempt of the proud.

PSALM CXXIV.

The church bleſſeth God for a miraculous deliverance.

¶ A ſong of degrees of David.

IF it had not been the Lord who was on our ſide, now may Iſrael ſay;

2 If it had not been the Lord who was on our ſide, when men roſe up againſt us;

3 Then they had ſwallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled againſt us:

4 Then the waters had overwhelmed us, the ſtream had gone over our ſoul;

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXX.

It is impoſſible to know, with any certainty, why this and the fourteen following pſalms were called Songs of degrees, or ſteps. But the moſt probable conjecture is, that they were ſo called from the excellence of the compoſition, or the high eſteem the Hebrews entertained for them on ſome particular occaſion. Whether this be the true reaſon for the title, I ſhall not pretend to determine; but however that be, this pſalm ſeems to have been written by David, when the calumnies of Doeg, and other wicked perſons, forced him to fly into the deſerts for ſafety, and even to go into the country of the Kadarens or Arabians, whoſe company was very diſagreeable to him. We do not indeed find any accounts of his being in the tents of Kedar, in the hiſtory of this perſecution; but it is very natural to think he ſought for ſafety in more places, than are there particularly mentioned, and might have viſited the tents of Kedar, as well as the land of the Moabites, and the wilderneſs of Paran, near which theſe tents were pitched.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXII.

David having ſettled the ark on mount Sion, and being in the country ſome time before one of their ſolemn feſtivals, heard the people inviting one another to join in their company, to viſit the dwelling-place of the God of Jacob, and pay him the tribute of praiſe and thankſgiving. And this pleaſing incident inſpired the royal prophet to compoſe this pſalm for their uſe on theſe ſolemn occaſions.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXIII.

This pſalm was doubtleſs written in a time of great diſtreſs, when ſome haughty tyrant of the earth threatened to level the walls of Jeruſalem with the duſt; but the particular occaſion is not known. Poſſibly it was compoſed by ſome pious perſon, when the king of Aſſyria ſent his army againſt Jeruſalem, where Rabſhekah and his companions uttered the moſt contemptuous, nay, blaſphemous words againſt the God of Iſrael, and the people he had choſen for his own inheritance. If this conjecture be admitted, the prophet Iſaiah was probably the author: for we read (2 Kings, xix. 4) that Hezekiah deſired him to lift up his prayer for the remnant that was left: and perhaps this is the very prayer that both he and Hezekiah made to the Holy One of Iſrael.

5 Then the proud waters had gone over our ſoul.
6 Bleſſed be the Lord, who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth.
7 Our ſoul is eſcaped as a bird out of the ſnare of the fowlers: the ſnare is broken, and we are eſcaped.
8 Our help is in the name of the Lord: who made heaven and earth.

PSALM CXXV.

1 The ſafety of ſuch as truſt in God. 4 A prayer for the godly, and againſt the wicked.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

THEY that truſt in the Lord ſhall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever.
2 As the mountains are round about Jeruſalem, ſo the Lord is round about his people from henceforth, even for ever.
3 For the rod of the wicked ſhall not reſt upon the lot of the righteous; leſt the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity.
4 Do good, O Lord, unto thoſe that be good, and to them that are upright in their hearts.
5 As for ſuch as turn aſide unto their crooked ways, the Lord ſhall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace ſhall be upon Iſrael.

PSALM CXXVI.

1 The church celebrating her incredible return out of captivity, 4 prayeth for, and propheſieth the good ſucceſs thereof.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

WHEN the Lord turned again the captivity of Zion, we were like them that dream.
2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ſinging; then ſaid they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.
3 The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad.
4 Turn again our captivity, O Lord, as the ſtreams in the ſouth.
5 They that ſow in tears ſhall reap in joy.
6 He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious ſeed, ſhall, doubtleſs, come again with rejoicing, bringing his ſheaves with him.

PSALM CXXVII.

1 The virtue of God's bleſſing. 3 Children are his gift.

¶ A ſong of degrees for Solomon.

EXCEPT the Lord build the houſe, they labour in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain.
2 It is vain for you to riſe up early, to ſit up late, to eat the bread of ſorrows: for ſo he giveth his beloved ſleep.
3 Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord, and the fruit of the womb is his reward.
4 As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man: ſo are children of the youth.
5 Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them: they ſhall not be aſhamed, but they ſhall ſpeak with the enemies in the gate.

PSALM CXXVIII.

The ſundry bleſſings which follow them that fear God.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

BLESSED is every one that feareth the Lord: that walketh in his ways.
2 For thou ſhalt eat the labour of thine hands: happy ſhalt thou be, and it ſhall be well with thee.
3 Thy wife ſhall be as a fruitful vine by the ſides of thine houſe: thy children like olive-plants round about thy table.
4 Behold, that thus ſhall the man be bleſſed that feareth the Lord.
5 The Lord ſhall bleſs thee out of Zion: and thou ſhalt ſee the good of Jeruſalem all the days of thy life.
6 Yea, thou ſhalt ſee thy children's children, and peace upon Iſrael.

PSALM CXXIX.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God for ſaving Iſrael in their great affliction. 5 The haters of the church are curſed.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

MANY a time have they afflicted me from my youth, may Iſrael now ſay:
2 Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth; yet they have not prevailed againſt me.
3 The plowers plowed upon my back; they made long their furrows.
4 The Lord is righteous: he hath cut aſunder the cords of the wicked.
5 Let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Zion:
6 Let them be as the graſs upon the houſe-tops, which withereth afore it groweth up;
7 Wherewith the mower filleth not his hand, nor he that bindeth ſheaves his boſom.
8 Neither do they which go by ſay, The bleſſing of the Lord be upon you: we bleſs you in the name of the Lord.

PSALM CXXX.

1 The pſalmiſt profeſſeth his hope in prayer, 5 and his patience in hope. 7 He exhorteth Iſrael to hope in God.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

OUT of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord.
2 Lord, hear my voice: let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my ſupplications.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXVI.

1 When the Lord turned again the captivity of Zion, we were like them that dream.) When the unexpected proclamation of Cyrus was publiſhed, for giving us liberty to return to our own land, we could hardly believe our ſenſes; the happineſs was ſo great, that we were fearful it was no more than a tranſient dream. This happy event could have been brought about only by the power of the Almighty God of Jacob.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXVIII.

5 The Lord ſhall bleſs thee out of Zion, &c.) Addreſs thyſelf unto the God of Jacob in his holy place, and he ſhall beſtow on thee whatever bleſſings thou requireſt of him; yea, thou ſhalt even ſee Jeruſalem, the ſeat of religion and juſtice, in a flouriſhing condition all the days of thy life.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXIX.

This pſalm was compoſed when ſome new calamity threatened them, either by Sennacherib, or, as others think, by thoſe nations who had combined to deſtroy the Jews, as ſoon as they returned from the Babyloniſh captivity; when they were taught by Ezra, or ſome other holy man, to recount what God had done for them ever ſince their ſojourning in Egypt, and to denounce the vengeance of Omnipotence againſt thoſe who now ſought their deſtruction.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXX.

1 Out of the depths have I cried unto thee, &c.) When troubles and afflictions have, like the waters of the great deep, overwhelmed me, I never deſpaired of thy mercy, O Lord, but cried with the greateſt earneſtneſs unto thee for deliverance.

3 If thou, Lord, ſhouldeſt mark iniquities: O Lord, who ſhall ſtand?

4 But there is forgiveneſs with thee, that thou mayeſt be feared.

5 I wait for the Lord, my ſoul doth wait, and in his word do I hope.

6 My ſoul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning: I ſay, more than they that watch for the morning.

7 Let Iſrael hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption.

8 And he ſhall redeem Iſrael from all his iniquities.

PSALM CXXXI.

1 David profeſſing his humility, 3 exhorteth Iſrael to hope in God.

¶ A ſong of degrees of David.

LORD, my heart is not haughty, nor mine eyes lofty: neither do I exerciſe myſelf in great matters, or in things too high for me.

2 Surely I have behaved and quieted myſelf as a child that is weaned of his mother, my ſoul is even as a weaned child.

3 Let Iſrael hope in the Lord from henceforth and for ever.

PSALM CXXXII.

1 David in his prayer commendeth unto God the religious care he had for the ark. 8 His prayer at the removing of the ark, 11 with a repetition of God's promiſes.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

LORD, remember David, and all his afflictions:

2 How he ſware unto the Lord, and vowed unto the mighty God of Jacob;

3 Surely I will not come into the tabernacle of my houſe, nor go up into my bed.

4 I will not give ſleep to mine eyes, or ſlumber to mine eye-lids,

5 Until I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Jacob.

6 Lo, we heard of it at Ephratah: we found it in the fields of the wood.

7 We will go into his tabernacles: we will worſhip at his foot-ſtool.

8 Ariſe, O Lord, into thy reſt: thou, and the ark of thy ſtrength.

9 Let thy prieſts be clothed with righteouſneſs, and let thy ſaints ſhout for joy.

10 For thy ſervant David's ſake turn not away the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath ſworn in truth unto David: he will not turn from it, Of the fruit of thy body will I ſet upon thy throne.

12 If thy children will keep my covenant and my teſtimony that I ſhall teach them, their children ſhall alſo ſit upon thy throne for evermore.

13 For the Lord hath choſen Zion; he hath deſired it for his habitation.

14 This is my reſt for ever: here will I dwell: for I have deſired it.

15 I will abundantly bleſs her proviſion: I will ſatisfy her poor with bread.

16 I will alſo clothe her prieſts with ſalvation: and her ſaints ſhall ſhout aloud for joy.

17 There will I make the horn of David to bud; I have ordained a lamp for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe with ſhame: but upon himſelf ſhall his crown flouriſh.

PSALM CXXXIII.

The benefit of the Communion of ſaints.

¶ A ſong of degrees of David.

BEHOLD, how good and how pleaſant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!

2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard, that went down to the ſkirts of his garments:

3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that deſcended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord commanded the bleſſing, even life for evermore.

PSALM CXXXIV.

An exhortation to bleſs God.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

BEHOLD, bleſs ye the Lord, all ye ſervants of the Lord, which by night ſtand in the houſe of the Lord.

2 Lift up your hands in the ſanctuary; and bleſs the Lord.

3 The Lord that made heaven and earth bleſs thee out of Zion.

PSALM CXXXV.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God for his mercy, 5 for his power, 8 and for his judgment. 15 The vanity of idols. 19 An exhortation to bleſs God.

PRAISE ye the Lord. Praiſe ye the name of the Lord: praiſe him, O ye ſervants of the Lord.

2 Ye that ſtand in the houſe of the Lord, in the courts of the houſe of our God.

3 Praiſe the Lord: for the Lord is good: ſing praiſes unto his name; for it is pleaſant.

4 For the Lord hath choſen Jacob unto himſelf, and Iſrael for his peculiar treaſure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.

6 Whatſoever the Lord pleaſed, that did he in heaven and in earth, in the ſeas, and all deep places.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXII.

This pſalm ſeems to have been written by ſome pious hand, after the Lord had commanded David, by Gad the ſeer, to build an altar in the threſhing-floor of Araunah the Jebuſite, where the deſtroying angel ſtood when he ſtretched out his hand over Jeruſalem. And here afterwards the temple of Solomon was built, as a fixed habitation for the ark, which was never to be removed, 'till the Great Meſſiah came, who was the temple of the living God.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXIII.

3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that deſcended upon the mountains of Zion, &c.) The dew of heaven is not more neceſſary to parched mountains, which, however diſtant from one another, are refreſhed with it, than this band of unity for men of all ranks and conditions, who every where perceive the comfortable fruits of it: for to this the divine favour is immutably annexed, which will pour upon ſuch ſocieties innumerable bleſſings, giving them a happy and long life in a conſtant employment of all manner of good things.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXV.

This ſeems to have been the morning hymn, which the præcentor called upon the Levites to ſing at the opening of the gates of the temple, as the foregoing was ſung at the ſhutting them up in the evening.

7 He cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings for the rain; he bringeth the wind out of his treaſuries.

8 Who ſmote the firſt-born of Egypt, both of man and beaſt.

9 Who ſent tokens and wonders into the midſt of thee, O Egypt; upon Pharaoh, and upon all his ſervants.

10 Who ſmote great nations, and ſlew mighty kings:

11 Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Baſhan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan;

12 And gave their land for an heritage, an heritage unto Iſrael his people.

13 Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever; and thy memorial, O Lord, throughout all generations.

14 For the Lord will judge his people; and he will repent himſelf concerning his ſervants.

15 The idols of the heathen are ſilver and gold, the work of men's hands.

16 They have mouths, but they ſpeak not: eyes have they, but they ſee not.

17 They have ears, but they hear not: neither is there any breath in their mouths.

18 They that make them are like unto them: ſo is every one that truſteth in them.

19 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Iſrael: bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Aaron:

20 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Levi: ye that fear the Lord, bleſs the Lord.

21 Bleſſed be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth at Jeruſalem. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXXXVI.

An exhortation to give thanks to God for particular mercies.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 O give thanks unto the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for ever.

3 O give thanks unto the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for ever.

4 To him who alone doeth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for ever.

5 To him that by wiſdom made the heavens: for his mercy endureth for ever.

6 To him that ſtretched out the earth above the waters: for his mercy endureth for ever.

7 To him that made great lights: for his mercy endureth for ever:

8 The ſun to rule by day: for his mercy endureth for ever:

9 The moon and ſtars to rule by night: for his mercy endureth for ever.

10 To him that ſmote Egypt in their firſt-born: for his mercy endureth for ever:

11 And brought out Iſrael from among them: for his mercy endureth for ever:

12 With a ſtrong hand and with a ſtretched-out arm; for his mercy endureth for ever.

13 To him which divided the Red ſea into parts: for his mercy endureth for ever:

14 And made Iſrael to paſs through the midſt of it: for his mercy endureth for ever:

15 But overthrew Pharaoh and his hoſt in the Red ſea: for his mercy endureth for ever:

16 To him which led his people through the wilderneſs: for his mercy endureth for ever.

17 To him which ſmote great kings: for his mercy endureth for ever:

18 And ſlew famous kings: for his mercy endureth for ever:

19 Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endureth for ever:

20 And Og the king of Baſhan: for his mercy endureth for ever:

21 And gave their land for an heritage: for his mercy endureth for ever:

22 Even an heritage unto Iſrael his ſervant: for his mercy endureth for ever.

23 Who remembered us in our low eſtate: for his mercy endureth for ever.

24 And hath redeemed us from our enemies: for his mercy endureth for ever.

25 Who giveth food to all fleſh: for his mercy endureth for ever:

26 O give thanks unto the God of heaven: for his mercy endureth for ever.

PSALM CXXXVII.

1 The conſtancy of the Jews in captivity. 7 The prophet curſeth Edom and Babel.

BY the rivers of Babylon there we ſat down; yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion.

2 We hanged our harps upon the willows in the midſt thereof.

3 For there they that carried us away captive required of us a ſong; and they that waſted us required of us mirth, ſaying, Sing us one of the ſongs of Zion.

4 How ſhall we ſing the Lord's ſong in a ſtrange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Jeruſalem, let my right hand forget her cunning.

6 If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth: if I prefer not Jeruſalem above my chief joy.

7 Remember, O Lord, the children of Edom in the day of Jeruſalem; who ſaid, Raſe it, raſe it, even to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babylon, who art to be deſtroyed; happy ſhall he be that rewardeth thee as thou haſt ſerved us.

9 Happy ſhall he be that taketh and daſheth thy little ones againſt the ſtones.

PSALM CXXXVIII.

1 David praiſeth God for the truth of his word. 4 He propheſieth that the kings of the earth ſhall praiſe God.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXVI.

This pſalm, like the former, is a commemoration of the goodneſs of the Lord, eſpecially of the wonderful works he had done for Iſrael. The form of acknowledgment, for his mercy endureth for ever, ſo often repeated in this pſalm, was preſcribed by David to be uſed continually in the divine ſervice (1 Chron. xvi. 41) and accordingly followed by Solomon, when he dedicated the temple, (2 Chron. vii. 3, 6) and by Jehoſhaphat, when, by the encouragement of a prophet, he went out againſt a prodigious army, at the head of a ſmall number of forces, (2 Chron. xx. 21.)

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXVII.

1 By the rivers of Babylon, there we ſat down, &c.) When we were carried from the land of promiſe to that of Babylon, and had the banks of the Euphrates aſſigned for our habitation, we there ſat down in the attitude of ſorrow; and when we reflected on the happy days we enjoyed in the holy hill of Sion, our eyes ſtreamed with tears.

¶ A pſalm

¶ A pſalm of David.

I WILL praiſe thee with my whole heart; before the gods will I ſing praiſe unto thee.

2 I will worſhip toward thy holy temple, and praiſe thy name for thy loving-kindneſs, and for thy truth: for thou haſt magnified thy word above all thy name.

3 In the day when I cried thou anſweredſt me, and ſtrengthenedſt me with ſtrength in my ſoul.

4 All the kings of the earth ſhall praiſe thee, O Lord, when they hear the words of thy mouth.

5 Yea, they ſhall ſing in the ways of the Lord: for great is the glory of the Lord.

6 Though the Lord be high, yet hath he reſpect unto the lowly: but the proud he knoweth afar off.

7 Though I walk in the midſt of trouble thou wilt revive me: thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thine hand againſt the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand ſhall ſave me.

8 The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forſake not the works of thine own hands.

PSALM CXXXIX.

David praiſeth God for his all-ſeeing providence.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

O LORD, thou haſt ſearched me, and known me.

2 Thou knoweſt my down-ſitting and mine up-riſing; thou underſtandeſt my thought afar off.

3 Thou compaſſeſt my path, and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O Lord, thou knoweſt it altogether.

5 Thou haſt beſet me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me.

6 Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it.

7 Whither ſhall I go from thy ſpirit? or whither ſhall I flee from thy preſence?

8 If I aſcend up into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there.

9 If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermoſt parts of the ſea;

10 Even there ſhall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand ſhall hold me.

11 If I ſay, Surely the darkneſs ſhall cover me; even the night ſhall be light about me.

12 Yea, the darkneſs hideth not from thee; but the night ſhineth as the day: the darkneſs and the light are both alike to thee.

13 For thou haſt poſſeſſed my reins: thou haſt covered me in my mother's womb.

14 I will praiſe thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my ſoul knoweth right well.

15 My ſubſtance was not hid from thee, when I was made in ſecret, and curiouſly wrought in the loweſt parts of the earth.

16 Thine eyes did ſee my ſubſtance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were faſhioned, when as yet there was none of them.

17 How precious alſo are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the ſum of them!

18 If I ſhould count them, they are more in number than the ſand: when I awake, I am ſtill with thee.

19 Surely thou wilt ſlay the wicked, O God: depart from me, therefore, ye bloody men.

20 For they ſpeak againſt thee wickedly, and thine enemies take thy name in vain.

21 Do not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and am not I grieved with thoſe that riſe up againſt thee?

22 I hate them with perfect hatred: I count them mine enemies.

23 Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts;

24 And ſee if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlaſting.

PSALM CXL.

David prayeth to be delivered from Saul and Doeg.

¶ To the chief muſician, a pſalm of David.

DELIVER me, O Lord, from the evil man, preſerve me from the violent man:

2 Which imagine miſchiefs in their hearts; continually are they gathered together for war.

3 They have ſharpened their tongues like a ſerpent: adders' poiſon is under their lips. Selah.

4 Keep me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked; preſerve me from the violent man; who have purpoſed to overthrow my goings.

5 The proud have hid a ſnare for me, and cords; they have ſpread a net by the way-ſide: they have ſet gins for me. Selah.

6 I ſaid unto the Lord, Thou art my God: hear the voice of my ſupplications, O Lord.

7 O God the Lord, the ſtrength of my ſalvation, thou haſt covered my head in the day of battle.

8 Grant not, O Lord, the deſires of the wicked: further not his wicked device; leſt they exalt themſelves. Selah.

9 As for the head of thoſe that compaſs me about, let the miſchief of their own lips cover them.

10 Let burning coals fall upon them: let them be caſt into the fire, into deep pits, that they riſe not up again.

11 Let not an evil ſpeaker be eſtabliſhed in the earth: evil ſhall hunt the violent man to overthrow him.

12 I know that the Lord will maintain the cauſe of the afflicted, and the right of the poor:

13 Surely the righteous ſhall give thanks unto thy name: the upright ſhall dwell in thy preſence.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXXXIX.

2 Thou knoweſt my down-ſitting, and mine up-riſing, &c.) Thou knoweſt the ſubjects of my meditation, both at home and abroad; nay, my inclinations are ſo perfectly known to thee, that, before I have conceived any deſign, it is viſible to thee.

7—12 Whither ſhall I go from thy ſpirit? or whither ſhall I flee from thy preſence, &c.) The ſentiment in this noble paſſage is remarkably ſtriking, and the deſcription truly ſublime. To what part of the univerſe ſhall I go, to avoid thy ſpirit? or whither ſhall I flee, to hide me from thy piercing ſight? If I climb up into the heights of heaven, thou art there enthroned in light. If I go down to the depths of the grave, thou art there in the pavillion of darkneſs. If I retire to the remoteſt climates of the Eaſt, where the morning takes wing; if ſwifter than the darting ray, I paſs to the oppoſite regions of the Weſt, and remain in the uttermoſt parts of the ſea, ſhall I, in that diſtant ſituation, be beyond thy reach, or, by this ſudden tranſition, eſcape thy notice? So far from it, that, could I, with one glance of thought, tranſport myſelf beyond the bounds of creation, I ſhould ſtill be encircled with the immenſity of thy eſſence; or rather ſtill be incloſed in the hollow of thy hand. Should I be ſo weak as to ſay, ſurely the raven-coloured mantle of the night will cover me; the very night would be turned into day around me. The pitchy veil of darkneſs can hide nothing from thy preſence; its blackeſt obſcurity is to thee like the brilliant rays of the morning; to thine eye, keener than the lightning's flaſh, the moſt open and the moſt ſecret practices are equally alike conſpicuous.

PSALM CXLI.

1 David prayeth that his ſuit may be acceptable. 3 His conſcience ſincere, 9 and his life ſafe from ſnares.

¶ A pſalm of David.

LORD, I cry unto thee: make haſte unto me; give ear unto my voice, when I cry unto thee.

2 Let my prayer be ſet forth before thee as incenſe, and the lifting up of my hands as the evening ſacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips.

4 Incline not my heart to any evil thing, to practiſe wicked works with men that work iniquity: and let me not eat of their dainties.

5 Let the righteous ſmite me, it ſhall be a kindneſs; and let him reprove me, it ſhall be an excellent oil which ſhall not break my head: for yet my prayer alſo ſhall be in their calamities.

6 When their judges are overthrown in ſtony places, they ſhall hear my words; for they are ſweet.

7 Our bones are ſcattered at the grave's mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth wood upon the earth.

8 But mine eyes are unto thee, O God the Lord: in thee is my truſt, leave not my ſoul deſtitute.

9 Keep me from the ſnares which they have laid for me, and the gins of the workers of iniquity.

10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilſt that I withal eſcape.

PSALM CXLII.

David ſheweth, that, in his trouble, all his comfort was in prayer to God.

¶ Maſchil of David; a prayer when he was in the cave.

I CRIED unto the Lord with my voice; with my voice unto the Lord did I make my ſupplication.

2 I poured out my complaint before him; I ſhewed before him my trouble.

3 When my ſpirit was overwhelmed within me, then thou kneweſt my path. In the way wherein I walked have they privily laid a ſnare for me.

4 I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me; refuge failed me; no man cared for my ſoul.

5 I cried unto thee, O Lord: I ſaid, Thou art my refuge, and my portion in the land of the living.

6 Attend unto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliver me from my perſecutors, for they are ſtronger than I.

7 Bring my ſoul out of priſon, that I may praiſe thy name: the righteous ſhall compaſs me about; for thou ſhalt deal bountifully with me.

PSALM CXLIII.

1 David prayeth for favour in judgment. 3 He complaineth of his griefs. 7 He prayeth for grace, 9 for deliverance, 10 for ſanctification, 12 for the deſtruction of his enemies.

¶ A pſalm of David.

HEAR my prayer, O Lord, give ear to my ſupplications: in thy faithfulneſs anſwer me, and in thy righteouſneſs.

2 And enter not into judgment with thy ſervant: for in thy ſight ſhall no man living be juſtified.

3 For the enemy hath perſecuted my ſoul; he hath ſmitten my life down to the ground: he hath made me to dwell in darkneſs, as thoſe that have been long dead.

4 Therefore is my ſpirit overwhelmed within me; my heart within me is deſolate.

5 I remember the days of old, I meditate on all thy works; I muſe on the work of thy hands.

6 I ſtretch forth my hands unto thee: my ſoul thirſteth after thee as a thirſty land. Selah.

7 Hear me ſpeedily, O Lord: my ſpirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, leſt I be like unto them that go down into the pit.

8 Cauſe me to hear thy loving-kindneſs in the morning; for in thee do I truſt; cauſe me to know the way wherein I ſhould walk: for I lift up my ſoul unto thee.

9 Deliver me, O Lord, from mine enemies: I flee unto thee to hide me.

10 Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy ſpirit is good: lead me into the land of uprightneſs.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy name's ſake: for thy righteouſneſs' ſake bring my ſoul out of trouble.

12 And of thy mercy cut off mine enemies, and deſtroy all them that afflict my ſoul; for I am thy ſervant.

PSALM CXLIV.

1 David bleſſeth God for his mercy, both to him and to man: 5 He prayeth that God would powerfully deliver him from his enemies: 9 He promiſeth to praiſe God.

¶ A pſalm of David.

BLESSED be the Lord my ſtrength, which teacheth my hands to war, and my fingers to fight.

2 My goodneſs, and my fortreſs; my high tower, and my deliverer; my ſhield, and he in whom I truſt; who ſubdueth my people under me.

3 Lord what is man, that thou takeſt knowledge of him! or the ſon of man, that thou makeſt account of him!

4 Man is like to vanity: his days are as a ſhadow that paſſeth away.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLI.

It ſeems probable that David compoſed this pſalm juſt before his flight to Achiſh king of Gath; when he had a ſecond time ſpared Saul's life, but could truſt him no longer: as his reſolution was to fly ſpeedily, and it was in the evening of that day, when he was now upon the wing, as it were; with his own dutiful behaviour towards Saul, and the other's implacable cruelty towards him ſtill freſh upon his thoughts; and moreover, reflecting on the dangers and temptations to which his religion would expoſe him in a heathen country: he poured out his ſoul to God in prayer.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLII.

This prayer was made by David, when he hid himſelf from Saul in the cave of Engedi, and was afterwards ſung to the tune of Maſchil, becauſe it admirably inſtructs poſterity in the moſt forlorn, nay deſperate condition, to recommend themſelves to God, and firmly truſt on him for deliverance. All the motions of David's mind, in this his danger, his fears, his apprehenſions, his prayers to God for deliverance are here very naturally ſet forth. He turned about, and looking upon his companions, obſerved they did not regard him: their minds, as was natural, were entirely taken up with their own danger, ſo that they did not think of their captain. He had no refuge, as he thought no man would ſtand by him: in this extremity he had no reſource but in God; So he cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, &c.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLIV.

This pſalm was doubtleſs written by David, after he had obtained ſome ſignal victory; perhaps, after thoſe two victories over the Philiſtines (mentioned 2 Sam. v) if not before them: for he ſtill mentions more oppoſers who were unſubdued, v. 7 and 11.

5 Bow thy heavens, O Lord, and come down: touch the mountains, and they ſhall ſmoke.

6 Caſt forth lightning, and ſcatter them: ſhoot out thine arrows and deſtroy them.

7 Send thine hand from above; rid me and deliver me out of great waters, from the hand of ſtrange children;

8 Whoſe mouth ſpeaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falſhood.

9 I will ſing a new ſong unto thee, O God: upon a pſaltery, and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings will I ſing praiſes unto thee.

10 It is he that giveth ſalvation unto kings: who delivereth David his ſervant from the hurtful ſword.

11 Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of ſtrange children, whoſe mouth ſpeaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falſhood.

12 That our ſons may be as plants grown up in their youth: that our daughters may be as corner-ſtones poliſhed after the ſimilitude of a palace;

13 That our garners may be full, affording all manner of ſtore; that our ſheep may bring forth thouſands and ten thouſands in our ſtreets.

14 That our oxen may be ſtrong to labour: that there be no breaking in, nor going out; that there be no complaining in our ſtreets.

15 Happy is that people that is in ſuch a caſe; yea, happy is that people whoſe God is the Lord.

PSALM CXLV.

1 David praiſeth God for his fame, 8 goodneſs, 11 kingdom, 14 providence, 17 and for his ſaving mercy.

¶ David's pſalm of praiſe.

I WILL extol thee, my God, O King; and I will bleſs thy name for ever and ever.

2 Every day will I bleſs thee, and I will praiſe thy name for ever and ever.

3 Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed; and his greatneſs is unſearchable.

4 One generation ſhall praiſe thy works to another, and ſhall declare thy mighty acts.

5 I will ſpeak of the glorious honour of thy majeſty, and of thy wondrous works.

6 And men ſhall ſpeak of the might of thy terrible acts: and I will declare thy greatneſs.

7 They ſhall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodneſs, and ſhall ſing of thy righteouſneſs.

8 The Lord is gracious, and full of compaſſion; ſlow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all; and his tender mercies are over all his works.

10 All thy works ſhall praiſe thee, O Lord; and thy ſaints ſhall bleſs thee.

11 They ſhall ſpeak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power;

12 To make known to the ſons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majeſty of his kingdom.

13 Thy kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations.

14 The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiſeth up all thoſe that be bowed down.

15 The eyes of all wait upon thee; and thou giveſt them their meat in due ſeaſon.

16 Thou openeſt thine hand, and ſatisfieſt the deſire of every living thing.

17 The Lord is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works.

18 The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth.

19 He will fulfil the deſire of them that fear him: he alſo will hear their cry, and will ſave them.

20 The Lord preſerveth all them that love him: but all the wicked will he deſtroy.

21 My mouth ſhall ſpeak the praiſe of the Lord: and let all fleſh bleſs his holy name for ever and ever.

PSALM CXLVI.

1 The pſalmiſt voweth perpetual praiſes to God. 3 He exhorteth not to truſt in man. 5 God, for his power, juſtice, mercy, and kingdom, is only worthy to be truſted.

PRAISE ye the Lord. Praiſe the Lord, O my ſoul.

2 While I live will I praiſe the Lord: I will ſing praiſes unto my God while I have any being.

3 Put not your truſt in princes, nor in the ſon of man, in whom there is no help.

4 His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts periſh.

5 Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whoſe hope is in the Lord his God;

6 Which made heaven and earth, the ſea, and all that therein is; which keepeth truth for ever.

7 Which executeth judgment for the oppreſſed; which giveth food to the hungry. The Lord looſeth the priſoners.

8 The Lord openeth the eyes of the blind: the Lord raiſeth them that are bowed down: the Lord loveth the righteous.

9 The Lord preſerveth the ſtrangers; he relieveth the fatherleſs and widow: but the way of the wicked he turneth upſide down.

10 The Lord ſhall reign for ever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXLVII.

1 The pſalmiſt exhorteth to praiſe God for his care of the church, 4 his power, 6 and his mercy; 7 for his providence; 12 for his bleſſings upon the kingdom; 15 for his power over the meteors; 19 and for his ordinances in the church.

PRAISE ye the Lord: for it is good to ſing praiſes unto our God; for it is pleaſant, and praiſe is comely.

12 That our daughters may be as corner-ſtones, poliſhed, &c.) That our daughters may be tall and beautiful, like thoſe poliſhed pillars which are ornaments of a royal palace.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLV.

This pſalm is compoſed with great art, each verſe, in the original, beginning a new letter of the alphabet; but the nun is wanting, poſſibly becauſe the copy from whence the collector took it was imperfect in that place, and he would not preſume to ſupply the defect himſelf. But however that be, this compoſition was always eſteemed ſo excellent, that the title of the whole book of pſalms was taken from it, which is wholly ſpent in praiſing God, with ſuch admirable devotion, that the ancient Hebrews uſed to ſay, He could not fail of being an inhabitant of the heavenly Canaan, who repeated this pſalm three times a day.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLVI.

This pſalm, and the four ſucceeding, begin and end with the word Hallelujah, praiſe the Lord: all of them containing exhortations to the people, to exert themſelves in that heavenly employment, which this pſalm recommends to them, from the conſideration of ſeveral of the divine excellencies which render him the proper object of our confidence in all conditions. But who was the author, or on what occaſion it was written, is unknown. Perhaps it is the production of ſome pious perſon after his return from the Babyloniſh captivity, when it was ſoon apparent that it was in vain to rely on the favour of princes; ſome of which oppoſed the building of the temple, with the ſame zeal as Cyrus had promoted it.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLVII.

This pſalm ſeems to have been written by Nehemiah, when he had finiſhed the walls and ſet up the gates of Jeruſalem.

2 The Lord doth build up Jeruſalem: he gathereth together the outcaſts of Iſrael.

3 He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds.

4 He telleth the number of the ſtars; he calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and of great power: his underſtanding is infinite.

6 The Lord lifteth up the meek: he caſteth the wicked down to the ground.

7 Sing unto the Lord with thankſgiving: ſing praiſes upon the harp unto our God,

8 Who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh graſs to grow upon the mountains.

9 He giveth to the beaſt his food, and to the young ravens which cry.

10 He delighteth not in the ſtrength of the horſe: he taketh not pleaſure in the legs of a man.

11 The Lord taketh pleaſure in them that fear him, in thoſe that hope in his mercy.

12 Praiſe the Lord, O Jeruſalem; praiſe thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath ſtrengthened the bars of thy gates: he hath bleſſed thy children within thee.

14 He maketh peace in thy borders, and filleth thee with the fineſt of the wheat.

15 He ſendeth forth his commandment upon earth: his word runneth very ſwiftly.

16 He giveth ſnow like wool: he ſcattereth the hoar-froſt like aſhes.

17 He caſteth forth his ice like morſels: who can ſtand before his cold?

18 He ſendeth out his word, and melteth them: he cauſeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow.

19 He ſheweth his word unto Jacob, his ſtatutes and his judgments unto Iſrael.

20 He hath not dealt ſo with any nation: and as for his judgments, ye have not known them. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXLVIII.

1 The Pſalmiſt exhorteth the celeſtial, 7 the terreſtial, 11 and the rational creatures to praiſe God.

PRAISE ye the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord from the heavens: praiſe him in the heights.

2 Praiſe ye him, all his angels: praiſe ye him, all his hoſts.

3 Praiſe ye him, ſun and moon: praiſe him, all ye ſtars of light.

4 Praiſe him, ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that be above the heavens.

5 Let them praiſe the name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 He hath alſo ſtabliſhed them for ever and ever: he hath made a decree which ſhall not paſs.

7 Praiſe the Lord from the earth, ye dragons, and all deeps:

8 Fire and hail; ſnow and vapour; ſtormy wind fulfilling his word;

9 Mountains, and all hills, fruitful trees, and all cedars;

10 Beaſts, and all cattle; creeping things, and flying fowl;

11 Kings of the earth, and all people; princes, and all judges of the earth;

12 Both young men, and maidens; old men and children;

13 Let them praiſe the name of the Lord; for his name alone is excellent: his glory is above the earth and heaven.

14 He alſo exalteth the horn of his people, the praiſe of all his ſaints; even of the children of Iſrael, a people near unto him. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CXLIX.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praiſe God for his love to the church, 5 and for that power which he hath given to the church.

PRAISE ye the Lord: ſing unto the Lord a new ſong, and his praiſe in the congregation of ſaints.

2 Let Iſrael rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.

3 Let them praiſe his name in the dance; let them ſing praiſes unto him with the timbrel and harp.

4 For the Lord taketh pleaſure in his people: he will beautify the meek with ſalvation.

5 Let the ſaints be joyful in glory: let them ſing aloud upon their beds.

6 Let the high praiſes of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged ſword in their hand;

7 To execute vengeance upon the heathen, and puniſhments upon the people;

8 To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron;

9 To execute upon them the judgment written; this honour have all his ſaints. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSALM CL.

1 An exhortation to praiſe God, 3 with all kind of inſtruments.

PRAISE ye the Lord: Praiſe God in his ſanctuary: praiſe him in the firmament of his power.

2 Praiſe him for his mighty acts: praiſe him according to his excellent greatneſs.

3 Praiſe him with the ſound of the trumpet: praiſe him with the pſaltery and harp.

4 Praiſe him with the timbrel and dance: praiſe him with ſtringed inſtruments and organs.

5 Praiſe him upon the loud cymbals: praiſe him upon the high ſounding cymbals.

6 Let every thing that hath breath praiſe the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord.

---

16 He ſcattereth the hoar-froſt like aſhes.) When wood is burning in the open air, ſome of the aſhes being light, are uſually carried up along with the flame and ſmoke, and after floating awhile in the air, fall down again in a ſoft and gentle manner; the particles of hoar froſt deſcend in much the ſame ſtill, ſilent, and almoſt imperceptible manner.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLVIII.

Who was the author, or at what time this pſalm was compoſed, is uncertain; but, as it appears from the laſt verſe, that the kingdom of Iſrael was in a very flouriſhing condition, it ſeems highly probable to have been written by David, when God had given him reſt from his enemies round about: which filled his heart with ſuch love for his Maker, that, in a tranſport of admiration, he wrote this rapturous ſong. In which, being conſcious of the narrow limits of his own praiſes, he calls upon all creatures in heaven and earth to join in one ſymphony of thankſgiving to the great Lord of heaven and earth.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CXLIX.

3 Let them praiſe his name in the dance.) This act of devotion, how ludicrous ſoever it may appear to us, has always been looked upon with reverence by the Eaſtern nations. Thus Pſalm cl. 4 Praiſe him with the timbrel and dance. Agreeably to which injunctions, the women went out after Miriam with timbrels and dances, Exod. xv. 20. And David danced before the Lord, 2 Sam. vi. 14.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm CL.

2 Praiſe him for his mighty acts, &c.) Praiſe him all ye miniſters of his upon earth, for the miraculous things he hath done for our deliverance and exaltation: let your praiſes bear ſome proportion to the excellence of his majeſty, and the multitude of thoſe great and magnificent acts of mercy towards us.

THE

THE PROVERBS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Collection is not the whole of the Proverbs of Solomon; for we are told, that he ſpake three thouſand Proverbs, and his Songs were a thouſand and five, 1 Kings iv. 13. Nor was he the Author of the whole Book, though it is placed under his Name. It is concluded, that the firſt twenty-four Chapters are the genuine Work of Solomon, that the five next are a Collection of ſeveral of his Proverbs, made by Order of King Hezekiah; and that the two laſt Chapters were added, and belong to different, though unknown, Authors.

CHAP. I.

1 The uſe of the proverbs. 7 An exhortation to fear God, and believe his word: 10 to avoid the enticing of ſinners. 20 Wiſdom complaineth of her contempt. 24 She threateneth her contemners.

THE proverbs of Solomon, the ſon of David king of Iſrael;

2 To know wiſdom and inſtruction, to perceive the words of underſtanding;

3 To receive the inſtruction of wiſdom, juſtice, and judgment, and equity:

4 To give ſubtilty to the ſimple, to the young man knowledge and diſcretion.

5 A wiſe man will hear, and will increaſe learning; and a man of underſtanding ſhall attain unto wiſe counſels:

6 To underſtand a proverb, and the interpretation: the words of the wiſe, and their dark ſayings.

7 ¶ The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools deſpiſe wiſdom and inſtruction.

8 My ſon, hear the inſtruction of thy father, and forſake not the law of thy mother:

9 For they ſhall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck.

10 ¶ My ſon, if ſinners entice thee, conſent thou not.

11 If they ſay, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privily for the innocent without cauſe;

12 Let us ſwallow them up alive as the grave; and whole, as thoſe that go down into the pit;

13 We ſhall find all precious ſubſtance, we ſhall fill our houſes with ſpoil;

14 Caſt in thy lot among us; let us all have one purſe;

15 My ſon, walk not thou in the way with them; refrain thy foot from their path.

16 For their feet run to evil, and make haſte to ſhed blood.

17 Surely in vain the net is ſpread in the ſight of any bird.

18 And they lay wait for their own blood; they lurk privily for their own lives.

19 So are the ways of every one that is greedy of gain; which taketh away the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ Wiſdom crieth without; ſhe uttereth her voice in the ſtreets:

21 She crieth in the chief place of concourſe, in the openings of the gates: in the city ſhe uttereth her words, ſaying,

22 How long, ye ſimple ones, will ye love ſimplicity? and the ſcorners delight in their ſcorning? and fools hate knowledge?

23 Turn ye at my reproof; behold, I will pour out my ſpirit unto you, I will make known my words unto you.

24 ¶ Becauſe I have called, and ye refuſed; I have ſtretched out my hand, and no man regarded;

25 But ye have ſet at nought all my counſel, and would none of my reproof.

26 I alſo will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your fear cometh.

27 When your fear cometh, as deſolation, and your deſtruction cometh as a whirlwind; when diſtreſs and anguiſh cometh upon you:

28 Then ſhall they call upon me, but I will not anſwer; they ſhall ſeek me early, but they ſhall not find me.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

7, 8 The fear of the Lord, &c.) The firſt principle of wiſdom muſt be carefully obſerved, which is this; That a ſenſe of God is a moſt neceſſary qualification to profit by theſe inſtructions: the ſecond is, To bear a great reverence to parents, both natural and ſpiritual.

10 My ſon, if ſinners entice thee, conſent thou not.) The inſtructions delivered in this and the following verſes merit the utmoſt attention. They teach us to reſiſt the firſt approaches of temptation, the only ſure method of being conquerors: for if we liſten to the firſt attack, though only with an intention of yielding to a particular, which at firſt ſight, appears to be of very little conſequence, we are in the greateſt danger of being undone. One ſin paves the way to another; and when once we have begun, it will be impoſſible to know where we ſhall make a final ſtop: we ſhould therefore always remember the words of the wiſe man; and whenever ſinners entice us to forſake the paths of virtue, abſolutely refuſe even to hear their flattering ſpeeches.

29 For that they hated knowledge, and did not chooſe the fear of the Lord;

30 They would none of my counſel, they deſpiſed all my reproof.

31 Therefore ſhall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices.

32 For the turning away of the ſimple ſhall ſlay them, and the proſperity of fools ſhall deſtroy them.

33 But whoſo hearkeneth unto me ſhall dwell ſafely, and ſhall be quiet from fear of evil.

CHAP. II.

1 Wiſdom promiſeth godlineſs to her children, 10 and ſafely from evil company, 20 and direction in good ways.

MY ſon, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee;

2 So that thou incline thine ear unto wiſdom, and apply thine heart to underſtanding;

3 Yea, if thou crieſt after knowledge, and lifteſt up thy voice for underſtanding;

4 If thou ſeekeſt her as ſilver, and ſearcheſt for her as for hid treaſures:

5 Then ſhalt thou underſtand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giveth wiſdom; out of his mouth cometh knowledge and underſtanding.

7 He layeth up ſound wiſdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly.

8 He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preſerveth the way of his ſaints.

9 Then ſhalt thou underſtand righteouſneſs, and judgment, and equity; yea, every good path.

10 ¶ When wiſdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleaſant unto thy ſoul;

11 Diſcretion ſhall preſerve thee, underſtanding ſhall keep thee:

12 To deliver thee from the way of the evil man, from the man that ſpeaketh froward things;

13 Who leave the paths of uprightneſs, to walk in the ways of darkneſs;

14 Who rejoice to do evil, and delight in the frowardneſs of the wicked;

15 Whoſe ways are crooked, and they froward in their paths.

16 To deliver thee from the ſtrange woman, even from the ſtranger which flattereth with her words;

17 Which forſaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the covenant of her God.

18 For her houſe inclineth unto death, and her paths unto the dead.

19 None that go unto her return again, neither take they hold of the paths of life.

20 ¶ That thou mayeſt walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous.

21 For the upright ſhall dwell in the land, and the perfect ſhall remain in it.

22 But the wicked ſhall be cut off from the earth, and the tranſgreſſors ſhall be rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 An exhortation to obedience, 5 to faith, 7 to mortification, 9 to devotion, 11 to patience. 13 The happy gain of wiſdom. 19 The power, 21 and benefits of wiſdom. 27 An exhortation to charitableneſs, 30 peaceableneſs, 31 and contentedneſs. 33 The curſed ſtate of the wicked.

MY ſon, forget not my law; but let thine heart keep my commandments:

2 For length of days, and long life, and peace ſhall they add to thee.

3 Let not mercy and truth forſake thee: bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart:

4 So ſhalt thou find favour and good underſtanding in the ſight of God and man.

5 ¶ Truſt in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own underſtanding.

6 In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he ſhall direct thy paths.

7 ¶ Be not wiſe in thine own eyes: fear the Lord, and depart from evil.

8 It ſhall be health to thy navel, and marrow to thy bones.

9 ¶ Honour the Lord with thy ſubſtance, and with the firſt-fruits of all thine increaſe:

10 So ſhall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy preſſes ſhall burſt out with new wine.

11 ¶ My ſon, deſpiſe not the chaſtening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction:

12 For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth, even as a father the ſon in whom he delighteth.

13 ¶ Happy is the man that findeth wiſdom, and the man that getteth underſtanding:

14 For the merchandiſe of it is better than the merchandiſe of ſilver, and the gain thereof than fine gold.

15 She is more precious than rubies: and all the things thou canſt deſire are not to be compared unto her.

16 Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour.

17 Her ways are ways of pleaſantneſs, and all her paths are peace.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her; and happy is every one that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wiſdom hath founded the earth; by underſtanding hath he eſtabliſhed the heavens.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken up, and the clouds drop down the dew.

21 ¶ My ſon, let not them depart from thine eyes: keep ſound wiſdom and diſcretion.

22 So ſhall they be life unto thy ſoul, and grace to thy neck.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

4 If thou ſeekeſt her as ſilver, and ſearcheſt, &c.) A proverbial ſaying, borrowed from thoſe who dig in mines: the former part of it expreſſing eager deſire and great diligence; the latter invincible reſolution and conſtant perſeverance, notwithſtanding thoſe difficulties which occur to diſcourage our labour.

16 To deliver thee from the ſtrange woman, &c.) It was uſual for women, when they became proſtitutes, to quit their own home and friends, and go into a foreign country in queſt of a livelihood, where they would be no ſhame to their relations. Hence it is, that at the time of the Judges and king Solomon, a proſtitute in Iſrael was generally diſtinguiſhed by the name of the ſtrange woman. Thus Jephthah is called (Judges xi. 1.) the ſon of an harlot, and in the following verſe, the ſon of a ſtrange woman, as terms equivalent the one to the other.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

18 She is a tree of life unto them that lay hold upon her, &c.) Wiſdom leads us to a paradiſe, and ſupplies the place of that tree of life for which our firſt parents were baniſhed: that is, ſhe gives not only a preſent, but an immortal ſatisfaction to all thoſe that ſtrongly apprehend and retain her precepts; and therefore I again pronounce him happy above all other men, and above all expreſſion, who conſtantly and firmly adheres unto them.

23 Then ſhalt thou walk in thy way ſafely, and thy foot ſhall not ſtumble.

24 When thou lieſt down thou ſhalt not be afraid; yea, thou ſhalt lie down, and thy ſleep ſhall be ſweet.

25 Be not afraid of ſudden fear, neither of the deſolation of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord ſhall be thy confidence, and ſhall keep thy foot from being taken.

27 ¶ With-hold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it.

28 Say not unto thy neighbour, Go, and come again, and to-morrow I will give; when thou haſt it by thee.

29 ¶ Deviſe not evil againſt thy neighbour, ſeeing he dwelleth ſecurely by thee.

30 Strive not with a man without cauſe, if he hath done thee no harm.

31 ¶ Envy thou not the oppreſſor, and chooſe none of his ways.

32 For the froward is abomination to the Lord: but his ſecret is with the righteous.

33 ¶ The curſe of the Lord is in the houſe of the wicked: but he bleſſeth the habitation of the juſt.

34 Surely he ſcorneth the ſcorners: but he giveth grace unto the lowly.

35 The wiſe ſhall inherit glory; but ſhame ſhall be the promotion of fools.

CHAP. IV.

1 Solomon, to perſuade obedience, 3 ſheweth what inſtruction he had from his parents, 5 to ſtudy wiſdom, 14 and to ſhun the path of the wicked. 20 He exhorteth to faith, 23 and ſanctification.

HEAR, ye children, the inſtruction of a father, and attend to know underſtanding.

2 For I give you good doctrine, forſake ye not my law.

3 For I was my father's ſon, tender and only beloved in the ſight of my mother.

4 He taught me alſo, and ſaid unto me, Let thine heart retain my words: keep my commandments, and live.

5 Get wiſdom, get underſtanding; forget it not: neither decline from the words of my mouth.

6 Forſake her not, and ſhe ſhall preſerve thee: love her, and ſhe ſhall keep thee.

7 Wiſdom is the principal thing; therefore get wiſdom: and with all thy getting get underſtanding.

8 Exalt her, and ſhe ſhall promote thee: ſhe ſhall bring thee to honour when thou doſt embrace her.

9 She ſhall give to thine head an ornament of grace: a crown of glory ſhall ſhe deliver to thee.

10 Hear, O my ſon, and receive my ſayings; and the years of thy life ſhall be many.

11 I have taught thee in the way of wiſdom; I have led thee in right paths.

12 When thou goeſt, thy ſteps ſhall not be ſtraitened; and when thou runneſt, thou ſhalt not ſtumble.

13 Take faſt hold of inſtruction; let her not go: keep her; for ſhe is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men.

15 Avoid it, paſs not by it, turn from it, and paſs away.

16 For they ſleep not except they have done miſchief; and their ſleep is taken away unleſs they cauſe ſome to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of wickedneſs, and drink the wine of violence.

18 But the path of the juſt is as the ſhining light, that ſhineth more and more unto the perfect day.

19 The way of the wicked is as darkneſs; they know not at what they ſtumble.

20 ¶ My ſon, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my ſayings:

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midſt of thine heart:

22 For they are life unto thoſe that find them, and health to all their fleſh.

23 ¶ Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the iſſues of life.

24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and perverſe lips put far from thee.

25 Let thine eyes look right on, and let thine eyelids look ſtraight before thee.

26 Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be eſtabliſhed.

27 Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil.

CHAP. V.

1 Solomon exhorteth to the ſtudy of wiſdom, 3 He ſheweth the miſchief of whoredom and riot. 15 He exhorteth to contentedneſs, liberality, and chaſtity. 22 The wicked are overtaken with their own ſins.

MY ſon, attend unto my wiſdom, and bow thine ear to my underſtanding:

2 That thou mayeſt regard diſcretion, and that thy lips may keep knowledge.

3 ¶ For the lips of a ſtrange woman drop as an honey comb, and her mouth is ſmoother than oil:

4 But her end is bitter as wormwood, ſharp as a two edged ſword.

5 Her feet go down to death; her ſteps take hold on hell.

6 Leſt thou ſhouldeſt ponder the path of life, her ways are moveable, that thou canſt not know them.

7 Hear me now therefore, O ye children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Remove thy way far from her, and come not nigh the door of her houſe:

9 Leſt thou give thine honour unto others, and thy years unto the cruel:

10 Leſt ſtrangers be filled with thy wealth: and thy labours be in the houſe of a ſtranger;

11 And thou mourn at the laſt, when thy fleſh and thy body are conſumed.

12 And ſay, How have I hated inſtruction, and my heart deſpiſed reproof.

---

32 His ſecret is with the righteous.) The righteous know the ſecret of his providence in raiſing wicked oppreſſors ſo high, that they may have the more dreadful fall.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

23 Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the iſſues of life.) Let this above all things be thy peculiar care, to ſet ſo ſtrict a guard upon the inward thoughts, motions, and affections of thy ſoul, that thy conſent be never attained by any thing which thou oughteſt to refuſe: for thy walking either in the paths of virtue or vice depends wholly on thy care and watchfulneſs in this particular.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

3 For the lips of a ſtrange woman drop as an honey-comb, &c.) As youth is remarkably prone to harlots, the wiſe man here adds another caution he had before given againſt this vice; and, with repeated intreaties, begs the attention of the gay and thoughtleſs to ſo weighty an argument, which he here proſecutes more at large, and preſſes with remarkable eloquence and very powerful reaſons.

13 And have not obeyed the voice of my teachers, nor inclined mine ear to them that inſtructed me!

14 I was almoſt in all evil in the midſt of the congregation and aſſembly.

15 ¶ Drink waters out of thine own ciſtern, and running waters out of thine own well.

16 Let thy fountains be diſperſed abroad, and rivers of waters in the ſtreets.

17 Let them be only thine own, and not ſtrangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountain be bleſſed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her be as the loving hind, and pleaſant roe: let her breaſts ſatisfy thee at all times; and be thou raviſhed always with her love.

20 And why will thou, my ſon, be raviſhed with a ſtrange woman, and embrace the boſom of a ſtranger?

21 For the ways of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his goings.

22 ¶ His own iniquities ſhall take the wicked himſelf, and he ſhall be holden with the cords of his ſins.

23 He ſhall die without inſtruction: and in the greatneſs of his folly he ſhall go aſtray.

CHAP. VI.

1 Againſt ſuretiſhip, 6 idleneſs, 12 and miſchievouſneſs. 20 The bleſſedneſs of obedience. 25 The miſchiefs of whoredom.

MY ſon if thou be ſurety for thy friend, if thou haſt ſtricken thy hand with a ſtranger,

2 Thou art ſnared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth.

3 Do this now, my ſon, and deliver thyſelf, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend; go, humble thyſelf, and make ſure thy friend.

4 Give not ſleep to thine eyes, nor ſlumber to thine eye-lids:

5 Deliver thyſelf as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 ¶ Go to the ant, thou ſluggard; conſider her ways and be wiſe:

7 Which having no guide, overſeer, or ruler,

8 Provideth her meat in the ſummer, and gathereth her food in the harveſt.

9 How long wilt thou ſleep, O ſluggard? when wilt thou ariſe out of thy ſleep?

10 Yet a little ſleep, a little ſlumber, a little folding of the hands to ſleep:

11 So ſhall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man.

12 ¶ A naughty perſon, a wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.

13 He winketh with his eyes, he ſpeaketh with his feet, he teacheth with his fingers;

14 Frowardneſs is in his heart; he deviſeth miſchief continually: he ſoweth diſcord.

15 Therefore ſhall his calamity come ſuddenly; ſuddenly ſhall he be broken without remedy.

16 Theſe ſix things doth the Lord hate; yea, ſeven are an abomination unto him:

17 A proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that ſhed innocent blood,

18 An heart that deviſeth wicked imaginations, feet that be ſwift in running to miſchief,

19 A falſe witneſs that ſpeaketh lies, and him that ſoweth diſcord among brethren.

20 ¶ My ſon, keep thy father's commandment, and forſake not the law of thy mother:

21 Bind them continually upon thine heart, and tie them about thy neck.

22 When thou goeſt, it ſhall lead thee; when thou ſleepeſt, it ſhall keep thee; and when thou awakeſt, it ſhall talk with thee.

23 For the commandment is a lamp: and the law is light; and reproofs of inſtruction are the way of life.

24 To keep thee from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a ſtrange woman.

25 ¶ Luſt not after her beauty in thine heart: neither let her take thee with her eye-lids.

26 For by means of a whoriſh woman a man is brought to a piece of bread: and the adultereſs will hunt for the precious life.

27 Can a man take fire in his boſom, and his clothes not be burned?

28 Can one go upon hot coals, and his feet not be burned?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbour's wife: whoſoever toucheth her ſhall not be innocent.

30 Men do not deſpiſe a thief, if he ſteal to ſatisfy his ſoul when he is hungry.

31 But if he be found he ſhall reſtore ſeven-fold, he ſhall give all the ſubſtance of his houſe.

32 But whoſo committeth adultery with a woman, lacketh underſtanding: he that doeth it deſtroyeth his own ſoul.

33 A wound and diſhonour ſhall he get, and his reproach ſhall not be wiped away.

34 For jealouſy is the rage of a man: therefore he will not ſpare in the day of vengeance.

35 He will not regard any ranſom: neither will he reſt content, though thou giveſt many gifts.

CHAP. VII.

1 Solomon perſuadeth to a ſincere and kind familiarity with wiſdom. 6 In an example of his own experience he ſheweth, 10 the cunning of a whore, 22 and the deſperate ſimplicity of a young wanton. 24 He exhorteth from ſuch wickedneſs.

MY ſon, keep my words, and lay up my commandments with thee.

2 Keep my commandments, and live; and my law as the apple of thine eye.

3 Bind them upon thy fingers, write them upon the table of thine heart.

4 Say unto wiſdom, Thou art my ſiſter; and call underſtanding thy kinſwoman.

5 That they may keep thee from the ſtrange woman, from the ſtranger which flattereth with her words.

6 ¶ For at the window of my houſe I looked through my caſement,

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

6, 7, 8 Go to the ant, thou ſluggard, conſider her ways, and be wiſe.) Obſerve, thou ſluggard, the provident care of the ant, who, during the ſummer, and the plenty of harveſt, lays up a ſufficient ſtock of proviſions to ſupport her during the nipping blaſts and hoary rains of winter. Obſerve how carefully ſhe depoſits her grain in cells ſhe hath digged for it in the earth, that it neither be injured by the chilling winds, nor ſtolen by other creatures who range the fields in ſearch of food: and ſurely ſo ſtriking an inſtance of labour, induſtry, and conſummate policy, exhibited by one of the inſect race, muſt make thee aſhamed of thy indolence, and animate thee to imitate her provident care.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

4 Say unto wiſdom, thou art my ſiſter, &c.) Embrace the precepts I have given thee with the moſt ardent affection; and place ſo high a value upon wiſdom, as to invite her continually to thee, till ſhe be as familiar with thee as an only ſiſter; and thou delight in her precepts as in the company of the moſt loved relation.

7 And

7 And beheld among the ſimple ones, I diſcerned among the youths a young man void of underſtanding,
8 Paſſing through the ſtreet near her corner; and he went the way to her houſe,
9 In the twilight in the evening, in the black and dark night;
10 And behold there met him a woman with the attire of an harlot, and ſubtil of heart.
11 (She is loud and ſtubborn; her feet abide not in her houſe:
12 Now is ſhe without, now in the ſtreets, and lieth in wait at every corner.)
13 So ſhe caught him and kiſſed him, and with an impudent face ſaid unto him,
14 I have peace-offerings with me; this day have I paid my vows:
15 Therefore came I forth to meet thee, diligently to ſeek thy face, and I have found thee.
16 I have decked my bed with coverings of tapeſtry, with carved works, with fine linen of Egypt.
17 I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
18 Come, let us take our fill of love until the morning: let us ſolace ourſelves with loves;
19 For the good man is not at home, he is gone a long journey;
20 He hath taken a bag of money with him, and will come home at the day appointed.
21 With her much fair ſpeech ſhe cauſed him to yield, with the flattering of her lips ſhe forced him.
22 ¶ He goeth after her ſtraightway, as an ox goeth to the ſlaughter, or as a fool to the correction of the ſtocks;
23 Till a dart ſtrike through his liver: as a bird haſteth to the ſnare, and knoweth not that it is for his life.
24 ¶ Hearken unto me now therefore, O ye children, and attend to the words of my mouth.
25 Let not thine heart decline to her ways, go not aſtray in her paths:
26 For ſhe hath caſt down many wounded: yea, many ſtrong men have been ſlain by her.
27 Her houſe is the way to hell, going down to the chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The fame, & and evidence of wiſdom; 10 the excellency, 12 the nature, 15 the power; 18 the riches, 22 and the eternity of it.

DOTH not wiſdom cry? and underſtanding put forth her voice?
2 She ſtandeth in the top of high places, by the way in the places of the paths.
3 She crieth at the gates, at the entry of the city, at the coming in at the doors:
4 Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the ſons of man.
5 O ye ſimple, underſtand wiſdom; and, ye fools, be ye of an underſtanding heart.
6 ¶ Hear; for I will ſpeak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips ſhall be right things.
7 For my mouth ſhall ſpeak truth; and wickedneſs is an abomination to my lips.
8 All the words of my mouth are in righteouſneſs; there is nothing froward or perverſe in them.
9 They are all plain to him that underſtandeth, and right to them that find knowledge.
10 ¶ Receive my inſtruction, and not ſilver; and knowledge rather than choice gold.
11 For wiſdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be deſired are not to be compared to it.
12 I wiſdom dwell with prudence, and find out knowledge of witty inventions.
13 The fear of the Lord is to hate evil: pride, and arrogancy, and the evil way, and the froward mouth, do I hate.
14 Counſel is mine, and ſound wiſdom: I am underſtanding; I have ſtrength.
15 By me kings reign, and princes decree juſtice.
16 By me princes rule, and nobles, even all the judges of the earth.
17 I love them that love me; and thoſe that ſeek me early ſhall find me.
18 Riches and honour are with me; yea, durable riches and righteouſneſs.
19 My fruit is better than gold, yea, than fine gold; and my revenue than choice ſilver.
20 I lead in the way of righteouſneſs, in the midſt of the paths of judgment:
21 That I may cauſe thoſe that love me to inherit ſubſtance; and I will fill their treaſures.
22 ¶ The Lord poſſeſſed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old.
23 I was ſet up from everlaſting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was.
24 When there were no depths I was brought forth; when there were no fountains abounding with water.
25 Before the mountains were ſettled; before the hills was I brought forth:
26 While as yet he had not made the earth, nor the fields, nor the higheſt part of the duſt of the world.
27 When he prepared the heavens I was there; when he ſet a compaſs upon the face of the depth;
28 When he eſtabliſhed the clouds above: when he ſtrengthened the fountains of the deep;
29 When he gave to the ſea his decree, that the waters ſhould not paſs his commandment; when he appointed the foundations of the earth:
30 Then I was by him, as one brought up with him; and I was daily his delight, rejoicing always before him:
31 Rejoicing in the habitable part of his earth; and my delights were with the ſons of men.

27 Her houſe is the way to hell.) That is, to the grave untimely.

Commentary on Chap. VIII.

1 Doth not wiſdom cry? and underſtanding put forth her voice?) Can any pretend ignorance, or ſay they were never cautioned againſt theſe ſnares? Or, rather, is not there the greateſt reaſon to chide you for ſtupidity, in hearkening to thoſe ſecret allurements to the deeds of darkneſs, when their conſequences are ſo apparent? and you have ſo many open and loud admonitions to be wiſer? and ſuch ſerious and earneſt endeavours have been uſed to reclaim you from your folly?

25, 26 Before the mountains were ſettled, &c.) Before the mountains, from whoſe bowels the fountains have their ſource; before even the little hills diverſified the ſurface of the earth, I had a being. Nay, even before he had called the earth from its chaos, the abode of night and darkneſs, when he had not formed one atom of this earthly globe, much leſs adorned it with lofty mountains and ſpacious plains.

30, 31 Then I was by him as one brought up with him, &c.) Then was I conſtantly with him; was daily his delight, rejoicing in the lovely work of creation; was delighted with the beautiful variety of animals which adorned this earthly globe; eſpecially with the children of men, who were made in the image of the Almighty, and capable of converſing with me.—The perſon who here ſpeaks in the character of wiſdom is generally ſuppoſed to be the ſon of God, who was in the boſom of his father before this world had exiſtence, and rejoiced with him at the formation of the univerſe.

32 Now, therefore, hearken unto me, O ye children: for bleſſed are they that keep my ways.
33 Hear inſtruction, and be wiſe, and refuſe it not.
34 Bleſſed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the poſts of my doors.
35 For whoſo findeth me findeth life, and ſhall obtain favour of the Lord.
36 But he that ſinneth againſt me wrongeth his own ſoul: all they that hate me love death.

CHAP. IX.

1 The diſcipline, 4 and doctrine of wiſdom. 13 The cuſtom, 16 and error of folly.

WISDOM hath builded her houſe, ſhe hath hewn out her ſeven pillars;
2 She hath killed her beaſts; ſhe hath mingled her wine; ſhe hath alſo furniſhed her table;
3 She hath ſent forth her maidens; ſhe crieth upon the higheſt places of the city,
4 Whoſo is ſimple, let him turn in hither; as for him that wanteth underſtanding, ſhe ſaith to him,
5 Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine which I have mingled.
6 Forſake the fooliſh, and live; and go in the way of underſtanding.
7 He that reproveth a ſcorner getteth to himſelf ſhame; and he that rebuketh a wicked man getteth himſelf a blot.
8 Reprove not a ſcorner, leſt he hate thee: rebuke a wiſe man, and he will love thee.
9 Give inſtruction to a wiſe man, and he will be yet wiſer; teach a juſt man, and he will increaſe in learning.
10 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom; and the knowledge of the Holy is underſtanding.
11 For by me thy days ſhall be multiplied, and the years of thy life ſhall be increaſed.
12 If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt be wiſe for thyſelf: but if thou ſcorneſt, thou alone ſhalt bear it.
13 ¶ A fooliſh woman is clamorous; ſhe is ſimple, and knoweth nothing.
14 For ſhe ſitteth at the door of her houſe, on a ſeat in the high places of the city,
15 To call paſſengers who go right on their ways;
16 Whoſo is ſimple, let him turn in hither: and as for him that wanteth underſtanding, ſhe ſaith to him,
17 Stolen waters are ſweet, and bread eaten in ſecret is pleaſant.
18 But he knoweth not that the dead are there; and that her gueſts are in the depths of hell.

CHAP. X.

From this chapter to the five and twentieth, are ſundry obſervations of moral virtues and their contrary vices.

THE proverbs of Solomon. A wiſe ſon maketh a glad father; but a fooliſh ſon is the heavineſs of his mother.
2 Treaſures of wickedneſs profit nothing: but righteouſneſs delivereth from death.
3 The Lord will not ſuffer the ſoul of the righteous to famiſh: but he caſteth away the ſubſtance of the wicked.
4 He becometh poor that dealeth with a ſlack hand, but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.
5 He that gathereth in ſummer is a wiſe ſon: but he that ſleepeth in harveſt is a ſon that cauſeth ſhame.
6 Bleſſings are upon the head of the juſt: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked.
7 The memory of the juſt is bleſſed: but the name of the wicked ſhall rot.
8 The wiſe in heart will receive commandments: but a prating fool ſhall fall.
9 He that walketh uprightly walketh ſurely: but he that perverteth his ways ſhall be known.
10 He that winketh with the eye cauſeth ſorrow: but a prating fool ſhall fall.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a well of life: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred ſtirreth up ſtrifes: but love covereth all ſins.
13 In the lips of him that hath underſtanding, wiſdom is found: but a rod is for the back of him that is void of underſtanding.
14 Wiſe men lay up knowledge: but the mouth of the fooliſh is near deſtruction.
15 The rich man's wealth is his ſtrong city: the the deſtruction of the poor is their poverty.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: the fruit of the wicked to ſin.
17 He is in the way of life that keepeth inſtruction: but he that refuſeth reproof, erreth.
18 He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a ſlander is a fool.
19 In the multitude of words there wanteth not ſin: but he that reſtraineth his lips is wiſe.
20 The tongue of the juſt is as choice ſilver, the heart of the wicked is little worth.
21 The lips of the righteous feed many! but fools die for want of wiſdom.
22 The bleſſing of the Lord it maketh rich, and he addeth no ſorrow with it.
23 It is a ſport to a fool to do miſchief: but a man of underſtanding hath wiſdom.
24 The fear of the wicked, it ſhall come upon him; but the deſire of the righteous ſhall be granted.
25 As the whirlwind paſſeth, ſo is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlaſting foundation.
26 As vinegar to the teeth, and as ſmoke to the eyes, ſo is the ſluggard to them that ſend him.
27 The fear of the Lord prolongeth days; but the years of the wicked ſhall be ſhortened.
28 The hope of the righteous ſhall be gladneſs: but the expectation of the wicked ſhall periſh.
29 The way of the Lord is ſtrength to the upright: but deſtruction ſhall be to the workers of iniquity.
30 The righteous ſhall never be removed: but the wicked ſhall not inhabit the earth.
31 The mouth of the juſt bringeth forth wiſdom: but the froward tongue ſhall be cut out.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

6 Forſake the fooliſh, and live; and go in the way of underſtanding.) Be perſuaded to make trial of theſe precepts; forſake the company of wicked men, and abandon all childiſh and ſenſeleſs actions: then will you have a taſte of true happineſs, which will invite you to perſevere, and liſten to the deliberate dictates of ſober reaſon, and the grave counſels of prudent perſons; who not only inſtruct others but practice themſelves their own precepts.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

18 He that hideth hatred with lying lips.) It ſhould be rendered, hath lying lips, to make the verſe conſiſt of two parts and not of one only, as in the preſent tranſlation: for each verſe of the Proverbs conſiſts of two diſtinct propoſitions, both relating to the ſame thing; and theſe are generally oppoſed to each other.

19 In the multitude of words there wanteth not ſin: but he that refraineth his lips is wiſe.) Nor are calumny and flattery the only vices of the tongue; many words are rarely innocent: he therefore that is ſparing of ſpeech, and conſiders well what he is going to utter, is truly prudent.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked ſpeaketh frowardneſs.

CHAP. XI.

A FALSE balance is abomination to the Lord: but a juſt weight is his delight.

2 When pride cometh, then cometh ſhame: but with the lowly is wiſdom.

3 The integrity of the upright ſhall guide them: but the perverſeneſs of tranſgreſſors ſhall deſtroy them.

4 Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteouſneſs delivereth from death.

5 The righteouſneſs of the perfect ſhall direct his way: but the wicked ſhall fall by his own wickedneſs.

6 The righteouſneſs of the upright ſhall deliver them: but tranſgreſſors ſhall be taken in their own naughtineſs.

7 When a wicked man dieth, his expectation ſhall periſh: and the hope of unjuſt men periſheth.

8 The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked cometh in his ſtead.

9 An hypocrite with his mouth deſtroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge ſhall the juſt be delivered.

10 When it goeth well with the righteous the city rejoiceth: and when the wicked periſh there is ſhouting.

11 By the bleſſing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that is void of wiſdom diſpiſeth his neighbour: but a man of underſtanding holdeth his peace.

13 A tale-bearer revealeth ſecrets: but he that is of a faithful ſpirit concealeth the matter.

14 Where no counſel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counſellors there is ſafety.

15 He that is ſurety for a ſtranger ſhall ſmart for it: and he that hateth ſuretiſhip is ſure.

16 A gracious woman retaineth honour: and ſtrong men retain riches.

17 The merciful man doeth good to his own ſoul: but he that is cruel troubleth his own fleſh.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but to him that ſoweth righteouſneſs ſhall be a ſure reward.

19 As righteouſneſs tendeth to life; ſo he that purſueth evil, purſueth it to his own death.

20 They that are of a froward heart are abomination to the Lord: but ſuch as are upright in their way are his delight.

21 Though hand join in hand the wicked ſhall not be unpuniſhed: but the ſeed of the righteous ſhall be delivered.

22 As a jewel of gold in a ſwine's ſnout, ſo is a fair woman which is without diſcretion.

23 The deſire of the righteous is only good: but the expectation of the wicked is wrath.

24 There is that ſcattereth, and yet increaſeth; and there is that with-holdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty.

25 The liberal ſoul ſhall be made fat: and he that watereth ſhall be watered alſo himſelf.

26 He that with-holdeth corn, the people ſhall curſe him: but bleſſing ſhall be upon the head of him that ſelleth it.

27 He that diligently ſeeketh good procureth favour: but he that ſeeketh miſchief, it ſhall come unto him.

28 He that truſteth in his riches ſhall fall: but the righteous ſhall flouriſh as a branch.

29 He that troubleth his own houſe ſhall inherit the wind: and the fool ſhall be ſervant to the wiſe of heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth ſouls is wiſe.

31 Behold, the righteous ſhall be recompenſed in the earth: much more the wicked and the ſinner.

CHAP. XII.

WHOSO loveth inſtruction loveth knowledge: but he that hateth reproof is brutiſh.

2 A good man obtaineth favour of the Lord: but a man of wicked devices will he condemn.

3 A man ſhall not be eſtabliſhed by wickedneſs: but the root of the righteous ſhall not be moved.

4 A virtuous woman is a crown to her huſband: but ſhe that maketh aſhamed is as rottenneſs in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counſels of the wicked are deceit.

6 The words of the wicked are to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the upright ſhall deliver them.

7 The wicked are overthrown, and are not: but the houſe of the righteous ſhall ſtand.

8 A man ſhall be commended according to his wiſdom: but he that is of a perverſe heart ſhall be deſpiſed.

9 He that is deſpiſed, and hath a ſervant, is better than he that honoureth himſelf, and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beaſt: but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 He that tilleth his land ſhall be ſatisfied with bread: but he that followeth vain perſons is void of underſtanding.

12 The wicked deſireth the net of evil men: but the root of the righteous yieldeth fruit.

13 The wicked is ſnared by the tranſgreſſion of his lips: but the juſt ſhall come out of trouble.

14 A man ſhall be ſatisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth; and the recompence of a man's hands ſhall be rendered unto him.

15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counſel is wiſe.

16 A fool's wrath is preſently known: but a prudent man covereth his ſhame.

17 He that ſpeaketh truth ſheweth forth righteouſneſs: but a falſe witneſs deceit.

18 There is that ſpeaketh like the piercings of a ſword: but the tongue of the wiſe is health.

19 The lip of truth ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment.

20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine evil: but to the counſellors of peace is joy.

21 There ſhall no evil happen to the juſt: but the wicked ſhall be filled with miſchief.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

30 The fruit of the righteous is the tree of life: and he that winneth ſouls is wiſe.) The benefit ſociety receives from a juſt and charitable man, may be compared to the fruit of the tree of life, which keeps the ſons of men from miſery: but he is the far greater benefactor, who communicates wiſdom ſeaſonably, than he who draws ſouls from the broad ways of deſtruction to the narrow path leading to eternal felicity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

13 Whoſo loveth inſtruction, loveth knowledge, &c.) It is a certain indication of a wiſe and good man, to liſten with attention and patience to thoſe who tell him of his faults, and who is thankful for reproof: but he who declines inſtruction, and turneth away from reproof, indicates that his paſſions are ſo brutiſh, that there is little hopes of his being ever reclaimed.

22 Lying lips are abomination to the Lord: but they that deal truly are his delight.

23 A prudent man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of fools proclaimeth fooliſhneſs.

24 The hand of the diligent ſhall bear rule: but the ſlothful ſhall be under tribute.

25 Heavineſs in the heart of man maketh it ſtoop: but a good word maketh it glad.

26 The righteous is more excellent than his neighbour: but the way of the wicked ſeduceth them.

27 The ſlothful man roaſteth not that which he took in hunting: but the ſubſtance of the diligent man is precious.

28 In the way of righteouſneſs is life: and in the path-way thereof there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

A WISE ſon heareth his father's inſtruction: but a ſcorner heareth not rebuke.

2 A man ſhall eat good by the fruit of his mouth: but the ſoul of the tranſgreſſors ſhall eat violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips ſhall have deſtruction.

4 The ſoul of the ſluggard deſireth and hath nothing: but the ſoul of the diligent ſhall be made fat.

5 A righteous man hateth lying: but a wicked man is loathſome, and cometh to ſhame.

6 Righteouſneſs keepeth him that is upright in the way: but wickedneſs overthroweth the ſinner.

7 There is that maketh himſelf rich, yet hath nothing: there is that maketh himſelf poor, yet hath great riches.

8 The ranſom of a man's life are his riches: but the poor heareth not rebuke.

9 The light of the righteous rejoiceth: but the lamp of the wicked ſhall be put out.

10 Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well-adviſed is wiſdom.

11 Wealth gotten by vanity ſhall be diminiſhed: but he that gathereth by labour ſhall increaſe.

12 Hope deferred maketh the heart ſick: but when the deſire cometh it is a tree of life.

13 Whoſo deſpiſeth the word ſhall be deſtroyed: but he that feareth the commandment ſhall be rewarded.

14 The law of the wiſe is a fountain of life, to depart from the ſnares of death.

15 Good underſtanding giveth favour: but the way of tranſgreſſors is hard.

16 Every prudent man dealeth with knowledge: but a fool layeth open his folly.

17 A wicked meſſenger falleth into miſchief: but a faithful ambaſſador is health.

18 Poverty and ſhame ſhall be to him that refuſeth inſtruction: but he that regardeth reproof ſhall be honoured.

19 The deſire accompliſhed is ſweet to the ſoul: but it is abomination to fools to depart from evil.

20 He that walketh with wiſe men ſhall be wiſe: but a companion of fools ſhall be deſtroyed.

21 Evil purſueth ſinners: but to the righteous good ſhall be repaid.

22 A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the ſinner is laid up for the juſt.

23 Much food is in the tillage of the poor: but there is that is deſtroyed for want of judgment.

24 He that ſpareth his rod hateth his ſon: but he that loveth him chaſteneth him betimes.

25 The righteous eateth to the ſatisfying of his ſoul: but the belly of the wicked ſhall want.

CHAP. XIV.

EVERY wiſe woman buildeth her houſe: but the fooliſh plucketh it down with her hands.

