THE PREFACE.

THE knowledge of the Holy Scriptures is ſo neceſſary to make us wiſe unto ſalvation through faith in Chriſt Jeſus, that it ought to have an uppermoſt place in our daily thoughts and deſires, and in all our aims at keeping up vital religion in the family and cloſet, and in the whole of our converſation in the world. Moſes and the Prophets, where the faithful meſſengers of God, to declare his will unto his people. And they did reveal all the divine good pleaſure; ſo far as was expedient to be opened, during that diſpenſation: till the ſeed ſhould come, to whom the promiſe was made. And they took ſpecial heed, not to deliver any other doctrine than what they had verily received from God. This made them perfectly conſiſtent one with another; ſo that no jargon, or contradiction, was ever found in their writings: neither any thing mean, or beneath the character of the ſupreme Being. But perfect infallible truth, of the moſt bleſſed nature.—Worthy the excellent Majeſty of Jehovah to reveal; and worthy of all acceptation, from ſuch creatures as we; as they contain all things that can make us happy.

And whatever is now opened in the New Teſtament, is no other thing than what was foretold, and had its foundation laid in the Law and the Prophets. For tho' it was the good pleaſure of God, to reveal his will at ſundry times, and in divers manners; yet when it was all revealed, it became one entire ſyſtem of truth, as we have it this day. For whatever was written in the Old Teſtament, is fulfilled in the New. The former declaring what was to come; the latter teſtifying that all thoſe promiſes are fulfilled; and now in fulfilling. So that all that was written before the coming of our Lord, and all that was written after his coming, do now compoſe one perfect Teſtament.

And to this, we are commanded to give the more earneſt heed: becauſe all that can be known of the true God, is therein revealed. And nothing can be of any ſpiritual good to any ſoul, but what is contained in the ſacred volume; the ſcriptures of truth. There the whole mind of God, and all that can be conceived of him, by mortal creatures, is clearly repreſented to us, in that perfect ſyſtem; the opening of the eternal good pleaſure.

FIRST BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

G E N E S I S.

THE ARGUMENT.

In the Hebrew this Book is called BERESCHITH, which ſignifies In the beginning; in the Greek GENESIS, Generation, becauſe it begins with the hiſtory of the creation of the world. It is the moſt ancient book in the world, and includes a hiſtory of two thouſand three hundred and ſixty-nine years, from the beginning of the world to the death of the patriarch Joſeph. It contains an authentic account of the creation of the world; the original innocence and fall of man; the propagation of the human race; the origin of religion; the invention of arts; the deluge; the reſtoration of the world; the diviſion and peopling of the earth; the origin of nations; and the genealogy of the Patriarchs, from Adam to the ſons and grandſons of Jacob. The Pentateuch, or the firſt five books of the Bible, have been always aſcribed to Moſes as the writer of them, though it is univerſally believed that the hiſtorian was aſſiſted by divine inſpiration.

CHAP. I.

1 The creation of heaven and earth, 26 of man in the image of God. 29 The appointment of food.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkneſs was upon the face of the deep: and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 And God ſaid, let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God ſaw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkneſs.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkneſs he called Night: and the evening and the morning were the firſt day.

6 And God ſaid, Let there be a firmament in the midſt of the waters: and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament: and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was ſo.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven: and the evening and the morning were the ſecond day.

9 And God ſaid, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was ſo.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

Ver. 1. In the beginning, &c.] That the world is not eternal, is a doctrine which never was diſputed before Ariſtotle. Moſes begins his account of the creation with aſſerting, that the world had a beginning, in oppoſition to thoſe who held it to be eternal: laying at once, the foundation of religion in the belief of one ſupreme, ſelf-exiſtent Being, the Maker and abſolute Lord of all other beings in the univerſe, in oppoſition to the polytheiſm of the adjacent nations. For it appears to have been the fatal error of the idolatrous unthinking world, in thoſe early ages, to believe, that the heavens and heavenly bodies, eſpecially the ſun, moon, and planets, were a kind of independant beings, the ſovereign diſpoſers of good and evil, whoſe benign or malignant influence ſcattered bleſſings or calamities on mankind at pleaſure; and conſequently that they were the juſt objects of religious worſhip.

God created the heaven and the earth] Though the Jews by the heaven and the earth underſtood the univerſe, as appears from Acts xvii. 24. yet it is evident, that Moſes in the ſubſequent part of this chapter confines himſelf to deſcribe only the creation of the ſolar ſyſtem, or this viſible world. By created, we are to underſtand, that there was no pre-exiſtent matter to work upon; that he, who is eternal, gave being to this great fabric of heaven and earth; and that the world was called into exiſtence from non-entity, by almighty power.

2 And the earth was without form, and void] This terreſtrial globe, which we now inhabit, was a confuſed indigeſted heap, having neither beaſts, trees, herbs, or any thing elſe, which now adorn it: a chaos, a heap of confuſion, wherein the elements of things were all blended together. The words in the original are Tohu Vohohu, which ſignifies emptineſs and confuſion.

3 And God ſaid, Let there be light, and there was light] Longinus has juſtly admired the ſublimity of this expreſſion. What can give us a greater idea of the omnipotent power of the great Creator, than to conceive the ſtarting of light into being, at his word. Light, of all material beings, moſt reſembles its divine Creator in purity, power, and brightneſs, and is therefore often conſidered in ſcripture as an emblem of God himſelf. God is light, 1 John i. 15.

4 God ſaw the light, &c.] He ſaw, approved, and was pleaſed with it, as agreeable to his deſign; which, for the preſent, we may conceive, was only to influence the upper parts of the chaos, and to be the inſtrument of rarefaction, ſeparation, and all the reſt of the operations neceſſary to the formation of ſuch creatures as were afterwards to be produced.

9 Let the waters, &c.] The air being thus formed, and the vapours and clouds ſuſpended in the upper regions, the waters which covered the ſurface of the earth were collected into ſeas and lakes, that the dry land might appear.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God ſaw that it was good.

11 And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth graſs, the herb yielding ſeed, and the fruit-tree yielding fruit after his kind, whoſe ſeed is in itſelf, upon the earth: and it was ſo.

12 And the earth brought forth graſs, and herb yielding ſeed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whoſe ſeed was in itſelf, after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day

14 And God ſaid, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night: and let them be for ſigns, and for ſeaſons, and for days, and years.

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth; and it was ſo.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the leſſer light to rule the night: he made the ſtars alſo.

17 And God ſet them in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth:

18 And to rule over the day, and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkneſs: and God ſaw that it was good.

19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

20 And God ſaid, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

22 And God bleſſed them, ſaying, Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the ſea, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

24 And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beaſt of the earth after his kind: and it was ſo.

25 And God made the beaſt of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

26 ¶ And God ſaid, Let us make man in our image, after our likeneſs; and let them have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

27 So God created man in his own image: in the image of God created he him: male and female created he them.

28 And God bleſſed them, and God ſaid unto them, Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth, and ſubdue it: and have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

29 ¶ And God ſaid, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing ſeed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding ſeed: to you it ſhall be for meat.

30 And to every beaſt of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was ſo.

31 And God ſaw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the ſixth day.

11 Let the earth bring forth graſs, &c.] The dry land being left by the retreat of the waters, God cloathed the face of the ground with plants and flowers. He called them into being, and gave them all their beauty; adapted them at once to delight and feed the animal creation; for they furniſh ſubſiſtence to every creature: Well, therefore, might the Pſalmiſt cry out, Thou openeſt thine hand, and filleſt all things living with plenteouſneſs. But it was not enough that the earth ſhould be cloathed with plants, herbs, flowers, and trees; the Almighty alſo communicated to them a virtue of propagating their ſpecies, and eſtabliſhed that courſe of nature in the vegetable kingdom, which was to continue to all generations.

16 And God made two great lights] It muſt here be remembered, that the ſcripture ſpeaks according to the appearance of things, and not in the language of philoſophy; for it is well known, that neither the moon nor any of the planets are luminous orbs, but borrow all their light from the ſun. That glorious orb is the parent of day, and the palace of light. From thence the morning-ſtar gilds her horn; from thence the planetary globes are crowned with luſtre; and from thence the moon borrows all her radiance, to enliven the nocturnal gloom, and line with ſilver the raven-coloured mantle of the night. Well may the ſun and moon be called great lights, for the diameter of the former is reckoned by the greateſt aſtronomers, to be above eight hundred thouſand miles; and the diameter of the moon, according to Derham, Banks, &c. is two thouſand one hundred and ſeventy-five miles, notwithſtanding it is the leaſt of all the planets, except Mercury.

17 And God ſet them, &c.] That is, the Almighty placed them at ſuch proper diſtances from each other, and impreſſed on them ſuch laws of motion, as anſwered all his gracious purpoſes.

20 And God ſaid, &c.] As ſoon as the benevolent Creator had prepared, and commodiouſly furniſhed the earth, for the reception and preſervation of its future inhabitants, he proceeded to the formation of the animal world, beginning with the loweſt ſort; namely, fiſh and fowl: and ſo advancing in a regular progreſs, to more illuſtrious diſplays of his power and goodneſs.

24 And God ſaid, Let the earth, &c.] It has been diſputed whether the plants and animals were at once created in a ſtate of perfection, or aroſe from ſeed. But be this as it may, we muſt acknowledge, that nothing leſs than infinite wiſdom could form, and infinite power give them a being: For ſince the organization of animal bodies, whether in embryo, or full maturity, and much more their life and ſpontaneous motion, is by the greateſt philoſophers acknowledged to be quite inexplicable, by mechanical laws of matter and motion; ſurely no rational being can heſitate to acknowledge, with the ſacred hiſtorian, that they are the immediate work of the Author of Nature. The atheiſt's only refuge here is in the fancy of what is called equivocal or ſpontaneous generation; which ſuppoſes the earth itſelf, by the mere influence of the ſun, to produce inſects, and conſequently other animals. But this abſurd doctrine is now fully exploded, it being found by numberleſs experiments, that thoſe inſects, which were ignorantly believed to be accidental productions, really ſprang from ſeeds or eggs, in the ordinary way of generation.

26 Let us make man, &c.] The world being now like a noble palace, ready furniſhed with all conveniences, the air pure and fit for reſpiration, the waters above and below regularly diſpoſed; the earth diverſified with mountains, rivers and verdant plains, adorned with plants, trees and flowers; the lamps of heaven lighted up to gild the various landſcapes of nature; and the elements ſtocked with animals; God proceeded to make a more noble creature, endued with reaſon, contemplative, capable of adoring the creator in his works, and who was to be the Lord of all. His pre-eminence, above the whole creation beſides, is ſtrongly marked by the ſolemn manner with which the Deity ſets about his formation. He does not ſay of him, as he did of the reſt, Let the waters, or let the earth bring him forth; but he adviſes, as it were, and conſults about his production: Let us make man.

In our image] In the ſpiritual, immaterial and immortal eſſence of his ſoul; in the natural faculties of it, underſtanding, memory, reaſon and will; in the ſupernatural gifts of wiſdom; and in the dominion man was inveſted with over other creatures.

31 Very good] This verſe repreſents the Deity to us as making a pauſe (what an awful pauſe!) and after a review of his works by the rules of infinite wiſdom, pronouncing them perfectly good, and beautiful and fit. Every particle of the creation was ſituated in its place by Omniſcience; every creature was endued with all perfections adapted to its ſpecies and its ſituation; the whole made up one grand ſyſtem, whoſe ſeveral parts mutually conſpired to ſupport, to adorn, and to ennoble the whole.

CHAP. II.

1 The firſt ſabbath. 8 The garden of Eden. 16 The tree of knowledge. 19 The creatures named. 21 Woman made, and marriage inſtituted.

THUS the heavens and the earth were finiſhed, and all the hoſt of them.

2 And on the ſeventh day God ended his work which he had made: and he reſted on the ſeventh day from all his work which he had made.

3 And God bleſſed the ſeventh day, and ſanctified it: becauſe that in it he had reſted from all his work, which God created and made.

4 Theſe are the generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were created; in the day that the Lord God made the earth, and the heavens.

5 And every plant of the field, before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew: for the Lord God had not cauſed it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man to till the ground.

6 But there went up a miſt from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

7 And the Lord God formed man of the duſt of the ground, and breathed into his noſtrils the breath of life: and man became a living ſoul.

8 ¶ And the Lord God planted a garden eaſtward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed.

9 And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleaſant to the ſight, and good for food: the tree of life alſo in the midſt of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

10 And a river went out of Eden to water the garden: and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

11 The name of the firſt is Piſon: that is it which compaſſeth the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold.

12 And the gold of that land is good: there is bdellium and the onyx-ſtone.

13 And the name of the ſecond river is Gihon: the ſame is it that compaſſeth the whole land of Ethiopia.

14 And the name of the third river is Hiddekel: that is it which goeth toward the eaſt of Aſſyria. And the fourth river is Euphrates.

15 And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the Garden of Eden, to dreſs it, and to keep it.

16 ¶ And the Lord God commanded the man, ſaying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayeſt freely eat:

17 But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou ſhalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eateſt thereof, thou ſhalt ſurely die.

18 And the Lord God ſaid, It is not good that the man ſhould be alone: I will make him an help meet for him.

19 ¶ And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beaſt of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam, to ſee what he would call them; and whatſoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof.

20 And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beaſt of the field; but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

21 ¶ And the Lord God cauſed a deep ſleep to fall upon Adam, and he ſlept: and he took one of his ribs, and cloſed up the fleſh inſtead thereof.

22 And the rib which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

23 And Adam ſaid, This is now bone of my bones, and fleſh of my fleſh: ſhe ſhall be called woman, becauſe ſhe was taken out of man.

24 Therefore ſhall a man leave his father and his mother, and ſhall cleave unto his wife: and they ſhall be one fleſh.

25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not aſhamed.

CHAP. III.

1 The ſerpent deceiveth Eve. 6 Man's fall. 15 The promiſed ſeed. 16 The puniſhment of mankind. 22 Their loſs of paradiſe.

NOW the ſerpent was more ſubtil than any beaſt of the field which the Lord God had made: and

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 He reſted on the ſeventh day] This was ſpoken after the manner of men, and muſt not be ſuppoſed to imply any wearineſs in God; for the Creator of the ends of the earth fainteth not, neither is weary. Iſaiah xl. 28. We are therefore, by this expreſſion, to underſtand, that the Omnipotent Being ceaſed from his works of creation, having now finiſhed the heaven and the earth, and all the hoſt of them. The original word, which we render ſeven, ſignifies fullneſs, or perfection; and denotes the filling up or completion of the works of the creation. The reſpect paid to the number ſeven, is of great antiquity. Balaam ordered Balak to prepare him ſeven altars, with ſeven bullocks and ſeven rams. The Kings of Perſia had ſeven Princes, who alone were permitted to come into their preſence; and Pharaoh's dreams had the number ſeven. The Greeks and Romans had always ſeven victims in their ſacrifices; and the Chineſe, with all the other Eaſtern nations, as well as the Mahometans, ſtill continue to ſet apart one day out of ſeven for public worſhip.

9 Tree of life] Various are the conjectures with regard to the nature of this tree. The ancient fathers think it was ſo called from its having a virtue not only to repair the animal ſpirits, but alſo to maintain them, and all the organs of the body, without decay, until man ſhall have been fit to have been tranſlated into the bliſsful ſeats of the heavenly Paradiſe: and this ſeems indeed, to be the true import of the word; for Moſes himſelf tells us, "That had man, even after the fall, eaten of the tree of life, he would have lived for ever." (chap. iii. 22.)

10 And a river went out of Eden] The word Eden, in Hebrew, ſignifies pleaſure; and thence ſeveral verſions, and among the reſt the vulgate, have rendered it the place or garden of pleaſure.

17 Thou ſhalt ſurely die] That is, he ſhould become mortal, ſhould loſe the immortality wherewith he was inveſted; and in this threat are included all the forerunners of death, diſeaſes, ſickneſſes, and pains.

21 And the Lord cauſed a deep ſleep, &c.) This was intended either to render him inſenſible of the pain he muſt otherwiſe have felt, or to inform him of the proceſs of Eve's formation in a viſion.

One of his ribs, &c.) This has always been underſtood to ſignify the ſide in general; and the part out of which God was pleaſed to form the female, carries a myſtical meaning in it. Had he taken her, like the poet's Minerva, out of the head, it might have entitled her to a ſuperiority, which he never intended for her; or had he taken her from any more ignoble part, it would not have agreed with that equality to which ſhe was appointed: he formed her therefore out of the ſide of man, to denote the obligations to the ſtricteſt friendſhip and ſociety; to beget the ſtrongeſt love and ſympathy between them, as parts of the ſame whole; and to recommend marriage to all mankind, as founded in nature, and as the re-union of man and woman.

24 Therefore ſhall a man leave his father, &c.) Which ſignifies, the nuptial tie ſhall be ſtronger between the huſband and wife, than that of nature between a child and its parent: They ſhall even be one fleſh, or joined together in intire and inſeparable love, and like the parts of an animal body, never to be divided but by the frozen hand of death. And ſurely, if any condition in this world, can yield perfect happineſs, it is that of two friends and lovers uniting their hearts and intereſts for life.

25 And they were both naked, &c.) It is rendered in the Arabic, "They were both naked, Adam and his wife, nor did they bluſh, or were they aſhamed on that account." Guilt will always be attended with ſhame, and it was that ſenſe of guilt which occaſioned the ſhame our firſt parents afterwards felt, when they knew they were naked.

he ſaid unto the woman, Yea, hath God ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of every tree of the garden?

2 And the woman ſaid unto the ſerpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden:

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midſt of the garden, God hath ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of it, neither ſhall ye touch it, leſt ye die.

4 And the ſerpent ſaid unto the woman, Ye ſhall not ſurely die.

5 For God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes ſhall be opened, and ye ſhall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 ¶ And when the woman ſaw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleaſant to the eyes, and a tree to be deſired to make one wiſe; ſhe took of the fruit thereof and did eat, and gave alſo unto her huſband with her, and he did eat.

7 And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked: and they ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons.

8 And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themſelves from the preſence of the Lord God amongſt the trees of the garden.

9 And the Lord God called unto Adam, and ſaid unto him, Where art thou?

10 And he ſaid, I heard thy voice in the garden: and I was afraid, becauſe I was naked, and I hid myſelf.

11 And he ſaid, Who told thee that thou waſt naked? haſt thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee, that thou ſhouldeſt not eat?

12 And the man ſaid, The woman whom thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

13 And the Lord God ſaid unto the woman, What is this that thou haſt done? and the woman ſaid, The ſerpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

14 And the Lord God ſaid unto the ſerpent, Becauſe thou haſt done this, thou art curſed above all cattle, and above every beaſt of the field: upon thy belly ſhalt thou go, and duſt ſhalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

15 ¶ And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy ſeed and her ſeed: it ſhall bruiſe thy head, and thou ſhalt bruiſe his heel.

16 ¶ Unto the woman he ſaid, I will greatly multiply thy ſorrow and thy conception: in ſorrow thou ſhalt bring forth children; and thy deſire ſhall be to thy huſband, and he ſhall rule over thee.

17 And unto Adam he ſaid, Becauſe thou haſt hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and haſt eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not eat of it: curſed is the ground for thy ſake; in ſorrow ſhalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

18 Thorns alſo and thiſtles ſhall it bring forth to thee: and thou ſhalt eat the herb of the field.

19 In the ſweat of thy face ſhalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it waſt thou taken: for duſt thou art, and unto duſt ſhall thou return.

20 And Adam called his wife's name Eve; becauſe ſhe was the mother of all living.

21 Unto Adam alſo, and to his wife, did the Lord God make coats of ſkins, and clothed them.

22 ¶ And the Lord God ſaid, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil; and now leſt he put forth his hand and take alſo of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever;

23 Therefore the Lord God ſent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken.

24 So he drove out the man: and he placed at the eaſt of the garden of Eden, Cherubims, and a flaming ſword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.

CHAP. IV.

1 The birth of Cain and Abel. 8 The murder of Abel. 11 The curſe of Cain. 19 Lamech and his two wives.

AND Adam knew Eve his wife: and ſhe conceived, and bare Cain, and ſaid, I have gotten a man from the Lord.

2 And ſhe again bare his brother Abel; and Abel was a keeper of ſheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

3 And in proceſs of time it came to paſs, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord.

4 And Abel, he alſo brought of the firſtlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had reſpect unto Abel, and to his offering:

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

6 She took of the fruit thereof, and did eat.) Overcome by the artful ſuggeſtions of the ſerpent, and her own fatal curioſity, ſhe ſtretched forth her preſumptuous hand, took of the fruit, and ate her own deſtruction.

7 And the eyes of them both were opened, &c.) The tempter had artfully ſuggeſted to the woman, that on eating the forbidden fruit their eyes would be opened, and they ſhould be as gods, knowing good and evil: part of this prediction was now fulfilled, their eyes were opened; but alas! only to behold their own folly and wickedneſs: they now perceived their own nakedneſs, and the foul degradation of their nature. They knew that they were naked, implies two things: firſt, that as the body is the ſeat of the mind, and the index, as it were, to the affections; therefore the ſhame was transferred to the exterior frame, which, whilſt the mind was pure, was not affected by any natural appearances. Secondly, as ſoon as the affections were diſordered by ſin, a conſciouſneſs of guilt created ſhame, and they looked upon themſelves as in a ſtate much different from that of their primitive innocence. It is added, that they ſewed fig-leaves together, &c. The Hebrew word chebrah ſignifies to fold or plait together, and ſo it ſhould have been tranſlated.

14 Thou art curſed, &c.) It is a conſolatory reflection, that though God inflicted puniſhment on Adam and Eve, yet he did not curſe them. But the ſerpent he addreſſes with a bitter execration; and proceeds to pronounce ſentence upon him firſt of all, as being the firſt offender.

17 And unto Adam he ſaid, &c.) The puniſhment of Adam conſiſted in a life of perpetual toil and ſlavery. In this the wiſdom, goodneſs, and juſtice of God is very conſpicuous; for by decreeing, that toil and drudgery ſhould be the conſequence of departing from an eaſy and rational obedience, the earth, which there was now a neceſſity for his leaving ſoon, would become leſs deſirable to him: and thoſe paſſions and appetites, which had been the cauſe of his deſtruction, ſubdued by hard labour, and continual toil.

24 And he placed at the eaſt of Eden, cherubims, and a flaming ſword, &c.) That is, God placed at the entrance of Eden a guard of angels, ſome of which flying to and fro in the air in bright refulgent bodies, ſeemed to flaſh out fire on every ſide, reſembling the vibrations of a flaming ſword.

Thus fell our firſt parents; and from the happieſt condition that can poſſibly be imagined, plunged themſelves and their poſterity into a ſtate of wretchedneſs and corruption: for, as from one common root, ſin entered into the world, and death by ſin, ſo death paſſed upon all men, for that all have ſinned.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

2 His brother Abel.) The word Abel ſignifies vanity, and, according to ſome, was given to him as an intimation of the little eſteem his mother had for him, in compariſon of her firſt-born.

3 An offering unto the Lord.) Hence it appears that the cuſtom of ſacrifices, and making oblations, which afterwards univerſally prevailed, obtained in the firſt age of the world; and was ordained by God to teach us that man oweth him homage for what he hath beſtowed on him; and likewiſe to repreſent the ſacrifice of the Meſſiah, who ſhould appear to put away ſin by the ſacrifice of himſelf. It is to be remarked here, that the difference of their of-

5 But unto Cain, and to his offering, he had not reſpect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

6 And the Lord ſaid unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen?

7 If thou doeſt well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doeſt not well, ſin lieth at the door: and unto thee ſhall be his deſire, and thou ſhalt rule over him.

8 ¶ And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to paſs when they were in the field, that Cain roſe up againſt Abel his brother, and ſlew him.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? and he ſaid, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper?

10 And he ſaid, What haſt thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground.

11 ¶ And now art thou curſed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand.

12 When thou tilleſt the ground, it ſhall not henceforth yield unto thee her ſtrength. A fugitive and a vagabond ſhalt thou be in the earth.

13 And Cain ſaid unto the Lord, My puniſhment is greater than I can bear.

14 Behold, thou haſt driven me out this day from the face of the earth: and from thy face ſhall I be hid: and I ſhall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth: and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that findeth me ſhall ſlay me.

15 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Therefore whoſoever ſlayeth Cain, vengence ſhall be taken on him ſeven-fold. And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him ſhould kill him.

16 And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the eaſt of Eden.

17 And Cain knew his wife, and ſhe conceived and bare Enoch: and he builded a city, and called the name of the city, after the name of his ſon, Enoch.

18 And unto Enoch was born Irad: and Irad begat Mehujael: and Mahujael begat Methuſael: and Mathuſael begat Lamech.

19 ¶ And Lamech took unto him two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah.

20 And Adah bare Jabel: he was the father of ſuch as dwell in tents, and of ſuch as have cattle.

21 And his brother's name was Jubal; he was the father of all ſuch as handle the harp and organ.

22 And Zillah, ſhe alſo bare Tubal-cain, an inſtructor of every artificer in braſs and iron; and the ſiſter of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

23 And Lamech ſaid unto his wives Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my ſpeech, for I have ſlain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt.

24 If Cain ſhall be avenged ſeven-fold, truly Lamech ſeventy and ſeven-fold.

25 And Adam knew his wife again: and ſhe bare a ſon, and called his name Seth: For God, ſaid ſhe, hath appointed me another ſeed inſtead of Abel, whom Cain ſlew.

26 And to Seth, to him alſo there was born a ſon; and he called his name Enos: then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

1 The genealogy, age, and death of the patriarchs from Adam unto Noah. 24 The godlineſs and tranſlation of Enoch.

THIS is the book of the generations of Adam. In the day that God created man, in the likeneſs of God made he him;

2 Male and female created he them, and bleſſed them, and called their name Adam, in the day when they were created.

3 And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a ſon in his own likeneſs, after his image; and called his name Seth:

4 And the days of Adam after he had begotten Seth were eight hundred years: and he begat ſons and daughters:

5 And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years: and he died.

6 And Seth lived an hundred and five years, and begat Enos:

7 And Seth lived after he begat Enos, eight hundred and ſeven years, and begat ſons and daughters.

8 And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years: and he died.

9 And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan.

10 And Enos lived after he begat Cainan eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat ſons and daughters.

11 And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years: and he died.

12 And Cainan lived ſeventy years, and begat Mahalaleel.

13 And Cainan lived after he begat Mahalaleel eight hundred and forty years, and begat ſons and daughters.

14 And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years: and he died.

15 And Mahalaleel lived ſixty and five years, and begat Jared.

16 And Mahalaleel lived after he begat Jared eight hundred and thirty years, and begat ſons and daughters.

17 And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hunferings was agreeable to the difference of their employments: the elder brother being an huſbandman, or planter, brought ſome fruit of the ground; and the younger, whoſe occupation was that of a ſhepherd, the firſtlings of the flock: And, not only this cuſtom, but theſe very kind of offerings, continued to ſucceeding ages; for we know that the ſacrifice of beaſts, and the oblation of the fruits of the earth, were in uſage among the ancient Greeks and Romans, as appears from Homer, Pliny, and other writers.

11 And now art thou, &c.) Here we have the dreadful curſe pronounced upon Cain, for having committed the firſt murder that ever took place in the world.

15 And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain.) Various have been the opinions with regard to the mark which God ſet upon Cain. Some ſay, the Almighty ſtigmatized him in the forehead with a letter of his name. Others, that his face was blaſted with lightening from the Schekinah, or Divine Preſence. But if we conſider, that the word, which we render a mark, ſignifies alſo a ſign, the ſenſe of the paſſage may be rendered thus, God appointed to Cain a ſign or token, to aſſure him, that no one ſhould kill him.

It muſt be remembered, that the world was now 128 or 130 years old, and abounded with people, deſcended from the ſons and daughters of Adam, mentioned chap. v. 4.

16 And dwelt in the land of Nod.] That is, in the land of vagabonds; a name given to the country where he ſettled, from his long wandering up and down in it like a vagabond.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

5 And all the days of Adam were nine hundred and thirty years.) Adam after living 930 years, reſigned his breath into the hands of his Creator, having ſeen his iſſue in the ninth generation, and taſted deeply of the wrath of the Almighty for the crime he had committed in Paradiſe. The remarkable longevity of the firſt generation of man, ſeems conſiſtent with the wiſdom, and favourable to the deſigns of Providence; for the ſpeedier and larger increaſe of mankind; for the quicker and more certain propagation of knowledge and religion by the authority of living teachers; and for the perfection of arts and ſciences; for which the preſent ſhort period of life would have been inſufficient.

dred ninety and five years: and he died.

18 And Jared lived an hundred ſixty and two years, and he begat Enoch.

19 And Jared lived after he begat Enoch eight hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.

20 And all the days of Jared were nine hundred ſixty and two years: and he died.

21 And Enoch lived ſixty and five years, and begat Methuſelah.

22 And Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuſelah three hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.

23 And all the days of Enoch were three hundred ſixty and five years.

24 ¶ And Enoch walked with God, and he was not: for God took him.

25 And Methuſelah lived an hundred eighty and ſeven years, and begat Lamech.

26 And Methuſelah lived after he begat Lamech ſeven hundred eighty and two years, and begat ſons and daughters.

27 And all the days of Methuſelah were nine hundred ſixty and nine years: and he died.

28 And Lamech lived an hundred eighty and two years, and begat a ſon:

29 And he called his name Noah, ſaying, This ſame ſhall comfort us concerning our work and toil of our hands, becauſe of the ground which the Lord hath curſed.

30 And Lamech lived after he begat Noah five hundred ninety and five years, and begat ſons and daughters.

31 And all the days of Lamech were ſeven hundred ſeventy and ſeven years: and he died.

32 And Noah was five hundred years old: and Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

CHAP. VI.

1 The wickedneſs of the world cauſeth the flood. 8 Noah findeth grace. 14 The order, form, and end of the ark.

AND it came to paſs, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them.

2 That the ſons of God ſaw the daughters of men that they were fair: and they took them wives of all which they choſe.

3 And the Lord ſaid, My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with man: for that he alſo is fleſh: yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years.

4 There were giants in the earth in thoſe days: and alſo after that, when the ſons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them: the ſame became mighty men, which were of old, men of renown.

5 And God ſaw that the wickedneſs of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

6 And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart.

7 And the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy man, whom I have created, from the face of the earth: both man and beaſt, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 ¶ But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

9 Theſe are the generations of Noah: Noah was a juſt man, and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three ſons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth alſo was corrupt before God: and the earth was filled with violence.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt; for all fleſh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God ſaid unto Noah, The end of all fleſh is come before me: for the earth is filled with violence through them: and behold I will deſtroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an ark of gopher-wood: rooms ſhalt thou make in the ark, and ſhalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

15 And this is the faſhion which thou ſhalt make it of: the length of the ark ſhall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window ſhalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above; and the door of the ark ſhalt thou ſet in the ſide thereof: with lower, ſecond, and third ſtories ſhalt thou make it.

17 And behold I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to deſtroy all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven: and every thing that is in the earth ſhall die.

24 And he was not; for God took him.) That is, he was tranſlated into heaven without dying.

27 And all the days of Methuſelah, &c.) Methuſelah was the oldeſt man of whom we have any account in ſcripture: his life terminates with the general deluge; for, according to the chronology, he died in the year of the world 1658.

29 Called his name Noah, &c.) The word Noah ſignifies reſt, and was given by Lamech to his ſon, becauſe he was to be a comfort and relief in their laborious employment.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 Men began to multiply.) If we conſider the prodigious length of men's lives; and that they began to beget children as early, and left off as late in proportion as they do now, the number of inhabitants before the flood will appear to be immenſe. Accordingly ſeveral have ſhewn, from very moderate computations, that there were at leaſt one hundred thouſand millions of ſouls, that is, near twenty times as many as there are at preſent upon our earth.

2 The ſons of God.) By the ſons of God muſt be underſtood thoſe deſcendants of Seth, who adhered to the pure religion.

The daughters of men, &c.) That is, the daughters of Cain, who were immerſed in wickedneſs, and abandoned to every vice.

4 There were giants, &c.) Tyrants who filled the world with rapine, murders, and all manner of wickedneſs. They were alſo diſtinguiſhed by their gigantic bulk and ſtature.

6 And God repented.) This expreſſion muſt not be underſtood in the literal ſenſe, for God is not the ſon of man that he ſhould repent; but is a figurative expreſſion, and adapted to our apprehenſions. The meaning therefore is, that as all the ſons of men were corrupt, and turned a deaf ear to his preacher, the Almighty was determined to deſtroy man whom he had created.

15 The length of the ark ſhall be three hundred cubits.) The ſtandard cubit of the Jews was one foot and a half, the ark therefore was four hundred and fifty feet in length; ſeventy-five in breadth, and forty-five feet in height. It has been queſtioned whether this ark was ſufficient to hold the great number of animals and their proviſions, which Moſes tells us went into the ark. But a little conſideration would have removed the difficulty, and convinced the propoſers that it was ſufficiently large for the purpoſes intended. The number of four footed beaſts is reckoned not to exceed one hundred and thirty ſpecies; the birds are about the ſame number: and, as St. Auguſtine very juſtly obſerves, it was not neceſſary to bring all the birds into the ark, becauſe many of them could ſwim on the ſurface of the water by the ſide of it. There are about fifty ſpecies of reptiles, but many of them can live in the water, conſequently need not have been taken into the ark. Again, of beaſts, there are not reckoned above ſix ſpecies larger than a horſe, few are equal to the ſize of that animal, many leſs, and even under the ſize of a ſheep; ſo that the ark was ſufficiently capacious for holding them. The height of it may be divided into four ſtages, allowing three cubits and a half to the firſt, ſeven to the ſecond, eight to the third, and five and a half to the fourth; the remainder of thirty cubits being allowed for the thickneſs of the floors, &c.

18 But with thee will I eſtabliſh my covenant: and thou ſhalt come into the ark; thou, and thy ſons, and thy wife, and thy ſons' wives with thee.

19 And of every living thing of all fleſh, two of every ſort ſhalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee: they ſhall be male and female.

20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind: of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind: two of every ſort ſhall come unto thee, to keep them alive.

21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou ſhalt gather it to thee; and it ſhall be for food for thee, and for them.

22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, ſo did he.

CHAP. VII.

1 Noah with his family entereth into the ark. 17 The beginning, increaſe, and continuance of the flood.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Noah, Come thou, and all thy houſe into the ark; for thee have I ſeen righteous before me in this generation.

2 Of every clean beaſt thou ſhalt take to thee by ſevens, the male and his female: and of beaſts that are not clean by two, the male and his female.

3 Of fowls alſo of the air by ſevens, the male and the female: to keep ſeed alive upon the face of all the earth.

4 For yet ſeven days, and I will cauſe it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights: and every living ſubſtance that I have made, will I deſtroy from off the face of the earth.

5 And Noah did according unto all that the Lord had commanded him.

6 And Noah was ſix hundred years old when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 And Noah went in, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons' wives with him into the ark, becauſe of the waters of the flood.

8 Of clean beaſts, and of beaſts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth.

9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And it came to paſs after ſeven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 In the ſix hundredth year of Noah's life, in the ſecond month, the ſeventeenth day of the month, the ſame day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights.

13 In the ſelf ſame day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the ſons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his ſons with them, into the ark;

14 They, and every beaſt after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every ſort.

15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark: two and two of all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all fleſh as God had commanded him: and the Lord ſhut him in.

17 ¶ And the flood was forty days upon the earth: and the waters increaſed, and bare up the ark, and it was lifted up above the earth.

18 And the waters prevailed, and were increaſed greatly upon the earth: and the ark went upon the face of the waters.

19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth: and all the high hills that were under the whole heaven, were covered.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail: and the mountains were covered.

21 And all fleſh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beaſt, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth: and every man.

22 All in whoſe noſtrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died.

23 And every living ſubſtance was deſtroyed which was upon the face of the ground; both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven: and they were deſtroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark.

24 And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The waters aſſuage. 18 Noah goeth forth of the ark, 20 buildeth an altar, and offereth ſacrifice. 21 God's promiſe to curſe the earth no more.

AND God remembered Noah and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to paſs over the earth, and the waters aſſuaged.

2 The fountains alſo of the deep, and the windows of heaven were ſtopped, and the rain from heaven was reſtrained.

3 And the waters returned from off the earth continually: and after the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters were abated.

17 And behold, &c.) It is evident, from theſe words, that the deluge was univerſal, for no words can be ſtronger to point out the event. There is not, perhaps, a ſingle nation in the world, where this truth has not ſome remains of evidence to ſupport it. All the heathen hiſtorians and poets are full of it; and, although their traditional accounts are blended with fables, yet we can trace in them the outlines of the given fact. The Chineſe tell us, that their extenſive empire was once drowned, and even the ſavages in America have a tradition to the ſame import; ſo that we are not able to account for the origin of ſuch a fixed belief, unleſs we believe the Moſaic hiſtory.

Commentary on Chap. VII.

11 And the windows of heaven were opened.] Or, as it may be rendered, the cataracts of heaven: our tranſlation follows the Chaldee, though all the others unanimouſly render cataracts.

19 And all the high hills that were under the whole heaven, &c.] That is, the deluge was univerſal: nothing under the whole heaven eſcaped this terrible devaſtation. The tops of the hills, the talleſt trees, the ſtrongeſt towers, the loftieſt mountains, can give no refuge to loſt man; they are buried beneath the waves. Noah himſelf cannot now help him. He might now perhaps remember his predictions, and flee to him for ſuccour. But God had ſhut the door of the ark, and it could no more be opened.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail.] That is, the depth of the water on the tops of the higheſt mountains was twenty-two feet.

Commentary on Chap. VIII.

4 And the ark reſted in the ſeventh month.] We muſt here underſtand, that the ſeventh month relates to the year, not to the flood: that is, in the beginning of May.

Many diſputes have happened concerning the local ſituation of Ararat. Among commentators, the general opinion is, that it is an high mountain in Armenia, called Baris by the inhabitants: This opinion is ſupported by the Chaldee paraphraſe, and the Arabic verſion; and the natives of Armenia, who are a mixture of Greek chriſtians, ſtill believe that the ark reſted on one of their mountains.

4 And the ark reſted in the ſeventh month, on the ſeventeenth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat.

5 And the waters decreaſed continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the firſt day of the month, were the tops of the mountains ſeen.

6 And it came to paſs at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made.

7 And he ſent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth.

8 Alſo he ſent forth a dove from him, to ſee if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground.

9 But the dove found no reſt for the ſole of her foot, and ſhe returned unto him into the ark: for the waters were on the face of the whole earth: then he put forth his hand, and took her, and pulled her in unto him into the ark.

10 And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days: and again he ſent forth the dove out of the ark.

11 And the dove came in to him in the evening; and lo, in her mouth was an olive leaf pluckt off: ſo Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth.

12 And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days, and ſent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

13 And it came to paſs in the ſix hundredth and firſt year, in the firſt month, the firſt day of the month, the waters were dried up from off the earth: and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and behold, the face of the ground was dry.

14 And in the ſecond month, on the ſeven and twentieth day of the month, was the earth dried.

15 And God ſpake unto Noah, ſaying,

16 Go forth of the ark; thou, and thy wife, and thy ſons, and thy ſons' wives with thee.

17 Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee, of all fleſh; both of fowl, and of cattle, and of every creeping thing, that creepeth upon the earth; that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful, and multiply upon the earth.

18 ¶ And Noah went forth, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons' wives with him.

19 Every beaſt, every creeping thing, and every fowl, and whatſoever creepeth upon the earth after their kinds, went forth out of the ark.

20 ¶ And Noah builded an altar unto the Lord, and took of every clean beaſt, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt offerings on the altar.

21 ¶ And the Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour; and the Lord ſaid in his heart, I will not again curſe the ground any more for man's ſake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth: neither will I again ſmite any more every thing living, as I have done.

22 While the earth remaineth, ſeed time and harveſt, and cold and heat, and ſummer and winter, and day and night ſhall not ceaſe.

CHAP. IX.

1 God bleſſeth Noah. 4 Blood and murder are forbidden. 8 God's covenant, 13 ſignified by the rainbow. 21 Noah is drunken, 25 curſeth Canaan, 29 and dieth.

AND God bleſſed Noah, and his ſons, and ſaid unto them, Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth.

2 And the fear of you and the dread of you ſhall be upon every beaſt of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air, upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fiſhes of the ſea; into your hand are they delivered.

3 Every moving thing that liveth ſhall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things.

4 ¶ But fleſh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, ſhall ye not eat.

5 And ſurely your blood of your lives will I require: at the hand of every beaſt will I require it; and at the hand of man, at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man.

6 Whoſo ſheddeth man's blood, by man ſhall his blood be ſhed: for in the image of God made he man.

7 And you, be ye fruitful, and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein.

8 ¶ And God ſpake unto Noah, and to his ſons with him, ſaying,

9 And I, behold I eſtabliſh my covenant with you, and with your ſeed after you.

10 And with every living creature that is with you: of the fowl, of the cattle, and of every beaſt of the earth with you; from all that go out of the ark, to every beaſt of the earth.

11 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with you: neither ſhall all fleſh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood: neither ſhall there any more be a flood to deſtroy the earth.

12 And God ſaid, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you, and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations:

13 ¶ I do ſet my bow in the cloud: and it ſhall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth.

5 In the tenth month were the tops of the mountains ſeen.] From hence it ſeems reaſonable to conclude, that the mountain on which the ark reſted was much higher than any other in the neighbourhood, becauſe it had been ſettled there two months before the tops of the other mountains were ſeen.

8 Alſo he ſent forth a dove, &c.) The dove was ſent out twice before ſhe brought back the olive branch. The firſt time ſhe could not reſt, not finding a branch to perch on; but, the ſecond time, ſhe plucked off an olive branch or leaf, and brought it to Noah, which became a pledge of the divine favour, and a token that God's anger was appeaſed, becauſe he had kept the covenant of his promiſe. The learned Bochart juſtly obſerves, that the circumſtance of the dove's returning with the olive branch, would not only convince Noah that the mountains were dried, but alſo the vallies, where olives uſually grow. It was likewiſe a comfort for Noah to find, that the curſe which God had pronounced on the earth, was not perpetual, but all nature was to be reſtored to her former condition.

21 The Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour) This expreſſion is uſed in condeſcenſion to our weakneſs, and implies, that this ſacrifice of thankſgiving was as grateful to God, as ſweet odours are to us.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

1 And God bleſſed Noah, &c.] The bleſſing pronounced by the beneficent Father of the Univerſe upon Noah and his ſons, was the ſame as he had before pronounced upon our firſt parents, when they were placed in the terreſtrial paradiſe.

3 Every moving thing that liveth ſhall be meat for you.] This appears to have been the firſt grant to mankind of the uſe of animal food. Some indeed pretend, that this was only a renewal of the old charter before granted to our firſt parents. But that paſſage cannot fairly be conſtrued in this ſenſe. Beſides it was ſuperfluous to give Noah this grant, if he had enjoyed the ſame privilege before.

6 Whoſo ſheddeth man's blood, &c.) Murder is a crime ſo heinous, that human nature ſhudders at the very thoughts of it. We cannot therefore ſufficiently admire the goodneſs of God, in giving a poſitive command againſt ſo horrid an act, and ordering, that all thoſe who ſhould ſo far abandon their nature as to be guilty of it, ſhould be puniſhed with death. And ſurely the murderer can never hope to eſcape the juſtice of his Maker; for though he may commit the crime when the world below is buried in night and ſilence, yet the eye of Omniſcience beholds the act, and will certainly diſcover it: The darkneſs is no darkneſs with him, but the night is as clear as the day.

14 And it ſhall come to paſs, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow ſhall be ſeen in the cloud:

15 And I will remember my covenant which is between me and you, and every living creature of all fleſh; and the waters ſhall no more become a flood to deſtroy all fleſh.

16 And the bow ſhall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlaſting covenant between God and every living creature of all fleſh that is upon the earth.

17 And God ſaid unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant, which I have eſtabliſhed between me and all fleſh that is upon the earth.

18 And the ſons of Noah that went forth of the ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan.

19 Theſe are the three ſons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overſpread.

20 And Noah began to be an huſbandman, and he planted a vineyard:

21 ¶ And he drank of the wine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his tent.

22 And Ham the father of Canaan, ſaw the nakedneſs of his father, and told his two brethren without.

23 And Shem and Japheth took a garment, and laid it upon both their ſhoulders, and went backward, and covered the nakedneſs of their father: and their faces were backward, and they ſaw not their father's nakedneſs.

24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger ſon had done unto him.

25 ¶ And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a ſervant of ſervants ſhall he be unto his brethren.

26 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant.

27 God ſhall enlarge Japheth, and he ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant.

28 And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years.

29 ¶ And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

CHAP. X.

1 Noah's generations. 2 The ſons of Japheth, 6 and Ham. 8 Nimrod the firſt monarch. 21 The ſons of Shem.

NOW theſe are the generations of the ſons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth; and unto them were ſons born after the flood.

2 ¶ The ſons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meſhech, and Tiras.

3 And the ſons of Gomer; Aſhkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah.

4 And the ſons of Javan; Eliſha, and Tarſhiſh, Kittim, and Dodanim.

5 By theſe were the iſles of the Gentiles divided in their lands, every one after his tongue, after their families, in their nations.

6 ¶ And the ſons of Ham; Cuſh and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan.

7 And the ſons of Cuſh; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the ſons of Raamah; Sheba and Dedan.

8 ¶ And Cuſh begat Nimrod; he began to be a mighty one in the earth.

9 He was a mighty hunter before the Lord: wherefore it is ſaid, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord.

10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of the land went forth Aſhur, and builded Nineveh, and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, 12 And Reſen between Nineveh and Calah: the ſame is a great city.

13 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, 14 And Pathruſim, and Caſluhim, (out of whom came Philiſtim) and Caphtorim.

15 And Canaan begat Sidon his firſt born, and Heth,

16 And the Jebuſite, and the Amorite, and the Girgaſite,

17 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,

18 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites ſpread abroad.

19 And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comeſt to Gerar, unto Gaza; as thou goeſt unto Sodom and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboim, even unto Laſha.

20 Theſe are the ſons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countries, and in their nations.

21 ¶ Unto Shem alſo the father of all the children of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were children born.

22 The children of Shem; Elam, and Aſhur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram.

23 And the children of Aram; Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Maſh.

24 And Arphaxad begat Salah; and Salah begat Eber.

25 And unto Eber were born two ſons: the name of one was Peleg; for in his days was the earth divided: and his brother's name was Joktan.

26 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, 27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah,

13 I do ſet my bow in the cloud.) The bow was made the ſign of God's covenant with man, and we ought to conſider it as an illuſtrious ſymbol of the divine mercy and goodneſs, to confirm our belief and confidence in God. It is a bow of no hoſtile intention; a bow painted in variegated colours, on the diſburdened cloud. How vaſt is the extent, how delicate the texture of that ſhadowy arch! It bends round the heaven in a glorious ſhape, and makes us forget the horrors of the ſtorm. Elegant its form, and rich its tinctures; but more delightful its ſacred ſignificancy; while the violet and the roſe bluſh in its beautiful aſpect, the olive-branch ſmiles in its glorious import.

21 And he drank of the wine, &c.) Biſhop Newton, on this paſſage, ſays, that Moſes was ſuch a faithful hiſtorian, and had ſuch a regard for truth, that he would not conceal the blemiſhes of the moſt eminent ſervants of God. The Hebrew word iſhecher, which our tranſlators have rendered drunken, does not imply intoxication to a high degree, but only being a little diſguiſed with liquor.

27 He ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem.) That is, ſome of the countries which belonged to Shem ſhall be poſſeſſed by the deſcendants of Japheth: a prediction fully accompliſhed, when the Medes and Babylonians overthrew the Aſſyrian empire, and the Greeks and Romans conquered that part of Aſia, which belonged to Shem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1. Now theſe are the generations, &c.) The intention of Moſes, in this chapter, was to remove all doubts concerning the re-peopling of the world after the deluge: perhaps he ſaw, by divine inſpiration, that, in latter times, ſome nations in the univerſe would pretend to an higher original than the creation of the world itſelf; which has actually been done by the Egyptians, Chaldeans, Chineſe, and many others.

21 Shem the father of all the children of Eber.) That is, the father of the Hebrew nation, which is called Eber, Numb. xxiv. 24.

25 Peleg, for in his days was the earth divided.) Abraham was deſcended from this ſon of Eber. His name was called Peleg, which implies diviſion, becauſe about the time of his birth, the great diſperſion of mankind, related in the ſucceeding chapter, happened. From the deluge to Peleg's birth, Bochart fixes the period of what the ancient poets called the golden age, becauſe at that time men enjoyed all things in common.

28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba,
29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab all theſe were the ſons of Joktan.
30 And their dwelling was from Meſha as thou goeſt unto Sephar, a mount of the eaſt.
31 Theſe are the ſons of Shem, after their families, after their tongues, in their lands, after their nations.
32 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations: and by theſe were the nations divided in the earth after the flood.

CHAP. XI.

1 One language in the world. 3 Babel built. 5 Languages confounded. 10 The generations of Shem, 27 of Terah Abram's father.

AND the whole earth was of one language, and of one ſpeech.
2 And it came to paſs as they journeyed from the eaſt, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar; and they dwelt there.
3 ¶ And they ſaid one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them thoroughly. And they had brick for ſtone, and ſlime had they for mortar.
4 And they ſaid, Go to, let us build us a city, and a tower, whoſe top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, leſt we be ſcattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth.
5 ¶ And the Lord came down to ſee the city and the tower which the children of men builded.
6 And the Lord ſaid, Behold the people is one, and they have all one language: and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be reſtrained from them, which they have imagined to do.
7 Go to, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may not underſtand one another's ſpeech.
8 So the Lord ſcattered them abroad from thence upon the face of all the earth: and they left off to build the city.
9 Therefore is the name of it called Babel, becauſe the Lord did there confound the language of all the earth: and from thence did the Lord ſcatter them abroad upon the face of all the earth.
10 ¶ Theſe are the generations of Shem: Shem was an hundred years old, and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood.
11 And Shem lived after he begat Arphaxad five hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.
12 And Arphaxad lived five and thirty years, and begat Salah.
13 And Arphaxad lived after he begat Salah four hundred and three years, and begat ſons and daughters.
14 And Salah lived thirty years, and begat Eber.
15 And Salah lived after he begat Eber four hundred and three years, and begat ſons and daughters.
16 And Eber lived four and thirty years, and begat Peleg.
17 And Eber lived after he begat Peleg four hundred and thirty years, and begat ſons and daughters.
18 And Peleg lived thirty years, and begat Reu.
19 And Peleg lived after he begat Reu two hundred and nine years, and begat ſons and daughters.
20 And Reu lived two and thirty years, and begat Serug.
21 And Reu lived after he begat Serug two hundred and ſeven years, and begat ſons and daughters.
22 And Serug lived thirty years, and begat Nahor.
23 And Serug lived after he begat Nahor two hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.
24 And Nahor lived nine and twenty years, and begat Terah.
25 And Nahor lived after he begat Terah an hundred and nineteen years, and begat ſons and daughters.
26 And Terah lived ſeventy years, and begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran.
27 ¶ Now theſe are the generations of Terah: Terah begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran: and Haran begat Lot.
28 And Haran died before his father Terah, in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldees.
29 And Abram and Nahor took them wives: the name of Abram's wife was Sarai; and the name of Nahor's wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iſcah.
30 But Sarai was barren; ſhe had no child.
31 And Terah took Abram his ſon, and Lot the ſon of Haran, his ſon's ſon, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his ſon Abram's wife; and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees to go into the land of Canaan; and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there.
32 And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years; and Terah died in Haran.

CHAP. XII.

1 God calleth Abram, and bleſſeth him with a promiſe of Chriſt. 4 His departure from Haran. 7 Canaan is promiſed.

NOW the Lord had ſaid unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's houſe, unto a land that I will ſhew thee.
2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bleſs thee, and make thy name great; and thou ſhalt be a bleſſing.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1. One language.) The language now univerſally ſpoken is allowed to be the ſame with that uſed by Adam, from whom it might early be communicated to Methuſelah, and from him to his grandſon Noah, who propagated it among his poſterity to this time. It is not however certain, that this language was the Hebrew, though it muſt be confeſſed there is great reaſon to think it was, and that a conſiderable part of it ſtill remains in the bible.

2 And they found a plain in the land of Shinar] The plain here mentioned is ſituated on the banks of the Tigris, and comprehends the whole country of Eden.

4 Let us build us a city, and a tower, &c.) Julian, the apoſtate, from the impoſſibility of erecting any ſtructure whoſe top would reach unto heaven, ridicules this paſſage. But he might have ſpared himſelf the labour, had he conſidered that it is only an idiomatical expreſſion of the Hebrew, and implies no more than an exceeding high tower. Some interpreters conſider the words in a different ſenſe, that the raiſing a tower to heaven, implies erecting a temple in honour of heaven, or the heavenly bodies.

8 And they left off to build the city) Thus we ſee how ſoon the Almighty can confound the vain imaginations of puny mortals. They begin an enormous building with all the aſſurance, common to human nature, of finiſhing it. But alas! their vain hopes were ſoon diſappointed, their favourite building neglected, and they themſelves rendered as it were ſtrangers to one another, by a ſingle ſtroke of Omnipotence. This ſtructure, however, long remained a monument of human vanity, and the almighty power of that Being who ſpake the univerſe out of nothing. Herodotus, who viewed this ſtructure attentively, tells us, that it was a ſquare of a furlong on each ſide, and conſequently half a mile in circumference. The height was equal to the circumference of the baſe, and divided into eight towers built one upon another. But this ſtately tower, which ſeemed to menace the ſtars, is now brought down to the ground, even to the duſt, according to the words of God to the prophet Jeremiah, I will roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain; and they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations; but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the Lord. Jer. li. 25, 26.

3 And I will bleſs them that bleſs thee, and curſe him that curſeth thee; and in thee ſhall all families of the earth be bleſſed.

4 ¶ So Abram departed, as the Lord had ſpoken unto him; and Lot went with him: and Abram was ſeventy and five years old when he departed out of Haran.

5 And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's ſon, and all their ſubſtance that they had gathered, and the ſouls that they had gotten in Haran; and they went forth to go into the Land of Canaan; and into the land of Canaan they came.

6 And Abram paſſed through the land unto the place of Sichem, unto the plain of Moreh. And the Canaanite was then in the land.

7 ¶ And the Lord appeared unto Abram, and ſaid, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the Lord, who appeared unto him.

8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the eaſt of Beth-el, and pitched his tent, having Beth-el on the weſt, and Hai on the eaſt: and there he builded an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord.

9 And Abram journeyed going on ſtill toward the ſouth.

10 And there was a famine in the land: and Abram went down into Egypt to ſojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.

11 And it came to paſs when he was come near to enter into Egypt, that he ſaid unto Sarai his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon.

12 Therefore it ſhall come to paſs when the Egyptians ſhall ſee thee, that they ſhall ſay, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will ſave thee alive.

13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my ſiſter, that it may be well with me for thy ſake; and my ſoul ſhall live becauſe of thee.

14 And it came to paſs, that when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman, that ſhe was very fair.

15 The princes alſo of Pharaoh ſaw her, and commended her before Pharaoh: and the woman was taken into Pharaoh's houſe.

16 And he intreated Abram well for her ſake: and he had ſheep, and oxen, and he-aſſes, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and ſhe-aſſes, and camels.

17 And the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his houſe with great plagues, becauſe of Sarai Abram's wife.

18 And Pharaoh called Abram, and ſaid, What is this that thou haſt done unto me? why didſt thou not tell me that ſhe was thy wife?

19 Why ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? ſo I might have taken her to me to wife: now therefore, behold thy wife, take her, and go thy way.

20 And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they ſent him away, and his wife, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abram and Lot return out of Egypt. 7 By diſagreement they part aſunder. 14 God's promiſe renewed to Abram.

AND Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the ſouth.

2 And Abram was very rich in cattle, in ſilver and in gold.

3 And he went on his journeys from the ſouth, even to Beth-el, unto the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Beth-el and Hai;

4 Unto the place of the altar, which he had made there at the firſt: and there Abram called on the name of the Lord.

5 And Lot alſo which went with Abram, had flocks and herds and tents.

6 And the land was not able to bear them that they might dwell together; for their ſubſtance was great, ſo that they could not dwell together.

7 ¶ And there was a ſtrife between the herdſmen of Abram's cattle, and the herdſmen of Lot's cattle; and the Canaanite, and the Perizzite dwelled then in the land.

8 And Abram ſaid unto Lot, Let there be no ſtrife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdſmen and thy herdſmen: for we be brethren.

9 Is not the whole land before thee? ſeparate thyſelf, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right: or if thou depart to to the right hand, then I will go to the left.

10 And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before the Lord deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, even as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt as thou comeſt unto Zoar.

11 Then Lot choſe him all the plain of Jordan; and Lot journeyed eaſt: and they ſeparated themſelves the one from the other.

12 Abram dwelled in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelled in the cities of the plain, and pitched his tent towards Sodom.

13 But the men of Sodom were wicked, and ſinners before the Lord exceedingly.

14 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Abram, after that Lot was ſeparated from him, Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou art, northward, and ſouthward, and eaſtward, and weſtward.

15 For all the land which thou ſeeſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed for ever.

16 And I will make thy ſeed as the duſt of the

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

3 And in thee ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed) Here is the firſt promiſe of bleſſedneſs to all nations in Chriſt, the ſeed of Abraham. And it is now ſet before us in the goſpel, as already wrought by that ſeed of Abraham whom God had raiſed up from the dead, even Jeſus Chriſt, delivered for the offences of ſinners of all nations without difference, and raiſed again for their juſtification. This is agreeable with the apoſtles explication of that Promiſe, Gal. iii. 8.——14. And the ſcripture foreſeeing that God would juſtify the heathen through faith, preached before the goſpel unto Abram, In thee ſhall all nations be bleſſed. So then they which be of faith are bleſſed with faithful Abraham. For as many as are of the works of the law, are under the curſe.—Chriſt hath redeemed us from the curſe of the law, being made a curſe for us.——That the bleſſing of Abraham might come on the nations through Jeſus Chriſt.

7 Unto thy ſeed will I give this land.) God is always liberal in rewarding the obedience of his ſervants. Abram, we ſee, had no ſooner obeyed the voice of his Maker, in leaving his own country, and his father's houſe, than God promiſes to give his poſterity a better and a larger country, the whole land of Canaan.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

6 The land was not able to bear them.) That is, their flocks and herds were now grown ſo numerous, that the country, without interfering with the property of the inhabitants of the land wherein they ſojourned, did not afford ſufficient paſture.

8 And Abram ſaid unto Lot, let there be no ſtrife, I pray thee.) How ready is the good man to prevent all kinds of animoſities! He ſaw, with concern the growing diſpute: and to prevent any miſunderſtanding between him and Lot, propoſes a friendly ſeparation; nor does he propoſe even this friendly ſeparation without adding an endearing reaſon, for we be brethren; that is, we are members of that grand community whereof God is the common father.

earth; so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered.

17 Arise, walk through the land, in the length of it, and in the breadth of it: for I will give it unto thee.

18 Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and built there an altar unto the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The battle of the kings. 12 Lot taken, 14 is rescued by Abram. 18 Melchisedek blesseth Abram, 20 who giveth him tithes.

AND it came to pass in the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations:

2 That these made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.

3 All these were joined together in the vale of Siddim, which is the salt sea.

4 Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and smote the Rephaims in Ashteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh-Kiriathaim,

6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto El-paran, which is by the wilderness.

7 And they returned, and came to Enmishpat, which is Kadesh, and smote all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar.

8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (the same is Zoar); and they joined battle with them in the vale of Siddim;

9 With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar; four kings with five.

10 And the vale of Siddim was full of slime-pits; and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there: and they that remained fled to the mountain.

11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their victuals, and went their way.

12 ¶ And they took Lot, Abram's brother's son, (who dwelt in Sodom) and his goods, and departed.

13 And there came one that had escaped, and told Abram the Hebrew; for he dwelt in the plain of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol, and brother of Aner: and these were confederate with Abram.

14 ¶ And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained servants, born in his own house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued them unto Dan.

15 And he divided himself against them, he and his servants by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus.

16 And he brought back all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also, and the people.

17 And the king of Sodom went out to meet him (after his return from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer, and of the king's that were with him) at the valley of Shaveh, which is the king's dale.

18 ¶ And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the priest of the most high God.

19 And he blessed him, and said, Blessed be Abram of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth:

20 ¶ And blessed be the most high God, who hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all.

21 And the king of Sodom said unto Abram, Give me the persons, and take the goods to thyself.

22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, I have lift up mine hand unto the Lord, the most high God, the possessor of heaven and earth,

23 That I will not take from a thread even to a shoe-latchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich:

24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

CHAP. XV.

1 Abram is encouraged. 4 A son is promised. 6 He is justified by faith. 7 Canaan is promised again.

AFTER these things the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.

2 And Abram said, Lord God, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, and the steward of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus?

3 And Abram said, Behold to me thou hast given no seed: and lo, one born in my house is mine heir.

4 ¶ And behold, the word of the Lord came unto him, saying, this shall not be thine heir; but he that shall come forth out of thine own bowels shall be thine heir.

5 And he brought him forth abroad, and said, Look now toward heaven, and tell the stars, if thou be able to number them. And he said unto him, So shall thy seed be.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

13 Abram the Hebrew.) The word Heber, which in our translation is rendered the Hebrew, signifies on the other side; and accordingly the Septuagint and Aquila translate it, the stranger from beyond the river, an appellation which they suppose was given by the Canaanites to Abram and his family, from their coming from the other side of the Euphrates.

18 Melchisedek.) Commentators are far from being agreed who this Melchisedek was. But christians ought to be satisfied with the authority of the apostle Paul, who was inspired to declare the mystery of the Old Testament figures, and interpret the prophets by the same spirit that inspired them, who evidently points out Melchisedek as the Son of God, appearing in human likeness, prefiguring his eternal priesthood, by saying, that Jesus, of whom it is witnessed in the gospel that he liveth, is the same person who received tithes of Abraham. And indeed, according to the apostle's account, there is no room in the order of Melchisedek for any other priest, or intercessor with God by sacrifice, but the Son of God alone, who shewed himself to Abraham in the similitude, and who shews himself to us by the gospel in the reality of that similitude, in the truth of that likeness and figure. For, 1. Melchisedek abideth a priest continually; and, continuing ever, hath a priesthood that passeth not from one to another. 2. He intercedes continually by that sacrifice of himself, which he once offered, and never needeth to repeat. 3. His intercession by that sacrifice saveth to the uttermost; and nothing can be done beyond that. 4. There is no room for any to interpose betwixt the Most High, and him who is the Son of the Highest; nor betwixt him and those who come to God only by him, who are all members of his body, and are all in him, without distinction, a royal priesthood. 5. The influence of his priesthood extends to the whole possession of the Most High; and so there is no room in heaven or earth for any other. God's whole family, in heaven and earth, comes to God only by the Priest of the Most High God, possessor of heaven and earth.

6 ¶ And he believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteouſneſs.

7 ¶ And he ſaid unto him, I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it.

8 And he ſaid, Lord God, whereby ſhall I know that I ſhall inherit it?

9 And he ſaid unto him, Take me an heifer of three years old, and a ſhe-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtle dove, and a young pigeon.

10 And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt, and laid each piece one againſt another: but the birds divided he not.

11 And when the fowls came down upon the carcaſes, Abram drove them away.

12 And when the ſun was going down, a dead ſleep fell upon Abram: and lo, an horror of great darkneſs fell upon him.

13 And he ſaid unto Abram, Know of a ſurety that thy ſeed ſhall be a ſtranger in a land that is not theirs, and ſhall ſerve them, and they ſhall afflict them four hundred years.

14 And alſo that nation whom they ſhall ſerve, will I judge: and afterward ſhall they come out with great ſubſtance.

15 And thou ſhalt go to thy fathers in peace; thou ſhalt be buried in a good old age.

16 But in the fourth generation they ſhall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full.

17 And it came to paſs, that when the ſun went down and it was dark, behold, a ſmoking furnace, and a burning lamp, that paſſed between thoſe pieces.

18 In that ſame day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates:

19 The Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites,

20 And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaims,

21 And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Jebuſites.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Sarai giveth Hagar to Abram, 6 who flying from her miſtreſs, 9 is ſent back by an angel. 15 Iſhmael is born.

NOW Sarai Abram's wife bare him no children; and ſhe had an handmaid, an Egyptian, whoſe name was Hagar,

2 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, Behold now the Lord hath reſtrained me from bearing: I pray thee go in unto my maid, it may be that I may obtain children by her: and Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai.

3 And Sarai Abram's wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to her huſband Abram to be his wife.

4 And he went in unto Hagar, and ſhe conceived: and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, her miſtreſs was deſpiſed in her eyes.

5 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy boſom, and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, I was deſpiſed in her eyes: the Lord judge between me and thee.

6 ¶ But Abram ſaid unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaſeth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, ſhe fled from her face.

7 And the angel of the Lord found her by a fountain of water in the wilderneſs, by the fountain in the way to Shur.

8 And he ſaid, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence cameſt thou? and whither wilt thou go? And ſhe ſaid, I flee from the face of my miſtreſs Sarai.

9 ¶ And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Return to thy miſtreſs, and ſubmit thyſelf under her hands.

10 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, I will multiply thy ſeed exceedingly, that it ſhall not be numbered for multitude.

11 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Behold thou art with child, and ſhalt bear a ſon, and ſhalt call his name Iſhmael; becauſe the Lord hath heard thy affliction.

12 And he will be a wild man; his hand will be againſt every man, and every man's hand againſt him; and he ſhall dwell in the preſence of all his brethren.

13 And ſhe called the name of the Lord that ſpake unto her, Thou God ſeeſt me: for ſhe ſaid, Have I alſo here looked after him that ſeeth me?

14 Wherefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; behold it is between Kadeſh and Bered.

15 ¶ And Hagar bare Abram a ſon: And Abram called his ſon's name, which Hagar bare, Iſhmael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

6 And he believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteouſneſs.) The apoſtle Paul, upon the queſtion, Whether a ſinner be made juſt by what he works, or by what he believes? oppoſing thoſe who would be made juſt by their works, or become the friends of God by what they work, ſpeaking of this firſt juſtification of Abraham by faith, before his circumciſion, and before faith wrought with his work of offering his ſon to declare him juſt, when he became juſt not by what he wrought, but by what he believed, ſays, (Rom. iv. 2—6.) "For if Abraham were juſtified by works, he hath to glory, but not before God. For what ſaith the ſcripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteouſneſs. Now to him that worketh, is the reward reckoned, not of grace but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that juſtifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteouſneſs: even as David alſo deſcribeth the bleſſedneſs of the man unto whom God imputeth righteouſneſs without works." There was a righteouſneſs in Abraham's faith, which was imputed to him. And that ſame righteouſneſs is imputed to ſinners, both Jews and gentiles, not working, but believing the ſame thing which Abraham before believed. For the apoſtle ſays in this ſame chap. v. 21—25. "Being fully perſuaded that, what he had promiſed, he was alſo able to perform. And therefore it was imputed to him for righteouſneſs. Now it was not written for his ſake alone, that it was imputed to him; but for us alſo, to whom it ſhall be imputed, if we believe on him who raiſed up Jeſus our Lord from the dead; who was delivered for our offences, and was raiſed again for our juſtification."

10 Divided them in the midſt.) It was a very ancient cuſtom for thoſe who entered into a covenant with each other, to divide the victims, laying the parts oppoſite to each other, and for both parties to walk between them; ſignifying thereby, that the party who brake the covenant ſhould in like manner be cut aſunder.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

2 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, &c.) Sarai had waited ten years in expectation of the performance of God's promiſe; and judging now, by the courſe of nature, that her huſband's iſſue muſt proceed from ſome other woman, ſhe prevailed with him to take her hand-maid Hagar to be his ſecondary wife: pleaſing herſelf with the thoughts, that, if her maid ſhould conceive by her huſband, the child would be reputed her's, and the divine promiſe completed.

12 A wild man.) In the original it is a wild aſs-man, i. e. a man reſembling the wild aſs of Arabia, a creature remarkable for his wildneſs. Like this creature Iſhmael was to be of a rambling unſettled nature, eſtranged from ſociety, and delighting in the woods. And this prediction was fully accompliſhed in Iſhmael, who inhabited the wilderneſs of Paran, and became an archer.

14 The well was called Beer-lahai-roi. That is, the well of the living viſion.

16 And Abram was fourſcore and ſix years old when Hagar bare Iſhmael to Abram.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The covenant is renewed. 5 Abram's name changed. 10 Circumciſion is inſtituted. 16 Iſaac is promiſed.

AND when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and ſaid unto him, I am the Almighty God: walk before me, and be thou perfect.

2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly.

3 And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, ſaying,

4 As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou ſhalt be a father of many nations.

5 ¶ Neither ſhall thy name any more be called Abram: but thy name ſhall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee.

6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee; and kings ſhall come out of thee.

7 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant between me and thee, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations, for an everlaſting covenant; to be a God unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee.

8 And I will give unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee, the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion; and I will be their God.

9 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Thou ſhalt keep my covenant therefore, thou, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations.

10 ¶ This is my covenant, which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy ſeed after thee; every man-child among you ſhall be circumciſed.

11 And ye ſhall circumciſe the fleſh of your foreſkin; and it ſhall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you.

12 And he that is eight days old ſhall be circumciſed among you, every man-child in your generations; he that is born in the houſe, or bought with money of any ſtranger, which is not of thy ſeed.

13 He that is born in thy houſe, and he that is bought with thy money, muſt needs be circumciſed, and my covenant ſhall be in your fleſh for an everlaſting covenant.

14 And the uncircumciſed man-child, whoſe fleſh of his fore-ſkin is not circumciſed, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people: he hath broken my covenant.

15 And God ſaid unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her name be.

16 ¶ And I will bleſs her, and give thee a ſon alſo of her: yea, I will bleſs her, and ſhe ſhall be a mother of nations; kings of people ſhall be of her.

17 Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and ſaid in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and ſhall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear?

18 And Abraham ſaid unto God, O that Iſhmael might live before thee!

19 And God ſaid, Sarah thy wife ſhall bear thee a ſon indeed; and thou ſhalt call his name Iſaac; and I will eſtabliſh my covenant with him for an everlaſting covenant, and with his ſeed after him.

20 And as for Iſhmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have bleſſed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly: twelve princes ſhall he beget, and I will make him a great nation.

21 But my covenant will I eſtabliſh with Iſaac, which Sarah ſhall bear unto thee at this ſet time in the next year.

22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham.

23 And Abraham took Iſhmael his ſon, and all that were born in his houſe, and all that were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abraham's houſe; and circumciſed the fleſh of their fore-ſkin in the ſelf-ſame day, as God had ſaid unto him.

24 And Abraham was ninety years old and nine, when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin.

25 And Iſhmael his ſon was thirteen years old when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin.

26 In the ſelf-ſame day was Abraham circumciſed, and Iſhmael his ſon.

27 And all the men of his houſe, born in the houſe, and bought with money of the ſtranger, were circumciſed with him.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Abraham entertaineth three angels. 9 Sarah's laughter. 17 Sodom's deſtruction revealed to Abraham: 23 His interceſſion.

AND the Lord appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre: and he ſat in the tent door in the heat of the day.

2 And he lift up his eyes and looked, and lo, three men ſtood by him: and when he ſaw them, he ran to meet them from the tent door, and bowed himſelf toward the ground,

3 And ſaid, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy ſight, paſs not away I pray thee, from thy ſervant:

4 Let a little water, I pray you, be fetched, and waſh your feet, and reſt yourſelves under the tree:

5 And I will fetch a morſel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye ſhall paſs on: for therefore are ye come to your ſervant: And they ſaid, So do as thou haſt ſaid.

6 And Abraham haſtened into the tent unto Sarah, and ſaid, Make ready quickly three meaſures of fine meal, knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth.

7 And Abraham ran unto the herd, and fetched a

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

4 Thou ſhalt be a father of many nations.) This promiſe, if we conſider it in its literal ſenſe, was fully completed; for Arabia, Idumea, and Canaan, were peopled by the deſcendants of Iſaac and Iſhmael; beſides which, many tribes ſprang from his children by Keturah.

5 Neither ſhall thy name any more be called Abram; but thy name ſhall be Abraham.) It was a common cuſtom among the oriental nations, to change the names of perſons on any remarkable event; of which there are ſeveral inſtances in ſcripture. And as the Almighty had now promiſed to make him the father of many nations, he changed his name from Abram, which ſignifies mighty father, to Abraham the mighty father of a multitude.

15 Thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her name be.) The word Sarai, in the Hebrew, ſignifies, my princeſs, and Sarah, princeſs of multitudes.

20 Twelve Princes.) See their names in Gen. xxv. 13, 14, 15. It is to be remarked, that as, from Abraham, by the iſſue of Hagar, deſcended twelve princes; ſo from him alſo, by the iſſue of Sarah, deſcended the twelve patriarchs.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 And he ſat in the tent door.) What a beautiful idea doth this convey to us, of the ancient hoſpitality of the Eaſt! A venerable father waits at the door of his tent to invite ſtrangers, as they paſſed by, to refreſh themſelves during the heat of the day.

The ancients made it their ſtudy to perform beneficent actions; hoſpitality was every where cultivated. The Eaſtern nations ſeem to have a particular diſpoſition to the exerciſes of humanity; which continues, in a great meaſure, to this day.

calf tender and good, and gave it unto a young man: and he haſted to dreſs it.

8 And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had dreſſed, and ſet it before them; and he ſtood by them under the tree: and they did eat.

9 ¶ And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? and he ſaid, Behold, in the tent.

10 And he ſaid, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and lo, Sarah thy wife ſhall have a ſon. And Sarah heard it in the tent door which was behind him.

11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, and well ſtricken in age; and it ceaſed to be with Sarah after the manner of women.

12 Therefore Sarah laughed within herſelf, ſaying, After I am waxed old, ſhall I have pleaſure, my Lord being old alſo?

13 And the Lord ſaid unto Abraham Wherefore, did Sarah laugh, ſaying, Shall I of a ſurety bear a child, which am old?

14 Is any thing too hard for the Lord? at the time appointed I will return unto thee according to the time of life, and Sarah ſhall have a ſon.

15 Then Sarah denied, ſaying, I laughed not; for ſhe was afraid. And he ſaid, Nay, but thou didſt laugh.

16 And the men roſe up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them to bring them on the way.

17 ¶ And the Lord ſaid, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do.

18 Seeing that Abraham ſhall ſurely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth ſhall be bleſſed in him?

19 For I know him that he will command his children, and his houſhold after him, and they ſhall keep the way of the Lord, to do juſtice and judgment; that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath ſpoken of him.

20 And the Lord ſaid, Becauſe the cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and becauſe their ſin is very grievous:

21 I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which is come unto me: and if not, I will know.

22 And the men turned their faces from thence, and went towards Sodom: but Abraham ſtood yet before the Lord.

23 ¶ And Abraham drew near, and ſaid, Wilt thou alſo deſtroy the righteous with the wicked?

24 Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou alſo deſtroy and not ſpare the place for the fifty righteous that are therein?

25 That be far from thee to do after this manner, to ſlay the righteous with the wicked: and that the righteous ſhould be as the wicked; that be far from thee: ſhall not the judge of all the earth do right?

26 And the Lord ſaid, If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will ſpare all the place for their ſakes.

27 And Abraham anſwered and ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord, which am but duſt and aſhes.

28 Peradventure there ſhall lack five of the fifty righteous: wilt thou deſtroy all the city for lack of five? and he ſaid, If I find there forty and five, I will not deſtroy it.

29 And he ſpake unto him yet again, and ſaid, Peradventure there ſhall be forty found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it for forty's ſake.

30 And he ſaid unto him, Oh! let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak: Peradventure there ſhall thirty be found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it if I find thirty there.

31 And he ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord: Peradventure there ſhall be twenty found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for twenty's ſake.

32 And he ſaid, Oh, let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak yet but this once: Peradventure ten ſhall be found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for ten's ſake.

33 And the Lord went his way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham: and Abraham returned unto his place.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Lot entertaineth two angels. 24 Sodom and Gomorrah deſtroyed. 26 Lot's wife puniſhed. 31 His inceſt.

AND there came two angels to Sodom at even; and Lot ſat in the gate of Sodom: and Lot ſeeing them roſe up to meet them: and he bowed himſelf with his face toward the ground;

2 And he ſaid, Behold now, my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your ſervant's houſe, and tarry all night, and waſh your feet, and ye ſhall riſe up early and go on your ways. And they ſaid, Nay; but we will abide in the ſtreet all night.

3 And he preſſed upon them greatly; and they turned in unto him, and entered into his houſe: and he made them a feaſt, and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat.

4 But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compaſſed the houſe round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter.

5 And they called unto Lot, and ſaid unto him, Where are the men which came in to thee this night? bring them out unto us, that we may know them.

6 And Lot went out at the door unto them, and ſhut the door after him,

7 And ſaid, I pray you, brethren, do not ſo wickedly.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters which have not known man; let me, I pray you, bring them out unto you, and do ye to them as is good in your eyes:

21 I will go down now and ſee, &c.) We muſt not underſtand the words in a literal ſenſe, the Almighty was fully appriſed of all the crimes committed in Sodom: for he is about our path, and about our bed, and ſpieth out all our ways; it is a figurative expreſſion, accomodated to the ſhallow capacities of mortal beings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 Lot ſat in the gate) It was the cuſtom in ancient times to tranſact public and private buſineſs at the gate of the city; we may therefore ſuppoſe that Lot was then ſitting at the gate on buſineſs, but muſt probably on purpoſe to invite ſtrangers to his houſe. In thoſe days there were no inns; ſo that, if private hoſpitality had not been ſhewn to travellers, they muſt have continued all night in the ſtreets.

5 Bring them out unto us, that we may know them) The men of Sodom were ſo wicked, that even the laws of hoſpitality, held ſacred among all the Oriental nations, were no ſecurity in that city. Their unnatural luſts had ſuch predominance over them, that they attempted to commit the moſt heinous of crimes upon the perſons of ſtrangers.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters, &c.) Lot, rather than violate the ſacred laws of hoſpitality, expoſes his own perſon to the frantic rage of a lawleſs multitude; and even offers them to expoſe his two daughters to their unbridled luſt, to ſave his gueſts from ſuch injurious treatment. Perhaps he carried the matter too far; but the great perturbation of his mind might make him ſpeak unadviſedly.

only unto theſe men do nothing: for therefore came they under the ſhadow of my roof.

9 And they ſaid, Stand back. And they ſaid again, This one fellow came in to ſojourn, and he will needs be a judge: now will we deal worſe with thee, than with them. And they preſſed ſore upon the man, even Lot, and came near to break the door.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the houſe to them, and ſhut to the door.

11 And they ſmote the men that were at the door of the houſe with blindneſs, both ſmall and great: ſo that they wearied themſelves to find the door.

12 And the men ſaid unto Lot, Haſt thou here any beſides? ſon-in-law, and thy ſons, and thy daughters, and whatſoever thou haſt in the city, bring them out of this place:

13 For we will deſtroy this place: becauſe the cry of them is waxen great before the face of the Lord; and the Lord hath ſent us to deſtroy it.

14 And Lot went out, and ſpake unto his ſons-in-law, which married his daughters, and ſaid, Up, get ye out of this place; for the Lord will deſtroy this city: but he ſeemed as one that mocked unto his ſons-in-law.

15 And when the morning aroſe, then the angels haſtened Lot, ſaying, Ariſe, take thy wife, and thy two daughters, which are here; leſt thou be conſumed in the iniquity of the city.

16 And while he lingered, the men laid hold upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hand of his two daughters; the Lord being merciful unto him: and they brought him forth, and ſet him without the city.

17 And it came to paſs, when they had brought them forth abroad, that he ſaid, Eſcape for thy life; look not behind thee, neither ſtay thou in all the plain: eſcape to the mountain, leſt thou be conſumed.

18 And Lot ſaid unto them, Oh, not ſo, my Lord!

19 Behold now thy ſervant hath found grace in thy ſight, and thou haſt magnified thy mercy, which thou haſt ſhewed unto me in ſaving my life: and I cannot eſcape to the mountain, leſt ſome evil take me, and I die.

20 Behold now, this city is near to flee unto, and it is a little one: Oh, let me eſcape thither, (is it not a little one?) and my ſoul ſhall live.

21 And he ſaid unto him, See, I have accepted thee concerning this thing alſo, that I will not overthrow this city, for the which thou haſt ſpoken.

22 Haſte thee, eſcape thither: for I cannot do any thing till thou be come thither: therefore the name of the city was called Zoar.

23 The ſun was riſen upon the earth when Lot entered into Zoar.

24 ¶ Then the Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimſtone and fire from the Lord out of heaven.

25 And he overthrew thoſe cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground.

26 ¶ But his wife looked back from behind him, and ſhe became a pillar of ſalt.

27 And Abraham got up early in the morning, to the place where he ſtood before the Lord.

28 And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain, and beheld, and, lo, the ſmoke of the country went up as the ſmoke of a furnace.

29 And it came to paſs, when God deſtroyed the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and ſent out Lot of the midſt of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities in the which Lot dwelt.

30 And Lot went up out of Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he feared to dwell in Zoar; and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters.

31 ¶ And the firſt-born ſaid unto the younger, Our father is old, and there is not a man in the earth to come in unto us after the manner of all the earth.

32 Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preſerve ſeed of our father.

33 And they made their father drink wine that night: and the firſt-born went in, and lay with her father: and he perceived not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe aroſe.

34 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the firſt-born ſaid unto the younger, Behold, I lay yeſternight with my father: let us make him drink wine this night alſo; and go thou in and lie with him, that we may preſerve ſeed of our father.

35 And they made their father drink wine that night alſo: and the younger aroſe and lay with him: and he perceived not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe aroſe.

36 Thus were both the daughters of Lot with child by their father.

37 And the firſt-born bare a ſon, and called his name Moab: the ſame is the father of the Moabites unto this day.

38 And the younger ſhe alſo bare a ſon, and called his name Ben-ammi; the ſame is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

CHAP. XX.

1 Abraham denieth his wife, and loſeth her. 14 Abimelech reſtoreth her.

AND Abraham journeyed from thence toward the ſouth-country, and dwelled between Kadeſh and Shur, and ſojourned in Gerar.

2 And Abraham ſaid of Sarah his wife, She is my ſiſter: and Abimelech king of Gerar ſent, and took Sarah.

3 But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and ſaid to him, behold, thou art but a dead man, for the woman which thou haſt taken: for ſhe is a man's wife.

25 And he overthrew thoſe cities, &c.) The ſtorm of thunder and lightning, or, as others think, of liquid fire, which overthrew theſe cities, is thought to have been accompanied with a dreadful earthquake, becauſe the country where they ſtood turned into the lake Aſphaltites, which we call the ſalt or dead ſea. But be this as it may, we ſhould learn from hence, that if God ſpared not the old world, but brought in a flood upon the ungodly; and if he, turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into aſhes, condemned them with an overthrow, or according to St. Jude, condemned them to the vengeance of eternal fire; we need not doubt, but that, as he is in all ages the ſame, a God of juſtice, as well as of mercy, no iniquity can ultimately eſcape. Look, then, unto Jeſus, and be ye ſaved, all the ends of the earth.

26 His wife looked back, &c.) It muſt be remembered, that Lot's wife was one of the daughters of Sodom, and therefore it is natural to ſuppoſe, that diſregarding the ſtrict charge of the angel, and perhaps diſbelieving his threats, ſhe ſtill loitered, and often turned to look on the place of her nativity. But perhaps by a pillar of ſalt, is only meant a laſting monument; as a perpetual covenant is called a covenant of ſalt, Numb. xviii. 19. Her crime undoubtedly was ingratitude to God, for the protection and preſervation that was offered to her; reluctance in leaving the place of her nativity, and, in her heart, turning back again into Sodom.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

2 Abimelech king of Gerar.) Abimelech was a name common to all the kings of Paleſtine, as Pharaoh was to the kings of Egypt. The word ſignifies my father is king. A very proper title for a king, who ought to be a father to his people.

4 But Abimelech had not come near her: and he ſaid, Lord, wilt thou ſlay alſo a righteous nation?

5 Said he not unto me, She is my ſiſter? and ſhe, even ſhe herſelf ſaid, He is my brother: in the integrity of my heart, and innocency of my hands have I done this.

6 And God ſaid unto him in a dream, Yea, I know that thou didſt this in the integrity of thy heart; for I alſo with-held thee from ſinning againſt me; therefore ſuffered I thee not to touch her.

7 Now therefore reſtore the man his wife: for he is a prophet, and he ſhall pray for thee, and thou ſhalt live; and if thou reſtore her not, know thou that thou ſhalt ſurely die, thou, and all that are thine.

8 Therefore Abimelech roſe early in the morning, and called all his ſervants, and told all theſe things in their ears: and the men were ſore afraid.

9 Then Abimelech called Abraham, and ſaid unto him, What haſt thou done unto us? and what have I offended thee, that thou haſt brought on me and on my kingdom a great ſin? thou haſt done deeds unto me that ought not to be done.

10 And Abimelech ſaid unto Abraham, What ſaweſt thou, that thou haſt done this thing?

11 And Abraham ſaid, Becauſe I thought, Surely the fear of God is not in this place: and they will ſlay me for my wife's ſake.

12 And yet indeed ſhe is my ſiſter; ſhe is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother: and ſhe became my wife.

13 And it came to paſs, when God cauſed me to wander from my father's houſe, that I ſaid unto her, This is thy kindneſs which thou ſhalt ſhew unto me; at every place whither we ſhall come, ſay of me, He is my brother.

14 ¶ And Abimelech took ſheep, and oxen, and men-ſervants, and woman-ſervants, and gave them unto Abraham, and reſtored him Sarah his wife.

15 And Abimelech ſaid, Behold, my land is before thee: dwell where it pleaſeth thee.

16 And unto Sarah he ſaid, Behold I have given thy brother a thouſand pieces of ſilver: behold, he is to thee a covering of the eyes unto all that are with thee, and with all other: thus ſhe was reproved.

17 So Abraham prayed unto God: and God healed Abimelech and his wife, and his maid-ſervants: and they bare children.

18 For the Lord had faſt cloſed up all the wombs of the houſe of Abimelech, becauſe of Sarah Abraham's wife.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iſaac is born. 9 Hagar and Iſhmael are caſt forth. 22 Abimelech's covenant with Abraham.

AND the Lord viſited Sarah as he had ſaid, and the Lord did unto Sarah as he had ſpoken.

2 ¶ For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a ſon in his old age, at the ſet time of which God had ſpoken to him.

3 And Abraham called the name of his ſon that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Iſaac.

4 And Abraham circumciſed his ſon Iſaac, being eight days old, as God had commanded him.

5 And Abraham was an hundred years old when his ſon Iſaac was born unto him.

6 And Sarah ſaid, God hath made me to laugh, ſo that all that hear will laugh with me.

7 And ſhe ſaid, Who would have ſaid unto Abraham, that Sarah ſhould have given children ſuck? for I have borne him a ſon in his old age.

8 And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feaſt the ſame day that Iſaac was weaned.

9 ¶ And Sarah ſaw the ſon of Hagar the Egyptian, which ſhe had borne unto Abraham, mocking.

10 Wherefore ſhe ſaid unto Abraham, Caſt out this bond-woman, and her ſon: for the ſon of this bond-woman ſhall not be heir with my ſon, even with Iſaac.

11 And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's ſight, becauſe of his ſon.

12 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thy ſight, becauſe of the lad, and becauſe of thy bond-woman; in all that Sarah hath ſaid unto thee, hearken unto her voice: for in Iſaac ſhall thy ſeed be called.

13 And alſo of the ſon of the bond-woman will I make a nation, becauſe he is thy ſeed.

14 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, and took bread and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar, putting it on her ſhoulder, and the child, and ſent her away: and ſhe departed, and wandered in the wilderneſs of Beer-ſheba.

15 And the water was ſpent in the bottle, and ſhe caſt the child under one of the ſhrubs.

16 And ſhe went, and ſat her down over againſt him, a good way off, as it were a bow-ſhot: for ſhe ſaid, Let me not ſee the death of the child. And ſhe ſat over againſt him, and lifted up her voice and wept.

17 And God heard the voice of the lad: and the angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and ſaid unto her, What aileth thee Hagar? fear not: for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is.

18 Ariſe, lift up the lad, and hold him in thine hand; for I will make him a great nation.

19 And God opened her eyes, and ſhe ſaw a well of water, and ſhe went, and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink.

11 I thought ſurely the fear of God, &c.) Abraham had ſeen ſuch an univerſal corruption of manners in other countries, that he concluded this of Gerar was no better than the reſt, though the event ſhews he was miſtaken. And he well knew that where men are under no fear of the Lord, little was to be expected from human virtue.

16 A thouſand pieces of ſilver.) That is, 1000 ſhekels of ſilver, about 120l. ſterling: a ſhekel being worth two ſhillings and fourpence farthing.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

6 God hath made me to laugh, &c.) It ſhould be obſerved, that the word Iſaac ſignifies laughter or joy; it was natural therefore for Sarah, on reflecting how ſhe had formerly laughed by way of deriſion, to declare, that ſhe had now indeed reaſon to laugh and rejoice for ſo great and unexpected a bleſſing.

14 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, &c.) The behaviour of Abraham towards his ſon Iſhmael, has, by the contemners of revelation, been repreſented as cruel to the laſt degree. It will be neceſſary to obſerve, that though Iſhmael is called a child in our tranſlation, yet he was really fifteen or ſixteen years old; for he was thirteen when he was circumciſed, which was before Sarah had conceived; and if we ſuppoſe, that Iſaac was two years old when he was weaned, Iſhmael muſt be near ſixteen at the time when Abraham ſent him away. Another obſervation is alſo neceſſary, namely, that by bread and water, is meant all kinds of proviſion neceſſary for their journey, till they arrived at the place intended. Theſe obſervations being premiſed, let us return to Hagar and Iſhmael, who had now retired from Abraham's tent. It was no difficult thing for any perſon to find a livelihood in this early age of the world; thoſe who had flocks, found ground enough to ſpare in every country to maintain them; and creatures were ſo numerous, that a perſon who had no flocks, might in the wilderneſs and uncultivated places, kill enough of all ſorts for his maintenance, without injuring any body: and accordingly we find that Iſhmael choſe to reſide in the wilderneſs, where he became an archer. And it appears from the ſequel, that Hagar met no great difficulty in providing for herſelf and her ſon. Nor did Iſhmael fare any worſe than was common for the younger ſons to do in thoſe days, when they were diſmiſſed, in order to ſettle in different parts of the world. Jacob was diſmiſſed in the ſame manner from Iſaac, without ſervants or attendants.

20 And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer.

21 And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And it came to pass at that time, that Abimelech, and Phicol the chief captain of his host spake unto Abraham, saying, God is with thee in all that thou doest:

23 Now therefore swear unto me here by God, that thou wilt not deal falsly with me, nor with my son, nor with my son's son: but according to the kindness that I have done unto thee thou shalt do unto me, and to the land wherein thou hast sojourned.

24 And Abraham said, I will swear.

25 And Abraham reproved Abimelech because of a well of water, which Abimelech's servants had violently taken away.

26 And Abimelech said, I wot not who hath done this thing: neither didst thou tell me, neither yet heard I of it, but to-day.

27 And Abraham took sheep and oxen, and gave them unto Abimelech: and both of them made a covenant.

28 And Abraham set seven ewe-lambs of the flock by themselves.

29 And Abimelech said unto Abraham, What mean these seven ewe-lambs, which thou hast set by themselves?

30 And he said, For these seven ewe-lambs shalt thou take of my hand, that they may be a witness unto me, that I have digged this well.

31 Wherefore he called that place Beer-sheba: because there they sware both of them.

32 Thus they made a covenant at Beer-sheba: then Abimelech rose up, and Phicol the chief captain of his host, and they returned into the land of the Philistines.

33 And Abraham planted a grove in Beer-sheba, and called there on the name of the Lord, the everlasting God.

34 And Abraham sojourned in the Philistines' land many days.

CHAP. XXII.

3 Abraham offering Isaac, 12 is stayed by the angel: 15 He is blessed again. 20 The generation of Nahor unto Rebekah.

AND it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham: and he said, Behold, here I am.

2 And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of.

3 ¶ And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son; and clave the wood for the burnt-offering, and rose up, and went unto the place of which God had told him.

4 Then on the third day Abraham lift up his eyes, and saw the place afar off.

5 And Abraham said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you.

6 And Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife: and they went both of them together.

7 And Isaac spake unto Abraham his father, and said, My father. And he said, Here am I, my son: and he said, Behold, the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt-offering?

8 And Abraham said, My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt-offering: so they went both of them together.

9 And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order: and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood.

10 And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son.

11 And the angel of the Lord called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham; and he

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

2 Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, &c.) This command to sacrifice Isaac, was a great trial of Abraham's faith, as may be perceived by the account of his obedience to it, "He that had received the promises, offered up his only begotten, of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called." This command, which he obeyed, was not only extremely cross to his great affection for his only Isaac, whom he loved; but it also appeared quite inconsistent with the promises which he had received, even the promise to make his seed a nation to inherit Canaan's land, and the grand promise of that seed in whom all nations should be blessed: for as to both these promises, concerning his seed, it was said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called. Now if this Isaac died childless, according to the command to sacrifice him, how should the promises, of seed to Abraham through him, be performed? His faith had surmounted the great difficulty of his own body now dead, and the deadness of Sarah's womb: but here a command comes, from him who made the promises, in the most glaring opposition and contrariety to these promises. He had the same authority and evidence for obeying this command, that he had for believing the promises; so that if he refused the command, he rejected the promises; yea, if he doubted the command, he staggered at the promises thro' unbelief. Thus was his faith tried! And so is our faith of the gospel tried by the commands of the gospel.

His faith, when he was tried, appeared manifestly in his answer to his son's question (ver. 7.) that carried in it the whole force of the temptation for the trial of his faith. He said, Behold the fire and the wood; but where is the lamb for a burnt offering? He saw things prepared for sacrificing, but nothing to be sacrificed. He knew not that he was carrying the wood prepared for burning him, and his father the fire to kindle it, with the knife to slay him; and so he inquired at his father for the sacrifice. This served to move his bowels toward his dear son, in the most tender manner, and to rouse up all his great affection for him to exert its utmost strength: and not only so, but his son's question behoved to turn, in his mind, to this: Where is the promised seed, that great sacrifice, who, by redeeming from the curse, is to bless all nations? For Abraham could not see how that seed should come, if Isaac were slain: so that sacrificing him, was like sacrificing all his hopes in this world, and in the world to come. Here was enough, in all reason, to stop the progress of his obedience to the command, though he had already proceeded in it two days. But, even in this situation of his mind, when he was at his wit's end, and could see no further about the sacrifice, his faith prevailed against the temptation, and was professed by him, in answer to his son's question, in these words, (ver. 8.) My son, God will see to himself a lamb for a burnt-offering. In this faith he proceeded to offer Isaac his son upon the altar. Thus we see how faith wrought with his works. He offered up his son by faith, accounting that God was able to raise him up even from the dead: for his faith in the promise of that seed, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world, did, from the first overthrow every objection that could be raised against it, by respecting God as raising the dead.

When he had obeyed, and received Isaac as from the dead, he gave the place a name answerable to the profession of his faith there verified. He had said, God will see; and he called the name of the place Jehovah will see, or seeth. This is the passage to which our Lord refers, where he says, Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day; and he saw, and was glad: for here it was that he saw what he believed, in a lively representation of it: and so his faith was made perfect in the sight of its object, as well as in the confirmation of it, by the divine oath, James ii. 21, 22. As faith had wrought with his works, when he was offering Isaac his son; so when he had offered him, by works was faith perfected, in the sight of that which he believed, clearly set before him by means of his works. For 1. When he had offered Isaac his son on the altar, he saw, by his giving him up to death as a sacrifice, God not sparing his own Son, but delivering him up to death for our ofſaid, Here am I.

12 And he ſaid, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou feareſt God, ſeeing thou haſt not with-held thy ſon, thine only ſon from me.

13 And Abraham liſted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt-offering in the ſtead of his ſon.

14 And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah-jireh as it is ſaid to this day, In the mount of the Lord it ſhall be ſeen.

15 ¶ And the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of heaven the ſecond time,

16 And ſaid, By myſelf have I ſworn, ſaith the Lord, for becauſe thou haſt done this thing, and haſt not with-held thy ſon, thine only ſon:

17 That in bleſſing I will bleſs thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy ſeed as the ſtars of the heaven, and as the ſand which is upon the ſea-ſhore: and thy ſeed ſhall poſſeſs the gate of his enemies:

18 And in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed; becauſe thou haſt obeyed my voice.

19 So Abraham returned unto his young men, and they roſe up, and went together to Beer-ſheba; and Abraham dwelt at Beer-ſheba.