2 He that walketh in his uprightneſs feareth the Lord: but he that is perverſe in his ways deſpiſeth him.

3 In the mouth of the fooliſh is a rod of pride: but the lips of the wiſe ſhall preſerve them.

4 Where no oxen are, the crib is clean: but much increaſe is by the ſtrength of the ox.

5 A faithful witneſs will not lie: but a falſe witneſs will utter lies.

6 A ſcorner ſeeketh wiſdom and findeth it not: but knowledge is eaſy unto him that underſtandeth.

7 Go from the preſence of a fooliſh man, when thou perceiveſt not in him the lips of knowledge.

8 The wiſdom of the prudent is to underſtand his way: but the folly of fools is deceit.

9 Fools make a mock at ſin: but among the righteous there is favour.

10 The heart knoweth his own bitterneſs: and a ſtranger doth not intermeddle with his joy.

11 The houſe of the wicked ſhall be overthrown: but the tabernacle of the upright ſhall flouriſh.

12 There is a way which ſeemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

13 Even in laughter the heart is ſorrowful; and the end of that mirth is heavineſs.

14 The backſlider in heart ſhall be filled with his own ways: and a good man ſhall be ſatisfied from himſelf.

15 The ſimple believeth every word: but the prudent man looketh well to his going.

16 A wiſe man feareth and departeth from evil: but the fool rageth and is confident.

17 He that is ſoon angry dealeth fooliſhly: and a man of wicked devices is hated.

18 The ſimple inherit folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The evil bow before the good: and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poor is hated, even of his own neighbour: the rich hath many friends.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

4 The ſoul of the ſluggard deſireth, and hath nothing: but the ſoul of the diligent ſhall be made fat.) Neither riches nor learning can be expected by the ſlothful man, which he in vain deſires, but will not labour for them: but the diligent and induſtrious ſhall never want ſatisfaction, and often enjoy more than was expected, or even deſired.

21 Evil purſueth ſinners: but to the righteous, good ſhall be repaid.) The wickedneſs of ſinners purſues them to unavoidable deſtruction: and the good which righteous men perform will infallibly return into their own boſom, and reward them with many bleſſings.

COMMENTARY on Pſalm XIV.

1 Every wiſe woman buildeth her houſe: but the fooliſh plucketh it down with her hands.) He hath a valuable treaſure who hath a wife and virtuous wife; for ſhe alone, by her diligent and prudent adminiſtration, is capable of raiſing the riches of her family, and increaſing its reputation: but ſhe that is fooliſh and prone to vice, by her negligence, ill management, and luxury, will lay it low, and waſte all that hath been gotten by her predeceſſors.

20 The poor is hated, even of his own neighbour: but the rich hath many friends.) Little ſincerity is to be found in the world; for, if a perſon falls into poverty, his neighbour, nay, even he, who before pretended to be his friend, will not only withdraw his kindneſs from him, but even forſake his company: but when a perſon has the good fortune to become rich, many, who before took no notice of him, will pretend to be his friends, and offer to aſſiſt him with every particular in their power.

21 He that deſpiſeth his neighbour ſinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he.

22 Do they not err that deviſe evil? but mercy and truth ſhall be to them that deviſe good.

23 In all labour there is profit: but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury.

24 The crown of the wiſe is their riches: but the fooliſhneſs of fools is folly.

25 A true witneſs delivereth ſouls: but a deceitful witneſs ſpeaketh lies.

26 In the fear of the Lord is ſtrong confidence: and his children ſhall have a place of refuge.

27 The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to depart from the ſnares of death.

28 In the multitude of people is the king's honour: but in the want of people is the deſtruction of the prince.

29 He that is ſlow to wrath is of great underſtanding: but he that is haſty of ſpirit exalteth folly.

30 A ſound heart is the life of the fleſh; but envy the rottenneſs of the bones.

31 He that oppreſſeth the poor reproacheth his Maker: but he that honoureth him hath mercy on the poor.

32 The wicked is driven away in his wickedneſs: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wiſdom reſteth in the heart of him that hath underſtanding: but that which is in the midſt of fools is made known.

34 Righteouſneſs exalteth a nation: but ſin is a reproach to any people.

35 The king's favour is toward a wiſe ſervant: but his wrath is againſt him that cauſeth ſhame.

CHAP. XV.

A SOFT anſwer turneth away wrath: but grievous words ſtir up anger.

2 The tongue of the wiſe uſeth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fools poureth out fooliſhneſs.

3 The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good.

4 A wholeſome tongue is a tree of life: but perverſeneſs therein is a breach in the ſpirit.

5 A fool deſpiſeth his father's inſtruction: but he that regardeth reproof is prudent.

6 In the houſe of the righteous is much treaſure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.

7 The lips of the wiſe diſperſe knowledge: but the heart of the fooliſh doeth not ſo.

8 The ſacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the upright is his delight.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination unto the Lord: but he loveth him that followeth after righteouſneſs.

10 Correction is grievous unto him that forſaketh the way: and he that hateth reproof ſhall die.

11 Hell and deſtruction are before the Lord; how much more then the hearts of the children of men?

12 A ſcorner loveth not one that reproveth him: neither will he go unto the wiſe.

13 A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance: but by ſorrow of the heart the ſpirit is broken.

14 The heart of him that hath underſtanding ſeeketh knowledge: but the mouth of fools feedeth on fooliſhneſs.

15 All the days of the afflicted are evil: but he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feaſt.

16 Better is little with the fear of the Lord, than great treaſure and trouble therewith.

17 Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a ſtalled ox and hatred therewith.

18 A wrathful man ſtirreth up ſtrife: but he that is ſlow to anger appeaſeth ſtrife.

19 The way of the ſlothful man is as an hedge of thorns: but the way of the righteous is made plain.

20 A wiſe ſon maketh a glad father: but a fooliſh man deſpiſeth his mother.

21 Folly is joy to him that is deſtitute of wiſdom: but a man of underſtanding walketh uprightly.

22 Without counſel purpoſes are diſappointed: but in the multitude of counſellors they are eſtabliſhed.

23 A man hath joy by the anſwer of his mouth: and a word ſpoken in due ſeaſon, how good is it!

24 The way of life is above to the wiſe, that he may depart from hell beneath.

25 The Lord will deſtroy the houſe of the proud: but he will eſtabliſh the border of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the Lord: but the words of the pure are pleaſant words.

27 He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own houſe: but he that hateth gifts ſhall live.

28 The heart of the righteous ſtudieth to anſwer: but the mouth of the wicked poureth out evil things.

29 The Lord is far from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes rejoiceth the heart: and a good report maketh the bones fat.

31 The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wiſe.

32 He that refuſeth inſtruction deſpiſeth his own ſoul: but he that heareth reproof getteth underſtanding.

33 The fear of the Lord is the inſtruction of wiſdom: and before honour is humility.

CHAP. XVI.

THE preparations of the heart in man, and the anſwer of the tongue is from the Lord.

2 All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes: but the Lord weigheth the ſpirits.

---

23 In all labour there is profit: but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury.) Solomon here diſtinguiſhes between the labour of the tongue, and the labour of the hands; conſidering want as the reward of the one, and wealth as that of the other. For it is commonly found, that thoſe who talk liberally, boaſt highly, and promiſe mighty things, are beggars, and receive no benefit from their idle talk: nor are they in general remarkable for induſtry, or diligence in their calling, but feed themſelves with words; and, to uſe the words of a ſacred writer, fill their bellies with the eaſt wind. He who is conſcious to himſelf of being a proficient in his employment contents himſelf with the applauſe of his own breaſt, and holds his peace; but he who knows that he only ſeeks unjuſt applauſe, and hath nothing to ſupport his claim, fills the air with his words, and reports wonders to others.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

11 Hell and deſtruction are before the Lord: how much more then the hearts of the children of men?) The Lord is perfectly acquainted with the moſt ſecret tranſactions; neither the chambers of the grave, nor the depths of hell, can conceal any thing from him; how can then the thoughts of the human heart eſcape his notice, or the ſinner hope to form his wicked ſchemes in ſecret?

24 The way of life is above to the wiſe, that he may depart from hell beneath.) The truly wiſe man knows that the only way to attain complete happineſs, is to raiſe his thoughts, deſires, and hopes above this earth, and to have reſpect to God, in all his actions, which will render him truly great and noble, preſerve him from mean and baſe practices in this life, and utter deſtruction in that which is to come.

3 Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts ſhall be eſtabliſhed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for himſelf; yea, even the wicked for the day of evil.

5 Every one that is proud in heart is an abomination to the Lord: though hand join in hand, he ſhall not be unpuniſhed.

6 By mercy and truth iniquity is purged: and by the fear of the Lord men depart from evil.

7 When a man's ways pleaſe the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteouſneſs, than great revenues without right.

9 A man's heart deviſeth his way; but the Lord directeth his ſteps.

10 A divine ſentence is in the lips of the king: his mouth tranſgreſſeth not in judgment.

11 A juſt weight and ballance are the Lord's; all the weights of the bag are his work.

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedneſs: for the throne is eſtabliſhed by righteouſneſs.

13 Righteous lips are the delight of kings; and they love him that ſpeaketh right.

14 The wrath of a king is as meſſengers of death; but a wiſe man will pacify it.

15 In the light of the king's countenance is life; and his favour is as a cloud of the latter rain.

16 How much better is it to get wiſdom than gold? and to get underſtanding, rather to be choſen than ſilver?

17 The highway of the upright is to depart from evil: he that keepeth his way preſerveth his ſoul.

18 Pride goeth before deſtruction, and an haughty ſpirit before a fall.

19 Better it is to be of an humble ſpirit with the lowly, than to divide the ſpoil with the proud.

20 He that handleth a matter wiſely, ſhall find good: and whoſo truſteth in the Lord, happy is he.

21 The wiſe in heart ſhall be called prudent: and the ſweetneſs of the lips increaſeth learning.

22 Underſtanding is a well-ſpring of life unto him that hath it: but the inſtruction of fools is folly.

23 The heart of the wiſe teacheth his mouth, and addeth learning to his lips.

24 Pleaſant words are as an honey-comb, ſweet to the ſoul, and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that ſeemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

26 He that laboureth, laboureth for himſelf; for his mouth craveth it of him.

27 An ungodly man diggeth up evil: and in his lips there is as a burning fire.

28 A froward man ſoweth ſtrife, and a whiſperer ſeparateth chief friends.

29 A violent man enticeth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He ſhutteth his eyes to deviſe froward things: moving his lips he bringeth evil to paſs.

31 The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteouſneſs.

32 He that is ſlow to anger is better than the mighty: and he that ruleth his ſpirit, than he that taketh a city.

33 The lot is caſt into the lap; but the whole diſpoſing thereof is of the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

BETTER is a dry morſel, and quietneſs therewith, than an houſe full of ſacrifices with ſtrife.

2 A wiſe ſervant ſhall have rule over a ſon that cauſeth ſhame; and ſhall have part of the inheritance among the brethren.

3 The fining pot is for ſilver, and the furnace for gold: but the Lord trieth the hearts.

4 A wicked doer giveth heed to falſe lips; and a liar giveth ear to a naughty tongue.

5 Whoſo mocketh the poor reproacheth his Maker; and he that is glad at calamities ſhall not be unpuniſhed.

6 Children's children are the crown of old men; and the glory of children are their fathers.

7 Excellent ſpeech becometh not a fool; much leſs do lying lips a prince.

8 A gift is as a precious ſtone in the eyes of him that hath it: whitherſoever it turneth it proſpereth.

9 He that covereth a tranſgreſſion ſeeketh love; but he that repeateth a matter ſeparateth very friends.

10 A reproof entereth more into a wiſe man than an hundred ſtripes into a fool.

11 An evil man ſeeketh only rebellion; therefore a cruel meſſenger ſhall be ſent againſt him.

12 Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man, rather than a fool in his folly.

13 Whoſo rewardeth evil for good, evil ſhall not depart from his houſe.

14 The beginning of ſtrife is as when one letteth out water; therefore leave off contention before it be meddled with.

15 He that juſtifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the juſt, even they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of a fool to get wiſdom, ſeeing he hath no heart to it?

17 A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adverſity.

18 A man void of underſtanding ſtriketh hands, and becometh ſurety in the preſence of his friend.

19 He loveth tranſgreſſion that loveth ſtrife; and he that exalteth his gate ſeeketh deſtruction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

4 The Lord hath made all things for himſelf; yea, even the wicked for the day of evil.) This verſe has given occaſion to many interpretations; but the true ſenſe of it ſeems plainly to be this, namely, That God makes ſome uſe even of wicked men, as well as other objects of the creation; for he diſpoſes all things according to his will, which they all obey. The word lamnaanthu, which we render for himſelf, ſhould have been tranſlated, according to his will: and the ſenſe of the paſſage is confirmed by common experience, God often making uſe of one ſet of wicked men to do execution upon another; a ſtriking inſtance of which was the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Roman ſoldiers, the Almighty making uſe of Pagans to puniſh the murderers of the Meſſiah.

11 All the weights of the bag, &c.) It is ſtones in the original: for the Hebrew weights were not made of metal, leſt the ruſt ſhould eat them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

2 A wiſe ſervant ſhall have rule over a ſon that cauſeth ſhame, &c.) Probity and prudence ſo greatly ſurpaſs riches and a noble birth, that a wiſe and faithful ſervant often arrives at the honour of being appointed the governor of a ſon, whoſe folly and wickedneſs render him a diſcredit to his family: nay, he is ſometimes rewarded with part of the eſtate, which is, by the will of his father, ordered to be divided among his children.

9 He that covereth tranſgreſſion, ſeeketh love; but he that repeateth a matter, ſeparateth very friends.) He that paſſeth by and buries in oblivion a fault which hath been committed againſt him, takes the beſt method to preſerve friendſhip, and to render himſelf univerſally beloved: but he who publiſhes a fault, when it was forgotten, breaks the ſtricteſt bands of unity, and makes an irreconcilable ſeparation.

20 He that hath a froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a perverſe tongue falleth into miſchief.

21 He that begetteth a fool doeth it to his ſorrow; and the father of a fool hath no joy.

22 A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken ſpirit drieth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the boſom to pervert the ways of judgment.

24 Wiſdom is before him that hath underſtanding: but the eyes of a fool are in the ends of the earth.

25 A fooliſh ſon is a grief to his father, and bitterneſs to her that bare him.

26 Alſo to puniſh the juſt is not good, nor to ſtrike princes for equity.

27 He that hath knowledge ſpareth his words; and a man of underſtanding is of an excellent ſpirit.

28 Even a fool when he holdeth his peace is counted wiſe; and he that ſhutteth his lips is eſteemed a man of underſtanding.

CHAP. XVIII.

THROUGH deſire a man having ſeparated himſelf ſeeketh and intermeddleth with all wiſdom.

2 A fool hath no delight in underſtanding, but that his heart may diſcover itſelf.

3 When the wicked cometh, then cometh alſo contempt, and with ignominy reproach.

4 The words of a man's mouth are as deep waters, and the well-ſpring of wiſdom as a flowing brook.

5 It is not good to accept the perſon of the wicked, to overthrow the righteous in judgment.

6 A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for ſtrokes.

7 A fool's mouth is his deſtruction, and his lips are the ſnare of his ſoul.

8 The words of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermoſt parts of the belly.

9 He alſo that is ſlothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waſter.

10 The name of the Lord is a ſtrong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and is ſafe.

11 The rich man's wealth is his ſtrong city, and as an high wall in his own conceit.

12 Before deſtruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humility.

13 He that anſwereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and ſhame unto him.

14 The ſpirit of a man will ſuſtain his infirmity; but a wounded ſpirit who can bear?

15 The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the ear of the wiſe ſeeketh knowledge.

16 A man's gift maketh room for him, and bringeth him before great men.

17 He that is firſt in his own cauſe ſeemeth juſt; but his neighbour cometh and ſearcheth him.

18 The lot cauſeth contentions to ceaſe, and parteth between the mighty.

19 A brother offended is harder to be won than a ſtrong city: and their contentions are like the bars of a caſtle.

20 A man's belly ſhall be ſatisfied with the fruit of his mouth: and with the increaſe of his lips ſhall he be filled.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue; and they that love it ſhall eat the fruit thereof.

22 Whoſo findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favour of the Lord.

23 The poor uſeth intreaties; but the rich anſwereth roughly.

24 A man that hath friends muſt ſhew himſelf friendly: and there is a friend that ſticketh cloſer than a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

BETTER is the poor that walketh in his integrity, than he that is perverſe in his lips, and is a fool.

2 Alſo, that the ſoul be without knowledge, it is not good: and he that haſteth with his feet ſinneth.

3 The fooliſhneſs of man perverteth his way: and his heart fretteth againſt the Lord.

4 Wealth maketh many friends: but the poor is ſeparated from his neighbour.

5 A falſe witneſs ſhall not be unpuniſhed; and he that ſpeaketh lies ſhall not eſcape.

6 Many will entreat the favour of the prince: and every man is a friend to him that giveth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poor do hate him; how much more do his friends go far from him? he purſueth them with words, yet they are wanting to him.

8 He that getteth wiſdom loveth his own ſoul: he that keepeth underſtanding ſhall find good.

9 A falſe witneſs ſhall not be unpuniſhed: and he that ſpeaketh lies ſhall periſh.

10 Delight is not ſeemly for a fool; much leſs for a ſervant to have rule over princes.

11 The diſcretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to paſs over a tranſgreſſion.

12 The king's wrath is as the roaring of a lion; but his favour is as dew upon the graſs.

13 A fooliſh ſon is the calamity of his father: and the contentions of a wife are a continual dropping.

14 Houſe and riches are the inheritance of fathers: and a prudent wife is from the Lord.

15 Slothfulneſs caſteth into a deep ſleep: and an idle ſoul ſhall ſuffer hunger.

16 He that keepeth the commandment keepeth his own ſoul; but he that deſpiſeth his ways ſhall die.

17 He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1, 2 Through deſire a man having ſeparated himſelf, ſeeketh and intermeddleth with all wiſdom, &c.) He that affects ſingularity enquires into every thing, according as he is directed by his vain glorious curioſity: and hence he is induced to do all in his power to overthrow the reaſons of wiſer men. For a fool will never take any pleaſure in true underſtanding; but the whole deſign of his ſtudy is to make an oſtentatious diſplay of his wiſdom to others: and his chief pleaſure is to hear his own diſcourſe, by which he diſcovers the folly of his heart.

19 A brother offended is harder to be won than a ſtrong city, &c.) No contentions are ſo ſharp and obſtinate as thoſe between brethren, who grow ſo inveterate when they have tranſgreſſed againſt each other, that it is eaſier to take a ſtrong city, or break the bars of a caſtle than compoſe their differences, and remove all the obſtructions that lie in the way to a hearty reconciliation.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

10 Delight is not ſeemly for a fool, &c.) Pleaſure doth not become a man void of underſtanding, who is never more ridiculous than when he is without reſtraint: yet even pleaſure is more adapted to a fool, than empire to an ignorant ſlave, who is intolerably inſolent when he can ſhew his power over the greateſt perſons.

17 He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord, &c.) He that compaſſionates and relieves the neceſſities of the poor, inſtead of impoveriſhing enricheth himſelf; for the Lord conſiders what is given to the poor as lent unto him, and he will not fail to make him a full compenſation; or rather return the benefit he hath done to others with large intereſt and increaſe of bleſſings upon him and his poſterity.

18 Chaſten thy ſon while there is hope, and let not thy ſoul ſpare for his crying.

19 A man of great wrath ſhall ſuffer puniſhment; for if thou deliver him, yet thou muſt do it again.

20 Hear counſel, and receive inſtruction, that thou mayeſt be wiſe in thy latter end.

21 There are many devices in a man's heart; nevertheleſs, the counſel of the Lord, that ſhall ſtand.

22 The deſire of a man is his kindneſs; and a poor man is better than a liar.

23 The fear of the Lord tendeth to life; and he that hath it ſhall abide ſatisfied: he ſhall not be viſited with evil.

24 A ſlothful man hideth his hand in his boſom, and will not ſo much as bring it to his mouth again.

25 Smite a ſcorner and the ſimple will beware: and reprove one that hath underſtanding, and he will underſtand knowledge.

26 He that waſteth his father, and chaſeth away his mother, is a ſon that cauſeth ſhame, and bringeth reproach.

27 Ceaſe my ſon to hear the inſtruction that cauſeth to err from the words of knowledge.

28 An ungodly witneſs ſcorneth judgment: and the mouth of the wicked devoureth iniquity.

29 Judgments are prepared for ſcorners, and ſtripes for the back of fools.

CHAP. XX.

WINE is a mocker, ſtrong drink is raging; and whoſoever is deceived thereby is not wiſe.

2 The fear of a king is as the roaring of a lion: whoſo provoketh him to anger ſinneth againſt his own ſoul.

3 It is an honour for a man to ceaſe from ſtrife: but every fool will be meddling.

4 The ſluggard will not plow by reaſon of the cold; therefore ſhall he beg in harveſt, and have nothing.

5 Counſel in the heart of man is like deep water; but a man of underſtanding will draw it out.

6 Moſt men will proclaim every one his own goodneſs: but a faithful man who can find?

7 The juſt man walketh in his integrity; his children are bleſſed after him.

8 A king that ſitteth in the throne of judgment ſcattereth away all evil with his eyes.

9 Who can ſay, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my ſin?

10 Divers weights, and divers meaſures, both of them are alike abomination to the Lord.

11 Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right.

12 The hearing ear, and the ſeeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them.

13 Love not ſleep, leſt thou come to poverty; open thine eyes, and thou ſhalt be ſatisfied with bread.

14 It is naught, it is naught, ſaith the buyer: but when he his gone his way then he boaſteth.

15 There is gold, and a multitude of rubies: but the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.

16 Take his garment that is ſurety for a ſtranger; and take a pledge of him for a ſtrange woman.

17 Bread of deceit is ſweet to a man: but afterwards his mouth ſhall be filled with gravel.

18 Every purpoſe is eſtabliſhed by counſel; and with good advice make war.

19 He that goeth about as a tale-bearer revealeth ſecrets; therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips.

20 Whoſo curſeth his father or his mother, his lamp ſhall be put out in obſcure darkneſs.

21 An inheritance may be gotten haſtily at the beginning; but the end thereof ſhall not be bleſſed.

22 Say not thou, I will recompenſe evil: but wait on the Lord, and he ſhall ſave thee.

23 Divers weights are an abomination unto the Lord; and a falſe balance is not good.

24 Man's goings are of the Lord; how can a man then underſtand his own way?

25 It is a ſnare to the man who devoureth that which is holy, and after vows to make enquiry.

26 A wiſe king ſcattereth the wicked, and bringeth the wheel over them.

27 The ſpirit of man is the candle of the Lord, ſearching all the inward parts of the belly.

28 Mercy and truth preſerve the king; and his throne is upholden by mercy.

29 The glory of young men is their ſtrength; and the beauty of old men is the grey head.

30 The blueneſs of a wound cleanſeth away evil: ſo do ſtripes the inward parts of the belly.

CHAP. XXI.

THE king's heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the rivers of water: he turneth it whitherſoever he will.

2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

3 To do juſtice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than ſacrifice.

4 An high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is ſin.

5 The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteouſneſs: but of every one that is haſty, only to want.

6 The getting of treaſures by a lying tongue is a vanity toſſed to and fro of them that ſeek death.

7 The robbery of the wicked ſhall deſtroy them: becauſe they refuſe to do judgment.

8 The way of man is froward and ſtrange: but as for the pure, his work is right.

9 It is better to dwell in a corner of the houſe-top, than with a brawling woman in a wide houſe.

10 The ſoul of the wicked deſireth evil: his neighbour findeth no favour in his eyes.

11 When the ſcorner is puniſhed, the ſimple is made wiſe: and when the wiſe is inſtructed, he receiveth knowledge.

12 The righteous man wiſely conſidereth the houſe of the wicked: but God overthroweth the wicked for their wickedneſs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 Wine is a mocker, ſtrong drink is raging: and whoſoever is deceived thereby is not wiſe.) Whoever is deſirous of obtaining wiſdom, let him be very careful to avoid all intemperance: for drunkenneſs not only diſpoſes a man to abuſive and ſcurrilous language, but to be ſo quarrelſome and furious as ſufficiently proves he has not the leaſt claim to knowledge.

This precept is levelled againſt drunkenneſs, not only as being an enemy to wiſdom in common affairs, but alſo in thoſe of eternal conſequence. For a man intoxicated with liquor, can have no reverence for the Almighty, or his precepts. The word Hometh, which Solomon here uſes, and which we render raging, implies that diſcompoſed and unſettled ſtate of the mind which vents itſelf in ſome ridiculous or unjuſt motion, and is too commonly attended with very melancholy conſequences.

27 The ſpirit of man is the candle of the Lord, ſearching all the inward parts of the belly.) That active ſpirit which the Almighty hath breathed into man, is like a torch lighted at the divine underſtanding, to guide and direct him in all his actions; and afterwards to make on them the moſt ſerious reflections: nay, even to penetrate into the moſt ſecret deſigns of other men, that he may not be deceived by their fair ſpeeches and pretences.

13 Whoſo ſtoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he alſo ſhall cry himſelf, but ſhall not be heard.

14 A gift in ſecret pacifieth anger: and a reward in the boſom ſtrong wrath.

15 It is joy to the juſt to do judgment: but deſtruction ſhall be to the workers of iniquity.

16 The man that wandereth out of the way of underſtanding ſhall remain in the congregation of the dead.

17 He that loveth pleaſure ſhall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil ſhall not be rich.

18 The wicked ſhall be a ranſom for the righteous, and the tranſgreſſor for the upright.

19 It is better to dwell in the wilderneſs, than with a contentious and an angry woman.

20 There is treaſure to be deſired, and oil in the dwelling of the wiſe: but a fooliſh man ſpendeth it up.

21 He that followeth after righteouſneſs and mercy findeth life, righteouſneſs, and honour.

22 A wiſe man ſcaleth the city of the mighty, and caſteth down the ſtrength of the confidence thereof.

23 Whoſo keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his ſoul from troubles.

24 Proud and haughty ſcorner is his name who dealeth in proud wrath.

25 The deſire of the ſlothful killeth him; for his hands refuſe to labour.

26 He coveteth greedily all the day long: but the righteous giveth and ſpareth not.

27 The ſacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked mind?

28 A falſe witneſs ſhall periſh: but the man that heareth ſpeaketh conſtantly.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but as for the upright he directeth his way.

30 There is no wiſdom nor underſtanding nor counſel againſt the Lord.

31 The horſe is prepared againſt the day of battle: but ſafety is of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

A good name is rather to be choſen than great riches, and loving favour rather than ſilver and gold.

2 The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

3 A prudent man foreſeeth the evil, and hideth himſelf: but the ſimple paſs on, and are puniſhed.

4 By humility, and the fear of the Lord, are riches, and honour, and life.

5 Thorns and ſnares are in the way of the froward: he that doth keep his ſoul ſhall be far from them.

6 Train up a child in the way he ſhould go; and when he is old he will not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is ſervant to the lender.

8 He that ſoweth iniquity ſhall reap vanity; and the rod of his anger ſhall fail.

9 He that hath a bountiful eye ſhall be bleſſed; for he giveth of his bread to the poor.

10 Caſt out the ſcorner, and contention ſhall go out; yea, ſtrife and reproach ſhall ceaſe.

11 He that loveth pureneſs of heart, for the grace of his lips the king ſhall be his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord preſerve knowledge; and he overthroweth the words of the tranſgreſſor.

13 The ſlothful man ſaith, There is a lion without, I ſhall be ſlain in the ſtreets.

14 The mouth of ſtrange women is a deep pit: he that his abhorred of the Lord ſhall fall therein.

15 Fooliſhneſs is bound in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction ſhall drive it far from him.

16 He that oppreſſeth the poor to increaſe his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, ſhall ſurely come to want.

17 Bow down thine ear, and hear the words of the wiſe, and apply thine heart unto my knowledge.

18 For it is a pleaſant thing if thou keep them within thee; they ſhall withal be fitted in thy lips.

19 That thy truſt may be in the Lord, I have made known to thee this day, even to thee.

20 Have not I written to thee excellent things in counſels and knowledge;

21 That I might make thee know the certainty of the words of truth; that thou mighteſt anſwer the words of truth to them that ſend unto thee?

22 Rob not the poor, becauſe he is poor; neither oppreſs the afflicted in the gate:

23 For the Lord will plead their cauſe, and ſpoil the ſoul of thoſe that ſpoiled them.

24 Make no friendſhip with an angry man, and with a furious man thou ſhalt not go;

25 Leſt thou learn his ways, and get a ſnare to thy ſoul.

26 Be not thou one of them that ſtrike hands, or of them that are ſureties for debts.

27 If thou haſt nothing to pay, why ſhould he take away thy bed from under thee?

28 Remove not the ancient land-mark which thy fathers have ſet.

29 Seeſt thou a man diligent in his buſineſs? he ſhall ſtand before kings; he ſhall not ſtand before mean men.

CHAP. XXIII.

WHEN thou ſitteſt to eat with a ruler, conſider diligently what is before thee:

2 And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite.

3 Be not deſirous of his dainties: for they are deceitful meat.

4 Labour not to be rich: ceaſe from thine own wiſdom.

Commentary on Chap. XXI.

22 A wiſe man ſcaleth the city of the mighty, and caſteth down the ſtrength of the confidence thereof.) The virtue of the mind is of greater force, and far more prevalent, than the ſtrength of the body; a whole city of mighty men are not able to reſiſt the attacks of a wiſe and pious commander; for they are either taken by his ſtratagem, or conquered by his eminent goodneſs, on which they depend more than on the fortifications ſurrounding their city.

30 There is no wiſdom, nor underſtanding, nor counſel, againſt the Lord.) It is the higheſt pitch of folly to attempt any thing that the Almighty diſapproves; for, whatever ſkill, ſagacity, ſtudy, and experience, are uſed in the execution, they are of no conſequence, when oppoſed to the counſels and decrees of heaven.

Commentary on Chap. XXII.

6 Train up a child in the way he ſhould go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.) Be early in giving proper inſtructions to a child, and ſeaſon his mind with the precepts of virtue before he hath received any other impreſſions: for then, in all probability, he will never forſake the path of goodneſs, but continue to walk in it to the laſt moments of his life.

28 Remove not the ancient land-mark, which thy fathers have ſet.) Be content with thine own eſtate, and do not endeavour to enlarge it, by invading the poſſeſſions of other men: eſpecially thoſe to which they have an undoubted right, having enjoyed them by long preſcription, and by the conſent of thy forefathers, whoſe agreements ought to be held in great veneration.

5 Wilt thou ſet thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themſelves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven.

6 Eat thou not the bread of him that hath an evil eye, neither deſire thou his dainty meats:

7 For as he thinketh in his heart, ſo is he: Eat and drink, ſaith he to thee; but his heart is not with thee.

8 The morſel which thou haſt eaten ſhalt thou vomit up, and looſe thy ſweet words.

9 Speak not in the ears of a fool for he will deſpiſe the wiſdom of thy words.

10 Remove not the old land-mark; and enter not into the fields of the fatherleſs.

11 For their redeemer is mighty: he ſhall plead their cauſe with thee.

12 Apply thine heart unto inſtruction, and thine ears to the words of knowledge.

13 Withhold not correction from the child: for, if thou beateſt him with the rod, he ſhall not die.

14 Thou ſhalt beat him with the rod, and ſhalt deliver his ſoul from hell.

15 My ſon, if thine heart be wiſe, my heart ſhall rejoice, even mine;

16 Yea, my reins ſhall rejoice, when thy lips ſpeak right things.

17 Let not thine heart envy ſinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long:

18 For ſurely there is an end; and thine expectation ſhall not be cut off.

19 Hear thou, my ſon, and be wiſe, and guide thine heart in the way.

20 Be not amongſt wine-bibbers; amongſt riotous eaters of fleſh:

21 For the drunkard and the glutton ſhall come to poverty: and drowſineſs ſhall clothe a man with rags.

22 Hearken unto thy father that begot thee, and deſpiſe not thy mother when ſhe is old.

23 Buy the truth and ſell it not: alſo wiſdom and inſtruction, and underſtanding.

24 The father of the righteous ſhall greatly rejoice: and he that begetteth a wiſe child ſhall have joy of him.

25 Thy father and thy mother ſhall be glad, and ſhe that bare thee ſhall rejoice.

26 My ſon, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes obſerve my ways.

27 For a whore is a deep ditch, and a ſtrange woman is a narrow pit.

28 She alſo lieth in wait as for a prey, and increaſeth the tranſgreſſors among men.

29 Who hath woe? who hath ſorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cauſe? who hath redneſs of eyes?

30 They that tarry long at the wine, they that go to ſeek mixed wine.

31 Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itſelf aright.

32 At the laſt it biteth like a ſerpent, and ſtingeth like an adder.

33 Thine eyes ſhall behold ſtrange women, and thine heart ſhall utter perverſe things.

34 Yea, thou ſhalt be as he that lieth down in the midſt of the ſea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a maſt.

35 They have ſtricken me, ſhalt thou ſay, and I was not ſick: they have beaten me, and I felt it not: when ſhall I awake? I will ſeek it yet again.

CHAP. XXIV.

BE not thou envious againſt evil men, neither deſire to be with them.

2 For their heart ſtudieth deſtruction, and their lips talk of miſchief.

3 Through wiſdom is an houſe builded, and by underſtanding it is eſtabliſhed;

4 And by knowledge ſhall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleaſant riches.

5 A wiſe man is ſtrong; yea, a man of knowledge increaſeth ſtrength.

6 For by wiſe counſel thou ſhalt make thy war: and in multitude of counſellors there is ſafety.

7 Wiſdom is too high for a fool; he openeth not his mouth in the gate.

8 He that deviſeth to do evil ſhall be called a miſchievous perſon.

9 The thought of fooliſhneſs is ſin; and the ſcorner is an abomination to men.

10 If thou faint in the day of adverſity, thy ſtrength is ſmall.

11 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and thoſe that are ready to be ſlain;

12 If thou ſayeſt, Behold, we knew it not: doth not he that pondereth the heart conſider it? and he that keepeth thy ſoul, doth not he know it? and ſhall not he render to every man according to his works?

13 My ſon, eat thou honey, becauſe it is good; and the honey-comb, which is ſweet to thy taſte:

14 So ſhall the knowledge of wiſdom be unto thy ſoul; when thou haſt found it, then there ſhall be a reward, and thy expectations ſhall not be cut off.

15 Lay not wait, O wicked man, againſt the dwelling of the righteous: ſpoil not his reſting-place:

16 For a juſt man falleth ſeven times, and riſeth up again: but the wicked ſhall fall into miſchief.

17 Rejoice not when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart be glad when he ſtumbleth:

18 Leſt the Lord ſee it, and it diſpleaſe him, and he turn away his wrath from him.

19 Fret not thyſelf becauſe of evil men, neither be thou envious at the wicked.

20 For there ſhall be no reward to the evil man; the candle of the wicked ſhall be put out.

21 My ſon, fear thou the Lord, and the king: and meddle not with them that are given to change:

22 For their calamity ſhall riſe ſuddenly; and who knoweth the ruin of them both?

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

23 Buy the truth, and ſell it not: alſo wiſdom, and inſtruction, and underſtanding.) Let no pains or coſt deter thee from acquiring the knowledge of what is true and falſe, good and evil: neglect not this neceſſary ſtudy, whatever honours or riches thou mayeſt loſe by purſuing it; but prefer wiſdom and virtue to all the pleaſures and advantages of this life.

31 When it moveth itſelf aright.) When it looks bright, and mantles in the glaſs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

11, 12 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, &c.) Exert thine whole power to deliver innocent perſons, who, by falſe accuſations, or the tyranny of oppreſſors, are dragged to execution, or in preſent danger of loſing their lives: and do not flatter thyſelf, that thou canſt, with a ſafe conſcience, withdraw thyſelf from ſuccouring them in their diſtreſs. The common excuſe, of being ignorant of their innocence, and how to ſave them, is of no account with God. Canſt thou hope to deceive his all-ſearching eye? Remember that he is acquainted with the ſecrets of the heart, and obſerves the moſt minute motion of the ſoul; and that thou thyſelf ſhalt be deſerted by his wiſe providence, even as thou haſt deſerted others.

23 Theſe things alſo belong to the wiſe. It is not good to have reſpect of perſons in judgment.

24 He that ſaith unto the wicked, Thou art righteous: him ſhall the people curſe, nations ſhall abhor him:

25 But to them that rebuke him ſhall be delight, and a good bleſſing ſhall come upon them.

26 Every man ſhall kiſs his lips that giveth a right anſwer.

27 Prepare thy work without, and make it fit for thyſelf in the field; and afterwards build thine houſe.

28 Be not a witneſs againſt thy neighbour without cauſe; and deceive not with thy lips.

29 Say not, I will do ſo to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work.

30 I went by the field of the ſlothful; and by the vineyard of the man void of underſtanding;

31 And lo, it was all grown over with thorns, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the ſtone wall thereof was broken down:

32 Then I ſaw and conſidered it well; I looked upon it, and received inſtruction.

33 Yet a little ſleep, a little ſlumber, a little folding of the hands to ſleep.

34 So ſhall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Obſervations about kings, 8 and about avoiding of quarrels, and ſundry cauſes thereof.

THESE are alſo proverbs of Solomon, which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied out.

2 It is the glory of God to conceal a thing; but the honour of kings is to ſearch out a matter.

3 The heaven for height, and the earth for depth, and the heart of kings is unſearchable.

4 Take away the droſs from the ſilver, and there ſhall come forth a veſſel for the finer:

5 Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed in righteouſneſs.

6 Put not forth thyſelf in the preſence of the king, and ſtand not in the place of great men:

7 For better it is that it be ſaid unto thee, Come up hither; than that thou ſhouldeſt be put lower in the preſence of the prince whom thine eyes have ſeen.

8 ¶ Go not forth haſtily to ſtrive, leſt thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to ſhame.

9 Debate thy cauſe with thy neighbour himſelf; and diſcover not a ſecret to another;

10 Leſt he that heareth it put thee to ſhame, and thine infamy turn not away.

11 A word fitly ſpoken is like apples of gold in pictures of ſilver.

12 As an ear-ring of gold, and an ornament of fine gold, ſo is a wiſe reprover upon an obedient ear.

13 As the cold of ſnow in the time of harveſt: ſo is a faithful meſſenger to them that ſend him: for he refreſheth the ſoul of his maſters.

14 Whoſo boaſteth himſelf of a falſe gift, is like clouds and wind without rain.

15 By long forbearing is a prince perſuaded, and a ſoft tongue breaketh the bones.

16 Haſt thou found honey? eat ſo much as is ſufficient for thee, leſt thou be filled therewith, and vomit it.

17 Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbour's houſe, leſt he be weary of thee, and ſo hate thee.

18 A man that beareth falſe witneſs againſt his neighbour is a maul, and a ſword, and a ſharp arrow.

19 Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint.

20 As he that taketh away a garment in cold weather, and as vinegar upon nitre; ſo is he that ſingeth ſongs to an heavy heart.

21 If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirſty give him water to drink;

22 For thou ſhalt heap coals of fire upon his head, and the Lord ſhall reward thee.

23 The north wind driveth away rain; ſo doth an angry countenance a backbiting tongue.

24 It is better to dwell in a corner of the houſe-top, than with a brawling woman and in a wide houſe.

25 As cold waters to a thirſty ſoul, ſo is good news from a far country.

26 A righteous man falling down before the wicked is as a troubled fountain, and a corrupt ſpring.

27 It is not good to eat much honey: ſo for men to ſearch their own glory is not glory.

28 He that hath no rule over his own ſpirit, is like a city that is broken down, and without walls.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Obſervations about fools, 13 about ſluggards, 17 and about buſy-bodies.

AS ſnow in ſummer, and as rain in harveſt; ſo honour is not ſeemly for a fool.

2 As the bird by wandering, as the ſwallow by flying; ſo the curſe cauſeleſs ſhall not come.

3 A whip for the horſe, a bridle for the aſs, and a rod for the fool's back.

4 Anſwer not a fool according to his folly, leſt thou alſo be like unto him.

5 Anſwer a fool according to his folly, leſt he be wiſe in his own conceit.

6 He that ſendeth a meſſage by the hand of a fool, cutteth off the feet, and drinketh damage.

7 The legs of the lame are not equal; ſo is a parable in the mouth of fools.

8 As he that bindeth a ſtone in a ſling; ſo is he that giveth honour to a fool.

9 As a thorn goeth up into the hand of a drunkard; ſo is a parable in the mouth of fools.

10 The great God, that formed all things, both rewardeth the fool, and rewardeth tranſgreſſors.

11 As a dog returneth to his vomit; ſo a fool returneth to his folly.

12 Seeſt thou a man wiſe in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him.

13 The ſlothful man ſaith, There is a lion in the way, a lion is in the ſtreets.

14 As the door turneth upon his hinges; ſo doth the ſlothful upon his bed.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

2 It is the glory of God to conceal a thing, &c.) The Almighty Creator and Sovereign of the world declares his glorious ſuperintendency of authority and wiſdom, by concealing the reaſons of his decrees, and the motives of his judgments: but earthly princes, whoſe knowledge is ſo remarkably imperfect, acquire the greateſt honour by the moſt minuteſt ſcrutiny into every particular, before they deliver their judgment, that their proceedings may appear to be founded on the cleareſt reaſon.

23 The north-wind driveth away rain: ſo doth an angry countenance a backbiting tongue.) As the ſharpneſs of the north-wind ſcatters the clouds, and drives away the rain; ſo a ſevere countenance, full of indignation againſt him that traduceth his neighbour ſecretly, not only checks, but entirely ſtops his ſlanderous tongue: for ſuch falſities would never be told, if they were not greedily received.

15 The ſlothful hideth his hand in his boſom; it grieveth him to bring it again to his mouth.

16 The ſluggard is wiſer in his own conceit than ſeven men that can render a reaſon.

17 He that paſſeth by, and meddleth with ſtrife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears.

18 As a mad man, who caſteth fire-brands, arrows, and death;

19 So is the man that deceiveth his neighbour, and ſaith, Am not I in ſport?

20 Where no wood is there the fire goeth out; ſo where there is no tale-bearer, the ſtrife ceaſeth.

21 As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; ſo is a contentious man to kindle ſtrife.

22 The words of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermoſt parts of the belly.

23 Burning lips and a wicked heart, are like a potſherd covered with ſilver droſs.

24 He that hateth diſſembleth with his lips, and layeth up deceit within him;

25 When he ſpeaketh fair, believe him not; for there are ſeven abominations in his heart.

26 Whoſe hatred is covered by deceit, his wickedneſs ſhall be ſhewed before the whole congregation.

27 Whoſo digeth a pit ſhall fall therein; and he that rolleth a ſtone, it will return upon him.

28 A lying tongue hateth thoſe that are afflicted by it; and a flattering mouth worketh ruin.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Obſervations of ſelf-love, 5 of true love, 11 of care to avoid offences, 23 and of the houſehold care.

BOAST not thyſelf of to-morrow: for thou knoweſt not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praiſe thee, and not thine own mouth; a ſtranger, and not thine own lips.

3 A ſtone is heavy, and the ſand weighty: but a fool's wrath is heavier than them both.

4 Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to ſtand before envy?

5 Open rebuke is better than ſecret love.

6 Faithful are the wounds of a friend: but the kiſſes of an enemy are deceitful.

7 The full ſoul loatheth an honey-comb: but to the hungry ſoul every bitter thing is ſweet.

8 As a bird that wandereth from her neſt, ſo is a man that wandereth from his place.

9 Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart; ſo doth the ſweetneſs of a man's friend by hearty counſel.

10 Thine own friend, and thy father's friend forſake not; neither go into thy brother's houſe in the day of thy calamity: for better is a neighbour that is near than a brother far off.

11 My ſon, be wiſe, and make my heart glad, that I may anſwer him that reproacheth me.

12 A prudent man foreſeeth the evil, and hideth himſelf: but the ſimple paſs on, and are puniſhed.

13 Take his garment that is ſurety for a ſtranger, and take a pledge of him for a ſtrange woman.

14 He that bleſſeth his friend with a loud voice, riſing early in the morning, it ſhall be counted a curſe to him.

15 A continual dropping in a very rainy day, and a contentious woman are alike.

16 Whoſoever hideth her hideth the wind, and the ointment of his right hand which bewrayeth itſelf.

17 Iron ſharpeneth iron; ſo a man ſharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

18 Whoſo keepeth the fig-tree ſhall eat the fruit thereof; ſo he that waiteth on his maſter ſhall be honoured.

19 As in water face anſwereth to face; ſo the heart of man to man.

20 Hell and deſtruction are never full; ſo the eyes of man are never ſatisfied.

21 As the fining-pot for ſilver, and the furnace for gold; ſo is a man to his praiſe.

22 Though thou ſhouldeſt bray a fool in a morter among wheat with a peſtle, yet will not his fooliſhneſs depart from him.

23 Be thou diligent to know the ſtate of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds;

24 For riches are not for ever: and doth the crown endure to every generation?

25 The hay appeareth, and the tender graſs ſheweth itſelf, and herbs of the mountains are gathered.

26 The lambs are for thy clothing, and the goats are the price of the field.

27 And thou ſhalt have goats milk enough for thy food, for the food of thy houſehold, and for the maintenance for thy maidens.

CHAP. XXVIII.

General obſervations of impiety and religious integrity.

THE wicked flee when no man purſueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the tranſgreſſion of a land many are the princes thereof: but by a man of underſtanding and knowledge the ſtate thereof ſhall be prolonged.

3 A poor man that oppreſſeth the poor, is like a ſweeping rain which leaveth no food.

4 They that forſake the law praiſe the wicked: but ſuch as keep the law contend with them.

5 Evil men underſtand not judgment: but they that ſeek the Lord underſtand all things.

6 Better is the poor that walketh in his uprightneſs, than he that is perverſe in his ways, though he be rich.

7 Whoſo keepeth the law is a wiſe ſon: but he that is a companion of riotous men ſhameth his father.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

18, 19 As a madman who caſteth firebrands, arrows, and death, &c.) As he that throws abroad flames, darts, and other deſtructive things, and conceals his malice by feiguing himſelf mad, is far more dangerous than he who is mad in reality: ſo he is much worſe than an open enemy, who artfully abuſes his neighbour, and, under the faireſt pretences, cheats him in the fouleſt manner, and then pretends he did it only in ſport.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

1 Boaſt not thyſelf of to-morrow; for thou knoweſt not what a day may bring forth.) Be not ſo confident of thy preſent riches or power, as to boaſt what thou wilt do or enjoy hereafter; for thou canſt not be ſecure of this very day, which may produce ſomething, for ought thou knoweſt, that may render abortive all thy deſigns, and fruſtrate all the expectations thou haſt for to-morrow.

21 As the fining pot for ſilver, and the furnace for gold; ſo is a man to his praiſe.) As gold and ſilver are tried by putting them into the fire, which diſcovers whether they be pure or adulterated; ſo the temper of a man is diſcovered by commendation and great applauſe, for theſe will preſently ſhew the virtue or the vanity of his mind.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

1 The wicked flee when no man purſueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.) A guilty conſcience renders men timorous and fearful, like a cowardly ſoldier, who flies at the very firſt appearance of an enemy: but men of virtue and integrity are not eaſily terrified; but proceed like a young lion with undaunted reſolution on the moſt dangerous undertakings.

8 He that by uſury and unjuſt gain increaſeth his ſubſtance, he ſhall gather it for him that will pity the poor.

9 He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer ſhall be abomination.

10 Whoſo cauſeth the righteous to go aſtray in an evil way, he ſhall fall himſelf into his own pit: but the upright ſhall have good things in poſſeſſion.

11 The rich man is wiſe in his own conceit: but the poor that hath underſtanding ſearcheth him out.

12 When righteous men do rejoice, there is great glory: but when the wicked riſe, a man is hidden.

13 He that covereth his ſins ſhall not proſper: but whoſo confeſſeth and forſaketh them ſhall have mercy.

14 Happy is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart ſhall fall into miſchief.

15 As a roaring lion, and a ranging bear; ſo is a wicked ruler over the poor people.

16 The prince that wanteth underſtanding is alſo a great oppreſſor: but he that hateth covetouſneſs ſhall prolong his days.

17 A man that doeth violence to the blood of any perſon ſhall flee to the pit; let no man ſtay him.

18 Whoſo walketh uprightly, ſhall be ſaved: but he that is perverſe in his ways, ſhall fall at once.

19 He that tilleth his land, ſhall have plenty of bread: but he that followeth after vain perſons, ſhall have poverty enough.

20 A faithful man ſhall abound with bleſſings: but he that maketh haſte to be rich, ſhall not be innocent.

21 To have reſpect of perſons is not good: for, for a piece of bread, that man will tranſgreſs.

22 He that haſteth to be rich hath an evil eye, and conſidereth not that poverty ſhall come upon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, afterwards ſhall find more favour than he that flattereth with the tongue.

24 Whoſo robbeth his father or his mother, and ſaith, It is no tranſgreſſion; the ſame is the companion of a deſtroyer.

25 He that is of a proud heart ſtireth up ſtrife; but he that putteth his truſt in the Lord ſhall be made fat.

26 He that truſteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoſo walketh wiſely, he ſhall be delivered.

27 He that giveth unto the poor ſhall not lack: but he that hideth his eyes ſhall have many a curſe.

28 When the wicked riſe, men hide themſelves: but when they periſh, the righteous increaſe.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Obſervations of public government, 15 and of private. 22 Of anger, pride, thievery, cowardice, and corruption.

HE that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, ſhall ſuddenly be deſtroyed, and that without remedy.

2 When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn.

3 Whoſo loveth wiſdom rejoiceth his father: but he that keepeth company with harlots ſpendeth his ſubſtance.

4 The king by judgment eſtabliſheth the land: but he that receiveth gifts overthroweth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour ſpreadeth a net for his feet.

6 In the tranſgreſſion of an evil man there is a ſnare: but the righteous doth ſing and rejoice.

7 The righteous conſidereth the cauſe of the poor: but the wicked regardeth not to know it.

8 Scornful men bring a city into a ſnare: but wiſe men turn away wrath.

9 If a wiſe man contendeth with a fooliſh man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no reſt.

10 The blood-thirſty hate the upright, but the juſt ſeek his ſoul.

11 A fool uttereth all his mind: but a wiſe man keepeth it in till afterwards.

12 If a ruler hearken to lies, all his ſervants are wicked.

13 The poor and the deceitful man meet together: the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 The king that faithfully judgeth the poor, his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever.

15 ¶ The rod and reproof give wiſdom: but a child left to himſelf bringeth his mother to ſhame.

16 When the wicked are multiplied, tranſgreſſion increaſeth: but the righteous ſhall ſee their fall.

17 Correct thy ſon, and he ſhall give thee reſt: yea, he ſhall give delight unto thy ſoul.

18 Where there is no viſion the people periſh: but he that keepeth the law happy is he.

19 A ſervant will not be corrected by words: for, though he underſtand, he will not anſwer.

20 Seeſt thou a man that is haſty in his words: there is more hope of a fool than of him.

21 He that delicately bringeth up his ſervant from a child, ſhall have him become his ſon at the length.

22 ¶ An angry man ſtirreth up ſtrife, and a furious man aboundeth in tranſgreſſion.

23 A man's pride ſhall bring him low: but honour ſhall uphold the humble in ſpirit.

24 Whoſo is partner with a thief hateth his own ſoul: he heareth curſing, and bewrayeth it not.

25 The fear of man bringeth a ſnare: but whoſo putteth his truſt in the Lord ſhall be ſafe.

26 Many ſeek the ruler's favour: but every man's judgment cometh from the Lord.

27 An unjuſt man is an abomination to the juſt: and he that is upright in the way is abomination to the wicked.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Agur's confeſſion of his faith. 7 The two points of his prayer. 10 The meaneſt are not to be wronged. 11 Four wicked generations. 15 Four things, inſatiable. 17 Parents are not to be deſpiſed. 18 Four things, hard to be known. 21 Four things, intolerable. 24 Four things, exceeding wiſe. 29 Four things, ſtately. 32 Wrath is to be prevented.

THE words of Agur the ſon of Jakeh, even the prophecy: the man ſpake unto Ithiel, even unto Ithiel and Ucal, 26 He that truſteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoſo walketh wiſely, he ſhall be delivered.) He that relies entirely on his own judgment, will often miſcarry; for he follows the conduct of a fool: but he that, diſtruſting his own wiſdom, ſeeks and follows good advice, ſhall eſcape many misfortunes, and be delivered out of many dangers which will attend the other.

---

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

16 When the wicked are multiplied, tranſgreſſion increaſeth: but the righteous ſhall ſee their fall.) When the wicked grow rich and numerous, the works of darkneſs increaſe by their authority; but let not this diſcourage the righteous, for their reign ſhall be but ſhort, and they who preſerve their virtue, ſhall have the pleaſure of beholding their fall.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 The words of Agur the ſon of Jakeh, &c.) This chapter con-

2 Surely

2 Surely I am more brutiſh than any man, and have not the underſtanding of a man.

3 I neither learned wiſdom, nor have the knowledge of the holy.

4 Who hath aſcended up into heaven, or deſcended? who hath gathered the wind in his fiſts? who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath eſtabliſhed all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his ſon's name, if thou canſt tell.

5 Every word of God is pure; he is a ſhield unto them that put their truſt in him.

6 Add thou not unto his words, leſt he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 ¶ Two things have I required of thee: deny me them not before I die.

8 Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me:

9 Leſt I be full, and deny thee, and ſay, Who is the Lord? or leſt I be poor, and ſteal, and take the name of my God in vain.

10 ¶ Accuſe not a ſervant unto his maſter, leſt he curſe thee, and thou be found guilty.

11 ¶ There is a generation that curſeth their father, and doth not bleſs their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not waſhed from their filthineſs.

13 There is a generation, O how lofty are their eyes! and their eye-lids are lifted up.

14 There is a generation whoſe teeth are as ſwords, and their jaw-teeth as knives, to devour the poor from off the earth, and the needy from among men.

15 ¶ The horſe-leach hath two daughters, crying, Give, give. There are three things that are never ſatisfied, yea, four things ſay not, It is enough.

16 The grave; and the barren womb; the earth that is not filled with water; and the fire that ſaith not, It is enough.

17 ¶ The eye that mocketh at his father, and deſpiſeth to obey his mother; the ravens of the valley ſhall pick it out, and the young eagles ſhall eat it.

18 ¶ There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not:

19 The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a ſerpent upon a rock, the way of a ſhip in the midſt of the ſea, and the way of a man with a maid.

20 Such is the way of an adulterous woman: ſhe eateth, and wipeth her mouth, and ſaith, I have done no wickedneſs.

21 ¶ For three things the earth is diſquieted, and for four which it cannot bear:

22 For a ſervant, when he reigneth; and a fool, when he is filled with meat;

23 For an odious woman, when ſhe is married; and an handmaid, that is heir to her miſtreſs.

24 ¶ There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wiſe:

25 The ants are a people not ſtrong, yet they prepare their meat in the ſummer;

26 The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houſes in the rocks;

27 The locuſts have no king, yet go they forth all of them by bands;

28 The ſpider taketh hold with her hands, and is in king's palaces.

29 ¶ There be three things which go well, yea, four are comely in going:

30 A lion which is ſtrongeſt among beaſts, and turneth not away for any;

31 A grey-hound; an he-goat alſo; and a king, againſt whom there is no riſing up.

32 ¶ If thou haſt done fooliſhly in lifting up thyſelf, or if thou haſt thought evil, lay thine hand upon thy mouth.

33 Surely the churning of milk bringeth forth butter, and the wringing of the noſe bringeth forth blood: ſo the forcing of wrath bringeth forth ſtrife.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Lemuel's leſſon of chaſtity and temperance. 6 The afflicted are to be comforted and defended. 10 The praiſe and properties of a good wife.

THE words of king Lemuel, the prophecy that his mother taught him.

2 What, my ſon? and what, the ſon of my womb? and what, the ſon of my vows?

3 Give not thy ſtrength unto women, nor thy ways to that which deſtroyeth kings.

4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes ſtrong drink;

5 Leſt they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted.

6 Give ſtrong drink unto him that is ready to periſh, and wine unto thoſe that be of heavy hearts.

tains a fragment of ſome wiſe ſentences, delivered by one whoſe name was Agur. They are called Maſſa, which we tranſlate prophecy, either to denote the weight of the ſentences, or that they were ſelected from ſome works of his, then remaining in the public records.—They ſeem to be anſwers to ſeveral queſtions propoſed by his ſcholars, Ithiel and Ucal: who came to him, as an oracle, to obtain a ſolution of their doubts: aſking him, in the firſt place, Who is the wiſeſt man? To which he replies, as in verſe 2, He that is ſenſible of his own ignorance. Agur then enlarges on this ſubject, wiſhing his ſcholars to be ſenſible of the imperfection of all human knowledge, by conſidering how very little we know of the works of God, which none can underſtand, but he alone who performed them. And thence adviſes them to make it their principal ſtudy to underſtand what belonged to their own duty, which is the moſt valuable part of knowledge; and, at the ſame time, to be content with what God had thought proper to reveal, and not pretend to be wiſer than he thought requiſite to make us.

15, 16 The horſe-leach hath two daughters, crying, Give, give, &c.) This ſeems to be an anſwer to the following queſtion propoſed to Agur by his ſcholars: What creature is moſt inſatiable? To this the wiſe man anſwers, The horſe-leach, which ſucks the blood of other creatures 'till it burſts; as thoſe wicked men do the livelihood of the poor, 'till they ruin themſelves. And in this continual craving, more and more, there are two things ſo nearly reſembling the horſe-leach, that they may be called her daughters; nay, there are three that are never ſatisfied, or rather four, whoſe deſires cannot be fulfilled, namely, the grave, which hath already conſumed ſo many generations, and will as greedily continue to ſwallow up and conſume the ſucceeding, 'till time ſhall be no longer: the barren womb, whoſe deſire of having children, exceeds every thing: the thirſty earth, which drinks up all the rains that deſcend from above, and ſtill thirſts for more: and the fire that never ceaſes to burn, 'till all the fuel thrown into it is conſumed.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

2 What, my ſon? and what, the ſon of my womb? and what, the ſon of my vows?) Liſten attentively, my deareſt ſon, to the kind inſtructions of an affectionate parent. O, how greatly am I concerned! I want words to expreſs my tender concern for thee! I am at a loſs how to inſtruct thee, according to my wiſhes! What ſhall I deſire thee to do for my ſake, who endured ſo much for thee, when I carried thee in my womb? What ſhall I petition thee to do, for whoſe welfare I have offered ſo many prayers, and made ſo many vows, to the Almighty.

6 Give ſtrong drink unto him that is ready to periſh, &c.) It was the cuſtom among the Jews to give condemned perſons, juſt before execution, wine mixed with myrrh, to make them leſs ſenſible of their pain: this cuſtom was ſo common, that the cup, in which this draught was diſpenſed, came to denote death itſelf, as in that paſſage, Father, let this cup paſs from me.

7 Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his miſery no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the dumb in the cauſe of all ſuch as are appointed to deſtruction.

9 Open thy mouth, judge righteouſly, and plead the cauſe of the poor and needy.

10 ¶ Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies.

11 The heart of her huſband doth ſafely truſt in her, ſo that he ſhall have no need of ſpoil.

12 She will do him good, and not evil, all the days of her life.

13 She ſeeketh wool and flax, and worketh willingly with her hands.

14 She is like the merchants ſhips, ſhe bringeth her food from afar.

15 She riſeth alſo while it is yet night, and giveth meat to her houſehold, and a portion to her maidens.

16 She conſidereth a field, and buyeth it: with the fruit of her hands ſhe planteth a vineyard.

17 She girdeth her loins with ſtrength, and ſtrengtheneth her arms.

18 She perceiveth that her merchandiſe is good: her candle goeth not out by night.

19 She layeth her hands to the ſpindle, and her hands hold the diſtaff.

20 She ſtretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, ſhe reacheth forth her hands to the needy.

21 She is not afraid of the ſnow for her houſehold: for all her houſehold are clothed with ſcarlet.

22 She maketh herſelf coverings of tapeſtry; her clothing is ſilk and purple.

23 Her huſband is known in the gates, when he ſitteth among the elders of the land.

24 She maketh fine linen, and ſelleth it; and delivereth girdles unto the merchant.

25 Strength and honour are her clothing; and ſhe ſhall rejoice in time to come.

26 She openeth her mouth with wiſdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindneſs.

27 She looketh well to the ways of her houſehold, and eateth not the bread of idleneſs.

28 Her children ariſe up, and call her bleſſed; her huſband alſo, and he praiſeth her.

29 Many daughters have done virtuouſly, but thou excelleſt them all.

30 Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord ſhe ſhall be praiſed.

31 Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praiſe her in the gates.

10 Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies.) From this verſe to the end of the chapter, containing the deſcription of a virtuous woman, is a ſhort poem, and, according to St. Jerom, conſiſts of a ſort of Iambic verſes, each of which begins with a new letter of the Hebrew alphabet; the tenth with Aleph, the eleventh with Beth, &c. to the end. This was conſidered among the ancients as an elegant ſpecies of compoſition, and at the ſame time, as a great help to the memory.

ECCLESIASTES:

OR,

THE PREACHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

The word Eccleſiaſtes is Greek, and ſignifies, The Preacher. That Solomon was the author of this book is evident from the firſt line of it: "The words of the Preacher, the ſon of David, king of Jeruſalem."

CHAP. I.

1 The Preacher ſheweth that all human courſes are vain; 4 becauſe the creatures are reſtleſs in their courſes; 9 they bring forth nothing new, and all old things are forgotten; 12 and becauſe he hath found it ſo in the ſtudies of wiſdom.

THE words of the Preacher, the ſon of David, king of Jeruſalem.

2 Vanity of vanities, ſaith the Preacher, vanity of vanities: all is vanity.

3 What profit hath a man of all his labour which he taketh under the ſun.

4 ¶ One generation paſſeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever.

5 The ſun alſo ariſeth, and the ſun goeth down, and haſteth to his place where he aroſe.

6 The wind goeth toward the ſouth, and turneth about unto the north: it whirleth about continually, and the wind returneth again according to his circuits.

7 All the rivers run into the ſea; yet the ſea is not full: unto the place from whence the rivers come, thither they return again.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot utter it: the eye is not ſatisfied with ſeeing, nor the ear filled with hearing.

9 ¶ The thing that hath been, it is that which ſhall be; and that which is done, is that which ſhall be done: and there is no new thing under the ſun.

10 Is there any thing whereof it may be ſaid, See this is new? it hath been already of old time which was before us.

11 There is no remembrance of former things; neither ſhall there be any remembrance of things that are to come with thoſe that ſhall come after.

12 ¶ I the Preacher was king over Iſrael in Jeruſalem.

13 And I gave my heart to ſeek and ſearch out by wiſdom concerning all things that are done under heaven: this ſore travail hath God given to the ſons of man to be exerciſed therewith.

14 I have ſeen all the works that are done under the ſun, and behold, all is vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

15 That which is crooked, cannot be made ſtraight: and that which is wanting cannot be numbered.

16 I communed with mine own heart, ſaying, Lo, I am come to great eſtate, and have gotten more wiſdom than all they that have been before me in Jeruſalem: yea, my heart had great experience of wiſdom and knowledge.

17 And I gave my heart to know wiſdom, and to know madneſs and folly: I perceived that this alſo is vexation of ſpirit.

18 For in much wiſdom is much grief: and he that increaſeth knowledge increaſeth ſorrow.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 The words of the preacher, the ſon of David king of Jeruſalem.) Theſe are the words of him who thought the name of a preacher, or public inſtructor of God's people, no leſs honourable than that of the ſon of king David, whom he ſucceeded in the throne, and reigned after him in Jeruſalem.

2 Vanity of vanities, ſaith the preacher, vanity of vanities, all is vanity.) This is the ſubject of the preacher's diſcourſe, to ſhew how ridiculous it is to place our happineſs in the frail and inconſtant things we enjoy in this tranſitory life: which he not only pronounces, but proves to be mere emptineſs or vanity; and in conſequence of that, trouble and affliction. The original word in the Hebrew is much ſtronger than our word vanity, implying, that the thing ſpoken of is ſo trivial, that it is below or leſs than nothing.

17, 18 And I gave my heart to know wiſdom, and to know madneſs, and folly, &c.) This cenſure is not abſolutely paſſed upon wiſdom and knowledge conſidered in themſelves, but with regard to the true limits in which the human underſtanding is circumſcribed; and which, if we forget to obſerve, will prove troubleſome to ourſelves and others. And theſe limits are three in number. Firſt, That we do not entirely place our happineſs in knowledge, and forget our own mortality. Secondly, that we do not make our knowledge the parent of anxiety, but of repoſe and contentment of mind. Thirdly, That we do not preſume, by contemplating nature, to think ourſelves able to comprehend the myſteries of Omnipotence. The firſt and laſt of theſe propoſitions are ſelf-evident, and therefore require no monument; and with regard to the ſecond, it is certain, that perturbation of mind does not ariſe from knowledge conſidered in itſelf, but from mere accident. For all knowledge is pleaſant and delightful; but when we from thence draw concluſions which, obliquely applied to our own affairs, occaſion fears, or immoderate deſires, then the mind is filled with that anxiety and vexation here mentioned by Solomon. For then knowledge, inſtead of being the ſource of pleaſure and delight, will prove a perrenial ſpring of grief and vexation.

CHAP. II.

1 The vanity of human courſes in the works of pleaſure. 12 Though the wiſe be better than the fool, yet both have one event. 18 The vanity of human labour, in leaving it they know not to whom.

I SAID in mine heart, Go to now, I will prove thee with mirth; therefore enjoy pleaſure: and, behold, this alſo is vanity.

2 I ſaid of laughter, It is mad: and of mirth, What doeth it?

3 I ſought in mine heart to give myſelf unto wine, (yet acquainting mine heart with wiſdom,) and to lay hold on folly, till I might ſee what was that good for the ſons of men, which they ſhould do under the heaven all the days of their life.

4 I made me great works; I builded me houſes; I planted me vineyards;

5 I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kind of fruits;

6 I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees;

7 I got me ſervants and maidens, and had ſervants born in my houſe; alſo I had great poſſeſſions of great and ſmall cattle above all that were in Jeruſalem before me;

8 I gathered me alſo ſilver and gold, and the peculiar treaſure of kings and of the provinces; I got me men-ſingers, and women ſingers, and the delights of the ſons of men, as muſical inſtruments, and that of all ſorts.

9 So I was great, and increaſed more than all that were before me in Jeruſalem: alſo my wiſdom remained with me.

10 And whatſoever mine eyes deſired I kept not from them; I with-held not my heart from any joy; for my heart rejoiced in all my labour; and this was my portion of all my labour.

11 Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of ſpirit, and there was no profit under the ſun.

12 ¶ And I turned myſelf to behold wiſdom, and madneſs, and folly: for what can the man do that cometh after the king? even that which hath been already done.

13 Then I ſaw that wiſdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkneſs.

14 The wiſe man's eyes are in his head, but the fool walketh in darkneſs: and I myſelf perceived alſo that one event happeneth to them all.

15 Then ſaid I in my heart, As it happeneth to the fool, ſo it happeneth even to me: and why was I then more wiſe? then I ſaid in my heart, that this alſo is vanity.

16 For there is no remembrance of the wiſe more than of the fool for ever; ſeeing that which now is, in the days to come ſhall all be forgotten: and how dieth the wiſe man? as the fool.

17 Therefore I hated life; becauſe the work that is wrought under the ſun is grievous unto me: for all is vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

18 ¶ Yea, I hated all my labour which I had taken under the ſun; becauſe I ſhould leave it unto the man that ſhall be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he ſhall be a wiſe man or a fool? yet ſhall he have rule over all my labour wherein I have laboured, and wherein I have ſhewed myſelf wiſe under the ſun. This is alſo vanity.

20 Therefore I went about to cauſe my heart to deſpair of all the labour which I took under the ſun.

21 For there is a man whoſe labour is in wiſdom, and in knowledge, and in equity; yet to a man that hath not laboured therein ſhall he leave it for his portion. This alſo is vanity, and a great evil.

22 For what hath man of all his labour, and of the vexation of his heart, wherein he hath laboured under the ſun?

23 For all his days are ſorrows, and his travail grief; yea, his heart taketh not reſt in the night. This is alſo vanity.

24 ¶ There is nothing better for a man than that he ſhould eat and drink, and that he ſhould make his ſoul enjoy good in his labour. This alſo I ſaw, that it was from the hand of God.

25 For who can eat, or who elſe can haſten hereunto more than I?

26 For God giveth to a man that is good in his ſight, wiſdom, and knowledge, and joy; but to the ſinner he giveth travail, to gather, and to heap up, that he may give to him that is good before God. This alſo is vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

CHAP. III.

1 By the neceſſary change of times vanity is increaſed. 11 God's works are excellent. 16 But as for man, God ſhall judge his works hereafter, and here he ſhall be like a beaſt.

TO every thing there is a ſeaſon, and a time to every purpoſe under the heaven:

2 A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

3 A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;

4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

5 A time to caſt away ſtones, and a time to gather ſtones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

6 A time to get, and a time to loſe; a time to keep, and a time to caſt away;

7 A time to rend, and a time to ſew; a time to keep ſilence, and a time to ſpeak;

8 A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath he that worketh in that wherein he laboureth?

10 I have ſeen the travail which God hath given to the ſons of men to be exerciſed in it.

11 ¶ He hath made every thing beautiful in his time, alſo he hath ſet the world in their heart, ſo that

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

13 Wiſdom excelleth folly, &c.) That is, virtue and religion are as much more excellent and more profitable to men than wickedneſs, as one thing can be preferable to another.

24 That he ſhould eat and drink.) That is, that he ſhould allow himſelf a moderate and decent uſe of all that he hath gotten by his honeſt labours.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 To every thing there is a ſeaſon, &c.) The Hebrews obſerve that Solomon here reckons ſeven different ſeaſons, as a complete demonſtration, by induction, of the general propoſition in this verſe, which holds good even in virtue itſelf, which is only proper in its place. For fortune has not always been ſucceſsful, temperance ſafe, nor juſtice ſeaſonable: the inſolence of the furious multitude having in ſome inſurrections grown to that exceſs, that it appeared to be greater wiſdom to take no notice of their crime, than to puniſh them for it. Nor will any counſels ſucceed, unleſs directed by the wiſdom of the Almighty.

no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end.

12 I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life.

13 And alſo that every man ſhould eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labour, it is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatſoever God doeth, it ſhall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it that men ſhould fear before him.

15 That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is paſt.

16 ¶ And moreover, I ſaw under the ſun the place of judgment, that wickedneſs was there; and the place of righteouſneſs, that iniquity was there.

17 I ſaid in mine heart, God ſhall judge the righteous and the wicked; for there is a time there for every purpoſe and for every work.

18 I ſaid in my heart concerning the eſtate of the ſons of men, that God might manifeſt them, and that they might ſee that they themſelves are beaſts.

19 For that which befalleth the ſons of men befalleth the beaſts; even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, ſo dieth the other; yea, they have all one breath; ſo that man hath no pre-eminence above a beaſt: for all is vanity.

20 All go unto one place: all are of the duſt, and all turn to duſt again.

21 Who knoweth the ſpirit of man that goeth upward, and the ſpirit of the beaſt that goeth downward to the earth?

22 Wherefore I perceive that there is nothing better than that a man ſhould rejoice in his own works; for that is his portion: for who ſhall bring him to ſee what ſhall be after him?

CHAP. IV.

1 Vanity is increaſed unto men by oppreſſion, 4 by envy, 5 by idleneſs, 7 by covetouſneſs, 9 by ſolitarineſs, 13 and by wilfulneſs.

SO I returned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions that are done under the ſun: and behold the tears of ſuch as were oppreſſed, and they had no comforter; and on the ſide of their oppreſſors there was power, but they had no comforter.

2 Wherefore I praiſed the dead which are already dead, more than the living which are yet alive.

3 Yea, better is he than both they which hath not yet been, who hath not ſeen the evil work that is done under the ſun.

4 ¶ Again, I conſidered all travail, and every right work, that for this a man is envied of his neighbour. This is alſo vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

5 ¶ The fool foldeth his hands together, and eateth his own fleſh.

6 Better is an handful with quietneſs, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of ſpirit.

7 ¶ Then I returned and I ſaw vanity under the ſun.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a ſecond; yea, he hath neither child nor brother: yet is there no end of all his labour; neither is his eyes ſatisfied with riches: neither ſaith he, For whom do I labour, and bereave my ſoul of good? This is alſo vanity, yea, it is a ſore travail.

9 ¶ Two are better than one; becauſe they have a good reward for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but woe to him that is alone when he falleth! for he hath not another to help him up.

11 Again if two lie together then they have heat: but how can one be warm alone?

12 And if one prevail againſt him, two ſhall withſtand him: and a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

13 ¶ Better is a poor and a wiſe child than an old and fooliſh king, who will no more be admoniſhed.

14 For out of priſon he cometh to reign; whereas alſo he that is born in his kingdom becometh poor.

15 I conſidered all the living which walk under the ſun, with the ſecond child that ſhall ſtand up in his ſtead.

16 There is no end of all the people, even of all that have been before them: they alſo that come after ſhall not rejoice in him. Surely this alſo is vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

CHAP. V.

1 Vanities in divine ſervice, 8 in murmuring againſt oppreſſion, 9 and in riches. 18 Joy in riches is the gift of God.

KEEP thy foot when thou goeſt to the houſe of God, and be more ready to hear than to give the ſacrifice of fools: for they conſider not that they do evil.

2 Be not raſh with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be haſty to utter any thing before God; for God is in heaven and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few.

3 For a dream cometh through the multitude of buſineſs; and a fool's voice is known by multitude of words.

4 When thou voweſt a vow unto God, defer not to pay it, for he hath no pleaſure in fools: pay that which thou haſt vowed.

5 Better is it that thou ſhouldeſt not vow, than that thou ſhouldeſt vow and not pay.

6 Suffer not thy mouth to cauſe thy fleſh to ſin, neither ſay thou before the angel that it was an error; wherefore ſhould God be angry at thy voice, and deſtroy the work of thine hands?

7 For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are alſo divers vanities: but fear thou God.

8 ¶ If thou ſeeſt the oppreſſion of the poor, and violent perverting of judgment and juſtice in a pro-

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 So I returned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions that are done under the ſun.) But I have not yet finiſhed my obſervations on the miſeries of the ſons of men, flowing from the abuſe of that power which is neceſſarily placed in the hands of ſome perſons for the good of others: for, reflecting again, on this melancholy ſubject, I found that innumerable ways were practiſed in this world for the ruin of others; violence, exactions, fraud and calumnies, together with unjuſt ſentences from corrupt judges, were often made uſe of to cruſh the innocent, and deſtroy the juſt; ſo that every place is filled with the tears and cries, the ſighs and groans of ſuch as are reduced to a deſolate and forlorn condition without any to aſſiſt, or even to comfort them. For ſo great was the power of the oppreſſors, that reſiſtance was in vain, and protectors no where to be found.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

7 For in the multitude of dreams, and many words, there are alſo divers vanities, &c.) The words in the Hebrew run thus: But from the multitude of dreams, both vanity and words are multiplied; therefore fear thou God. That is, they only dream of God, not being awakened to a lively ſenſe of him who makes either theſe vain excuſes, or thoſe idle promiſes; and therefore, to prevent thy being guilty of the ſame crime, poſſeſs thy ſoul with an awful dread of his majeſty.

vince,

vince, marvel not at the matter: for he that is higher than the higheſt regardeth, and there be higher than they.

9 ¶ Moreover, the profit of the earth is for all: the king himſelf is ſerved by the field.

10 He that loveth ſilver ſhall not be ſatisfied with ſilver: nor he that loveth abundance with increaſe. This is alſo vanity.

11 When goods increaſe, they are increaſed that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, ſaving the beholding of them with their eyes?

12 The ſleep of a labouring man is ſweet, whether he eat little or much: but the abundance of the rich will not ſuffer him to ſleep.

13 There is a ſore evil which I have ſeen under the ſun, namely, riches kept for the owners thereof to their hurt.

14 But thoſe riches periſh by evil travail; and he begetteth a ſon, and there is nothing in his hand.

15 As he came forth of his mother's womb, naked ſhall he return to go as he came, and ſhall take nothing of his labour, which he may carry away in his hand.

16 And this alſo is a ſore evil, that in all points as he came ſo ſhall he go: and what profit hath he that hath laboured for the wind?

17 All his days alſo he eateth in darkneſs, and he hath much ſorrow and wrath with his ſickneſs.

18 ¶ Behold, that which I have ſeen: it is good and comely for one to eat and to drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labour that he taketh under the ſun, all the days of his life which God giveth him: for it is his portion.

19 Every man alſo to whom God hath given riches and wealth, and hath given him power to eat thereof, and to take his portion, and to rejoice in his labour; this is the gift of God.

20 For he ſhall not much remember the days of his life: becauſe God anſwereth him in the joy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

1 The vanity of riches without uſe, 3 of children, 6 and of old age without riches. 9 The vanity of ſight, and wandering deſires. 11 The concluſion of vanities.

THERE is an evil which I have ſeen under the ſun, and it is common among men:

2 A man to whom God hath given riches, wealth, and honour, ſo that he wanteth nothing for his ſoul of all that he deſireth, yet God giveth him not power to eat thereof, but a ſtranger eateth it: this is vanity, and it is an evil diſeaſe.

3 ¶ If a man beget an hundred children, and live many years, ſo that the days of his years be many, and his ſoul be not filled with good, and alſo that he have no burial; I ſay, that an untimely birth is better than he:

4 For he cometh in with vanity, and departeth in darkneſs, and his name ſhall be covered with darkneſs.

5 Moreover, he hath not ſeen the ſun, nor known any thing: this hath more reſt than the other.

6 Yea, though he live a thouſand years twice told, yet hath he ſeen no good: do not all go to one place?

7 ¶ All the labour of man is for his mouth, and yet the appetite is not filled.

8 For what hath the wiſe more than the fool? what hath the poor, that knoweth to walk before the living?

9 ¶ Better is the ſight of the eyes than the wandering of the deſire: this is alſo vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

10 That which hath been is named already, and it is known that it is man: neither may he contend with him that is mightier than he.