20 ¶ And it came to paſs after theſe things, that it was told Abraham, ſaying, Behold, Milcah, ſhe hath alſo born children unto thy brother Nahor:

21 Huz his firſt-born, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram, 22 And Cheſed, and Hazo, and Pildaſh, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel.

23 And Bethuel begat Rebekah: theſe eight Milcah did bear to Nahor, Abraham's brother.

24 And his concubine whoſe name was Reumah, ſhe bare alſo Tebah, and Gaham, and Thahaſh, and Maacah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Sarah's age and death. 3 The purchaſe of Machpelah, 19 where Sarah was buried.

AND Sarah was an hundred and ſeven and twenty years old; theſe were the years of the life of Sarah.

2 And Sarah died in Kirjath-arba: the ſame is Hebron in the land of Canaan: and Abraham came to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her.

3 ¶ And Abraham ſtood up from before his dead, and ſpake unto the ſons of Heth, ſaying,

4 I am a ſtranger and a ſojourner with you: give me a poſſeſſion of a burying-place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my ſight.

5 And the children of Heth anſwered Abraham, ſaying unto him,

6 Hear us, my lord; thou art a mighty prince amongſt us: in the choice of our ſepulchres bury thy dead: none of us ſhall with-hold from thee his ſepulchre, but that thou mayeſt bury thy dead.

7 And Abraham ſtood up, and bowed himſelf to the people of the land, even to the children of Heth.

8 And he communed with them, ſaying, If it be your mind that I ſhould bury my dead out of my ſight; hear me, and intreat for me to Ephron the ſon of Zohar,

9 That he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath, which is in the end of his field; for as much money as it is worth he ſhall give it me, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place amongſt you.

10 And Ephron dwelt amongſt the children of Heth: and Ephron the Hittite anſwered Abraham in the audience of the children of Heth, even of all that went in at the gate of his city, ſaying, 11 Nay, my lord, hear me: the field give I thee, and the cave that is therein, I give it thee: in the preſence of the ſons of my people give I it thee: bury thy dead.

12 And Abraham bowed down himſelf before the people of the land.

13 And he ſpake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the land ſaying, But if thou wilt give it, I pray thee hear me: I will give thee money for the field; take it of me, and I will bury my dead there.

14 And Ephron anſwered Abraham, ſaying unto him,

15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth four hundred ſhekels of ſilver: what is that betwixt me and thee? bury therefore thy dead.

16 And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron; and Abraham weighed to Ephron the ſilver which he had named in the audience of the ſons of Heth, four hundred ſhekels of ſilver, current money with the merchant.

17 And the field of Ephron, which was in Machpelah, which was before Mamre, the field and the cave which was therein, and all the trees which were in the fences; he ſaw the Father giving his only begotten Son the propitiation for our ſins. 2. Through the ſalvation of Iſaac from death, by the ram caught in a thicket, which he took, and offered up in his ſtead, he ſaw our ſalvation by the ſubſtitution of Chriſt the Son of God, to die for us, as the ſacrifice of God's providing. He beheld the Lamb of God taking away the ſin of the world, which was the great thing exhibited in all the ſacrifices. Thus he beheld God ſeeing to himſelf a Lamb for a burnt-offering, even as he believed: and ſo he called the place where he ſaw this, Jehovah-jireh; and this is what Moſes ſays is ſtill to be ſeen in the mount of the Lord. 3. He ſaw Chriſt's reſurrection from the dead, in the figure of his receiving Iſaac from the death to which he had given him up. This was on the third day from his ſetting out to offer him as a burnt-offering, ver. 3, 4. And this anſwers to Chriſt's riſing the third day from his crucifixion: for the apoſtle ſays, That he roſe again the third day according to the ſcriptures, 1. Cor. xv. 4. Chriſt's day that Abraham ſaw, was the time of his being delivered for our offences, and raiſed again for our juſtification; and particularly, the day of his reſurrection is called the Lord's day. Becauſe the Lord commanded Abraham to go into the land of Moriah, and offer his ſon upon one of the mountains there, it is ſuppoſed that the Mount Moriah, on which Solomon built the temple, (2 Chron iii 1) is the very ſame with this that is here called Jehovah-jireh And ſome have thought, that the name Moriah is of like interpretation, ſignifying, The ſight of Jah. But however that be, we may obſerve, from what has been juſt now noted, that the ſame thing, ſeen by Abraham on this mount, and by Moſes on the Mount Sinai, was repreſented and to be ſeen in the ſanctuary on Mount Moriah. And now that we are come to Mount Zion, the heavenly Jeruſalem, where we have acceſs by faith, the evidence of things not ſeen, the great thing to be ſeen there, is the Lamb that was ſlain, alive again in the midſt of the throne; and viewing this, we behold the glory of God in the face of Jeſus Chriſt: ſo that it can ſtill be ſaid, In the mount, Jehovah is ſeen. This is the ſame that is ſet forth in the Lord's ſupper, to the view of a church of the Lord's diſciples, aſſembling on his day, to ſhew his death till he come: and there they behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the ſin of the world. If we rejoice to ſee this, if we ſee it and are glad, then we are of faith, and are bleſſed with faithful Abraham.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

1 And Sarah was, &c.) Bp. Patrick remarks, that Sarah is the only woman whoſe age is reckoned in the holy ſcriptures.

4 Give me a poſſeſſion of a burying place.) It ſeems to have been a common opinion, in the firſt ages of the world, That it was ignominious to be buried in ground belonging to another; for we find that every family of note had a ſepulchre of their own.

15 Four hundred ſhekels of ſilver.) That is, forty-ſix pounds thirteen ſhillings and four-pence. This money, as we learn from ver. 16. was not coined, but paid by weight; and the ſame method was uſed by the children of Iſrael till the captivity.

19 ¶ And after this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah, before Mamre: the ſame is Hebron in the land of Canaan.

20 And the field and the cave that is therein were made ſure unto Abraham, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place, by the ſons of Heth.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Abraham ſendeth his ſervant to get a wife for his ſon Iſaac. 58 He obtaineth Rebekah. 62 Iſaac meeteth her.

AND Abraham was old and well ſtricken in age: and the Lord had bleſſed Abraham in all things.

2 And Abraham ſaid unto his eldeſt ſervant of his houſe, that ruled over all that he had, Put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh:

3 And I will make thee ſwear by the Lord, the God of heaven, and the God of the earth, that thou ſhalt not take a wife unto my ſon of the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I dwell:

4 But thou ſhalt go into my country, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my ſon Iſaac.

5 And the ſervant ſaid unto him, Peradventure the woman will not be willing to follow me unto this land: muſt I needs bring thy ſon again unto the land from whence thou cameſt?

6 And Abraham ſaid unto him, Beware thou, that thou bring not my ſon thither again.

7 The Lord God of heaven, who took me from my father's houſe, and from the land of my kindred, and which ſpake unto me, and that ſware unto me, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land; he ſhall ſend his angel before thee, and thou ſhalt take a wife unto my ſon from thence.

8 And if the woman will not be willing to follow thee, then thou ſhalt be clear from this my oath: only bring not my ſon thither again.

9 And the ſervant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his maſter, and ſware to him concerning that matter.

10 And the ſervant took ten camels of the camels of his maſter, and departed; (for all the goods of his maſter were in his hand) and he aroſe, and went to Meſopotamia unto the city of Nahor.

11 And he made his camels to kneel down without the city, by a well of water, at the time of the evening, even the time that women go out to draw water.

12 And he ſaid, O Lord God of my maſter Abraham, I pray thee ſend me good ſpeed this day, and ſhew kindneſs unto my maſter Abraham.

13 Behold, I ſtand here by the well of water; and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water;

14 And let it come to paſs, that the damſel to whom I ſhall ſay, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and ſhe ſhall ſay, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink alſo: let the ſame be ſhe that thou haſt appointed for thy ſervant Iſaac; and thereby ſhall I know that thou haſt ſhewed kindneſs unto my maſter.

15 And it came to paſs, before he had done ſpeaking, that behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, ſon of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her ſhoulder.

16 And the damſel was very fair to look upon; a virgin, neither had any man known her: and ſhe went down to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came up.

17 And the ſervant ran to meet her, and ſaid, Let me (I pray thee) drink a little water of thy pitcher.

18 And ſhe ſaid, Drink my lord: and ſhe haſted and let down her pitcher upon her hand, and gave him drink.

19 And when ſhe had done giving him drink, ſhe ſaid, I will draw water for thy camels alſo, until they have done drinking.

20 And ſhe haſted, and emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran again unto the well to draw water, and drew for all his camels.

21 And the man wondering at her, held his peace, to wit whether the Lord had made his journey proſperous or not.

22 And it came to paſs, as the camels had done drinking, that the man took a golden ear-ring, of half a ſhekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten ſhekels weight of gold;

23 And ſaid, Whoſe daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee: is there room in thy father's houſe for us to lodge in?

24 And ſhe ſaid unto him, I am the daughter of Bethuel the ſon of Milcah, which ſhe bare unto Nahor.

25 She ſaid moreover unto him, We have both ſtraw and provender enough, and room to lodge in.

26 And the man bowed down his head, and worſhipped the Lord.

27 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of my maſter Abraham, who hath not left deſtitute my maſter of his mercy and his truth; I being in the way, the Lord led me to the houſe of my maſter's brethren.

28 And the damſel ran, and told them of her mother's houſe theſe things.

29 And Rebekah had a brother, and his name was Laban: and Laban ran out unto the man unto the well.

30 And it came to paſs when he ſaw the ear-ring, and bracelets upon his ſiſter's hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his ſiſter, ſaying, Thus ſpake the man unto me; that he came unto the man; and behold he ſtood by the camels at the well.

31 And he ſaid, Come in, thou bleſſed of the Lord, wherefore ſtandeſt thou without? for I have prepared the houſe, and room for the camels.

32 And the man came into the houſe: and he ungirded his camels, and gave ſtraw and provender for the camels, and water to waſh his feet, and the men's feet that were with him.

33 And there was ſet meat before him to eat: but he ſaid, I will not eat until I have told mine errand.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

2 Put thy hand under my thigh.) This was the common method of taking an oath, both among the Hebrews, and all the oriental nations.

4 But thou ſhalt go unto my country.). That is, to Meſopotamia the place of Abraham's nativity, and where he lived many years.

13 The daughters of the men of city to draw water) It was cuſtomary towards evening for the young women to go out to draw water either for the cattle, or the uſe of the family. See 1 Sam. ix. 11.

19 I will draw water.) The humanity which Rebekah ſhewed on this occaſion, ſtrongly marks the ſimplicity of theſe early ages, and vindicates the fidelity of Abraham's ſervant, in chuſing a perſon whoſe morals rendered her worthy of Iſaac's affection.

33 I will not eat until I have told mine errand) We have here a picture of a faithful ſervant, one who prefers his maſter's buſineſs to his own pleaſures; and is therefore impatient till he has delivered his meſſage, and ſatisfied himſelf whether his journey ſhall be proſperous or not.

And he ſaid, Speak on.

34 And he ſaid, I am Abraham's ſervant.

35 And the Lord hath bleſſed my maſter greatly, and he is become great: and he hath given him flocks and herds, and ſilver and gold, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and camels, and aſſes.

36 And Sarah my maſter's wife bare a ſon to my maſter when ſhe was old; and unto him hath he given all that he hath.

37 And my maſter made me ſwear, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not take a wife to my ſon of the daughters of the Canaanites, in whoſe land I dwell:

38 But thou ſhalt go unto my father's houſe, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my ſon.

39 And I ſaid unto my maſter, Peradventure the woman will not follow me.

40 And he ſaid unto me, The Lord, before whom I walk, will ſend his angel with thee, and proſper thy way; and thou ſhalt take a wife for my ſon of my kindred, and of my father's houſe.

41 Then ſhalt thou be clear from this my oath, when thou comeſt to my kindred; and if they give not thee one, thou ſhalt be clear from my oath.

42 And I came this day unto the well, and ſaid, O Lord God of my maſter Abraham, if now thou do proſper my way which I go;

43 Behold, I ſtand by the well of water: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when the virgin cometh forth to draw water, and I ſay to her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water of thy pitcher to drink;

44 And ſhe ſay to me, Both drink thou, and I will alſo draw for thy camels: let the ſame be the woman whom the Lord hath appointed out for my maſter's ſon.

45 And before I had done ſpeaking in mine heart, behold, Rebekah came forth with her pitcher on her ſhoulder; and ſhe went down unto the well, and drew water: and I ſaid unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee.

46 And ſhe made haſte, and let down her pitcher from her ſhoulder, and ſaid Drink, and I will give thy camels drink alſo: ſo I drank, and ſhe made the camels drink alſo.

47 And I aſked her, and ſaid, Whoſe daughter art thou? and ſhe ſaid, The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor's ſon, whom Milcah bare unto him: and I put the ear-ring upon her face, and the bracelets upon her hands.

48 And I bowed down my head, and worſhipped the Lord, and bleſſed the Lord God of my maſter Abraham, which had led me in the right way to take my maſter's brother's daughter unto his ſon.

49 And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my maſter, tell me: and if not tell me; that I may turn to the right hand, or to the left.

50 Then Laban and Bethuel anſwered and ſaid, The thing proceedeth from the Lord: we cannot ſpeak unto thee bad or good.

51 Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy maſter's ſon's wife, as the Lord hath ſpoken.

52 And it came to paſs, that when Abraham's ſervant heard their words, he worſhipped the Lord bowing himſelf to the earth.

53 And the ſervant brought forth jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment, and gave them to Rebekah; he gave alſo to her brother and to her mother precious things.

54 And they did eat and drink, he and the men that were with him, and tarried all night: and they roſe up in the morning, and he ſaid, Send me away unto my maſter.

55 And her brother and her mother ſaid, Let the damſel abide with us a few days, at the leaſt ten; after that ſhe ſhall go.

56 And he ſaid unto them, Hinder me not, ſeeing the Lord hath proſpered my way: ſend me away that I may go to my maſter.

57 And they ſaid, We will call the damſel and enquire at her mouth.

58 ¶ And they called Rebekah, and ſaid unto her, Wilt thou go with this man? and ſhe ſaid, I will go.

59 And they ſent away Rebekah their ſiſter, and her nurſe, and Abraham's ſervant, and his men.

60 And they bleſſed Rebekah, and ſaid unto her, Thou art our ſiſter, be thou the mother of thouſands of millions, and let thy ſeed poſſeſs the gate of thoſe which hate them.

61 And Rebekah aroſe, and her damſels, and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man; and the ſervant took Rebekah, and went his way.

62 ¶ And Iſaac came from the way of the well Lahai-roi; for he dwelt in the ſouth-country.

63 And Iſaac went out to meditate in the field at the even-tide; and he lifted up his eyes and ſaw, and behold, the camels were coming.

64 And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and when ſhe ſaw Iſaac, ſhe lighted off the camel.

65 For ſhe had ſaid unto the ſervant, What man is this that walketh in the field to meet us? and the ſervant had ſaid, It is my maſter: therefore ſhe took a veil and covered herſelf.

66 And the ſervant told Iſaac all things that he had done.

67 And Iſaac brought her into his mother Sarah's tent, and took Rebekah and ſhe became his wife, and he loved her: and Iſaac was comforted after his mother's death.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The ſons of Abraham by Keturah. 7 His age and death. 24 The birth of Eſau and Jacob. 29 Eſau ſelleth his birth-right.

THEN again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah.

2 And ſhe bare him Zimran, and Jokſhan, and 58 And ſhe ſaid I will go.) The authority which parents have over their children, being founded in nature, was and muſt always be the ſame: but we find that no force was put upon the will of Rebekah in this caſe; And why ſhould it; The happineſs of the connubial ſtate depends upon the reciprocal affection which the parties bear to each other; this affection muſt proceed from the will, and as the will cannot be forced, the choice therefore ſhould be voluntary. Nay, if it be not voluntary, the ſeeds of diſcontent and unhappineſs are ſown by the perſons ſo compelling, becauſe we are generally obſtinate to be diſpleaſed with that which is forced upon us.

63 Went out to meditate.) In what a beautiful attitude is Iſaac here drawn by the inſpired penman! Nothing ſurely can be more proper for a creature that borders on eternity, and is haſting continually to his final audit, than daily to ſlip from the hurry of buſineſs, to conſider and adjuſt the things that belong to his peace. The world is a troubled ocean, and who can erect ſtable purpoſes on its fluctuating waves? The world is a ſchool of wrong, and who does not feel himſelf warping to its pernicious influences? But ſafety dwells in ſolitude. Every meddling and intruſive avocation is ſecluded: ſilence holds the door againſt the ſtrife of tongues, and all the impertinences of idle converſation. There we may, without diſturbance, commune with our own hearts, and learn that beſt of ſciences the knowledge of ourſelves.

65 She took a veil and covered herſelf.) It was a common practice among the women of the Eaſt to wear a veil, whenever they went abroad; but this particular action of Rebekah's ſeems to be done in conformity to the cuſtom of all brides, who covered themſelves with the nuptial veil, when they were firſt introduced to their huſbands.

Medan, and Midian, and Iſhbak, and Shuah.

3 And Jokſhan begat Sheba and Dedan. And the ſons of Dedan were Aſſhurim, and Letuſhim, and Leummim.

4 And the ſons of Midian; Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abidah, and Eldaah: all theſe were the children of Keturah.

5 And Abraham gave all that he had unto Iſaac.

6 But unto the ſons of the concubines, which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and ſent them away from Iſaac his ſon (while he yet lived) eaſtward, unto the eaſt-country.

7 ¶ And theſe are the days of the years of Abraham's life, which he lived; an hundred threeſcore and fifteen years.

8 Then Abraham gave up the ghoſt, and died in a good old age; an old man, and full of years; and was gathered to his people.

9 And his ſons Iſaac and Iſhmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron the ſon of Zohar the Hittite, which is before Mamre;

10 The field which Abraham purchaſed of the ſons of Heth: there was Abraham buried, and Sarah his wife.

11 And it came to paſs, after the death of Abraham, that God bleſſed his ſon Iſaac: and Iſaac dwelt by the well Lahai-roi.

12 ¶ Now theſe are the generations of Iſhmael, Abraham's ſon, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's handmaid, bare unto Abraham.

13 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Iſhmael, by their names, according to their generations; the firſt-born of Iſhmael, Nebajoth, and Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibſam,

14 And Miſhma, and Dumah, and Maſſa,

15 Hadar, and Tema, Jetur, Naphiſh, and Kedemah.

16 Theſe are the ſons of Iſhmael, and theſe are their names, by their towns, and by their caſtles: twelve princes according to their nations.

17 And theſe are the years of the life of Iſhmael, an hundred and thirty and ſeven years: and he gave up the ghoſt and died, and was gathered unto his people.

18 And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, that is before Egypt, as thou goeſt toward Aſſyria; and he died in the preſence of all his brethren.

19 And theſe are the generations of Iſaac, Abraham's ſon: Abraham begat Iſaac;

20 And Iſaac was forty years old, when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the ſiſter to Laban the Syrian.

21 And Iſaac intreated the Lord for his wife, becauſe ſhe was barren: and the Lord was intreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

22 And the children ſtruggled together within her; and ſhe ſaid, If it be ſo, why am I thus? and ſhe went to enquire of the Lord.

23 And the Lord ſaid unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people ſhall be ſeparated from thy bowels: and the one people ſhall be ſtronger than the other people; and the elder ſhall ſerve the younger.

24 ¶ And when her days to be delivered were fulfilled, behold, there were twins in her womb.

25 And the firſt came out red all over, like an hairy garment; and they called his name Eſau.

26 And after that came his brother out, and his hand took hold on Eſau's heel; and his name was called Jacob: and Iſaac was threeſcore years old when ſhe bare them.

27 And the boys grew: and Eſau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field: and Jacob was a plain man dwelling in tents.

28 And Iſaac loved Eſau becauſe he did eat of his veniſon: but Rebekah loved Jacob.

29 ¶ And Jacob ſod pottage: and Eſau came from the field, and he was faint:

30 And Eſau ſaid to Jacob, Feed me, I pray thee, with that ſame red pottage: for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jacob ſaid, Sell me this day thy birthright.

32 And Eſau ſaid, Behold, I am at the point to die; and what profit ſhall this birth-right do to me?

33 And Jacob ſaid, Swear to me this day: and he ſware unto him; and he ſold his birth-right unto Jacob.

34 Then Jacob gave Eſau bread and pottage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and roſe up and went his way: thus Eſau deſpiſed his birth-right.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Iſaac goeth to Gerar. 2 God bleſſeth him. 26 Abimelech's covenant with him. 34 Eſau's wives.

AND there was a famine in the land, beſides the firſt famine that was in the days of Abraham. And Iſaac went unto Abimelech king of the Philiſtines, unto Gerar.

2 And the Lord appeared unto him, and ſaid, Go not down into Egypt: dwell in the Land which I ſhall tell thee of.

3 Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bleſs thee: for unto thee, and unto thy ſeed, I will give all theſe countries, and I will perform the oath which I ſware unto Abraham thy father.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

8 Abraham gave up the ghoſt.) How calm is the good man's evening of life! In what a ſmiling ſerenity does his ſun go down! He retires full of days, as a ſhock of corn ripe with age, and laden with plenty, cometh in his ſeaſon. In that important hour, how will the well-grounded hopes of pardon and peace aſſuage the agonies, and ſweeten the bitterneſs of death? Of what advantage then is wealth with all her golden mountains? or honour with all her proud trophies of renown? Can all the pomps of a deluded world adminiſter any ſupport, in that laſt important hour? Can they compoſe the affrighted thoughts, or buoy up the departing ſoul amidſt all the pangs of diſſolution? But the conſcience of the good man whiſpers peace to his ſoul, who quits this vale of tears with the hopes of a glorious reſurrection, and the enjoyment of a bleſſed immortality in the regions of everlaſting glory.

20 And Iſaac was forty years old.) It muſt be remembered, that many of the following particulars happened ſeveral years before the death of Abraham, though they are related after that event; for that patriarch lived fifteen years after Eſau and Jacob were born.

23 Two nations, &c.) That is, the founders of two nations; namely, the Iſraelites and Idumeans, the former being deſcended from Jacob, and the latter from Eſau.

25 Red all over like a hairy garment.) This expreſſion may denote, either that Eſau at his birth was wholly covered with red hair, or that the colour of his fleſh was ruddy, like a garment of red hair. And hence his name was called Eſau, from Eſchau, which among the ancient Hebrews, ſignified a hair-cloth.

32 Sell me this day thy birth-right.) It is not eaſy to ſay what particular privileges were annexed to the birth-right; we know the elder had a ſuperiority over the younger brethren, and was heir to the greateſt part of his father's eſtate. But if theſe were all the privileges annexed to the birth-right, the apoſtle could not, with propriety, call the ſelling it a profane action, though it was doubtleſs a fooliſh one. It is therefore thought, that whoever enjoyed the birth-right had a title to the land of Canaan, which included the bleſſing promiſed to the peculiar ſeed of Abraham, from whom the Meſſiah was to deſcend. This much is evident, that fathers in thoſe early days, conferred a bleſſing on their firſt-born, which was conceived to extend to their poſterity.

4 And I will make thy ſeed to multiply as the ſtars of heaven, and will give unto thy ſeed all theſe countries: and in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed:

5 Becauſe that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my ſtatutes, and my laws.

6 And Iſaac dwelt in Gerar.

7 And the men of the place aſked him of his wife: and he ſaid, She is my ſiſter: for he feared to ſay, She is my wife; leſt, ſaid he, the men of the place ſhould kill me for Rebekah, becauſe ſhe was fair to look upon.

8 And it came to paſs, when he had been there a long time, that Abimelech king of the Philiſtines looked out at a window, and ſaw, and behold, Iſaac was ſporting with Rebekah his wife.

9 And Abimelech called Iſaac, and ſaid, Behold, of a ſurety ſhe is thy wife: and how ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? And Iſaac ſaid unto him, Becauſe I ſaid, Leſt I die for her.

10 And Abimelech ſaid, What is this thou haſt done unto us? one of the people might lightly have lien with thy wife, and thou ſhouldeſt have brought guiltineſs upon us.

11 And Abimelech charged all his people, ſaying, He that toucheth this man or his wife, ſhall ſurely be put to death.

12 Then Iſaac ſowed in that land, and received in the ſame year an hundred-fold, and the Lord bleſſed him.

13 And the man waxed great, and went forward, and grew until he became very great.

14 For he had poſſeſſion of flocks, and poſſeſſion of herds, and great ſtore of ſervants. And the Philiſtines envied him.

15 For all the wells which his father's ſervants had digged in the days of Abraham his father, the Philiſtines had ſtopped them, and filled them with earth.

16 And Abimelech ſaid unto Iſaac, Go from us: for thou art much mightier than we.

17 ¶ And Iſaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

18 And Iſaac digged again the wells of water, which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father; for the Philiſtines had ſtopped them after the death of Abraham; and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them.

19 And Iſaac's ſervants digged in the valley, and found there a well of ſpringing water.

20 And the herdmen of Gerar did ſtrive with Iſaac's herdmen, ſaying, The water is ours: and he called the name of the well Eſek; becauſe they ſtrove with him.

21 And they digged another well, and ſtrove for that alſo: and he called the name of it Sitnah.

22 And he removed from thence, and digged another well: and for that they ſtrove not: and he called the name of it Rehoboth; and he ſaid, For now the Lord hath made room for us, and we ſhall be fruitful in the land.

23 And he went up from thence to Beer-ſheba.

24 And the Lord appeared unto him the ſame night, and ſaid, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bleſs thee, and multiply thy ſeed for my ſervant Abraham's ſake.

25 And he builded an altar there, and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent there: and there Iſaac's ſervants digged a well.

26 ¶ Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phichol the chief captain of his army.

27 And Iſaac ſaid unto them, Wherefore come ye to me, ſeeing ye hate me, and have ſent me away from you?

28 And they ſaid, We ſaw certainly that the Lord was with thee: and we ſaid, Let there be now an oath betwixt us, even betwixt us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee;

29 That thou wilt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and have ſent thee away in peace: thou art now the bleſſed of the Lord.

30 And he made them a feaſt, and they did eat and drink.

31 And they roſe up betimes in the morning, and ſware one to another: and Iſaac ſent them away, and they departed from him in peace.

32 And it came to paſs the ſame day, that Iſaac's ſervants came and told him concerning the well which they had digged, and ſaid unto him, We have found water.

33 And he called it Sheba: therefore the name of the city is Beer-ſheba unto this day.

34 ¶ And Eſau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith, the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Baſhemath, the daughter of Elon the Hittite:

35 Which were a grief of mind unto Iſaac and to Rebekah.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Iſaac ſendeth Eſau for veniſon. 6 Jacob inſtructed by Rebekah, obtaineth the bleſſing. 41 Eſau threatening him, 42 is prevented.

AND it came to paſs, that when Iſaac was old, and his eyes were dim, ſo that he could not ſee, he called Eſau his eldeſt ſon, and ſaid unto him, My ſon: And he ſaid unto him, Behold, here am I.

2 And he ſaid, Behold, now I am old, I know not the day of my death.

3 Now therefore take I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and go out to the field, and take me ſome veniſon;

4 And make me ſavoury meat, ſuch as I love, and bring it to me that I may eat: that my ſoul may bleſs thee before I die.

5 And Rebekah heard when Iſaac ſpake to Eſau his ſon: and Eſau went to the field to hunt for veniſon, and to bring it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

10 Thou ſhouldeſt have brought guiltineſs upon us.) It is worth obſerving here, how carefully the Hebrews kept themſelves from having any intimacy with the people of the land where they ſojourned; for it is evident they were even ſtrangers to their religion, and had conceived a much worſe idea of them than they really deſerved. Abimelech, we ſee, ſpeaks with ſuch deteſtation of the crime of adultery, that he thought the bare committing of ſuch a ſin, was ſufficient to call down the wrath of heaven upon their heads, and involve the whole nation in ſome terrible calamity. And accordingly we find him giving orders to his people, that whoſoever touched, or did any injury to Iſaac or his wife, ſhould be put to death.

12 Received an hundred fold.) Though Iſaac's increaſe is aſcribed to the particular providence of God; yet this by no means excludes the efficacy of natural cauſes: his own induſtry, and the fertility of the ſoil were no doubt, the means which, under God, brought about this effect: and the wiſe monarch, who tells us, the bleſſing of the Lord maketh rich, ſays in another place, the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

19 Of ſpringing water.) In the Hebrew it is living water. A name the orientals gave to waters of perennial ſprings, in contradiſtinction to rain water, which they ſaved in ciſterns. And the value of ſuch a ſpring was doubtleſs the cauſe why the herdmen of Gerar ſtrove with thoſe of Iſaac for the well, pretending they had a right to it, becauſe it was found in their ſoil; and thence Iſaac called the well Eſek, that is, Contention.

6 ¶ And Rebekah ſpake unto Jacob her ſon, ſaying, Behold, I heard thy father ſpeak unto Eſau thy brother, ſaying,

7 Bring me veniſon and make me ſavoury meat, that I may eat, and bleſs thee before the Lord before my death.

8 Now therefore, my ſon, obey my voice, according to that which I command thee.

9 Go now to the flock, and fetch me from thence two good kids of the goats; and I will make them ſavoury meat for thy father, ſuch as he loveth.

10 And thou ſhalt bring it to thy father, that he may eat, and that he may bleſs thee before his death.

11 And Jacob ſaid to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Eſau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a ſmooth man;

12 My father peradventure will feel me, and I ſhall ſeem to him as a deceiver; and I ſhall bring a curſe upon me, and not a bleſſing.

13 And his mother ſaid unto him, Upon me be thy curſe, my ſon: only obey my voice, and go fetch me them.

14 And he went and fetched, and brought them to his mother; and his mother made ſavoury meat, ſuch as his father loved.

15 And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldeſt ſon Eſau, which were with her in the houſe, and put them upon Jacob her younger ſon.

16 And ſhe put the ſkins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the ſmooth of his neck.

17 And ſhe gave the ſavoury meat, and the bread which ſhe had prepared into the hand of her ſon Jacob.

18 And he came unto his father, and ſaid, My father: and he ſaid, Here am I; who art thou, my ſon?

19 And Jacob ſaid unto his father, I am Eſau thy firſt-born; I have done according as thou badeſt me: ariſe, I pray thee, ſit and eat of my veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me.

20 And Iſaac ſaid unto his ſon, How is it that thou haſt found it ſo quickly, my ſon? and he ſaid, Becauſe the Lord thy God brought it to me.

21 And Iſaac ſaid unto Jacob, Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my ſon, whether thou be my very ſon Eſau, or not.

22 And Jacob went near unto Iſaac his father, and he felt him, and ſaid, The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Eſau.

23 And he diſcerned him not, becauſe his hands were hairy as his brother Eſau's hands: ſo he bleſſed him.

24 And he ſaid, Art thou my very ſon Eſau? and he ſaid, I am.

25 And he ſaid, Bring it near to me, and I will eat of my ſon's veniſon, that my ſoul may bleſs thee: and he brought it near to him, and he did eat: and he brought him wine, and he drank.

26 And his father Iſaac ſaid unto him, Come near now, and kiſs me, my ſon.

27 And he came near and kiſſed him: and he ſmelled the ſmell of his raiment, and bleſſed him, and ſaid, See, the ſmell of my ſon is as the ſmell of a field, which the Lord hath bleſſed:

28 Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatneſs of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine.

29 Let people ſerve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mother's ſons bow down to thee: Curſed be every one that curſeth thee, and bleſſed be he that bleſſeth thee.

30 And it came to paſs, as ſoon as Iſaac had made an end of bleſſing Jacob, and Jacob was yet ſcarce gone out from the preſence of Iſaac his father, that Eſau his brother came in from his hunting.

31 And he alſo had made ſavoury meat, and brought it unto his father, and ſaid unto his father, Let my father ariſe, and eat of his ſon's veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me.

32 And Iſaac his father ſaid unto him, Who art thou? And he ſaid, I am thy ſon, thy firſt-born Eſau.

33 And Iſaac trembled very exceedingly, and ſaid, Who, where is he that hath taken veniſon, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou cameſt, and have bleſſed him? yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed.

34 And when Eſau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, and ſaid unto his father, Bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father.

35 And he ſaid, Thy brother came with ſubtilty, and hath taken away thy bleſſing.

36 And he ſaid, Is not he rightly named Jacob? for he hath ſupplanted me theſe two times: he took away my birth-right; and behold, now he hath taken away my bleſſing. And he ſaid, Haſt thou not reſerved a bleſſing for me?

37 And Iſaac anſwered and ſaid unto Eſau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for ſervants; and with corn and wine have I ſuſtained him: and what ſhall I do now unto thee, my ſon.

38 And Eſau ſaid unto his father, Haſt thou but one bleſſing, my father? bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father. And Eſau lifted up his voice, and wept.

39 And Iſaac his father anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thy dwelling ſhall be the fatneſs of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

13 Upon me be thy curſe.) Rebekah ſeems to have been well aſſured that Jacob had a juſt title to the firſt bleſſing, which Eſau had ſold with his birth-right, and which God had deſigned for Jacob from the beginning; whence ſhe thought it her duty to deceive Iſaac into an action which he ought to have done deſignedly, and therefore takes the whole curſe upon herſelf, provided Iſaac ſhould diſcover the fallacy. But though the above circumſtances have a great tendency to alleviate the guilt of the action, yet they are far from being ſufficient to juſtify the whole conduct either of Jacob or his mother; the former having increaſed his crime by affirming himſelf to be Eſau, which was an abſolute falſhood. We ſhould therefore here reflect on the weakneſs of human nature, which cannot always ſtand upright; and at the ſame time, admire the impartiality of the ſacred writings, in which the very blemiſhes and tranſgreſſions of thoſe who make the greateſt figure therein are not ſuppreſſed, but recorded for our inſtruction.

27 He ſmelled the ſmell of his raiment, &c.) From hence we may infer that the orientals perfumed their garments with the odoriferous ſcent of flowers, which the country of Arabia was famous for producing; and this elegant ſmell had, we find, ſuch an influence on the ſpirits of Iſaac, that he breaks out in a kind of rapture. See, the ſmell of my ſon is as the ſmell of a field which the Lord hath bleſſed. That is, the ſmell of my ſon's raiment conveys to my mind the inchanting idea of a field adorned with fruits, and enamelled with flowers.

28 God give thee of the dew of heaven, &c.) This bleſſing is very remarkable, and delivered in all the elegance of oriental expreſſion, God give thee the dew of heaven; a wiſh of the greateſt importance in thoſe hot countries where Iſaac dwelt; for ſhowers being there leſs frequent than with us, the morning and evening dews were of the utmoſt importance to refreſh the earth, and produce that plenty for which the country was ſo remarkable.

And the fatneſs of the earth.) That is a country producing every thing delirous in human life. Under theſe two expreſſions therefore, Iſaac wiſhes his ſon all the bleſſings which a fruitful country can produce. And this prophetic prayer was remarkably anſwered by God's ſettling the Iſraelites in the poſſeſſion of Canaan; a country ſo remarkably fruitful, that it was called a land flowing with milk and honey.

40 And by thy ſword ſhalt thou live, and ſhalt ſerve thy brother: and it ſhall come to paſs, when thou ſhalt have the dominion, that thou ſhalt break his yoke from off thy neck.

41 ¶ And Eſau hated Jacob, becauſe of the bleſſing wherewith his father bleſſed him: and Eſau ſaid in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand, then will I ſlay my brother Jacob.

42 And theſe words of Eſau her elder ſon were told to Rebekah: And ſhe ſent and called Jacob her younger ſon, and ſaid unto him, Behold thy brother Eſau as touching thee, doth comfort himſelf, purpoſing to kill thee.

43 Now, therefore, my ſon, obey my voice: and ariſe, flee thou to Laban my brother, to Haran:

44 And tarry with him a few days, until thy brother's fury turn away;

45 Until thy brother's anger turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou haſt done to him: then I will ſend and fetch thee from thence: why ſhould I be deprived alſo of you both in one day?

46 And Rebekah ſaid to Iſaac, I am weary of my life, becauſe of the daughters of Heth: if Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Heth, ſuch as theſe which are of the daughters of the land, what good ſhall my life do me?

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Jacob is bleſſed and ſent to Padan-aram. 10 His viſion. 18 The ſtone of Beth-el. 20 Jacob's vow.

AND Iſaac called Jacob and bleſſed him, and charged him, and ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

2 Ariſe, go to Padan-aram, to the houſe of Bethuel, thy mother's father; and take thee a wife from thence of the daughters of Laban thy mother's brother.

3 And God Almighty bleſs thee, and make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, that thou mayeſt be a multitude of people:

4 And give thee the bleſſing of Abraham, to thee and to thy ſeed with thee, that thou mayeſt inherit the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, which God gave unto Abraham.

5 And Iſaac ſent away Jacob; and he went to Padan-aram unto Laban, ſon of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, Jacob's and Eſau's mother.

6 When Eſau ſaw that Iſaac had bleſſed Jacob, and ſent him away to Padan-aram, to take him a wife from thence; and that as he bleſſed him, he gave him a charge, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan;

7 And that Jacob obeyed his father, and his mother, and was gone to Padan-aram:

8 And Eſau ſeeing that the daughters of Canaan pleaſed not Iſaac his father:

9 Then went Eſau unto Iſhmael, and took unto the wives which he had, Mahalath the daughter of Iſhmael, Abraham's ſon, the ſiſter of Nebajoth, to be his wife.

10 ¶ And Jacob went out from Beer-ſheba, and went toward Haran.

11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, becauſe the ſun was ſet: and he took of the ſtones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to ſleep.

12 And he dreamed, and behold a ladder ſet up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold, the angels of God aſcending and deſcending on it.

13 And behold the Lord ſtood above it, and ſaid, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Iſaac: the land whereon thou lieſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed.

14 And thy ſeed ſhall be as the duſt of the earth; and thou ſhalt ſpread abroad to the weſt, and to the eaſt, and to the north, and to the ſouth: and in thee, and in thy ſeed ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed.

15 And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goeſt, and will bring thee again into this land: for I will not leave thee until I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of.

16 And Jacob awaked out of his ſleep, and he ſaid, Surely the Lord is in this place; and I knew it not.

17 And he was afraid, and ſaid, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the houſe of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

18 ¶ And Jacob roſe up early in the morning, and took

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

12 And behold a ladder ſet upon the earth, &c.) Our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, taking theſe words, puts the Son of man in the place of the ladder, and ſo applies what is ſaid of it to himſelf, as the truth of this ancient figure. He ſays, that as Jacob ſaw the angels of God aſcending and deſcending on the ladder ſet in the earth, and reaching to heaven; ſo the time was coming, when his diſciples ſhould ſee them aſcending and deſcending on the Son of man. John i. 51.

This was not yet to be ſeen, when Jeſus ſaid this to Nathanael, aſſuring him and the diſciples they ſhould ſee it afterward. And the queſtion then is, When and how ſhall we find this remarkable ſaying of the Lord Jeſus verified? There is a paſſage in the epiſtle to the Hebrews, chap. ii. 9, 10. that can give us direction in this enquiry; where, after ſaying, "We ſee not yet all things put under him, viz. "the Son of man," ver. 6, 7, 8. we have theſe words: "But we ſee Jeſus, who was made a little lower than the angels, for the ſuffering of death, crowned with glory and honour, that he by the grace of God ſhould taſte death for every man. For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many ſons unto glory, to make the Captain of their ſalvation perfect through ſufferings."

Here the Son of man is ſeen made lower than the angels for the ſuffering of death, by the grace of God taſting death for every man, as the ladder ſet in the earth. And here he is ſeen crowned with glory and honour far above the angels, being made perfect through ſufferings, as the ladder and the top of it reaching to heaven. The ſame Son of man is beheld "firſt in the lower parts of the earth," and then "up far above all heavens," Eph. iv. 9, 10. And in beholding him thus, heaven is ſeen opened to us, and an open communication betwixt the earth and heaven by him, as by a ladder. The angels of God are upon this ladder: for as the angels that fell, "ſtood not in the truth," (John viii. 44.) concerning the Son of man, who is the Son of God; ſo all the angels of God ſtood, and ſtill ſtand in it, being elected as miniſtering ſpirits to the Son of man, to be "ſent forth to miniſter for them who ſhall be heirs of ſalvation," Heb i. 14. And the things about which the great minds of theſe mighty ſpirits are moſt diligently employed, are "the ſufferings of Chriſt, and the glories after theſe," teſtified beforehand by Chriſt's Spirit in the prophets, and now reported by them who preached the goſpel, with the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from heaven: 1 Pet. i. 11, 12. "Which things the angels deſire to look into." Looking into the ſufferings, wherein he is lower than they, (for an angel appeared ſtrengthening him in his agony) they muſt deſcend upon him. And looking into the glories that follow theſe, wherein he reaches far above them, (Eph. i. 21.) they muſt aſcend upon the Son of man. Beholding this, we ſee the angels of God aſcending and deſcending on the Son of man.

When, believing the report of them who preached the goſpel, with the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from heaven, we come to know that Chriſt, according to the prophecies, hath actually ſuffered theſe things, and is indeed entered into his glory; and when we view the Son of man, in his ſufferings, and the glories after theſe, uniting earth to heaven, as the way of intercourſe between earth and heaven; we then know him to be the Son of God, by much greater evidence than that ſet before Nathanael, when he at firſt believed Jeſus to be the Son of God; and we ſee heaven opened to us; and the glory of the true God, who makes the dead alive, and calls things that are not into being, the glory of the juſt God the Saviour appears, his reconciled face ſhines, and we can ſay with Jacob, This is the gate of heaven.

took the ſtone that he had put for his pillow, and ſet it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.

19 And he called the name of that place Beth-el: but the name of that city was called Luz at the firſt.

20 ¶ And Jacob vowed a vow, ſaying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on;

21 So that I come again to my father's houſe in peace; then ſhall the Lord be my God.

22 And this ſtone, which I have ſet for a pillar, ſhall be God's houſe: and of all that thou ſhalt give me, I will ſurely give the tenth unto thee.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jacob cometh to the well of Haran: 13 Is entertained by Laban. 18 Jacob covenanteth for Rachel; 23 And is deceived with Leah: 28 But marrieth Rachel alſo.

THEN Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people of the eaſt.

2 And he looked, and behold, a well in the field, and lo, there were three flocks of ſheep lying by it: for out of that well they watered the flocks: and a great ſtone was upon the well's mouth.

3 And thither were all the flocks gathered: and they rolled the ſtone from the well's mouth, and watered the ſheep, and put the ſtone again upon the well's mouth in his place.

4 And Jacob ſaid unto them, My brethren, whence be ye? and they ſaid, Of Haran are we.

5 And he ſaid unto them, Know ye Laban the ſon of Nahor? and they ſaid, We know him.

6 And he ſaid unto them, Is he well? and they ſaid, He is well: and behold, Rachel his daughter cometh with the ſheep.

7 And he ſaid, Lo, it is yet high day, neither is it time that the cattle ſhould be gathered together: water ye the ſheep, and go and feed them.

8 And they ſaid, We cannot until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the ſtone from the well's mouth; then we water the ſheep.

9 And while he yet ſpake with them, Rachel came with her father's ſheep: for ſhe kept them.

10 And it came to paſs, when Jacob ſaw Rachel the daughter of Laban, his mother's brother, and the ſheep of Laban his mother's brother; that Jacob went near, and rolled the ſtone from the well's mouth; and watered the flock of Laban his mother's brother.

11 And Jacob kiſſed Rachel, and lifted up his voice, and wept.

12 And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's brother, and that he was Rebekah's ſon: and ſhe ran and told her father.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs, when Laban heard the tidings of Jacob his ſiſter's ſon, that he ran to meet him, and embraced him, and kiſſed him, and brought him to his houſe. And he told Laban all theſe things.

14 And Laban ſaid to him, Surely thou art my bone and my fleſh. And he abode with him the ſpace of a month.

15 And Laban ſaid unto Jacob, Becauſe thou art my brother, ſhouldeſt thou therefore ſerve me for nought? tell me what ſhall thy wages be?

16 And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel.

17 Leah was tender-eyed: but Rachel was beautiful and well-favoured.

22 This ſtone, which I have ſet a pillar, ſhall be God's houſe.) From the ſtone that Jacob ſet for a pillar, anointing it, and calling it Bethel, that is, God's houſe, came that ancient practice amongſt the Gentiles, of ſetting up, anointing, and worſhipping at thoſe rough ſtones, which were called Bætulia; what was originally remarkable in the worſhip of the true God, being applied by them to their idols, whoſe preſence they ſuppoſed at thoſe pillars.

The church of the living God, which is his houſe, is ſet forth by the apoſtle Paul under the notion of a pillar, with a plain reference to Jacob's calling the pillar which he ſet up, the houſe of God: That thou mayeſt know how thou oughteſt to behave thyſelf in the houſe of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth. 1 Tim. iii. 15. Becauſe the firſt thing called the houſe of God in ſcripture, was a pillar, it was very proper for the apoſtle, ſpeaking of the church as the houſe of God, to call it the pillar. While he is directing Timothy how he ought to behave himſelf in the church of the Epheſians, by calling it the houſe of God, the pillar, he brings to mind what Jacob ſaid, when he awaked from the dream he had on that ſame ſtone, ver. 16, 17, 18. Surely the Lord is in this place,——How dreadful is this place! This is none other but the houſe of God, and this is the gate of heaven. And he lets Timothy know what ſort of regard he ſhould have to the church in Epheſus; even as he alſo taught the preſbyters or biſhops of that ſame church, how they ought to regard it, when he ſaid to them, Take heed therefore unto yourſelves, and to all the flock—— to feed the church of God which he hath purchaſed with his own blood. Whatever the notion be, under which the church is ſet forth, it is ſtill venerable by its peculiar connection with God. And the ſame regard is due to every church or congregation of the ſaints, which belonged to that church of the Epheſians, or that Jacob ſhewed to Bethel.

Before there was any tabernacle or temple built as God's houſe, we ſee Moſes, at the ratification of God's covenant with Iſrael, builded an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars according to the twelve tribes of Iſrael, offering ſacrifices there. And when the temple became the houſe of God, it did not ſet aſide this uſe of pillars: for the two pillars Jachin and Boaz were ſet up before the temple at the porch of the houſe, and ſo not far from the altar of burnt-offering. The apoſtle ſeems to refer to the names of theſe pillars, importing eſtabliſhment and ſtrength, when, naming the church the pillar, he calls it the eſtabliſhment of the truth. This ſeems alſo to be referred to in that promiſe, Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, Rev. iii. 12. To which agrees 1 Pet. v. 10. But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Chriſt Jeſus, after that ye have ſuffered a while, make you perfect, ſtabliſh, ſtrengthen, ſettle you. Theſe pillars did not ſerve to the purpoſe of ſupporting any thing: they were not ſet for upholding any building upon them; yet eſtabliſhment and ſtrength is aſcribed to them. And here this is ſaid to be with reſpect to the truth. This truth muſt be the ſame that is commonly called the truth in the New Teſtament; even that eminent and diſtinguiſhing truth of the goſpel which Jeſus told to the Jews he had heard of God, which the Father gave him, and he gave to his diſciples, the Father's teſtimony of him at John's baptiſm, and on the holy mount, viz. This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleaſed. The apoſtle expreſſeth the truth here in this manner, God was manifeſt in the fleſh, juſtified in the ſpirit, &c. pointing it out as the ſenſe of the prophetical figures, and ſo calling it the myſtery. To this truth the church owes its being: for by this it is diſtinguiſhed from the world, and united in itſelf, John xvii. And this is the motto of the true church, Jer. xxxiii. 16. Its eſtabliſhment and ſtrength conſiſts in this truth, Thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God.—Upon this rock I will build my church. Matth. xvi. 16. 18.

The church anſwers to that uſe of pillars which was for remembrance, as Abſalom's pillar, to keep his name in remembrance; and Ebenezer, the ſtone of help, ſet up in remembrance of the deliverance the Lord wrought for Iſrael: for this is the language of the church to Chriſt, Pſal. xlv. 17. I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations. The chief ordinance of worſhip in a church of the ſaints, is the Lord's ſupper; the chief end of their coming together is to eat the Lord's ſupper; and the church continues ſtedfaſtly doing this in remembrance of him, ſhewing the Lord's death till he come; thereby confirming and eſtabliſhing the truth. And ſo the church is the pillar and eſtabliſhment of the truth, by which it is the houſe of God, who dwells in them in whom this truth dwells.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

6 Rachel) The word Rachel in Hebrew ſignifies a ſheep: an emblem of that meekneſs which conſtitutes the greateſt ornament of the fair ſex.

9 For ſhe kept them) The paſtoral life was very honourable in the primitive ages of the world: Thus Jacob, Moſes, and David were ſhepherds; and the latter weilded the paſtoral crook, before he ſwayed the regal ſceptre.

18 ¶ And Jacob loved Rachel; and ſaid, I will ſerve thee ſeven years for Rachel thy younger daughter.

19 And Laban ſaid, It is better that I give her to thee, than that I ſhould give her to another man, abide with me:

20 And Jacob ſerved ſeven years for Rachel; and they ſeemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her.

21 And Jacob ſaid unto Laban, Give me my wife (for my days are fulfilled) that I may go in unto her.

22 And Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feaſt.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs in the evening, that he took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him; and he went in unto her.

24 And Laban gave unto his daughter Leah, Zilpah his maid, for an handmaid.

25 And it came to paſs, that in the morning, behold it was Leah: and he ſaid to Laban, What is this thou haſt done unto me? did not I ſerve with thee for Rachel? wherefore then haſt thou beguiled me?

26 And Laban ſaid, It muſt not be ſo done in our country, to give the younger before the firſt-born.

27 Fulfil her week, and we will give thee this alſo, for the ſervice which thou ſhalt ſerve with me yet ſeven other years.

28 ¶ And Jacob did ſo, and fulfilled her week: and he gave him Rachel his daughter to wife alſo.

29 And Laban gave to Rachel his daughter, Bilhah his handmaid, to be her maid.

30 And he went in alſo unto Rachel, and he loved alſo Rachel more than Leah, and ſerved with him yet ſeven other years.

31 And when the Lord ſaw that Leah was hated, he opened her womb; but Rachel was barren.

32 And Leah conceived and bare a ſon, and ſhe called his name Reuben; for ſhe ſaid, Surely the Lord hath looked upon my affliction: now therefore my huſband will love me.

33 And ſhe conceived again and bare a ſon; and ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath heard that I was hated, he hath therefore given me this ſon alſo: and ſhe called his name Simeon.

34 And ſhe conceived again and bare a ſon; and ſaid, Now this time will my huſband be joined unto me, becauſe I have borne him three ſons; therefore was his name called Levi.

35 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon; and ſhe ſaid, Now will I praiſe the Lord: therefore ſhe called his name Judah, and left bearing.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Rachel's barrenneſs. 22 She beareth Joſeph. 27 Jacob's covenant with Laban. 37 By his policy he becometh rich.

AND when Rachel ſaw that ſhe bare Jacob no children, Rachel envied her ſiſter: and ſaid unto Jacob, Give me children, or elſe I die.

2 And Jacob's anger was kindled againſt Rachel; and he ſaid, Am I in God's ſtead, who hath with-held from thee the fruit of the womb?

3 And ſhe ſaid, Behold, my maid Bilhah, go in unto her! and ſhe ſhall bear upon my knees, that I alſo may have children by her.

4 And ſhe gave him Bilhah her hand-maid to wife; and Jacob went in unto her.

5 And Bilhah conceived, and bare Jacob a ſon.

6 And Rachel ſaid, God hath judged me, and hath alſo heard my voice, and hath given me a ſon; therefore called ſhe his name Dan.

7 And Bilhah Rachel's maid conceived again, and bare Jacob a ſecond ſon.

8 And Rachel ſaid, with great wreſtlings have I wreſtled with my ſiſter, and I have prevailed; and ſhe called his name Naphtali.

9 When Leah ſaw that ſhe had left bearing, ſhe took Zilpah her maid, and gave her Jacob to wife.

10 And Zilpah Leah's maid bare Jacob a ſon.

11 And Leah ſaid, a troop cometh: and ſhe called his name Gad.

12 And Zilpah Leah's maid bare Jacob a ſecond ſon.

13 And Leah ſaid, Happy am I, for the daughters will call me bleſſed: and ſhe called his name Aſher.

14 And Reuben went in the days of wheat-harveſt, and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them unto his mother Leah. Then Rachel ſaid to Leah, Give me, I pray thee, of thy ſon's mandrakes.

15 And ſhe ſaid unto her, Is it a ſmall matter that thou haſt taken my huſband? and wouldeſt thou take away my ſon's mandrakes alſo? and Rachel ſaid, Therefore he ſhall lie with thee to-night for thy ſon's mandrakes.

16 And Jacob came out of the field in the evening, and Leah went out to meet him, and ſaid, Thou muſt come in unto me; for ſurely I have hired thee with my ſon's mandrakes. And he laid with her that night.

17 And God hearkened unto Leah, and ſhe conceived, and bare Jacob the fifth ſon.

18 And Leah ſaid, God hath given me my hire, becauſe I have given my maiden to my huſband: and ſhe called his name Iſſachar.

19 And Leah conceived again, and bare Jacob the ſixth ſon.

20 And Leah ſaid, God hath endued me with a good dowry; now will my huſband dwell with me, becauſe I have borne him ſix ſons: and ſhe called his name Zebulun.

21 And afterwards ſhe bare a daughter and called her name Dinah.

22 ¶ And God remembered Rachel, and God hearkened to her, and opened her womb.

23 And ſhe conceived, and bare a ſon; and ſaid, God hath taken away my reproach:

24 And ſhe called his name Joſeph; and ſaid, The Lord ſhall add to me another ſon.

25 And it came to paſs when Rachel had borne Joſeph, that Jacob ſaid unto Laban, Send me away that

23 Took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him) It was the cuſtom in theſe days to bring the bride veiled, and without lights to the bridegroom; and, therefore, it was no difficulty for Laban to impoſe upon Jacob in this particular.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 Give me children or elſe I die.) We have here a lively picture of human folly in general. If children are to parents, like a flowery chaplet, whoſe beauties bloſſom with ornament, and whoſe odours breathe delight, death, or ſome fell misfortune, may find means to entwine itſelf with the lovely wreath. Whenever our ſouls are poured out, with paſſionate importunity, after any inferior acquiſition, it may be truly ſaid in the words of our Divine Maſter, Ye know not what ye aſk. Does Providence with-hold the thing which we long for? It denies in mercy, and only with-holds the occaſion of our miſery, if not the inſtrument of our ruin. With a ſickly appetite we often loath what is wholeſome, and linger after our bane. Where imagination dreams of unmingled ſweets, there experience frequently finds the bitterneſs of woe.

14 Found mandrakes in the field.) Interpreters are not agreed what kind of fruit or flower this was: the moſt probable opinion is that they were mandrake-apples, which Pliny ſays are of the bigneſs of filberts: they were deſirable for food, and of a pleaſant ſmell, ſee Cantic. vii. 13.

I may go unto mine own place, and to my country.

26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have ſerved thee, and let me go; for thou knoweſt my ſervice which I have done thee.

27 ¶ And Laban ſaid unto him, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thine eyes, tarry: for I have learned by experience that the Lord hath bleſſed me for thy ſake.

28 And he ſaid, Appoint me thy wages, and I will give it.

29 And he ſaid unto him, Thou knoweſt how I have ſerved thee, and how thy cattle was with me.

30 For it was little which thou hadſt before I came, and it is now increaſed unto a multitude; and the Lord hath bleſſed thee ſince my coming: and now when ſhall I provide for mine own houſe alſo?

31 And he ſaid, What ſhall I give thee? and Jacob ſaid, Thou ſhalt not give me any thing: if thou wilt do this thing for me, I will again feed and keep thy flock:

32 I will paſs through all thy flock to-day, removing from thence all the ſpeckled and ſpotted cattle, and all the brown cattle among the ſheep, and the ſpotted and ſpeckled among the goats: and of ſuch ſhall be my hire.

33 So ſhall my righteouſneſs anſwer for me in time to come, when it ſhall come for my hire before thy face: every one that is not ſpeckled and ſpotted among the goats, and brown among the ſheep, that ſhall be counted ſtolen with me.

34 And Laban ſaid, Behold, I would it might be according to thy word.

35 And he removed that day the he-goats that were ring-ſtraked and ſpotted, and all the ſhe-goats that were ſpeckled and ſpotted, and every one that had ſome white in it, and all the brown among the ſheep, and gave them into the hands of his ſons.

36 And he ſet three days journey betwixt himſelf and Jacob: and Jacob fed the reſt of Laban's flock.

37 ¶ And Jacob took him rods of green poplar, and of the hazel and cheſnut-tree: and pilled white ſtrakes in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods.

38 And he ſet the rods which he had pilled before the flocks in the gutters in the watering troughs, when the flocks came to drink: that they ſhould conceive when they came to drink.

39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth cattle ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and ſpotted.

40 And Jacob did ſeparate the lambs, and ſet the faces of the flocks toward the ring-ſtraked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban; and he put his own flocks by themſelves: and put them not unto Laban's cattle.

41 And it came to paſs whenſoever the ſtronger cattle did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the cattle in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods.

42 But when the cattle were feeble, he put them not in; ſo the feebler were Laban's and the ſtronger Jacob's.

43 And the man encreaſed exceedingly, and had much cattle, and maid-ſervants, and men-ſervants, and camels, and aſſes.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Jacob departeth from Laban. 22 Laban purſueth him. 44 Their covenant at Gilead.

AND he heard the words of Laban's ſons, ſaying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's; and of that which was our father's hath he gotten all this glory.

2 And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, and behold it was not toward him as before.

3 And the Lord ſaid unto Jacob, Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred; and I will be with thee.

4 And Jacob ſent and called Rachel and Leah to the field unto his flock,

5 And ſaid unto them, I ſee your father's countenance that it is not toward me as before: but the God of my father hath been with me.

6 And ye know that with all my power I have ſerved your father;

7 And your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten times; but God ſuffered him not to hurt me.

8 If he ſaid thus, The ſpeckled ſhall be thy wages; then all the cattle bare ſpeckled: and if he ſaid thus, The ring-ſtraked ſhall be thy hire; then bare all the cattle ring-ſtraked.

9 Thus God hath taken away the cattle of your father and given them to me.

10 And it came to paſs, at the time that the cattle conceived, that I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw in a dream, and behold, the rams which leaped upon the cattle were ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled.

11 And the angel of God ſpake unto me in a dream, ſaying, Jacob: and I ſaid, Here am I.

12 And he ſaid, Lift up now thine eyes, and ſee, all the rams which leap upon the cattle are ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled: for I have ſeen all that Laban doeth unto thee.

13 I am the God of Beth-el, where thou anointedſt the pillar, and where thou vowedſt a vow unto me: now ariſe, get thee out from this land, and return unto the land of thy kindred.

14 And Rachel and Leah anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Is there yet any portion or inheritance for us in our father's houſe?

15 Are we not counted of him ſtrangers? for he hath ſold us, and hath quite devoured alſo our money.

16 For all the riches which God hath taken from our father, that is ours, and our children's: now then whatſoever God hath ſaid unto thee, do.

17 Then Jacob roſe up, and ſet his ſons and his wives upon camels.

18 And he carried away all his cattle, and all his goods which he had gotten, the cattle of his getting, which he had gotten in Padan-aram; for to go to Iſaac his father in the land of Canaan.

39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, &c.) Whatever the ancient naturaliſts might think, with regard to the power of theſe rods to produce cattle of a variety of colours, the moderns are convinced from experience, that they will have no ſuch effect; and therefore the changing the colour of Laban's cattle into a variegated form, muſt have been the immediate work of Providence, which probably ordered Jacob to make uſe of theſe pilled rods, as a teſtimony of his dependence upon God. If the tranſaction be conſidered in this light, the conduct of Jacob will be free from that imputation of unfair dealing, with which the enemies of revelation have often branded it.

43 And the man increaſed exceedingly.) If we peruſe this whole account of Jacob's contracts with Laban, we cannot help obſerving, that covetouſneſs, like all other exorbitant paſſions, overſhoots the mark, and diſappoints itſelf. Thus it was with Laban, whoſe covetouſneſs would not allow him to ſettle upon Jacob any fixed wages, though he owed the greateſt part of his riches to his care; but he readily embraced an offer which Jacob made him, becauſe it ſeemed at firſt an advantageous one; though by the wiſe order of Providence, which takes the crafty in their own ſnare, he found himſelf deceived in the event.

19 And Laban went to ſhear his ſheep: and Rachel had ſtolen the images that were her father's.

20 And Jacob ſtole away unawares to Laban the Syrian, in that he told him not that he fled.

21 So he fled with all that he had; and he roſe up and paſſed over the river, and ſet his face toward the mount Gilead.

22 ¶ And it was told Laban on the third day, that Jacob was fled.

23 And he took his brethren with him, and purſued after him ſeven days journey: and they overtook him in the mount Gilead.

24 And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and ſaid unto him, Take heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad.

25 Then Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mount: and Laban with his brethren pitched in the mount of Gilead.

26 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, What haſt thou done, that thou haſt ſtolen away unawares to me, and carried away my daughters, as captives taken with the ſword?

27 Wherefore didſt thou flee away ſecretly, and ſteal away from me? and didſt not tell me, that I might have ſent thee away with mirth and with ſongs, with tabret and with harp?

28 And haſt not ſuffered me to kiſs my ſons and my daughters? thou haſt now done fooliſhly in ſo doing.

29 It is in the power of my hand to do you hurt: but the God of your father ſpake unto me yeſternight, ſaying, Take thou heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad.

30 And now though thou wouldeſt needs be gone, becauſe thou ſore longedſt after thy father's houſe; yet wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my gods?

31 And Jacob anſwered, and ſaid to Laban, Becauſe I was afraid: for I ſaid, Peradventure thou wouldſt take by force thy daughters from me.

32 With whomſoever thou findeſt thy gods, let him not live: before our brethren diſcern thou what is thine with me, and take it to thee: for Jacob knew not that Rachel had ſtolen them.

33 And Laban went into Jacob's tent, and into Leah's tent, and into the two maid-ſervants' tents; but he found them not. Then went he out of Leah's tent, and entered into Rachel's tent.

34 Now Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the camel's furniture, and ſat upon them: and Laban ſearched all the tent, but found them not.

35 And ſhe ſaid to her father, Let it not diſpleaſe my lord that I cannot riſe up before thee: for the cuſtom of women is upon me. And he ſearched, but found not the images.

36 And Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: and Jacob anſwered, and ſaid to Laban, What is my treſpaſs? what is my ſin, that thou haſt ſo hotly purſued after me?

37 Whereas thou haſt ſearched all my ſtuff, what haſt thou found of all thy houſhold ſtuff? ſet it here before my brethren and thy brethren, that they may judge betwixt us both.

38 This twenty years have I been with thee, thy ewes and thy ſhe-goats have not caſt their young, and the rams of thy flock have I not eaten.

39 That which was torn of beaſts, I brought not unto thee: I bare the loſs of it; of my hand didſt thou require it, whether ſtolen by day, or ſtolen by night.

40 Thus I was, in the day the drought conſumed me, and the froſt by night; and my ſleep departed from mine eyes.

41 Thus have I been twenty years in thy houſe: I ſerved thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and ſix years for thy cattle: and thou haſt changed my wages ten times.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the fear of Iſaac had been with me, ſurely thou hadſt ſent me away now empty. God hath ſeen mine affliction, and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yeſternight.

43 And Laban anſwered, and ſaid unto Jacob, Theſe daughters are my daughters, and theſe children are my children, and theſe cattle are my cattle, and all that thou ſeeſt is mine: and what can I do this day unto theſe my daughters, or unto their children which they have borne?

44 ¶ Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witneſs between me and thee.

45 And Jacob took a ſtone, and ſet it up for a pillar.

46 And Jacob ſaid unto his brethren, Gather ſtones; and they took ſtones, and made an heap: and they did eat there upon the heap.

47 And Laban called it Jegar-ſahadutha: but Jacob called it Galeed.

48 And Laban ſaid, This heap is a witneſs between me and thee this day; therefore was the name of it called Galeed;

49 And Mizpah; for he ſaid, The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are abſent one from another.

50 If thou ſhalt afflict my daughters, or if thou ſhalt take other wives beſides my daughters, no man is with us: See, God is witneſs betwixt me and thee.

51 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have caſt betwixt me and thee.

52 This heap be witneſs, and this pillar be witneſs, that I will not paſs over this heap to thee, and that thou ſhalt not paſs over this heap and this pillar unto me, for harm.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father judge betwixt us. And Jacob ſware by the fear of his father Iſaac.

54 Then Jacob offered ſacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread, and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount.

55 And early in the morning Laban roſe up and

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

19 And Rachel had ſtolen the images.) The Hebrew word which we render images, is teraphim, and implied a kind of penates, or houſhold goods, which they worſhipped as ſymbols of the Divinity, and conſulted as oracles: and hence Laban calls them his Gods. What theſe teraphim were, is far from being agreed on. Some think they were repreſentations of the angelic powers, and made in imitation of the Shechinah, or divine preſence, that appeared to Abraham's family. Others think they were images of their anceſtors, or little pillars inſcribed with the names of the founders of the family: and perhaps this was the motive that induced Rachel to ſteal them.

23 Seven days journey.) The diſtance between Haran and Mount Gilead is near 250 miles; conſequently Laban muſt have marched 35 miles a day, for ſeven days together.

30 Wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my Gods?) We muſt not imagine that Laban was ſo ſtupid as to think that images of wood or metal were really Gods; but it was the conſtant language of idolators, in all ages, to call their conſecrated ſtatues or images their Gods: becauſe they not only conſidered them as ſymbols or repreſentations of Divinity, but as proper pledges or receptacles of a Divine Preſence; conſequently to rob them of their idols, was to deprive them of the preſence and protection of their Gods.

32 With whomſoever thou findeſt thy gods, &c.) Moſt commentators infer from hence, that theft, at leaſt ſacrilege, was, in thoſe days, puniſhed with death.

kiſſed his ſons, and his daughters, and bleſſed them: and Laban departed and returned unto his place.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Jacob's viſion. 3 His meſſage, 13 and preſent to Eſau. 24 Wreſtling with an Angel, he is called Iſrael.

AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.

2 And when Jacob ſaw them, he ſaid, This is God's hoſt: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim.

3 ¶ And Jacob ſent meſſengers before him to Eſau his brother, unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom.

4 And he commanded them, ſaying, Thus ſhall ye ſpeak unto my lord Eſau; Thy ſervant Jacob ſaith thus, I have ſojourned with Laban, and ſtayed there until now.

5 And I have oxen, and aſſes, flocks, and men-ſervants, and women-ſervants: and I have ſent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy ſight.

6 And the meſſengers returned to Jacob, ſaying, We came to thy brother Eſau, and alſo he cometh to meet thee, and four hundred men with him.

7 Then Jacob was greatly afraid, and diſtreſſed: and he divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and the herds, and the camels into two bands;

8 And ſaid, If Iſau come to the one company, and ſmite it, then the other company which is left ſhall eſcape.

9 And Jacob ſaid, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Iſaac, the Lord which ſaidſt unto me, Return unto thy country, and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee:

10 I am not worthy of the leaſt of all the mercies, and of all the truth, which thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant: for with my ſtaff I paſſed over this Jordan, and now I am become two bands.

11 Deliver me, I pray thee, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Eſau; for I fear him, leſt he he will come and ſmite me, and the mother with the children.

12 And thou ſaidſt, I will ſurely do thee good, and make thy ſeed as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.

13 ¶ And he lodged there that ſame night; and took of that which came to his hand, a preſent for Eſau his brother;

14 Two hundred ſhe-goats, and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams, 15 Thirty milch camels with their colts, forty kine, and ten bulls, twenty ſhe-aſſes and ten foals.

16 And he delivered them into the hand of his ſervants, every drove by themſelves; and ſaid unto his ſervants, Paſs over before me, and put a ſpace betwixt drove and drove.

17 And he commanded the foremoſt, ſaying, When Eſau my brother meeteth thee, and aſketh thee, ſaying, Whoſe art thou? and whither goeſt thou? and whoſe are theſe before thee?

18 Then thou ſhalt ſay, They be thy ſervant Jacob's; it is a preſent ſent unto my lord Eſau: and behold alſo he is behind us.

19 And ſo commanded he the ſecond, and the third, and all that followed the droves, ſaying, On this manner ſhall ye ſpeak unto Eſau, when ye find him.

20 And ſay ye moreover, Behold, thy ſervant Jacob is behind us. For he ſaid I will appeaſe him with the preſent that goeth before me, and afterward I will ſee his face; peradventure he will accept of me.

21 So went the preſent over before him: and himſelf lodged that night in the company.

22 And he roſe up that night, and took his two wives, and his two women-ſervants, and his eleven ſons, and paſſed over the ford Jabbok.

23 And he took them, and ſent them over the brook, and ſent over that he had.

24 ¶ And Jacob was left alone; and there wreſtled a man with him until the breaking of the day.

25 And when he ſaw that he prevailed not againſt him, he touched the hollow of his thigh: and the hollow of Jacob's thigh was out of joint, as he wreſtled with him.

26 And he ſaid, Let me go for the day breaketh: and he ſaid, I will not let thee go, except thou bleſs me.

27 And he ſaid unto him, What is thy name? And he ſaid, Jacob.

28 And he ſaid thy name ſhall be called no more Jacob, but Iſrael: for as a prince haſt thou power with God and with men, and haſt prevailed.

29 And Jacob aſked him, and ſaid, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name: and he ſaid, Wherefore is it, that thou doſt aſk after my name? and he bleſſed him there.

30 And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have ſeen God face to face, and my life is preſerved.

31 And as he paſſed over Penuel the ſun roſe upon him, and he halted upon his thigh.

32 Therefore the children of Iſrael eat not of the ſinew which ſhrank, which is upon the hollow of the thigh, unto this day: becauſe he touched the hollow of Jacob's thigh in the ſinew that ſhrank.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The kindneſs of Jacob and Eſau at their meeting: 18 Jacob buyeth a field at Shalem, and buildeth an altar.

AND Jacob lifted up his eyes, and looked and behold, Eſau came, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the children unto Leah, and unto Rachel, and unto the two handmaids.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

2 Mahanaim.) That is, two hoſts or camps; probably becauſe the angels appeared like two armies drawn up on either ſide for his protection, according to that elegant expreſſion of the Pſalmiſt, The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them. Pſalm xxxiv. 7.

24 And there wreſtled a man with him.) He ſtaid alone, in all likelihood, that he might commend himſelf and his family to God, by earneſt prayer: Which ſeems to be confirmed by the prophet Hoſea, xii. 4. And as he was praying, or when he had done, a man encountered him, with whom he grapled; taking him, perhaps, for ſome of Eſau's attendants come to ſurpriſe him; for it was ſo dark, that he could not ſee what kind of countenance he had; or if he could, angels were wont to appear ſo like to men, that at the firſt they did not diſcern the difference. It ſeems probable that this angel was one of God's hoſt, mentioned verſe 2, ſent from the Schechinah, or Divine Majeſty, by whoſe order, and in whoſe preſence, he ſtrove with Jacob, in ſuch manner as is here deſcribed.

25 He touched the hollow of his thigh) The angel gave over the combat, but made him know, by this light touch, how eaſily he could have overthrown him, if he had pleaſed; this diſcovered to Jacob that he was more than a man, who wreſtled with him, and that he had not prevailed againſt him by his own ſtrength, but by the power of God.

28 No more Jacob.) This paſſage ſhould be rendered, Thy name ſhall not only be called Jacob but Iſrael; which ſignifies, a prince powerful with God.

32 Therefore the children of Iſrael eat not, &c.) The ſinew here meant is that which faſtens the hip-bone into its ſocket, comprehending the fleſh of that muſcle that is connected to it.

2 And he put the handmaids and their children foremoſt, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt.

3 And he paſſed over before them, and bowed himſelf to the ground ſeven times, until he came near to his brother.

4 And Eſau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck, and kiſſed him: and they wept.

5 And he lifted up his eyes, and ſaw the women and the children; and ſaid, Who are thoſe with thee? and he ſaid, The children which God hath graciouſly given thy ſervant.

6 Then the handmaidens came near, they and their children, and they bowed themſelves.

7 And Leah alſo with her children came near, and bowed themſelves; and after came Joſeph near, and Rachel, and they bowed themſelves.

8 And he ſaid, What meaneſt thou by all this drove which I met? and he ſaid, Theſe are to find grace in the ſight of my Lord.

9 And Eſau ſaid, I have enough; my brother, keep that thou haſt unto thy ſelf.

10 And Jacob ſaid, Nay, I pray thee, if now I have found grace in thy ſight, then receive my preſent at my hand: for therefore I have ſeen thy face, as though I had ſeen the face of God, and thou waſt pleaſed with me.

11 Take, I pray thee, my bleſſing that is brought to thee; becauſe God hath dealt graciouſly with me, and becauſe I have enough: and he urged him, and he took it.

12 And he ſaid, Let us take our journey, and let us go, and I will go before thee.

13 And he ſaid unto him, My lord knoweth that the children are tender, and the flocks and herds with young are with me, and if men ſhould over-drive them one day, all the flock will die.

14 Let my lord, I pray thee, paſs over before his ſervant: and I will lead on ſoftly, according as the cattle that goeth before me, and the children, be able to endure; until I come unto my lord unto Seir.

15 And Eſau ſaid, let me now leave with thee ſome of the folk that are with me: And he ſaid, What needeth it? Let me find grace in the ſight of my lord.

16 So Eſau returned that day on his way unto Seir.

17 And Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built him an houſe, and made booths for his cattle; therefore the name of the place is called Succoth.

18 ¶ And Jacob came to Shalem, a city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan-aram; and pitched his tent before the city.

19 And he bought a parcel of a field, where he had ſpread his tent, at the hand of the children of Hamor, Shechem's father, for an hundred pieces of money.

20 And he erected there an altar, and called it El-elohe-iſrael.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Dinah raviſhed. 20 The Shechemites are circumciſed, 25 ſlain by the ſons of Jacob, 27 and their city ſpoiled.

AND Dinah the daughter of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob, went out to ſee the daughters of the land.

2 And when Shechem the ſon of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the country ſaw her, he took her, and lay with her, and defiled her.

3 And his ſoul clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the damſel, and ſpake kindly unto the damſel.

4 And Shechem ſpake unto his father Hamor, ſaying, Get me this damſel to wife.

5 And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, (now his ſons were with his cattle in the field:) and Jacob held his peace until they were come.

6 And Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jacob to commune with him.

7 And the ſons of Jacob came out of the field when they heard it, and the men were grieved, and they were very wroth: becauſe he had wrought folly in Iſrael, in lying with Jacob's daughter: which thing ought not to be done.

8 And Hamor communed with them, ſaying, The ſoul of my ſon Shechem longeth for your daughter: I pray you give her him to wife.

9 And make ye marriages with us, and give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you.

10 And ye ſhall dwell with us: and the land ſhall be before you; dwell and trade you therein, and get you poſſeſſions therein.

11 And Shechem ſaid unto her father, and unto her brethren, Let me find grace in your eyes, and what ye ſhall ſay unto me I will give.

12 Aſk me never ſo much dowry and gift, and I will give according as ye ſhall ſay unto me: but give me the damſel to wife.

13 And the ſons of Jacob anſwered Shechem and Hamor his father deceitfully, and ſaid, Becauſe he had defiled Dinah their ſiſter:

14 And they ſaid unto them, We cannot do this thing, to give our ſiſter to one that is uncircumciſed: for that were a reproach unto us:

15 But in this will we conſent unto you: If ye

Commentary on Chap. XXXIII.

8 Theſe are to find grace in the ſight of my lord.) It was the common practice of the orientals to approach their ſuperiors with preſents; and by Jacob's calling his brother lord, ſufficiently indicates, that the birth-right was not beſtowed on his perſon, but on is poſterity.

9 I have enough, my brother) By this expreſſion we may conclude, that Eſau was as far from being covetous, as he was from harbouring any intention of revenging the affronts he had formerly received from his brother. Nor could he be prevailed upon to take the preſent from his brother, till the moſt prevailing expreſſions were uſed by Jacob for that purpoſe 12 Let us take our journey) Eſau was very deſirous that his brother ſhould accompany him to Mount Seir; but this Jacob convinced him was impoſſible, without doing the greateſt injury both to his children and flocks, which obliged him to travel in a very ſlow manner. He however promiſed to follow him; but whether he ever performed it, is impoſſible to ſay: the ſacred hiſtorian having been ſilent with regard to this particular. It is however probable, that he did immediately viſit his brother, as well as his father, though Moſes has not recorded either tranſaction.

Commentary on Chap. XXXIV.

1 Dinah went out to ſee the daughters of the land) Dinah was now about ſixteen years of age, and probably deſirous of ſeeing the dreſſes and ornaments of the women of that country, rambled from her mother's tent. This tranſaction, from the circumſtances which attended it, muſt have happened ſeven or eight years, at leaſt, after Jacob's return into the land of Canaan, becauſe his ſons were grown up to manhood.

5 And Jacob held his peace until they were come) That is, he concealed his reſentment for this baſe action till his ſons returned, who were then with his cattle in the field, and probably at many miles diſtance; it being common for them to range all round the country in ſearch of paſture.

12 Aſk me never ſo much dowry and gift) It was cuſtomary for the bridegroom, before he married, to make two preſents, one to his betrothed wife, and the other to his father-in-law: thus Abraham's ſervant gave necklaces and ear-rings to Rebekah.

will

will be as we be, that every male of you be circumciſed;

16 Then will we give our daughters unto you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will dwell with you, and we will become one people.

17 But if ye will not hearken unto us, to be circumciſed; then will we take our daughter, and we will be gone.

18 And their words pleaſed Hamor, and Shechem Hamor's ſon.

19 And the young man deferred not to do the thing, becauſe he had delight in Jacob's daughter: and he was more honourable than all the houſe of his father.

20 ¶ And Hamor and Shechem his ſon came unto the gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, ſaying, 21 Theſe men are peaceable with us, therefore let them dwell in the land, and trade therein; for the land, behold, it is large enough for them: let us take their daughters to us for wives, and let us give them our daughters.

22 Only herein will the men conſent unto us, for to dwell with us to be one people, if every male among us be circumciſed, as they are circumciſed.

23 Shall not their cattle and their ſubſtance, and every beaſt of their's be ours? only let us conſent unto them, and they will dwell with us.

24 And unto Hamor, and unto Shechem his ſon hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city; and every male was circumciſed, all that went out of the gate of his city.

25 ¶ And it came to paſs on the third day, when they were ſore, that two of the ſons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brethren, took each man his ſword, and came upon the city boldly, and ſlew all the males.

26 And they ſlew Hamor and Shechem his ſon with the edge of the ſword, and took Dinah out of Shechem's houſe, and went out.

27 ¶ The ſons of Jacob came upon the ſlain, and ſpoiled the city: becauſe they had defiled their ſiſter.

28 They took their ſheep and their oxen, and their aſſes, and that which was in the city, and that which was in the field,

29 And all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their wives took they captive, and ſpoiled even all that was in the houſe.

30 And Jacob ſaid to Simeon and Levi, Ye have troubled me, to make me to ſtink among the inhabitants of the land, amongſt the Canaanites, and the Perizzites: and I being few in number, they ſhall gather themſelves together againſt me, and ſlay me; and I ſhall be deſtroyed, I and my houſe.

31 And they ſaid, Should he deal with our ſiſter as with an harlot?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 God ſendeth Jacob to Beth-el. 2 He purgeth his houſe of idols, 6 and buildeth an altar at Beth-el. 28 Iſaac's death.

AND God ſaid unto Jacob, Ariſe, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there: and make there an altar unto God, that appeared unto thee when thou fleddeſt from the face of Eſau thy brother.

2 ¶ Then Jacob ſaid unto his houſhold, and to all that were with him, Put away the ſtrange gods that are among you, and be clean, and change your garments:

3 And let us ariſe, and go up to Beth-el; and I will make there an altar unto God, who anſwered me in the day of my diſtreſs, and was with me in the way which I went.

4 And they gave unto Jacob all the ſtrange gods which were in their hands, and all their ear-rings which were in their ears: and Jacob hid them under the oak which was by Shechem.

5 And they journeyed: and the terror of God was upon the cities that were round about them, and they did not purſue after the ſons of Jacob.

6 ¶ So Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, that is Beth-el: he and all the people that were with him.

7 And he built there an altar, and called the place El-beth-el: becauſe there God appeared unto him, when he fled from the face of his brother.

8 But Deborah Rebekah's nurſe died, and ſhe was buried beneath Beth-el under an oak; and the name of it was called Allon-bachuth.

9 And God appeared unto Jacob again, when he came out of Padan-aram, and bleſſed him.

10 And God ſaid unto him, Thy name is Jacob: thy name ſhall not be called any more Jacob, but Iſrael ſhall be thy name; and he called his name Iſrael.

11 And God ſaid unto him, I am God Almighty: be fruitful and multiply: a nation, and a company of nations ſhall be of thee, and kings ſhall come out of thy loins.

12 And the land which I gave Abraham and Iſaac, to thee I will give it, and to thy ſeed after thee will I give the land.

13 And God went up from him in the place where he talked with him.

14 And Jacob ſet up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, even a pillar of ſtone: and he poured a drink-offering thereon, and he poured oil thereon.

15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God ſpake with him, Beth-el.

16 And they journeyed from Beth-el: and there

18 And their words pleaſed Hamor, &c.) The whole tranſaction ſufficiently informs us, that though Shechem had committed this unguarded action, yet he was far from being of a bad diſpoſition, and that he was paſſionately fond of Dinah. We may alſo obſerve, that both Hamor and all the inhabitants of the city had the greateſt affection for Shechem, ſince they readily ſubmitted to ſo painful an operation merely to ſerve their prince.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 And God ſaid to Jacob, Ariſe, go up to Beth-el.) The cruelty of Jacob's ſons towards the Shechemites made it unſafe for him to ſtay any longer in thoſe parts; and having received a ſpecial command from God, he retired to Beth-el, about twenty miles ſouth of Shechem, the place where he had the viſion when he was on his journey to Padan-aram. Thither he was commanded to repair, and to perform the vow he had made when beſet with the greateſt dangers and difficulties.

5 And the terror of God was upon the cities) It was doubtleſs very ſingular, that the inhabitants of the land ſhould neglect to take ſignal vengeance on the ſons of Jacob, for the cruelty they had exerciſed on the unfortunate Shechemites: the ſacred hiſtorian therefore thought proper to inſert the reaſon for this ſupineneſs, namely, The terror of the Lord; which ſo ſtrongly impreſſed their minds, that they durſt not attempt to follow the Hebrews, but let them retire peaceably with all their ſubſtance.

11 I am God Almighty, &c. Here God renews his promiſe to him, as he had often done to Abraham. He had firſt bleſſed him by Iſaac, when he ſent him from home; then he himſelf bleſſed him when he appeared to him, the firſt night of his journey; and now again, when he was come back to the very ſame place where he had bleſſed him before. And he ſpeaks to him by the name of God All-ſufficient, the very ſame whereby his father had bleſſed him, and whereby God bleſſed Abraham.

was but a little way to come to Ephrath: and Rachel travailed, and ſhe had hard labour.

17 And it came to paſs, when ſhe was in hard labour, that the midwife ſaid unto her, Fear not; thou ſhalt have this ſon alſo.

18 And it came to paſs, as her ſoul was in departing, (for ſhe died) that ſhe called his name Ben-oni: but his father called him Benjamin.

19 And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Beth-lehem.

20 And Jacob ſet a pillar upon her grave: that is the pillar of Rachel's grave, unto this day.

21 And Iſrael journeyed, and ſpread his tent beyond the tower of Edar.

22 And it came to paſs, when Iſrael dwelt in that land, that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah, his father's concubine: and Iſrael heard it. Now the ſons of Jacob were twelve.

23 The ſons of Leah; Reuben, Jacob's firſt-born, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Iſſachar, and Zebulun.

24 The ſons of Rachel; Joſeph, and Benjamin.

25 And the ſons of Bilhah, Rachel's handmaid; Dan, and Naphtali.

26 And the ſons of Zilpah, Leah's handmaid; Gad, and Aſher. Theſe are the ſons of Jacob, which were born to him in Padan-aram.

27 And Jacob came unto Iſaac his father unto Mamre, unto the city of Arba, (which is Hebron) where Abraham and Iſaac ſojourned.

28 ¶ And the days of Iſaac were an hundred and fourſcore years.

29 And Iſaac gave up the ghoſt, and died, and was gathered unto his people, being old and full of days: and his ſons Eſau and Jacob buried him.

CHAP. XXXVI.

2 Eſau's wives. 6 His removing to mount Seir. 9 His ſons.

NOW theſe are the generations of Eſau, who is Edom.

2 ¶ Eſau took his wives of the daughters of Canaan; Adah, the daughter of Helon the Hittite, and Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon the Hivite:

3 And Baſhemath, Iſhmael's daughter, ſiſter of Nebajoth.

4 And Adah bare to Eſau, Eliphaz: and Baſhemath bare Reuel:

5 And Aholibamah bare Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah. Theſe are the ſons of Eſau, which were born unto him in the land of Canaan.

6 ¶ And Eſau took his wives, and his ſons, and his daughters, and all the perſons of his houſe, and his cattle, and all his beaſts, and all his ſubſtance which he had got in the land of Canaan, and went into the country from the face of his brother Jacob.

7 For their riches were more than that they might dwell together; and the land wherein they were ſtrangers could not bear them, becauſe of their cattle.

8 Thus dwelt Eſau in mount Seir: Eſau is Edom.

9 ¶ And theſe are the generations of Eſau the father of the Edomites, in mount Seir.

10 Theſe are the names of Eſau's ſons; Eliphaz, the ſon of Adah, the wife of Eſau, Reuel, the ſon of Baſhemath, the wife of Eſau.

11 And the ſons of Eliphaz, were Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz.

12 And Timna was concubine to Eliphaz, Eſau's ſon; and ſhe bare to Eliphaz Amalek: theſe were the ſons of Adah, Eſau's wife.

13 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel; Nahath, and Zerah, Shamma, and Mizzah: theſe were the ſons of Baſhemath, Eſau's wife.

14 And theſe were the ſons of Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon, Eſau's wife; and ſhe bare to Eſau, Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah.

15 Theſe were dukes of the ſons of Eſau: the ſons of Eliphaz, the firſt-born ſon of Eſau; duke Teman, duke Omar, duke Zepho, duke Kenaz, 16 Duke Korah, duke Gatam, and duke Amalek. Theſe are the dukes that came of Eliphaz in the land of Edom: theſe were the ſons of Adah.

17 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel, Eſau's ſon; duke Nahath, duke Zerah, duke Shammah, duke Mizzah. Theſe are the dukes that came of Reuel in the land of Edom: theſe are the ſons of Baſhemath, Eſau's wife.

18 And theſe are the ſons of Aholibamah, Eſau's wife; duke Jeuſh, duke Jaalam, duke Korah: theſe were the dukes that came of Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, Eſau's wife.

19 Theſe are the ſons of Eſau, (who is Edom) and theſe are their dukes.

20 Theſe are the ſons of Seir the Horite; who inhabited

18 Ben-oni.) Rachel had impatiently waited for children: but was now fatally convinced that what ſhe conſidered as the greateſt happineſs that could attend her, was really the greateſt pain: and thence called this ſon Ben-oni, the ſon of my ſorrow: but his father, to avert the ſiniſter omen, changed his name to Benjamin, the ſon of my ſtrength, or right-hand. And from this inſtance we ſhould learn never to wiſh impatiently for any earthly acquiſition, but to ſubmit our deſires to the care of providence, leſt the accompliſhment of our wiſhes, like thoſe of Rachel, prove our own deſtruction.

Names are frequently ſtrangely adapted to things; and the preſages of parents have anciently been obſerved to be fulfilled: which is in no inſtance more verified than in this child of Jacob's, who did not bear either of theſe names for nought. There being two very different fates of his poſterity, anſwerable to the contrary importance of the names given him by his father and his mother. No tribe in Iſrael more valorous, yet none ſo ſubject to ſorrowful diſaſters, as this tribe of Benjamin. It was almoſt extirpated in the time of the Judges, and yet before the concluſion of that age, Benjamin became the head of his brethren: the firſt king of Iſrael being choſen out of that late deſolate tribe; and though that king proved at laſt but a Ben-oni; yet this tribe ſtuck cloſe to Judah, when all the reſt revolted to his brother Joſeph.

26 Which were born unto him in Padan-aram.) Benjamin was not born in Padan-aram, but ſeveral years after Jacob's return into the land of Canaan, and is therefore to be excepted, as his birth is mentioned but a few verſes before. Nor is this an uncommon figure of ſpeech; for the apoſtles are called the twelve apoſtles after the death of Judas, though then but eleven; and alſo after Matthias and Paul were added, when their number was thirteen.

29 And his ſons Eſau and Jacob buried him.) As Iſaac and Iſhmael had done Abraham. The place where this eminent patriarch was buried is not mentioned here; but it was in the cave of Macphelah, where the remains of Abraham and Sarah, his father and mother, were depoſited. See chap. xlix. 31.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

1 Theſe are the generations of Eſau) This genealogy of Eſau was inſerted to anſwer a double intention; firſt, to ſhew how truly his father's prophetic bleſſing was fulfilled; and ſecondly, to inform the Iſraelites which were the tribes of Edom, and the extent of the country they inhabited, that they might not, through ignorance, attack any of their cities, which God himſelf had given them for their inheritance.

15 Theſe are the Dukes.) We muſt not underſtand that theſe who are called dukes, were rulers of provinces; they were only the heads or chiefs of particular families; for it was many years after that the Horites, who inhabited the country of Edom, were conquered; after which, indeed, there were dukes of Edom, and are mentioned ver. 42, 43; but are plainly diſtinguiſhed from thoſe mentioned above, the former being ſtiled dukes in the land of Edom, and the latter the dukes of Edom.

habited the land; Lotan, and Shobai, and Zibeon, and Anah, 21 And Diſhon, and Ezer, and Diſhan. Theſe are the dukes of the Horites, the children of Seir in the land of Edom.

22 And the children of Lotan were Hori, and Heman: and Lotan's ſiſter was Timna.

23 And the children of Shobal were theſe; Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepo, and Onam.

24 And theſe are the children of Zibeon; both Ajah, and Anah: this was that Anah that found the mules in the wilderneſs, as he fed the aſſes of Zibeon his father.

25 And the children of Anah were theſe; Diſhon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah.

26 And theſe are the children of Diſhon; Hemdan, and Eſhban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

27 The children of Ezer are theſe; Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Akan.

28 The children of Diſhan are theſe; Uz, and Aran.

29 Theſe are the dukes that came of the Horites; duke Lotan, duke Shobal, duke Zibeon, duke Anah.

30 Duke Diſhon, duke Ezer, duke Diſhan. Theſe are the dukes that came of Hori, among their dukes in the land of Seir.

31 And theſe are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before there reigned any king over the children of Iſrael.

32 And Bela, the ſon of Beor, reigned in Edom: and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

33 And Bela died; and Jobab, the ſon of Zerah of Bozrah, reigned in his ſtead.

34 And Jobab died; and Huſham of the land of Temani, reigned in his ſtead.

35 And Huſham died; and Hadad, the ſon of Bedad, (who ſmote Midian in the field of Moab) reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Avith.

36 And Hadad died; and Samlah of Maſrekah reigned in his ſtead.

37 And Samlah died; and Saul of Rehoboth, by the river, reigned in his ſtead.

38 And Saul died; and Baal-hanan, the ſon of Achbor, reigned in his ſtead.

39 And Baal-hanan, the ſon of Achbor, died; and Hador reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Pau: and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

40 And theſe are the names of the dukes that came of Eſau, according to their families, after their places, by their names; duke Timnah, duke Alvah, duke Jetheth,

41 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon,

42 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar,

43 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram: theſe be the dukes of Edom, according to their habitations in the land of their poſſeſſion; he is Eſau the father of the Edomites.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Joſeph is hated of his brethren. 5 His two dreams. 18 His brethren conſpire his death. 36 He is ſold to Potiphar in Egypt.

AND Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſtranger, in the land of Canaan.

2 ¶ Theſe are the generations of Jacob. Joſeph being ſeventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren; and the lad was with the ſons of Bilhah, and with the ſons of Zilpah, his father's wives: and Joſeph brought unto his father their evil report.

3 Now Iſrael loved Joſeph more than all his children, becauſe he was the ſon of his old age: and he made him a coat of many colours.

4 And when his brethren ſaw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not ſpeak peaceably unto him.

5 ¶ And Joſeph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more.

6 And he ſaid unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed.

7 For behold, we were binding ſheaves in the field, and lo, my ſheaf aroſe, and alſo ſtood upright; and behold, your ſheaves ſtood round about, and made obeiſance to my ſheaf.

8 And his brethren ſaid unto him, ſhalt thou indeed reign over us; or ſhalt thou indeed have dominion over us; and they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

9 And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and ſaid, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and behold, the ſun, and the moon, and the eleven ſtars, made obeiſance to me.

10 And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and ſaid unto him, What is this dream that thou haſt dreamed? ſhall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourſelves to thee to the earth?

11 And his brethren envied him: but his father obſerved the ſaying.

12 And his brethren went to feed their father's flock in Shechem.

13 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Do not thy brethren feed the flock in Shechem? come, and I will ſend thee unto them. And he ſaid unto him, Here am I.

14 And he ſaid to him, Go, I pray thee, ſee whether

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVII.

1 And Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſtranger) This paſſage ſhould be rendered, And Jacob dwelt in the land of his father's ſojourning; for Iſaac could not, in any ſenſe, be called a ſtranger in the land of Canaan, as he was a native of that country, and had reſided in it the greateſt part of his life; but he was only a ſojourner, having made no conqueſts, nor extended his authority farther than his own houſe.

3 A coat of many colours.) The orientals were remarkably fond of garments diverſified with different colours, or embroidered with flowers, &c. and, in all probability, the coat which Jacob procured for his favourite ſon was of that kind. But this inſtance of his father's regard for him, increaſed the hatred of his brethren.

5 And he told it to his brethren.) We have here a remarkable inſtance of the open heart, and candid behaviour, of Joſeph. He could not be ignorant that the dream portended his having dominion over his brethren; nor that they already were offended at the liberty he had taken in telling their father how they behaved, when at a diſtance from him. But being himſelf a ſtranger to envy and malice, he never ſuſpected that his dream would rouſe theſe paſſions in the minds of his brethren, nor that they would conſtrue it as an indication of his pride and ambition. The dream was however fulfilled, when his brethren made application to him in Egypt for corn; for we read, that They came near and bowed themſelves before him, with their faces to the earth, chap. xliii. 6.

13 Come, and I will ſend thee, &c.) It was no wonder that Jacob ſhould be uneaſy with regard to his ſons, when it is remembered that they were feeding their flocks in Shechem, the ſcene of their late inhuman cruelty; for it was natural for him to fear, that the inhabitants of the land would take the firſt favourable opportunity of revenging the death of their countrymen. He therefore thought proper to ſend Joſeph to enquire of their welfare, though the ſpot was near ſixty miles diſtant from Hebron, the place where Jacob now dwelt; little ſuſpecting that their malice againſt this innocent child had riſen to ſuch an enormous pitch, as to inſpire them with the cruel thought of deſtroying him. Nor had Joſeph himſelf any apprehenſions of this kind: he thought it his duty to execute his father's pleaſure; and therefore, inſtead of raiſing difficulties againſt undertaking the journey, he cheerfully anſwered, Here am I: Whatever commands my father pleaſes to give me, I am ready to obey.

it be well with thy brethren, and well with the flocks: and bring me word again: ſo he ſent him out of the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

15 And a certain man found him, and behold, he was wandering in the field; and the man aſked him, ſaying, What ſeekeſt thou?

16 And he ſaid, I ſeek my brethren: tell me, I pray thee, where they feed their flocks.

17 And the man ſaid, They are departed hence: for I heard them ſay, Let us go to Dothan. And Joſeph went after his brethren, and found them in Dothan.

18 And when they ſaw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conſpired againſt him, to ſlay him.

19 And they ſaid one to another, Behold, this dreamer cometh.

20 Come now therefore, and let us ſlay him, and caſt him into ſome pit; and we will ſay, Some evil beaſt hath devoured him: and we ſhall ſee what will become of his dreams.

21 And Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands; and ſaid, Let us not kill him.

22 And Reuben ſaid unto them, ſhed no blood, but caſt him into this pit, that is in the wilderneſs, and lay no hand upon him; that he might rid him out of their hands, to deliver him to his father again.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs, when Joſeph was come unto his brethren, that they ſtript Joſeph out of his coat, his coat of many colours, that was on him.