11 ¶ Seeing there be many things that increaſe vanity, what is man the better?

12 For who knoweth what is good for man in this life, all the days of his vain life which he ſpendeth as a ſhadow? for who can tell a man what ſhall be after him under the ſun?

CHAP. VII.

1 Remedies againſt vanity are, a good name, 2 mortification, 7 patience, 11 wiſdom. 23 The difficulty of getting wiſdom.

A GOOD name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of one's birth.

2 ¶ It is better to go to the houſe of mourning than to go to the houſe of feaſting: for that is the end of all men; and the living will lay it to his heart.

3 Sorrow is better than laughter: for by the ſadneſs of the countenance the heart is made better.

4 The heart of the wiſe is in the houſe of mourning: but the heart of fools is in the houſe of mirth.

5 It is better to hear the rebuke of the wiſe, than for a man to hear the ſong of fools:

6 For as the cracking of thorns under a pot, ſo is the laughter of the fool. This alſo is vanity.

7 ¶ Surely oppreſſion maketh a wiſe man mad, and a gift deſtroyeth the heart.

8 Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof; and the patient in ſpirit is better than the proud in ſpirit.

15 As he came forth of his mother's womb, naked ſhall he return to go as he came, &c.) If the wicked man be ſuffered to keep his riches while he continues in this world, he muſt at his death leave them to others; for he can carry nothing with him. He and the pooreſt wretch will then be both alike; for as he brought nothing into the world, ſo it is certain he ſhall carry nothing out; and tho' both his labour and eſtate have been great, he muſt leave the whole to ſome ſucceeding poſſeſſor.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

9 Better is the ſight of the eyes, than the wandering of the deſire, &c.) It is much better to enjoy what a man hath at preſent, than to live upon the hopes of that which his ravenous deſires continually purſue: this is ſurely a very weak thing, and form another large part of the miſeries of human life; that men ſhould be ſtill craving for more, when they know not how to uſe what they have already gotten; and neglecting what they poſſeſs, wiſh for that which perhaps they cannot procure; or, if they can, will give them no more ſatisfaction than that which they already poſſeſs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 A good name is better than precious ointment: and the day of death, than the day of one's birth.) Among all the maxims of true wiſdom and piety, for ſettling our mind in peace and tranquility, notwithſtanding the vanity of all things, Solomon in the firſt place, recommends to us, the care of that which men fooliſhly exchange for the pleaſures and profits of the world, a good name. For this, which can only be acquired by a virtuous uſe of all things, will be productive of the higheſt pleaſure, while we continue in this preſent world, and embalm our memory when we are laid in the chambers of the duſt. This valuable acquiſition Solomon compares to precious ointment, becauſe nothing was more grateful and refreſhing in thoſe Eaſtern countries; and therefore uſed, not only at feaſts, but alſo at other times, when they were weary, or their ſpirits diſſipated, for comforting the brain, recruiting the ſtrength, chearing the countenance, and other ſervices tending equally to health and pleaſure. And hence precious ointments were conſidered as things of the higheſt value, and mentioned among the treaſures of kings, Iſaiah xxxix. 2. Nor is a good name fleeting and tranſitory, but laſting and durable: it will remain after we are laid in the tomb; and therefore, if we would be happy, we ſhould take care to ſpend our lives in ſuch a manner, that death, which the wicked fear, may be welcome to us, and only remove us from thoſe troubles to which human nature is ſubjected, to the joys of eternity.

9 Be not haſty in thy ſpirit to be angry; for anger reſteth in the boſom of fools.

10 Say not thou, What is the cauſe that the former days were better than theſe? for thou doſt not enquire wiſely concerning this.

11 ¶ Wiſdom is good with an inheritance; and by it there is profit to them that ſee the ſun.

12 For wiſdom is a defence, and money is a defence; but the excellency of knowledge is, that wiſdom giveth life to them that have it.

13 Conſider the work of God: for who can make that ſtraight which he hath made crooked?

14 In the day of proſperity be joyful, but in the day of adverſity conſider: God alſo hath ſet the one over againſt the other, to the end that man ſhould find nothing after him.

15 All things have I ſeen in the days of my vanity: there is a juſt man that periſheth in his righteouſneſs, and there is a wicked man that prolongeth his life in his wickedneſs.

16 Be not righteous over-much; neither make thyſelf over-wiſe: why ſhouldeſt thou deſtroy thyſelf?

17 Be not over-much wicked, neither be thou fooliſh: why ſhouldeſt thou die before thy time?

18 It is good that thou ſhouldeſt take hold of this; yea, alſo from this withdraw not thine hand: for he that feareth God ſhall come forth of them all.

19 Wiſdom ſtrengtheneth the wiſe more than ten mighty men which are in the city.

20 For there is not a juſt man upon earth, that doeth good, and ſinneth not.

21 Alſo take no heed unto all words that are ſpoken; leſt thou hear thy ſervant curſe thee:

22 For oftentimes alſo thine own heart knoweth that thou thyſelf likewiſe haſt curſed others.

23 ¶ All this have I proved by wiſdom: I ſaid, I will be wiſe; but it was far from me.

24 That which is far off, and exceeding deep, who can find it out?

25 ¶ I applied mine heart to know, and to ſearch, and to ſeek out wiſdom, and the reaſon of things, and to know the wickedneſs of folly, even of fooliſhneſs and madneſs:

26 And I find more bitter than death the woman whoſe heart is ſnares and nets, and her hands as bands: whoſo pleaſeth God ſhall eſcape from her; but the ſinner ſhall be taken by her.

27 Behold, this have I found, (ſaith the Preacher,) counting one by one, to find out the account;

28 Which yet my ſoul ſeeketh, but I find not: one man among a thouſand have I found; but a woman among all thoſe have I not found.

29 Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have ſought out many inventions.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Kings are greatly to be reſpected. 8 The divine providence is to be obſerved. 12 It is better with the godly in adverſity, than with the wicked in proſperity. 16 The work of God is unſearchable.

WHO is as the wiſe man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? a man's wiſdom maketh his face to ſhine, and the boldneſs of his face ſhall be changed.

2 I counſel thee to keep the king's commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God.

3 Be not haſty to go out of his ſight: ſtand not in an evil thing; for he doeth whatſoever pleaſeth him.

4 Where the word of a king is, there is power: and who may ſay unto him, What doeth thou?

5 Whoſo keepeth the commandment ſhall feel no evil thing: and a wiſe man's heart diſcerneth both time and judgment.

6 ¶ Becauſe to every purpoſe there is time and judgment; therefore the miſery of man is great upon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which ſhall be: for who can tell him when it ſhall be?

8 There is no man that hath power over the ſpirit to retain the ſpirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no diſcharge in that war; neither ſhall wickedneſs deliver thoſe that are given to it.

9 All this have I ſeen, and applied my heart unto every work that is done under the ſun: there is a time wherein one man ruleth over another to his own hurt.

10 And ſo I ſaw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the city where they had ſo done. This is alſo vanity.

11 Becauſe ſentence againſt an evil work is not executed ſpeedily, therefore the heart of the ſons of men is fully ſet in them to do evil.

12 ¶ Though a ſinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet ſurely I know that it ſhall be well with them that fear God, which fear before him:

13 But it ſhall not be well with the wicked, neither ſhall he prolong his days, which are as a ſhadow; becauſe he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanity which is done upon the earth; that there be juſt men, unto whom it happeneth according to the work of the wicked; again, there be wicked men to whom it happeneth according to the work of the righteous. I ſaid, that this alſo is vanity.

15 Then I commended mirth, becauſe a man hath no better thing under the ſun, than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry; for that ſhall abide with him of his labour the days of his life, which God giveth him under the ſun.

12 Wiſdom giveth life to them that have it.) Solomon himſelf explains this, Prov. iii. 18, where he tells us, "that wiſdom is a tree of life, to them that lay hold of her:" alluding no doubt, to that tree of life in paradiſe; whence Adam was excluded, "leſt he ſhould eat and live for ever."

14 In the day of proſperity be joyful, but in the day of adverſity conſider, &c.) Inſtead of endeavouring to oppoſe his providence, we ought to render ourſelves conformable to the preſent ſtate of things, and when we enjoy proſperity, thankfully to acknowledge his bleſſings; and when afflictions overtake us, let us bear them patiently, conſidering that our condition may again change for the better: for, as both come from the Almighty, ſo he hath ordered they ſhould ſucceed, and ſo exactly balance each other, that the pooreſt mortal may have no reaſon to complain of him, nor the richeſt to fancy himſelf more than man.

16 Be not righteous over much, &c.) Here Solomon evidently ſpeaks of the juſtice which a man is to exerciſe towards others, as what goes before and after plainly ſhews: the words ſhould be tranſlated, Do not exerciſe juſtice too rigorouſly, neither ſet up for a man of too great wiſdom, by pretending to reform and regulate all things; as ſeveral learned men have rendered them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 Who is as the wiſe man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing?) Solomon now adds to the advices he had given in the foregoing chapter, ſeveral others; the firſt of which is contained in this verſe, where he obſerves, that the wiſdom which will render us happy in this world, ſhould not make us moroſe and ſupercilious, ſevere and rigorous, but kind and benign, gentle and eaſy. For the more we know, the more humble we ought to be, and, by the chearful and pleaſant appearance of our countenance, invite others to a familiarity with us; and not, by frowning on them, make them afraid to approach us.

16 ¶ When

16 ¶ When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to see the business that is done upon the earth: (for also there is that neither day nor night seeth sleep with his eyes:)

17 Then I beheld all the work of God, that a man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun; because though a man labour to seek it out, yet he shall not find it: yea, further, though a wise man think to know it, yet shall he not be able to find it.

CHAP. IX.

1 Like things happen to good and bad. 4 There is a necessity of death unto men. 7 Comfort is all their portion in this life. 11 God's providence ruleth over all. 12 Wisdom is better than strength.

FOR all this I considered in my heart even to declare all this, that the righteous and the wise, and their works are in the hand of God: no man knoweth either love or hatred by all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: there is one event to the righteous and to the wicked; to the good, and to the clean, and to the unclean; to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner; and he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is an evil among all things that are done under the sun, that there is one event unto all: yea, also the heart of the sons of men is full of evil, and madness is in their heart while they live, and after that they go to the dead.

4 For to him that is joined to all the living there is hope: for a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5 For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten.

6 Also their love and their hatred, and their envy is now perished; neither have they any more a portion for ever in any thing that is done under the sun.

7 ¶ Go thy way, eat thy bread with joy, and drink thy wine with a merry heart: for God now accepteth thy works.

8 Let thy garments be always white; and let thy head lack no ointment.

9 Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sun.

10 Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might: for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave whither thou goest.

11 ¶ I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill: but time and chance happeneth to them all.

12 For man also knoweth not his time: as the fishes that are taken in an evil net, and as the birds that are caught in a snare; so are the sons of men snared in an evil time, when it falleth suddenly upon them.

13 ¶ This wisdom have I seen also under the sun, and it seemed great unto me:

14 There was a little city, and few men within it; and there came a great king against it and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it:

15 Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembered that same poor man.

16 Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of wise men are heard in quiet more than the cry of him that ruleth among fools.

18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 Observations of wisdom and folly. 16 Of riot, 18 slothfulness, 19 and money. 20 Men's thoughts of kings ought to be reverent.

DEAD flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savour: so doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honour.

2 A wise man's heart is at his right hand; but a fool's heart is at his left.

3 Yea, also, when he that is a fool walketh by the way, his wisdom faileth him, and he saith to every one that he is a fool.

4 If the spirit of the ruler rise up against thee, leave not thy place: for yielding pacifieth great offences.

5 There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, as an error which proceedeth from the ruler:

6 Folly is set in great dignity, and the rich sit in low place.

7 I have seen servants upon horses, and princes walking as servants upon the earth.

8 He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it; and whoso breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Whoso removeth stones shall be hurt therewith: and he that cleaveth wood shall be endangered thereby.

10 If the iron be blunt, and he do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength; but wisdom is profitable to direct.

11 Surely the serpent will bite without enchantment; and a babbler is no better.

12 The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious: but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness.

14 A fool also is full of words: a man cannot tell what shall be; and what shall be after him, who can tell him?

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

2 All things come alike to all: there is one event to the righteous, and to the wicked, &c.) There is no certain and constant distinction made between one man and another in the distribution of things in this world; but they all have the same fate, especially in public calamities: the righteous, for instance, perish in a battle as well as the wicked; the just and pure die in a pestilence as well as the unjust and depraved; those that worship God in sincerity and truth, suffer by storms, shipwrecks, and inundations, as well as the hypocrites: and, on the contrary, a blasphemer of God, nay, a perjured wretch, prospers as much as he who dreads the awful name of his maker, and dares not rashly, much less falsely, to take it into his mouth.

17 The words of wise men are heard in quiet, more than the cry of him that ruleth among fools.) The modest speeches of a wise man, delivered without noise or tumult, are far more worthy to be heard, and will be more regarded, than the most clamorous and imperious language of a powerful fool.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it; and whoso breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.) It is very dangerous to pursue our own desires and passions, especially to the injury of our country, lest we fall into the pit we digged for others: nor should we ever presume to overthrow the settled laws and customs of the state, lest, like a person who, in breaking the hedge where a serpent lurks, we receive a deadly wound.

15 The labour of the fooliſh wearieth every one of them, becauſe he knoweth not how to go to the city.

16 Woe to thee, O land when thy king is a child, and thy princes eat in the morning!

17 Bleſſed art thou, O land, when thy king is the ſon of nobles, and thy princes eat in due ſeaſon, for ſtrength and not for drunkenneſs!

18 ¶ By much ſlothfulneſs the building decayeth; and through idleneſs of the hands the houſe droppeth through.

19 ¶ A feaſt is made for laughter, and wine maketh merry: but money anſwereth all things.

20 Curſe not the king, no not in thy thought; and curſe not the rich in thy bed-chamber: for a bird of the air ſhall carry the voice, and that which hath wings ſhall tell the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 Directions for charity. 7 Death in life, 9 and the day of judgment in the days of youth are to be thought on.

CAST thy bread upon the waters: for thou ſhalt find it after many days.

2 Give a portion to ſeven, and alſo to eight: for thou knoweſt not what evil ſhall be upon the earth.

3 If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themſelves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the ſouth, or toward the north; in the place where the tree falleth, there it ſhall be.

4 He that obſerveth the wind ſhall not ſow; and he that regardeth the clouds ſhall not reap.

5 As thou knoweſt not what is the way of the ſpirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child; even ſo thou knoweſt not the works of God who maketh all.

6 In the morning ſow thy ſeed, and in the evening with-hold not thine hand: for thou knoweſt not whether ſhall proſper, either this or that, or whether they both ſhall be alike good.

7 ¶ Truly the light is ſweet, and a pleaſant thing it is for the eyes to behold the ſun:

8 But if a man live many years and rejoice in them all; yet let him remember the days of darkneſs; for they ſhall be many. All that cometh is vanity.

9 ¶ Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thy heart, and in the ſight of thine eyes: but know thou, that for all theſe things God will bring thee into judgment.

10 Therefore remove ſorrow from thy heart, and put away evil from thy fleſh: for childhood and youth are vanity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 Caſt thy bread upon the waters: for thou ſhalt find it after many days.) Be charitable to thy poor diſtreſſed brethren, tho' perhaps they may ungratefully forget all thy benefits, or, at leaſt, are never likely to make thee any return: yet let not that diſcourage thee, for there may come a time when ſome of thoſe, whoſe hearts have been rejoiced by the benevolence of thine hand, may do thee the greateſt ſervice; but if not, God will ſurely remember all thy kind ſervices, and abundantly reward thee, either in this world, or in that which is to come.

9 Rejoice, O young man, &c.) This ſeems to be ſpoken ironically, "Do ſo; indulge thyſelf in thy youthful vanities, luſts, and other vices: ſtick at nothing to gratify thy vicious appetite: but take this along with thee, Thou wilt for ſo doing, without a ſincere repentance, periſh everlaſtingly."

CHAP. XII.

1 The Creator is to be remembered in due time. 8 The preacher's care to edify. 13 The fear of God is the chief antidote of vanity.

REMEMBER now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou ſhalt ſay, I have no pleaſure in them;

2 While the ſun, or the light, or the moon, or the ſtars be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain:

3 In the day when the keepers of the houſe ſhall tremble, and the ſtrong men ſhall bow themſelves, and the grinders ceaſe becauſe they are few, and thoſe that look out of the windows be darkened;

4 And the doors ſhall be ſhut in the ſtreets, when the ſound of the grinding is low; and he ſhall riſe up at the voice of the bird; and all the daughters of muſick ſhall be brought low:

5 Alſo when they ſhall be afraid of that which is high, and fears ſhall be in the way, and the almond-tree ſhall flouriſh, and the graſhopper ſhall be a burden, and deſire ſhall fail; becauſe man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the ſtreets:

6 Or ever the ſilver cord be looſed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the ciſtern:

7 Then ſhall the duſt return to the earth as it was; and the ſpirit ſhall return unto God who gave it.

8 ¶ Vanity of vanities, ſaith the preacher; all is vanity.

9 And, moreover, becauſe the preacher was wiſe, he ſtill taught the people knowledge; yea he gave good heed, and ſought out, and ſet in order, many proverbs.

10 The preacher ſought to find out acceptable words; and that which was written was upright, even words of truth.

11 The words of the wiſe are as goads, and as nails faſtened by the maſters of aſſemblies, which are given from one ſhepherd.

12 And further, by theſe, my ſon, be admoniſhed: of making many books there is no end; and much ſtudy is a wearineſs of the fleſh.

13 ¶ Let us hear the concluſion of the whole matter; Fear God and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

14 For God ſhall bring every work into judgment, with every ſecret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

8 Vanity of vanities, ſaith the preacher; all is vanity.) If this be the end of all our labours, I have certainly ſufficient reaſon to conclude this book as I begun it; liſten therefore, I again beſeech you, to him, who proclaims nothing but what he hath ſufficiently proved in this diſcourſe, namely, that no ſolid ſatisfaction can be found in any thing here below; where all things are attended with care and trouble; and at the ſame time uncertain and periſhing: it is therefore the height of folly to ſpend our whole time in providing for the fleeting and unſubſtantial joys of this mortal life, and take no care to lay up treaſures in the happy manſions of the heavenly Jeruſalem.

THE SONG OF SOLOMON.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is, by the joint conſent of the learned, aſcribed to Solomon; and accordingly his name is prefixed to it, both in the title of the Hebrew text, and the ancient Greek verſion.

CHAP. I.

1 The church's love unto Chriſt. 5 She confeſſeth her deformity, 7 and prayeth to be directed to his flock. 8 Chriſt directeth her to the ſhepherds' tents: 9 and ſhewing his love to her, 11 giveth her gracious promiſes. 12 The church and Chriſt congratulate one another.

THE ſong of ſongs, which is Solomon's.

2 Let him kiſs me with the kiſſes of his mouth; for thy love is better than wine.

3 Becauſe of the ſavour of thy good ointments, thy name is as ointment poured forth, therefore do the virgins love thee.

4 Draw me, we will run after thee. The king hath brought me into his chambers: we will be glad and rejoice in thee: we will remember thy love more than wine: the upright love thee.

5 ¶ I am black but comely, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem; as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon.

6 Look not upon me, becauſe I am black, becauſe the ſun hath looked upon me; my mother's children were angry with me, they made me the keeper of the vineyards; but mine own vineyard have I not kept.

7 ¶ Tell me, O thou, whom my ſoul loveth, where thou feedeſt, where thou makeſt thy flock to reſt at noon: for why ſhould I be as one that turneth aſide by the flocks of thy companions?

8 ¶ If thou know not, O thou faireſt among women, go thy way forth by the footſteps of the flock, and feed thy kids beſides the ſhepherds' tents.

9 ¶ I have compared thee, O my love, to a company of horſes in Pharaoh's chariots.

10 Thy cheeks are comely with rows of jewels, thy neck with chains of gold.

11 We will make thee borders of gold with ſtuds of ſilver.

12 ¶ While the king ſitteth at his table my ſpikenard ſendeth forth the ſmell thereof.

13 A bundle of myrrh is my well-beloved unto me; he ſhall lie all night betwixt my breaſts.

14 My beloved is unto me as a cluſter of camphire in the vineyards of En-gedi.

15 Behold, thou art fair, my love, behold, thou art fair, thou haſt dove's eyes.

16 Behold, thou art fair, my beloved, yea, pleaſant: alſo our bed is green.

17 The beams of our houſe are cedar, and our rafters of fir.

CHAP. II.

1 The mutual love of Chriſt and his church. 8 The hope, 10 and calling of the church. 14 Chriſt's care of the church. 16 The profeſſion of the church, her faith and hope.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 The ſong of ſongs, which is Solomon's.) The moſt excellent ſong that ever Solomon himſelf compoſed; repreſenting his ardent deſire of enjoying the great bleſſing of the promiſed Meſſiah. The expreſſion, ſong of ſongs, is an Hebraiſm, and ſignifies the moſt excellent ſong, as the holy of holies is the moſt holy, and king of kings the greateſt king.

2 Let him kiſs me with the kiſſes of his mouth: for thy love is better than wine.) This ſpeech is delivered by Solomon, in the perſon of the virgin daughter of Sion, that is, the church; whom he here introduces, wiſhing, in the moſt paſſionate ſtrain, for ſome token of the love of her great bridegroom, the prince of peace, which he has expreſſed under the metaphor of a kiſs. This abrupt beginning very naturally expreſſes the force of the divine love, which ſnatches, as it were, the mind from itſelf, and blends it with the object of its love. David, with the ſame beautiful abruptneſs, began his deſcription of the lovelineſs of mount Sion and mount Moriah, His foundation is in the holy mountains, Pſalm lxxxvii.

7 Tell me, O thou whom my ſoul loveth, where thou feedeſt, where thou makeſt thy flock to reſt at noon, &c.) This verſe ſeems to have been ſpoken in the perſon of the whole church, longing to be acquainted with the doctrines of the goſpel, which is compared to food, as the diſciples to the Meſſiah are to ſheep, which in theſe hot climates were led at noon by the ſhepherds to ſome cooling ſhade, that they might not ſuffer from the ſcorching rays of the ſun. To this cuſtom, always obſerved by the ſhepherds of the Eaſt, Solomon here alludes; repreſenting the ſouls of pious Chriſtians as fearful of wandering from the true ſhepherd, and falling, like ſheep that go aſtray, into the hands of ſtrangers:—metaphors afterwards purſued by our bleſſed Saviour himſelf, in one of his parables, as compariſons familiarly known to his diſciples.

I AM the roſe of Sharon, and the lily of the vallies.

2 As the lily among thorns, ſo is my love among the daughters.

3 As the apple-tree among the trees of the wood, ſo is my beloved among the ſons. I ſat down under his ſhadow with great delight, and his fruit was ſweet to my taſte.

4 He brought me to the banqueting-houſe, and his banner over me was love.

5 Say me with flagons, comfort me with apples; for I am ſick of love.

6 His left hand is under my head, and his right hand doth embrace me.

7 I charge you, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that ye ſtir not up, nor awake my love, till he pleaſe.

8 ¶ The voice of my beloved! behold, he cometh leaping upon the mountains, ſkiping upon the hills.

9 My beloved is like a roe, or a young hart: behold, he ſtandeth behind our wall, he looketh forth at the windows, ſhewing himſelf through the latteſs.

10 ¶ My beloved ſpake, and ſaid unto me, Riſe up, my love, my fair one, and come away:

11 For, lo, the winter is paſt, the rain is over and gone;

12 The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the ſinging of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land;

13 The fig-tree putteth forth her green figs, and the vines with the tender grape give a good ſmell. Ariſe, my love, my fair one, and come away.

14 ¶ O my dove, that art in the clefts of the rock, in the ſecret places of the ſtairs, let me ſee thy countenance, let me hear thy voice; for ſweet is thy voice, and thy countenance is comely.

15 Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that ſpoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes.

16 ¶ My beloved is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies.

17 Until the day break, and the ſhadows flee away, turn, my beloved; and be thou like a roe, or a young hart, upon the mountains of Bether.

CHAP. III.

1 The church her ſight and victory in temptation. 6 The church glorieth in Chriſt.

BY night on my bed I ſought him whom my ſoul loveth; I ſought him, but I found him not.

2 I will riſe now, and go about the city; in the ſtreets, and in the broad ways, I will ſeek him whom my ſoul loveth: I ſought him, but I found him not.

3 The watchmen that go about the city found me: to whom I ſaid, Saw ye him whom my ſoul loveth?

4 It was but a little that I paſſed from them, but I found him whom my ſoul loveth: I held him, and would not let him go, until I had brought him into my mother's houſe, and into the chamber of her that conceived me.

5 I charge you, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that ye ſtir not up, nor awake my love till he pleaſe.

6 ¶ Who is this that cometh out of the wilderneſs like pillars of ſmoke, perfumed with myrrh and frankincenſe, with all powders of the merchant?

7 Behold his bed, which is Solomon's; threeſcore valiant men are about it, of the valiant of Iſrael.

8 They all hold ſwords, being expert in war: every man hath his ſword upon his thigh, becauſe of fear in the night.

9 King Solomon made himſelf a chariot of the wood of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of ſilver, the bottom thereof of gold, the covering of it of purple; the midſt thereof being paved with love for the daughters of Jeruſalem.

11 Go forth, O ye daughters of Zion, and behold king Solomon with the crown wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his eſpouſals, and in the day of the gladneſs of his heart.

CHAP. IV.

1 Chriſt ſetteth forth the graces of the church. 8 He ſheweth his love to her. 16 The church prayeth to be made fit for his preſence.

BEHOLD, thou art fair, my love, behold thou art fair; thou haſt dove's eyes within thy locks; thy hair is as a flock of goats that appear from mount Gilead.

2 Thy teeth are like a flock of ſheep that are even ſhorn, which came up from the waſhing; whereof every one bear twins, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a thread of ſcarlet, and thy ſpeech is comely; thy temples are like a piece of a pomegranate within thy locks.

4 Thy neck is like the tower of David builded for an armoury, whereon there hang a thouſand bucklers, all ſhields of mighty men.

5 Thy two breaſts are like two young roes that are twins which feed among the lilies.

6 Until the day break, and the ſhadows flee away; I will get me to the mountain of myrrh, and to the hill of frankincenſe.

7 Thou art all fair my love; there is no ſpot in thee.

8 ¶ Come with me from Lebanon, my ſpouſe, with me from Lebanon; look from the top of Amana, from the top of Shenir, and Hermon, from the lions' dens, from the mountains of the leopards.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 I am the roſe of Sharon, and the lily of the vallies.) The bridegroom now replies to the praiſes beſtowed upon him by the bride in the foregoing chapter. I am indeed the fountain of all true delight and pleaſure: the roſe of Sharon not being more grateful to the ſmell, nor the lily of the vallies to the ſight, than the knowledge of me is to the minds of thoſe who are acquainted with me.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

5 The watchmen that go about the city found me, &c.) By the watchmen, Solomon ſeems to mean the prophets, and other excellent perſons who inſtructed the people; and by the city, the whole church of the Jews, the figure of the church of Chriſt in ſucceeding ages.

6 Who is this that cometh out of the wilderneſs like pillars of ſmoke, perfumed with myrrh and frankincenſe, with all powders of the merchant?) Here a new viſion begins, in which he ſaw multitudes of people, gathering together to Chriſt like a cloud of ſmoke. What multitude of people (ſays the inſpired writer) is that I behold coming from the deſolate waſtes to mount Sion, and appearing like the pillars of ſmoke which ariſe from the altar of burnt-offerings; and no leſs acceptable to God, than the ſweet odours that aſcend from the altar of incenſe in the holy place!

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 Behold, thou art fair, my love, behold, thou art fair, &c.) The ſpouſe of the church is here introduced, deſcribing the beautiful ſtate of it, under the perſon of a lovely virgin, whoſe elegant features are particularly repreſented, to raiſe admiration and love in others, and to comfort the church, by aſſuring her of being ſo amiable in the eyes of him, whom no beauty can pleaſe but that which is divine. All theſe images are borrowed from the country, as being the moſt ſuitable to a paſtoral poem.

9 Thou haſt raviſhed my heart, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe; thou haſt raviſhed my heart with one of thine eyes, with one chain of thy neck.

10 How fair is thy love, my ſiſter my ſpouſe! how much better is thy love than wine! and the ſmell of thine ointments than all ſpices!

11 Thy lips, O my ſpouſe, drop as the honey-comb: honey and milk are under thy tongue; and the ſmell of thy garments is like the ſmell of Lebanon.

12 A garden incloſed is my ſiſter my ſpouſe; a ſpring ſhut up, a fountain ſealed.

13 Thy plants are an orchard of pomegranates, with pleaſant fruits; camphire with ſpikenard,

14 Spikenard and ſaffron; calamus and cinnamon, with all trees of frankincenſe; myrrh and aloes, with all the chief ſpices:

15 A fountain of gardens, a well of living waters, and ſtreams from Lebanon.

16 ¶ Awake O north wind, and come thou ſouth, blow upon my garden, that the ſpices thereof may flow out. Let my beloved come into his garden, and eat his pleaſant fruits.

CHAP. V.

1 Chriſt awaketh the church with his calling. 2 The church having a taſte of Chriſt's love, is ſick of love. 9 A deſcription of Chriſt by his graces.

I AM come into my garden, my ſiſter my ſpouſe: I have gathered my myrrh with my ſpice; I have eaten my honey-comb with my honey: I have drunk my wine with my milk: eat, O friends, drink, yea, drink abundantly, O beloved.

2 ¶ I ſleep, but my heart waketh; it is the voice of my beloved that knocketh, ſaying, Open to me, my ſiſter, my love, my dove, my undefiled; for my head is filled with dew, and my locks with the drops of the night.

3 I have put off my coat how ſhall I put it on? I have waſhed my feet; how ſhall I defile them?

4 My beloved put in his hand by the hole of the door, and my bowels were moved for him.

5 I roſe up to open to my beloved; and my hands dropped with myrrh, and my fingers with ſweet-ſmelling myrrh, upon the handles of the lock.

6 I opened to my beloved; but my beloved had withdrawn himſelf, and was gone: my ſoul failed when he ſpake: I ſought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but he gave me no anſwer.

7 The watchmen that went about the city found me, they ſmote me, they wounded me; the keepers of the walls took away my veil from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, if ye find my beloved, that ye tell him that I am ſick of love.

9 ¶ What is thy beloved more than another beloved, O thou faireſt among women? what is thy beloved more than another beloved, that thou doſt ſo charge us?

10 My beloved is white and ruddy, the chiefeſt among ten thouſand.

11 His head is as the moſt fine gold, his locks are buſhy, and black as a raven.

12 His eyes are as the eyes of doves by the rivers of waters, waſhed with milk and fitly ſet.

13 His cheeks are as a bed of ſpices, as ſweet flowers: his lips like lilies, dropping ſweet-ſmelling myrrh.

14 His hands are as gold rings ſet with the beryl; his belly is as bright ivory overlaid with ſapphires.

15 His legs are as pillars of marble ſet upon ſockets of fine gold: his countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is moſt ſweet: yea, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jeruſalem.

CHAP. VI.

1 The church profeſſeth her faith in Chriſt. 4 Chriſt ſheweth the graces of the church, 10 and his love towards her.

WHITHER is thy beloved gone, O thou faireſt among women? whither is thy beloved turned aſide? that we may ſeek him with thee.

2 My beloved is gone down into his garden, to the beds of ſpices, to feed in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

3 I am my beloved's, and my beloved is mine: he feedeth among the lilies.

4 ¶ Thou art beautiful, O my love, as Tirzah, comely as Jeruſalem, terrible as an army with banners.

5 Turn away thine eyes from me, for they have overcome me: thy hair is as a flock of goats that appear from Gilead.

6 Thy teeth are as a flock of ſheep which go up from the waſhing, whereof every one beareth twins, and there is not one barren among them.

7 As a piece of a pomegranate are thy temples within thy locks.

8 There are threeſcore queens, and fourſcore concubines, and virgins without number.

9 My dove, my undefiled is but one; ſhe is the only one of her mother, ſhe is the choice one of her that bare her. The daughters ſaw her and bleſſed her: yea, the queens and the concubines, and they praiſed her.

10 Who is ſhe that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the ſun, and terrible as an army with banners?

11 I went down into the garden of nuts to ſee the fruits of the valley, and to ſee whether the vine flouriſhed, and the pomegranates budded.

12 Or ever I was aware, my ſoul made me like the chariots of Ammi-nadib.

13 Return, return, O Shulamite, return, return, that we may look upon thee. What will ye ſee in the Shulamite? As it were the company of two armies.

CHAP. VII.

1 A further deſcription of the church's graces. 10 She profeſſeth her faith and deſire.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 I am come into my garden, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe, &c.) The bridegroom here gives an anſwer to the invitation made in the concluſion of the laſt chapter; and teſtifies his acceptance, by coming to taſte the fruit of his garden, nay, even to make a feaſt in it, to which he calls his friends and companions, after the cuſtom of the Eaſt.

10 My beloved is white and ruddy, the chiefeſt among ten thouſand.) My beloved is that great Son of David, of whom you have ſo often heard: who is of a princely form, his beauty and ſweetneſs being equally blended with majeſty and brightneſs, dazzling the eyes of all who behold him; choſen by God to do the greateſt things, and bring all nations to his obedience.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 Whither is thy beloved gone, O thou faireſt among women?) The daughters of Jeruſalem here juſtify what the ſpouſe had ſaid in the concluſion of the former chapter; declaring themſelves in love with him whom ſhe had ſo beautifully deſcribed: and being deſirous to join with her, deſires to know whither ſhe thought he was gone, and when he went from her.

HOW

HOW beautiful are thy feet with ſhoes, O prince's daughter! the joints of thy thighs are like jewels, the work of the hands of a cunning workman.

2 Thy navel is like a round goblet, which wanteth not liquor: thy belly is like an heap of wheat ſet about with lilies.

3 Thy two breaſts are like two young roes that are twins.

4 Thy neck is as a tower of ivory; thine eyes like the fiſh-pools in Heſhbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy noſe is as the tower of Lebanon which looketh toward Damaſcus.

5 Thine head upon thee is like Carmel, and the hair of thine head like purple, the king is held in the galleries.

6 How fair, and how pleaſant art thou, O love for delights!

7 This thy ſtature is like to a palm-tree, and thy breaſts to cluſters of grapes.

8 I ſaid, I will go up to the palm-tree, I will take hold of the boughs thereof: now alſo thy breaſts ſhall be as cluſters of the vine, and the ſmell of thy noſe like apples;

9 And the roof of thy mouth like the beſt wine for my beloved, that goeth down ſweetly, cauſing the lips of thoſe that are aſleep to ſpeak.

10 ¶ I am my beloved's, and his deſire is towards me.

11 Come, my beloved, let us go forth into the field; let us lodge in the villages;

12 Let us get up early to the vineyards; let us ſee if the vine flouriſh, whether the tender grape appear, and the pomegranates bud forth, there will I give thee my loves.

13 The mandrakes give a ſmell, and at our gates are all manner of pleaſant fruits new and old, which I have laid up for thee, O my beloved.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The love of the church to Chriſt. 6 The vehemency of love. 8 The calling of the Gentiles. 14 Chriſt's coming prayed for.

OH that thou wert as my brother, that ſucked the breaſts of my mother! when I ſhould find thee without I would kiſs thee; yea, I ſhould not be deſpiſed.

2 I would lead thee, and bring thee into my mother's houſe, who would inſtruct me: I would cauſe thee to drink of ſpiced wine of the juice of my pomegranate.

3 His left hand ſhould be under my head, and his right hand ſhould embrace me.

4 I charge you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, that ye ſtir not up, nor awake my love, until he pleaſe.

5 Who is this that cometh up from the wilderneſs leaning upon her beloved? I raiſed thee up under the apple-tree; there thy mother brought thee forth, there ſhe brought thee forth that bare thee.

6 ¶ Set me as a ſeal upon thine heart, as a ſeal upon thine arm. For love is ſtrong as death: jealouſy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a moſt vehement flame.

7 Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the ſubſtance of his houſe for love, it would utterly be contemned.

8 ¶ We have a little ſiſter, and ſhe hath no breaſts: what ſhall we do for our ſiſter in the day when ſhe ſhall be ſpoken for?

9 If ſhe be a wall, we will build upon her a palace of ſilver; and if ſhe be a door, we will incloſe her with boards of cedar.

10 I am a wall, and my breaſts like towers: then was I in his eyes as one that found favour.

11 Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon; he let out the vineyard unto keepers: every one for the fruit thereof was to bring a thouſand pieces of ſilver.

12 My vineyard, which is mine, is before me: thou, O Solomon, muſt have a thouſand, and thoſe that keep the fruit thereof two hundred.

13 Thou that dwelleſt in the gardens, the companions hearken to thy voice: cauſe me to hear it.

14 ¶ Make haſte, my beloved, and be thou like to a roe, or to a young hart, upon the mountains of ſpices.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 How beautiful are thy feet with ſhoes, O prince's daughter! &c.) They who ſo earneſtly ſolicited the return of the ſpouſe, in the concluſion of the former chapter, ſeem now again to have a view of her; and again praiſe her perfection in a new method, beginning at the feet, becauſe they ſaw her in motion as ſhe went and as ſhe returned.

2 Thy belly is like an heap of wheat, &c.) It was cuſtomary in Paleſtine, after their corn had been beaten out and fann'd, to lay it in heaps, and put lilies round them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 O that thou wert as my brother, that ſucked the breaſts of my mother! &c.) This verſe ſeems, at firſt ſight, to be only a repetition of the ſame deſire wherewith he began this book; namely, that they might be ſo happy as to ſee the Meſſiah appear, though it were but in his infancy, which would tranſport them with joy, &c. And accordingly the Chaldee paraphraſt interprets it, of the time when the Meſſiah ſhall be revealed to the congregation of Iſrael. But if we conſider what follows, it will appear to be a more ardent expreſſion of love to the perſon before-mentioned, with a deſire of having a more intimate familiarity with him: ſuch as a ſiſter hath with a brother, while he continues to hang upon his nurſe's breaſt. This ſeems to be the literal ſenſe of the words, which may be applied to the open profeſſion of Chriſtianity, with the greateſt confidence and ſecurity; nothing being more innocent and harmleſs than the love and ſervice wherein it engages its diſciples to their great Lord and Maſter.

THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Iſaiah is the firſt of the four great prophets; the others being Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel. He was deſcended from the ſon of Amoz, brother to Azariah king of Judah; and propheſied from the end of the reign of Uzziah, to the time of Manaſſeh, by whoſe order, according to a Jewiſh tradition, he was ſawn aſunder with a wooden ſaw; and to this tranſaction the apoſtle to the Hebrews is thought to allude, chap. xi. 37. The ſtyle of this prophet is noble, ſublime, and florid. Grotius calls him the Demoſthenes of the Hebrews. He had the advantage above all other prophets of improving his diction, by converſing with men of the greateſt parts and elocution. This added a gravity, force, and ſtrength, to what he ſaid. He impartially reproved the vices and diſorders of the age he lived in, and openly diſplayed the judgments of God, which were hanging over the Jewiſh nation.

CHAP. I.

1 Iſaiah's complaint of Judah. 10 He upbraideth their ſervice. 16 He exhorteth to repentance with promiſes and threatenings.

THE viſion of Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz which he ſaw concerning Judah and Jeruſalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

2 Hear, O heavens: and give ear O earth: for the Lord hath ſpoken: I have nouriſhed and brought up children, and they have rebelled againſt me.

3 The ox knoweth his owner, and the aſs his maſter's crib: but Iſrael doth not know, my people doth not conſider.

4 Ah, ſinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a ſeed of evil-doers, children that are corrupters: they have forſaken the Lord, they have provoked the Holy One of Iſrael unto anger, they are gone away backward.

5 Why ſhould ye be ſtricken any more? ye will revolt more and more: the whole head is ſick, and the whole heart faint.

6 From the ſole of the foot even unto the head there is no ſoundneſs in it: but wounds and bruiſes, and putrifying ſores: they have not been cloſed neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment.

7 Your country is deſolate, your cities are burned with fire: your land, ſtrangers devour it in your preſence, and it is deſolate as overthrown by ſtrangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion is left as a cottage in a vineyard, as a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, as a beſieged city.

9 Except the Lord of hoſts had left unto us a very ſmall remnant, we ſhould have been as Sodom, and we ſhould have been like unto Gomorrah.

10 ¶ Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom, give ear unto the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrah.

11 To what purpoſe is the multitude of your ſacrifices unto me? ſaith the Lord: I am full of the burnt-offerings of rams and the fat of fed beaſts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he-goats.

12 When ye come to appear before me, who hath required this at your hand to tread my courts?

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 The viſion of Iſaiah, the ſon of Amoz, &c.) God made uſe of two general methods of communicating his will to his ſervants, the prophets, namely, by dreams and viſions. In the latter the perſon was awake, but his external ſenſes were locked up, and, as it were, laid in a trance. It is called a viſion, not from any uſe made of corporeal ſight, or that the perſon was entertained with external objects, but from the clearneſs and evidence of the things revealed, and the conformity this kind of inſpiration bears to the intelligence the mind receives from corporeal ſenſation. Viſion was however ſometimes accompanied with external repreſentations; as when Iſaiah ſaw the glory of the Lord ſitting in his temple, (chap. vi.) and St. John had a ſight of the new Jeruſalem coming down from heaven, (Rev. xxi. 10.)——In all probability, this was not the firſt viſion which Iſaiah was favoured with; but it is placed at the beginning of the book, becauſe this and the four following chapters contain a general deſcription of the ſtate and condition of the Jews, under the ſeveral judgments which the Almighty had brought upon that perverſe and ſtiff-necked people.

9 Except the Lord of hoſts had left unto us a very ſmall remnant, we ſhould have been as Sodom, &c.) The Almighty always, in the midſt of his wrath, remembers mercy, and preſerves a remnant, in the heavieſt judgments which he brings upon his people: a type of thoſe few converts among the Jews, who, embracing the goſpel, ſhould eſcape both the temporal and eternal judgments which fell upon the reſt of that nation for rejecting the Meſſiah and his meſſengers.

13 Bring no more vain oblations; incenſe is an abomination unto me; the new-moons and ſabbaths, the calling of aſſemblies I cannot away with; it is iniquity, even the ſolemn meeting.

14 Your new-moons, and your appointed feaſts my ſoul hateth; they are a trouble unto me; I am weary to bear them.

15 And when ye ſpread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you; yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear; your hands are full of blood.

16 ¶ Waſh you, make you clean: put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; ceaſe to do evil;

17 Learn to do well; ſeek judgment, relieve the oppreſſed, judge the fatherleſs, plead for the widow.

18 Come now, and let us reaſon together, ſaith the Lord: tho' your ſins be as ſcarlet, they ſhall be as white as ſnow: though they be red like crimſon, they ſhall be as wool.

19 If ye be willing and obedient, ye ſhall eat the good of the land.

20 But if ye refuſe and rebel, ye ſhall be devoured with the ſword: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

21 How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgment; righteouſneſs lodged in it; but now murderers.

22 Thy ſilver is become droſs, thy wine mixed with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loveth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they judge not the fatherleſs, neither doth the cauſe of the widow come unto them.

24 Therefore ſaith the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, the Mighty One of Iſrael, Ah, I will eaſe me of mine adverſaries, and avenge me of mine enemies:

25 And I will turn my hand upon thee, and purely purge away thy droſs, and take away all thy tin.

26 And I will reſtore thy judges as at the firſt, and thy counſellors as at the beginning: afterward thou ſhalt be called, The city of righteouſneſs, The faithful city.

27 Zion ſhall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteouſneſs.

28 And the deſtruction of the tranſgreſſors and of the ſinners ſhall be together, and they that forſake the Lord ſhall be conſumed.

29 For they ſhall be aſhamed of the oaks which ye have deſired, and ye ſhall be confounded for the gardens that ye have choſen.

30 For ye ſhall be as an oak whoſe leaf fadeth, and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the ſtrong ſhall be as tow, and the maker of it as a ſpark, and they ſhall both burn together, and none ſhall quench them.

CHAP. II.

1 Iſaiah propheſieth the coming of Chriſt's kingdom. 6 Wickedneſs is the cauſe of God's forſaking. 10 He exhorteth to fear becauſe of the powerful effects of God's majeſty.

THE word that Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſaw concerning Judah and Jeruſalem.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days, that the mountain of the Lord's houſe ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the top of the mountains, and ſhall be exalted above the hills: and all nations ſhall flow unto it.

3 And many people ſhall go and ſay, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the houſe of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion ſhall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem.

4 And he ſhall judge among the nations, and ſhall rebuke many people: and they ſhall beat their ſwords into plow-ſhares, and their ſpears into pruning-hooks: nation ſhall not lift up ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learn war any more.

5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.

6 ¶ Therefore thou haſt forſaken thy people the houſe of Jacob, becauſe they be repleniſhed from the eaſt, and are ſoothſayers like the Philiſtines, and they pleaſe themſelves in the children of ſtrangers.

7 Their land alſo is full of ſilver and gold, neither is there any end of their treaſures; their land is alſo full of horſes, neither is there any end of their chariots.

8 Their land alſo is full of idols; they worſhip the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:

9 And the mean man boweth him down, and the great man humbleth himſelf: therefore forgive them not.

10 ¶ Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the duſt, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty.

11 The lofty looks of man ſhall be humbled, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be bowed down, and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hoſts ſhall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he ſhall be brought low.

13 And upon all the cedars of Lebanon that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Baſhan.

14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up.

15 And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall.

16 And upon all the ſhips of Tarſhiſh, and upon all pleaſant pictures.

17 And the loftineſs of man ſhall be bowed down, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be made low: and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day.

18 And the idols he ſhall utterly aboliſh.

19 And they ſhall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty, when he ariſeth to ſhake terribly the earth.

20 In that day a man ſhall caſt his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which they made each one for himſelf to worſhip, to the moles and to the bats;

21 To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty, when he ariſeth to ſhake terribly the earth.

22 Ceaſe ye from man, whoſe breath is in his noſtrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days, &c.) By the laſt days are meant the times of the Meſſiah: for the Jews commonly divided the times or ſucceſſions of the world into three ages or periods: the firſt before the law, the ſecond under the law, and the third under the Meſſiah. This being the laſt diſpenſation, God deſigning it to continue 'till the conſummation of all things, 'till that awful period when time ſhall give place to eternity.

5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.) This addreſs of the prophet is directed to the Jews of the laſt times, thoſe who ſhould live when the glad tidings of the goſpel were publiſhed; and theſe he exhorts to make uſe of ſuch glorious opportunities, and not, like their forefathers, continue ſtubborn and refractory, to their own deſtruction.

CHAP. III.

1 The great confuſion which cometh by ſin. 9 The impudence of the people. 12 The oppreſſion and covetouſneſs of the rulers. 16 The judgments which ſhall be for the pride of the women.

FOR, behold, the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, doth take away from Jeruſalem, and from Judah, the ſtay and the ſtaff, the whole ſtay of bread, and the whole ſtay of water,

2 The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient,

3 The captain of fifty, and the honourable man, and the counſellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator.

4 And I will give children to be their princes, and babes ſhall rule over them.

5 And the people ſhall be oppreſſed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbour: the child ſhall behave himſelf proudly againſt the ancient, and the baſe againſt the honourable.

6 When a man ſhall take hold of his brother, of the houſe of his father, ſaying, Thou haſt clothing, be thou our ruler, and let this ruin be under thy hand.

7 In that day ſhall he ſwear, ſaying, I will not be an healer; for in my houſe is neither bread nor clothing: make me not a ruler of the people.

8 For Jeruſalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen; becauſe their tongue and their doings are againſt the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his glory.

9 ¶ The ſhew of their countenance doth witneſs againſt them, and they declare their ſin as Sodom, they hide it not: woe unto their ſoul! for they have rewarded evil unto themſelves.

10 Say ye to the righteous, that it ſhall be well with him: for they ſhall eat the fruit of their doings.

11 Woe unto the wicked! it ſhall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands ſhall be given him.

12 ¶ As for my people, children are their oppreſſors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead thee cauſe thee to err, and deſtroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord ſtandeth up to plead, and ſtandeth to judge the people.

14 The Lord will enter into judgment with the ancients of his people, and with the princes thereof: for ye have eaten up the vineyard; the ſpoil of the poor is in your houſes.

15 What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor? ſaith the Lord God of hoſts.

16 ¶ Moreover, the Lord ſaith, Becauſe the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with ſtretched-forth necks, and wanton eyes, walking, and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet:

17 Therefore the Lord will ſmite with a ſcab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion, and the Lord will diſcover their ſecret parts.

18 In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon,

19 The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,

20 The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the head-bands, and the tablets, and the ear-rings,

21 The rings, and noſe-jewels,

22 The changeable ſuits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the criſping-pins,

23 The glaſſes, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the veils,

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that inſtead of ſweet ſmell, there ſhall be ſtink; and inſtead of a girdle, a rent; and inſtead of well-ſet hair, baldneſs; and inſtead of a ſtomacher, a girding of ſackcloth; and burning inſtead of beauty.

25 Thy men ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy mighty in the war.

26 And her gates ſhall lament and mourn; and ſhe, being deſolate, ſhall ſit upon the ground.

CHAP. IV.

In the extremity of evils Chriſt's kingdom ſhall be a ſanctuary.

AND in that day ſeven women ſhall take hold of one man, ſaying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel; only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach.

2 In that day ſhall the branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth ſhall be excellent and comely for them that are eſcaped of Iſrael.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs, that he that is left in Zion, and he that remaineth in Jeruſalem, ſhall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jeruſalem:

4 When the Lord ſhall have waſhed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and ſhall have purged the blood of Jeruſalem from the midſt thereof, by the ſpirit of judgment, and by the ſpirit of burning.

5 And the Lord will create upon every dwelling place of mount Zion, and upon her aſſemblies, a cloud and ſmoke by day, and the ſhining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory ſhall be a defence.

6 And there ſhall be a tabernacle for a ſhadow in the day-time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from ſtorm and from rain.

Commentary on Chap. III.

12 O my people, they which lead thee, cauſe thee to err, &c.) That is, thy falſe prophets, by ſoothing thy ſins, and foretelling nothing but peace and proſperity, encourage thee to continue thy abominations, and walk in the crooked paths of vice.

16 Making a tinkling with their feet.) The Arabian ladies have large hollow rings, or rather circles with little rings hanging round them. Theſe hollows they fill with ſmall flints, that ſound like bells when they go along: thoſe large rings open like a half-moon, where they put the ſmall of the leg through. The words which deſcribe the women's ornaments, in this and the following verſes, are of a very doubtful ſignification.

26 And her gates ſhall lament and mourn, and ſhe being deſolate, ſhall ſit upon the ground.) The gates are ſaid, in the prophetic ſtile, to lament and mourn, when no man paſſes through them, and the courts of juſtice that uſed to be kept there are ſhut up. And ſitting upon the ground is a token of the deepeſt mourning and lamentation; ſo that Jeruſalem is here deſcribed as a woman bereaved of children, and lamenting over them in this melancholy poſture. Nor was this prediction uttered in vain; for, on a model ſtruck by order of Veſpaſian, after her deſtruction by the Romans, ſhe is repreſented in this very poſture.

Commentary on Chap. IV.

2 In that day ſhall the branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious, &c.) The Meſſiah is often called the branch in the prophecies of the Old Teſtament, and the church the branch of God's planting. See chap. lx. 21.

5 And the Lord will create upon every dwelling-place upon mount Zion, and upon her aſſemblies, a cloud and ſmoke by day, and the ſhining of a flaming fire by night, &c.) The prophet here plainly alludes to the cloud by day, and the pillar of fire by night, that conducted and protected the Iſraelites in the wilderneſs, and afterwards reſted on the tabernacle. And in the ſame manner, the Almighty here promiſes to give viſible tokens of his preſence in his church, and to protect it in all dangers and diſtreſſes.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the type of a vineyard God excuſeth his ſevere judgments. 8 His judgments upon covetouſneſs, 11 upon laſciviouſneſs, 13 upon impiety, 20 and upon injuſtice. 26 The executioners of God's judgments.

NOW will I ſing to my well beloved a ſong of my beloved touching his vineyard. My well beloved hath a vineyard in a very fruitful hill.

2 And he fenced it, and gathered out the ſtones thereof, and planted it with the choiceſt vine, and built a tower in the midſt of it, and alſo made a winepreſs therein: and he looked, that it ſhould bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

3 And now, O inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, betwixt me and my vineyard.

4 What could have been done more to my vineyard that I have not done in it? wherefore when I looked that it ſhould bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes.

5 And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it ſhall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it ſhall be trodden down:

6 And I will lay it waſte: it ſhall not be pruned nor digged; but there ſhall come up briers and thorns: I will alſo command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it.

7 For the vineyard of the Lord of hoſts is the houſe of Iſrael, and the men of Judah his pleaſant plant: and he looked for judgment, but behold oppreſſion; for righteouſneſs, but behold, a cry.

8 ¶ Woe unto them that join houſe to houſe, that lay field to field, till there be no place, that they may be placed alone in the midſt of the earth;

9 In mine ears, ſaid the Lord of hoſts, Of a truth many houſes ſhall be deſolate, even great and fair, without inhabitant.

10 Yea, ten acres of vineyard ſhall yield one bath, and the ſeed of an omer ſhall yield an ephah.

11 Woe unto them that riſe up early in the morning that they may follow ſtrong drink, that continue until night, till wine inflame them!

12 And the harp and the viol, the tabret and pipe, and wine are in their feaſts: but they regard not the work of the Lord, neither conſider the operation of his hands.

13 ¶ Therefore my people are gone into captivity, becauſe they have no knowledge: and their honourable men are famiſhed, and their multitude dried up with thirſt.

14 Therefore hell hath enlarged herſelf, and opened her mouth without meaſure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth ſhall deſcend into it.

15 And the mean men ſhall be brought down, and the mighty men ſhall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty ſhall be humbled.

16 But the Lord of hoſts ſhall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy ſhall be ſanctified in righteouſneſs.

17 Then ſhall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waſte places of the fat ones ſhall ſtrangers eat.

18 Woe unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and ſin as it were with a cart rope;

19 That ſay, Let him make ſpeed, and haſten his work that we may ſee it: and let the counſel of the Holy One of Iſrael draw nigh and come, that we may know it.

20 ¶ Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkneſs for light and light for darkneſs; that put bitter for ſweet, and ſweet for bitter!

21 Woe unto them that are wiſe in their own eyes, and prudent in their own ſight!

22 Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of ſtrength to mingle ſtrong drink:

23 Which juſtify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteouſneſs of the righteous from him!

24 Therefore, as the fire devoureth the ſtubble, and the flame conſumeth the chaff, ſo their root ſhall be as rottenneſs, and their bloſſom ſhall go up as duſt. Becauſe they have caſt away the law of the Lord of hoſts, and deſpiſed the word of the Holy One of Iſrael;

25 Therefore, is the anger of the Lord kindled againſt his people, and he hath ſtretched forth his hand againſt them, and hath ſmitten them: and the hills did tremble, and their carcaſes were torn in the midſt of the ſtreets. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

26 ¶ And he will lift up an enſign to the nations from far, and will hiſs unto them from the end of the earth: and, behold, they ſhall come with ſpeed ſwiftly.

27 None ſhall be weary nor ſtumble among them; none ſhall ſlumber nor ſleep; neither ſhall the girdle of their loins be looſed, nor the latchet of their ſhoes be broken:

28 Whoſe arrows are ſharp, and all their bows bent, their horſes' hoofs ſhall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a whirlwind:

29 Their roaring ſhall be like a lion, they ſhall roar like young lions; yea, they ſhall roar, and lay hold of the prey, and ſhall carry it away ſafe, and none ſhall deliver it.

30 And in that day they ſhall roar againſt them like the roaring of the ſea: and if one look unto the land, behold darkneſs and ſorrow; and the light is darkened in the heavens thereof.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iſaiah's viſion. 9 The obſtinacy of the people unto their deſolation.

IN the year that king Uzziah died I ſaw alſo the Lord ſitting upon a throne, high and liſted up, and his train filled the temple.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 Now will I ſing to my well-beloved, a ſong of my beloved, &c.) The Hebrew words Jedidi and Dodi, which we render beloved and well-beloved, are here ſpoken of the ſame perſon, the Meſſiah, who is called well-beloved, in reſpect to his ſpouſe the church, and known by that title in the Canticles or Song of Solomon, to which book the prophet here in all probability alludes.

17 Then ſhall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waſte-places of the fat ones ſhall ſtrangers eat.) While ſtrangers devour the poſſeſſions of thoſe who are grown rich by oppreſſion, the lambs, or good men, ſhall be under the peculiar care of providence, and ſhall want nothing that is neceſſary for their ſupport. It is common for the prophets to repreſent God as a ſhepherd, and his care of the righteous, by their feeding ſecurely in rich paſtures.

26 And he will lift up an enſign to the nations from far, &c.) It was the cuſtom of the Eaſt, at this time, to ſet up a ſtandard as a ſign for armies to aſſemble. And in this, the prophet foretels that God would gather the nations, that live afar off, to fight againſt Jeruſalem: a threatning that was fulfilled by the armies of Nebuchadnezzar, who not only laid Judah waſte, and burnt Jeruſalem with fire, but carried away the inhabitants into captivity. But it is not improbable that this threatning may be alſo extended to the final deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Romans.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 I ſaw alſo the Lord ſitting upon a throne, &c.) That is, I ſaw the divine Shechinah, or glory of the Lord, as St. John explains it, (John xxii. 41) who alſo aſſures us, that this was the Logos, or ſecond perſon in the bleſſed Trinity, who now appeared, the viſion having a particular relation to the times of the goſpel. It was the unanimous ſenſe of the ancient church, that all the divine appearances in the Old Teſtament were made by the Son of God, who ordered all the affairs of the church from the beginning; and the ancient Jews were alſo of the ſame opinion.

2 Above it ſtood the ſeraphims: each one had ſix wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly.

3 And one cried unto another, and ſaid, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hoſts; the whole earth is full of his glory.

4 And the poſts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the houſe was filled with ſmoke.

5 ¶ Then ſaid I, Woe is me! for I am undone, becauſe I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midſt of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have ſeen the King, the Lord of hoſts.

6 Then flew one of the ſeraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar:

7 And he laid it upon my mouth, and ſaid, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity is taken away, and thy ſin purged.

8 Alſo I heard the voice of the Lord, ſaying, Whom ſhall I ſend, and who will go for us? then ſaid I, Here am I; ſend me.

9 ¶ And he ſaid, Go and tell this people, Hear ye indeed, but underſtand not; and ſee ye indeed, but perceive not.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and ſhut their eyes; leſt they ſee with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and underſtand with their heart, and convert, and be healed.

11 Then ſaid I, Lord how long? And he anſwered, Until the cities be waſted without inhabitant, and the houſes without man, and the land be utterly deſolate:

12 And the Lord have removed men far away, and there be a great forſaking in the midſt of the land.

13 ¶ But yet in it ſhall be a tenth, and it ſhall return, and ſhall be eaten: as a teil-tree, and as a oak, whoſe ſubſtance is in them when they caſt their leaves, ſo the holy ſeed ſhall be the ſubſtance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ahaz is comforted by Iſaiah. 14 Chriſt promiſed. 17 Ahaz's judgment is prophefied to come by Aſſyria.

AND it came to paſs in the days of Ahaz the ſon of Jotham, the ſon of Uzziah king of Judah, that Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah, the ſon of Remaliah king of Iſrael, went up towards Jeruſalem to war againſt it, but could not prevail againſt it.

2 And it was told the houſe of David, ſaying, Syria is confederate with Ephraim. And his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the wood are moved with the wind.

3 Then ſaid the Lord unto Iſaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz, thou and Shear-jaſhub thy ſon, at the end of the conduit of the upper-pool in the highway of the fuller's field;

4 And ſay unto him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not, neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of theſe ſmoking fire-brands, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the ſon of Remaliah;

5 Becauſe Syria, Ephraim, and the ſon of Remaliah, have taken evil counſel againſt thee, ſaying,

6 Let us go up againſt Judah and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and ſet a king in the midſt of it, even the ſon of Tabeal;

7 Thus ſaith the Lord God, It ſhall not ſtand, neither ſhall it come to paſs.

8 For the head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus is Rezin: and within threeſcore and five years ſhall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's ſon. If ye will not believe, ſurely ye ſhall not be eſtabliſhed.

10 Moreover, the Lord ſpake again unto Ahaz, ſaying,

11 Aſk thee a ſign of the Lord thy God; aſk it either in the depth, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz ſaid, I will not aſk, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 And he ſaid, Hear ye now, O houſe of David; is it a ſmall thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God alſo?

14 ¶ Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign: Behold, a virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, and ſhall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and honey ſhall he eat, that he may know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good:

16 For before the child ſhall know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good, the land that thou abhorreſt ſhall be forſaken of both her kings.

17 ¶ The Lord ſhall bring upon thee, and upon thy people, and upon thy father's houſe, days that have not come, from the day that Ephraim departed from Judah: even the king of Aſſyria:

18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall hiſs for the fly that is in the uttermoſt part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Aſſyria.

19 And they ſhall come, and ſhall reſt all of them in the deſolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all thorns, and upon all buſhes.

20 In the ſame day ſhall the Lord ſhave with a razor that is hired, namely, by them beyond the river, by the king of Aſſyria, the head, and the hair of the feet: and it ſhall alſo conſume the beard.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a man ſhall nouriſh a young cow and two ſheep.

22 And it ſhall come to paſs, for the abundance of milk that they ſhall give, that he ſhall eat butter: for butter

---

10 Make the heart of this people fat, &c.) In the oriental languages, a fat heart is a metaphorical expreſſion, denoting a proud, ſenſual, ſtubborn diſpoſition. Thus (Deut. xxxii. 15) Jeſhurum waxed fat, and kicked. And (Pſalm cxix. 70) their heart is as fat as greaſe. The prediction of this prophecy was not fully accompliſhed 'till after the preaching of Chriſt and his apoſtles, whom the Jews rejected, and were therefore rejected themſelves by the Almighty, who viſited them with all the horrors of war and famine.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

14 Behold, a virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon.) Chriſt is called the ſeed of the woman, by way of diſtinction, (Gen. iii. 14) as he was not to be born according to the ordinary method of generation.

And ſhall call his name Immanuel.) This is ſpoken of the mother, who, among the Jews, gave the name to the child. But we are not to underſtand by this phraſe that his name was to be Immanuel, but that he was to be truly God with us; for in this ſenſe the word Dubar is generally uſed in the Old Teſtament. So it is ſaid of the holy city (chap. i. 26) Jeruſalem ſhall be called a city of righteouſneſs; that is, her manners ſhall anſwer that title.

18 For the fly that is in the uttermoſt parts of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Aſſyria.) The ſacred writers often compare armies to flies, bees, and other inſects, both on account of their numbers, and the deſtruction they ſpread to every part they infeſt. And the kingdoms of Egypt and Aſſyria are often joined together, becauſe they were the two great oppoſers of God's people.

20 In the ſame day ſhall the Lord ſhave with a razor that is hired, &c.) It was a cuſtom among the inhabitants of the Eaſt to ſhave their heads on any mournful occaſion, and is thence uſed metaphorically to ſignify any great calamity: and under this ſimilitude the invaſion of an army is very naturally repreſented here, becauſe the ravages of foreign forces ſtrip a country as bare of its products and ornaments, as a razor does the head of its hair. The Aſſyrian monarch is called the hired razor, becauſe God often rewards thoſe whom he makes the inſtruments of his vengeance upon wicked men.

butter and honey ſhall every one eat that is left in the land.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that every place ſhall be, where there were a thouſand vines at a thouſand ſilverlings it ſhall even be for briers and thorns.

24 With arrows and with bows ſhall men come thither: becauſe all the land ſhall become briers and thorns.

25 And on all hills that ſhall be digged with the mattock, there ſhall not come thither the fear of briers and thorns: but it ſhall be for the ſending forth of oxen, and for the treading of leſſer cattle.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A prophecy againſt Syria and Iſrael, 5 and Judah. 9 God's judgments irreſiſtable. 11 Comfort to them that fear God. 19 Great afflictions to idolaters.

MOREOVER, the Lord ſaid unto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a man's pen concerning Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.

2 And I took unto me faithful witneſſes to record, Uriah the prieſt, and Zechariah the ſon of Jeberechiah.

3 And I went unto the propheteſs; and ſhe conceived and bare a ſon. Then ſaid the Lord to me, Call his name Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.

4 For before the child ſhall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, the riches of Damaſcus and the ſpoil of Samaria ſhall be taken away before the king of Aſſyria.

5 ¶ The Lord ſpake alſo unto me again, ſaying,

6 Foraſmuch as this people refuſeth the waters of Shiloah that go ſoftly, and rejoice in Rezin, and Remaliah's ſon.

7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth up upon them the waters of the river, ſtrong and many, even the king of Aſſyria, and all his glory: and he ſhall come up over all his channels, and go over all his banks.

8 And he ſhall paſs through Judah: he ſhall overflow and go over, he ſhall reach even to the neck: and the ſtretching out of his wings ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 ¶ Aſſociate yourſelves, O ye people, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces: and give ear all ye of far countries: gird yourſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces: gird yourſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counſel together, and it ſhall come to nought: ſpeak the word and it ſhall not ſtand: for God is with us.

11 ¶ For the Lord ſpake thus to me with a ſtrong hand, and inſtructed me that I ſhould not walk in the way of this people, ſaying,

12 Say ye not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people ſhall ſay, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid.

13 Sanctify the Lord of hoſts himſelf; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.

14 And he ſhall be for a ſanctuary; but for a ſtone of ſtumbling, and for a rock of offence to both the houſes of Iſrael, for a gin and for a ſnare to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

15 And many among them ſhall ſtumble and fall, and be broken, and be ſnared, and be taken.

16 Bind up the teſtimony; ſeal the law among my diſciples.

17 And I will wait upon the Lord that hideth his face from the houſe of Jacob, and I will look for him.

18 Behold, I and the children whom the Lord hath given me are for ſigns and for wonders in Iſrael from the Lord of hoſts which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 ¶ And when they ſhall ſay unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar ſpirits, and unto wizards, that peep and that mutter: ſhould not a people ſeek unto their God? for the living to the dead?

20 To the law and to the teſtimony: if they ſpeak not according to this word, it is becauſe there is no light in them.

21 And they ſhall paſs through it hardly beſtead and hungry: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when they ſhall be hungry, they ſhall fret themſelves, and curſe their king and their God, and look upward.

22 And they ſhall look unto the earth: and behold, trouble and darkneſs, dimneſs of anguiſh; and they ſhall be driven to darkneſs.

CHAP. IX.

1 What joy ſhall be in the midſt of afflictions by the birth and kingdom of Chriſt. 8 Judgments upon Iſrael for their pride, 13 hypocriſy, 18 and impenitency.

NEVERTHELESS, the dimneſs ſhall not be ſuch as was in her vexation, when at the firſt he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun, and the land of Naphtali, and afterwards did more grievouſly afflict her by the way of the ſea beyond Jordan, in Galilee of the nations.

2 The people that walked in darkneſs have ſeen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the ſhadow of death, upon them hath the light ſhined.

3 Thou haſt multiplied the nation and not increaſed the joy: they joy before thee according to the joy in harveſt, and as men rejoice when they divide the ſpoil.

4 For thou haſt broken the yoke of his burden, and the ſtaff of his ſhoulder, the rod of his oppreſſor, as in the day of Midian.

5 For every battle of the warrior is with confuſed noiſe, and garments rolled in blood; but this ſhall be with burning and fuel of fire.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

14 And he ſhall be for a ſanctuary.) That is, he ſhall be a place of refuge from the ſtorm, an aſylum from every danger.

But for a ſtone of ſtumbling, and for a rock of offence to both the houſes of Iſrael, for a gin and for a ſnare to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.) The moſt gracious promiſes of God, and his kind invitations to the ſons of men, prove the ſource of the greateſt miſery to thoſe who diſregard or diſbelieve them. This paſſage wholly relates to the Meſſiah, the Immanuel already mentioned, in whom all the promiſes of God are fulfilled: though the prophets have foretold that this benevolent ſon of the Moſt High ſhould be a cauſe of offence to the Jews, and that their ſhocking incredulity ſhould in the end prove the occaſion of their ruin, and the taking away both their place and nation. The prophet expreſsly mentions both the houſes of Iſrael, to ſhew the rejection of the Jews under the goſpel. This very expreſſion is a demonſtration that the prophet here extends his views beyond the aſſociation of Pekah and Rezin. For under thoſe circumſtances Iſrael and Judah were in two different intereſts, and the prophet exhorts the people of Judah to truſt in God, who would be their defence againſt the unjuſt deſigns of their brethren the ten tribes: whereas this verſe ſpeaks of them both, as involved in the ſame ſin and puniſhment.

18 Behold, I and the children whom the Lord hath given me, are for ſigns, and for wonders in Iſrael, from the Lord of hoſts, &c.) Theſe words are ſpoken by the prophet in the perſon of Chriſt, whom he here repreſents, and ſignify, that he and his children were remarkable for being viſible pledges of God's promiſes, and remembrancers of his veracity and the people's duty: and hence they were admired and reſpected by the righteous, but ſcorned and derided by hypocrites and unbelievers.

6 For unto us a child is born, unto us a ſon is given: and the government ſhall be upon his ſhoulder: and his name ſhall be called, Wonderful, Counſellor, The mighty God, The everlaſting Father, The Prince of Peace.

7 Of the increaſe of his government and peace there ſhall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it and to eſtabliſh it with judgment and with juſtice, from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hoſts will perform this.

8 ¶ The Lord ſent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Iſrael.

9 And all the people ſhall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria, that ſay in the pride and ſtoutneſs of heart,

10 The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewn ſtones: the ſycamores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Therefore the Lord ſhall ſet up the adverſaries of Rezin againſt him, and join his enemies together:

12 The Syrians before and the Philiſtines behind: and they ſhall devour Iſrael with open mouth. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

13 ¶ For the people turneth not unto him that ſmiteth them, neither do they ſeek the Lord of hoſts.

14 Therefore the Lord will cut off from Iſrael head and tail, branch and ruſh in one day.

15 The ancient and honourable, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail.

16 For the leaders of this people cauſe them to err; and they that are led of them are deſtroyed.

17 Therefore the Lord ſhall have no joy in their young men, neither ſhall have mercy on their fatherleſs and widows: for every one is an hypocrite and an evil doer, and every mouth ſpeaketh folly. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

18 ¶ For wickedneſs burneth as the fire: it ſhall devour the briers and thorns, and ſhall kindle in the thickets of the foreſt; and they ſhall mount up like the lifting up of ſmoke.

19 Through the wrath of the Lord of hoſts is the land darkened, and the people ſhall be as the fuel of the fire: no man ſhall ſpare his brother.

20 And he ſhall ſnatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he ſhall eat on the left hand, and they ſhall not be ſatisfied: they ſhall eat every man the fleſh of his own arm:

21 Manaſſeh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manaſſeh: and they together ſhall be againſt Judah. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

CHAP. X.

1 The woe of tyrants. 5 Aſſyria, the rod of hypocrites, for his pride ſhall be broken. 20 A remnant of Iſrael ſhall be ſaved.

WOE unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievouſneſs which they have preſcribed;

2 To turn aſide the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherleſs!

3 And what will ye do in the day of viſitation, and in the deſolation which ſhall come from far? to whom will ye flee for help? and where will ye leave your glory?

4 Without me they ſhall bow down under the priſoners, and they ſhall fall under the ſlain. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

5 ¶ O Aſſyrian, the rod of mine anger, and the ſtaff in their hand is mine indignation.

6 I will ſend him againſt an hypocritical nation, and againſt the people of my wrath will I give him a charge, to take the ſpoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the ſtreets.

7 Howbeit, he meaneth not ſo, neither doth his heart think ſo; but it is in his heart to deſtroy and cut off nations not a few.

8 For he ſaith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemiſh? is not Hamath as Arpad? is not Samaria as Damaſcus?

10 As my hand hath found the kingdoms of the idols, and whoſe graven images did excel them of Jeruſalem, and of Samaria;

11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, ſo do to Jeruſalem and her idols?

12 Wherefore it ſhall come to paſs, that, when the Lord hath performed his whole work upon mount Zion, and on Jeruſalem, I will puniſh the fruit of the ſtout heart of the king of Aſſyria, and the glory of his high looks.

13 For he ſaith, By the ſtrength of my hand I have done it, and by my wiſdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treaſures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man:

14 And my hand hath found, as a neſt the riches of the people: and as one gathereth eggs that are left have I gathered all the earth; and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or peeped.

15 Shall the axe boaſt itſelf againſt him that heweth therewith? or ſhall the ſaw magnify itſelf againſt him that ſhaketh it? as if the rod ſhould ſhake itſelf againſt them that lift it up, or as if the ſtaff ſhould lift up itſelf, as if it were no wood.

16 Therefore ſhall the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, ſend among his fat ones leanneſs; and under his glory he ſhall kindle a burning like the burning of a fire.

17 And the light of Iſrael ſhall be for a fire, and his Holy One for a flame: and it ſhall burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day;

18 And ſhall conſume the glory of his foreſt, and of

Commentary on Chap. IX.

6 For unto us a child is born, &c.] This prophecy is, by the beſt interpreters, applied to Chriſt; and, indeed, it cannot, with any ſhew of propriety, be aſcribed to any other, the titles given to this child being proper only for the Great Son of David, who was to ſave his people from their ſins.

The everlaſting Father, &c.] Or, to uſe the expreſſion of St. Paul, The author of eternal ſalvation, Heb. v. 9. The ſeptuagint render the words, The father of the world to come: and from hence the ſtate of the goſpel, or the kingdom of the Meſſiah, is ſtiled in the New Teſtament, The age of the world to come.

Commentary on Chap. X.

5 O Aſſyrian, the rod of mine anger, &c.] A new prophecy begins here, and continues to the end of the chapter, and inſtructs us in this great and important truth, that God often proſpers wicked and tyrannical governments to be his ſcourge, and the inſtrument of his vengeance upon others; and when they have executed the work which the Almighty allotted them, he then puniſhes them for thoſe very oppreſſions which they have exerciſed towards their neighbours, and to which they were excited purely by their own ambition and covetouſneſs, though providence directed them to better ends and purpoſes.

15 Shall the axe boaſt itſelf, &c.] Men are only inſtruments in the hand of Providence; therefore the glory ought to be aſcribed to God alone.

his

his fruitful field, both ſoul and body: and they ſhall be as when a ſtandard-bearer fainteth.

19 And the reſt of the trees of his foreſt ſhall be few, that a child may write them.

20 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the remnant of Iſrael, and ſuch as are eſcaped of the houſe of Jacob, ſhall no more again ſtay upon him that ſmote them; but ſhall ſtay upon the Lord, the Holy One of Iſrael, in truth.

21 The remnant ſhall return, even the remnant of Jacob, unto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people Iſrael be as the ſand of the ſea, yet a remnant of them ſhall return: the conſumption decreed ſhall overflow with righteouſneſs.

23 For the Lord God of hoſts ſhall make a conſumption, even determined, in the midſt of all the land.

24 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, O my people that dwelleſt in Zion, be not afraid of the Aſſyrian: he ſhall ſmite thee with a rod, and ſhall lift up his ſtaff againſt thee, after the manner of Egypt.

25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation ſhall ceaſe, and mine anger, in their deſtruction.

26 And the Lord of hoſts ſhall ſtir up a ſcourge for him, according to the ſlaughter of Midian at the rock of Oreb; and as his rod was upon the ſea, ſo ſhall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt.

27 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that his burden ſhall be taken away from off thy ſhoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke ſhall be deſtroyed becauſe of the anointing.

28 He is come to Aiath, he is paſſed to Migron; at Michmaſh he hath laid up his carriages:

29 They are gone over the paſſage: they have taken up their lodging at Geba; Ramah is afraid; Gibeah of Saul is fled.

30 Lift up thy voice, O daughter of Gallim; cauſe it to be heard unto Laiſh, O poor Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is removed; the inhabitants of Gebim gather themſelves to flee.

32 As yet ſhall he remain at Nob that day: he ſhall ſhake his hand againſt the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jeruſalem.

33 Behold, the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, ſhall lop the bough with terror: and the high ones of ſtature ſhall be hewn down, and the haughty ſhall be humbled.

34 And he ſhall cut down the thickets of the foreſts with iron, and Lebanon ſhall fall by a mighty one.

CHAP. XI.

1 The peaceable kingdom of the branch out of the root of Jeſſe. 10 The reſtoration of Iſrael, and vocation of the Gentiles.

AND there ſhall come forth a rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſe, and a branch ſhall grow out of his roots.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord ſhall reſt upon him, the ſpirit of wiſdom and underſtanding, the ſpirit of counſel and might, the ſpirit of knowledge, and of the fear of the Lord.

3 And ſhall make him of quick underſtanding in the fear of the Lord: and he ſhall not judge after the light of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears.

4 But with righteouſneſs ſhall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity, for the meek of the earth; and he ſhall ſmite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips ſhall he ſlay the wicked.

5 And righteouſneſs ſhall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulneſs the girdle of his reins.

6 The wolf alſo ſhall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard ſhall lie down with the kid; and the calf, and the young lion, and the fatling together, and a little child ſhall lead them.

7 And the cow and the bear ſhall feed; their young ones ſhall lie down together: and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the ox.

8 And the ſucking child ſhall play on the hole of the aſp, and the weaned child ſhall put his hand on the cockatrice-den.

9 They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth ſhall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea.

10 ¶ And in that day there ſhall be a root of Jeſſe, which ſhall ſtand for an enſign of the people: to it ſhall the Gentiles ſeek, and his reſt ſhall be glorious.

11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall ſet his hand again the ſecond time to recover the remnant of his people, which ſhall be left from Aſſyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cuſh, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the iſlands of the ſea.

12 And he ſhall ſet up an enſign for the nations, and ſhall aſſemble the outcaſts of Iſrael, and gather together the diſperſed of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

13 The envy alſo of Ephraim ſhall depart, and the adverſaries of Judah ſhall be cut off: Ephraim ſhall not envy Judah, and Judah ſhall not vex Ephraim.

---

27 And the yoke ſhall be deſtroyed becauſe of the anointing.) For the ſake of God's choſen people, called by the pſalmiſt, his anointed, and alſo for the preſervation of the kingdom and prieſthood, both which offices were conferred by the ceremony of anointing. But doubtleſs the Meſſiah, the anointed in an eminent ſenſe, is principally intended here, who was to riſe from the ſtock of Judah, and whoſe coming is directly foretold in the following chapter. The Almighty preſerved the kingdom of Judah from utter deſtruction, becauſe the Meſſiah was to ariſe from that tribe.

34 And Lebanon ſhall fall by a mighty one.) The flower of the Aſſyrian army ſhall fall by the ſtroke of a mighty angel, (2 Kings, xix. 35.) It was common to repreſent princes and powerful men by the talleſt trees, and the common people by the lower ſhrubs; and Lebanon was famous for its tall cedars, to which the principal commanders in the Aſſyrian army are here compared.

COMMENTARY ON Chap. XI.

1 And there ſhall come forth a rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſe, and a branch ſhall grow out of his roots.) The prophet continues the metaphor begun in the two laſt verſes of the preceding chapter, where he reſembles the Aſſyrian king, and the principal officers of his army, to the talleſt trees in the foreſt; and here he deſcribes the Meſſiah as a ſmall branch of the family of David, as out of a ſtem that had been ſeverely lopped and almoſt exterminated, having hardly life enough to propagate its kind.

4 But with righteouſneſs ſhall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth.) It is a true ſign of impartial judgment when the poor are equally regarded with the rich, and protected from the oppreſſions of the great. Accordingly this is a conſtant character of Chriſt's kingdom. (See Pſalm lxxii. 2, 12. Iſaiah xxvi. 6.) And the bleſſings of the goſpel are peculiarly promiſed to the poor; that is, to thoſe who have the true ſpirit of poverty, which conſiſts in a contempt of this world, and an humble ſubmiſſion to the diſpenſations of providence.

And he ſhall ſmite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips ſhall he ſlay the wicked.) A rod is the emblem of power, and hence the power of Chriſt in his kingdom is often compared to a rod, (Pſalm cx. 2) and to a rod of iron, (Pſalm ii. 9) becauſe it will in the end break all its adverſaries to pieces. This rod is here ſaid to proceed out of his mouth, becauſe it ſignifies the word of God, containing his threatnings and judgments denounced againſt ſinners. The ſame word is ſaid by St. Paul, to be ſharper than any two-edged ſword, (Heb. iv. 12) becauſe it will utterly conſume and deſtroy thoſe that continue in diſobedience. This ſword is deſcribed as proceeding out of the mouth of Chriſt, (Rev. i. 16) becauſe it is like the ſentence of condemnation, which will be pronounced by him at the laſt day, as being appointed ſupreme judge of all the earth.

14 But they ſhall fly upon the ſhoulders of the Philiſtines toward the weſt: they ſhall ſpoil them of the eaſt together: they ſhall lay their hand upon Edom and Moab, and the children of Ammon ſhall obey them.

15 And the Lord ſhall utterly deſtroy the tongue of the Egyptian ſea: and with his mighty wind ſhall he ſhake his hand over the river, and ſhall ſmite it in the ſeven ſtreams, and make men go over dry ſhod.

16 And there ſhall be an high-way for the remnant of his people which ſhall be left from Aſſyria; like as it was to Iſrael in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A joyful thankſgiving of the faithful for the mercies of God.

AND in that day, thou ſhalt ſay, O Lord I will praiſe thee; though thou waſt angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortedſt me.

2 Behold, God is my ſalvation; I will truſt and not be afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my ſtrength and my ſong: he alſo is become my ſalvation.

3 Therefore with joy ſhall ye draw water out of the wells of ſalvation.

4 And in that day ſhall ye ſay, Praiſe the Lord, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted.

5 Sing unto the Lord; for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the earth.

6 Cry out and ſhout, thou inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy One of Iſrael in the midſt of thee.

1 God muſtereth the armies of his wrath. 6 He threateneth to deſtroy Babylon by the Medes. 19 The deſolation thereof.

THE burden of Babylon, which Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz did ſee.

2 Lift ye up a banner upon the high mountain, exalt the voice unto them, ſhake the hand that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

3 I have commanded my ſanctified ones, I have alſo called my mighty ones for mine anger, even them that rejoice in my highneſs.

4 The noiſe of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people; a tumultuous noiſe of the kingdoms of nations gathered together: the Lord of hoſts muſtereth the hoſt of the battle.

5 They come from a far country, from the end of heaven, even the Lord, and the weapons of his indignation, to deſtroy the whole land.

6 ¶ Howl ye: for the day of the Lord is at hand; it ſhall come as a deſtruction from the Almighty.

7 Therefore ſhall all hands be faint, and every man's heart ſhall melt.

8 And they ſhall be afraid; pangs and ſorrows ſhall take hold of them: they ſhall be in pain as a woman that travaileth: they ſhall be amazed one at another: their faces ſhall be as flames.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land deſolate: and he ſhall deſtroy the ſinners thereof out of it.

10 For the ſtars of heaven and the conſtellations thereof ſhall not give their light: the ſun ſhall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon ſhall not cauſe her light to ſhine.

11 And I will puniſh the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cauſe the arrogancy of the proud to ceaſe, and will lay low the haughtineſs of the terrible.

12 I will make a man more precious than fine gold; even a man than the golden wedge of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will ſhake the heavens and the earth ſhall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the Lord of hoſts, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it ſhall be as the chaſed roe, and as a ſheep that no man taketh up: they ſhall every man turn to his own people, and flee every one into his own land.

15 Every one that is found ſhall be thruſt through: and every one that is joined unto them ſhall fall by the ſword.

16 Their children alſo ſhall be daſhed to pieces before their eyes; their houſes ſhall be ſpoiled, and their wives raviſhed.

17 Behold, I will ſtir up the Medes againſt them, which ſhall not regard ſilver; and as for gold, they ſhall not delight in it.

18 Their bows alſo ſhall daſh the young men to pieces; and they ſhall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eye ſhall not ſpare children.

19 ¶ And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency, ſhall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.

20 It ſhall never be inhabited, neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation: neither ſhall the Arabian pitch tent there; neither ſhall the ſhepherds make their fold there:

21 But wild beaſts of the deſert ſhall lie there; and their houſes ſhall be full of doleful creatures; and owls ſhall dwell there, and ſatyrs ſhall dance there.

22 And the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall cry in their deſolate houſes, and dragons in their pleaſant palaces: and her time is near to come, and her days ſhall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God's merciful reſtoration of Iſrael. 3 Their triumphant inſultation over Babel.

FOR the Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet chooſe Iſrael, and ſet them in their own land; and the ſtrangers ſhall be joined with them, and they ſhall cleave to the houſe of Jacob.

2 And the people ſhall take them, and bring them to their place; and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs them in the land of the Lord for ſervants and handmaids:

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

10 For the ſtars of heaven, and the conſtellations thereof, ſhall not give their light, &c.) Expreſſions of this kind, in ſcripture, always denote great calamities, and particularly the downfal of ſtates and kingdoms; princes and rulers being often repreſented by the ſun, the moon, and the ſtars. And it may alſo be obſerved, that all God's particular judgments being earneſts and forerunners of the laſt and general judgment, the ſame expreſſions are common to both.

17 Behold, I will ſtir up the Medes againſt them, &c.) The Medes, at the time when Iſaiah wrote this prophecy, were a people of no account, forming only a province under the king of Aſſyria; and not erected into a ſeparate kingdom, 'till Dioces, their firſt king, took upon him the adminiſtration of their government, about the ſeventeenth year of king Hezekiah. But they afterwards became a very conſiderable people, and made up the principal part of the army which was brought againſt Babylon by Cyrus, whoſe mother was a Mede. They had afterwards a chief ſhare in that empire which Cyrus erected on the ruins of the Babylonian monarchy, which is therefore called the kingdom of the Medes and Perſians. (Dan. v. 28.)

handmaids: and they ſhall take them captives, whoſe captives they were; and they ſhall rule over their oppreſſors.

3 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs, in the day that the Lord ſhall give thee reſt from thy ſorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou waſt made to ſerve,

4 That thou ſhalt take up this proverb againſt the king of Babylon, and ſay, How hath the oppreſſor ceaſed! the golden city ceaſed!

5 The Lord hath broken the ſtaff of the wicked, and the ſceptre of the rulers.

6 He who ſmote the people in wrath with a continual ſtroke, he that ruled the nations in anger, is perſecuted, and none hindereth.

7 The whole earth is at reſt, and is quiet: they break forth into ſinging.

8 Yea, the fir-trees rejoice at thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, ſaying, Since thou art laid down, no feller is come up againſt us.

9 Hell from beneath is moved for thee to meet thee at thy coming: it ſtirreth up the dead for thee, even all the chief ones of the earth; it hath raiſed up from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they ſhall ſpeak and ſay unto thee, Art thou alſo become weak as we? art thou become like unto us?

11 Thy pomp is brought down to the grave, and the noiſe of thy viols: the worm is ſpread under thee, and the worms cover thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, ſon of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didſt weaken the nations!

13 For thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I will aſcend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God; I will ſit alſo upon the mount of the congregation, in the ſides of the north:

14 I will aſcend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the moſt High.

15 Yet thou ſhalt be brought down to hell, to the ſides of the pit.

16 They that ſee thee ſhall narrowly look upon thee, and conſider thee, ſaying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did ſhake kingdoms;

17 That made the world as a wilderneſs, and deſtroyed the cities thereof; that opened not the houſe of his priſoners?

18 All the kings of the nations, even all of them, lie in glory, every one in his own houſe.

19 But thou art caſt out of thy grave like an abominable branch, and as the raiment of thoſe that are ſlain, thruſt through with a ſword, that go down to the ſtones of the pit; as a carcaſe trodden under feet.

20 Thou ſhalt not be joined with them in burial, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy land, and ſlain thy people: the ſeed of evil-doers ſhall never be renowned.

21 Prepare ſlaughter for his children for the iniquity of their fathers; that they do not riſe, nor poſſeſs the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities.

22 For I will riſe up againſt them, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and cut off from Babylon the name, and remnant, and ſon, and nephew, ſaith the Lord.

23 I will alſo make it a poſſeſſion for the bittern, and pools of water: and I will ſweep it with the beſom of deſtruction, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

24 ¶ The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn, ſaying, Surely as I have thought, ſo ſhall it come to paſs; and as I have purpoſed, ſo ſhall it ſtand;

25 That I will break the Aſſyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot: then ſhall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their ſhoulders.

26 This is the purpoſe that is purpoſed, upon the whole earth; and this is the hand that is ſtretched out upon all the nations.

27 For the Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed, and who ſhall diſannul it? and his hand is ſtretched out, and who ſhall turn it back?

28 In the year that king Ahaz died was this burden.

29 ¶ Rejoice not thou, whole Paleſtina, becauſe the rod of him that ſmote thee is broken: for out of the ſerpent's root ſhall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit ſhall be a fiery flying ſerpent.

30 And the firſt-born of the poor ſhall feed, and the needy ſhall lie down in ſafety; and I will kill thy root with famine, and he ſhall ſlay thy remnant.

31 Howl, O gate; cry, O city; thou, whole Paleſtina, art diſſolved: for there ſhall come from the north a ſmoke, and none ſhall be alone in his appointed times.

32 What ſhall one then anſwer the meſſengers of the nation? That the Lord hath founded Zion, and the poor of his people ſhall truſt in it.

CHAP. XV.

The lamentable ſtate of Moab.

THE burden of Moab. Becauſe in the night Ar of Moab is laid waſte, and brought to ſilence; becauſe in the night Kir of Moab is laid waſte and brought to ſilence:

2 He is gone to Bajith and to Dibon, the high places to weep: Moab ſhall howl over Nebo, and over Medeba; on all their heads ſhall be baldneſs, and every beard cut off.

3 In their ſtreets they ſhall gird themſelves with ſackcloth: on the tops of their houſes, and in their ſtreets, every one ſhall howl, weeping abundantly.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voice ſhall be heard even unto Jahaz: therefore the armed ſoldiers of Moab ſhall cry out; his life ſhall be grievous unto him.

5 My heart ſhall cry out for Moab; his fugitives ſhall flee unto Zoar, an heifer of three years old: for by the mounting up of Luhith with weeping ſhall they go it up; for in the way of Horonaim they ſhall raiſe up a cry of deſtruction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O lucifer, ſon of the morning! &c.) Kings and princes are often repreſented by the heavenly hoſt, as I have before obſerved. So that by lucifer we are to underſtand the king of Babylon, who excelled other kings as much as the morning ſtar does the others that decorate the azure arch of the heavens. But the expreſſion alſo alludes to Satan, the prince of the apoſtate angels, who is deſcribed as falling from heaven like lightning, (Luke x. 18.) And the title of Son of the morning, is common both to the morning ſtar and to an angel; the angels being ſtiled morning ſtars, (Job xxxviii. 7.) The fall of the apoſtate angels is not directly recorded in the Old Teſtament; but it is ſufficiently implied in the diſtinction the holy writers make between good and evil ſpirits, and is ſometimes alluded to by the prophets, when they threaten deſtruction to proud and inſolent tyrants, who, in imitation of the pride of the prince of darkneſs, exalt themſelves againſt God and his truth, and are the inſtruments of Satan in promoting idolatry and wickedneſs in the world.

13 I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God, &c.) That is, above the angels; ſtars, in the prophetic language, ſignifying rulers either in church or ſtate.

23 I will alſo make it a poſſeſſion for the bittern, and pools of water, &c.) Babylon ſtood in a low, marſhy ground; and the prophet threatens it ſhall be as entirely deſtroyed, as if it were ſunk into the bottom of a great lake.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate: for the hay is withered away, the graſs faileth, there is no green thing.

7 Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, ſhall they carry away to the brook of the willows.

8 For the cry is gone round about the borders of Moab; the howling thereof unto Eglaim, and the howling thereof unto Beer-elim.

9 For the waters of Dimon ſhall be full of blood; for I will bring more upon Dimon, lions upon him that eſcapeth of Moab, and upon the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Moab is exhorted to yield obedience to Chriſt's kingdom, 6 and threatened for pride.

SEND ye the lamb to the ruler of the land from Sela to the wilderneſs, unto the mount of the daughter of Zion.

2 For it ſhall be that as a wandering bird caſt out of the neſt, ſo the daughters of Moab ſhall be at the fords of Arnon.

3 Take counſel, execute judgment; make thy ſhadow as the night in the midſt of the noon-day; hide the outcaſts, bewray not him that wandereth.

4 Let mine outcaſts dwell with thee, Moab; be thou a covert to them from the face of the ſpoiler: for the extortioner is at an end, the ſpoiler ceaſeth, the oppreſſors are conſumed out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be eſtabliſhed: and he ſhall ſit upon it in truth, in the tabernacle of David, judging and ſeeking judgment, and haſting righteouſneſs.

6 We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud, even of his haughtineſs, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howl for Moab, every one ſhall howl: for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall ye mourn, ſurely they are ſtricken.

8 For the fields of Heſhbon languiſh, and the vine of Sibmah; the lords of the heathen have broken down the principal plants thereof, they are come even unto Jazer, they wandered through the wilderneſs: her branches are ſtretched out, they are gone out over the ſea.

9 Therefore I will bewail with the weeping of Jazer the vine of Sibmah: I will water thee with my tears, O Heſhbon, and Elealeh: for the ſhouting for thy ſummer-fruits, and for thy harveſt is fallen.

10 And gladneſs is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyards there ſhall be no ſinging, neither ſhall there be ſhouting: the treaders ſhall tread out no wine in their preſſes: I have made their vintage ſhouting to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore my bowels ſhall ſound like an harp for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſh.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs when it is ſeen that Moab is weary on the high-place, that he ſhall come to his ſanctuary to pray; but he ſhall not prevail.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken concerning Moab ſince that time.

14 But now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, Within three years, as the years of an hireling and the glory of Moab ſhall be contemned, with all that great multitude; and the remnant ſhall be very ſmall and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Syria and Iſrael threatened. 6 A remnant ſhall forſake idolatry: 9 the reſt ſhall be plagued for their impiety.

THE burden of Damaſcus. Behold, Damaſcus is taken away from being a city, and it ſhall be a ruinous heap.

2 The cities of Aroer are forſaken: they ſhall be for flocks, which ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make them afraid.

3 The fortreſs alſo ſhall ceaſe from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Syria they ſhall be as the glory of the children of Iſrael ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

4 And in that day it ſhall come to paſs, that the glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean.

5 And it ſhall be as when the harveſt-man gathereth the corn, and reapeth the ears with his arm: and it ſhall be as he that gathereth ears in the valley of Rephaim.

6 ¶ (Yet gleaning-grapes ſhall be left in it, as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermoſt bough, four or five in the outmoſt fruitful branches thereof, ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael.

7 At that day ſhall a man look to his Maker, and his eyes ſhall have reſpect to the Holy One of Iſrael.

8 And he ſhall not look to the altars, the work of his hands, neither ſhall reſpect that which his fingers have made, either the groves, or the images.)

9 ¶ In that day ſhall his ſtrong cities be as a forſaken bough, and an uppermoſt branch which they left, becauſe of the children of Iſrael; and there ſhall be deſolation.

10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſalvation, and haſt not been mindful of the rock of thy ſtrength; therefore ſhalt thou plant pleaſant plants, and ſhalt ſet it with ſtrange ſlips.

11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeed to flouriſh: but the harveſt ſhall be an heap in the day of grief and of deſperate ſorrow.

12 ¶ Woe to the multitude of many people, which make a noiſe like the noiſe of the ſeas; and to the ruſhing of nations, that make a ruſhing like the ruſhing of mighty waters!

13 The nations ſhall ruſh like the ruſhing of many waters: but God ſhall rebuke them, and they ſhall flee far off, and ſhall be chaſed as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.

Commentary on Chap. XV.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate; for the hay is withered away, &c.) Nimrim was noted for good paſture, and meadows well watered, (Numb. xxxii. 3, 36) but it ſhall now be trodden down and deſtroyed, as if burnt up by a dry ſeaſon.

7 That which they have laid up, ſhall they carry away to the brook of the willows.) Or, as our margin renders it, to the valley of the Arabiani, whither the Aſſyrians carried all the ſpoil they took from the Moabites, it being the direct way from Moab to Aſſyria.

Commentary on Chap. XVI.

1 Send ye the lamb, &c.) The Moabites being ſubdued by David, became his tributaries; part of the tribute which they paid was an hundred thouſand lambs, which being diſcontinued, the prophet exhorts them to renew it.

Commentary on Chap. XVII.

4 The glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean.) Jacob here ſignifies Iſrael, and is uſed to denote the ten tribes. God's judgments are often denoted by leanneſs, becauſe, like a conſumption, they waſte the ſtrength.

14 And

14 And, behold, at evening-tide trouble; and before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that ſpoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God in care of his people will deſtroy the Ethiopians.
7 An acceſs thereby will grow unto the church.

WOE to the land ſhadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia!

2 That ſendeth ambaſſadors by the ſea, even in veſſels of bulruſhes upon the waters, ſaying, Go ye ſwift meſſengers, to a nation ſcattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto, a nation meted out and trodden down, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled.

3 All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, ſee ye, when he lifteth up an enſign on the mountains; and when he bloweth with the trumpet hear ye.

4 For ſo the Lord ſaid unto me, I will take my reſt, and I will conſider in my dwelling-place like a clear heat upon herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harveſt.

5 For afore the harveſt, when the bud is perfect, and the ſour grape is ripening in the flower, he ſhall both cut off the ſprigs with pruning-hooks, and take away and cut down the branches.

6 They ſhall be left together unto the fowls of the mountains, and to the beaſts of the earth; and the fowls ſhall ſummer upon them, and all the beaſts of the earth ſhall winter upon them.

7 ¶ In that time ſhall the preſent be brought unto the Lord of hoſts of a people ſcattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto: a nation meted out and trodden under foot, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of hoſts, the mount Zion.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The confuſion of Egypt. 11 The fooliſhneſs of her princes. 18 The calling of Egypt to the church. 23 The covenant of Egypt, Aſſyria, and Iſrael.

THE burden of Egypt. Behold, The Lord rideth upon a ſwift cloud, and ſhall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt ſhall be moved at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the midſt of it.

2 And I will ſet the Egyptians againſt the Egyptians: and they ſhall fight every one againſt his brother, and every one againſt his neighbour; city againſt city, and kingdom againſt kingdom.

3 And the ſpirit of Egypt ſhall fail in the midſt thereof, and I will deſtroy the counſel thereof; and they ſhall ſeek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar ſpirits, and to the wizards.

4 And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king ſhall rule over them, ſaith the Lord, the Lord of hoſts.

5 And the waters ſhall fail from the ſea, and the river ſhall be waſted and dried up.

6 And they ſhall turn the rivers far away; and the brooks of defence ſhall be emptied and dried up, the reeds and flags ſhall wither.

7 The paper reeds by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing ſown by the brooks ſhall wither, be driven away, and be no more.

8 The fiſhers alſo ſhall mourn, and all they that caſt angle into the brooks ſhall lament, and they that ſpread nets upon the waters ſhall languiſh.

9 Moreover, they that work in fine flax, and they that weave net-works ſhall be confounded.

10 And they ſhall be broken in the purpoſes thereof, all that make ſluices and ponds for fiſh.

11 ¶ Surely the princes of Zoan are fools, the counſel of the wiſe counſellors of Pharaoh is become brutiſh; how ſay ye unto Pharaoh, I am the ſon of the wiſe, the ſon of ancient kings?

12 Where are they? where are thy wiſe men? and let them tell thee now, and let them know what the Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed upon Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Noph are deceived; they have alſo ſeduced Egypt even they that are the ſtay of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled a perverſe ſpirit in the midſt thereof: and they have cauſed Egypt to err in every work thereof, as a drunken man ſtaggereth in his vomit.

15 Neither ſhall there be any work for Egypt, which the head or tail, branch or ruſh, may do.

16 In that day ſhall Egypt be like unto women; and it ſhall be afraid, and fear, becauſe of the ſhaking of the hand of the Lord of hoſts, which he ſhaketh over it.

17 And the land of Judah ſhall be a terror unto Egypt; every one that maketh mention thereof ſhall be afraid in himſelf; becauſe of the counſel of the Lord of hoſts, which he hath determined againſt it.

18 ¶ In that day ſhall five cities in the land of Egypt ſpeak the language of Canaan, and ſwear to the Lord of hoſts; one ſhall be called, The city of deſtruction.

19 In that day ſhall there be an altar to the Lord in the midſt of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord.

20 And it ſhall be for a ſign and for a witneſs unto the Lord of hoſts in the land of Egypt. For they ſhall cry unto the Lord becauſe of the oppreſſors, and he ſhall ſend them a ſaviour, and a great one, and he ſhall deliver them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

2 In veſſels of bullruſhes, &c.) The Egyptians uſed to make ſloops and barks of papyrus, which they daubed well with ſlime and pitch: the little ark made for Moſes (Exod. ii. 3) was fabricated in the ſame manner, and of the ſame materials.

5 Afore the harveſt, &c.) Before the deſigns of the Ethiopians and Egyptians could come to maturity, they ſhould prove abortive, like a vine whoſe bearing branches are lopped off.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 The burden of Egypt, &c.) The ingenious Dr. Newton, biſhop of Briſtol, with great reaſon, ſuppoſes this chapter to contain a prophecy of the conqueſt of Egypt by Cambyſes and the Perſians. The firſt attempt Cambyſes made was upon Peluſium, a ſtrong town at the entrance of Egypt; and he ſucceeded by the ſtratagem of placing before his army a great number of dogs, ſheep, cats, and other animals, which being held ſacred by the Egyptians, not one of them would caſt a javelin, or ſhoot an arrow that way; and ſo the town was taken, almoſt without reſiſtance.

20 For they ſhall cry unto the Lord becauſe of the oppreſſors, and he ſhall ſend them a ſaviour, and a great one, and he ſhall deliver them.) Egypt was conquered by Sennacherib; and hence ſome underſtand the ſaviour and great one here mentioned, of the angel that cut off his forces, which procured to all the neighbouring countries a general deliverance. But the words may very properly be applied to that tyranny which the devil exerciſes over the heathen world, who are led captive by him at his will; from whence they can only be redeemed by the great Saviour of the world. Many of the Gentiles were ſenſible of the ignorance they lay under with regard to the things of God, and had ſome general hopes and deſires of being delivered from the bondage of corruption; and in this reſpect Chriſt is called, by the prophet Haggai, the deſire of all nations. He alone can anſwer all their wants, and ſatisfy all their deſires.

21 And

21 And the Lord ſhall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians ſhall know the Lord in that day, and ſhall do ſacrifice and oblation; yea, they ſhall vow a vow unto the Lord, and perform it.

22 And the Lord ſhall ſmite Egypt: he ſhall ſmite and heal it: and they ſhall return even to the Lord, and he ſhall be intreated of them, and ſhall heal them.

23 ¶ In that day ſhall there be a highway out of Egypt to Aſſyria, and the Aſſyrian ſhall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Aſſyria, and the Egyptians ſhall ſerve with the Aſſyrians.

24 In that day ſhall Iſrael be the third with Egypt and with Aſſyria, even a bleſſing in the midſt of the land:

25 Whom the Lord of hoſts ſhall bleſs, ſaying, Bleſſed be Egypt my people, and Aſſyria the work of my hands, and Iſrael mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

A type prefiguring the ſhameful captivity of Egypt and Ethiopia.

IN the year that Tartan came unto Aſhdod, when Sargon the king of Aſſyria ſent him, and fought againſt Aſhdod and took it;

2 At the ſame time ſpake the Lord by Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, ſaying, Go and looſe the ſackcloth from off thy loins, and put off thy ſhoe from thy foot. And he did ſo, walking naked and bare-foot.

3 And the Lord ſaid, Like as my ſervant Iſaiah hath walked naked and bare-foot three years for a ſign and wonder upon Egypt and upon Ethiopia;

4 So ſhall the king of Aſſyria lead away the Egyptians priſoners, and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and bare-foot, even with their buttocks uncovered to the ſhame of Egypt.

5 And they ſhall be afraid and aſhamed of Ethiopia, their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

6 And the inhabitant of this iſle ſhall ſay in that day, Behold, ſuch is our expectation, whither we flee for help to be delivered from the king of Aſſyria: and how ſhall we eſcape?

CHAP. XXI.

1 The fall of Babylon. 11 Edom ſcorning the prophet, is moved to repentance. 13 The ſet time of Arabia's calamity.

THE burden of the deſert of the ſea. As whirlwinds in the ſouth paſs through; ſo it cometh from the deſert, from a terrible land.

2 A grievous viſion is declared unto me; the treacherous dealer dealeth treacherouſly, and the ſpoiler ſpoileth. Go up, O Elam: beſiege, O Media; all the ſighing thereof have I made to ceaſe.

3 Therefore are my loins filled with pain: pangs have taken hold upon me as the pangs of a woman that travaileth: I was bowed down at the hearing of it: I was diſmayed at the ſeeing of it.

4 My heart panted, fearfulneſs affrighted me: the night of my pleaſure hath he turned into fear unto me.

5 Prepare the table, watch in the watch tower, eat, drink; ariſe ye princes, and anoint the ſhield.

6 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Go, ſet a watchman, let him declare what he ſeeth.

7 And he ſaw a chariot with a couple of horſemen, a chariot of aſſes, and a chariot of camels: and he hearkeneth diligently with much heed.

8 And he cried, A lion: My lord, I ſtand continually upon the watch tower in the day time, and I am ſet in my ward whole nights:

9 And behold, here cometh a chariot of men with a couple of horſemen. And he anſwered and ſaid, Babylon is fallen, is fallen; and all the graven images of her gods he hath broken unto the ground.

10 O my threſhing and the corn of my floor: that which I have heard of the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, have I declared unto you.

11 ¶ The burden of Dumah. He calleth to me out of Seir, Watchman, what of the night? watchman, what of the night?

12 The watchman ſaid, The morning cometh and alſo the night: if ye will enquire, enquire ye: return come.

13 ¶ The burden upon Arabia. In the foreſt in Arabia ſhall ye lodge, O ye travelling companies of Dedanim.

14 The inhabitants of the land of Tema brought water to him that was thirſty, they prevented with their bread him that fled.

15 For they fled from the ſwords, from the drawn ſword, and from the bent bow, and from the grievouſneſs of war.

16 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Within a year, according to the years of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar ſhall fail:

17 And the reſidue of the number of archers, the mighty men of the children of Kedar, ſhall be diminiſhed: for the Lord God of Iſrael hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The invaſion of Jewry by the Perſians. 8 Their human wiſdom reproved.

THE burden of the valley of viſion. What aileth thee now, that thou art wholly gone up to the houſe-tops?

2 Thou that art full of ſtirs, a tumultuous city, a joyous city: thy ſlain men are not ſlain with the ſword, nor dead in battle.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 In the year that Tartan came unto Aſhdod, &c.) It is evident, from verſe 5, 6, that this expedition was made while the Jews were under the apprehenſion of Senacherib's invaſion; when, in order to ſtrengthen themſelves, they entered into a confederacy with Egypt and Ethiopia. Tartan is mentioned (2 Kings xviii. 17) as one of the generals in the army of Sennacherib, who is here called Sargon; and it is probable, that at the time his armies invaded Judah, he ſent a detachment, and beſieged Aſhdod.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

7 A couple of horſemen, &c.) The two horſemen may denote Cyrus and Darius, the principal leaders of the army againſt Babylon, and the chariot of aſſes and another of camels, two different nations, viz. the Medes and Perſians.

13 In the foreſt in Arabia ſhall ye lodge, O ye travelling companies of Dedanim.) This prophecy threatens one clan of the Arabians, thoſe who were the poſterity of Dedan, the grandſon of Abraham, and tells them, they ſhall be driven from their tents or habitations, and forced to ſhelter themſelves in the woods and thickets. They are called travelling companies, becauſe moſt of the Arabians lived in tents, going with their cattle from place to place, in ſearch of paſture.

16 The glory of Kedar ſhall fail.) Kedar was Iſhmael's ſon; the prophet extends this judgment to another clan of Arabians, who were famous for the uſe of the bow.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

1 The burden of the valley of viſion, &c.) By the valley of viſion is meant Jeruſalem, which was ſurrounded by mountains, and is called by that name, becauſe this and many other prophecies are directed to it.

3 All thy rulers are fled together, they are bound by the archers: all that are found in thee are bound together, which have fled from far.

4 Therefore ſaid I, Look away from me; I will weep bitterly, labour not to comfort me, becauſe of the ſpoiling of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down, and of perplexity by the Lord God of hoſts in the valley viſion, of breaking down the walls and of crying to the mountains.

6 And Elam bare the quiver with chariots of men and horſemen, and Kir uncovered the ſhield.

7 And it ſhall come to paſs that thy choiceſt valleys ſhall be full of chariots, and the horſemen ſhall ſet themſelves in array at the gate.

8 ¶ And he diſcovered the covering of Judah, and thou didſt look in that day to the armour of the houſe of the foreſt.

9 Ye have ſeen alſo the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool.

10 And ye have numbered the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes have ye broken down to fortify the wall.

11 Ye made alſo a ditch between the two walls for the water of the old pool; but ye have not looked unto the maker thereof, neither had reſpect unto him that faſhioned it long ago.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hoſts call to weeping and to mourning, and to baldneſs, and to girding with ſackcloth:

13 And behold joy and gladneſs, ſlaying oxen, and killing ſheep, eating fleſh and drinking wine; let us eat and drink: for to-morrow we ſhall die.

14 And it was revealed in mine ears by the Lord of hoſts, Surely this iniquity ſhall not be purged from you till ye die, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, Go, get thee unto this treaſurer, even unto Shebna, which is over the houſe, and ſay,

16 What haſt thou here? and whom haſt thou here, that thou haſt hewed thee out a ſepulchre here, as he that heweth him out a ſepulchre on high, and that graveth an habitation for himſelf in a rock?

17 Behold, the Lord will carry thee away with a mighty captivity and will ſurely cover thee.

18 He will ſurely violently turn and toſs thee like a ball into a large country: there ſhalt thou die, and there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be the ſhame of thy lord's houſe.

19 And I will drive thee from thy ſtation and from thy ſtate ſhall he pull thee down.

20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will call my ſervant Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah:

21 And I will clothe him with thy robe, and ſtrengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit thy government into his hand: and he ſhall be a father to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah.

22 And the key of the houſe of David will I lay upon his ſhoulder: ſo he ſhall open and none ſhall ſhut: and he ſhall ſhut and none ſhall open.

23 And I will faſten him as a nail in a ſure place: and he ſhall be for a glorious throne to his father's houſe.

24 And they ſhall hang upon him all the glory of his father's houſe, the offspring and the iſſue, all veſſels of ſmall quantity, from the veſſels of cups, even to all the veſſels of flagons.

25 In that day ſaith the Lord of hoſts, ſhall the nail that is faſtened in a ſure place be removed, and be cut down, and fall; and the burden that was upon it ſhall be cut off; for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The miſerable overthrow of Tyre. 17 Their return.

THE burden of Tyre. Howl ye ſhips of Tarſhiſh; for it is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, no entering in. From the land of Chittim it is revealed to them.

2 Be ſtill, ye inhabitants of the iſle, thou whom the merchants of Zidon that paſs over the ſea have repleniſhed.

3 And by great waters the ſeed of Sihor, the harveſt of the river, is her revenue: and ſhe is a mart of nations.

4 Be thou aſhamed, O Zidon: for the ſea hath ſpoken, even the ſtrength of the ſea, ſaying, I travail not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nouriſh up young men, nor bring up virgins.

5 As at the report concerning Egypt, ſo ſhall they be ſorely pained at the report of Tyre.

6 Paſs ye over to Tarſhiſh; howl ye inhabitants of the iſle.

7 Is this your joyous city, whoſe antiquity is of ancient days? her own feet ſhall carry her afar off to ſojourn.

8 Who hath taken this counſel againſt Tyre, the crowning city, whoſe merchants are princes, whoſe traffickers are the honourable of the earth?

9 The Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed it, to ſtain the pride of all glory, and to bring into contempt all the honourable of the earth.

10 Paſs through thy land as a river, O daughter of Tarſhiſh: there is no more ſtrength.

11 He ſtretched out his hand over the ſea, he ſhook the kingdoms: the Lord hath given a commandment againſt the merchant city, to deſtroy the ſtrong holds thereof.

12 And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt no more rejoice, O thou oppreſſed virgin, daughter of Zidon: ariſe, paſs over to Chittim; there alſo ſhalt thou have no reſt.

13 Behold, the land of the Chaldeans; this people was not till the Aſſyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderneſs: they ſet up the towers thereof, they raiſed up the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruin.

14 Howl, ye ſhips of Tarſhiſh: for your ſtrength is laid waſte.

---

22 The key of the houſe of David, &c.) The ancients carried upon their ſhoulders every thing that was looked upon as an enſign of power and dignity: thus, Callimachus ſpeaking of Ceres, ſays, ſhe had a key upon her ſhoulder. Job alſo ſays (chap. xxxi. 35, 36) My deſire is—that mine adverſary had written a book: ſurely I would take it upon my ſhoulder, &c.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

4 The ſea hath ſpoken, even the ſtrength of the ſea, &c.) Tyre is here called the ſea, becauſe its inhabitants looked upon the ſea as their proper element; and the ſtrength of the ſea, becauſe it was ſtrong at ſea, both with regard to its ſituation and the ſtrength of its naval forces. The city is here introduced as bemoaning her deſolate condition.

12 Thou ſhalt no more rejoice, O thou oppreſſed virgin, daughter of Zidon, &c.) Tyre was in all probability a colony of Zidonians, and thence called by the prophet the daughter of Zidon. It is certain that the latter was much the oldeſt city, being mentioned by Moſes at the peopling the world after the flood, Gen. x. 19. The prophet calls Tyre an oppreſſed virgin, becauſe ſhe was conquered, and, as it were, raviſhed by her enemies.

15 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that Tyre ſhall be forgotten ſeventy years, according to the days of one king: after the end of ſeventy years ſhall Tyre ſing as an harlot.

16 Take an harp, go about the city; thou harlot that haſt been forgotten; make ſweet melody, ſing many ſongs, that thou mayeſt be remembered.

17 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs after the end of ſeventy years, that the Lord will viſit Tyre, and ſhe ſhall turn to her hire, and ſhall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth.

18 And her merchandize and her hire ſhall be holineſs to the Lord: it ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up; for her merchandize ſhall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat ſufficiently and for durable clothing.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 God's judgments upon the land. 13 A remnant ſhall joyfully praiſe him.

BEHOLD, the Lord maketh the earth empty, and maketh it waſte, and turneth it upſide down, and ſcattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And it ſhall be, as with the people, ſo with the prieſt; as with the ſervant, ſo with his maſter; as with the maid, ſo with her miſtreſs; as with the buyer ſo with the ſeller; as with the lender, ſo with the borrower; as with the taker of uſury, ſo with the giver of uſury to him.

3 The land ſhall be utterly emptied, and utterly ſpoiled: for the Lord hath ſpoken this word.

4 The earth mourneth, and fadeth away; the world languiſheth, and fadeth away; the haughty people of the earth do languiſh.

5 The earth alſo is defiled under the inhabitants thereof; becauſe they have tranſgreſſed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlaſting covenant.

6 Therefore hath the curſe devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are deſolate: therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.

7 The new wine mourneth, the vine languiſheth, all the merry-hearted do ſigh.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaſeth, the noiſe of them that rejoice endeth, the joy of the harp ceaſeth.

9 They ſhall not drink wine with a ſong; ſtrong drink ſhall be bitter to them that drink it.

10 The city of confuſion is broken down; every houſe is ſhut up, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the ſtreets; all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone.

12 In the city is left deſolation, and the gate is ſmitten with deſtruction.

13 ¶ When thus it ſhall be in the midſt of the land among the people, there ſhall be as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, and as the gleaning-grapes when the vintage is gone.

14 They ſhall lift up their voice, they ſhall ſing for the majeſty of the Lord, they ſhall cry aloud from the ſea.

15 Wherefore glorify ye the Lord in the fires, even the name of the Lord God of Iſrael in the iſles of the ſea.

16 From the uttermoſt part of the earth have we heard ſongs, even glory to the righteous. But I ſaid, My leanneſs, my leanneſs, woe unto me! the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherouſly; yea, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherouſly.

17 Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare, are upon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And it ſhall come to paſs, that he who fleeth from the noiſe of the fear ſhall fall into the pit: and he that cometh up out of the midſt of the pit ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do ſhake.

19 The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean diſſolved, the earth is moved exceedingly.

20 The earth ſhall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and ſhall be removed like a cottage; and the tranſgreſſion thereof ſhall be heavy upon it; and it ſhall fall, and not riſe again.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall puniſh the hoſt of the high ones that are on high, and the kings of the earth upon the earth.

22 And they ſhall be gathered together as priſoners are gathered in the pit, and ſhall be ſhut up in the priſon, and after many days ſhall they be viſited.

23 Then the moon ſhall be confounded, and the ſun aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſts ſhall reign in mount Zion, and in Jeruſalem, and before his antients, gloriouſly.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The prophet praiſeth God for his judgments; 6 for his ſaving benefits, 9 and for his victorious ſalvation.

O LORD, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praiſe thy name; for thou haſt done wonderful things: thy counſels of old are faithfulneſs and truth.

2 For thou haſt made of a city an heap; of a defenced city a ruin: a palace of ſtrangers to be no city: it ſhall never be built.

3 Therefore ſhall the ſtrong people glorify thee; the city of the terrible nations ſhall fear thee.

4 For thou haſt been a ſtrength to the poor, a ſtrength to the needy in his diſtreſs, a refuge from the ſtorm, a ſhadow from the heat, when the blaſt of the terrible ones is as a ſtorm againſt the wall.

5 Thou ſhalt bring down the noiſe of ſtrangers, as

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

1 Behold, the Lord maketh the earth empty, &c.) The prophet having, for ten or twelve chapters together, been denouncing God's judgments againſt particular kingdoms, comes at length to pronounce the final doom upon the earth itſelf, for its wickedneſs: and that this is the meaning, and not any particular part of Canaan, is evident from an expreſſion in the 4th verſe, the world languiſheth.

6 The inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.) That is, the few righteous who have eſcaped the general corruption, were to regard this period of the conflagration as no other than the day of their redemption.

16 From the uttermoſt part of the earth have we heard ſongs, even glory to the righteous, &c.) That is, we have heard from the utmoſt regions the joyful acknowledgment of the righteous praiſing God for their deliverance, and for all the glorious things he hath done for them, rendering them thereby remarkable in the eyes of the world, as his favourites.

23 Then the moon ſhall be confounded, and the ſun aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſts ſhall reign in mount Zion, &c.) If we underſtand theſe expreſſions literally, the ſenſe muſt be that the ſun and moon ſhall be darkened; a circumſtance that will certainly attend the laſt day. But it ſeems to be parallel to that in Rev. xxi. 23, where it is ſaid, that when the kingdom of God ſhall come, his glory ſhall ſhine with ſuch eminent luſtre, that there ſhall be no need of the light of the ſun or moon; on which account they are repreſented as aſhamed and confounded to ſee their light eclipſed by a greater.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

1 O Lord, thou art my God, &c.) In this hymn there is a noble prediction of the light of the goſpel ſhining throughout the world, and removing from men's eyes the veil of ignorance and error that had overſpread all nations.

the

the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the ſhadow of a cloud; the branch of the terrible ones ſhall be brought low.

6 And in this mountain ſhall the Lord of hoſts make unto all people a feaſt of fat things, a feaſt of wines on the lees: of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.

7 And he will deſtroy in this mountain the face of the covering caſt over all people, and the veil that is ſpread over all nations.

8 He will ſwallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people ſhall he take away from off all the earth; for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 ¶ And it ſhall be ſaid in that day, Lo, this is our God: we have waited for him, and he will ſave us: this is the Lord: we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his ſalvation.

10 For in this mountain ſhall the hand of the Lord reſt, and Moab ſhall be trodden down under him, even as ſtraw is trodden down for the dunghill.

11 And he ſhall ſpread forth his hands in the midſt of them, as he that ſwimmeth ſpreadeth forth his hands to ſwim: and he ſhall bring down their pride together with the ſpoils of their hands.

12 And the fortreſs of the high fort of thy walls ſhall he bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the duſt.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 A ſong inciting to confidence in God. 20 An exhortation to wait on him.

IN that day ſhall this ſong be ſung in the land of Judah; We have a ſtrong city; ſalvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks.

2 Open ye the gates that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth may enter in.

3 Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whoſe mind is ſtayed on thee: becauſe he truſteth in thee.

4 Truſt ye in the Lord for ever: for in the Lord JEHOVAH is everlaſting ſtrength.

5 For he bringeth down them that dwell on high, the lofty city, he layeth it low; he layeth it low, even to the ground; he bringeth it even to the duſt.

6 The foot ſhall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the ſteps of the needy.

7 The way of the juſt is uprightneſs: thou moſt upright, doſt weigh the path of the juſt.

8 Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord have we waited for thee: the deſire of our ſoul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my ſoul have I deſired thee in the night: yea, with my ſpirit within me will I ſeek thee early: for when thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteouſneſs.

10 Let favour be ſhewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteouſneſs: in the land of uprightneſs will he deal unjuſtly, and will not behold the majeſty of the Lord.

11 Lord, when thy hand is lifted up they will not ſee: but they ſhall ſee, and be aſhamed for their envy at the people; yea, the fire of thine enemies ſhall devour them.

12 ¶ Lord, thou wilt ordain peace for us: for thou alſo haſt wrought all our works in us.

13 O Lord our God, other lords beſides thee have had dominion over us; but by thee only will we make mention of thy name.

14 They are dead, they ſhall not live; they are deceaſed, they ſhall not riſe: therefore haſt thou viſited and deſtroyed them, and made all their memory to periſh.

15 Thou haſt increaſed the nation, O Lord, thou haſt increaſed the nation: thou art glorified; thou haſt removed it far unto all the ends of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble have they viſited thee; they poured out a prayer when thy chaſtening was upon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth near the time of her delivery, is in pain, and crieth out in her pangs; ſo have we been in thy ſight, O Lord.

18 We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind; we have not wrought any deliverance in the earth, neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live, together with my dead body ſhall they ariſe. Awake and ſing, ye that dwell in duſt: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth ſhall caſt out the dead.

20 ¶ Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and ſhut thy doors about thee: hide thyſelf as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be overpaſt.

21 For, behold, the Lord cometh out of his place to puniſh the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth alſo ſhall diſcloſe her blood, and ſhall no more cover her ſlain.

CHAP. XXVII.

2 The care of God over his vineyard: 7 his chaſtiſements differ from judgments. 12 The church of Jews and Gentiles.

IN that day the Lord, with his ſore, and great, and ſtrong ſword, ſhall puniſh leviathan the piercing ſerpent, even leviathan that crooked ſerpent; and he ſhall ſlay the dragon that is in the ſea.

2 In that day ſing ye unto her, A vineyard of red wine.

3 I the Lord do keep it: I will water it every moment: leſt any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.

4 Fury is not in me; who would ſet the briers and thorns againſt me in battle: I would go through them, I would burn them together.

---

6 Shall the Lord of hoſts make unto all people a feaſt of fat things? &c.) It is very common in ſcripture to expreſs, under the ſimilitude of a feaſt, God's calling men by his grace. The ſame metaphor is alſo uſed in deſcribing the joys of heaven, Luke xxii. 29. The ſame repreſentation is uſed here, and implies that God will beſtow his grace in a plentiful manner upon his people, and fill them with ſpiritual delights, when the Jews ſhall be converted, and the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come into the church.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

2 Open ye the gates, &c.) This expreſſion implies the enlarging the number of believers, and bringing them into the church daily ſuch as ſhould be ſaved.

14 They are dead, &c.) They are manes, or ghoſts of mighty wicked men, whom the Jews uſed too frequently to worſhip: and therefore he ſays, they ſhall not riſe; theſe idol deities, together with their impious worſhippers, ſhall ſink into deſtruction.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live, &c.) This and the following verſes contain God's anſwer to the foregoing complaint of his people: wherein he promiſes them a revival and new life after all their miſeries, which had carried them to the very portals of death. But they ſeem alſo to imply a reſurrection from the dead; and this verſe was one of the texts of ſcripture, on which the antient Jews founded their belief of that important article.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

4 Fury is not in me: who would ſet the briars and thorns againſt me in battle? &c.) Though fury doth not belong to me, and vengeance be called my ſtrange work; yet if the briars and thorns, that is, the wicked and incorrigible, bid defiance to me, they will find I will ſoon deſtroy and conſume them like a devouring fire.

5 Or let him take hold of my ſtrength, that he may make peace with me, and he ſhall make peace with me.

6 He ſhall cauſe them that come of Jacob to take root: Iſrael ſhall bloſſom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit

7 ¶ Hath he ſmitten him as he ſmote thoſe that ſmote him? or is he ſlain according to the ſlaughter of them that are ſlain by him?

8 In meaſure when it ſhooteth forth thou wilt debate with it: he ſtayeth his rough wind in the day of the eaſt wind.

9 By this therefore ſhall the iniquity of Jacob be purged; and this is all the fruit to take away his ſin; when he maketh all the ſtones of the altar as chalk-ſtones that are beaten in ſunder, the groves and images ſhall not ſtand up.

10 Yet the defenced city ſhall be deſolate, and the habitation forſaken, and left like a wilderneſs: there ſhall the calf feed, and there ſhall he lie down, and conſume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs thereof are withered, they ſhall be broken off: the women come and ſet them on fire: for it is a people of no underſtanding: therefore he that made them will not have mercy on them, and he that formed them will ſhew them no favour.

12 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs in that day that the Lord ſhall beat off from the channel of the river unto the ſtream of Egypt, and ye ſhall be gathered one by one, O ye children of Iſrael.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the great trumpet ſhall be blown, and they ſhall come which were ready to periſh in the land of Aſſyria, and the outcaſts in the land of Egypt, and ſhall worſhip the Lord in the holy mount at Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Ephraim threatened. 16 Chriſt promiſed. 18 Their ſecurity ſhall be tried.

WOE to the crown of pride to the drunkards of Ephraim, whoſe glorious beauty is a fading flower, which are on the head of the fat vallies of them that are overcome with wine!

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty and ſtrong one, which as a tempeſt of hail, and a deſtroying ſtorm, as a flood of mighty waters overflowing, ſhall caſt down to the earth with the hand.

3 The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim ſhall be trodden under feet.

4 And the glorious beauty which is on the head of the fat valley ſhall be a fading flower, and as the haſty fruit before the ſummer; which when he that looketh upon it ſeeth, while it is yet in his hand he eateth it up.

5 In that day ſhall the Lord of hoſts be for a crown of glory, and for a diadem of beauty unto the reſidue of his people;

6 And for a ſpirit of judgment to him that ſitteth in judgment, and for ſtrength to them that turn the battle to the gate.

7 But they alſo have erred through wine, and thro' ſtrong drink are out of the way: the prieſt and the prophet have erred through ſtrong drink, they are ſwallowed up of wine, they are out of the way through ſtrong drink, they err in viſion, they ſtumble in judgment.

8 For all tables are full of vomit and filthineſs, ſo that there is no place clean.

9 Whom ſhall he teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to underſtand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breaſts.

10 For precept muſt be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little:

11 For with ſtammering lips and another tongue will he ſpeak to this people.

12 To whom he ſaid, This is the reſt wherewith ye may cauſe the weary to reſt; and this is the refreſhing: yet they would not hear.

13 But the word of the Lord was unto them precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little: that they might go and fall backward, and be broken, and ſnared, and taken.

14 Wherefore, hear the word of the Lord, ye ſcornful men that rule this people which is in Jeruſalem.

15 Becauſe ye have ſaid, We have made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement; when the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through, it ſhall not come unto us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under falſhood have we hid ourſelves.

16 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a ſtone, a tried ſtone, a precious corner ſtone, a ſure foundation: he that believeth ſhall not make haſte.

17 Judgment alſo will I lay to the line, and righteouſneſs to the plummet: and the hail ſhall ſweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters ſhall overflow the hiding place.

18 ¶ And your covenant with death ſhall be diſannulled, and your agreement with hell ſhall not ſtand; when the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through, then ye ſhall be trodden down by it.

19 From the time that it goeth forth it ſhall take you: for morning by morning ſhall it paſs over by day and by night: and it ſhall be a vexation only to underſtand the report.

20 For the bed is ſhorter than that a man can ſtretch himſelf on it: and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himſelf in it.

21 For the Lord ſhall riſe up as in mount Perazim, he ſhall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his work, his ſtrange work, and bring to paſs his act, his ſtrange act.

22 Now therefore, be ye not mockers, leſt your bands be made ſtrong: for I have heard from the Lord

8 He ſtayeth his rough wind in the day of the eaſt wind.) That is, in the midſt of juſtice he remembers mercy.

12 From the channel of the river unto the ſtream of Egypt, &c.) That is, from the river Euphrates, which is on the borders of Aſſyria, to the Nile, which is the boundary of Egypt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

2 The Lord hath a mighty and a ſtrong one, which as a tempeſt of hail, &c.) Under theſe ſimilitudes the prophet repreſents Salmaneſer, king of Aſſyria, who ſhould carry away the ten tribes captive, and make an utter deſtruction of that kingdom. It is very common for the prophets to repreſent the ſevere judgments of God under the emblems of ſtorms and tempeſts, which are the artillery of heaven.

16 Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a ſtone, a tried ſtone, &c.) This prophecy can belong only to Chriſt, to whom it is often applied in the New Teſtament. But with reſpect to the time when it was written, it may denote thus much, that he ſhould never be diſappointed who believes in God, whoſe dwelling is in Zion, and hath made peculiar promiſes to the Jewiſh church and kingdom ſeated there, which ſhall eminently be fulfilled at the coming of the Meſſiah, in whom all God's promiſes made to his people ſhall receive their final accompliſhment.

20 For the bed is ſhorter, than that, &c.) Two proverbial expreſſions, importing that all worldly comforts are inſufficient to cure the maladies they are applied to, and human devices unable to ſecure us againſt the puniſhments of providence.

God of hoſts a conſumption, even determined upon the whole earth.

23 Give ye ear, and hear my voice; hearken, and hear my ſpeech:

24 Doth the plowman plow all day to ſow? doth he open and break the clods of his ground?

25 When he hath made plain the face thereof doth he not caſt abroad the fitches and ſcatter the cummin, and caſt in the principal wheat, and the appointed barley, and the rye in their place?

26 For his God doth inſtruct him to diſcretion, and doth teach him.

27 For the fitches are not threſhed with a threſhing inſtrument, neither is a cart-wheel turned about upon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a ſtaff, and the cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corn is bruiſed; becauſe he will not ever be threſhing it, nor break it with the wheel of his cart, nor bruiſe it with his horſemen.

29 This alſo cometh forth from the Lord of hoſts, which is wonderful in counſel, and excellent in working.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 God's judgment upon Jeruſalem. 9 Their ſenſeleſſneſs, 13 and deep hypocriſy. 18 A promiſe of ſanctification.

WOE to Ariel, to Ariel, the city where David dwelt! add ye year to year; let them kill ſacrifices.

2 Yet I will diſtreſs Ariel, and there ſhall be heavineſs and ſorrow: and it ſhall be unto me as Ariel.

3 And I will camp againſt thee round about, and will lay ſiege againſt thee with a mount, and I will raiſe forts againſt thee.

4 And thou ſhalt be brought down, and ſhalt ſpeak out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall be low out of the duſt, and thy voice ſhall be as of one that hath a familiar ſpirit out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall whiſper out of the duſt.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy ſtrangers ſhall be like ſmall duſt, and the multitude of the terrible ones ſhall be as chaff that paſſeth away; yea, it ſhall be at an inſtant ſuddenly.

6 Thou ſhalt be viſited of the Lord of hoſts with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noiſe, with ſtorm and tempeſt, and the flame of devouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight againſt Ariel, even all that fight againſt her and her munition, and that diſtreſs her, ſhall be as a dream of a night-viſion.

8 It ſhall even be as when an hungry man dreameth, and, behold, he eateth; but he awaketh, and his ſoul is empty: or as when a thirſty man dreameth, and, behold, he drinketh; but he awaketh, and, behold, he is faint, and his ſoul hath appetite: ſo ſhall the multitude of all the nations be that fight againſt mount Zion.

9 ¶ Stay yourſelves and wonder; cry ye out, and cry: they are drunken, but not with wine; they ſtagger, but not with ſtrong drink.

10 For the Lord hath poured out upon you the ſpirit of deep ſleep, and hath cloſed your eyes: the prophets and your rulers, the ſeers, hath he covered.

11 And the viſion of all is become unto you as the words of a book that is ſealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, ſaying, Read this, I pray thee: and he ſaith, I cannot; for it is ſealed.

12 And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, ſaying, Read this, I pray thee: and he ſaith, I am not learned.

13 ¶ Wherefore the Lord ſaid, Foraſmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men:

14 Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder; for the wiſdom of their wiſe men ſhall periſh, and the underſtanding of their prudent men ſhall be hid.

15 Woe unto them that ſeek deep to hide their counſel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they ſay, Who ſeeth us? and who knoweth us?

16 Surely your turning of things upſide down ſhall be eſteemed as the potter's clay: for ſhall the work ſay of him that made it, He made me not? or ſhall the thing framed ſay of him that framed it, He had no underſtanding?

17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon ſhall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field ſhall be eſteemed as a foreſt?

18 ¶ And in that day ſhall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind ſhall ſee out of obſcurity, and out of darkneſs.

19 The meek alſo ſhall increaſe their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men ſhall rejoice in the Holy One of Iſrael.

20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the ſcorner is conſumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:

21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a ſnare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aſide the juſt for a thing of nought.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the houſe of Jacob, Jacob ſhall not now be aſhamed, neither ſhall his face now wax pale.

23 But when he ſeeth his children, the work of mine hands, in the midſt of him, they ſhall ſanctify my name, and ſanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and ſhall fear the God of Iſrael.

24 They alſo that erred in ſpirit ſhall come to underſtanding, and they that murmured ſhall learn doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The people threatened for their confidence in Egypt, 8 and contempt of God's word.

WOE to the rebellious children, ſaith the Lord, that take counſel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering but not of my ſpirit, that they may add ſin to ſin:

---

28 Nor bruiſe it with his horſemen.) Rather, with his horſes: in the Eaſtern countries they beat their wheat out of the huſk, by drawing drays or heavy planks with iron wheels over it; theſe were drawn by horſes, or ſometimes oxen.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

1 Woe to Ariel, to Ariel, the city where David dwelt! &c.) Ariel ſignifies the lion of God, and was the name of the altar, becauſe it devoured the ſacrifices which were offered upon it. Here it is, by a ſynecdoche, put for the city of Jeruſalem, which David made the ſeat of the kingdom, and where God had promiſed to place his name.

17 Lebanon ſhall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field ſhall be eſteemed as a foreſt.) A proverbial expreſſion, uſed to indicate the remarkable changes that ſhould enſue, when the proud and lofty ſhould be abaſed, and the meek exalted: an alteration as remarkable as if mount Lebanon, famous for its cedars, ſhould be turned into a corn field, and the richeſt meadow ground changed into a foreſt.

2 That walk to go down into Egypt, and have not aſked at my mouth: to ſtrengthen themſelves in the ſtrength of Pharaoh, and to truſt in the ſhadow of Egypt!

3 Therefore ſhall the ſtrength of Pharaoh be your ſhame, and the truſt in the ſhadow of Egypt your confuſion.

4 For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambaſſadors came to Hanes.

5 They were all aſhamed of a people that could not profit them, nor be an help, nor profit, but a ſhame, and alſo a reproach.

6 The burden of the beaſts of the ſouth: into the land of trouble and anguiſh, from whence come the young and old lion, the viper and fiery flying ſerpent, they will carry their riches upon the ſhoulders of young aſſes, and their treaſures upon the bunches of camels, to a people that ſhall not profit them.

7 For the Egyptians ſhall help in vain, and to no purpoſe: therefore have I cried concerning this, Their ſtrength is to ſit ſtill.

8 ¶ Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever;

9 That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the Lord:

10 Which ſay to the ſeers, See not; and to the prophets, Propheſy not unto us right things, ſpeak unto us ſmooth things, propheſy deceits:

11 Get ye out of the way, turn aſide out of the path, cauſe the Holy One of Iſrael to ceaſe from before us.

12 Wherefore thus ſaith the Holy One of Iſrael, becauſe ye deſpiſe this word, and truſt in oppreſſion and perverſeneſs, and ſtay thereon:

13 Therefore this iniquity ſhall be to you as a breach ready to fall, ſwelling out in a high wall, whoſe breaking cometh ſuddenly at an inſtant.

14 And he ſhall break it as the breaking of the potters veſſel that is broken in pieces; he ſhall not ſpare, ſo that there ſhall not be found in the burſting of it a ſherd to take fire from the hearth, or to take water withal out of the pit.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord God, the Holy One of Iſrael, In returning and reſt ſhall ye be ſaved, in quietneſs and in confidence ſhall be your ſtrength: and ye would not.

16 But ye ſaid, No: for we will flee upon horſes; therefore ſhall ye flee: and, We will ride upon the ſwift; therefore ſhall they that purſue you be ſwift.

17 One thouſand ſhall flee at the rebuke of one; at the rebuke of five ſhall ye flee: till ye be left as a beacon upon the top of a mountain, and as an enſign on an hill.

18 And therefore will the Lord wait that he may be gracious unto you, and therefore will he be exalted that he may have mercy upon you: for the Lord is a God of judgment. Bleſſed are all they that wait for him.

19 For the people ſhall dwell in Zion, at Jeruſalem: thou ſhalt weep no more: he will be very gracious unto thee at the voice of thy cry; when he ſhall hear it he will anſwer thee.

20 And though the Lord give you the bread of adverſity, and the water of affliction, yet ſhall not thy teachers be removed into a corner any more, but thine eyes ſhall ſee thy teachers.

21 And thine ears ſhall hear a word behind thee, ſaying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand and when ye turn to the left.

22 Ye ſhall defile alſo the covering of thy graven images of ſilver, and the ornament of thy molten images of gold: thou ſhalt caſt them away as a menſtruous cloth; thou ſhalt ſay unto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then ſhall he give the rain of thy ſeed that thou ſhalt ſow the ground withal, and bread of the increaſe of the earth, and it ſhall be fat and plenteous: in that day ſhall thy cattle feed in large paſtures.

24 The oxen likewiſe and the young aſſes that eat the ground ſhall eat clean provender, which hath been winnowed with the ſhovel and with the fan.

25 And there ſhall be upon every high mountain, and upon every high hill, rivers and ſtreams of waters in the day of the great ſlaughter when the towers fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the moon ſhall be as the light of the ſun, and the light of the ſun ſhall be ſeven fold, as the light of ſeven days, in the day that the Lord bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the ſtroke of their wound.

27 Behold, the name of the Lord cometh from far, burning with his anger, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire:

28 And his breath as an overflowing ſtream ſhall reach to the midſt of the neck, to ſift the nations with the ſieve of vanity: and there ſhall be a bridle in the jaws of the people cauſing them to err.

29 Ye ſhall have a ſong as in the night when a holy ſolemnity is kept: and gladneſs of heart, as when one goeth with a pipe to come into the mountain of the Lord, to the Mighty One of Iſrael.

30 And the Lord ſhall cauſe his glorious voice to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the lighting down of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and with the flame of a devouring fire, with ſcattering, and tempeſt and hailſtones.

31 For through the voice of the Lord ſhall the Aſſyrian be beaten down, which ſmote with a rod.

32 And in every place where the grounded ſtaff ſhall paſs, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps: and in battles of ſhaking will he fight with it.

Commentary on Chap. XXX.

6 The burden of the beaſts of the ſouth, &c.) The word burden hath an ambiguous ſenſe; for, beſides its uſual ſignification, it alſo denotes a threatening prophecy: the words implying, that the burdens of preſents, which the Jews ſent upon the backs of aſſes and camels to purchaſe the friendſhip of Egypt, ſhould meet with very little ſucceſs.

25 And there ſhall be upon every high mountain, and every high hill, rivers and ſtreams of waters, &c.) God's bleſſings are often repreſented under the metaphor of well-watered ground, which is the moſt fruitful: and here the prophet promiſes ſuch fertility, that the barren and mountainous land ſhall yield as plentiful an harveſt, as if it were watered with ſtreams and rivers. But if we compare this verſe with what follows, we ſhall diſcover a more myſtical ſenſe; implying a promiſe of the large ſupplies of grace under the goſpel, which ſhould water the moſt dry and barren places, as if ſtreams of water were to take their courſe from the ſummits of the higheſt mountains.

32 And in every place where the grounded ſtaff ſhall paſs, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps, &c.) This paſſage is very obſcurely rendered; the tranſlation in the old bible, publiſhed in the reign of Henry VIII. has it much plainer, it being there rendered as follows: Whitherſoever he goes, the rod ſhall cleave unto him, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him. But the paſſage may be thus rendered more conformable to the Hebrew, And every place, where the terrible ſtroke ſhall paſs which the Lord will lay upon him, ſhall reſound with tabrets and harps. The expreſſion alludes to the rod with which the Aſſyrian ſmote or corrected the deſcendants of Jacob: as if the prophet had ſaid, God hath prepared a rod to chaſtiſe him, who was before a ſcourge to all his neighbours. The import of the whole ſentence is this, That every place where God ſhall inflict this heavy judgment upon the Aſſyrian ſhall be full of joy and gladneſs.

33 For Tophet is ordained of old: yea, for the king it is prepared: he hath made it deep and large: the pile thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a ſtream of brimſtone, doth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

The prophet ſheweth the curſed folly of truſting in Egypt, and forſaking of God.

WOE to them that go down to Egypt for help, and ſtay on horſes, and truſt in chariots becauſe they are many: and in horſemen, becauſe they are very ſtrong: but they look not unto the Holy One of Iſrael, neither ſeek the Lord;

2 Yet he alſo is wiſe and will bring evil, and will not call back his words; but will ariſe againſt the houſe of the evil-doers, and againſt the help of them that work iniquity.

3 Now the Egyptians are men and not God: and their horſes fleſh, and not ſpirit. When the Lord ſhall ſtretch out his hand, both he that helpeth ſhall fall, and he that is holpen ſhall fall down, and they all ſhall fail together.

4 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken unto me, Like as the lion and the young lion roaring on his prey, when a multitude of ſhepherds is called forth againſt him, he will not be afraid of their voice, nor abaſe himſelf for the noiſe of them: ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſts come down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds flying, ſo will the Lord of hoſts defend Jeruſalem: defending alſo he will deliver it, and paſſing over he will preſerve it.

6 Turn ye unto him from whom the children of Iſrael have deeply revolted.

7 For in that day every man ſhall caſt away his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have made unto you for a ſin.

8 Then ſhall the Aſſyrian fall with the ſword, not of a mighty man; and the ſword, not of a mean man ſhall devour him: but he ſhall flee from the ſword, and his young men ſhall be diſcomfited.

9 And he ſhall paſs over to his ſtrong hold for fear, and his princes ſhall be afraid of the enſign, ſaith the Lord, whoſe fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The bleſſings of Chriſt's kingdom. 9 Deſolation is foreſhewn. 15 Reſtoration is promiſed to ſucceed.

BEHOLD, a king ſhall reign in righteouſneſs, and princes ſhall rule in judgment.

2 And a man ſhall be as an hiding-place from the wind, and a covert from the tempeſt; as rivers of water in a dry place; as the ſhadow of a great rock in a weary land.

3 And the eyes of them that ſee ſhall not be dim; and the ears of them that hear ſhall hearken.

4 The heart alſo of the raſh ſhall underſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtammerers ſhall be ready to ſpeak plainly.

5 The vile perſon ſhall be no more called liberal, nor the churl ſaid to be bountiful.

6 For the vile perſon will ſpeak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practiſe hypocriſy, and to utter error againſt the Lord, to make empty the ſoul of the hungry; and he will cauſe the drink of the thirſty to fail.

7 The inſtruments alſo of the churl are evil: he deviſeth wicked devices to deſtroy the poor with lying words, even when the needy ſpeaketh right.

8 But the liberal deviſeth liberal things, and by liberal things ſhall he ſtand.

9 ¶ Riſe up, ye women that are at eaſe; hear my voice, ye careleſs daughters; give ear unto my ſpeech.

10 Many days and years ſhall ye be troubled, ye careleſs women: for the vintage ſhall fail, the gathering ſhall not come.

11 Tremble, ye women that are at eaſe; be troubled, ye careleſs ones: ſtrip ye, and make ye bare, and gird ſackcloth upon your loins.

12 They ſhall lament for the teats, for the pleaſant fields, for the fruitful vine.

13 Upon the land of my people ſhall come up thorns and briers, yea, upon all the houſes of joy in the joyous city:

14 Becauſe the palaces ſhall be forſaken; the multitude of the city ſhall be left; the forts and towers ſhall be for dens for ever, a joy of wild aſſes, a paſture of flocks;

15 ¶ Until the ſpirit be poured upon us from on high, and the wilderneſs be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a foreſt.

16 Then judgment ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs, and righteouſneſs remain in the fruitful field.

17 And the work of righteouſneſs ſhall be peace; and the effect of righteouſneſs, quietneſs and aſſurance for ever.

18 And my people ſhall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in ſure dwellings, and in quiet reſting-places,

19 When it ſhall hail, coming down on the foreſt; and the city ſhall be low in a low place.

20 Bleſſed are ye that ſow beſide all waters, that ſend forth thither the feet of the ox and the aſs.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 God's judgments againſt the enemies of the church. 13 The privileges of the godly.

WOE to thee that ſpoileſt and thou waſt not ſpoiled: and dealeſt treacherouſly, and they dealt not treacherouſly with thee! when thou ſhalt ceaſe to ſpoil, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled: and when thou ſhalt make an end to deal treacherouſly, they ſhall deal treacherouſly with thee.

2 O Lord, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee; be thou their arm every morning, our ſalvation alſo in the time of trouble.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

5 As birds flying, ſo will the Lord of hoſts defend Jeruſalem, &c.) The protection which God affords to his ſervants is commonly expreſſed, by covering them under his wings, in alluſion to the wings of the cherubims which covered the mercy-ſeat.

Then ſhall the Aſſyrian fall with the ſword, &c.) He ſhall not fall by any mortal power, but by the hand of an angel; accordingly the Aſſyrian army was in one night deſtroyed by a ſudden ſtroke from heaven.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

9 Riſe up, ye women, &c.) He propheciеth of ſuch calamities to come, that they will not ſpare the women and children, therefore deſireth them to take heed.

20 Bleſſed are they that ſow beſide all waters, that ſend forth thither the feet of the ox and the aſs.) When theſe calamities befal the enemies of Sion, happy will be the people that truſt in the Almighty, for they may ſow their land in peace, which was before rendered deſolate by hoſtile invaſions; and though formerly overrun by briars and thorns, yet will now become a fruitful field, and its crop equal to the produce of moiſt and well-watered grounds. It was the cuſtom of the Jews to uſe aſſes as well as oxen, in plowing and cultivating their lands.

3 At the noiſe of the tumult the people fled; at the lifting up of thyſelf the nations were ſcattered.

4 And your ſpoil ſhall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar: as the running to and fro of locuſts ſhall he run upon them.

5 The Lord is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteouſneſs.

6 And wiſdom and knowledge ſhall be the ſtability of thy times, and ſtrength of ſalvation: the fear of the Lord is his treaſure.

7 Behold, their valiant ones ſhall cry without: the ambaſſadors of peace ſhall weep bitterly.

8 The highways lie waſte, the way-faring man ceaſeth: he hath broken the covenant, he hath deſpiſed the cities, he regardeth no man.

9 The earth mourneth and languiſheth: Lebanon is aſhamed and hewn down: Sharon is like a wilderneſs, and Baſhan and Carmel ſhake off their fruits.

10 Now will I riſe, ſaith the Lord: now will I be exalted: now will I lift up myſelf.

11 Ye ſhall conceive chaff, ye ſhall bring forth ſtubble: your breath as fire ſhall devour you.

12 And the people ſhall be as the burnings of lime: as thorns cut up ſhall they be burned in the fire.

13 ¶ Hear ye that are far off, what I have done; and ye that are near, acknowledge my might.

14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid; fearfulneſs hath ſurpriſed the hypocrites: who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? who among us ſhall dwell with everlaſting burnings?

15 He that walketh righteouſly, and ſpeaketh uprightly: he that deſpiſeth the gain of oppreſſions, that ſhaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that ſtoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and ſhutteth his eyes from ſeeing evil;

16 He ſhall dwell on high: his place of defence ſhall be the munitions of rocks: bread ſhall be given him, his waters ſhall be ſure.

17 Thine eyes ſhall ſee the king in his beauty: they ſhall behold the land that is very far off.

18 Thine heart ſhall meditate terror: Where is the ſcribe? where is the receiver? where is he that counted the towers?

19 Thou ſhalt not ſee a fierce people, a people of a deeper ſpeech than thou canſt perceive; of a ſtammering tongue that thou canſt not underſtand.

20 Look upon Zion, the city of our ſolemnities: thine eyes ſhall ſee Jeruſalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that ſhall not be taken down; not one of the ſtakes thereof ſhall ever be removed, neither ſhall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 But there the glorious Lord will be unto us a place of broad rivers, and ſtreams wherein ſhall go no galley with oars, neither ſhall gallant ſhip paſs thereby.

22 For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king: he will ſave us.

23 Thy tacklings are looſed: they could not well ſtrengthen their maſt; they could not ſpread the ſail: then is the prey of a great ſpoil divided; the lame take the prey.

24 And the inhabitant ſhall not ſay, I am ſick: the people that dwell therein ſhall be forgiven their iniquity.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The judgment wherewith God revengeth his church. 11 The deſolation of her enemies. 16 The certainty of the prophecy.

COME near, ye nations, to hear; and hearken, ye people; let the earth hear, and all that is therein: the world and all things that come forth of it.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is upon all nations, and his fury upon all their armies: he hath utterly deſtroyed them; he hath delivered them to the ſlaughter.

3 Their ſlain alſo ſhall be caſt out, and their ſtink ſhall come up out of their carcaſes, and the mountains ſhall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoſt of heaven ſhall be diſſolved, and the heavens ſhall be rolled together as a ſcroll: and all their hoſt ſhall fall down as the leaf falleth off from the vine, and as a falling fig from the fig-tree.

5 For my ſword ſhall be bathed in heaven; behold, it ſhall come down upon Idumea, and upon the people of my curſe to judgment.

6 The ſword of the Lord is filled with blood, it is made fat with fatneſs, and with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams: for the Lord hath a ſacrifice in Bozrah, and a great ſlaughter in the land of Idumea.

7 And the unicorns ſhall come down with them, and the bullocks with the bulls; and their land ſhall be ſoaked with blood, and their duſt made fat with fatneſs.

8 For it is the day of the Lord's vengeance, and the year of recompences for the controverſy of Zion.

9 And the ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, and the duſt thereof into brimſtone, and the land thereof ſhall become burning pitch.

10 It ſhall not be quenched night nor day: the ſmoke

Commentary on Chap. XXXIII.

4 Your ſpoil ſhall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar, &c.) The Jews ſhall plunder the Aſſyrians' camp, 'till they leave it as bare as the locuſts or caterpillars leave the trees when they have ſtripped them of their verdure.

9 The earth mourneth and languiſheth; Lebanon is aſhamed and hewn down, &c.) The whole land is under the greateſt conſternation, and the moſt beautiful parts of the country ſeem to languiſh and wither, at the approach of the enemy, and look upon themſelves as already deſtroyed. Lebanon was famous for its cedars; Sharon for its flowers and gardens; and Baſhan and Carmel for their rich grounds and fat paſtures.

14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid, fearfulneſs hath ſurpriſed the hypocrites: who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? &c.) This and the two following verſes deſcribe the different apprehenſions of the good and bad under their preſent circumſtances. They that did not rely upon God for help, were ready to cry out, Who can bear the approach of the Aſſyrian, who devours all things like fire? But, in a ſecondary ſenſe, theſe words may be applied to the torments of hell, which, when the conſciences of ſinners begin to be rouzed from their lethargy, give them abundant cauſe for forming the moſt dreadful ideas of the divine vengeance. And they who could not ſupport the thought of being attacked with all the force of a human enemy, how will they bear the weight of God's wrath, when he ſhall declare himſelf their enemy, and ſet his terrors in array againſt them?

Commentary on Chap. XXXIV.

5 It ſhall come down upon Idumea, &c.) It is common for the prophets to repreſent the enemies of God's church by the name of ſome country remarkable for its hatred to the Jews; and in this ſenſe Edom or Idumea may be taken here, the inhabitants of that country being famous for their malice to the Iſraelites. But the words here ſeem to deſcribe a more general judgment, of which the deſtruction of Edom was but an imperfect repreſentation. It ſhould alſo be remembered that the words Edom and Bozrah may be taken figuratively, the former ſignifying red, the colour of the blood, and the latter a vintage, which, in the prophetical idiom, denotes God's vengeance, and is otherwiſe expreſſed by the wine-preſs of God's wrath.

9 And the ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, &c.) This alludes to the deſtruction of the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, an emblem of the everlaſting deſtruction of the wicked at the laſt day.

ſmoke thereof ſhall go up for ever: from generation to generation it ſhall lie waſte; none ſhall paſs through it for ever and ever.

11 ¶ But the cormorant and the bittern ſhall poſſeſs it; the owl alſo and the raven ſhall dwell in it: and he ſhall ſtretch out upon it the line of confuſion, and the ſtones of emptineſs.

12 They ſhall call the nobles thereof to the kingdom, but none ſhall be there, and all her princes ſhall be nothing.

13 And thorns ſhall come up in her palaces, nettles and brambles in the fortreſſes thereof: and it ſhall be an habitation of dragons, and a court for owls.

14 The wild beaſts of the deſert ſhall alſo meet with the wild beaſts of the iſland, and the ſatyr ſhall cry to his fellow; the ſcreech-owl alſo ſhall reſt there, and find for herſelf a place of reſt.

15 There ſhall the great owl make her neſt, and lay, and hatch, and gather under her ſhadow: there ſhall the vultures alſo be gathered every one with her mate.

16 ¶ Seek ye out of the book of the Lord, and read: no one of theſe ſhall fail, none ſhall want her mate: for my mouth it hath commanded, and his ſpirit it hath gathered them,

17 And he hath caſt the lot for them, and his hand hath divided it unto them by line: they ſhall poſſeſs it for ever; from generation to generation ſhall they dwell therein.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The joyful flouriſhing of Chriſt's kingdom. 3 The weak are encouraged by the virtues and privileges of the goſpel.

THE wilderneſs, and the ſolitary place, ſhall be glad for them; and the deſert ſhall rejoice, and bloſſom as the roſe.

2 It ſhall bloſſom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and ſinging; the glory of Lebanon ſhall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon: they ſhall ſee the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God.

3 ¶ Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees.