24 And they took him, and caſt him into a pit: and the pit was empty, there was no water in it.

25 And they ſat down to eat bread: and they lifted up their eyes and looked, and behold, a company of Iſhmaelites came from Gilead, with their camels bearing ſpicery, and balm, and myrrh, going to carry it down to Egypt.

26 And Judah ſaid unto his brethren, What profit is it if we ſlay our brother and conceal his blood?

27 Come, and let us ſell him to the Iſhmaelites, and let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother, and our fleſh: and his brethren were content.

28 Then there paſſed by Midianites merchantmen: and they drew and lift up Joſeph out of the pit, and ſold Joſeph to the Iſhmaelites for twenty pieces of ſilver: and they brought Joſeph into Egypt.

29 ¶ And Reuben returned unto the pit; and behold, Joſeph was not in the pit; and he rent his cloaths.

30 And he returned unto his brethren, and ſaid, The child is not; and I, whither ſhall I go?

31 And they took Joſeph's coat, and killed a kid of the goats, and dipped the coat in the blood.

32 And they ſent the coat of many colours, and they brought it to their father; and ſaid, This have we found: know now whether it be thy ſon's coat or no.

33 And he knew it, and ſaid, It is my ſon's coat; an evil beaſt hath devoured him: Joſeph is without doubt rent in pieces.

34 And Jacob rent his cloaths, and put ſackcloth upon his loins, and mourned for his ſon many days.

35 And all his ſons, and all his daughters roſe up to comfort him; but he refuſed to be comforted; and he ſaid, For I will go down into the grave unto my ſon, mourning: Thus his father wept for him.

36 ¶ And the Midianites ſold him into Egypt unto Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh's, and captain of the guard.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Judah begetteth Er, Onan, and Shelah. 6 Er marrieth Tamar. 8 The treſpaſs of Onan. 12 Judah's inceſt with Tamar.

AND it came to paſs at that time, that Judah went down from his brethren, and turned in to a certain Adullamite, whoſe name was Hirah.

2 And Judah ſaw there a daughter of a certain Canaanite, whoſe name was Shuah: and he took her and went in unto her.

3 And ſhe conceived and bare a ſon; and he called his name Er.

4 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon: and ſhe called his name Onan.

5 And ſhe yet again conceived, and bare a ſon; and called his name Shelah; and he was at Chezib when ſhe bare him.

6 ¶ And Judah took a wife for Er his firſt-born, whoſe name was Tamar.

7 And Er, Judah's firſt-born, was wicked in the ſight of the Lord; and the Lord ſlew him.

8 ¶ And Judah ſaid unto Onan, Go in unto thy brother's wife, and marry her, and raiſe up ſeed to thy brother.

9 And Onan knew that the ſeed ſhould not be his; and it came to paſs, when he went in unto his brother's wife, that he ſpilled it on the ground, leſt that he ſhould give ſeed to his brother.

10 And the thing which he did diſpleaſed the Lord: wherefore he ſlew him alſo.

11 Then ſaid Judah to Tamar his daughter-in-law, Remain a widow at thy father's houſe, till Shelah my ſon be grown; (for he ſaid, Leſt peradventure he die alſo as his brethren did:) and Tamar went and dwelt 22 And Reuben ſaid, &c.) If it be remembered that Reuben, who was the eldeſt brother, and conſequently had the greateſt authority among them, deſpaired of being able to protect him by any open or direct method, we may form ſome idea of the height to which they had carried their malice againſt Joſeph. But though he well knew it was not in his power to defend him openly, yet he hoped by art to compaſs his deſign; and therefore perſuaded them to caſt him into a pit, that he might have an opportunity of delivering him again to his father.

29 He rent his cloaths) This was one of the ſigns of ancient mourning, and uſed in caſes of the greateſt diſtreſs. From this behaviour of Reuben it is plain, that he was not privy to the tranſaction of ſelling Joſeph to the Iſhmaelites. He doubtleſs hoped to preſerve the child from their barbarous deſigns; but going to the pit, and not finding Joſeph there, he rent his cloaths, and broke out in this paſſionate expreſſion, Whither ſhall I go? Whither ſhall I fly to conceal myſelf from my father's anger? For being the eldeſt, he conſidered himſelf as anſwerable for the child's ſafety.

35 I will go down into the grave unto my ſon, mourning.) And, in all probability, he never ceaſed lamenting for his ſon, till he received the joyful tidings of his being ſtill alive, and governor over all the land of Egypt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVIII.

1 And it came to paſs at that time.) It muſt not be ſuppoſed, notwithſtanding theſe words ſeem to connect the following events with the preceding chapter, that all the tranſactions were actually performed after Joſeph was ſold into Egypt; for a very little reflection will be ſufficient to convince us, that ſome of them happened long before, even about the time that Jacob came out of Meſopotamia into Canaan, though the ſacred hiſtorian thought proper to place them here. And it may not be amiſs to obſerve, that the words in theſe days, at that time, &c. often refer in ſcripture to a conſiderable ſpace of time.

11 Remain a widow, &c.) Hence we may obſerve, that the contract of marriage, in thoſe days, obliged the woman in caſe her huſband died without iſſue, to marry his next brother; and that, as long as any of his brethren remained, they were bound to marry his wife, unleſs ſhe had a child.

14 And ſat in an open place) The original implies, that ſhe ſat in a place where two ways meet. Commentators obſerve, that the ancients did not ſuffer harlots to enter into their cities, and that they always wore a veil over their faces to conceal their infamy.

in her father's houſe.

12 ¶ And in proceſs of time, the daughter Shuah Judah's wife died: and Judah was comforted, and went up unto his ſheep-ſhearers to Timnath, he and his friend Hirah the Adullamite.

13 And it was told Tamar, ſaying, Behold thy father-in-law goeth up to Timnath to ſhear his ſheep.

14 And ſhe put her widow's garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped herſelf, and ſat in an open place which is by the way to Timnath: for ſhe ſaw that Shelah was grown, and ſhe was not given unto him to wife.

15 When Judah ſaw her, he thought her to be an harlot; becauſe ſhe had covered her face.

16 And he turned unto her by the way, and ſaid, Go to, I pray thee, let me come in unto thee; (for he knew not that ſhe was his daughter-in-law:) and ſhe ſaid, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayeſt come in unto me?

17 And he ſaid, I will ſend thee a kid from the flock; and ſhe ſaid, Wilt thou give me a pledge till thou ſend it?

18 And he ſaid, What pledge ſhall I give thee? and ſhe ſaid, Thy ſignet, and thy bracelets, and thy ſtaff that is in thine hand: and he gave it her, and came in unto her, and ſhe conceived by him.

19 And ſhe aroſe and went away, and laid by her vail from her, and put on the garments of her widowhood.

20 And Judah ſent the kid by the hand of his friend the Adullamite, to receive his pledge from the woman's hand; but he found her not.

21 Then he aſked the men of that place, ſaying, Where is the harlot that was openly by the way-ſide? and they ſaid, There was no harlot in this place.

22 And he returned to Judah, and ſaid, I cannot find her: and alſo the men of the place ſaid, that there was no harlot in this place.

23 And Judah ſaid, let her take it to her, leſt we be aſhamed: behold, I ſent this kid, and thou haſt not found her.

24 And it came to paſs, about three months after, that it was told Judah, ſaying, Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the harlot; and alſo behold, ſhe is with child by whoredom: and Judah ſaid, Bring her forth, and let her be burnt.

25 When ſhe was brought forth, ſhe ſent to her father-in-law, ſaying, By the man whoſe theſe are, am I with child: and ſhe ſaid, Diſcern I pray thee, whoſe are theſe, the ſignet, and bracelets, and ſtaff.

26 And Judah acknowledged them, and ſaid, She hath been more righteous than I; becauſe that I gave her not to Shelah my ſon: and he knew her again no more.

27 And it came to paſs, in the time of her travail, that behold, twins were in her womb.

28 And it came to paſs, when ſhe travailed, that the one put out his hand: and the midwife took and bound upon his hand a ſcarlet thread, ſaying, This came out firſt.

29 And it came to paſs, as he drew back his hand, that behold, his brother came out: and ſhe ſaid, How haſt thou broken forth? this breach be upon thee: therefore his name was called Pharez.

30 And afterward came out his brother, that had the ſcarlet thread upon his hand: and his name was called Zarah.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Joſeph's advancement in Potiphar's houſe, 7 reſiſteth his miſtreſs's temptation. 13 He is falſely accuſed, 20 And caſt into priſon.

AND Joſeph was brought down to Egypt; and Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, captain of the guard, an Egyptian, bought him of the hand of the Iſhmaelites, which had brought him down thither.

2 And the Lord was with Joſeph, and he was a proſperous man; and he was in the houſe of his maſter the Egyptian.

3 And his maſter ſaw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to proſper in his hand.

4 And Joſeph found grace in his ſight, and he ſerved him: and he made him overſeer over his houſe, and all that he had he put into his hand.

5 And it came to paſs, from the time that he had made him overſeer in his houſe, and over all that he had, that the Lord bleſſed the Egyptian's houſe for Joſeph's ſake: and the bleſſing of the Lord was upon all that he had, in the houſe and in the field.

6 And he left all that he had in Joſeph's hand; and he knew not ought he had, ſave the bread which he did eat: and Joſeph was a goodly perſon, and well-favoured.

7 ¶ And it came paſs, after theſe things, that his maſter's wife caſt her eyes upon Joſeph; and ſhe ſaid, Lie with me.

8 But he refuſed, and ſaid unto his maſter's wife, Behold, my maſter wotteth not what is with me in the houſe, and he hath committed all that he hath to my hand.

9 There is none greater in this houſe than I; neither hath he kept back any thing from me, but thee, becauſe thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickedneſs and ſin againſt God?

---

29 This breach be upon thee) That is, Be thou for ever called Irruption or Breach, which is the meaning of the word Pharez. Perhaps ſhe conſidered this circumſtance as the preſage of a future rupture between the two brothers, and therefore gave him that name, to imply, that he ſhould be anſwerable for the conſequences of this fraternal rupture.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIX.

1 And Joſeph, &c.) Moſes having given the preceding account of a remarkable tranſaction that happened in Judah's family, now reſumes the hiſtory of Joſeph, whom his inhuman brethren had ſold to the Iſhmaelites.

9 How can I do this great wickedneſs, &c.) This anſwer is truly noble, and highly worthy of imitation; it ſpeaks a mind whoſe paſſions are in entire ſubjection to the ruling principle of reaſon and conſcience; one who had the moſt delicate ſentiments of honour, and the moſt lively impreſſions of religion. His honeſt heart ſtartles at the thought of committing ſo foul a crime as adultery; and the ingratitude and breach of truſt with which that crime would have been accompanied in him, preſents it to his mind in the blackeſt colours; ſo that theſe virtuous ſentiments concurring with his awful reverence of the Supreme Being, who beholds and judges all the actions of the ſons of men, enable him to repel this violent aſſault with the utmoſt horror and indignation. This is an example of the greateſt probity and inflexible integrity; an example worthy the higheſt commendation. Joſeph was then a ſervant in a ſtrange country; he was tempted by an imperious woman; if he complied, he would be ſure of concealment and rewards; he would be ſure to enjoy his place, and be advanced; if he reſiſted, he muſt expect to be accuſed and treated as a criminal, be deprived of his place, of his liberty, of his fame, and perhaps of his life too. Theſe are weighty conſiderations, but he prefers chains, ignominy, and even death itſelf to the crime of committing ſo heinous an action, and ſinning againſt God. And from this example we may obſerve, that the fear of God, and a ſerious regard to his authority, is an effectual preſervative from all criminal indulgences; it was this that reſtrained Joſeph from complying with the looſe ſolicitations of his miſtreſs, and gave him a perfect ſuperiority over his paſſions: And no wonder, ſince this excellent principle ſtrikes every paſſion, every ſpring of human actions, and includes in it all the moſt powerful motives, by which the conduct of mankind is determined.

10 And it came to paſs, as ſhe ſpake to Joſeph day by day, that he hearkened not unto her to lie by her, or to be with her.

11 And it came to paſs, about this time, that Joſeph went into the houſe to do his buſineſs; and there was none of the men of the houſe there within.

12 And ſhe caught him by his garment, ſaying, Lie with me: and he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and got him out.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs, when ſhe ſaw that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled forth,

14 That ſhe called unto the men of her houſe, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, See, he hath brought in an Hebrew unto us to mock us: he came in unto me to lie with me, and I cried with a loud voice:

15 And it came to paſs, when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled, and got him out.

16 And ſhe laid up his garment by her, until his lord came home.

17 And ſhe ſpake unto him according to theſe words ſaying, The Hebrew ſervant which thou haſt brought unto us, came in unto me to mock me;

18 And it came to paſs, as I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled out.

19 And it came to paſs, when his maſter heard the words of his wife, which ſhe ſpake unto him, ſaying, After this manner did thy ſervant unto me; that his wrath was kindled.

20 ¶ And Joſeph's maſter took him, and put him into the priſon, a place where the king's priſoners were bound: and he was there in the priſon.

21 But the Lord was with Joſeph, and ſhewed him mercy, and gave him favour in the ſight of the keeper of the priſon.

22 And the keeper of the priſon committed to Joſeph's hand all the priſoners that were in the priſon: and whatſoever they did there, he was the doer of it.

23 The keeper of the priſon looked not to any thing that was under his hand: becauſe the Lord was with him: and that which he did, the Lord made it to proſper.

CHAP. XL.

1 The butler and baker of Pharaoh are impriſoned. 4 Joſeph hath the charge of them. 5 He interpreteth their dreams.

AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that the butler of the king of Egypt, and his baker, had offended their lord the king of Egypt.

2 And Pharaoh was wroth againſt two of his officers, againſt the chief of the butlers, and againſt the chief of the bakers.

3 And he put them in ward in the houſe of the captain of the guard, into the priſon, the place where Joſeph was bound.

4 ¶ And the captain of the guard charged Joſeph with them: and he ſerved them: and they continued a ſeaſon in ward.

5 ¶ And they dreamed a dream, both of them, each man his dream in one night, each man according to the interpretation of his dream: the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt, which were bound in the priſon.

6 And Joſeph came in unto them in the morning, and looked upon them, and behold, they were ſad.

7 And he aſked Pharaoh's officers that were with him in the ward of his lord's houſe, ſaying, Wherefore look ye ſo ſadly to-day?

8 And they ſaid unto him, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it. And Joſeph ſaid unto them, Do not interpretations belong to God? tell me them, I pray you.

9 And the chief butler told his dream to Joſeph, and ſaid unto him, In my dream, behold a vine was before me.

10 And in the vine were three branches: and it was as though it budded, and her bloſſoms ſhot forth; and the cluſters thereof brought forth ripe grapes:

11 And Pharaoh's cup was in my hand: and I took the grapes and preſſed them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand.

12 And Joſeph ſaid unto him, This is the interpretation of it: the three branches are three days;

13 Yet within three days ſhall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and reſtore thee unto thy place: and thou ſhalt deliver Pharaoh's cup into his hand, after the former manner when thou waſt his butler.

14 But think on me when it ſhall be well with thee, and ſhew kindneſs I pray thee, unto me; and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me out of this houſe.

15 For indeed I was ſtolen away out of the land of the Hebrews: and here alſo have I done nothing that they ſhould put me into the dungeon.

16 When the chief baker ſaw that the interpretation was good, he ſaid unto Joſeph, I alſo was in my dream, and behold, I had three white baſkets on my head:

17 And in the uppermoſt baſket there was of all manner of bake meats for Pharaoh; and the birds did eat them out of the baſket upon my head:

18 And Joſeph anſwered and ſaid, This is the interpretation thereof: the three baſkets are three days:

19 Yet within three days ſhall Pharaoh lift up thy head from off thee, and ſhall hang thee on a tree: and the birds ſhall eat thy fleſh from off thee.

20 And it came to paſs the third day, which was Pharaoh's birth-day, that he made a feaſt unto all his ſervants, and he lifted up the head of the chief butler and of the chief baker among his ſervants.

21 The Lord was with Joſeph.) His God, who had hitherto ſupported him, did not forſake him, though bound with fetters and immerſed in the gloomy horrors of a dungeon, where he continued for the ſpace of three years. On the contrary, he turned the misfortune into a bleſſing, and made the priſon itſelf become the ſcene from whence this virtuous youth roſe to grandeur and proſperity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XL.

4 And the captain of the guard.) This captain of the guard was Potiphar, his old maſter: and therefore muſt have now been convinced of his innocence, by the confidence he placed in him: tho' to conceal the diſhonour of his wife, he thought proper ſtill to confine him.

8 There is no interpreter.) The Egyptians were perſuaded that their magicians or wiſe-men could interpret dreams, and accordingly conſulted them when any thing remarkable of this kind happened: but theſe officers' confinement rendered it impoſſible for them now to have recourſe to the magicians, however ſolicitous they might be of doing it.

Do not interpretations belong to God?) That is, none but God himſelf, who hath the ſole direction of future events, or one whom he inſpires for that purpoſe, can explain the meaning of prophetic dreams.

13 Lift up thine head.) This ſhould be rendered reckon, or number thine head; it being a cuſtom with the kings of Egypt, to have the names of all the officers of their court called over on their birth-day, and ſuch as were guilty of heinous crimes ſtruck off the roll, and puniſhed according to their deſerts, while the leſs guilty were pardoned, releaſed out of priſon, and reſtored to their former poſts.

14 But think on me when it ſhall be well with thee.) That is, if you find my predictions true, let not freedom and proſperity ſo far engroſs your mind, as to forget thoſe you have left in this houſe of miſery, but think on the perſon who foretold the happineſs you enjoy.

21 And he reſtored the chief butler unto his butlerſhip again: and he gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand.

22 But he hanged the chief baker: as Joſeph had interpreted to them.

23 Yet did not the chief butler remember Joſeph, but forgat him.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Pharaoh's two dreams. 25 Joſeph interpreteth them. 33 He giveth Pharaoh counſel. 38 Joſeph is advanced. 50 He begetteth Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

AND it came to paſs at the end of two full years, that Pharaoh dreamed, and behold, he ſtood by the river.

2 And behold, there came up out of the river ſeven well-favoured kine, and fat-fleſhed: and they fed in a meadow.

3 And behold, ſeven other kine came up after them out of the river, ill-favoured and lean-fleſhed: and ſtood by the other kine upon the brink of the river.

4 And the ill-favoured and lean-fleſhed kine did eat up the ſeven well-favoured and fat kine. So Pharaoh awoke.

5 And he ſlept, and dreamed the ſecond time, and behold, ſeven ears of corn came up upon one ſtalk, rank and good.

6 And behold, ſeven thin ears, and blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſprung up after them.

7 And the ſeven thin ears devoured the ſeven rank and full ears: and Pharaoh awoke, and behold, it was a dream.

8 And it came to paſs in the morning, that his ſpirit was troubled: and he ſent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and all the wiſe men thereof: and Pharaoh told them his dream; but there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh.

9 Then ſpake the chief butler unto Pharaoh, ſaying, I do remember my faults this day.

10 Pharaoh was wroth with his ſervants, and put me in ward in the captain of the guard's houſe, both me, and the chief baker.

11 And we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he: and we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream:

12 And there was there with us a young man, an Hebrew, ſervant to the captain of the guard: and we told him, and he interpreted to us our dreams; to each man according to his dream he did interpret.

13 And it came to paſs, as he interpreted to us, ſo it was: me he reſtored unto mine office, and him he hanged.

14 Then Pharaoh ſent and called Joſeph, and they brought him haſtily out of the dungeon: and he ſhaved himſelf, and changed his raiment, and came in unto Pharaoh.

15 Then Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard ſay of thee that thou canſt underſtand a dream, to interpret it.

16 And Joſeph anſwered Pharaoh, ſaying, It is not in me: God ſhall give Pharaoh an anſwer of peace.

17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, In my dream, behold I ſtood upon the bank of a river:

18 And behold, there came up out of the river ſeven kine, fat-fleſhed, and well-favoured; and they fed in a meadow:

19 And behold, ſeven other kine came up after them, poor, and very ill-favoured, and lean-fleſhed, ſuch as I never ſaw in all the land of Egypt for badneſs:

20 And the lean and the ill-favoured kine did eat up the firſt ſeven fat kine:

21 And when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were ſtill ill-favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke.

22 And I ſaw in my dream, and behold, ſeven ears came up in one ſtalk, full and good:

23 And behold, ſeven ears, withered, thin, and blaſted with the eaſt wind, ſprung up after them:

24 And the thin ears devoured the ſeven good ears: and I told this unto the magicians, but there was none that could declare it unto me.

25 ¶ And Joſeph ſaid unto Pharaoh, The dream of Pharaoh is one: God hath ſhewed Pharaoh what he is about to do.

26 The ſeven good kine are ſeven years; and the ſeven good ears are ſeven years; the dream is one:

27 And the ſeven thin and ill-favoured kine that came up after them, are ſeven years; and the ſeven empty ears blaſted with the eaſt wind, ſhall be ſeven years of famine.

28 This is the thing which I have ſpoken unto Pharaoh: what God is about to do, he ſheweth unto Pharaoh.

29 Behold, there come ſeven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt.

30 And there ſhall ariſe after them ſeven years of famine; and all the plenty ſhall be forgotten in the land of Egypt: and the famine ſhall conſume the land.

31 And the plenty ſhall not be known in the land, by reaſon of that famine following; for it ſhall be very grievous:

32 And for that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice: it is becauſe the thing is eſtabliſhed by God, and God will ſhortly bring it to paſs.

33 Now therefore let Pharaoh look out a man diſcreet and wiſe, and ſet him over the land of Egypt.

34 Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLI.

1 He ſtood by the river.) The river Nile, or probably that canal or branch of it, near which the city of Tanais and the king's palace ſtood.

9 I do remember my faults.) That is, I call to mind the offences I committed againſt Pharaoh, and alſo my ingratitude to a fellow-priſoner 16 It is not in me.) My wiſdom is not greater than thoſe thou haſt already conſulted. It is God alone that can explain theſe myſteries, and he, I doubt not, will enable me to give Pharaoh an anſwer of peace.

32 And for that the dream was doubled, &c.) The repetition of the dream ſignifies the certainty of what I ſay; God having ſo determined, who will ſhortly juſtify the truth of my predictions. Both here, and in the foregoing diſcourſe, he directs Pharaoh to look up unto God, as the author of all theſe events, and that not in an ordinary but extraordinary manner; for ſuch fertility, and ſuch famine did not proceed from meer natural cauſes, but from an overruling providence. It is obſerved by Pliny, that when the river Nile roſe only twelve cubits, a famine followed; when thirteen, great ſcarcity; when fourteen, they had a good year; when fifteen, very good; and if it roſe to ſixteen, it made luxuriant plenty. Now that this river ſhould overflow ſo largely for ſeven years together, as to make vaſt plenty; and then for the next ſeven years not to overflow its banks at all, or very little, and ſo make a ſore and long famine; could be aſcribed to nothing but an extraordinary hand of God, it being quite out of the courſe of nature: And indeed the dream ſeems to ſignify ſomething beyond that; for it is unnatural for oxen to devour one another.

34 Take up the fifth part.) It is probable that the king's tribute in ordinary years was a tenth: but he is here adviſed to double that charge, either by virtue of his prerogative, or perhaps he bought up as much more as was his tribute, which he might do at an eaſy rate when corn was cheap.

land of Egypt in the ſeven plenteous years.

35 And let them gather all the food of thoſe good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities.

36 And that food ſhall be for ſtore to the land, againſt the ſeven years of famine which ſhall be in the land of Egypt, that the land periſh not through the famine.

37 And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his ſervants.

38 And Pharaoh ſaid unto his ſervants, Can we find ſuch a one as this is, a man in whom the ſpirit of God is.

39 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph; Foraſmuch as God hath ſhewed thee all this, there is none ſo diſcreet and wiſe as thou art.

40 Thou ſhalt be over my houſe, and according unto thy word ſhall all my people be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou.

41 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, See, I have ſet thee over all the land of Egypt.

42 And Pharaoh took off his ring from his hand, and put it upon Joſeph's hand, and arrayed him in veſtures of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck.

43 And he made him to ride in the ſecond chariot which he had; and they cried before him, Bow the knee: and he made him ruler over all the land of Egypt.

44 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I am Pharaoh, and without thee ſhall no man lift up his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.

45 And Pharaoh called Joſeph's name Zaphnath-paaneah; and he gave him to wife Aſenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prieſt of On: and Joſeph went out over all the land of Egypt.

46 And Joſeph was thirty years old when he ſtood before Pharaoh king of Egypt: and Joſeph went out from the preſence of Pharaoh, and went throughout all the land of Egypt.

47 And in the ſeven plenteous years the earth brought forth by handfuls.

48 And he gathered up all the food of the ſeven years, which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities: the food of the field which was round about every city, laid he up in the ſame.

49 And Joſeph gathered corn as the ſand of the ſea, very much, until he left numbering: for it was without number.

50 ¶ And unto Joſeph were born two ſons, before the years of famine came: which Aſenath the daughter of Poti-pherah, prieſt of On, bare unto him.

51 And Joſeph called the name of the firſt-born, Manaſſeh: for God, ſaid he, hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's houſe.

52 And the name of the ſecond called he Ephraim; for God hath cauſed me to be fruitful in the land of my affliction.

53 ¶ And the ſeven years of plenteouſneſs that was in the land of Egypt, were ended.

54 And the ſeven years of dearth began to come, according as Joſeph had ſaid: and the dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

55 And when all the land of Egypt was famiſhed, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread: And Pharaoh ſaid unto all the Egyptians, Go unto Joſeph; what he ſaith unto you, do.

56 And the famine was over all the face of the earth: And Joſeph opened all the ſtore-houſes, and ſold unto the Egyptians; and the famine waxed ſore in the land of Egypt.

57 And all countries came into Egypt to Joſeph for to buy corn; becauſe that the famine was ſo ſore in all lands.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Jacob ſendeth his ten ſons to buy corn in Egypt. 17 They are impriſoned by Joſeph for ſpies. 21 Their remorſe.

NOW, when Jacob ſaw that there was corn in Egypt, Jacob ſaid unto his ſons, Why do ye look one upon another?

2 And he ſaid, Behold, I have heard that there is corn in Egypt: get ye down thither, and buy for us from thence, that we may live and not die.

3 And Joſeph's ten brethren went down to buy corn in Egypt.

4 But Benjamin Joſeph's brother, Jacob ſent not with his brethren: for he ſaid, Leſt peradventure miſchief befal him.

5 And the ſons of Iſrael came to buy corn among thoſe that came: for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

6 And Joſeph was the governor over the land, and he it was that ſold to all the people of the land: and Joſeph's brethren came and bowed down themſelves before him, with their faces to the earth.

7 And Joſeph ſaw his brethren, and he knew them, but made himſelf ſtrange unto them, and ſpake roughly unto them; and he ſaid unto them, Whence come ye? and they ſaid, From the land of Canaan to buy food.

8 And Joſeph knew his brethren, but they knew not him.

9 And Joſeph remembered the dreams which he had dreamed of them, and ſaid unto them, Ye are ſpies; to ſee the nakedneſs of the land ye are come.

10 And they ſaid unto him, Nay, my lord, but to buy food are thy ſervants come.

11 We are all one man's ſons; we are true men, thy ſervants are no ſpies.

12 And he ſaid unto them, Nay, but to ſee the nakedneſs of the land ye are come.

13 And they ſaid, Thy ſervants are twelve brethren, the ſons of one man in the land of Canaan; and behold, the youngeſt is this day with our father, and 42 Took off his ring.) The princes of the eaſt wore a ring, both by way of ornament, and as a badge of their imperial dignity; and accordingly it deſcended together with the ſceptre to their children; ſo that this ceremony was both a mark of Pharaoh's favour to Joſeph, and of the authority with which he was inveſted.

46 When he ſtood before Pharaoh.) That is when he was advanced to be Pharaoh's prime miniſter; for none but the great counſellors and miniſters were admitted into the king's preſence in the eaſtern countries.

51 Manaſſeh.) Oblivion or forgetfulneſs: Becauſe, ſaid he, God had made me to forget all my toil, and all my father's houſe. That is, God hath defaced the uneaſy remembrance of all the hardſhips I ſuffered from my brethren. Joſeph, did not, we ſee, forget in his proſperity, that the providence of God had, by a wonderful train of incidents, brought about this reverſe of fortune, and turned all the evils which ſeemed to threaten him, into real bleſſings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLII.

6 And bowed down themſelves before him.) This manner of ſalutation was common in their own country, but was not in uſe among the Egyptians; a ſufficient proof that Jacob's family had no acquaintance with the inhabitants of the neighbouring kingdoms. But by uſing the cuſtomary form of their family, they fulfilled the dreams of Joſeph, as far as they had any relation to themſelves, and doubtleſs brought thoſe dreams to Joſeph's remembrance.

one is not.

14 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, That is it that I ſpake unto you, ſaying, Ye are ſpies.

15 Hereby ye ſhall be proved; by the life of Pharaoh, ye ſhall not go forth hence, except your youngeſt brother come hither.

16 Send one of you, and let him fetch your brother, and ye ſhall be kept in priſon, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or elſe, by the life of Pharaoh, ſurely ye are ſpies.

17 ¶ And he put them altogether into ward three days.

18 And Joſeph ſaid unto them the third day, This do, and live: for I fear God.

19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in the houſe of your priſon: go ye, carry corn for the famine of your houſes.

20 But bring your youngeſt brother unto me: ſo ſhall your words be verified, and ye ſhall not die. And they did ſo.

21 ¶ And they ſaid one to another, We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we ſaw the anguiſh of his ſoul, when he beſought us, and we would not hear: therefore is this diſtreſs come upon us.

22 And Reuben anſwered them, ſaying, Spake I not unto you, ſaying, Do not ſin againſt the child; and ye would not hear? therefore, behold, alſo, his blood is required.

23 And they knew not that Joſeph underſtood them: for he ſpake unto them by an interpreter.

24 And he turned himſelf about from them, and wept; and returned to them again, and communed with them, and took from them Simeon, and bound him before their eyes.

25 ¶ Then Joſeph commanded to fill their ſacks with corn, and to reſtore every man's money into his ſack, and to give them proviſion for the way: and thus did he unto them.

26 And they laded their aſſes with the corn, and departed thence.

27 And as one of them opened his ſack to give his aſs provender in the inn, he eſpied his money: for behold it was in his ſack's mouth.

28 And he ſaid unto his brethren, My money is reſtored; and lo, it is even in my ſack, and their heart failed them, and they were afraid, ſaying one to another, What is this that God hath done unto us.

29 And they came unto Jacob their father, unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that befel unto them, ſaying, 30 The man who is the lord of the land, ſpake roughly to us, and took us for ſpies of the country.

31 And we ſaid unto him, We are true men; we are no ſpies.

32 We be twelve brethren, ſons of our father: one is not, and the youngeſt is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.

33 And the man, the lord of the country, ſaid unto us, Hereby ſhall I know that ye are true men; leave one of your brethren here with me, and take food for the famine of your houſholds, and be gone.

34 And bring your youngeſt brother unto me: then ſhall I know that ye are no ſpies, but that ye are true men: ſo will I deliver you your brother, and ye ſhall traffick in the land.

35 And it came to paſs, as they emptied their ſacks, that behold, every man's bundle of money was in his ſack: and when both they and their father ſaw the bundles of money, they were afraid.

36 And Jacob their father ſaid unto them, Me have ye bereaved of my children: Joſeph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away: all theſe things are againſt me.

37 And Reuben ſpake unto his father, ſaying, Slay my two ſons, if I bring him not to thee: deliver him into my hand, and I will bring him to thee again.

38 And he ſaid, My ſon ſhall not go down with you: for his brother is dead, and he is left alone: if miſchief befal him by the way in the which ye go, then ſhall ye bring down my grey hairs with ſorrow to the grave.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Jacob is hardly perſuaded to ſend Benjamin. 25 Joſeph entertaineth his brethren, 31 and maketh them a feaſt.

AND the famine was ſore in the land.

2 And it came to paſs, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father ſaid unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

3 And Judah ſpake unto him, ſaying, The man did ſolemnly proteſt unto us, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſee my face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt ſend our brother with us, we will go down, and buy thee food:

5 But if thou wilt not ſend him, we will not go down: for the man ſaid unto us, Ye ſhall not ſee my face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Iſrael ſaid, Wherefore dealt ye ſo ill with me, as tell the man whether ye had yet a brother?

7 And they ſaid, The man aſked us ſtraitly of our ſtate, and of our kindred, ſaying, Is your father yet alive? have ye another brother? and we told him according to the tenor of theſe words: could we certainly know that he would ſay, Bring your brother

15 By the life of Pharaoh.) This expreſſion is by the generality of interpreters conſidered as an oath, and laid hold of by the enemies of revelation as a proof that Joſeph had changed his religion with his fortune. But if we conſider the words attentively, we ſhall be ſoon convinced that they only imply a ſolemn aſſeveration, that he would as certainly do ſo and ſo, as he valued the life and honour of his prince. Thus Hannah, when ſhe preſented her ſon to Eli, the prieſt, makes a ſimilar aſſeveration, As thy ſoul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that ſtood by thee here praying unto the Lord. That the ſons of Jacob underſtood it only in this ſenſe is ſufficiently evident from the words of Judah to his father, The man did ſolemnly proteſt unto us, chap. xliii. 3.

21 We are verily guilty concerning our brother.) Human nature ſhudders at adverſity, though it is often the moſt effectual monitor to awaken conſcience, and make mankind acquainted with themſelves. The behaviour of Joſeph's brethren affords us a lively inſtance of this They who were before ſo blinded with envy and paſſion, as to be inſenſible of the anguiſh and ſupplications of their brother, now relent into pity, when experience had convinced them what poignant grief and diſtreſs an innocent ſupplicant feels, when all his prayers and entreaties are rejected.

24 And he turned from them and wept.) Though Joſeph could counterfeit the ſtranger in his looks, his air, his voice, he ſtill retained the brother in his heart. The confuſion and diſtreſs of his brethren awakened all his fraternal tenderneſs, and drew tears of compaſſion from his eyes.

28 Their heart failed them.) How timorous is a guilty conſcience! It conſiders every harmleſs circumſtance as an omen of deſtruction, and conſtrues the ſoft lapſe of a ſilver ſtream into the diſcordant ſound of an inflamed multitude, coming to take vengeance for the ſuffering of the innocent. Thus the ſons of Jacob, on finding their money in the mouth of their ſacks, look upon it as a ſnare laid againſt their lives; and that providence had ſuffered them to be taken in it, as a juſt judgment upon them for their unnatural uſage of their brother.

37 Slay my two ſons if I bring him not to thee.) Reuben doubtleſs knew that it was not in his power abſolutely to ſecure Benjamin's ſafe return; but was ſo fully convinced of his own and brethren's intention, and ſo confident that Joſeph would inviolably obſerve his promiſe, that he dares even to ſtake the life of his two ſons on the event.

down,

down?

8 And Judah ſaid unto Iſrael his father, Send the lad with me, and we will ariſe and go: that we may live and not die, both we, and thou, and alſo our little ones:

9 I will be ſurety for him; of my hand ſhalt thou require him: if I bring him not unto thee, and ſet him before thee, then let me bear the blame for ever.

10 For except we had lingered, ſurely now we had returned this ſecond time.

11 And their father Iſrael ſaid unto them, If it muſt be ſo now, do this; take of the beſt fruits of the land in your veſſels, and carry down the man a preſent, a little balm, and a little honey, ſpices, and myrrh, nuts, and almonds;

12 And take double money in your hand: and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your ſacks, carry it again in your hand; peradventure it was an overſight.

13 Take alſo your brother, and ariſe, go again unto the man:

14 And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may ſend away your other brother, and Benjamin: If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved.

15 And the men took that preſent, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and roſe up, and went down to Egypt, and ſtood before Joſeph.

16 And when Joſeph ſaw Benjamin with them, he ſaid to the ruler of his houſe, Bring theſe men home, and ſlay, and make ready; for theſe men ſhall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joſeph bade; and the man brought the men into Joſeph's houſe.

18 And the men were afraid, becauſe they were brought into Joſeph's houſe; and they ſaid, Becauſe of the money that was returned in our ſacks at the firſt time are we brought in: that he may ſeek occaſion againſt us, and fall upon us, and take us for bondmen, and our aſſes.

19 And they came near to the ſteward of Joſeph's houſe, and they communed with him at the door of the houſe.

20 And ſaid, O ſir! we came indeed down at the firſt time to buy food.

21 And it came to paſs, when we came to the inn, that we opened our ſacks, and, behold, every man's money was in the mouth of his ſack, our money in full weight: and we have brought it again in our hand.

22 And other money have we brought down in our hands to buy food: we cannot tell who put our money in our ſacks.

23 And he ſaid, Peace be to you, fear not: your God and the God of your father hath given you treaſure in your ſacks: I had your money, and he brought Simeon out unto them.

24 And the man brought the men into Joſeph's houſe, and gave them water, and they waſhed their feet, and he gave their aſſes provender.

25 ¶ And they made ready the preſent againſt Joſeph came at noon: for they heard that they ſhould eat bread there.

26 And when Joſeph came home, they brought him the preſent which was in their hand, into the houſe, and bowed themſelves to him to the earth.

27 And he aſked them of their welfare and ſaid, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye ſpake? Is he yet alive?

28 And they anſwered, Thy ſervant our father is in good health, he is yet alive; and they bowed down their heads, and made obeiſance.

29 And he lift up his eyes, and ſaw his brother Benjamin, his mother's ſon, and ſaid, Is this your younger brother of whom ye ſpake unto me? and he ſaid, God be gracious unto thee, my ſon.

30 And Joſeph made haſte; for his bowels did yearn upon his brother: and he ſought where to weep; and he entered into his chamber and wept there.

31 ¶ And he waſhed his face, and went out, and refrained himſelf, and ſaid, Set on bread.

32 And they ſet on for him by himſelf, and for them by themſelves, and for the Egyptians which did eat with him by themſelves; becauſe the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews: for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

33 And they ſat before him, the firſt-born according to his birth-right, and the youngeſt according to his youth: and the men marvelled one at another.

34 And he took and ſent meſſes unto them from before him; but Benjamin's meſs was five times ſo much as any of their's. And they drank, and were merry with him.

CHAP. XLIV.

Joſeph's policy to ſlay his brethren.

AND he commanded the ſteward of his houſe, ſaying, Fill the men's ſacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put every man's money in his ſack's mouth.

2 And put my cup, the ſilver cup, in the ſack's mouth of the youngeſt, and his corn-money: and he did according to the word which Joſeph had ſpoken.

3 As ſoon as the morning was light, the men were ſent away, they and their aſſes.

4 And when they were gone out of the city, and not

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIII.

8 Send the lad.) Benjamin was now twenty-four years of age, and had children of his own; but is here called a lad, becauſe he was the youngeſt of all the ſons of Jacob, and the darling of their aged father. The word in the Hebrew properly ſignifies a young man.

11 Take of the beſt of the fruits, a little balm, &c.) That is, take of the fruits for which the land of Canaan is particularly remarkable. The balm mentioned in this paſſage is what we now call balm of Gilead, and is eſteemed a proper preſent for a prince; and as ſuch uſed at preſent by the emperor of the Turks.

14 If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved.) This expreſſion is worthy the prudence and piety of Jacob. He had taken every precaution in his power to render their journey ſucceſsful, and then leaves the event to be determined by God; concluding, that if he pleaſed to bereave him of his children, it was his duty to ſubmit, and bear the ſtroke with the fortitude of a man, who hopes for happineſs beyond the grave.

23 Peace be to you.) The ſons of Jacob, fearing that their being brought into Joſeph's houſe was on account of the money they found in the mouths of their ſacks, tell the ſteward, that they had brought that, together with other money to buy corn; hoping by this open declaration, to remove all ſuſpicions he might entertain of their having poſſeſſed themſelves of it by ſome fradulent method. To this the ſteward replies, Peace be to you: Set your heart at reſt, let your minds enjoy their former peace and tranquility: The God of your fathers hath given you treaſure in your ſacks.

29 My ſon.) An appellation of courteſy, uſed by ſuperiors, in ſaluting thoſe which were below them, who they ſtiled ſons, with reſpect to themſelves, as fathers of the country.

34 Benjamin's meſs was five times, &c.) This was done not only to ſhew his particular regard for Benjamin, but alſo to obſerve whether they would look upon their younger brother with the ſame envious eye as they had formerly done upon himſelf.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIV.

2 My cup.) Various reaſons are given by commentators for Joſeph's making uſe of this ſtratagem to ſtay his brethren; but perhaps he intended no more than to find a ſpecious pretence for detaining Benjamin, being ignorant of the peremptory charge which Jacob had given with regard to this favourite child, yet far off, Joſeph ſaid unto his ſteward, Up, follow after the men; and when thou doſt overtake them, ſay unto them, Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good?

5 Is not this it in which my lord drinketh; and whereby indeed he divineth? ye have done evil in ſo doing.

6 And he overtook them, and he ſpake unto them theſe ſame words.

7 And they ſaid unto him, Wherefore ſaith my lord theſe words? God forbid that thy ſervants ſhould do according to this thing.

8 Behold, the money which we found in our ſacks' mouths, we brought again unto thee out of the land of Canaan: how then ſhould we ſteal out of thy lord's houſe ſilver or gold?

9 With whom ſoever of thy ſervants it be found, both let him die, and we alſo will be my lord's bondmen.

10 And he ſaid, Now alſo let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found ſhall be my ſervant: and ye ſhall be blameleſs.

11 Then they ſpeedily took down every man his ſack to the ground, and opened every man his ſack.

12 And he ſearched and began at the eldeſt, and left at the youngeſt: and the cup was found in Benjamin's ſack.

13 Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his aſs, and returned to the city.

14 And Judah and his brethren came to Joſeph's houſe (for he was yet there:) and they fell before him on the ground.

15 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, What deed is this that ye have done? wot ye not that ſuch a man as I can certainly divine?

16 And Judah ſaid, What ſhall we ſay unto my lord? what ſhall we ſpeak? or how ſhall we clear ourſelves? God hath found out the iniquity of thy ſervants: behold, we are my lord's ſervants, both we, and he alſo, with whom the cup is found.

17 And he ſaid, God forbid that I ſhould do ſo; but the man in whoſe hand the cup is found, he ſhall be my ſervant; and as for you, get you up in peace unto your father.

18 Then Judah came near unto him, and ſaid, Oh, my lord, let thy ſervant, I pray thee, ſpeak a word in my lord's ears, and let not thine anger burn againſt thy ſervant: for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19 My lord aſked his ſervants, ſaying, Have ye a father or a brother?

20 And we ſaid unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one: and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him.

21 And thou ſaidſt unto thy ſervants, Bring him down unto me, that I may ſet my eyes upon him.

22 And we ſaid unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father; for if he ſhould leave his father, his father would die.

23 And thou ſaidſt unto thy ſervants, Except your youngeſt brother come down with you, ye ſhall ſee my face no more.

24 And it came to paſs, when we came up unto thy ſervant my father, we told him the words of my lord.

25 And our father ſaid, Go again, and buy us a little food.

26 And we ſaid, We cannot go down: if our youngeſt brother be with us, then will we go down; for we may not ſee the man's face, except our youngeſt brother be with us.

27 And thy ſervant my father ſaid unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two ſons, 28 And the one went out from me, and I ſaid, Surely he is torn in pieces; and I ſaw him not ſince.

29 And if ye take this alſo from me, and miſchief befal him, ye ſhall bring down my grey hairs with ſorrow to the grave.

30 Now therefore when I come to thy ſervant my father, and the lad be not with us; (ſeeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life)

31 It ſhall come to paſs, when he ſeeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy ſervants ſhall bring down the grey hairs of thy ſervant our father with ſorrow to the grave.

32 For thy ſervant became ſurety for the lad unto my father, ſaying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I ſhall bear the blame to my father for ever.

33 Now therefore, I pray thee, let thy ſervant abide inſtead of the lad, a bondman to my lord; and let the lad go up with his brethren.

34 For how ſhall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? leſt peradventure I ſee the evil that ſhall come on my father.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Joſeph maketh himſelf known to his brethren; 9 ſendeth for his father, 25 who is revived at the news.

THEN Joſeph could not refrain himſelf before all them that ſtood by him; and he cried, Cauſe every man to go out from me: and there ſtood no man with him, while Joſeph made himſelf known unto his brethren.

2 And he wept aloud: and the Egyptians and the houſe of Pharaoh heard.

3 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, I am Joſeph: Doth my father yet live? and his brethren could not anſwer him: for they were troubled at his preſence.

4 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you; and they came near: and he ſaid, I

14 They fell before him on the ground.) A ſcene of this kind muſt affect, in a particular manner, the tender heart of their compaſſionate brother.

34 Leſt peradventure I ſee the evil that ſhall come on my father.) The whole ſpeech of Judah, of which I have cited the concluſion, highly deſerves the reader's attention. He acts the part of a faithful brother, and dutiful ſon, who rather than behold the miſery of his father, in caſe Benjamin was left behind, ſubmits to become a bondman in his ſtead. And indeed ſuch an air of candour and generoſity runs through the whole ſpeech; the ſentiments are ſo tender and affecting, the expreſſions ſo paſſionate, and flow ſo much from artleſs nature, that it is no wonder they came home to Joſeph's heart, and rendered it impoſſible for him to conceal himſelf any longer.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLV.

1 Could not refrain himſelf) The efforts of nature could be no longer ſuppreſſed, his tender paſſions, by the moving ſpeech of Judah, are wound up to ſuch a pitch as to oblige him to throw off all diſguiſe.

2 He wept aloud.) Words are but ill adapted to expreſs the ſentiments of the heart on ſuch an important occaſion. So many tender ſentiments croud in upon Joſeph's mind at once, that his words are choaked in the paſſage; joy, pity, fraternal love, intermix'd with a high veneration of Providence in bringing about ſo ſurpriſing an event; all theſe ſwell his ſoul with emotions too big for utterance, and which can only be vented by the moſt expreſſive language of nature, that of tears, and convulſive ſighs.

3 I am Joſeph: doth my father yet live?) How quick the tranſition! his ſoul is ſo full of filial affection for his father, that before he has finiſhed his ſentence he enquires after him, though they had before told him he was alive. And how muſt ſuch an abrupt declaration affect his brethren! No wonder they were dumb for ſome time with aſtoniſhment, and unable to anſwer the queſtion with regard to their father.

am Joſeph your brother whom ye ſold into Egypt.

5 Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourſelves, that ye ſold me hither: for God did ſend me before you to preſerve life.

6 For theſe two years hath the famine been in the land: and yet there are five years in the which there ſhall neither be earing nor harveſt.

7 And God ſent me before you, to preſerve you a poſterity in the earth, and to ſave your lives by a great deliverance.

8 So now it was not you that ſent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his houſe, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.

9 Haſte ye, and go up to my father, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith thy ſon Joſeph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt; come down unto me, tarry not.

10 And thou ſhalt dwell in the land of Goſhen, and thou ſhalt be near unto me, thou, and thy children, and thy children's children, and thy flocks, and thy herds, and all that thou haſt.

11 And there will I nouriſh thee, (for yet there are five years of famine) leſt thou, and thy houſhold, and all that thou haſt, come to poverty.

12 And behold, your eyes ſee, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, that it is my mouth that ſpeaketh unto you.

13 And you ſhall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that ye have ſeen; and ye ſhall haſte, and bring down my father hither.

14 And he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck, and wept; and Benjamin wept upon his neck.

15 Moreover, he kiſſed all his brethren, and wept upon them: and after that his brethren talked with him.

16 And the fame thereof was heard in Pharaoh's houſe, ſaying, Joſeph's brethren are come: and it pleaſed Pharaoh well, and his ſervants.

17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, Say unto thy brethren, This do ye: lade your beaſts, and go, get you into the land of Canaan.

18 And take your father and your houſholds, and come unto me: and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye ſhall eat the fat of the land.

19 Now thou art commanded, this do ye; take you waggons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones, and for your wives, and bring your father, and come.

20 Alſo regard not your ſtuff; for the good of all the land of Egypt is yours.

21 And the children of Iſrael did ſo: And Joſeph gave them waggons, according to the commandment of Pharaoh, and gave them proviſion for the way.

22 To all of them he gave each man changes of raiment: but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of ſilver, and five changes of raiment.

23 And to his father he ſent after this manner: ten aſſes laden with the good things of Egypt, and ten ſhe-aſſes laden with corn, and bread and meat for his father by the way.

24 So he ſent his brethren away, and they departed; and he ſaid unto them, See that ye fall not out by the way.

25 ¶ And they went up out of Egypt, and came into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father.

26 And told him, ſaying, Joſeph is yet alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt, and Jacob's heart fainted, for he believed them not.

27 And they told him all the words of Joſeph, which he had ſaid unto them: and when he ſaw the waggons which Joſeph had ſent to carry him, the ſpirit of Jacob their father revived.

28 And Iſrael ſaid, It is enough; Joſeph my ſon is yet alive: I will go and ſee him before I die.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 Jacob is comforted by God at Beer-ſheba. 5 He goeth into Egypt. 8 The number of his family. 28 Joſeph meeteth him.

AND Iſrael took his journey, with all that he had, and came to Beer-ſheba, and offered ſacrifices unto the God of his father Iſaac.

2 And God ſpake unto Iſrael in the viſions of the night, and ſaid, Jacob, Jacob; and he ſaid, Here am I.

3 And he ſaid, I am God, the God of thy father; fear not to go down into Egypt, for I will there make of thee a great nation.

4 I will go down with thee into Egypt: and I will alſo ſurely bring thee up again: and Joſeph ſhall put his hand upon thine eyes.

5 ¶ And Jacob roſe up from Beer-ſheba: and the ſons of Iſrael carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the waggons which Pharaoh had ſent to carry him.

6 And they took their cattle, and their goods which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob and all his ſeed with him.

7 His ſons and his ſons' ſons with him, his daughters, and his ſons' daughters, and all his ſeed brought he with him into Egypt.

8 ¶ And theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael, which came into Egypt, Jacob and his ſons; Reuben Jacob's firſt-born.

9 And the ſons of Reuben; Hanock, and Phallu, and Hezron, and Carmi.

10 And the ſons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul the ſon of a Canaaniteſh woman.

11 And the ſons of Levi; Gerſhon, Kohath, and Merari.

12 And the ſons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and

5 Now therefore be not grieved, &c.) He was abundantly convinced by their whole behaviour, that they repented of what they had done; and therefore with ſentiments equally generous and pious, he bids them think no more of their former ill uſage of him, but adore the divine providence, that had turned their action into ſo ſignal a bleſſing to them and the whole family. God, ſays he, did ſend me before you to preſerve life. Whatever might be your intention, when you ſold me to the Iſhmaelites, God, whoſe providence often brings good out of evil, ſent me hither to ſupport you in the time of dearth and famine.

24 See that ye fall not out by the way.) Joſeph was no ſtranger to the tempers of his brethren; and therefore thought proper to reprove them in this gentle manner. Probably he ſuſpected that they might accuſe each other with the cruelty they had exerciſed towards him, or throw envious reflections on Benjamin, becauſe he had been eminently diſtinguiſhed above the reſt.

27 The ſpirit of Jacob their father revived.) When he was fully convinced that what they had told him was true, he not only recovered from his fainting fit, but his ſpirits returned with greater vigour than they had ever done ſince the loſs of Joſeph.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVI.

1 Came to Beer-ſheba, &c.) This was the place where Abraham had formerly planted a grove, and called upon the name of the everlaſting God, chap. xxi. 33. And here Iſaac built an altar, and found favour with God, chap. xxvi. 23, 24, 25; which were, doubtleſs, very powerful reaſons for Jacob to make choice of the ſame ſpot, to offer ſacrifices of thankſgiving for the many bleſſings he had from time to time received, and to recommend the care of himſelf and family to the divine protection.

8 Came into Egypt.) By this expreſſion moſt commentators underſtand the whole time Jacob lived in Egypt, namely ſeventeen years; becauſe, otherwiſe, it would be difficult to conceive how Pharez could have two ſons when Jacob went down into Egypt, as he was not then above ten years old.

Shelah,

Shelah, and Pharez, and Zarah: but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan, and the ſons of Pharez were Hezron, and Hamul.

13 And the ſons of Iſſachar; Tola, and Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron.

14 And the ſons of Zebulun; Sered, and Elon, and Jahleel.

15 Theſe be the ſons of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob in Padan-aram, with his daughter Dinah: all the ſouls of his ſons and his daughters were thirty and three.

16 And the ſons of Gad; Ziphion, and Haggi, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.

17 And the ſons of Aſher; Jimnah, and Iſhuah, and Iſui, and Beriah, and Serah their ſiſter; and the ſons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel.

18 Theſe are the ſons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter, and theſe ſhe bare unto Jacob even ſixteen ſouls.

19 The ſons of Rachel Jacob's wife; Joſeph and Benjamin.

20 And unto Joſeph, in the land of Egypt were born Manaſſeh and Ephraim, which Aſenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah prieſt of On, bare unto him.

21 And the ſons of Benjamin were Belah, and Becher, and Aſhbel, Gera, and Naaman, Ehi, and Roſh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard.

22 Theſe are the ſons of Rachel which were born to Jacob: all the ſouls were fourteen.

23 And the ſons of Dan; Huſhim.

24 And the ſons of Naphtali; Jahzeel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shillem.

25 Theſe are the ſons of Bilhah, which Laban gave unto Rachel his daughter, and ſhe bare theſe unto Jacob: all the ſouls were ſeven.

26 All the ſouls that came with Jacob into Egypt, which came out of his loins, beſides Jacob's ſons' wives all the ſouls were threeſcore and ſix.

27 And the ſons of Joſeph which were born to him in Egypt, were two ſouls: all the ſouls of the houſe of Jacob which came into Egypt, were threeſcore and ten.

28 ¶ And he ſent Judah before him unto Joſeph, to direct his face unto Goſhen: and they came into the land of Goſhen.

29 And Joſeph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Iſrael his father, to Goſhen; and preſented himſelf unto him, and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while.

30 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Now let me die, ſince I have ſeen thy face, becauſe thou art yet alive.

31 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, and unto his father's houſe, I will go up, and ſhew Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, My brethren and my father's houſe, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me:

32 And the men are ſhepherds; for their trade hath been to feed cattle: and they have brought their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have.

33 And it ſhall come to paſs, when Pharaoh ſhall call you, and ſhall ſay, What is your occupation?

34 That ye ſhall ſay, Thy ſervants' trade hath been about cattle, from our youth even until now, both we, and alſo our fathers, that ye may dwell in the land of Goſhen; for every ſhepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 Joſeph preſenteth five of his brethren, 7 and his father before Pharaoh. 11 He giveth them habitation and maintenance.

THEN Joſeph came and told Pharaoh, and ſaid, My father and my brethren, and their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan; and behold, they are in the land of Goſhen.

2 And he took ſome of his brethren, even five men, and preſented them unto Pharaoh.

3 And Pharaoh ſaid unto his brethren, What is your occupation? and they ſaid unto Pharaoh, Thy ſervants are ſhepherds, both we, and alſo our fathers.

4 They ſaid moreover unto Pharaoh, For to ſojourn in the land are we come: for thy ſervants have no paſture for their flocks; for the famine is ſore in the land of Canaan: now therefore, we pray thee, let thy ſervants dwell in the land of Goſhen.

5 And Pharaoh ſpake unto Joſeph, ſaying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee.

6 The land of Egypt is before thee, in the beſt of the land make thy father and brethren to dwell; in the land of Goſhen let them dwell; and if thou knoweſt any men of activity amongſt them, then make them rulers over my cattle.

7 ¶ And Joſeph brought in Jacob his father, and ſet him before Pharaoh: and Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh.

8 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Jacob, How old art thou?

9 And Jacob ſaid unto Pharaoh, The days of the years of my pilgrimage are an hundred and thirty years: few and evil have the days of the years of my life been, and have not attained unto the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage.

10 And Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh, and went out from before Pharaoh.

11 ¶ And Joſeph placed his father and his brethren, and gave them a poſſeſſion in the land of Egypt, in the beſt of the land, in the land of Rameſes, as Pharaoh had commanded.

12 And Joſeph nouriſhed his father, and his breth-

28 And he ſent Judah.) We may obſerve, from the foregoing hiſtory, that Judah was the moſt accompliſhed of all Jacob's ſons, Joſeph himſelf excepted, and therefore deputed by his father to prepare a place for his reception.

30 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Now let me die, &c.) Exceſs of joy at this happy meeting, had prevented for ſome time their ſpeaking to each other: at laſt the hoary patriarch burſts forth in this pathetic exclamation, Now let me die, ſince I have ſeen thy face, becauſe thou art yet alive! Nothing farther can be added to my happineſs, and therefore I am willing to leave this ſcene of things.

34 Say, Thy ſervant's trade hath been about cattle.) He was deſirous that they ſhould ſpeak the truth; well knowing that their declaring themſelves to be ſhepherds, would procure their being ſettled in a diſtinct body by themſelves, far diſtant from the ſnares of the court; namely, in the land of Goſhen: a country, in all probability, allotted to the Egyptian ſhepherds, being remarkable for the excellence of its paſtures.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVII.

9 Of my pilgrimage.) This beautiful expreſſion is often uſed by the ſacred penman to ſignify the life of man; but it had a more remarkable propriety when applied to the patriarchs of old, who ſojourned in the land of Canaan with the conſent of the inhabitants, and were continually ſhifting their tents from one place to another, in ſearch of paſture for their flocks. But Jacob had ſtill more reaſon than any of them to call his life a pilgrimage; for he had been toſſed from place to place almoſt his whole lifetime, firſt driven into Meſopotamia from the face of his brother; thence he returned into Canaan, where he dwelt ſome time at Succoth, then at Shechem; after that he removed to Beth-el, thence to Hebron to his father Iſaac; and now, from Hebron into Egypt. We are likewiſe warranted by the apoſtle to explain this expreſſion as pointing to a future life. For theſe holy men lived in the firm faith and expectation of a heavenly and eternal world, and therefore confeſſed themſelves pilgrims and ſtrangers upon earth. Heb. xi. 9. 13.

ren, and all his father's houſhold with bread, according to their families.

13 And there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very ſore, ſo that the land of Egypt and all the land of Canaan fainted by reaſon of the famine.

14 And Joſeph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and Joſeph brought the money into Pharaoh's houſe.

15 And when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joſeph, and ſaid, Give us bread: for why ſhould we die in thy preſence? for the money faileth.

16 And Joſeph ſaid, Give your cattle; and I will give you for your cattle, if money fail.

17 And they brought their cattle unto Joſeph: and Joſeph gave them bread in exchange for horſes, and for the flocks, and for the cattle of the herds, and for the aſſes: and he fed them with bread, for all their cattle, for that year.

18 When that year was ended, they came unto him the ſecond year, and ſaid unto him, We will not hide it from my lord, how that our money is ſpent; my lord alſo hath our herds of cattle; there is not ought left in the ſight of my lord, but our bodies and our lands.

19 Wherefore ſhall we die before thine eyes, both we and our land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be ſervants unto Pharaoh; and give us ſeed that we may live and not die, that the land be not deſolate.

20 And Joſeph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh: for the Egyptians ſold every man his field, becauſe the famine prevailed over them; ſo the land became Pharaoh's.

21 And as for the people, he removed them to cities from one end of the borders of Egypt, even to the other end thereof.

22 Only the land of the prieſts bought he not: for the prieſts had a portion aſſigned them of Pharaoh, and did eat their portion which Pharaoh gave them; wherefore they ſold not their lands.

23 Then Joſeph ſaid unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land for Pharaoh: lo, here is ſeed for you, and ye ſhall ſow the land,

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, in the increaſe, that ye ſhall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and four parts ſhall be your own, for ſeed of the field, and for your food, and for them of your houſholds, and for food for your little ones.

25 And they ſaid, Thou haſt ſaved our lives: let us find grace in the ſight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's ſervants.

26 And Joſeph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh ſhould have the fifth part; except the land of the prieſts only, which became not Pharaoh's.

27 And Iſrael dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the country of Goſhen; and they had poſſeſſions therein, and grew, and multiplied exceedingly.

28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt ſeventeen years: ſo the whole age of Jacob was an hundred forty and ſeven years.

29 And the time drew nigh that Iſrael muſt die: and he called his ſon Joſeph, and ſaid unto him, If now I have found grace in thy ſight, put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh, and deal kindly and truly with me; bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt.

30 But I will lie with my fathers, and thou ſhalt carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burying place: and he ſaid, I will do as thou haſt ſaid.

31 And he ſaid, ſwear unto me: and he ſware unto him. And Iſrael bowed himſelf upon the bed's head.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 Joſeph viſiteth his ſick father. 3 Jacob repeateth his promiſe. 21 And propheſieth their return.

AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that one told Joſeph, Behold, thy father is ſick; and he took with him his two ſons Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

2 And one told Jacob, and ſaid, Behold thy ſon Joſeph cometh unto thee: And Iſrael ſtrengthened himſelf, and ſat upon the bed.

3 ¶ And Jacob ſaid unto Joſeph, God Almighty appeared unto me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and bleſſed me,

4 And ſaid unto me, Behold I will make the fruitful, and multiply thee, and I will make of thee a multitude of people; and will give this land to thy ſeed after thee, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion.

5 And now thy two ſons, Ephraim and Manaſſeh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt, before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine; as Reuben and Simeon they ſhall be mine.

6 And thy iſſue which thou begetteſt after them ſhall be thine, and ſhall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance.

7 And as for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died by me in the land of Canaan, in the way when yet there was but a little way to come unto Ephrath; and I buried her there in the way of Ephrath, the ſame is Beth-lehem.

8 And Iſrael beheld Joſeph's ſons, and ſaid, Who are theſe?

9 And Joſeph ſaid unto his father, They are my ſons, whom God hath given me in this place: and he ſaid,

22 Only the land of the prieſts bought he not.) The Egyptian prieſts were the whole body of the nobility of the land: they were the king's counſellors, and in ſome things his joint agents. They were the moſt learned body of the nation, particularly in aſtronomy. They alſo acted as magiſtrates, and filled the chief offices of ſtate; for the original word equally ſignifies prince and prieſt, as we have before obſerved. Hence we ſee the reaſon why Joſeph did not purchaſe their lands, namely, the greatneſs of their authority, which rendered their perſons, and conſequently their eſtates, too ſacred to be taxed or alienated to the crown.

23 I have bought you, &c.) Though he might, in juſtice, have inſiſted on the bargain he had made with them; yet he generouſly gave them their freedom, and returned their eſtates, laying only a tax on them, for the better ſupport of the Egyptian crown and government, at the rate of four ſhillings in the pound, or a fifth part; which he was convinced, by experiment from what was taken up in the ſeven years of plenty, that Egypt could well ſpare: a favour which we ſee the people acknowledged with the utmoſt gratitude, owning him as their benefactor, who had even preſerved their lives.

29 Put, I pray thee, thine hand under my thigh.) That is, ſwear unto me. Not that Jacob ſuſpected his ſon would not perform any promiſe he ſhould make, without the ſolemnity of an oath; but that he might make uſe of it as an argument to prevail upon Pharaoh.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLVIII.

5 And now thy two ſons, &c.) Jacob informs his ſon Joſeph, that Ephraim and Manaſſeh ſhould be accounted his; that is, ſhall, like his own children, become the heads of diſtinct tribes, and have each an inheritance in the land of Canaan, equal with the reſt of his ſons. Thus he beſtows a double portion upon Joſeph, which was the privilege of the firſt-born, by making his ſons equal with his own children.

7 Rachel died by me.) Jacob ſeems to have mentioned this circumſtance as a reaſon why he adopted Ephraim and Manaſſeh, being willing to honour her memory, who died in child-birth, by adding her two grand-children to the number of his own ſons.

ſaid, Bring them, I pray thee, unto me, and I will bleſs them.

10 Now the eyes of Iſrael were dim for age, ſo that he could not ſee: and he brought them near unto him; and he kiſſed them, and embraced them.

11 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, I had not thought to ſee thy face: and lo, God hath ſhewed me alſo thy ſeed.

12 And Joſeph brought them out from between his knees, and he bowed himſelf with his face to the earth.

13 And Joſeph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Iſrael's left hand, and Manaſſeh in his left hand toward Iſrael's right hand, and brought them near unto him.

14 And Iſrael ſtretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraim's head, who was the younger, and his left hand upon Manaſſeh's head: guiding his hands wittingly: for Manaſſeh was the firſt-born.

15 And he bleſſed Joſeph, and ſaid, God before whom my fathers Abraham and Iſaac did walk, the God which fed me all my life long unto this day.

16 The angel which redeemed me from all evil, bleſs the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Iſaac; and let them grow into a multitude in the midſt of the earth.

17 And when Joſeph ſaw that his father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, it diſpleaſed him; and he held up his father's hand, to remove it from Ephraim's head unto Manaſſeh's head.

18 And Joſeph ſaid unto his father, Not ſo, my father: for this is the firſt-born; put thy right hand upon his head.

19 And his father refuſed, and ſaid, I know it, my ſon, I know it: he alſo ſhall become a people, and he alſo ſhall be great: but truly his younger brother ſhall be greater than he, and his ſeed ſhall become a multitude of nations.

20 And he bleſſed them that day, ſaying, In thee ſhall Iſrael bleſs, ſaying, God make thee as Ephraim, and as Manaſſeh: and he ſet Ephraim before Manaſſeh.

21 ¶ And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Behold, I die; but God ſhall be with you, and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

22 Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my ſword and with my bow.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Jacob calleth his ſons to bleſs them. 3 Their bleſſings in particular. 29 His charge concerning his burial. 33 His death.

AND Jacob called unto his ſons, and ſaid, Gather yourſelves together, that I may tell you that which ſhall befal you in the laſt days.

2 Gather yourſelves together, and hear, ye ſons of Jacob; and hearken unto Iſrael your father.

3 ¶ Reuben, thou art my firſt-born, my might and the beginning of my ſtrength, the excellency of dignity, and the excellency of power.

4 Unſtable as water, thou ſhalt not excel, becauſe thou wenteſt up to thy father's bed; then defileſt thou it: he went up to my couch.

5 Simeon and Levi are brethren; inſtruments of cruelty are in their habitations.

6 O my ſoul, come not thou into their ſecret; unto their aſſembly mine honour, be not thou united; for in their anger they ſlew a man, and in their ſelf-will they digged down a wall.

7 Curſed be their anger, for it was fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel: I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael.

8 Judah thou art he whom thy brethren ſhall praiſe; thy hand ſhall be in the neck of thine enemies: thy father's children ſhall bow down before thee.

9 Judah is a lion's whelp; from the prey, my ſon, thou art gone up; he ſtooped down, he couched as a lion, and as an old lion; who ſhall rouſe him up?

10 The ſceptre ſhall not depart from Judah, nor a law-giver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and unto him ſhall the gathering of the people be.

11 Binding his foal unto the vine, and his aſs' colt unto the choice vine; he waſhed his garments in wine,

14 And Iſrael ſtretched out his right hand, &c.) Laying hands on the head of any perſon, was always uſed in this nation, in giving bleſſings, and appointing men to any office; and in the conſecration of public and ſolemn ſacrifices. This is the firſt time we meet with the mention of it; but afterwards we frequently read of it; particularly when Moſes conſtituted Joſhua to be his ſucceſſor, God orders him to do it, by laying his hands on him, Numb. 18. 23. Thus children were brought to our Saviour, that he might lay his hands on them and bleſs them, Matth. xix. 13. 15.

20 In thee ſhall Iſrael bleſs.) That is, theſe two tribes ſhall be ſo eminent and proſperous, that it ſhall become a proverbial form among my poſterity, in wiſhing happineſs to others, God make you as happy as Ephraim and Manaſſeh.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XLIX.

1 In the laſt days.) That is, hereafter, or in future times.—It may not be amiſs to obſerve, that Jacob here ſpeaks to his ſons as the heads of a people, and not as ſingle perſons; ſo that what he ſays, relates to them and their people collectively, and not to them perſonally.

4 Unſtable as water, thou ſhalt not excel.) That is, as water is prone to flow, and ſtill tends downward to an inferior ſituation, ſo ſhalt thou fall from thy pre-eminence, and ſink into a level with the reſt of thy brethren. Thou haſt forfeited thy birth-right, and it ſhall be given to others; the prieſthood to Levi, the dominion to Judah, and the double portion to Joſeph.

5 Simeon and Levi are brethren.) Brethren in iniquity; confederates in contriving the barbarous murder of the Shechemites.

I will divide them.) That is, I propheſy their diviſion, that they who were aſſociated in wickedneſs, ſhould in their poſterity be diſjoined from one another, and be ſcattered up and down among their brethren. And accordingly that of Levi had no inheritance among their brethren in the land of Canaan, except a certain number of cities aſſigned them in every tribe: and as for the tribe of Simeon, they had only a portion of Judah's inheritance, and ſome of them were obliged to ſeek an habitation in the mountains of Seir, and in the valley of Geder.

8 Judah, thou art he whom thy brethren ſhall praiſe.) That is, thou art Judah, and well thou deſerveſt the name, for thy brethren ſhall praiſe thee, alluding to the name Judah, which ſignifies praiſe.

10 The ſceptre ſhall not depart from Judah, &c.) Jacob here foreſees and foretels, That the ſceptre ſhould come out of the tribe of Judah, which was fulfilled in David, in whoſe family the crown was entailed; that Shiloh ſhould be of this tribe, his ſeed, that promiſed ſeed in whom the earth ſhould be bleſſed; that peaceable proſperous one, or the Saviour, he ſhall come of Judah. Thus dying Jacob, at a great diſtance, ſaw Chriſt's day, and it was his comfort and ſupport on his death-bed. That after the coming of the ſceptre into the tribe of Judah, it ſhould continue in that tribe, at leaſt a government of their own till the coming of the Meſſiah, in whom, as the king of the church, and the great high-prieſt, it was fit that both the prieſthood and the royalty ſhould determine. Till the captivity, all along from David's time, the ſceptre was in Judah, and from thence governors of that tribe, or of the Levites that adhered to it, which was equivalent, till Judea became a province of the Roman empire juſt at the time of our Saviour's birth, and was at that time taxed as one of the provinces, Luke ii. 1. And at the time of his death the Jews expreſsly owned, We have no king but Cæſar: Hence it is undeniably inferred againſt the Jews, that our Lord Jeſus is he that ſhould come, and we are to look for no other, for he came exactly at the time appointed. That it ſhould be a very fruitful tribe, eſpecially that it ſhould abound with milk for babes, and wine to make glad the hearts of ſtrong men. ver. 11, 12. Vines ſo common in the hedge-rows, and ſo ſtrong that they ſhould tye their aſſes to them, and ſo fruitful that they ſhould load their aſſes from them: Wine as plentiful as water, ſo that the men and his clothes in the blood of grapes.

12 His eyes ſhall be red with wine, and his teeth white with milk.

13 Zebulun ſhall dwell at the haven of the ſea; and he ſhall be for an haven of ſhips: and his border ſhall be unto Zidon.

14 Iſſachar is a ſtrong aſs, couching down between two burdens:

15 And he ſaw that the reſt was good, and the land that it was pleaſant; and bowed his ſhoulder to bear, and became a ſervant unto tribute.

16 Dan ſhall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Iſrael.

17 Dan ſhall be a ſerpent by the way, an adder in the path: that biteth the horſe-heels, ſo that his rider ſhall fall backward.

18 I have waited for thy ſalvation, O Lord!

19 Gad, a troop ſhall overcome him: but he ſhall overcome at the laſt.

20 Out of Aſher his bread ſhall be fat, and he ſhall yield royal dainties.

21 Naphtali is a hind let looſe: he giveth goodly words.

22 Joſeph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well; whoſe branches run over the wall.

23 The archers have ſorely grieved him, and ſhot at him, and hated him.

24 But his bow abode in ſtrength, and the arms of his hands were made ſtrong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: from thence is the ſhepherd the ſtone of Iſrael:

25 Even by the God of thy father, who ſhall help thee, and by the Almighty, who ſhall bleſs thee with bleſſings of heaven above, bleſſings of the deep that lieth under, bleſſings of the breaſts and of the womb:

26 The bleſſings of thy father have prevailed above the bleſſings of my progenitors, unto the utmoſt bound of the everlaſting hills: they ſhall be on the head of Joſeph, and on the crown of the head of him that was ſeparate from his brethren.

27 Benjamin ſhall ravin as a wolf; in the morning he ſhall devour the prey, and at night he ſhall divide the ſpoil.

28 All theſe are the twelve tribes of Iſrael: and this is it that their father ſpake unto them, and bleſſed them; every one according to his bleſſing he bleſſed them.

29 ¶ And he charged them, and ſaid unto them, I am to be gathered unto my people: bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite.

30 In the cave that is in the field of Machpelah, which is before Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought with the field of Ephron the Hittite, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place.

31 There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife; there they buried Iſaac and Rebekah his wife; and there I buried Leah.

32 The purchaſe of the field and of the cave that is therein, was from the children of Heth.

33 ¶ And when Jacob had made an end of commanding his ſons, he gathered up his feet into the bed, and yielded up the ghoſt, and was gathered unto his people.

of that tribe ſhould be very healthful and lively, their eyes briſk and ſparkling, their teeth white. Much of that which is here ſaid concerning Judah is to be applied to our Lord Jeſus. He is the ruler of all his Father's children, and the conqueror of all his Father's enemies, and he it is that is the praiſe of all the ſaints. He is the lion of the tribe of Judah, as he is called with reference to this here, Rev. v. 5. who having ſpoiled principalities and powers, went up a conquerer, and couched ſo as none can ſtir him up, when he ſat down on the right hand of the Father. To him belongs the ſceptre, he is the law-giver, and to him ſhall the gathering of the people be, as the deſire of all nations, Hag. ii. 7. who being lifted up from the earth ſhould draw all men unto him, John xii. 32. and in whom the children of God who are ſcattered abroad, ſhould meet as the centre of their unity, John xi. 52. In him there is plenty of all that which is nouriſhing and refreſhing to the ſoul, and which maintains and cheers the divine life in it; in him we may have wine and milk, the riches of Judah's tribe, without money, and without price, Iſaiah lv. 1.

13 Zebulun ſhall dwell at the haven of the ſea.) Though Zebulun was younger than Iſſachar, the patriarch thought proper to bleſs him firſt. And purſuant to this prophecy, his habitation was near the lake of Tiberias, or ſea of Galilee, to which the eaſt border of the tribe extended, while the weſtern limits of his inheritance was the Mediterranean. Thus we ſee that their inheritance in Canaan was the gift of God; for that Jacob, two hundred years before the conqueſt of Canaan, deſcribed the ſituation of the reſpective places which were to be the lot of his poſterity.

14 Iſſachar is a ſtrong aſs, &c.) The aſs was, in thoſe countries, the principal animal uſed in labour; and, being a very patient creature, was conſidered as a proper ſymbol of agriculture, and uſed by the patriarch to imply, that Iſſachar's poſterity ſhould addict themſelves to the quiet and retired buſineſs of tillage and huſbandry.

16 Dan ſhall judge his people.) That is, rule and govern them. Though he be the ſon of my concubine, yet he ſhall not be ſubject to any other tribe, but ſhall have an abſolute power within himſelf. What is ſaid of him, is to be underſtood of the reſt of the ſons of the concubines, and hereby all difference between the ſons of the wives and concubines is taken away. It is ſaid of Dan, becauſe he is the firſt mentioned of that ſort.

19 Gad, a troop ſhall overcome him.) Troops of enemies ſhall frequently invade his country, and for a time conquer and ſpoil it. And ſo it came to paſs, becauſe the inheritance of that tribe lay beyond Jordan, near to the Ammonites and Moabites, two inveterate enemies of Iſrael, and to other hoſtile nations in the eaſt.

20 Out of Aſher his bread ſhall be fat.) The tribe of Aſher ſhall be ſituated in a plentiful tract, abounding not only with all ſorts of proviſions neceſſary for human life, but alſo with the choiceſt fruits, and moſt luxuriant productions of the earth.

21 Naphtali is a hind let looſe) The hind is a creature that loves to roam at large, and when eſcaped from the toils, bounds with the greateſt ſwiftneſs and impetuoſity; and is here uſed as a proper ſymbol of a free ſpirit and a lover of liberty.

22 Joſeph is a fruitful bough, &c.) More is recorded in the hiſtory concerning Joſeph, than concerning any other of Jacob's ſons, and what Jacob ſaith of him is hiſtorical as well as prophetical. Joſeph was a type of Chriſt, he was ſhot at and hated, but borne up under his ſufferings, and was afterwards advanced to be the ſhepherd and ſtone.

27 Benjamin ſhall ravin as a wolf, &c.) Benjamin, the laſt of Jacob's ſons, who had been ſo great a favourite of his father, probably expected a ſuitable bleſſing from him; but whether Jacob foreſaw no extraordinary happineſs attending this tribe, or that it ſhould afterwards be blended with that of Judah, and conſequently ſhare the bleſſing of that tribe, he contented himſelf with deſcribing him by his fierce and warlike diſpoſition, who like the wolf, ſhould ſhed the blood of his enemies, and in the evening ſhould divide the ſpoil. And hiſtory ſufficiently juſtifies this character, the tribe of Benjamin alone maintaining a war with all the other tribes, in which they overcame them in two battles, though they had ſixteen to one. But what is chiefly to be regarded in this prophecy is, that the tribe of Benjamin ſhould continue till the final deſtruction of the Jewiſh polity. For as the Jewiſh ſtate is the ſubject of all Jacob's prophecy, we muſt conſider the morning and night, as the beginning and final period of that ſtate; and conſequently that the tribe of Benjamin ſhould exiſt till Shiloh came. And this prophecy was fully accompliſhed; for upon the diviſion of the kingdom after Solomon's death, the tribe of Benjamin adhered to that of Judah, and formed one people with it; continued to ſhare the ſame fortune, and by that means exiſted till the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Romans, which happened many years after the other ten tribes were no longer a people.

AND

AND Joseph fell upon his father's face, and wept upon him and kissed him.

2 And Joseph commanded his servants the physicians to embalm his father; and the physicians embalmed Israel.

3 And forty days were fulfilled for him (for so are fulfilled the days of those which are embalmed) and the Egyptians mourned for him threescore and ten days.

4 And when the days of his mourning were past, Joseph spake unto the house of Pharaoh, saying, If now I have found grace in your eyes, speak, I pray you, in the ears of Pharaoh, saying,

5 My father made me swear, saying, Lo, I die: in my grave which I have digged for me in the land of Canaan, there shalt thou bury me. Now therefore let me go up, I pray thee, and bury my father, and I will come again.

6 And Pharaoh said, Go up and bury thy father, according as he made thee swear.

7 ¶ And Joseph went up to bury his father: and with him went up all the servants of Pharaoh, the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt,

8 And all the house of Joseph, and his brethren, and his father's house: only their little ones, and their flocks and their herds they left in the land of Goshen.

9 And there went up with him both chariots and horsemen: and it was a very great company.

10 And they came to the threshing-floor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan, and there they mourned with a great and very sore lamentation: and he made a mourning for his father seven days.

11 And when the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, saw the mourning in the floor of Atad, they said, This is a grievous mourning to the Egyptians: wherefore the name of it was called Abel-mizraim, which is beyond Jordan.

12 And his sons did unto him according as he commanded them.

13 For his sons carried him into the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah: which Abraham bought with the field for a possession of a burying-place, of Ephron the Hittite, before Mamre.

14 And Joseph returned into Egypt, he and his brethren, and all that went up with him to bury his father, after he had buried his father.

15 And when Joseph's brethren saw that their father was dead, they said, Joseph will peradventure hate us, and will certainly requite us all the evil which we did unto him.

16 And they sent messengers unto Joseph, saying, Thy father did command before he died, saying,

17 So shall ye say unto Joseph, Forgive, I pray thee now, the trespass of thy brethren, and their sin; for they did unto thee evil: and now, we pray thee, forgive the trespass of the servants of the God of thy father. And Joseph wept when they spake unto him.

18 And his brethren also went and fell down before his face: and they said, Behold, we be thy servants.

19 And Joseph said unto them, Fear not: for am I in the place of God?

20 But as for you, ye thought evil against me: but God meant it unto good, to bring to pass, as it is this day, to save much people alive.

21 Now therefore fear ye not: I will nourish you, and your little ones. And he comforted them, and spake kindly unto them.

22 And Joseph dwelt in Egypt, he, and his father's house: and Joseph lived an hundred and ten years.

23 And Joseph saw Ephraim's children of the third generation: the children also of Machir, the son of Manasseh, were brought up upon Joseph's knees.

24 ¶ And Joseph said unto his brethren, I die: and God will surely visit you, and bring you out of this land, unto the land which he sware to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

25 And Joseph took an oath of the children of Israel, saying, God will surely visit you, and ye shall carry up my bones from hence.

26 ¶ So Joseph died, being an hundred and ten years old; and they embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

Commentary on Chap. L.

1 Wept upon him, and kissed him.) With tears and kisses, and all the tender expressions of a filial affection he takes leave of the deserted body. Though Jacob was old and decrepit, and must needs die in a course of nature; yet such an affection he had for a loving father, and so sensible was he of the loss of a prudent, pious father, that he could not part with him without floods of tears. The departed soul is out of the reach of our tears and kisses, but with them it is proper to shew our respects to the poor body, which we look for a glorious and joyful resurrection of. Thus Joseph shewed his faith in God, and love to his father, by kissing his pale cold lips, and so giving an affectionate farewel.

3 And the physicians embalmed Israel.) Not only because he died in Egypt, and that was the manner of the Egyptians, but because he was to be carried to Canaan, which was near three hundred miles distant, consequently is was necessary the body should be preserved as well as could be from putrefaction. The Egyptian had the art of performing this so curiously, as to preserve the features of the face unchanged; and bodies enbalmed by them have been preserved uncorrupted for some thousands of years.

7 And Joseph went up to bury his father, &c.) Of the funerals of the kings of Judah, there is little more said than this, That they were buried with their fathers in the city of David, but the funeral of the patriarch Jacob is more largely and fully described. This shews how much God was better to him than he expected; he had spoken more than once of his dying for grief, and going to the grave bereaved of his children: but behold he dies in honour, and is followed to the grave by all his children. Because his orders concerning his burial were given and observed in faith, and in expectation both of the earthly and of the heavenly Canaan. He was attended to the grave not only by his own family, but by the courtiers and all the great men of the kingdom, who, in token of their gratitude to Joseph, shew this respect to his father for his sake, and did him honour at his death. It was a sorrowful funeral, standers-by took notice of it as a grievous mourning. The death of good men is a great loss to any place; Stephen dies a martyr, and yet devout men make lamentations for him. The solemn mourning for Jacob gave a name to the place, Abel-Mizraim, the mourning of the Egyptians: which served for a testimony against the next generation of the Egyptians, who opposed the posterity of this Jacob to whom their ancestors shewed such respect.

17 And Joseph wept when they spake unto him.) A thousand tender thoughts crouded into his mind, and his tears discovered the compassion and generosity of his soul. An evident proof of his sincerity, and how unjustly they suspected him capable of such permanent and deep resentment.

25 God will surely visit you, and ye shall carry up my bones from hence.) Joseph bids his brethren be confident that God would bring them out of that land; that they must not hope to settle there, nor look upon it as their rest for ever, but set their hearts upon the land of promise and call that their home. Probably he foresaw the ill usage they would meet with there after his death, and therefore gives them this word of encouragement; God will bring you in triumph out of this land at last. For a confession of his own faith, and a confirmation of theirs, he chargeth them to keep him unburied till that day, that glorious day should come when they should be settled in the land of promise. He makes them promise him with an oath, that they would bury him in Canaan. Thus Joseph, by faith in the doctrine of the resurrection, and the promise of Canaan, gave commandment concerning his bones, Heb. xi. 22. He dies in Egypt, but lays his bones at stake that God will surely visit Israel, and bring them to Canaan. The bones of Joseph remained in a coffin in Egypt near two hundred years, but were not buried till his children possessed Canaan, Josh. xxiv. 32.

SECOND BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

EXODUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is called Exodus, from its giving an account of the deliverance of the children of Iſrael out of Egypt; that word, in the Greek language, ſignifying, the going out or departure. It is called in Hebrew Sepher Shemoth, that is, The book of the names, becauſe it begins with the names of the children of Iſrael. In this book the ſacred penman deſcribes the tyranny of Pharaoh, and the bondage of the children of Iſrael in Egypt; the prodigious increaſe and multiplication of the oppreſſed Hebrews: the plagues inflicted on the Egyptian king and his people, for refuſing to let them go; their departure out of Egypt, and miraculous paſſage through the Red Sea; the overthrow of Pharaoh and his numerous hoſt; the miraculous preſervation of the Iſraelites in the deſerts of Arabia; the promulgation of the law on Mount Sinai; and the erecting a tabernacle, by the ſpecial direction and appointment of God. It contains an hiſtory of about an hundred and forty-five years, from the death of Joſeph, to the building of the tabernacle, or from the year of the world 2369, to 2514. There are more types of Chriſt in this book, than perhaps in any other book of the Old Teſtament, for Moſes wrote of him, John v. 46. And the way of man's reconciliation to God, and coming into covenant and communion with him by a mediator, is here variouſly repreſented.

CHAP. I.

1 The children of Iſrael multiply. 8 They are oppreſſed by a new king. 15 The midwives ſave the males alive.

NOW theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael, which came into Egypt, every man and his houſhold came with Jacob.

2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah,

3 Iſſachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin,

4 Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Aſher.

5 And all the ſouls, that came out of the loins of Jacob, were ſeventy ſouls; for Joſeph was in Egypt already.

6 And Joſeph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation.

7 And the children of Iſrael were fruitful, and increaſed abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty; and the land was filled with them.

8 ¶ Now there aroſe up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joſeph.

9 And he ſaid unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Iſrael are more and mightier than we.

10 Come on, let us deal wiſely with them, leſt they multiply, and it come to paſs that when there falleth out any war, they join alſo unto our enemies, and fight againſt us, and ſo get them up out of the land.

11 Therefore they did ſet over them taſk-maſters, to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treaſure cities, Pithom, and Raamſes.

12 But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved becauſe of the children of Iſrael.

13 And the Egyptians made the children of Iſrael to ſerve with rigour.

14 And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage in mortar, and in brick, and in all manner of ſervice in the field: all their ſervice wherein they made them ſerve, was with rigour.

15 ¶ And the king of Egypt ſpake to the Hebrew midwives (of which the name of one was Shiprah, and the name of the other Puah:)

16 And he ſaid, When ye do the office of a mid-

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 The names of the children of Iſrael.) This liſt is here repeated, that by comparing this ſmall root with ſo vaſt a company of branches as grew upon it, we may ſee the wonderful Providence of God in the fulfilling of his promiſes.

8 Now there aroſe up a new king, which knew not Joſeph.) That is, Egypt was now governed by a king, who did not regard Joſeph, nor entertained any grateful remembrance of the ſervices he had done for that kingdom.

10 Leſt they join unto our enemies.) The Iſraelites never conſidered themſelves as ſettled in Egypt, but as ſojourners only: and therefore it is natural to ſuppoſe, that they had often mentioned their intention of leaving the country, which doubtleſs contributed to raiſe this jealouſy in the king of Egypt.

wife to the Hebrew women, and ſee them upon the ſtools; if it be a ſon, then ye ſhall kill him; but if it be a daughter then ſhe ſhall live.

17 But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but ſaved the men-children alive?

18 And the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and ſaid unto them, Why have ye done this thing, and have ſaved the men-children alive?

19 And the midwives ſaid unto Pharaoh, Becauſe the Hebrew women are not as the Egyptian women: for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwives come in unto them.

20 Therefore God dealt well with the midwives: and the people multiplied, and waxed very mighty.

21 And it came to paſs, becauſe the midwives feared God, that he made them houſes.

22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, ſaying, Every ſon that is born, ye ſhall caſt into the river, and every daughter ye ſhall ſave alive.

CHAP. II.

1 Moſes is born and put into the flags. 5 He is found and brought up by Pharaoh's daughter. 15 He fleeth into Midian.

AND there went a man of the houſe of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived, and bare a ſon: and when ſhe ſaw him that he was a goodly child, ſhe hid him three months.

3 And when ſhe could not longer hide him, ſhe took for him an ark of bulruſhes, and daubed it with ſlime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and ſhe laid it in the flags by the river's brink.

4 And his ſiſter ſtood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

5 ¶ And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to waſh herſelf at the river: and her maidens walked along by the river's ſide; and when ſhe ſaw the ark among the flags, ſhe ſent her maid to fetch it.

6 And when ſhe had opened it, ſhe ſaw the child: and behold the babe wept. And ſhe had compaſſion on him, and ſaid, This is one of the Hebrews' children.

7 Then ſaid his ſiſter unto Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurſe of the Hebrew women, that ſhe may nurſe the child for thee?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter ſaid unto her, Go. And the maid went and called the child's mother.

9 And Pharaoh's daughter ſaid unto her, Take this child away, and nurſe it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nurſed it.

10 And the child grew, and ſhe brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her ſon, and ſhe called his name Moſes: and ſhe ſaid, Becauſe I drew him out of the water.

11 And it came to paſs in thoſe days, when Moſes was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he eſpied an Egyptian ſmiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren.

12 And he looked this way and that way, and when he ſaw that there was no man, he ſlew the Egyptian, and hid him in the ſand.

13 And when he went out the ſecond day, Behold, two men of the Hebrews ſtrove together: and he ſaid to him that did the wrong, Wherefore ſmiteſt thou thy fellow?

14 And he ſaid, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? intendeſt thou to kill me, as thou killedſt the Egyptian? and Moſes feared, and ſaid, Surely this thing is known.

15 ¶ Now when Pharaoh heard this thing, he ſought to ſlay Moſes. But Moſes fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian: and he ſat down by a well.

16 Now the prieſt of Midian had ſeven daughters: and they came and drew water, and filled their troughs to water their father's flock.

17 And the ſhepherds came and drove them away: but Moſes ſtood up and helped them, and watered their flock.

18 And when they came to Reuel their father, he ſaid, How is it that ye are come ſo ſoon to day?

19 And they ſaid, An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the ſhepherds, and alſo drew water enough for us, and watered the flock.

20 And he ſaid unto his daughters, And where is he? Why is it that ye have left the man? call him, that he may eat bread.

21 And Moſes was content to dwell with the man, and he gave Moſes Zipporah his daughter.

22 And ſhe bare him a ſon, and he called his name Gerſhom: for he ſaid, I have been a ſtranger in a ſtrange land.

23 And it came to paſs in proceſs of time, that the 16 If it be a ſon ye ſhall kill him.) Joſephus tells us, that a certain ſcribe, famous for his predictions, told the king that a Hebrew child ſhould be born about that time, who would prove a ſcourge to the Egyptians, and advance the glory of his own nation, and if he lived to grow up would be a man eminent for virtue and courage; and that it was by the counſel of this ſcribe, that Pharaoh iſſued theſe orders to the midwives. We find no intimations of this in the ſacred hiſtory, but only that Pharaoh dreading the power of the Iſraelites, was deſirous of deſtroying all the males, it being from them alone any danger was to be apprehended.

22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, &c.) Pharaoh finding himſelf diſappointed by the midwives, now iſſues orders for all his ſervants to execute his inhuman decree; and probably made it highly penal for any perſon to know of a ſon being born to an Iſraelite, and not give information to thoſe who were appointed to throw them into the river.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 Bare a ſon.) Moſes was not the firſt-born, his brother Aaron being three years older than he. See chap. vii. 7.

3 And when ſhe could hide him no longer.) That is, when the child grew too big to be concealed any longer, for fear of being informed againſt by ſome of her Egyptian neighbours, with whom the Iſraelites lived intermixed. Thus the perſon who was afterwards the deliverer of Iſrael, was expoſed to the greateſt dangers, and had almoſt fallen himſelf a ſacrifice to an inhuman tyrant.

9 Take this child and nurſe it for me.) How viſiby is the immediate hand of Providence ſeen in conducting this whole tranſaction! had the child been found by any other perſon, the king himſelf excepted, they muſt have thrown him into the river; but Pharaoh's daughter is conducted by an inviſible hand to the place where the forlorn infant was expoſed, and by her put to nurſe to his own mother.

11 He went out unto his brethren.) That is, he abandoned the pleaſures of the Egyptian court, and joined himſelf to the Hebrews, who were all his brethren, as being all deſcended from their common father Abraham. Chuſing rather, ſays the apoſtle to the Hebrews, to ſuffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleaſures of ſin for a ſeaſon.

17 And the ſhepherds came and drove them away.) That is, the ſhepherds drove the flocks from the well; for the word them is in the maſculine gender, and therefore cannot refer to the daughters. Nor will this action of the ſhepherds appear ſurpriſing, if it be conſidered, that in theſe countries there is a great ſcarcity of water; whence it is natural to ſuppoſe, that every ſhepherd would endeavour to get the firſt poſſeſſion of the wells, leſt others, coming thither before them, ſhould not leave water enough for their cattle.

18 When they came to Reuel their father.) This perſon is called Hobab, the ſon of Raguel, Numb. x. 29; Ceni, in Jud. i. 16; and Jethro, in Exod. iii. 1; ſo that one and the ſame perſon is thought to have been called by four names, Raguel, or Reuel, Hobab, Ceni, and Jethro.

king of Egypt died; and the children of Israel sighed by reason of the bondage, and they cried; and their cry came up unto God, by reason of the bondage.

24 And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob.

25 And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them.

CHAP. III.

1 Moses keepeth Jethro's flock. 2 God appeareth unto him in a burning bush. 9 He sendeth him to deliver Israel.

NOW Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian; and he led the flock to the backside of the desert, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

2 ¶ And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush: and he looked, and behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed.

3 And Moses said, I will now turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt.

4 And when the Lord saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses. And he said, Here am I.

5 And he said, Draw not nigh hither; put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground.

6 Moreover he said, I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face; for he was afraid to look upon God.

7 And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry by reason of their task-masters; for I know their sorrows.

8 And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land, unto a good land, and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey; unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

9 ¶ Now therefore, behold, the cry of the children of Israel is come unto me: and I have also seen the oppression wherewith the Egyptians oppress them.

10 Come now, therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people, the children of Israel out of Egypt.

11 And Moses said unto God, Who am I, that I should go unto Pharaoh, and that I should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt?

12 And he said, Certainly I will be with thee: and this shall be a token unto thee that I have sent thee: when thou hast brought forth the people out of Egypt, ye shall serve God upon this mountain.

13 And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say to me, What is his name? what shall I say unto them?

14 And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

15 And God said moreover, unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, the Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations.

16 Go and gather the elders of Israel together, and say unto them, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob, appeared unto me, saying, I have surely visited you, and seen that which is done to you in Egypt.

17 And I have said, I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt unto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, unto a land flowing with milk and honey.

18 And they shall hearken to thy voice: and thou shalt come, thou and the elders of Israel, unto the king of Egypt, and ye shall say unto him, The Lord God of the Hebrews hath met with us; and now let us go (we beseech thee) three days journey into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice to the Lord our God.

19 And I am sure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, no not by a mighty hand.

20 And I will stretch out my hand, and smite Egypt with all my wonders which I will do in the midst thereof: and after that he will let you go.

21 And I will give this people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: and it shall come to pass, that when ye go, ye shall not go empty.

22 But every woman shall borrow of her neighbour, and of her that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment: and ye shall put them upon your sons, and upon your daughters; and ye shall spoil the Egyptians.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

2 And the Angel of the Lord appeared.) By the angel of the Lord is meant the Son of God, the messenger of the covenant. There is a reference to this name angel in what the New Testament speaks of Christ as the sent of the Father; and when the New Testament calls him the brightness of the Father's glory, and the express image of his person, we thereby know him to be the angel, his face. This distinguisheth him from all other messengers, as he is also by the errand on which he was sent.

And behold the bush burned with fire, &c.) Fire is often used in scripture as a proper emblem of calamity, especially that which is national. The bush therefore burning with fire, but not consumed, represented, that however sore the Israelites might be distressed, yet their afflictions should not consume them, or destroy them utterly; for the glory of God appearing in the midst of it, was a symbolical representation of his being present with his people in the midst of their tribulations.

8 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey.) The sacred writings are full of encomiums on the fertility of the land of Canaan; and the expression flowing with milk and honey, was a common proverb denoting plenty. For abundance of milk and honey sufficiently shews a country to be well watered, fruitful, full of pastures and flowers, from whence the flocks might fill their dugs with milk, and the bees their cells with honey. Several modern travellers have observed, that the country now is exceeding barren; but that is entirely owing to its want of culture and inhabitants.

12 I will be with thee.) That is, I will support and defend thee in all dangers and difficulties. And surely when the arm of Omnipotence was with him, he had no reason to fear the arm of flesh.