4 Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be ſtrong, fear not; behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; he will come and ſave you.

5 Then the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, and the ears of the deaf ſhall be unſtopped:

6 Then ſhall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb ſing: for in the wilderneſs ſhall waters break out, and ſtreams in the deſert.

7 And the parched ground ſhall become a pool, and the thirſty land ſprings of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, ſhall be graſs, with reeds and ruſhes.

8 And an high-way ſhall be there, and a way, and it ſhall be called, The way of holineſs; the unclean ſhall not paſs over it; but it ſhall be for thoſe: the way-faring men, though fools, ſhall not err therein.

9 No lion ſhall be there, nor any ravenous beaſt ſhall go up thereon, it ſhall not be found there: but the redeemed ſhall walk there.

10 And the ranſomed of the Lord ſhall return, and come to Zion with ſongs, and everlaſting joy upon their heads: they ſhall obtain joy and gladneſs, and ſorrow and ſighing ſhall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sennacherib invadeth Judah. 4 Rabſhakeh's blaſphemous perſuaſions to the people. 22 His words are told to Hezekiah.

NOW it came to paſs in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Aſſyria came up againſt all the defenced cities of Judah, and took them.

2 And the king of Aſſyria ſent Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh to Jeruſalem, unto king Hezekiah, with a great army: and he ſtood by the conduit of the upper pool, in the high-way of the fuller's field.

3 Then came forth unto him Eliakim, Hilkiah's ſon, which was over the houſe, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah, Aſaph's ſon, the recorder.

4 ¶ And Rabſhakeh ſaid unto them, Say ye now to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the great king the king of Aſſyria, What confidence is this wherein thou truſteſt?

5 I ſay, ſayeſt thou, (but they are but vain words,) I have counſel and ſtrength for war: now, on whom doſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?

6 Lo, thou truſteſt in the ſtaff of this broken reed, on Egypt; whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: ſo is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that truſt in him.

7 But if thou ſay to me, We truſt in the Lord our God: is it not he whoſe high places and whoſe altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and ſaid to Judah and to Jeruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar?

8 Now, therefore, give pledges, I pray thee, to my maſter the king of Aſſyria, and I will give thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders upon them.

9 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the leaſt of my maſters ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen?

10 And am I now come up without the Lord againſt this land to deſtroy it? The Lord ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

11 Then ſaid Eliakim, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rabſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, unto thy ſervants in the Syrian language; for we underſtand it: and ſpeak not to us in the Jews language in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

12 ¶ But Rabſhakeh ſaid, Hath my maſter ſent me

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 The wilderneſs and the ſolitary place ſhall be glad for them, &c.) That is, for the judgments inflicted upon the enemies of the people of God. By the wilderneſs is meant the church, which before was in a deſolate and forlorn condition, but now ſhall ſpread and flouriſh. So the church is deſcribed as dwelling in the wilderneſs, (Rev. xii. 14) to denote its obſcure and afflicted ſtate. Both places perhaps allude to the Iſraelites ſojourning in the deſart, who are called the Church in the wilderneſs, Acts vii. 38.

5 Then the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, &c.) Our Saviour, in anſwer to John's diſciples, proved himſelf to be the Meſſiah, by appealing to this prophecy, as literally fulfilled in the miracles he wrought, Matt. xi. 5.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

8 Now therefore give pledges, I pray thee, unto my maſter, the king of Aſſyria, &c.) Rabſhakeh directs his diſcourſe to king Hezekiah, as if he was preſent, and bids him mention any hoſtage or wager he would be willing to forfeit, provided he was unable to find riders for two thouſand horſes, which the king of Aſſyria would undertake to furniſh.

10 The Lord hath ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.) He ſeems to mean that ſome oracle or idol, in requeſt among the Aſſyrians, had promiſed him ſucceſs; and this pretended deity he impiouſly calls by the name of the true God.

to thy maſter and to thee, to ſpeak theſe words? hath he not ſent me to the men that ſit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piſs with you?

13 Then Rabſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſaid, Hear ye the words of the great king, the king of Aſſyria.

14 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you; for he ſhall not be able to deliver you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you truſt in the Lord, ſaying, The Lord will ſurely deliver us: this city ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah; for thus ſaith the king of Aſſyria, Make an agreement with me by a preſent, and come out to me: and eat ye every one of his vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his own ciſtern:

17 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Beware leſt Hezekiah perſuade you, ſaying, The Lord will deliver us. Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arphad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who are they among all the gods of theſe lands that have delivered their land out of my hand, that the Lord ſhould deliver Jeruſalem out of my hand?

21 But they held their peace, and anſwered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, ſaying, Anſwer him not.

22 ¶ Then came Eliakim, the ſon of Hilkiah, that was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah, the ſon of Aſaph, the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabſhakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah, mourning, ſendeth to Iſaiah to pray for them. 6 Iſaiah comforteth them. 33 An angel ſlayeth the Aſſyrians. 37 Sennacherib ſlain by his own ſons.

AND it came to paſs when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himſelf with ſackcloth, and went into the houſe of the Lord.

2 And he ſent Eliakim, who was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and the elders of the prieſts covered with ſackcloth, unto Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz.

3 And they ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of blaſphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth.

4 It may be the Lord thy God will hear the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words which the Lord thy God hath heard; wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is left.

5 So the ſervants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 ¶ And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt upon him, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and return to his own land: and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land.

8 So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 And he heard ſay concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make war with thee. And when he heard it, he ſent meſſengers to Hezekiah, ſaying,

10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God in whom thou truſteſt, deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be given into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands by deſtroying them utterly; and ſhalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed, as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Telaſſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?

14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up unto the houſe of the Lord, and ſpread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed unto the Lord, ſaying,

16 O Lord of hoſts, God of Iſrael, that dwelleſt between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: thou haſt made heaven and earth.

17 Incline thine ear O Lord and hear; open thine eyes, O Lord and ſee; and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent to reproach the living God.

18 Of a truth, Lord, the kings of Aſſyria have laid waſte all the nations and their countries,

19 And have caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and ſtone: therefore they have deſtroyed them.

20 Now, therefore, O Lord our God, ſave us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the Lord, even thou only.

21 Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent unto Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Whereas thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria:

22 This is the word which the Lord hath ſpoken concerning him. The virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn; the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee.

23 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even againſt the Holy One of Iſrael.

24 By thy ſervants haſt thou reproached the Lord, and haſt ſaid, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains to the ſides of Lebanon: and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof: and I will enter into the height of his border, and the foreſt of his Carmel.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVII.

16 O Lord of hoſts, God of Iſrael, that dwelleſt between the cherubims, &c.) O thou, who haſt declared thyſelf in a peculiar manner to be the God of Iſrael, by chuſing this temple for thy dwelling-place, where thou vouchſafeſt thy appearance from between the cherubims, and giveſt favourable anſwers to us, when we humbly implore thy aſſiſtance.

24 By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains, to the ſides of Lebanon: and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, &c.) Cities are, in the prophetical writings, often metaphorically repreſented by woods or foreſts, and the ſeveral ranks of inhabitants by the taller or leſſer trees growing there. And this ſeems to be the true ſenſe of the paſſage, which, in a pompous manner, repreſents the boaſt of the Aſſyrian prince, as threatening to take mount Zion, together with the capital city of Jeruſalem, and deſtroy their principal inhabitants.

25 I have

25 I have digged, and drunk water: and with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the beſieged places.

26 Haſt thou not heard long ago how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte defenced cities into ruinous heaps

27 Therefore their inhabitants were of ſmall power, they are diſmayed and confounded: they were as the graſs of the field, and as the green herb, as the graſs on the houſe-tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up.

28 But I know thy abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage againſt me.

29 Becauſe of thy rage againſt me and thy tumult is come up into mine ears: therefore will I put my hook in thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt.

30 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch as groweth of itſelf; and the ſecond year that which ſpringeth of the ſame; and in the third year ſow ye, and reap; and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And the remnant that is eſcaped of the houſe of Judah ſhall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward:

32 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and they that eſcape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts ſhall do this.

33 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhields, nor caſt a bank againſt it.

34 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return, and ſhall not come into this city, ſaith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this city to ſave it for mine own ſake, and for my ſervant David's ſake.

36 ¶ Then the angel of the Lord went forth, and ſmote in the camp of the Aſſyrians an hundred and fourſcore and five thouſand: and when they aroſe early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpſes.

37 So Sennacherib king of Aſſyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

38 And it came to paſs as he was worſhiping in the houſe of Niſroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his ſons ſmote him with the ſword, and they eſcaped into the land of Armenia: and Eſar-haddon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Hezekiah hath his life lengthened: 8 the ſun goeth ten degrees backward for a ſign of that promiſe. 9 Hezekiah's thankſgiving.

IN thoſe days was Hezekiah ſick unto death. And Iſaiah the prophet, the ſon of Amoz, came unto him, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Set thine houſe in order: for thou ſhalt die, and not live.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed unto the Lord,

3 And ſaid, Remember now, O Lord, I beſeech thee, how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight: and Hezekiah wept ſore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Iſaiah, ſaying,

5 Go and ſay to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will add unto thy days fifteen years.

6 And I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria: and I will defend this city.

7 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee from the Lord, that the Lord will do this thing that he hath ſpoken;

8 Behold, I will bring again the ſhadow of the degrees, which is gone down in the ſun-dial of Ahaz, ten degrees backward. So the ſun returned ten degrees, by which degrees it was gone down.

9 ¶ The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been ſick, and was recovered of his ſickneſs:

10 I ſaid, in the cutting off of my days, I ſhall go to the gates of the grave: I am deprived of the reſidue of my years.

11 I ſaid, I ſhall not ſee the Lord, even the Lord, in the land of the living: I ſhall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a ſhepherd's tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining ſickneſs: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

13 I reckoned till morning, that as a lion, ſo will he break all my bones: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane, or a ſwallow, ſo did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove: mine eyes fail with looking upward: O Lord, I am oppreſſed, undertake for me.

15 What ſhall I ſay? he hath both ſpoken unto me, and himſelf hath done it: I ſhall go ſoftly all my years in the bitterneſs of my ſoul.

16 O Lord, by theſe things men live, and in all theſe things is the life of my ſpirit: ſo wilt thou recover me, and make me to live.

17 Behold, for peace I had great bitterneſs; but thou haſt in love to my ſoul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for thou haſt caſt all my ſins behind thy back.

18 For the grave cannot praiſe thee; death cannot celebrate thee: they that go down into the pit cannot hope for thy truth.

25 With the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the beſieged places.) I have rendered rivers fordable, by turning their ſtreams from their ancient beds, and deprived the beſieged of the benefit of thoſe waters.

30 This ſhall be a ſign unto thee, &c.) That thou may know that this delivery comes only from the Lord, let me tell thee that God ſhall ſecond this mercy with another.

COMMENTARY ON Chap. XXXVIII.

8 So the ſun returned ten degrees, &c.) The dial in uſe among the antient Jews differed from that now uſed: theirs was a kind of ſtairs; the time of the day was diſtinguiſhed, not by lines, but by ſteps or degrees: the ſhade of the ſun every half hour moved forward a new degree.

11 I ſhall not ſee the Lord, even the Lord, in the land of the living, &c.) The beſt men under the law had but imperfect notions of a future ſtate, and conſidered it as the greateſt unhappineſs to be deprived of the ſociety of religious men here on earth. The concern of Hezekiah might be alſo encreaſed, leſt the public worſhip of God ſhould be leſs frequented, after it had loſt ſo zealous a patron as himſelf.

14 Mine eyes fail with looking upward; O Lord, I am oppreſſed, undertake for me.) I had hardly ſtrength to lift mine eyes to heaven: I even deſpaired of any relief from thence, but could not forbear uttering my complaint to thee, O Lord, who ſeeſt that death, like a cruel executioner, is come to ſeize me; nor is there any other beſides thee that hath power to deliver me out of his hand.

18 For the grave cannot praiſe thee; death cannot celebrate thee, &c.) The dead cannot be inſtruments of promoting thy glory here; nor can they that are laid in the chambers of the duſt proclaim thy goodneſs to the children of men.

19 The living, the living he ſhall praiſe thee, as I do this day: the father to the children ſhall make known thy truth.

20 The Lord was ready to ſave me, therefore we will ſing my ſongs to the ſtringed inſtruments all the days of our life in the houſe of the Lord.

21 For Iſaiah had ſaid, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaiſter upon the boil, and he ſhall recover.

22 Hezekiah alſo had ſaid, What is the ſign that I ſhall go up to the houſe of the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Merodach-baladan, ſending to viſit Hezekiah, hath notice of his treaſures. 3 Iſaiah foretelleth the Babylonian captivity.

AT that time Merodach-baladan the ſon of Baladan king of Babylon ſent letters and a preſent to Hezekiah; for he had heard that he had been ſick, and was recovered.

2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and ſhewed them the houſe of his precious things, the ſilver and the gold, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures; there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not.

3 ¶ Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they unto thee? and Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country unto me, even from Babylon.

4 Then ſaid he, What have they ſeen in thine houſe? And Hezekiah anſwered, All that is in mine houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſures that I have not ſhewed them.

5 Then ſaid Iſaiah to Hezekiah, Hear the word of the Lord of hoſts:

6 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore until this day, ſhall be carried to Babylon: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the Lord.

7 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away; and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

8 Then ſaid Hezekiah to Iſaiah, Good is the word of the Lord which thou haſt ſpoken. He ſaid moreover, For there ſhall be peace and truth in my days.

CHAP. XL.

1 The promulgation of the goſpel. 3 The preaching of John Baptiſt. 9 The preaching of the apoſtles.

COMFORT ye, comfort ye my people, ſaith your God.

2 Speak ye comfortably to Jeruſalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned; for ſhe hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her ſins.

3 ¶ The voice of him that crieth in the wilderneſs, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make ſtraight in the deſert a high-way for our God.

4 Every valley ſhall be exalted, and every mountain and hill ſhall be made low: and the crooked ſhall be made ſtraight, and the rough places plain.

5 And the glory of the Lord ſhall be revealed, and all fleſh ſhall ſee it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

6 The voice ſaid, Cry. And he ſaid, What ſhall I cry? All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodlineſs thereof is as the flower of the field:

7 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth, becauſe the Spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it: ſurely the people is graſs.

8 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth; but the word of our God ſhall ſtand for ever.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringeſt good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain; O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, lift up thy voice with ſtrength: lift it up, be not afraid: ſay unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with ſtrong hand, and his arm ſhall rule for him: behold his reward is with him, and his work before him.

11 He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd: he ſhall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his boſom, and ſhall gently lead thoſe that are with young.

12 Who hath meaſured the waters in the hollow of his hand; and meted out heaven with the ſpan, and comprehended the duſt of the earth in a meaſure, and weighed the mountains in ſcales, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counſellor hath taught him?

14 With whom took he counſel, and who inſtructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and ſhewed to him the way of underſtanding?

---

20 Therefore we will ſing my ſongs to the ſtringed inſtruments, all the days of our life, in the houſe of the Lord.) We will ſing this and other hymns which are ordered by king Hezekiah to be performed in the public ſervice of the temple.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIX.

1 At that time Merodach-baladan the ſon of Baladan.) Merodach was the name of an idol worſhipped by the Babylonians, and Bell, another: and theſe two idols, with the addition of Adan or Adon, which ſignifies Lord, gave name to this king of Babylon; it being common for the princes of that kingdom to take their names from the idols they worſhipped. Baladan is generally ſuppoſed to be the ſame perſon, who, in prophane authors, is called Beleſis or Beleſus, and Nabonaſſarus, from whom the famous computation of time called Æra Nabonaſſari took its name.

Sent letters and a preſent to Hezekiah, &c.) One reaſon for his ſending this embaſſy was to ſatisfy himſelf with regard to the miracle of the ſhadow's going backward on the king's recovery. The Babylonians were famous for ſtudying aſtronomy, which rendered their king the more deſirous of being ſatisfied with regard to ſo remarkable a phænomenon.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XL.

1 Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, ſaith your God.) The prophet here addreſſes himſelf to God's meſſengers, whoſe office it was to publiſh the glad tidings of peace and ſalvation. The times of the Meſſiah are called The conſolation of Iſrael. Luke ii. 25.

3 In the wilderneſs.) The prophet calls the way by which the Jews were to return from captivity by the name of the wilderneſs, alluding to their paſſage through the deſert, in their way from Egypt to Canaan.

Prepare ye the way of the Lord, &c.) This expreſſion alludes to the cuſtom of princes in ſending harbingers before them, to make the roads eaſy and commodious for their paſſage. And it muſt be added, that the very words exactly deſcribe the office of John the Baptiſt, who prepared the way of the great Redeemer of mankind, by preaching in the wilderneſs.

11 He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd, &c.) As the care which God took in providing for and protecting his people, is reſembled to the duty of a ſhepherd; ſo the office of the Meſſiah is often deſcribed by the prophets under the ſame metaphor. In alluſion to this our Saviour calls himſelf the good ſhepherd (John x. 11) and repreſents himſelf as coming into the world to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt, and bringing home the wandering ſheep upon his ſhoulders rejoicing.

He ſhall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his boſom, &c.) As a careful ſhepherd gathereth his lambs together that none of them be loſt, carries thoſe in his boſom that are not able to walk, and gently drives the ewes that cannot bear the fatigue of travelling faſt; ſo will the Meſſiah, the great ſhepherd of the ſheep, uſe the ſame gentleneſs towards the weak members of his flock, giving them inſtruction as they are able to bear it, and taking all poſſible care to reduce the ſtragglers in the fold.

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the ſmall duſt of the balance: behold, he taketh up the iſles as a very little thing.

16 And Lebanon is not ſufficient to burn, nor the beaſts thereof ſufficient for a burnt-offering.

17 All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him leſs than nothing and vanity.

18 To whom then will ye liken God? or what likeneſs will ye compare unto him?

19 The workman melteth a graven image, and the goldſmith ſpreadeth it over with gold, and caſteth ſilver chains.

20 He that is ſo impoveriſhed that he hath no oblation, chooſeth a tree that will not rot: he ſeeketh unto him a cunning workman to prepare a graven image that ſhall not be moved.

21 Have ye not known? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning? have ye not underſtood from the foundations of the earth?

22 It is he that ſitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as graſhoppers; that ſtretcheth out the heavens as a curtain, and ſpreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in:

23 That bringeth the princes to nothing; he maketh the judges of the earth as vanity.

24 Yea, they ſhall not be planted; yea, they ſhall not be ſown; yea, their ſtock ſhall not take root in the earth; and he ſhall alſo blow upon them, and they ſhall wither, and the whirlwind ſhall take them away as ſtubble.

25 To whom then will ye liken me, or ſhall I be equal? ſaith the Holy One.

26 Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created theſe things, that bringeth out their hoſt by number: he calleth them all by names, by the greatneſs of his might, for that he is ſtrong in power not one faileth.

27 Why ſayeſt thou, O Jacob, and ſpeakeſt, O Iſrael, My way is hid from the Lord, and my judgment is paſſed over from my God?

28 Haſt thou not known? haſt thou not heard, that the everlaſting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no ſearching of his underſtanding.

29 He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaſeth ſtrength.

30 Even the youths ſhall faint and be weary, and the young men ſhall utterly fall:

31 But they that wait upon the Lord ſhall renew their ſtrength; they ſhall mount up with wings as eagles; they ſhall run and not be weary; and they ſhall walk, and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

1 God expoſtulateth with his people about his mercies to the church, 10 about his promiſes, 21 and about the vanity of idols.

KEEP ſilence before me, O iſlands; and let the people renew their ſtrength: let them come near, then let them ſpeak; let us come near together to judgment.

2 Who raiſed up the righteous man from the eaſt, called him to his foot, gave the nations before him, and made him rule over kings? he gave them as the duſt to his ſword, and as driven ſtubble to his bow.

3 He purſued them, and paſſed ſafely; even by the way that he had not gone with his feet.

4 Who hath wrought and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I the Lord, the firſt, and with the laſt; I am he.

5 The iſles ſaw it, and feared; the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came.

6 They helped every one his neighbour; and every one ſaid to his brother, Be of good courage.

7 So the carpenter encouraged the goldſmith, and he that ſmootheth with the hammer him that ſmote the anvil, ſaying, It is ready for the ſodering: and he faſtened it with nails, that it ſhould not be moved.

8 But thou, Iſrael, art my ſervant, Jacob whom I have choſen, the ſeed of Abraham my friend.

9 Thou whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, and called thee from the chief men thereof, and ſaid unto thee, Thou art my ſervant; I have choſen thee, and not caſt thee away.

10 Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not diſmayed; for I am thy God: I will ſtrengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteouſneſs.

11 Behold all they that were incenſed againſt thee ſhall be aſhamed and confounded: they ſhall be as nothing; and they that ſtrive with thee ſhall periſh.

12 Thou ſhalt ſeek them, and ſhalt not find them, even them that contended with thee: they that war againſt thee ſhall be as nothing, and as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, ſaying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee.

14 Fear not, thou worm Jacob, and ye men of Iſrael; I will help thee, ſaith the Lord, and thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Iſrael.

15 Behold, I will make thee a new ſharp threſhing inſtrument, having teeth: thou ſhalt threſh the mountains, and beat them ſmall, and ſhalt make the hills as chaff.

16 Thou ſhalt fan them, and the wind ſhall carry them away, and the whirlwind ſhall ſcatter them: and thou ſhalt rejoice in the Lord, and ſhalt glory in the Holy One of Iſrael.

17 When the poor and needy ſeek water, and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirſt, I the Lord will hear them, I the God of Iſrael will not forſake them.

18 I will open rivers in high places, and fountains in the midſt of the vallies; I will make the wilderneſs a pool of water, and the dry land ſprings of water.

19 I will plant in the wilderneſs the cedar, the ſhittah-tree, and the myrtle, and the oil-tree; I will ſet in the deſert the fir-tree, and the pine, and the box-tree together;

20 That they may ſee, and know, and conſider, and underſtand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the Holy One of Iſrael hath created it.

---

28 Haſt thou not heard that the everlaſting God, the Lord, the creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? &c.) Though it is impoſſible for mortals to fathom the depths of Jehovah's providence, or always aſſign the reaſons for his proceedings; yet we may be aſſured, that his delaying to deliver his people does not proceed from a deficiency either of ability or knowledge; ſince he upholds all things by the word of his power, and his wiſdom extends to every part of the creation.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLI.

8 But thou, Iſrael, art my ſervant, &c.) The expreſſions are very tender: it is honourable to be the ſervant of the Moſt High, ſtill more ſo to be his choſen ſervant, and to be deſcended from one to whom he vouchſafed the title of friend, as God did to Abraham, (2 Chron. xx. vii.) the greateſt honour any mortal is capable of enjoying. And this glorious privilege Chriſt was pleaſed to confer on his diſciples, John xv. 13.

15 Thou ſhalt threſh the mountains, &c.) By the mountains and hills are probably meant the greater and leſſer kingdoms, which were enemies to God's truth.

21 ¶ Produce your cauſe, ſaith the Lord; bring forth your ſtrong reaſons, ſaith the King of Jacob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and ſhew us what ſhall happen: let them ſhew the former things what they be, that we may conſider them, and know the latter end of them; or declare us things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, do good, or do evil, that we may be diſmayed, and behold it together.

24 Behold, ye are of nothing, and your work of nought: an abomination is he that chooſeth you.

25 I have raiſed up one from the north, and he ſhall come: from the riſing of the ſun ſhall he call upon my name; and he ſhall come upon princes as upon morter, and as the potter treadeth clay.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? and before time, that we may ſay, He is righteous? yea, there is none that ſheweth; yea, there is none that declareth; yea, there is none that heareth your words.

27 The firſt ſhall ſay to Zion, Behold, behold them: and I will give to Jeruſalem one that bringeth good tidings.

28 For I beheld, and there was no man, even among them, and there was no counſellor, that, when I aſked of them, could anſwer a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanity; their works are nothing: their molten images are wind and confuſion.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The office of Chriſt. 5 God's promiſe to him. 10 An exhortation to praiſe God.

BEHOLD my ſervant, whom I uphold: mine elect, in whom my ſoul delighteth: I have put my ſpirit upon him: he ſhall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles.

2 He ſhall not cry, nor lift up, nor cauſe his voice to be heard in the ſtreet.

3 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not break, and the ſmoking flax ſhall he not quench: he ſhall bring forth judgment unto truth.

4 He ſhall not fail nor be diſcouraged, till he have ſet judgment in the earth; and the iſles ſhall wait for his law.

5 ¶ Thus ſaith God the Lord, he that created the heavens and ſtretched them out; he that ſpread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and ſpirit to them that walk therein:

6 I the Lord have called thee in righteouſneſs, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles;

7 To open the blind eyes, to bring out the priſoners from the priſon, and them that ſit in darkneſs out of the priſon-houſe.

8 I am the Lord; that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praiſe to graven images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to paſs, and new things do I declare: before they ſpring forth I tell you of them.

10 ¶ Sing unto the Lord a new ſong, and his praiſe from the end of the earth: ye that go down to the ſea, and all that is therein; the iſles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderneſs and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock ſing; let them ſhout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them give glory unto the Lord, and declare his praiſe in the iſlands.

13 The Lord ſhall go forth as a mighty man, he ſhall ſtir up jealouſy like a man of war: he ſhall cry; yea, roar; he ſhall prevail againſt his enemies.

14 I have long time holden my peace; I have been ſtill, and refrained myſelf: now will I cry like a travailing woman: I will deſtroy and devour at once.

15 I will make waſte mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs: and I will make the rivers iſlands, and I will dry up the pools.

16 And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkneſs light before them, and crooked things ſtraight. Theſe things will I do unto them, and not forſake them.

17 They ſhall be turned back, they ſhall be greatly aſhamed that truſt in graven images, that ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

---

25 I have raiſed up one from the north, &c.) Cyrus is deſcribed as coming from the eaſt, (ver. 2) and here from the north and eaſt too, becauſe his father was a Perſian, and his mother a Median: Media lay north of Babylon.

Commentary on Chap. XLII.

1 Behold my ſervant, whom I uphold, &c.) The following prophecy is, by St. Matthew, applied to Chriſt. Indeed it cannot, with any ſhew of probability, be applied to any other. The holy ſpirit ſeems to have taken an occaſion, from the deliverance of the Jews out of their captivity, to give the prophet a view of a more glorious redemption, which ſhould be accompliſhed by the Meſſiah. Chriſt is often called, by Iſaiah and Zechariah, God's ſervant, as being ſanctioned and ſent into the world upon a meſſage of the higheſt importance. And this title agrees very well with thoſe many declarations our bleſſed Saviour made of his coming into the world to do the will of him that ſent him. And it is, perhaps, in this reſpect that St. Paul ſaith of Chriſt, He took upon him the form of a ſervant. God is ſaid here to uphold him: becauſe his perſon was under the particular care and protection of providence, ſo that none of the deſigns of his enemies could take effect 'till his hour was come.

3 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not break, and the ſmoking flax ſhall he not quench, &c.) It is ſurely impoſſible for the prophet to have choſen two more delicate and expreſſive repreſentations. Can any image be more ſignificant of a very infirm and enfeebled faith, than the flexible reed that bends before every wind; which, beſides its natural weakneſs, is made abundantly weaker by being bruiſed, and therefore ready to fall in pieces of itſelf? Nor can any thing, with a more pathetical exactneſs, deſcribe the extreme imbecility of love, that other principle of the divine life, than the ſtate of flax, which is but juſt beginning to burn, and conſequently liable to be put out by the leaſt blaſt?

4 He ſhall not fail, nor be diſcouraged, 'till he have ſet judgment in the earth, &c.) This part of the prophecy relates to the propagating the goſpel in the world by Chriſt and his meſſengers, who would not be diſcouraged by the difficulties they met with in the diſcharge of their office, but would ſtill continue unwearied in well-doing, 'till at laſt they ſhould ſurmount all oppoſition, plant judgment and truth in the earth, and make the remoteſt parts of the world own their dependence on the Son of God, and ſubmit to his equitable laws.

10, 11, 12 Sing unto the Lord a new ſong, &c.) An exhortation to all the inhabitants of the earth to give glory to God for his wonderful mercy in making himſelf known to the Gentle world by the goſpel: a mercy ſo great, that even the inanimate parts of the creation are conſidered as affected by it, and exhorted to join in the general chorus of praiſe.

16 I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not, &c.) If we underſtand this paſſage as relating to the people's returning from captivity, it imports, that God would provide means for their reſtoration which they did not think of, and would remove all impediments that might oppoſe their coming again to their own land. But it ſeems alſo to refer to the times of the goſpel, when God would enlighten the world with the rays of truth, and bring mankind into the paths of virtue, notwithſtanding all the oppoſition made by inveterate error and prejudice.

18 Hear ye deaf; and look, ye blind, that ye may ſee.
19 Who is blind, but my ſervant? or deaf as my meſſenger that I ſent? who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lord's ſervant?
20 Seeing many things, but thou obſerveſt not; opening the ears, but he heareth not.
21 The Lord is well pleaſed for his righteouſneſs' ſake: he will magnify the law and make it honourable.
22 But this is a people robbed and ſpoiled; they are all of them ſnared in holes, and they are hid in priſon-houſes; they are for a prey, and none delivereth; for a ſpoil, and none ſaith, Reſtore.
23 Who among you will give ear to this? who will hearken and hear for the time to come?
24 Who gave Jacob for a ſpoil, and Iſrael to the robbers? did not the Lord, he againſt whom we have ſinned? for they would not walk in his ways, neither were they obedient unto his law.
25 Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the ſtrength of battle; and it hath ſet him on fire round about, yet he knew not; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth the church with his promiſes. 14 He foretelleth Babylon's deſtruction, 18 and his people's deliverance.

BUT now, thus ſaith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Iſrael, Fear not; for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine.
2 When thou paſſeſt through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers they ſhall not overflow thee; when thou walkeſt through the fire, thou ſhalt not be burned; neither ſhall the flame kindle upon thee.
3 For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy One of Iſrael, thy Saviour: I gave Egypt for thy ranſom, Ethiopia and Seba for thee.
4 Since thou waſt precious in my ſight thou haſt been honourable, and I have loved thee: therefore will I give men for thee, and people for thy life.
5 Fear not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt;
6 I will ſay to the north, Give up; and to the ſouth, Keep not back: bring my ſons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth;
7 Even every one that is called by my name; for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him.
8 Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears.
9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be aſſembled: who among them can declare this, and ſhew us former things? let them bring forth their witneſſes, that they may be juſtified, or let them hear and ſay, It is truth.
10 Ye are my witneſſes ſaith the Lord, and my ſervant whom I have choſen: that ye may know and believe me, and underſtand that I am he: before me there was no god formed, neither ſhall there be after me.
11 I, even I, am the Lord; and beſide me there is no Saviour.
12 I have declared, and have ſaved, and I have ſhewed, when there was no ſtrange god among you: therefore ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the Lord, that I am God.
13 Yea, before the day was, I am he; and there is none that can deliver out of my hand: I will work, and who ſhall let it?
14 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord your redeemer, the Holy One of Iſrael: for your ſake I have ſent to Babylon, and have brought down all their nobles, and the Chaldeans whoſe cry is in the ſhips.
15 I am the Lord, your Holy One, the Creator of Iſrael, your king.
16 Thus ſaith the Lord, which maketh a way in the ſea, and a path in the mighty waters;
17 Which bringeth forth the chariot and horſe, the army and the power; they ſhall lie down together, they ſhall not riſe: they are extinct, they are quenched as tow.
18 ¶ Remember ye not the former things, neither conſider the things of old.
19 Behold, I will do a new thing; now it ſhall ſpring forth, ſhall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert.
20 The beaſt of the field ſhall honour me, the dragons and the owls; becauſe I give waters in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert, to give drink to my people, my choſen.
21 This people have I formed for myſelf; they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe.
22 ¶ But thou haſt not called upon me, O Jacob; but thou haſt been weary of me, O Iſrael.
23 Thou haſt not brought me the ſmall cattle of thy burnt-offerings, neither haſt thou honoured me with thy ſacrifice: I have not cauſed thee to ſerve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incenſe.
24 Thou haſt bought me no ſweet cane with money, neither haſt thou filled me with the fat of thy ſacrifices: but thou haſt made me to ſerve with thy ſins, thou haſt wearied me with thine iniquities.
25 I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy tranſgreſſions for mine own ſake, and will not remember thy ſins.
26 Put me in remembrance; let us plead together: declare thou, that thou mayeſt be juſtified.
27 Thy firſt father hath ſinned, and thy teachers have tranſgreſſed againſt me.
28 Therefore I have profaned the princes of the ſanctuary, and have given Jacob to the curſe, and Iſrael to reproaches.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 God's church comforted. 7 The vanity of idols, 9 and folly of idol-makers.

YET now hear, O Jacob my ſervant, and Iſrael, whom I have choſen:
2 Thus ſaith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the womb, which will help thee, Fear not, O Jacob my ſervant, and thou, Jeſurun, whom I have choſen.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIII.

3 I gave Egypt for thy ranſom, &c.) I turned Sennacherib's power againſt theſe countries, and made them ſuffer thoſe calamities which ſhould have been inflicted upon thee, and ſo they were as the payment of thy ranſom, chap. xxxvii. 9.

8 The blind people that have eyes, &c.) The heathen idolaters, who, like the images they worſhipped, have eyes and ſee not.

20 The beaſt of the field ſhall honour me, the dragons and the owls: becauſe I give waters in the wilderneſs, &c.) There ſhall be ſuch plenty of water in the deſert, that the beaſts which inhabit it ſhall be refreſhed, and join with my people in making their thankful acknowledgments for theſe miracles of mercy. This verſe alludes to the miraculous waters which God cauſed to guſh out of the rocks in the wilderneſs, for the uſe of the children of Iſrael when they came up out of Egypt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIV.

2 And thou, Jeſurun, whom I have choſen) Jeſurun is a name given to the Jews by Moſes; it ſignifies upright, becauſe they were called to be an holy people to the Lord.

3 For I will pour water upon him that is thirſty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my ſpirit upon thy ſeed, and my bleſſing upon thine offſpring:

4 And they ſhall ſpring up as among the graſs, as willows by the water-courſes.

5 One ſhall ſay, I am the Lord's; and another ſhall call himſelf by the name of Jacob; and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his hand unto the Lord, and ſurname himſelf by the name of Iſrael.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord the king of Iſrael, and his Redeemer the Lord of hoſts, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt; and beſides me there is no God.

7 ¶ And who, as I, ſhall call, and ſhall declare it, and ſet it in order for me, ſince I appointed the ancient people? and the things that are coming, and ſhall come, let them ſhew unto them.

8 Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witneſſes. Is there a God beſides me? yea, there is no God: I know not any.

9 ¶ They that make a graven image are all of them vanity: and their delectable things ſhall not profit: and they are their own witneſſes; they ſee not, nor know: that they may be aſhamed.

10 Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all his fellows ſhall be aſhamed: and the workmen they are of men, let them all be gathered together, let them ſtand up; yet they ſhall fear, and they ſhall be aſhamed together.

12 The ſmith with the tongs both worketh in the coals, and faſhioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his arms; yea, he is hungry, and his ſtrength faileth, he drinketh no water and is faint.

13 The carpenter ſtretcheth out his rule; he marketh it out with a line; he fitteth it with planes, and he marketh it out with the compaſs, and maketh it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man; that it may remain in the houſe.

14 He heweth him down cedars, and taketh the cypreſs and the oak, which he ſtrengtheneth for himſelf among the trees of the foreſt: he planteth an aſh, and the rain doth nouriſh it.

15 Then ſhall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof, and warm himſelf: yea, he kindleth it, and baketh bread: yea, he maketh a god, and worſhippeth it: he maketh it a graven image, and falleth down thereto.

16 He burneth part thereof in the fire: with part thereof he eateth fleſh; he roaſteth roaſt, and is ſatisfied: yea, he warmeth himſelf, and ſaith, Aha, I am warm, I have ſeen the fire:

17 And the reſidue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image: he falleth down unto it, and worſhippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and ſaith, Deliver me: for thou art my god.

18 They have not known nor underſtood: for he hath ſhut their eyes that they cannot ſee; and their hearts that they cannot underſtand.

19 And none conſidereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor underſtanding to ſay, I have burned part of it in the fire; yea, alſo I have baked bread upon the coals thereof: I have roaſted fleſh, and eaten it: and ſhall I make the reſidue thereof an abomination? ſhall I fall down to the ſtock of a tree?

20 He feedeth on aſhes: a deceived heart hath turned him aſide, that he cannot deliver his ſoul, nor ſay, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 Remember theſe, O Jacob, and Iſrael, for thou art my ſervant: I have formed thee, thou art my ſervant: O Iſrael thou ſhalt not be forgotten of me.

22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud thy tranſgreſſions, and as a cloud thy ſins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee.

23 Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it: ſhout, ye lower parts of the earth; break forth into ſinging, ye mountains; O foreſt, and every tree therein; for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himſelf in Iſrael.

24 Thus ſaith the Lord thy Redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb; I am the Lord that maketh all things; that ſtretcheth forth the heavens alone; that ſpreadeth abroad the earth by myſelf;

25 That fruſtrateth the tokens of the liars and maketh divîners mad: that turneth wiſe men backward, and maketh their knowledge fooliſh:

26 That confirmeth the word of his ſervant, and performeth the counſel of his meſſengers; that ſaith to Jeruſalem, Thou ſhalt be inhabited, and to the cities of Judah, Ye ſhall be built, and I will raiſe up the decayed places thereof;

27 That ſaith to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up thy rivers:

28 That ſaith of Cyrus, He is my ſhepherd, and ſhall perform all my pleaſure; even ſaying to Jeruſalem, Thou ſhalt be built; and to the temple, Thy foundation ſhall be laid.

CHAP. XLV.

1 God calleth Cyrus for his church's ſake. 5 He challengeth obedience. 20 He convinceth the idols of vanity.

THUS ſaith the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, whoſe right hand I have holden, to ſubdue nations before him; and I will looſe the loins of kings, to open before him the two-leaved gates; and the gates ſhall not be ſhut:

2 I will go before thee, and make the crooked places ſtraight: I will break in pieces the gates of braſs, and cut in ſunder the bars of iron:

3 And I will give thee the treaſures of darkneſs, and hidden riches of ſecret places, that thou mayeſt know that I the Lord, which call thee by thy name, am the God of Iſrael.

4 For Jacob my ſervant's ſake, and Iſrael mine elect,

---

3 For I will pour water upon him that is thirſty, and floods upon the dry ground, &c.) The bleſſings of the Almighty are often repreſented under the metaphor of rivers and ſtreams, which water the ground, and render it fruitful. The latter part of the verſe explains what bleſſings are here intended; namely, the plentiful effuſion of God's ſpirit, which is mentioned by the prophets as the particular character of the goſpel-times.

22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud thy tranſgreſſions, &c.) The preterperfect tenſe is in this paſſage, as in ſeveral other places, uſed for the future. God here encourages the people to truſt in his mercy, by aſſuring them that, upon their repentance, he will ſo fully forgive their ſins, that no ſigns of his diſpleaſure ſhall appear, and they never riſe up in judgment againſt them, but vaniſh like a cloud when diſperſed by a ſtorm.

28 That ſaith of Cyrus, He is my ſhepherd, &c.) I will make him my inſtrument of gathering my people together, and leading them home, as a ſhepherd does his flock. This is one of the moſt remarkable prophecies in ſcripture, where Cyrus is called by his name (as the prophet expreſſes it, ch. xlv. iv.) above an hundred years before he was born.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLV.

1 Thus ſaith the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, &c.) God gives the title of anointed to Cyrus, to ſhew that he was raiſed up to be an immediate inſtrument of Providence in reſtoring the Jews from their captivity.

I have even called thee by thy name: I have ſurnamed thee, though thou haſt not known me;

5 ¶ I am the Lord, and there is none elſe, there is no God beſide me: I girded thee, though thou haſt not known me;

6 That they may know from the riſing of the ſun, and from the weſt, that there is none beſide me: I am the Lord, and there is none elſe.

7 I form the light, and create darkneſs; I make peace, and create evil. I the Lord do all theſe things.

8 Drop down ye heavens from above, and let the ſkies pour down righteouſneſs: let the earth open, and let them bring forth ſalvation, and let righteouſneſs ſpring up together. I the Lord have created it.

9 Woe unto him that ſtriveth with his Maker! Let the potſherd ſtrive with the potſherds of the earth. Shall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy work, He hath no hands?

10 Woe unto him that ſaith unto his father, What begetteſt thou? or to the woman, What haſt thou brought forth?

11 Thus ſaith the Lord, the Holy One of Iſrael, and his Maker, Aſk me of things to come concerning my ſons; and concerning the work of my hands command ye me.

12 I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands have ſtretched out the heavens, and all their hoſt have I commanded.

13 I have raiſed him up in righteouſneſs, and I will direct all his ways: he ſhall build my city, and he ſhall let go my captives, not for price nor reward ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and merchandize of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of ſtature ſhall come over unto thee, and they ſhall be thine: they ſhall come after thee; in chains they ſhall come over: and they ſhall fall down unto thee, they ſhall make ſupplication unto thee, ſaying, Surely God is in thee; and there is none elſe, there is no God.

15 Verily thou art a God that hideſt thyſelf, O God of Iſrael the ſaviour.

16 They ſhall be aſhamed, and alſo confounded, all of them: they ſhall go to confuſion together, that are makers of idols.

17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaved in the Lord with an everlaſting ſalvation: ye ſhall not be aſhamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord that created the heavens; God himſelf, that formed the earth and made it; he hath eſtabliſhed it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none elſe.

19 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark place of the earth: I ſaid not unto the ſeed of Jacob, Seek ye me in vain, I the Lord ſpeak righteouſneſs, I declare things that are right.

20 ¶ Aſſemble yourſelves and come: draw near together, ye that are eſcaped of the nations; they have no knowledge that ſet up the wood of their graven image, and pray unto a god that cannot ſave.

21 Tell ye, and bring them near: yea, let them take counſel together: Who hath declared this from ancient time? who hath told it from that time? have not I the Lord? and there is no God elſe beſide me; a juſt God, and a ſaviour; there is none beſide me.

22 Look unto me, and be ye ſaved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God; and there is none elſe.

23 I have ſworn by myſelf, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteouſneſs, and ſhall not return, That unto me every knee ſhall bow, every tongue ſhall ſwear.

24 Surely, ſhall one ſay, In the Lord have I righteouſneſs and ſtrength: even to him ſhall men come; and all that are incenſed againſt him ſhall be aſhamed.

25 In the Lord ſhall all the ſeed of Iſrael be juſtified, and ſhall glory.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The idols of Babylon could not ſave themſelves. 3 God ſaveth his people to the end. 5 Idols are not comparable to God.

BEL boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth, their idols were upon the beaſts and upon the cattle; your carriages were heavy loaden; they are a burden to the weary beaſt.

2 They ſtoop, they bow down together: they could not deliver the burden, but themſelves are gone into captivity.

3 ¶ Hearken unto me, O houſe of Jacob, and all the remnant of the houſe of Iſrael, which are borne by me from the belly, which are carried from the womb:

4 And even to your old age I am he: and even to hoary hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye liken me, and make me equal, and compare me, that we may be like?

6 They laviſh gold out of the bag, and weigh ſilver in the balance, and hire a goldſmith: and he maketh it a god: they fall down, yea, they worſhip.

7 They bear him upon the ſhoulder, they carry him, and ſet him in his place, and he ſtandeth; from his place ſhall he not remove: yea, one ſhall cry unto him, yet can he not anſwer, nor ſave him out of his trouble.

8 Remember this, and ſhew yourſelves men; bring it again to mind, O ye tranſgreſſors.

9 Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none elſe; I am God, and there is none like me:

10 Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, ſaying, My counſel ſhall ſtand, and I will do all my pleaſure:

11 Calling a ravenous bird from the eaſt, the man

7 I form the light, and create darkneſs: I make peace, and create evil, &c.) Theſe words being directed to Cyrus, king of Perſia, muſt be underſtood as ſpoken to the Perſian ſet of the magians, who held light and darkneſs, good and evil, to be the ſupreme beings, without acknowledging the great God of heaven and earth, who is infinitely ſuperior to them both. In oppoſition to this opinion, the prophet inſtructs king Cyrus, that light and darkneſs, good and evil, are under the direction and diſpoſal of Almighty God.

15 Verily thou art a God that hideſt thyſelf, &c.) This paſſage alludes to the unſearchableneſs of God's counſels; and, accordingly, our firſt tranſlators at the reformation rendered the verſe in the following manner: O how profound art thou, the God and Saviour of Iſrael.

22 Be ye ſaved, all the ends of the earth, &c.) This relates to the calling, and eſpecially to the bringing in the fulneſs of the Gentiles at the end of the world.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVI.

1 Bel boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth, &c.) Two principal idols of the Babylonians. The images of theſe deities were carried in triumph by the Perſians as part of the ſpoil; as was common for conquerors to do in token of a complete victory.

6 They laviſh gold, &c.) The ſame argument againſt idolatry had been made uſe of before (chap. xl. 19, and xliv. 12) and it was proper to repeat it for the ſake of thoſe who were to live among the Babylonians, whoſe authority would powerfully recommend idolatry.

11 Calling a ravenous bird from the eaſt, &c.) By the ravenous bird is meant Cyrus, whom God is ſaid to have raiſed up from the eaſt. Conquerors who have over-run and ravaged whole countries are often compared to birds of prey.

that

that executeth my counſel from a far country: yea, I have ſpoken it, I alſo will bring it to paſs: I have purpoſed it, I will alſo do it.

12 Hearken unto me, ye ſtout-hearted, that are far from righteouſneſs.

13 I bring near my righteouſneſs; it ſhall not be far off; and my ſalvation ſhall not tarry: and I will place ſalvation in Zion for Iſrael my glory.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 God's judgments upon Babylon and Chaldea, 6 for their unmerciſulneſs, 7 pride, 10 and over-boldneſs.

COME down and ſit in the duſt, O virgin daughter of Babylon; ſit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called tender and delicate.

2 Take the milſtones, and grind meal: uncover thy locks, make bare the leg, uncover the thigh, paſs over the rivers.

3 Thy nakedneſs ſhall be uncovered, yea, thy ſhame ſhall be ſeen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man.

4 As for our Redeemer, the Lord of hoſts is his name, the Holy One of Iſrael.

5 Sit thou ſilent, and get thee into darkneſs, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called The lady of kingdoms.

6 ¶ I was wroth with my people; I have polluted mine inheritance, and given them into thine hand: thou didſt ſhew them no mercy; upon the ancient haſt thou very heavily laid thy yoke.

7 And thou ſaidſt, I ſhall be a lady for ever: ſo that thou didſt not lay theſe things to thy heart, neither didſt remember the latter end of it.

8 Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleaſures, that dwelleſt careleſsly; that ſayeſt in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſide me; I ſhall not ſit as a widow, neither ſhall I know the loſs of children:

9 But theſe two things ſhall come to thee in a moment, in one day, the loſs of children, and widowhood: they ſhall come upon thee in their perfection for the multitude of thy ſorceries, and for the great abundance of thine inchantments.

10 ¶ For thou haſt truſted in thy wickedneſs: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me. Thy wiſdom and thy knowledge it hath perverted thee; and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſide me.

11 Therefore ſhall evil come upon thee; thou ſhalt not know from whence it riſeth: and miſchief ſhall fall upon thee; thou ſhalt not be able to put it off: and deſolation ſhall come upon thee ſuddenly, which thou ſhalt not know.

12 Stand now with thine inchantments, and with the multitude of thy ſorceries, wherein thou haſt laboured from thy youth; if ſo be thou ſhalt be able to profit, if ſo be thou mayeſt prevail.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counſels. Let now the aſtrologers, the ſtar-gazers, the monthly prognoſticators, ſtand up and ſave thee from theſe things that ſhall come upon thee.

14 Behold, they ſhall be as ſtubble; the fire ſhall burn them; they ſhall not deliver themſelves from the power of the flame: there ſhall not be a coal to warm at, nor fire to ſit before it.

15 Thus ſhall they be unto thee with whom thou haſt laboured, even thy merchants, from thy youth: they ſhall wander every one to his quarter; none ſhall ſave thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 God, to convince the people of their obſtinacy, revealeth his prophecies. 12 He exhorteth them to obedience.

HEAR ye this, O houſe of Jacob, which are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah; which ſwear by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in truth nor in righteouſneſs.

2 For they call themſelves of the holy city, and ſtay themſelves upon the God of Iſrael: the Lord of hoſts is his name.

3 I have declared the former things from the beginning: and they went forth out of my mouth, and I ſhewed them; I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſs.

4 Becauſe I knew that thou art obſtinate, and thy neck is an iron ſinew, and thy brow braſs;

5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee; before it came to paſs I ſhewed it thee: leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, and my graven image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou haſt heard, ſee all this; and will not ye declare it? I have ſhewed thee new things from this time, even hidden things, and thou didſt not know them.

7 They are created now, and not from the beginning; even before the day when thou heardeſt them not; leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Behold, I knew them.

8 Yea, thou heardeſt not; yea, thou kneweſt not; yea, from that time that thine ear was not opened: for I knew that thou wouldeſt deal very treacherouſly, and waſt called a tranſgreſſor from the womb.

9 For my name's ſake will I defer mine anger, and for my praiſe will I refrain for thee that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I have refined thee, but not with ſilver: I have choſen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine own ſake, even for mine own ſake, will I do it: for how ſhould my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory unto another.

12 ¶ Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael my called: I am he: I am the firſt, I alſo am the laſt.

13 Mine hand alſo hath laid the foundation of the earth,

Commentary on Chap. XLVII.

2 Take the milſtones, and grind meal, &c.) Thou ſhalt be reduced from thy lofty ſeat as miſtreſs of kingdoms, to the loweſt ſituation of a ſlave; thy captives ſhall be forced to grind at the mill, the loweſt and moſt abject degree of drudgery.

9 Theſe two things, &c.) The Babylonians, being beſieged by Darius, in order to hold out to the laſt extremity, took all their women, and each man chuſing one of them, out of thoſe of his own family, whom he liked beſt, they ſtrangled the reſt, that unneceſſary mouths might not conſume their proviſions: and hereby was ſignally fulfilled this remarkable prophecy, viz. that the loſs of children and widowhood ſhould come upon them in one day:—In what greater perfection could theſe calamities come upon them, than when they themſelves thus became the executioners?

Commentary on Chap. XLVIII.

5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee; before it came to paſs I ſhewed it thee: leſt thou ſhouldſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, &c.) God ordained a ſucceſſion of prophets to foretel the moſt remarkable events which ſhould happen to the Jews, that they might not aſcribe the ſucceſs of any particular tranſaction to their idols: a ſuggeſtion their infidelity and obſtinacy might prompt them to alledge.

12, 13 Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael my called, &c.) This is an exhortation to the Jews to hearken to the voice of that God who had called their father Abraham from an idolatrous country and kindred to be his ſervant, and choſen his ſeed to be his peculiar people, and who alone is the Maker and Sovereign Lord of all things.

earth, and my right hand hath ſpanned the heavens: when I call unto them, they ſtand up together.

14 All ye, aſſemble yourſelves, and hear; which among them hath declared theſe things? The Lord hath loved him: he will do his pleaſure on Babylon, and his arm ſhall be on the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I, have ſpoken; yea, I have called him; I have brought him, and he ſhall make his way proſperous.

16 Come ye near unto me, hear ye this; I have not ſpoken in ſecret from the beginning: from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Lord God and his ſpirit hath ſent me.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Iſrael: I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt go.

18 O that thou hadſt hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteouſneſs as the waves of the ſea:

19 Thy ſeed alſo had been as the ſand, and the offſpring of thy bowels like the gravel thereof; his name ſhould not have been cut off, nor deſtroyed from before me.

20 Go ye forth of Babylon, flee ye from the Chaldeans; with a voice of ſinging declare ye, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth; ſay ye, The Lord hath redeemed his ſervant Jacob.

21 And they thirſted not when he led them through the deſerts: he cauſed the waters to flow out of the rock for them: he clave the rock alſo, and the waters guſhed out.

22 There is no peace, ſaith the Lord, unto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Chriſt being ſent to the Jews complaineth of them. 5 He is ſent to the Gentiles. 13 God's love to the church.

LISTEN, O iſles unto me; and hearken, ye people, from far; The Lord hath called me from the womb, from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a ſharp ſword, in the ſhadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a poliſhed ſhaft; in his quiver hath he hid me;

3 And ſaid unto me, Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified.

4 Then I ſaid, I have laboured in vain, I have ſpent my ſtrength for nought and in vain; yet ſurely my judgment is with the Lord, and my work with my God.

5 ¶ And now, ſaith the Lord that formed me from the womb to be his ſervant, to bring Jacob again to him, Though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God ſhall be my ſtrength.

6 And he ſaid, It is a light thing that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſervant to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and to reſtore the preſerved of Iſrael: I will alſo give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſalvation unto the end of the earth.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord, the Redeemer of Iſrael, and his Holy One, to him whom man deſpiſeth, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to a ſervant of rulers, kings ſhall ſee, and ariſe, princes alſo ſhall worſhip, becauſe of the Lord that is faithful, and the Holy One of Iſrael, and he ſhall chooſe thee.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord in an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of ſalvation have I helped thee: and I will preſerve thee and give thee for a covenant of the people, to eſtabliſh the earth, to cauſe to inherit the deſolate heritages;

9 That thou mayeſt ſay to the priſoners, Go forth; to them that are in darkneſs, Shew yourſelves. They ſhall feed in the ways, and their paſtures ſhall be in all high places.

10 They ſhall not hunger nor thirſt; neither ſhall the heat nor ſun ſmite them: for he that hath mercy on them ſhall lead them, even by the ſprings of water ſhall he guide them.

11 And I will make all my mountains a way, and my high-ways ſhall be exalted.

12 Behold theſe ſhall come from far; and, lo, theſe from the north and from the weſt; and theſe from the land of Sinim.

13 ¶ Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into ſinging, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

14 But Zion ſaid, The Lord hath forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child, that ſhe ſhould not have compaſſion on the ſon of her womb? yea, they may forget, yet I will not forget thee.

16 Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands; thy walls are continually before me.

17 Thy children ſhall make haſte; thy deſtroyers, and they that made thee waſte ſhall go forth of thee.

18 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all theſe gather themſelves together, and come to thee. As I live ſaith the Lord, thou ſhalt ſurely clothe thee with them all as with an ornament, and bind them on thee as a bride doeth.

19 For thy waſte and thy deſolate places, and the land of thy deſtruction, ſhall even now be too narrow by reaſon of the inhabitants, and they that ſwallowed thee up ſhall be far away.

20 The children which thou ſhalt have, after thou haſt loſt the other, ſhall ſay again in thine ears, The place is too ſtrait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine heart, Who hath begotten me theſe, ſeeing I have loſt my children, and am deſolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who hath brought up theſe? Behold, I was left alone; theſe, where had they been?

22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and ſet up my ſtandard to 22 There is no peace, ſaith the Lord, unto the wicked.) This ſentence alludes to the reproofs and exhortations before given in this chapter, and was intended as an admonition to the Jews, to make a good uſe of the bleſſings here promiſed, becauſe otherwiſe they had no reaſon to hope for any peace or proſperity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIX.

3 And ſaid unto me, Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified.) Theſe words can be applied to none but Chriſt, as the head and repreſentative of the church, the Iſrael of God, who was to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and reſtore the preſerved of Iſrael.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of ſalvation have I helped thee, &c.) The firſt publiſhing of the goſpel is that time which God thought proper to fix upon as a ſeaſon of mercy, according to his eternal decree. And therefore, when the fulneſs of time was come, God ſent his ſon into the world to be the mediator of that new covenant he then made both with the Jew and Gentile.

15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child? &c.) God is often deſcribed as bearing a fatherly affection towards his people; but here the compariſon is raiſed higher, and he ſpeaks of himſelf as having the ſame tenderneſs as a mother has for the fruit of her womb.

the people: and they ſhall bring thy ſons in their arms, and thy daughters ſhall be carried upon their ſhoulders.

23 And kings ſhall be thy nurſing-fathers, and their queens thy nurſing-mothers: they ſhall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and lick up the duſt of thy feet; and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord; for they ſhall not be aſhamed that wait for me.

24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty or the lawful captive delivered?

25 But thus ſaith the Lord, Even the captives of the mighty ſhall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible ſhall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will ſave thy children.

26 And I will feed them that oppreſs thee with their own fleſh, and they ſhall be drunken with their own blood as with ſweet wine: and all fleſh ſhall know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

CHAP. L.

1 Chriſt ſheweth the cauſe of the Jews' dereliction. 10 An exhortation to truſt in God, and not in ourſelves.

THUS ſaith the Lord, Where is the bill of your mother's divorcement whom I have put away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have ſold you? Behold, for your iniquities have ye ſold yourſelves, and for your tranſgreſſions is your mother put away.

2 Wherefore when I came, was there no man? when I called was there none to anſwer? is my hand ſhortened at all that it cannot redeem? or have I no power to deliver? behold, at my rebuke I dry up the ſea, I make the rivers a wilderneſs: their fiſh ſtinketh, becauſe there is no water, and dieth for thirſt.

3 I clothe the heavens with blackneſs, and I make ſackcloth their covering.

4 The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I ſhould know how to ſpeak a word in ſeaſon to him that is weary; he wakeneth morning by morning: he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away back.

6 I gave my back to the ſmiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from ſhame and ſpitting.

7 For the Lord God will help me; therefore ſhall I not be confounded: therefore have I ſet my face like a flint, and I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed.

8 He is near that juſtifieth me; who will contend with me? let us ſtand together: who is mine adverſary? let him come near to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will help me; who is he that ſhall condemn me? lo, they all ſhall wax old as a garment; the moth ſhall eat them up.

10 ¶ Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his ſervant, that walketh in darkneſs, and hath no light? let him truſt in the name of the Lord, and ſtay upon his God.

11 Behold, all ye that kindle a fire, that compaſs yourſelves about with ſparks: walk in the light of your fire, and in the ſparks that ye have kindled. This ſhall ye have of mine hand, ye ſhall lie down in ſorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 An exhortation after the pattern of Abraham, to truſt in Chriſt. 9 Chriſt defendeth his from fear.

HEARKEN to me, ye that follow after righteouſneſs, ye that ſeek the Lord: look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and bleſſed him, and increaſed him.

3 For the Lord ſhall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waſte places, and he will make her wilderneſs like Eden, and her deſert like the garden of the Lord: joy and gladneſs ſhall be found therein, thankſgiving, and the voice of melody.

4 Hearken unto me, my people, and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law ſhall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to reſt for a light of the people.

5 My righteouſneſs is near; my ſalvation is gone forth, and mine arms ſhall judge the people: the iſles ſhall wait upon me, and on mine arm ſhall they truſt.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath; for the heavens ſhall vaniſh away like ſmoke, and the earth ſhall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein ſhall die in like manner: but my ſalvation ſhall be for ever, and my righteouſneſs ſhall not be aboliſhed.

7 Hearken unto me, ye that know righteouſneſs, the people in whoſe heart is my law; fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings.

8 For the moth ſhall eat them up like a garment, and the worm ſhall eat them like wool: but my righteouſneſs ſhall be for ever, and my ſalvation from generation to generation.

9 ¶ Awake, awake, put on ſtrength, O arm of the Lord; awake, as in the ancient days, in the genera-

---

23 And kings ſhall be thy nurſing fathers, and their queens thy nurſing mothers, &c.) Cyrus, Artaxerxes, and other Perſian monarchs, ſhewed great kindneſs to the Jews, and queen Eſther ſaved the nation from utter deſtruction. But this prophecy was more remarkably fulfilled in the favour ſhewn to the church by Conſtantine and his mother Helen, and ſince by other Chriſtian monarchs, who have thought it their glory to promote religion, and defend it from every ſtorm.

COMMENTARY on Chap. L.

1 Where is the bill of your mother's divorcement, whom I have put away? &c.) The covenant which God made with his people is commonly repreſented by a marriage-contract; and, in alluſion to this notion, God demands of the captives, who deſpaired of his mercy, to produce the bill of divorce which he had given to their mother, being himſelf ready to receive her, whenever ſhe would return from her idolatries.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? &c.) Let thoſe who fear the Almighty God of Jacob, and readily obey all his precepts revealed to them by his ſervants the prophets, though their preſent circumſtances may be involved in the blackeſt night of affliction, without the leaſt ray of hope to chear and ſupport them, ſtill continue to rely upon God, who, in due time, will viſit them with light and ſalvation.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LI.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you, &c.) Remember your origin: you ſprung from Abraham and Sarah, when they were paſt the age of having children. It is therefore no difficulty to God to multiply their poſterity, however ſmall their number may be.

4 For a law ſhall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to reſt for a light of the people.) The latter part of this ſentence ſhould be rendered in the following manner: I will cauſe my judgment to break forth a light to the people. The law here mentioned by the prophet was ſuch as ſhould enlighten the moſt diſtant people, called in the following verſe the iſles; and therefore can be no other than the goſpel. This will evidently appear by comparing the paſſage with what is ſaid in chap. xlii. 4, 6, where it is ſaid that Chriſt ordained to be a light to the Gentiles, to ſet judgment upon the earth, and that the iſles ſhould wait for his law.

tions of old. Art thou not it that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art thou not it which hath dried the ſea, the waters of the great deep; that hath made the depths of the ſea a way for the ranſomed to paſs over?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord ſhall return, and come with ſinging unto Zion; and everlaſting joy ſhall be upon their head: they ſhall obtain gladneſs and joy; and ſorrow and mourning ſhall flee away.

12 I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou ſhouldeſt be afraid of a man that ſhall die, and of the ſon of man which ſhall be made as graſs;

13 And forgetteſt the Lord thy Maker, that hath ſtretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth; and haſt feared continually every day becauſe of the fury of the oppreſſor, as if he were ready to deſtroy? and where is the fury of the oppreſſor?

14 The captive exile haſteneth that he may be looſed, and that he ſhould not die in the pit, nor that his bread ſhould fail.

15 But I am the Lord thy God, that divided the ſea, whoſe waves roared: The Lord of hoſts is his name.

16 And I have put my words in thy mouth, and I have covered thee in the ſhadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and ſay unto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, ſtand up, O Jeruſalem, which haſt drunk at the hand of the Lord the cup of his fury: thou haſt drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the ſons whom ſhe hath brought forth; neither is there any that taketh her by the hand, of all the ſons that ſhe hath brought up.

19 Theſe two things are come unto thee; who ſhall be ſorry for thee? deſolation, and deſtruction, and the famine, and the ſword: by whom ſhall I comfort thee?

20 Thy ſons have fainted, they lie at the head of all the ſtreets as a wild bull in a net: they are full of the fury of the Lord, the rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine:

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord the Lord, and thy God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people, Behold I have taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my fury; thou ſhalt no more drink it again:

23 But I will put it into the hand of them that afflict thee; which have ſaid to thy ſoul, Bow down, that we may go over: and thou haſt laid thy body as the ground, and as the ſtreet, to them that went over.

CHAP. LII.

1 Chriſt perſuadeth the church to believe his free redemption, 7 to receive the miniſters thereof, 9 to joy in the power thereof.

AWAKE, awake, put on thy ſtrength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jeruſalem, the holy city; for henceforth there ſhall no more come into thee the uncircumciſed and the unclean.

2 Shake thyſelf from the duſt: ariſe, and ſit down, O Jeruſalem: looſe thyſelf from the bands of thy neck, O captive daughter of Zion.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye have ſold yourſelves for nought; and ye ſhall be redeemed without money.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God, My people went down aforetime into Egypt to ſojourn there; and the Aſſyrian oppreſſed them without cauſe.

5 Now therefore, what have I here, ſaith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought? they that rule over them make them to howl, ſaith the Lord; and my name continually every day is blaſphemed.

6 Therefore my people ſhall know my name: therefore they ſhall know in that day that I am he that doth ſpeak: behold, it is I.

7 ¶ How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publiſheth ſalvation; that ſaith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 Thy watchmen ſhall lift up the voice, with the voice together ſhall they ſing: for they ſhall ſee eye to eye when the Lord ſhall bring again Zion.

9 ¶ Break forth into joy, ſing together, ye waſte places of Jeruſalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jeruſalem.

10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſalvation of our God.

11 Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midſt of her; be ye clean, that bear the veſſels of the Lord.

12 For ye ſhall not go out with haſte, nor go by flight: for the Lord will go before you; and the God of Iſrael will be your rere-ward.

13 Behold, my ſervant ſhall deal prudently, he ſhall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.

16 I have put my words in thy mouth.) I have made thee my oracle; I have intruſted thee with the office of declaring my gracious promiſes to the righteous, and my threatnings to the wicked. This may in ſome ſenſe be underſtood of Iſaiah, but is chiefly meant of Chriſt.

That I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and ſay unto Zion, Thou art my people.) The prophet often expreſſes a political government by the ſeveral parts of the creation: and, according to this analogy, rulers and magiſtrates are denoted by the heavenly bodies, and inferior people by the earth. Now, if we conſider the paſſage in this metaphorical ſenſe, it imports, That God thought proper to publiſh theſe gracious promiſes by the miniſtry of Iſaiah, in order to reſtore the Jewiſh nation, and again ſettle them in a political ſociety, governed by their own laws. But the paſſage alſo implies a promiſe of that new ſtate of things called a new heaven, and a new earth, (chap. lxv. 17, lxvi. 22) wherein Chriſt will reward his ſervants, and wherein he himſelf will immediately preſide.

18 There is none to guide her among all the ſons whom ſhe hath brought forth, &c.) In this helpleſs and diſtracted condition, when ſupport and comfort are moſt neceſſary, none of her own children are able to give it her; and therefore it is from the Lord alone ſhe muſt expect relief.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LII.

2 Shake thyſelf from the duſt: ariſe, and ſit down, O Jeruſalem, &c.) The city of Jeruſalem, which the prophet had repreſented as lying in the duſt, and buried in her own ruins, (chap. xlvii. 1) is here exhorted to riſe from the ground, and ſit again on her throne as the mother city of all the Jewiſh nations.

7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, &c.) A poetical deſcription of the meſſenger who firſt brought the news of Cyrus's decree for the people's return, whom the watchmen (mentioned ver. 8) are ſuppoſed to diſcover at a great diſtance from the tops of the mountains, making all poſſible haſte to publiſh the happy news. This paſſage is very properly applied by St. Paul to the firſt preachers of the goſpel, (Rom. x. 15) the very words importing good tidings of peace and ſalvation, whereby the kingdom of God was founded among men.

13 Behold, my ſervant ſhall deal prudently, &c.) Or, as the margin has it, ſhall proſper. This prophecy can belong only to the Meſſiah, who is here, in an eminent ſenſe, called God's ſervant.

14 As many were astonished at thee; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men:

15 So shall he sprinkle many nations: the kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them shall they see, and that which they had not heard shall they consider.

CHAP. LIII.

1 The prophet excuseth the scandal of the cross, 4 by the benefit of Christ's passion, 10 and the good success thereof.

WHO hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

2 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness: and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

3 He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

4 ¶ Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way: and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 ¶ Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand:

11 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many: for he shall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

CHAP. LIV.

1 The amplitude of the Gentiles' church, 4 their safety, 6 their deliverance out of affliction, 11 their fair edification, 15 and sure preservation.

SING, O barren, thou that didst not bear; break forth into singing, and cry aloud, thou that didst not travail with child: for more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes;

3 For thou shalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited.

4 ¶ Fear not; for thou shalt not be ashamed: neither be thou confounded; for thou shalt not be put to shame: for thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood any more.

5 For thy Maker is thine husband; The Lord of hosts is his name: and thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: The God of the whole earth shall he be called.

6 ¶ For the Lord hath called thee as a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit, and a wife of youth, when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a small moment have I forsaken thee: but with great mercies will I gather thee.

8 In a little wrath I hid my face from thee for a moment; but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on thee, saith the Lord thy Redeemer.

---

14 As many were astonished at thee, &c.) The prophet means that surprise and astonishment which seized the people, on the unexpected change they observed in Christ's outward appearance at the time of his sufferings, and the strange alteration between him who was lately followed by multitudes with acclamations and hosannahs, and reverenced as the great prophet that should come into the world, and the same person suffering on the cross, and treated as the scorn of men, and the outcast of the people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LIII.

2 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground, &c.) The prophet here assigns the reason why the Jews rejected Christ, namely, the meanness of his outward appearance. The Messiah is elsewhere described under the similitude of a branch growing out of the stem or stock of David: but here he is resembled to a tender plant, and to a branch growing out of a dry ground, which appears withered, and does not promise either life or fruit. The word shooresh, rendered root by our translators, should have been translated branch or shoot.

5 The chastisement of our peace was upon him, &c.) He suffered those chastisements, by which our peace with the Almighty was wrought, and satisfaction made to the divine justice.

10 And the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.) The redemption of mankind is often called God's good pleasure, as being at once both highly acceptable to him, and the effect of his good pleasure and free grace.

12 And he shall divide the spoil with the strong, &c.) This expression alludes to the custom of conquerors in dividing the spoils of their victory with the officers and soldiers. So the blessed Jesus, after he had conquered the powers of darkness by his cross, ascended triumphantly into heaven, leading captivity captive, and distributing gifts unto men.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LIV.

1 Sing, O barren, thou that didst not bear, &c.) The prophet had before described Jerusalem during her captivity as a desolate woman forsaken by her husband, and bereaved of her children. Here he bids her rejoice, and comfort herself after her affliction, because her children should be much more numerous than they were even in her most flourishing condition. This cannot be literally spoken of the Jewish nation, which never made so noble a figure after the captivity, as in the days of David and Solomon; and therefore can only be understood of Jerusalem, as she is a type of the Christian church, who, after her great spouse, the Son of God, was taken from her by death, and she left in a disconsolate, forlorn condition, her children orphans, despairing and comfortless, yet from such mean and contemptible beginnings, she spread herself over the world, and will still receive a further enlargement, when the fulness of the Jews and Gentiles is come in.

7 For a small moment have I forsaken thee, &c.) God's anger towards his servants is short, when compared with that everlasting kindness he will shew towards them. The same rule holds true of the church in general, whose light afflictions are but for a moment, in comparison of that eternal glory he hath promised them: an earnest of which will be the millenium of rest; which is to usher in the heavenly state, and seems to be described in the following part of the chapter.

9 For this is as the waters of Noah unto me: for as I have ſworn that the waters of Noah ſhould no more go over the earth; ſo have I ſworn that I would not be wroth with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains ſhall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindneſs ſhall not depart from thee, neither ſhall the covenant of my peace be removed ſaith the Lord that hath mercy on thee.

11 ¶ Oh, thou afflicted, toſſed with tempeſt, and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy ſtones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with ſapphires.

12 And I will make thy windows of agates, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleaſant ſtones.

13 And all thy children ſhall be taught of the Lord, and great ſhall be the peace of thy children.

14 In righteouſneſs ſhalt thou be eſtabliſhed: thou ſhalt be far from oppreſſion; for thou ſhalt not fear; and from terror; for it ſhall not come near thee.

15 ¶ Behold, they ſhall ſurely gather together, but not by me: whoſoever ſhall gather together againſt thee ſhall fall for thy ſake.

16 Behold, I have created the ſmith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an inſtrument for his work; and I have created the waſter to deſtroy.

17 No weapon that is formed againſt thee ſhall proſper: and every tongue that ſhall riſe againſt thee in judgment thou ſhalt condemn. This is the heritage of the ſervants of the Lord, and their righteouſneſs is of me, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 The prophet with the promiſes of Chriſt calleth to faith, 6 and to repentance. 8 The happy ſtate of them that believe.

HO, every one that thirſteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat: yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.

2 Wherefore do ye ſpend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which ſatisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your ſoul delight itſelf in fatneſs.

3 Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your ſoul ſhall live: and I will make an everlaſting covenant with you, even the ſure mercies of David.

4 Behold, I have given him for a witneſs to the people, a leader and commander to the people.

5 Behold, thou ſhalt call a nation that thou knoweſt not, and nations that knew not thee ſhall run unto thee, becauſe of the Lord thy God, and for the Holy One of Iſrael; for he hath glorified thee:

6 ¶ Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.

7 Let the wicked forſake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

8 ¶ For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, ſaith the Lord.

9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth, ſo are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

10 For as the rain cometh down, and the ſnow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give ſeed to the ſower, and bread to the eater;

11 So ſhall my word be, that goeth forth out of my mouth: it ſhall not return unto me void, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I pleaſe, and it ſhall proſper in the thing whereto I ſent it.

12 For ye ſhall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills ſhall break forth before you into ſinging, and all the trees of the field ſhall clap their hands.

13 Inſtead of the thorn ſhall come up the fir-tree, and inſtead of the brier ſhall come up the myrtle-tree: and it ſhall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlaſting ſign that ſhall not be cut off.

CHAP. LVI.

1 The prophet exhorteth to ſanctification: 3 he promiſeth that it ſhall be general without reſpect of perſons. 9 He inveigheth againſt blind watchmen.

THUS ſaith the Lord, Keep ye judgment, and do juſtice: for my ſalvation is near to come, and my righteouſneſs to be revealed.

2 Bleſſed is the man that doeth this, and the ſon of man that layeth hold on it; that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing any evil.

---

9 As I have ſworn that the waters of Noah ſhould no more go over the earth, &c.) The ſolemn promiſe which God here makes muſt relate to ſome period of time, when God will not any more afflict his people: but this has never yet been accompliſhed; for though they returned from the Babyloniſh captivity, yet their whole nation and government were afterwards ruined by the Romans; ſo that this prophecy muſt relate to the future calling of the Jews, when they ſhall acknowledge our bleſſed Saviour for the Meſſiah, and return to their own land, and then the millenium ſhall begin.

11 Behold, I will lay thy ſtones with fair colours, &c.) The church of Chriſt and the ſociety of Antichriſt are, by St. John, in the Revelations, deſcribed as two cities, the latter called myſtical Babylon, and the former the new and heavenly Jeruſalem, to diſtinguiſh it from the earthly city of that name, and deſcribed as coming down from God, and adorned with all thoſe gifts and graces which can render it glorious and durable, and metaphorically repreſented under the figure of a ſquare, ſolid, and beautiful ſtructure, conſiſting of gold and precious ſtones.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LV.

1 Ho, every one that thirſteth, come ye to the waters, &c.) Divine grace is often repreſented under the ſimilitude of ſprings and ſtreams of water; and, in the ſame manner, divine knowledge, the food and ſupport of the ſoul, is repreſented under the metaphors of meat and drink, which ſuſtain the body, John vi 55. The prophet here exhorts men, under this metaphor, to make uſe of the means of inſtruction offered by the goſpel; and thus the words are expounded by Chriſt himſelf, John vii. 37.

3 And I will make an everlaſting covenant with you, even the ſure mercies of David.) The goſpel is often called an everlaſting covenant, in oppoſition to the law, which was deſigned to laſt only for a time, and to give way to a better: and, by the terms of this covenant, God will fulfil all thoſe promiſes which he had made to David of eſtabliſhing his throne for ever; which will be fulfilled in the Meſſiah, of whoſe kingdom there ſhall be no end.

12 For ye ſhall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace, &c.) This paſſage may particularly relate to the return of the Jews from captivity: but then we are to conſider their call out of Babylon as an emblem of a much greater deliverance, when God ſhall call men by the goſpel out of darkneſs into his marvellous light. And hence the Chriſtians are called a choſen generation and a peculiar people, whom God had ſeparated to himſelf from the reſt of the world.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LVI.

2 That keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, &c.) The ſabbath was ordained as a ſign or token of God's covenant with his people; and hence the obſervation of it became the diſtinguiſhing character of a Jew, by which he declared himſelf a worſhipper of the true God, who created heaven and earth, and inſtituted the ſabbath as a memorial of that creation.

3 Neither let the ſon of the ſtranger, that hath joined himſelf to the Lord, ſpeak, &c.) The ſtrangers were thoſe who joined themſelves with the Jews in worſhipping the true God, without being circumciſed, or obliging themſelves to obſerve the whole law of Moſes. Here God declares his acceptance of ſuch, preparing thereby a way for the goſpel-inſtitution, when the partition-wall between the Jews and Gentiles ſhould be broken down.

joined himſelf to the Lord, ſpeak, ſaying, The Lord hath utterly ſeparated me from his people: neither let the eunuch ſay, Behold, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the eunuchs that keep my ſabbaths, and chooſe the things that pleaſe me, and take hold of my covenant;

5 Even unto them will I give in mine houſe, and within my walls, a place and a name better than of ſons and of daughters: I will give them an everlaſting name that ſhall not be cut off.

6 Alſo the ſons of the ſtranger that join themſelves to the Lord, to ſerve him, and to love the name of the Lord, to be his ſervants, every one that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, and taketh hold of my covenant:

7 Even them will I bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my houſe of prayer: their burnt-offerings and their ſacrifices ſhall be accepted upon mine altar; for mine houſe ſhall be called An houſe of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God, which gathereth the outcaſts of Iſrael, ſaith, Yet will I gather others to him, beſides thoſe that are gathered unto him.

9 ¶ All ye beaſts of the field, come to devour; yea, all ye beaſts in the foreſt.

10 His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber.

11 Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are ſhepherds that cannot underſtand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain from his quarter.

12 Come ye, ſay they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill ourſelves with ſtrong drink; and to-morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant.

CHAP. LVII.

1 The bleſſed death of the righteous. 3 The Jews reproved for their whoriſh idolatry. 13 Evangelical promiſes to the penitent.

THE righteous periſheth, and no man layeth it to heart; and merciful men are taken away, none conſidering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come.