14 I am that I am.) Which signifies, that he is self-existent; he has his being of himself, and has no dependence upon any other. Being self-existent, he cannot but be self-sufficient, and therefore all-sufficient, and the inexhaustible fountain of being and bliss; he is eternal and unchangeable, and always the same, yesterday, to-day, and for ever; he will be what he will be, and what he is, Rev. i. 10. We cannot by searching find him out; this is such a name as checks all bold and curious inquiries concerning God, and in effect saith, Ask not after my name seeing it is wonderful, Judg. xiii. 18.

18 Let us go three days journey into the wilderness.) It was never the intention of the Israelites to return; but that Pharaoh might be the more inexcusable, they were directed at first to demand leave only to go as far as Mount Sinai, which was but three days journey from Egypt, in order to offer sacrifices there to the Lord their God.

CHAP. IV.

1 Moſes' rod is changed into a ſerpent. 6 His hand is leprous. 21 God's meſſage to Pharaoh.

AND Moſes anſwered and ſaid, But behold, they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will ſay, The Lord hath not appeared unto thee.

2 And the Lord ſaid unto him, What is that in thine hand? and he ſaid, A rod.

3 And he ſaid, Caſt it on the ground: and he caſt it on the ground, and it became a ſerpent: and Moſes fled from before it.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Put forth thy hand, and take it by the tail: and he put forth his hand and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand.

5 That they may believe that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob hath appeared unto thee.

6 ¶ And the Lord ſaid furthermore unto him, Put now thine hand into thy boſom; and he put his hand into his boſom: and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous as ſnow.

7 And he ſaid, Put thine hand into thy boſom again; and he put his hand into his boſom again, and plucked it out of his boſom; and behold it was turned again as his other fleſh.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the firſt ſign, that they will believe the voice of the latter ſign.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe alſo theſe two ſigns, neither hearken unto thy voice, that thou ſhalt take of the water of the river, and pour it upon the dry-land: and the water which thou takeſt out of the river, ſhall become blood upon the dry-land.

10 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, O my Lord, I am not eloquent, neither heretofore, nor ſince thou haſt ſpoken unto thy ſervant: but I am ſlow of ſpeech, and of a ſlow tongue.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the ſeeing, or the blind, have not I the Lord?

12 Now therefore go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou ſhalt ſay.

13 And he ſaid, O my Lord, ſend, I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt ſend.

14 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Moſes, and he ſaid, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can ſpeak well. And alſo, behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he ſeeth thee, he will be glad in his heart.

15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, and put words in his mouth: and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye ſhall do.

16 And he ſhall be thy ſpokeſman unto the people: and he ſhall be, even he ſhall be to thee inſtead of a mouth, and thou ſhalt be to him inſtead of God.

17 And thou ſhalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou ſhalt do ſigns.

18 And Moſes went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law, and ſaid unto him, Let me go, I pray thee, and return unto my brethren which are in Egypt, and ſee whether they be yet alive. And Jethro ſaid to Moſes, Go in peace.

19 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes in Midian, Go, return into Egypt: for all the men are dead which ſought thy life.

20 And Moſes took his wife, and his ſons, and ſet them upon an aſs, and he returned to the land of Egypt, and Moſes took the rod of God in his hand.

21 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, When thou goeſt to return into Egypt, ſee that thou do all thoſe wonders before Pharaoh which I have put in thine hand: but I will harden his heart that he ſhall not let the people go.

22 And thou ſhalt ſay unto Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the Lord, Iſrael is my ſon, even my firſt-born.

23 And I ſay unto thee, Let my ſon go, that he may ſerve me: and if thou refuſe to let him go, behold, I will ſlay thy ſon, even thy firſt-born.

24 And it came to paſs by the way in the inn, that the Lord met him, and ſought to kill him.

25 Then Zipporah took a ſharp ſtone, and cut off the foreſkin of her ſon, and caſt it at his feet, and ſaid, Surely a bloody huſband art thou to me.

26 So he let him go: then ſhe ſaid, A bloody huſband thou art, becauſe of the circumciſion.

27 And the Lord ſaid to Aaron, Go into the wilderneſs to meet Moſes. And he went and met him in the mount of God, and kiſſed him.

28 And Moſes told Aaron all the words of the Lord, who had ſent him, and all the ſigns which he had commanded him.

29 And Moſes and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the children of Iſrael.

30 And Aaron ſpake all the words which the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes, and did the ſigns in the ſight of the people.

31 And the people believed: and when they heard that the Lord had viſited the children of Iſrael, and that he had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads and worſhipped.

CHAP. V.

1 Pharaoh chideth Moſes and Aaron. 5 He increaſeth the Iſraelites' taſk. 22 Moſes complaineth to God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

2 A rod.) Probably his ſhepherd's ſtaff, for he was now feeding his father-in-law's flocks.

8 They will believe the voice of the latter ſign.) That is, thoſe who cannot be prevailed upon by the firſt ſign, ſhall be convinced by the ſecond; and if any ſhould be ſo obſtinate as to ſtand out againſt the ſecond, they ſhall be convinced by a third. We may obſerve a great propriety and energy in this expreſſion, the voice of the ſign, ſince thoſe miracles in effect, ſpoke in the ear of reaſon, and ſaid, Believe in him whom God hath ſent.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto him, who hath made man's mouth?) This is a very ſtrong, and ought to have been taken as a ſatisfactory anſwer to his objection. Cannot I, who give and take away the organs of ſpeech, remove the impediment whereof thou complaineſt, and fully qualify thee to diſcharge the commiſſion with which I now inveſt thee? Is any thing too hard for the Lord?

14 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Moſes.) The prophet's backwardneſs at firſt proceeded from a commendable humility, a modeſt diffidence of himſelf. But after God had condeſcended to obviate his objections, and promiſed him ſucceſs in his miſſion, he was guilty of a criminal deſpondency of mind, which now argued a diſtruſt of God himſelf; and therefore it is no wonder that the anger of the Almighty was kindled againſt him, that is, he rebuked him, and teſtified his diſſatisfaction of his diſtruſtful conduct.

17 Thou ſhalt take this rod in thine hand.) We muſt not here ſuppoſe that there was any virtue in the rod, a mere bit of wood: the meaning is, that he ſhould wear it as a badge of his office, to give him the more authority in the eyes of the people; while at the ſame time the meanneſs of the inſtrument wherewith the miracles were performed, demonſtrated that the power was from God.

24 And ſought to kill him.) He appeared in a threatening poſture, and put him in fear of his life. The reaſon why the Lord's anger was kindled againſt Moſes ſeems to be this; Zipporah had refuſed to let her ſon be circumciſed, and Moſes, in compliance with her humour, had neglected to obey a plain command of God: on this awful appearance, Zipporah, in order to ſave her huſband's life, haſtily goes about the operation herſelf.

AND

AND afterward Moſes and Aaron went in and told Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, let my people go, that they may hold a feaſt unto me in the wilderneſs.

2 And Pharaoh ſaid, Who is the Lord, that I ſhould obey his voice to let Iſrael go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Iſrael go.

3 And they ſaid, The God of the Hebrews hath met with us: let us go, we pray thee, three days journey into the deſert, and ſacrifice unto the Lord our God; leſt he fall upon us with peſtilence or with the ſword.

4 And the king of Egypt ſaid unto them, Wherefore do ye, Moſes and Aaron, let the people from their works? get you unto your burdens.

5 And Pharaoh ſaid, Behold, the people of the land now are many, and ye make them reſt from their burdens.

6 And Pharaoh commanded the ſame day the taſk-maſters of the people, and their officers, ſaying,

7 Ye ſhall no more give the people ſtraw, to make brick, as heretofore: let them go and gather ſtraw for themſelves.

8 And the tale of the bricks which they did make heretofore, ye ſhall lay upon them; ye ſhall not diminiſh ought thereof: for they be idle; therefore they cry, ſaying, Let us go, and ſacrifice to our God.

9 Let there more work be laid upon the men, that they may labour therein: and let them not regard vain words.

10 ¶ And the taſk-maſters of the people went out, and their officers, and they ſpake to the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith Pharaoh, I will not give you ſtraw.

11 Go ye, get you ſtraw where ye can find it: yet not ought of your work ſhall be diminiſhed.

12 So the people were ſcattered abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, to gather ſtubble inſtead of ſtraw.

13 And the taſk-maſters haſted them, ſaying, Fulfil your works, your daily taſks as when there was ſtraw.

14 And the officers of the children of Iſrael, which Pharaoh's taſk-maſters had ſet over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your taſk in making brick, both yeſterday and to-day, as heretofore?

15 ¶ Then the officers of the children of Iſrael, came and cried unto Pharaoh, ſaying, Wherefore dealeſt thou thus with thy ſervants?

16 There is no ſtraw given unto thy ſervants, and they ſay to us, Make brick: and behold, thy ſervants are beaten, but the fault is in thine own people.

17 But he ſaid, Ye are idle, ye are idle: therefore ye ſay, Let us go, and do ſacrifice to the Lord.

18 Go therefore now and work: for there ſhall no ſtraw be given you, yet ſhall ye deliver the tale of bricks.

19 And the officers of the children of Iſrael did ſee that they were in evil caſe, after it was ſaid, Ye ſhall not miniſh ought from your bricks of your daily taſk.

20 ¶ And they met Moſes and Aaron, who ſtood in the way as they came forth from Pharaoh.

21 And they ſaid unto them, The Lord look upon you, and judge; becauſe ye have made our ſavour to be abhorred in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his ſervants, to put a ſword in their hand to ſlay us.

22 And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, Lord, wherefore haſt thou ſo evil intreated this people? why is it that thou haſt ſent me?

23 For ſince I came to Pharoah to ſpeak in thy name, he hath done evil to this people; neither haſt thou delivered thy people at all.

CHAP. VI.

1 God reneweth his promiſe, by his name JEHOVAH. 14 The genealogy of Reuben, 15 of Simeon, 16 and of Levi.

THEN the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Now ſhalt thou ſee what I will do to Pharaoh: for with a ſtrong hand ſhall he let them go, and with a ſtrong hand ſhall he drive them out of his land.

2 And God ſpake unto Moſes, and ſaid unto him, I am the Lord.

3 And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty, but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them.

4 And I have alſo eſtabliſhed my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were ſtrangers.

5 And I have alſo heard the groaning of the children of Iſrael, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage; and I have remembered my covenant.

6 Wherefore ſay unto the children of Iſrael, I am the Lord, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you out of their bondage: and I will redeem you with a ſtretched out arm, and with great judgments.

7 And I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord your God, which bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians.

8 And I will bring you in unto the land concerning the which I did ſwear to give it to Abraham, and to Iſaac, and to Jacob: and I will give it you for an heritage; I am the Lord.

9 And Moſes ſpake ſo unto the children of Iſrael; but they hearkened not unto Moſes for anguiſh of ſpirit, and for cruel bondage.

10 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

11 Go in, ſpeak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he let the children of Iſrael go out of his land.

12 And Moſes ſpake before the Lord, ſaying, Behold the children of Iſrael have not hearkened unto me: how then ſhall Pharaoh hear me, who am of uncircumciſed lips?

13 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and unto Aaron, and gave them a charge unto the children of Iſrael, and unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring the children

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 And afterward Moſes and Aaron went in and told Pharaoh.) After they had convinced the elders of Iſrael, that they were commiſſioned by the God of their fathers, they repair to the palace of Pharaoh, to deliver their meſſage to that monarch, taking with them a body of the elders, as they were commanded.

6 The taſk-maſters and their officers.) By officers here we are to underſtand thoſe Iſraelites, who, under the taſk-maſters, were ſet over their brethren, to ſee that they did their taſks, and to anſwer for their neglect.

7 Ye ſhall no more give the people ſtraw.) Either to mix with the clay to make the bricks more ſolid, or to heat the kilns, or perhaps to cover the bricks to prevent their being cracked with the heat of the ſun.

17 But he ſaid, Ye are idle.) This cruel tyrant, inſtead of pitying the hard uſage of the Iſraelites, mocks their complaints; telling them with a ſarcaſtical ſneer that they were idle, when he muſt know they were ready to ſink under their burdens.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

3 By the name of God Almighty.) In the original it is El-ſhadai, God all-powerful; under which name God revealed himſelf to Abraham, to encourage him to rely on that Almighty Power, and All-ſufficient Goodneſs, implied by the word El-ſhadai.

6 With a ſtretched-out arm.) This metaphor is taken from perſons enraged, who, in order to ſtrike the blow with more force, lift their arm high, and extend it to its full length, of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt.

14 ¶ Theſe be the heads of their fathers houſes: the ſons of Reuben the firſt-born of Iſrael; Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi: theſe be the families of Reuben.

15 ¶ And the ſons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul, the ſon of a Canaanitiſh woman: theſe are the families of Simeon.

16 ¶ And theſe are the names of the ſons of Levi, according to their generations; Gerſhon, and Kohath, and Merari: and the years of the life of Levi were an hundred thirty and ſeven years.

17 The ſons of Gerſhon; Libni, and Shimi, according to their families.

18 And the ſons of Kohath; Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel: and the years of the life of Kohath were an hundred thirty and three years.

19 And the ſons of Merari; Mahali, and Muſhi: theſe are the families of Levi according to their generations.

20 And Amram took him Jochebed his father's ſiſter to wife; and ſhe bare him Aaron and Moſes: and the years of the life of Amram were an hundred thirty and ſeven years.

21 And the ſons of Izhar; Korah, and Nepheg, and Zichri.

22 And the ſons of Uzziel; Miſhael, and Elzaphan, and Zithri.

26 Theſe are that Aaron and Moſes, to whom the Lord ſaid, Bring out the children of Iſrael from the land of Egypt, according to their armies.

27 Theſe are they which ſpake to Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring out the children of Iſrael from Egypt: theſe are that Moſes and Aaron.

28 And it came to paſs, on the day when the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the land of Egypt, 29 That the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, I am the Lord; ſpeak thou unto Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I ſay unto thee.

30 And Moſes ſaid before the Lord, Behold, I am of uncircumciſed lips, and how ſhall Pharaoh hearken unto me?

CHAP. VII.

1 Moſes is encouraged to go to Pharaoh. 10 Aaron's rod is turned into a ſerpent. 13 Pharaoh's heart is hardened. 19 The river is turned into blood.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, See, I have made thee a god to Pharaoh: and Aaron thy brother ſhall be thy prophet.

2 Thou ſhalt ſpeak all that I command thee: and Aaron thy brother ſhall ſpeak unto Pharaoh, that he ſend the children of Iſrael out of his land.

3 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and multiply my ſigns and my wonders in the land of Egypt.

4 But Pharaoh ſhall not hearken unto you, that I may lay my hand upon Egypt, and bring forth mine armies, and my people the children of Iſrael, out of the land of Egypt, by great judgments.

5 And the Egyptians ſhall know, that I am the Lord, when I ſtretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Iſrael from among them.

6 And Moſes and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them, ſo did they.

7 And Moſes was fourſcore years old, and Aaron fourſcore and three years old, when they ſpake unto Pharaoh.

8 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

9 When Pharaoh ſhall ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Shew a miracle for you; then thou ſhalt ſay unto Aaron, Take thy rod and caſt it before Pharaoh, and it ſhall become a ſerpent.

10 ¶ And Moſes and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and they did ſo as the Lord had commanded; and Aaron caſt down his rod before Pharaoh and before his ſervants, and it became a ſerpent.

11 Then Pharaoh alſo called the wiſe-men and the ſorcerers; now the magicians of Egypt, they alſo did in like manner with their inchantments.

12 For they caſt down every man his rod, and they became ſerpents; but Aaron's rod ſwallowed up their rods.

13 ¶ And he hardened Pharaoh's heart, that he hearkened not unto them, as the Lord had ſaid.

14 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Pharaoh's heart is hardened, he refuſeth to let the people go.

15 Get thee unto Pharaoh in the morning: lo, he goeth out unto the water: and thou ſhalt ſtand by the river's brink againſt he come; and the rod which was turned to a ſerpent ſhalt thou take in thine hand.

16 And thou ſhalt ſay unto him, The Lord God of the Hebrews hath ſent me unto thee, ſaying, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me in the wilderneſs;

---

20 And ſhe bare him Aaron and Moſes.) Hence we ſee how exactly the promiſe made by God (Gen. xv. 16.) of delivering the children of Iſrael out of ſervitude, in the fourth generation, that is, the fourth from their deſcent into Egypt, was fulfilled; for Moſes was the ſon of Amram, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Jacob.

25 Theſe are the heads of the fathers of the Levites.) He ſays nothing of the other tribes, it being his intention only in this place to derive his own and Aaron's pedigree from Iſrael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 I have made thee a god to Pharaoh.) That is, thou ſhalt be like a god, whoſe oracles ſhall be delivered to Pharaoh by Aaron thy prophet, or interpreter.

5 The Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord.) That is, the Egyptians ſhall know that I am not a mere local Deity, nor the God of Iſrael only, but Jehovah, the ſupreme God of the univerſe.

12 They caſt down every man his rod, and they became ſerpents.) The ſcripture all along ſuppoſes, that evil ſpirits and impoſtures have the power of working ſome kinds of miracles; ſo that we need not be ſurpriſed, that theſe magicians performed by their infernal art, many of thoſe miracles which Moſes wrought by the power of God: for many are of opinion, that as God was pleaſed to inſpire his true prophets, and enable them to give ſigns and work wonders for his ſervants; ſo the devil and his angels affected to imitate theſe particular favours, and gave oracles, ſigns and wonders to delude their ſuperſtitious votaries. But others, unwilling to introduce miracles without neceſſity, are of opinion that theſe ſigns were effected merely by the uſe of natural means, and by the art of man, without any ſupernatural interpoſition: at leaſt, that this was the opinion of Pharoah and his people, when Moſes wrought his wonders in Egypt, is thought evident from the uſe Pharaoh made of his magicians upon the occaſion. For when Aaron's rod was turned into a ſerpent, he ſent for his magicians to do the ſame; and upon finding they could, he thought it no real miracle, and refuſed to let the people go. He made the ſame concluſion upon their bringing up frogs, and upon the river's being turned into blood; but when the magicians tried, and could not produce lice, then both he and they concluded, that this was the finger of God.

15 Lo, he goeth out unto the water.) Some think he was going to pay his morning devotion to the river Nile, which was ſacred among the Egyptians: others, more probably, that he was going to bathe in the river, that he might purify himſelf to offer up his adoration to the riſing ſun.

and behold, hitherto thou wouldeſt not hear.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord, In this thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord: behold, I will ſmite with the rod that is in mine hand upon the waters which are in the river, and they ſhall be turned to blood.

18 And the fiſh that is in the river ſhall die, and the river ſhall ſtink; and the Egyptians ſhall loath to drink of the water of the river.

19 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Take thy rod and ſtretch out thine hand upon the waters of Egypt, upon their ſtreams, upon their rivers, and upon their ponds, and upon all their pools of water, that they may become blood: and that there may be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in veſſels of wood, and in veſſels of ſtone.

20 And Moſes and Aaron did ſo, as the Lord commanded: and he lift up the rod and ſmote the waters that were in the river, in the ſight of Pharaoh, and in the ſight of his ſervants: and all the waters that were in the river were turned to blood.

21 And the fiſh that was in the river died, and the river ſtank, and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river: and there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt.

22 And the magicians of Egypt did ſo with their inchantments: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, neither did he hearken unto them; as the Lord had ſaid.

23 And Pharaoh turned and went into his houſe, neither did he ſet his heart to this alſo.

24 And all the Egyptians digged round about the river for water to drink; for they could not drink of the water of the river.

25 And ſeven days were fulfilled, after that the Lord had ſmitten the river.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Frogs are ſent. 16 The duſt turned into lice. 20 The ſwarms of flies. 32 Pharaoh is hardened.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Go unto Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me.

2 And if thou refuſe to let them go, behold, I will ſmite all thy borders with frogs.

3 And the river ſhall bring forth frogs abundantly, which ſhall go up and come into thine houſe, and into thy bed-chamber, and upon thy bed, and into the houſe of thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, and into thy kneading-troughs.

4 And the frogs ſhall come up both on thee, and upon thy people, and upon all thy ſervants.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Stretch forth thine hand with thy rod over the ſtreams, over the rivers, and over the ponds, and cauſe frogs to come up upon the land of Egypt.

6 And Aaron ſtretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt; and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt.

7 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments, and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt.

8 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid, Intreat the Lord that he may take away the frogs from me, and from my people: and I will let the people go, that they may do ſacrifice unto the Lord.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Pharaoh, Glory over me: when ſhall I entreat for thee, and for thy ſervants, and for thy people, to deſtroy the frogs from thee, and thy houſes, that they may remain in the river only?

10 And he ſaid, To-morrow. And he ſaid, be it according to thy word: that thou mayeſt know, that there is none like unto the Lord our God.

11 And the frogs ſhall depart from thee, and from thy houſes, and from thy ſervants, and from thy people; they ſhall remain in the river only.

12 And Moſes and Aaron went out from Pharaoh: and Moſes cried unto the Lord, becauſe of the frogs which he had brought againſt Pharaoh.

13 And the Lord did according to the word of Moſes: and the frogs died out of the houſes, out of the villages, and out of the fields.

14 And they gathered them together upon heaps: and the land ſtank.

15 But when Pharaoh ſaw that there was reſpite, he hardened his heart, and hearkened not unto them; as the Lord had ſaid.

16 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto Aaran, Stretch out thy rod, and ſmite the duſt of the land, that it may become lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

17 And they did ſo; for Aaron ſtretched out his hand with his rod, and ſmote the duſt of the earth, and it became lice in man and in beaſt: all the duſt of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

18 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments, to bring forth lice, but they could not: ſo there were lice upon man and upon beaſt.

19 Then the magicians ſaid unto Pharaoh: This is the finger of God: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he hearkened not unto them; as the Lord had ſaid.

20 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, (lo, he cometh forth to the water) and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me.

21 Elſe, if thou wilt not let my people go, behold, I will ſend ſwarms of flies upon thee, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thy houſes: and the houſes of the Egyptians ſhall be full of ſwarms of flies, and alſo the ground whereon they are:

22 And I will ſever in that day the land of Goſhen, in which my people dwell, that no ſwarms of flies ſhall be there; to the end thou mayeſt know, that I am the Lord in the midſt of the earth.

23 And I will put a diviſion between my people

18 And the fiſh that is in the river ſhall die.) Here are three grievous effects of this plague, namely, the deſtruction of the fiſh, the ſtench occaſioned by their death, and the want of water to drink, there being hardly any other in Egypt, except that of the Nile.

22 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments.) By their effecting the like change in the waters, Pharaoh vainly imagined that his god was as powerful as the God of the Hebrews. The Divine Being permitted theſe deluded men thus far to ſucceed in their oppoſition, in order to render their impious folly the more conſpicuous; ſince, by permitting them to change the waters into blood, and putting it out of their power to reſtore them to their former ſtate, and by permitting them to produce frogs, which they were not able to remove, they only increaſed thoſe plagues upon themſelves and their countrymen. And though the ſorcerers of Egypt were able in ſome meaſure, to imitate a few of the firſt works of Moſes, yet they were forced quickly to ſubmit, and to own the inimitable power of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

8 Intreat the Lord that he may take away the frogs.) This is the very man who proudly ſaid ſome time ago, Who is the Lord? But now he is forced to have recourſe to Moſes and Aaron, to become interceſſors to the Lord for him.

14 And they gathered them together upon heaps.) God could eaſily have diſſolved them into duſt; but he would have them lie dead before their eyes, to convince them they were real frogs, and no illuſion.

and thy people: to-morrow ſhall this ſign be.

24 And the Lord did ſo: and there came a grievous ſwarm of flies into the houſe of Pharaoh, and into his ſervants houſes, and into all the land of Egypt, the land was corrupted by reaſon of the ſwarm of flies.

25 And Pharaoh called for Moſes, and for Aaron, and ſaid, Go ye, ſacrifice to your God in the land.

26 And Moſes ſaid, It is not meet ſo to do: for we ſhall ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians to the Lord our God: Lo, ſhall we ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and will they not ſtone us?

27 We will go three days journey into the wilderneſs, and ſacrifice to the Lord our God, as he ſhall command us.

28 And Pharaoh ſaid, I will let you go, that ye may ſacrifice to the Lord your God, in the wilderneſs; only you ſhall not go very far away: intreat for me.

29 And Moſes ſaid, Behold, I go out from thee, and I will intreat the Lord, that the ſwarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people, to-morrow: but let not Pharaoh deal deceitfully any more, in not letting the people go to ſacrifice to the Lord.

30 And Moſes went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the Lord.

31 And the Lord did according to the word of Moſes: and he removed the ſwarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people: there remained not one.

32 And Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time alſo, neither would he let the people go.

CHAP. IX.

1 The murrain of beaſts. 8 The plague of boils and blains. 22 The plague of hail.

THEN the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me.

2 For if thou refuſe to let them go, and wilt hold them ſtill,

3 Behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thy cattle which is in the field, upon the horſes, upon the aſſes, upon the camels, upon the oxen, and upon the ſheep: there ſhall be a very grievous murrain.

4 And the Lord ſhall ſever between the cattle of Iſrael, and the cattle of Egypt, and there ſhall nothing die of all that is the children's of Iſrael.

5 And the Lord appointed a ſet time, ſaying, To-morrow the Lord ſhall do this thing in the land.

6 And the Lord did that thing on the morrow, and all the cattle of Egypt died: but of the cattle of the children of Iſrael died not one.

7 And Pharaoh ſent, and behold, there was not one of the cattle of the Iſraelites dead. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

8 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, Take to you handfuls of aſhes of the furnace, and let Moſes ſprinkle it toward the heaven in the ſight of Pharaoh:

9 And it ſhall become ſmall duſt in all the land of Egypt, and ſhall be a boil breaking forth with blains, upon man and upon beaſt, throughout all the land of Egypt.

10 And they took aſhes of the furnace, and ſtood before Pharaoh, and Moſes ſprinkled it up toward heaven: and it became a boil breaking forth with blains upon man and upon beaſt.

11 And the magicians could not ſtand before Moſes, becauſe of the boil: for the boil was upon the magicians, and upon all the Egyptians.

12 And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkened not unto them; as the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes.

13 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me.

14 For I will at this time ſend all my plagues upon thine heart, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people: that thou mayeſt know that there is none like me in all the earth.

15 For now I will ſtretch out my hand, that I may ſmite thee and thy people with peſtilence; and thou ſhalt be cut off from the earth.

16 And in very deed for this cauſe have I raiſed thee up, for to ſhew in thee my power; and that my name may be declared throughout all the earth.

17 As yet exalteſt thou thyſelf againſt my people, that thou wilt not let them go?

18 Behold, to-morrow about this time, I will cauſe it to rain a very grievous hail, ſuch as hath not been in Egypt, ſince the foundation thereof, even until now.

19 Send therefore now and gather thy cattle, and all that thou haſt in the field: for upon every man and beaſt which ſhall be found in the field, and ſhall not be brought home, the hail ſhall come down upon them, and they ſhall die.

20 He that feared the word of the Lord amongſt the ſervants of Pharaoh, made his ſervants and his cattle flee into the houſes, 21 And he that regarded not the word of the Lord, left his ſervants and his cattle in the field.

22 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt, upon man and upon beaſt, and 23 And I will put a diviſion between my people, and thy people.) Here the God of Iſrael has plainly expreſſed his diſtinguiſhing mercy to his people, which muſt be underſtood in all the other plagues: and hence we may learn, that the Almighty will never leave thoſe who ſincerely truſt in him: they muſt not indeed, expect, when his judgments are in the earth, to be covered with the hollow of his hand, and exempted from all misfortunes: no, they muſt expect chaſtiſements; but ſuch as will work out for them a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.

26 Shall we ſacrifice the abomination, &c.) That is, ſhall we ſacrifice to our God the Egyptian idols, thoſe animals which they account ſacred, and the ſlaying of which they conſider as a crime, or an abomination.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

11 And the magicians could not ſtand before Moſes.) This plague completed the defeat of the magicians, as it evidently demonſtrated their vanity in oppoſing Moſes, when they could not even defend their own perſons from being tormented by this inflamation: and accordingly they are never mentioned again; poſſibly they were now rendered ſo contemptible in the eyes of Pharaoh and his ſervants, that they durſt not again look either Moſes or Pharaoh in the face.

14 That thou mayeſt know that there is none like me in all the earth.) Three reaſons are aſſigned why God was pleaſed to execute theſe ſevere judgments upon Pharaoh and his people. One is expreſſed in theſe words, that thou mayeſt know, &c. that is, to teach thee by ſad experience, ſince thou art not otherwiſe to be convinced, that my power is ſuperior to all other. Another is declared in the next verſe, that my name may be declared throughout all the earth; that is, to give an exemplary demonſtrative proof to all nations of my divine power and juſtice. A third is added, chap. x. 2. That the Iſraelites and their poſterity might be ſtedfaſtly engaged to worſhip him alone, who had wrought ſuch wonders of power in their behalf; and accordingly we find Moſes and the other prophets, conſtantly reminding the Iſraelites of theſe miracles, in order to eſtabliſh them in their duty.

upon every herb of the field, throughout all the land of Egypt.

23 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod toward heaven: and the Lord ſent thunder and hail, and the fire ran along upon the ground; and the Lord rained hail upon the land of Egypt.

24 So there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very grievous, ſuch as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt ſince it became a nation.

25 And the hail ſmote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beaſt: and the hail ſmote every herb of the field, and brake every tree of the field.

26 Only in the land of Goſhen, where the children of Iſrael were, was there no hail.

27 And Pharaoh ſent, and called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid unto them, I have ſinned this time; the Lord is righteous, and I and my people are wicked.

28 Intreat the Lord, (for it is enough) that there be no more mighty thunderings and hail; and I will let you go, and ye ſhall ſtay no longer.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto him, As ſoon as I am gone out of the city, I will ſpread abroad my hands unto the Lord: and the thunder ſhall ceaſe, neither ſhall there be any more hail; that thou mayeſt know, how that the earth is the Lord's.

30 But as for thee and thy ſervants, I know that ye will not yet fear the Lord God.

31 And the flax and the barley was ſmitten: for the barley was in the ear, and the flax was boiled.

32 But the wheat and the rye were not ſmitten: for they were not grown up.

33 And Moſes went out of the city from Pharaoh, and ſpread abroad his hands unto the Lord: and the thunders and hail ceaſed, and the rain was not poured upon the earth.

34 And when Pharaoh ſaw that the rain, and the hail, and the thunders were ceaſed, he ſinned yet more and hardened his heart, he and his ſervants.

35 And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, neither would he let the children of Iſrael go; as the Lord had ſpoken by Moſes.

CHAP. X.

12 The plague of locuſts; 21 of darkneſs. 27 Pharaoh's heart is yet hardened.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh: for I have hardened his heart, and the heart of his ſervants; that I might ſhew theſe my ſigns before him.

2 And that thou mayeſt tell in the ears of thy ſon, and of thy ſon's ſon, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my ſigns which I have done amongſt them: that ye may know how that I am the Lord.

3 And Moſes and Aaron came in unto Pharaoh, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews, How long wilt thou refuſe to humble thyſelf before me? Let my people go, that they may ſerve me.

4 Elſe, if thou refuſe to let my people go, behold, to-morrow will I bring the locuſts into thy coaſt.

5 And they ſhall cover the face of the earth, that one cannot be able to ſee the earth: and they ſhall eat the reſidue of that which is eſcaped, which remaineth unto you from the hail, and ſhall eat every tree which groweth for you out of the field.

6 And they ſhall fill thy houſes, and the houſes of all thy ſervants, and the houſes of all the Egyptians; which neither thy fathers nor thy fathers' fathers have ſeen ſince the day that they were upon the earth unto this day. And he turned and went out from Pharaoh.

7 And Pharaoh's ſervants ſaid unto him, How long ſhall this man be a ſnare unto us? let the men go, that they may ſerve the Lord their God: knoweſt thou not yet that Egypt is deſtroyed?

8 And Moſes and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh: and he ſaid unto them, Go, ſerve the Lord your God: but who are they that ſhall go?

9 And Moſes ſaid, We will go with our young and with our old, with our ſons and with our daughters, with our flocks and with our herds will we go: for we muſt hold a feaſt unto the Lord.

10 And he ſaid unto them, Let the Lord be ſo with you, as I will let you go and your little ones: look to it: for evil is before you.

11 Not ſo: go now ye that are men, and ſerve the Lord; for that ye did deſire. And they were driven out from Pharaoh's preſence.

12 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt, for the locuſts, that they may come up upon the land of Egypt, and eat every herb of the land, even all that the hail hath left.

13 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the Lord brought an eaſt-wind upon the land all that day and all that night: and when it was morning the eaſt-wind brought the locuſts.

14 And the locuſts went up over all the land of Egypt, and reſted in all the coaſts of Egypt: very grievous were they; before them there were no ſuch locuſts as they, neither after them ſhall be ſuch.

15 For they covered the face of the whole earth, ſo that the land was darkened; and they did eat every 29 The earth is the Lord's.) The heathens were perſuaded that every country had its particular deity, whoſe power did not extend to the territories of his brother gods. In oppoſition to this notion Moſes gives Pharaoh to underſtand, that Jehovah was not only the God of the Hebrews, but of the whole earth. It was he who weighed the mountains in ſcales, and the hills in a balance; who proportioned the waters in the hollow of his hand, and adjuſted the duſt of the earth with meaſure; who poiſed the ſtars with inexpreſſible nicety, and meted out the heavens with a ſpan! And ſurely this great Jehovah can effect every thing for his people. Be their miſeries ever ſo galling, cannot this God relieve them? Be their wants ever ſo numerous, cannot this God ſupply them? Be their corruptions within ever ſo inveterate, or their temptations ever ſo importunate, cannot this mighty God ſubdue the one, and fortify them againſt the other? O my ſoul, ſhould trials with an inceſſant vehemence ſift thee as wheat; ſhould tribulation, with a weight of woes, almoſt grind thee to powder; ſhould pleaſure, with her bewitching ſmiles, ſolicit thee to delicious ruin; yet hold thee faſt by God, and lay thy help upon him that is omnipotent; upon the God of the whole earth.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

5 They ſhall cover the face of the earth.) The ſwarms of locuſts, in the eaſtern countries, are almoſt incredible. Thevenot tells us, "That in that part of Scythia which the Coſſacks now inhabit, there are infinite numbers of them, eſpecially in dry ſeaſons, which the north-eaſt wind brings over from Tartary like a vaſt cloud, ſometimes fifteen or eighteen miles long, and about ten or twelve miles broad, ſo that they quite darken the ſky, and make the brighteſt day obſcure; and that where ever they light, they devour all the corn in leſs than two hours time, and frequently make a famine in the country. Theſe inſects, he adds, live about ſix months; and when they are dead, the ſtench of them ſo corrupts and infects the air, that it very often occaſions dreadful peſtilences;" So that one of theſe deſtroying armies of locuſts, being ſent upon Egypt, might well be ſaid to cover the face of the earth.

9 And Moſes ſaid we will go with our young, &c.) Moſes, at the end of the verſe, gives the reaſon why all were to go; namely, becauſe they were to hold a feaſt unto the Lord, and in theſe ſolemnities the whole body of the nation, men, women, and children, aſſiſted. Pharaoh was no ſtranger to this; for theſe feaſts were common in Egypt, and celebrated by all the inhabitants, men, women, and children.

herb of the land, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left: and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field through all the land of Egypt.

16 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron in haſte; and he ſaid, I have ſinned againſt the Lord your God, and againſt you.

17 Now therefore forgive, I pray thee, my ſin only this once, and intreat the Lord your God, that he may take away from me this death only.

18 And he went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the Lord.

19 And the Lord turned a mighty ſtrong weſt-wind, which took away the locuſts, and caſt them into the Red-ſea: there remained not one locuſt in all the coaſts of Egypt.

20 But the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, ſo that he would not let the children of Iſrael go.

21 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand toward heaven, that there may be darkneſs over the land of Egypt: even darkneſs which may be felt.

22 And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand toward heaven; and there was a thick darkneſs in all the land of Egypt three days.

23 They ſaw not one another, neither roſe any from his place for three days: but all the children of Iſrael had light in their dwellings.

24 And Pharaoh called unto Moſes, and ſaid, Go ye, ſerve the Lord: only let your flocks and your herds be ſtayed, let your little ones alſo go with you.

25 And Moſes ſaid, Thou muſt give us alſo ſacrifices, and burnt-offerings, that we may ſacrifice unto the Lord our God;

26 Our cattle alſo ſhall go with us; there ſhall not an hoof be left behind; for thereof muſt we take to ſerve the Lord our God; and we know not with what we muſt ſerve the Lord until we come thither.

27 ¶ But the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let them go.

28 And Pharaoh ſaid unto him, Get thee from me, take heed to thyſelf, ſee my face no more: for in that day thou ſeeſt my face, thou ſhalt die.

29 And Moſes ſaid, Thou haſt ſpoken well, I will ſee thy face again no more.

CHAP. XI.

1 God's meſſage to the Iſraelites to borrow jewels of their neighbours. 4 The death of the firſt-born threatened.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go hence: when he ſhall let you go, he ſhall ſurely thruſt you out hence altogether.

2 Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold.

3 And the Lord gave the people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians. Moreover the man Moſes was very great in the land of Egypt, in the ſight of Pharaoh's ſervants, and in the ſight of the people.

4 And Moſes ſaid, Thus ſaith the Lord, About midnight will I go out into the midſt of Egypt.

5 And all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt ſhall die, from the firſt-born of Pharaoh, that ſitteth upon his throne, even unto the firſt-born of the maid-ſervant that is behind the mill: and all the firſt-born of beaſts.

6 And there ſhall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, ſuch as there was none like it, nor ſhall be like it any more.

7 But againſt any of the children of Iſrael ſhall not a dog move his tongue, againſt man or beaſt; that ye may know how that the Lord doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Iſrael.

8 And all theſe thy ſervants ſhall come down unto me, and bow down themſelves unto me, ſaying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee; and after that I will go out: and he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Pharaoh ſhall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 And Moſes and Aaron did all theſe wonders before Pharaoh; and the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, ſo that he would not let the children of Iſrael go out of his land.

CHAP. XII.

3 The paſſover inſtituted. 29 The firſt-born are ſlain. 31 The Iſraelites are driven out of the land.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 This month ſhall be unto you the beginning of months: it ſhall be the firſt month of the year to you.

3 ¶ Speak ye unto all the congregation of Iſrael, ſaying, In the tenth day of this month they ſhall take to them every man a lamb, according to the houſe of their fathers, a lamb for an houſe.

4 And if the houſhold be too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbour next unto his houſe take it, according to the number of the ſouls; every man ac-

17 Take away from me this death.) As the locuſts ravaged the fields, killed the trees and plants, and deſtroyed the ſupports of human life, they are juſtly called a death, or deadly plague.

21 Darkneſs which may be felt.) That is, Darkneſs attended with ſuch groſs clammy moiſture, as may affect them in the moſt ſenſible manner. The lazy louring vapours wove ſo thick a veil, that the rays of the meridian ſun could not penetrate. What gloom then muſt overwhelm the nocturnal hours! All was pitchy darkneſs, without one enlivening ray. How ſolemn, how awful, muſt ſuch a ſcene appear! It muſt reſemble the return of chaos, or the ſhroud of nature!

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

3 Moreover the man Moſes was very great.) That is, all the Egyptians held him in great eſteem and veneration, as a perſon who had extraordinary power with God. And hence we ſee the reaſon why Pharaoh did not attempt any thing againſt his perſon, and alſo why he and the Iſraelites found ſo much favour in the ſight of the Egyptians.

5 From the firſt-born of Pharaoh, that ſitteth upon his throne, even unto the firſt-born of the maid-ſervant that is behind the mill.) That is, all in general, from the higheſt to the loweſt. For it ſhould be obſerved, that the grinding at the mill was the work of the moſt abject ſlaves. And hence we ſee, with what propriety, the prophet Iſaiah marks the ſad reverſe of fortune which attended Babylon, by repreſenting her tender virgins as ſlaves condemned to drudge at the mill. See Iſaiah xlvii. 1, 2.

7 Shall not a dog move his tongue.) This is a proverbial expreſſion, implying, that in that memorable night all ſhall be peace and quietneſs among the Iſraelites; no fearful outcry ſhall terrify them, nor ſhrieks of terror invade their habitations.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

2 This month ſhall be unto you the beginning of months.) The month from whence you ſhall begin the year; for before this tranſaction their year commenced about the autumnal equinox; but to commemorate their happy deliverance from Egypt, was to commence from this month, which they called Abib, an ear of corn, becauſe the corn was then eared in that country. It anſwers nearly to our March.

cording

cording to his eating, ſhall make your count for the lamb.

5 Your lamb ſhall be without blemiſh, a male of the firſt year: ye ſhall take it out from the ſheep or from the goats.

6 And ye ſhall keep it up until the fourteenth day of the ſame month; and the whole aſſembly of the congregation of Iſrael ſhall kill it in the evening.

7 And they ſhall take of the blood, and ſtrike it on the two ſide-poſts and on the upper door-poſt of the houſes, wherein they ſhall eat it.

8 And they ſhall eat the fleſh in that night; roaſt with fire, and unleavened bread, and with bitter herbs they ſhall eat it.

9 Eat not of it raw, nor ſodden at all with water, but roaſt with fire, his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof.

10 And ye ſhall let nothing of it remain until the morning: and that which remaineth of it until the morning, ye ſhall burn with fire.

11 ¶ And thus ſhall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your ſhoes on your feet, and your ſtaff in your hand: and ye ſhall eat it in haſte; it is the Lord's paſſover.

12 For I will paſs through the land of Egypt this night, and will ſmite all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beaſt; and againſt all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgment: I am the Lord.

13 And the blood ſhall be to you for a token upon the houſes where ye are: and when I ſee the blood I will paſs over you, and the plague ſhall not be upon you to deſtroy you, when I ſmite the land of Egypt.

14 And this day ſhall be unto you for a memorial; and ye ſhall keep it a feaſt to the Lord throughout your generations: ye ſhall keep it a feaſt by an ordinance for ever.

15 Seven days ſhall ye eat unleavened bread: even the firſt day ye ſhall put away leven out of your houſes: for whoſoever eateth leavened bread from the firſt day until the ſeventh day, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael.

16 And in the firſt day there ſhall be an holy convocation, and in the ſeventh day there ſhall be an holy convocation to you: no manner of work ſhall be done in them, ſave that which every man muſt eat, that only may be done of you.

17 And ye ſhall obſerve the feaſt of unleavened bread; for in this ſelf-ſame day have I brought your armies out of the land of Egypt: therefore ſhall ye obſerve this day in your generations by an ordinance for ever.

18 In the firſt month, on the fourteenth day of the month at even, ye ſhall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the month at even.

19 Seven days ſhall there be no leven found in your houſes; for whoſoever eateth that which is leavened, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from the congregation of Iſrael, whether he be a ſtranger, or born in the land.

20 Ye ſhall eat nothing leavened: in all your habitations ſhall ye eat unleavened bread.

21 Then Moſes called for all the elders of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Draw out and take you a lamb according to your families, and kill the paſſover.

22 And ye ſhall take a bunch of hyſſop, and dip it in the blood that is in the baſon, and ſtrike the lintel and the two ſide-poſts with the blood that is in the baſon: and none of you ſhall go out at the door of his houſe until the morning.

23 For the Lord will paſs through to ſmite the Egyptians: and when he ſeeth the blood upon the lintel, and on the two ſide-poſts, the Lord will paſs over the door, and will not ſuffer the deſtroyer to come in unto your houſes to ſmite you.

24 And ye ſhall obſerve this thing for an ordinance to thee and to thy ſons for ever.

25 And it ſhall come to paſs, when ye be come to the land which the Lord will give you, according as he hath promiſed, that ye ſhall keep this ſervice.

26 And it ſhall come to paſs when your children ſhall ſay unto you, What mean ye by this ſervice?

27 That ye ſhall ſay, It is the ſacrifice of the Lord's paſſover, who paſſed over the houſes of the children of Iſrael in Egypt, when he ſmote the Egyptians, and delivered our houſes. And the people bowed the head and worſhipped.

28 And the children of Iſrael went away, and did as the Lord had commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they.

29 ¶ And it came to paſs, that at midnight the Lord ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, from the firſt-born of Pharaoh that ſat on his throne, unto the firſt-born of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the firſt-born of cattle.

30 And Pharaoh roſe up in the night, he and all his ſervants, and all the Egyptians: and there was a great cry in Egypt: for there was not a houſe where there was not one dead.

31 ¶ And he called for Moſes and Aaron by night, and ſaid, Riſe up, and get ye forth from among my people, both ye and the children of Iſrael; and go ſerve the Lord, as ye have ſaid.

32 Alſo take your flocks and your herds, as ye have ſaid, and begone: and bleſs me alſo.

33 And the Egyptians were urgent upon the people, that they might ſend them out of the land in haſte: for they ſaid, We be all dead men.

34 And the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading-troughs being bound up in their clothes upon their ſhoulders.

35 And the children of Iſrael did according to the word of Moſes: and they borrowed of the Egyptians

5 Your lamb ſhall be without blemiſh, &c.) There was much of the goſpel in this ordinance; it is often referred to in the New Teſtament, and to us in it is the goſpel preached, and not to them only who could not ſtedfaſtly look to the end of theſe things, Heb. iv. 2. The paſchal lamb was typical of Chriſt our paſſover, and the redemption of the true Iſrael by his blood. It was to be a lamb, and Chriſt is the Lamb of God, often in the Revelation called the Lamb, meek, and innocent as a lamb, dumb before the ſhearers, before the butchers. It was to be a male of the firſt year, in its prime; Chriſt offered up himſelf in the midſt of his days, not in infancy with the babes of Bethlehem: It notes the ſtrength and ſufficiency of the Lord Jeſus, on whom our help was laid. It was to be without blemiſh, noting the purity of the Lord Jeſus, a Lamb without ſpot, 1 Pet. i. 19. The judge that condemned him (as if his trial were only like the ſcrutiny that was made concerning the ſacrifices, whether they were without blemiſh or no) pronounced him innocent. It was to be ſet apart four days before, noting the deſignation of the Lord Jeſus to be a Saviour both in the purpoſe and in the promiſe: It is very obſervable that as Chriſt was crucified at the paſſover, ſo he ſolemnly entered into Jeruſalem four days before, the very day that the paſchal lamb was ſet apart. It was to be ſlain and roaſted with fire, noting the exquiſite ſufferings of the Lord Jeſus, even unto death, the death of the croſs; the wrath of God is as fire, and Chriſt was made a curſe for us. It was to be killed by the whole congregation between the two evenings, i. e between three o'clock and ſix: Chriſt ſuffered in the latter end of the world, by the hand of the Jews, the whole multitude of them, and for the good of all his ſpiritual Iſrael. Not a bone of it muſt be broken, which is expreſsly ſaid to be fulfilled in Chriſt, John xix. 33, 36.

32 Bleſs me alſo.) That is, pray to Jehovah, that I and my people may be delivered from this terrible peſtilence. Well might the Egyptian monarch pray to be delivered from the ſcourge of the Lord; for ſurely ſuch a ſudden deadly blow was never before given to any nation of the earth; this might with the greateſt propriety, be called the peſtilence that walketh in darkneſs, jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment.

36 And the Lord gave the people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians, ſo that they lent unto them ſuch things as they required: and they ſpoiled the Egyptians.

37 And the children of Iſrael journeyed from Rameſes to Succoth, about ſix hundred thouſand on foot that were men, beſides children.

38 And a mixed multitude went up alſo with them; and flocks and herds, even very much cattle.

39 And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought forth out of Egypt: for it was not leavened; becauſe they were thruſt out of Egypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themſelves any victual.

40 Now the ſojourning of the children of Iſrael, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years.

41 And it came to paſs, at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, even the ſelf-ſame day it came to paſs, that all the hoſts of the Lord went out from the land of Egypt.

42 It is a night to be much obſerved unto the Lord, for bringing them out from the land of Egypt: this is that night of the Lord to be obſerved of all the children of Iſrael in their generations.

43 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes and Aaron, This is the ordinance of the paſſover: there ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof.

44 But every man's ſervant that is bought for money, when thou haſt circumciſed him, then ſhall he eat thereof.

45 A foreigner, and an hired ſervant ſhall not eat thereof.

46 In one houſe ſhall it be eaten; thou ſhalt not carry forth ought of the fleſh abroad out of the houſe: neither ſhall ye break a bone thereof.

47 All the congregation of Iſrael ſhall keep it.

48 And when a ſtranger ſhall ſojourn with thee, and will keep the paſſover to the Lord, let all his males be circumciſed, and then let him come near and keep it; and he ſhall be as one that is born in the land: for no uncircumciſed perſon ſhall eat thereof.

49 One law ſhall be to him that is home-born, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among you.

50 Thus did all the children of Iſrael: as the Lord commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they.

51 And it came to paſs the ſelf-ſame day, that the Lord did bring the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt by their armies.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The firſt-born ſanctified to God. 3 The memorial of the paſſover is commanded. 21 God guideth them by a pillar of a cloud and of fire.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Sanctify unto me all the firſt-born, whatſoever openeth the womb among the children of Iſrael, both of man and of beaſt: it is mine.

3 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Remember this day in which ye came out from Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage; for by ſtrength of hand the Lord brought you out from this place: there ſhall no leavened bread be eaten.

4 This day came ye out in the month Abib.

5 And it ſhall be when the Lord ſhall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, which he ſware unto thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, that thou ſhalt keep this ſervice in this month.

6 Seven days thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread, and in the ſeventh day ſhall be a feaſt to the Lord.

7 Unleavened bread ſhall be eaten ſeven days; and there ſhall no leavened bread be ſeen with thee, neither ſhall there be leaven ſeen with thee in all thy quarters.

8 And thou ſhalt ſhew thy ſon in that day, ſaying, This is done becauſe of that which the Lord did unto me, when I came forth out of Egypt.

9 And it ſhall be for a ſign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes; that the Lord's law may be in thy mouth: for with a ſtrong hand hath the Lord brought thee out of Egypt.

10 Thou ſhalt therefore keep this ordinance in his ſeaſon from year to year.

11 And it ſhall be when the Lord ſhall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he ſware unto thee, and to thy fathers, and ſhall give it thee,

12 That thou ſhalt ſet apart unto the Lord all that openeth the matrix; and every firſtling that cometh of a beaſt which thou haſt, the males ſhall be the Lord's.

13 And every firſtling of an aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou ſhalt break his neck: and all the firſt-born of man amongſt thy children ſhalt thou redeem.

14 And it ſhall be when thy ſon aſketh thee in time to come, ſaying, What is this? that thou ſhalt ſay unto him, By ſtrength of hand the Lord brought us out from Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

15 And it came to paſs when Pharaoh would hardly let us go, that the Lord ſlew all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both the firſt-born of man and the firſt-born of beaſt: therefore I ſacrifice to the Lord all that openeth the matrix, being males, but all the firſt-born of my children I redeem.

16 And it ſhall be for a token upon thine hand, and for frontlets between thine eyes; for by ſtrength of hand the Lord brought us forth out of Egypt.

37 About ſix hundred thouſand on foot that were men.) That is, perſons fit for war, or twenty years old or upwards. But this was not above one third of the whole number of the people that went up out of Egypt. A ſurpriſing increaſe in little more than two hundred years, from ſeventy perſons that went down into Egypt!

41 All the hoſts of the Lord.) They are termed the hoſts of the Lord, becauſe he led them by a pillar of a cloud during their whole rout through the wilderneſs. And from the word hoſts we learn, that they did not go out of Egypt in a wild and confuſed manner, but in good order, like troops marching to meet the enemy: And probably the princes of the tribes were now acknowledged a ſort of general officers of the tribes, and the heads of families ſubordinate officers in their reſpective families.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

2 Sanctify to me the firſt-born.) That is, let them be accounted ſacred, and ſet apart from the congregation; that all the people might remember the tender mercy of the Almighty in ſparing them, when thoſe of the Egyptians were deſtroyed.

Both of man and beaſts: it is mine.) This was afterwards revoked, the Levites being choſen to officiate in their ſtead at the altar: and the firſt-born ordered to be redeemed at a certain price, which was part of the prieſts' maintenance.

8 And thou ſhalt ſhew thy ſon in that day.) Here Moſes commands the Iſraelites to inform their children, when they were ſettled in the land of Canaan, of the true intent and meaning of the paſſover, that they might offer thankſgivings to the God of their fathers, who had ſo miraculouſly delivered his people from the ſlaviſh bondage of the Egyptians.

13 All the firſt-born of man among thy children ſhalt thou redeem.) The price of the redemption of the firſt-born was fixed by law, five ſhekels: we were all obnoxious to the wrath and curſe of God, by the blood of Chriſt we are redeemed that we may be joined to the Church of the firſt-born. They were to redeem both their children, and the firſtlings of the unclean beaſts, for our children are by nature polluted, Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?

17 And

17 And it came to paſs, when Pharaoh had let the people go, that God led them not through the way of the land of the Philiſtines, although that was near; for God ſaid, Leſt peradventure the people repent when they ſee war, and they return to Egypt.

18 But God led the people about, through the way of the wilderneſs of the Red ſea. And the children of Iſrael went up harneſſed out of the land of Egypt.

19 And Moſes took the bones of Joſeph with him: for he had ſtraitly ſworn the children of Iſrael, ſaying, God will ſurely viſit you; and ye ſhall carry up my bones away hence with you.

20 And they took their journey from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderneſs.

21 ¶ And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them by the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night.

22 He took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from before the people.

CHAP. XIV.

5 Pharaoh purſueth. 10 The Iſraelites murmur. 21 They paſs through the Red ſea. 27 The Egyptians drowned.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the ſea, over againſt Baal-zephon: before it ſhall ye encamp by the ſea.

3 For Pharaoh will ſay of the children of Iſrael, They are entangled in the land, the wilderneſs hath ſhut them in.

4 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, that he ſhall follow after them; and I will be honoured upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt; that the Egyptians may know that I am the Lord. And they did ſo.

5 ¶ And it was told the king of Egypt that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his ſervants was turned againſt the people, and they ſaid, Why have we done this, that we have let Iſrael go from ſerving us?

6 And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him.

7 And he took ſix hundred choſen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt, and captains over every one of them.

8 And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he purſued after the children of Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand.

9 But the Egyptians purſued after them, all the horſes and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horſemen, and his army, and overtook them encamping by the ſea, beſide Pi-hahiroth before Baal-zephon.

10 ¶ And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Iſrael lift up their eyes, and behold the Egyptians marched after them; and they were ſore afraid: and the children of Iſrael cried out unto the Lord.

11 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Becauſe there were no graves in Egypt, haſt thou taken us away to die in the wilderneſs? wherefore haſt thou dealt thus with us, to carry us forth out of Egypt?

12 Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt, ſaying, Let us alone, that we may ſerve the Egyptians? for it had been better for us to ſerve the Egyptians than that we ſhould die in the wilderneſs.

13 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear ye not, ſtand ſtill, and ſee the ſalvation of the Lord, which he will ſhew to you to-day: for the Egyptians whom ye have ſeen to-day, ye ſhall ſee them again no more for ever.

14 The Lord ſhall fight for you, and ye ſhall hold your peace.

15 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Wherefore crieſt thou unto me? ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, that they go forward.

16 But lift thou up thy rod, and ſtretch out thine hand over the ſea, and divide it: and the children of Iſrael ſhall go on dry ground through the midſt of the ſea.

17 And I, behold, I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they ſhall follow them: and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen.

18 And the Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen.

19 And the angel of God which went before the camp of Iſrael, removed and went behind them: and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and 17 God led them not through the way of the land of the Philiſtines.) There were two ways from Egypt to Canaan; one was a ſhort cut from the north of Egypt to the ſouth of Canaan, perhaps about four or five days journey; the other was much farther about through the wilderneſs, and that was the way which God choſe to lead his people Iſrael in. There were many reaſons why God led them this way: the Egyptians were to be drowned in the Red ſea, the Iſraelites were to be humbled and proved in the wilderneſs; God had given it to Moſes for a ſign; Ye ſhall ſerve God in this mountain; They had again and again told Pharaoh, that they muſt go three days journey into the wilderneſs to do ſacrifice, and therefore it was requiſite they ſhould bend their march that way, elſe they had been juſtly exclaimed againſt as notorious diſſemblers.

21 And the Lord went before them, &c.) The Shechinah, or appearance of the Divine Majeſty, which was typical of Chriſt, or a previous manifeſtation of the eternal Word, which in the fulneſs of time was to be made fleſh and dwell among us. Chriſt was with the church in the wilderneſs, 1 Cor. x. 9. Now their king paſſed before them, even the Lord on the head of them, Mic. ii. 13. They had ſenſible evidences of God's going before them; they all ſaw an appearance from heaven of a pillar, which in the bright day appeared cloudy, and in the dark night appeared fiery; God gave them this occular demonſtration of his preſence, in compaſſion to the infirmity of their faith, and in compliance with that infant ſtate of the Church, which needed to be thus liſped to in their own language. They had ſenſible effects of God's going before them in this pillar; for it led them the way in that vaſt howling wilderneſs, in which there was no road, no track, no way-marks, of which they had no maps, through which they had no guides; when they marched this pillar went before them, at the rate that they could follow, and appointed the place of their encampment, as infinite wiſdom ſaw fit, which both eaſed them from care, and ſecured them from danger, both in moving and in reſting; it ſheltered them from the heat by day, which at ſome times of the year was extreme; it gave them light by night when they had occaſion for it, and at all times made their camp pleaſant, and the wilderneſs they were in leſs frightful.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

10 The Egyptians marched after them, and they were ſore afraid.) They knew very well the ſtrength and rage of the enemy, and their own weakneſs; numerous indeed they were, but all foot, unarmed, undiſciplined, diſquieted by long ſervitude, and penned up by the ſituation of their camp, ſo that they could not make their eſcape. On one hand was Pi-hahiroth, a range of craggy rocks unpaſſable; on the other hand were Migdol and Baal-zephon, which ſome think were forts and garriſons upon the frontiers of Egypt, before them was the ſea, behind them were the Egyptians, ſo that there was no way open for them; in this diſtreſs no wonder that they were ſore afraid; ſome of them cried unto the Lord, others of them murmured againſt Moſes, and gave themſelves up for loſt, as if God's arm was ſhortened all on a ſudden, and he were not as able to work miracles to-day as he was yeſterday, they deſpair of deliverance, and can look upon nothing but dying in the wilderneſs. As the Egyptians were angry at themſelves for the beſt deed they ever did, ſo the Iſraelites were angry at God for the greateſt kindneſs that ever was done them; ſo groſs are the abſurdities of unbelief.

20 And it came between the camp of the Egyptians, and the camp of Iſrael; and it was a cloud and darkneſs to them, but it gave light by night to theſe; ſo that the one came not near the other all the night.

21 ¶ And Moſes ſtretched out his hand over the ſea: and the Lord cauſed the ſea to go back by a ſtrong eaſt-wind all that night, and made the ſea dry-land, and the waters were divided.

22 And the children of Iſrael went into the midſt of the ſea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right-hand and on their left.

23 And the Egyptians purſued, and went in after them to the midſt of the ſea, even all Pharaoh's horſes, his chariots, and his horſemen.

24 And it came to paſs that in the morning watch the Lord looked upon the hoſt of the Egyptians thro' the pillar of fire and of the cloud, and troubled the hoſt of the Egyptians.

25 And took off their chariot wheels, that they drave them heavily: ſo that the Egyptians ſaid, Let us flee from the face of Iſrael, for the Lord fighteth for them againſt the Egyptians.

26 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the ſea, that the waters may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horſemen.

27 ¶ And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand over the ſea; and the ſea returned to his ſtrength when the morning appeared: and the Egyptians fled againſt it; and the Lord overthrew the Egyptians in the midſt of the ſea.

28 And the waters returned and covered the chariots, and the horſemen, and all the hoſt of Pharaoh that came into the ſea after them: there remained not ſo much as one of them.

29 But the children of Iſrael walked upon dry-land in the midſt of the ſea: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right-hand and on their left.

30 Thus the Lord ſaved Iſrael that day out of the hand of the Egyptians: and Iſrael ſaw the Egyptians dead upon the ſea ſhore.

31 And Iſrael ſaw that great work which the Lord did upon the Egyptians: and the people feared the Lord, and believed the Lord, and his ſervant Moſes.

CHAP. XV.

1 Moſes' ſong. 22 The people want water. 23 The bitter waters at Marah, 25 are ſweetened.

THEN ſang Moſes and the children of Iſrael this ſong unto the Lord, and ſpake ſaying, I will ſing unto the Lord: for he hath triumphed glorioufly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea.

2 The Lord is my ſtrength and ſong, and he is become my ſalvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him.

3 The Lord is a man of war: the Lord is his name.

4 Pharaoh's chariots and his hoſt hath he caſt into the ſea: his choſen captains alſo are drowned in the Red Sea.

5 The depths have covered them: they ſank into the bottom as a ſtone.

6 Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious in power: thy right hand, O Lord, hath daſhed in pieces the enemy.

7 And in the greatneſs of thine excellency thou haſt overthrown them that roſe up againſt thee: thou ſenteſt forth thy wrath, which conſumed them as ſtubble.

8 And with the blaſt of thy noſtrils the waters were gathered together: the floods ſtood upright as an heap, and the depths were congealed in the heart of the ſea.

9 The enemy ſaid, I will purſue, I will overtake, I will divide the ſpoil: my luſt ſhall be ſatisfied upon them; I will draw my ſword, my hand ſhall deſtroy them.

10 Thou didſt blow with thy wind, the ſea covered them: they ſank as lead in the mighty waters.

11 Who is like unto thee, O Lord, amongſt the gods! Who is like thee, glorious in holineſs, fearful in praiſes, doing wonders!

12 Thou ſtretchedſt out thy right hand, the earth ſwallowed them.

13 Thou in thy mercy haſt led forth the people which thou haſt redeemed: thou haſt guided them in thy ſtrength unto thy holy habitation.

14 Thy people ſhall hear, and be afraid: ſorrow ſhall take hold on the inhabitants of Paleſtina.

15 Then the dukes of Edom ſhall be amazed, the mighty men of Moab, trembling ſhall take hold upon them: all the inhabitants of Canaan ſhall melt away.

16 Fear and dread ſhall fall upon them: by the greatneſs of thine arm they ſhall be as ſtill as a ſtone: till thy people paſs over, O Lord, till the people paſs over, which thou haſt purchaſed.

17 Thou ſhalt bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O Lord, 17 I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they ſhall follow them.) That is, I will ſuffer their own violent paſſions, and proud imaginations, to blind their minds, and harden their hearts to their own deſtruction. Of all the infatuations that ever poſſeſſed the Egyptians, this was the ſtrongeſt, that they ſhould venture to purſue the Iſraelites, when they ſaw, or might have ſeen, the ſea opening her boſom to give them a paſſage: an evident proof that they were under the protection of the God of nature, whoſe voice that unruly element was thus miraculouſly made to obey.

21 And the Lord cauſed the ſea to go back.) The Pſalmiſt gives us a moſt beautiful deſcription of this miracle, by repreſenting the waters ſtruck with amazement at the ſight of God, and ſtarting back in awe of his majeſty: The waters ſaw thee, O God, the waters ſaw thee; they were afraid; the depths alſo were troubled, Pſalm lxxvii. 16.

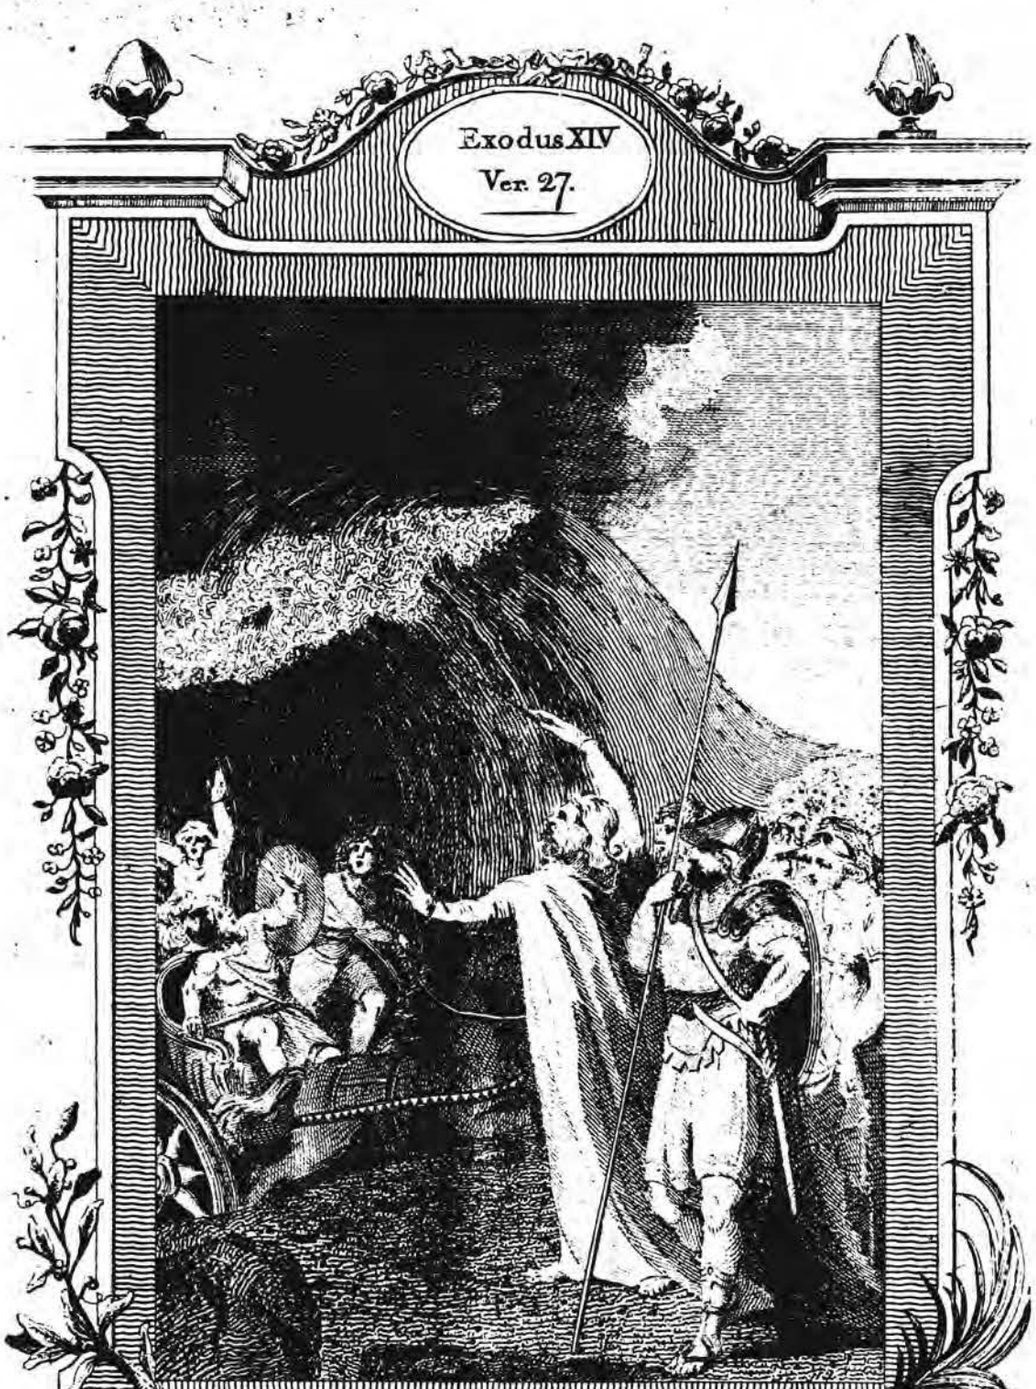
27 The ſea returned to his ſtrength.) This enormous maſs of waters, which had been, as it were, ſuſpended by the power of the great Creator, had now full ſcope given to its impetuous rage.



COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 Thus ſang Moſes, &c.) This ſong is the moſt ancient piece of poetry in the world; but in what kind of meaſure it is compoſed, is not eaſy to determine: nor is this of any great conſequence, ſince every competent judge muſt own, that it contains ſomething much more eſſential to poetry, elevation of ſentiment, and loftineſs of expreſſion; and at the ſame time, that the words are ſo happily ranged, that they are rendered melodious, and fit to be ſung to muſical inſtruments.

8 With the blaſt of thy noſtrils.) A poetical expreſſion for the wind, which blew vehemently by order of the Almighty. It ſtrongly marks the power of God, intimating, that, merely by breathing on the ſea, he had made that unruly element to fly back. The royal Pſalmiſt uſes nearly the ſame expreſſion, when he tells us, that all the hoſts of heaven were made by the breath of his mouth, Pſalm xxiii. 6. And Eliphaz has recourſe to the ſame metaphor, in repreſenting the deſtruction of the wicked: By the blaſt of God they periſh, and by the breath of his noſtrils are they conſumed, Job, iv. 9.

14 Thy people ſhall hear, &c.) The fame of theſe wonders ſhall go before us, ſtriking terror into all the people whoſe countries we are to poſſeſs, and into ſuch as ſhall attempt to obſtruct our paſſage thither. In vain ſhall the warlike Moabites ſeek to reſiſt; in vain ſhall the Edomites bear arms againſt the Almighty. All hearts will fail, all will be ſtill and dead as ſtones, and ſuffer the people choſen of heaven, to enter the inheritance prepared for them.

which thou haſt made for thee to dwell in; in the ſanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have eſtabliſhed.

18 The Lord ſhall reign for ever and ever.

19 For the horſe of Pharaoh, went in with his chariots, and with his horſemen into the ſea, and the Lord brought again the waters of the ſea upon them: but the children of Iſrael went on dry land in the midſt of the ſea.

20 ¶ And Miriam the propheteſs, the ſiſter of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her, with timbrels and with dances.

21 And Miriam anſwered them, Sing ye to the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriouſly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea.

22 So Moſes brought Iſrael from the Red Sea, and they went out into the wilderneſs of Shur: and they went three days in the wilderneſs, and found no water.

23 And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah, for they were bitter: therefore the name of it was called Marah.

24 And the people murmured againſt Moſes, ſaying What ſhall we drink?

25 And he cried unto the Lord, and the Lord ſhewed him a tree, which when he haſt caſt into the waters, the waters were made ſweet: there he made for them a ſtatute and an ordinance, and there he proved them.

26 And ſaid, if thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his ſight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his ſtatutes; I will put none of theſe diſeaſes upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the Lord that healeth thee.

27 And they came to Elim, where were twelve wells of water, and threeſcore and ten palm-trees: and they encamped there by the waters.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Iſraelites murmur for want of bread. 11 Quails are ſent, 14 and manna.

AND they took their journey from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Iſrael came into the wilderneſs of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the ſecond month, after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

2 And the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron in the wilderneſs.

3 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto them, Would to God we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we ſat by the fleſh-pots, and when we did eat bread to the full: for ye have brought us forth into this wilderneſs to kill this whole aſſembly with hunger.

4 Then ſaid the Lord unto Moſes, Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you: and the people ſhall go out and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law, or no.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that on the ſixth day, they ſhall prepare that which they bring in; and it ſhall be twice as much as they gather daily.

6 And Moſes and Aaron ſaid unto all the children of Iſrael, At even, then ye ſhall know that the Lord hath brought you out from the land of Egypt.

7 And in the morning, then ye ſhall ſee the glory of the Lord; for that he heareth your murmurings againſt the Lord: And what are we, that ye murmur againſt us?

8 And Moſes ſaid, This ſhall be when the Lord ſhall give you in the evening fleſh to eat, and in the morning bread to the full; for that the Lord heareth your murmurings which ye murmur againſt him; And what are we? your murmurings are not againſt us, but againſt the Lord.

9 And Moſes ſpake unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, Come near before the Lord: for he hath heard your murmurings.

10 And it came to paſs, as Aaron ſpake unto the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they looked towards the wilderneſs, and behold the glory of the Lord appeared in the cloud.

11 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael; ſpeak unto them, ſaying, At even ye ſhall eat fleſh, and in the morning ye ſhall be filled with bread; and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord your God.

13 And it came to paſs, that at even the quails came up, and covered the camp: and in the morning the dew lay round about the hoſt.

14 ¶ And when the dew that lay was gone up, behold, upon the face of the wilderneſs, there lay a ſmall round thing, as ſmall as the hoar froſt on the ground.

15 And when the children of Iſrael ſaw it, they ſaid one to another, It is manna: for they wiſt not what it was. And Moſes ſaid unto them, This is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat.

16 This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded, Gather of it every man according to his eating: an omer for every man, according to the number of your perſons; take ye every man for them which are in his tents.

17 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and gathered ſome more, ſome leſs.

18 And when they did mete it with an omer, he that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had no lack: they gathered every man according to his eating.

19 And Moſes ſaid, Let no man leave of it till the morning.

20 Notwithſtanding they hearkened not unto Mo-

20 Took a timbrel in her hand.) It was a cuſtom, from the earlieſt ages, to uſe muſical inſtruments in the ſervice of their Maker, eſpecially in celebrating the divine praiſes, which is the moſt ſpirited part of worſhip, and indeed the moſt raviſhing and exalted employment of a rational being. And it is worthy remark, that this way of praiſing God had not its original in the Moſaic inſtitution, but was derived from more ancient times.

25 The Lord ſhewed him a tree, &c.) There have been various conjectures with regard to the nature of this tree; but the reſearch is needleſs, ſince, whatever tree it was, the effect muſt have been miraculous, it being produced immediately, and to ſuch a degree as to correct the taſte of the waters, for many thouſand perſons.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

3 Would to God we had died, &c.) That is, happy would it have been for us, had we periſhed with the firſt-born of Egypt. Is this thy gratitude O Iſrael, to thy God for all his benefits! O Judah, thy goodneſs is like the morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away! Hoſ. iv. 4. Surely they might, without any high degree of faith, have truſted God, by whoſe command they had undertaken that dangerous expedition, that he would not ſuffer them to die in it by hunger and thirſt.

15 It is manna.) That is, they took it for common manna, from its reſembling it; though it was, in reality, a very different thing, the common manna being a nutricious juice, ſpontaneouſly dropping, or artificially obtained from the leaves or barks of trees; whereas that of the Iſraelites dropt down to the earth, around their tents; the former is hardened by the heat of the ſun, whereas the latter melted and flowed away in ſtreams.

16 An omer for every man.) This meaſure contained about three quarts Engliſh, wine meaſure.

ſes: but ſome of them left of it until the morning, and it bred worms, and ſtank: and Moſes was wroth with them.

21 And they gathered it every morning, every man according to his eating: and when the ſun waxed hot it melted.

22 And it came to paſs that on the ſixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for one man: and all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moſes.

23 And he ſaid unto them, This is that which the Lord hath ſaid, To-morrow is the reſt of the holy ſabbath unto the Lord; bake that which ye will bake to-day, and ſeethe that ye will ſeethe; and that which remaineth over, lay up for you to be kept until the morning.

24 And they laid it up till the morning, as Moſes bade: and it did not ſtink, neither was there any worm therein.

25 And Moſes ſaid, Eat that to-day: for to-day is a ſabbath unto the Lord: to-day ye ſhall not find it in the field.

26 Six days ye ſhall gather it, but on the ſeventh day, which is the ſabbath, in it there ſhall be none.

27 And it came to paſs, that there went out ſome of the people on the ſeventh day for to gather, and they found none.

28 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, How long refuſe ye to keep my commandments and my laws?

29 See, for that the Lord hath given you the ſabbath, therefore he giveth you on the ſixth day the bread of two days; abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the ſeventh day.

30 So the people reſted on the ſeventh day.

31 And the houſe of Iſrael called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander ſeed, white, and the taſte of it was like wafers made with honey.

32 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the Lord commanded, Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations; that they may ſee the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderneſs, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt.

33 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the Lord, to be kept for your generations.

34 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo Aaron laid it up before the teſtimony, to be kept.

35 And the children of Iſrael did eat manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited: they did eat manna until they came unto the borders of the land of Canaan.

36 Now an omer is the tenth part of an ephah.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The people murmur for water at Rephidim. 5 Moſes ſent to the rock in Horeb. 13 Amalek is overcome.

AND all the congregation of the children of Iſrael journeyed from the wilderneſs of Sin, after their journeys, according to the commandment of the Lord, and pitched in Rephidim: and there was no water for the people to drink.

2 Wherefore the people did chide with Moſes, and ſaid, Give us water that we may drink. And Moſes ſaid unto them, Why chide ye with me? wherefore do ye tempt the Lord?

3 And the people thirſted there for water; and the people murmured againſt Moſes, and ſaid, Wherefore is this that thou haſt brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us, and our children, and our cattle with thirſt?

4 And Moſes cried unto the Lord, ſaying, What ſhall I do unto this people? they be almoſt ready to ſtone me.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go on before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Iſrael: and thy rod wherewith thou ſmoteſt the river, take in thine hand, and go.

6 Behold I will ſtand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb: and thou ſhalt ſmite the rock, and there ſhall come water out of it, that the people may drink. And Moſes did ſo, in the ſight of the elders of Iſrael.

7 And he called the name of the place Maſſah, and Meribah, becauſe of the chiding of the children of Iſrael; and becauſe they tempted the Lord, ſaying, Is the Lord among us, or not?

8 Then came Amalek and fought with Iſrael in Rephidim.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Joſhua, Chooſe us out men, and go out, fight with Amalek; to-morrow I will ſtand on the top of the hill, with the rod of God in mine hand.

10 So Joſhua did as Moſes had ſaid to him, and fought with Amalek: and Moſes, Aaron, and Hur, went up to the top of the hill.

11 And it came to paſs, when Moſes held up his hand, that Iſrael prevailed: and when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed.

12 But Moſes' hands were heavy, and they took a

23 To-morrow is the reſt of the holy Sabbath unto the Lord.) A plain intimation of a ſeventh day ſabbath, not only before the giving of the law on mount Sinai, but before the bringing of Iſrael out Egypt, and therefore from the beginning, Gen. ii. 3. If the ſabbath had now been firſt inſtituted, how could Moſes have underſtood what God ſaid to him concerning a double portion to be gathered the ſixth day without making any expreſs mention of the ſabbath? and how could the people ſo readily take the hint, even to the ſurpriſe of the rulers, before Moſes had declared that it was done with regard to the ſabbath, if they had not ſome knowledge of the ſabbath before? The ſetting apart of one day in ſeven for holy work, and in order to that for holy reſt, was a divine appointment ever ſince God created man upon the earth.

33 Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein.) God having provided manna to be his people's food in the wilderneſs, and to be to them a continual feaſt, we are here told how the memory of it was preſerved; an omer of this manna was laid up in a golden pot, as we are told, Heb. ix. 4. and kept before the teſtimony, or the ark, when it was afterwards made. The preſervation of this manna from waſte and corruption was a ſtanding miracle, and therefore the proper memorial of this miraculous food. The manna is called ſpiritual meat, 1 Cor. x 3. becauſe it was typical of ſpiritual bleſſings in heavenly things; Chriſt himſelf is the true manna, the bread of life, of which that was a figure, John vi. 49, 50, 51. The word of God is the manna by which our ſouls are nouriſhed, Matt. iv. 4. The comforts of the Spirit are hidden manna, Rev. ii. 17. Theſe come from heaven as the manna did, and are the ſupport and comfort of the divine life, while we are in the wilderneſs of this world.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

6 And Moſes did ſo.) That is, he ſmote the rock, and brought water out in ſuch plenty, that it ran down like rivers, Pſ. lxxviii. 15, 16. It became a continual fountain or ſtream of water, which rendered this part of Arabia habitable in future ages. Some commentators, from the words of St. Paul, 1 Cor. x. 4. And they did all drink the ſame ſpiritual drink. (For they drank of that ſpiritual rock which followed them, and that rock was Chriſt) imagine that this miraculous water followed them through the wilderneſs. But the words of the apoſtle are plainly figurative, and muſt be underſtood of a ſpiritual rock, viz. Chriſt, who was their inviſible ſupport in the wilderneſs.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Joſhua, &c.) This is the firſt mention we have of Joſhua, who is nominated commander in chief in this expedition, that he might be trained up to the ſervice he was deſigned for after the death of Moſes, and be a man of war from his youth. He is ordered to draw out a detachment of choice men out of the thouſands of Iſrael, and to drive back the Amalekites.

ſtone,

ſtone, and put it under him, and he ſat thereon: and Aaron and Hur ſtayed up his hands, the one on the one ſide; and the other on the other ſide; and his hands were ſteady until the going down of the ſun.

13 ¶ And Joſhua diſcomfited Amalek and his people with the edge of the ſword.

14 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Write this for a memorial in a book, and rehearſe it in the ears of Joſhua: for I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.

15 And Moſes built an altar, and called the name of it JEHOVAH-niſſi.

16 For he ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath ſworn, that the Lord will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jethro bringeth to Moſes his wife and two ſons. 7 Moſes entertaineth him, 13 and accepteth his counſel.

WHEN Jethro, the prieſt of Midian, Moſes' father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moſes, and for Iſrael his people, and that the Lord had brought Iſrael out of Egypt;

2 Then Jethro Moſes' father-in-law took Zipporah Moſes' wife, after he had ſent her back;

3 And her two ſons, of which the name of the one was Gerſhom; for he ſaid, I have been an alien in a ſtrange land:

4 And the name of the other was Eliezer: (for the God of my father, ſaid he, was mine help, and delivered me from the ſword of Pharaoh.)

5 And Jethro Moſes' father-in-law came with his ſons and his wife unto Moſes into the wilderneſs, where he encamped at the mount of God.

6 And he ſaid unto Moſes, I thy father-in-law Jethro am come unto thee, and thy wife, and her two ſons with her.

7 ¶ And Moſes went out to meet his father-in-law, and did obeiſance, and kiſſed him: and they aſked each other of their welfare; and they came into the tent.

8 And Moſes told his father-in-law all that the Lord had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Iſrael's ſake, and all the travail that had come upon them by the way, and how the Lord delivered them.

9 And Jethro rejoiced for all the goodneſs which the Lord had done to Iſrael: whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians.

10 And Jethro ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh, who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians.

11 Now I know that the Lord is greater than all gods: for in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them.

12 And Jethro, Moſes' father-in-law, took a burnt-offering, and ſacrifices for God: and Aaron came, and all the elders of Iſrael, to eat bread with Moſes' father-in-law before God.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſat to judge the people; and the people ſtood by Moſes from the morning unto the evening.

14 And when Moſes' father-in-law ſaw all that he did to the people, he ſaid, What is this thing that thou doeſt to the people? why ſitteſt thou thyſelf alone, and all the people ſtand by thee from morning unto even?

15 And Moſes ſaid unto his father-in-law, Becauſe the people come unto me to enquire of God.

16 When they have a matter, they come unto me; and I judge between one and another, and I do make them know the ſtatutes of God and his laws.

17 And Moſes' father-in-law ſaid unto him, The thing that thou doeſt is not good.

18 Thou wilt ſurely wear away, both thou and this people that is with thee: for this thing is too heavy for thee; thou art not able to perform it thyſelf alone.

19 Hearken now unto my voice, I will give thee counſel, and God ſhall be with thee: Be thou for the people to God-ward, that thou mayeſt bring the cauſes unto God.

20 And thou ſhalt teach them ordinances and laws, and ſhalt ſhew them the way wherein they muſt walk, and the work that they muſt do.

21 Moreover, thou ſhalt provide out of all the people able men, ſuch as fear God, men of truth, hating covetouſneſs: and place ſuch over them, to be rulers of thouſands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.

22 And let them judge the people at all ſeaſons: and it ſhall be, that every great matter they ſhall bring unto thee, but every ſmall matter they ſhall judge; ſo ſhall it be eaſier for thyſelf, and they ſhall bear the burden with thee.

23 If thou ſhalt do this thing, and God command thee ſo, then thou ſhalt be able to endure, and all this people ſhall alſo go to their place in peace.

24 So Moſes hearkened to the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had ſaid.

25 And Moſes choſe able men out of all Iſrael, and made them heads over the people, rulers of thouſands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.

26 And they judged the people at all ſeaſons: the hard cauſes they brought unto Moſes, but every ſmall matter they judged themſelves.

27 And Moſes let his father-in-law depart: and he went his way into his own land.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The people come to Sinai. 3 God's meſſage to them

14 I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek.) Amalek would have cut off the name of Iſrael that it might be no more in remembrance, Pſalm lxxxiii. 4. 7, and therefore God not only diſappoints them in that, but cuts off their name. Write it for the encouragement of Iſrael whenever the Amalekites are an annoyance to them, that Iſrael will at laſt undoubtedly triumph in the fall of Amalek. This ſentence was executed in part by Saul, 1 Sam. xv. and completely by David, chap. xxx. 2 Sam. i. 1. and after his time we never read ſo much as of the name of Amalek. That in the mean time God would have a continual controverſy with them, Becauſe their hand is againſt the throne of the Lord, that is, againſt the camp of Iſrael in which the Lord ruled, which was the place of his ſanctuary, and is therefore called a glorious high throne from the beginning, Jer. xvii. 12. Therefore the Lord will have war with Amalek from generation to generation. This was written for direction to Iſrael, never to make any league with the Amalekites, but to look upon them as irreconcilable enemies doomed to ruin: Amalek's deſtruction was typical of the deſtruction of all the enemies of Chriſt and his kingdom. Whoever make war with the Lamb, the Lamb will overcome them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

2 Took Zipporah, Moſes' wife, after he had ſent her back.) We have ſeen that Moſes ſent his wife back from the inn, where her child was circumciſed; but for what motive is uncertain. Probably he thought ſhe and her children would live more comfortably at home with her father, than among ſuch frightful ſpectacles of public diſaſter and horror in Egypt.

15 Come to enquire of God.) When they came to decide their controverſies, according to the law of God; for what was determined according to God's law, was the judgment of God. Beſides in particular caſes, he conſulted the oracle of God, and received an anſwer by an audible voice.

out of the mount. 8 Their anſwer. 16 His fearful preſence.

IN the third month, when the children of Iſrael were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the ſame day came they into the wilderneſs of Sinai.

2 For they were departed from Rephidim, and were come to the deſert of Sinai, and had pitched in the wilderneſs; and there Iſrael camped before the mount.

3 ¶ And Moſes went up unto God, and the Lord called unto him out of the mountain, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the houſe of Jacob, and tell the children of Iſrael;

4 Ye have ſeen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagles wings, and brought you unto myſelf.

5 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye ſhall be a peculiar treaſure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine.

6 And ye ſhall be unto me a kingdom of prieſts, and an holy nation. Theſe are the words which thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael.

7 And Moſes came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all theſe words which the Lord commanded him.

8 ¶ And all the people anſwered together, and ſaid, All that the Lord hath ſpoken we will do. And Moſes returned the words of the people unto the Lord.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I ſpeak with thee, and believe thee for ever. And Moſes told the words of the people unto the Lord.

10 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go unto the people and ſanctify them to-day and to-morrow, and let them waſh their clothes;

11 And be ready againſt the third day, for the third day the Lord will come down in the ſight of all the people upon mount Sinai.

12 And thou ſhalt ſet bounds unto the people round about, ſaying, Take heed to yourſelves, that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: whoſoever toucheth the mount ſhall be ſurely put to death:

13 There ſhall not an hand touch it, but he ſhall ſurely be ſtoned or ſhot through: whether it be beaſt or man, it ſhall not live: when the trumpet ſoundeth long, they ſhall come to the mount.

14 And Moſes went down from the mount unto the people, and ſanctified the people; and they waſhed their clothes.

15 And he ſaid unto the people, Be ready againſt the third day: come not at your wives.

16 ¶ And it came to paſs on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; ſo that all the people that was in the camp trembled.

17 And Moſes brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God, and they ſtood at the nether part of the mount.

18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a ſmoke, becauſe the Lord deſcended upon it in fire: and the ſmoke thereof aſcended as the ſmoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly.

19 And when the voice of the trumpet ſounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moſes ſpake, and God anſwered him by a voice.

20 And the Lord came down upon mount Sinai on the top of the mount; and the Lord called Moſes up to the top of the mount, and Moſes went up.

21 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go down, charge the people, leſt they break through unto the Lord to gaze, and many of them periſh.

22 And let the prieſts alſo, which come near to the Lord, ſanctify themſelves, leſt the Lord break forth upon them.

23 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai; for thou chargedſt us ſaying, Set bounds about the mount and ſanctify it.

24 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou ſhalt come up, thou and Aaron with thee: but let not the prieſts and the people break through, to come up unto the Lord, leſt he break forth upon them.

25 So Moſes went down unto the people, and ſpake unto them.

CHAP. XX.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

4 How I bare you on eagles wings.) The eagle is remarkable for ſoaring high, even above the clouds, where neither rains nor ſnow fall, nor thunder breaks, but the air is always calm and ſerene. The meaning thereof is, that they had paſſed the ſea, and eſcaped the greateſt dangers from their enemies, as if they had been borne aloft on eagles wings.

6 Ye ſhall be unto me a kingdom of prieſts, &c.) The church or God's covenanted people, the ſeed of Iſrael, who were the Lord's people by the covenant of circumciſion, did now paſs out of the family eſtate, wherein the church had been from the beginning, into the ſtate of a nation, and became a nation and kingdom of God, he being now related unto them as a nation by this covenant; for before the church was in families. By this covenant there was a ſeparation made betwixt all the nations of the earth, and Iſrael, now brought out of the land of Egypt, to be ſettled by themſelves in a land and kingdom of their own, where they had been ſtrangers before among other people. Unto this ſeparation ſerved the law of commandments contained in ordinances delivered to this nation in the covenant. The apoſtle Paul calls this the enmity, and the wall of partition betwixt them and all other people. And by the covenant containing this law, the nation of Iſrael was God's peculiar people; all that were not within the bond of that covenant being thereby excluded the church of God, as all that came within the bond of that covenant were of that nation and church; there being one law for the ſtranger and home-born.

9 In a thick cloud.) The Divine Voice was delivered out of the midſt of the fire, which burnt the mountain: in alluſion to which God is often, in ſcripture, called a conſuming fire. But with reſpect to the people, clouds and darkneſs were round about him: they ſaw nothing but a thick cloud, out of which iſſued awful thunders and flaſhes of lightning.

19 Moſes ſpake, and God anſwered him by a voice.) The ſacred penmen of the Old Teſtament have been ſilent with regard to the words ſpoken by Moſes; but the apoſtle to the Hebrews has ſupplied the omiſſion, So terrible was the ſight, that Moſes ſaid, I exceedingly fear and quake, Heb. xii. 21. To this the Divine Majeſty was pleaſed to anſwer by a voice, that is, in calm and peaceful accents, bidding him diſmiſs his fears and come up to the mount.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 And God ſpake all theſe words.) The covenant which God made with Iſrael, when he took them by the hand, to bring them out of Egypt, and give them the promiſed land, was a repreſentation of the law that was broken by Adam, giving life only to them that ſhould continue in all things required in the book of the law to do them, and appointing death for every diſobedience. This repreſentation of the law that was broken by Adam, was given to Iſrael with deſign that it ſhould be fulfilled, in due time, by Jeſus Chriſt the promiſed ſeed, the Redeemer from the curſe of the law, who was then in the loins of the people of that nation. And accordingly he fulfilled that law, in fulfilling the law of Moſes, which was the repreſentation of it. Therefore the day of reſt, which Adam broke, was injoined in the law of Moſes, till it ſhould be fulfilled by Jeſus Chriſt, who was to bring about the true reſt. The reſt of God, in Canaan, from his working to bring Iſrael out of Egypt into that land, was no more but a type or figure of the reſt of Jeſus Chriſt, into which, by the goſpel, we are called to enter.

thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage.

3 Thou ſhalt have no other gods before me.

4 Thou ſhalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeneſs of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth.

5 Thou ſhalt not bow down thyſelf to them, nor ſerve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me:

6 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

7 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain.

8 Remember the ſabbath-day, to keep it holy.

9 Six days ſhalt thou labour, and do all thy work.

10 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work, thou, nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thy cattle, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates.

11 For in ſix days the Lord made heaven and earth, the ſea and all that in them is, and reſted the ſeventh day; wherefore the Lord bleſſed the ſabbath-day, and hallowed it.

12 Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

13 Thou ſhalt not kill.

14 Thou ſhalt not commit adultery.

15 Thou ſhalt not ſteal.

16 Thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour.

17 Thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbour's houſe, thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his man-ſervant, nor his maid-ſervant, nor his ox, nor his aſs, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's.

18 And all the people ſaw the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the noiſe of the trumpet, and the mountain ſmoaking; and when the people ſaw it, they removed, and ſtood afar off.

19 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Speak thou with us, and we will hear; but let not God ſpeak with us, leſt we die.

20 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear not: for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye ſin not.

21 And the people ſtood afar off, and Moſes drew near unto the thick darkneſs where God was.

22 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Thus thou ſhalt ſay unto the children of Iſrael, Ye have ſeen that I have talked with you from heaven.

23 Ye ſhall not make with me gods of ſilver, neither ſhall ye make unto you gods of gold.

24 ¶ An altar of earth thou ſhalt make unto me, and ſhalt ſacrifice thereon thy burnt-offerings, and thy peace-offerings, thy ſheep, and thine oxen: in all places where I record my name, I will come unto thee, and I will bleſs thee.

25 And if thou wilt make me an altar of ſtone, thou ſhalt not build it of hewn ſtone: for if thou liſt up thy tool upon it, thou haſt polluted it.

26 Neither ſhalt thou go up by ſteps unto mine altar, that thy nakedneſs be not diſcovered thereon.

All the earthly ſhadows of heavenly things to come by Chriſt, that were inſtituted from the fall, were ingroſſed in this covenant, and delivered to Iſrael, with many others added in the law of commandments contained in ordinances. Thus ſacrifices, inſtituted at the giving of the firſt promiſe, and a holy place of worſhip on earth, and an altar, and circumciſion, were all carried into the covenant at Sinai: ſo that whatever was earthly in the church, typifying heavenly things to come, belongs to that covenant made with Iſrael; and all the earthly ordinances that were before, together with many more now appointed, were now delivered to Iſrael, as rudiments by which they might come to the knowledge of Chriſt, like children beginning to learn; and the apoſtle Paul calls them the rudiments of the world. Theſe rudiments the law put into the hands of the Iſraelites; and this is one way wherein the law was their ſchool-maſter to bring them to Chriſt, that they who believed might be juſtified by the faith of the promiſed ſeed.

The inheritance of that church was an earthly inheritance. The promiſed land was a ſpot of this earth, though a type of the heavenly inheritance. The bleſſings promiſed to that nation in that covenant, were earthly bleſſings, the good things of this life; and the evils contained in the curſes of it, were earthly miſeries, Lev. xxvi. Thus, according to their national keeping of that covenant, they enjoyed this bleſſedneſs in the promiſed land, and according to this the Lord explained his providences about them by his prophets. He does not ſo to other nations of the world. Now matters are far otherwiſe with the heavenly nation typified by this: For if in this life only we have hope, we are of all men moſt miſerable; and, He hath bleſſed us with all ſpiritual bleſſings in heavenly places in Chriſt. But ſetting aſide the promiſe of Chriſt given before this covenant, and the typical relation which theſe things had to Chriſt, and good things to come by him, we will find nothing heavenly and eternal in them. Our Lord ſays to the Jews, Search the ſcriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and theſe are they which teſtify of me. And his ſaying ſeems to import this, If you find them not teſtifying of me, you will find nothing of eternal life in them.

4 Thou ſhalt not make unto thee any graven image, &c.) The reaſon why God forbade worſhipping any image of our own deviſing or making, is declared in theſe words: For, I Jehovah, thy God, am a jealous God; which, if well conſidered, will be found pointing to the glorious repreſentation of God that is made in Jeſus Chriſt, the perfect image of the inviſible God; for the ſake of which he diſcharges the worſhipping of any other image, wherein his glory is changed and made leſs, as it loſes in the repreſentation. The Son of God, given to be the propitiation, is the only proper image of God; for in him the divine glory loſes nothing in the manifeſtation of it, but appears in its brightneſs, by the truly divine and infinite dignity of the perſon in whom it is repreſented. There can be no hazard of idolatry in paying divine worſhip to this image of God, who is the brightneſs of the divine glory, as all who believe him to be the Son of God will readily acknowledge, worſhipping the Lamb that was ſlain, as their Lord and their God. No wonder then if his jealouſy be moſt fervent againſt all neglect or contempt ſhewed towards this brightneſs of his glory, eſpecially in pretending to approach him, by repreſenting him to ourſelves in any other way: for in this we ſhew the greateſt hatred to him.

5 Viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, &c.) The peculiar way that the Lord took in the land of Iſrael, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children, to the third and fourth generation, ſerved unto that people as a ſign and emblem of their being condemned to death by their father Adam's ſin, but eſpecially of the Lord's laying their iniquities on Chriſt the promiſed ſeed, whereby they were to be ſaved from death, without letting their ſins go unpuniſhed. And this explains the name of God; and makes him appear merciful and juſt, a juſt God, and a Saviour, to thoſe who do not hold it unequal in the Sovereign Lord, of whom, and through whom, and to whom are all things, to puniſh the ſin of one upon another, with whom he hath connected him for that ſame purpoſe.

When Chriſt died for the redemption of tranſgreſſions that were under the firſt covenant, and the name of God was manifeſted, through his death, by the goſpel, unto all nations, then there was no more uſe for this way of viſiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children, then there was for ſacrifices, which the Lord ſaid he would ſet aſide when the new covenant ſhould be eſtabliſhed on the true ſacrifice, Heb. x. 16, 17, 18. And therefore the Lord ſaid, the time would come when there ſhould be no more uſe for that proverb, The fathers have eaten ſour grapes, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge: For when all the ſins of the thouſands that ſhall be pardoned, were viſited on the promiſed ſeed, there ſhould be no more tranſferring of guilt and puniſhment from one to another, But every one ſhall die for his own iniquity: every man that eateth the ſour grape, his teeth ſhall be ſet on edge. So this was ſet aſide, together with the ſacrifices, when the great end of it was reached.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Laws for ſervants, 12 for man-ſlaughter, 16 man ſtealers, 17 curſers of parents, and ſeveral others.

NOW, theſe are the judgments which thou ſhalt ſet before them.

2 If thou buy an Hebrew ſervant, ſix years he ſhall ſerve: and in the ſeventh he ſhall go out free for nothing.

3 If he came in by himſelf, he ſhall go out by himſelf; if he were married, then his wife ſhall go out with him.

4 If his maſter have given him a wife, and ſhe have borne him ſons or daughters, the wife and her children ſhall be her maſter's, and he ſhall go out by himſelf.

5 And if the ſervant ſhall plainly ſay, I love my maſter, my wife, and my children, I will not go out free:

6 Then his maſter ſhall bring him unto the judges; he ſhall alſo bring him to the door, or unto the door-poſt: and his maſter ſhall bore his ear through with an awl; and he ſhall ſerve him for ever.

7 And if a man ſell his daughter to be a maid-ſervant, ſhe ſhall not go out as the men-ſervants do.

8 If ſhe pleaſe not her maſter, who hath betrothed her to himſelf, then ſhall he let her be redeemed: to ſell her unto a ſtrange nation he ſhall have no power, ſeeing he hath dealt deceitfully with her.

9 And if he hath betrothed her unto his ſon, he ſhall deal with her after the manner of daughters.

10 If he take him another wife; her food, her raiment, and her duty of marriage ſhall he not diminiſh.

11 And if he do not theſe three unto her, then ſhall ſhe go out free without money.

12 ¶ He that ſmiteth a man ſo that he die, ſhall be ſurely put to death.

13 And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he ſhall flee.

14 But if a man come preſumptuouſly upon his neighbour, to ſlay him with guile; thou ſhalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.

15 And he that ſmiteth his father, or his mother, ſhall be ſurely put to death.

16 ¶ And he that ſtealeth a man, and ſelleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he ſhall be ſurely put to death.

17 ¶ And he that curſeth his father, or his mother, ſhall ſurely be put to death.

18 And if men ſtrive together, and one ſmite another with a ſtone, or with his fiſt, and he die not, but keepeth his bed:

19 If he riſe again, and walk abroad upon his ſtaff, then ſhall he that ſmote him be quit: only he ſhall pay for the loſs of his time, and ſhall cauſe him, to be thoroughly healed.

20 And if a man ſmite his ſervant, or his maid, with a rod, and he die under his hand; he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed.

21 Notwithſtanding, if he continue a day or two, he ſhall not be puniſhed: for he is his money.

22 If men ſtrive, and hurt a woman with child, ſo that her fruit depart from her, and yet no miſchief follow; he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed according as the woman's huſband will lay upon him; and he ſhall pay as the judges determine.

23 And if any miſchief follow, then thou ſhalt give life for life,

24 Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,

25 Burning for burning, wound for wound, ſtripe for ſtripe.

26 And if a man ſmite the eye of his ſervant, or the eye of his maid, that it periſh; he ſhall let him go free for his eye's ſake.

27 And if he ſmite out his man-ſervant's tooth, or his maid-ſervant's tooth; he ſhall let him go free for his tooth's ſake.

28 If an ox gore a man or a woman that they die; then the ox ſhall be ſurely ſtoned, and his fleſh ſhall not be eaten: but the owner of the ox ſhall be quit.

29 But if the ox were wont to puſh with his horn in time-paſt, and it hath been teſtified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox ſhall be ſtoned, and his owner alſo ſhall be put to death.

30 If there be laid on him a ſum of money, then he ſhall give for the ranſom of his life whatſoever is laid upon him.

31 Whether he have gored a ſon, or have gored a daughter, according to this judgment ſhall it be done unto him.

32 If the ox ſhall puſh a man-ſervant, or maid-ſervant; he ſhall give unto their maſter thirty ſhekels of ſilver, and the ox ſhall be ſtoned.

33 And if a man ſhall open a pit, or if a man ſhall dig a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or an aſs fall therein;

34 The owner of the pit ſhall make it good, and give money unto the owner of them; and the dead beaſt ſhall be his.

35 And if one man's ox hurt another's that he die; then they ſhall ſell the live ox, and divide the money of it; and the dead ox alſo they ſhall divide.

36 Or if it be known that the ox hath uſed to puſh in time paſt, and his owner hath not kept him in; he ſhall ſurely pay ox for ox; and the dead ſhall be his own.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

1 Now theſe are the judgments, &c.) The chief heads of the moral law being thus ſolemnly given, Moſes was commanded to preſcribe them ſeveral other particular laws, concerning the judicial and civil government of the ſtate, the rights between man and man, and thoſe relating to the ceremonial part of worſhip under the Jewiſh diſpenſation.

6 His maſter ſhall bore his ear.) The cuſtom of boring the ear, denoted the obligation to obey, or hearken to the commands of his maſter; as in Pſalm xl. 6. 'Mine ears thou haſt bored, or opened.' It was the conſtant badge of ſlavery, and was preſerved for a long time in Syria and Arabia.

14 Thou ſhalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.) To make the altar a place of refuge for voluntary crimes, would be to make piety a ſcreen for wickedneſs, and God a patron for iniquity. Moſes therefore, by the command of God himſelf, orders that the murderer ſhould be taken by the judges, and proper officers, from the moſt ſacred place of refuge, even from the altar itſelf, and immediately tried and executed. Hence we ſee how directly contrary to the divine law thoſe perſons act, who make their churches, and other conſecrated places, aſylums for murderers, and other peſts of ſociety.

27 If he ſmite out a man-ſervant's tooth, &c.) Here we ſee the great compaſſion of our heavenly father, who will not ſuffer any to be injured, though their poverty may have placed them in the ſtation of ſervants; and accordingly he ordained, that thoſe tyrannical maſters, who ſhould uſe their ſlaves in a cruel manner, ſhould loſe their ſervice.

ſheep for a ſheep.

2 If a thief be found breaking up, and be ſmitten that he die: there ſhall no blood be ſhed for him.

3 If the ſun be riſen upon him, there ſhall be blood ſhed for him; for he ſhould make full reſtitution; if he have nothing, then he ſhall be ſold for his theft.

4 If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or aſs, or ſheep; he ſhall reſtore double.

5 ¶ If a man ſhall cauſe a field or vineyard to be eaten, and ſhall put in his beaſt, and ſhall feed in another man's field: of the beſt of his own field, and of the beſt of his own vineyard ſhall he make reſtitution.

6 If fire break out, and catch in thorns, ſo that the ſtacks of corn, or the ſtanding corn, or the field be conſumed therewith: he that kindleth the fire ſhall ſurely make reſtitution.

7 ¶ If a man ſhall deliver unto his neighbour money or ſtuff to keep, and it be ſtolen out of the man's houſe; if the thief be found let him pay double.

8 If the thief be not found, then the maſter of the houſe ſhall be brought unto the judges, to ſee whether he have put his hand unto his neighbour's goods.

9 For all manner of treſpaſs, whether it be for ox, for aſs, for ſheep, for raiment, or for any manner of loſt thing, which another challengeth to be his; the cauſe of both parties ſhall come before the judges; and whom the judges ſhall condemn, he ſhall pay double unto his neighbour.

10 If a man deliver unto his neighbour an aſs, or an ox, or a ſheep, or any beaſt to keep; and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man ſeeing it:

11 Then ſhall an oath of the Lord be between them both, that he hath not put his hand unto his neighbour's goods; and the owner of it ſhall accept thereof, and he ſhall not make it good.

12 And if it be ſtolen from him; he ſhall make reſtitution unto the owner thereof.

13 If it be torn in pieces: then let him bring it for witneſs, and he ſhall not make good that which was torn.

14 ¶ And if a man borrow ought of his neighbour, and it be hurt, or die, the owner thereof being not with it; he ſhall ſurely make it good.

15 But if the owner thereof be with it; he ſhall not make it good: if it be an hired thing; it came for his hire.

16 ¶ And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her; he ſhall ſurely endow her to be his wife.

17 If her father utterly refuſe to give her unto him; he ſhall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.

18 ¶ Thou ſhalt not ſuffer a witch to live.

19 Whoſoever lieth with a beaſt ſhall ſurely be put to death.

20 He that ſacrificeth unto any god, ſave unto the Lord only, he ſhall be utterly deſtroyed.

21 Thou ſhalt neither vex a ſtranger nor oppreſs him: for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

22 Ye ſhall not afflict any widow, or fatherleſs child.

23 If thou afflict them in any wiſe, and they cry at all unto me; I will ſurely hear their cry;

24 And my wrath ſhall wax hot, and I will kill you with the ſword; and your wives ſhall be widows, and your children fatherleſs.

25 If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou ſhalt not be to him as an uſurer, neither ſhalt thou lay upon him uſury.

26 If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou ſhalt deliver it unto him by that the ſun goeth down:

27 For that is his covering only, it is his raiment for his ſkin: wherein ſhall he ſleep? and it ſhall come to paſs, when he crieth unto me, that I will hear: for I am gracious.

28 Thou ſhalt not revile the gods, nor curſe the ruler of thy people.

29 Thou ſhalt not delay to offer the firſt of thy ripe fruits, and of thy liquors: the firſt-born of thy ſons ſhalt thou give unto me.

30 Likewiſe ſhalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy ſheep: ſeven days it ſhall be with his dam; on the eighth day thou ſhalt give it me.

31 And ye ſhall be holy men unto me: neither ſhall ye eat any fleſh that is torn of beaſts in the field; ye ſhall caſt it to the dogs.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Of ſlander and falſe witneſs. 2 Of other offences and duties. 20 An angel promiſed, with a bleſſing if they obey him.

THOU ſhalt not raiſe a falſe report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witneſs.

2 ¶ Thou ſhalt not follow a multitude to do evil: neither ſhalt thou ſpeak in a cauſe to decline after many, to wreſt judgment:

3 Neither ſhalt thou countenance a poor man in his cauſe.

4 If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his aſs going aſtray,

Commentary on Chap. XXII.

2 If a thief be found, &c.) Notwithſtanding this permiſſion of killing the perſon who attempts our houſes in the night-time, when the world is buried in ſleep and darkneſs, and conſequently the aſſiſtance of our neighbours much more difficult to be procured than in the day, yet we ought to be careful in making uſe of this permiſſion; for our conſciences will never acquit us for taking away the life of a fellow creature, unleſs we have very good reaſon to believe that he had a deſign upon our own.

21 Thou ſhalt neither vex a ſtranger nor oppreſs him.) By the word ſtranger muſt be underſtood not only a Gentile proſelyte to the Jewiſh religion, but alſo every one of another nation and religion who happened to ſojourn among them, or be occaſionally travelling through their country. In ſhort, it is a precept enjoining them to a ſtrict obſervation of the duties of hoſpitality, which have always been held ſacred in all civilized nations, and were in a peculiar manner, obligatory upon the Jews; for, ever ſince their father Abraham left his country, he and the other patriarchs had been ſtrangers and pilgrims, wandering from one country to another; depending, under providence, on the hoſpitality of other nations.

22 Ye ſhall not afflict any widow or fatherleſs child.) As ſtrangers, ſo widows and orphans were more helpleſs, and more deſtitute of friends and protectors than others, and therefore Providence takes particular care of them: Hence God is ſtiled in ſcripture, The Father of the fatherleſs, the judge and helper of the widows; He who executes the judgment of the fatherleſs, and widow, and loveth the ſtranger. That compaſſion which he hath implanted in our breaſts, what is it but a call upon us from our benevolent Creator to relieve the fatherleſs, the widow, the ſtranger, and all who are in diſtreſs? Thus Job comforts himſelf in the midſt of his afflictions, that he had relieved the widow, the fatherleſs, and the ſtranger in the time of his proſperity, Job xxix. 12, 13. And God himſelf has promiſed to be their guardian and protector: Leave thy fatherleſs children: I will preſerve them alive, and let thy widows truſt in me, Jer. xlix. 11.

Commentary on Chap. XXIII.

4 If thou meet thine enemy's ox, &c.) There are ſome duties which humanity itſelf ſo ſtrongly inculcates, that to deny them even to an enemy would be a breach of the law of nature: and of this number is that mentioned in the text. For it ſhould be remembered, that though private injuries are a ſufficient reaſon why we may refuſe to treat a man as a friend, or familiar companion; yet they are not ſufficient motives for our denying him the common offices of humanity, as long as he retains the ſame nature with ourſelves.

aſtray, thou ſhalt ſurely bring it back to him again.

5 If thou ſee the aſs of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldeſt forbear to help him; thou ſhalt ſurely help with him.

6 Thou ſhalt not wreſt the judgment of thy poor in his cauſe.

7 Keep thee far from a falſe matter: and the innocent and righteous ſlay thou not: for I will not juſtify the wicked.

8 And thou ſhalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wiſe, and perverteth the words of the righteous.

9 Alſo thou ſhalt not oppreſs a ſtranger: for ye know the heart of a ſtranger, ſeeing ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

10 And ſix years thou ſhalt ſow thy land, and ſhalt gather in the fruits thereof:

11 But the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let it reſt, and lie ſtill; that the poor of thy people may eat: and what they leave, the beaſts of the field ſhall eat. In like manner thou ſhalt deal with thy vine-yard, and with thy olive-yard.

12 Six days thou ſhalt do thy work, and on the ſeventh day thou ſhalt reſt: that thine ox and thine aſs may reſt, and the ſon of thy handmaid, and the ſtranger may be refreſhed.

13 And in all things that I have ſaid unto you be circumſpect: and make no mention of the name of other gods, neither let it be heard out of thy mouth.

14 Three times thou ſhalt keep a feaſt unto me in the year.

15 Thou ſhalt keep the feaſt of unleavened bread: thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread ſeven days, as I commanded thee, in the time appointed of the month Abib: for in it thou cameſt out from Egypt: and none ſhall appear before me empty.

16 And the feaſt of harveſt, the firſt-fruits of thy labours, which thou haſt ſown in the field: and the feaſt of in-gathering which is in the end of the year, when thou haſt gathered in thy labours out of the field.

17 Three times in the year all thy males ſhall appear before the Lord God.

18 Thou ſhalt not offer the blood of my ſacrifice with leavened bread; neither ſhall the fat of my ſacrifice remain until the morning.

19 The firſt of the firſt-fruits of thy land thou ſhalt bring into the houſe of the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.

20 ¶ Behold, I ſend an angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared.

21 Beware of him, and obey his voice, provoke him not; for he will not pardon your tranſgreſſions: for my name is in him.

22 But if thou ſhalt indeed obey his voice, and do all that I ſpeak; then I will be an enemy unto thine enemies, and an adverſary unto thine adverſaries.

23 For mine Angel ſhall go before thee, and bring thee in unto the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, the Hivites, and the Jebuſites: and I will cut them off.

24 Thou ſhalt not bow down to their gods, nor ſerve them, nor do after their works: but thou ſhalt utterly overthrow them, and quite break down their images.

25 And ye ſhall ſerve the Lord your God, and he ſhall bleſs thy bread, and thy water: and I will take ſickneſs away from the midſt of thee.

26 There ſhall nothing caſt their young nor be barren in thy land: the number of thy days I will fulfil.

27 I will ſend my fear before thee, and will deſtroy all the people to whom thou ſhalt come, and I will make all thine enemies turn their backs unto thee.

28 And I will ſend hornets before thee, which ſhall drive out the Hivite, the Canaanite, and the Hittite from before thee.

29 I will not drive them out from before thee in one year; leſt the land become deſolate, and the beaſt of the field multiply againſt thee.

30 By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, until thou be increaſed, and inherit the land.

31 And I will ſet thy bounds from the Red Sea, even unto the ſea of the Philiſtines, and from the deſert unto the river; for I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hand; and thou ſhalt drive them out before thee.

32 Thou ſhalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods.

33 They ſhall not dwell in thy land, leſt they make thee ſin againſt me: for if thou ſerve their gods, it will ſurely be a ſnare unto thee.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Moſes is called up into the mountain. 3 The people promiſe obedience. 6 Moſes ſprinkleth the blood of the covenant. 15 He goeth up into the mount.

AND he ſaid unto Moſes, Come up unto the Lord, thou and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael; and worſhip ye afar off.

2 And Moſes alone ſhall come near the Lord: but they ſhall not come nigh; neither ſhall the people go up with him.

3 ¶ And Moſes came and told the people all the words of the Lord, and all the judgments: and all the people anſwered with one voice, and ſaid, All the words which the Lord hath ſaid, will we do.

4 And Moſes wrote all the words of the Lord, and roſe up early in the morning, and builded an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve

10 Six years thou ſhalt ſow thy land, &c.) Here is the inſtitution of the ſabbatical year; every ſeventh year the land was to reſt, they muſt not plow or ſow it at the beginning of the year, and then they could not expect any great harveſt at the end of the year; but what the earth did produce of itſelf, ſhould be eaten from hand to mouth, and not laid up: Now this was deſigned to ſhew what a plentiful land that was into which God was bringing them, that ſo numerous a people could have rich maintenance out of the products of ſo ſmall a country, without foreign trade, and yet could ſpare the increaſe of every ſeventh year; this reminded them of their dependence upon God their great landlord, and their obligation to uſe the fruit of their land as he ſhall direct; and to teach them a confidence in the divine providence, while they did their duty; that as the ſixth day's manna did for two days meat, ſo the ſixth year's increaſe ſhould ſerve for two year's ſubſiſtence.

16 The feaſt of harveſt.) This is alſo called the feaſt of Weeks, becauſe it was ſeven weeks after the Paſſover; and alſo Pentecoſt, which in Greek ſignifies the fiftieth, becauſe it fell on the fiftieth day after the Paſſover. It is called the feaſt of Harveſt, becauſe in thoſe countries the harveſt was juſt over.

25 Thy bread, and thy water.) That is, all thy proviſions and drink in general; bread being a common name for the former, and water for the latter.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

4 And builded an altar.) There were two ways of making covenants anciently: firſt by ſprinkling ſome of the blood of the ſacrifice on both parties; ſecondly by their eating together ſome part of the ſacrifice, Gen. xxvi. 30. xxxi. 54. Both theſe rites are here obſerved, the firſt, verſe 6, 8, the other verſe 11; Moſes erects an altar to repreſent God the one party, and twelve pillars to repreſent the twelve tribes on the other.

tribes

tribes of Iſrael.

5 And he ſent young men of the children of Iſrael, which offered burnt-offerings, and ſacrificed peace-offerings of oxen unto the Lord.

6 ¶ And Moſes took half of the blood, and put it in baſons; and half of the blood he ſprinkled on the altar.

7 And he took the book of the covenant, and read in the audience of the people: and they ſaid, All that the Lord hath ſaid will we do, and be obedient.

8 And Moſes took the blood and ſprinkled it on the people, and ſaid, Behold the blood of the covenant, which the Lord hath made with you concerning all theſe words.

9 Then went up Moſes and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael.

10 And they ſaw the God of Iſrael: and there was under his feet, as it were a paved work of a ſapphire-ſtone, and as it were the body of heaven in his clearneſs.

11 And upon the nobles of the children of Iſrael he laid not his hand: alſo they ſaw God, and did eat and drink.

12 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Come up to me into the mount, and be there: and I will give thee tables of ſtone, and a law, and commandments, which I have written, that thou mayeſt teach them.

13 And Moſes roſe up, and his miniſter Joſhua: and Moſes went up into the mount of God.

14 And he ſaid unto the elders, Tarry ye here for us, until we come again unto you: and behold Aaron and Hur are with you; if any man have any matters to do, let him come unto them.

15 ¶ And Moſes went up into the mount, and a cloud covered the mount.

16 And the glory of the Lord abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it ſix days: and the ſeventh day he called unto Moſes out of the midſt of the cloud.

17 And the ſight of the glory of the Lord was like devouring fire on the top of the mount, in the eyes of the children of Iſrael.

18 And Moſes went into the midſt of the cloud, and gat him up into the mount: and Moſes was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The offering for the tabernacle. 10 The form of the ark. 17 The mercy-ſeat. 23 The table. 31 The candleſtick.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring me an offering; of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart, ye ſhall take my offering.

3 And this is the offering which ye ſhall take of them: gold, and ſilver, and braſs,

4 And blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair.

5 And rams' ſkins dyed red, and badgers' ſkins, and ſhittim-wood.

6 Oil for the light, ſpices for anointing oil, and for ſweet incenſe,

7 Onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet in the ephod, and in the breaſt-plate.

8 And let them make me a ſanctuary; that I may dwell among them.

9 According to all that I ſhew thee, after the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all the inſtruments thereof, even ſo ſhall ye make it.

10 ¶ And they ſhall make an ark of ſhittim-wood: two cubits and an half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

11 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, within and without ſhalt thou overlay it: and ſhalt make upon it a crown of gold round about.

12 And thou ſhalt caſt four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four corners thereof; and two rings ſhall be in the one ſide of it, and two rings in the other ſide of it.

13 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

14 And thou ſhalt put the ſtaves into the rings by the ſides of the ark, that the ark may be borne with them.

15 The ſtaves ſhall be in the rings of the ark; they ſhall not be taken from it.

16 And thou ſhalt put into the ark the teſtimony which I ſhall give thee.

17 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a mercy-ſeat of pure gold; two cubits and a half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

18 And thou ſhalt make two cherubims of gold; of beaten work ſhalt thou make them, in the two ends of the mercy-ſeat.

19 And make one cherub on the one end, and the other cherub on the other end: even of the mercy-ſeat ſhall ye make the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

20 And the cherubims ſhall ſtretch forth their wings on high, covering the mercy-ſeat with their wings: and their faces ſhall look one to another; toward the mercy-ſeat ſhall the faces of the cherubims be.

21 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat above upon the ark: and in the ark thou ſhalt put the teſtimony

10 They ſaw the God of Iſrael.) That is, they ſaw his glory, or had ſome glimpſes of that viſible Majeſty which was on the top of the mount: for we muſt not ſuppoſe that they ſaw any viſible ſhape, the Jewiſh as well as the chriſtian religion teaching, that God is of a ſpiritual and inviſible nature; conſequently all they ſaw was the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence. Some indeed have imagined from the following words, and there was under his feet, that this glorious ſymbol of the Divinity had the form of a man; but this is contrary to Deut. iv. 15, and therefore by his feet can only be underſtood the lower part of this Divine Appearance, which reſted, as it were, upon a glittering pavement.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

7 The ephod.) This was a kind of ſquare cloak, or upper garment, that hung down from the ſhoulders; it was a ſacred veſtment, worn only by the prieſts, or perſons employed in the offices of religion; it was curiouſly wrought with gold, and other variegated embroidery, not unlike a ſhort coat, about two feet in length; on the top of it, on each ſide, were two ſhoulder-pieces, to which were faſtened two precious ſtones, ſet in gold, on which were engraven the names of the twelve tribes of Iſrael, ſix upon each ſtone.

The breaſt-plate.) This was a folded part of the ſame embroidered tiſſue of which the ephod was compoſed: on this folded piece were ſet twelve precious ſtones in gold, on each of which was engraven the name of one of the tribes: theſe were ſet in four rows, three in each row; and the whole faſtened to the ephod at the four corners; thoſe on the top to each ſhoulder-piece by a golden hook, or ring, at the end of a wreathed chain; and thoſe below to the girdle of the ephod, by two blue ſtrings or ribbands, which had likewiſe two rings and hooks.

10 And they ſhall make me an ark.) That is, a kind of ſmall cheſt or coffer made of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid with gold. It is often called the ark of the covenant, and the ark of the teſtimony; becauſe it was a ſymbol of the covenant made between God and his people, and contained the two tables of it, the pot of manna, and Aaron's miraculous rod.

17 Thou ſhalt make a mercy-ſeat.) It was called the mercy-ſeat, from its being the place of God's more immediate preſence. It was of beaten gold, and fixed with the cherubim that overſhadowed it, in a frame, or as Moſes calls it a crown, not of a round, but oblong ſquare figure, which incloſed the upper part of the ark like a rim.

that I ſhall give thee.

22 And there I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee from above the mercy-ſeat, from between the two cherubims which are upon the ark of the teſtimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Iſrael.

23 ¶ Thou ſhalt alſo make a table of ſhittim-wood: two cubits ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

24 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, and make thereto a crown of gold round about.

25 And thou ſhalt make unto it a border of an hand-breadth round about, and thou ſhalt make a golden crown to the border thereof round about.

26 And thou ſhalt make for it four rings of gold, and put the rings in the four corners that are on the four feet thereof.

27 Over againſt the border ſhall the rings be, for places of the ſtaves to bear the table.

28 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, that the table may be borne with them.

29 And thou ſhalt make the diſhes thereof, and ſpoons thereof, and covers thereof, and bowls thereof, to cover withal: of pure gold ſhalt thou make them.

30 And thou ſhalt ſet upon the table ſhew-bread before me alway.

31 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a candleſtick of pure gold: of beaten work ſhall the candleſtick be made: his ſhaft, and his branches, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers ſhall be of the ſame.

32 And ſix branches ſhall come out of the ſides of it; three branches of the candleſtick out of the one ſide, and three branches of the candleſtick out of the other ſide.

33 Three bowls made like unto almonds, with a knop and a flower in one branch; and three bowls made like almonds in the other branch, with a knop and a flower: ſo in the ſix branches that come out of the candleſtick.

34 And in the candleſtick ſhall be four bowls made like unto almonds, with their knops and their flowers.

35 And there ſhall be a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, according to the ſix branches that proceed out of the candleſtick.

36 Their knops and their branches ſhall be of the ſame; all of it ſhall be one beaten work of pure gold.

37 And thou ſhalt make the ſeven lamps thereof: and they ſhall light the lamps thereof, that they may give light over againſt it.

38 And the tongs thereof, and the ſnuff-diſhes thereof ſhall be of pure gold.

39 Of a talent of pure gold ſhall he make it, with all theſe veſſels.

40 And look that thou make them after their pattern which was ſhewed thee in the mount.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The ten curtains of the tabernacle. 31 The vail for the ark.

MOREOVER, thou ſhalt make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet; with cherubims of cunning work ſhalt thou make them.

2 The length of one curtain ſhall be eight and twenty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: and every one of the curtains ſhall have one meaſure.

3 The five curtains ſhall be coupled together one to another; and other five curtains ſhall be coupled one to another,

4 And thou ſhalt make loops of blue upon the edge of the one curtain, from the ſelvage in the coupling: and likewiſe ſhalt thou make in the uttermoſt edge of another curtain, in the coupling of the ſecond.

5 Fifty loops ſhalt thou make in the one curtain, and fifty loops ſhalt thou make in the edge of the curtain that is in the coupling of the ſecond; that the loops may take hold one of another.

6 And thou ſhalt make fifty taches of gold, and couple the curtains together with the taches: and it ſhall be one tabernacle.

7 And thou ſhalt make curtains of goats' hair to be a covering upon the tabernacle; eleven curtains ſhalt thou make.

8 The length of one curtain ſhall be thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits; and the eleven curtains ſhall be all of one meaſure.

9 And thou ſhalt couple five curtains by themſelves, and ſix curtains by themſelves, and ſhalt double the ſixth curtain in the forefront of the tabernacle.

10 And thou ſhalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain, that is outmoſt in the coupling, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which coupleth the ſecond.

11 And thou ſhalt make fifty taches of braſs, and put the taches into the loops, and couple the tent together, that it may be one.

12 And the remnant that remaineth of the curtains of the tent, the half curtain that remaineth ſhall hang over the back-ſide of the tabernacle.

13 And a cubit on the one ſide, and a cubit on 23 Thou ſhalt make a table.) The Iſraelites being ſunk into the groſſeſt idolatry in Egypt, it was neceſſary that the idea of God, and his attributes, ſhould be impreſſed upon them in the moſt ſenſible manner: but this could not be commodiouſly under his character of God of the univerſe; under his character of king and tutelary God it well might. Hence he is repreſented with affections analogous to human paſſions: his civil relation qualified ſuch a repreſentation, the groſſneſs of their conceptions rendered ſuch a repreſentation neceſſary, and the guarded manner in which it was always done, prevented it from being miſchievous. Agreeable to this notion, he is repreſented as chooſing a particular nation for his reſidence, and having a dwelling wherein he manifeſted his real preſence. While they ſojourned in the wilderneſs in tents, he choſe to ſojourn with them in a tent likewiſe. When the Jews came into their land, and had fixed dwelling houſes, he had a fixed dwelling-houſe likewiſe, and the moveable tabernacle was changed for a ſtanding temple. The tabernacle, being thus a place for God to dwell in viſibly, it was furniſhed with every thing neceſſary in a dwelling-houſe. The table and candleſtick, the neceſſary furniture of a room; the diſhes, ſpoons, bowls and covers, belonging to the table; and the bread neceſſary for the ſupport of an inhabitant; the candleſtick with its lamps continually burning, the conſtant fire and the ſacrifices upon the altar, all of them ſupport the idea of an houſe and inhabitant. The offering conſumed on God's altar is, agreeably to the ſame idea, called God's meat and food, as well as the altar is God's table, Mal. i. 13. And to compleat this idea, the part aſſigned to God was conſumed only by the holy fire, by which it was figuratively eaten or conſumed by himſelf.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

1 Moreover thou ſhalt make the tabernacle.) The word which we render tabernacle literally ſignifies a tent; it being neceſſary that this ſacred place, where the moſt ſolemn parts of divine worſhip were to be performed, ſhould be fitted to their frequent marches, and be eaſily ſet up and taken down, as occaſion required. The tabernacle is called by ſeveral names in ſcripture; the moſt common of which is, The tabernacle of the congregation or aſſembly, becauſe it was made in the form of a magnificent tent or pavilion. We find it elſewhere called the Holy place, becauſe it was made holy by God's preſence; and ſometimes, by way of excellence, the habitation.

the other ſide of that which remaineth in the length of the curtains of the tent, it ſhall hang over the ſides of the tabernacle, on this ſide and on that ſide, to cover it.

14 And thou ſhalt make a covering for the tent of rams' ſkins died red, and a covering above of badgers' ſkins.

15 And thou ſhalt make boards for the tabernacle, of ſhittim-wood ſtanding up.

16 Ten cubits ſhall be the length of a board, and a cubit and a half ſhall be the breadth of one board.

17 Two tenons ſhall there be in one board, ſet in order one againſt another: thus ſhalt thou make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

18 And thou ſhalt make the boards for the tabernacle, twenty boards on the ſouth ſide, ſouthward.

19 And thou ſhalt make forty ſockets of ſilver under the twenty boards; two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons.

20 And for the ſecond ſide of the tabernacle on the north ſide, there ſhall be twenty boards.

21 And their forty ſockets of ſilver; two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

22 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſt-ward thou ſhalt make ſix boards.

23 And two boards ſhalt thou make for the corners of the tabernacle in the two ſides.

24 And they ſhall be coupled together beneath, and they ſhall be coupled together above the head of it unto one ring: thus ſhall it be for them both; they ſhall be for the two corners.

25 And they ſhall be eight boards, and their ſockets of ſilver, ſixteen ſockets; two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

26 And thou ſhalt make bars of ſhittim-wood; five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle.

27 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the ſide of the tabernacle, for the two ſides weſtward.

28 And the middle bar in the midſt of the boards ſhall reach from end to end.

29 And thou ſhalt overlay the boards with gold, and make their rings of gold for places for the bars: and thou ſhalt overlay the bars with gold.

30 And thou ſhalt rear up the tabernacle according to the faſhion thereof which was ſhewed thee in the mount.

31 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen of cunning work: with cherubims ſhall it be made.

32 And thou ſhalt hang it upon four pillars of ſhittim-wood, overlaid with gold: their hooks ſhall be of gold, upon the four ſockets of ſilver.

33 And thou ſhalt hang up the vail under the taches, that thou mayeſt bring in thither within the vail the ark of the teſtimony; and the vail ſhall divide unto you between the holy place and the moſt holy.

34 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat upon the ark of the teſtimony, in the moſt holy place.

35 And thou ſhalt ſet the table without the vail, and the candleſtick over againſt the table on the ſide of the tabernacle toward the ſouth: and thou ſhalt put the table on the north ſide.

36 And thou ſhalt make an hanging for the door of the tent, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work.

37 And thou ſhalt make for the hanging five pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, and their hooks ſhall be of gold: and thou ſhalt caſt five ſockets of braſs for them.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The altar of burnt-offering, with the veſſels. 9 The court of the tabernacle. 20 The oil for the lamp.

AND thou ſhalt make an altar of ſhittim-wood, five cubits long, and five cubits broad: the altar ſhall be four ſquare; and the height thereof ſhall be three cubits.

2 And thou ſhalt make the horns of it upon the four corners thereof, his horns ſhall be of the ſame: and thou ſhalt overlay it with braſs.

3 And thou ſhalt make his pans to receive his aſhes, and his ſhovels, and his baſons, and his fleſh-hooks, and his fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof thou ſhalt make of braſs.

4 And thou ſhalt make for it a grate of net-work of braſs: and upon the net ſhalt thou make four braſen rings in the four corners thereof.

5 And thou ſhalt put it under the compaſs of the altar beneath, that the net may be even to the midſt of the altar.

6 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves for the altar, ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with braſs.

7 And the ſtaves ſhall be put into the rings, and the ſtaves ſhall be upon the two ſides of the altar to bear it.

8 Hollow with boards ſhalt thou make it: as it was ſhewed thee in the mount, ſo ſhall they make it.

9 ¶ And thou ſhalt make the court of the tabernacle: for the ſouth ſide ſouthward, there ſhall be hangings for the court of fine twined linen of an hundred cubits long, for one ſide.

10 And the twenty pillars thereof, and their twenty ſockets ſhall be of braſs; the hooks of the pillars and their fillets ſhall be of ſilver.

11 And likewiſe for the north ſide in length, there ſhall be hangings of an hundred cubits long, and his twenty pillars and their twenty ſockets of braſs; the hooks of the pillars and their fillets of ſilver.

12 And for the breadth of the court on the weſt ſide, ſhall be hangings of fifty cubits: their pillars ten, and their ſockets ten.

13 And the breadth of the court on the eaſt-ſide, eaſtward, ſhall be fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of one ſide of the gate ſhall be

31 A vail of blue, &c.) This vail divided the tabernacle into two parts, ſeparating the holy from the moſt holy place. It was made of the richeſt ſtuff, both for matter and workmanſhip; and adorned with cherubims, feſtoons, and other ornaments curiouſly embroidered upon it.

36 The door of the tent.) It is plain from the former part of this deſcription, ver. 12, 22, 23, that the ark and mercy-ſeat were in the weſt end of the tabernacle, that is, the door and entrance fronted the eaſt: ſo that the Iſraelites in worſhipping Jehovah turned their faces towards the weſt, that they might be thus figuratively taught to turn from the worſhip of that luminary, the great idol of the nations, and to adore the God who made him and them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

2 And thou ſhalt make the horns of it, &c.) By the word horns are meant pinnacles or ſpires, one at each corner, and made out of the ſame wood: theſe were partly for ornament, and partly to tie the ſacrifice to, before it was ſlain. They ſerved alſo to keep the wood of the ſacrifice from ſliding off

9 Court of the tabernacle.) Round about the tabernacle was a large oblong court, encloſed with hangings, and ſupported with pillars overlaid with ſilver. In this court, towards the upper end, ſtood the tabernacle; and, between that and the entrance, the altar of burnt-offerings in the open air, that the fire, which was kept up perpetually upon it, and the ſmoke ariſing from the victims might not ſpoil the inſide of the tabernacle, fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

15 And on the other ſide ſhall be hangings; fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

16 And for the gate of the court ſhall be an hanging of twenty cubits, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work: and their pillars ſhall be four, and their ſockets four.

17 All the pillars round about the court ſhall be filleted with ſilver; their hooks ſhall be of ſilver, and their ſockets of braſs.

18 The length of the court ſhall be an hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty every where, and the height five cubits of fine twined linen, and their ſockets of braſs.

19 All the veſſels of the tabernacle in all the ſervice thereof, and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the court ſhall be of braſs.

20 ¶ And thou ſhalt command the children of Iſrael, that they bring thee pure oil-olive beaten, for the light, to cauſe the lamp to burn always.

21 In the tabernacle of the congregation without the vail, which is before the teſtimony, Aaron and his ſons ſhall order it from evening to morning before the Lord: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto their generations, on the behalf of the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Aaron and his ſons are ſeparated for the prieſt's office.
6 The ephod, breaſt-plate, and other holy garments appointed.

AND take thou unto thee Aaron thy brother, and his ſons with him, from among the children of Iſrael, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office, even Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's ſons.

2 And thou ſhalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, for glory and for beauty.

3 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto all that are wiſe-hearted, whom I have filled with the ſpirit of wiſdom, that they may make Aaron's garments to conſecrate him, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

4 And theſe are the garments which they ſhall make; a breaſt-plate, and an ephod, and a robe, and a broidered coat, a mitre, and a girdle: and they ſhall make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, and his ſons, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

5 And they ſhall take gold, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen.

6 ¶ And they ſhall make the ephod of gold, of blue, and of purple, of ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, with cunning work.

7 It ſhall have the two ſhoulder-pieces thereof joined at the two edges thereof; and ſo it ſhall be joined together.

8 And the curious girdle of the ephod, which is upon it, ſhall be of the ſame, according to the work thereof; even of gold, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 And thou ſhalt take two onyx-ſtones, and grave on them the names of the children of Iſrael:

10 Six of their names on one ſtone, and the other ſix names of the reſt on the other ſtone, according to their birth.

11 With the work of an engraver in ſtone, like the engravings of a ſignet, ſhalt thou engrave the two ſtones with the names of the children of Iſrael: thou ſhalt make them to be ſet in ouches of gold.

12 And thou put the two ſtones upon the ſhoulders of the ephod, for ſtones of memorial unto the children of Iſrael. And Aaron ſhall bear their names before the Lord upon his two ſhoulders for a memorial.

13 And thou ſhalt make ouches of gold;

14 And two chains of pure gold at the ends: of wreathen-work ſhalt thou make them, and faſten the wreathen-chains to the ouches.

15 And thou ſhalt make the breaſt-plate of judgment with cunning work; after the work of the ephod thou ſhalt make it: of gold, of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet, and of fine twined linen, thou ſhalt make it.

16 Four-ſquare it ſhall be, being doubled; a ſpan ſhall be the length thereof, and a ſpan ſhall be the breadth thereof.

17 And thou ſhalt ſet in it, ſettings of ſtones, even four rows of ſtones; the firſt row ſhall be a ſardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this ſhall be the firſt row.

18 And the ſecond row ſhall be an emerald, a ſapphire, and a diamond.

19 And the third row a ligure, an agate, and an amethyſt.

20 And the fourth row a beryl, and an onyx, and a jaſper: they ſhall be ſet in gold in their inclоſings.

21 And the ſtones ſhall be with the names of the children of Iſrael, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a ſignet; every one with his name ſhall they be according to the twelve tribes.

22 And thou ſhalt make upon the breaſt-plate chains at the ends of wreathen-work of pure gold.

23 And thou ſhall make upon the breaſt-plate two rings of gold, and ſhalt put the two rings on the two ends of the breaſt-plate.

24 And thou ſhalt put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings, which are on the ends of the breaſt-plate.

25 And the other two ends of the two wreathen chains thou ſhalt faſten in the two ouches, and put them on the ſhoulder-pieces of the ephod before it.

26 And thou ſhalt make two rings of gold, and thou ſhalt put them upon the two ends of the breaſt-plate, in the border thereof, which is in the ſide of the ephod inward.

27 And two other rings of gold thou ſhalt make, and ſhalt put them on the two ſides of the ephod underneath toward the fore part thereof, over againſt the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod.

28 And they ſhall bind the breaſt-plate by the rings thereof unto the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, that it may be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate be not looſed from the ephod.

29 And Aaron ſhall bear the names of the children of Iſrael in the breaſt-plate of judgment upon his heart, when he goeth in unto the holy place, for a memorial before the Lord continually.

30 And thou ſhalt put in the breaſt-plate of judgment, the Urim and the Thummim; and they ſhall be upon Aaron's heart when he goeth in before the Lord:

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

3 Whom I have filled with the ſpirit of wiſdom.) The wiſdom or mechanical ſkill of artiſts is here, with great propriety, aſcribed to God; not that we ſhould conſider it as given by inſpiration, like the ſpirit of prophecy, but becauſe every good gift is derived from him who forms the mind with all its powers, and for the general good of ſociety, diſpenſes different gifts and endowments to different members.

15 Breaſt-plate of judgment,) So called becauſe the high prieſt wore it upon his breaſt, when he went to aſk counſel or judgment of God.

and

and Aaron shall bear the judgment of the children of Israel upon his heart before the Lord continually.

31 And thou shalt make the robe of the ephod all of blue.

32 And there shall be a hole in the top of it, in the midst thereof: it shall have a binding of woven work round about the hole of it, as it were the hole of an habergeon, that it be not rent.

33 And beneath upon the hem of it thou shalt make pomegranates of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet round about the hem thereof; and bells of gold between them round about:

34 A golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, upon the hem of the robe round about.

35 And it shall be upon Aaron to minister: and his sound shall be heard when he goeth in unto the holy place before the Lord, and when he cometh out, that he die not.

36 And thou shalt make a plate of pure gold, and grave upon it, like the engravings of a signet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

37 And thou shalt put it on a blue lace, that it may be upon the mitre: upon the forefront of the mitre it shall be.

38 And it shall be upon Aaron's forehead, that Aaron may bear the iniquity of the holy things which the children of Israel shall hallow in all their holy gifts: and it shall be always upon his forehead, that they may be accepted before the Lord.

39 And thou shalt embroider the coat of fine linen, and thou shalt make the mitre of fine linen, and thou shalt make the girdle of needle-work.

40 And for Aaron's sons thou shalt make coats, and thou shalt make for them girdles, and bonnets shalt thou make for them, for glory and for beauty.

41 And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him; and shalt anoint them, and consecrate them, and sanctify them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office.

42 And thou shalt make them linen breeches to cover their nakedness: from the loins even unto the thighs they shall reach:

43 And they shall be upon Aaron and upon his sons, when they come in unto the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they come near unto the altar to minister in the holy place; that they bear not iniquity and die. It shall be a statute for ever unto him and his seed after him.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The sacrifice and ceremonies of consecrating the priests. 38 The continual burnt-offering.

AND this is the thing that thou shalt do unto them to hallow them, to minister unto me in the priest's office: take one young bullock, and two rams without blemish,

2 And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened tempered with oil, and wafers unleavened anointed with oil: of wheaten flour shalt thou make them.

3 And thou shalt put them into one basket, and bring them in the basket with the bullock and the two rams.

4 And Aaron and his sons thou shalt bring unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shalt wash them with water.

5 And thou shalt take the garments, and put upon Aaron the coat, and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breast-plate, and gird him with the curious girdle of the ephod:

6 And thou shalt put the mitre upon his head, and put the holy crown upon the mitre.

7 Then shalt thou take the anointing oil, and pour it upon his head, and anoint him.

8 And thou shalt bring his sons, and put coats upon them.

9 And thou shalt gird them with girdles, (Aaron and his sons) and put the bonnets on them: and the priest's office shall be theirs for a perpetual statute: and thou shalt consecrate Aaron and his sons.

10 And thou shalt cause a bullock to be brought before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the bullock.

11 And thou shalt kill the bullock before the Lord by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And thou shalt take of the blood of the bullock, and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and pour all the blood beside the bottom of the altar.

13 And thou shalt take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is above the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, and burn them upon the altar.

14 But the flesh of the bullock, and his skin, and his dung shalt thou burn with fire without the camp: it is a sin-offering.

15 Thou shalt also take one ram; and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

16 And thou shalt slay the ram, and thou shalt take his blood, and sprinkle it round about upon the altar.

17 And thou shalt cut the ram in pieces, and wash the inwards of him, and his legs, and put them unto his pieces, and unto his head.

18 And thou shalt burn the whole ram upon the altar: it is a burnt-offering unto the Lord: it is a sweet savour, an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

19 And thou shalt take the other ram; and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

43 It shall be a statute for ever.) That is, as long as the Jewish state shall continue, or there shall be any priesthood of the order of Aaron, they shall appear before God in these garments.

Commentary on Chap. XXIX.

1 To minister unto me in the priest's office.) This chapter contains a succinct account of the manner of consecrating the Jewish priests; and we may observe that every ceremony was ordered to be performed in the most solemn manner; doubtless, to strike both them and the people with a still deeper sense of the sacredness of that function. The Jewish high-priest was a manifest type of our blessed Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, as the author of the epistle to the Hebrews has declared in more instances than one. The Jewish high-priest was the only person who was admitted into the holy of holies; and we have such an high-priest, who is set at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens, a minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man, Heb. viii. 1, 2. The Jewish high-priest offered a solemn expiatory sacrifice once a year; our Lord appeared once in the end of the world to put away every sin by the sacrifice of himself, Heb. ix. 26. After the expiatory sacrifice, the Jewish high-priest went into the holy place, there to offer incense on the golden altar; our Lord, when he had purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high, there to appear in the presence of God, and by the incense of his merits, to make continual intercession for us. In the same manner the several sacrifices, appointed under the law, equally lead us to Christ: for he was the trespass-offering, in that he was made sin for us; the peace-offering, because he made peace by the blood of his cross; the meat and drink offering, for his flesh is meat indeed, and his blood is drink indeed; the scape goat, for he hath carried away our sins, never more to be remembered against us; the paschal-lamb, for Christ our passover is sacrificed for us; the great sacrifice of attonement, for Jesus Christ the righteous, is both our advocate with the Father, and a propitiation for our sins.

20 Then

20 Then ſhalt thou kill the ram, and take of his blood and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the right ear of his ſons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

21 And thou ſhalt take of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and ſprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon the garments of his ſons with him: and he ſhall be hallowed, and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons' garments with him.

22 Alſo thou ſhalt take of the ram the fat and rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right ſhoulder; for it is a ram of conſecration:

23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer out of the baſket of the unleavened bread that is before the Lord.

24 And thou ſhalt put all in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his ſons; and ſhalt wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord.

25 And thou ſhalt receive them of their hands, and burn them upon the altar for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour before the Lord: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

26 And thou ſhalt take the breaſt of the ram of Aaron's conſecration, and wave it for a wave-offering before the Lord: and it ſhall be thy part.

27 And thou ſhalt ſanctify the breaſt of the wave-offering, and the ſhoulder of the heave-offering which is waved, and which is heaved up of the ram of the conſecration, even of that which is for Aaron, and of that which is for his ſons.

28 And it ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons' by a ſtatute for ever from the children of Iſrael: for it is an heave-offering: and it ſhall be an heave-offering from the children of Iſrael of the ſacrifice of their peace-offerings, even their heave-offering unto the Lord.

29 And the holy garments of Aaron ſhall be his ſons' after him, to be anointed therein, and to be conſecrated in them.

30 And that ſon that is prieſt in his ſtead ſhall put them on ſeven days, when he cometh into the tabernacle of the congregation to miniſter in the holy place.

31 And thou ſhalt take the ram of the conſecration, and ſeethe his fleſh in the holy place.

32 And Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat the fleſh of the ram, and the bread that is in the baſket, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

33 And they ſhall eat thoſe things wherewith the atonement was made, to conſecrate and to ſanctify them: but a ſtranger ſhall not eat thereof, becauſe they are holy.

34 And if ought of the fleſh of the conſecrations, or of the bread remain unto the morning; then thou ſhalt burn the remainder with fire: it ſhall not be eaten, becauſe it is holy.

35 And thus ſhalt thou do unto Aaron, and to his ſons, according to all things which I have commanded thee: ſeven days ſhalt thou conſecrate them.

36 And thou ſhalt offer every day a bullock for a ſin-offering for atonement: and thou ſhalt cleanſe the altar when thou haſt made an atonement for it, and thou ſhalt anoint it to ſanctify it.

37 Seven days thou ſhalt make an atonement for the altar, and ſanctify it: and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth the altar ſhall be holy.

38 ¶ Now this is that which thou ſhalt offer upon the altar: two lambs of the firſt year day by day continually.

39 The one lamb thou ſhalt offer in the morning: and the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even.

40 And with the one lamb a tenth deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil; and the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering.

41 And the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even, and ſhalt do thereto according to the meat-offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof, for a ſweet ſavour, an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

42 This ſhall be a continual burnt-offering throughout your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the Lord: where I will meet you, to ſpeak there unto thee.

43 And there I will meet with the children of Iſrael, and the tabernacle ſhall be ſanctified by my glory.

44 And I will ſanctify the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar: I will ſanctify alſo both Aaron and his ſons, to miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

45 And I will dwell among the children of Iſrael, and will be their God.

46 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God, that brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, that I may dwell among them: I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The altar of incenſe. 11 The ranſom of ſouls. 17 The laver. 22 The holy anointing oil. 34 The compoſition of the perfume.

AND thou ſhalt make an altar to burn incenſe upon: of ſhittim-wood ſhalt thou make it.

2 A cubit ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof: (four-ſquare ſhall it be:) and two cubits ſhall be the height thereof: the horns thereof ſhall be of the ſame.

3 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, the top thereof, and the ſides thereof round about, and the horns thereof: and thou ſhalt make unto it a crown of gold round about.

4 And two golden rings ſhalt thou make to it under the crown of it, by the two corners thereof, upon the two ſides of it ſhalt thou make it: and they ſhall be for places for the ſtaves to bear it withal.

20 And put it upon the tip of the right ear, &c.) All this tended to make the prieſt underſtand, that he ought to apply his ear diligently to the ſtudy of the law, to employ his hands with the ſame diligence in his ſacred miniſtry, and his feet to walk in the way of God's precepts; for the ear is the ſymbol of obedience, the hand of action, and the foot of the path or conduct of life.

30 Shall put them on ſeven days.) He was to put them on ſeven days together, that he might learn to appear in a decent manner, and the people be habituated to pay him reverence, before he undertook to miniſter. It is to be obſerved, that during the whole ſeven days of conſecration, the prieſts were not to ſtir from the door of the tabernacle, but to keep the watch of Jehovah night and day. The number ſeven is much regarded in the ſacred writings: the blood of atonement was ſprinkled ſeven times before the mercy ſeat: the conſecrating oil was to be ſprinkled ſeven times on the altar: the leaper was ſprinkled ſeven times, and ſeven days were appointed for his cleanſing: ſeven days were appointed for conſecrating prieſts and for purifying the unclean: ſeven times Naaman waſhed in Jordan: ſeven days was Jericho beſieged, and ſeven prieſts blew with ſeven trumpets: every ſeventh day was a ſabbath, and the ſeventh year a year of reſt: and ſeven times ſeven years brought the jubilee.

45 I will dwell among the children of Iſrael.) That is, I will place in the midſt of them the Shechinah, or ſymbol of my peculiar preſence. A type of that eternal life which the ſaints enjoy in heaven, where they are always in the preſence of their God.

An Offering before the ARK of the COVENANT.

Published by B. Jackson Bolton-le-Moors.

5 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

6 And thou ſhalt put it before the vail that is by the ark of the teſtimony; before the mercy-ſeat that is over the teſtimony, where I will meet with thee.

7 And Aaron ſhall burn thereon ſweet incenſe every morning: when he dreſſeth the lamps he ſhall burn incenſe upon it.

8 And when Aaron lighteth the lamps at even, he ſhall burn incenſe upon it: a perpetual incenſe before the Lord, throughout your generations.

9 Ye ſhall offer no ſtrange incenſe thereon, nor burnt-ſacrifice, nor meat-offering; neither ſhall ye pour drink-offering thereon.

10 And Aaron ſhall make an atonement upon the horns of it once in a year, with the blood of the ſin-offering of atonements: once in the year ſhall he make atonement upon it throughout your generations: it is moſt holy unto the Lord.

11 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 When thou takeſt the ſum of the children of Iſrael, after their number; then ſhall they give every man a ranſom for his ſoul unto the Lord, when thou numbereſt them: that there be no plague among them, when thou numbereſt them.

13 This they ſhall give every one that paſſeth among them that are numbered, half a ſhekel after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: (a ſhekel is twenty gerahs:) an half ſhekel ſhall be the offering of the Lord.

14 Every one that paſſeth among them that are numbered from twenty years old and above, ſhall give an offering unto the Lord.

15 The rich ſhall not give more, and the poor ſhall not give leſs than half a ſhekel, when they give an offering unto the Lord, to make an atonement for your ſouls.

16 And thou ſhalt take the atonement money of the children of Iſrael, and ſhalt appoint it for the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation; that it may be a memorial unto the children of Iſrael before the Lord, to make an atonement for your ſouls.

17 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

18 Thou ſhalt alſo make a laver of braſs, and his foot alſo of braſs, to waſh withal: and thou ſhalt put it between the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar, and thou ſhalt put water therein:

19 For Aaron and his ſons ſhall waſh their hands and their feet thereat.

20 When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, they ſhall waſh with water, that they die not; or when they come near to the altar to miniſter, to burn offerings made by fire unto the Lord.

21 So they ſhall waſh their hands and their feet, that they die not: and it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever to them, even to him and to his ſeed throughout their generations.

22 ¶ Moreover the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Take thou alſo unto thee principal ſpices, of pure myrrh five hundred ſhekels, and of ſweet cinnamon half ſo much, even two hundred and fifty ſhekels, and of ſweet calamus two hundred and fifty ſhekels.

24 And of caſſia five hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, and of oil-olive an hin:

25 And thou ſhalt make it an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compound after the art of the apothecary: it ſhall be an holy anointing oil.

26 And thou ſhalt anoint the tabernacle of the congregation therewith, and the ark of the teſtimony, 27 And the table and all his veſſels, and the candleſtick and his veſſels, and the altar of incenſe.

28 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his veſſels, and the laver and his foot.

29 And thou ſhalt ſanctify them that they may be moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth them ſhall be holy.

30 And thou ſhalt anoint Aaron and his ſons, and conſecrate them, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

31 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This ſhall be an holy anointing oil unto me throughout your generations.

32 Upon man's fleſh ſhall it not be poured, neither ſhall ye make any other like it, after the compoſition of it: it is holy, and it ſhall be holy unto you.

33 Whoſoever compoundeth any like it, or whoſoever putteth any of it upon a ſtranger, ſhall even be cut off from his people.

34 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Take unto thee ſweet ſpices, ſtacte, and onyca, and galbanum; theſe ſweet ſpices with pure frankincenſe: of each ſhall there be a like weight.

35 And thou ſhalt make it a perfume, a confection after the art of the apothecary, tempered together, pure and holy.

36 And thou ſhalt beat ſome of it very ſmall, and put of it before the teſtimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with thee: it ſhall be unto you moſt holy.

37 And as for the perfume which thou ſhalt make, ye ſhall not make to yourſelves according to the compoſition thereof: it ſhall be unto thee holy for the Lord.

38 Whoſoever

Commentary on Chap. XXX.

7 Sweet incenſe.) This was a compound of many fragrant ſpices, and was intended to perfume the ſanctuary, which muſt otherwiſe have had a very offenſive ſmell, from the great number of beaſts daily ſlain there, cut to pieces, waſhed, and burnt. But it had a more important intention, as, by aſcending up towards the mercy-ſeat, it ſymbolically repreſented the propitiouſneſs of the Deity to ſinful men, and his readineſs to receive thoſe prayers and confeſſions which are accompanied with divine love; while the action of the high-prieſt ſhadowed forth the interceſſion of Chriſt, the great high-prieſt of our profeſſion, and his offering up the prayers of his ſervants before the throne of God. Thus the law was our ſchoolmaſter to bring us unto Chriſt, and only ſhadowed out the good things to come.

12 Then ſhall they give every man a ranſom for his ſoul.) That is, they ſhall pay a certain tax, as a pious acknowledgement to God, for having redeemed them from Egyptian ſlavery, and delivered them in ſo many dangers and difficulties, with his own right hand. And by paying this homage to Jehovah, they put themſelves entirely under his protection, which was abundantly ſufficient to ſecure them from any evil, and prevent any plague coming near their dwelling.

25 And thou ſhalt make it an oil of holy ointment.) The ſpices, which were in all near half a hundred weight, were to be infuſed in the oil, which was to be about five or ſix quarts, and then ſtrained out, leaving an admirable ſweet ſmell in the oil. With this oil God's tent and all the furniture of it were to be anointed, it was to be uſed alſo in the conſecration of the prieſts, and continued throughout their generations. The tradition of the Jews is, that this very oil, which was prepared by Moſes himſelf, laſted till near the captivity. But Biſhop Patrick ſhews the great improbability of the tradition, and ſuppoſeth it was repeated according to the preſcription here, for Solomon was anointed with it, and ſome other of the kings, and all the high-prieſts, with ſuch a quantity of it, as that it ran down to the ſkirts of the garments; and we read of the making up of this ointment, 1 Chron. ix. 30, yet all agree, that in this ſecond temple there was none of this holy oil, which he ſuppoſes was owing to a notion they had that it was not lawful to make it up; providence over-ruling that want, as a preſage of the better unction of the Holy Ghoſt in goſpel times, the variety of whoſe gifts was typified by theſe ſeveral ſweet ingredients: to ſhew the excellency of holineſs, there was that in the tabernacle which was in the higheſt degree grateful both to the ſight and to the ſmell. Chriſt's name is ſaid to be as ointment poured forth, Cant. i. 3, and the good name of chriſtians better than precious ointment, Eccl. vii. 1.

38 Whoſoever ſhall make like unto that, to ſmell thereto, ſhall even be cut off from his people.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Bazaleel and Aholiab are called for the work of the tabernacle. 12 Of the ſabbath. 18 Moſes receiveth the two tables.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 See, I have called by name, Bazaleel, the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.

3 And I have filled him with the ſpirit of God, in wiſdom, and in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip.

4 To deviſe cunning works, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs.

5 And in cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of timber, to work in all manner of workmanſhip.

6 And I, behold, I have given with him, Aholiab the ſon of Ahiſamach of the tribe of Dan; and in the hearts of all that are wiſe-hearted I have put wiſdom; that they may make all that I have commanded thee:

7 The tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the teſtimony, and the mercy-ſeat that is thereupon, and all the furniture of the tabernacle.

8 And the table and his furniture, and the pure candleſtick with all his furniture, and the altar of incenſe.

9 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his furniture, and the laver and his foot.

10 And the clothes of ſervice, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and the garments of his ſons, to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

11 And the anointing oil, and ſweet incenſe for the holy place: according to all that I have commanded thee, ſhall they do.

12 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

13 Speak thou alſo unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Verily my ſabbaths ye ſhall keep; for it is a ſign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the Lord, that doth ſanctify you.

14 Ye ſhall keep the ſabbath therefore: for it is holy unto you. Every one that defileth it, ſhall ſurely be put to death: for whoſoever doth any work therein, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from amongſt his people.

15 Six days may work be done, but in the ſeventh is the ſabbath of reſt, holy to the Lord: whoſoever doeth any work on the ſabbath-day, he ſhall ſurely be put to death.

16 Wherefore the children of Iſrael ſhall keep the ſabbath, to obſerve the ſabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant.

17 It is a ſign between me and the children of Iſrael for ever: for in ſix days the Lord made heaven and earth, and on the ſeventh day he reſted, and was refreſhed.

18 ¶ And he gave unto Moſes, when he had made an end of communing with him upon Mount Sinai, two tables of teſtimony, tables of ſtone, written with the finger of God.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The people cauſe Aaron to make a calf. 19 Moſes breaketh the tables. 25 The idolaters ſlain. 30 Moſes prayeth.

AND when the people ſaw that Moſes delayed to come down out of the mount, the people gathered themſelves together unto Aaron, and ſaid unto him, Up, make us gods, which ſhall go before us; for as for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

2 And Aaron ſaid unto them, Break off the golden ear-rings which are in the ears of your wives, of your ſons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me.

3 And all the people brake off the golden ear-rings which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron.

4 And he received them at their hand, and faſhioned it with a graving tool, after he had made it a molten calf: and they ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

5 And when Aaron ſaw it, he built an altar before it; and Aaron made proclamation, and ſaid, To-morrow is a feaſt to the Lord.

6 And they roſe up early on the morrow, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings; and the people ſat down to eat, and to drink, and roſe up to play.

7 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go, get thee down: for thy people, which thou broughteſt out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themſelves:

8 They have turned aſide quickly out of the way which I commanded them: they have made them a molten calf, and have worſhipped it, and have ſacrificed thereunto, and ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which have brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, I have ſeen this people, and behold, it is a ſtiff-necked people:

10 Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot againſt them; and that I may conſume

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

15 The ſabbath of reſt.) The poſitive inſtitution of a day of reſt, or a ſabbatiſm, was never given but to the people of God. For Adam was in friendſhip with God, and admitted to reſt with him in his reſt from his works, when the ſeventh day was firſt inſtituted as the day of reſt; and when he loſt reſt with God, and was ſeparated from him by ſin, he had no more hope of reſt (and therefore no uſe for that day of reſt) but through the promiſed ſeed, Chriſt. And God gave not the ſabbath-day to the nations, that were without Chriſt, being aliens from the commonwealth of Iſrael, and ſtrangers from the covenants, having no hope in the promiſe, and without God in the world; but he gave it to his own nation, of which that promiſed ſeed was to ſpring, his nation that ſprang from Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, by virtue of his promiſe to them, that he would make their ſeed a nation, and give them the land of Canaan; the nation which he ſet apart to himſelf, as a type of his true heavenly nation, the general aſſembly and church of the firſt-born. To that nation he gave the ſabbath-day as a ſign between him and them, that he, their God, was the Creator of the heavens and the earth, in oppoſition to the gods of the nations; and that he made them to reſt with him from the bondage of Egypt, from which he was their redeemer.

18 Written with the finger of God.) This phraſe ſignifies, that God employed neither Moſes, nor any other inſtrument in this writing, but it was done by his own powerful operation. Though it is generally underſtood that Moſes wrote the firſt, as well as the ſecond tables by the expreſs command and direction of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

1 Up, make us Gods.) The Iſraelites ſtill entertained ſuch groſs notions of the Deity, that they deſired a viſible repreſentation of their God, like the other idolatrous nations. They had ſeen Moſes aſcend the mount, and enter into the cloud, whilſt the top of the mountain was all in flames; but after waiting above a month for his return, they gave him over for loſt; and therefore aſſembled about Aaron's tent in a riotous manner, telling him, that as they deſpaired of Moſes' return it was neceſſary he ſhould make them ſome God to go before them, to direct them in their rout through the wilderneſs; for the cloud ſtill reſting upon the mount, they deſpaired of its ever again directing them in their way.

them: and I will make of thee a great nation.

11 And Moſes beſought the Lord his God, and ſaid, Lord, why doth thy wrath wax hot againſt thy people, which thou haſt brought forth out of the land of Egypt; with great power, and with a mighty hand?

12 Wherefore ſhould the Egyptians ſpeak and ſay, For miſchief did he bring them out, to ſlay them in the mountains, and to conſume them from the face of the earth? Turn from thy fierce wrath, and repent of this evil againſt thy people.

13 Remember Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael thy ſervants, to whom thou ſwareſt by thine own ſelf, and ſaidſt unto them, I will multiply your ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, and all this land that I have ſpoken of, will I give unto your ſeed, and they ſhall inherit it for ever.

14 And the Lord repented of the evil which he thought to do unto his people.

15 And Moſes turned and went down from the mount; and the two tables of the teſtimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their ſides; on the one ſide and on the other were they written.

16 And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables.

17 And when Joſhua heard the noiſe of the people, as they ſhouted, he ſaid unto Moſes, There is a noiſe of war in the camp.

18 And he ſaid, It is not the voice of them that ſhout for maſtery, neither is it the voice of them that cry for being overcome: but the noiſe of them that ſing, do I hear.

19 ¶ And it came to paſs as ſoon as he came nigh unto the camp, that he ſaw the calf, and the dancing: and Moſes' anger waxed hot, and he caſt the tables out of his hands, and brake them beneath the mount.

20 And he took the calf which they had made, and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and ſtrawed it upon the water, and made the children of Iſrael drink of it.

21 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, What did this people unto thee, that thou haſt brought ſo great a ſin upon them?

22 And Aaron ſaid, Let not the anger of my lord wax hot: thou knoweſt the people that they are ſet on miſchief.

23 For they ſaid unto me, Make us gods, which ſhall go before us: for as for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

24 And I ſaid unto them, Whoſoever hath any gold, let them break it off: ſo they gave it me; then I caſt it into the fire, and there came out this calf.

25 ¶ And when Moſes ſaw that the people were naked: (for Aaron had made them naked unto their ſhame amongſt their enemies:)

26 Then Moſes ſtood in the gate of the camp, and ſaid, Who is on the Lord's ſide? let him come unto me. And all the ſons of Levi gathered themſelves together unto him.

27 And he ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Put every man his ſword by his ſide, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and ſlay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour.

28 And the children of Levi did according to the word of Moſes: and there fell of the people that day about three thouſand men.

29 For Moſes had ſaid, Conſecrate yourſelves to day to the Lord, even every man upon his ſon, and upon his brother; that he may beſtow upon you a bleſſing this day.

30 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſaid unto the people, Ye have ſinned a great ſin: and now I will go up unto the Lord; peradventure I ſhall make an atonement for your ſin.

31 And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, Oh, this people have ſinned a great ſin, and have made them gods of gold.

32 Yet now, if thou wilt, forgive their ſin: and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou haſt written.

33 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Whoſoever hath ſinned againſt me, him will I blot out of my book.

34 Therefore now go, lead the people unto the place of which I have ſpoken unto thee: behold, mine angel ſhall go before thee: nevertheleſs, in the day when I viſit, I will viſit their ſin upon them.

35 And the Lord plagued the people, becauſe they made the calf, which Aaron made.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Lord refuſeth to go with the people. 9 The Lord talketh with Moſes. 18 Moſes deſireth to ſee the glory of God.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Depart, and go up hence, thou and the people which thou haſt brought up out of the land of Egypt, unto the land which I ſware unto Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give it:

2 And I will ſend an angel before thee; and I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebuſite:

20 Strawed it upon the water, and made the children of Iſrael drink of it.) That is, he caſt the powder into the brook that deſcended out of the mount of Horeb, which being the only water in that thirſty deſert, the Iſraelites were obliged to drink of it. This he doubtleſs did, to convince them how much they had debaſed themſelves in worſhipping ſo vile an idol, which, after paſſing through ſo many changes, was caſt into the drought: and at the ſame time make the Iſraelites themſelves give a very public and ſignal teſtimony of their condemning the practice of idolatry, by ſwallowing the duſt of their idol with their drink.

26 And all the ſons of Levi gathered themſelves together.) Hence we learn, that all the other tribes had joined in the idolatrous feaſt: and probably ſome of the Levites too, becauſe Moſes commands them to ſlay every man his brother, and every man his ſon, provided they came within their reach; but this would have been ſuperfluous, if none of that tribe had joined in the games. This timely zeal of the tribes of Levi, againſt thoſe idolaters, did not go long unrewarded: for it not only wiped off that blemiſh, which their progenitor had entailed upon them, for the bloody maſſacre of the Shechemites, but in a very ſhort time procured them the Levitical prieſt-hood; which, though ſubordinate to that of Aaron, and his poſterity, entitled them to the tenth of all kinds of beaſts, fruits, and grain in Iſrael; to the inferior miniſtry of the tabernacle, and afterwards of the temple; to a place in the judicial courts of every city and town; to the property of thirty-five cities, with all their lands, ſome of which were appointed cities of refuge; and to ſeveral other privileges and immunities.

31 And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, &c.) The atonement that Moſes here propoſes to make for the people is, by his life given for theirs, that they might not be deſtroyed in the wilderneſs. In place of their being conſumed, and a great nation made of him, he intreats the Lord to cut him off, to ſave them from being conſumed; for he thought it expedient, that one man ſhould die for the people, and that the whole nation periſh not. But the Lord would not accept this atonement from the hand of Moſes, who was himſelf a ſinner. Interceſſion by ſuch an atonement belonged to a greater than Moſes. It is only proper to the Mediator of the new covenant, who knew no ſin, and was made ſin for his people, that they might be made the righteouſneſs of God in him.

3 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey: for I will not go up in the midſt of thee: for thou art a ſtiff-necked people, leſt I conſume thee in the way.

4 And when the people heard theſe evil tidings, they mourned: and no man did put on him his ornaments.

5 For the Lord had ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto the children of Iſrael, Ye are a ſtiff-necked people: I will come up into the midſt of thee in a moment, and conſume thee: therefore now put off thy ornaments from thee, that I may know what to do unto thee.

6 And the children of Iſrael ſtript themſelves of their ornaments by the mount Horeb.

7 And Moſes took the tabernacle, and pitched it without the camp, afar off from the camp, and called it, The Tabernacle of the congregation. And it came to paſs, that every one which ſought the Lord, went out unto the tabernacle of the congregation, which was without the camp.

8 And it came to paſs, when Moſes went out unto the tabernacle, that all the people roſe up, and ſtood every man at his tent-door, and looked after Moſes, until he was gone into the tabernacle.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs as Moſes entered into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar deſcended, and ſtood at the door of the tabernacle, and the LORD talked with Moſes.

10 And all the people ſaw the cloudy pillar ſtand at the tabernacle-door: and all the people roſe up and worſhipped, every man in his tent-door.

11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes face to face, as a man ſpeaketh unto his friend. And he turned again into the camp: but his ſervant Joſhua, the ſon of Nun, a young man, departed not out of the tabernacle.

12 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, See, thou ſayeſt unto me, Bring up this people: and thou haſt not let me know whom thou wilt ſend with me. Yet thou haſt ſaid, I know thee by name, and thou haſt alſo found grace in my ſight.

13 Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy ſight, ſhew me now thy way that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy ſight: and conſider that this nation is thy people.

14 And he ſaid, My preſence ſhall go with thee, and I will give thee reſt.

15 And he ſaid unto him, If thy preſence go not with me, carry us not up hence.

16 For wherein ſhall it be known here, that I and thy people have found grace in thy ſight? is it not in that thou goeſt with us? ſo ſhall we be ſeparated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth.

17 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, I will do this thing alſo which thou haſt ſpoken: for thou haſt found grace in my ſight: and I know thee by name.

18 ¶ And he ſaid, I beſeech thee, ſhew me thy glory.

19 And he ſaid, I will make all my goodneſs paſs before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the Lord before thee; and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will ſhew mercy on whom I will ſhew mercy.

20 And he ſaid, Thou canſt not ſee my face: for there ſhall no man ſee me, and live.

21 And the Lord ſaid, Behold, there is a place by me, and thou ſhalt ſtand upon a rock:

22 And it ſhall come to paſs, while my glory paſſeth by, that I will put thee in a cleft of the rock; and will cover thee with my hand while I paſs by;

23 And I will take away mine hand, and thou ſhalt ſee my back parts: but my face ſhall not be ſeen.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The tables are renewed. 5 The name of the LORD proclaimed. 10 God maketh a covenant with them.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Hew thee two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt: and I will write upon theſe tables the words that were in the firſt tables, which thou brakeſt.

2 And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and preſent thyſelf there to me in the top of the mount.

3 And no man ſhall come up with thee, neither let any man be ſeen throughout all the mount: neither let the flocks nor herds feed before that mount.

4 And he hewed two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt; and Moſes roſe up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of ſtone.

5 ¶ And the Lord deſcended in the cloud, and ſtood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the Lord.

6 And the Lord paſſed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-ſuffering, and abundant in goodneſs and truth.

7 Keeping mercy for thouſands, forgiving iniquity, and tranſgeſſion, and ſin, and that will by no means clear

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

18 I beſeech thee, ſhew me thy glory, &c.) The Lord ſpake to Moſes face to face, as a man ſpeaketh to his friend; promiſed, in anſwer to his requeſt, that his preſence (or face) ſhould go with him, and that he would give him reſt; and told him, he had found grace in his ſight, and that he knew him by name. Moſes, by all this, is encouraged yet to aſk further, that he would make him ſee his glory. He wanted to behold him in that light wherein he dwells, which the apoſtle ſays, no man can approach unto. He deſired to look upon the glory of the Divine Majeſty, as it appears from the throne in heaven, which the apoſtle calls the Majeſty on high, telling the Hebrews, We have ſuch an high-prieſt who is ſet on the right hand of the throne of the Majeſty in the heavens, Heb. viii. 1. There was a faint beam of this ſhining in the cloud on the mercy-ſeat, between the cherubims, and making the face of Moſes ſhine when he had ſeen it. He ſaw the Son of God appearing as a man, in a glory that he was capable to behold; even as the diſciples beheld Jeſus in the glory of his tranſfiguration, with Moſes and Elias, appearing in glory, converſing with him. But if he deſired to ſee him in his glory, as he now ſits on the right hand of the Majeſty on high, this is what eyes of fleſh cannot bear: for to ſee a ray of that glory made Paul fall to the ground, and blinded him ſo that he could not ſee for the glory of that light: therefore the Lord, when he condeſcended to paſs by Moſes in that glory, would let him ſee no more of it than he could with ſafety look upon, as it were the back parts, in compariſon with the brightneſs of his face: for when that glory was coming near to him, and was in paſſing by him, the Lord covered and protected him from being deſtroyed by its preſence; but when it had paſſed, and was going away from him, he was admitted to look after it, as it began to diſappear, and was vaniſhing out of ſight: But my face ſhall not be ſeen: This is a ſight which fleſh and blood can no more endure, than it can inherit the kingdom of God. No mortal ever hath ſeen, or can ſee what is here ſaid ſhall not be ſeen. No ſaint, while in this tabernacle, walking by faith, not by ſight, can approach unto that heavenly light wherein God dwells. They cannot be in the preſence of the Lord Jeſus, beholding him ſet down with the Father on his throne; but muſt be abſent from him till this tabernacle be diſſolved, and they cloathed upon with their heavenly houſe, and mortality ſwallowed up of life. When he comes again in the glory of his Father, and changes our bodies, faſhioning them like his glorious body, we ſhall then ſee him as he is, and face to face; with the eyes of this body; but this cannot be, without deſtruction, till this body be changed.

clear the guilty, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation.

8 And Moſes made haſte, and bowed his head toward the earth, and worſhipped.

9 And he ſaid, If now I have found grace in thy ſight, O Lord, let my Lord, I pray thee, go amongſt us; (for it is a ſtiff-necked people:) and pardon our iniquity and our ſin, and take us for thine inheritance.

10 ¶ And he ſaid, Behold, I make a covenant: before all thy people I will do marvels, ſuch as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation: and all the people among which thou art, ſhall ſee the work of the Lord, for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

11 Obſerve thou that which I command thee this day: behold, I drive out before thee the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebuſite.

12 Take heed to thyſelf, leſt thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goeſt, leſt it be for a ſnare in the midſt of thee.

13 But ye ſhall deſtroy their altars, break their images, and cut down their groves.

14 For thou ſhalt worſhip no other god: for the Lord, whoſe name is Jealous, is a jealous God:

15 Leſt thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and they go a whoring after their gods, and do ſacrifice unto their gods, and one call thee, and thou eat of his ſacrifice.

16 And thou take of their daughters unto thy ſons, and their daughters go a whoring after their gods, and make thy ſons go a whoring after their gods.

17 Thou ſhalt make thee no molten gods.

18 The feaſt of unleavened bread ſhalt thou keep: ſeven days thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the month Abib: for in the month Abib thou cameſt out from Egypt.

19 All that openeth the matrix is mine; and every firſtling among thy cattle, whether ox or ſheep, that is male.

20 But the firſtling of an aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then ſhalt thou break his neck. All the firſt-born of thy ſons thou ſhalt redeem, and none ſhall appear before me empty.

21 Six days thou ſhalt work, but on the ſeventh day thou ſhalt reſt: in earing time and in harveſt thou ſhalt reſt.

22 And thou ſhalt obſerve the feaſt of weeks, of the firſt-fruits of wheat-harveſt, and the feaſt of in-gathering at the year's end.

23 Thrice in the year ſhall all your men-children appear before the Lord God, the God of Iſrael.

24 For I will caſt out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy borders: neither ſhall any man deſire thy land, when thou ſhalt go up to appear before the Lord thy God thrice in the year.

25 Thou ſhalt not offer the blood of my ſacrifice with leaven: neither ſhall the ſacrifice of the feaſt of the paſſover be left unto the morning.

26 The firſt of the firſt-fruits of thy land thou ſhalt bring unto the houſe of the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.

27 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Write thou theſe words: for after the tenor of theſe words I have made a covenant with thee and with Iſrael.

28 And he was there with the Lord forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water. And he wrote upon the table the words of the covenant, the ten commandments.

29 And it came to paſs, when Moſes came down from mount Sinai (with the two tables of teſtimony in Moſes' hand, when he came down from the mount) that Moſes wiſt not that the ſkin of his face ſhone, while he talked with him.

30 And when Aaron and all the children of Iſrael ſaw Moſes, behold the ſkin of his face ſhone; and they were afraid to come nigh him.

31 And Moſes called unto them; and Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned unto him: and Moſes talked with them.

32 And afterward all the children of Iſrael came nigh: and he gave them in commandment all that the Lord had ſpoken with him in mount Sinai.

33 And till Moſes had done ſpeaking with them, he put a vail on his face.

34 But when Moſes went in before the Lord to ſpeak with him, he took the vail off, until he came out. And he came out and ſpake unto the children of Iſrael that which he was commanded.

35 And the children of Iſrael ſaw the face of Moſes, that the ſkin of Moſes' face ſhone: and Moſes put the vail upon his face again, until he went in to ſpeak with him.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The ſabbath. 4 The free gifts for the tabernacle. 20 The readineſs of the people to offer.

AND Moſes gathered all the congregation of the children of Iſrael together, and ſaid unto them, Theſe are the words which the Lord hath commanded, that ye ſhould do them.

2 ¶ Six days ſhall work be done, but on the ſeventh day there ſhall be to you an holy day, a ſabbath of reſt to the Lord: whoſoever doth work therein ſhall be put to death.

3 Ye ſhall kindle no fire throughout your habitations upon the ſabbath day.

4 ¶ And Moſes ſpake unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing which the Lord commanded, ſaying,

5 Take ye from amongſt you an offering unto the Lord: whoſoever is of a willing heart let him bring it, an offering of the Lord; gold, and ſilver, and braſs,

6 And blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair,

7 And rams' ſkins dyed red, and badgers' ſkins, and ſhittim-wood,

8 And oil for the light, and ſpices for anointing oil, and for the ſweet incenſe,

9 And onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet, for the ephod, and for the breaſt-plate.

10 And every wiſe-hearted among you ſhall come, and make all that the Lord hath commanded:

11 The tabernacle, his tent, and his covering, his

Commentary on Chap. XXXIV.

15 And thou eat of his ſacrifice.) A ſacrifice was a kind of religious feaſt, wherein the gueſts were entertained at table with the god to whom the ſacrifice was offered, in token of friendſhip with him: conſequently to be a partaker of thoſe feaſts, was to make profeſſion of being a worſhipper of thoſe falſe gods.

29 The ſkin of his face ſhone.) This luminous appearance of his ſkin, ſufficiently indicated how tranſcendently ſplendid the preſence of the Divine Majeſty was, and how nearly this holy prophet had approached it.

taches, and his boards, his bars, his pillars, and his ſockets,

12 The ark, and the ſtaves thereof, with the mercy-ſeat, and the vail of the covering,

13 The table and his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, and the ſhew-bread,

14 The candleſtick alſo for the light, and his furniture, and his lamps, with the oil for the light,

15 And the incenſe altar, and his ſtaves, and the anointing oil, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging for the door at the entering in of the tabernacle,

16 The altar of burnt-offering with his braſen grate, his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, the laver and his foot,

17 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and their ſockets, and the hanging for the door of the court,

18 The pins of the tabernacle, and the pins of the court, and their cords,

19 The clothes of ſervice to do ſervice in the holy place, the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and the garments of his ſons to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

20 ¶ And all the congregation of the children of Iſrael departed from the preſence of Moſes.

21 And they came every one whoſe heart ſtirred him up, and every one whom his ſpirit made willing, and they brought the Lord's offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congrgation, and for all his ſervice, and for the holy garments.

22 And they came both men and women, as many as were willing hearted, and brought bracelets, and ear-rings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold: and every man that offered, offered an offering of gold unto the Lord.

23 And every man with whom was found blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair, and red ſkins of rams, and badgers' ſkins, brought them.

24 Every one that did offer an offering of ſilver and braſs, brought the Lord's offering: and every man with whom was found ſhittim-wood for any work of the ſervice brought it.

25 And all the women that were wiſe-hearted, did ſpin with their hands, and brought that which they had ſpun both of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet, and of fine linen.

26 And all the women whoſe heart ſtirred them up in wiſdom, ſpun goats' hair.

27 And the rulers brought onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet, for the ephod, and for the breaſt-plate:

28 And ſpice, and oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the ſweet incenſe.

29 The children of Iſrael brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman, whoſe heart made them willing to bring, for all manner of work which the Lord had commanded to be made by the hand of Moſes.

30 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, See, the Lord hath called by name Bezaleel, the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah:

31 And he hath filled him with the ſpirit of God, in wiſdom, in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip:

32 And to deviſe curious works, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs,

33 And in the cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of wood, to make any manner of cunning work.

34 And he hath put in his heart that he may teach, both he and Aholiab, the ſon of Ahiſamach, of the tribe of Dan.

35 Them hath he filled with wiſdom of heart, to work all manner of work of the engraver, and of the cunning workman, and of the embroiderer, in blue, and in purple, in ſcarlet, and in fine linen, and of the weaver, even of them that do any work, and of thoſe that deviſe cunning work.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The offerings delivered to the workmen. 6 The liberality of the people reſtrained.

THEN wrought Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man, in whom the Lord put wiſdom and underſtanding, to know how to work all manner of work for the ſervice of the ſanctuary, according to all that the Lord had commanded.

2 And Moſes called Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man in whoſe heart the Lord had put wiſdom, even every one whoſe heart ſtirred him up to come unto the work to do it:

3 And they received of Moſes all the offering which the children of Iſrael had brought for the work of the ſervice of the ſanctuary, to make it withal. And they brought yet unto him free offerings every morning.

4 And all the wiſe men that wrought all the work of the ſanctuary, came every man from his work which they made;

5 And they ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, The people bring much more than enough, for the ſervice of the work, which the Lord commanded to make.

6 ¶ And Moſes gave commandment, and they cauſed it to be proclaimed throughout the camp, ſaying let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the ſanctuary. So the people were reſtrained from bringing.

7 For the ſtuff they had was ſufficient for all the work to make it, and too much.

8 And every wiſe-hearted man, among them that wrought the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet: with cherubims of cunning work made he them.

9 The length of one curtain was twenty and eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: the curtains were all of one ſize.

10 And he coupled the five curtains one unto another: and the other five curtains he coupled one unto another.

11 And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain, from the ſelvage in the coupling: likewiſe he made in the uttermoſt ſide of another curtain, in the coupling of the ſecond.

12 Fifty loops made he in one curtain, and fifty loops made he in the edge of the curtain which was in the coupling of the ſecond: the loops held one curtain to another.

13 And he made fifty taches of gold, and coupled the curtains one unto another with the taches. So it became one tabernacle.

14 And he made curtains of goats' hair for the tent over the tabernacle: eleven curtains he made them.

15 The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits was the breadth of one curtain: the eleven curtains were of one ſize.

16 And he coupled five curtains by themſelves, and ſix curtains by themſelves.

17 And he made fifty loops upon the uttermoſt edge of the curtain in the coupling, and fifty loops made he upon the edge of the curtain which coupleth

18 And he made fifty taches of braſs to couple the tent together, that it might be one.

19 And he made a covering for the tent of rams' ſkins died red, and a covering of badgers' ſkins above that.

20 And he made boards for the tabernacle of ſhittim-wood, ſtanding up.

21 The length of a board was ten cubits, and the breadth of a board one cubit and a half.

22 One board had two tenons, equally diſtant one from another: thus did he make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

23 And he made boards for the tabernacle; twenty boards for the ſouth-ſide, ſouth-ward.

24 And forty ſockets of ſilver he made under the twenty boards: two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons.

25 And for the other ſide of the tabernacle which is towards the north-corner, he made twenty boards.

26 And their forty ſockets of ſilver: two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

27 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſt-ward, he made ſix boards,

28 And two boards made he for the corners of the tabernacle, in the two ſides.

29 And they were coupled beneath, and coupled together at the head thereof, to one ring: thus he did to both of them in both the corners.

30 And there were eight boards, and their ſockets were ſixteen ſockets of ſilver, under every board two ſockets.

31 And he made bars of ſhittim-wood: five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle.

32 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle for the ſides weſt-ward.

33 And he made the middle bar to ſhoot through the boards from the one end to the other.

34 And he overlaid the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold, to be places for the bars, and overlaid the bars with gold.

35 And he made a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: with cherubims made he it, of cunning work.

36 And he made thereunto four pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold: their hooks were of gold, and he caſt for them four ſockets of ſilver.

37 And he made an hanging for the tabernacle door of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, of needle-work.

38 And the five pillars of it with their hooks: and he overlaid their chapiters, and their fillets with gold: but their five ſockets were of braſs.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 The ark. 6 The mercy-ſeat with cherubims. 10 The table. 17 The candleſtick. 25 And the altar of incenſe.

AND Bezaleel made the ark of ſhittim-wood: two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it.

2 And he overlaid it with pure gold within and without, and made a crown of gold to it round about.

3 And he caſt for it four rings of gold, to be ſet by the four corners of it; even two rings upon the one ſide of it, and two rings upon the other ſide of it.

4 And he made ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

5 And he put the ſtaves into the rings, by the ſides of the ark, to bear the ark.

6 ¶ And he made the mercy-ſeat of pure gold: two cubits and a half was the length thereof, and one cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two cherubims of gold, beaten out of one piece made he them, on the two ends of the mercy-ſeat:

8 One cherub on the end on this ſide, and another cherub on the other end on that ſide: out of the mercy-ſeat made he the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

9 And the cherubims ſpread out their wings on high, and covered with their wings over the mercy-ſeat, with their faces one to another; even to the mercy-ſeat-ward were the faces of the cherubims.

10 ¶ And he made the table of ſhittim-wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

11 And he overlaid it with pure gold, and made thereunto a crown of gold round about.

12 Alſo he made thereunto a border of an hand-breadth round about: and made a crown of gold for the border thereof round about.

13 And he caſt for it four rings of gold, and put the rings upon the four corners, that were in the four feet thereof.

14 Over againſt the border were the rings, the places for the ſtaves, to bear the table.

15 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold, to bear the table.

16 And he made the veſſels which were upon the table, his diſhes, and his ſpoons, and his bowls, and his covers to cover withal, of pure gold.

17 ¶ And he made the candleſtick of pure gold: of beaten work made he the candleſtick, his ſhaft, and his branch, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers were of the ſame.

18 And ſix branches going out of the ſides thereof: three branches of the candleſtick out of the one ſide thereof, and three branches of the candleſtick out of the other ſide thereof.

19 Three bowls made after the faſhion of almonds, in one branch, a knop and a flower; and three bowls made like almonds, in another branch, a knop and a flower: ſo throughout the ſix branches, going out of the candleſtick.

20 And in the candleſtick were four bowls made like almonds, his knops and his flowers.

21 And a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, according to the ſix branches going out of it.

22 Their knops and their branches were of the ſame: all of it was one beaten work of pure gold.

23 And he made his ſeven lamps, and his ſnuffers, and his ſnuff-diſhes, of pure gold.

24 Of a talent of pure gold made he it, and all the

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVII.

3 And they brought yet to him free-offerings, &c.) They were now deſirous of ſhewing their zeal for the ſervice of God, as they had lately done for erecting a molten image. Perhaps they thought their remarkable readineſs in performing external ceremonies, and ſubmitting to theſe commands, would attone for omitting the weightier duties of religion.

8, 9, 10, &c.) They began with the tabernacle, as the place where the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence was to reſide. Every thing mentioned in theſe verſes is deſcribed, chap. xxvi.

25 ¶ And he made the incenſe altar of ſhittim-wood: the length of it was a cubit, and the breadth of it a cubit; (it was four-ſquare;) and two cubits was the height of it; the horns thereof were of the ſame.

26 And he overlaid it with pure gold, both the top of it and the ſides thereof round about, and the horns of it: alſo he made unto it a crown of gold round about:

27 And he made two rings of gold for it under the crown thereof, by the two corners of it upon the two ſides thereof, to be places for the ſtaves to bear it withal.

28 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

29 And he made the holy anointing oil, and the pure incenſe of ſweet ſpices, according to the work of the apothecary.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 The altar of burnt-offering. 8 The laver of braſs. 9 The court. 21 The ſum of the offerings.

AND he made the altar of burnt-offering of ſhittim-wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof: (it was four-ſquare:) and three cubits the height thereof.

2 And he made the horns thereof on the four corners of it; the horns thereof were of the ſame: and he overlaid it with braſs.

3 And he made all the veſſels of the altar, the pots, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, and the fleſh-hooks, and the fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof made he of braſs.

4 And he made for the altar a braſen grate of network, under the compaſs thereof, beneath unto the midſt of it.

5 And he caſt four rings for the four ends of the grate of braſs, to be places for the ſtaves.

6 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with braſs.

7 And he put the ſtaves into the rings on the ſides of the altar to bear it withal; he made the altar hollow with boards.

8 ¶ And he made the laver of braſs, and the foot of it of braſs, of the looking-glaſſes of the women aſſembling, which aſſembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

9 ¶ And he made the court: on the ſouth-ſide ſouthward, the hangings of the court were of fine twined linen, an hundred cubits.

10 Their pillars were twenty, and their braſen ſockets twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets were of ſilver.

11 And for the north-ſide the hangings were an hundred cubits, their pillars were twenty, and their ſockets of braſs twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver.

12 And for the weſt-ſide were hangings of fifty cubits, their pillars ten, and their ſockets ten; the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of ſilver.

13 And for the eaſt-ſide eaſtward fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of the one ſide of the gate were fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

15 And for the other ſide of the court-gate, on this hand and that hand, were hangings of fifteen cubits, their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

16 All the hangings of the court round about were of fine twined linen.

17 And the ſockets for the pillars were of braſs; the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver; and the overlaying of their chapiters, of ſilver: and all the pillars of the court were filleted with ſilver.

18 And the hanging for the gate of the court was needle-work, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: and twenty cubits was the length, and the height in the breadth was five cubits, anſwerable to the hangings of the court.

19 And their pillars were four, and their ſockets of braſs four; their hooks of ſilver, and the overlaying of their chapiters, and their fillets of ſilver.

20 And all the pins of the tabernacle, and of the court round about were of braſs.

21 ¶ This is the ſum of the tabernacle, even of the tabernacle of teſtimony, as it was counted, according to the commandment of Moſes, for the ſervice of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, ſon to Aaron the prieſt.

22 And Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the Lord commanded Moſes.

23 And with him was Aholiab, ſon of Ahiſamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver and a cunning workman, and an embroiderer in blue, and in purple, and in ſcarlet, and in fine linen.

24 All the gold that was occupied for the work, in all the work of the holy place, even the gold of the offering, was twenty and nine talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary:

25 And the ſilver of them that were numbered of the congregation was an hundred talents, and a thouſand ſeven hundred and threeſcore and fifteen ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

26 A bekah for every man, that is, half a ſhekel, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, for every one that went to be numbered, from twenty years old and upwards, for ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty men.

27 And of the hundred talents of ſilver, were caſt the ſockets of the ſanctuary, and the ſockets of the vail; an hundred ſockets of the hundred talents, a talent for a ſocket.

28 And of the thouſand ſeven hundred ſeventy and five ſhekels, he made hooks for the pillars, and overlaid their chapiters, and filleted them.

29 And the braſs of the offering, was ſeventy talents, and two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels.

30 And therewith he made the ſockets to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the brazen altar, and the brazen grate for it, and all the veſſels

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVIII.

8 Of the looking-glaſſes of the women.) What theſe looking-glaſſes were, is not univerſally agreed, for glaſs was not yet invented. Pliny tell us, that it was common to uſe thoſe of braſs, and afterwards thoſe of ſiver were common.

24 Twenty and nine talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty ſhekels.) This ſum, according to the computation of biſhop Cumberland, amounts to upwards of one hundred and fifty thouſand pounds ſterling.

25 And the ſilver of them that were numbered, &c.) We are told in the next verſe, that ſix hundred and three thouſand five hundred and fifty men, offered half a ſhekel each: the ſum total is three hundred and one thouſand, ſeven hundred and ſeventy-five ſhekels; which at two ſhillings and four-pence each, amount to thirty-five thouſand two hundred and ſeven pounds ſterling. It may, perhaps, ſeem difficult to imagine how the Iſraelites ſhould be poſſeſſed of ſo much wealth in the deſert; but it ſhould be remembered, that their anceſtors were very great men, and had gathered great riches before they came into Egypt; that they were farther enriched, firſt by the ſpoils of the Egyptians, and afterwards by thoſe of the Amalekites. Beſides, it is highly probable, that they traded with the neighbouring nations, who bordered on the wilderneſs, during their continuance in it.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 The clothes of ſervice and holy garments. 2 The ephod. 8 The breaſt-plate. 22 The robe of the ephod.

AND of the blue, and purple, and ſcarlet they made clothes of ſervice to do ſervice in the holy place, and made the holy garments for Aaron; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

2 ¶ And he made the ephod of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

3 And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires to work it in the blue, and in the purple, and in the ſcarlet, and in the fine linen, with cunning work.

4 They made ſhoulder pieces for it, to couple it together: by the two edges was it coupled together.

5 And the curious girdle of his ephod that was upon it, was of the ſame, according to the work thereof; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: as the Lord commanded Moſes.

6 And they wrought onyx-ſtones incloſed in ouches of gold, graven as ſignets are graven, with the names of the children of Iſrael.

7 And he put them on the ſhoulders of the ephod, that they ſhould be ſtones for a memorial to the children of Iſrael; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

8 ¶ And he made the breaſt-plate of cunning work, like the work of the ephod; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 It was four-ſquare: they made the breaſt-plate double: a ſpan was the length thereof, and a ſpan the breadth thereof being doubled.

10 And they ſet in it four rows of ſtones: the firſt row was a ſardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this was the firſt row.

11 And the ſecond row, an emerald, a ſapphire, and a diamond.

12 And the third row, a ligure, an agate, and an amethyſt.

13 And the fourth row, a beryl, an onyx, and a jaſper: they were incloſed in ouches of gold in their incloſings.

14 And the ſtones were according to the names of the children of Iſrael, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a ſignet, every one with his name, according to the twelve tribes.

15 And they made upon the breaſt-plate chains at the ends of wreathen work of pure gold.

16 And they made two ouches of gold, and two gold rings: and put the two rings in the two ends of the breaſt-plate.

17 And they put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breaſt-plate.

18 And the two ends of the two wreathen chains they faſtened in the two ouches, and put them on the ſhoulder-pieces of the ephod, before it.

19 And they made two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breaſt-plate upon the border of it, which was on the ſide of the ephod inward.

20 And they made two other golden rings, and put them on the two ſides of the ephod underneath, toward the forepart of it, over againſt the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod.

21 And they did bind the breaſt-plate by his rings unto the rings of the ephod, with a lace of blue, that it might be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate might not be looſed from the ephod; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

22 ¶ And he made the robe of the ephod of woven work, all of blue.

23 And there was a hole in the midſt of the robe, as the hole of an habergeon, with a band round about the hole, that it ſhould not rend.

24 And they made upon the hems of the robe, pomegranates of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and twined linen.

25 And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates, upon the hem of the robe, round about between the pomegranates;

26 A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate round about the hem of the robe to miniſter in: as the Lord commanded Moſes.

27 And they made coats of fine linen, of woven work, for Aaron and for his ſons, 28 And a mitre of fine linen, and goodly bonnets of fine linen, and linen breeches of fine twined linen.