2 He ſhall enter into peace: they ſhall reſt in their beds, each one walking in his uprightneſs.

3 ¶ But draw near hither, ye ſons of the ſorcereſs, the ſeed of the adulterer, and the whore.

4 Againſt whom do ye ſport yourſelves? againſt whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? are ye not children of tranſgreſſion, a ſeed of falſhood,

5 Enflaming yourſelves with idols under every green tree, ſlaying the children in the vallies under the cliffs of the rocks?

6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream is thy portion; they, they are thy lot: even to them haſt thou poured a drink-offering, thou haſt offered a meat-offering. Should I receive comfort in theſe?

7 Upon a lofty and high mountain haſt thou ſet thy bed: even thither wenteſt thou up to offer ſacrifice.

8 Behind the doors alſo and the poſts haſt thou ſet up thy remembrance: for thou haſt diſcovered thyſelf to another than me, and art gone up; thou haſt enlarged thy bed, and made thee a covenant with them; thou lovedſt their bed where thou ſaweſt it.

9 And thou wenteſt to the king with ointment, and didſt increaſe thy perfumes, and didſt ſend thy meſſengers far off, and didſt debaſe thyſelf even unto hell.

10 Thou art wearied in the greatneſs of thy way; yet ſaidſt thou not, There is no hope: thou haſt found the life of thine hand; therefore thou waſt not grieved.

11 And of whom haſt thou been afraid or feared, that thou haſt lied, and haſt not remembered me, nor laid it to thy heart? have not I held my peace even of old, and thou feareſt me not?

12 I will declare thy righteouſneſs, and thy works; for they ſhall not profit thee.

13 ¶ When thou crieſt, let thy companies deliver thee: but the wind ſhall carry them all away: vanity ſhall take them: but he that putteth his truſt in me ſhall poſſeſs the land, and ſhall inherit my holy mountain;

14 And ſhall ſay, Caſt ye up, caſt ye up, prepare the way, take up the ſtumbling-block out of the way of my people.

15 For thus ſaith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whoſe name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him alſo that is of a contrite and humble ſpirit, to revive the ſpirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.

16 For I will not contend for ever, neither will I be always wroth, for the ſpirit ſhould fail before me, and the ſouls which I have made.

17 For the iniquity of his covetouſneſs was I wroth, and ſmote him: I hid me, and was wroth, and he went on frowardly in the way of his heart.

18 I have ſeen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him alſo, and reſtore comforts unto him, and to his mourners.

19 I create the fruit of the lips; Peace, peace to him that is far off, and to him that is near, ſaith the Lord; and I will heal him.

20 But the wicked are like the troubled ſea, when it cannot reſt, whoſe waters caſt up mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, ſaith my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 Hypocriſy is reproved. 8 The promiſes due to godlineſs, 13 and to the keeping of the ſabbath.

CRY aloud, ſpare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their tranſgreſſion, and the houſe of Jacob their ſins.

2 Yet they ſeek me daily, and delight to know my ways,

10 His watchmen are blind—they are all dumb dogs, &c.) The cauſe of theſe miſeries is imputed here to the ignorance and careleſneſs of their governors, both in church and ſtate, whom the prophet compares to dumb dogs, that give no warning of approaching enemies, that abandon themſelves to ſloth and idleneſs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LVII.

2 They ſhall reſt in their beds, &c.) As death is compared to ſleep, ſo the grave is reſembled to lying down in a bed; and, if we underſtand this text of the death of ſome of the good kings, the phraſe will allude to the coſtly funerals with which they honoured the memory of their pious princes after their deceaſe.

6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream is thy portion, &c.) Theſe words may allude to the altars built near the ſtreams of water, or to the ſtone pillars erected for idolatrous worſhip, which they uſed to anoint with oil, and pour out their drink-offerings upon them. They ſeem indeed to be the moſt ancient monuments of divine worſhip, and much older than the uſe of ſtatues; for we find that Jacob, in compliance with the then received practice, ſet up a pillar at Bethel, and poured oil upon it, Gen. xxviii. 18.

15 I dwell in the high and holy place, with him alſo that is of a contrite and humble ſpirit, &c.) Though my throne be in heaven, yet I do not diſdain to converſe with the lowly and meek; and I will relieve and comfort in their afflictions thoſe who humble themſelves under my hand.

ways, as a nation that did righteouſneſs, and forſook not the ordinance of their God; they aſk of me the ordinances of juſtice; they take delight in approaching to God.

3 Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not? wherefore have we afflicted our ſoul, and thou takeſt no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your faſt ye find pleaſure, and exact all your labours.

4 Behold, ye faſt for ſtrife and debate, and to ſmite with the fiſt of wickedneſs; ye ſhall not faſt as ye do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high.

5 Is it ſuch a faſt that I have choſen? a day for a man to afflict his ſoul? is it to bow down his head as a bulruſh, and to ſpread ſackcloth and aſhes under him? wilt thou call this a faſt, and an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the faſt that I have choſen? to looſe the bands of wickedneſs, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppreſſed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

7 Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are caſt out to thy houſe: when thou ſeeſt the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyſelf from thine own fleſh.

8 ¶ Then ſhall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health ſhall ſpring forth ſpeedily: and thy righteouſneſs ſhall go before thee: the glory of the Lord ſhall be thy rereward:

9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the Lord ſhall anſwer: thou ſhalt cry and he ſhall ſay, Here I am. If thou take away from the midſt of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and ſpeaking vanity;

10 And if thou draw out thy ſoul to the hungry, and ſatisfy the afflicted ſoul: then ſhall thy light riſe in obſcurity, and thy darkneſs be as the noon-day:

11 And the Lord ſhall guide thee continually, and ſatisfy thy ſoul in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden, and like a ſpring of water whoſe waters fail not.

12 And they that ſhall be of thee ſhall build the old waſte places: thou ſhalt raiſe up the foundations of many generations: and thou ſhalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The reſtorer of paths to dwell in.

13 ¶ If thou turn away thy foot from the ſabbath, from doing thy pleaſure on my holy day; and call the ſabbath a Delight; the Holy of the Lord, Honourable; and ſhalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleaſure, nor ſpeaking thine own words:

14 Then ſhalt thou delight thyſelf in the Lord; and I will cauſe thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The damnable nature of ſin. 9 Calamity is for ſin. 16 Salvation is only of God. 20 The covenant of the Redeemer.

BEHOLD, the Lord's hand is not ſhortened, that it cannot ſave; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear:

2 But your iniquities have ſeparated between you and your God, and your ſins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have ſpoken lies, your tongue hath muttered perverſeneſs.

4 None calleth for juſtice, nor any pleadeth for truth: they truſt in vanity, and ſpeak lies; they conceive miſchief, and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch cockatrice-eggs, and weave the ſpider's web: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is cruſhed breaketh out into a viper.

6 Their webs ſhall not become garments, neither ſhall they cover themſelves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haſte to ſhed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; waſting and deſtruction are in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths; whoſoever goeth therein ſhall not know peace.

9 ¶ Therefore is judgment far from us, neither doth juſtice overtake us: we wait for light, but behold obſcurity; for brightneſs, but we walk in darkneſs.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we ſtumble at noon-day as in the night; we are in deſolate places as dead men.

11 We roar all like bears, and mourn ſore like doves: we look for judgment, but there is none; for ſalvation, but it is far off from us.

12 For our tranſgreſſions are multiplied before thee, and our ſins teſtify againſt us: for our tranſgreſſions are with us; and as for our iniquities, we know them:

13 In tranſgreſſing and lying againſt the Lord, and departing away from our God, ſpeaking oppreſſion and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falſehood.

14 And judgment is turned away backward, and juſtice ſtandeth afar off: for truth is fallen in the ſtreet, and equity cannot enter.

15 Yea, truth faileth; and he that departeth from evil maketh himſelf a prey: and the Lord ſaw it, and it diſpleaſed him that there was no judgment.

16 ¶ And he ſaw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no interceſſor; therefore his arm brought ſalvation unto him, and his righteouſneſs it ſuſtained him.

17 For he put on righteouſneſs as a breaſt-plate, and an helmet of ſalvation upon his head; and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a cloak.

18 According to their deeds, accordingly he will re-

COMMENTARY on Chap. LVIII.

11 And the Lord ſhall guide thee continually, and ſatisfy thy ſoul in drought, &c.) Drought is uſed to ſignify any ſort of want; becauſe dry ground is barren, and deſtitute of all convenience for the ſupport of life.

13 If thou turn away thy foot, &c.) The foot is metaphorically put for labour: this expreſſion ſeems to ſignify, If thou refrain from all ſervile work on the ſabbath-day.

From doing thy pleaſure, &c.) As feaſtings and rejoicings were eſſential to the ſabbath at this time, it is here intimated they were carried to a ſinful exceſs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LIX.

5 They hatch cockatrice eggs, and weave the ſpider's web, &c.) Their miſchievous deſigns are like cockatrice eggs, which are rank poiſon in themſelves, and when hatched produce a venomous ſerpent: the meaning of weaving the ſpider's web is, they bury themſelves in making nets to entrap others.

16 And he ſaw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no interceſſor: therefore his arm brought ſalvation unto him, &c.) When the people were arrived at this height of impiety, the Almighty reſolved himſelf to exert his power for delivering the righteous, purely to vindicate his own honour, and perform his promiſes.

pay

pay, fury to his adverſaries, recompence to his enemies; to the iſlands he will repay recompence.

19 So ſhall they fear the name of the Lord from the weſt, and his glory from the riſing of the ſun: when the enemy ſhall come in like a flood, the ſpirit of the Lord ſhall lift up a ſtandard againſt him.

20 ¶ And the Redeemer ſhall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from tranſgreſſion in Jacob, ſaith the Lord.

21 As for me, this is my covenant with them, ſaith the Lord; My ſpirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed's ſeed, ſaith the Lord, from henceforth and for ever.

CHAP. LX.

1 The glory of the church in the abundant acceſs of the Gentiles, 15 and the great bleſſings after a ſhort affliction.

ARISE, ſhine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee.

2 For behold, the darkneſs ſhall cover the earth, and groſs darkneſs the people: but the Lord ſhall ariſe upon thee, and his glory ſhall be ſeen upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles ſhall come to thy light, and kings to the brightneſs of thy riſing.

4 Lift up thine eyes round about and ſee: all they gather themſelves together, they come to thee: thy ſons ſhall come from far, and thy daughters ſhall be nurſed at thy ſide.

5 Then thou ſhalt ſee and flow together; and thine heart ſhall fear, and be enlarged; becauſe the abundance of the ſea ſhall be converted unto thee, the forces of the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee.

6 The multitude of the camels ſhall cover thee, the dromedaries of Midian and Ephah: all they from Sheba ſhall come: they ſhall bring gold and incenſe: and they ſhall ſhew forth the praiſes of the Lord.

7 All the flocks of Kedar ſhall be gathered together unto thee, the rams of Nebaioth ſhall miniſter unto thee: they ſhall come up with acceptance on mine altar, and I will glorify the houſe of my glory.

8 Who are theſe that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows?

9 Surely the iſles ſhall wait for me, and the ſhips of Tarſhiſh firſt, to bring thy ſons from far, their ſilver and their gold with them, unto the name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy One of Iſrael becauſe he hath glorified thee.

10 And the ſons of ſtrangers ſhall build up thy walls, and their kings ſhall miniſter unto thee: for in my wrath I ſmote thee, but in my favour have I had mercy on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates ſhall be open continually; they ſhall not be ſhut day nor night; that men may bring unto thee the forces of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and kingdom that will not ſerve thee ſhall periſh: yea, thoſe nations ſhall be utterly waſted.

13 The glory of Lebanon ſhall come unto thee, the fir-tree, the pine-tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my ſanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious.

14 The ſons alſo of them that afflicted thee, ſhall come bending unto thee, and all they that deſpiſed thee ſhall bow themſelves down at the ſoles of thy feet; and they ſhall call thee, The city of the Lord, The Zion of the Holy One of Iſrael.

15 ¶ Whereas thou haſt been forſaken and hated, ſo that no man went through thee, I will make thee an eternal excellency, a joy of many generations.

16 Thou ſhalt alſo ſuck the milk of the Gentiles, and ſhalt ſuck the breaſt of kings: and thou ſhalt know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 For braſs I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring ſilver, and for wood braſs, and for ſtones iron: I will alſo make thy officers peace, and thine exactors righteouſneſs.

18 Violence ſhall no more be heard in thy land waſting nor deſtruction within thy borders; but thou ſhalt call thy walls Salvation and thy gates Praiſe.

19 The ſun ſhall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightneſs ſhall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord ſhall be unto thee an everlaſting light, and thy God thy glory.

20 Thy ſun ſhall no more go down; neither ſhall thy moon withdraw itſelf: for the Lord ſhall be thine everlaſting light, and the days of thy mourning ſhall be ended:

21 Thy people alſo ſhall be all righteous: they ſhall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one ſhall become a thouſand, and a ſmall one a ſtrong nation. I the Lord will haſten it in his time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 The office of Chriſt. 4 The forwardneſs, 6 and bleſſings of the faithful.

21 My ſpirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, &c.) This muſt be underſtood of Chriſt, the great prophet and oracle of the church, who came down from heaven to declare unto us the whole counſel of God, and whom we are to hear and obey in all things.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LX.

1 Ariſe, ſhine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee.) It is common for the prophets to deſcribe happineſs under the metaphor of light, and affliction under that of darkneſs. Accordingly, Jeruſalem is here bidden to riſe from the ground or duſt, where her afflictions had lain her low, and, like the morning ſtar or ſun, to give light to all around her, and communicate to others part of that honour and luſtre which ſhe hath received from God, the true Sun of righteouſneſs. The prophet in this chapter has deſcribed the glories of Chriſt's kingdom, which began upon the firſt publication of the goſpel, but will not be completed 'till the fulneſs of the Jews and Gentiles are come into the church.

11 Therefore thy gates ſhall be open continually, &c.) It is a ſure ſign of a ſettled peace, and that there is no fear of an enemy, when the gates of a city ſtand continually open. But we are alſo to underſtand by this phraſe, that the concourſe of people will be too great to admit of the gates being ever ſhut.

12 For the nation and kingdom that will not ſerve thee, ſhall periſh, &c.) This muſt relate to the latter days, as the ſcripture calls them, when the church ſhall become a great mountain, and break in pieces all the kingdoms of the earth, according to the prophecy of Daniel; and then the faithful ſhall have power over the nations, and rule the refractory with a rod of iron, Rev. ii. 26, 27.

19, 20 The ſun ſhall be no more thy light, &c.) The favour of the Almighty, and the light of thy countenance, ſhall give the greater comfort, and ſhine upon thee with a greater luſtre, than the light of the ſun and moon: a promiſe that will be fulfilled in the new Jeruſalem, where there ſhall be no viciſſitudes of day and night, for the glory of God and of the Lamb are the light thereof, Rev. xxi. 22, xxii. 26. Nor ſhall there be any more ſorrow or affliction, which are often repreſented by darkneſs, and the ſun and moon withdrawing themſelves.

THE

THE ſpirit of the Lord God is upon me; becauſe the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek: he hath ſent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the priſon to them that are bound;

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn;

3 To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for aſhes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praiſe for the ſpirit of heavineſs; that they might be called Trees of righteouſneſs, The planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 ¶ And they ſhall build the old waſtes, they ſhall raiſe up the former deſolations, and they ſhall repair the waſte cities, the deſolations of many generations.

5 And ſtrangers ſhall ſtand and feed your flocks, and the ſons of the alien ſhall be your plowmen and your vine-dreſſers.

6 But ye ſhall be named the Prieſts of the Lord: men ſhall call you the Miniſters of our God: ye ſhall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory ſhall ye boaſt yourſelves.

7 ¶ For your ſhame ye ſhall have double, and for confuſion they ſhall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they ſhall poſſeſs the double; everlaſting joy ſhall be unto them.

8 For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt-offering; and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlaſting covenant with them.

9 And their ſeed ſhall be known among the Gentiles, and their offſpring among the people: all that ſee them ſhall acknowledge them, that they are the ſeed which the Lord hath bleſſed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my ſoul ſhall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of ſalvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteouſneſs, as a bridegroom decketh himſelf with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herſelf with her jewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden cauſeth the things that are ſown in it to ſpring forth; ſo the Lord God will cauſe righteouſneſs and praiſe to ſpring forth before all the nations.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The prophet's fervent deſire to confirm the church in God's promiſes. 6 The miniſters' office in preaching the goſpel.

FOR Zion's ſake will I not hold my peace, and for Jeruſalem's ſake I will not reſt, until the righteouſneſs thereof go forth as brightneſs, and the ſalvation thereof as a lamp that burneth.

2 And the Gentiles ſhall ſee thy righteouſneſs, and all kings thy glory: and thou ſhalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord ſhall name.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo be a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God.

4 Thou ſhalt no more be termed, Forſaken; neither ſhall thy land any more be termed, Deſolate; but thou ſhalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah; for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land ſhall be married.

5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin, ſo ſhall thy ſons marry thee: and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, ſo ſhall thy God rejoice over thee.

6 ¶ I have ſet watchmen upon thy walls, O Jeruſalem, which ſhall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not ſilence.

7 And give him no reſt till he eſtabliſh, and till he make Jeruſalem a praiſe in the earth.

8 The Lord hath ſworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his ſtrength, Surely I will no more give thy corn to be meat for thine enemies: and the ſons of the ſtranger ſhall not drink thy wine for the which thou haſt laboured:

9 But they that have gathered it ſhall eat it, and praiſe the Lord; and they that have brought it together ſhall drink it in the courts of my holineſs.

10 ¶ Go through, go through the gates; prepare ye the way of the people: caſt up, caſt up the high-way; gather out the ſtones; lift up a ſtandard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the world, Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Behold, thy ſalvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.

12 And they ſhall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord: and thou ſhalt be called, Sought out, A city not forſaken.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 Chriſt ſheweth who he is, 2 what his victory over his enemies, 7 and what his mercy toward his church.

WHO is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength? I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave.

2 ¶ Wherefore art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine-fat?

3 I have trodden the wine-preſs alone; and of the people there was none with me; for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury; and their blood ſhall be ſprinkled upon my garments, and I will ſtain all my raiment.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LXI.

1 The ſpirit of the Lord God is upon me; becauſe the Lord hath anointed me, &c.) Anointing implies ſome extraordinary gifts of grace beſtowed upon man by the Almighty, becauſe the three great offices of king, prieſt, and prophet, were conferred by this ceremony. The deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon our Bleſſed Saviour ſupplied this external unction, and qualified him for the office of a prophet, beyond all others that were before him, and in this reſpect he was anointed with the oil of gladneſs above his fellows.

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, &c.) This is ſpoken in alluſion to the proclaiming the year of the jubilee, which was done by the ſound of the trumpet, when there was a general releaſe of all manner of ſervitude, debts, and obligations: a type of that freedom which Chriſt hath purchaſed for us.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LXII.

1 For Zion's ſake will I not hold my peace, and for Jeruſalem's ſake I will not reſt, &c.) The prophet here ſpeaks in the perſon of the Meſſiah, and declares that he will never ceaſe interceding with God, 'till the redemption of Iſrael be accompliſhed.

10 Go through the gates; prepare ye the way of the people, &c.) The prophet, relying upon the oath of the Almighty, ſpeaks of the general reſtoration of the Jews, as if it was then performing; and exhorts thoſe nations, through whoſe territories they were to paſs in their return to their own land, to repair the roads for them, and leave the rough and ſtony places, ſignifying, by this metaphor, the removal of all obſtacles that might hinder their return.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LXIII.

1 I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave.) The anſwer made by Chriſt to the foregoing queſtion, I am now come to fulfil all my promiſes, and deliver you from your enemies. Several parts of the prophetic writings are written in the form of a dramatic poem, where different perſons are introduced, ſpeaking by turns, and anſwering one another. This obſervation will often account for the altering the prophet's ſtile from the firſt to the ſecond or third perſon.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the year of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to help: and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought salvation unto me; and my fury it upheld me.

6 And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their strength to the earth.

7 ¶ I will mention the loving-kindnesses of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us; and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them, according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving-kindnesses.

8 For he said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Saviour.

9 In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then he remembered the days of old, Moses, and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them up out of the sea, with the shepherd of his flock? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 That led them by the right hand of Moses, with his glorious arm dividing the water before them, to make himself an everlasting name?

13 That led them through the deep, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble?

14 As a beast goeth down into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord caused him to rest: so didst thou lead thy people to make thyself a glorious name.

15 Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of thy holiness and of thy glory: where is thy zeal and thy strength, the sounding of thy bowels, and of thy mercies toward me? are they restrained?

16 Doubtless thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our Father, our Redeemer; thy name is from everlasting.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made us to err from thy ways, and hardened our heart from thy fear? Return for thy servants' sake, the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thy holiness have possessed it but a little while: our adversaries have trodden down thy sanctuary.

19 We are thine: thou never bearest rule over them; they were not called by thy name.

CHAP. LXIV.

1 The church prayeth for the illustration of God's power, 9 and complaineth of affliction.

OH that thou wouldest rend the heavens, that thou wouldest come down, that the mountains might flow down at thy presence.

2 As when the melting fire burneth, the fire causeth the waters to boil, to make thy name known to thine adversaries, that the nations may tremble at thy presence!

3 When thou didst terrible things which we looked not for, thou camest down, the mountains flowed down at thy presence!

4 For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, besides thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou meetest him that rejoiceth, and worketh righteousness, those that remember thee in thy ways: behold, thou art wroth; for we have sinned: in those is continuance, and we shall be saved.

6 But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf: and our iniquities like the wind have taken us away.

7 And there is none that calleth upon thy name, that stirreth up himself to take hold of thee; for thou hast hid thy face from us, and hast consumed us, because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we all are the work of thy hand.

9 ¶ Be not wroth very sore, O Lord, neither remember iniquity for ever: behold, see, we beseech thee, we are all thy people.

10 Thy holy cities are a wilderness, Zion is a wilderness, Jerusalem a desolation.

11 Our holy and our beautiful house, where our fathers praised thee, is burned up with fire: and all our pleasant things are laid waste.

12 Wilt thou refrain thyself for these things, O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace, and afflict us very sore?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The Gentiles called, and the Jews rejected. 17 The blessed state of the new Jerusalem.

I AM sought of them that asked not for me; I am found of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, unto a nation that was not called by my name.

2 I have spread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, which walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts;

3 A people that provoketh me to anger continually to my face; that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense upon altars of brick;

4 Which remain among the graves, and lodge in the monuments; which eat swine's flesh, and broth of abominable things is in their vessels;

9 And the angel of his presence saved them, &c.) The angel who conducted them by the cloud and a pillar of fire, was no other than the Logos, or second person of the Blessed Trinity; for tho' the divine person is sometimes called an angel, he has at others the incommunicable name of Jehovah given to him; it being said expressly, that the Lord went before the people in a pillar of cloud by day, and of fire by night.

19 We are thine, thou never barest rule over them, &c.) The words might have been better translated, We are thine of old, thou hast not ruled over them, &c. That is, thou art called the God of Abraham from ancient times; and therefore we humbly implore thee not to cast us off utterly, whilst thou makest thyself known to the Gentiles, who, 'till lately, never were thy people, nor in covenant with thee.

Commentary on Chap. LXIV.

1 Oh that thou wouldst rent the heavens, that thou wouldst come down, &c.) The prayer, begun in the fifteenth verse of the foregoing chapter, is continued to the end of this, in the name of the church and people of the Jews, who are represented as languishing and disconsolate under the long dejection they had suffered. The chapter begins with an earnest wish that God would shew himself visibly in favour of his people, as he did when he came down upon mount Sinai.

10 Thy holy cities are a wilderness, &c.) By holy cities, in the plural number, may be meant Zion and Jerusalem, as they are sometimes divided into the upper and lower city. And grammarians observe that the word Jerusalem is in the dual number in the Hebrew, because it was divided into two parts.

5 Which ſay, Stand by thyſelf, come not near to me; for I am holier than thou. Theſe are a ſmoke in my noſe, a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before me: I will not keep ſilence, but will recompenſe, even recompenſe into their boſom.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together, ſaith the Lord, which have burned incenſe upon the mountains, and blaſphemed me upon the hills: therefore will I meaſure their former work into their boſom.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord, As the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, Deſtroy it not; for a bleſſing is in it: ſo will I do for my ſervants' ſakes, that I may not deſtroy them all.

9 And I will bring forth a ſeed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains; and mine elect ſhall inherit it, and my ſervants ſhall dwell there.

10 And Sharon ſhall be a fold of flocks, and the valley of Achor a place for the herds to lie down in, for my people that have ſought me.

11 But ye are they that forſake the Lord, that forget my holy mountain, that prepare a table for that troop, and that furniſh the drink-offering unto that number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the ſword, and ye ſhall all bow down to the ſlaughter: becauſe when I called, ye did not anſwer; when I ſpake, ye did not hear; but did evil before mine eyes, and did chooſe that wherein I delighted not.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, my ſervants ſhall eat, but ye ſhall be hungry: behold, my ſervants ſhall drink, but ye ſhall be thirſty: behold, my ſervants ſhall rejoice, but ye ſhall be aſhamed:

14 Behold, my ſervants ſhall ſing for joy of heart, but ye ſhall cry for ſorrow of heart, and ſhall howl for vexation of ſpirit.

15 And ye ſhall leave your name for a curſe unto my choſen: for the Lord God ſhall ſlay thee, and call his ſervants by another name:

16 That he who bleſſed himſelf in the earth, ſhall bleſs himſelf in the God of truth, and he that ſweareth in the earth, ſhall ſwear by the God of truth; becauſe the former troubles are forgotten, and becauſe they are hid from mine eyes.

17 ¶ For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former ſhall not be remembered, nor come into mind.

18 But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for behold, I create Jeruſalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy.

19 And I will rejoice in Jeruſalem, and joy in my people: and the voice of weeping ſhall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying.

20 There ſhall be no more thence an infant of days, nor an old man that hath not filled his days: for the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner, being an hundred years old ſhall be accurſed.

21 And they ſhall build houſes, and inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

22 They ſhall not build and another inhabit: they ſhall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree are the days of my people, and mine elect ſhall long enjoy the work of their hands.

23 They ſhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth for trouble: for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their offſpring with them.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that before they call, I will anſwer: and while they are yet ſpeaking, I will hear.

25 The wolf and the lamb ſhall feed together, and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the bullock: and duſt ſhall be the ſerpent's meat. They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God will be ſerved in humble ſincerity. 5 The humble comforted. 15 God's judgments againſt the wicked.

THUS ſaith the Lord, The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footſtool: where is the houſe that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my reſt?

2 For all thoſe things hath mine hand made, and all thoſe things have been, ſaith the Lord: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor, and of a contrite ſpirit, and trembleth at my word.

3 He that killeth an ox, is as if he ſlew a man; he that ſacrificeth a lamb, as if he cut off a dog's neck; he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwine's blood; he that burneth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idol: yea, they have choſen their own ways, and their ſoul delighteth in their abominations.

4 I alſo will chooſe their deluſions, and will bring their fears upon them; becauſe when I called, none did anſwer; when I ſpake, they did not hear: but they did evil before mine eyes, and choſe that in which I delighted not.

5 ¶ Hear the word of the Lord, ye that tremble at his word; Your brethren that hated you, that caſt you out for my name's ſake, ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified: but he ſhall appear to your joy, and they ſhall be aſhamed.

6 A voice of noiſe from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of the Lord that rendereth recompence to his enemies.

7 Before ſhe travailed, ſhe brought forth; before her pain came, ſhe was delivered of a man-child.

8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing? who hath ſeen ſuch things? Shall the earth be made to bring forth in one day? or ſhall a nation be born at once? for as ſoon as Zion travailed ſhe brought forth her children.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LXV.

8 As the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, Deſtroy it not, &c.) As a few good grapes are found in a cluſter of bad ones, and one ſpeaketh to another that would pluck it from the vine, to ſpare it, becauſe ſome of the grapes may come to good: ſo I will not deſtroy the whole nation of the Jews, for the ſake of a few righteous perſons that ſpring out from among the reſt.

20 For the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner being an hundred years old ſhall be accurſed.) This paſſage may be more plainly rendered in the following manner: For he that dies an hundred years old, ſhall die a child; and the ſinner that dies an hundred years old, ſhall be accurſed. The prophet deſcribes this renovation of the world as a paradiſical ſtate, and ſuch as the patriarchs enjoyed before the flood, when men commonly lived near a thouſand years. So that he who died at an hundred years of age would have been conſidered as dying in the age of childhood, and looked upon as cut off in the beginning of his years, as a puniſhment for ſome enormous ſins he had been guilty of.

25 Duſt ſhall be the ſerpent's meat, &c.) The curſe pronounced upon the ſerpent ſhall be then fully accompliſhed; Chriſt having put all enemies under his feet, eſpecially the devil, who is the head of them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. LXVI.

7 Before ſhe travailed, ſhe brought forth, &c.) This denotes the ſudden increaſe of the Chriſtian church, upon God's rejecting the Jews, and deſtroying their temple and worſhip; the very deſtruction of the Jewiſh polity making way for the growth of the goſpel, inaſmuch as it abated that oppoſition which the Jewiſh zealots all along gave to the ſpreading of it.

9 Shall I bring to the birth, and not cauſe to bring forth? ſaith the Lord: ſhall I cauſe to bring forth, and ſhut the womb? ſaith thy God.

10 Rejoice ye with Jeruſalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all ye that mourn for her;

11 That ye may ſuck, and be ſatisfied with the breaſts of her conſolations; that ye may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing ſtream: then ſhall ye ſuck, ye ſhall be borne upon her ſides, and be dandled upon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you; and ye ſhall be comforted in Jeruſalem.

14 And when ye ſee this your heart ſhall rejoice, and your bones ſhall flouriſh like an herb; and the hand of the Lord ſhall be known toward his ſervants, and his indignation toward his enemies.

15 For, behold, the Lord will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire.

16 For by fire and by his ſword will the Lord plead with all fleſh: and the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be many.

17 They that ſanctify themſelves, and purify themſelves in the gardens, behind one tree in the midſt, eating ſwines fleſh, and the abomination, and the mouſe, ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the Lord.

18 For I know their works and their thoughts: it ſhall come that I will gather all nations and tongues: and they ſhall come and ſee my glory.

19 And I will ſet a ſign among them: and I will ſend thoſe that eſcape of them unto the nations, to Tarſhiſh, Pul, and Lud, that draw the bow, to Tubal and Javan, to the iſles afar off, that have not heard my fame, neither have ſeen my glory; and they ſhall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord, out of all nations, upon horſes, and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon ſwift beaſts, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the Lord, as the children of Iſrael bring an offering in a clean veſſel into the houſe of the Lord.

21 And I will alſo take of them for prieſts and for Levites, ſaith the Lord.

22 For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, ſhall remain before me, ſaith the Lord, ſo ſhall your ſeed and your name remain.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs, that from one new moon to another, and from one ſabbath to another, ſhall all fleſh come to worſhip before me, ſaith the Lord.

24 And they ſhall go forth, and look upon the carcaſes of the men that have tranſgreſſed againſt me. For their worm ſhall not die, neither ſhall their fire be quenched: and they ſhall be an abhorring unto all fleſh.

17 Behind one tree in the midſt, &c.) The Hebrew has it, They who ſanctified themſelves, and purified themſelves in the gardens, behind the temple of Adad, i. e. the ſun.

19 Tarſhiſh, Pul, and Lud, &c.) Tarſhiſh denotes the eaſtern parts, Pul and Lud the ſouthern, Tubal and Javan the northern, and the iſles the weſtern.

24 They ſhall go forth, &c.) Without the cities of the new Jeruſalem, or the camp of the ſaints, and look upon the carcaſſes of thoſe enemies of God that were ſlain in the battle, mentioned v. 16.

THE

THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET

JEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Jeremiah was of the race of the prieſts, the ſon of Hilkiah, of Anathoth, in the tribe of Benjamin. He was called to the prophetic office when he was very young, about the thirteenth year of Joſiah, and continued in the diſcharge of it above forty years. He was not carried captive to Babylon with the other Jews, but remained in Judea to lament the deſolation of his country. He was afterwards a priſoner in Egypt, with his diſciple Baruch, where it is ſuppoſed he died in a very advanced age.

CHAP. I.

1 The calling of Jeremiah. 11 His viſion. 15 His meſſage againſt Judah. 17 God promiſeth to aſſiſt him.

THE words of Jeremiah the ſon of Hilkiah, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin;

2 To whom the word of the Lord came in the days of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign.

3 It came alſo in the days of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive in the fifth month.

4 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee; and before thou cameſt forth out of the womb, I ſanctified thee, and I ordained thee a prophet unto the nations.

6 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God! behold, I cannot ſpeak: for I am a child.

7 But the Lord ſaid unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhall ſend thee, and whatſoever I command thee thou ſhalt ſpeak.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord put forth his hand and touched my mouth. And the Lord ſaid unto me, Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth.

10 See, I have this day ſet thee over the nations and over the kingdoms to root out, and to pull down, and to deſtroy, and to throw down; to build and to plant.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, Jeremiah, what ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a rod of an almond-tree.

12 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, Thou haſt well ſeen: for I will haſten my word to perform it.

13 And the word of the Lord came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying, What ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a ſeething-pot, and the face thereof is toward the north.

14 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, Out of the north an evil ſhall break forth upon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For, lo, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, ſaith the Lord; and they ſhall come, and they ſhall ſet every one his throne at the entering of the gates of Jeruſalem, and againſt all the walls thereof round about, and againſt all the cities of Judah.

16 And I will utter my judgments againſt them touching all their wickedneſs, who have forſaken me, and have burned incenſe unto other gods, and worſhipped the works of their own hands.

17 ¶ Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and ariſe, and ſpeak unto them all that I command thee: be not diſmayed at their faces, leſt I confound thee before them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

3 Unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive in the fifth month.) The Jews underwent ſeveral captivities before their final deſolation. The firſt was when Jehoiachim was carried away captive in the eighth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar. There was another captivity in the eighteenth year of his reign. After which followed, in the next year, that captivity which accompanied the deſtruction of the temple and city of Jeruſalem, in the fifth month.

4 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying.) This ſeems to have been a viſible appearance of the divine majeſty, performed by the ſecond perſon in the Holy Trinity, who appeared in a human ſhape, as a prelude to the incarnation, firſt to Adam, then to Abraham, afterwards to Joſhua, Ezekiel, and to Daniel.

5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee, &c.) Some perſons have been deſigned for certain offices by a particular decree of the Almighty, even before they were formed in the womb; examples of this kind we have in St. John the Baptiſt, St. Paul, and the prophet Jeremiah. And this favour is expreſſed by knowing him, or taking ſpecial notice of him; as if a prince ſhould ſingle out a particular perſon, call him by name, and appoint him to ſome honourable office.

13 What ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a ſeething-pot, and the face thereof is toward the north.) A ſtream of a ſeething-pot very properly repreſents the judgments of the Almighty, which are often compared to a fire, as the afflictions of the Iſraelites are to a ſmoking furnace. The latter part of the verſe may be better rendered in the following manner: And the appearance of it was, as coming from the north; that is, the ſteam of it was repreſented to the prophet, as coming from the north. So that the pot or caldron itſelf may denote Judea ſet on fire, and conſumed by an army of Chaldeans, whoſe country lay to the northward of the promiſed land.

18 For, behold, I have made thee this day a defenced city, and an iron pillar, and braſen walls, againſt the whole land; againſt the kings of Judah, againſt the princes thereof, againſt the prieſts thereof, and againſt the people of the land.

19 And they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee; for I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to deliver thee.

CHAP. II.

1 God's expoſtulation with the Jews touching their cauſeleſs revolt. 14 They are the cauſe of their own calamity.

MOREOVER the word of the Lord came to me ſaying,

2 Go, and cry in the ears of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, I remember thee, the kindneſs of thy youth, the love of thine eſpouſals, when thou wenteſt after me in the wilderneſs, in a land that was not ſown.

3 Iſrael was holineſs unto the Lord; and the firſt fruits of his increaſe; all that devour him ſhall offend; evils ſhall come upon them, ſaith the Lord.

4 Hear ye the word of the Lord, O houſe of Jacob, and all the families of the houſe of Iſrael:

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?

6 Neither ſaid they, Where is the Lord that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderneſs; through a land of deſerts, and of pits; through a land of drought, and of the ſhadow of death; through a land that no man paſſeth through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof, and the goodneſs thereof; but when ye entered, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The prieſts ſaid not, Where is the Lord? and they that handle the law knew me not: the paſtors alſo tranſgreſſed againſt me, and the prophets propheſied by Baal, and walked after things that do not profit.

9 Wherefore I will yet plead with you, ſaith the Lord, and with your children's children will I plead.

10 For paſs over the iſles of Chittim and ſee; and ſend unto Kedar and conſider diligently, and ſee if there be ſuch a thing.

11 Hath a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory for that which doth not profit.

12 Be aſtoniſhed, O ye heavens at this, and be horribly afraid, be ye very deſolate, ſaith the Lord.

13 For my people hath committed two evils: they have forſaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out ciſterns, broken ciſterns that can hold no water.

14 ¶ Is Iſrael a ſervant? is he a home-born ſlave? why is he ſpoiled?

15 The young lions roared upon him, and yelled, and they made his land waſte: his cities are burned without inhabitant.

16 Alſo the children of Noph and Tahapanes have broken the crown of thy head.

17 Haſt thou not procured this unto thyſelf, in that thou haſt forſaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way?

18 And now, what haſt thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor? or what haſt thou to do in the way of Aſſyria, to drink the waters of the river?

19 Thine own wickedneſs ſhall correct thee, and thy backſliding ſhall reprove thee: know, therefore, and ſee, that it is an evil thing and bitter that thou haſt forſaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts.

20 For of old time I have broken thy yoke, and burſt thy bands: and thou ſaidſt, I will not tranſgreſs; when upon every high hill, and under every green tree, thou wandereſt, playing the harlot.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, wholly a right ſeed: how then art thou turned into the degenerate plant of a ſtrange vine unto me?

22 For though thou waſh thee with nitre, and take thee much ſoap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, ſaith the Lord God.

23 How canſt thou ſay, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim? See thy way in the valley, know what thou haſt done: thou art a ſwift dromedary traverſing her ways;

24 A wild aſs uſed to the wilderneſs, that ſnuffeth up the wind at her pleaſure: in her occaſion who can turn her away? all they that ſeek her will not weary themſelves; in her month they ſhall find her.

25 With-hold thy foot from being unſhod, and thy throat from thirſt: but thou ſaidſt, There is no hope: no; for I have loved ſtrangers, and after them will I go.

26 As the thief is aſhamed when he is found, ſo is the houſe of Iſrael aſhamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their prieſts, and their prophets.

27 Saying to a ſtock, Thou art my father; and to a ſtone, Thou haſt brought me forth: for they have turned their back unto me, and not their face; but in the time of their trouble they will ſay, Ariſe and ſave us.

28 But where are thy gods that thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe, if they can ſave thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities are thy gods O Judah.

29 Wherefore will ye plead with me? ye all have tranſgreſſed againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

30 In vain I have ſmitten your children: they received no correction: your own ſword hath devoured your prophets like a deſtroying lion.

31 O generation, ſee ye the word of the Lord: Have

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

8 The prieſts ſaid not, Where is the Lord? and they that handle the law, knew me not, &c.) The prieſts, whoſe office it was to inſtruct others in their duty, were ignorant or regardleſs of it themſelves: and this was the principal cauſe of that degeneracy of manners which prevailed among the people.

11 Hath a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory, &c.) Men are very tenacious of the religion of their forefathers, and do not without difficulty part with it, however reaſonable the change may prove; but the Jews have changed the worſhip of the true God, who is their ſtrength and their glory, for idols and vanities, that can neither ſave nor protect them. God is called the glory of the Jews, becauſe he choſe the ark, as the place where his glory ſhould reſide; and for the ſame reaſon the temple is called the throne of his glory.

18 And now what haſt thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor? &c.) The kings of Egypt and Aſſyria were the moſt potent monarchs in the neighbourhood of Judea; and, according as either of theſe was the ſtronger, the Jews made their court to him, and deſired his aſſiſtance. This is expreſſed by drinking the waters of Sihor, or the Nile, and of Euphrates, called here the river, by way of eminence. The expreſſions allude to verſe 13, where human aſſiſtances are ſtiled broken ciſterns; and oppoſed to God, who, by reaſon of his omnipotence, is called the Fountain of living waters.

31 O generation, ſee ye the word of the Lord: Have I been a wilderneſs unto Iſrael? a land of darkneſs? &c.) Conſider what I ſay to you from the mouth of God. Have ye not been plentifully provided for by him? Has he been backward in beſtowing his kindneſs upon you? Some render the latter end of the ſentence, a backward land, a land of ſnow, clouds, and dark vapours, where the fruits ripen late, for want of the kindly warmth of the ſun; a character that did by no means belong to Judea.

I been a wilderneſs unto Iſrael? a land of darkneſs? Wherefore ſay my people, We are lords; we will come no more unto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number.

33 Why trimmeſt thou thy way to ſeek love? therefore haſt thou alſo taught the wicked ones thy ways.

34 Alſo in thy ſkirts is found the blood of the ſouls of the poor innocents: I have not found it by ſecret ſearch, but upon all theſe.

35 Yet thou ſayeſt, Becauſe I am innocent, ſurely his anger ſhall turn from me: behold, I will plead with thee, becauſe thou ſayeſt, I have not ſinned.

36 Why gaddeſt thou about ſo much to change thy way? thou alſo ſhalt be aſhamed of Egypt, as thou waſt aſhamed of Aſſyria.

37 Yea, thou ſhalt go forth from him, and thine hands upon thine head: for the Lord hath rejected thy confidences, and thou ſhalt not proſper in them.

CHAP. III.

1 God's great mercy in Judah's vile whoredom. 12 The promiſes of the goſpel to the penitent.

THEY ſay, If a man put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and become another man's, ſhall he return unto her again? ſhall not that land be greatly polluted? but thou haſt played the harlot with many lovers; yet return again to me, ſaith the Lord.

2 Lift up thine eyes unto the high places, and ſee where thou haſt not been lain with; in the ways haſt thou ſat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderneſs; and thou haſt polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy wickedneſs.

3 Therefore the ſhowers have been with-holden, and there hath been no latter rain; and thou hadſt a whore's forehead, thou refuſedſt to be aſhamed.

4 Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth?

5 Will he reſerve his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end? Behold, thou haſt ſpoken and done evil things as thou couldeſt.

6 The Lord ſaid alſo unto me, in the days of Joſiah the king, Haſt thou ſeen that which backſliding Iſrael hath done? ſhe is gone up upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and there hath played the harlot.

7 And I ſaid after ſhe had done all theſe things, Turn thou unto me: but ſhe returned not. And her treacherous ſiſter Judah ſaw it.

8 And I ſaw when, for all the cauſes whereby backſliding Iſrael committed adultery, I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce; yet her treacherous ſiſter Judah feared not, but went and played the harlot alſo.

9 And it came to paſs, through the lightneſs of her whoredom, that ſhe defiled the land, and committed adultery with ſtones and with ſtocks.

10 And yet for all this her treacherous ſiſter Judah hath not turned unto me with her whole heart, but feignedly, ſaith the Lord.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto me, The backſliding Iſrael hath juſtified herſelf more than treacherous Judah.

12 ¶ Go and proclaim theſe words toward the north, and ſay, Return thou backſliding Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, and I will not cauſe mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful ſaith the Lord, and I will not keep anger for ever.

13 Only acknowledge thine iniquity that thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord thy God, and haſt ſcattered thy ways to the ſtrangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, ſaith the Lord.

14 Turn, O backſliding children, ſaith the Lord; for I am married unto you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion:

15 And I will give you paſtors according to mine heart, which ſhall feed you with knowledge and underſtanding.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, when ye be multiplied and increaſed in the land, in thoſe days ſaith the Lord, they ſhall ſay no more, The ark of the covenant of the Lord: neither ſhall it come to mind, neither ſhall they remember it, neither ſhall they viſit it, neither ſhall that be done any more.

17 At that time they ſhall call Jeruſalem the throne of the Lord; and all the nations ſhall be gathered unto it to the name of the Lord to Jeruſalem: neither ſhall they walk any more after the imagination of their evil heart.

18 In thoſe days the houſe of Judah ſhall walk with the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhall come together out of the land of the north, to the land that I have given for an inheritance unto your fathers.

19 But I ſaid, How ſhall I put thee among the children, and give thee a pleaſant land, a goodly heritage of the hoſts of nations? And I ſaid, Thou ſhalt call me, My father; and ſhalt not turn away from me.

20 Surely as a wife treacherouſly departeth from her huſband, ſo have ye dealt treacherouſly with me, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord.

21 A voice was heard upon the high places, weeping and ſupplications of the children of Iſrael: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the Lord their God.

22 Return, ye backſliding children, and I will heal your backſlidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly in vain is ſalvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the ſalvation of Iſrael.

24 For ſhame hath devoured the labour of our fathers from our youth: their flocks and their herds, their ſons and their daughters.

25 We lie down in our ſhame, and our confuſion covereth us: for we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even unto this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God.

---

34 The blood of the ſouls, &c.) The blood of the lives of the children offered in ſacrifice to Molech.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

12 Go, and proclaim theſe words toward the north, and ſay, Return, thou backſliding Iſrael, &c.) The ſin of the ten tribes being attended with more favourable circumſtances than that of Judah, the prophet is here commanded to call them to repentance, with promiſes of pardon; and, according to this, he is bidden to direct his ſpeech northward, that is, towards Aſſyria and Media, whither the ten tribes were carried away captive.

17 At that time they ſhall call Jeruſalem the throne of the Lord: and all the nations ſhall be gathered unto it, &c.) Jeruſalem is often called the city of God; and is therefore a proper type or figure of the church of the Moſt High, which the text tells us ſhall be called The throne of the Lord; that is, God ſhall give evident proofs of his peculiar reſidence there, as the king and protector of his people, and in a more eminent manner than ever he did in the temple of Jeruſalem. To this church all the nations ſhall be gathered, that is, the Jews and Gentiles ſhall then be joined in one religious body or ſociety, and worſhip God with one mind and one mouth.

CHAP. IV.

1 God calleth Iſrael by his promiſes. 3 He exhorteth Judah to repentance.

IF thou wilt return, O Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, return unto me; and if thou wilt put away thine abominations out of my ſight, then ſhalt thou not remove.

2 And thou ſhalt ſwear, The Lord liveth, in truth, in judgment, and in righteouſneſs; and the nations ſhall bleſs themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they glory.

3 ¶ For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Judah and Jeruſalem, Break up your fallow ground, and ſow not among thorns.

4 Circumciſe yourſelves to the Lord, and take away the foreſkins of your heart, ye men of Judah and inhabitants of Jeruſalem; leſt my fury come forth like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings.

5 Declare ye in Judah, and publiſh in Jeruſalem; and ſay, Blow ye the trumpet in the land: cry, gather together, and ſay, Aſſemble yourſelves, and let us go into the defenced cities.

6 Set up the ſtandard toward Zion: retire, ſtay not; for I will bring evil from the north, and a great deſtruction.

7 The lion is come up from his thicket, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is on his way; he is gone forth from his place to make thy land deſolate; and thy cities ſhall be laid waſte without an inhabitant.

8 For this gird you with ſackcloth, lament and howl: for the fierce anger of the Lord is not turned back from us.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs at that day, ſaith the Lord, that the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the princes; and the prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and the prophets ſhall wonder.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God! ſurely thou haſt greatly deceived this people and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall have peace; whereas the ſword reacheth unto the ſoul.

11 At that time ſhall it be ſaid to this people and to Jeruſalem, A dry wind of the high places in the wilderneſs toward the daughter of my people, not to fan nor to cleanſe.

12 Even a full wind from thoſe places ſhall come unto me: now alſo will I give ſentence againſt them.

13 Behold, he ſhall come up as clouds, and his chariots ſhall be as a whirlwind: his horſes are ſwifter than eagles. Woe unto us! for we are ſpoiled.

14 O Jeruſalem waſh thine heart from wickedneſs, that thou mayeſt be ſaved: how long ſhall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee?

15 For a voice declareth from Dan, and publiſheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention to the nations: behold, publiſh againſt Jeruſalem, that watchers come from a far country, and give out their voice againſt the cities of Judah.

17 As keepers of a field are they againſt her round about; becauſe ſhe hath been rebellious againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

18 Thy way and thy doings have procured theſe things unto thee: this is thy wickedneſs, becauſe it is bitter, becauſe it reacheth unto thine heart.

19 My bowels, my bowels! I am pained at my very heart; my heart maketh a noiſe in me: I cannot hold my peace, becauſe thou haſt heard, O my ſoul, the ſound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.

20 Deſtruction upon deſtruction is cried; for the whole land is ſpoiled: ſuddenly are my tents ſpoiled, and my curtains in a moment.

21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and hear the ſound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is fooliſh, they have not known me; they are ſottiſh children, and they have none underſtanding: they are wiſe to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge.

23 I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void: and the heavens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountains, and lo, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly.

25 I beheld, and lo, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were fled.

26 I beheld, and, lo, the fruitful place was a wilderneſs, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the preſence of the Lord, and by his fierce anger.

27 For thus hath the Lord ſaid, The whole land ſhall be deſolate; yet will I not make a full end.

28 For this ſhall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black: becauſe I have ſpoken it, I have purpoſed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it.

29 The whole city ſhall flee for the noiſe of the horſemen and bowmen; they ſhall go into thickets, and climb up upon the rocks: every city ſhall be forſaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou art ſpoiled, what wilt thou do? Though thou cloatheſt thyſelf with crimſon, though thou deckeſt thee with ornaments of gold, though thou renteſt thy face with painting, in vain ſhalt thou make thyſelf fair; thy lovers will deſpiſe thee, they will ſeek thy life.

31 For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, and the anguiſh as of her that bringeth forth her firſt child; the voice of the daughter of Zion, that bewaileth herſelf, that ſpreadeth her hands, ſaying, Woe is me now! for my ſoul is wearied becauſe of murderers.

CHAP. V.

The judgments of God upon the Jews for their manifold corruptions.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

2 And the nations ſhall bleſs themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they glory.) A prediction of the goſpel-times, when the heathen ſhould join with the Iſraelites in paying all ſolemn acts of worſhip and devotion to the true God alone, and in aſcribing all honour and glory to him, and to his only Son the Meſſiah, in whom all the nations were to be bleſſed.

4 Take away the foreſkins of your hearts, &c.) Hence it appears that the ceremony of circumciſion had a ſpiritual ſignification: accordingly, the apoſtle makes moral applications of ſeveral branches of the ceremonial law.

7 The lion is come up from his thicket, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is on his way, &c.) The prophet here means Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, whoſe monarchy is repreſented by a lion: he is called here the deſtroyer of the Gentiles, or rather of the nations, becauſe Judea and all the neighbouring countries were, by the decree of Omnipotence, delivered into his hands.

23 I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void, &c.) The whole face of nature has a diſmal aſpect; the inhabitants of the lands and the houſes, together with the fruits of the earth, are deſtroyed by the armies of the enemy; the birds of the air, and the beaſts of the field, are conſumed with famine, ſo that the country appears as if it was reduced to its primitive chaos. The heavens are covered with darkneſs, and the mountains tremble at the wrath of the Almighty.

31 For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, &c.) Jeruſalem here is very pathetically deſcribed as a woman in travail bewailing the loſs of her children by the hand of the Chaldeans, and in vain imploring aſſiſtance.

RUN ye to and fro through the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and ſee now, and know, and ſeek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man, if there be any that executeth judgment, that ſeeketh the truth; and I will pardon it.

2 And though they ſay, The Lord liveth; ſurely they ſwear falſely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes upon the truth? thou haſt ſtricken them, but they have not grieved; thou haſt conſumed them, but they have refuſed to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a rock; they have refuſed to return.

4 Therefore I ſaid, Surely theſe are poor; they are fooliſh: for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the judgment of their God.

5 I will get me unto the great men, and will ſpeak unto them; for they have known the way of the Lord, and the judgment of their God: but theſe have altogether broken the yoke, and burſt the bonds.

6 Wherefore a lion out of the foreſt ſhall ſlay them, and a wolf of the evenings ſhall ſpoil them, a leopard ſhall watch over their cities: every one that goeth out thence ſhall be torn in pieces: becauſe their tranſgreſſions are many, and their backſlidings are increaſed.

7 How ſhall I pardon thee for this? thy children have forſaken me, and ſworn by them that are no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they then committed adultery, and aſſembled themſelves by troops in the harlots' houſes.

8 They were as fed horſes in the morning: every one neighed after his neighbour's wife.

9 Shall I not viſit for theſe things? ſaith the Lord: and ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 Go ye up upon her walls, and deſtroy; but make not a full end: take away her battlements; for they are not the Lord's.

11 For the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah have dealt very treacherouſly againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

12 They have belied the Lord, and ſaid, It is not he, neither ſhall evil come upon us, neither ſhall we ſee ſword nor famine;

13 And the prophets ſhall become wind, and the word is not in them; thus ſhall it be done unto them.

14 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, Becauſe ye ſpeak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it ſhall devour them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation upon you from far, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whoſe language thou knoweſt not, neither underſtandeſt what they ſay.

16 Their quiver is as an open ſepulchre, they are all mighty men.

17 And they ſhall eat up thine harveſt, and thy bread, which thy ſons and thy daughters ſhould eat: they ſhall eat up thy flocks and thine herds; they ſhall eat up thy vines and thy fig-trees: they ſhall impoveriſh thy fenced cities, wherein thou truſtedſt, with the ſword.

18 Nevertheleſs, in thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will not make a full end with you.

19 And it ſhall come to paſs, when ye ſhall ſay, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God all theſe things unto us? then ſhalt thou anſwer them, Like as ye have forſaken me, and ſerved ſtrange gods in your land; ſo ſhall ye ſerve ſtrangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the houſe of Jacob, and publiſh it in Judah, ſaying,

21 Hear now this, O fooliſh people and without underſtanding, which have eyes, and ſee not; which have ears, and hear not:

22 Fear ye not me? ſaith the Lord: will ye not tremble at my preſence, which have placed the ſand for the bound of the ſea, by a perpetual decree, that it cannot paſs it: and though the waves thereof toſs themſelves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not paſs over it.

23 But this people hath a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted and gone.

24 Neither ſay they in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord our God that giveth rain, both the former and the latter, in his ſeaſon: he reſerveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harveſt.

25 Your iniquities have turned away theſe things, and your ſins have with-holden good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait as he that ſetteth ſnares: they ſet a trap, they catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, ſo are their houſes full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat, they ſhine; yea, they overpaſs the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cauſe, the cauſe of the fatherleſs, yet they proſper: and the right of the needy do they not judge.

29 Shall I not viſit for theſe things? ſaith the Lord: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

30 A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land;

31 The prophets propheſy falſely, and the prieſts bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it ſo: and what will ye do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The enemies ſent againſt Judah, 4 encourage themſelves. 6 God ſetteth them on work becauſe of their ſins.

O YE children of Benjamin, gather yourſelves to flee out of the midſt of Jeruſalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa, and ſet up a ſign of fire in Beth-haccerem: for evil appeareth out of the north, and great deſtruction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 And though they ſay, The Lord liveth; ſurely they ſwear falſely.) Even thoſe who do not ſwear by falſe gods, will venture to call God to bear witneſs to what is not true: a melancholy ſign, that even the profeſſors of the true religion are not impreſt with that awful ſenſe of the divine majeſty they ought to be.

5 I will get me unto the great men, and will ſpeak unto them, &c.) It is natural to expect from men of better education, a true ſenſe of religion. But alas! the great men of the world bid open defiance to the laws of God, and caſt off all obligation of duty and conſcience: they will not be brought under the yoke, but, like headſtrong men, break through any bonds, whereby you would reſtrain them, or bring them under any diſcipline.

22 Though the waves thereof toſs themſelves, yet can they not prevail, &c.) The adjuſting the proportion of the tides, that they ſhould not riſe ſo high as to overflow the lower grounds, is a remarkable inſtance of God's eſpecial providence.

24 Both the former and the latter in his ſeaſon, &c.) The former rain fell juſt before ſowing time, to make the ſeed take root: the latter rain was juſt before harveſt, to plump and fill the ears, and is called by Joel, The latter rain of the firſt month, at which time the harveſt begun.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 Set up a ſign of fire in Beth-haccerem, &c.) To aſſemble the people together for their mutual defence. Beth-haccerem was a village between Jeruſalem and Tekoa.

2 I have likened the daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman.

3 The ſhepherds with their flocks ſhall come unto her: they ſhall pitch their tents againſt her round about; they ſhall feed every one in his place.

4 Prepare ye war againſt her; ariſe, and let us go up at noon. Woe unto us! for the day goeth away, for the ſhadows of the evening are ſtretched out.

5 Ariſe, and let us go by night, and let us deſtroy her palaces.

6 ¶ For thus hath the Lord of hoſts ſaid, Hew ye down trees, and caſt a mount againſt Jeruſalem: this is the city to be viſited; ſhe is wholly oppreſſion in the midſt of her.

7 As a fountain caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her wickedneſs: violence and ſpoil is heard in her; before me continually is grief and wounds.

8 Be thou inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my ſoul depart from thee; leſt I make thee deſolate, a land not inhabited.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, They ſhall thoroughly glean the remnant of Iſrael as a vine: turn back thine hand as a grape-gatherer into the baſkets.

10 To whom ſhall I ſpeak and give warning, that they may hear? Behold, their ear is uncircumciſed, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is unto them a reproach; they have no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the Lord; I am weary with holding in: I will pour it out upon the children abroad, and upon the aſſembly of young men together; for even the huſband with the wife ſhall be taken, the aged with him that is full of days.

12 And their houſes ſhall be turned unto others, with their fields and wives together: for I will ſtretch out my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the Lord.

13 For from the leaſt of them even unto the greateſt of them, every one is given to covetouſneſs; and from the prophet even unto the prieſt, every one dealeth falſely.

14 They have healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.

15 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh; therefore they ſhall fall among them that fall: at the time that I viſit them they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the Lord.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways and ſee, and aſk for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye ſhall find reſt for your ſouls. But they ſaid, We will not walk therein.

17 Alſo I ſet watchmen over you, ſaying, Hearken to the ſound of the trumpet. But they ſaid, We will not hearken.

18 Therefore hear, ye nations and know, O congregation, what is among them.

19 Hear, O earth: behold, I will bring evil upon this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, becauſe they have not hearkened unto my words, nor to my law but rejected it.

20 To what purpoſe cometh there to me incenſe from Sheba, and the ſweet cane from a far country? your burnt-offerings are not acceptable, nor your ſacrifices ſweet unto me.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will lay ſtumbling-blocks before this people, and the fathers and the ſons together ſhall fall upon them; the neighbour and his friend ſhall periſh.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the north country, and a great nation ſhall be raiſed from the ſides of the earth.

23 They ſhall lay hold on bow and ſpear; they are cruel and have no mercy: their voice roareth like the ſea; and they ride upon horſes, ſet in array as men for war againſt thee, O daughter of Zion.

24 We have heard the fame thereof; our hands wax feeble: anguiſh hath taken hold of us, and pain as of a woman in travail.

25 Go not forth into the field, nor walk by the way; for the ſword of the enemy and fear is on every ſide.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with ſackcloth, and wallow thyſelf in aſhes; make thee mourning as for an only ſon, moſt bitter lamentation: for the ſpoiler ſhall ſuddenly come upon us.

27 I have ſet thee for a tower and a fortreſs among my people, that thou mayeſt know and try their way.

28 They are all grievous revolters, walking with ſlanders: they are braſs and iron; they are all corrupters.

29 The bellows are burnt, the lead is conſumed of the fire, the founder melteth in vain; for the wicked are not plucked away.

30 Reprobate ſilver ſhall men call them, becauſe the Lord hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jeremiah is ſent to call for true repentance. 8 He rejecteth their vain confidence.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lord's houſe, and proclaim there this word, and ſay, Hear the word of the Lord, all ye of Judah that enter in at theſe gates to worſhip the Lord:

3 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cauſe you to dwell in this place.

4 Truſt ye not in lying words, ſaying, The temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, are theſe.

5 For if ye thoroughly amend your ways and your doings; if ye thoroughly execute judgment between a man and his neighbour;

6 If ye oppreſs not the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, and the widow, and ſhed not innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods to your hurt:

7 Then will I cauſe you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers for ever and ever.

8 ¶ Behold, ye truſt in lying words, that cannot profit.

16 Stand ye in the ways, and ſee, and aſk for the old paths, &c.) Imitate the traveller, when at a loſs which way to direct his ſteps; enquire what way the patriarchs of old, kings and prophets of former times walked in: imitate their practices, wherein ye will find true comfort and ſatisfaction, and not the late devices of your princes and prophets, whereby you have been ſeduced into error, and betrayed into many miſchiefs.

20 To what purpoſe cometh there to me incenſe from Sheba? &c.) Sheba was part of Arabia Felix, and famous for its incenſe and perfumes. The prophet here reproves the hypocriſy of the Jews, who endeavoured to cover their inward corruption by the external appearances of religion, which the prophets often declared to be of no value, when they do not proceed from a devout mind.

30 Reprobate ſilver ſhall men call them, becauſe the Lord hath rejected them.) As baſe money is refuſed by every one, becauſe it cannot bear the touchſtone, ſo ſhall theſe hypocrites and evil-doers be rejected, both by God and man; for none of their actions will bear the teſt of the laws of the Almighty, nor abide his ſevere trial.

9 Will ye ſteal, murder, and commit adultery, and ſwear falſely, and burn incenſe unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not;

10 And come and ſtand before me in this houſe, which is called by my name, and ſay, We are delivered to do all theſe abominations?

11 Is this houſe, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? Behold, even I have ſeen it, ſaith the Lord.

12 But go ye now unto my place which was in Shiloh, where I ſet my name at the firſt, and ſee what I did to it for the wickedneſs of my people Iſrael.

13 And now, becauſe ye have done all theſe works, ſaith the Lord, and I ſpake unto you, riſing up early and ſpeaking, but ye heard not; and I called you, but ye anſwered not:

14 Therefore will I do unto this houſe, which is called by name, wherein ye truſt, and unto the place which I gave to you and to your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh.

15 And I will caſt you out of my ſight, as I have caſt out all your brethren, even the whole ſeed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make interceſſion to me: for I will not hear thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they do in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough, to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.

19 Do they provoke me to anger? ſaith the Lord: do they not provoke themſelves to the confuſion of their own faces?

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my fury ſhall be poured out upon this place, upon man, and upon beaſt, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground; and it ſhall burn and ſhall not be quenched.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael: Put your burnt-offerings unto your ſacrifices, and eat fleſh.

22 For I ſpake not unto your fathers, nor commanded them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt-offerings or ſacrifices:

23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye ſhall be my people; and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

24 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear, but walked in the counſels and in the imagination of their evil heart, and went backward, and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt unto this day, I have even ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, daily riſing up early, and ſending them:

26 Yet they hearkened not unto me, nor inclined their ear, but hardened their neck: they did worſe than their fathers.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak all theſe words unto them; but they will not hearken to thee: thou ſhalt alſo call unto them; but they will not anſwer thee.

28 But thou ſhalt ſay unto them, This is a nation that obeyeth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth correction: truth is periſhed, and is cut off from their mouth.

29 Cut off thine hair, O Jeruſalem, and caſt it away, and take up a lamentation on high places; for the Lord hath rejected and forſaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Judah have done evil in my ſight ſaith the Lord: they have ſet their abominations in the houſe which is called by my name to pollute it.

31 And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to burn their ſons and their daughters in the fire; which I commanded them not, neither came it into my heart.

32 Therefore, behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor, The valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but, The valley of ſlaughter: for they ſhall bury in Tophet till there be no place.

33 And the carcaſes of this people ſhall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth; and none ſhall fray them away.

34 Then will I cauſe to ceaſe from the cities of Judah, and from the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land ſhall be deſolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Jews' calamity, 4 their impenitency upbraided, 13 their judgment ſhewed, 18 their deſperate eſtate bewailed.

AT that time, ſaith the Lord, they ſhall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the prieſts, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem out of their graves:

2 And they ſhall ſpread them before the ſun, and the moon, and all the hoſt of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have ſerved, and after whom

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

10 We are delivered to do all theſe abominations.) This is tranſlated contrary to the plain meaning of the prophet, and ſhould have been rendered, We have been delivered, though we have done all theſe abominations.

18 To make cakes to the queen of heaven, &c.) That is to ſay, They ſacrificed to the ſun, moon, and ſtars, which they called the queen of heaven, chap. xliv. 18.

22, 23 For I ſpake not unto your fathers—concerning burnt-offerings or ſacrifices, &c.) It is a way of ſpeaking common in ſcripture to expreſs the preference due to one thing above another, in terms which expreſs the rejecting of that which is leſs worthy; and, in this ſenſe, we are to underſtand the text before us, which is parallel to that of Hoſea, I will have mercy and not ſacrifice. The words in both places imply, that God always laid a greater ſtreſs on ſincere obedience than in external ſervices, and deſigned the latter only as fences, to guard and preſerve the former.

31 And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to burn their ſons and their daughters in the fire, &c.) This unnatural cuſtom of burning their children, by way of ſacrifice to Moloch, was derived from the Canaanites. The place where they performed this inhuman rite was called Tophet, from the tabrets which ſounded there to drown the cries of the children thus cruelly murdered. It is called here the high place of Tophet, becauſe probably there was a temple, or an altar built there to Molech; and the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, or the valley of Hinnom, in the Hebrew Gee Hinnoms, from whence the word gehenna is derived, and uſed to ſignify hell: the ſacrifices here offered being a lively picture of the infernal torments.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 At that time, ſaith the Lord, they ſhall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, &c.) When Jeruſalem ſhall be taken and expoſed to the rage of the Chaldean army, they ſhall break open the ſepulchres of kings and great men, in hopes of finding treaſures depoſited there.

they

they have walked, and whom they have ſought, and whom they have worſhipped: they ſhall not be gathered, nor be buried; they ſhall be for dung upon the face of the earth.

3 And death ſhall be choſen rather than life by all the reſidue of them that remain of this evil family, which remain in all the places whither I have driven them, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

4 ¶ Moreover, thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Shall they fall, and not riſe? ſhall he turn away, and not return?

5 Why then is this people of Jeruſalem ſlidden back by a perpetual backſliding? they hold faſt deceit, they refuſe to return.

6 I hearkened and heard, but they ſpake not aright: no man repented him of his wickedneſs, ſaying, What have I done? every one turned to his courſe, as the horſe ruſheth into the battle.

7 Yea, the ſtork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times; and the turtle, and the crane, and the ſwallow, obſerve the time of their coming: but my people know not the judgment of the Lord.

8 How do ye ſay, We are wiſe, and the law of the Lord is with us? Lo, certainly in vain made he it: the pen of the ſcribes is in vain.

9 The wiſe men are aſhamed, they are diſmayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord; and what wiſdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I give their wives unto others, and their fields to them that ſhall inherit them: for every one, from the leaſt even unto the greateſt, is given to covetouſneſs; from the prophet even unto the prieſt, every one dealeth falſely.

11 For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.

12 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore ſhall they fall among them that fall: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the Lord.

13 ¶ I will ſurely conſume them, ſaith the Lord. There ſhall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig-tree, and the leaf ſhall fade; and the things that I have given them ſhall paſs away from them.

14 Why do we ſit ſtill? aſſemble yourſelves and let us enter into the defenced cities, and let us be ſilent there; for the Lord our God hath put us to ſilence, and given us water of gall to drink, becauſe we have ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold trouble!

16 The ſnorting of his horſes was heard from Dan; the whole land trembled at the ſound of the neighing of his ſtrong ones: for they are come, and have devoured the land, and all that is in it; the city, and thoſe that dwell therein.

17 For, behold, I will ſend ſerpents, cockatrices, among you, which will not be charmed, and they ſhall bite you, ſaith the Lord.

18 ¶ When I would comfort myſelf againſt ſorrow, my heart is faint in me.

19 Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people, becauſe of them that dwell in a far country. Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images, and with ſtrange vanities?

20 The harveſt is paſt, the ſummer is ended, and we are not ſaved.

21 For the hurt of the daughter of my people: am I hurt; I am black; aſtoniſhment hath taken hold on me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? is there no phyſician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The Jews lamented for their manifold ſins, 9 and judgments. 12 Diſobedience is the cauſe of their calamity.

OH that my head were waters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the ſlain of the daughter of my people!

2 Oh that I had in the wilderneſs a lodging place of way-faring men, that I might leave my people, and go from them! for they be all adulterers, an aſſembly of treacherous men.

3 And they bend their tongues like their bow for lies: but they are not valiant for the truth upon the earth: for they proceed from evil to evil, and they know not me, ſaith the Lord.

4 Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and truſt ye not in any brother; for every brother will utterly ſupplant, and every neighbour will walk with ſlanders.

5 And they will deceive every one his neighbour, and will not ſpeak the truth: they have taught their tongue to ſpeak lies; and weary themſelves to commit iniquity.

6 Thine habitation is in the midſt of deceit: thro' deceit they refuſe to know me, ſaith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will melt them and try them: for how ſhall I do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow ſhot out; it ſpeaketh deceit; one ſpeaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in heart he layeth his wait.

9 ¶ Shall I not viſit them for theſe things? ſaith the Lord: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 For the mountains will I take up a weeping and

7 Yea, the ſtork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, &c.) Theſe birds know, by natural inſtinct, the ſeaſons when to return to the places of their former abode: whereas this people never thinketh of returning to their God. The ſacred writers often ſend men to the brute creation for inſtruction, in order to upbraid their ſtupidity.

14 Let us enter into the defenced cities, and let us be ſilent there, &c.) This ſeems to be ſpoken in the perſon of the people, who lived in open towns and villages, exhorting one another to repair to Jeruſalem, and other fortified places, to ſeek for quiet and refuge there. Whereas the prophet had before exhorted the inhabitants of Jeruſalem to flee even from thence. He therefore replies, in the following part of the verſe, that God had indeed put them to ſilence in another ſenſe; namely, he had taken away all their ſtrength, and left them to be deſtroyed by their enemies.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? &c.) Gilead was famous for balm, and other healing drugs; the prophet therefore applies this metaphorically to the ſtate of the Jews, and aſks whether there have been no methods uſed to heal theſe mortal wounds and diſtempers, and if there have, why are they attended with ſo little ſucceſs? implying that God had ſent his prophets, as ſo many ſpiritual phyſicians, and that they had given the beſt advice; but the fault lay wholly in the patients themſelves, who refuſed to ſubmit to their preſcriptions.

wailing

wailing, and for the habitations of the wilderneſs a lamentation, becauſe they are burnt up, ſo that none can paſs through them; neither can men hear the voice of the cattle: both the fowl of the heavens and the beaſt are fled; they are gone.

11 And I will make Jeruſalem heaps, and a den of dragons; and I will make the cities of Judah deſolate, without an inhabitant.

12 ¶ Who is the wiſe man, that may underſtand this? and who is he to whom the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken, that he may declare it, for what the land periſheth and is burnt up like a wilderneſs, that none paſſeth through?

13 And the Lord ſaith, Becauſe they have forſaken my law which I ſet before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein;

14 But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them:

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink.

16 I will ſcatter them alſo among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have known: and I will ſend a ſword after them, till I have conſumed them.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider ye, and call for the mourning women that they may come; and ſend for cunning women that they may come:

18 And let them make haſte, and take up a wailing for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eye-lids guſh out with waters.

19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of Zion, How are we ſpoiled! we are greatly confounded, becauſe we have forſaken the land, becauſe our dwellings have caſt us out.

20 Yet hear the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her neighbour lamentation.

21 For death is come up into our windows and is entered into our palaces, to cut off the children from without, and the young men from the ſtreets.

22 Speak, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even the carcaſes of men ſhall fall as dung upon the open field, and as the handful after the harveſt-man, and none ſhall gather them.

23 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, Let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches:

24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he underſtandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exerciſe loving-kindneſs, judgment, and righteouſneſs, in the earth: for in theſe things I delight, ſaith the Lord.

25 ¶ Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will puniſh all them which are circumciſed with the uncircumciſed;

26 Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all that are in the utmoſt corners, that dwell in the wilderneſs: for all theſe nations are uncircumciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are uncircumciſed in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The unequal compariſon of God and idols. 19 The ſpoil of the tabernacle by fooliſh paſtors.

HEAR ye the word which the Lord ſpeaketh unto you, O houſe of Iſrael:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not diſmayed at the ſigns of heaven; for the heathen are diſmayed at them.

3 For the cuſtoms of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the foreſt (the work of the hands of the workman) with the axe:

4 They deck it with ſilver and with gold; they faſten it with nails and with hammers, that it move not.

5 They are upright as the palm-tree, but ſpeak not; they muſt needs be borne, becauſe they cannot go. Be not afraid of them: for they cannot do evil, neither alſo is it in them to do good.

6 Foraſmuch as there is none like unto thee, O Lord; thou art great, and thy name is great in might.

7 Who would not fear thee, O King of nations? for to thee doth it appertain: foraſmuch as among all the wiſe men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms, there is none like unto thee.

8 But they are altogether brutiſh and fooliſh; the ſtock is a doctrine of vanities.

9 Silver ſpread into plates is brought from Tarſhiſh, and gold from Uphaz, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the founder: blue and purple is their clothing; they are all the work of cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the true God: he is the living God, and an everlaſting king: at his wrath the earth ſhall tremble, and the nations ſhall not be able to abide his indignation.

11 Thus ſhall ye ſay unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they ſhall periſh from the earth, and from under theſe heavens.

12 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath ſtretched out the heavens by his diſcretion.

13 When he uttereth his voice there is a multitude

15 I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink.) I will turn their plenty into ſcarcity, and their joy into mourning. The Hebrew word, which we tranſlate gall, properly ſignifies an herb growing among the corn, and is as bitter as gall.

23, 24 Let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, &c.) Let not men value themſelves for their wiſdom, ſtrength, or riches, which are things in themſelves of very uncertain continuance, and ſuch calamities are coming on, when they will be of very little uſe to the owners. The only true valuable endowment is the knowledge of God, not as he is in himſelf, which is too high an attainment for poor mortals to pretend to, but with reſpect to his dealing with the children of men; to have a ſerious ſenſe of his mercies to the penitent, of his judgments to the obſtinate, and of his truth and integrity, in making good his promiſes and threatenings to both. It is in the exerciſe of theſe attributes, that the Almighty chiefly delights; and it is by theſe he deſires to make himſelf known to the children of men.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

2 Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not diſmayed at the ſigns of heaven, &c.) Do not follow the fond opinions of the heathen, among whom you are to ſojourn during your captivity. Both the Chaldeans and Egyptians were famous for their ſkill in aſtrology; and therefore the prophet means, that when the Jews were to live among theſe people, they ſhould pay no regard to the predictions they might make from the heavenly bodies, by the aſpects of which they pretended to foretel wars, the death of great men, and other calamities; whereby they terrified the people with the apprehenſion of impending evils.

13 When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, &c.) When the Almighty utters his voice, or ſends his thunder abroad, the clouds immediately precipitate in torrents of rain; and that moiſture falling on the hot and thirſty ſoil, does not only refreſh it, but makes all the vegetables in it to flouriſh. And as God cauſes the vapours to aſcend in clouds from every quarter of the earth, ſo he joins two contrary things together, ordaining great flaſhes of lightning to break forth with the rain; the latter, by its moiſture, preventing the ill effects that might otherwiſe reſult from the ſcorching heat of the former.

of waters in the heavens, and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

14 Every man is brutiſh in his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.

15 They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

16 The Portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things; and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: The Lord of hoſts is his name.

17 Gather up thy wares out of the land, O inhabitant of the fortreſs:

18 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will ſling out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will diſtreſs them, that they may find it ſo.

19 ¶ Woe is me for my hurt! my wound is grievous: but I ſaid, Truly this is a grief, and I muſt bear it.

20 My tabernacle is ſpoiled, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone forth of me, and they are not; there is none to ſtretch forth my tent any more, and to ſet up my curtains.

21 For the paſtors are become brutiſh, and have not ſought the Lord: therefore they ſhall not proſper, and all their flocks ſhall be ſcattered.

22 Behold, the noiſe of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the north country, to make the cities of Judah deſolate, and a den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himſelf: it is not in man that walketh to direct his ſteps.

24 O Lord, correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, leſt thou bring me to nothing.

25 Pour out thy fury upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy name: for they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and conſumed him, and have made his habitation deſolate.

CHAP. XI.

1 Jeremiah proclaimeth God's covenant. 6 He rebuketh the diſobedient Jews. 11 He propheſieth evils to come upon them.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord ſaying,

2 Hear ye the words of this covenant, and ſpeak unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem;

3 And ſay thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael; Curſed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, ſaying, Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: ſo ſhall ye be my people, and I will be your God;

5 That I may perform the oath which I have ſworn unto your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. Then anſwered I and ſaid, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, Proclaim all theſe words in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Hear ye the words of this covenant, and do them.

7 For I earneſtly proteſted unto your fathers, in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even unto this day, riſing early and proteſting, ſaying, Obey my voice.

8 Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant which I commanded them to do: but they did them not.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto me, A conſpiracy is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jeruſalem:

10 They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refuſed to hear my words; and they went after other gods to ſerve them; the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah have broken my covenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon them, which they ſhall not be able to eſcape; and though they ſhall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them.

12 Then ſhall the cities of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem, go and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incenſe: but they ſhall not ſave them at all in the time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the ſtreets of Jeruſalem have ye ſet up altars to that ſhameful thing, even altars to burn incenſe unto Baal.