29 And a girdle of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, of needle-work: as the Lord commanded Moſes,

30 And they made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it a writing, like to the engravings of a ſignet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

31 And they tied unto it a lace of blue, to faſten it on high upon the mitre; as the Lord commanded Moſes, 32 Thus was all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation finiſhed; and the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did they.

33 And they brought the tabernacle unto Moſes, the tent, and all his furniture, his taches, his boards, his bars, and his pillars, and his ſockets.

34 And the covering of rams' ſkins dyed red, and the covering of badgers' ſkins, and the vail of the covering.

35 The ark of the teſtimony, and the ſtaves thereof, and the mercy-ſeat.

36 The table, and all the veſſels thereof, and the ſhew-bread.

37 The pure candleſtick, with the lamps thereof, even with the lamps to be ſet in order, and all the veſſels thereof, and the oil for light.

38 And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging for the tabernacle-door.

39 The braſen altar, and his grate of braſs, his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, the laver and his foot.

40 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and his ſockets, and the hanging for the court-gate, his cords, and his pins, and all the veſſels of the ſervice of the tabernacle, for the tent of the congregation.

41 The clothes of ſervice to do ſervice in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and his ſons' garments to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIX.

33 And they brought the tabernacle unto Moſes.) The artiſts, when they had finiſhed every thing according to the inſtructions they had received from Moſes, brought every part to him for his approbation, who ſeeing every thing was exactly conformable to the pattern he had given them from God, declared that they had executed their orders faithfully, and therefore the text adds, that he bleſſed them.

42 According to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael made all the work.

43 And Moſes did look upon all the work, and behold, they had done it as the Lord had commanded, even ſo had they done it: and Moſes bleſſed them.

CHAP. XL.

1 The tabernacle is commanded to be reared, 9 and anointed. 13 Aaron and his ſons to be ſanctified.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 On the firſt day of the firſt month ſhalt thou ſet up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

3 And thou ſhalt put therein the ark of the teſtimony, and cover the ark with the vail.

4 And thou ſhalt bring in the table, and ſet in order the things that are to be ſet in order upon it, and thou ſhalt bring in the candleſtick, and light the lamps thereof.

5 And thou ſhalt ſet the altar of gold for the incenſe before the ark of the teſtimony, and put the hanging of the door to the tabernacle.

6 And thou ſhalt ſet the altar of the burnt-offering, before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

7 And thou ſhalt ſet the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and ſhalt put water therein.

8 And thou ſhalt ſet up the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court-gate.

9 And thou ſhalt take the anointing oil, and anoint the tabernacle, and all that is therein, and ſhalt hallow it, and all the veſſels thereof: and it ſhall be holy.

10 And thou ſhalt anoint the altar of the burnt-offering, and all his veſſels, and ſanctify the altar: and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy.

11 And thou ſhalt anoint the laver and his foot, and ſanctify it.

12 And thou ſhalt bring Aaron and his ſons unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and waſh them with water.

13 And thou ſhalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and anoint him and ſanctify him; that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

14 And thou ſhalt bring his ſons and clothe them with coats:

15 And thou ſhalt anoint them, as thou didſt anoint their father, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office: for their anointing ſhall ſurely be an everlaſting prieſthood, throughout their generations.

16 Thus did Moſes: according to all that the Lord commanded him, ſo did he.

17 ¶ And it came to paſs, in the firſt month, in the ſecond year, on the firſt day of the month, that the tabernacle was reared up.

18 And Moſes reared up the tabernacle, and faſtened his ſockets, and ſet up the boards thereof, and put in the bars thereof, and reared up his pillars.

19 And he ſpread abroad the tent over the tabernacle, and put the covering of the tent above upon it; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

20 And he took and put the teſtimony into the ark, and ſet the ſtaves on the ark, and put the mercy-ſeat above upon the ark.

21 And he brought the ark into the tabernacle, and ſet up the vail of the covering, and covered the ark of the teſtimony; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

22 And he put the table in the tent of the congregation, upon the ſide of the table northward, without the vail.

23 And he ſet the bread in order upon it before the Lord; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

24 ¶ And he put the candleſtick in the tent of the congregation, over againſt the table, on the ſide of the tabernacle ſouthward.

25 And he lighted the lamps before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

26 ¶ And he put the golden altar in the tent of the congregation before the vail.

27 And he burnt ſweet incenſe thereon, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

28 ¶ And he ſet up the hanging at the door of the tabernacle.

29 And he put the altar of burnt-offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation, and offered upon it the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

30 ¶ And he ſet the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and put water there, to waſh withal.

31 And Moſes and Aaron, and his ſons, waſhed their hands and their feet thereat.

32 When they went into the tent of the congregation, and when they came near unto the altar, they waſhed; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

33 And he reared up the court round about the tabernacle and the altar, and ſet up the hanging of the court-gate: ſo Moſes finiſhed the work.

34 ¶ Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle.

35 And Moſes was not able to enter into the tent of the congregation, becauſe the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle.

36 And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Iſrael went onward in all their journeys.

37 But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not, till the day that it was taken up.

38 For the cloud of the Lord was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the ſight of all the houſe of Iſrael, throughout all their journeys.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XL.

17 And it came to paſs in the firſt month, &c.) The true meaning of theſe verſes appears to be this: Moſes, on the firſt day of the month of the ſecond year after their departure out of Egypt, ſet up the tabernacle, and began to conſecrate it and the altar of burnt-offering, and ſpent ſeven days in performing the ceremonies; after which the conſecration of the prieſts began and continued ſeven days more, and was finiſhed againſt the fifteenth of the ſame month, when a ſolemn paſſover was kept, Numb. ix. 1. 6.

34 Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation.) This cloud had for ſome time reſted on the tent of Moſes; but on the tabernacle's being finiſhed, it removed from its former ſituation, and fixed itſelf upon the tabernacle, where it continued in the form of a cloud by day, and a glorious light by night, till they entered the land of Canaan, which had long before been promiſed to their fathers.

35 Moſes was not able to enter into the tent, &c.) The glory of the Lord, at this firſt appearance, ſhone ſo bright and ſtrong, that no eye could look upon it.

36 And when the cloud was taken up from, &c.) Here the Divine Preſence reſided during the whole time of their future travels; the cloud directed them when and whither they ſhould remove, by riſing up and going before them.

THE

THIRD BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

LEVITICUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is called Leviticus, from its treating chiefly of the Levites, and the ſacrifices; and, thence properly ſtyled the Levitical law. The ſeven firſt chapters preſcribe the ceremonies to be obſerved in offering burnt-ſacrifices, meat-offerings, peace-offerings, &c. Rules are then laid down for diſtinguiſhing clean and unclean beaſts, and concerning leproſy, purification, &c. He appoints the ceremonies to be obſerved on the great day of expiation: regulates the degrees of kindred, in which perſons are allowed or forbidden to marry: prohibits alliances with the Canaanites, idolatry, theft, perjury, calumny, &c. Theſe things being declared, bleſſings are promiſed to thoſe who keep the laws, and curſes denounced againſt thoſe who tranſgreſs them.

CHAP. I.

1 The burnt-offerings, 3 of the herd, 10 of the flocks, 14 of the fowls.

AND the Lord called unto Moſes, and ſpake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any man of you bring an offering unto the Lord, ye ſhall bring your offering of the cattle, even of the herd and of the flock.

3 ¶ If his offering be a burnt-ſacrifice of the herd, let him offer a male without blemiſh; he ſhall offer it of his own voluntary will, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord.

4 And he ſhall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering: and it ſhall be accepted for him to make atonement for him.

5 And he ſhall kill the bullock before the Lord: and the prieſts, Aaron's ſons, ſhall bring the blood, and ſprinkle the blood round about upon the altar that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

6 And he ſhall flay the burnt-offering, and cut it into his pieces.

7 And the ſons of Aaron the prieſt ſhall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire.

8 And the prieſts, Aaron's ſons, ſhall lay the parts, the head, and the fat, in order upon the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

9 But his inwards and his legs ſhall he waſh in water: and the prieſt ſhall burn all on the altar; to be a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

10 ¶ And if his offering be of the flocks, namely, of the ſheep, or of the goats, for a burnt-ſacrifice; he ſhall bring it a male without blemiſh.

11 And he ſhall kill it on the ſide of the altar northward before the Lord: and the prieſts, Aaron's ſons, ſhall ſprinkle his blood round about upon the altar.

12 And he ſhall cut it into his pieces, with his head and his fat: and the prieſt ſhall lay them in order on the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

13 But he ſhall waſh the inwards and the legs with water: and the prieſt ſhall bring it all, and burn it upon the altar: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

14 ¶ And if the burnt ſacrifice for his offering to the Lord be of fowls, then he ſhall bring his offering of turtle-doves, or of young pigeons.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

4 And he ſhall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering.) The common practice of laying the hand on the head of the ſacrifices, was a ſign of the tranſferring of the guilt upon the ſacrifice. This pointed to Jeſus Chriſt, on whom the iniquity of all God's people was laid, who bare our ſins on his own body on the tree; who, knowing no ſin, was made ſin for us, that we might be made the righteouſneſs of God in him; who hath redeemed us from the curſe of the law, being made a curſe for us; and who ſuffered for our ſins, the juſt for the unjuſt, that he might bring us to God.

5 And the prieſts, Aaron's ſons, ſhall bring the blood, &c.) It muſt be remembered, that the blood is always conſidered, in ſcripture, as the life: and therefore the prieſt by ſprinkling the blood upon the altar, did it as a ranſom for the life of the offerer. And though no man could be ſo abſurd as to imagine, that the blood of the beaſt had any virtue to expiate ſin, or render the Deity propitious: yet this manner of offering the blood of the victim in behalf of the offerer, being an inſtituted ſign, ſerved at once to preſerve in the minds of the people, a lively ſenſe of the demerit of ſin, and of the mercy of God towards the penitent; while they were typical repreſentatives of the full atonement made by our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

15 And

15 And the prieſt ſhall bring it unto the altar, and wring off his head, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof ſhall be wrung out at the ſide of the altar.

16 And he ſhall pluck away his crop with his feathers, and caſt it beſide the altar on the eaſt part, by the place of the aſhes.

17 And he ſhall cleave it, with the wings thereof, but ſhall not divide it aſunder: and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar, upon the wood that is upon the fire: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

CHAP. II.

1 The meat-offering of flour, with oil and incenſe, 12 and the firſt-fruits in the ear. 13 The ſalt of the meat-offering.

AND when any will offer a meat-offering unto the Lord, his offering ſhall be of fine flour; and he ſhall pour oil upon it, and put frankincenſe theron.

2 And he ſhall bring it to Aaron's ſons the prieſts: and he ſhall take thereout his handful of the flour thereof, and of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof: and the prieſts ſhall burn the memorial of it upon the altar, to be an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

3 And the remnant of the meat-offering ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons; it is a thing moſt holy of the offerings of the Lord made by fire.

4 And if thou bring an oblation of a meat-offering baken in the oven, it ſhall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil.

5 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in a pan, it ſhall be of fine flour unleavened, mingled with oil.

6 Thou ſhalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon; it is a meat-offering.

7 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in the frying-pan, it ſhall be made of fine flour with oil.

8 And thou ſhalt bring the meat-offering that is made of theſe things unto the Lord: and when it is preſented unto the prieſt he ſhall bring it unto the altar.

9 And the prieſt ſhall take from the meat-offering a memorial thereof, and ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

10 And that which is left of the meat-offering ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons': it is a thing moſt holy of the offerings of the Lord made by fire.

11 No meat-offering, which ye ſhall bring unto the Lord, ſhall be made with leaven: for ye ſhall burn no leaven, nor any honey, in any offering of the Lord made by fire.

12 ¶ As for the oblation of the firſt-fruits ye ſhall offer them unto the Lord: but they ſhall not be burnt on the altar for a ſweet ſavour.

13 ¶ And every oblation of thy meat-offering ſhalt thou ſeaſon with ſalt: neither ſhalt thou ſuffer the ſalt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meat-offering: with all thine offerings thou ſhalt offer ſalt.

14 And if thou offer a meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits unto the Lord, thou ſhalt offer for the meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits, green ears of corn dried by the fire, even corn beaten out of full ears.

15 And thou ſhalt put oil upon it, and lay frankincenſe thereon: it is a meat-offering.

16 And the prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it, part of the beaten corn thereof, and part of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 The peace-offering of the herd, 6 of the flock; 7 either a lamb 12 or a goat.

AND if his oblation be a ſacrifice of peace-offering, if he offer it of the herd, whether it be a male or a female; he ſhall offer it without blemiſh before the Lord.

2 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and Aaron's ſons, the prieſts, ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

3 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering an offering made by fire unto the Lord; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards:

4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

5 And Aaron's ſons ſhall burn it on the altar upon the burnt ſacrifice, which is upon the wood that is on the fire: it is an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

6 And if his offering for a ſacrifice of peace-offering unto the Lord, be of the flock, male or female: he ſhall offer it without blemiſh.

7 ¶ If he offer a lamb for his offering, then ſhall he offer it before the Lord.

8 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's ſons ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

9 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering, an offering made by fire unto the Lord: the fat thereof and the whole rump, it ſhall he take off hard by the back-bone; and the fat that covereth

7 And the ſons of Aaron ſhall put fire upon the altar.) That is, they ſhall increaſe the fire by freſh fewel; for the fire was before on the altar, having fallen from heaven when the firſt ſacrifices were offered, and always kept burning.

17 It is a burnt ſacrifice, an offering made by fire unto the Lord.) From the latter part of this chapter we may obſerve, that it was not the value of the gift that rendered it acceptable to God; a turtle-dove was as graciouſly received as an ox. God indeed requires the heart; and if that be offered, the ſinner has no reaſon to fear in being accepted, however inſignificant the gift with which it is accompanied. The ſacrifices of God are a broken ſpirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not deſpiſe, Pſ. li. 17.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 The prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it upon the altar.) That is, he ſhall burn a portion of it, as a teſtimony or memorial that the whole ſacrifice was dedicated to God.

11 No meat-offering ſhall be made with leaven.) Partly to remind them of their great deliverance out of Egypt, when they were forced to carry away their dough before it was leavened; and partly in oppoſition to the cuſtom of the Heathens in ſuch caſes, who made their ſacrifial bread of the lighteſt and ſweeteſt kind poſſible.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 If his oblation be a ſacrifice of peace-offering, &c.) The burnt-offerings had regard to God, as in himſelf the beſt of Beings, moſt perfect and excellent, were purely expreſſive of adoration, and therefore were wholly burned: But the peace-offerings had regard to God as a benefactor to his creatures, and the giver of all good things to us, and therefore theſe were divided between the altar, the prieſt, and the owner.

11 And the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire unto the Lord.
12 ¶ And if his offering be a goat, then he ſhall offer it before the Lord.
13 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and the ſons of Aaron ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about.
14 And he ſhall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards,
15 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

17 It ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute for your generations throughout all your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

CHAP. IV.

1 The ſin-offering of ignorance, 3 for the prieſts, 13 the congregation, 22 the ruler, 27 for any of the people.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a ſoul ſhall ſin through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the Lord (concerning things which ought not to be done) and ſhall do againſt any of them:
3 ¶ If the prieſt that is anointed do ſin according to the ſin of the people; then let him bring for his ſin which he hath ſinned, a young bullock without blemiſh unto the Lord for a ſin-offering.
4 And he ſhall bring the bullock unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord, and ſhall lay his hand upon the bullock's head, and kill the bullock before the Lord.
5 And the prieſt that is anointed ſhall take of the bullock's blood, and bring it to the tabernacle of the congregation.
6 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in the blood, and ſprinkle of the blood ſeven times before the Lord, before the vail of the ſanctuary.
7 And the prieſt ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar of ſweet incenſe before the Lord, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation: and ſhall pour all the blood of the bullock at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation,
8 And he ſhall take off from it all the fat of the bullock for the ſin-offering: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.
9 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away,
10 As it was taken off from the bullock of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings; and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar of the burnt-offering.
11 And the ſkin of the bullock, and all his fleſh, with his head and with his legs, and his inwards, and his dung,
12 Even the whole bullock ſhall he carry forth without the camp, unto a clean place, where the aſhes are poured out, and burn him on the wood with fire; where the aſhes are poured out ſhall he be burnt.
13 ¶ And if the whole congregation of Iſrael ſin through ignorance, and the thing be hid from the eyes of the aſſembly, and they have done ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the Lord, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and are guilty.
14 When the ſin which they have ſinned againſt it is known, then the congregation ſhall offer a young bullock for the ſin, and bring him before the tabernacle of the congregation.
15 And the elders of the congregation ſhall lay their hands upon the head of the bullock before the Lord; and the bullock ſhall be killed before the Lord.
16 And the prieſt that is anointed, ſhall bring of the bullock's blood to the tabernacle of the congregation.
17 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in ſome of the blood, and ſprinkle it ſeven times before the Lord even before the vail.
18 And he ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar which is before the Lord, that is in the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall pour out all the blood at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

11 It is the food of the offering made by fire.) The ſacrifice is conſidered in ſcripture as the meat of God, which ſupported or fed the fire of the altar; which is alſo called the table of God. The heathens uſed the ſame idiom of ſpeech, with regard to their ſacrifices; for their gods are ſaid to eat the fat and drink the wine which was conſumed upon their altars, Deut. xxxii. 38.

17 That ye eat neither fat nor blood.) When man was condemned to death for his diſobedience, and when God had intimated his deſign of redemption, through the death and ſhedding of the blood of that ſubſtitute, the ſeed of the woman, which was prefigured in the ſacrifices, he gave to man another grant of food, for ſuſtaining his mortal life more comfortably in the time of his long-ſuffering: and in this new grant of every living creature for meat, he reſerves the blood, even as he did that tree, in the former grant of herbs and fruits of trees. So that this precept about blood, is of the ſame nature with that concerning the tree: only, whereas that declared man's dependence on God as the Author and Lord of his life, of which his diſobedience deprived him, this declares the ſinful mortal's dependance on God, as redeeming him from ſin and death by atoning blood; and diſobedience to this precept, imports diſregard to that blood, as being in effect a renunciation of dependence on the Lord God, the Sovereign Author of redemption by blood.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

7 At the bottom of the altar.) During the reſidence of the Iſraelites in the wilderneſs, it is probable, they had receptacles under-ground, with conveyances to ſome diſtant place, where the blood ſunk into the ground, or was covered with duſt. After the building of the temple there were two holes, one on the weſt ſide of the altar, and the other on the ſouth, by which the blood was conveyed into a channel, or canal under-ground, which communicated with the brook Kidron.

11 The ſkin of the bullock, and all his fleſh, &c.) This ſacrifice was rendered ſo laborious, to work in them a greater deteſtation of ſin. Moſes Ben Nachman deſerves our notice on this point. "All that a man doth, as our author obſerves, conſiſting of words, works, or thoughts, God commanded them, when they brought an offering for ſin, to lay their hands upon it, which had reſpect to the actions they had done; to make confeſſion over it, which had reſpect to their words, and to burn their inwards and kidneys, which are eſteemed by the Jews the inſtruments or organs of our thoughts, and deſires; the legs alſo had a reſpect unto our hands and feet, by which we perform our actions; and the blood ſprinkled on the altar, ſignified the blood of the man; ſo that while a man performed theſe ceremonies, he was put in mind of his ſin, for which he deſerved to have his blood ſhed, and his body burnt, were it not that the Divine Mercy accepted the price of redemption, viz. a ſacrifice in his ſtead: the blood of which was ſubſtituted inſtead of his blood, as its life was for his life, and its principal members for the members of his body."

19 And he ſhall take all his fat from him, and burn it upon the altar.

20 And he ſhall do with the bullocks as he did with the bullock for a ſin-offering, ſo ſhall he do with this: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for them, and it ſhall be forgiven them.

21 And he ſhall carry forth the bullock without the camp, and burn him as he burned the firſt bullock: it is a ſin-offering for the congregation.

22 ¶ When a ruler hath ſinned, and done ſomewhat through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the Lord his God, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and is guilty;

23 Or if his ſin, wherein he hath ſinned, come to his knowledge; he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a male without blemiſh.

24 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the goat, and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt-offering before the Lord: it is a ſin-offering.

25 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out his blood at the bottom of the altar of burnt-offering.

26 And he ſhall burn all his fat upon the altar, as the fat of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him as concerning his ſin, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

27 ¶ And if any one of the common people ſin through ignorance, while he doth ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the Lord concerning things which ought not to be done, and be guilty;

28 Or if his ſin which he hath ſinned come to his knowledge, then he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a female without blemiſh, for his ſin which he hath ſinned.

29 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay the ſin-offering in the place of the burnt-offering.

30 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar,

31 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat is taken away from off the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

32 And if he bring a lamb for a ſin-offering, he ſhall bring it a female without blemiſh.

33 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay it for a ſin-offering, in the place where they kill the burnt-offering.

34 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar.

35 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lamb is taken away from the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings; and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the Lord: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for his ſin that he hath committed, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

CHAP. V.

1 Of him that concealeth his knowledge in touching of an unclean thing, 4 or in making an oath. 14 The treſpaſs-offering in ſacrilege, 17 and in ſins of ignorance.

AND if a ſoul ſin, and hear the voice of ſwearing, and is a witneſs, whether he hath ſeen or known of it; if he do not utter it, then he ſhall bear his iniquity.

2 Or if a ſoul touch any unclean thing, whether it be a carcaſe of an unclean beaſt, or a carcaſe of unclean cattle, or the carcaſe of unclean creeping things, and if it be hidden from him; he ſhall alſo be unclean and and guilty.

3 Or if he touch the uncleanneſs of man; whatſoever uncleanneſs it be that a man ſhall be defiled withal, and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he ſhall be guilty.

4 Or if a ſoul ſwear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil or to do good, whatſoever it be that a man ſhall pronounce with an oath, and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he ſhall be guilty in one of theſe.

5 And it ſhall be, when he ſhall be guilty in one of theſe things, that he ſhall confeſs that he hath ſinned in that thing.

6 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord for his ſin which he hath ſinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ſin.

7 And if he be not able to bring a lamb, then he ſhall bring for his treſpaſs which he hath committed, two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons unto the Lord; one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering.

8 And he ſhall bring them unto the prieſt, who ſhall offer that which is for the ſin-offering firſt, and wring off his head from his neck, but ſhall not divide it aſunder.

9 And he ſhall ſprinkle of the blood of the ſin-offering upon the ſide of the altar: and the reſt of the blood ſhall be wrung out at the bottom of the altar: it is a ſin-offering.

10 And he ſhall offer the ſecond for a burnt-offering, according to the manner: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him for his ſin which he hath ſinned, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

11 But if he be not able to bring two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons: then he that ſinned, ſhall bring for his offering the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a ſin-offering: he ſhall put no oil upon it, neither ſhall he put any frankincenſe thereon: for it is a ſin-offering.

12 Then ſhall he bring it to the prieſt; and the prieſt ſhall take his handful of it; even a memorial thereof, and burn it on the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the Lord: it is a ſin-offering.

13 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him as touching his ſin that he hath ſinned in one of theſe,

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 Or if a ſoul touch any unclean thing.) The principal intention of this and many other laws, was to impreſs the Jews with the higheſt veneration of their holy things; and accordingly thoſe who, knowing themſelves unclean, eat of the holy things, or even came into the ſanctuary without purifying themſelves, were to be cut off from the congregation.

5 He ſhall confeſs, &c.) It was a general maxim among the Hebrews, that without confeſſion to God, there could be no forgiveneſs; and therefore the guilty perſon, when he came to offer an offering for his ſin, laid his hand upon the head of the victim, and confeſſed the crime he had been guilty of. This was their form of confeſſion: "O God, I have ſinned, I have done perverſely: I have treſpaſſed before thee, and have done ſo and ſo. Lo! I repent, and am aſhamed of my doings, and will do ſo no more."

and

and it ſhall be forgiven him: and the remnant ſhall be the prieſt's, as a meat-offering.

14 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

15 If a ſoul commit a treſpaſs, and ſin through ignorance, in the holy things of the Lord; then he ſhall bring for his treſpaſs unto the Lord, a ram without blemiſh out of the flocks, with thy eſtimation by ſhekels of ſilver, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, for a treſpaſs-offering.

16 And he ſhall make amends for the harm that he hath done in the holy things, and ſhall add the fifth part thereto, and give it unto the prieſt: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ram of the treſpaſs-offering, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

17 ¶ And if a ſoul ſin, and commit any of theſe things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the Lord; though he wiſt it not, yet is he guilty, and ſhall bear his iniquity.

18 And he ſhall bring a ram without blemiſh out of the flock, with thy eſtimation, for a treſpaſs-offering, unto the prieſt: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ignorance wherein he erred and wiſt it not: and it ſhall be forgiven him.

19 It is a treſpaſs-offering: he hath certainly treſpaſſed againſt the Lord.

CHAP. VI.

1 The treſpaſs-offering for ſins done wittingly. 19 The offering at the conſecration of a prieſt.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 If a ſoul ſin, and commit a treſpaſs againſt the Lord, and lye unto his neighbour in that which was delivered him to keep, or in fellowſhip, or in a thing taken away by violence, or hath deceived his neighbour,

3 Or have found that which was loſt, and lyeth concerning it, and ſweareth falſly; in any of all theſe that a man doeth, ſinning therein:

4 Then it ſhall be becauſe he hath ſinned and is guilty, that he ſhall reſtore that which he took violently away, or the thing which he hath deceitfully gotten, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the thing loſt which he found,

5 Or all that about which he hath ſworn falſly; he ſhall even reſtore it in the principal, and ſhall add the fifth part more thereto, and give it unto him to whom it appertaineth, in the day of his treſpaſs-offering.

6 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord, a ram without blemiſh out of the flock, with thy eſtimation, for a treſpaſs-offering unto the prieſt.

7 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord: and it ſhall be forgiven him, for any thing of all that he hath done, in treſpaſſing therein.

8 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

9 Command Aaron and his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the burnt-offering: (It is the burnt offering, becauſe of the burning upon the altar all night unto the morning, and the fire of the altar ſhall be burning in it:)

10 And the prieſt ſhall put on his linen garment, and his linen breeches ſhall he put upon his fleſh, and take up the aſhes which the fire hath conſumed with the burnt-offering on the altar, and he ſhall put them beſides the altar.

11 And he ſhall put off his garments, and put on other garments, and carry forth the aſhes without the camp, unto a clean place.

12 And the fire upon the altar ſhall be burning in it, it ſhall not be put out: and the prieſt ſhall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt-offering in order upon it, and he ſhall burn thereon the fat of the peace-offerings.

13 The fire ſhall ever be burning upon the altar: it ſhall never go out.

14 ¶ And this is the law of the meat-offering: the ſons of Aaron ſhall offer it before the Lord, before the altar.

15 And he ſhall take of it his handful, of the flour of the meat-offering, and of the oil thereof, and all the frankincenſe which is upon the meat-offering, and ſhall burn it upon the altar, for a ſweet ſavour, even the memorial of it unto the Lord.

16 And the remainder thereof ſhall Aaron and his ſons eat: with unleavened bread ſhall it be eaten in the holy place: in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation they ſhall eat it.

17 It ſhall not be baken with leaven: I have given it unto them for their portion of my offerings made by fire: it is moſt holy, as is the ſin-offering, and as the treſpaſs-offering.

18 All the males among the children of Aaron ſhall eat of it: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations concerning the offerings of the Lord made by fire: Every one that toucheth them ſhall be holy.

19 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

20 This is the offering of Aaron and of his ſons, which they ſhall offer unto the Lord, in the day when he is anointed; the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a meat-offering perpetual, half of it in the morning, and half thereof at night.

21 In a pan it ſhall be made with oil, and when it is baken, thou ſhalt bring it in: and the baken pieces of the meat-offering ſhalt thou offer for a ſweet-ſavour unto the Lord.

22 And the prieſt of his ſons that is anointed in his ſtead, ſhall offer it: It is a ſtatute for ever unto the Lord, it ſhall be wholly burnt.

23 For every meat-offering for the prieſt ſhall be wholly burnt: it ſhall not be eaten.

24 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.

25 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the ſin-offering: in the place where the burnt-offering is killed, ſhall the ſin-offering be killed

Commentary on Chap. VI.

2 Againſt the Lord.) The ſins here mentioned being principally ſuch as cannot be puniſhed by men, becauſe they are committed in ſecrecy, are emphatically ſaid to be committed againſt the Lord, to whom alone the inmoſt of the heart are open, and who ſpieth out all our ways.

11 Carry forth the aſhes without the camp, &c.) God would have this done for the honour of his altar, and the ſacrifices that were burnt upon it. Even the aſhes of the ſacrifice muſt be preſerved, to teſtify the regard God had to it: by the burnt-offering he was honoured, and therefore thus it was honoured. And ſome think this care that was taken of the aſhes of the ſacrifice, typified the burial of our Saviour; his dead body (the aſhes of his ſacrifice) was carefully laid up in a garden, in a new ſepulchre, which was a clean place.

13 The fire ſhall ever be burning upon the altar, &c.) We may ſuppoſe no day paſſed without ſome extraordinary ſacrifices, which were always offered between the morning and evening lamb; ſo that from morning to night the fire on the altar was kept up of courſe: but to preſerve it all night unto the morning, required ſome care. The firſt fire upon the altar came from heaven, ſo that by keeping that up continually with conſtant ſupply of fuel, all their ſacrifices throughout all their generations might be ſaid to be conſumed with that fire from heaven, in token of God's acceptance. If through careleſſneſs they ſhould ever let it go out, they could not expect to have it ſo kindled again. Accordingly the Jews tell us, that the fire never did go out upon the altar till the captivity in Babylon. This is referred to, Iſa. xxxi. 9. where God is ſaid to have his fire in Zion, and his furnace in Jeruſalem.

before the Lord: It is moſt holy.

26 The prieſt that offereth it for ſin, ſhall eat it: in the holy place ſhall it be eaten, in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation.

27 Whoſoever ſhall touch the fleſh thereof ſhall be holy: and when there is ſprinkled of the blood thereof upon any garment, thou ſhalt waſh that whereon it was ſprinkled, in the holy place.

28 But the earthen veſſel wherein it is ſodden, ſhall be broken: and if it be ſodden in a brazen pot, it ſhall be both ſcoured, and rinſed in water.

29 All the males among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof, it is moſt holy.

30 And no ſin-offering whereof any of the blood is brought into the tabernacle of the congregation to reconcile withal in the holy place ſhall be eaten: it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

CHAP. VII.

1 The law of the treſpaſs-offering, 11 and of the peace-offerings. 22 The fat, 26 and the blood are forbidden.

LIKEWISE this is the law of the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy.

2 In the place where they kill the burnt-offering, ſhall they kill the treſpaſs-offering: and the blood thereof ſhall he ſprinkle round about upon the altar.

3 And he ſhall offer of it, all the fat thereof; the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards.

4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul that is above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

5 And the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar, for an offering made by fire unto the Lord: it is a treſpaſs-offering.

6 Every male among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof: it ſhall be eaten in the holy place: it is moſt holy.

7 As the ſin-offering is, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: there is one law for them: the prieſt that maketh atonement therewith ſhall have it.

8 And the prieſt that offereth any man's burnt-offering, even the prieſt ſhall have to himſelf the ſkin of the burnt-offering which he hath offered:

9 And all the meat-offering that is baken in the oven, and all that is dreſſed in the frying-pan, and in the pan, ſhall be the prieſt's that offereth it.

10 And every meat-offering mingled with oil, and dry, ſhall all the ſons of Aaron have, one as much as another.

11 ¶ And this is the law of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which he ſhall offer unto the Lord.

12 If he offer it for a thankſgiving, then he ſhall offer with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, unleavened cakes mingled with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and cakes mingled with oil, of fine flour, fryed.

13 Beſides the cakes he ſhall offer for his offering, leavened bread, with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving of his peace-offerings.

14 And of it he ſhall offer one out of the whole oblation, for an heave-offering unto the Lord, and it ſhall be the prieſts that ſprinkle the blood of the peace-offerings.

15 And the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings for thankſgiving ſhall be eaten the ſame day that it is offered: he ſhall not leave any of it until the morning.

16 But if the ſacrifice of his offering be a vow, or a voluntary offering, it ſhall be eaten the ſame day that he offereth his ſacrifice: and on the morrow alſo the remainder of it ſhall be eaten.

17 But the remainder of the fleſh of the ſacrifice on the third day ſhall be burnt with fire.

18 And if any of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings be eaten at all on the third day: it ſhall not be accepted, neither ſhall it be imputed unto him that offereth it: it ſhall be an abomination, and the ſoul that eateth of it, ſhall bear his iniquity.

19 And the fleſh that toucheth any unclean thing, ſhall not be eaten, it ſhall be burnt with fire: and as for the fleſh, all that be clean ſhall eat thereof.

20 But the ſoul that eateth of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings, that pertain unto the Lord, having his uncleanneſs upon him, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

21 Moreover, the ſoul that ſhall touch any unclean thing, as the uncleanneſs of man, or any unclean beaſt, or any abominable unclean thing, and eat of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which pertain unto the Lord, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

22 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Ye ſhall eat no manner of fat, of ox, or of ſheep, or of goat.

24 And the fat of the beaſt that dieth of itſelf, and the fat of that which is torn with beaſts may be uſed in any other uſe: but ye ſhall in no wiſe eat of it.

25 For whoſoever eateth the fat of the beaſt, of which men offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, even the ſoul that eateth it, ſhall be cut off from his people.

26 Moreover, ye ſhall eat no manner of blood, whether it be of fowl, or of beaſt, in any of your dwellings.

27 Whatſoever ſoul it be that eateth any manner of blood, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

28 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

29 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, He that offereth the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings unto the Lord, ſhall bring his oblation unto the Lord, of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings.

30 His own hands ſhall bring the offerings of the Lord made by fire, the fat with the breaſt, it ſhall he bring, that the breaſt may be waved for a wave-offering before the Lord.

31 And the prieſt ſhall burn the fat upon the altar: but the breaſt ſhall be Aaron's, and his ſons.

32 And the right ſhoulder ſhall ye give unto the prieſt for an heave-offering of the ſacrifices of your peace-offerings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

11 And this is the law of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings.) Theſe are the only offerings remaining to be ſpoken of; and of theſe there were various ſorts, which required various rites, and therefore reſerved to be conſidered in the laſt place.

19 And the fleſh that toucheth, &c.) If any part of the ſacrifices ſhould touch any thing or perſon legally unclean, as it might do in carrying from the altar to the place where they intended to feaſt upon it; in that caſe it was enjoined, that the officer ſhould forthwith burn it, and not dare to eat the leaſt bit of it. And whoever, under any legal defilement, ſhould preſume wilfully to eat of that which was dedicated to God, was to be cut off, that is, excluded from all the privileges of an Iſraelite. The intention of all theſe precepts were for preſerving the greater reverence and regard to ſacred things.

29 He that offereth the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings, ſhall bring his oblation unto the Lord.) That is, the offerer ſhall preſent his offering himſelf, and not by another.

30 That the breaſt may be waved.) See Exod. chap. xxix. By this ceremony it was conſecrated to God.

33 He among the ſons of Aaron that offereth, the blood of the peace-offerings, and the fat, ſhall have the right ſhoulder for his part.

34 For the wave-breaſt, and the heave-ſhoulder have I taken of the children of Iſrael, from off the ſacrifices of their peace-offerings, and have given them unto Aaron the prieſt, and unto his ſons, by a ſtatute for ever, from among the children of Iſrael.

35 ¶ This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his ſons out of the offerings of the Lord made by fire, in the day when he preſenteth them to miniſter unto the Lord in the prieſt's office.

36 Which the Lord commanded to be given them of the children of Iſrael, in the day that he anointed them, by a ſtatute for ever, throughout their generations.

37 This is the law of the burnt-offering, of the meat-offering, and of the ſin-offering, and of the treſpaſs-offering, and of the conſecrations, and of the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings:

38 Which the Lord commanded Moſes in mount Sinai, in the day that he commanded the children of Iſrael to offer their oblations unto the Lord, in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Moſes conſecrateth Aaron and his ſons. 14 Their ſin-offering. 18 Their burnt-offering. 22 The ram of conſecration. 31 The place and time of their conſecration.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Take Aaron and his ſons with him, and the garments, and the anointing oil, and a bullock for the ſin-offering, and two rams, and a baſket of unleavened bread.

3 And gather thou all the congregation together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded him, and the aſſembly was gathered together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

5 And Moſes ſaid unto the congregation, This is the thing which the Lord commanded to be done.

6 And Moſes brought Aaron and his ſons, and waſhed them with water.

7 And he put upon him the coat, and girded him with a girdle, and cloathed him with the robe, and put the ephod upon him, and he girded him with the curious girdle of the ephod, and bound it unto him therewith.

8 And he put the breaſt-plate upon him: alſo he put in the breaſt-plate the Urim and Thummim.

9 And he put the mitre upon his head; alſo upon the mitre, even upon his fore-front did he put the golden plate, the holy crown; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

10 And Moſes took the anointing oil and anointed the tabernacle, and all that was therein, and ſanctified them.

11 And he ſprinkled thereof upon the altar ſeven times, and anointed the altar and all his veſſels, both the laver and his foot, to ſanctify them.

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head, and anointed him to ſanctify him.

13 And Moſes brought Aaron's ſons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon them: as the Lord commanded Moſes.

14 And he brought the bullock for the ſin-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the bullock for the ſin-offering.

15 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took the blood and put it upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger, and purified the altar; and poured the blood at the bottom of the altar, and ſanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it.

16 And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and Moſes burned it upon the altar.

17 But the bullock and his hide, his fleſh and his dung, he burnt with fire without the camp; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

18 ¶ And he brought the ram for the burnt-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

19 And he killed it, and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

20 And he cut the ram into pieces, and Moſes burnt the head, and the pieces, and the fat.

21 And he waſhed the inwards and the legs in water; and Moſes burnt the whole ram upon the altar: it was a burnt ſacrifice for a ſweet ſavour, and an offering made by fire unto the Lord; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

22 And he brought the other ram, the ram of conſecration: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

23 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 And he brought Aaron's ſons, and Moſes put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet: and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he took the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys and their fat, and the right ſhoulder.

26 And out of the baſket of unleavened bread, that was before the Lord, he took one unleavened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right ſhoulder.

27 And he put all upon Aaron's hands, and upon his ſon's hands, and waved them for a wave-offering before the Lord.

28 And Moſes took them from off their hands, and burnt them on the altar, upon the burnt-offering: they were conſecrations for a ſweet ſavour: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

29 And Moſes took the breaſt, and waved it for a wave-offering before the Lord: for of the ram of conſecration it was Moſes' part; as the Lord commanded

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

2 Take Aaron and his ſons with him, &c.) In this chapter we have an account of Moſes's performing what the Lord had commanded him, relating to the conſecration of Aaron and his ſons, who were to miniſter in the holy place before the Lord.

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head.) The holy Pſalmiſt tells us, that this effuſion was ſo plentiful, that the holy oil ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard, and went down to the ſkirts of his cloathing. Pſal. cxxxiii. 2.

15 And purify the altar.) The altar on which the victims of ſinful mortals were to be offered, is here ſuppoſed to have been polluted by their touch; and therefore was to be purified with the blood of the ſacrifice, which was, by divine appointment, ſubſtituted inſtead of the forfeited blood of the ſinner.

Moſes.

30 And Moſes took of the anointing oil, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and ſprinkled it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon his ſons' garments with him; and ſanctified Aaron and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons' garments with him.

31 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, and to his ſons, Boil the fleſh at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and there eat it with the bread that is in the baſket of conſecrations, as I commanded, ſaying, Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat it.

32 And that which remaineth of the fleſh, and of the bread ſhall ye burn with fire.

33 And ye ſhall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation in ſeven days, until the days of your conſecration be at an end: for ſeven days ſhall he conſecrate you.

34 As he hath done this day, ſo the Lord hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you.

35 Therefore ſhall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night, ſeven days, and keep the charge of the Lord, that ye die not: for ſo I am commanded.

36 So Aaron and his ſons did all things which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes.

CHAP. IX.

1, 8 Aaron's ſin-offering, and burnt-offering for himſelf and the people. 22 The people bleſſed. 24 Fire from heaven.

AND it came to paſs on the eighth day, that Moſes called Aaron and his ſons, and the elders of Iſrael.

2 And he ſaid unto Aaron, Take thee a young calf for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, without blemiſh, and offer them before the Lord.

3 And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeak, ſaying, Take ye a kid of the goats for a ſin-offering; and a calf, and a lamb, both of the firſt year without blemiſh, for a burnt-offering;

4 Alſo a bullock and a ram for peace-offerings, to ſacrifice before the Lord; and a meat-offering mingled with oil: for to-day the Lord will appear unto you.

5 And they brought that which Moſes commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation: and all the congregation drew near and ſtood before the Lord.

6 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the Lord commanded that ye ſhould do: and the glory of the Lord ſhall appear unto you.

7 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Go unto the altar, and offer thy ſin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make an atonement for thyſelf, and for the people: and offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them; as the Lord commanded.

8 ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and ſlew the calf of the ſin-offering, which was for himſelf.

9 And the ſons of Aaron brought the blood unto him: and he dipt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the bottom of the altar,

10 But the fat and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver of the ſin-offering, he burnt upon the altar; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

11 And the fleſh and the hide he burnt with fire without the camp.

12 And he ſlew the burnt-offering; and Aaron's ſons preſented unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled round about upon the altar.

13 And they preſented the burnt-offering unto him, with the pieces thereof and the head: and he burnt them upon the altar.

14 And he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar.

15 ¶ And he brought the people's offering, and took the goat which was the ſin-offering for the people, and ſlew it, and offered it for ſin, as the firſt.

16 And he brought the burnt-offering, and offered it according to the manner.

17 And he brought the meat-offering, and took an handful thereof, and burnt it upon the altar, beſide the burnt ſacrifice of the morning.

18 He ſlew alſo the bullock and the ram, for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which was for the people: and Aaron's ſons preſented unto him the blood (which he ſprinkled upon the altar round about)

19 And the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver.

20 And they put the fat upon the breaſts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar:

21 And the breaſts and the right ſhoulder Aaron waved for a wave-offering before the Lord; as Moſes commanded,

22 And Aaron lift up his hand toward the people, and bleſſed them; and came down from offering of the ſin-offering, and the burnt-offering, and peace-offerings.

23 And Moſes and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and bleſſed the people: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the people.

24 And there came a fire out from before the Lord, and conſumed upon the altar the burnt-offering, and the fat: which when all the people ſaw, they ſhouted, and fell on their faces.

---

34 As he hath done this day, &c.) The ſacrifices were to be repeated every day for ſeven days ſucceſſively. This ſhews the imperfection of the legal ſacrifices, for they would not have been repeated ſo often if they had greater efficacy; and it likewiſe ſignifies the perfect conſecration of the prieſts. In conformity to this circumſtance, our great High-prieſt, who was perfected by one ſacrifice of himſelf, ſpent ſeven days in his conſecration. He attended at the temple five days ſucceſſively before his death; and having cleanſed it from the prophane merchandize exerciſed in it, on the firſt and ſecond day, he hallowed it afterward by his doctrine, his divine preſence, and miraculous cures; he went on the ſixth day to his heavenly ſanctuary, to purify it with his own blood, and having reſted on the ſeventh day, finiſhed the rites of conſecration for the office of our High-prieſt, by his reſurrection from the dead early in the morning.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

7 Make an atonement for thyſelf and for the people.) Here we have an inſtance of the imperfection of Aaron's prieſthood; they were ſinners, in common with their fellow mortals. But this imperfection has no place in the goſpel diſpenſation: our High-prieſt knew no ſin, neither was guile found in his mouth.

24 And there came a fire out from before the Lord, &c.) That is, a ray of the reſplendent light which filled the holy place, now flaſhed on the altar, and ſet fire to the ſacrifice. And it was this ſacred fire, which the prieſts were ordered to keep always burning upon the altar. According this celeſtial fire was preſerved till the time when Solomon dedicated his temple, when the ſacrifice was again conſumed by fire from heaven, which fire was afterwards preſerved till the deſtruction of the firſt temple. This public teſtimony of the divine approbation ſufficiently eſtabliſhed the authority of Aaron, and convinced the people that God himſelf reſided in the ſanctuary.

When all the people ſaw it they ſhouted, &c.) That is, they expreſſed their joy in exalted notes of praiſe, for this divine favour; proſtrating themſelves before the great Creator of heaven and earth with awful veneration.

CHAP.

CHAP. X.

1 Nadab and Abihu burnt. 8 The prieſts forbidden wine when they go into the tabernacle.

AND Nadab and Abihu, the ſons of Aaron took either of them his cenſer, and put fire therein, and put incenſe thereon, and offered ſtrange fire before the Lord, which he commanded them not.

2 And there went out fire from the Lord, and devoured them; and they died before the Lord.

3 Then Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, This is it that the Lord ſpake, ſaying, I will be ſanctified in them that come nigh me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron held his peace.

4 And Moſes called Miſhael and Elzaphan, the ſons of Uzziel, the uncle of Aaron, and ſaid unto them, Come near, carry your brethren from before the ſanctuary out of the camp.

5 So they went near, and carried them in their coats out of the camp; as Moſes had ſaid.

6 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar his ſons, Uncover not your heads, neither rend your clothes, leſt ye die, and leſt wrath come upon all the people; but let your brethren, the whole houſe of Iſrael, bewail the burning which the Lord hath kindled.

7 And ye ſhall not go out from the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, leſt ye die: for the anointing of the Lord is upon you. And they did according to the word of Moſes.

8 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, ſaying,

9 Do not drink wine, nor ſtrong drink, thou, nor thy ſons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, leſt ye die: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations;

10 And that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean:

11 And that ye may teach the children of Iſrael all the ſtatutes which the Lord hath ſpoken unto them by the hand of Moſes.

12 And Moſes ſpake unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and unto Ithamar, his ſons that were left, Take the meat-offering that remaineth of the offerings of the Lord made by fire, and eat it without leaven beſide the altar; for it is moſt holy.

13 And ye ſhall eat it in the holy place, becauſe it is thy due, and thy ſons due, of the ſacrifices of the Lord made by fire: for ſo I am commanded.

14 And the wave-breaſt and heave-ſhoulder ſhall ye eat in a clean place: thou, and thy ſons, and thy daughters with thee: for they be thy due, and thy ſons due, which are given out of the ſacrifices of peace-offerings of the children of Iſrael.

15 The heave-ſhoulder and the wave-breaſt ſhall they bring, with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to wave it for a wave-offering before the Lord; and it ſhall be thine, and thy ſons with thee, by a ſtatute for ever; as the Lord hath commanded.

16 And Moſes diligently ſought the goat of the ſin-offering, and, behold, it was burnt: and he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the ſons of Aaron, which were left alive, ſaying,

17 Wherefore have ye not eaten the ſin-offering in the holy place, ſeeing it is moſt holy, and God hath given it you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the Lord?

18 Behold, the blood of it was not brought in within the holy place: ye ſhould indeed have eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded.

19 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, this day have they offered their ſin-offering and their burnt-offering before the Lord; and ſuch things have befallen me: and if I had eaten the ſin-offering to-day, ſhould it have been accepted in the ſight of the Lord?

30 And when Moſes heard that, he was content.

CHAP. XI.

1, 4 Of meats clean, 13 and unclean.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and to Aaron, ſaying unto them,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat among all the beaſts that are on the earth.

3 Whatſoever parteth the hoof, and is cloven-footed, and cheweth the cud among the beaſts, that ſhall ye eat.

4 Nevertheleſs, theſe ſhall ye not eat, of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the hoof, as the camel, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof: he is unclean unto you.

5 And the cony, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof: he is unclean unto you.

6 And the hare, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof: he is unclean unto you.

7 And the ſwine, though he divide the hoof, and be cloven-footed: yet he cheweth not the cud: he is unclean to you.

8 Of their fleſh ſhall ye not eat, and their carcaſe ſhall ye not touch: they are unclean to you.

9 ¶ Theſe ſhall ye eat, of all that are in the waters: whatſoever hath fins and ſcales in the waters, in the ſeas, and in the rivers; them ſhall ye eat.

10 And all that have not fins and ſcales in the ſeas, and in the rivers, of all that move in the waters, and of any living thing, which is in the waters; they ſhall be an abomination unto you.

11 They ſhall even be an abomination unto you: ye ſhall not eat of their fleſh, but you ſhall have their carcaſes

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 Offered ſtrange fire before the Lord.) That is, they offered the incenſe with common fire, and not that which had juſt before fallen from heaven.

2 There went out fire from the Lord and devoured them.) Their bodies were not entirely conſumed, as the words ſeem to imply, but ſtruck dead in a moment, as with a flaſh of lightening. Nadab and Abihu had not only been admitted, in common with the reſt of their brethren, to the honour of the prieſthood, which was a dignity of no ſmall eſteem, but had particular motives, which others had not, to obſerve all the commandments of the Lord; for they had enjoyed the privilege of beholding the divine ſymbols upon the mount, when the law was promulgated in the moſt tremendous manner, without being conſumed. The higher therefore their ſtation was, and the more diſtinguiſhing the favours they had received, the more provoking was their affront, in attempting to adulterate an ordinance of God's own inſtitution.

6 Uncover not your heads, &c.) They were to make no lamentation, or funeral pomp for them; which among the Jews, who were ſo remarkable for the grandeur of their funerals, was eſteemed a ſore judgment. Temporal judgments, however, are not always ſure indications of the final condemnation of the perſons on whom they fall: and therefore Aaron had no occaſion utterly to deſpair: on the contrary, he might preſume, that the juſtice of God, being ſatisfied with the preſent puniſhment of his ſons, might be appeaſed, with relation to their eternal ſtate; and that though their fleſh was deſtroyed, yet their ſpirits might be ſaved in the day of the Lord, 1 Cor. v. 5. He alſo knew how greatly he had offended his God in making the golden calf, and might juſtly think, that God had called his ſin to remembrance in the deſtruction of his two ſons: he therefore acknowledged the righteouſneſs of God, in all that he had brought upon him, and, in the phraſe of ſcripture, was dumb, and opened not his mouth, becauſe it was the Lord's doing, Pſalm xxxix. 9.

12 Whatſoever hath no fins nor ſcales in the waters, that ſhall be an abomination unto you.

13 And theſe are they which ye ſhall have in abomination among the fowls, they ſhall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, and the oſſifrage, and the oſpray.

14 And the vulture, and the kite, after his kind:

15 Every raven after his kind:

16 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk, after his kind:

17 And the little owl, and the cormorant, and the great owl,

18 And the ſwan, and the pelican, and the gier-eagle,

19 And the ſtork, the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat.

20 All fowls that creep, going upon all four, ſhall be an abomination unto you.

21 Yet theſe may ye eat of every flying creeping thing that goeth upon all four, which have legs above their feet, to leap withal upon the earth:

22 Even theſe of them ye may eat: the locuſt after his kind, and the bald locuſt after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the graſhopper after his kind.

23 But all other flying creeping things, which have four feet ſhall be an abomination unto you.

24 And for theſe ye ſhall be unclean: whoſoever toucheth the carcaſe of them ſhall be unclean until the even.

25 And whoſoever beareth ought of the carcaſe of them ſhall waſh his cloaths, and be unclean until the even.

26 The carcaſes of every beaſt which divideth the hoof, and is not cloven-footed, nor cheweth the cud, are unclean unto you: every one that toucheth them ſhall be unclean.

27 And whatſoever goeth upon his paws, among all manner of beaſts, that go on all four, thoſe are unclean unto you: whoſo toucheth their carcaſe, ſhall be unclean until the even.

28 And he that beareth the carcaſe of them, ſhall waſh his cloaths, and be unclean until the even: they are unclean unto you.

29 ¶ Theſe alſo ſhall be unclean unto you among the creeping things, that creep upon the earth: the weaſel, and the mouſe, and the tortoiſe after his kind.

30 And the ferret, and the chameleon, and the lizard, and the ſnail, and the mole.

31 Theſe are unclean to you among all that creep; whoſoever doth touch them when they be dead, ſhall be unclean until the even.

32 And upon whatſoever any of them, when they are dead, doth fall, it ſhall be unclean; whether it be any veſſel of wood, or raiment, or ſkin, or ſack, whatſoever veſſel it be, wherein any work is done, it muſt be put into water, and it ſhall be unclean until the even; ſo it ſhall be cleanſed.

33 And every earthen veſſel whereinto any of them falleth, whatſoever is in it ſhall be unclean; and ye ſhall break it.

34 Of all meat which may be eaten, that on which ſuch water cometh ſhall be unclean: and all drink that may be drunk, in every ſuch veſſel ſhall be unclean.

35 And every thing whereupon any part of their carcaſe falleth ſhall be unclean; whether it be oven, or ranges for pots, they ſhall be broken down: for they are unclean, and ſhall be unclean unto you.

36 Nevertheleſs, a fountain or pit, wherein there is plenty of water, ſhall be clean: but that which toucheth their carcaſe ſhall be unclean.

37 And if any part of their carcaſe fall upon any ſowing ſeed which is to be ſown, it ſhall be clean.

38 But if any water be put upon the ſeed, and any part of their carcaſe fall thereon, it ſhall be unclean unto you.

39 And if any beaſt of which ye may eat die; he that toucheth the carcaſe thereof ſhall be unclean until the even.

40 And he that eateth of the carcaſe of it ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: he alſo that beareth the carcaſe of it ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even.

41 And every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth ſhall be an abomination; it ſhall not be eaten.

42 Whatſoever goeth upon the belly, and whatſoever goeth upon all four, or whatſoever hath more feet among all creeping things that creep upon the earth, them ye ſhall not eat; for they are an abomination.

43 Ye ſhall not make yourſelves abominable with any creeping thing that creepeth, neither ſhall ye make yourſelves unclean with them, that ye ſhould be defiled thereby.

44 For I am the Lord your God: ye ſhall therefore ſanctify yourſelves, and ye ſhall be holy: for I am holy: neither ſhall ye defile yourſelves with any manner of creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

45 For I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye ſhall, therefore, be holy: for I am holy.

46 This is the law of the beaſts, and of the fowl, and of every living creature that moveth in the waters, and of every creature that creepeth upon the earth:

47 To make a difference between the unclean, and the clean, and between the beaſt that may be eaten, and the beaſt that may not be eaten.

CHAP. XII.

1 Women's purifications, 6 and offerings.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a woman have conceived ſeed, and born a man-child; then ſhe ſhall be unclean ſeven days, according to the days of the ſeparation for her infirmity ſhall ſhe be unclean.

3 And in the eighth day the fleſh of his foreſkin ſhall be circumciſed.

4 And ſhe ſhall then continue in the blood of her

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

13 The oſſifrage.) This is a ſpecies of eagle, ſo called becauſe it breaks the bones of its prey. It may here not be improper to obſerve, that as the animals in the eaſtern countries are in a great meaſure different from thoſe of our climate, ſo it is not to be expected that our knowledge of them ſhould be perfect, eſpecially when it depends chiefly upon the etymology of their names in Hebrew; and the Jews themſelves acknowledge the ſignification of many of theſe names to be now loſt, which ſhould convince them of the abſurdity of pretending ſtill to keep the law of Moſes, becauſe in many places they know not ſo much as what is forbidden, and what not.

44 Sanctify yourſelves.) The true meaning of the paſſage is this, That as the Jews were peculiarly devoted to God, ſo they were to be diſtinguiſhed by a peculiarity of diet, which, by reminding them of their peculiar relation to God, ſerved emblematically to figure, and was a ſign to put them in mind of their obligation to ſtudy moral purity. And hence it is applied, as a motive to enforce the ſame end upon the profeſſors of chriſtianity. As he who hath called you is holy, ſo be ye holy in all manner of converſation, becauſe it is written, be ye holy, for I am holy, 1 Peter i. 15, 16.

purifying three and thirty days: ſhe ſhall touch no hallowed thing, nor come into the ſanctuary, until the days of her purifying be fulfilled.

5 But if ſhe bear a male-child, then ſhe ſhall be unclean two weeks, as in her ſeparation: and ſhe ſhall continue in the blood of her purifying threeſcore and ſix days.

6 ¶ And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled for a ſon, or for a daughter; ſhe ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a burnt-offering, and a young pigeon or a turtle dove, for a ſin-offering, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the prieſt:

7 Who ſhall offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her; and ſhe ſhall be cleanſed from the iſſue of her blood. This is the law for her that hath born a male or a female.

8 And if ſhe be not able to bring a lamb, then ſhe ſhall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons; the one for the burnt-offering, and the other for a ſin-offering; and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her, and ſhe ſhall be clean.

CHAP. XIII.

Tokens to diſcern the leproſy.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron, ſaying,

2 When a man ſhall have in the ſkin of his fleſh a riſing, a ſcab, or bright ſpot, and it be in the ſkin of his fleſh like the plague of leproſy; then he ſhall be brought unto Aaron the prieſt, or unto one of his ſons the prieſts.

3 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague in the ſkin of the fleſh: and when the hair in the plague is turned white, and the plague in ſight be deeper than the ſkin of his fleſh, it is a plague of leproſy: and the prieſt ſhall look on him, and pronounce him unclean.

4 If the bright ſpot be white in the ſkin of his fleſh, and in ſight be not deeper than the ſkin, and the hair thereof be not turned white; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague ſeven days:

5 And the prieſt ſhall look on him the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague in his ſight be at a ſtay, and the plague ſpread not in the ſkin, then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days more.

6 And the prieſt ſhall look on him again the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague be ſomewhat dark, and the plague ſpread not in the ſkin; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: it is but a ſcab: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, and be clean.

7 But if the ſcab ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, after that he hath been ſeen of the prieſt for his cleanſing: he ſhall be ſeen of the prieſt again.

8 And if the prieſt ſee, that behold, the ſcab ſpreadeth in the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a leproſy.

9 When the plague of leproſy is in a man, then he ſhall be brought unto the prieſt;

10 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold if the riſing be white in the ſkin, and it have turned the hair white, and there be quick raw fleſh in the riſing;

11 It is an old leproſy in the ſkin of his fleſh, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean, and ſhall not ſhut him up: for he is unclean.

12 And if a leproſy break out abroad in the ſkin, and the leproſy cover all the ſkin of him that hath the plague from his head even to his foot, whereſoever the prieſt looketh;

13 Then the prieſt ſhall conſider: and behold, if the leproſy have covered all his fleſh, he ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: it is all turned white: he is clean.

14 But when raw fleſh appeareth in him, he ſhall be unclean.

15 And the prieſt ſhall ſee the raw fleſh, and pronounce him to be unclean: for the raw fleſh is unclean: it is a leproſy.

16 Or if the raw fleſh turn again, and be changed unto white; he ſhall come unto the prieſt:

17 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold, if the plague be turned into white; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: he is clean.

18 The fleſh alſo in which, even in the ſkin thereof, was a boil, and is healed:

19 And in the place of the boil there be a white riſing, or a bright ſpot white, and ſomewhat reddiſh, and it be ſhewed to the prieſt;

20 And if when the prieſt ſeeth it, behold, it be in ſight lower than the ſkin, and the hair thereof be turned white; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean, it is a plague of leproſy broken out of the boil.

21 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold there be no white hairs therein, and if it be not lower than the ſkin, but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days.

22 And if it ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a plague,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

6 And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled, &c.) A woman that had lain-in, when the time ſet for her return to the ſanctuary was come, ſhe was not to attend there empty, but muſt bring her offerings, which ſhe was to offer in thankfulneſs to God for his mercy to her, in bringing her ſafely through the pains of child-bearing, and all the perils of child-bed; and in deſire and hopes of God's further favour both to her and to the child. According to this law, we find that the mother of our bleſſed Lord, though he was not conceived in ſin as others, yet accompliſhed the days of her purification, and then preſented her ſon to the Lord, being a firſt-born, and brought her own offering, a pair of turtle doves, Luke ii. 22, 23. So poor were Chriſt's parents, that they were not able to bring a lamb for a burnt-offering; and ſo early was Chriſt made under the law, to redeem them that were under it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

2 When a man ſhall have in the ſkin of his fleſh a riſing, a ſcab, or bright ſpot, &c.) Concerning the plague of leproſy we may obſerve in general, 1. That it was rather an uncleanneſs than a diſeaſe; at leaſt ſo the law conſidered it; and therefore employed not the phyſicians but the prieſts about it. Chriſt is ſaid to cleanſe lepers, not to cure them. We do not read of any that died of it, but it rather buried them alive, by rendering them unfit for converſation with any, but ſuch as were infected like themſelves! Yet there is a tradition, that that Pharaoh who ſought to kill Moſes, was the firſt that ever was ſtruck with this diſeaſe. It is ſaid to have begun firſt in Egypt, from whence it ſpread into Syria. It was very well known to Moſes, when he put his own hand into his boſom, and took it out leprous. 2. That it was a plague inflicted immediately by the hand of God, and came not from natural cauſes, as other diſeaſes: and therefore it muſt be managed according to a divine law. Miriam's leproſy, and Gehazi's, and king Uzziah's, were all the puniſhments of particular ſins: and if generally it was ſo, no marvel there was ſo much care taken to diſtinguiſh it from a common diſtemper, that none might be looked upon as lying under this extraordinary token of divine diſpleaſure, but thoſe that really were ſo. 3. That it is a plague now not known in the world; what is commonly called the leproſy is of a quite different nature; this ſeems reſerved as a particular ſcourge for the ſinners of thoſe times and places; the Jews retained the idolatrous cuſtoms they had learnt in Egypt, and therefore God juſtly cauſed this with ſome other of the diſeaſes of Egypt to follow them.

23 But if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not, it is a burning boil; and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean.

24 Or if there be any fleſh in the ſkin whereof there is a hot burning, and the quick fleſh that burneth have a white bright ſpot, ſomewhat reddiſh, or white:

25 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold if the hair in the bright ſpot be turned white, and it be in ſight deeper than the ſkin; it is a leproſy broken out of the burning: wherefore the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean; it is the plague of leproſy.

26 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold, there be no white hair on the bright ſpot, and it be no lower than the other ſkin; but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days.

27 And the prieſt ſhall look upon him the ſeventh day; and if it be ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean; it is the plague of leproſy.

28 And if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not in the ſkin, but it be ſomewhat dark; it is a riſing of the burning, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: for it is an inflamation of the burning.

29 ¶ If a man or woman hath a plague upon the head or the beard;

30 Then the prieſt ſhall ſee the plague: and behold, if it be in ſight deeper than the ſkin, and there be in it a yellow thin hair; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a dry ſcall, even a leproſy upon the head or beard.

31 And if the prieſt look on the plague of the ſcall, and behold, it be not in ſight deeper than the ſkin, and that there is no black hair in it; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague of the ſcall, ſeven days.

32 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the plague: and behold, if the ſcall ſpread not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the ſcall be not in ſight deeper than the ſkin;

33 He ſhall be ſhaven, but the ſcall ſhall he not ſhave: and the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the ſcall, ſeven days more.

34 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the ſcall: and behold, if the ſcall be not ſpread in the ſkin, nor be in ſight deeper than the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: and he ſhall waſh his clothes and be clean.

35 But if the ſcall ſpread much in the ſkin after his cleanſing;

36 Then the prieſt ſhall look on him: and behold, if the ſcall be ſpread in the ſkin, the prieſt ſhall not ſeek for yellow hair; he is unclean.

37 But if the ſcall be in his ſight at a ſtay, and that there is black hair grown up therein; the ſcall is healed, he is clean: and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean.

38 If a man alſo or a woman have in the ſkin of their fleſh bright ſpots, even white bright ſpots;

39 Then the prieſt ſhall look: and behold, if the bright ſpots in the ſkin of their fleſh be darkiſh white; it is a freckled ſpot that groweth in the ſkin; he is clean.

40 And the man whoſe hair is fallen off his head, he is bald; yet is he clean.

41 And he that hath his hair fallen off from the part of his head towards his face, he is forehead-bald; yet is he clean.

42 And if there be in the bald head, or bald forehead, a white reddiſh ſore; it is a leproſy ſprung up in his bald head, or his bald forehead.

43 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold, if the riſing of the ſore be white reddiſh in his bald head, or in his bald forehead, as the leproſy appeareth in the ſkin of the fleſh;

44 He is a leprous man, he is unclean: the prieſt ſhall pronounce him utterly unclean, his plague is in his head.

45 And the leper in whom the plague is, his clothes ſhall be rent, and his head bare, and he ſhall put a covering upon his upper lip, and ſhall cry, Unclean, unclean.

46 All the days wherein the plague ſhall be in him he ſhall be defiled; he is unclean: he ſhall dwell alone; without the camp ſhall his habitation be.

47 The garment alſo that the plague of leproſy is in, whether it be a woollen garment, or a linen garment;

48 Whether it be in the warp, or woof; of linen or of woollen; whether in a ſkin, or in any thing made of ſkin:

49 And if the plague be greeniſh or reddiſh in the garment, or in the ſkin, either in the warp, or in the woof or in any thing of the ſkin; it is a plague of leproſy, and ſhall be ſhewed unto the prieſt.

50 And the prieſt ſhall look upon the plague, and ſhut up it that hath the plague ſeven days.

51 And he ſhall look on the plague on the ſeventh day: if the plague be ſpread in the garment, either in the warp or in the woof, or in a ſkin, or in any work that is made of ſkin; the plague is a fretting leproſy; it is unclean.

52 He ſhall therefore burn that garment, whether warp or woof, in woollen, or in linen, or any thing of ſkin wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leproſy; it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

53 And if the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, the plague be not ſpread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of ſkin;

54 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they waſh the thing wherein the plague is, and he ſhall ſhut it up ſeven days more.

55 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague after that it is waſhed: and behold, if the plague have not changed his colour, and the plague be not ſpread, it is unclean, thou ſhalt burn it in the fire; it is fret inward, whether it be bare within or without.

56 And if the prieſt look, and behold, the plague be ſomewhat dark after the waſhing of it; then he ſhall rend it out of the garment, or out of the ſkin, or out of the warp, or out of the woof.

57 And if it appear ſtill in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of ſkin; it is a ſpreading plague: thou ſhalt burn that wherein the plague is, with fire.

58 And the garment, either warp, or woof, or whatſoever thing of ſkin it be, which thou ſhalt waſh, if the plague be departed from them, then it ſhall be waſhed the ſecond time, and ſhall be clean.

59 This is the law of the plague of leproſy in a garment of woollen or linen, either in the warp or woof, or in any thing of ſkins, to pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The rites and ſacrifices in cleanſing of the leper. 33 The ſigns of leproſy in an houſe. 48 The cleanſing of that houſe.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 This ſhall be the law of the leper, in the day of his cleanſing: He ſhall be brought unto the prieſt:

prieſt:

3 And the prieſt ſhall go forth out of the camp: and the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, if the plague of leproſy be healed in the leper:

4 Then ſhall the prieſt command to take for him that is to be cleanſed, two birds alive, and clean, and cedar wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop.

5 And the prieſt ſhall command that one of the birds be killed in an earthen veſſel, over running water.

6 As for the living bird, he ſhall take it, and the cedar-wood, and the ſcarlet, and the hyſſop, and ſhall dip them and the living bird, in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water.

7 And he ſhall ſprinkle upon him that is to be cleanſed from the leproſy ſeven times, and ſhall pronounce him clean, and ſhall let the living bird looſe into the open field.

8 And he that is to be cleanſed ſhall waſh his clothes, and ſhave off all his hair, and waſh himſelf in water, that he may be clean: and after that he ſhall come into the camp, and ſhall tarry abroad out of his tent ſeven days.

9 But it ſhall be on the ſeventh day that he ſhall ſhave all his hair off his head, and his beard, and his eye-brows, even all his hair he ſhall ſhave off: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, alſo he ſhall waſh his fleſh in water, and he ſhall be clean.

10 And on the eighth day he ſhall take two he-lambs without blemiſh, and one ewe-lamb of the firſt year, without blemiſh, and three tenth-deals of fine flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and one log of oil.

11 And the prieſt that maketh him clean, ſhall preſent the man that is to be made clean, and thoſe things before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And the prieſt ſhall take one he-lamb, and offer him for a treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord.

13 And he ſhall ſlay the lamb in the place where he ſhall kill the ſin-offering, and the burnt-offering in the holy place: for as the ſin-offering is the prieſts, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy.

14 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

15 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the log of oil, and pour it into the palm of his own left hand:

16 And the prieſt ſhall dip his right finger in the oil that is in his left hand, and ſhall ſprinkle of the oil with his finger, ſeven times before the Lord.

17 And of the reſt of the oil that is in his hand, ſhall the prieſt put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the blood of the treſpaſs-offering.

18 And the remnant of the oil that is in the prieſt's hand, he ſhall pour upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord.

19 And the prieſt ſhall offer the ſin-offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed from his uncleanneſs, and afterward he ſhall kill the burnt-offering.

20 And the prieſt ſhall offer the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering upon the altar: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and he ſhall be clean.

21 And if he be poor, and cannot get ſo much; then he ſhall take one lamb for a treſpaſs-offering to be waved, to make an atonement for him, and one tenth-deal of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering, and a log of oil;

22 And two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, ſuch as he is able to get; and the one ſhall be a ſin-offering, and the other a burnt-offering.

23 And he ſhall bring them on the eighth day for his cleanſing unto the prieſt, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the Lord.

24 And the prieſt ſhall take the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord.

25 And he ſhall kill the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

26 And the prieſt ſhall pour of the oil into the palm of his own left hand.

27 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle with his right finger, ſome of the oil that is in his left hand ſeven times before the Lord,

28 And the prieſt ſhall put of the oil that is in his hand, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the place of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering.

29 And the reſt of the oil that is in the prieſt's hand, he ſhall put upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed, to make an atonement for him before the Lord.

30 And he ſhall offer the one of the turtle-doves, or of the young pigeons, ſuch as he can get.

31 Even ſuch as he is able to get, the one for a ſin-offering; and the other for a burnt-offering, with the meat-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed before the Lord.

32 This is the law of him in whom is the plague of leproſy, whoſe hand is not able to get that which pertaineth to his cleanſing.

33 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

Commentary on Chap. XIV.

4. Two birds, alive, and clean, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop, &c.) The living bird, with a little ſcarlet wool, and a bunch of hyſſop, muſt be faſtened to a cedar-ſtick, dipped in the water and blood, which muſt be ſo ſprinkled upon him that was to be cleanſed. The cedar-wood ſignified the reſtoring of the leper to his ſtrength and ſoundneſs, for that is the ſort of wood not apt to putrify. The ſcarlet wool ſignified his recovering a florid colour again, for the leproſy made him white as ſnow. And the hyſſop intimated the removing of that unſavoury ſmell, which commonly attended the leproſy. The cedar the ſtateſieſt plant, and hyſſop the meaneſt, are here uſed together in this ſervice; for thoſe of the loweſt rank in the church may be of uſe in their place, as well as thoſe that are moſt eminent, 1 Cor. xii. 21. Some make the ſlain bird to typify Chriſt dying for our ſins, and the living bird Chriſt riſing again for our juſtification: And the dipping of the living bird in the blood of the ſlain bird intimated, that the merit of Chriſt's death was that which made his reſurrection effectual for our juſtification. He took his blood with him into the holy place, and there appeared as a lamb as it had been ſlain. The cedar, ſcarlet, and hyſſop muſt all be dipped in the blood; for the word and ordinances, and all the operations of the Spirit, receive their efficacy for our cleanſing from the blood of Chriſt. The leper muſt be ſprinkled ſeven times, to ſignify a complete purification; in alluſion to which David prays, waſh me thoroughly, Pſ. li. 2.

34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, which I give to you for a poſſeſſion, and I put the plague of leproſy in a houſe of the land of your poſſeſſion;

35 And he that owneth the houſe ſhall come, and tell the prieſt, ſaying, it ſeemeth to me there is as it were a plague in the houſe:

36 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they empty the houſe, before the prieſt go into it to ſee the plague; that all that is in the houſe be not made unclean; and afterward the prieſt ſhall go in to ſee the houſe.

37 And he ſhall look on the plague, and behold, if the plague be in the walls of the houſe with hollow ſtrakes greeniſh or reddiſh, which in ſight are lower than the wall;

38 Then the prieſt ſhall go out of the houſe to the door of the houſe, and ſhut up the houſe ſeven days.

39 And the prieſt ſhall come again the ſeventh day, and ſhall look: and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the walls of the houſe;

40 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they take away the ſtones in which the plague is, and they ſhall caſt them into an unclean place without the city.

41 And he ſhall cauſe the houſe to be ſcraped within round about, and they ſhall pour out the duſt that they ſcrape off, without the city into an unclean place.

42 And they ſhall take other ſtones, and put them in the place of thoſe ſtones; and he ſhall take other morter, and ſhall plaiſter the houſe.

43 And if the plague come again, and break out in the houſe, after that he hath taken away the ſtones, and after he hath ſcraped the houſe, and after it is plaiſtered;

44 Then the prieſt ſhall come and look, and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the houſe, it is a fretting leproſy in the houſe; it is unclean.

45 And he ſhall break down the houſe, the ſtones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the mortar of the houſe; and he ſhall carry them forth out of the city into an unclean place.

46 Moreover, he that goeth into the houſe all the while that it is ſhut up, ſhall be unclean until the even.

47 And he that lieth in the houſe ſhall waſh his clothes: and he that eateth in the houſe ſhall waſh his clothes.

48 ¶ And if the prieſt ſhall come in, and look upon it, and behold, the plague hath not ſpread in the houſe, after the houſe was plaiſtered: then the prieſt ſhall pronounce the houſe clean, becauſe the plague is healed.

49 And he ſhall take to cleanſe the houſe two birds, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop.

50 And he ſhall kill the one of the birds in an earthen veſſel, over running water:

51 And he ſhall take the cedar-wood, and the hyſſop, and the ſcarlet, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the ſlain bird, and in the running water, and ſprinkle the houſe ſeven times.

52 And he ſhall cleanſe the houſe with the blood of the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, and with the cedar-wood, and with the hyſſop, and with the ſcarlet.

53 But he ſhall let go the living bird out of the city into the open fields, and make an atonement for the houſe: and it ſhall be clean.

54 This is the law for all manner of plague, of leproſy, and ſcall,

55 And for the leproſy of a garment, and of an houſe,

56 And for a riſing, and for a ſcab, and for a bright ſpot:

57 To teach, when it is unclean, and when it is clean: this is the law of leproſy.

CHAP. XV.

1, 9 Uncleanneſſes by iſſues, 13, 28, their cleanſing.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and to Aaron, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, when any man hath a running iſſue out of his fleſh, becauſe of his iſſue he is unclean.

3 And this ſhall be his uncleanneſs in his iſſue: whether his fleſh run with his iſſue, or his fleſh be ſtopped from his iſſue, it is his uncleanneſs.

4 Every bed whereon he lieth that hath the iſſue, is unclean: and every thing whereon he ſitteth, ſhall be unclean.

5 And whoſoever toucheth his bed, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

6 And he that ſitteth on any thing whereon he ſat that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

7 And he that toucheth the fleſh of him that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

8 And if he that hath the iſſue, ſpit upon him that is clean; then he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

9 ¶ And what ſaddle ſoever he rideth upon that hath the iſſue, ſhall be unclean.

10 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that was under him, ſhall be unclean until the even: and he that beareth any of thoſe things ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

11 And whomſoever he toucheth that hath the iſſue, (and hath not rinſed his hands in water) he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

12 And the veſſel of earth that he toucheth which hath the iſſue, ſhall be broken: and every veſſel of wood ſhall be rinſed in water.

34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, &c.) Now they were in the wilderneſs, they dwelt in tents, and had no houſes, and therefore this law is made only an appendix to the former laws concerning the leproſy, becauſe it related not to their preſent ſtate, but to their future ſettlement. The leproſy in a houſe is as unaccountable as the leproſy in a garment; but if we ſee not what natural cauſes of it can be aſſigned, we may reſolve it into the power of the God of nature, who here ſaith, I put the leproſy in a houſe; as his curſe is ſaid to enter into a houſe, and conſume it with the timber and ſtones thereof, Zech. v. 4. Some have thought the leproſy in the houſe was typical of the idolatry of the Jewiſh Church, which did ſtrangely cleave to it; and though ſome of the reforming kings took away the infected ſtones, yet ſtill it broke out again, till by the captivity in Babylon God took down the houſe, and carried it to an unclean land; and that proved an effectual cure of their inclination to idols and idolatrous worſhip.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.) Moſes and Aaron are next inſtructed in ſome other caſes, which were to be accounted matters of legal uncleanneſs in man or woman; on account whereof they were to be debarred from converſation, and the worſhip of the ſanctuary, for ſome time, and obliged to perform certain ceremonies for their purification. Theſe, though in the main aiming at the ſame deſign with the foregoing, namely to teach the neceſſity of moral purity, and preſerve the reverence due to the worſhip of God, yet were particularly intended as a reſtraint upon the immoderate indulgence of the fleſh.

13 ¶ And

13 ¶ And when he that hath the iſſue is cleanſed of his iſſue; then he ſhall number to himſelf ſeven days for his cleanſing, and waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in running water, and ſhall be clean.

14 And on the eighth day he ſhall take to him two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and give them unto the prieſt.

15 And the prieſt ſhall offer them, the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord for his iſſue.

16 And if any man's ſeed of copulation go out from him, then he ſhall waſh all his fleſh in water, and be unclean until the even.

17 And every garment and every ſkin, whereon is the ſeed of copulation, ſhall be waſhed with water, and be unclean until the even.

18 The woman alſo with whom man ſhall lie with ſeed of copulation, they ſhall both bathe themſelves in water, and be unclean until the even.

19 And if a woman have an iſſue, and her iſſue in her fleſh be blood, ſhe ſhall be put apart ſeven days; and whoſoever toucheth her ſhall be unclean until the even.

20 And every thing that ſhe lieth upon in her ſeparation, ſhall be unclean: every thing alſo that ſhe ſitteth upon, ſhall be unclean.

21 And whoſoever toucheth her bed, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

22 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that ſhe ſat upon, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

23 And if it be on her bed, or on any thing whereon ſhe ſitteth, when he toucheth it: he ſhall be unclean until the even.

24 And if any man lie with her at all, and her flowers be upon him, he ſhall be unclean ſeven days; and all the bed whereon he lieth, ſhall be unclean.

25 And if a woman have an iſſue of her blood many days out of the time of her ſeparation, or if it run beyond the time of her ſeparation: all the days of the iſſue of her uncleanneſs, ſhall be as the days of her ſeparation; ſhe ſhall be unclean.

26 Every bed whereon ſhe lieth all the days of her iſſue, ſhall be unto her as the bed of her ſeparation; and whatſoever ſhe ſitteth upon, ſhall be unclean, as the uncleanneſs of her ſeparation.

27 And whoſoever toucheth thoſe things ſhall be unclean, and ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

28 ¶ But if ſhe be cleanſed of her iſſue, then ſhe ſhall number to herſelf ſeven days, and after that ſhe ſhall be clean.

29 And on the eighth day ſhe ſhall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, and bring them unto the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

30 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her before the Lord for the iſſue of her uncleanneſs.

31 Thus ſhall ye ſeparate the children of Iſrael from their uncleanneſs: that they die not in their uncleanneſs, when they defile my tabernacle that is among them.

32 This is the law of him that hath an iſſue, and of him whoſe ſeed goeth from him, and is defiled therewith:

33 And of her that is ſick of her flowers, and of him that hath an iſſue; of the man and of the woman, and of him that lieth with her which is unclean.

CHAP. XVI.

11 The high-prieſt's ſin-offering. 29 The ſcape-goat. 29 The feaſt of expiation.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, after the death of the two ſons of Aaron, when they offered before the Lord, and died:

2 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail, before the mercy-ſeat which is upon the ark, that he die not: for I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy-ſeat.

3 Thus ſhall Aaron come into the holy place: with a young bullock for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering.

4 He ſhall put on the holy linen coat, and he ſhall have the linen breches upon his fleſh, and ſhall be girded with the linen girdle, and with the linen mitre ſhall he be attired: theſe are holy garments; therefore ſhall he waſh his fleſh in water, and ſo put them on.

5 And he ſhall take of the congregation of the children of Iſrael, two kids of the goats for a ſin-offering, and one ram for a burnt-offering.

6 And Aaron ſhall offer his bullock of the ſin-offering, which is for himſelf, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe.

7 And he ſhall take the two goats and preſent them before the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 And Aaron ſhall caſt lots upon the two goats: one lot for the Lord, and the other lot for the ſcape-goat.

9 And Aaron ſhall bring the goat upon which the Lord's lot fell, and offer him for a ſin-offering.

10 But the goat, on which the lot fell to be the ſcape-goat, ſhall be preſented alive before the Lord, to make an atonement with him, and to let him go for a ſcape-goat into the wilderneſs.

11 ¶ And Aaron ſhall bring the bullock of the ſin-offering which is for himſelf, and ſhall make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe, and ſhall kill the bullock of the ſin-offering which is for himſelf.

12 And he ſhall take a cenſer full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before the Lord, and his hands full of ſweet incenſe beaten ſmall, and bring it within the vail.

13 And he ſhall put the incenſe upon the fire before the Lord, that the cloud of the incenſe may cover the mercy-ſeat that is upon the teſtimony, that he die not.

31 That they die not in their uncleanneſs, when they defile my tabernacle.) This ſhews, that one particular reaſon of theſe laws was to impreſs the minds of that carnal people with a high reſpect and veneration towards the worſhip of God, and whatever bore the name of ſacred. And, indeed, it could not but have a conſiderable influence this way, ſince there were ſo many ſorts of legal pollutions, that it became a buſineſs of great care and circumſpection, to approach the Divine preſence with ſuch purity and decorum as they ought.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

3 With a young bullock for a ſin-offering.) As this was the only time in the whole year in which the high-prieſt was to enter the moſt holy place, he was obliged preparatory to his entering on this ſolemn ſervice, to offer two ſacrifices in behalf of himſelf and his family, a bullock for a ſin-offering, in confeſſion of his infirmities and tranſgreſſions, and to put him in mind that he was but an imperfect interceſſor with God. Next he was to offer a ram for a burnt-offering, in token of his dedicating himſelf wholly to God, with a promiſe of new obedience.

14 And he ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and ſprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy-ſeat eaſtward, and before the mercy-ſeat ſhall he ſprinkle of the blood with his finger ſeven times.

15 Then ſhall he kill the goat of the ſin-offering that is for the people, and bring his blood within the vail, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bullock, and ſprinkle it upon the mercy-ſeat, and before the mercy-ſeat.

16 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy place, becauſe of the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael, and becauſe of their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins; and ſo ſhall he do for the tabernacle of the congregation that remaineth among them, in the midſt of their uncleanneſs.

17 And there ſhall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place, until he come out, and have made an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſhold, and for all the congregation of Iſrael.

18 And he ſhall go out unto the altar that is before the Lord, and make an atonement for it; and ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about.

19 And he ſhall ſprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger ſeven times, and cleanſe it, and hallow it from the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael.

20 ¶ And when he hath made an end of reconciling the holy place, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar, he ſhall bring the live goat:

21 And Aaron ſhall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confeſs over him all the iniquities of the children of Iſrael, and all their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins, putting them upon the head of the goat, and ſhall ſend him away by the hand of a fit man into the wilderneſs.

22 And the goat ſhall bear upon him all their iniquities unto a land not inhabited; and he ſhall let go the goat in the wilderneſs.

23 And Aaron ſhall come into the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall put off the linen garments, which he put on when he went into the holy place, and ſhall leave them there.

24 And he ſhall waſh his fleſh with water in the holy place, and put on his garments, and come forth, and offer his burnt-offering, and the burnt-offering of the people, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for the people.

25 And the fat of the ſin-offering ſhall be burnt upon the altar.

26 And he that let go the goat for the ſcape-goat, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward come into the camp.

27 And the bullock for the ſin-offering, and the goat for the ſin-offering, whoſe blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place, ſhall one carry forth without the camp; and they ſhall burn in the fire their ſkins, and their fleſh, and their dung.

28 And he that burneth them ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp.

29 ¶ And this ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto you: that in the ſeventh month, on the tenth day of the month, ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and do no work at all, whether it be one of your own country, or a ſtranger that ſojourneth among you.

30 For on that day ſhall the prieſt make an atonement for you, to cleanſe you, that ye may be clean from all your ſins before the Lord.

31 It ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto you, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls by a ſtatute for ever.

32 And the prieſt whom he ſhall anoint, and whom he ſhall conſecrate to miniſter in the prieſt's office in his father's ſtead ſhall make the atonement, and ſhall put on the linen clothes, even the holy garments.

33 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy ſanctuary, and he ſhall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar: and he ſhall make an atonement for the prieſts, and for all the people of the congregation.

34 And this ſhall be an everlaſting ſtatute unto you, to make an atonement for the children of Iſrael, for all their ſins, once a year. And he did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Blood of beaſts muſt be offered at the tabernacle door.
10 Blood forbidden.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and unto his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them; This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded, ſaying.

3 What man ſoever there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that killeth an ox, or lamb, or goat in the camp, or that killeth it out of the camp.

4 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer an offering unto the Lord before the tabernacle of the Lord; blood ſhall be imputed unto that man; he hath ſhed blood; and that man ſhall be cut off from among his people:

5 To the end that the children of Iſrael may bring their ſacrifices, which they offer in the open field, even that they may bring them unto the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the prieſt, and offer them for peace-offerings unto the Lord.

6 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar of the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

7 And they ſhall no more offer their ſacrifices unto devils, after whom they have gone a whoring. This ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto them throughout their generations.

16 He ſhall make an atonement for the holy place.) This annual ceremony of ſprinkling the blood in the place of God's peculiar reſidence, which was accompanied with ſolemn ſupplications, was intended as an acknowledgment, that the Jewiſh place of worſhip was, by the ſins committed the preceding year by the prieſts and people, rendered an unworthy habitation for the divine preſence: and therefore the prieſt offered the victims blood, as a ſign of their having forfeited their own blood or life, praying that it might be accepted in their ſtead.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

3 What man ſoever there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that killeth an ox, &c.) This command extendeth both to ſuch beaſts as were killed for food, as well as to thoſe for ſacrifice. For it muſt be obſerved, that even thoſe animals that were ſlain by any Iſraelite, for the uſe of his family, were firſt preſented to God, at leaſt a part of them, by way of peace-offerings. Now before the erecting of the tabernacle, every one was at liberty to offer theſe ſacrifices wherever he pleaſed; but after the ſanctuary was ſet, Moſes, who knew they had abuſed this liberty in offering their ſacrifices to dæmons inſtead of the true God, obliged them to perform this act of worſhip no where but at the tabernacle, in order to maintain an uniformity in religion, and at the ſame time, to prevent them from falling into thoſe ſuperſtitions to which they were ſo remarkably prone. This law was, however, after their ſettlement in Canaan, diſpenſed with, on account of the great diſtance many of them lived from the tabernacle and temple.

8 And thou shalt say unto them, Whatsoever man there be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers which sojourn among you, that offereth a burnt-offering or sacrifice,

9 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer it unto the Lord; even that man shall be cut off from among his people.

10 ¶ And whatsoever man there be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, that eateth any manner of blood; I will even set my face against that soul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people.

11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul.

12 Therefore I said unto the children of Israel, No soul of you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger that sojourneth among you eat blood.

13 And whatsoever man there be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, which hunteth or catcheth any beast or fowl that may be eaten; he shall even pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust.

14 For it is the life of all flesh: the blood of it is for the life thereof: therefore I said unto the children of Israel, Ye shall eat the blood of no manner of flesh: for the life of all flesh is the blood thereof; whosoever eateth it shall be cut off.

15 And every soul that eateth that which died of itself, or that which was torn with beasts, whether it be one of your own country, or a stranger, he shall both wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even: then shall he be clean.

16 But if he wash them not, nor bathe his flesh; then he shall bear his iniquity.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Unlawful marriages. 19 Unlawful lusts.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, I am the Lord your God.

3 After the doings of the land of Egypt, wherein ye dwelt shall ye not do: and after the doings of the land of Canaan whither I bring you, shall ye not do: neither shall ye walk in their ordinances.

4 Ye shall do my judgments, and keep mine ordinances to walk therein: I am the Lord your God.

5 Ye shall therefore keep my statutes, and my judgments: which if a man do, he shall live in them: I am the Lord.

6 None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the Lord.

7 The nakedness of thy father, or the nakedness of thy mother, shalt thou not uncover: she is thy mother, thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

8 The nakedness of thy father's wife shalt thou not uncover; it is thy father's nakedness.

9 The nakedness of thy sister, the daughter of thy father, or daughter of thy mother, whether she be born at home, or born abroad, even their nakedness thou shalt not uncover.

10 The nakedness of thy son's daughter, or of thy daughter's daughter, even their nakedness thou shalt not uncover: for theirs is thine own nakedness.

11 The nakedness of thy father's wife's daughter, begotten of thy father, (she is thy sister) thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

12 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's sister: she is thy father's near kinswoman.

13 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mother's sister: for she is thy mother's near kinswoman.

14 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's brother, thou shalt not approach to his wife, she is thine aunt.

15 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy daughter-in-law: she is thy son's wife; thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

16 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy brother's wife: it is thy brother's nakedness.

17 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter, neither shalt thou take her son's daughter, or her daughter's daughter, to uncover her nakedness: for they are her near kinswomen: it is wickedness.

18 Neither shalt thou take a wife to her sister, to vex her, to uncover her nakedness, beside the other, in her life-time.

19 ¶ Also thou shalt not approach unto a woman to uncover her nakedness as long as she is put apart for her uncleanness.

20 Moreover, thou shalt not lie carnally with thy neighbour's wife, to defile thyself with her.

21 And thou shalt not let any of thy seed pass through the fire to Molech, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord.

22 Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind: it is an abomination.

23 Neither shalt thou lie with any beast to defile thyself therewith: neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie down thereto: it is confusion.

24 Defile not ye yourselves in any of these things: for in all these the nations are defiled which I cast out before you.

25 And the land is defiled: therefore I do visit the iniquity thereof upon it, and the land itself vomiteth

11 For it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul.) That this prohibition of blood-eating respected the atonement, is most manifest from the charge here given by the Lord about offering the peace-offerings (whereof Israel did eat with him) at his altar, in opposition to their sacrificing their meats to devils. And he forbids them, or strangers sojourning among them, to eat any manner of blood, under the pain of setting his face against the soul that eateth it, to cut him off, and he gives this reason for it, For the soul of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls; because, the blood, it shall attone for the soul. Thus, he plainly tells them, that this precept, on which he laid so much, served to manifest their dependence on him the Sovereign God, giving them the blood upon the altar to attone for their souls; that, by observing it, they might shew their humble submission to his sovereignty in the substitution, and testify their reverence and awful regard to the atonement by blood. But the true atonement was not by the blood of beasts, which could not take away any real sin, and the respect due to it, was on the account of the true atonement, prefigured by it, which is only in the blood of Christ shed for the remission of sins; and in this alone, God's words concerning the atonement by blood are verified. Therefore, when the Gentiles are admitted to share in the salvation that is by this blood, without the typical sacrifices of the law, they are commanded to abstain from blood: for still the true reason of the prohibition remains. The everlasting atonement, whereby the Gentiles, as well as Jews, are eternally saved, is by the blood that God hath given us upon the true altar. And so this prohibition of blood-eating was always and still is of the greatest and highest importance.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

9 The nakedness of thy sister, &c.) It is for the interest of society not to allow families to marry within themselves, but to diffuse the obligations of social love, by joining in alliance with such as were not related to them before. In the beginning, when God had created only one man and one woman, such marriages were necessary; but now there is great reason why they should be prohibited.

out her inhabitants.

26 Ye ſhall therefore keep my ſtatutes and my judgments, and ſhall not commit any of theſe abominations; neither any of your own nation, nor any ſtranger that ſojourneth among you:

27 (For all theſe abominations have the men of the land done which were before you, and the land is defiled.)

28 That the land ſpue not you out alſo, when ye defile it, as it ſpued out the nations that were before you.

29 For whoſoever ſhall commit any of theſe abominations, even the ſouls that commit them ſhall be cut off from among the people.

30 Therefore ſhall ye keep mine ordinance, that ye commit not any one of theſe abominable cuſtoms, which were committed before you, and that ye defile not yourſelves therein: I am the Lord your God.

CHAP. XIX.

A repetition of ſundry laws.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Ye ſhall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy.

3 Ye ſhall fear every man his mother, and his father, and keep my ſabbaths: I am the Lord your God.

4 Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourſelves molten gods: I am the Lord your God.

5 And if ye offer a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, unto the Lord, ye ſhall offer it at your own will.

6 It ſhall be eaten the ſame day ye offer it, and on the morrow; and if ought remain until the third day, it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

7 And if it be eaten at all on the third day, It is abominable; it ſhall not be accepted.

8 Therefore every one that eateth it ſhall bear his iniquity, becauſe he hath profaned the hallowed thing of the Lord: and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people.

9 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither ſhalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harveſt.

10 And thou ſhalt not glean thy vineyard, neither ſhalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard: thou ſhalt leave them for the poor and ſtranger: I am the Lord your God.

11 Ye ſhall not ſteal, neither deal falſly, neither lie one to another.

12 And ye ſhall not ſwear by my name falſly, neither ſhalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord.

13 Thou ſhalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all night until the morning.

14 Thou ſhalt not curſe the deaf, nor put a ſtumbling-block before the blind, but ſhalt fear thy God: I am the Lord.

15 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgment: thou ſhalt not reſpect the perſon of the poor, nor honour the perſon of the mighty: but in righteouſneſs ſhalt thou judge thy neighbour.

16 Thou ſhalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people: neither ſhalt thou ſtand againſt the blood of thy neighbour: I am the Lord.

17 Thou ſhalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou ſhalt in any wiſe rebuke thy neighbour, and not ſuffer ſin upon him.

18 Thou ſhalt not avenge nor bear any grudge againſt the children of thy people, but thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thyſelf: I am the Lord.

19 Ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes. Thou ſhalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverſe kind: thou ſhalt not ſow thy field with mingled ſeed: neither ſhall a garment mingled of linen and woollen come upon thee.

20 And whoſoever lieth carnally with a bond-maid betrothed to an huſband, and not at all redeemed, nor freedom given her; ſhe ſhall be ſcourged; they ſhall not be put to death, becauſe ſhe was not free.

21 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, even a ram for a treſpaſs-offering.

22 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ram of the treſpaſs-offering before the Lord, for his ſin which he hath done: and the ſin which he hath done ſhall be forgiven him.

23 And when ye ſhall come into the land, and have planted all manner of trees for food: then ye ſhall count the fruit thereof as uncircumciſed: three years ſhall it be as uncircumciſed unto you: it ſhall not be eaten of.

24 But in the fourth year all the fruit thereof ſhall be holy to praiſe the Lord withal.

25 And in the fifth year ſhall ye eat of the fruit thereof, that it may yield unto you the increaſe thereof: I am the Lord your God.

26 Ye ſhall not eat any thing with the blood; neither ſhall ye uſe inchantment, nor obſerve times.

27 Ye ſhall not round the corners of your heads; neither ſhalt thou mar the corners of thy beard.

28 Ye ſhall not make any cuttings in your fleſh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you: I am the Lord.

29 Do not proſtitute thy daughter to cauſe her to be a whore; leſt the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedneſs.

30 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the Lord.

31 Regard not them that have familiar ſpirits, neither ſeek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God.

32 Thou ſhalt riſe up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the Lord.

33 And if a ſtranger ſojourn with thee in your land, ye ſhall not vex him.

34 But the ſtranger that dwelleth with you, ſhall be unto you as one born amongſt you, and thou

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

9 Thou ſhalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field.) From this, and many other laws, we may be convinced, that the genius of the Jewiſh laws was mercy and charity, though both were ſo badly practiſed by its narrow-minded profeſſors.

13 The wages of him that is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all night, &c.) That is, thou ſhalt not detain his wages when he aſks it of thee. This is another inſtance of the merciful proviſion made for the poor by the law of Moſes. The day labourer is commonly ſo poor, that his wages are often the ſole means of his ſubſiſtence: and therefore the detaining of them is ſuch an act of injuſtice and inhumanity, that no good-natured man can be guilty of it; far leſs one who has a ſincere regard to God, who loves mercy, and is an irreconcilable enemy to all cruelty and oppreſſion.

23 And when ye ſhall come into the land, &c.) Several reaſons are given for this law; but the moſt natural is this, that the fruit of the firſt two or three years growth being but ſcanty, wateriſh, and unconcocted, was not ſo fit to be offered to God, to whom the beſt of every thing ought to be preſented. And men were alſo prohibited to eat thereof, leſt they ſhould ſeem to have applied to their own uſe the firſt-fruits which belonged to God; or leſt they ſhould have ſeemed prophane, by uſing the fruit of a tree, which was not firſt conſecrated to God by this act of religion.

ſhalt love him as thyſelf; for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

35 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgment, in mete-yard, in weight, or in meaſure.

36 Juſt balances, juſt weights, a juſt ephah, and a juſt hin ſhall ye have: I am the Lord your God which brought you out of the land of Egypt.

37 Therefore ſhall ye obſerve all my ſtatutes and all my judgments, and do them: I am the Lord.

CHAP. XX.

1 Of giving ſeed to Molech. 6 Of wizards. 9 Of curſing parents, &c.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Again thou ſhalt ſay to the children of Iſrael, Whoſoever he be of the children of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn in Iſrael, that giveth any of his ſeed unto Molech; he ſhall ſurely be put to death: the people of the land ſhall ſtone him with ſtones.

3 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will cut him off from among his people; becauſe he hath given of his ſeed unto Molech, to defile my ſanctuary, and to prophane my holy Name.

4 And if the people of the land do anyways hide their eyes from the man, when he giveth of his ſeed unto Molech, and kill him not:

5 Then I will ſet my face againſt that man, and againſt his family, and will cut him off, and all that go a whoring after him to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people.

6 ¶ And the ſoul that turneth after ſuch as have familiar ſpirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even ſet my face againſt that ſoul, and will cut him off from among his people.

7 Sanctify yourſelves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the Lord your God.

8 And ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes, and do them: I am the Lord which ſanctify you.

9 ¶ For every one that curſeth his father or his mother, ſhall be ſurely put to death: he hath curſed his father or his mother; his blood ſhall be upon him.

10 And the man that committeth adultery with another man's wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbour's wife, the adulterer and the adultereſs ſhall ſurely be put to death.

11 And the man that lieth with his father's wife, hath uncovered his father's nakedneſs: both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death: their blood ſhall be upon them.

12 And if a man lie with his daughter-in-law, both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death: they have wrought confuſion: their blood ſhall be upon them.

13 If a man alſo lie with mankind, as he lieth with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination: they ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them.

14 And if a man take a wife and her mother, it is wickedneſs they ſhall be burnt with fire, both he and they; that there be no wickedneſs among you.

15 And if a man lie with a beaſt, he ſhall ſurely be put to death: and ye ſhall ſlay the beaſt.

16 And if a woman approach unto any beaſt, and lie down thereto, thou ſhalt kill the woman and the beaſt: they ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them.

17 And if a man ſhall take his ſiſter, his father's daughter, or his mother's daughter, and ſee her nakedneſs, and ſhe ſee his nakedneſs; it is a wicked thing; and they ſhall be cut off in the ſight of their people: he hath uncovered his ſiſter's nakedneſs he ſhall bear his iniquity.

18 And if a man ſhall lie with a woman having her ſickneſs, and ſhall uncover her nakedneſs; he hath diſcovered her fountain, and ſhe hath uncovered the fountain of her blood: and both of them ſhall be cut off from among their people.

19 And thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy mother's ſiſter, nor of thy father's ſiſter: for he uncovereth his near kin; they ſhall bear their iniquity.

20 And if a man ſhall lie with his uncle's wife, he hath uncovered his uncle's nakedneſs; they ſhall bear their ſin, they ſhall die childleſs.

21 And if a man ſhall take his brother's wife, it is an unclean thing: he hath uncovered his brother's nakedneſs, they ſhall be childleſs.

22 Ye ſhall therefore keep all my ſtatutes, and all my judgments, and do them; that the land whither I bring you to dwell therein, ſpew you not out.

23 And ye ſhall not walk in the manners of the nations which I caſt out before you: for they committed all theſe things and therefore I abhorred them.

24 But I have ſaid unto you, Ye ſhall inherit their land, and I will give it unto you to poſſeſs it, a land that floweth with milk and honey; I am the Lord your God, which have ſeparated you from other people.

25 Ye ſhall therefore put difference between clean beaſts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean; and ye ſhall not make your ſouls abominable by beaſt or by fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground which I have ſeparated from you as unclean.

26 And ye ſhall be holy unto me: for I the Lord am holy, and have ſevered you from other people, that ye ſhould be mine.

27 A man alſo or a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit, or that is a wizard, ſhall ſurely be put to death; they ſhall ſtone them with ſtones: their blood ſhall be upon them.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the prieſt's mourning, 7 marriages, 16 and blemiſhes.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Speak unto the prieſts, the ſons of Aaron, and ſay unto them, There ſhall none be defiled for the dead among his people:

2 But for his kin, that is near unto him, that is, for his mother, and for his father, and for his ſon, and for his daughter, and for his brother.

3 And for his ſiſter a virgin that is nigh unto him,

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,) The principal laws in the two foregoing chapters are here repeated, and enforced with penalties.

27 A man alſo or a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit, &c.) In the foregoing chapter all commerce with ſuch was forbidden, under pain of death; and here the perſons themſelves, who pretended to have a ſpirit of divination, or to deal in ſorcery or conjuration, are condemned to be ſtoned to death.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

1 There ſhall none be defiled for the dead.) The laws contained in this chapter relate to the prieſts, and were intended to denote the dignity, and preſerve the honour of the holy function. And firſt, they were not to defile themſelves by touching a dead body, preparing it for burial, or being preſent at a funeral, or coming into the tent where a dead body was; becauſe by theſe things, they would have been legally polluted for no leſs than ſeven days, and, conſequently, unfit for performing the duties of their ſtation.

which hath had no huſband: for her may he be defiled.

4 But he ſhall not defile himſelf, being a chief man among his people, to profane himſelf.

5 They ſhall not make baldneſs upon their head, neither ſhall they ſhave off the corner of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their fleſh.

6 They ſhall be holy unto their God, and not profane the name of their God: for the offerings of the Lord made by fire, and the bread of their God they do offer; therefore they ſhall be holy.

7 They ſhall not take a wife that is a whore, or profane: neither ſhall they take a woman put away from her huſband: for he is holy unto his God.

8 Thou ſhalt ſanctify him therefore, for he offereth the bread of thy God: he ſhall be holy unto thee: for I the Lord which ſanctify you am holy,

9 ¶ And the daughter of any prieſt, if ſhe profane herſelf by playing the whore, ſhe profaneth her father: ſhe ſhall be burnt with fire.

10 And he that is the high-prieſt among his brethren, upon whoſe head the anointing oil was poured, and that is conſecrated to put on the garments, ſhall not uncover his head nor rent his clothes;

11 Neither ſhall he go in to any dead body, nor defile himſelf for his father, or for his mother;

12 Neither ſhall he go out of the ſanctuary, nor profane the ſanctuary of his God: for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am the Lord.

13 And he ſhall take a wife in her virginity.

14 A widow, or a divorced woman, or profane, or an harlot, theſe ſhall he not take: but he ſhall take a virgin of his own people to wife.

15 Neither ſhall he profane his ſeed among his people: for I the Lord do ſanctify him.

16 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Speak unto Aaron, ſaying, Whoſoever he be of thy ſeed in their generations that hath any blemiſh, let him not approach to offer the bread of his God.

18 For whatſoever man he be that hath a blemiſh, he ſhall not approach: a blind man, or a lame, or he that hath a flat noſe, or any thing ſuperfluous.

19 Or a man that is broken-footed, or broken-handed.

20 Or crook-backt, or a dwarf, or that hath a blemiſh in his eye, or be ſcurvy, or ſcabbed, or hath his ſtones broken;

21 No man that hath a blemiſh, of the ſeed of Aaron the prieſt, ſhall come nigh to offer the offerings of the Lord made by fire: he hath a blemiſh; he ſhall not come nigh to offer the bread of his God.

22 He ſhall eat the bread of his God, both of the moſt holy, and of the holy.

23 Only he ſhall not go in unto the vail, nor come nigh unto the altar, becauſe he hath a blemiſh: that he profane not my ſanctuaries: for I the Lord do ſanctify them.

24 And Moſes told it unto Aaron, and to his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The prieſts when to abſtain from the holy things. 26 The age of the ſacrifice.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, that they ſeparate themſelves from the holy things of the children of Iſrael, and that they profane not my holy name, in thoſe things which they hallow unto me: I am the Lord.

3 Say unto them, Whoſoever he be of all your ſeed among your generations, that goeth unto the holy things, which the children of Iſrael hallow unto the Lord, having his uncleanneſs upon him, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from my preſence: I am the Lord.

4 What man ſoever of the ſeed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running iſſue; he ſhall not eat of the holy things, until he be clean. And whoſo toucheth any thing that is unclean by the dead, or a man whoſe ſeed goeth from him;

5 Or whoſoever toucheth any creeping thing, whereby he may be made unclean, or a man of whom he may take uncleanneſs, whatſoever uncleanneſs he hath:

6 The ſoul which hath touched any ſuch ſhall be unclean until even, and ſhall not eat of the holy things, unleſs he waſh his fleſh with water.

7 And when the ſun is down, he ſhall be clean, and ſhall afterward eat of the holy things; becauſe it is his food.

8 That which dieth of itſelf, or is torn with beaſts, he ſhall not eat to defile himſelf therewith: I am the Lord.

9 They ſhall therefore keep mine ordinance, leſt they bear ſin for it, and die therefore, if they profane it: I the Lord do ſanctify them.

10 There ſhall no ſtranger eat of the holy thing: a ſojourner of the prieſt, or an hired ſervant ſhall not eat of the holy thing.

11 But if the prieſt buy any ſoul with his money, he ſhall eat of it, and he that is born in his houſe: they ſhall eat of his meat.

12 If the prieſts daughter alſo be married unto a ſtranger, ſhe may not eat of an offering of the holy things.

13 But if the prieſts daughter be a widow, or divorced, and have no child, and is returned unto her father's houſe, as in her youth, ſhe ſhall eat of her father's meat; but there ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof.

14 ¶ And if a man eat of the holy thing unwittingly, then he ſhall put the fifth part thereof unto it, and ſhall give it unto the prieſt with the holy thing.

15 And they ſhall not profane the holy things of the children of Iſrael which they offer unto the Lord;

16 Or ſuffer them to bear the iniquity of treſpaſs,

10 Nor rent his clothes.) This prohibition muſt doubtleſs be reſtrained to the high-prieſts garments, and the times of mourning, ſince we find in ſcripture, that on other occaſions they were wont ſometimes to rend their clothes, as when blaſphemy, either real or pretended, was uttered in their preſence.

12 Neither ſhall he go out of the ſanctuary.) He was to ſhew ſo high a regard to the ſervice of God, that he was not to ſtir from the ſanctuary, nor deſiſt from his miniſtration, even though he ſhould hear of the death of his neareſt and dearеſt relations: the reaſon of this ſeems to be, becauſe there was no other to officiate in his ſtead, whereas the lower prieſts might delegate others to ſerve in their room.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.) In the foregoing chapter are ſeveral rules relating to the perſonal qualifications of prieſts; in this are ſeveral cautions relating to the privileges which they and their families had of eating their ſhare of the ſacrifices, which cautions were intended to remind them of that reverence and moral purity, neceſſary in order to their performing the worſhip of God in an acceptable manner.

14 He ſhall give it unto the prieſts with the holy thing.) He could not give the individual thing which he had eaten; but the meaning is, that he ſhould be obliged to repay the full worth of it, and a fifth part more. This law relates to ſuch of the laity as, through ignorance or inadverteuce, had applied to their own uſe the firſt-fruits, or other things that were conſecrated to God; that is, to his prieſts.

when

when they eat their holy things; for I the Lord do sanctify them.

17 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying.

18 Speak unto Aaron and to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel, and say unto them, Whatsoever he be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers in Israel, that will offer his oblation for all his vows, and for all his free-will offerings, which they will offer unto the Lord for a burnt-offering:

19 Ye shall offer at your own will a male without blemish of the beeves, of the sheep, or of the goats.

20 But whatsoever hath a blemish, that shall ye not offer; for it shall not be acceptable for you.

21 And whosoever offereth a sacrifice of peace-offerings unto the Lord, to accomplish his vow, or a free-will-offering in beeves, or sheep, it shall be perfect, to be accepted; there shall be no blemish therein.

22 Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a wen, or scurvy, or scabbed, ye shall not offer these unto the Lord, nor make an offering by fire of them upon the altar unto the Lord.

23 Either a bullock or a lamb that hath any thing superfluous or lacking in his parts, that mayest thou offer for a free-will-offering; but for a vow it shall not be accepted.

24 Ye shall not offer unto the Lord that which is bruised, or crushed, or broken, or cut, neither shall ye make any offering thereof in your land.

25 Neither from a stranger's hand shall ye offer the bread of your God of any of these; because their corruption is in them, and blemishes be in them: they shall not be accepted for you.

26 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

27 When a bullock, or a sheep, or a goat is brought forth, then it shall be seven days under the dam; and from the eighth day and thenceforth it shall be accepted for an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

28 And whether it be cow or ewe, ye shall not kill it and her young both in one day.

29 And when ye will offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving unto the Lord, offer it at your own will.

30 On the same day it shall be eaten up, ye shall leave none of it until the morrow: I am the Lord.

31 Therefore shall ye keep my commandments, and do them: I am the Lord.

32 Neither shall ye profane my holy name: but I will be hallowed among the children of Israel: I am the Lord which hallow you.

33 That brought you out of the Land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Of sundry feasts. 27 The day of atonement.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, Concerning the feasts of the Lord, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations, even these are my feasts.

3 Six days shall work be done: but the seventh day is the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation; ye shall do no work therein; it is the sabbath of the Lord in all your dwellings.

4 These are the feasts of the Lord, even holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons.

5 In the fourteenth day of the first month at even is the Lord's passover.

6 And on the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of unleavened bread unto the Lord: seven days ye must eat unleavened bread.

7 In the first day ye shall have an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work therein.

8 But ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord seven days: in the seventh day is an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work therein.

9 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, when ye be come into the land which I give unto you, and shall reap the harvest thereof, then ye shall bring a sheaf of the first-fruits of your harvest unto the priest;

11 And he shall wave the sheaf before the Lord, to be accepted for you; on the morrow after the sabbath the priest shall wave it.

12 And ye shall offer that day, when ye wave the sheaf, an he-lamb without blemish of the first year, for a burnt-offering unto the Lord.

13 And the meat-offering thereof shall be two tenth-deals of fine flour mingled with oil, an offering made by fire unto the Lord, for a sweet-savour; and the drink-offering thereof shall be of wine, the fourth part of an hin.

14 And ye shall eat neither bread nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the self-same day that ye have brought an offering unto your God; it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

15 And ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the sabbath, from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave-offering; seven sabbaths shall be complete:

16 Even unto the morrow after the seventh sabbath, shall ye number fifty days; and ye shall offer a new meat-offering unto the Lord.

17 Ye shall bring out of your habitations two wave loaves, of two tenth-deals, they shall be of fine flour, they shall be baken with leaven; they are the first-fruits unto the Lord.

18 And ye shall offer with the bread seven lambs without blemish, of the first year, and one young bullock, and two rams: they shall be for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, with their meat-offering and their drink-offerings, even an offering made by fire of a sweet savour unto the Lord.

19 Then ye shall sacrifice one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, and two lambs of the first year for a sacrifice of peace-offerings.

20 And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the first-fruits for a wave-offering before the Lord, with the two lambs: they shall be holy to the Lord for the priest.

21 And ye shall proclaim on the self-same day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you, ye shall do

Commentary on Chap. XXIII.

5 At even.) All the Jewish festivals were kept from evening to evening; for with the evening their day began.

10 The first-fruits of your harvest.) These first-fruits were reaped by men delegated for the purpose, and presented, in the name of the whole community, to the priest; who waved them toward the four quarters of the world, in token of their being consecrated to the Sovereign of the universe.

11 On the morrow after the sabbath.) That is, on the second day of unleavened bread; for we are not here to understand the weekly sabbath, but the first day of unleavened bread, here called sabbath or rest, because it was a festival whereon they were to rest from all servile labour, as they always did on the weekly sabbaths.

14 And ye shall eat neither bread, &c,) That is, ye shall eat nothing of this year's growth till you have brought an offering to your God. And surely this must be allowed a very reasonable testimony of their respect to God, to pay the tribute of gratitude to the donor, before they made use of his gifts.

no ſervile work therein. It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in all your dwellings, throughout your generations.

22 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not make clean riddance of the corners of thy field when thou reapeſt, neither ſhalt thou gather any gleaning of thy harveſt: thou ſhalt leave them unto poor, and to the ſtranger; I am the Lord your God.

23 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

24 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, In the ſeventh month, in the firſt day of the month, ſhall ye have a ſabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, an holy convocation.

25 Ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein; but ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

26 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

27 Alſo on the tenth day of this ſeventh month, there ſhall be a day of atonement: it ſhall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

28 And ye ſhall do no work in that ſame day: for it is a day of atonement, to make an atonement for you before the Lord your God.

29 For whatſoever ſoul it be that ſhall not be afflicted in that ſame day, he ſhall be cut off from among his people.

30 And whatſoever ſoul it be that doeth any work in that ſame day, the ſame ſoul will I deſtroy from among his people.

31 Ye ſhall do no manner of work: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

32 It ſhall be unto you a ſabbath of reſt, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls: in the ninth day of the month at even, from even unto even ſhall ye celebrate your ſabbath.

33 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

34 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The fifteenth day of this ſeventh month ſhall be the feaſt of tabernacles for ſeven days unto the Lord.

35 On the firſt day ſhall be an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

36 Seven days ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord: on the eighth day ſhall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord: it is a ſolemn aſſembly: and ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

37 Theſe are the feaſts of the Lord, which ye ſhall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering, a ſacrifice and drink-offerings every thing upon his day:

38 Beſide the ſabbaths of the Lord, and beſide your gifts, and beſide all your vows, and beſide all your free-will-offerings which ye give unto the Lord.

39 Alſo in the fifteenth day of the ſeventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye ſhall keep a feaſt unto the Lord ſeven days: on the firſt day ſhall be a ſabbath, and on the eighth day ſhall be a ſabbath.

40 And ye ſhall take you on the firſt day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye ſhall rejoice before the Lord your God ſeven days.

41 And ye ſhall keep it a feaſt unto the Lord ſeven days in the year; it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations: ye ſhall celebrate it in the ſeventh month.

42 Ye ſhall dwell in booths ſeven days; all that are Iſraelites born ſhall dwell in booths:

43 That your generations may know that I made the children of Iſrael to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

44 And Moſes declared unto the children of Iſrael the feaſts of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIV.

10 Shelomith's ſon blaſphemeth. 13 The law of blaſphemy, 17 of murder, 18 of damage. 23 The blaſphemer is ſtoned.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they bring unto thee pure oil-olive beaten for the light, to cauſe the lamps to burn continually.

3 Without the vail of the teſtimony, in the tabernacle of the congregation, ſhall Aaron order it from the evening unto the morning before the Lord continually: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations.

4 He ſhall order the lamps upon the pure candleſtick before the Lord continually.

5 And thou ſhalt take fine flour, and bake twelve cakes thereof: two tenth-deals ſhall be in one cake.

6 And thou ſhalt ſet them in two rows, ſix on a row, upon the pure table, before the Lord.

7 And thou ſhalt put pure frankincenſe upon each row, that it may be on the bread for a memorial, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

8 Every ſabbath he ſhall ſet it in order before the Lord continually, being taken from the children of Iſrael by an everlaſting covenant.

9 And it ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons, and they ſhall eat it in the holy place; for it is moſt holy unto him, of the offerings of the Lord made by fire, by a perpetual ſtatute.

10 ¶ And the ſon of an Iſraelitiſh woman, whoſe father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Iſrael: and this ſon of the Iſraelitiſh woman, and a man of Iſrael ſtrove together in the camp:

11 And the Iſraelitiſh woman's ſon blaſphemed the name of the Lord, and curſed; and they brought him unto Moſes (and his mother's name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan)

12 And they put him in ward, that the mind of the Lord might be ſhewed them.

13 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

---

34 The fifteenth day of the ſeventh month ſhall be the feaſt of tabernacles.) This feſtival was inſtituted in thankful remembrance of their having dwelt in tents or booths forty years ſecurely, under the Divine Protection. It is alſo thought to have been inſtituted as a feaſt of thankſgiving for the concluſion of their harveſt and vintage, which generally ended in Paleſtine about this time, which anſwers to the beginning of our October. Moſes has given us a fuller deſcription of this feaſt than of any other, probably becauſe it was not to be celebrated till after they were ſettled in the Promiſed Land; but as to the paticular trees, of which the booths, mentioned ver. 40, were made, and the manner of their ſtructure, they are not ſo eaſily underſtood; nor are they agreed on by the Jews themſelves. Indeed, all that is ſuppoſed to be meant was, that they ſhould chuſe ſuch trees as yielded the moſt laſting and agreeable verdure and fragrancy. The firſt day of this feſtival was uſhered in by a general proceſſion, in which the men carried in their hands branches of trees, waving them about to the four winds, and ſinging ſome pſalms or hymns proper for the ſolemnity, and crying Hoſannah!

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

10 The ſon of an Iſraelitiſh woman, &c.) This perſon was probably one of thoſe who came with the Iſraelites out of Egypt. The Jews tell us, that this controverſy was occaſioned by the Egyptian's attempting to ſet up his tent among the children of Dan, in right of his mother who was of that tribe: but being oppoſed by an Iſraelite, he came before the judges, who giving ſentence againſt him, he, out of rage and malice, uttered blaſphemy againſt God. Perhaps he renounced his allegiance to Jehovah, as God of the Jews, and curſed thoſe judges that condemned him.

14 Bring forth him that hath curſed without the camp; and let all that heard him lay their hands upon his head, and let all the congregation ſtone him.

15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Whoſoever curſeth his God ſhall bear his ſin.

16 And he that blaſphemeth the name of the Lord, he ſhall ſurely be put to death, and all the congregation ſhall certainly ſtone him; as well the ſtranger as he that is born in the land, when he blaſphemeth the name of the Lord, ſhall be put to death.

17 ¶ And he that killeth any man ſhall ſurely be put to death.

18 And he that killeth a beaſt, ſhall make it good; beaſt for beaſt.

19 And if a man cauſe a blemiſh in his neighbour; as he hath done, ſo it ſhall be done unto him;

20 Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: as he hath cauſed a blemiſh in a man, ſo ſhall it be done to him again.

21 And he that killeth a beaſt, he ſhall reſtore it: and he that killeth a man, he ſhall be put to death.

22 Ye ſhall have one manner of law, as well for the ſtranger, as for one of your own country: for I am the Lord your God.

23 ¶ And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould bring forth him that had curſed out of the camp, and ſtone him with ſtones. And the children of Iſrael did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XXV.

8 The Jubilee. 14 Of oppreſſion. 35 Of compaſſion. 47 Of redeeming ſervants.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in mount Sinai, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land which I give you, then ſhall the land keep a ſabbath unto the Lord.

3 Six years thou ſhalt ſow thy field, and ſix years thou ſhalt prune thy vineyard, and gather in the fruit thereof.

4 But in the ſeventh year ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto the land, a ſabbath for the Lord: thou ſhalt neither ſow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard.

5 That which groweth of its own accord of thy harveſt, thou ſhalt not reap, neither gather the grapes of thy vine undreſſed: for it is a year of reſt unto the land.

6 And the ſabbath of the land ſhall be meat for you, for thee, and for thy ſervant, and for thy maid, and for thy hired ſervant, and for thy ſtranger that ſojourneth with thee,

7 And for thy cattle, and for the beaſts that are in thy land, ſhall all the increaſe thereof be meat.

8 ¶ And thou ſhalt number ſeven ſabbaths of years unto thee, ſeven times ſeven years; and the ſpace of the ſeven ſabbaths of years ſhall be unto thee forty and nine years.

9 Then ſhalt thou cauſe the trumpet of the jubilee to ſound, on the tenth day of the ſeventh month, in the day of atonement ſhall ye make the trumpet ſound throughout all your land.

10 And ye ſhall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it ſhall be a jubilee unto you; and ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion, and ye ſhall return every man unto his family.

11 A jubilee ſhall that fiftieth year be unto you: ye ſhall not ſow, neither reap that which groweth of itſelf in it, nor gather the grapes in it of thy vine undreſſed.

12 For it is the jubilee, it ſhall be holy unto you; ye ſhall eat the increaſe thereof out of the field.

13 In the year of this jubilee ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion.

14 ¶ And if thou ſell ought unto thy neighbour, or buyeſt ought of thy neighbour's hand, ye ſhall not oppreſs one another;

15 According to the number of the years after the jubilee thou ſhalt buy of thy neighbour, and according unto the number of years of the fruits he ſhall ſell unto thee;

16 According to the multitude of years thou ſhalt increaſe the price thereof, and according to the fewneſs of years thou ſhalt diminiſh the price of it; for according to the number of the years of the fruits doth he ſell unto thee.

17 Ye ſhall not therefore oppreſs one another; but thou ſhalt fear thy God; for I am the Lord your God.

18 Wherefore ye ſhall do my ſtatutes, and keep my judgments, and do them; and ye ſhall dwell in the land in ſafety.

19 And the land ſhall yield her fruit, and ye ſhall eat your fill, and dwell therein in ſafety.

20 And if ye ſhall ſay, What ſhall we eat the ſeventh year; behold, we ſhall not ſow nor gather in our increaſe:

21 Then I will command my bleſſing upon you in the ſixth year, and it ſhall bring forth fruit for three years.

22 And ye ſhall ſow the eighth year, and eat yet of old fruit until the ninth year; until her fruits come in ye ſhall eat of the old ſtore.

23 The land ſhall not be ſold for ever; for the land is mine; for ye are ſtrangers and ſojourners with me.

24 And in all the land of your poſſeſſion ye ſhall grant a redemption for the land.

25 If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath ſold away ſome of his poſſeſſion, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then ſhall he redeem that which his brother ſold.

14 Let all the congregation ſtone him.) Every one was to throw a ſtone at the blaſphemer, to teſtify that he felt himſelf wounded with the blow which that impious perſon levelled at the Deity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

8 Thou ſhalt number ſeven ſabbaths, &c.) Beſides a ſabbatical year, God now appoints another, which was to be celebrated every fiftieth year; and had this advantage over the ſeventh, that it releaſed all ſlaves, annihilated all debts, and reſtored to every man all his lands, houſes, wife, children, and poſſeſſions, however alienated; and every Hebrew ſervant, or ſlave, to his own tribe and family, liberty and property, how and on what account ſoever he had been deprived of them, during theſe fifty years. It muſt however be obſerved, that this privilege extended only to the original Iſraelites, or ſuch as had been incorporated into their religion and commonwealth by circumciſion; theſe, indeed might claim the benefit of it, though they had been ſold for ſlaves for any crimes, even by the ſentence of the grand ſanhedrim; but as for the Gentiles, they were wholly excluded from it This law made a wiſe proviſion for fixing the Jews in the land of Canaan, and keeping them united, ſince all their poſſeſſions were ſo entailed, that the right heir never could be excluded from his eſtate; it ſerved to preſerve a perfect diſtinction of families and tribes, for which end their genealogies were of neceſſity to be carefully kept, that they might be able to prove their right to the inheritance of their anceſtors; by which means the tribe and family of the Meſſiah was fully aſcertained when he was born, without which he could not have been proved of the tribe of Judah, and lineage of David, as was told of him by the Jewiſh prophets.

26 And if the man have none to redeem it, and himſelf be able to redeem it;

27 Then let him count the years of the ſale thereof, and reſtore the overplus unto the man to whom he ſold it; that he may return unto his poſſeſſion.

28 But if he be not able to reſtore it to him, then that which is ſold ſhall remain in the hand of him that hath bought it until the year of jubilee; and in the jubilee it ſhall go out, and he ſhall return unto his poſſeſſion.

29 And if a man ſell a dwelling houſe in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is ſold; within a full year may he redeem it;

30 And if it be not redeemed within the ſpace of a full year; then the houſe that is in the walled city, ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever to him that bought it, throughout his generations: it ſhall not go out in the jubilee.

31 But the houſes of the villages which have no walls round about them, ſhall be counted as the fields of the country: they may be redeemed, and they ſhall go out in the jubilee.

32 Notwithſtanding, the cities of the Levites, and the houſes of the cities of their poſſeſſion, may the Levites redeem at any time.

33 And if a man purchaſe of the Levites, then the houſe that was ſold, and the city of his poſſeſſion ſhall go out in the year of jubilee: for the houſes of the cities of the Levites are their poſſeſſion among the children of Iſrael.

34 But the field of the ſuburbs of their cities may not be ſold: for it is their perpetual poſſeſſion.

35 ¶ And if thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee; then thou ſhalt relieve him: yea, though he be a ſtranger, or a ſojourner; that he may live with thee.

36 Take thou no uſury of him, or increaſe: but fear thy God; that thy brother may live with thee.

37 Thou ſhalt not give him thy money upon uſury, nor lend him thy victuals for increaſe.

38 I am the Lord your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

39 And if thy brother that dwelleth by thee be waxen poor, and be ſold unto thee; thou ſhalt not compel him to ſerve as a bond-ſervant:

40 But as an hired ſervant, and as a ſojourner, he ſhall be with thee; and ſhall ſerve thee unto the year of jubilee:

41 And then ſhall he depart from thee, both he and his children with him, and ſhall return unto his own family, and unto the poſſeſſion of his fathers ſhall he return.

42 For they are my ſervants, which I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: they ſhall not be ſold as bond-men.

43 Thou ſhalt not rule over him with rigour; but ſhalt fear thy God.

44 Both thy bond-men, and thy bond-maids, which thou ſhalt have, ſhall be of the heathen that are round about you; of them ſhall ye buy bond-men and bond-maids.

45 Moreover, of the children of the ſtrangers that do ſojourn among you, of them ſhall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begat in your land: and they ſhall be your poſſeſſion.

46 And ye ſhall take them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them for a poſſeſſion; they ſhall be your bond-men for ever: but over your brethren the children of Iſrael, ye ſhall not rule one over another with rigour.

47 ¶ And if a ſojourner or a ſtranger wax rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him wax poor, and ſell himſelf unto the ſtranger or ſojourner by thee, or to the ſtock of the ſtranger's family:

48 After that he is ſold, he may be redeemed again; one of his brethren may redeem him:

49 Either his uncle, or his uncles ſon may redeem him, or any that is nigh of kin unto him, of his family, may redeem him; or if he be able, he may redeem himſelf.

50 And he ſhall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was ſold to him, unto the year of jubilee: and the price of his ſale ſhall be according to the number of the years, according to the time of an hired ſervant ſhall it be with him.

51 If there be yet many years behind; according unto them he ſhall give again the price of his redemption, out of the money that he was bought for.

52 And if there remain but few years unto the year of jubilee, then he ſhall count with him, and according unto his years ſhall he give him again the price of his redemption.

53 And as a yearly hired ſervant ſhall he be with him: and the other ſhall not rule with rigour over him in thy ſight.

54 And if he be not redeemed in theſe years, then he ſhall go out in the year of jubilee, both he and his children with him.

55 For unto me the children of Iſrael are ſervants, they are my ſervants whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Of idolatry. 3 A bleſſing promiſed. 14 A curſe threatened.

YE ſhall make you no idols nor graven image, neither rear you up a ſtanding image, neither ſhall ye ſet up any image of ſtone in your land, to bow down unto it: for I am the Lord your God.

2 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the Lord.

3 ¶ If ye walk in my ſtatutes, and keep my commandments and do them;

4 Then I will give you rain in due ſeaſon, and the land ſhall yield her increaſe, and the trees of the field ſhall yield their fruit:

29 If a man ſell a dwelling-houſe, &c.) Here we ſee that the law made a difference between houſes in cities, and thoſe in the country: the former if not redeemed within a year, were never more to return to their firſt owner, not even at the jubilee; whereas the latter being part of their eſtates of inheritance, were to be ſubject to the ſame law as their eſtates, to which they were an appendage.

42 For they are my ſervants, &c.) The meaneſt Iſraelites, as well as the richeſt, were redeemed from Egyptian bondage, and had this honour to be the peculiar ſervant and worſhipper of the true God: and therefore the dignity of his character, and his relation to God their common maſter, intitled him to good uſage from his brethren, and ought to ſecure him from oppreſſive ſlavery.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

4 I will give you rain in due ſeaſon.) In order to underſtand this paſſage it muſt be obſerved, that in Canaan and Syria it was not common to have any rain, but at two ſtated ſeaſons; in ſpring before harveſt, and at the end of autumn at ſeed-time; which two ſeaſons are by the prophet Jer. v. 24, called the former and the latter rain. If either of theſe failed, the year was quite barren: and hence we ſee why theſe countries were ſo very ſubject to famines, and alſo the value they ought to have ſet on this promiſe of their beneficent Creator to give them rain in due ſeaſon, and conſequently fruitful ſeaſons.

5 And your threshing shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing time: and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely.

6 And I will give peace in the land, and ye shall lie down, and none shall make you afraid: and I will rid evil beasts out of the land, neither shall the sword go through your land.

7 And ye shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you by the sword.

8 And five of you shall chase an hundred, and an hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight: and your enemies shall fall before you by the sword.

9 For I will have respect unto you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, and establish my covenant with you.

10 And ye shall eat old store, and bring forth the old because of the new.

11 And I will set my tabernacle amongst you: and my soul shall not abhor you.

12 And I will walk among you, and will be your God; and ye shall be my people.

13 I am the Lord your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, that ye should not be their bond-men; and I have broken the bands of your yoke, and made you go upright.

14 ¶ But if ye will not hearken unto me, and will not do all these commandments;

15 And if ye shall despise my statutes, or if your souls abhor my judgments, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant:

16 I also will do this unto you, I will even appoint over you terror, consumption, and the burning ague, that shall consume the eyes, and cause sorrow of heart: and ye shall sow your seed in vain; for your enemies shall eat it.

17 And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be slain before your enemies: they that hate you shall reign over you: and ye shall flee when none pursueth you.

18 And if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then I will punish you seven times more for your sins.

19 And I will break the pride of your power: and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass:

20 And your strength shall be spent in vain: for your land shall not yield her increase, neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruits.

21 And if ye walk contrary unto me, and will not hearken unto me; I will bring seven times more plagues upon you according to your sins.

22 I will also send wild beasts among you, which shall rob you of your children, and destroy your cattle, and make you few in number: and your high ways shall be desolate.

23 And if ye will not be reformed by me by these things, but will walk contrary unto me;

24 Then will I also walk contrary unto you, and will punish you yet seven times for your sins.

25 And I will bring a sword upon you, that shall avenge the quarrel of my covenant: and when ye are gathered together within your cities, I will send the pestilence among you: and ye shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.

26 And when I have broken the staff of your bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and they shall deliver you your bread again by weight: and ye shall eat, and not be satisfied.

27 And if ye will not for all this hearken unto me, but walk contrary unto me;

28 Then I will walk contrary unto you also in fury; and I, even I, will chastise you seven times for your sins.

29 And ye shall eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters shall ye eat.

30 And I will destroy your high places, and cut down your images, and cast your carcases upon the carcases of your idols, and my soul shall abhor you.

31 And I will make your cities waste, and bring your sanctuaries unto desolation, and I will not smell the savour of your sweet odours.

32 And I will bring your land into desolation: and your enemies which dwell therein, shall be astonished at it.

33 And I will scatter you among the heathen, and will draw out a sword after you: and your land shall be desolate, and your cities waste.

34 Then shall the land enjoy her sabbaths, as long as it lieth desolate, and ye be in your enemies land; even then shall the land rest, and enjoy her sabbaths.

35 As long as it lieth desolate, it shall rest; because it did not rest in your sabbaths, when ye dwelt upon it.

36 And upon them that are left alive of you, I will send a faintness into their hearts in the lands of their enemies: and the sound of a shaken leaf shall chase them; and they shall flee, as fleeing from a sword; and they shall fall when none pursueth.

37 And they shall fall one upon another, as it were before a sword, when none pursueth: and ye shall have no power to stand before your enemies.

38 And ye shall perish among the heathen, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up.

39 And they that are left of you shall pine away in their iniquity in your enemies lands; and also in the iniquities of their fathers shall they pine away with them.

40 If they shall confess their iniquity, and the iniquity of their fathers, with their trespass which they trespassed against me, and that also they have walked contrary unto me;

41 And that I also have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their enemies; if then their uncircumcised hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the punishment of their iniquity:

42 Then will I remember my covenant with Jacob, and also my covenant with Isaac, and also my covenant with Abraham will I remember; and I will remember the land.

43 The land also shall be left of them, and shall enjoy her sabbaths, while she lieth desolate without them: and they shall accept of the punishment of their

10 And bring forth the old because of the new.) That is, ye shall have so large a stock of the old corn left at harvest, that ye shall be obliged to displace some of the former to make room for the latter.

19 I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass.) This is a proverbial manner of speech, and conveys an awful idea of the anger of the Almighty; the heavens being represented as impenetrable to rain as iron, and the earth as having its vegetative stores locked up beneath a surface of brass, so that a dreadful famine must be the consequence.

29 And ye shall eat the flesh of your sons.) This is certainly the very dregs of calamity, that can be poured on any people. And this sentence was accordingly executed upon that rebellious people; first, in the siege of Samaria, 2 Kings vi. 29; next, in the siege of Jerusalem, before the Babylonish captivity, Lam. iv. 10; and, finally, in the last destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans.

38 And the land of your enemies shall eat you up.) That is, you shall be incorporated into another people, and never more return to the land I promised to your fathers. And this sentence was fully executed in the captivity of the ten tribes.

iniquity;

iniquity: becauſe, even becauſe they deſpiſed my judgments, and becauſe their ſoul abhorred my ſtatutes.

44 And yet for all that, when they be in the land of their enemies, I will not caſt them away, neither will I abhor them to deſtroy them utterly, and to break my covenant with them: for I am the Lord their God.

45 But I will for their ſakes remember the covenant of their anceſtors, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt in the ſight of the heathen; that I might be their God: I am the Lord.

46 Theſe are the ſtatutes, and judgments, and laws, which the Lord made between him and the children of Iſrael, in mount Sinai, by the hand of Moſes.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Concerning vows. 28 No devoted thing may be redeemed. 32 The tithe may not be changed.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When a man ſhall make a ſingular vow, the perſons ſhall be for the Lord, by thy eſtimation.

3 And thy eſtimation ſhall be, of the male from twenty years old, even unto ſixty years old: even thy eſtimation ſhall be fifty ſhekels of ſilver, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

4 And if it be a female, then thy eſtimation ſhall be thirty ſhekels.

5 And if it be from five years old, even unto twenty years old, then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male twenty ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels.

6 And if it be from a month old, even unto five years old, then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male five ſhekels of ſilver, and for the female thy eſtimation ſhall be three ſhekels of ſilver.

7 And if it be from ſixty years old and above; if it be a male, then thy eſtimation ſhall be fifteen ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels.

8 But if he be poorer than thy eſtimation, then he ſhall preſent himſelf before the prieſt, and the prieſt ſhall value him; according to his ability that vowed ſhall the prieſt value him.

9 And if it be a beaſt whereof men bring an offering unto the Lord, all that any man giveth of ſuch unto the Lord ſhall be holy.

10 He ſhall not alter it, nor change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good: and if he ſhall at all change beaſt for beaſt, then it and the exchange thereof ſhall be holy.

11 And if it be any unclean beaſt, of which they do not offer a ſacrifice unto the Lord, then he ſhall preſent the beaſt before the prieſt.

12 And the prieſt ſhall value it, whether it be good or bad: as thou valueſt it who art the prieſt, ſo ſhall it be.

13 But if he will at all redeem it, then he ſhall add a fifth part thereof unto thy eſtimation.

14 And when a man ſhall ſanctify his houſe to be holy unto the Lord, then the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, whether it be good or bad: as the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, ſo ſhall it ſtand.

15 And if he that ſanctified it will redeem his houſe, then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be his.

16 And if a man ſhall ſanctify unto the Lord ſome part of a field of his poſſeſſion, then thy eſtimation ſhall be according to the ſeed thereof: an homer of barley ſeed ſhall be valued at fifty ſhekels of ſilver.

17 If he ſanctify his field from the year of jubilee, according to thy eſtimation it ſhall ſtand.

18 But if he ſanctify his field after the jubilee, then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the money according to the years that remain, even unto the year of the jubilee, and it ſhall be abated from thy eſtimation.

19 And if he that ſanctified the field, will in any wiſe redeem it; then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be aſſured to him.

20 And if he will not redeem the field, or if he have ſold the field to another man; it ſhall not be redeemed any more.

21 But the field when it goeth out in the jubilee, ſhall be holy unto the Lord, as a field devoted: the poſſeſſion thereof ſhall be the prieſt's.

22 And if a man ſanctify unto the Lord a field which he hath bought, which is not of the fields of his poſſeſſion;

23 Then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the worth of thy eſtimation, even unto the year of the jubilee: and he ſhall give thine eſtimation in that day, as a holy thing unto the Lord.

24 In the year of the jubilee, the field ſhall return unto him of whom it was bought, even to him to whom the poſſeſſion of the land did belong.

25 And all thy eſtimations ſhall be according to the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: twenty gerahs ſhall be the ſhekel.

26 ¶ Only the firſtling of the beaſts, which ſhould be the Lord's firſtling, no man ſhall ſanctify it; whether it be ox, or ſheep: it is the Lord's.

27 And if it be of an unclean beaſt, then he ſhall redeem it according to thine eſtimation, and ſhall add a fifth part of it thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it ſhall be ſold according to thy eſtimation.

28 Notwithſtanding, no devoted thing that a man ſhall devote unto the Lord, of all that he hath, both of man and beaſt, and of the field of his poſſeſſion, ſhall be ſold or redeemed: every devoted thing is moſt holy unto the Lord.

29 None devoted, which ſhall be devoted of men, ſhall be redeemed: but ſhall ſurely be put to death.

30 And all the tithe of the land, whether of the ſeed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the Lord's: it is holy unto the Lord.

31 And if a man will at all redeem ought of his tithes, he ſhall add thereto the fifth part thereof.

32 And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatſoever paſſeth under the rod; the tenth ſhall be holy unto the Lord.

33 He ſhall not ſearch whether it be good or bad, neither ſhall he change it: and if he change it at all, then both it and the change thereof ſhall be holy: it ſhall not be redeemed.

34 Theſe are the commandments which the Lord commanded Moſes, for the children of Iſrael in mount Sinai.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

16 An homer of barley-ſeed ſhall be valued at fifty ſhekels.) That is, as much land as an homer of barley will ſow, ſhall be rated at fifty ſhekels, or about five pounds ſeventeen ſhillings. The homer was ten ephahs, or about ten buſhels of our meaſure, the Jewiſh ephah being nearly the ſame with our buſhel.

29 None devoted, which ſhall be devoted of men, ſhall be redeemed; but ſhall ſurely be put to death.) The true meaning of this paſſage is this, Every thing which is devoted of men, ſhall not be redeemed, but ſhall ſurely die; that is, every perſon which is given in perpetuity, ſhall not be redeemed, but ſhall die in that devoted ſtate. For though our verſion has it, he ſhall ſurely be put to death, in the original it is only, dying, he ſhall die; which muſt not be underſtood of being ſacrificed, or put to any violent uncommon death; but he ſhall not be redeemed, he ſhall continue till death in a devoted ſtate.

THE FOURTH BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

NUMBERS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is called Numbers by the Greek interpreters, from its beginning with an account of the numbering of the families of Iſrael, by Moſes and Aaron; who muſtered the tribes, and marſhalled the army of the Iſraelites, in their paſſage through the wilderneſs. A conſiderable part of this book is hiſtorical, relating to ſeveral remarkable events which happened in that journey; as, the ſedition of Aaron and Miriam; the rebellion of Korah and his companions; the murmuring of the whole body of the people; Balaam's prophecy; the miraculous budding of Aaron's rod, &c. It alſo gives a diſtinct account of the ſeveral ſtages where the Iſraelites pitched their tents in the wilderneſs. But the greateſt part of this book is ſpent in enumerating the ſeveral laws and ordinances not mentioned in the preceding books; as the office and number of the Levites; the trial by the waters of Jealouſy; the rites to be obſerved by the Nazarites; the making of fringes on the borders of their garments; the law of inheritance; of vows; of the cities of refuge, &c. The whole comprehends the hiſtory of about thirty-eight years.

CHAP. I.

1, 17 The men of war numbered. 47 The Levites are exempted.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the firſt day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 Take ye the ſum of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls;

3 From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Iſrael: thou and Aaron ſhall number them by their armies.

4 And with you there ſhall be a man of every tribe: every one head of the houſe of his fathers.

5 And theſe are the names of the men that ſhall ſtand with you: Of the tribe of Reuben; Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

6 Of Simeon; Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

7 Of Judah; Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab.

8 Of Iſſachar; Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar.

9 Of Zebulun; Eliab the ſon of Helon.

10 Of the children of Joſeph: of Ephraim, Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud; of Manaſſeh, Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

11 Of Benjamin; Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

12 Of Dan; Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

13 Of Aſher; Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

14 Of Gad; Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

15 Of Naphtali; Ahira the ſon of Enan.

16 Theſe were the renowned of the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, heads of thouſands in Iſrael.

17 ¶ And Moſes and Aaron took theſe men, which are expreſſed by their names.

18 And they aſſembled all the congregation together on the firſt day of the ſecond month, and they declared their pedigrees after their families by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, by their polls.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.) It was now about thirteen months ſince the Iſraelites had left Egypt, almoſt twelve of which they had reſided at mount Sinai, receiving all the foregoing laws and injunctions, relating to their conduct in civil and religious concerns. Before they left this ſtation, an order is given by God to Moſes and Aaron, that a general muſter be made, and an exact poll taken of all the Hebrew men, from the age of twenty and upward, the Levites excepted, and a careful diſtinction obſerved in the tribes, families, and houſholds, that every one might know, and deliver to his poſterity, a clear account from what tribe he deſcended, and to what family he belonged. God hereby further providing for aſcertaining the genealogy of the Meſſiah, who was to be born of this nation; and alſo ſhewing the Iſraelites how he had continued to make good the promiſe to Abraham of multiplying his ſeed, and at the ſame time to let him ſee what ſtrength they had in caſe of any attack from their enemies. Beſides theſe general reaſons, the particular deſign of muſtering the people at this time, was in order to the better diſpoſing of their camp about the tabernacle, which was now ſet up, and for their more regular march, when they removed from mount Sinai, which they were to do ſhortly.

19 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo he numbered them in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

20 And the children of Reuben, Iſrael's eldeſt ſon, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

21 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Reuben, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred.

22 Of the children of Simeon, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

23 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Simeon, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred.

24 Of the children of Gad, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

25 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Gad, were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred and fifty.

26 Of the children of Judah, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

27 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Judah, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred.

28 Of the children of Iſſachar, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

29 Thoſe that were numbered of them even of the tribe of Iſſachar, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred.

30 Of the children of Zebulun, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

31 Thoſe that were numbered of them even of the tribe of Zebulun were fifty and ſeven thouſand four hundred.

32 Of the children of Joſeph, namely, of the children of Ephraim, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

33 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Ephraim, were forty thouſand and five hundred.

34 Of the children of Manaſſeh, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

35 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Manaſſeh, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred

36 Of the children of Benjamin, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

37 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Benjamin, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred.

38 Of the children of Dan, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

39 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Dan, were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

40 Of the children of Aſher, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

41 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Aſher, were forty and one thouſand and five hundred.

42 Of the children of Naphtali, throughout their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

43 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Naphtali, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

44 Theſe are thoſe that were numbered, which Moſes and Aaron numbered, and the princes of Iſrael, being twelve men, each one was for the houſe of his fathers.

45 So were all thoſe that were numbered of the children of Iſrael, by the houſe of their fathers, from twenty years old and upward: all that were able to go forth to war in Iſrael;

46 Even all they that were numbered, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty.

47 ¶ But the Levites, after the tribe of their fathers, were not numbered among them:

48 For the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes, ſaying,

49 Only thou ſhalt not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the ſum of them among the children of Iſrael.

50 But thou ſhalt appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of teſtimony, and over all the veſſels thereof, and over all things that belong to it: they ſhall bear the tabernacle and all the veſſels thereof: and they ſhall miniſter unto it, and ſhall encamp round about the tabernacle.

51 And when the tabernacle ſetteth forward, the Levites ſhall take it down: and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites ſhall ſet it up: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

52 And the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch their tents every man by his own camp, and every man by his own ſtandard, throughout their hoſts.

53 But the Levites ſhall pitch round about the tabernacle of teſtimony; that there be no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall keep the charge of the tabernacle of teſtimony.

54 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did they.

46 All they that were numbered.) It is worthy of remark here, that the ſum total of this muſter is the very ſame with that mentioned, Exod. xxxviii. 26. Perhaps a few odd numbers in both are omitted; for we cannot well ſuppoſe, that not one man of them had died ſince their laſt numbering, which was now ſeven months ago; nor that the ſame number which came of age, ſince that period, was preciſely the ſame with thoſe who died.

47 But the Levites were not numbered.) The intention of this muſter was to know the number of thoſe who were fit to go out to war, and therefore the Levites, who were ſeparated for the ſervice of the tabernacle, were not numbered with the reſt of their brethren.

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

The order of the tribes in their tents.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

2 Every man of the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own ſtandard, with the enſign of their father's houſe: far off about the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall they pitch.

3 ¶ And on the eaſt-ſide toward the riſing of the ſun, ſhall they of the ſtandard of the camp of Judah pitch, throughout their armies: and Nahſhon the ſon of Aminadab ſhall be captain of the children of Judah.

4 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred.

5 And thoſe that do pitch next unto him, ſhall be the tribe of Iſſachar; and Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar ſhall be captain of the children of Iſſachar.

6 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred.

7 Then the tribe of Zebulun: and Eliab the ſon of Helon, ſhall be captain of the children of Zebulun.

8 And his hoſt and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were fifty and ſeven thouſand and four hundred.

9 All that were numbered in the camp of Judah, were an hundred thouſand and fourſcore thouſand and ſix thouſand and four hundred, throughout their armies: theſe ſhall firſt ſet forth.

10 ¶ On the ſouth-ſide ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben, according to their armies: and the captain of the children of Reuben ſhall be Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

11 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred.

12 And thoſe which pitch by him ſhall be the tribe of Simeon: and the captain of the children of Simeon, ſhall be Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

13 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred.

14 Then the tribe of Gad: and the captain of the ſons of Gad, ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Reuel.

15 And his hoſt and thoſe that were numbered of them, were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred and fifty.

16 All that were numbered in the camp of Reuben, were an hundred thouſand and fifty and one thouſand and four hundred and fifty, throughout their armies: and they ſhall ſet forth in the ſecond rank.

17 ¶ Then the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall ſet forward with the camp of the Levites, in the midſt of the camp: as they encamp, ſo ſhall they ſet forward, every man in his place by their ſtandards.

18 ¶ On the weſt-ſide ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Ephraim, according to their armies; and the captain of the ſons of Ephraim, ſhall be Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

19 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were forty thouſand and five hundred.

20 And by him ſhall be the tribe of Manaſſeh: and the captain of the children of Manaſſeh ſhall be Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

21 And his hoſt and thoſe that were numbered of them, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred.

22 Then the tribe of Benjamin: and the captain of the ſons of Benjamin, ſhall be Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

23 And his hoſt and thoſe that were numbered of them, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred.

24 All that were numbered of the camp of Ephraim, were an hundred thouſand and eight thouſand and an hundred, throughout their armies: and they ſhall go forward in the third rank.

25 ¶ The ſtandard of the camp of Dan ſhall be on the north-ſide by their armies: and the captain of the children of Dan ſhall be Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

26 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

27 And thoſe that encamp by him, ſhall be the tribe of Aſher: and the captain of the children of Aſher ſhall be Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

28 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them were forty and one thouſand and five hundred.

29 Then the tribe of Naphtali: and the captain of the children of Naphtali, ſhall be Ahira the ſon of Enan.

30 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

31 All they that were numbered in the camp of Dan, were an hundred thouſand and fifty and ſeven thouſand and ſix hundred. They ſhall go hindmoſt with their ſtandards.

32 Theſe are thoſe which were numbered of the children of Iſrael by the houſe of their fathers. All thoſe that were numbered of the camps throughout their hoſts, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty.

33 But the Levites were not numbered among the children of Iſrael, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

34 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes: ſo they pitched by their ſtandards, and ſo they ſet forward, every one after their families, according to the houſe of their fathers.

CHAP. III.

5 The Levites' ſervice. 40 The firſt-born freed. 44 redeemed.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 Every man of the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own ſtandard.) The forming of the Iſraelitiſh camp has in it ſomething very remarkable; for, which ever way they marched, the ſame tribes were always on the ſame ſides of the tabernacle. The Levites were commanded to pitch on the three ſides of the tabernacle, and Moſes and Aaron before it. On the eaſt ſide were the tribes of Judah, Iſſachar, and Zebulun. On the ſouth ſide were the tribes of Reuben, Simeon, and Gad. On the weſt ſide were the tribes of Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manaſſeh. And on the north ſide the camps of Dan, Aſher, and Naphtali.

17 Every man in his place by their ſtandards.) The march of the Iſraelites, as we are informed, chap. x. was as follows: The ſons of Gerſhom and Merari firſt ſet forward after the ſtandard of Judah, bearing parts of the tabernacle; then the Kohathites, with the ark, were in the midſt of the camp. In this manner they marched; and, when the pillar of the cloud reſted, they pitched their tents in the ſame order as before, which was ſo beautiful, that when Balaam beheld the camp of Iſrael from an eminence, he exclaimed with admiration, "How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob! and thy tabernacles, O Iſrael! As the valleys are they ſpread forth, as the gardens by the river ſide, as the trees of lign-aloes which the Lord hath planted, and as cedar-trees beſide the waters," Numb. xxiv. 5, 6.

THESE

THESE alſo are the generations of Aaron and Moſes, in the day that the Lord ſpake with Moſes in mount Sinai.

2 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron; Nadab the firſt-born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3 Theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron, the prieſts which were anointed, whom he conſecrated to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

4 And Nadab and Abihu died before the Lord, when they offered ſtrange fire before the Lord, in the wilderneſs of Sinai, and they had no children: and Eleazar and Ithamar miniſtered in the prieſt's office in the ſight of Aaron their father.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Bring the tribe of Levi near, and preſent them before Aaron the prieſt, that they miniſter unto him.

7 And they ſhall keep his charge and the charge of the whole congregation, before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle.

8 And they ſhall keep all the inſtruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the children of Iſrael, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle.

9 And thou ſhalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his ſons: they are wholly given unto him out of the children of Iſrael.

10 And thou ſhalt appoint Aaron and his ſons, and they ſhall wait on their prieſt's office: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 And I, behold, I have taken the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, inſtead of all the firſt-born that openeth the matrix among the children of Iſrael: therefore the Levites ſhall be mine:

13 Becauſe all the firſt-born are mine, for on the day that I ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I hallowed unto me all the firſt-born in Iſrael, both man and beaſt: mine they ſhall be: I am the Lord.

14 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, ſaying, 15 Number the children of Levi after the houſe of their fathers, by their families: every male from a month old and upward ſhalt thou number them.

16 And Moſes numbered them according to the word of the Lord, as he was commanded.

17 And theſe were the ſons of Levi by their names; Gerſhon, and Kohath, and Merari.

18 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Gerſhon by their families; Libni, and Shimei.

19 And the ſons of Kohath by their families; Amram, and Izehar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And the ſons of Merari by their families; Mahli, and Muſhi: theſe are the families of the Levites, according to the houſe of their fathers.

21 Of Gerſhon was the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimites: theſe are the families of the Gerſhonites.

22 Thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, even thoſe that were numbered of them, were ſeven thouſand and five hundred.

23 The families of the Gerſhonites ſhall pitch behind the tabernacle weſt-ward.

24 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the Gerſhonites, ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Lael.

25 And the charge of the ſons of Gerſhon, in the tabernacle of the congregation, ſhall be the tabernacle, and the tent, the covering thereof, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

26 And the hangings of the court, and the curtain for the door of the court, which is by the tabernacle, and by the altar round about, and the cords of it for all the ſervice thereof.

27 And of Kohath was the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izeharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites: theſe are the families of the Kohathites.

28 In the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were eight thouſand and ſix hundred, keeping the charge of the ſanctuary.

29 The families of the ſons of Kohath, ſhall pitch on the ſide of the tabernacle ſouth-ward.

30 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the families of the Kohathites, ſhall be Elizaphan the ſon of Uzziel.

31 And their charge ſhall be the ark, and the table, and the candleſtick, and the altars, and the veſſels of the ſanctuary wherewith they miniſter, and the hanging, and all the ſervice thereof.

32 And Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſhall be chief over the chief of the Levites, and have the overſight of them that keep the charge of the ſanctuary.

33 Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Muſhites: theſe are the families of Merari.

34 And thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were ſix thouſand and two hundred.

35 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the families of Merari, was Zuriel the ſon of Abihail: theſe ſhall pitch on the ſide of the tabernacle north-ward.

36 And under the cuſtody and charge of the ſons

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

6 Preſent them before Aaron the prieſt, that they may miniſter unto him.) That is, that they may receive the orders of Aaron, and aſſiſt him, and the reſt of the prieſts, who were the immediate miniſters of God. In the wilderneſs the Levites had a peculiar charge, not only to guard the tabernacle, by keeping a watch day and night about it, but alſo to take it down, to carry it when they removed, and to ſet it up again when they reſted. When ſettled in Canaan, they had leſs to do of this kind; but ſtill the charge of the tabernacle lay upon them, and they miniſtered to the prieſts as before. In David's time ſome of them were appointed ſingers and players upon the inſtruments in the morning and evening ſervice. Others were porters ſtanding at the ſeveral gates of the tabernacle, and afterwards of the temple, and alſo guards of the ſacred treaſury, and of things dedicated to God. For the more regular diſcharge of which functions, they were diſtributed into different claſſes or courſes.

12 I have taken the Levites inſtead of the firſt-born.) Every firſt-born was conſecrated to the ſervice of the Lord, in remembrance of their being ſpared, when all thoſe of Egypt were deſtroyed. But God was now pleaſed to releaſe the Iſraelites from this obligation, by ſubſtituting the tribe of Levi to be the perpetual miniſters of religion, inſtead of the firſt-born males. The Levites obtained this favour from the great zeal they ſhewed for the ſervice of God, againſt the worſhippers of the golden calf.

15 Every male from a month old.) Moſes was commanded to take the number of the other tribes, from twenty years old and upward; but here he is ordered to number them from one month. The reaſon for this difference was, becauſe the former were all proper for war; but the latter were numbered only to know how many there were of them in all, that they might be exchanged for an equal number of the firſt-born; and therefore it was neceſſary all ſhould be numbered without diſtinction, even from a month old, the age at which the firſtling males were appointed to be redeemed.

39 Were twenty and two thouſand.) If we add the ſums before mentioned, ver. 22, 28, and 34, together, the total will amount to twenty-two thouſand three hundred; but it is conjectured, that the three hundred are omitted, as being the firſt-born of the Levites themſelves, and, conſequently, belonged to God already, and therefore could not be exchanged for the firſt-born of their tribes.

of Merari ſhall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the ſockets thereof, and all the veſſels thereof, and all that ſerveth thereto, 37 And the pillars of the court round about, and their ſockets, and their pins, and their cords.

38 But thoſe that encamp before the tabernacle toward the eaſt, even before the tabernacle of the congregation eaſtward, ſhall be Moſes, and Aaron and his ſons, keeping the charge of the ſanctuary, for the charge of the children of Iſrael: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

39 All that were numbered of the Levites, which Moſes and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the Lord, throughout their families, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty and two thouſand.

40 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Number all the firſt-born of the males of the children of Iſrael, from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names.

41 And thou ſhalt take the Levites for me (I am the Lord) inſtead of all the firſt-born among the children of Iſrael: and the cattle of the Levites, inſtead of all the firſtlings among the cattle of the children of Iſrael.

42 And Moſes numbered as the Lord commanded him, all the firſt-born among the children of Iſrael.

43 And all the firſt-born males, by the number of names, from a month old and upward, of thoſe that were numbered of them, were twenty and two thouſand two hundred and threeſcore and thirteen.

44 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

45 Take the Levites inſtead of all the firſt-born among the children of Iſrael, and the cattle of the Levites inſtead of their cattle; and the Levites ſhall be mine: I am the Lord.

46 And for thoſe that are to be redeemed of the two hundred and threeſcore and thirteen of the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael, which are more than the Levites:

47 Thou ſhalt even take five ſhekels a-piece by the poll, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary ſhalt thou take them, the ſhekel is twenty gerahs.

48 And thou ſhalt give the money wherewith the odd number of them is to be redeemed, unto Aaron and to his ſons.

49 And Moſes took the redemption money of them that were over and above them that were redeemed by the Levites:

50 Of the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael took he the money: a thouſand three hundred and threeſcore and five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

51 And Moſes gave the money of them that were redeemed unto Aaron and to his ſons, according to the word of the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moſes

CHAP. IV.

1 The Levites' ſervices, 17 and office.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

2 Take the ſum of the ſons of Kohath from among the ſons of Levi, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers;

3 From thirty years old and upward even until fifty years old, all that enter into the hoſt, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 This ſhall be the ſervice of the ſons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation, about the moſt holy things.

5 And when the camp ſetteth forward, Aaron ſhall come, and his ſons, and they ſhall take down the covering vail, and cover the ark of teſtimony with it;

6 And ſhall put thereon the covering of badgers' ſkins, and ſhall ſpread over it a cloth wholly of blue, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof.

7 And upon the table of ſhew-bread they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and put thereon the diſhes, and the ſpoons, and the bowls, and covers to cover withal: and the continual bread ſhall be thereon.

8 And they ſhall ſpread upon them a cloth of ſcarlet, and cover the ſame with a covering of badgers' ſkins, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof.

9 And they ſhall take a cloth of blue, and cover the candleſtick of the light, and his lamps, and his tongs, and his ſnuff-diſhes, and all the oil-veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter unto it.

10 And they ſhall put it and all the veſſels thereof within a covering of badgers' ſkins, and ſhall put it upon a bar.

11 And upon the golden altar they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and cover it with a covering of badgers' ſkins, and ſhall put to the ſtaves thereof.

12 And they ſhall take all the inſtruments of miniſtry, wherewith they miniſter in the ſanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue, and cover them with a covering of badgers' ſkins, and ſhall put them on a bar.

13 And they ſhall take away the aſhes from the altar, and ſpread a purple cloth thereon,

14 And they ſhall put upon it all the veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter about it, even the cenſers, the fleſh-hooks, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, all the veſſels of the altar; and they ſhall ſpread upon it a covering of badgers' ſkins, and put to the ſtaves of it.

15 And when Aaron and his ſons have made an end of covering the ſanctuary, and all the veſſels of the ſanctuary, as the camp is to ſet forward: after that, the ſons of Kohath ſhall come to bear it: but they ſhall not touch any holy thing, leſt they die. These things are the burden of the ſons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation.

16 And to the office of Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt pertaineth the oil for the light, and the ſweet incenſe, and the daily meat-offering, and the anointing oil, and the overſight of all the tabernacle, and of all that therein is, in the ſanctuary and in the veſſels thereof.

17 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

18 Cut ye not off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites:

19 But this do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they approach unto the moſt holy things: Aaron and his ſons ſhall go in, and appoint them every one to his ſervice, and to his burden.

20 But they ſhall not go in to ſee when the holy things are covered, leſt they die.

21 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

22 Take alſo the ſum of the ſons of Gerſhon,

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

6 The covering of badgers ſkins.) The ark was to be covered firſt with the vail, then with two other coverings made on purpoſe, one of leather, and the other of blue ſtuff. This covering of the ſacred things was not only to defend them from the weather, but to preſerve the greater reverence towards them, by hiding them from the curious eyes of the multitude.

18 Cut ye not off, &c.) Do not occaſion the death of ſo many perſons, by neglecting to teach them with what awful reverence ſuch holy things are to be treated.

throughout the houſes of their fathers, by their families;

23 From thirty years old and upward, until fifty years old ſhalt thou number them: all that enter in to perform the ſervice, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

24 This is the ſervice of the families of the Gerſhonites, to ſerve, and for burdens.

25 And they ſhall bear the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, his covering, and the covering of the badgers' ſkins that is above upon it, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

26 And the hangings of the court, and the hanging for the door of the gate of the court which is by the tabernacle and by the altar round about, and their cords, and all the inſtruments of their ſervice, and all that is made for them; ſo ſhall they ſerve.

27 At the appointment of Aaron and his ſons ſhall be all the ſervice of the ſons of the Gerſhonites, in all their burdens, and in all their ſervice; and ye ſhall appoint unto them in charge all their burdens.

28 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon in the tabernacle of the congregation; and their charge ſhall be under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

29 As for the ſons of Merari, thou ſhalt number them after their families, by the houſe of their fathers:

30 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old ſhalt thou number them, every one that entereth into the ſervice, to do the work of the tabernacle of the congregation.

31 And this is the charge of their burden, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and ſockets thereof.

32 And the pillars of the court round about, and their ſockets, and their pins, and their cords, with all their inſtruments, and with all their ſervice: and by name ye ſhall reckon the inſtruments of the charge of their burden.

33 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Merari, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

34 And Moſes and Aaron and the chief of the congregation numbered the ſons of the Kohathites after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers:

35 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

36 And thoſe that were numbered of them by their families, were two thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty.

37 Theſe were they that were numbered of the families of the Kohathites, all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; which Moſes and Aaron did number according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

38 And thoſe that were numbered of the ſons of Gerſhon, throughout their families, and by the houſe of their fathers;

39 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation;

40 Even thoſe that were numbered of them, throughout their families, by the houſes of their fathers, were two thouſand and ſix hundred and thirty.

41 Theſe are they that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon, of all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; whom Moſes and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the Lord.

42 And thoſe that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Merari, throughout their families, by the houſe of their fathers;

43 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation;

44 Even thoſe that were numbered of them after their families, were three thouſand and two hundred:

45 Theſe be thoſe that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Merari, whom Moſes and Aaron numbered according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

46 All thoſe that were numbered of the Levites, whom Moſes and Aaron and the chief of Iſrael numbered, after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers;

47 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that came to do the ſervice of the miniſtry, and the ſervice of the burden in the tabernacle of the congregation;

48 Even thoſe that were numbered of them were eight thouſand and five hundred and fourſcore.

49 According to the commandment of the Lord, they were numbered by the hand of Moſes, every one according to his ſervice, and according to his burden: thus were they numbered of him, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. V.

1 The unclean put out of the camp. 5 Reſtitution enjoined. 11 The trial of jealouſy.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael that they put out of the camp every leper, and every one that hath an iſſue, and whoſoever is defiled by the dead.

3 Both male and female ſhall ye put out, without the camp ſhall ye put them; that they defile not their camps, in the midſt whereof I dwell.

4 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and put them out without the camp: as the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſo did the children of Iſrael.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, When a man or woman ſhall commit any ſin that men commit, to do a treſpaſs againſt the Lord, and that perſon be guilty;

7 Then they ſhall confeſs their ſin which they have done: and he ſhall recompenſe his treſpaſs with the principal thereof, and add unto it the fifth part thereof

---

34 And Moſes and Aaron---numbered.) They took an exact account of theſe Levite-carriers in each claſs, as God had ordered them, and their numbers ſtood thus:

Kohathites,	——	——	2750
Gerſhonites,	——	——	2630
Meratites,	——	——	3200

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 Put out of the camp every leper.) The camp being ſettled, the law with regard to unclean perſons was now to be put in execution. Probably the camp of each tribe had ſome vacant place left, which was reckoned without the camp, and that the unclean were lodged by themſelves. For it ſeems too ſevere to baniſh them quite beyond the bounds of the camp, at a great diſtance from all their friends and relations.

of, and give it unto him againſt whom he hath treſpaſſed.

8 But if the man have no kinſman to recompenſe the treſpaſs unto, let the treſpaſs be recompenſed unto the Lord, even to the prieſt: beſide the ram of the atonement, whereby an atonement ſhall be made for him.

9 And every offering of all the holy things of the children of Iſrael, which they bring unto the prieſt, ſhall be his.

10 And every man's hallowed things ſhall be his: whatſoever any man giveth the prieſt, it ſhall be his.

11 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any man's wife go aſide, and commit a treſpaſs againſt him,

13 And a man lie with her carnally, and it be hid from the eyes of her huſband, and be kept cloſe, and ſhe be defiled, and there be no witneſs againſt her, neither ſhe be taken with the manner.

14 And the ſpirit of jealouſy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and ſhe be defiled: or if the ſpirit of jealouſy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and ſhe be not defiled.

15 Then ſhall the man bring his wife unto the prieſt, and he ſhall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an ephah of barley-meal; he ſhall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincenſe thereon, for it is an offering of jealouſy, an offering of memorial bringing iniquity to remembrance.

16 And the prieſt ſhall bring her near, and ſet her before the Lord.

17 And the prieſt ſhall take holy water in an earthen veſſel, and of the duſt that is in the floor of the tabernacle the prieſt ſhall take, and put it into the water.

18 And the prieſt ſhall ſet the woman before the Lord, and uncover the woman's head, and put the offering of memorial in her hands, which is the jealouſy offering: and the prieſt ſhall have in his hand the bitter water that cauſeth the curſe.

19 And the prieſt ſhall charge her by an oath, and ſay unto the woman, If no man have lien with thee, and if thou haſt not gone aſide to uncleanneſs with another inſtead of thy huſband, be thou free from this bitter water that cauſeth the curſe:

20 But if thou haſt gone aſide to another inſtead of thy huſband, and if thou be defiled, and ſome man have lien with thee beſide thine huſband:

21 Then the prieſt ſhall charge the woman with an oath of curſing, and the prieſt ſhall ſay unto the woman, The Lord make thee a curſe and an oath among the people, when the Lord doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly to ſwell;

22 And this water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall go into thy bowels, to make thy belly to ſwell, and thy thigh to rot. And the woman ſhall ſay, Amen, Amen.

23 And the prieſt ſhall write theſe curſes in a book, and he ſhall blot them out with the bitter water:

24 And he ſhall cauſe the woman to drink the bitter water that cauſeth the curſe: and the water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall enter into her, and become bitter.

25 Then the prieſt ſhall take the jealouſy-offering out of the woman's hand, and ſhall wave the offering before the Lord, and offer it upon the altar.

26 And the prieſt ſhall take an handful of the offering, even the memorial thereof, and burn it upon the altar, and afterward ſhall cauſe the woman to drink the water.

27 And when he hath made her to drink the water, then it ſhall come to paſs that if ſhe be defiled, and have done treſpaſs againſt her huſband, that the water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall enter into her, and become bitter, and her belly ſhall ſwell, and her thigh ſhall rot: and the woman ſhall be a curſe among her people.

28 And if the woman be not defiled, but be clean: then ſhe ſhall be free, and ſhall conceive ſeed.

29 This is the law of jealouſies, when a wife goeth aſide to another inſtead of her huſband, and is defiled;

30 Or when the ſpirit of jealouſy cometh upon him, and he be jealous over his wife, and ſhall ſet the woman before the Lord, and the prieſt ſhall execute upon her all this law.

31 Then ſhall the man be guiltleſs from iniquity; and the woman ſhall bear her iniquity.

CHAP. VI.

1 The law of the Nazarite. 22 The form of bleſſing the people.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When either man or woman ſhall ſeparate themſelves to vow a vow of a Nazarite, to ſeparate themſelves unto the Lord:

3 He ſhall ſeparate himſelf from wine, and ſtrong drink, and ſhall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of ſtrong drink, neither ſhall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moiſt grapes or dried.

4 All the days of his ſeparation ſhall he eat nothing that is made of the vine-tree, from the kernels even to the huſk.

5 All the days of the vow of his ſeparation there ſhall no raſor come upon his head: until the days be fulfilled, in the which he ſeparateth himſelf unto the Lord, he ſhall be holy: and ſhall let the locks of the hair of his head grow.

6 All the days that he ſeparateth himſelf unto the Lord, he ſhall come at no dead body.

7 He ſhall not make himſelf unclean for his father, or for his mother, for his brother, or for his ſiſter, when they die: becauſe the conſecration of his God

19 The prieſt ſhall charge her by an oath.) That is, the prieſt ſhall adjure her in the name of God, to declare the truth of her caſe, aſſuring her that if ſhe was conſcious of her innocence ſhe had nothing to fear; but if ſhe knew herſelf guilty, ſhe might expect to ſuffer every thing threatened in the law.

29 This is the law of jealouſies.) That is, theſe are the methods to be obſerved in detecting the crime of adultery, and put a final period to all jealouſies and ſuſpicions. The Rabbins tell us, that this method of detecting adultery was never uſed after the return of the Jews from the Babyloniſh captivity, on two accounts, firſt, becauſe adulteries were become ſo frequent, that the whole time of the prieſts would have been ſpent in performing the ceremonies: ſecondly, becauſe they thought it unpardonable to eraze the name of God ſo often in the waters of bitterneſs. When therefore any huſband had conceived juſt ſuſpicions againſt the fidelity of his wife, and had witneſſes to depoſe that they had ſeen her privately with the ſuſpected perſon, contrary to the direction of her huſband, ſhe was immediately divorced, and deprived of her dowry. They alſo give another reaſon why this ceremony was not uſed during the ſecond temple, namely becauſe the water had no effect, if the huſband had alſo committed the ſame crime, according to the words of the prophet Hoſea, I will not puniſh your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your ſpouſes when they commit adultery, &c. ch. iv. 14.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

2 A vow of a Nazarite.) The word Nazarite ſignifies ſeparated, becauſe thoſe who came under this vow ſeparated themſelves from others by a peculiar abſtinence, lived apart from company, and the diverſions of the world. It is conſidered as a peculiar happineſs, and mark of God's favour to the Jewiſh nation, to have ſuch perſons raiſed up among them, to be examples of a holy life. I have raiſed up of your ſons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites, Amos ii. 11.

is upon his head.

8 All the days of his ſeparation he is holy unto the Lord.

9 And if any man die very ſuddenly by him, and he hath defiled the head of his conſecration; then he ſhall ſhave his head in the day of his cleanſing, on the ſeventh day ſhall he ſhave it.

10 And on the eighth day he ſhall bring two turtles or two young pigeons to the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

11 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and make an atonement for him, for that he ſinned by the dead, and ſhall hallow his head that ſame day.

12 And he ſhall conſecrate unto the Lord the days of his ſeparation, and ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a treſpaſs-offering: but the days that were before ſhall be loſt, becauſe his ſeparation was defiled.

13 And this is the law of the Nazarite: When the days of his ſeparation are fulfilled, he ſhall be brought unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

14 And he ſhall offer his offering unto the Lord, one he-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh for a burnt-offering, and one ewe-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh for a ſin-offering, and one ram without blemiſh for peace-offerings.

15 And a baſket of unleavened bread, cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened bread anointed with oil, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings.

16 And the prieſt ſhall bring them before the Lord, and ſhall offer his ſin-offering, and his burnt-offering.

17 And he ſhall offer the ram for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the Lord, with the baſket of unleavened bread: the prieſt ſhall offer alſo his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

18 And the Nazarite ſhall ſhave the head of his ſeparation, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and ſhall take the hair of the head of his ſeparation, and put it in the fire which is under the ſacrifice of the peace-offering.

19 And the prieſt ſhall take the ſodden ſhoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake out of the baſket, and one unleavened wafer; and ſhall put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after the hair of his ſeparation is ſhaven.

20 And the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord: this is holy for the prieſt, with the wave-breaſt and heave-ſhoulder: and after that the Nazarite may drink wine.

21 This is the law of the Nazarite who hath vowed, and of his offering unto the Lord for his ſeparation, beſides that that his hand ſhall get: according to the vow which he vowed, ſo he muſt do after the law of his ſeparation.

22 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Speak unto Aaron and unto his ſons, ſaying, On this wiſe ye ſhall bleſs the children of Iſrael, ſaying unto them,

24 The Lord bleſs thee and keep thee:

25 The Lord make his face ſhine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:

26 The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

27 And they ſhall put my name upon the children of Iſrael, and I will bleſs them.

CHAP. VII.

1, 10 The princes' offerings. 89 God ſpeaketh to Moſes from the mercy-ſeat.

AND it came to paſs on the day that Moſes had fully ſet up the tabernacle and anointed it, and ſanctified it, and all the inſtruments thereof, both the altar, and all the veſſels thereof, and had anointed them, and ſanctified them;

2 That the princes of Iſrael, heads of the houſe of their fathers, (who were the princes of the tribes, and were over them that were numbered) offered:

3 And they brought their offerings before the Lord, ſix covered waggons and twelve oxen: a waggon for two of the princes, and for each one an ox; and they brought them before the tabernacle.

4 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

5 Take it of them, that they may be to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his ſervice.

6 And Moſes took the waggons and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites.

7 Two waggons and four oxen he gave unto the ſons of Gerſhon, according to their ſervice.

8 And four waggons and eight oxen he gave unto the ſons of Merari, according unto their ſervice, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

9 But unto the ſons of Kohath he gave none: becauſe the ſervice of the ſanctuary belonging unto them, was that they ſhould bear upon their ſhoulders.

10 ¶ And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar, in the day that is was anointed, even the princes offered their offering before the altar.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, They ſhall offer their offering each prince on his day, for the dedicating of the altar.

12 And he that offered his offering the firſt day, was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab of the tribe of Judah:

13 And his offering was one ſilver charger, the weight thereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them were full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering.

14 One ſpoon of ten ſhekels of gold, full of incenſe:

15 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

16 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering.

---

11 For that he ſinned by the dead.) That is, he hath contracted a legal uncleanneſs by touching or being near a dead body: which, though it happened involuntarily, yet being a breach of the ceremonial law, was to be purged in this manner. The Rabbins tell us, that the reaſon for this was to make men more cautious how they contracted any defilement; and from hence that famous ſaying among them had its riſe, Diligence begets caution, and caution purity, and purity holineſs. A ſufficient proof that they conſidered the external purifications of the law only as a means of promoting internal ſanctity and purity of mind.

25 The Lord make his face to ſhine upon thee.) This metaphor is taken from the ſun, whoſe light and heat cheers and enlivens the face of nature: and when a perſon enjoys the ſenſible effects of the Divine Favour, the face or countenance of the Lord is ſaid to ſhine upon him.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

10 And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar.) Le Clerc infers, from the great number of ſacrifices here mentioned, that the wilderneſs was not entirely deſert, but had in many places paſtures, ſince the Iſraelites had ſtill ſo many cattle as to be able to ſupply the offerings here mentioned, and alſo to celebrate the paſſover, which required a very large number of kids and lambs. And this is confirmed by a paſſage in Samuel, where mention is made of the flocks of the Amalekites, and of thoſe of Nabal in the wilderneſs of Paran, 1 Sam. xv. 9.

17 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab.

18 On the ſecond day Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar, prince of Iſſachar did offer.

19 He offered for his offering one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

20 One ſpoon of gold of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

21 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

22 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

23 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar.

24 On the third day Eliab the ſon of Helon, prince of the children of Zebulun, did offer.

25 His offering was one ſilver charger the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

26 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

27 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

28 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

29 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt-year; this was the offering of Eliab the ſon of Helon.

30 On the fourth day Elizur the ſon of Shedeur, prince of the children of Reuben, did offer.

31 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

32 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

33 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

34 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

35 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

36 On the fifth day Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai, prince of the children of Simeon, did offer.

37 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering:

38 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

39 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

40 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

41 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

42 On the ſixth day Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel, prince of the children of Gad, offered.

43 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, a ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

44 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

45 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt-year, for a burnt-offering:

46 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

47 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year; this was the offering of Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

48 On the ſeventh day Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud, prince of the children of Ephraim, offered.

49 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

50 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

51 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

52 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

53 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt-year; this was the offering of Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

54 On the eighth day offered Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur, prince of the children of Manaſſeh.

55 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

56 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

57 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

58 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

59 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

60 On the ninth day Abidan the ſon of Gideoni, prince of the children of Benjamin, offered.

61 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

62 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

63 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

64 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

65 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

66 On the tenth day Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai, prince of the children of Dan offered.

67 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

68 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

69 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year for a burnt-offering:

70 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

18 On the ſecond day, &c.) As the offerings of all the princes were the ſame, it will be unneceſſary to multiply remarks; but it may not be improper to add, that the reaſon for the offerings being all of the ſame value, was probably to prevent all vain-boaſting, and emulation among men of equal rank and authority. If any ſhould object againſt ſo many repetitions, where once would have been ſufficient, they ſhould remember, that ſuch repetitions are more ſuitable to the ſimplicity of the primitive times.

71 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

72 On the eleventh day Pagiel the ſon of Ocran, prince of the children of Aſher, offered.

73 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

74 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

75 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

76 One kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering:

77 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

78 On the twelfth day Ahira the ſon of Enan, prince of the children of Naphtali, offered.

79 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

80 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

81 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

82 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

83 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year, this was the offering of Ahira the ſon of Enan.

84 This was the dedication of the altar (in the day when it was anointed) by the princes of Iſrael: twelve chargers of ſilver, twelve ſilver bowls, twelve ſpoons of gold:

85 Each charger of ſilver weighing an hundred and thirty ſhekels, each bowl ſeventy: all the ſilver veſſels weighed two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

86 The golden ſpoons were twelve, full of incenſe, weighing ten ſhekels apiece, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: all the gold of the ſpoons was an hundred and twenty ſhekels.

87 All the oxen for the burnt-offering were twelve bullocks, the rams twelve, the lambs of the firſt year twelve, with their meat-offering; and the kids of the goats for ſin-offering, twelve.

88 And all the oxen for the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings were twenty and four bullocks, the rams ſixty, the he-goats ſixty, the lambs of the firſt year ſixty. This was the dedication of the altar, after that it was anointed.

89 ¶ And when Moſes was gone into the tabernacle of the congregation, to ſpeak with him; then he heard the voice of one ſpeaking unto him from off the mercy-ſeat that was upon the ark of teſtimony, from between the two cherubims: and he ſpake unto him.

CHAP. VIII.

1 How the lamps are to be lighted. 5 The conſecration of the Levites. 23 The age and time of their ſervice.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and ſay unto him, When thou lighteſt the lamps, the ſeven lamps ſhall give light over againſt the candleſtick.

3 And Aaron did ſo; he lighted the lamps thereof, over againſt the candleſtick; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

4 And this work of the candleſtick was of beaten gold, unto the ſhaft thereof, unto the flowers thereof, was beaten work: according unto the pattern which the Lord had ſhewed Moſes, ſo he made the candleſtick.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Take the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, and cleanſe them.

7 And thus ſhalt thou do unto them, to cleanſe them: ſprinkle water of purifying upon them, and let them ſhave all their fleſh, and let them waſh their clothes, and ſo make themſelves clean.

8 Then let them take a young bullock with his meat-offering, even fine flour mingled with oil, and another young bullock ſhalt thou take for a ſin-offering.

9 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt gather the whole aſſembly of the children of Iſrael together.

10 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the Lord: and the children of Iſrael ſhall put their hands upon the Levites.

11 And Aaron ſhall offer the Levites before the Lord, for an offering of the children of Iſrael; that they may execute the ſervice of the Lord.

12 And the Levites ſhall lay their hands upon the heads of the bullocks: and thou ſhalt offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, to make an atonement for the Levites.

13 And thou ſhalt ſet the Levites before Aaron, and before his ſons, and offer them for an offering unto the Lord.

14 Thus ſhalt thou ſeparate the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall be mine.

15 And after that ſhall the Levites go in to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt cleanſe them, and offer them for an offering.

16 For they are wholly given unto me from among the children of Iſrael; inſtead of ſuch as open every womb, even inſtead of the firſt-born of all the children of Iſrael have I taken them unto me.

17 For all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael are mine, both man and beaſt: on the day that I ſmote every firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I ſanctified them for myſelf.

18 And I have taken the Levites for all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael.

89 Heard the voice of one ſpeaking unto him from off the mercy-ſeat.) We are here told the manner how God communicated his will to Moſes, not by ſome impreſſion upon his mind in a viſion, or by repreſenting things to him in a dream, but by a clear and diſtinct voice, which he heard of one ſpeaking to him from between the cherubims, as he ſtood in the outward court of the ſanctuary; but at the ſame time, ſaw no image nor ſimilitude. And hence the moſt holy place, which contained the ark and mercy-ſeat, whence the divine voice proceeded, is called debir, the oracle, 1 Kings vi. 23.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

2 Shall give light over againſt the candleſtick.) That is, ſhall lighten every part of the room wherein the candleſtick was placed; for it muſt be remembered, that the ſanctuary had no windows, and therefore all the light proceeded from the lamps placed on the candleſtick.

7 Sprinkle water of purifying upon them.) That is water of purification from ſin: this water was prepared with the aſhes of a red heifer, which had been offered for a burnt-offering, chap. xix. 17.

10 The children of Iſrael ſhall put their hands upon the Levites.) By the whole congregation is meant a certain number of the principal perſons. By this ſign the children of Iſrael expreſſed their ſeparating the Levites to the ſervice of the ſanctuary, inſtead of their firſt-born, and their transferring to the former the charge which would otherwiſe have belonged to the latter.

19 And I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron and to his ſons, from among the children of Iſrael: to do the ſervice of the children of Iſrael in the tabernacle of the congregation, and to make an atonement for the children of Iſrael: that there be no plague among the children of Iſrael, when the children of Iſrael come nigh unto the ſanctuary.

20 And Moſes and Aaron and all the congregation of the children of Iſrael did to the Levites according unto all that the Lord commanded Moſes concerning the Levites, ſo did the children of Iſrael unto them.

21 And the Levites were purified, and they waſhed their clothes: and Aaron offered them as an offering before the Lord: and Aaron made an atonement for them to cleanſe them.

22 And after that went the Levites in to do their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation before Aaron and before his ſons: as the Lord had commanded Moſes concerning the Levites, ſo did they unto them.

23 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

24 This is it that belongeth unto the Levites: from twenty and five years old, and upward, they ſhall go in to wait upon the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation:

25 And from the age of fifty years, they ſhall ceaſe waiting upon the ſervice thereof, and ſhall ſerve no more:

26 But ſhall miniſter with their brethren, in the tabernacle of the congregation, to keep the charge, and ſhall do no ſervice. Thus ſhalt thou do unto the Levites touching their charge.

CHAP. IX.

1 The paſſover enjoined. 15 A cloud guideth the Iſraelites.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, in the firſt month of the ſecond year, after they were come out of the land of Egypt, ſaying.

2 Let the children of Iſrael alſo keep the paſſover at his appointed ſeaſon.

3 In the fourteenth day of this month, at even, ye ſhall keep it in his appointed ſeaſon: according to all the rites of it, and according to all the ceremonies thereof ſhall ye keep it.

4 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould keep the paſſover.

5 And they kept the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the firſt month at even, in the wilderneſs of Sinai: according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did the children of Iſrael.

6 ¶ And there were certain men who were defiled by the dead body of a man, that they could not keep the paſſover on that day: and they came before Moſes, and before Aaron on that day.

7 And thoſe men ſaid unto him, We are defiled by the dead body of a man: wherefore are we kept back, that we may not offer an offering of the Lord in his appointed ſeaſon among the children of Iſrael?

8 And Moſes ſaid unto them, Stand ſtill, and I will hear what the Lord will command concerning you.

9 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael ſaying, If any man of you, or of your poſterity ſhall be unclean by reaſon of a dead body, or be in a journey afar off, yet he ſhall keep the paſſover unto the Lord.

11 The fourteenth day of the ſecond month at even, they ſhall keep it, and eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

12 They ſhall leave none of it unto the morning, nor break any bone of it: according to all the ordinances of the paſſover, they ſhall keep it.

13 But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and forbeareth to keep the paſſover; even the ſame ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people, becauſe he brought not the offering of the Lord in his appointed ſeaſon: that man ſhall bear his ſin.

14 And if a ſtranger ſhall ſojourn among you, and will keep the paſſover unto the Lord, according to the ordinance of the paſſover, and according to the manner thereof, ſo ſhall he do: ye ſhall have one ordinance, both for the ſtranger, and for him that was born in the land.

15 ¶ And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, namely, the tent of the teſtimony: and at even there was upon the tabernacle as it were the appearance of fire until the morning.

16 So it was alway: the cloud covered it by day, and the appearance of fire by night.

17 And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle: then after that the children of Iſrael journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Iſrael pitched their tents.

18 At the commandment of the Lord the children of Iſrael journeyed, and at the commandment of the Lord they pitched: as long as the cloud abode upon the tabernacle, they reſted in the tents.

19 And when the cloud tarried long upon the tabernacle many days, then the children of Iſrael kept the charge of the Lord and journeyed not.

20 And ſo it was, when the cloud was a few days upon the tabernacle; according to the commandment of the Lord, they abode in their tents, and according to the commandment of the Lord they journeyed.

21 And ſo it was when the cloud abode from even unto the morning, and that the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether it was by day or by night that the cloud was taken up, they journeyed.

22 Or whether it were two days, or a month, or a year that the cloud tarried upon the tabernacle, remaining thereon, the children of Iſrael abode in their tents, and journeyed not: but when it was taken up, they journeyed.

23 At the commandment of the Lord they reſted in their tents, and at the commandment of the Lord they journeyed; they kept the charge of the Lord at the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

19 That there be no plague, &c.) That they by conſtantly officiating in the houſe of God, may prevent others from preſumptuouſly intermeddling in ſacred things, and by that means incurring thoſe judgments which are due to ſuch profanation.

COMMENTARY ON Chap. IX.

13 Shall be cut off.) That is ſeparated from the community, either by death, baniſhment, or excommunication; but it is generally underſtood of cutting off by death.

15 And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up.) As the Iſraelites were ſhortly to decamp from mount Sinai, it was natural for Moſes to inform them how they were to be directed in theſe decampments; namely by the direction of the cloud of glory, which, from the firſt erecting of the tabernacle, fixed itſelf upon it as the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence, and continually appeared in the form of a dark cloud by day, and of a luminous cloud, ſhining like fire by night.

23 By the hand of Moſes.) Their law-giver and director, who at every march and encampment, accompanied the divine ſignal with a ſolemn prayer, ſaying, when the ark ſet forward, Riſe up Lord, let thine enemies be ſcattered, &c. and when it reſted, Return, O Lord, unto the many thouſands of Iſrael, Num. x. 35, 36.

CHAP.

CHAP. X.

1 The uſe of the ſilver trumpets. 33 Moſes his bleſſing.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 Make thee two trumpets of ſilver; of a whole piece ſhalt thou make them: that thou mayeſt uſe them for the calling of the aſſembly, and for the journeying of the camps.

3 And when they ſhall blow with them, all the aſſembly ſhall aſſemble themſelves to thee, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And if they blow but with one trumpet, then the princes, which are heads of the thouſands of Iſrael, ſhall gather themſelves unto thee.

5 When ye blow an alarm, then the camps that lie on the eaſt-parts ſhall go forward.

6 When ye blow an alarm the ſecond time, then the camps that lie on the ſouth-ſide, ſhall take their journey: they ſhall blow an alarm for their journeys.

7 But when the congregation is to be gathered together; you ſhall blow, but you ſhall not ſound an alarm.

8 And the ſons of Aaron the prieſt ſhall blow with the trumpets; and they ſhall be to you for an ordinance for ever throughout your generations.

9 And if ye go to war in your land againſt the enemy that oppreſſeth you, then ye ſhall blow an alarm with the trumpets; and ye ſhall be remembered before the Lord your God, and ye ſhall be ſaved from your enemies.

10 Alſo in the day of your gladneſs, and in your ſolemn days, and in the beginnings of your months, ye ſhall blow with the trumpets over your burnt-offerings, and over the ſacrifices of your peace-offerings: that they may be to you for a memorial before your God: I am the Lord your God.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs on the twentieth day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year, that the cloud was taken up from off the tabernacle of the teſtimony.

12 And the children of Iſrael took their journeys out of the wilderneſs of Sinai; and the cloud reſted in the wilderneſs of Paran.

13 And they firſt took their journey, according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

14 ¶ In the firſt place went the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Judah, according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab.

15 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, was Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar.

16 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, was Eliab the ſon of Helon.

17 And the tabernacle was taken down: and the ſons of Gerſhon, and the ſons of Merari ſet forward, bearing the tabernacle.

18 ¶ And the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben, ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

19 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Simeon, was Shelumiel, the Son of Zuriſhaddai.

20 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Gad, was Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

21 And the Kohathites ſet forward, bearing the ſanctuary; and the other did ſet up the tabernacle againſt they came.

22 ¶ And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Ephraim ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

23 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, was Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

24 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, was Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

25 And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Dan ſet forward, which was the rear-ward of all the camps throughout their hoſts: and over his hoſt was Ahiezer, the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

26 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Aſher, was Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

27 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, was Ahira the ſon of Enan.

28 Thus were the journeyings of the children of Iſrael, according to their armies, when they ſet forward.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto Hobab, the ſon of Raguel the Midianite, Moſes' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the Lord ſaid, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the Lord hath ſpoken good concerning Iſrael.

30 And he ſaid unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land and to my kindred.

31 And he ſaid, Leave us not, I pray thee; foraſmuch as thou knoweſt how we are to encamp in the wilderneſs, and thou mayeſt be to us inſtead of eyes.

32 And it ſhall be, if thou go with us, yea, it ſhall be, that what goodneſs the Lord ſhall do unto us, the ſame will we do unto thee.

33 And they departed from the mount of the Lord three days journey: and the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them in the three days journey, to ſearch out a reſting-place for them.

34 And the cloud of the Lord was upon them by day, when they went out of the camp.

35 And it came to paſs when the ark ſet forward, that Moſes ſaid, Riſe up, Lord, and let thine enemies be ſcattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36 And when it reſted, he ſaid, Return, O Lord, unto the many thouſands of Iſrael.

CHAP. XI.

4 Manna loathed. 16 The ſeventy elders. 31 Quails given.

AND when the people complained, it diſpleaſed the Lord: and the Lord heard it: and his anger was kindled; and the fire of the Lord burnt among them, and conſumed them that were in the utterməſt parts of the camp.

2 And the people cried unto Moſes: and when Moſes prayed unto the Lord, the fire was quenched.

3 And he called the name of the place Taberah: becauſe the fire of the Lord burnt among them.

4 ¶ And the mixt multitude that was amongſt them fell a luſting: and the children of Iſrael alſo wept again, and ſaid, Who ſhall give us fleſh to eat?

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

8 The ſons of Aaron ſhall blow with the trumpets.) The prieſts alone were permitted to ſound the trumpets; God appointed theſe his own miniſters to do it, that greater regard might be paid to theſe ſoundings, as if he himſelf had called upon them to attend his ſummons.

9 And if ye go to war, &c.) Previouſly to the Iſraelites going forth to war, they were called together to implore a bleſſing on their arms; a faſt being proclaimed by the ſounding of the trumpet, at the ſame time that it ſounded the alarm of war. Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, ſanctify a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly, Joel ii. 15.

29 Moſes ſaid unto Hobab the ſon of Raguel.) Raguel is another name for Jethro, who being returned to his own country, Hobab his ſon, and the brother of Moſes' wife, had accompanied Moſes all the time the Iſraelites encamped at Sinai, which was not far from Midian: but as the people were now marching towards the land of Canaan, he was deſirous of returning to his father.

5 We remember the fiſh which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick:

6 But now our ſoul is dried away: there is nothing at all, beſides this manna, before our eyes.

7 And the manna was as coriander ſeed, and the colour thereof as the colour of bdellium.

8 And the people went about, and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it; and the taſte of it was as the taſte of freſh oil.

9 And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it.

10 Then Moſes heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent: and the anger of the Lord was kindled greatly; Moſes alſo was diſpleaſed.

11 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, Wherefore haſt thou afflicted thy ſervant? and wherefore have I not found favour in thy ſight, that thou layeſt the burden of all this people upon me?

12 Have I conceived all this people? have I begotten them, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay unto me, Carry them in thy boſom, (as a nurſing father beareth the ſucking child) unto the land which thou ſwareſt unto their fathers?

13 Whence ſhould I have fleſh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, ſaying, Give us fleſh, that we may eat.

14 I am not able to bear all this people alone, becauſe it is too heavy for me.

15 And if thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, out of hand, if I have found favour in thy ſight; and let me not ſee my wretchedneſs.

16 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Gather unto me ſeventy men of the elders of Iſrael, whom thou knoweſt to be the elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, that they may ſtand there with thee.

17 And I will come down and talk with thee there: and I will take of the ſpirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them; and they ſhall bear the burden of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thyſelf alone.

18 And ſay thou unto the people, Sanctify yourſelves againſt to-morrow, and ye ſhall eat fleſh, for ye have wept in the ears of the Lord, ſaying, Who ſhall give us fleſh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt: therefore the Lord will give you fleſh, and ye ſhall eat.

19 Ye ſhall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days;

20 But even a whole month, until it come out of your noſtrils, and it be loathſome unto you: becauſe that ye have deſpiſed the Lord which is among you, and have wept before him, ſaying, Why came we forth out of Egypt?