14 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time that they cry unto me for their trouble.

15 What hath my beloved to do in mine houſe, ſeeing ſhe hath wrought lewdneſs with many, and the holy fleſh is paſſed from thee? when thou doeſt evil, then thou rejoiceſt.

16 The Lord called thy name, A green olive-tree, fair and of goodly fruit: with the noiſe of a great tumult he hath kindled fire upon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hoſts that planted thee, hath pronounced evil againſt thee, for the evil of the houſe of Iſrael, and of the houſe of Judah, which they have done againſt themſelves, to provoke me to anger, in offering incenſe unto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath given me knowledge of it, and I know it: then thou ſhewedſt me their doings.

19 But I was like a lamb or an ox that is brought to the ſlaughter: and I knew not that they had de-

---

22 The noiſe of the bruit, &c.) Bruit is an old Engliſh word, ſignifying rumour, noiſe, or report.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

4 Out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, &c.) An iron furnace is uſed to melt and purify metals, and is a very proper repreſentation of any ſore affliction, wherein God tries his ſervants, in order to purge them from their droſs.

15 What hath my beloved to do in mine houſe, ſeeing ſhe hath wrought lewdneſs with many? &c.) Why doth this my choſen and peculiar people, as they love to call themſelves, make their appearance before me in my houſe, ſince they have gone a whoring after ſeveral idols of the nations round about them, and therefore have diſowned me, and broken the marriage contract or covenant that was between us?

16 The Lord called thy name, A green olive-tree, fair, and of goodly fruit, &c.) The Jewiſh nation, in its flouriſhing ſtate, is ſometimes compared to a vine, ſometimes to an olive-tree, chiefly becauſe of the fruit of good works which God might juſtly expect from them, after all the care and pains he had taken to make them ſhine in the land he had promiſed to their fathers.

19 I was like a lamb or an ox, &c.) This verſe is variouſly interpreted, but by the fathers generally applied to the crucifixion of Chriſt.

viſed devices againſt me, ſaying, Let us deſtroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembered.

20 But, O Lord of hoſts, that judgeſt righteouſly, that trieſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them; for unto thee have I revealed my cauſe.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of the men of Anathoth, that ſeek thy life, ſaying, Prophesy not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hand.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will puniſh them; the young men ſhall die by the ſword, their ſons and their daughters ſhall die by famine;

23 And there ſhall be no remnant of them: for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, even the year of their viſitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jeremiah complaining of the wicked's proſperity, by faith ſeeth their ruin. 14 God's promiſe to the penitent.

RIGHTEOUS art thou, O Lord, when I plead with thee; yet let me talk with thee of thy judgments: Wherefore doth the way of the wicked proſper? wherefore are all they happy that deal very treacherouſly?

2 Thou haſt planted them: yea, they have taken root: they grow; yea, they bring forth fruit: thou art near in their mouth, and far from their reins.

3 But thou, O Lord, knoweſt me, thou haſt ſeen me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like ſheep for the ſlaughter, and prepare them for the day of ſlaughter.

4 How long ſhall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein? the beaſts are conſumed, and the birds; becauſe they ſaid, He ſhall not ſee our laſt end.

5 If thou haſt run with the footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canſt thou contend with horſes? and if in the land of peace, wherein thou truſtedſt, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the ſwelling of Jordan?

6 For even thy brethren, and the houſe of thy father, even they have dealt treacherouſly with thee; yea, they have called a multitude after thee: believe them not, though they ſpeak fair words unto thee.

7 I have forſaken mine houſe, I have left mine heritage; I have given the dearly beloved of my ſoul into the hand of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is unto me as a lion in the foreſt; it crieth out againſt me: therefore have I hated it.

9 Mine heritage is unto me as a ſpeckled bird: the birds round about are againſt her: come ye, aſſemble all the beaſts of the field, come to devour.

10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard, they have trodden my portion under foot, they have made my pleaſant portion a deſolate wilderneſs.

11 They have made it deſolate, and being deſolate it mourneth unto me; the whole land is made deſolate, becauſe no man layeth it to heart.

12 The ſpoilers are come upon all high places thro' the wilderneſs: for the ſword of the Lord ſhall devour from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no fleſh ſhall have peace.

13 They have ſown wheat, but ſhall reap thorns: they have put themſelves to pain but ſhall not profit; and they ſhall be aſhamed of your revenues, becauſe of the fierce anger of the Lord.

14 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord againſt all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have cauſed my people Iſrael to inherit, Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the houſe of Judah from among them.

15 And it ſhall come to paſs, after that I have plucked them out I will return, and have compaſſion on them, and will bring them again, every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to ſwear by my name, The Lord liveth; as they taught my people to ſwear by Baal; then ſhall they be built in the midſt of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up and deſtroy that nation, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

1 In a type of a linen girdle the people's deſtruction is prefigured. 12 By the bottles filled with wine their drunkenneſs in miſery foretold.

THUS ſaith the Lord unto me, Go, and get thee a linen girdle, and put it upon thy loins, and put it not in water.

2 So I got a girdle, according to the word of the Lord, and put it on my loins.

3 And the word of the Lord came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying,

4 Take the girdle that thou haſt got, which is upon thy loins, and ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

1 Righteous art thou, O Lord, when I plead with thee: yet let me talk with thee of thy judgments, &c.) Though I have not the leaſt doubt of thy juſtice and holineſs, yet ſuffer me to argue with thee concerning the proſperity of the wicked, and the afflictions of the righteous: a diſpenſation which hath, in all ages, been made an objection againſt providence, and on that account a ſtumbling block even to good men.

10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard, &c.) By many paſtors are meant the generals of the Chaldean army. God calls Judea his vineyard and pleaſant portion, becauſe of the care he took to cultivate and improve it, and the fruit he might juſtly have expected from it.

11 Being deſolate, it mourneth unto me, &c.) It lies in a neglected and doleful condition, and makes a ſort of ſilent complaint, and begs to be reſtored to its former proſperity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

4 Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.) God commanded the prophet to hide the girdle by the bank of the Euphrates, to ſignify the Jews being carried captive over that river. The very learned biſhop of Glouceſter obſerves, That language being at firſt extremely rude and equivocal, ſo that men were at a loſs to explain any new conception, or uncommon adventure; they were naturally inſtigated to ſupply the deficiences of ſpeech by apt and ſignificant ſigns. Accordingly, in the firſt ages of the world, mutual converſe was upheld by a mixed diſcourſe of words and actions: this practice ſubſiſted long after the neceſſity had ceaſed, eſpecially among the Eaſtern people, whoſe natural temperature inclined them to a mode of converſation which ſo well exerciſed their vivacity and motion; and ſo much gratified it, by a perpetual repreſentation of material images: of this we have innumerable inſtances in holy ſcripture; as where the falſe prophet puſhed with horns of iron, to denote the entire overthrow of the Aſſyrians, (1 Kings, xxii. 11) where Jeremiah, by God's direction, hides a girdle in a hole of a rock near the Euphrates, (chap. xiii.) where he breaks a potter's veſſel in the ſight of the people, (chap. xix.) puts on bonds and yokes, (chap. xxvii.) and caſts a book into the Euphrates, (chap. li.) where Ezekiel, by the ſame appointment, delineates the ſiege of Jeruſalem on a tile, (chap. iv.) weighs the hair of his head in balances, (chap. v.) carries out his houſhold-ſtuff, (chap. xii.) and joins together the two ſticks for Judah and Iſrael, (chap. xxxvii.) By theſe actions the prophets inſtructed the people in the will of God, and converſed with them by ſigns. The biſhop underſtands all the above-mentioned as real actions, and not viſionary.

5 So I went, and hid it by Euphrates, as the Lord commanded me.

6 And it came to paſs after many days, that the Lord ſaid unto me, Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then I went to Euphrates, and digged, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it: and behold, the girdle was marred; it was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

9 Thus ſaith the Lord, After this manner will I mar the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jeruſalem.

10 This evil people which refuſe to hear my words, which walk in the imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods to ſerve them, and to worſhip them, ſhall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man, ſo have I cauſed to cleave unto me the whole houſe of Iſrael, and the whole houſe of Judah, ſaith the Lord; that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praiſe, and for a glory: but they would not hear.

12 ¶ Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak unto them this word: Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Every bottle ſhall be filled with wine. And they ſhall ſay unto thee, Do we not certainly know that every bottle ſhall be filled with wine?

13 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord; Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that ſit upon David's throne, and the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, with drunkenneſs.

14 And I will daſh them one againſt another, even the fathers and the ſons together, ſaith the Lord: I will not pity, nor ſpare, nor have mercy, but deſtroy them.

15 Hear ye, and give ear, be not proud: for the Lord hath ſpoken.

16 Give glory to the Lord your God, before he cauſe darkneſs, and before your feet ſtumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye look for light, he turn it into the ſhadow of death, and make it groſs darkneſs.

17 But if ye will not hear it, my ſoul ſhall weep in ſecret places for your pride, and mine eyes ſhall weep ſore, and run down with tears, becauſe the Lord's flock is carried away captive.

18 Say unto the king and to the queen, Humble yourſelves, ſit down: for your principalities ſhall come down, even the crown of your glory.

19 The cities of the ſouth ſhall be ſhut up, and none ſhall open them: Judah ſhall be carried away captive all of it, it ſhall be wholly carried away captive.

20 Lift up your eyes and behold them that come from the north: where is the flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock.

21 What wilt thou ſay when he ſhall puniſh thee? (for thou haſt taught them to be captains, and as chief over thee) ſhall not ſorrows take thee as a woman in travail?

22 And if thou ſay in thine heart, Wherefore come theſe things upon me? for the greatneſs of thine iniquity are thy ſkirts diſcovered, and thy heels made bare.

23 Can the Ethiopian change his ſkin, or the leopard his ſpots? then may ye alſo do good, that are accuſtomed to do evil.

24 Therefore will I ſcatter them as the ſtubble that paſſeth away by the wind of the wilderneſs.

25 This is thy lot, the portion of thy meaſures from me, ſaith the Lord; becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and truſted in falſhood.

26 Therefore will I diſcover thy ſkirts upon thy face, that thy ſhame may appear.

27 I have ſeen thine adulteries and thy neighings, the lewdneſs of thy whoredom, and thine abominations on the hills in the fields. Woe unto thee, O Jeruſalem, wilt thou not be made clean? when ſhall it once be?

CHAP. XIV.

1 A grievous famine, 7 cauſeth Jeremiah to pray. 10 The Lord will not be intreated. 13 Lying prophets are no excuſe.

THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah concerning the dearth.

2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh; they are black unto the ground; and the cry of Jeruſalem is gone up.

3 And their nobles have ſent their little ones to the waters; they came to the pits, and found no water; they returned with their veſſels empty: they were aſhamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 Becauſe the ground is chapt, for there was no rain in the earth; the plowmen were aſhamed, they covered their heads.

5 Yea, the hind alſo calved in the field, and forſook it, becauſe there was no graſs.

6 And the wild aſſes did ſtand in the high-places, they ſnuffed up the wind like dragons; their eyes did fail, becauſe there was no graſs.

7 ¶ O Lord, though our iniquities teſtify againſt us, do thou it for thy name's ſake: for our backſlidings are many; we have ſinned againſt thee.

8 O the hope of Iſrael, the ſaviour thereof in time of trouble, why ſhouldeſt thou be as a ſtranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man that turneth aſide to tarry for a night?

16 Give glory to the Lord your God, before he cauſe darkneſs, &c.) Confeſs your faults, and humble yourſelves under his mighty hand, before he bring upon you the night of affliction. Light is the emblem of joy, and happy times are expreſſed by bright and pleaſant days; as, on the contrary, troubles and calamities are repreſented by the night and darkneſs, when every thing has a melancholy and diſmal aſpect.

23 Can the Ethiopian change his ſkin? &c.) This paſſage imports the extreme difficulty of overcoming bad habits; cuſtom being a ſecond nature. For we are not to take the words in a ſtrict literal ſenſe, (for then it would have been of no conſequence for the prophet to have exhorted the people to amendment) but only extend their meaning ſo far as to denote that a moral change in habitual ſinners is almoſt as impoſſible as a natural one. Thus our bleſſed Saviour compares the difficulty of a rich man's entering into the kingdom of God, to a natural impoſſibility; namely, to a camel's paſſing through the eye of a needle: but he qualifies the compariſon by adding, what is impoſſible with men, is poſſible with God; that is, the grace of God can ſurmount ſuch difficulties as are impoſſible for nature to overcome, and in this ſenſe the compariſon of the prophet is to be underſtood.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh; they are black unto the ground, &c.) By the gates of Judah are meant the cities thereof, together with their inhabitants, who have left their cities deſolate, to ſeek for ſuſtenance. The people look black and ghaſtly, and caſt themſelves to the ground thro' grief and deſpair.

8 O the hope of Iſrael, the ſaviour thereof in time of trouble, why ſhouldeſt thou be a ſtranger in the land? &c.) Thou haſt given us many promiſes to dwell among us, why then ſhouldeſt thou behave thyſelf towards us as if thou waſt an entire ſtranger, and as one no more concerned for our welfare, than a traveller is for a place where he lodges only one night, and never expects to ſee it again?

9 Why ſhouldeſt thou be as a man aſtoniſhed, as a mighty man that cannot ſave? yet thou, O Lord, art in the midſt of us, and we are called by thy name; leave us not.

10 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord unto this people; Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet: therefore the Lord doth not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins.

11 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, Pray not for this people for their good.

12 When they faſt, I will not hear their cry; and when they offer burnt-offering and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will conſume them by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

13 ¶ Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God, behold, the prophets ſay unto them, Ye ſhall not ſee the ſword, neither ſhall ye have famine; but I will give you aſſured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, The prophets propheſy lyes in my name: I ſent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither ſpake unto them; they propheſy unto you a falſe viſion, and divination, and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the prophets that propheſy in my name, and I ſent them not, yet they ſay, Sword and famine ſhall not be in this land; By ſword and famine ſhall thoſe prophets be conſumed.

16 And the people to whom they propheſy ſhall be caſt out in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, becauſe of the famine and the ſword; and they ſhall have none to bury them, their wives, nor their ſons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedneſs upon them.

17 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay this word unto them; Let mine eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not ceaſe: for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous blow.

18 If I go forth into the field, then behold, the ſlain with the ſword; and if I enter into the city, then behold, them that are ſick with famine: yea, both the prophet and the prieſt go about into a land that they know not.

19 Haſt thou utterly rejected Judah? hath thy ſoul loathed Zion? why haſt thou ſmitten us, and there is no healing for us? we looked for peace, and there is no good; and for the time of healing, and behold, trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickedneſs, and the iniquity of our fathers: for we have ſinned againſt thee.

21 Do not abhor us, for thy name's ſake, do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory; remember, break not thy covenant with us.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cauſe rain? or can the heavens give ſhowers? art not thou he, O Lord our God? therefore we will wait upon thee: for thou haſt made all theſe things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The utter rejection and manifold judgments of the Jews. 10 Jeremiah complaining, 19 receiveth a gracious promiſe.

THEN ſaid the Lord unto me, Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people: caſt them out of my ſight, and let them go forth.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they ſay unto thee, Whither ſhall we go forth? then thou ſhalt tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord; Such as are for death, to death; and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword; and ſuch as are for the famine, to the famine; and ſuch as are for the captivity, to the captivity.

3 And I will appoint over them four kinds, ſaith the Lord: the ſword to ſlay; and the dogs to tear; and the fowls of the heaven, and the beaſts of the earth, to devour and deſtroy.

4 And I will cauſe them to be removed into all kingdoms of the earth; becauſe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Hezekiah king of Judah, for that which he did in Jeruſalem.

5 For who ſhall have pity upon thee, O Jeruſalem? or who ſhall bemoan thee, or who ſhall go aſide to aſk how thou doeſt?

6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, thou art gone backward: therefore will I ſtretch out my hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee; I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land; I will bereave them of children, I will deſtroy my people, ſince they return not from their ways.

8 Their widows are increaſed to me above the ſand of the ſeas; I have brought upon them, againſt the mother of the young men, a ſpoiler at noon-day: I have cauſed him to fall upon it ſuddenly, and terrors upon the city.

9 She that hath borne ſeven languiſheth: ſhe hath given up the ghoſt, her ſun is gone down while it was yet day: ſhe hath been aſhamed and confounded: and the reſidue of them will I deliver to the ſword before their enemies ſaith the Lord.

10 ¶ Woe is me, my mother, that thou haſt born me a man of ſtrife, and a man of contention to the whole earth! I have neither lent on uſury, nor men have lent to me on uſury, yet every one of them doth curſe me.

11 The Lord ſaid, Verily it ſhall be well with thy remnant, verily I will cauſe the enemy to entreat thee well in the time of evil, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall iron break the northern iron, and the ſteel?

13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſures will I give to the ſpoil without price, and that for all thy ſins, even in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to paſs with thine enemies into a land which thou knoweſt not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burn upon you.

---

21 Do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory, &c.) Jeruſalem is often called the city of God, as he was, in a peculiar manner, the king of the Jews, and this was his royal city, or chief ſeat of his kingdom; but the words are principally to be underſtood of the temple, and the prophet beſeeches God not to give up that ſtructure to be prophaned by infidels, the place which he had choſen for his peculiar reſidence, where he ſat between the cherubims as upon a throne.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people, &c.) As God had before forbidden Jeremiah to intercede for them, becauſe it was to no purpoſe, ſo he here declares that he would not hearken to the prayers of any other, though the moſt eminent favourites of God, in their behalf. Moſes obtained pardon for the people after their ſin in making the molten calf, and again after their deſpiſing the promiſed land. Samuel's interceſſion prevailed for their deliverance out of the hands of the Philiſtines; and therefore theſe two perſons are mentioned together, as remarkable for the prevalence of their prayers. But here the Almighty declares, that if theſe very perſons were alive, and in that near attendance on him which they formerly enjoyed, yet even their prayers ſhould not avert his judgments from theſe people.

9 Her ſun is gone down while it was yet day, &c.) She is like a young man who dieth in the midſt of his ſtrength: on a ſudden ſhe is overwhelmed with miſery, when ſhe might have expected a long continuance of happineſs.

15 O Lord, thou knoweſt: remember me, and viſit me and revenge me of my perſecutors; take me not away in thy long-ſuffering: know that for thy ſake I have ſuffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O Lord God of hoſts.

17 I ſat not in the aſſembly of the mockers, nor rejoiced; I ſat alone becauſe of thy hand; for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is my pain perpetual? and my wound incurable, which refuſeth to be healed? wilt thou be altogether unto me as a liar, and as waters that fail?

19 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, If thou return, then will I bring thee again, and thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be as my mouth: let them return unto thee; but return not thou unto them.

20 And I will make thee unto this people a fenced braſen wall; and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſave thee, and to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The utter ruin of the Jews foreſhewn. 14 Their return from captivity ſtranger than their deliverance out of Egypt.

THE word of the Lord came alſo unto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons or daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord concerning the ſons and concerning the daughters that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bare them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land;

4 They ſhall die of grievous deaths; they ſhall not be lamented: neither ſhall they be buried; but they ſhall be as dung upon the face of the earth; and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by famine; and their carcaſes ſhall be meat for the fowls of heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord; Enter not into the houſe of mourning, neither go to lament nor bemoan them: for I have taken away my peace from this people, ſaith the Lord, even loving-kindneſs and mercies.

6 Both the great and the ſmall ſhall die in this land: they ſhall not be buried, neither ſhall men lament for them, nor cut themſelves, nor make themſelves bald for them.

7 Neither ſhall men tear themſelves for them in mourning, to comfort them for the dead; neither ſhall men give them the cup of conſolation to drink for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting, to ſit with them to eat and to drink.

9 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride.

10 And it ſhall come to paſs when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe words, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great evil againſt us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our ſin that we have committed againſt the Lord our God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Becauſe your fathers have forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and have walked after other gods, and have ſerved them, and have worſhipped them, and have forſaken me, and have not kept my law;

12 And ye have done worſe than your fathers; for behold, ye walk every one after the imagination of his evil heart, that they may not hearken unto me:

13 Therefore will I caſt you out of this land, into a land that ye know not, neither ye nor your fathers; and there ſhall ye ſerve other gods day and night, where I will not ſhew you favour.

14 ¶ Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhall no more be ſaid, The Lord liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt;

15 But, the Lord liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them; and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers.

16 Behold, I will ſend for many fiſhers, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall fiſh them; and after will I ſend for many hunters and they ſhall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are upon all their ways, they are not hid from my face: neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.

18 And firſt I will recompenſe their iniquity and their ſin double; becauſe they have defiled my land, they have filled mine inheritance with the carcaſes of their deteſtable and abominable things.

19 O Lord, my ſtrength and my fortreſs, and my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and ſhall ſay, Surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit.

---

18 Wilt thou be altogether unto me as a liar, and as waters that fail?) Thou haſt promiſed to be my defence and protector againſt all mine enemies, and wilt thou altogether diſappoint and deceive me, like rivulets, which being dried up in the ſummer, diſappoint the thirſty traveller? The prophet here deſcribes the perplexities he laboured under from the continual oppoſitions he met with from ungodly men, in the execution of his office: but then he preſently checks ſuch thoughts, calls to mind the gracious promiſes of the Almighty, and encourages himſelf wholly to rely upon them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons nor daughters in this place.) Fruitfulneſs was promiſed as a bleſſing under the law, but ceaſed to be ſo in ſuch difficult times as were coming upon the Jewiſh nation: for parents could not promiſe themſelves any comfort in their children, who muſt be expoſed to the many miſeries that attend an hoſtile invaſion, and a conquering army.

16 Behold, I will ſend for many fiſhers—and they ſhall fiſh them; and after will I ſend for many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them, &c.) It is common for the ſacred writers to repreſent enemies and oppreſſors under the metaphors of fiſhers and hunters; becauſe they uſe all the methods of open force and ſecret ſtratagem, in order to make men their prey. Theſe two ſimilitudes imply, that the Chaldeans ſhall make an entire conqueſt of the whole land, and ſtrip it entirely of its riches and inhabitants; for what ſhall eſcape one party, ſhall fall into the hands of another.

19 O Lord, my ſtrength and my fortreſs—the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, &c.) To demonſtrate more emphatically the abſurdity of forſaking the true God, and apoſtatizing to idolatry, the prophet foretels that the time will come when the Gentiles themſelves ſhall be aſhamed of the idolatry they and their forefathers have ſo long been guilty of, humbly confeſs their ſin, and addreſs themſelves to the true God in all their wants, as their only rock, their refuge, and defence,

20 Shall a man make gods unto himself, and they are no gods?

21 Therefore behold, I will this once cause them to know, I will cause them to know mine hand and my might: and they shall know that my name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The captivity of Judah for sin. 5 Trust in man is cursed, 7 in God is blessed. 9 The deceitful heart cannot deceive God. 12 The salvation of God.

THE sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond: it is graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars:

2 Whilst their children remember their altars and their groves by the green trees upon the high hills.

3 O my mountain in the field, I will give thy substance and all thy treasures to the spoil, and thy high places for sin, throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou, even thyself, shalt discontinue from thine heritage that I gave thee; and I will cause thee to serve thine enemies in the land which thou knowest not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burn for ever.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the desert, and shall not see when good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 ¶ Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green, and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

9 ¶ The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked, who can know it?

10 I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.

11 As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool.

12 ¶ A glorious high throne from the beginning is the place of our sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountain of living waters.

14 Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise.

15 Behold, they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

16 As for me, I have not hastened from being a pastor to follow thee, neither have I desired the woeful day, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips was right before thee.

17 Be not a terror unto me, thou art my hope in the day of evil.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be dismayed, but let not me be dismayed: bring upon them the day of evil, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus said the Lord unto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem;

20 And say unto them, Hear ye the word of the Lord, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the sabbath-day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem.

22 Neither carry forth a burden out of your houses on the sabbath-day, neither do ye any work, but hallow ye the sabbath-day, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear nor receive instruction.

24 And it shall come to pass, if ye diligently hearken unto me saith the Lord, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath-day, but hallow the sabbath-day, to do no work therein.

25 Then shall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horses, they and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and this city shall remain for ever.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the south, bringing burnt-offerings and sacrifices, and meat-offerings and incense, and bringing sacrifices of praise unto the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not hearken unto me to hallow the sabbath-day, and not to bear a burden, even entering in at the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath-day: then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

1 The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond, &c.) The sin of Judah is written in indelible characters, like things engraven on tablets of stone, to preserve the memory of them to posterity. In like manner the Jewish altars, and other monuments of their idolatry, are undeniable tokens of the corrupt inclinations of their hearts, which are wholly estranged from the God of their fathers, and his worship.

5 Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, &c.) This alludes to the Jews confiding in the assistance which the Egyptians and other allies would afford them against the Babylonians, who, he tells them, would deceive them, and make them forfeit the divine protection.

10 I the Lord search the heart, &c.) Since there are so many corrupt inclinations lurking in the heart, it is very difficult for men, without the strictest examination of themselves, to know the sincerity of their own hearts, it being the property of God alone to know perfectly the whole bent and frame of the dispositions of the human race.

12 A glorious high throne from the beginning is the place of our sanctuary.) The kingdom of the Almighty is from everlasting: his throne is in heaven, the place of his peculiar residence, of which his temple at Jerusalem is but an imperfect resemblance. The words instruct the Jews to look up to God in the heavens, and not fancy the temple the only place from which they might address themselves to him, which made them think he would never forsake that seat of his residence, nor the city where he had placed his name.

25 Then shall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes sitting upon the throne of David, &c.) From hence it appears, that the judgments denounced against Jerusalem, at least as far as they threatened the city with utter destruction, were not irreversible: and, from Jeremiah's advice to Zedekiah (chap. xxxviii. 17) it may be concluded, that if the king had hearkened to that counsel, the city would not have been destroyed, and he himself might have continued a tributary king under Nebuchadnezzar.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Under the type of a potter, God ſheweth his abſolute power in diſpoſing of nations. 11 Judgments threatened to Judah.

THE word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, and go down to the potter's houſe, and there I will cauſe thee to hear my words.

3 Then I went down to the potter's houſe, and behold, he wrought a work on the wheels.

4 And the veſſel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter: ſo he made it again another veſſel, as ſeemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying,

6 O houſe of Iſrael, cannot I do with you as this potter? ſaith the Lord. Behold, as the clay is in the potter's hand, ſo are ye in mine hand, O houſe of Iſrael.

7 At what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom, to pluck up and to pull down and to deſtroy it.

8 If that nation againſt whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them.

9 And at what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom to build and to plant it;

10 If it do evil in my ſight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good wherewith I ſaid I would benefit them.

11 ¶ Now therefore go to, ſpeak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I frame evil againſt you, and deviſe a device againſt you: return ye now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings good.

12 And they ſaid, There is no hope: but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Aſk ye now among the heathen, who hath heard ſuch things? the virgin of Iſrael hath done a very horrible thing.

14 Will a man leave the ſnow of Lebanon which cometh from the rock of the field? or ſhall the cold flowing waters that come from another place be forſaken?

15 Becauſe my people hath forgotten me, they have burned incenſe to vanity, and they have cauſed them to ſtumble in their ways from the ancient paths, to walk in paths, in a way not caſt up;

16 To make their land deſolate, and a perpetual hiſſing; every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and wag his head.

17 I will ſcatter them as with an eaſt-wind before the enemy; I will ſhew them the back and not the face in the day of their calamity.

18 Then ſaid they, Come, and let us deviſe devices againſt Jeremiah; for the law ſhall not periſh from the prieſt, nor counſel from the wiſe, nor the word from the prophet: come, and let us ſmite him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words.

19 Give heed to me, O Lord, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall evil be recompenſed for good? for they have digged a pit for my ſoul. Remember that I ſtood before thee to ſpeak good for them, and to turn away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and pour out their blood by the force of the ſword; and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows; and let their men be put to death; let their young men be ſlain by the ſword in battle.

22 Let a cry be heard from their houſes, when thou ſhalt bring a troop ſuddenly upon them: for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid ſnares for my feet.

23 Yet, Lord, thou knoweſt all their counſel againſt me to ſlay me: forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their ſin from thy ſight; but let them be overthrown before thee: deal thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Under the type of breaking a potter's veſſel is foreſhewed the deſolation of the Jews.

THUS ſaith the Lord, Go and get a potter's earthen bottle, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the prieſts;

2 And go forth unto the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the eaſt-gate, and proclaim there the words that I ſhall tell thee,

3 And ſay, Hear ye the word of the Lord, O kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem; thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, the which whoſoever heareth, his ears ſhall tingle.

4 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and have eſtranged this place, and have burned incenſe in it unto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents;

5 They have built alſo the high places of Baal, to burn their ſons with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my mind:

6 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter.

7 And I will make void the counſel of Judah and Jeruſalem in this place, and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hands of them that ſeek their lives: and their carcaſes will I give to be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

8 I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them.) If we take repentance in a ſtrict and proper ſenſe, for a change of the inward purpoſes and reſolutions, it cannot be applied to God, according to the ſaying of Baalam, God is not a man that he ſhould repent. Whenever therefore repentance is aſcribed to God, it muſt be meant only of a change with regard to the outward adminiſtrations of his providence, and his dealing with men otherwiſe than he did before. Nor does this imply any change in God, but in ourſelves. He ſtill acts by the ſame rules: but we, according to our different behaviour, become the objects either of his favour or diſpleaſure.

18 Let us deviſe devices againſt Jeremiah, &c.) Let us accuſe him of being a falſe prophet; for his threatnings plainly contradict God's promiſes to his people, whereby we are aſſured that there ſhall always be a ſucceſſion of prieſts to explain the law, of ſcribes, or learned men, to elucidate the more difficult parts of it; and of prophets, to inſtruct the people in the knowledge of futurity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 Go and get a potter's earthen bottle, &c.) An earthen pitcher with a narrow neck to drink out of, called in the Hebrew backbuk. By this emblem, the prophet ſignified that the city and people might be as eaſily deſtroyed as an earthen veſſel could be broken, if the Almighty pleaſed.

8 And

8 And I will make this city deſolate, and an hiſſing: every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed and hiſs, becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will cauſe them to eat the fleſh of their ſons, and the fleſh of their daughters, and they ſhall eat every one the fleſh of his friend, in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs wherewith their enemies and they that ſeek their lives ſhall ſtraiten them.

10 Then ſhalt thou break the bottle in the ſight of the men that go with thee;

11 And ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts; Even ſo will I break this people, and this city, as one breaketh a potter's veſſel, that cannot be made whole again: and they ſhall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I do unto this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet.

13 And the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes of the kings of Judah ſhall be defiled as the place of Tophet, becauſe of all the houſes upon whoſe roofs they have burned incenſe unto all the hoſt of heaven, and have poured out drink-offerings unto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, whither the Lord had ſent him to prophefy; and he ſtood in the court of the Lord's houſe, and ſaid to all the people,

15 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will bring upon this city, and upon all her towns, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt it, becauſe they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paſhur, ſmiting Jeremiah, receiveth a new name, and a fearful doom. 7 Jeremiah complaineth of contempt, 10 of treachery, 14 and of his birth.

NOW Paſhur the ſon of Immer, the prieſt, who was alſo chief governor in the houſe of the Lord, heard that Jeremiah prophefied theſe things.

2 Then Paſhur ſmote Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the ſtocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the houſe of the Lord.

3 And it came to paſs on the morrow that Paſhur brought forth Jeremiah out of the ſtocks. Then ſaid Jeremiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Paſhur, but Magor-miſſabib.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee a terror to thyſelf, and to all thy friends, and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eyes ſhall behold it, and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall carry them captive into Babylon, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword.

5 Moreover, I will deliver all the ſtrength of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hand of their enemies, which ſhall ſpoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon.

6 And thou Paſhur, and all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhall go into captivity, and thou ſhalt come to Babylon, and there thou ſhalt die, and ſhalt be buried there, thou, and all thy friends, to whom thou haſt prophefied lies.

7 ¶ O Lord, thou haſt deceived me, and I was deceived: thou art ſtronger than I, and haſt prevailed: I am in deriſion daily, every one mocketh me.

8 For ſince I ſpake, I cried out, I cried violence and ſpoil; becauſe the word of the Lord was made a reproach unto me, and a deriſion daily.

9 Then I ſaid, I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeak any more in his name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire ſhut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not ſtay.

10 ¶ For I heard the defaming of many, fear on every ſide. Report, ſay they, and we will report it. All my familiars watched for my halting, ſaying, Peradventure he will be enticed, and we ſhall prevail againſt him, and we ſhall take our revenge on him.

11 But the Lord is with me as a mighty terrible one; therefore my perſecutors ſhall ſtumble, and they ſhall not prevail: they ſhall be greatly aſhamed; for they ſhall not proſper: their everlaſting confuſion ſhall never be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hoſts, that trieſt the righteous, and ſeeſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cauſe.

13 Sing unto the Lord, praiſe ye the Lord: for he hath delivered the ſoul of the poor from the hand of evil-doers.

14 ¶ Curſed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bare me be bleſſed.

15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, ſaying, A man-child is born unto thee; making him very glad.

16 And let that man be as the cities which the Lord overthrew, and repented not: and let him hear the cry in the morning, and the ſhouting at noon-tide:

17 Becauſe he ſlew me not from the womb; or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb to be always great with me.

18 Wherefore came I forth out of the womb to ſee labour and ſorrow; that my days ſhould be conſumed with ſhame?

---

9 I will cauſe them to eat the fleſh of their ſons, &c.) A terrible judgment threatened by Moſes, (Deut. xxviii. 53) and fulfilled in the ſiege of Jeruſalem.

12 And even make this city as Tophet.) That is, a place of ſlaughter.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 Now Paſhur the ſon of Immer the prieſt, who was alſo chief governor in the houſe of the Lord, &c.) The family of Immer was the ſixteenth in order of the four and twenty courſes of prieſts; and this Paſhur, by being head of his family, had a principal authority in directing the affairs of his temple; and therefore is here called chief governor, or a chief governor of the houſe of the Lord. But if we ſuppoſe Paſhur to have been, in a ſtrict ſenſe, chief, or ſupreme governor of the houſe of God, he ſeems to have been the ſame officer that is called Captain of the temple, Acts iv. 1.

7 O Lord, thou haſt deceived me, &c.) The following verſes contain the doleful reflections of Jeremiah on the ill ſucceſs of his prophecies, which had little effect upon others, and brought many calamities upon himſelf. The ſenſe of what he ſays is this, Thou haſt promiſed to be my ſafeguard againſt mine enemies, but I find myſelf diſappointed, and expoſed to all their malice.

11 But the Lord is with me as a mighty and terrible one, &c.) The prophet, having given vent to his melancholy reflections, begins to recollect himſelf, and to chear up his ſpirits by the comfortable promiſes he had received from the Almighty, by which he was aſſured that his enemies ſhould be diſappointed in the ill deſigns they had formed againſt him.

14 Curſed be the day wherein I was born, &c.) This and the following verſes repreſent the melancholy thoughts that oppreſſed the mind of the prophet, while he was ſtruggling with the reproach and malice of his enemies; and are written in a poetical ſtrain, like the lamentation of Job, wherein he expreſſes his wiſhes that he had never been born.

15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, &c.) I have already obſerved, that this lamentation is written in poetical figures, like the ancient funeral ſongs, in which every circumſtance, proper to raiſe the paſſions, is mentioned; and therefore not to be conſidered as ſo many expreſſions of indignation or malice, but rather of mourning and ſorrow. Of the ſame kind are thoſe beautiful figures in David's funeral ſong upon Saul and Jonathan, Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there by no dew, neither let there be rain upon you, &c. 2 Sam. i. 21.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Zedekiah enquireth the event of Nebuchadrezzar's war. 3 A hard ſiege foretold.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah ſent unto him Paſhur, the ſon of Melchiah, and Zephaniah, the ſon of Maaſeiah, the prieſt, ſaying,

2 Enquire, I pray thee of the Lord for us, (for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon maketh war againſt us,) if ſo be that the Lord will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us.

3 ¶ Then ſaid Jeremiah unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to Zedekiah,

4 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight againſt the king of Babylon, and againſt the Chaldeans, which beſiege you without the walls, and I will aſſemble them into the midſt of this city.

5 And I myſelf will fight againſt you with an outſtretched hand, and with a ſtrong arm, even in anger, and in fury, and in great wrath.

6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence.

7 And afterwards, ſaith the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his ſervants, and the people, and ſuch as are left in this city from the peſtilence, from the ſword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their life: and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword; he ſhall not ſpare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy.

8 And unto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord; Behold, I ſet before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Chal-deans that beſiege you, he ſhall live; and his life ſhall be unto him for a prey.

10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city for evil, and not for good, ſaith the Lord; it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire.

11 And touching the houſe of the king of Judah, ſay, Hear ye the word of the Lord;

12 O houſe of David, thus ſaith the Lord, Execute judgment in the morning, and deliver him that is ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor, leſt my fury go out like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, ſaith the Lord: which ſay, Who ſhall come down againſt us? or who ſhall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will puniſh you according to the fruit of your doings, ſaith the Lord: and I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof, and it ſhall devour all things round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 10 The judgment of Shallum, 20 of Coniah.

THUS ſaith the Lord, Go down to the houſe of the king of Judah, and ſpeak there this word.

2 And ſay, Hear the word of the Lord, O king of Judah, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David, thou and thy ſervants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates;

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, Execute ye judgment and righteouſneſs, and deliver the ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, nor the widow, neither ſhed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye do this thing indeed, then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this houſe kings, ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horſes, he and his ſervants, and his people.

5 But if ye will not hear theſe words, I ſwear by myſelf, ſaith the Lord, that this houſe ſhall become a deſolation.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the king's houſe of Judah, Thou art Gilead unto me, and the head of Lebanon: yet ſurely I will make thee a wilderneſs, and cities which are not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare deſtroyers againſt thee, every one with his weapons: and they ſhall cut down thy choice cedars, and caſt them into the fire.

8 And many nations ſhall paſs by this city, and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this great city?

9 Then they ſhall anſwer, Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worſhipped other gods, and ſerved them.

10 ¶ Weep ye not for the dead, neither bemoan him; but weep ſore for him that goeth away: for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native country.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord touching Shallum, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, which reigned inſtead of Joſiah his father, which went forth out of this place, He ſhall not return thither any more:

12 But he ſhall die in the place whither they have led him captive, and ſhall ſee this land no more.

13 Woe unto him that buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, and his chambers by wrong; that uſeth his neighbour's ſervice without wages, and giveth him not for his work;

14 That ſaith, I will build me a wide houſe, and large chambers, and cutteth him out windows; and it is cieled with cedar, and painted with vermilion!

15 Shalt thou reign becauſe thou cloſeſt thyſelf in cedar? Did not thy father eat and drink, and do judgment and juſtice, and then it was well with him?

16 He judged the cauſe of the poor and needy; then it was well with him: was not this to know me? ſaith the Lord.

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are not but for thy covetouſneſs, and for to ſhed innocent blood, and for oppreſſion, and for violence to do it.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning Je-

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord, &c.) Not that the king was touched with the repentance of his ſins, but that the prophet might pray unto God to take his plague away, as Pharoah intreated Moſes.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, &c.) A deſcription of Jeruſalem; the former denoting the lower part of the city which was ſurrounded by hills, and the latter mount Sion.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

10 Weep ye not for the dead, neither bemoan him, but weep ſore for him that goeth away, &c.) Weep not for Joſiah, for he is buried in peace, and taken away from the evil to come, but rather lament Jehoahaz his ſucceſſor, whom Pharaoh-necho hath carried captive into Egypt; from which he ſhall never return.

13 Woe unto him that buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, &c.) The prophet proceeds to denounce God's judgments againſt Jehoiakim, who it ſeems had built himſelf a ſtately palace in thoſe calamitous times, and took no care to pay the wages of his workmen; but ſupported his own luxury by oppreſſing thoſe who were to live by their labour; a crying ſin, too common among the great men of the world, though ſeverely prohibited both in the Old and New Teſtament.

Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah my brother! or, Ah ſiſter! they ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah lord! or, Ah his glory!

19 He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs, drawn and caſt forth beyond the gates of Jeruſalem.

20 ¶ Go up to Lebanon and cry; and lift up thy voice in Baſhan, and cry from the paſſages: for all thy lovers are deſtroyed.

21 I ſpake unto thee in thy proſperity; but thou ſaidſt, I will not hear: this hath been thy manner from thy youth, that thou obeyedſt not my voice.

22 The wind ſhall eat up all thy paſtures, and thy lovers ſhall go into captivity: ſurely then ſhalt thou be aſhamed and confounded for all thy wickedneſs.

23 O inhabitant of Lebanon, that makeſt thy neſt in the cedars, how gracious ſhalt thou be when pangs come upon thee, the pain as of a woman in travail!

24 As I live, ſaith the Lord, though Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the ſignet upon my right hand, yet would I pluck thee thence;

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that ſeek thy life, and into the hand of them whoſe face thou feareſt, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 And I will caſt thee out, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country, where ye were not born; and there ſhall ye die.

27 But to the land whereunto they deſire to return, thither ſhall they not return.

28 Is this man Coniah a deſpiſed broken idol? is he a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure? wherefore are they caſt out, he and his ſeed, and are caſt into a land which they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord:

30 Thus ſaith the Lord; Write ye this man childleſs, a man that ſhall not proſper in his days: for no man of his ſeed ſhall proſper, ſitting upon the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He propheſieth a reſtoration of the ſcattered flock. 9 Againſt falſe prophets.

WOE be unto the paſtors that deſtroy and ſcatter the ſheep of my paſture! ſaith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael againſt the paſtors that feed my people, Ye have ſcattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not viſited them; behold, I will viſit upon you the evil of your doings, ſaith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they ſhall be fruitful and increaſe.

4 And I will ſet up ſhepherds over them, which ſhall feed them; and they ſhall fear no more, nor be diſmayed, neither ſhall they be lacking, ſaith the Lord.

5 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will raiſe unto David a righteous Branch, and a King ſhall reign and proſper, and ſhall execute judgment and juſtice in the earth.

6 In his days Judah ſhall be ſaved, and Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely; and this is his name whereby he ſhall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.

7 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that they ſhall no more ſay, The Lord liveth, which brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt;

8 But, The Lord liveth, which brought up and which led the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael out of the north country, and from all countries whither I had driven them; and they ſhall dwell in their own land.

9 ¶ Mine heart within me is broken becauſe of the prophets; all my bones ſhake: I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome, becauſe of the Lord, and becauſe of the words of his holineſs.

10 For the land is full of adulterers; for becauſe of ſwearing the land mourneth, the pleaſant places of the wilderneſs are dried up, and their courſe is evil, and their force is not right.

11 For both prophet and prieſt are profane, yea, in my houſe have I found their wickedneſs, ſaith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way ſhall be unto them as ſlippery ways in the darkneſs; they ſhall be driven on, and fall therein: for I will bring evil upon them, even the year of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.

13 And I have ſeen folly in the prophets of Samaria; they propheſied in Baal, and cauſed my people Iſrael to err.

14 I have ſeen alſo in the prophets of Jeruſalem an horrible thing: they commit adultery and walk in lies: they ſtrengthen alſo the hands of evil-doers that none doth return from his wickedneſs: they are all of them unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jeruſalem is profaneneſs gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that propheſy unto you; they make you vain: they ſpeak a viſion of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They ſay ſtill unto them that deſpiſe me, The Lord hath ſaid, Ye ſhall have peace; and they ſay unto every one that walketh after the imagination of his own heart, No evil ſhall come upon you.

---

19 He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs, &c.) Jehoiakim was advanced to the throne of Judah by Pharoah-necho, king of Egypt, whoſe fortune he followed 'till the conqueſt of Egypt by the Chaldeans. After he had reigned three years, he was taken priſoner by Nebuchadrezzar, and put in irons, but afterwards releaſed, and made a tributary king. After three years obedience, Jehoiakim rebelled, in confidence of aſſiſtance from Egypt: in the tenth year of his reign, Nebuchadrezzar's army over-ran Judea, and, in the following year, beſieged Jeruſalem, and, in all probability, took Jehoiakim priſoner in ſome ſally he made upon them, killed him, and caſt out his dead body into the highway, like the carcaſe of an aſs, denying him the common rights of burial. Accordingly he is ſaid to have ſlept with, but not to have been buried with his fathers. 2 Kings xxiv. 6.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

2 Woe be unto the paſtors that deſtroy and ſcatter the ſheep of my paſture, ſaith the Lord.) By the word paſtors, the prophet means all governors both eccleſiaſtical and civil, which acceptation agrees with the prophet's complaint elſewhere, that the rulers, as well as their prieſts and prophets, were rather corrupters than reformers of the manners of the people.

6 In his days Judah ſhall be ſaved, and Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely.) This prophecy is in part fulfilled in all true believers, the myſtical Iſrael, but will receive its utmoſt completion when the Jewiſh nation ſhall be reſtored: a bleſſing foretold by moſt of the ancient prophets, who generally join Judah and Iſrael together, as equal ſharers in the bleſſing, being no longer two but one kingdom.

And this is his name whereby he ſhall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.) He ſhall be really what the title imports: he ſhall be Jehovah, or the true God, and our righteouſneſs, or the means of our juſtification.

18 For who hath ſtood in the counſel of the Lord, and hath perceived and heard his word? who hath marked his word, and heard it?

19 Behold, a whirlwind of the Lord is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind: it ſhall fall grievouſly upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord ſhall not return, until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter days ye ſhall conſider it perfectly.

21 I have not ſent theſe prophets, yet they ran: I have not ſpoken to them, yet they prophеſied.

22 But if they had ſtood in my counſel, and had cauſed my people to hear my words, then they ſhould have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.

23 Am I a God at hand, ſaith the Lord, and not a God afar off?

24 Can any hide himſelf in ſecret places that I ſhall not ſee him? ſaith the Lord: Do not I fill heaven and earth? ſaith the Lord.

25 I have heard what the prophets ſaid, that prophеſy lies in my name, ſaying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26 How long ſhall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophеſy lies? yea, they are prophets of the deceit of their own hearts;

27 Which think to cauſe my people to forget my name by their dreams, which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have forgotten my name, for Baal.

28 The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him ſpeak my word faithfully: what is the chaff to the wheat? ſaith the Lord.

29 Is not my word like as a fire? ſaith the Lord: and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?

30 Therefore behold, I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the Lord, that ſteal my words every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the Lord, that uſe their tongues, and ſay, He ſaith.

32 Behold, I am againſt them that prophеſy falſe dreams, ſaith the Lord, and do tell them, and cauſe my people to err by their lies and by their lightneſs, yet I ſent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they ſhall not profit this people at all, ſaith the Lord.

33 ¶ And when this people, or the prophet, or a prieſt ſhall aſk thee, ſaying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou ſhalt then ſay unto them, What burden? I will even forſake you, ſaith the Lord.

34 And as for the prophet, and the prieſt, and the people that ſhall ſay, The burden of the Lord, I will even puniſh that man and his houſe.

35 Thus ſhall ye ſay every one to his neighbour, and every one to his brother, What hath the Lord anſwered? and, What hath the Lord ſpoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord ſhall ye mention no more: for every man's word ſhall be his burden: for ye have perverted the words of the living God, of the Lord of hoſts our God.

37 Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the prophet, What hath the Lord anſwered thee? and, What hath the Lord ſpoken?

38 But ſince ye ſay, The burden of the Lord: therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe ye ſay this word, The burden of the Lord, and I have ſent unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſay, The burden of the Lord:

39 Therefore behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you, and I will forſake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and caſt you out of my preſence:

40 And I will bring an everlaſting reproach upon you, and a perpetual ſhame, which ſhall not be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 By good and bad figs, 4 he foreſheweth the reſtoration from captivity, 8 and the deſolation of Zedekiah and the reſt.

THE Lord ſhewed me, and behold, two baſkets of figs were ſet before the temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and ſmiths from Jeruſalem, and had brought them to Babylon.

2 One baſket had very good figs, even like the figs that are firſt ripe: and the other baſket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were ſo bad.

3 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, What ſeeſt thou, Jeremiah? and I ſaid, Figs: the good figs very good; and the evil, very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil.

4 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Like theſe good figs, ſo will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have ſent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good.

6 For I will ſet mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land, and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.

7 And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God: for they ſhall return unto me with their whole heart.

8 ¶ And as the evil figs, which cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil: (ſurely thus ſaith the Lord) ſo will I give Zedekiah the king of Judah and his princes, and the reſidue of Jeruſalem, that remain in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt.

19, 20 Behold, a whirlwind of the Lord is gone forth in fury, &c.) If theſe prophets had really known the purpoſes and intentions of the Almighty, they would not have ſaid Peace, peace (verſe 17) to the wicked, but have prophеſied a grievous deſtruction juſt ready to fall upon them; for that will certainly come to paſs, and the event fatally convince them of the truth of my prediction.

29 Is not my word like as a fire? ſaith the Lord: and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?) Theſe are the properties of my word, by which it may be diſtinguiſhed from all counterfeits. It is quick and powerful like fire, making its way through all oppoſition, and the threatnings it denounces will as certainly take hold of the ungodly, as fire does of the ſtubble or dry wood: and as a hammer breaketh the hardeſt rock in pieces, ſo is my word, when ſkilfully applied, able to break down the confidence of the moſt hardened ſinner.

Commentary on Chap. XXIV.

1 Two baſkets of figs were ſet before the temple of the Lord, &c.) The viſion repreſented two ſuch baſkets of figs as uſed to be offered up for firſt fruits at the temple. The good figs ſignified thoſe that were gone into captivity, and ſo ſaved their lives; and the bad figs thoſe that remained, and were yet ſubject to the ſword, famine, and peſtilence.

5 Like theſe good figs, ſo will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, &c.) The Jews, who remained in their own country, flattered themſelves with being more beloved by the Almighty than their brethren that were carried away captive. To check this vain confidence, God promiſed to ſhew the latter particular marks of his favour in a ſtrange land, and to pour out his diſpleaſure in a remarkable manner upon the former.

9 And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt, to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curſe in all places whither I ſhall drive them.

10 And I will ſend the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence among them, till they be conſumed from off the land, that I gave unto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Jeremiah reproving the Jews' diſobedience to the prophets, 8 foretelleth the ſeventy years captivity, 12 and after that, the deſtruction of Babylon.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that was the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon;

2 The which Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying,

3 From the thirteenth year of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, even unto this day (that is the three and twentieth year) the word of the Lord hath come unto me, and I have ſpoken unto you, riſing early and ſpeaking, but ye have not hearkened.

4 And the Lord hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, riſing early and ſending them, but ye have not hearkened, nor inclined your ear to hear.

5 They ſaid, Turn ye again now every one from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land that the Lord hath given unto you and to your fathers, for ever and ever:

6 And go not after other gods to ſerve them, and to worſhip them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will do you no hurt.

7 Yet ye have not hearkened unto me, ſaith the Lord; that ye might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands, to your own hurt.

8 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Becauſe ye have not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will ſend and take all the families of the north, ſaith the Lord, and Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and will bring them againſt this land, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, and againſt all theſe nations round about, and will utterly deſtroy them, and make them an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and perpetual deſolations.

10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the ſound of the millſtones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land ſhall be a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment; and theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon ſeventy years.

12 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs, when ſeventy years are accompliſhed, that I will puniſh the king of Babylon, and that nation, ſaith the Lord, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans, and will make it perpetual deſolations.

13 And I will bring upon that land all my words which I have pronounced againſt it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath propheſied againſt all the nations.

14 For many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of them alſo: and I will recompenſe them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael unto me, Take the wine-cup of this fury at my hand, and cauſe all the nations to whom I ſend thee to drink it.

16 And they ſhall drink, and be moved, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword that I will ſend among them.

17 Then took I the cup at the Lord's hand, and made all the nations to drink unto whom the Lord had ſent me;

18 To wit, Jeruſalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them a deſolation, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing, and a curſe; as it is this day.

19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his ſervants, and his princes, and all his people,

20 And all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philiſtines, and Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod,

21 Edom and Moab, and the children of Ammon,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the iſles which are beyond the ſea,

23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that are in the utmoſt corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mingled people that dwell in the deſert,

25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes,

26 And all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are upon the face of the earth; and the king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Drink ye, and be drunken, and ſpue, and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword which I will ſend among you.

28 And it ſhall be, if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drink, then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts; Ye ſhall certainly drink.

29 For lo, I begin to bring evil on the city which

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

4 And the Lord hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, &c.) There ſeems to have been ſeveral prophets, cotemporary with Jeremiah, though only two of them are mentioned in ſcripture, viz. Zephaniah, and Urijah the ſon of Shemaiah. From the time of Samuel, when the anſwers by Urim began to ceaſe, ſchools or ſeminaries for educating perſons for the prophetical office were eſtabliſhed; and God generally made choice of perſons educated in theſe ſchools to exerciſe this function. From the time of theſe ſchools of the prophets being ſettled, there was a ſucceſſion of prophets continued 'till the captivity, when the office began by degrees to ceaſe.

9 Perpetual deſolations.) It is a common obſervation, that the word olam does not always ſignify eternity in a ſtrict ſenſe, but is ſometimes taken for ſuch a duration as had a remarkable period to conclude it. Thus it is ſaid of a ſervant, He ſhall ſerve his maſter for ever, which the Jews expound 'till the next jubilee. In like manner the ſenſe of the word in this paſſage is to be reſtrained to the period of ſeventy years, mentioned verſe 11.

11 Seventy years.) This computation of ſeventy years captivity is to be reckoned from the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar, when that monarch made his firſt attempt upon Judea. From which time, to the firſt year of the reign of Cyrus over the Aſſyrian monarchy, is juſt ſeventy years.

20 And all the kings of the land of Uz, &c.) There are three perſons called Uz in ſcripture, who gave this appellation to three different countries: the ſon of Aram (Gen. x. 23) who is ſuppoſed to have ſettled in Syria near Damaſcus; the ſon of Nahor (Gen. xxii. 21) who ſettled in Arabia Deſerta; and the ſon of Eſau (Gen. xxxvi. 28) from whom Idumea was ſo called, and is the country here meant by the prophet.

26 And the king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them.) By Sheſhach is meant Babylon, as appears from chap. li. 48. The prophet ſometimes made uſe of dark circumvolutions in expreſſing the places they propheſied againſt: thus Iſaiah calls Babylon, the deſert of the ſea, and Jeruſalem, the valley of viſion.

is called by my name, and ſhould ye be utterly unpuniſhed? Ye ſhall not be unpuniſhed: for I will call for a ſword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

30 Therefore propheſy thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay unto them, The Lord ſhall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation; he ſhall mightily roar upon his habitation, he ſhall give a ſhout, as they that tread the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 A noiſe ſhall come even to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controverſy with the nations; he will plead with all fleſh: he will give them that are wicked to the ſword, ſaith the Lord.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, evil ſhall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth.

33 And the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they ſhall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they ſhall be dung upon the ground.

34 Howl, ye ſhepherds, and cry; and wallow yourſelves in the aſhes, ye principal of the flock: for the days of your ſlaughter and of your diſperſions are accompliſhed; and ye ſhall fall like a pleaſant veſſel.

35 And the ſhepherds ſhall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to eſcape.

36 A voice of the cry of the ſhepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock ſhall be heard: for the Lord hath ſpoiled their paſture.

37 And the peaceable habitations are cut down, becauſe of the fierce anger of the Lord.

38 He hath forſaken his covert as the lion: for their land is deſolate, becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor, and becauſe of his fierce anger.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Jeremiah exhorteth to repentance. 8 He is apprehended, 10 and arraigned. 12 His apology. 16 He is quit in judgment.

IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lord's houſe, and ſpeak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worſhip in the Lord's houſe, all the words that I command thee to ſpeak unto them; diminiſh not a word:

3 If ſo be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them, becauſe of the evil of their doings.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye will not hearken to me, to walk in my law which I have ſet before you.

5 To hearken to the words of my ſervants the prophets, whom I ſent unto you, both riſing up early, and ſending them, but ye have not hearkened.

6 Then will I make this houſe like Shiloh, and will make this city a curſe to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people, heard Jeremiah ſpeaking theſe words in the houſe of the Lord.

8 ¶ Now it came to paſs when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking all that the Lord had commanded him to ſpeak unto all the people, that the prieſts and the prophets, and all the people, took him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſurely die.

9 Why haſt thou propheſied in the name of the Lord, ſaying, This houſe ſhall be like Shiloh, and this city ſhall be deſolate without an inhabitant? And all the people were gathered againſt Jeremiah in the houſe of the Lord.

10 When the princes of Judah heard theſe things, then they came up from the king's houſe unto the houſe of the Lord, and ſat down in the entry of the new gate of the Lord's houſe.

11 Then ſpake the prieſts and the prophets unto the princes, and to all the people, ſaying, This man is worthy to die; for he hath propheſied againſt this city, as ye have heard with your ears.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Jeremiah unto all the princes, and to all the people, ſaying, The Lord ſent me to propheſy againſt this houſe, and againſt this city, all the words that ye have heard.

13 Therefore now amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the Lord your God; and the Lord will repent him of the evil that he hath pronounced againſt you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hand; do with me as ſeemeth good and meet unto you:

15 But know ye, for certain, that, if ye put me to death, ye ſhall ſurely bring innocent blood upon yourſelves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the Lord hath ſent me unto you, to ſpeak all theſe words in your ears.

16 ¶ Then ſaid the princes and all the people unto the prieſts, and to the prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath ſpoken to us in the name of the Lord our God.

17 Then roſe up certain of the elders of the land, and ſpake to all the aſſembly of the people, ſaying,

18 Micah the Moraſthite propheſied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and ſpake to all the people of Judah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become heaps, and the mountain of the houſe as the high places of a foreſt.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death? did he not fear the Lord, and beſought the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the evil which he had pronounced againſt them? Thus might we procure great evil againſt our ſouls.

20 And there was alſo a man that propheſied in the name of the Lord, Urijah the ſon of Shemaiah of Kirjath-jearim, who propheſied againſt this city, and againſt this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah:

21 And when Jehoiakim the king with all his mighty men, and all the princes, heard his words, the king ſought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard it he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt;

38 Becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor, &c.) The Hebrew word, which is tranſlated oppreſſor, ſignifies likewiſe a dove; and we are informed that the Aſſyrians bore the figure of a dove in their ſtandards; and from this ſymbol they might take the denomination.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

2 Stand in the court of the Lord's houſe, &c.) The great court where both men and women worſhipped, when they brought no ſacrifice; for then they were to carry it into the inner court, called the court of Iſrael.

18 Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, &c.) The Jews ſuppoſed this propheſy to have been fulfilled in the utter deſtruction of the ſecond temple by Titus, when Tarentius razed the very foundations of the city and temple; and by that means fulfilled the prediction of our bleſſed Saviour, that there ſhall not be left one ſtone above another.

22 And Jehoiakim the king ſent men into Egypt; namely, Elnathan, the ſon of Achbor, and certain men with him into Egypt:

23 And they fetched forth Urijah out of Egypt; and brought him unto Jehoiakim the king, who ſlew him with the ſword, and caſt his dead body into the graves of the common people.

24 Nevertheleſs, the hand of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, was with Jeremiah, that they ſhould not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Under the type of bonds and yokes he propheſieth the ſubduing the neighbouring kings unto Nebuchadnezzar.

IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them upon thy neck,

3 And ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the meſſengers which come to Jeruſalem unto Zedekiah king of Judah;

4 And command them to ſay unto their maſters, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſters;

5 I have made the earth, the man and the beaſt that are upon the ground, by my great power and by my out-ſtretched arm, and have given it unto whom it ſeemed meet unto me.

6 And now have I given all theſe lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant; and the beaſts of the field have I given him alſo to ſerve him.

7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him, and his ſon, and his ſon's ſon, until the very time of his land come: and then many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of him.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the nation and kingdom which will not ſerve the ſame Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I puniſh, ſaith the Lord, with the ſword, and with the famine, and with the peſtilence, until I have conſumed them by his hand.

9 Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your diviners, nor to your dreamers, nor to your enchanters, nor to your ſorcerers, which ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon:

10 For they prophely a lie unto you, to remove you far from your land, and that I ſhould drive you out, and ye ſhould periſh.

11 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him, thoſe will I let remain ſtill in their own land, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall till it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I ſpake alſo to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all theſe words, ſaying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him and his people, and live.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, as the Lord hath ſpoken againſt the nation that will not ſerve the king of Babylon?

14 Therefore hearken not unto the words of the prophets that ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon; for they propheſy a lie unto you.

15 For I have not ſent them, ſaith the Lord, yet they propheſy a lie in my name, that I might drive you out, and that ye might periſh, ye, and the prophets that propheſy unto you.

16 Alſo I ſpake to the prieſts, and to all this people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Hearken not to the words of your prophets, that propheſy unto you, ſaying, Behold, the veſſels of the Lord's houſe ſhall now ſhortly be brought again from Babylon; for they propheſy a lie unto you.

17 Hearken not unto them: ſerve the king of Babylon, and live. Wherefore ſhould this city be laid waſte?

18 But if they be prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them now make interceſſion to the Lord of hoſts, that the veſſels which are left in the houſe of the Lord, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and of Jeruſalem, go not to Babylon.

19 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts concerning the pillars, and concerning the ſea, and concerning the baſes, and concerning the reſidue of the veſſels that remain in this city,

20 Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah from Jeruſalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jeruſalem;

21 Yea, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael concerning the veſſels that remain in the houſe of the Lord, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and of Jeruſalem,

22 They ſhall be carried to Babylon, and there ſhall they be until the day that I viſit them, ſaith the Lord: then will I bring them up, and reſtore them to this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Hananiah's falſe prophecy. 10 He breaketh Jeremiah's yoke. 12 Jeremiah foretelleth of an iron yoke, 15 and Hananiah's death.

AND it came to paſs the ſame year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the ſon of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, ſpake unto me in the houſe of the Lord, in the preſence of the prieſts and of all the people, ſaying,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, &c.) There is a difficulty in the date of this prophecy, becauſe it plainly relates to the times of Zedekiah. Some ſuppoſe that the prophet might have it in charge to declare this decree of the Almighty in the reign of king Jehoiakim, which, however, he was not to execute 'till the time of Zedekiah. Others think that Jeremiah did not preſently execute ſome part of his orders, namely, the putting on bands and yokes upon his neck, which he wore during the reigns of Jehoiakim and Jeconiah, 'till the fourth year of Zedekiah: but perhaps the word Jehoiakim is, by the negligence of ſome tranſcriber, crept into the text inſtead of Zedekiah. This conjecture is conſiderably ſtrengthened by comparing the paſſage in queſtion, with the 3d, 12th and 20th verſes of this chapter, and with the beginning of the following.

7 His ſon, and his ſon's ſon, &c.) Viz. Evil-merodach and his ſon Belſhazzar.

9 Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your diviners, &c.) The Jews learned, together with the idolatrous rites of their neighbours, their arts of divination, and foretelling future events, the uſe of which was expreſsly forbidden by the law of Moſes.

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.

3 Within two full years will I bring again into this place all the veſſels of the Lord's houſe that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon.

4 And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah that went into Babylon, ſaith the Lord: for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah ſaid unto the prophet Hananiah in the preſence of the prieſts, and in the preſence of all the people that ſtood in the houſe of the Lord.

6 Even the prophet Jeremiah ſaid, Amen; the Lord do ſo, the Lord perform thy words which thou haſt propheſied, to bring again the veſſels of the Lord's houſe, and all that is carried away captive, from Babylon into this place.

7 Nevertheleſs, hear thou now this word that I ſpeak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people;

8 The prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, propheſied both againſt many countries and againſt great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of peſtilence.

9 The prophet which propheſieth of peace, when the word of the prophet ſhall come to paſs, then ſhall the prophet be known, that the Lord hath truly ſent him.

10 ¶ Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from off the prophet Jeremiah's neck, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even ſo will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations, within the ſpace of two full years. And the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the prophet (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah) ſaying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood, but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of iron.

14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all theſe nations, that they may ſerve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they ſhall ſerve him; and I have given him the beaſts of the field alſo.

15 ¶ Then ſaid the prophet Jeremiah unto Hananiah the prophet, Hear now, Hananiah, The Lord hath not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lie.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will caſt thee from off the face of the earth: this year thou ſhalt die, becauſe thou haſt taught rebellion againſt the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the ſame year in the ſeventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah's letter to the captives in Babylon. 20 The fearful end of Ahab and Zedekiah, two lying prophets.

NOW theſe are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet ſent from Jeruſalem unto the reſidue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the prieſts, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jeruſalem to Babylon.

2 (After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jeruſalem, and the carpenters, and the ſmiths were departed from Jeruſalem.)

3 By the hand of Elaſah, the ſon of Shaphan, and Gemariah, the ſon of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah ſent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon,) ſaying,

4 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, unto all that are carried away captives whom I have cauſed to be carried away from Jeruſalem unto Babylon.

5 Build ye houſes, and dwell in them: and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them;

6 Take ye wives and beget ſons and daughters; and take wives for your ſons, and give your daughters to huſbands, that they may bear ſons and daughters; that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed.

7 And ſeek the peace of the city whither I have cauſed you to be carried away captives: and pray unto the Lord for it; for in the peace thereof ſhall ye have peace.

8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Let not your prophets and your diviners, that be in the midſt of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cauſe to be dreamed.

9 For they propheſy falſely unto you in my name; I have not ſent them, ſaith the Lord.

10 For thus ſaith the Lord, That after ſeventy years be accompliſhed at Babylon I will viſit you, and perform my good word toward you, in cauſing you to return to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, ſaith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end.

12 Then ſhall ye call upon me, and ye ſhall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you.

13 And ye ſhall ſeek me, and find me, when ye ſhall ſearch for me with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, ſaith the Lord; and I will turn away your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places whither I have driven you, ſaith the Lord; and I will bring you again into the place whence I cauſed you to be carried away captive.

15 Becauſe ye have ſaid, The Lord hath raiſed us up prophets in Babylon;

16 Know that thus ſaith the Lord of the king that ſitteth upon the throne of David, and of all the peo-

Commentary on Chap. XXVIII.

2 I have broken the yoke, &c.) That tyrannical power which Nebuchadnezzar exerciſes, of which Jeremiah's bonds and yokes were figures.

4 And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah, &c.) This was joyful news to the people, who looked upon Zedekiah only as a deputy or viceroy under Nebuchadnezzar.

16 This year thou ſhalt die, &c.) As Hananiah had limited the accompliſhment of his prophecy to the ſpace of two years, in order to gain credit with the people by ſo punctual a prediction; ſo Jeremiah confines the proof of his veracity to a much ſhorter time; the event being exactly conformable, evidently ſhewed the falſehood of the other's pretences.

Commentary on Chap. XXIX.

5, 6 Build ye houſes, and dwell in them, &c.) The prophet gives them this advice, to check their hopes of a ſpeedy return from Babylon, with which they had been flattered by their falſe prophets.

14 And I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places whither I have driven you, &c.) This prediction was directly ſpoken to thoſe who were carried captives with Jeconiah, and fulfilled in their reſtoration under Cyrus. But the prophecy being ſo large and general may be ſuppoſed to relate to that reſtoration ſo often foretold by the ancient prophets.

ple

ple that dwelleth in this city, and of your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivity;

17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will ſend upon them the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil.

18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, with the famine, and with the peſtilence, and will deliver them to be removed to all the kingdoms of the earth, to be a curſe and an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and a reproach among all the nations whither I have driven them:

19 Becauſe they have not hearkened to my words, ſaith the Lord, which I ſent unto them by my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early and ſending them: but ye would not hear, ſaith the Lord.

20 ¶ Hear ye, therefore, the word of the Lord, all ye of the captivity, whom I have ſent from Jeruſalem to Babylon:

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, of Ahab the ſon of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the ſon of Maaſeiah, which propheſy a lie unto you in my name; Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and he ſhall ſlay them before your eyes.

22 And of them ſhall be taken up a curſe by all the captivity of Judah which are in Babylon, ſaying, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roaſted in the fire;

23 Becauſe they have committed villainy in Iſrael, and have committed adultery with their neighbours' wives, and have ſpoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them; even I know and am a witneſs, ſaith the Lord.

24 Thus ſhalt thou alſo ſpeak to Shemaiah, the Nehelamite, ſaying,

25 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name unto all the people that are at Jeruſalem, and to Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, and to all the prieſts, ſaying,

26 The Lord hath made thee prieſt in the ſtead of Jehoiada the prieſt, that ye ſhould be officers in the houſe of the Lord, for every man that is mad, and maketh himſelf a prophet, that thou ſhouldſt put him in priſon, and in the ſtocks.

27 Now therefore why haſt thou not reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which maketh himſelf a prophet to you?

28 For therefore he ſent unto us in Babylon, ſaying, This captivity is long, build ye houſes, and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

29 And Zephaniah the prieſt read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet.

30 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

31 Send to all them of the captivity, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Becauſe that Shemaiah hath propheſied unto you, and I ſent him not, and he cauſed you to truſt in a lie;

32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will puniſh Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his ſeed: he ſhall not have a man to dwell among this people, neither ſhall he behold the good that I will do for my people, ſaith the Lord, becauſe he hath taught rebellion againſt the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Jews' return. 10 Jacob comforted. 18 Their return ſhall be gracious.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, Write thee all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee in a book.

3 For lo, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will bring again the captivity of my people Iſrael and Judah, ſaith the Lord, and I will cauſe them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they ſhall poſſeſs it.

4 And theſe are the words that the Lord ſpake concerning Iſrael and concerning Judah:

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace.

6 Aſk ye now, and ſee whether a man doth travail with child? wherefore do I ſee every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in travail, and all faces are turned unto paleneſs?

7 Alas, for that day is great, ſo that none is like it: it is even the time of Jacob's trouble, but he ſhall be ſaved out of it.

8 For it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, that I will break his yoke from off thy neck, and will burſt thy bonds, and ſtrangers ſhall no more ſerve themſelves of him.

9 But they ſhall ſerve the Lord their God, and David their king, whom I will raiſe up unto them.

10 ¶ Therefore fear thou not, O my ſervant Jacob, ſaith the Lord; neither be diſmayed, O Iſrael: for lo, I will ſave thee from afar, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob ſhall return, and ſhall be in reſt and be quiet, and none ſhall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to ſave thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have ſcattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee: but I will correct thee in meaſure, and will not leave thee altogether unpuniſhed.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Thy bruiſe is incurable, and thy wound is grievous.

13 There is none to plead thy cauſe, that thou mayeſt be bound up: thou haſt no healing medicines.

14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee: they ſeek thee not, for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with the chaſtiſement of a cruel one, for the multitude of thine iniquity: becauſe thy ſins were increaſed.

---

26 The Lord hath made thee prieſt in the ſtead of Jehoiada the prieſt, &c.) Shemaiah directs the words of his letter to Zephaniah in the firſt place, as being next in order to the high-prieſt, and tells him that God had appointed him to ſupply the place of the high-prieſt, who was probably abſent at that time; his name was either Azariah, or Seraiah his ſon, but called Jehoiada, from the remarkable zeal and courage of that pontiff.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

6 Aſk ye now, and ſee whether a man doth travail with child? &c.) All men ſeem to carry that concern in their countenances, and diſcover that uneaſineſs in their behaviour, from the apprehenſion of approaching evils, as is common to women when they draw near the time of their travail.

7 Alas, for that day is great, ſo that none is like it, &c.) The word day often comprehends a ſucceſſion of time, in which a whole ſeries of events is tranſacted; ſo it here contains the whole time of the ſiege and taking of Jeruſalem, the deſtruction of the city and temple, and the carrying away the people captive. This is deſcribed as a time of great tribulation, in which it was an earneſt of the day of judgment, called The great and terrible day of the Lord.

9 And David their king, &c.) That is, the Meſſiah, who is often called by the name of David in the prophets, as a perſon in whom all the promiſes made to David were fulfilled.

15 Why crieſt thou for thine affliction? thy ſorrow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquity: becauſe thy ſins were increaſed, I have done theſe things unto thee.

16 Therefore all they that devour thee ſhall be devoured; and all thine adverſaries, every one of them ſhall go into captivity; and they that ſpoil thee ſhall be a ſpoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey.

17 For I will reſtore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, ſaith the Lord; becauſe they called thee an Outcaſt, ſaying, This is Zion, whom no man ſeeketh after.

18 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents, and have mercy on his dwelling-places; and the city ſhall be builded upon her own heap, and the palace ſhall remain after the manner thereof.

19 And out of them ſhall proceed thankſgiving, and the voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they ſhall not be few; I will alſo glorify them, and they ſhall not be ſmall.

20 Their children alſo ſhall be as aforetime, and their congregation ſhall be eſtabliſhed before me, and I will puniſh all that oppreſs them.

21 And their nobles ſhall be of themſelves; and their governor ſhall proceed from the midſt of them: and I will cauſe him to draw near, and he ſhall approach unto me: for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? ſaith the Lord.

22 And ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

23 Behold, the whirlwind of the Lord goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind; it ſhall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce anger of the Lord ſhall not return until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter days ye ſhall conſider it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The reſtoration of Iſrael. 22 Chriſt is promiſed. 27 His care over the church.

AT the ſame time, ſaith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Iſrael, and they ſhall be my people.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, The people which were left of the ſword found grace in the wilderneſs; even Iſrael, when I went to cauſe him to reſt.

3 The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, ſaying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlaſting love; therefore with loving-kindneſs have I drawn thee.

4 Again I will build thee, and thou ſhalt be built, O virgin of Iſrael: thou ſhalt again be adorned with thy tabrets, and ſhalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry.

5 Thou ſhalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria: the planters ſhall plant, and ſhall eat them as common things.

6 For there ſhall be a day that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim ſhall cry, Ariſe ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the Lord our God.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord, Sing with gladneſs for Jacob, and ſhout among the chief of the nations: publiſh ye, praiſe ye, and ſay, O Lord, ſave thy people, the remnant of Iſrael.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coaſts of the earth, and with them the blind and the lame, the woman with child, and her that travaileth with child together: a great company ſhall return thither.

9 They ſhall come with weeping, and with ſupplications will I lead them: I will cauſe them to walk by the rivers of waters in a ſtraight way wherein they ſhall not ſtumble: for I am a father to Iſrael, and Ephraim is my firſt-born.

10 Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the iſles afar off, and ſay, He that ſcattered Iſrael will gather him, and keep him as a ſhepherd doth his flock.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ranſomed him from the hand of him that was ſtronger than he.

12 Therefore they ſhall come and ſing in the height of Zion, and ſhall flow together to the goodneſs of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock, and of the herd, and their ſoul ſhall be as a watered garden; and they ſhall not ſorrow any more at all.

13 Then ſhall the virgin rejoice in the dance, both young men and old together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their ſorrow.

14 And I will ſatiate the ſoul of the prieſts with fatneſs, and my people ſhall be ſatisfied with my goodneſs, ſaith the Lord.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord, A voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation, and bitter weeping; Rachel weeping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not.

21 I will cauſe him to draw near, and he ſhall approach unto me, &c.) He ſhall have a near attendance upon me; for I will make him a prieſt to me, as well as a king, according to that prophecy concerning the Meſſiah, Thou art a prieſt for ever, after the order of Melchiſedek. Pſalm cx.

24 In the latter days ye ſhall conſider it.) Or rather, underſtand it. The latter days may ſignify the time to come, but it commonly implies the times under the goſpel, as being the laſt diſpenſation, and what ſhould continue to the end of the world. If we take the phraſe in this ſenſe, the words import, that when all theſe evils are come upon you, which God hath threatened againſt your diſobedience, and particularly for your heinous crime in rejecting the Meſſiah; and you have found the denunciations of the prophets verified in ſeveral captivities you have undergone; then you will underſtand the import of this and ſeveral other prophecies, and the event will perfectly inſtruct you in their meaning.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

4 Again I will build thee, and thou ſhalt be built, O virgin of Iſrael, &c.) Thy inhabitants ſhall be again reſtored to thee, who ſhall rebuild their cities and habitations, that lay deſolate during the time of their captivity. The Jews are called the virgin of Iſrael, to imply that, by repentance and reformation, they have waſhed away the ſtains of their former idolatries, ſo often compared to whoredoms in the ſacred writings.

6 For there ſhall be a day, that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim ſhall cry, Ariſe ye, &c.) When the prophets foretel the general converſion of the Jews, they often ſpeak of Judah and Iſrael, as no longer in a ſtate of ſeparation, but united together under one king, the Meſſiah. The expreſſions, Ariſe ye, &c. allude to the Jews going in companies to Jeruſalem, at the three ſolemn feaſts of the year. By the word watchmen, may be underſtood thoſe evangelical preachers, who ſhall be inſtruments in converting the Jews, and bringing them into the boſom of the church.

15 A voice was heard in Ramah—Rachel weeping for her children, &c.) The prophet deſcribes the lamentations in and about Jeruſalem, at the time of the ſeveral captivities, under the metaphor of a mother lamenting over her dead children. The mournful ſcene is laid in Ramah, in the tribe of Benjamin, and Rachel the mother of that tribe is introduced as chief mourner on ſo ſad an occaſion. This figurative repreſentation was, in a great meaſure, literally fulfilled, when Herod ſlew the infants at Bethlehem, the place where Rachel was buried; and therefore ſhe may, with great propriety, be repreſented as ariſing from her grave, and lamenting the death of her innocent children.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy work ſhall be rewarded, ſaith the Lord; and they ſhall come again from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine end, ſaith the Lord, that thy children ſhall come again to their own border.

18 I have ſurely heard Ephraim bemoaning himſelf thus; Thou haſt chaſtiſed me, and I was chaſtiſed, as a bullock unaccuſtomed to the yoke: turn thou me, and I ſhall be turned: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was inſtructed, I ſmote upon my thigh: I was aſhamed, yea, even confounded, becauſe I did bear the reproach of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my dear ſon? is he a pleaſant child? for ſince I ſpake againſt him, I do earneſtly remember him ſtill; therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will ſurely have mercy upon him, ſaith the Lord.

21 Set thee up way-marks, make thee high heaps; ſet thine heart toward the highway, even the way which thou wenteſt: turn again, O virgin of Iſrael, turn again to theſe thy cities.

22 ¶ How long wilt thou go about, O thou backſliding daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth, A woman ſhall compaſs a man.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; As yet they ſhall uſe this ſpeech in the land of Judah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring again their captivity, The Lord bleſs thee, O habitation of juſtice, and mountain of holineſs.

24 And there ſhall dwell in Judah itſelf, and in all the cities thereof together, huſbandmen, and they that go forth with flocks.

25 For I have ſatiated the weary ſoul, and I have repleniſhed every ſorrowful ſoul.

26 Upon this I awaked, and beheld; and my ſleep was ſweet unto me.

27 ¶ Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſow the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah with the ſeed of man and with the ſeed of beaſt.

28 And it ſhall come to paſs, that like as I have watched over them to pluck up, and to break down, and to deſtroy, and to afflict; ſo will I watch over them to build and to plant, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe days they ſhall ſay no more, The fathers have eaten a ſour grape, and the children's teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But every one ſhall die for his own iniquity: every man that eateth the ſour grape, his teeth ſhall be ſet on edge.

31 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the houſe of Iſrael and with the houſe of Judah:

32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an huſband unto them, ſaith the Lord;

33 But this ſhall be the covenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

34 And they ſhall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying, Know the Lord; for they ſhall all know me, from the leaſt of them unto the greateſt of them, ſaith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their ſin no more.

35 Thus ſaith the Lord, which giveth the ſun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the ſtars for a light by night, which divideth the ſea when the waves thereof roar; The Lord of hoſts is his name.

36 If thoſe ordinances depart from before me, ſaith the Lord, then the ſeed of Iſrael alſo ſhall ceaſe from being a nation before me for ever.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord; If heaven above can be meaſured, and the foundations of the earth ſearched out beneath, I will alſo caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael for all that they have done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that the city ſhall be built to the Lord, from the tower of Hananeel unto the gate of the corner.

39 And the meaſuring-line ſhall yet go forth over againſt it, upon the hill Gareb, and ſhall compaſs about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the aſhes, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron, unto the corner of the horſe-gate toward the eaſt, ſhall be holy unto the Lord: it ſhall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more for ever.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Jeremiah's impriſonment. 16 His complaint to God. 26 The captivity confirmed. 36 A promiſe of a gracious return.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar.

2 For then the king of Babylon's army beſieged Jeruſalem: and Jeremiah the prophet was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, which was in the king of Judah's houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had ſhut him up, ſaying, Wherefore doſt thou propheſy, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it.

4 And Zedekiah king of Judah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but ſhall ſurely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and ſhall ſpeak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his eyes.

5 And he ſhall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there ſhall he be until I viſit him, ſaith the Lord: though ye fight with the Chaldeans, ye ſhall not proſper.

17 And there is hope in thine end, &c.) Though theſe of the preſent age do not live to ſee a return from captivity, yet their poſterity ſhall enjoy that bleſſing. This was particularly fulfilled with reſpect to the tribe of Benjamin in their return under Cyrus.

22 For the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth, &c.) Moſt Chriſtian writers underſtand this paſſage of the miraculous conception of the virgin Mary. Nor will it be thought that ſuch a prophecy concerning the conception of Chriſt is here inſerted abruptly, if it be conſidered that as the coming of the Meſſiah is the foundation of all the promiſes both of the firſt and ſecond covenant, ſo it contains the moſt powerful arguments to perſuade men to obedience; and that covenant, of which Chriſt was to be the mediator, is plainly foretold and deſcribed in the thirty-firſt and following verſes of this chapter.

31 I will make a new covenant with the houſe of Iſrael, &c.) This muſt be meant of the evangelical covenant, as the text is expounded by St. Paul, Heb. viii. 8. x. 16.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

3 Wherefore doſt thou propheſy? &c.) This refers to the prophecy at chap. xxxiv. 2. Jeremiah's prophecies are put together without any order of time.

6 And Jeremiah ſaid, The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel the ſon of Shallum thine uncle ſhall come unto thee, ſaying, Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth: for the right of redemption is thine to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine uncle's ſon came to me in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the Lord, and ſaid unto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of inheritance is thine, and the redemption is thine; buy it for thyſelf: then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncle's ſon, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the money, even ſeventeen ſhekels of ſilver.

10 And I ſubſcribed the evidence, and ſealed it, and took witneſſes, and weighed him the money in the balances.

11 So I took the evidence of the purchaſe, both that which was ſealed according to the law and cuſtom, and that which was open.

12 And I gave the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah the ſon of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine uncle's ſon, and in the preſence of the witneſſes that ſubſcribed the book of the purchaſe, before all the Jews that ſat in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Take theſe evidences, this evidence of the purchaſe both which is ſealed, and this evidence which is open; and put them in an earthen veſſel, that they may continue many days.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Houſes, and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed again in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, I prayed unto the Lord, ſaying,

17 Ah, Lord God, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and ſtretched-out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee:

18 Thou ſheweſt loving-kindneſs unto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquity of the fathers into the boſom of their children after them: the Great, the Mighty God, the Lord of hoſts is his name.

19 Great in counſel, and mighty in work: for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the ſons of men, to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:

20 Which haſt ſet ſigns and wonders in the land of Egypt, even unto this day, and in Iſrael, and among other men; and haſt made thee a name, as at this day:

21 And haſt brought forth thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſigns, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and with a ſtretched-out arm, and with great terror:

22 And haſt given them this land, which thou didſt ſwear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey:

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it; but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law: they have done nothing of all that thou commandedſt them to do: therefore thou haſt cauſed all this evil to come upon them.

24 Behold the mounts, they are come unto the city to take it: and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans that fight againſt it, becauſe of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence: and what thou haſt ſpoken is come to paſs; and behold, thou ſeeſt it:

25 And thou haſt ſaid unto me, O Lord God, Buy thee the field for money, and take witneſſes; for the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all fleſh: Is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it:

29 And the Chaldeans, that fight againſt this city, ſhall come and ſet fire on this city, and burn it, with the houſes upon whoſe roofs they have offered incenſe unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other gods, to provoke me to anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael and the children of Judah have only done evil before me from their youth: for the children of Iſrael have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 For this city hath been to me as a provocation of mine anger, and of my fury, from the day that they built it, even unto this day, that I ſhould remove it from before my face:

32 Becauſe of all the evil of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their prieſts, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem:

33 And they have turned unto me the back, and not the face; though I taught them riſing up early, and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive inſtruction.

34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (which is called by my name) to defile it.

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to cauſe their ſons and their daughters to paſs through the fire unto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they ſhould do this abomination to cauſe Judah to ſin.

36 ¶ And now therefore thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, concerning this city, whereof ye ſay, It ſhall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence:

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countries whither I have driven them in mine anger and in my

---

17 Ah, Lord God, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth, &c.) This prayer begins with an acknowledgment of God's infinite power, which is ſufficiently manifeſt, both in the works of creation and providence, whereby he ſhews himſelf wonderful in his mercies, and terrible in his judgments.

19 Great in counſel, and mighty in work, &c.) Who art infinitely wiſe in ordering all events, and as powerful in putting thy decrees in execution.

31 From the day that they built it, &c.) David was the builder of that part of Jeruſalem called Sion, therefore ſtiled the city of David. He alſo improved and enlarged the whole city of Jeruſalem, and made it the ſeat of the kingdom. But we do not read that idolatry, the ſin ſpoken of, was committed here in David's time; ſo that the expreſſion ſeems to be hyperbolical, like that of Iſaiah xlviii 8. where God, ſpeaking of the profaneneſs of the Jews, ſaith, Thou waſt called a tranſgreſſor from the womb, that is, from the very time of their living in Egypt. If we take the words in a ſtricter ſenſe, they muſt be underſtood of the time of Solomon, who beautified the city by erecting the temple and other ſtately buildings, but afterwards defiled it with idolatry.

fury and in great wrath; and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely;

38 And they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them one heart and one way that they may fear me for ever, for the good of them and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlaſting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land aſſuredly, with my whole heart and with my whole ſoul.

42 For thus ſaith the Lord; Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, ſo will I bring upon them all the good that I have promiſed them.

43 And fields ſhall be bought in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt; it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

44 Men ſhall buy fields for money, and ſubſcribe evidences, and ſeal them, and take witneſſes in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the ſouth: for I will cauſe their captivity to return, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 A return promiſed. 15 Chriſt the Branch of righteouſneſs.

MOREOVER, the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the ſecond time, (while he was yet ſhut up in the court of the priſon,) ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, to eſtabliſh it; the Lord is his name;

3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, and ſhew thee great and mighty things, which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this city, and concerning the houſes of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the ſword;

5 They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlain in mine anger, and in my fury, and for all whoſe wickedneſs I have hid my face from this city.

6 Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth.

7 And I will cauſe the captivity of Judah, and the captivity of Iſrael, to return, and will build them as at the firſt.

8 And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, whereby they have ſinned againſt me; and I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have ſinned, and whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they ſhall fear and tremble for all the goodneſs and for all the proſperity that I procure unto it.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord, Again there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay, ſhall be deſolate without man and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt)

11 The voice of joy, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay, Praiſe the Lord of hoſts, for the Lord is good, for his mercy endureth for ever, and of them that ſhall bring the ſacrifice of praiſe into the houſe of the Lord; for I will cauſe to return the captivity of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Again in this place which is deſolate without man and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof, ſhall be an habitation of ſhepherds cauſing their flocks to lie down.

13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the ſouth, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hands of him that telleth them, ſaith the Lord.

14 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Judah.

15 ¶ In thoſe days, and at that time, will I cauſe the Branch of righteouſneſs to grow up unto David; and he ſhall execute judgment and righteouſneſs in the land.

16 In thoſe days ſhall Judah be ſaved, and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely: and this is the name wherewith ſhe ſhall be called, The Lord our righteouſneſs.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord, David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael:

18 Neither ſhall the prieſts, the Levites, want a man before me to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do ſacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

20 Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon:

21 Then may alſo my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his throne, and with the Levites the prieſts, my miniſters.

22 As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites that miniſter unto me.

---

40 I will make an everlaſting covenant with them, &c.) The Jewiſh covenant, with reſpect to the ceremonial ordinances contained in it, is ſometimes called an everlaſting covenant, becauſe theſe ordinances were to continue for a long ſucceſſion of time, called olam, in the Hebrew language, and to laſt 'till the new olam, or age of the Meſſiah. But when this expreſſion is applied to the goſpel covenant, it has a peculiar emphaſis; importing, that it ſhall never be aboliſhed, or give way to any other diſpenſation.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, &c.) An expreſſion intimating the favour and loving-kindneſs of the Almighty, that he is ready to comply with the firſt intimations of the deſires of his ſervants. God, thus directing his diſcourſe to Jeremiah, not only denotes his kindneſs towards the prophet, but alſo implies the affection he ſtill bore to his people, for whom the prophet ſo earneſtly interceded, and whoſe welfare he had ſo greatly at heart.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, &c.) God's ſpecial providence over the Jews, in reſtoring their city and temple, ſhall be remarked by the heathen world, and cauſe all the inhabitants of the earth to give glory to the God they worſhipped.

11 Praiſe the Lord, &c.) We read that thoſe who returned from captivity uſed this very hymn. Ezra iii. 11.

22 As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbered, &c.) This relates to the promiſe made to Abraham, of multiplying his ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, Gen. xxii. 17. If we conſider the literal ſenſe of this promiſe, as fulfilled when the Jews firſt peopled the land of Canaan; it is wonderful to reflect on the vaſt numbers of inhabitants who dwelt in Judea, a country not above 160 miles in length, and about 120 in breadth, if we take in all the country on the other ſide of Jordan, to the borders of Arabia: and yet in David's time there reckoned above fifteen hundred thouſand fighting men. 1 Chron. xxi. 5.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, ſaying,

24 Conſidereſt thou not what this people have ſpoken, ſaying, The two families which the Lord hath choſen, he hath even caſt them off? Thus they have deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord, If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth;

26 Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Jacob, and David my ſervant, ſo that I will not take any of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: for I will cauſe their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Jeremiah propheſieth the captivity of Zedekiah, and the city.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth of his dominion, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, Go, and ſpeak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire.

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes ſhall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon.

4 Yet hear the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah, Thus ſaith the Lord of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword;

5 But thou ſhalt die in peace: and with the burnings of thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burn odours for thee, and they will lament thee, ſaying, Ah lord! for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jeruſalem:

7 When the king of Babylon's army fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Judah that were left, againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe defenced cities remained of the cities of Judah.

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jeruſalem, to proclaim liberty unto them;

9 That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant, being an Hebrew, or an Hebreweſs, go free, that none ſhould ſerve himſelf of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother.

10 Now, when all the princes, and all the people which had entered into the covenant, heard that every one ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every one his maid-ſervant go free, that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, then they obeyed, and let them go.

11 But afterwards they turned and cauſed the ſervants, and the hand-maids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into ſubjection for ſervants and for hand-maids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bond-men, ſaying,

14 At the end of ſeven years, let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been ſold unto thee, and when he hath ſerved thee ſix years, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ear.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the houſe which is called by my name.

16 But ye turned and polluted my name, and cauſed every man his ſervant, and every man his hand-maid, whom he had ſet at liberty at their pleaſure, to return, and brought them into ſubjection, to be unto you for ſervants, and for hand-maids.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, ſaith the Lord, to the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, and I will make you to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the eunuchs, and the prieſts, and all the people of the land, which paſſed between the parts of the calf.

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life; and their dead bodies ſhall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beaſts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes, will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to return to this city, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire, and I will make the cities of Judah a deſolation without an inhabitant.

Commentary on Chap. XXXIV.

1 When Nebuchadnezzar—fought againſt Jeruſalem, &c.) The ſiege was begun in the ninth year of Zedekiah, in the tenth month, and tenth day of the month; but the particulars here recorded do not ſeem to have happened 'till ſome time after the ſiege.

5 So ſhall they burn odours for thee, &c.) It was cuſtomary for the Jews to burn odours at the funeral of thoſe kings whoſe memory they honoured.

14 At the end of ſeven years, &c.) The ſeventh year was the year of releaſe; conſequently ſervants were to remain but ſix years with their maſters, and, at the beginning of the ſeventh, were to be reſtored to their liberty.

But your fathers hearkened not unto me, &c.) It appears from hence, and other paſſages in ſcripture, that the ſabbatical years were wholly neglected for ſeveral years before the captivity. The author of the ſecond book of Chronicles aſſigns this reaſon for the captivity, That the land might enjoy her ſabbaths. Now, if we reckon the whole ſeventy years captivity as a puniſhment for this neglect, it will follow, that the law for obſerving thoſe ſabbatical years had been diſregarded for about 490 years.

18 When they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof.) Implying, by that ceremony, that they wiſhed themſelves might be cut in ſunder, in like manner, if they broke their ſolemn vow and promiſe; the ſame rite was uſed in very ancient times. Gen. xv, 10.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 By the obedience of the Rechabites, 12 the Jews' diſobedience is condemned.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the days of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying,

2 Go unto the houſe of the Rechabites, and ſpeak unto them, and bring them into the houſe of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.

3 Then I took Jaazaniah, the ſon of Jeremiah, the ſo of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſons, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites;

4 And I brought them into the houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſons of Hanan the ſon of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaſeiah the ſon of Shallum, the keeper of the door:

5 And I ſet before the ſons of the houſe of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I ſaid unto them, Drink ye wine.

6 But they ſaid, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father commanded us, ſaying, Ye ſhall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your ſons for ever:

7 Neither ſhall ye build houſe, nor ſow ſeed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days ye ſhall dwell in tents; that ye may live many days in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab, the ſon of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our ſons, nor our daughters;

9 Nor to build houſes for us to dwell in: neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor ſeed:

10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 But it came to paſs when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we ſaid, Come, and let us go to Jeruſalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians: ſo we dwell at Jeruſalem.

12 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, Will ye not receive inſtruction to hearken to my words? ſaith the Lord.

14 The words of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab, that he commanded his ſons not to drink wine, are performed; for unto this day they drink none, but obey their father's commandment: notwithſtanding, I have ſpoken unto you, riſing early and ſpeaking; but ye hearkened not unto me:

15 I have ſent alſo unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early, and ſending them, ſaying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to ſerve them, and ye ſhall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers; but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened unto me.

16 Becauſe the ſons of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them; but this people hath not hearkened unto me:

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will bring upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt them: becauſe I have ſpoken unto them, but they have not heard; and I have called unto them, but they have not anſwered.

18 And Jeremiah ſaid unto the houſe of the Rechabites, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Becauſe ye have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according unto all that he hath commanded you:

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Jonadab the ſon of Rechab ſhall not want a man to ſtand before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth Jeremiah's prophecy. 20 Jehoiakim burneth the roll. 27 His judgment. 32 Baruch writeth a new copy.

AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah, from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Take thee a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, and againſt all the nations, from the day I ſpake unto thee, from the days of Joſiah, even unto this day.

3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them; that they may return every man from his evil way; that I may forgive their iniquity and their ſin.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the ſon of Neriah: and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had ſpoken unto him, upon a roll of a book.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am ſhut up; I cannot go into the houſe of the Lord.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 The word which came unto Jeremiah—in the days of Jehoiakim, &c.) This, in all probability, may be referred to the fourth year of Jehoiakim's reign, when Nebuchadnezzar, having defeated the king of Egypt at Euphrates, marched towards Syria and Paleſtine, to recover thoſe provinces which the king of Egypt had conquered. In this expedition he laid ſiege to Jeruſalem.

2 Go unto the houſe of the Rechabites, &c.) The Rechabites were deſcended from the Kenites, and never incorporated with the Jewiſh nation, though conſidered as their friends and allies. Reſpect was paid them in regard to Hobab, father-in-law of Moſes, deſcended from that nation. They were worſhippers of the true God, but not circumciſed.

6 For Jonadab, the ſon of Rechab our father, commanded us, ſaying, Ye ſhall drink no wine, &c.) Jonadab was a conſiderable man in this family; and, by his prohibition, intended to reduce his deſcendants to the primitive manner of life, which was that of ſhepherds living in tents, having no certain habitations, taking care only for what was neceſſary barely to ſupply nature.

19 Jonadab the ſon of Rechab ſhall not want a man to ſtand before me for ever.) When the main body of the Jewiſh nations are diſperſed in their ſeveral captivities, ſome of that family ſhall remain to attend on my ſervice, and enjoy the privileges of worſhipping in my temple at Jeruſalem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

2 Take thee a roll of a book, &c.) The ancient manner of writing was upon long ſlips of parchment, which they afterwards rolled upon ſticks.

3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear, &c.) God is here introduced as ſpeaking after the manner of man, and uſing ſuch methods as in human probability may be moſt likely to prevail. Theſe and ſuch like expreſſions indicate, that God's fore-knowledge of future events lays no reſtriction on the will of man, nor takes away the liberty of human actions.

6 Therefore go thou and read in the roll which thou haſt written from my mouth, the words of the Lord in the ears of the people, in the Lord's houſe, upon the faſting-day: and alſo thou ſhalt read them in the ears of all Judah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be they will preſent their ſupplication before the Lord, and will return every one from his evil way: for great is the anger and the fury that the Lord hath pronounced againſt this people.

8 And Baruch the ſon of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the Lord in the Lord's houſe.

9 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Jeruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jeruſalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the book the words of Jeremiah in the houſe of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan the ſcribe, in the higher court at the entry of the new gate of the Lord's houſe, in the ears of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the ſon of Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan had heard out of the book all the words of the Lord,

12 Then he went down into the king's houſe into the ſcribe's chamber: and lo, all the princes ſat there, even Eliſhama the ſcribe, and Delaiah the ſon of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſon of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes ſent Jehudi the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Cuſhi, unto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roll wherein thou haſt read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſon of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Baruch read it in their ears.

16 Now it came to paſs when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and another, and ſaid unto Baruch, We will ſurely tell the king of all theſe words.

17 And they aſked Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now, How didſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them; He pronounced all theſe words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.

19 Then ſaid the princes unto Baruch, Go hide thee, thou, and Jeremiah; and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the king into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Eliſhama the ſcribe, and told all the words in the ears of the king.

21 So the king ſent Jehudi to fetch the roll; and he took it out of Eliſhama the ſcribe's chamber; and Jehudi read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which ſtood beſide the king.

22 Now the king ſat in the winter-houſe, in the ninth month: and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.

23 And it came to paſs, that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it with the pen-knife, and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was conſumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his ſervants that heard all theſe words.

25 Nevertheleſs, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had made interceſſion to the king that he would not burn the roll: but he would not hear them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the ſon of Hammelech, and Seraiah the ſon of Azriel, and Shelamiah the ſon of Abdeel, to take Baruch the ſcribe, and Jeremiah the prophet; but the Lord hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah (after that the king had burned the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) ſaying,

28 Take thee again another roll, and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah had burned.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt burned this roll, ſaying, Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall certainly come and deſtroy this land, and ſhall cauſe to ceaſe from thence man and beaſt?

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of Jehoiakim king of Judah, He ſhall have none to ſit upon the throne of David; and his dead body ſhall be caſt out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the froſt.

31 And I will puniſh him, and his ſeed, and his ſervants, for their iniquity; and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and upon the men of Judah, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt them; but they hearkened not.

32 Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the ſcribe the ſon of Neriah, who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire; and there were added beſides unto them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 The Egyptians having raiſed the Chaldean ſiege, Zedekiah ſendeth to Jeremiah: 6 who propheſieth the Chaldeans return and victory. 11 He is beaten, and put in priſon.

AND king Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah reigned inſtead of Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah.

2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land did hearken unto the words of the Lord, which he ſpake by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king ſent Jehucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, to the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for us.

4 Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people: for they had not put him into priſon.

9 In the fifth year of Jehoiakim—in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt, &c.) It was cuſtomary among the Jews to proclaim anniverſary faſts upon certain days, in memory of ſome great calamity which had befallen them at that time. Of this kind were the faſts of the fourth, fifth, ſeventh and tenth months, mentioned by the prophet Zechariah: the firſt inſtituted in memory of the city's being taken by Nebuchadnezzar, the ſecond in memory of the temple's being burnt in that month, the third for the murder of Jedaliah, and the fourth in memory of the ſiege which then began.

23 When Jehudi had read three or four leaves, &c.) Their books were made in form of a roll, and therefore were not divided into leaves or pages, as ours are; ſo that by leaves we are to underſtand the columns, or ſeveral partitions into which the breadth of the parchment was divided. A roll, found at Herculaneum, written in this manner, confirms this conjecture,

5 Then

5 Then Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt: and when the Chaldeans that beſieged Jeruſalem heard tidings of them, they departed from Jeruſalem.

6 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay to the king of Judah that ſent you unto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaoh's army, which is come forth to help you, ſhall return to Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Chaldeans ſhall come again, and fight againſt this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord, Deceive not yourſelves, ſaying, The Chaldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us: for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight againſt you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet ſhould they riſe up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs that when the army of the Chaldeans was broken up from Jeruſalem for fear of Pharaoh's army,

12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jeruſalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to ſeparate himſelf thence in the midſt of the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, a captain of the ward was there, whoſe name was Irijah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Hananiah, and he took Jeremiah the prophet, ſaying, Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans.

14 Then ſaid Jeremiah, It is falſe; I fall not away to the Chaldeans. But he hearkened not to him: ſo Irijah took Jeremiah and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and ſmote him, and put him in priſon in the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe; for they had made that the priſon.

16 When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days;

17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took him out; and the king aſked him ſecretly, in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah ſaid, There is: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon?

19 Where are now your prophets which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

20 Therefore, hear now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my ſupplication, I pray thee be accepted before thee; that thou cauſe me not to return to the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe, leſt I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers' ſtreet, until all the bread in the city were ſpent. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Jeremiah is put into the dungeon. 7 Ebed-melech giveth him ſome enlargment. 14 His counſel to the king.

THEN Shephatiah, the ſon of Mattan, and Gedaliah, the ſon of Paſhur, and Jucal, the ſon of Shelemiah, and Paſhur, the ſon of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans ſhall live; for he ſhall have his life for a prey, and ſhall live.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This city ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech thee, let this man be put to death; for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them; for this man ſeeketh not the welfare of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king ſaid, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing againſt you.

6 Then took they Jeremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of Hammelech that was in the court of the priſon: and they let down Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water, but mire; ſo Jeremiah ſunk in the mire.

7 ¶ Now when Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the king's houſe, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon (the king then ſitting in the gate of Benjamin)

8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the king's houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying,

9 My lord the king, theſe men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon, and he is like to die for hunger in the place where he is, for there is no more bread in the city.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men with thee, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the houſe of the king under the treaſury, and took thence old caſt clouts and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian ſaid unto Jeremiah, Put now theſe old caſt clouts and rotten rags under thine arm-holes under the cords; and Jeremiah did ſo.

13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon; and Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVII.

5 Then Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt, &c.) Zedekiah, contrary to the oath he had taken to Nebuchadnezzar, made an alliance with the king of Egypt, and contracted with him for aſſiſtance againſt the king of Babylon; accordingly the king of Egypt ſent an army to his relief, which obliged the Chaldeans to raiſe the ſiege of Jeruſalem, in order to fight this Egyptian army.

13 Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans.) The ground of this accuſation was the prophets having foretold that the Chaldeans ſhould take the city, and exhorted the Jews to ſubmit to them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVIII.

6 Then took they Jeremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon, &c.) It is commonly thought that Jeremiah, during his abode in this loathſome place, compoſed the melancholy meditations inſerted in the third chapter of Lamentations.

14 ¶ Then

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the third entry that is in the houſe of the Lord: and the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I will aſk thee a thing; hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death? and if I give thee counſel wilt thou not hearken unto me?

16 So Zedekiah the king ſware ſecretly unto Jeremah, ſaying, As the Lord liveth, that made us this ſoul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of theſe men that ſeek thy life.

17 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt aſſuredly go forth unto the king of Babylon's princes, then thy ſoul ſhall live, and this city ſhall not be burn with fire; and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe:

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then ſhall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, leſt they deliver me into their hands, and they mock me.

20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee. Obey, I beſeech thee, the voice of the Lord, which I ſpeak unto thee: ſo it ſhall be well unto thee, and thy ſoul ſhall live.

21 But if thou refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me:

22 And, behold, all the women that are left in the king of Judah's houſe ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babylon's princes, and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee: thy feet are ſunk in the mire, and they are turned away back.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans; and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and thou ſhalt cauſe this city to be burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and ſay unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou haſt ſaid unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; alſo what the king ſaid unto thee:

26 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto them, I preſented my ſupplication before the king that he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathan's houſe to die there.

27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah, and aſked him: and he told them according to all theſe words that the king had commanded. So they left off ſpeaking with him: for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the priſon until the day that Jeruſalem was taken: and he was there when Jeruſalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Jeruſalem is taken. 4 Zedekiah is made blind, and ſent to Babylon. 8 The city is ruined. 9 The people are captivated.

IN the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and ſat in the middle gate, even Nergal-ſharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarſechim, Rab-ſaris, Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, with all the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah ſaw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the king's garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls; and he went out the way of the plain.

5 But the Chaldeans' army purſued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him they brought him up to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, to Riblah, in the land of Hamath, where he gave judgment upon him.

6 Then the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babylon ſlew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with chains, to carry him to Babylon.

8 ¶ And the Chaldeans burnt the king's houſe, and the houſes of the people, with fire, and brake down the walls of Jeruſalem.

9 ¶ Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard left of the poor of the people, which had nothing, in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the ſame time.

11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, ſaying,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIX.

15 Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death? &c.) The prophet had ſo often experienced the unſteadineſs of the king's temper, his backwardneſs in following good counſel, and his want of courage to ſupport thoſe who dared to give him proper advice, that he might very reaſonably determine not to venture his life to ſerve a man who was, in ſome meaſure, incapable of being directed. And although God had ſhewed the prophet what would be the effect of his advice, if it were followed, yet it doth not appear that he had commanded him to make this known to Zedekiah.

19 And they mock me.) When I am in the power of the Chaldeans, I fear they will treat me with ſcorn and contempt, without any regard to my royal character. Zedekiah was conſcious to himſelf, that he had broken that oath of homage and fidelity he had before given to the king of Babylon, and therefore might juſtly be treated as a man deſtitute both of faith and honour.

4 When Zedekiah—ſaw them, &c.) When the king and his officers ſaw that the Chaldeans were entered into the city, and had made themſelves maſters of it, inſtead of ſubmitting himſelf to them, as Jeremiah had adviſed him, he endeavoured to make his eſcape.

7 He put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with chains to carry him to Babylon.) It is added (chap. lii. 11) that he put him in priſon till the day of his death. And thus the two prophecies, which ſeemed at firſt to contradict each other, were fulfilled. The firſt was that of Jeremiah, namely, that Zedekiah's eyes ſhould behold the king of Babylon, xxxii. 4. And the ſecond that of the prophet Ezekiel, who foretold that he ſhould not ſee Babylon, though he ſhould die there, Ezek. xii. 13.

11, 12 Now Nebuchadrezzar—gave charge concerning Jeremiah, &c.) He was informed that the prophet had exhorted both the king and people to ſubmit themſelves to his authority; and, had his advice been followed, the labour of ſo long a ſiege, and the terrible conſequences that attended it, had been prevented.

12 Take him, and look well to him, and do him no harm; but do unto him even as he ſhall ſay unto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, ſent, and Nebuſhaſban, Rab-ſaris, and Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babylon's princes,

14 Even they ſent, and took Jeremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him unto Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, that he ſhould carry him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

15 Now, the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying,

16 Go and ſpeak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my words upon this city for evil, and not for good; and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, ſaith the Lord: and thou ſhalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid.

18 For I will ſurely deliver thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall be for a prey unto thee; becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Jeremiah being ſet free by Nebuzar-adan, goeth to Gedaliah. 7 The diſperſed Jews repair to him. 13 Iſhmael's conſpiracy.

THE word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon.

2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and ſaid unto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid: becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the Lord, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.

4 And now, behold, I looſe thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand. If it ſeem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will look well unto thee: but if it ſeem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it ſeemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 Now while he was not yet gone back, he ſaid, Go back alſo to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go whereſoever it ſeemeth convenient unto thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam to Mizpah; and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 ¶ Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed unto him men and women and children, and of the poor of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon;

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the ſons of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſon of Tanhumeth, and the ſons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the ſon of a Maachathite, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, ſware unto them and to their men, ſaying, Fear not to ſerve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerve the king of Babylon, and it ſhall be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah, to ſerve the Chaldeans, which will come unto us: but ye, gather ye wine, and ſummer-fruits, and oil, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken.

11 Likewiſe when all the Jews that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had ſet over them Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan;

12 Even all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah, unto Mizpah, and gathered wine and ſummer-fruits, very much.

13 ¶ Moreover, Johanan, the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And ſaid unto him, Doſt thou certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, to ſlay thee? But Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, believed them not.

15 Then Johanan the ſon of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it: wherefore ſhould he ſlay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant in Judah periſh?

16 But Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, ſaid unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah, Thou ſhalt not do this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſely of Iſhmael.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Iſhmael treacherouſly killeth Gedaliah and others. 11 Johanan recovereth the captives.

NOW it came to paſs in the ſeventh month, that Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Eliſhama, of the ſeed royal, and the princes, of the king, even ten men with him, came unto Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, with the ſword, and ſlew him whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.

4 And it came to paſs, the ſecond day after he had ſlain Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XL.

1 The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, &c.) This relates to the prophecy mentioned chap. xliii. 7, occaſioned by the conſpiracy of Iſhmael againſt Gedaliah.

7 Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, &c.) By the taking of Jeruſalem, the Chaldeans made a complete conqueſt of Judea; and the Jewiſh army, with its commanders, fled, and diſperſed themſelves in ſeveral parts of the country; but, upon the news of Gedaliah's being appointed governor of the land, they all repaired to him.

5 That there came certain from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourſcore men, having their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themſelves, with offerings and incenſe in their hand, to bring them to the houſe of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and it came to paſs, as he met them, he ſaid unto them, Come to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam.

7 And it was ſo, when they came into the midſt of the city, that Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the midſt of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that ſaid unto Iſhmael, Slay us not; for we have treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he forbare, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt all the dead bodies of the men (whom he had ſlain becauſe of Gedaliah) was it which Aſa the king had made for fear of Baaſha king of Iſrael; and Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, filled it with them that were ſlain.

10 Then Iſhmael carried away captive all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpah, even the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam: and Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites.

11 ¶ But when Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had done,

12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now it came to paſs, that when all the people which were with Iſhmael ſaw Johanan, the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.

14 So all the people that Iſhmael had carried away captive from Mizpah caſt about and returned, and went unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah eſcaped from Johanan, with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then took Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, (after that he had ſlain Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam,) even mighty men of war, and the women and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought again from Gibeon;

17 And they departed, and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to go to enter into Egypt,

18 Becauſe of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, becauſe Iſhmael, the ſon of Nethaniah had ſlain Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had made governor in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Johanan deſireth Jeremiah to enquire of God, promiſing obedience. 7 Jeremiah's anſwer. 19 Their hypocriſy reproved.

THEN all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and Jezaniah the ſon of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the leaſt even unto the greateſt came near,

2 And ſaid unto Jeremiah the prophet, Let, we beſeech thee, our ſupplication be accepted before thee, and pray for us unto the Lord thy God, even for all this remnant (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold us)

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſaid unto them, I have heard you; behold, I will pray unto the Lord your God according to your words, and it ſhall come to paſs, that whatſoever thing the Lord ſhall anſwer you, I will declare it unto you: I will keep nothing back from you.

5 Then ſaid they to Jeremiah, The Lord be a true and faithful witneſs between us, if we do not even according to all things for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to us.

6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord our God, to whom we ſend thee; that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs after ten days, that the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt even to the greateſt.

9 And ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, unto whom ye ſent me to preſent your ſupplication before him:

10 If ye will ſtill abide in this land, then will I build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you and not pluck you up: for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.

11 Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid; be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord, for I am with you to ſave you, and to deliver you from his hand.

12 And I will ſhew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you, and cauſe you to return to your own land.

13 But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, No: but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no war, nor hear the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread; and there will we dwell;

15 And now therefore hear the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, If ye wholly ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to ſojourn there:

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLI.

5 Fourſcore men, having their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themſelves, &c.) Theſe were tokens of great mourning, and uſed by theſe perſons to expreſs their grief for the deſtruction of the city and the temple. Such expreſſions of ſorrow were forbidden to be uſed at funeral obſequies, but might be lawfully uſed upon other mournful occaſions.

8 Slay us not; for we have treaſures in the field, &c.) Or, as the word is elſewhere rendered, in the country, in contradiſtinction to a town or city; they promiſed to make him maſter of all their riches, if he would ſpare their lives.

18 Becauſe of the Chaldeans, &c.) They were afraid leſt the Chaldeans ſhould impute this inſurrection to the whole body of the Jews that were left in the land.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLII.

10 For I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.) God is ſaid in ſcripture to repent, when he alters the common method of his providence. The expreſſion therefore implies a declaration from God, that the puniſhment the Jews had already undergone had made ſatisfaction to his juſtice, as far as concerns this world; and that he would not continue the ſame ſeverity towards them, unleſs they gave him freſh provocation.

16 Then it shall come to pass, that the sword which ye feared shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine whereof ye were afraid shall follow close after you there in Egypt; and there ye shall die.

17 So shall it be with all the men that set their faces to go into Egypt to sojourn there; they shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: and none of them shall remain or escape from the evil that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, As mine anger and my fury hath been poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem; so shall my fury be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt: and ye shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach; and ye shall see this place no more.

19 ¶ The Lord hath said concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly that I have admonished you this day.

20 For ye dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me unto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for us unto the Lord our God: and according to all that the Lord our God shall say, so declare unto us, and we will do it.

21 And now I have this day declared it to you; but ye have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainly, that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go, and to sojourn.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Johanan carrieth Jeremiah into Egypt. 8 Jeremiah prophesieth the conquest of Egypt by the Babylonians.

AND it came to pass, that when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking unto all the people all the words of the Lord their God, for which the Lord their God had sent him to them, even all these words,

2 Then spake Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud men, saying unto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsely; the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to sojourn there:

3 But Baruch the son of Neriah setteth thee on against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captive, into Babylon.

4 So Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord to dwell in the land of Judah:

5 But Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven to dwell in the land of Judah;

6 Even men and women, and children, and the king's daughters, and every person that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch, the son of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord. Thus came they even to Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick-kiln which is at the entry of Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes, in the sight of the men of Judah;

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my servant, and will set his throne upon these stones that I have hid; and he shall spread his royal pavillion over them.

11 And when he cometh, he shall smite the land of Egypt, and deliver such as are for death, to death; and such as are for captivity, to captivity; and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt: and he shall burn them, and carry them away captives: and he shall array himself with the land of Egypt as a shepherd putteth on his garment: and he shall go forth from thence to peace.

13 He shall break also the images of Beth-shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burn with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 The desolation of Judah for idolatry. 15 The Jews' obstinacy. 20 is threatened. 29 The destruction of Egypt is foreshewn.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews, which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Ye have seen all the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are a desolation; and no man dwelleth therein:

3 Because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense and to serve other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, ye, nor your fathers.

---

19 The Lord hath said concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt, &c.) God commanded the Jews, by Moses, not to have any commerce with Egypt, that they might not practice the idolatrous customs of that country, with which they had been defiled during their sojourning there; and this was the reason why he often reproved them, by his prophets, for making alliances with Egypt, but there were particular reasons at this time for so severe a prohibition; for the Jews had either learned several of their idolatrous practices from the Egyptians, or at least were confirmed in those evil customs by their example: besides, it was the rival kingdom, which contended for empire with that of Babylon. The Jews therefore, by seeking protection in Egypt, refused to submit themselves to the king of Babylon, to whom God had decreed the government of Judea, and all the neighbouring countries.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIII.

2 All the proud men, &c.) That is, all those who refused to obey the commands of the Almighty, when they crossed their own inclinations.

9 In the clay in the brick-kiln, &c.) Bricks were the chief materials which the Babylonians used in their buildings.

11 And deliver such as are for death, to death, &c.) Death here signifies pestilence, which the prophet foretels will overspread the country of Egypt, by reason of the famine, occasioned by sieges and other desolations of war.

12 And he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, &c.) The prophet here promises that Egypt shall furnish the Chaldean army with all manner of necessaries, and defend them from the hardships they had been exposed to during the invasion, as a shepherd is secured from the injuries of the weather by a thick garment.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIV.

3 To serve other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, ye, nor your fathers.) These idols are opposed to the true God, called elsewhere the God of their fathers; that is, he that made himself known to them by so many miracles of mercy, and promised to shew the same favour to their posterity, if they continued stedfast in their obedience.

4 Howbeit,

4 Howbeit, I ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing early, and ſending them, ſaying, O do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedneſs, to burn no incenſe unto other gods.

6 Wherefore my fury and mine anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem; and they are waſted and deſolate, as at this day.

7 Therefore now thus ſaith the Lord, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wherefore commit ye this great evil againſt your ſouls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and ſuckling, out of Judah, to leave you none to remain:

8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incenſe unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut yourſelves off, and that ye might be a curſe and a reproach among all the nations of the earth.

9 Have ye forgotten the wickedneſs of your fathers, and the wickedneſs of the kings of Judah, and the wickedneſs of their wives, and your own wickedneſs, and the wickedneſs of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

10 They are not humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared, nor walked in my law, nor in my ſtatutes, that I ſet before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſet my face againſt you for evil, and to cut off all Judah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that have ſet their faces to go into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there, and they ſhall all be conſumed, and fall in the land of Egypt; they ſhall even be conſumed by the ſword and by the famine: they ſhall die, from the leaſt even unto the greateſt, by the ſword and by the famine; and they ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach.

13 For I will puniſh them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have puniſhed Jeruſalem, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence:

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there, ſhall eſcape or remain, that they ſhould return into the land of Judah, to the which they have a deſire to return to dwell there; for none ſhall return but ſuch as ſhall eſcape.

15 ¶ Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incenſe unto other gods, and all the women that ſtood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, anſwered Jeremiah, ſaying,

16 As for the word that thou haſt ſpoken unto us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken unto thee.

17 But we will certainly do whatſoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth, to burn incenſe unto the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done, we, and our fathers, our kings, and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem: for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and ſaw no evil.

18 But ſince we left off to burn incenſe to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been conſumed by the ſword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incenſe to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worſhip her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her, without our men?

20 ¶ Then Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that anſwer, ſaying,

21 The incenſe that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ye, and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the Lord remember them, and came it not into his mind?

22 So that the Lord could no longer bear, becauſe of the evil of your doings, and becauſe of the abominations which ye have committed; therefore is your land a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, without an inhabitant, as at this day.

23 Becauſe ye have burnt incenſe, and becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the Lord, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his ſtatutes, nor in his teſtimonies; therefore this evil is happened unto you, as at this day.

24 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the Lord, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt;

25 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Ye and your wives have both ſpoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, ſaying, We will ſurely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incenſe to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will ſurely accompliſh your vows, and ſurely perform your vows.

26 Therefore hear ye the word of the Lord, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt; Behold, I have ſworn by my great name, ſaith the Lord, that my name ſhall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, ſaying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evil, and not for good; and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt ſhall be conſumed by the ſword and by the famine, until there be an end of them.

28 Yet a ſmall number that eſcape the ſword ſhall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah, that are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there, ſhall know whoſe word ſhall ſtand, mine, or theirs.

29 ¶ And this ſhall be a ſign unto you, ſaith the Lord, that I will puniſh you in this place, that ye may know that my words ſhall ſurely ſtand againſt you for evil.

30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his ene-

---

7 To cut off from you man and woman, child and ſuckling, out of Judah, &c.) God deſigned that this remnant ſhould have kept poſſeſſion of Judea, when the reſt of their brethren were carried away captive; but, by going into Egypt, and defiling themſelves with the idolatry of that nation, they provoked God to deſtroy them utterly.

14 For none ſhall return but ſuch as ſhall eſcape.) None ſhall return but the remnant mentioned ver. 28, to whom I will grant that peculiar favour of being ſaved, or eſcaping from the common deſtruction.

26 That my name ſhall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah, &c.) Theſe Jews ſeem to have joined the worſhip of the true God with that of idols, as the Samaritans had done before them. And hence God declares that he will not receive any ſuch polluted worſhip at their hands, nor ſuffer his name to be any longer profaned by ſuch hypocrites, but will conſume them by a ſudden and general deſtruction, or deliver them up to impenitence and utter apoſtacy 30 I will give Pharaoh-hophra—into the hand of his enemies, &c.) Pharaoh was a name common to all the kings of Egypt; but ſeveral of them had ſome additional epithet to diſtinguiſh them from the reſt. This prince engaged in a battle with Amaſis, by whom he was defeated, taken, and put to death.

mies, and into the hand of them that ſeek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and that ſought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Baruch being diſmayed, 4 Jeremiah inſtructeth and comforteth him.

THE word that Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, when he had written theſe words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael unto thee, O Baruch;

3 Thou didſt ſay, Woe is me now! for the Lord hath added grief to my ſorrow: I fainted in my ſighing, and I find no reſt.

4 ¶ Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto him; The Lord ſaith thus; Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted I will pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And ſeekeſt thou great things for thyſelf? ſeek them not; for behold, I will bring evil upon all fleſh, ſaith the Lord: but thy life will I give unto thee for a prey in all places whither thou goeſt.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The overthrow of Pharaoh's army. 13 The conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadrezzar. 27 Jacob comforted in chaſtiſement.

THE word of the Lord which came to Jeremiah the prophet, againſt the Gentiles,

2 Againſt Egypt, againſt the army of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſmote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah, king of Judah:

3 Order ye the buckler and ſhield, and draw near to battle.

4 Harneſs the horſes; and get up, ye horſemen, and ſtand forth with your helmets: furbiſh the ſpears, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore have I ſeen them diſmayed, and turned away back? and their mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apace, and look not back: for fear was round about, ſaith the Lord.

6 Let not the ſwift flee away, nor the mighty man eſcape: they ſhall ſtumble, and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood, whoſe waters are moved as the rivers?

8 Egypt riſeth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers; and he ſaith, I will go up, and will cover the earth; I will deſtroy the city, and the inhabitants thereof.

9 Come up, ye horſes; and rage ye chariots: and let the mighty men come forth: the Ethiopians, and the Libyans, that handle the ſhield: and the Lydians, that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hoſts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adverſaries: and the ſword ſhall devour, and it ſhall be ſatiated and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord God of hoſts hath a ſacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take balm, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vain ſhalt thou uſe many medecines; for thou ſhalt not be cured.

12 The nations have heard of thy ſhame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the mighty man hath ſtumbled againſt the mighty, and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the Lord ſpake to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſhould come and ſmite the land of Egypt.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publiſh in Migdol, and publiſh in Noph, and in Tahpanhes: ſay ye, Stand faſt, and prepare thee; for the ſword ſhall devour round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men ſwept away? they ſtood not, becauſe the Lord did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another: and they ſaid, Ariſe, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppreſſing ſword.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noiſe; he hath paſſed the time appointed.

18 As I live ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts, ſurely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come.

19 Oh thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, furniſh thyſelf to go into captivity: for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but deſtruction cometh: it cometh out of the north.

21 Alſo her hired men are in the midſt of her, like fatted bullocks: for they alſo are turned back, and are fled away together: they did not ſtand, becauſe the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation.

22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent: for they ſhall march with an army, and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They ſhall cut down her foreſt, ſaith the Lord, though it cannot be ſearched; becauſe they are more than the graſhoppers, and are innumerable.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLV.

3 The Lord hath added grief to my ſorrow, &c.) The ſorrow which I felt for thy threatnings denounced againſt my country and religion, is increaſed by my own troubles, being ſought after by the king's command, in order to be put to death.

4 That which I have built will I break down, &c.) The land and people which have ſo long flouriſhed under the peculiar care of my providence, I reſolve now to give up to utter deſtruction.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVI.

2 Againſt the army of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, &c.) This was the ſecond battle the king of Babylon (called alſo the king of Aſſyria) fought with Pharaoh-necho. In the firſt of theſe expeditions Joſiah was ſlain.

7, 8 Who is this that cometh up as a flood? &c.) In order to raiſe an expectation of ſome mighty enterprize, the prophet deſcribes, by way of deriſion, the march of the Egyptian army coming on like a flood, and ſweeping all away before it; alluding to the annual overflowing of the river Nile.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take balm.) Gilead was famous for producing the celebrated balſam called balm of Gilead: and, in alluſion to the practice of going thither for relief in dangerous caſes, the prophet ironically adviſes the Egyptians to try all methods in their power to prevent the deſtruction with which they were threatened; but all their endeavours would be vain.

O virgin, the daughter of Egypt, &c.) Thoſe countries or cities are called virgins which were never conquered. Egypt was become great by its ſucceſs, eſpecially by the former victory at Carchemiſh; and therefore did not apprehend the leaſt danger of being conquered.

22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent, &c.) They ſhall not ſhout like conquerors, but make a feeble noiſe like the hiſſing of a ſerpent when it is purſued, and ſhall ſpeak in a very ſubmiſſive and humble tone.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded; ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaith, Behold, I will puniſh the multitude of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings; even Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him;

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his ſervants: and afterwards it ſhall be inhabited as in the days of old, ſaith the Lord.

27 ¶ But fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, and be not diſmayed, O Iſrael: for behold, I will ſave thee from afar off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob ſhall return, and be in reſt and at eaſe, and none ſhall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my ſervant, ſaith the Lord: for I am with thee: for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee: but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in meaſure; yet will I not leave thee wholly unpuniſhed.

CHAP. XLVII.

The deſtruction of the Philiſtines.

THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt the Philiſtines, before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold waters riſe up out of the north, and ſhall be an overflowing flood, and ſhall overflow the land, and all that is therein: the city and them that dwell therein: then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howl.

3 At the noiſe of the ſtamping of the hoofs of his ſtrong horſes, at the ruſhing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers ſhall not look back to their children for feebleneſs of hands:

4 Becauſe of the day that cometh to ſpoil all the Philiſtines, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remaineth: for the Lord will ſpoil the Philiſtines, the remnant of the country of Caphtor.

5 Baldneſs is come upon Gaza, Aſhkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley; how long wilt thou cut thyſelf?

6 O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it be ere thou be quiet? put up thyſelf into thy ſcabbard, reſt, and be ſtill.

7 How can it be quiet, ſeeing the Lord hath given it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the ſea-ſhore? there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The Judgment of Moab for ſeveral corruptions. 47 The reſtoration of Moab.

AGAINST Moab thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Woe unto Nebo! for it is ſpoiled; Kiriathaim is confounded and taken; Miſgab is confounded and diſmayed.

2 There ſhall be no more praiſe of Moab: in Heſhbon they have deviſed evil againſt it; come, and let us cut it off from being a nation: alſo thou ſhalt be cut down, O Madmen; the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim, ſpoiling and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed; her little ones have cauſed a cry to be heard.

5 For in the going up of Luhith continual weeping ſhall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of deſtruction.

6 Flee, ſave your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderneſs.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy works, and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken; and Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captivity, with his prieſts and his princes together.

8 And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and no city ſhall eſcape; the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed, as the Lord hath ſpoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Curſed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully, and curſed be he that keepeth back his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth, and he hath ſettled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from veſſel to veſſel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſend unto him wanderers, that ſhall cauſe him to wander, and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break their bottles.

13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How ſay ye, We are mighty, and ſtrong men for the war?

15 Moab is ſpoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his choſen young men are gone down to the ſlaughter, ſaith the king, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts.

27, 28 Fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, &c.) Theſe two verſes contain a comfortable promiſe to the Jews, that God will not utterly deſtroy them, as he hath done ſeveral other nations, againſt whom the prophets have denounced his judgments; but will preſerve a remnant of them, to whom he will perform the promiſes made to their fathers.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVII.

1 Before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza.) When the country of the Philiſtines was in ſeeming quiet and ſecurity, the deſtruction of Gaza probably followed Pharaoh's victories at Megiddo and Carchemiſh, when Judea became tributary to him.

4 The remnant of the country of Caphtor.) Or, as it may be rendered, the iſle of Caphtor. The expreſſion denotes either a colony tranſplanted from Caphtor, or that ſmall remainder of the Philiſtines, after they had been in a manner all deſtroyed, according to the judgments denounced againſt them by the prophets Amos and Iſaiah. It is thought that the iſland of Caphtor is the ſame with that afterwards called Crete.

6 O thou ſword of the Lord, &c.) When God devotes a nation to deſtruction, he is ſaid to give commiſſion to a ſword to paſs through the land.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVIII.

6 Like the heath in the wilderneſs.) Heath grows no where but in deſert and uncultivated places; which is the reaſon why the prophet, threatening the Jews with entire deſolation, uſes this compariſon.

10 Curſed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully, &c.) God executes his judgments upon ſinners, by the miniſtry of men, and often by as great ſinners as thoſe they are ſent to chaſtiſe. He had declared by Jeremiah his purpoſe of making the Chaldeans his inſtruments in puniſhing the Jews, and the neighbouring countries. Their ſucceſs anſwered the prediction, and Nebuchadrezzar ſeems to have conſidered Jeremiah as a prophet, and had a particular regard for his character. Being thus aſſured that he had a commiſſion from God, he might confidently proceed in his conqueſts, and it would have been a fault to have ſhewn mercy to thoſe whom he had good reaſon to believe that the Almighty himſelf had devoted to deſtruction.

16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him bemoan him; and all ye that know his name, ſay, How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt; for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

19 O inhabitant of Aroer, ſtand by the way, and eſpy: aſk him that fleeth, and her that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded; for it is broken down: howl and cry; tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is ſpoiled.

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath,

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Beth-diblathaim,

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon.

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah; and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himſelf againſt the Lord. Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion.

27 For was not Iſrael a deriſion unto thee? was he found among thieves? for ſince thou ſpakeſt of him, thou ſkippedſt for joy.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the hole's mouth.

29 We have heard the pride of Moab, he is exceeding proud: his loftineſs, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtineſs of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the Lord: but it ſhall not be ſo; his lies ſhall not ſo effect it.

31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab; mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kirheres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer; thy plants are gone over the ſea, they reach even to the ſea of Jazer: the ſpoiler is fallen upon thy ſummer-fruits, and upon thy vintage.

33 And joy and gladneſs is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab; and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes: none ſhall tread with ſhouting; their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting.

34 From the cry of Heſhbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz, have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old; for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate.

35 Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: becauſe the riches that he hath gotten are periſhed.

37 For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard clipped: upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loins ſackcloth.

38 There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe-tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the Lord.

39 They ſhall howl, ſaying, How is it broken down how hath Moab turned the back with ſhame! ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion and a diſmaying to all them about him.

40 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, he ſhall fly as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab.

41 Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurpriſed, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people, becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the Lord.

43 Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare, ſhall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the Lord.

44 He that fleeth from the fear, ſhall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.

45 They that fled ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force: but a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon, and a flame from the midſt of Sihon, and ſhall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.

46 Woe be unto thee, O Moab! the people of Chemoſh periſheth: for thy ſons are taken captives, and thy daughters captives.

47 ¶ Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, ſaith the Lord. Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The judgments of the Ammonites, 7 of Edom, 23 of Damaſcus, 28 of Kedar, 30 of Hazor, 34 and of Elam.

CONCERNING the Ammonites thus ſaith the Lord, Hath Iſrael no ſons? hath he no heir? why then doth their king inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will cauſe an alarm of war to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites; and it ſhall be a deſolate heap, and her daughters ſhall be burned with fire: then ſhall Iſrael be heir unto them that were his heirs, ſaith the Lord.

3 Howl, O Heſhbon; for Ai is ſpoiled: cry, ye daughters of Rabbah, gird you with ſackcloth; la-

17 How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautiful rod!) A ſtaff or rod is the emblem of authority, and thence is uſed to ſignify a kingdom or government, eſpecially one that oppreſſeth its ſubjects and neighbours.

25 The horn of Moab—and his arm, &c.) Strength is often expreſſed by the horn, wherein the ſtrength of bulls conſiſts; and by the arm, wherein human proweſs is lodged.

36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, &c.) My bowels are moved within me, I groan inwardly for trouble and anguiſh. The muſic of pipes was uſed at funerals.

45 They that fled, ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, &c.) They that fled for fear of the enemy's forces, hoped to find ſafety in Heſhbon, a ſtrong fenced city.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIX.

1 Hath Iſrael no ſons?—Why then doth their king inherit Gad? &c.) God ſorely afflicted thoſe parts of the kingdom of Iſrael which lay on the eaſt ſide of the river Jordan, firſt by Hazael, then by Tiglath Pileſer, and afterwards delivered up the whole kingdom to be carried away captive by Salmaneſer; ſoon after which, the Ammonites took occaſion to poſſeſs themſelves of Gilead, as it lay near their territories. But God's diſpoſſeſſing the Iſraelites, gave them no right to invade their inheritance, eſpecially when they had been ſo tender of the Ammonites' right, as not to invade their poſſeſſions in their march towards the land of Canaan.

ment,

ment, and run to and fro by the hedges: for their king ſhall go into captivity, and his prieſts and his princes together.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the vallies, thy flowing valley, O backſliding daughter? that truſted in her treaſures, ſaying, Who ſhall come unto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, from all thoſe that be about thee: and ye ſhall be driven out every man right forth; and none ſhall gather up him that wandereth.

6 And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, ſaith the Lord.

7 ¶ Concerning Edom, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Is wiſdom no more in Teman? is counſel periſhed from the prudent? is their wiſdom vaniſhed?

8 Flee ye, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan: for I will bring the calamity of Eſau upon him, the time that I will viſit him.

9 If grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave ſome gleaning grapes? if thieves by night, they will deſtroy till they have enough.

10 But I have made Eſau bare, I have uncovered his ſecret places, and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf: his ſeed is ſpoiled, and his brethren and his neighbours, and he is not.

11 Leave thy fatherleſs children, I will preſerve them alive; and let thy widows truſt in me.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, they whoſe judgment was not to drink of the cup, have aſſuredly drunken, and art thou he that ſhalt altogether go unpuniſhed? Thou ſhalt not go unpuniſhed, but thou ſhalt ſurely drink of it.

13 For I have ſworn by myſelf, ſaith the Lord, that Bozrah ſhall become a deſolation, a reproach, a waſte, and a curſe; and all the cities thereof ſhall be perpetual waſtes.

14 I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambaſſador is ſent unto the heathen, ſaying, Gather ye together, and come againſt her, and riſe up to the battle.

15 For lo, I will make thee ſmall among the heathen, and deſpiſed among men.

16 Thy terribleneſs hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart, O thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rock, that holdeſt the height of the hill: though thou ſhouldeſt make thy neſt as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, ſaith the Lord.

17 Alſo Edom ſhall be a deſolation: every one that goeth by it ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and ſhall hiſs at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbour cities thereof: ſaith the Lord, no man ſhall abide there, neither ſhall a ſon of man dwell in it.

19 Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan againſt the habitation of the ſtrong: but I will ſuddenly make him run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?

20 Therefore hear the counſel of the Lord that he hath taken againſt Edom, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the inhabitants of Teman: ſurely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out: ſurely he ſhall make their habitations deſolate with them.

21 The earth is moved at the noiſe of their fall: at the cry, the noiſe thereof was heard in the Red ſea.

22 Behold, he ſhall come up and fly as the eagle, and ſpread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day ſhall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

23 ¶ Concerning Damaſcus: Hamath is confounded, and Arpad; for they have heard evil tidings; they are faint-hearted; there is ſorrow on the ſea; it cannot be quiet.

24 Damaſcus is waxed feeble, and turneth herſelf to flee, and fear hath ſeized on her: anguiſh and ſorrows have taken her as a woman in travail.

25 How is the city of praiſe not left, the city of my joy!

26 Therefore her young men ſhall fall in her ſtreets, and all the men of war ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damaſcus, and it ſhall conſume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Concerning Kedar, and concerning the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſhall ſmite, thus ſaith the Lord, Ariſe ye, go up to Kedar, and ſpoil the men of the eaſt.

29 Their tents and their flocks ſhall they take away: they ſhall take to themſelves their curtains and all their veſſels, and their camels; and they ſhall cry unto them, Fear is on every ſide.

30 ¶ Flee, get ye far off, dwell deep, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, ſaith the Lord; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath taken counſel againſt you, and hath conceived a purpoſe againſt you.

31 Ariſe, get you up unto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, ſaith the Lord, which have neither gates nor bars, which dwell alone.

32 And their camels ſhall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattle a ſpoil: and I will ſcatter into all winds them that are in the utmoſt corners: and I will bring their calamity from all ſides thereof, ſaith the Lord.

33 And Hazor ſhall be a dwelling for dragons, and a deſolation for ever: there ſhall no man abide there, nor any ſon of man dwell in it.

34 ¶ The word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt Elam in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, ſaying, 35 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the chief of their might.

36 And upon Elam will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will ſcatter them toward all thoſe winds; and there ſhall be no nation whither the outcaſts of Elam ſhall not come.

37 For I will cauſe Elam to be diſmayed before their enemies, and before them that ſeek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, even my fierce anger, ſaith the Lord; and I will ſend the ſword after them, till I have conſumed them:

38 And I will ſet my throne in Elam, and will deſtroy from thence the king and the princes, ſaith the Lord.

39 But it ſhall come to paſs in the latter days, that I will bring again the captivity of Elam, ſaith the Lord.

---

19 Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan, &c.] A deſcription of Nebuchadrezzar's army marching againſt Idumea, whom the prophet compares to a lion roufed from his den, by the ſwelling of the Jordan in time of harveſt.

Who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?) Who will challenge me to meet me in the fields as if we were upon equal terms? or what leader or general dares to enter the liſt with me? The word ſhepherd often ſignifies a prince or commander; but here it is uſed in oppoſition to the lion mentioned before, as if the prophets had ſaid, A ſhepherd may as well encounter a lion, as the beſt appointed warrior contend with the Almighty, or thoſe whom he makes the inſtruments of his vengeance.

CHAP. L.

1, 9, 21, 35 The judgment of Babylon. 4, 17, 33 The redemption of Iſrael.

THE word that the Lord ſpake againſt Babylon, and againſt the land of the Chaldeans, by Jeremiah the prophet.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publiſh, and ſet up a ſtandard; publiſh, and conceal not: ſay Babylon is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces; her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces.

3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation againſt her, which ſhall make her land deſolate, and none ſhall dwell therein: they ſhall remove, they ſhall depart, both man and beaſt.

4 ¶ In thoſe days, and in that time, ſaith the Lord, the children of Iſrael ſhall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they ſhall go, and ſeek the Lord their God.

5 They ſhall aſk the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, ſaying, Come, and let us join ourſelves to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that ſhall not be forgotten.

6 My people hath been loſt ſheep; their ſhepherds have cauſed them to go aſtray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their reſting-place.

7 All that found them have devoured them; and their adverſaries ſaid, We offend not, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord, the habitation of juſtice; even the Lord, the hope of their fathers.

8 Remove out of the midſt of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.

9 ¶ For, lo, I will raiſe, and cauſe to come up againſt Babylon, an aſſembly of great nations from the north-country: and they ſhall ſet themſelves in array againſt her; from thence ſhe ſhall be taken: their arrows ſhall be as of a mighty expert man; none ſhall return in vain.

10 And Chaldea ſhall be a ſpoil: all that ſpoil her ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaith the Lord.

11 Becauſe ye were glad, becauſe ye rejoiced, O ye deſtroyers of mine heritage; becauſe ye are grown fat as the heifer at graſs, and bellow as bulls;

12 Your mother ſhall be ſore confounded; ſhe that bare you ſhall be aſhamed: behold, the hindermoſt of the nations ſhall be a wilderneſs, a dry land, and a deſert.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the Lord it ſhall not be inhabited, but it ſhall be wholly deſolate: every one that goeth by Babylon ſhall be aſtoniſhed, ſhall hiſs at all her plagues.

14 Put yourſelves in array againſt Babylon round about: all ye that bend the bow ſhoot at her, ſpare no arrows; for ſhe hath ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 Shout againſt her round about; ſhe hath given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down; for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance upon her; as ſhe hath done, do unto her.

16 Cut off the ſower from Babylon, and him that handleth the ſickle in the time of harveſt: for fear of the oppreſſing ſword they ſhall turn every one to his people, and they ſhall flee every one to his own land.

17 ¶ Iſrael is as ſcattered ſheep, the lions have driven him away: firſt the king of Aſſyria hath devoured him, and laſt this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will puniſh the king of Babylon and his land, as I have puniſhed the king of Aſſyria.

19 And I will bring Iſrael again to his habitation, and he ſhall feed on Carmel and Baſhan, and his ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In thoſe days, and in that time, ſaith the Lord, the iniquity of Iſrael ſhall be ſought for, and there ſhall be none; and the ſins of Judah, and they ſhall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reſerve.

21 ¶ Go up againſt the land of Merathaim, even againſt it, and againſt the inhabitants of Pekod: waſte and utterly deſtroy after them, ſaith the Lord, and do according to all that I have commanded thee.

22 A ſound of battle is in the land, and of great deſtruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole earth cut aſunder and broken! how is Babylon become a deſolation among the nations!

24 I have laid a ſnare for thee, and thou art alſo taken, O Babylon, and thou waſt not aware: thou art found, and alſo caught, becauſe thou haſt ſtriven againſt the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord God of hoſts in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 Come againſt her from the utmoſt border, open her ſtore-houſes; caſt her up as heaps, and deſtroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Slay all her bullocks; let them go down to the ſlaughter: woe unto them! for their day is come, the time of their viſitation.

28 The voice of them that flee and eſcape out of the land of Babylon, to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, the vengeance of his temple.

29 Call together the archers againſt Babylon: all ye that bend the bow, camp againſt it round about; let

COMMENTARY on Chap. L.

2 Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces, &c.) When the Almighty puniſhes an idolatrous nation, he aſſerts his own authority to the confuſion of all idols and their worſhippers. Bel is the ſame with Baal, a name common to the idols of the Eaſt, and, at firſt, probably that of ſome of the heavenly bodies, perhaps the ſun. Merodach ſeems to have been the name of one of their kings, who was afterwards deified by his ſubjects.

7 Their adverſaries ſaid, We offend not; becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord, &c.) The heathen took advantage againſt the Jews from thoſe remarkable judgments which the Almighty had brought upon his people; and concluded from thence, that he had caſt them off utterly for their ſins: and being deprived of his protection, preſumed that they might uſe them as they pleaſed.

17 Iſrael is as ſcattered ſheep; the lions have driven him away, &c.) As a lion coming upon a flock of ſheep ſcattereth them from one another, ſo have theſe foreign invaders ſerved my people. Salmanezer carried away the ten tribes, and afterwards Nebuchadrezzar totally deſtroyed the whole nation.

21 Go up againſt the land of Merathaim, &c.) Or, the land of Rebels, as our margin expounds the word. Others underſtood by it, that part of the Babylonian dominions called, by profane writers, Maradi. This command is directed to Cyrus and his confederates.

And againſt the inhabitants of Pekod, &c.) A country belonging to the Babylonian empire. The word ſignifies viſitation: and therefore uſed by the prophets, this being the time when God will viſit Babylon.

28 The voice of them that flee and eſcape out of the land of Babylon, &c.) Some of thoſe who were more than ordinary zealous for the welfare of God's church and people were ready, upon the firſt news of the taking of Babylon, to bring the glad tidings to Judea, that God had revenged his people, and executed his judgments on thoſe who had deſtroyed his temple, and profaned the holy veſſels of it that had long been dedicated to his ſervice.

none

none thereof eſcape: recompenſe her according to her work; according to all that ſhe hath done do unto her: for ſhe hath been proud againſt the Lord, againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

30 Therefore ſhall her young men fall in the ſtreets, and all her men of war ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the Lord.

31 Behold, I am againſt thee, O thou moſt proud, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts: for thy day is come, the time that I will viſit thee.

32 And the moſt proud ſhall ſtumble and fall, and none ſhall raiſe him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it ſhall devour all round about him.

33 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, The children of Iſrael, and the children of Judah were oppreſſed together; and all that took them captives held them faſt; they refuſed to let them go.

34 Their Redeemer is ſtrong; The Lord of hoſts is his name: he ſhall thoroughly plead their cauſe, that he may give reſt to the land, and diſquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 ¶ A ſword is upon the Chaldeans, ſaith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wiſe men.

36 A ſword is upon the liars; and they ſhall dote: a ſword is upon her mighty men; and they ſhall be diſmayed.

37 A ſword is upon their horſes, and upon their chariots, and upon all the mingled people that are in the midſt of her; and they ſhall become as women: a ſword is upon her treaſures; and they ſhall be robbed.

38 A drought is upon her waters; and they ſhall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols.

39 Therefore the wild beaſts of the deſert, with the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall dwell there, and the owls ſhall dwell therein: and it ſhall be no more inhabited for ever; neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.

40 As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbour cities thereof, ſaith the Lord; ſo ſhall no man abide there, neither ſhall any ſon of man dwell therein.

41 Behold, a people ſhall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth.

42 They ſhall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel, and will not ſhew mercy; their voice ſhall roar like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, every one put in array like a man to the battle, againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: anguiſh took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan unto the habitation of the ſtrong: but I will make them ſuddenly run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her: for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?

45 Therefore hear ye the counſel of the Lord that he hath taken againſt Babylon, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the land of the Chaldeans: Surely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out; ſurely he ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them.

46 At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

God's ſevere judgment againſt Babylon in revenge of Iſrael.

THUS ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will raiſe up againſt Babylon, and againſt them that dwell in the midſt of them that riſe up againſt me, a deſtroying wind;

2 And will ſend unto Babylon fanners, that ſhall fan her, and ſhall empty her land; for in the day of trouble they ſhall be againſt her round about.

3 Againſt him that bendeth let the archer bend his bow, and againſt him that lifteth himſelf up in his brigandine: and ſpare ye not her young men; deſtroy ye utterly all her hoſt.

4 Thus the ſlain ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thruſt through in her ſtreets.

5 For Iſrael hath not been forſaken, nor Judah of his God, of the Lord of hoſts; though their land was filled with ſin againſt the Holy One of Iſrael.

6 Flee out of the midſt of Babylon, and deliver every man his ſoul: be not cut off in her iniquity; for this is the time of the Lord's vengeance; he will render unto her a recompence.

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lord's hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine; therefore the nations are mad.

8 Babylon is ſuddenly fallen and deſtroyed: howl for her; take balm for her pain, if ſo be ſhe may be healed.

9 We would have healed Babylon, but ſhe is not healed: forſake her, and let us go every one into his own country: for her judgment reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the ſkies.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteouſneſs: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrows; gather the ſhields: the Lord hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the kings of the Medes: for his device is againſt Babylon to deſtroy it; becauſe it is the vengeance of the Lord, the vengeance of his temple.

12 Set up the ſtandard upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch ſtrong, ſet up the watchmen, prepare the ambuſhes: for the Lord hath both deviſed and done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babylon.

39 The wild beaſts of the deſert, &c.) St. Jerom aſſures us, that in his time the place where Babylon ſtood was turned into a park, where the king of Perſia uſed to hunt.

Commentary on Chap. LI.

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lord's hand, that made all the earth drunken, &c.) She hath recommended her idolatries to the whole world, by ſeveral ſpecious pretences, as well as by her authority and example; ſo that they have reſembled poiſon decorated with a golden cup, which have induced men to drink without being aware of the danger; and all this by the permiſſion of the Almighty, in order to accompliſh ſome great end of his providence. The ſenſe of this verſe is evidently applied by St. John to the ſpiritual Babylon, which hath uſed the moſt plauſible methods to diſguiſe her idolatrous practices.

11 The Lord hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the kings of the Medes, &c.) Neriglifſorus, king of Babylon, having formed an alliance againſt the Medes, Cambyſes ſent his ſon Cyrus with an army of thirty thouſand Perſians to join the Medes, commanded by Cyaxeres: this Cyaxeres king of Media, called Darius the Mede in ſcripture, was the uncle of Cyrus, and it was properly his army that made the expedition againſt the Babylonians, employing Cyrus as his general. Perſia was then a ſmall part of the empire of Media, and of little account, 'till Cyrus advanced its reputation; and even then it was called the kingdom of the Medes and Perſians, the Medes having ſtill the preference.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters, abundant in treaſures, thine end is come, and the meaſure of thy covetouſneſs.

14 The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaying, Surely I will fill thee with men as with caterpillars; and they ſhall lift up a ſhout againſt thee.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath ſtretched out the heaven by his underſtanding.

16 When he uttereth his voice there is a multitude of waters in the heavens: and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

17 Every man is brutiſh by his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.

18 They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

19 The portion of Jacob is not like them; for he is the former of all things; and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance; The Lord of hoſts is his name.

20 Thou art my battle-ax, and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdoms;

21 And with thee will I break in pieces the horſe and his rider; and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider;

22 With thee alſo will I break in pieces man and woman; and with thee will I break in pieces old and young; and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid;

23 I will alſo break in pieces with thee the ſhepherd and his flock; and with thee will I break in pieces the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen; and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers.

24 And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion, in your ſight, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying mountain, ſaith the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain.

26 And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations; but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the Lord.

27 Set ye up a ſtandard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations againſt her, call together againſt her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz; appoint a captain againſt her, cauſe the horſes to come up as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow: for every purpoſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a deſolation without an inhabitant.

30 The mighty men of Babylon have forborne to fight, they have remained in their holds; their might hath failed, they became as women: they have burned her dwelling-places; her bars are broken.

31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, and one meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end,

32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reeds they have burned with fire, and the men of war are affrighted.

33 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babylon is like a threſhing-floor, it is time to threſh her: yet a little while and the time of her harveſt ſhall come.

34 Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon hath devoured me, he hath cruſhed me, he hath made me an empty veſſel, he hath ſwallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath caſt me out.

35 The violence done to me and to my fleſh be upon Babylon, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay; and, My blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will plead thy cauſe, and take vengeance for thee; and I will dry up her ſea, and make her ſprings dry.

37 And Babylon ſhall become heaps, a dwelling-place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roar together like lions: they ſhall yell as lions whelps.

39 In their heat I will make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, like rams with he-goats.

41 How is Sheſhach taken! and how is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurpriſed! how is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The ſea is come up upon Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are a deſolation, a dry land, and a wilderneſs, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any ſon of man paſs thereby.

44 And I will puniſh Bel in Babylon; and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath ſwallowed up: and the nations ſhall not flow together any more unto him; yea, the wall of Babylon ſhall fall.

45 My people, go ye out of the midſt of her, and deliver

15, &c. He hath made the earth by his power, &c.) An elegant and lofty deſcription of the power and wiſdom of the Almighty, in oppoſition to the weakneſs and ſtupidity of idols, and is a powerful argument to encourage us to truſt in God, and to aſſure us that he will, in due time, aſſert his own authority againſt all the encroachments of idol-worſhip and falſe religions.

20 Thou art my battle-ax, and weapons of war, &c.) God here ſpeaks to Cyrus, and tells him that he will make uſe of him as an inſtrument of providence for deſtroying the whole power of the Babylonian empire, and of all orders and degrees of men in it; as he had formerly made that empire the executioner of his judgments upon other countries.

31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, &c.) Babylon was taken by ſurprize; for Cyrus, having turned the current of the Euphrates, entered the city by the channel of that river. In order to put this ſtratagem into execution, Cyrus embraced the opportunity of a public feſtival, when the whole night was uſually ſpent in revellings and all manner of diſorders. In this time of riot, the gates leading to the Euphrates were left open, and gave a paſſage to Cyrus and his army into the city; which he became maſter of, while they thought themſelves ſecure, both from the height and ſtrength of the walls, and the depth of the river; Cyrus having at that time made very little progreſs in the ſiege, though he had inveſted the city with his army above two years. This ſurprize cauſed ſo many meſſengers to run one after the other to acquaint the king of this unexpected news. Herodotus ſays, that the extreme parts of the city were taken before thoſe who lived in the centre were ſenſible of the danger.

34 Nebuchadrezzar—hath devoured me, &c.) A pathetic deſcription of the calamities brought upon the Jews by Nebuchadrezzer and his forces, who, after devouring the wealth, and laying waſte the beauty of their country, carried them away captive into a ſtrange land.

39 In their heat I will make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, &c.) While they are feaſting themſelves, I will provide them another cup to drink, namely, that of my fury and indignation. This prophecy was literally fulfilled; for Babylon was taken in the night of a public feſtival, as was before obſerved on verſe 31.

deliver ye every man his ſoul from the fierce anger of the Lord.

46 And leſt your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land; a rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour, and violence in the land, ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore, behold, the days come, that I will do judgment upon the graven images of Babylon: and her whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her.

48 Then the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall ſing for Babylon: for the ſpoilers ſhall come unto her from the north, ſaith the Lord.

49 As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain of Iſrael to fall, ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of all the earth.

50 Ye that have eſcaped the ſword go away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the Lord afar off, and let Jeruſalem come into your mind.

51 We are confounded, becauſe we have heard reproach: ſhame hath covered our faces; for ſtrangers are come into the ſanctuaries of the Lord's houſe.

52 Wherefore, behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will do judgment upon her graven images; and through all her land the wounded ſhall groan.

53 Though Babylon ſhould mount up to heaven, and though ſhe ſhould fortify the height of her ſtrength, yet from me ſhall ſpoilers come unto her, ſaith the Lord.

54 A ſound of a cry cometh from Babylon, and great deſtruction from the land of the Chaldeans:

55 Becauſe the Lord hath ſpoiled Babylon, and deſtroyed out of her the great voice; when her waves do roar like great waters, a noiſe of their voice is uttered:

56 Becauſe the ſpoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken; every one of their bows is broken: for the Lord God of recompences ſhall ſurely requite.

57 And I will make drunk her princes, and her wiſe men, her captains, and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they ſhall ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts.

58 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, The broad walls of Babylon ſhall be utterly broken, and her high gates ſhall be burnt with fire; and the people ſhall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they ſhall be weary.

59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah, the ſon of Neraiah, the ſon of Maaſeiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign. And this Seraiah was a quiet prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that ſhould come upon Babylon, even all theſe words that are written againſt Babylon.

61 And Jeremiah ſaid to Seraiah, When thou comeſt to Babylon, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt read all theſe words,

62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O Lord thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place, to cut it off, that none ſhall remain in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhall be deſolate for ever.

63 And it ſhall be, when thou haſt made an end of reading this book, that thou ſhalt bind a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates:

64 And thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babylon ſink, and ſhall not riſe from the evil that I will bring upon her; and they ſhall be weary. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

CHAP. LII.

1 Zedekiah rebelleth. 4 Jeruſalem is beſieged and taken. 8 Zedekiah's ſons killed, and his eyes put out.

ZEDEKIAH was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 For through the anger of the Lord it came to paſs in Jeruſalem and Judah, till he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it and built forts againſt it round about.

5 So the city was beſieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was ſore in the city, ſo that there was no bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden; now the Chaldeans were by the city round about: and they went by the way of the plain.

8 ¶ But the army of the Chaldeans purſued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho; and all his army was ſcattered from him.

9 Then they took the king and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgment upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he ſlew alſo all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then