21 And Moſes ſaid, The people among whom I am, are ſix hundred thouſand footmen; and thou haſt ſaid, I will give them fleſh, that they may eat a whole month.

22 Shall the flocks and the herds be ſlain for them, to ſuffice them? or ſhall all the fiſh of the ſea be gathered together for them, to ſuffice them?

23 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Is the Lord's hand waxed ſhort? thou ſhalt ſee now whether my word ſhall come to paſs unto thee, or not.

24 And Moſes went out, and told the people the words of the Lord, and gathered the ſeventy men of the elders of the people, and ſet them round about the tabernacle.

25 And the Lord came down in a cloud, and ſpake unto him, and took of the ſpirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the ſeventy elders, and it came to paſs that when the ſpirit reſted upon them, they propheſied, and did not ceaſe.

26 But there remained two of the men in the camp, the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad: and the ſpirit reſted upon them, (and they were of them that were written, but went not out unto the tabernacle,) and they propheſied in the camp.

27 And there ran a young man, and told Moſes, and ſaid, Eldad and Medad do propheſy in the camp.

28 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, the ſervant of Moſes, one of his young men, anſwered, and ſaid, My lord Moſes, forbid them.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto him, Envieſt thou for my ſake? would God that all the Lord's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his ſpirit upon them.

30 And Moſes gat him into the camp, he and the elders of Iſrael.

31 ¶ And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from the ſea; and let them fall by the camp, as it were a day's journey on this ſide, and as it were a day's journey on the other ſide, round about the camp, and as it were, two cubits high, upon the face of the earth.

32 And the people ſtood up all that day and all that night, and all the next day, and they gathered the quails: he that gathered leaſt, gathered ten homers:

Commentary on Chap. XI.

5 We remember the fiſh, &c.) The lake Mœris, and the river Nile in Egypt, were both remarkable for fiſhes. The Egyptian proſelytes, who appear to have been the fomenters of this murmuring, having ſpread the ſpirit of diſſention among the Iſraelites, they openly reproach their deliverer, as having decoyed them from a plentiful country, where the lakes and rivers fed them with ſuch a delightful variety of fiſh, and the rich ſoil abounded with the beſt herbs, ſallets, and fruits. All which they had now exchanged for a miſerable ſtarving condition, with nothing but manna to cloy, rather than comfort and nouriſh them. What a ſtrong picture is here of the ſlaviſh illiberal ſpirit of the Jewiſh nation? How could they have ſhewn a higher degree of baſe ingratitude, than thus to forget their late ſignal deliverance from that miſerable apprehenſion under which they groaned, and notwithſtanding their happy freedom, their peaceful enjoyment of all the neceſſary good things of life, under the patronage of their Almighty King, who had undertaken to conduct them into a land flowing with milk and honey, to long to return to Egyptian bondage, and merely for the ſake of gratifying a carnal appetite, to be willing to reſume their chains.

15 Let me not ſee my wretchedneſs.) Moſes here ſpeaks like an affectionate parent of the people, who makes their ſufferings his own. And indeed, what could make a prince of ſuch paternal tenderneſs more wretched, than to ſee the Iſraelites ſo diſobedient, not only to his own commands, but thoſe of indulgent heaven itſelf! to ſee them by their perverſeneſs, drawing down ſuch direful calamities upon themſelves, and the enemies of God rejoicing in their deſtruction!

31 And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from the ſea.) By the ſea is meant the Red ſea, which was at no great diſtance from the camp of Iſrael; and the wind was ſaid to be from the Lord, becauſe it was ordered and directed by his ſpecial power and providence. The two moſt learned men of their age, Bochart and Ludolphus, have differed in their opinions what this food was, which we tranſlate quails; the former endeavouring to prove that our tranſlation is right, the bird known by that name being the food ſent in this miraculous manner by the all-powerful Jehovah: while the latter attempts to ſhew, that inſtead of quails, the word ſhould have been rendered locuſts. The original term is ſelaim, and implies both; and perhaps both were ſent at the ſame time. The Pſalmiſt ſeems to favour this interpretation, when he ſays that God rained fleſh upon them as thick as duſt, and feathered fowls as the ſand of the ſea: and let it fall into their camp, even round about their habitation, Pſalm lxxviii. 27. and they ſpread them all abroad for themſelves round about the camp.

33 And while the fleſh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed, the wrath of the Lord was kindled againſt the people; and the Lord ſmote the people with a very great plague.

34 And he called the name of that place Kibroth-hataavah: becauſe there they buried the people that luſted.

35 And the people journeyed from Kibroth-hataavah unto Hazeroth, and abode at Hazeroth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Miriam and Aaron's ſedition. 10 Miriam's leproſy, 14 is healed.

AND Miriam and Aaron ſpake againſt Moſes, becauſe of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married: for he had married an Ethiopian woman.

2 And they ſaid, Hath the Lord indeed ſpoken only by Moſes? hath he not ſpoken alſo by us? And the Lord heard it.

3 (Now the man Moſes was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth)

4 And the Lord ſpake ſuddenly unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, come out ye three unto the tabernacle of the congregation. And they three came out.

5 And the Lord came down in the pillar of the cloud, and ſtood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam; and they both came forth,

6 And he ſaid, Hear now my words, If there be a prophet among you, I the Lord will make myſelf known unto him in a viſion, and will ſpeak unto him in a dream.

7 My ſervant Moſes is not ſo, who is faithful in all mine houſe.

8 With him will I ſpeak mouth to mouth, even apparently, and not in dark ſpeeches; and the ſimilitude of the Lord ſhall he behold: wherefore then were ye not afraid to ſpeak againſt my ſervant Moſes?

9 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt them, and he departed.

10 And the cloud departed from off the tabernacle, and behold, Miriam became leprous, white as ſnow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, ſhe was leprous.

11 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Alas, my lord, I beſeech thee, lay not the ſin upon us, wherein we have done fooliſhly, and wherein we have ſinned.

12 Let her not be as one dead: of whom the fleſh is half conſumed, when he cometh out of his mother's womb.

13 And Moſes cried unto the Lord ſaying, Heal her now, O God, I beſeech thee.

14 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, If her father had but ſpit in her face, ſhould ſhe not be aſhamed ſeven days? let her be ſhut out from the camp ſeven days, and after that let her be received in again.

15 And Miriam was ſhut out from the camp ſeven days: and the people journeyed not till Miriam was brought in again.

16 And afterward the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Paran.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The names, 17 inſtructions, 21 and acts of the ſpies.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Send thou men that they may ſearch the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Iſrael; of every tribe of their fathers ſhall ye ſend a man, every one a ruler among them.

3 And Moſes by the commandment of the Lord ſent them from the wilderneſs of Paran: all thoſe men were heads of the children of Iſrael.

4 And theſe were their names: of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the ſon of Zaccur.

5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the ſon of Hori.

6 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

7 Of the tribe of Iſſachar, Igal the ſon of Joſeph.

8 Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oſhea the ſon of Nun,

9 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the ſon of Raphu.

10 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the ſon of Sodi.

11 Of the tribe of Joſeph, namely, of the tribe of Manaſſeh, Gaddi the ſon of Suſi.

12 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the ſon of Gemalli.

13 Of the tribe of Aſher, Sethur the ſon of Michael.

14 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the ſon of Vophſi.

15 Of the tribe of Gad, Geuel the ſon of Machi.

16 Theſe are the names of the men which Moſes ſent to ſpy out the land. And Moſes called Oſhea the ſon of Nun, Jehoſhua.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

3 Now the man Moſes was very meek, &c.) This is mentioned as an aggravation of their fault, and as a thing which provoked the divine diſpleaſure; namely their behaving ſo inſolently againſt a man of Moſes' ſweet diſpoſition, who was the fartheſt of all men living from abuſing his power, ſlighting any perſon beneath him, or harbouring the leaſt malice for perſonal affronts. This encomium ſeems to have been extorted from Moſes, as a neceſſary vindication of himſelf from calumny and detraction; and ſurely it can be no offence to modeſty, for a perſon to make uſe of it in ſuch a ſituation.

11 Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, alas, my lord.) Aaron now ſenſible of the ſuperior dignity of Moſes, and of his own folly, begs of him in the moſt humble terms, to forgive him, and to intercede with God for the life of his ſiſter, who muſt have died of her diſtemper, had not the Divine Power miraculouſly interpoſed. The reaſon why Aaron was not puniſhed as well as Miriam, ſeems to be partly becauſe he was leſs in the fault, and partly out of regard to his character, that the prieſthood might not fall into contempt. Beſides, his humble petition, in all probability, procured him a pardon.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

2 Send thou men.) It appears, from Deut. i. 22, 23, that the people firſt requeſted that the ſpies ſhould be ſent, and therefore Moſes in ſending them did it in compliance to their humour. This diſtruſtful multitude, forgetting the power and promiſes of God, were afraid to make the attempt of poſſeſſing themſelves of the land of Canaan, till ſome were ſent to bring them intelligence what kind of country it was, and what ſort of people they were to contend with.

16 And Moſes called Oſhea the ſon of Nun, Jehoſhua.) It does not appear for what reaſon this name was given to him; but we find him called Joſhua, Ex. xvii. 9. when he went to fight the Amalekites. Oſhea ſignifies ſave thou, and Jehoſhua, he ſhall ſave, ſignifying, that he was to be the deliverer of his people. The word is of the ſame import with Jeſus; and therefore, in the Septuagint tranſlation, he is more than once called by that name. He was a type of Chriſt; for as he led the children of Iſrael into the land of Canaan, ſo our bleſſed Saviour brings his redeemed to the kingdom of heaven, that reſt which remaineth for the people of God.

17 ¶ And Moſes ſent them to ſpy out the land of Canaan, and ſaid unto them, Get ye up this way ſouthward, and go up into the mountain:

18 And ſee the land what it is, and the people that dwelleth therein, whether they be ſtrong or weak, few or many;

19 And what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad; and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether in tents or in ſtrong holds;

20 And what the land is, whether it be fat or lean, whether there be wood therein or not. And be ye of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land. Now the time was the time of the firſt-ripe grapes.

21 ¶ So they went up and ſearched the land from the wilderneſs of Zin, unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath.

22 And they aſcended by the ſouth, and came unto Hebron; where Ahiman, Sheſhai, and Talmai, the children of Anak, were (now Hebron was built ſeven years before Zoan in Egypt.)

23 And they came unto the brook of Eſhcol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluſter of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a ſtaff; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

24 The place was called the brook Eſhcol, becauſe of the cluſter of grapes which the children of Iſrael cut down from thence.

25 And they returned from ſearching of the land after forty days.

26 ¶ And they went and came to Moſes and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Iſrael unto the wilderneſs of Paran to Kadeſh: and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and ſhewed them the fruit of the land.

27 And they told him, and ſaid, we came unto the land whither thou ſenteſt us, and ſurely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it.

28 Nevertheleſs, the people be ſtrong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover we ſaw the children of Anak there.

29 The Amalekites dwell in the land of the ſouth: and the Hittites, and the Jebuſites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains: and the Canaanites dwell by the ſea, and by the coaſt of Jordan.

30 And Caleb ſtilled the people before Moſes, and ſaid, Let us go up at once, and poſſeſs it; for we are well able to overcome it.

31 But the men that went up with him, ſaid, We be not able to go up againſt the people, for they are ſtronger than we.

32 And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had ſearched, unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The land through which we have gone to ſearch it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we ſaw in it, are men of a great ſtature.

33 And there we ſaw the giants, the ſons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own ſight as graſhoppers, and ſo we were in their ſight.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The people murmur at the report of the ſpies: 11 God threateneth them.

AND all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night.

2 And all the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron: and the whole congregation ſaid unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt, or would God we had died in this wilderneſs.

3 And wherefore hath the Lord brought us unto this land, to fall by the ſword, that our wives and our children ſhould be a prey; were it not better for us to return into Egypt?

4 And they ſaid one to another, Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt.

5 Then Moſes and Aaron fell on their faces before all the aſſembly of the congregation of the children of Iſrael.

6 ¶ And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of them that ſearched the land, rent their cloaths.

7 And they ſpake unto all the company of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, the land which we paſſed through to ſearch it, is an exceeding good land.

8 If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey.

9 Only rebel not ye againſt the Lord, neither fear ye the people of the land; for they are bread for us; their defence is departed from them, and the Lord is with us: fear them not.

10 But all the congregation bade ſtone them with ſtones: and the glory of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Iſrael.

11 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the ſigns which I have ſhewed among them?

12 I will ſmite them with the peſtilence, and diſinherit them, and will make of thee a greater nation, and mightier than they.

13 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, Then the Egyptians ſhall hear it (for thou broughteſt up this people in thy might from among them)

14 And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land: for they have heard that thou Lord, art among this people, that thou Lord, art ſeen face to face, and that thy cloud ſtandeth over them, and that thou goeſt before them, by day time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night.

15 Now if thou ſhalt kill all this people, as one man; then the nations which have heard the fame of thee, will ſpeak, ſaying,

16 Becauſe the Lord was not able to bring this people into the land which he ſware unto them, there-

32 A land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof.) The Jews conſider this as ſpoken in relation to famine, by which the country was apt to eat up or conſume its inhabitants, and which they ſuppoſe to have infeſted it at that time. To confirm this opinion, it is obſerved, that the land of Canaan is deſcribed by Moſes as incident to famine; for we have an account of no leſs than three grievous famines infeſting it in the days of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob. But however ſubject the land might be to famine, it could not be afflicted with that terrible ſcourge when the ſpies ſurveyed it; for they had before acknowledged it to be a land of plenty, a land flowing with milk and honey. The expreſſion therefore ſeems to relate to the great number of inhabitants, who were ſo numerous, that the land was but juſt ſufficient to maintain them; repreſenting them at once terrible, both with regard to their number and ſtrength.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

1 And all the congregation, &c.) The people were thrown into ſuch a ferment by this falſe repreſentation of the land of Canaan, made by the ſpies, that nothing was heard but lamentations of the hard condition of themſelves and families; to be drawn from a plentiful country, to undergo ſo many hardſhips, under the falſe hopes of freedom and a happy ſettlement; and then at laſt to be left, man, woman, and child, to the mercy of a public enemy: a condition, they ſaid, much worſe than to have been ſtruck dead at the ſame time with the Egyptians, or to have periſhed out of hand by the plague.

fore

fore he hath ſlain them in the wilderneſs.

17 And now, I beſeech thee, let the power of my Lord be great, according as thou haſt ſpoken, ſaying,

18 The Lord is long-ſuffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and tranſgreſſion, and by no means clearing the guilty, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation.

19 Pardon, I beſeech thee, the iniquity of this people, according unto the greatneſs of thy mercy, and as thou haſt forgiven this people, from Egypt even until now.

20 And the Lord ſaid, I have pardoned according to thy word:

21 But as truly as I live, all the earth ſhall be filled with the glory of the Lord.

22 Becauſe all thoſe men which have ſeen my glory, and my miracles which I did in Egypt and in the wilderneſs, and have tempted me now theſe ten times, and have not hearkened to my voice;

23 Surely they ſhall not ſee the land which I ſware unto their fathers, neither ſhall any of them that provoked me ſee it:

24 But my ſervant Caleb, becauſe he had another ſpirit with him, and hath followed me fully; him will I bring into the land whereunto he went: and his ſeed ſhall poſſeſs it.

25 (Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley.) To-morrow turn ye, and get ye into the wilderneſs, by the way of the Red ſea.

26 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

27 How long ſhall I bear with this evil congregation which murmur againſt me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael which they murmur againſt me.

28 Say unto them, As truly as I live, ſaith the Lord, as ye have ſpoken in mine ears, ſo will I do to you.

29 Your carcaſes ſhall fall in this wilderneſs; and all that were numbered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured againſt me,

30 Doubtleſs ye ſhall not come into the land, concerning which I ſware to make you dwell therein, ſave Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun.

31 But your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, them will I bring in, and they ſhall know the land which ye have deſpiſed.

32 But as for you, your carcaſes they ſhall fall in this wilderneſs.

33 And your children ſhall wander in the wilderneſs forty years, and bear your whoredoms, until your carcaſes be waſted in the wilderneſs.

34 After the number of the days in which ye ſearched the land, even forty days, (each day for a year,) ſhall ye bear your iniquities, even forty years, and ye ſhall know my breach of promiſe.

35 I the Lord have ſaid, I will ſurely do it unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together againſt me: in this wilderneſs they ſhall be conſumed, and there they ſhall die.

36 And the men which Moſes ſent to ſearch the land, who returned and made all the congregation to murmur againſt him, by bringing up a ſlander upon the land;

37 Even thoſe men that did bring up the evil report upon the land, died by the plague before the Lord.

38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of the men that went to ſearch the land, lived ſtill.

39 And Moſes told theſe ſayings unto all the children of Iſrael: and the people mourned greatly.

40 And they roſe up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, ſaying, Lo we be here, and will go up unto the place which the Lord hath promiſed: for we have ſinned.

41 And Moſes ſaid, Wherefore now do you tranſgreſs the commandment of the Lord? but it ſhall not proſper.

42 Go not up, for the Lord is not among you; that ye be not ſmitten before your enemies.

43 For the Amalekites, and the Canaanites are there before you, and ye ſhall fall by the ſword: becauſe ye are turned away from the Lord; therefore the Lord will not be with you.

44 But they preſumed to go up unto the hill-top: nevertheleſs, the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and Moſes departed not out of the camp.

45 Then the Amalekites came down, and the Canaanites which dwelt in that hill, and ſmote them, and diſcomfited them even unto Hormah.

CHAP. XV.

1 The law of ſundry offerings. 32 The ſabbath-breaker ſtoned. 37 The law of fringes.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come into the land of your habitations which I give unto you,

3 And will make an offering by fire unto the Lord, a burnt-offering or a ſacrifice, in performing a vow, or in a free-will-offering, or in your ſolemn feaſts, to make a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, of the herd or of the flock:

4 Then ſhall he that offereth his offering unto the Lord, bring a meat-offering of a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil.

5 And the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering ſhalt thou prepare, with the burnt-offering, or ſacrifice, for one lamb.

6 Or for a ram thou ſhalt prepare for a meat-offering, two tenth-deals of flour, mingled with the third part of an hin of oil.

7 And for a drink-offering, thou ſhalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

8 And when thou prepareſt a bullock for a burnt-offering, or for a ſacrifice in performing a vow, or peace-offerings unto the Lord:

9 Then ſhall he bring with a bullock a meat-offering of three tenth-deals of flour mingled with half an hin of oil.

21 As truly as I live, all the earth ſhall be filled, &c.) That is, all the earth ſhall acknowledge the juſtice of the proceedings of Omnipotence againſt his people, though he exclude them from the promiſed land.

25 To-morrow turn ye, &c.) Since ye have not the courage to look the Amalekites and the Canaanites in the face, notwithſtanding all the promiſes I have given you of ſupport and protection, it will be your wiſdom to remove from this place; and, inſtead of going forward to take poſſeſſion of the land, as ye were before commanded, return through the wilderneſs towards the Red-ſea, from whence ye came.

40 They roſe up early.) They repented of their folly when it was too late; and were now as forward to go and poſſeſs the land, as they had been backward before. But their repentance was not ſincere; for they were now commanded not to go up: ſo that they only turned from one evil to another, and conſequently became acceſſary to their own ruin.

10 And thou ſhalt bring for a drink-offering half an hin of wine, for an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord:

11 Thus ſhall it be done for one bullock, or for one ram, or a lamb, or a kid.

12 According to the number that ye ſhall prepare, ſo ſhall ye do to every one according to their number.

13 All that are born of the country ſhall do theſe things after this manner, in offering an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

14 And if a ſtranger ſojourn with you, or whoſoever be among you in your generations, and will offer an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord; as ye do, ſo he ſhall do.

15 One ordinance ſhall be both for you of the congregation and alſo for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you, an ordinance for ever in your generations: as ye are, ſo ſhall the ſtranger be before the Lord.

16 One law and one manner ſhall be for you, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you.

17 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

18 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, when ye come into the land, whither I bring you,

19 Then it ſhall be, that when ye eat of the bread of the land, ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering unto the Lord.

20 Ye ſhall offer up a cake of the firſt of your dough for an heave-offering: as ye do the heave-offering of the threſhing-floor, ſo ſhall ye heave it.

21 Of the firſt of your dough ye ſhall give unto the Lord an heave-offering in your generations.

22 And if ye have erred, and not obſerved all theſe commandments which the Lord hath ſpoken unto Moſes;

23 Even all that the Lord hath commanded you by the hand of Moſes, from the day that the Lord commanded Moſes and henceforward among your generations;

24 Then it ſhall be, if ought be committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation, that all the congregation ſhall offer one young bullock for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, with his meat-offering, and his drink-offering, according to the manner, and one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering.

25 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and it ſhall be forgiven them; for it is ignorance: and they ſhall bring their offering, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, and their ſin-offering before the Lord for their ignorance.

26 And it ſhall be forgiven all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them; ſeeing all the people were in ignorance.

27 And if any ſoul ſin through ignorance, then he ſhall bring a ſhe-goat of the firſt year for a ſin-offering.

28 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for the ſoul that ſinneth ignorantly, when he ſinneth by ignorance before the Lord, to make an atonement for him; and it ſhall be forgiven him.

29 Ye ſhall have one law for him that ſinneth thro' ignorance; both for him that is born amongſt the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them.

30 But the ſoul that doeth ought preſumptuouſly, (whether he be born in the land, or a ſtranger,) the ſame reproacheth the Lord; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people.

31 Becauſe he hath deſpiſed the word of the Lord, and hath broken his commandment; that ſoul ſhall utterly be cut off; his iniquity ſhall be upon him.

32 ¶ And while the children of Iſrael were in the wilderneſs, they found a man that gathered ſticks upon the ſabbath-day.

33 And they that found him gathering ſticks, brought him unto Moſes and Aaron, and unto all the congregation.

34 And they put him in ward, becauſe it was not declared what ſhould be done to him.

35 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, The man ſhall be ſurely put to death: all the congregation ſhall ſtone him with ſtones without the camp.

36 And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and ſtoned him with ſtones, and he died; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

37 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

38 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and bid them that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments, throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue,

39 And it ſhall be unto you for a fringe, that ye may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them; and that ye ſeek not after your own heart, and your own eyes, after which ye uſe to go a whoring:

40 That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.

41 I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord your God.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The rebellion of Korah, &c. 31 His puniſhment. 41 A plague, 46 ſtayed by Aaron.

NOW Korah the ſon of Izhar, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi; and Dathan and Abiram the ſons of Eliab, and On the ſon of Peleth, ſons of Reuben, took men;

30 The ſoul that doeth ought preſumptuouſly.) That is, whoever ſhall in any caſe, not only knowingly and deliberately, but preſumptuouſly, in contempt of the law, and of the authority of the Divine Law-giver, againſt all advice and admonition, run counter to the expreſs command of God, that then no atonement ſhould be admitted, but the delinquent cut off by death.

38 Bid them that they make fringes, &c.) This ornament was intended to diſtinguiſh them by their dreſs, as circumciſion did in their perſons, from other nations; ſo that as often as they looked upon this mark, they might be put in mind of their being the worſhippers of the true God, a holy people, and bound to the ſervice of their Maker, by peculiar laws and obligations. Many of the Jews however conſidered theſe ornaments in a very different light, and prided themſelves in wearing them. And the Phariſees, in our Saviour's time, had recourſe to enlarging their fringes, in order to make them more obſervable, and gain them the reputation of greater ſanctity than others.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

1 Now Korah, &c.) The many ample teſtimonies, nay the miracles, whereby God had eſtabliſhed the authority of Moſes as chief governor, and of Aaron and his family as prieſts, were not ſufficient to reſtrain the ambition of mutinous and deſigning men. Korah, couſin-german to Moſes and Aaron, a man of ſome figure among the Levites, thinking himſelf undervalued by the poſt he was in, being only a Levite, and not one of the heads of them neither, deprived of all hopes of arriving at the prieſthood, as things now ſtood; determined to excite a mutiny againſt them, and make an attempt to raiſe himſelf to the prieſthood, by forcing them to change their meaſures, or by depriving them of their authority. And in order to carry on this deſign with a greater proſpect of ſucceſs, he drew in Dathan, Abiram, and others of the Reubenites, into his rebellion, who were joined by two hundred and fifty perſons of ſome credit and authority among the reſt of the tribes, they formed themſelves into a party, giving out, that they were determined to have a change of government.

2 And they rose up before Moses with certain of the children of Israel, two hundred and fifty princes of the assembly, famous in the congregation, men of renown:

3 And they gathered themselves together against Moses and against Aaron, and said unto them, Ye take too much upon you, seeing all the congregation are holy every one of them, and the Lord is among them: wherefore then lift ye up yourselves above the congregation of the Lord?

4 And when Moses heard it, he fell upon his face:

5 And he spake unto Korah, and unto all his company, saying, Even to-morrow the Lord will shew who are his, and who is holy: and will cause him to come near unto him: even him whom he hath chosen will he cause to come near unto him.

6 This do; take ye censers, Korah, and all his company;

7 And put fire therein, and put incense in them before the Lord to-morrow: and it shall be that the man whom the Lord doth choose, he shall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye sons of Levi.

8 And Moses said unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye sons of Levi:

9 Seemeth it but a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near to himself, to do the service of the tabernacle of the Lord, and to stand before the congregation, to minister unto them?

10 And he hath brought thee near to him, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee: and seek ye the priesthood also?

11 For which cause both thou and all thy company are gathered together against the Lord: and what is Aaron that ye murmur against him?

12 And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab: which said, We will not come up.

13 Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us up out of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness, except thou make thyself altogether a prince over us?

14 Moreover thou hast not brought us into a land that floweth with milk and honey, or given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou put out the eyes of these men? we will not come up.

15 And Moses was very wroth, and said unto the Lord, Respect not thou their offering: I have not taken one ass from them, neither have I hurt one of them.

16 And Moses said unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company before the Lord, thou, and they, and Aaron to-morrow:

17 And take every man his censer, and put incense in them, and bring ye before the Lord every man his censer, two hundred and fifty censers; thou also and Aaron, each of you his censer.

18 And they took every man his censer, and put fire in them, and laid incense thereon, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moses and Aaron.

19 And Korah gathered all the congregation against them, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the congregation.

20 And the Lord spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying,

21 Separate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may consume them in a moment.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said, O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin, and wilt thou be wroth with all the congregation?

23 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the congregation, saying, Get you up from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan and Abiram.

25 And Moses rose up and went unto Dathan and Abiram; and the elders of Israel followed him.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest ye be consumed in all their sins.

27 So they gat up from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, on every side: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and stood in the door of their tents, and their wives, and their sons, and their little children.

28 And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that the Lord hath sent me to do all these works: for I have not done them of mine own mind.

29 If these men die the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men; then the Lord hath not sent me.

30 But if the Lord make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick into the pit; then ye shall understand that these men have provoked the Lord.

31 ¶ And it came to pass as he had made an end of speaking all these words, that the ground clave asunder, that was under them:

32 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their houses, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their goods.

33 They, and all that appertained to them, went down alive into the pit, and the earth closed upon them: and they perished from among the congregation.

34 And all Israel that were round about them, fled at the cry of them: for they said, Lest the earth swallow us up also.

35 And there came out a fire from the Lord, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense.

36 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

37 Speak unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning, and scatter thou the fire yonder; for they are hallowed.

38 The censers of these sinners against their own souls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar: for they offered them before the Lord, therefore they are hallowed: and they shall be a sign unto the children of Israel.

39 And Eleazar the priest took the brazen censers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered; and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar:

40 To be a memorial unto the children of Israel, that no stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer incense before the Lord; that he

---

3 Against Moses.) They struck at Moses, as they pretended he had advanced his brother and family to the priesthood by his own authority, and not by God's direction.

14 Wilt thou put out the eyes of these men?) Dost thou think to blind us, so that none of us shall discern this imposture? or shall we suffer thee to lead us about like blind men whither thou pleasest, sometimes towards Canaan, and now back again towards the Red Sea and Egypt?

30 They go down quick into the pit.) The original word which we render pit is sheol, and sometimes signifies the grave, or receptacle for dead bodies; and sometimes the region of departed souls, whether good or bad, the same as hades in the Greek. But here it plainly denotes, that pit or cavity in the earth into which the bodies, tents, and substance of these men were swallowed up.

be

be not as Korah, and as his company; as the Lord ſaid to him by the hand of Moſes.

41 ¶ But on the morrow, all the congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron, ſaying, Ye have killed the people of the Lord.

42 And it came to paſs, when the congregation was gathered againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron, that they looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation: and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the Lord appeared.

43 And Moſes and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation.

44 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

45 Get you up from among this congregation, that I may conſume them as in a moment: and they fell upon their faces.

46 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a cenſer, and put fire therein from off the altar, and put on incenſe, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the Lord; the plague is begun.

47 And Aaron took as Moſes commanded, and ran into the midſt of the congregation; and behold, the plague was begun among the people: and he put on incenſe, and made an atonement for the people.

48 And he ſtood between the dead and the living, and the plague was ſtayed.

49 Now they that died in the plague, were fourteen thouſand and ſeven hundred, beſide them that died about the matter of Korah.

50 And Aaron returned unto Moſes, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and the plague was ſtayed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Aaron's rod budding, 10 is laid up for a monument.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and take of every one of them a rod according to the houſe of their fathers, of all their princes, according to the houſe of their fathers, twelve rods: write thou every man's name upon his rod.

3 And thou ſhalt write Aaron's name upon the rod of Levi: for one rod ſhall be for the head of the houſe of their fathers.

4 And thou ſhalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the congregation before the teſtimony where I will meet with you.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the man's rod whom I ſhall chooſe, ſhall bloſſom: and I will make to ceaſe from me the murmurings of the children of Iſrael, whereby they murmur againſt you.

6 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, and every one of their princes gave him a rod a piece, for each prince one, according to their fathers' houſes, even twelve rods: and the rod of Aaron was among their rods.

7 And Moſes laid up the rods before the Lord, in the tabernacle of witneſs.

8 And it came to paſs, that on the morrow Moſes went into the tabernacle of witneſs; and behold, the rod of Aaron for the houſe of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed bloſſoms, and yielded almonds.

9 And Moſes brought out all the rods from before the Lord unto all the children of Iſrael: and they looked, and took every man his rod.

10 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Bring Aaron's rod again before the teſtimony, to be kept for a token againſt the rebels; and thou ſhalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not.

11 And Moſes did ſo: as the Lord commanded him, ſo did he.

12 And the children of Iſrael ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Behold, we die, we periſh, we all periſh.

13 Whoſoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the Lord, ſhall die: ſhall we be conſumed with dying?

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The charge of the prieſts and Levites. 9 The prieſts', 21 and the Levites' portions.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Aaron, Thou and thy ſons and thy father's houſe with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of the ſanctuary: and thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of your prieſthood.

2 And thy brethren alſo of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and miniſter unto thee: but thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall miniſter before the tabernacle of witneſs.

3 And they ſhall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tabernacle; only they ſhall not come nigh the veſſels of the ſanctuary and the altar, that neither they, nor ye, alſo die.

4 And they ſhall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the ſervice of the tabernacle; and a ſtranger ſhall not come nigh unto you.

5 And ye ſhall keep the charge of the ſanctuary, and the charge of the altar; that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Iſrael.

6 And I, behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: to you they are given as a gift for the Lord, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation.

41 All the congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured, &c.) It was natural to expect, that ſo ſignal a judgment would have been ſufficient to have ſilenced, for ſome time at leaſt, all murmurings and diſcontent; but we find it had a quite different effect upon this head-ſtrong and ſtiff-necked people: for the very next day they ran together in a tumultuous manner, charging Moſes and Aaron with the blood of thoſe men who had ſo evidently ſuffered by the hand of Omnipotence himſelf.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

8 Was budded and brought forth buds, &c.) It ſeems, that in ſome parts of the rod there was an appearance of buds coming forth; in others, the buds were fully thruſt out; in others, they were opened into bloſſoms, and theſe bloſſoms in other parts knotted, and grown into almonds. All theſe changes happening in the ſpace of a night, could not but be very amazing; and, unleſs they ſhut their eyes, muſt convince the people, that God had plainly diſtinguiſhed between Aaron and the reſt of the children of Iſrael. And indeed they ſeem to have been ſo thoroughly convinced by this miracle, that we do not find the authority of Aaron's prieſthood was ever afterwards called in queſtion.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 Shall bear the iniquity of the ſanctuary.) That is, to you it belongeth to take care that none of the laity, and thoſe who are legally defiled, approach the tabernacle; for if the ſanctuary, and its ſacred inſtitutions be profaned through your neglect, who have the charge of it, you ſhall bear the puniſhment of ſuch profanation. This, together with the declaration in the remaining part of the verſe, comforted the people, who were under the moſt dreadful apprehenſions that they ſhould die for every irregular approach to the ſanctuary. Theſe declarations ſerved alſo to remove the people's envy from the prieſts, whoſe dignity they ſaw was attended with ſo much danger.

7 Therefore thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall keep your prieſt's office for every thing of the altar, and within the vail: and ye ſhall ſerve: I have given your prieſt's office unto you, as a ſervice of gift: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

8 And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, Behold, I alſo have given thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Iſrael; unto thee have I given them, by reaſon of the anointing, and to thy ſons by an ordinance for ever.

9 This ſhall be thine of the moſt holy things reſerved from the fire: every oblation of theirs, every meat-offering of theirs, and every ſin-offering of theirs, and every treſpaſs-offering of theirs, which they ſhall render unto me, ſhall be moſt holy for thee and for thy ſons.

10 In the moſt holy place ſhalt thou eat it: every male ſhall eat it; it ſhall be holy unto thee.

11 And this is thine: the heave-offering of their gift, with all the wave-offerings of the children of Iſrael: I have given them unto thee, and to thy ſons, and to thy daughters with thee, by a ſtatute for ever: every one that is clean in thy houſe ſhall eat of it.

12 All the beſt of the oil, and all the beſt of the wine, and of the wheat, the firſt-fruits of them which they ſhall offer unto the Lord, them have I given thee.

13 And whatſoever is firſt ripe in the land, which they ſhall bring unto the Lord, ſhall be thine: every one that is clean in thine houſe ſhall eat of it.

14 Every thing devoted in Iſrael ſhall be thine.

15 Every thing that openeth the matrix in all fleſh, which they bring unto the Lord, whether it be of men or beaſts, ſhall be thine: nevertheleſs, the firſt-born of man ſhalt thou ſurely redeem, and the firſtling of unclean beaſts ſhalt thou redeem.

16 And thoſe that are to be redeemed, from a month old ſhalt thou redeem according to thine eſtimation, for the money of five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, which is twenty gerahs.

17 But the firſtling of a cow, or the firſtling of a ſheep, or the firſtling of a goat, thou ſhalt not redeem; they are holy: thou ſhalt ſprinkle their blood upon the altar, and ſhalt burn their fat for an offering made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

18 And the fleſh of them ſhall be thine, as the wave-breaſt, and as the right ſhoulder are thine.

19 All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the children of Iſrael offer unto the Lord, have I given thee, and thy ſons, and thy daughters with thee by a ſtatute for ever: it is a covenant of ſalt for ever, before the Lord, unto thee and to thy ſeed with thee.

20 And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, Thou ſhalt have no inheritance in their land, neither ſhalt thou have any part among them: I am thy part, and thine inheritance among the children of Iſrael.

21 ¶ And behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Iſrael, for an inheritance, for their ſervice which they ſerve, even the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation.

22 Neither muſt the children of Iſrael henceforth come nigh the tabernacle of the congregation, leaſt they bear ſin, and die.

23 But the Levites ſhall do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they ſhall bear their iniquity: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, that among the children of Iſrael they have no inheritance.

24 But the tithes of the children of Iſrael, which they offer as an heave-offering unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites to inherit: therefore I have ſaid unto them, Among the children of Iſrael they ſhall have no inheritance.

25 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

26 Thus ſpeak unto the Levites and ſay unto them, When ye take of the children of Iſrael the tithes which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering of it for the Lord, even a tenth part of the tithe.

27 And this your heave-offering ſhall be reckoned unto you as though it were the corn of the threſhing-floor, and as the fulneſs of the wine-preſs.

28 Thus ye alſo ſhall offer an heave-offering unto the Lord, of all your tithes, which ye receive of the children of Iſrael: and ye ſhall give thereof the Lord's heave-offering to Aaron the prieſt.

29 Out of all your gifts ye ſhall offer every heave-offering of the Lord, of all the beſt thereof, even the hallowed part thereof out of it.

30 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, When ye have heaved the beſt thereof from it, then it ſhall be counted unto the Levites as the increaſe of the threſhing floor, and as the increaſe of the wine-preſs.

31 And ye ſhall eat it in every place, ye and your houſholds: for it is your reward for your ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation.

32 And ye ſhall bear no ſin by reaſon of it, when ye have heaved from it the beſt of it: neither ſhall ye pollute the holy things of the children of Iſrael, leſt ye die.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The water of ſeparation, 11 The uſe of it for purification of the unclean.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord hath commanded, ſaying, Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring thee a red heifer without ſpot, wherein is no bleminſh, and upon which never came yoke.

3 And ye ſhall give her unto Eleazar the prieſt that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one ſhall ſlay her before his face.

4 And Eleazar the prieſt ſhall take of her blood with his finger, and ſprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation ſeven times.

5 And one ſhall burn the heifer in his ſight; her ſkin, and her fleſh, and her blood, with her dung, ſhall he burn.

6 And the prieſt ſhall take cedar wood, and hyſſop,

19 It is a covenant of ſalt.) That is, an everlaſting covenant, or one that ſhall continue as long as the diſpenſation. A perpetual covenant ſeems to be called a covenant of ſalt, becauſe ſalt is of a preſerving nature, and was a ſymbol of friendſhip and fidelity. It is not improbable, that in all ſolemn covenants which were confirmed by ſacrifice, it was an ancient cuſtom to offer ſalt with the ſacrifice, to denote the perpetuity of the covenant; on which account ſalt is required to be offered with all the ſacrifices offered to God: ſo that a covenant of ſalt will ſignify a covenant confirmed by ſacrifice.

24 The tithes which they offer unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites.) As they had parted with their own inheritance to the public, given up many national advantages to other tribes, and eaſed the nation by their ſervices, it was highly reaſonable that they ſhould be provided for by the public.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

3 Unto Eleazar.) The high-prieſt was not to be employed in the following work, becauſe he would by that means have been defiled, a thing which he was in all caſes to avoid.

and

and ſcarlet, and caſt it into the midſt of the burning of the heifer.

7 Then the prieſt ſhall waſh his clothes, and he ſhall bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp, and the prieſt ſhall be unclean until the even.

8 And he that burneth her, ſhall waſh his clothes in water, and bathe his fleſh in water, and ſhall be unclean until the even.

9 And a man that is clean ſhall gather up the aſhes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it ſhall be kept for the congregation of the children of Iſrael, for a water of ſeparation: it is a purification for ſin.

10 And he that gathereth the aſhes of the heifer, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: and it ſhall be unto the children of Iſrael, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them, for a ſtatute for ever.

11 ¶ He that toucheth the dead body of any man, ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

12 He ſhall purify himſelf with it on the third day, and on the ſeventh day he ſhall be clean: but if he purify not himſelf the third day, then the ſeventh day he ſhall not be clean.

13 Whoſoever toucheth the dead body or any man that is dead, and purifieth not himſelf, defileth the tabernacle of the Lord; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael: becauſe the water of ſeparation was not ſprinkled upon him, he ſhall be unclean: his uncleanneſs is yet upon him.

14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent; all that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

15 And every open veſſel which hath no covering bound upon it, is unclean.

16 And whoſoever toucheth one that is ſlain with a ſword in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

17 And for an unclean perſon they ſhall take of the aſhes of the burnt heifer of purification for ſin, and running water ſhall be put thereto in a veſſel.

18 And a clean perſon ſhall take hyſſop, and dip it, in the water, and ſprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the veſſels, and upon the perſons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one ſlain, or one dead, or a grave:

19 And the clean perſon ſhall ſprinkle upon the unclean on the third day, and on the ſeventh day: and on the ſeventh day he ſhall purify himſelf, and waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and ſhall be clean at even.

20 But the man that ſhall be unclean and ſhall not purify himſelf, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among the congregation, becauſe he hath defiled the ſanctuary of the Lord, the water of ſeparation hath not been ſprinkled upon him, he is unclean.

21 And it ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute unto them, that he that ſprinkleth the water of ſeparation, ſhall waſh his clothes, and he that toucheth the water of ſeparation ſhall be unclean until even.

22 And whatſoever the unclean perſon toucheth, ſhall be unclean: and the ſoul that toucheth it, ſhall be unclean until even.

CHAP. XX.

7 Moſes bringeth water out of the rock. 14 Paſſage through Edom denied. 22 Aaron's death.

THEN came the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, into the deſert of Zin, in the firſt month; and the people abode in Kadeſh; and Miriam died there, and was buried there.

2 And there was no water for the congregation: and they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron.

3 And the people chode with Moſes, and ſpake, ſaying, Would God that we had died when our brethren died before the Lord.

4 And why have ye brought up the congregation of the Lord into this wilderneſs, that we and our cattle ſhould die there?

5 And wherefore have ye made us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us in unto this evil place? it is no place of ſeed, or of figs, or of vines, or of pomegranates; neither is there any water to drink.

6 And Moſes and Aaron went from the preſence of the aſſembly unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they fell upon their faces: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto them.

7 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

8 Take the rod, and gather thou the aſſembly together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and ſpeak ye unto the rock before their eyes: and it ſhall give forth his water, and thou ſhalt bring forth to them water out of the rock: ſo thou ſhalt give the congregation and their beaſts drink.

9 And Moſes took the rod from before the Lord, as he commanded him.

10 And Moſes and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he ſaid unto them, Hear now, ye rebels; muſt we fetch you water out of this rock?

11 And Moſes lift up his hand, and with his rod he ſmote the rock twice: and the water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their beaſts alſo.

12 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron, Becauſe ye believed me not to ſanctify me in the eyes of the children of Iſrael, therefore ye ſhall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them.

13 This is the water of Meribah, becauſe the children of Iſrael ſtrove with the Lord: and he was ſanc-

---

9 It is a purification for ſin.) The whole ſyſtem of ceremonial worſhip was purely founded on the ſovereign pleaſure of God, when it was intended to ſhadow forth that adorable plan of redemption which ariſes from the ſame ſource, and is ſtiled in the New Teſtament, the myſtery of his will. It is this that imparts a venerable air to all thoſe rites, which had they been of human inſtitution alone, would have merited contempt. The myſtery of the red heifer, whoſe aſhes ſprinkling the unclean, did ſanctify to the purifying of the fleſh, when defiled by touching corpſe, graves, and dead mens' bones; was typical of the ſprinkling of Chriſt's blood upon our ſouls, to purge our conſcience from dead works, to ſerve the living God. Our Saviour ſuffered without the gate of the city, even as the heifer was burned without the camp; and whoſe blood was of much greater efficacy towards the purging and ſanctifying of men, than that of bulls and goats, the aſhes of a heifer, or any other legal ſacrifice.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

2 And there was no water for the congregation.) The water with which they had hitherto been ſupplied from Horeb, now failed. As their laſt ſtation was at Ezion-geber, near the Red-ſea, chap. xxxiii. 36, that rivulet which had hitherto followed them, in all their journeys thither, perhaps fell there into the Red-ſea. The water failed them as an intimation, that they were now to quit the wilderneſs, and to be introduced into the Promiſed Land, a land of rivers and ſprings.

12 Becauſe ye believed me not.) That is, you had leſs faith in my promiſe than you ought to have had: for they did not really diſbelieve the divine power and veracity, ſince they ſmote the rock, which they never would have done, had they not entertained ſome hope that water would flow from it at the divine command.

tified in them.

14 ¶ And Moſes ſent meſſengers from Kadeſh unto the king of Edom, Thus ſaith thy brother Iſrael, Thou knoweſt all the travel that hath befallen us;

15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time: and the Egyptians vexed us, and our fathers,

16 And when we cried unto the Lord, he heard our voice, and ſent an angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt: and behold, we are in Kadeſh, a city in the uttermoſt of thy border.

17 Let us paſs, I pray thee, through thy country: we will not paſs through the fields, or through the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the king's high-way, we will not turn to the right hand nor to the left, until we have paſſed thy borders.

18 And Edom ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not paſs by me, leſt I come out againſt thee with the ſword.

19 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto him, We will go by the high-way: and if I and my cattle drink of thy water, then I will pay for it: I will only (without doing any thing elſe) go through on my feet.

20 And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt not go through. And Edom came out againſt them with much people, and with a ſtrong hand.

21 Thus Edom refuſed to give Iſrael paſſage through his border: wherefore Iſrael turned away from him.

22 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, journeyed from Kadeſh, and came unto mount Hor.

23 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in mount Hor, by the coaſt of the land of Edom, ſaying, 24 Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people, for he ſhall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael, becauſe ye rebelled againſt my word at the water of Meribah.

25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his ſon, and bring them up unto mount Hor:

26 And ſtrip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon: and Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people, and ſhall die there.

27 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded: and they went up into mount Hor, in the ſight of all the congregation.

28 And Moſes ſtripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon; and Aaron died there, in the top of the mount: and Moſes and Eleazar came down from the mount.

29 And when all the congregation ſaw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days, even all the houſe of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXI.

6 The people bit by fiery ſerpents, 8 are healed. 10 Sundry journeys. 21 Sihon and Og ſlain.

AND when king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt in the ſouth, heard tell that Iſrael came by the way of the ſpies; then he fought againſt Iſrael, and took ſome of them priſoners.

2 And Iſrael vowed a vow unto the Lord, and ſaid, If thou wilt indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly deſtroy their cities.

3 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Iſrael, and delivered up the Canaanites: and they utterly deſtroyed them and their cities: and he called the name of the place Hormah.

4 And they journeyed from mount Hor, by the way of the Red-ſea, to compaſs the land of Edom: and the ſoul of the people was much diſcouraged becauſe of the way.

5 And the people ſpake againſt God, and againſt Moſes, Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderneſs? for there is no bread, neither is there any water; and our ſoul loatheth this light bread.

6 And the Lord ſent fiery ſerpents among the people; and they bit the people; and much people of Iſrael died.

7 ¶ Therefore the people came to Moſes, and ſaid, We have ſinned, for we have ſpoken againſt the Lord, and againſt thee; pray unto the Lord that he take away the ſerpents from us: and Moſes prayed for the people.

8 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, make thee a fiery ſerpent, and ſet it upon a pole: and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, ſhall live.

9 And Moſes made a ſerpent of braſs, and put it upon a pole: and it came to paſs, that if a ſerpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the ſerpent of braſs, he lived.

10 ¶ And the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in Oboth.

11 And they journeyed from Oboth, and pitched at Ije-abarim, in the wilderneſs which is before Moab, toward the ſun-riſing.

12 ¶ From thence they removed, and pitched in the valley of Zared.

13 From thence they removed, and pitched on the 28 And Aaron died there.) This event happened in the fortieth year after they came out of Egypt, on the firſt day of the fifth month, which anſwers to our July, when Aaron was an hundred and twenty-three years old.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

9 When he beheld the ſerpent of braſs, he lived.) The hoſt of Iſrael had long traverſed the deſolate wilderneſs, and finding no end of their wanderings; inſtead of accepting this puniſhment of their iniquity from the hand of the Lord, again they murmur againſt him and Moſes, and undervalue their heavenly proviſion, though the food of angels. The incenſed Jehovah commands the ſerpents to bite them. The ſerpents obeyed, and many people died. The ſurvivors, convinced of their error, confeſs their fault, and beg that Moſes would intercede for them with their offended God. Moſes hearkens to the people, and the Lord was intreated of him. A brazen ſerpent is, by God's command, lifted upon a pole, that it might be conſpicuous from afar; and whoever ſnatched a look at the lifeleſs ſerpent, needed not fear the bite of living ones; for the wound was not mortal. Happy art thou, O Iſrael, a people ſaved by the Lord, Deut. xxxiii. 29. They were hungry, and had miraculous bread; thirſty, and they were ſupplied with miraculous drink; now they are ſick and wounded, and they are favoured with miraculous medicine. Let us behold, in this eminent figure, at once our miſerable ſtate by ſin, and the method of our recovery by Jeſus Chriſt, who, from this very thing, preached to Nicodemus the doctrine of his croſs; For as Moſes lifted up the ſerpent in the wilderneſs, even ſo muſt the ſon of man be lifted up, John iii. 14. The lifting up this ſerpent ſeems an evident prediction of that death which Chriſt ſhould die. Here he is evidently ſet forth crucified before us, as we are taught by himſelf, who is the end of the law for righteouſneſs, when ſpeaking of the death he ſhould die, And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me, John xii. 32. The ſerpent was lifted up on a pole; and Chriſt was lifted up on the accurſed tree. The ſerpent was lifted up by Moſes, the figure of the law; and Chriſt was, by the law, ſubjected to endure the croſs. The ſerpent was lifted up in the moſt conſpicuous manner amid the camp of Iſrael; and the crucifixion of the Son of God was tranſacted in the moſt public manner at Jeruſalem, the metropolis of Judea. The ſerpent was lifted up, that whoſoever beheld it, might be healed and live; and Chriſt was crucified, that whoſoever believeth in him, might not periſh, but have everlaſting life.

other ſide of Arnon, which is in the wilderneſs that cometh out of the coaſt of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites.

14 Wherefore it is ſaid in the book of the wars of the Lord, what he did in the Red-ſea, and in the brooks of Arnon.

15 And at the ſtream of the brooks that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab.

16 And from thence they went to Beer: that is the well whereof the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Gather the people together, and I will give them water.

17 ¶ Then Iſrael ſang this ſong, Spring up, O well, ſing ye unto it:

18 The princes digged the well, the nobles of the people digged it by the direction of the law-giver, with their ſtaves. And from the wilderneſs they went to Mattanah:

19 And from Mattanah to Nahaliel: and from Nahaliel to Bamoth:

20 And from Bamoth in the valley that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Piſgah, which looketh toward Jeſhimon.

21 ¶ And Iſrael ſent meſſengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, ſaying, 22 Let me paſs through thy land: we will not turn into the fields: or into the vineyards, we will not drink of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the king's high-way, until we be paſt thy borders.

23 And Sihon would not ſuffer Iſrael to paſs through his border: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and went out againſt Iſrael into the wilderneſs: and he came to Jahaz and fought againſt Iſrael.

24 And Iſrael ſmote him with the edge of the ſword, and poſſeſſed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was ſtrong.

25 And Iſrael took all theſe cities: and Iſrael dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heſhbon, and in all the villages thereof.

26 For Heſhbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had fought againſt the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

27 Wherefore they that ſpeak in proverbs, ſay, Come into Heſhbon, let the city of Sihon be built and prepared.

28 For there is a fire gone out of Heſhbon, a flame from the city of Sihon: it hath conſumed Ar of Moab, and the lords of the high places of Arnon.

29 Woe to thee, Moab; thou art undone, O people of Chemoſh: he hath given his ſons that eſcaped, and his daughters into captivity unto Sihon king of the Amorites.

30 We have ſhot at them; Heſhbon is periſhed even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waſte even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba.

31 ¶ Thus Iſrael dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

32 And Moſes ſent to ſpy out Jaazer, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorites that were there.

33 ¶ And they turned and went up by the way of Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan went out againſt them, he, and all his people, to the battle at Edrei.

34 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land; and thou ſhalt do to him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon.

35 So they ſmote him, and his ſons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive: and they poſſeſſed his land.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Balak's firſt meſſage for Balaam is rejected. 15 His ſecond obtaineth him. 22 An angel would have ſlain him, if his aſs had not ſaved him. 36 Balak entertaineth him.

AND the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in the plains of Moab, on this ſide Jordan by Jericho.

2 ¶ And Balak the ſon of Zippor ſaw all that Iſrael had done to the Amorites.

3 And Moab was ſore afraid of the people, becauſe they were many; and Moab was diſtreſſed becauſe of the children of Iſrael.

4 And Moab ſaid unto the elders of Midian, Now ſhall this company lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licketh up the graſs of the field. And Balak the ſon of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time.

5 He ſent meſſengers therefore unto Balaam the ſon of Beor, to Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the children of his people, to call him, ſaying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt: behold, they cover the face of the earth, and they abide over againſt me.

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people; for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I ſhall prevail, that we may ſmite them, and that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou bleſſeſt is bleſſed, and he whom thou curſeſt is curſed.

7 And the elders of Moab, and the elders of Midian departed, with the rewards of divination in their hand; and they came unto Balaam, and ſpake unto him the words of Balak.

8 And he ſaid unto them, Lodge here this night, and I will bring you word again as the Lord ſhall ſpeak unto me. And the princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

9 And God came unto Balaam, and ſaid, What men are theſe with thee?

10 And Balaam ſaid unto God, Balak the ſon of Zippor, king of Moab hath ſent unto me, ſaying,

11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which covereth the face of the earth: come now, curſe me them; peradventure I ſhall be able to overcome them, 27 They that ſpeak in proverbs.) That is, thoſe who ſpeak or write in a lofty figurative ſtile, ſuch as the following appears to be, and was the compoſition of ſome ancient poetical writer among the Amorites; and ſeems to have been compoſed upon Sihon's victory over the Moabites, particularly upon the taking of Heſhbon. This quotation is inſerted in the ſacred hiſtory, to ſhew that this country belonged to the Amorites, and not to the Moabites, when Iſrael ſubdued it.

Commentary on Chap. XXII.

4 And Moab ſaid unto the elders of Midian.) That is, he ſent meſſengers to the kings and princes of Midian, inviting them, as his neighbours and confederates, to join with him againſt the Iſraelites, whom he repreſented as their common enemy. Theſe Midianites were not the ſame with thoſe deſcended from Abraham by Keturah, for they were ſettled on the eaſtern coaſt of the Red-ſea, on the borders of Arabia Felix, whereas theſe appears to have inhabited a country bordering on Moab.

6 Curſe me this people.) It was the received opinion among the heathen nations, that imprecations might be made which would have effect, not only on private perſons, but even on whole armies and nations.

12 And God ſaid unto Balaam, thou ſhalt not go with them, thou ſhalt not curſe the people: for they are bleſſed.

13 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaid unto the princes of Balak, Get ye into your land: for the Lord refuſeth to give me leave to go with you.

14 And the princes of Moab roſe up, and they went unto Balak, and ſaid, Balaam refuſeth to come with us.

15 ¶ And Balak ſent yet again princes, more, and more honourable than they.

16 And they came to Balaam, and ſaid to him, Thus ſaith Balak the ſon of Zippor, Let nothing, I pray thee, hinder thee from coming unto me:

17 For I will promote thee unto very great honour, and I will do whatſoever thou ſayeſt unto me: Come therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people.

18 And Balaam anſwered and ſaid unto the ſervants of Balak, if Balak would give me his houſe full of ſilver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God, to do leſs or more.

19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye alſo here this night, that I may know what the Lord will ſay unto me more.

20 And God came unto Balaam at night, and ſaid unto him, If the men come to call thee, riſe up, and go with them; but yet the word which I ſhall ſay unto thee, that ſhalt thou do.

21 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaddled his aſs, and went with the princes of Moab.

22 ¶ And God's anger was kindled, becauſe he went: and the angel of the Lord ſtood in the way for an adverſary againſt him: Now he was riding upon his aſs, and his two ſervants were with him.

23 And the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and the aſs turned aſide out of the way, and went into the field; and Balaam ſmote the aſs to turn her into the way.

24 But the angel of the Lord ſtood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this ſide, and a wall on that ſide.

25 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord, ſhe thruſt herſelf unto the wall, and cruſht Balaam's foot againſt the wall: and he ſmote her again.

26 And the angel of the Lord went further, and ſtood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left.

27 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord, ſhe fell down under Balaam: and Balaam's anger was kindled, and he ſmote the aſs with a ſtaff.

28 And the Lord opened the mouth of the aſs, and ſhe ſaid unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou haſt ſmitten me theſe three times?

29 And Balaam ſaid unto the aſs, Becauſe thou haſt mocked me: I would there were a ſword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.

30 And the aſs ſaid unto Balaam, Am not I thine aſs, upon which thou haſt ridden ever ſince I was thine, unto this day? was I ever wont to do ſo unto thee; and he ſaid, Nay.

31 Then the Lord opened the eyes of Balaam, and he ſaw the angel of the Lord ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head and fell fat on his face.

32 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto him, Wherefore haſt thou ſmitten thine aſs theſe three times? behold, I went out to withſtand thee, becauſe thy way is perverſe before me.

33 And the aſs ſaw me, and turned from me theſe three times: unleſs ſhe had turned from me, ſurely now alſo I had ſlain thee, and ſaved her alive.

34 And Balaam ſaid unto the angel of the Lord, I have ſinned; for I knew not that thou ſtoodeſt in the way againſt me: now therefore, if it diſpleaſe thee, I will get me back again.

35 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Balaam, Go with the men: but only the word that I ſhall ſpeak unto thee, that thou ſhalt ſpeak: So Balaam went with the princes of Balak.

36 ¶ And when Balak heard that Balaam was come, he went out to meet him, unto a city of Moab, which is in the border of Arnon, which is in the utmoſt coaſt.

37 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, Did I not earneſtly ſend unto thee, to call thee: wherefore cameſt thou not unto me? am I not able indeed to promote thee to honour?

38 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Lo, I am come unto thee: have I now any power at all to ſay any thing? the word that God putteth in my mouth, that ſhall I ſpeak.

39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto Kirjath-huzoth.

40 And Balak offered oxen and ſheep, and ſent to Balaam, and to the princes that were with him.

41 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Balak took Balaam and brought him up into the high places of Baal, that thence he might ſee the utmoſt part of the people.

CHAP. XXIII.

1, 14, 28 Balak's ſacrifices. 7, 18 Balaam's parables.

AND Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Build me here ſeven altars, and prepare me here ſeven oxen, and ſeven rams.

2 And Balak did as Balaam had ſpoken; and Balak and Balaam offered on every altar a bullock and a ram.

3 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Stand by thy burnt-offering, and I will go: peradventure the Lord will come to meet me, and whatſoever he ſheweth me I will tell thee. And he went to an high place.

4 And God met Balaam; and he ſaid unto him, I have prepared ſeven altars, and I have offered upon

22 And God's anger was kindled becauſe he went.) This, at firſt ſight, may appear ſtrange, that God ſhould be offended at him for going, when he had before given him permiſſion to accompany the princes of Moab. But the meaning is, that God was diſpleaſed at his going with an inclination to curſe Iſrael; for his whole intention in taking the journey, was, if poſſible, to find out ſome method of complying with the earneſt deſire of Balak.

41 Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal.) Baal was the God of this country. The name ſignifies lord, and was therefore given to ſeveral of their gods. This God, like thoſe of other nations, was worſhipped in high places, which were generally planted with groves, whoſe ſolemn gloom ſerved to inſpire the worſhippers with religious thoughts. To ſeveral of theſe high places Balak brought Balaam, that he might ſee where he could take the fulleſt view of the Iſraelites; for it was thought neceſſary, in theſe ſolemn imprecations, to have the perſons devoted preſent to the view of him who pronounced the anathema: for which reaſon Balak conducted Balaam to theſe high places, that he might have from thence a full proſpect of the camp of Iſrael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

3 Peradventure the Lord will come and meet me.) From this paſſage it is inferred, that in theſe early times, it was cuſtomary for prophets, and other pious perſons, after performing the ſacred rites, to retire into ſome ſolitary place, there to wait for an anſwer to their prayers from God, who often ſent an angel to deliver to them his oracles. And therefore Balaam ſpeaks of God's meeting with him, or communicating his mind unto him.

every altar a bullock and a ram.

5 And the Lord put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak.

6 And he returned unto him, and lo, he stood by his burnt-sacrifice, he, and all the princes of Moab.

7 ¶ And he took up his parable, and said, Balak the king of Moab hath brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the east, saying, Come, curse me Jacob, and come, defy Israel.

8 How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy whom the Lord hath not defied?

9 For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the hills I behold him; lo, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations.

10 Who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!

11 And Balak said unto Balaam, What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast blessed them altogether.

12 And he answered and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which the Lord hath put in my mouth?

13 And Balak said unto him, Come, I pray thee, with me unto another place, from whence thou mayest see them: thou shalt see but the utmost part of them, and shalt not see them all: and curse me them from thence.

14 ¶ And he brought him into the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

15 And he said unto Balak, Stand here by thy burnt-offering, while I meet the LORD yonder.

16 And the Lord met Balaam, and put a word in his mouth and said, Go again unto Balak, and say thus.

17 And when he came to him, behold, he stood by his burnt-offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said unto him, What hath the Lord spoken?

18 ¶ And he took up his parable, and said, Rise up, Balak, and hear; hearken unto me, thou son of Zippor:

19 God is not a man that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?

20 Behold, I have received commandment to bless; and he hath blessed: and I cannot reverse it.

21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: the Lord his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them.

22 God brought them out of Egypt; he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn.

23 Surely there is no inchantment against Jacob, neither is there any divination against Israel: according to this time it shall be said of Jacob and of Israel, What hath God wrought?

24 Behold, the people shall rise up as a great lion, and lift up himself as a young lion: he shall not lie down until he eat of the prey, and drink the blood of the slain.

25 And Balak said unto Balaam, Neither curse them at all, nor bless them at all.

26 But Balaam answered and said unto Balak, Told not I thee, saying, All that the Lord speaketh, that I must do?

27 And Balak said unto Balaam, Come, I pray thee, I will bring thee unto another place: peradventure it will please God that thou mayest curse me them from thence.

28 ¶ And Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor, that looketh toward Jeshimon.

29 And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks, and seven rams.

30 And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Balaam prophesieth Israel's happiness, 15 and of the Star of Jacob.

AND when Balaam saw that it pleased the Lord to bless Israel, he went not as at other times, to seek for enchantments, but he set his face toward the wilderness.

2 And Balaam lift up his eyes, and he saw Israel abiding in his tents according to their tribes, and the Spirit of God came upon him.

3 And he took up his parable and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open hath said:

4 He hath said, which heard the words of God, which saw the vision of the Almighty falling into a trance, but having his eyes open.

5 How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacles, O Israel!

6 As the vallies are they spread forth, as gardens by the river's side, as the trees of lign aloes which the Lord hath planted, and as cedar-trees beside the waters.

7 He shall pour the water out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters, and his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.

8 God brought him forth out of Egypt, he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn: he shall eat up the nations his enemies, and shall break their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows.

9 He couched, he lay down as a lion, and as a great lion: who shall stir him up? Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

10 And Balak's anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together: and Balak said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast altogether blessed them these three times.

11 Therefore now flee thou to thy place: I thought to promote thee unto great honour, but lo, the Lord hath kept thee back from honour.

12 And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake I not also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying,

13 If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the Lord, to do either good or bad of mine own mind; but what the Lord saith, that will I speak?

14 And now, behold, I go unto my people: come therefore, and I will advertise thee, what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days.

10 Let me die the death of the righteous,) By the righteous, in this passage, is meant the Israelites, who were a righteous people in comparison with the rest of the world; being free from idolatry and polytheism, the great national sins of those times. And he considers them as so truly happy, that he wishes he could live a member of their society, privileged with the covenant of God; that after having enjoyed the long life and prosperity that was promised to them in that covenant, he might die, like them, in the favour of God, and in the hope of that blessedness which is reserved for the children of God in the other world.

14 To the field of Zophim.) That is to the field of the watchmen, which seems to have been a plain on the top of a mountain, where watchmen were placed, to give notice of the approach of an enemy.

15 ¶ And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Balaam the ſon of Beor hath ſaid, and the man whoſe eyes are open, hath ſaid:

16 He hath ſaid, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the moſt High, which ſaw the viſion of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open:

17 I ſhall ſee him, but not now: I ſhall behold him, but not nigh: there ſhall come a ſtar out of Jacob, and a ſceptre ſhall riſe out of Iſrael, and ſhall ſmite the corners of Moab, and deſtroy all the children of Sheth.

18 And Edom ſhall be a poſſeſſion, Seir alſo ſhall be a poſſeſſion for his enemies, and Iſrael ſhall do valiantly.

19 Out of Jacob ſhall come he that ſhall have dominion, and ſhall deſtroy him that remaineth of the city.

20 And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable, and ſaid, Amalek was the firſt of the nations, but his latter end ſhall be that he periſh for ever.

21 And he looked on the Kenites; and took up his parable, and ſaid, Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou putteſt thy neſt in a rock.

22 Nevertheleſs, the Kenite ſhall be waſted until Aſſhur ſhall carry thee away captive.

23 And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Alas, who ſhall live when God doeth this?

24 And ſhips ſhall come from the coaſt of Chittim, and ſhall afflict Aſſhur, and ſhall afflict Eber, and he alſo ſhall periſh for ever.

25 And Balaam roſe up, and went and returned to his place; and Balak alſo went his way.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The Iſraelites' whoredom and idolatry. 6 Zimri and Cozbi ſlain.

AND Iſrael abode in Shittim, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.

2 And they called the people unto the ſacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods.

3 And Iſrael joined himſelf unto Baal-peor: and the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Iſrael.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up before the Lord againſt the ſun, that the fierce anger of the Lord may be turned away from Iſrael.

5 And Moſes ſaid unto the judges of Iſrael, Slay ye every one his men that were joined unto Baal-peor.

6 ¶ And behold, one of the children of Iſrael came and brought unto his brethren a Midianitiſh woman, in the ſight of Moſes, and in the ſight of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 And when Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt ſaw it, he roſe up from amongſt the congregation, and took a javelin in his hand;

8 And he went after the man of Iſrael into the tent, and thruſt both of them through, the man of Iſrael, and the woman, through her belly, So the plague was ſtayed from the children of Iſrael.

9 And thoſe that died in the plague were twenty and four thouſand.

10 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

11 Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, hath turned my wrath away from the children of Iſrael (while he was zealous for my ſake among them) that I conſumed not the children of Iſrael in my jealouſy.

12 Wherefore ſay, behold I give unto him my covenant of peace.

13 And he ſhall have it, and his ſeed after him, even the covenant of an everlaſting prieſthood: becauſe he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Iſrael.

14 Now the name of the Iſraelite that was ſlain, even that was ſlain with the Midianitiſh woman, was Zimri the ſon of Salu, a prince of a chief houſe among the Simeonites.

15 And the name of the Midianitiſh woman that was ſlain, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur; he was head over a people, and of a chief houſe in Midian.

16 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Vex the Midianites, and ſmite them:

18 For they vex you with their wiles, wherewith they have beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a prince of Midian their ſiſter, which was ſlain in the day of the plague, for Peor's ſake.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

15 And he took up his parable and ſaid, &c.) The office of prophets was both to bleſs and to propheſy in the name of the Lord. Balaam, as a prophet, per force had bleſſed Iſrael, here he foretels future events. He perſonates a true prophet admirably well, God permitting and directing him to do ſo, becauſe whatever he was, the propheſy itſelf was a true propheſy. He here propheſies concerning him that ſhould be the crown and glory of his people Iſrael; who is David in the type, who not now, not quickly, but in proceſs of time, ſhould ſmite the corners of Moab, and take poſſeſſion of Edom, and mount Seir, and under whom the forces of Iſrael ſhould do valiantly. This was fulfilled when David ſmote Moab, and meaſured them with a line, ſo that the Moabites became David's ſervants, 2 Sam. viii. 2. And at the ſame time the Edomites likewiſe were brought into obedience to Iſrael. But our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the promiſed Meſſiah, is chiefly pointed at in the antitype, and of him it is an illuſtrious propheſy; it was the will of God that notice ſhould thus be given of his coming, a great while before, not only to the people of the Jews, but to other nations, becauſe his goſpel and kingdom were to extend themſelves ſo far beyond the borders of the land of Iſrael. It is here foretold that his coming ſhould not be yet of a great while: I ſhall ſee him, but not now. I do ſee him in viſion, but at a very great diſtance, thro' the interpoſing ſpace of fifteen hundred years at leaſt. He ſhall come out of Jacob, and Iſrael, as a ſtar, and a ſceptre; the former noting his glory and luſtre, as the bright and morning ſtar; the latter his power and authority; it is he that ſhall have dominion. Perhaps, this propheſy of Balaam (one of the children of the Eaſt) concerning a ſtar that ſhould ariſe out of Jacob, as the indication of a ſceptre ariſing in Iſrael, being preſerved by tradition of that country, gave occaſion to the wiſe men, who were of the Eaſt too, upon the ſight of an unuſual ſtar over the land of Judea, to inquire for him who was born king of the Jews, Mat. ii. 2.

19 Out of Jacob ſhall come he that ſhall have dominion.) This was literally fulfilled in David, and has its ſpiritual accompliſhment in Chriſt, whoſe univerſal dominion is thus deſcribed: He ſhall have dominion from ſea to ſea, and from the river to the ends of the earth, Pſ. lxxvii. 8.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

2 Called the people to the ſacrifice of their gods.) The feaſts which ſucceeded theſe ſacrifices were accompanied with muſic and dancing, and ſometimes with pompous proceſſions, which had a great tendency to invite youthful minds to partake of them, and, at the ſame time, to inflame their carnal appetites, which theſe fair deluders would not let them ſatisfy, unleſs they conſented to worſhip their idols.

11 He was jealous for my ſake.) In the Hebrew it is, he was jealous with my jealouſy; that is, in the ardour of his pious zeal for the honour of God, and the national intereſt, he was incapable of bearing with that notorious breach of allegiance to God in the Iſraelites, as the jealous huſband is of bearing with the open breach of the marriage covenant in his wife.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Iſrael numbered. 52 The inheritance of the land divided.

AND it came to paſs after the plague, that the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and unto Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſaying,

2 Take the ſum of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, from twenty years old and upward, throughout their father's houſe, all that are able to go to war in Iſrael.

3 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt ſpake with them in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho, ſaying,

4 Take the ſum of the people, from twenty years old and upward; as the Lord commanded Moſes and the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt.

5 Reuben the eldeſt ſon of Iſrael: the children of Reuben; Hanoch, of whom cometh the family of the Hanochites: of Pallu the family of the Palluites:

6 Of Heſron, the family of the Heſronites: of Carmi, the family of the Carmites.

7 Theſe are the families of the Reubenites: and they that were numbered of them were forty and three thouſand and ſeven hundred and thirty.

8 And the ſons of Pallu; Eliab.

9 And the ſons of Eliab; Nemuel, and Dathan, and Abiram. This is that Dathan and Abiram which were famous in the congregation, who ſtrove againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron in the company of Korah, when they ſtrove againſt the Lord:

10 And the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, together with Korah, when that company died, what time the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men: and they became a ſign.

11 Notwithſtanding the children of Korah died not.

12 The ſons of Simeon after their families: of Nemuel, the family of the Nemuelites: of Jamin, the family of the Jaminites: of Jachin, the family of the Jachinites.

13 Of Zerah, the families of the Zarhites: of Shaul, the family of the Shaulites.

14 Theſe are the families of the Simeonites, twenty and two thouſand and two hundred.

15 The children of Gad, after their families: of Zephon, the family of the Zephonites: of Haggai, the family of the Haggites: of Shuni, the family of the Shunites.

16 Of Ozni, the family of the Oznites: of Eri, the family of the Erites.

17 Of Arod, the family of the Arodites: of Areli, the family of Arelites.

18 Theſe are the families of the children of Gad according to thoſe that were numbered of them, forty thouſand and five hundred.

19 The ſons of Judah were Er and Onan: and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan.

20 And the ſons of Judah after their families were; of Shelah, the family of the Shelanites: of Pharez, the family of the Pharzites: of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites:

21 And the ſons of Pharez were: of Hezron, the family of the Hezronites: of Hamul, the family of the Hamulites.

22 Theſe are the families of Judah according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore and ſixteen thouſand and five hundred.

23 Of the ſons of Iſſachar after their families: of Tola, the family of the Tolaites: of Pua, the family of the Punites:

24 Of Jaſhub, the family of the Jaſhubites: of Shimron, the family of the Shimronites.

25 Theſe are the families of Iſſachar according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore and four thouſand and three hundred.

26 Of the ſons of Zebulun after their families: of Sered, the family of the Sardites: of Elon, the family of the Elonites: of Jahleel, the family of the Jahleelites.

27 Theſe are the families of the Zebulunites according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore thouſand and five hundred.

28 The ſons of Joſeph after their families, were Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

29 Of the ſons of Manaſſeh: of Machir, the family: the family of the Machirites: and Machir begat Gilead: of Gilead come the family of the Gileadites.

30 Theſe are the ſons of Gilead: of Jeezer the family of the Jeezerites: of Helek, the family of the Helekites:

31 And of Aſriel, the family of the Aſrielites; and of Shechem, the family of the Shechemites;

32 And of Shemida, the family of the Shemidaites; and of Hepher, the family of the Hepherites.

33 And Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher had no ſons, but daughters: and the names of the daughters of Zelophehad, were Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

34 Theſe are the families of Manaſſeh, and thoſe thoſe that were numbered of them, fifty and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

35 Theſe are the ſons of Ephraim after their families: of Shuthelah, the family of the Shuthalites: of Becher, the family of Bachrites: of Tahan, the family of the Tahanites.

36 And theſe are the ſons of Shuthelah: of Eran, the family of the Eranites.

37 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Ephraim, according to thoſe that were numbered of them, thirty and two thouſand and five hundred. Theſe are the ſons of Joſeph after their families.

38 The ſons of Benjamin after their families: of Bela, the family of the Belaites: of Aſhbel, the family of the Aſhbelites: of Ahiram, the family of the Ahiramites;

39 Of Shupham, the family of the Shuphamites; of Hupham, the family of the Huphamites.

40 And the ſons of Bela were Ard and Naaman; of Ard, the family of the Ardites: and of Naaman, the family of the Naamites.

41 Theſe are the ſons of Benjamin after their families: and they that were numbered of them, were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

2 Take the ſum of all the congregation.) The above-mentioned plague, having cut of the remains of that murmuring and ungrateful generation that firſt came out of Egypt, and the Iſraelites being now very ſhortly to enter Canaan, God commands Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt to take a third poll, or regiſter of males, from twenty years old and upwards, to demonſtrate the divine faithfulneſs, both in fulfilling the threats pronounced againſt the diſobedient of their predeceſſors, and in making good the promiſe of multiplying the ſeed of Abraham.

four

four thouſand and four hundred.

44 ¶ Of the children of Aſher, after their families: of Jimna, the family of the Jimnites: of Jeſui, the family of the Jeſuites: of Beriah, the family of the Beriites.

45 Of the ſons of Beriah: of Heber, the family of the Heberites: of Malchiel, the family of the Malchielites.

46 And the name of the daughter of Aſher was Sarah.

47 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Aſher, according to thoſe that were numbered of them, who were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

48 Of the ſons of Naphtali after their families: Of Jahzeel, the family of the Jahzeelites: of Guni, the family of the Gunites.

49 Of Jezer, the family of the Jezerites: of Shilem, the family of the Shilemites.

50 Theſe are the families of Naphtali according to their families: and they that were numbered of them were forty and five thouſand and four hundred.

51 Theſe were the numbered of the children of Iſrael, ſix hundred thouſand and a thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.

52 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

53 Unto theſe the land ſhall be divided for an inheritance, according to the number of names.

54 To many thou ſhalt give the more inheritance, and to few thou ſhalt give the leſs inheritance, to every one ſhall his inheritance be given according to thoſe that were numbered of him.

55 Notwithſtanding the land ſhall be divided by lot: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they ſhall inherit.

56 According to the lot ſhall the poſſeſſion thereof be divided, between many and few.

57 And theſe are they that were numbered of the Levites, after their families: of Gerſhon, the family of the Gerſhonites: of Kohath, the family of the Kohathites: of Merari, the family of the Merarites.

58 Theſe are the families of the Levites: the family of the Libnites, the family of the Hebronites, the family of the Mahlites, the family of the Muſhites, the family of the Korathites: and Kohath begat Amram.

59 And the name of Amram's wife was Jochebed, the daughter of Levi, whom her mother bare to Levi in Egypt: and ſhe bare unto Amram, Aaron and Moſes, and Miriam their ſiſter.

60 And unto Aaron was born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

61 And Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered ſtrange fire before the Lord.

62 And thoſe that were number of them were twenty and three thouſand, all males, from a month old and upward: for they were not numbered among the children of Iſrael, becauſe there was no inheritance given them among the children of Iſrael.

63 Theſe are they that were numbered by Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt, who numbered the children of Iſrael in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

64 But among theſe there was not a man of them whom Moſes and Aaron the prieſt numbered, when they numbered the children of Iſrael in the wilderneſs of Sinai:

65 For the Lord had ſaid of them, They ſhall ſurely die in the wilderneſs. And there was not left a man of them, ſave Caleb, the ſon of Jephunneh, and Joſhua, the ſon of Nun.

CHAP. XXVII.

6 The law of inheritance. 12 Moſes being told of his death, ſueth for a ſucceſſor. 18 Joſhua appointed to ſucceed him.

THEN came the daughters of Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher, the ſon of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, of the families of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph; and theſe are the names of his daughters; Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah.

2 And they ſtood before Moſes, and before Eleazar the prieſt, and before the princes and all the congregation, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, ſaying,

3 Our father died in the wilderneſs, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themſelves together againſt the Lord in the company of Korah; but died in his own ſin: and had no ſons.

4 Why ſhould the name of our father be done away from among his family becauſe he hath no ſon? give unto us therefore a poſſeſſion among the brethren of our father.

5 And Moſes brought their cauſe before the Lord.

6 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.

7 The daughters of Zelophehad ſpeak right: thou ſhalt ſurely give them a poſſeſſion of an inheritance among their fathers brethren; and thou ſhalt cauſe the inheritance of their father to paſs unto them.

8 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a man die and have no ſon, then ye ſhall cauſe his inheritance to paſs unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his fathers brethren.

11 And if his father have no brethren, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his kinſman that is next to him of his family, and he ſhall poſſeſs it: and it ſhall be unto the children of Iſrael a ſtatute of judgment; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

12 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Get thee up into this mount Abarim, and ſee the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael.

13 And when thou haſt ſeen it, thou alſo ſhalt be 51 Six hundred thouſand and a thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.) Hence we ſee, that notwithſtanding all the accidents that befel them in the deſert, and the plagues juſtly inflicted on the foregoing generation, the Iſraelites, upon a balance of increaſe and decreaſe of all the full-grown males ſince the laſt regiſter, appears to be but eighteen hundred and twenty perſons leſs than they were at the laſt poll.

55 Notwithſtanding, the land ſhall be divided by lot.) This dividing by lot ſeems to have reſpect only to the quarter each tribe was to poſſeſs, but not to the extent of land. Thus, for inſtance, it was firſt determined by lot which of the twelve tribes were to inherit in the ſouth, which in the north, &c. then, in that quarter where the lot fell, a larger or ſmaller portion of land was divided to them, according to the goodneſs of the ſoil, and in proportion as they were more or leſs numerous.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

4 Why ſhould the name of our father be done away.) On any one's family being extinct, his name was razed out of the genealogical tables.

12 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, get thee up into this mount Abarim.) In this laſt ſtation God gives Moſes afreſh to underſtand he ſhould die, before the Iſraelites made their paſſage into the promiſed land; and accordingly ordered him at ſuch a time, when he ſhould hereafter appoint him, to repair to one of the neighbouring mountains, the chain of which is called Abarim, lying between the river Arnon, and the river Jordan. One of them was called Nebo, and was the ſame with that called in ſome places Piſgah. It appears from Deut. xxxii. 49. that theſe words were ſpoken after all that follows in this book, and alſo in the book of Deuteronomy.

gathered unto thy people, as Aaron thy brother was gathered.

14 For ye rebelled againſt my commandment in the deſert of Zin, in the ſtrife of the congregation, to ſanctify me at the water before their eyes. That is the water of Meribah in Kadeſh in the wilderneſs of Zin.

15 And Moſes ſpake unto the Lord, ſaying,

16 Let the Lord, the God of the ſpirits of all fleſh, ſet a man over the congregation, 17 Which may go out before them, and which may go in before them, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in; that the congregation of the Lord be not as ſheep which have no ſhepherd.

18 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Take thee Joſhua the ſon of Nun, a man in whom is the ſpirit, and lay thine hand upon him;

19 And ſet him before Eleazar the prieſt, and before all the congregation: and give him a charge in their ſight.

20 And thou ſhalt put ſome of thine honour upon him, that all the congregation of the children of Iſrael may be obedient.

21 And he ſhall ſtand before Eleazar the prieſt, who ſhall aſk counſel for him, after the judgment of Urim before the Lord: at his word ſhall they go out, and at his word they ſhall come in, both he, and all the children of Iſrael with him, even all the congregation.

22 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded him: and he took Joſhua, and ſet him before Eleazar the prieſt, and before all the congregation.

23 And he laid his hands upon him, and gave him a charge; as the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Offerings to be obſerved. 3 The continual burnt-offering. 9, 11, 16, 26 Other offerings.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, My offering and my bread for my ſacrifices made by fire for a ſweet ſavour unto me, ſhall ye obſerve to offer unto me in their due ſeaſon.

3 ¶ And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, This is the offering made by fire which ye ſhall offer unto the Lord, two lambs of the firſt year without ſpot day by day, for a continual burnt-offering.

4 The one lamb ſhalt thou offer in the morning, and the other lamb ſhalt thou offer at even;

5 And a tenth part of an ephah of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil.

6 It is a continual burnt-offering which was ordained in mount Sinai for a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

7 And the drink-offering thereof ſhall be the fourth part of an hin for the one lamb; in the holy place ſhalt thou cauſe the ſtrong wine to be poured unto the Lord for a drink-offering.

8 And the other lamb ſhalt thou offer at even: as the meat-offering of the morning, and as the drink-offering thereof, thou ſhalt offer it, a ſacrifice made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

9 ¶ And on the ſabbath-day, two lambs of the firſt year without ſpot, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and the drink-offering thereof.

10 This is the burnt-offering of every ſabbath, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

11 ¶ And in the beginnings of your months ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering unto the Lord; two young bullocks and one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year without ſpot;

12 And three tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one bullock; and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one ram;

13 And a ſeveral tenth-deal of flour, mingled with oil, for a meat-offering, unto one lamb; for a burnt-offering of a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

14 And their drink-offerings ſhall be half an hin of wine unto a bullock, and the third part of an hin unto a ram, and a fourth part of an hin unto a lamb: this is the burnt-offering of every month throughout the months of the year.

15 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering unto the Lord ſhall be offered, beſides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

16 ¶ And in the fourteenth day of the firſt month is the paſſover of the Lord.

17 And in the fifteenth day of this month is the feaſt: ſeven days ſhall unleavened bread be eaten.

18 In the firſt day ſhall be an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no manner of ſervile work therein.

19 But ye ſhall offer a ſacrifice made by fire, for a burnt-offering unto the Lord; two young bullocks, and one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year: they ſhall be unto you without blemiſh.

20 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil: three tenth-deals ſhall ye offer for a bullock, 18 Take thee Joſhua the ſon of Nun.) Hence it appears that this high office of Judge of Iſrael, was not to be hereditary; nor did the policy of Moſes take one ſtep to perpetuate this magiſtracy in his own poſterity or family. It was neceſſary that it ſhould be diſcharged by a perſon of the moſt eminent qualifications, and therefore God appoints Joſhua, who was of another family, and even of another tribe, being deſcended from Ephraim.

20 Put ſome of thine honour upon him.) That is, communicate ſome of thine authority to him at preſent, and make him thine aſſociate in the government.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.) The ſtated ſacrifices and ſervice of the tabernacle having now, for many years, by reaſon of the tedious and frequent journeys of the Iſraelites, been omitted, or at leaſt very much interrupted, and this new generation, not having heard the ordinances relating to them at their firſt inſtitution, and being now ſhortly to take up their reſidence in the promiſed land, where they were obliged to conform to the moſt punctual obſervance of them; God commands Moſes to repeat them to the people, in the following order of daily, weekly, monthly, and anniverſary ſacrifices.

3 Two lambs of the firſt year.) The firſt national ſacrifice was to be offered every day, morning and evening throughout the whole year.

9 And on the ſabbath-day two lambs, &c.) The ſecond ſtated and national ſacrifice was weekly. On this day the burnt-offerings and meat-offerings were ordered to be double, as appears from ver. 10.

11 And in the beginning of your months ye ſhall offer, &c.) The third ſtated ſacrifice was monthly, to be offered upon the firſt day of every month. This ſacrifice to God is thought by ſome to have been ordained in oppoſition to the idolatry of the Gentiles, who uſed to worſhip the new moon, with great rejoicings. But as one of the moſt natural diviſions of time is by the periodical revolutions of the moon, which in theſe ſerene climates, could eaſily be obſerved by all; ſo it is natural to think, that the ſolemn celebration of the new moon, in honour of the true God, was in uſe even before the riſe of idolatry, and probably made a part of the patriarchal religion.

16 In the fourteenth day is the paſſover.) This fourth ſtated and national ſacrifice was annual, viz. the great paſſover feſtival, with the feaſt of unleavened bread annexed to it.

and two tenth-deals for a ram;

21 A ſeveral tenth-deal ſhalt thou offer for every lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

22 And one goat for a ſin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

23 Ye ſhall offer theſe beſide the burnt-offering in the morning, which is for a continual burnt-offering.

24 After this manner ye ſhall offer daily throughout the ſeven days, the meat of the ſacrifice made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord: it ſhall be offered beſide the continual burnt-offering and his drink-offering.

25 And on the ſeventh day ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work.

26 ¶ Alſo in the day of the firſt-fruits, when ye bring a new meat-offering unto the Lord, after your weeks be out, ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work,

27 But ye ſhall offer the burnt-offering for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord; two young bullocks, one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year:

28 And their meat-offering of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals unto one bullock, two tenth-deals unto one ram.

29 A ſeveral tenth-deal unto one lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs,

30 And one kid of the goats, to make an atonement for you.

31 Ye ſhall offer them beſide the continual burnt-offering and his meat-offering, they ſhall be unto you without blemiſh, and their drink-offerings.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The offering at the feaſt of trumpets, 7 at the day of afflicting their ſouls, 12 and at the feaſt of tabernacles.

AND in the ſeventh month, on the firſt day of the month, ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work: it is a day of blowing the trumpets unto you.

2 And ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, one young bullock, one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year, without blemiſh.

3 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals for a bullock, and two tenth-deals for a ram:

4 And one tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

5 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

6 Beſide the burnt-offering of the month, and his meat-offering, and the daily burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, according unto their manner, for a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

7 ¶ And ye ſhall have on the tenth day of this ſeventh month an holy convocation: and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls; ye ſhall not do any work therein.

8 But ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering unto the Lord, for a ſweet ſavour, one young bullock, one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year, they ſhall be unto you without blemiſh:

9 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals to a bullock, and two tenth-deals to one ram,

10 A ſeveral tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

11 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the ſin-offering of atonement, and the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering of it, and their drink-offerings.

12 ¶ And on the fifteenth day of the ſeventh month ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work, and ye ſhall keep a feaſt unto the Lord ſeven days.

13 And ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering, a ſacrifice made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord: thirteen young bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year; they ſhall be without blemiſh:

14 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals unto every bullock of the thirteen bullocks, two tenth-deals to each ram of the two rams.

15 And a ſeveral tenth-deal to each lamb of the fourteen lambs;

16 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

17 And on the ſecond day ye ſhall offer twelve young bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the firſt year, without ſpot:

18 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner;

19 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering thereof, and their drink-offerings.

20 And on the third day eleven bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the firſt year, without blemiſh:

21 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner;

22 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

23 And on the fourth day ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year, without blemiſh:

24 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner;

25 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

26 And on the fifth day nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without ſpot:

27 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

28 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

29 And on the ſixth day eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh:

30 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs,

26 In the day of the firſt-fruits.) The fifth national ſacrifice was alſo annual, viz. at the harveſt feſtival, when the firſt fruits of corn were to be offered up.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

13 Thirteen young bullocks, &c.) All theſe troubleſome ſervices and expenſive ſacrifices made their religion a very grievous yoke, under which the beſt men among them groaned, longing for the coming of the Meſſiah, when their own doctors ſay, No ſacrifices ſhall remain but thoſe of thankſgiving, praiſe, and prayer. It appears from the account, that there were every year ſacrificed at the tabernacle and temple, at the national charge, the following number of beaſts, viz. lambs 1101, bullocks 132, rams 72, kids 21, goats 2; excluſive of a prodigious number of voluntary, vow, and treſpaſs-offerings.

ſhall

ſhall be according to their number, after the manner.

31 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

32 And on the ſeventh day ſeven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh:

33 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner.

34 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

35 On the eight day ye ſhall have a ſolemn aſſembly: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

36 But ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering, a ſacrifice made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord; one bullock, one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh;

37 Their meat-offering and their drink-offerings for the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

38 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

39 Theſe things ye ſhall do unto the Lord, in your ſet feaſts, beſide your vows, and your free-will-offerings, for your burnt-offerings, and for your meat-offerings, and for your drink-offerings, and for your peace-offerings.

40 And Moſes told the children of Iſrael according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Vows are not to be broken. 3 Of a maid's, 6 a wife's, 9 a widow's vow.

AND Moſes ſpake unto the heads of the tribes of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded,

2 If a man vow a vow unto the Lord, or ſwear an oath to bind his ſoul with a bond; he ſhall not break his word, he ſhall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth.

3 ¶ If a woman alſo vow a vow unto the Lord, and bind herſelf by a bond, being in her father's houſe in her youth.

4 And her father hear her vow and her bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, and her father ſhall hold his peace at her: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand.

5 But if her father diſallow her in the day that he heareth: not any of her vows, or of her bonds wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, ſhall ſtand; and the Lord ſhall forgive her, becauſe her father diſallowed her.

6 ¶ And if ſhe had at all an huſband when ſhe vowed, or uttered ought out of her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul;

7 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her in the day that he heard it; then her vows ſhall ſtand, and her bonds wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand,

8 But if her huſband diſallow her on the day that he heard it; then he ſhall make her vow which ſhe vowed, and that which ſhe uttered with her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul, of none effect: and the Lord ſhall forgive her.

9 ¶ But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced, wherewith they have bound their ſouls, ſhall ſtand againſt her.

10 And if ſhe vowed in her huſband's houſe, or bound her ſoul by a bond with an oath;

11 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her, and diſallowed her not: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand.

12 But if her huſband hath utterly made them void on the day he heard them; then whatſoever proceeded out of her lips concerning the bond of her ſoul, ſhall not ſtand: her huſband hath made them void; and the Lord ſhall forgive her.

13 Every vow, and every binding oath to afflict the ſoul, her huſband may eſtabliſh it, or her huſband may make it void.

14 But if her huſband altogether hold his peace at her from day to day; then he eſtabliſheth all her vows, or all her bonds, which are upon her: he confirmeth them, becauſe he held his peace at her in the day that he heard them.

15 But if he ſhall any wiſe make them void, after that he hath heard them; then he ſhall bear her iniquity.

16 Theſe are the ſtatutes which the Lord commanded Moſes, between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter, being yet in her youth in her father's houſe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The Midianites are ſpoiled, and Balaam ſlain. 19 How the ſoldiers, &c. are to be purified, 25 and the prey divided.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Avenge the children of Iſrael of the Midianites: afterward ſhalt thou be gathered unto thy people.

3 And Moſes ſpake unto the people, ſaying, Arm ſome of yourſelves unto the war, and let them go againſt the Midianites, and avenge the Lord of Midian.

4 Of every tribe a thouſand, throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſhall ye ſend to the war.

5 So there were delivered out of the thouſands of Iſrael, a thouſand of every tribe, twelve thouſand armed for war.

6 And Moſes ſent them to the war, a thouſand of every tribe, them and Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, to the war, with the holy inſtruments, and the trumpets to blow, in his hand.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

2 If a man vow a vow unto the Lord.) Vows were early in uſe among the Hebrews, as is evident from that made by Jacob, when he retired for fear of his brother into Padan-Aran; for he then vowed the tenth of all his acquiſitions to the Lord, Gen. xxviii. 20. Such vows were commonly undertaken by thoſe who were ardently deſirous of obtaining ſome bleſſing from God; as in the caſe of Samuel's mother, who was earneſtly deſirous to have a ſon; and in order to obtain her requeſt, ſhe vowed to conſecrate him to God, 1 Sam. i.

3 If a woman vow.) Being unmarried, and therefore at her parents diſpoſal, the law orders that her vows ſhall be no further obligatory than as her parents conſent to them at firſt making thereof: the ſame rule holds good as to orphans, ſervants, and wives, who are under the power of their guardians, maſters, and huſbands.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

4 Of every tribe a thouſand.) To ſhew them they were to rely more upon God than the ſtrength of their army, he commands the officers to pick only a thouſand men out of every tribe, which would ſeem only a handful againſt ſo numerous a people.

7 And

7 And they warred againſt the Midianites, as the Lord commanded Moſes; and they ſlew all the males.

8 And they ſlew the kings of Midian, beſide the reſt of them that were ſlain, namely, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian: Balaam alſo the ſon of Beor they ſlew with the ſword.

9 And the children of Iſrael took all the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, and took the ſpoil of all their cattle, and all their flocks, and all their goods;

10 And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly caſtles with fire;

11 And they took all the ſpoil, and all the prey both of men and of beaſts;

12 And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the ſpoil unto Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the congregation of the children of Iſrael, unto the camp at the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho.

13 And Moſes, and Eleazar the prieſt, and all the princes of the congregation, went forth to meet them without the camp.

14 And Moſes was wroth with the officers of the hoſt, with the captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, which came from the batttle.

15 And Moſes ſaid unto them, Have ye ſaved all the women alive?

16 Behold theſe cauſed the children of Iſrael, thro' the counſel of Balaam, to commit treſpaſs againſt the Lord in the matter of Peor, and there was a plague among the congregation of the Lord.

17 Now therefore kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that hath known man by lying with him.

18 But all the women children that have not known a man by lying with him, keep alive for yourſelves.

19 ¶ And do ye abide without the camp ſeven days: whoſoever hath killed any perſon, and whoſoever hath touched any ſlain, purify both yourſelves and your captives on the third day, and on the ſeventh day.

20 And purify all your raiment, and all that is made of ſkins, and all work of goats' hair, and all things made of wood.

21 And Eleazar the prieſt ſaid unto the men of war, which went to the battle, This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord commanded Moſes;

22 Only the gold, and the ſilver, the braſs, the iron, the tin, and the lead,

23 Every thing that may abide the fire, ye ſhall make it go through the fire, and it ſhall be clean; nevertheleſs, it ſhall be purified with the water of ſeparation: and all that abideth not the fire ye ſhall make go through the water.

24 And ye ſhall waſh your clothes on the ſeventh day, and ye ſhall be clean, and afterward ye ſhall come into the camp.

25 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

26 Take the ſum of the prey that was taken, both of man and of beaſt, thou, and Eleazar the prieſt, and the chief fathers of the congregation;

27 And divide the prey into two parts, between them that took the war upon them, who went out to battle, and between all the congregation;

28 And levy a tribute unto the Lord of the men of war which went out to battle: one ſoul of five hundred, both of the perſons, and of the beeves, and of the aſſes, and of the ſheep.

29 Take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the prieſt, for an heave-offering of the Lord.

30 And of the children of Iſrael's half, thou ſhalt take one portion of fifty, of the perſons, of the beeves, of the aſſes, and of the flocks, of all manner of beaſts, and give them unto the Levites, which keep the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord.

31 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

32 And the booty, being the reſt of the prey which the men of war had caught, was ſix hundred thouſand and ſeventy thouſand and five thouſand ſheep,

33 And threeſcore and twelve thouſand beeves,

34 And threeſcore and one thouſand aſſes,

35 And thirty and two thouſand perſons in all, of women that had not known man by lying with him.

36 And the half which was the portion of them that went out to war, was in number three hundred thouſand and ſeven and thirty thouſand and five hundred ſheep:

37 And the Lord's tribute of the ſheep was ſix hundred and threeſcore and fifteen.

38 And the beeves were thirty and ſix thouſand, of which the Lord's tribute was threeſcore and twelve.

39 And the aſſes were thirty thouſand and five hundred, of which the Lord's tribute was threeſcore and one.

40 And the perſons were ſixteen thouſand, of which the Lord's tribute was thirty and two perſons.

41 And Moſes gave the tribute which was the Lord's heave-offering, unto Eleazar the prieſt, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

42 And the children of Iſrael's half which Moſes divided from the men that warred.

43 (Now the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thouſand and thirty thouſand and ſeven thouſand and five hundred ſheep,

44 And thirty and ſix thouſand beeves,

45 And thirty thouſand aſſes and five hundred,

46 And ſixteen thouſand perſons:)

47 Even of the children of Iſrael's half Moſes took one portion of fifty, both of man and of beaſts, and gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

48 And the officers which were over thouſands of the hoſt, the captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds, came near unto Moſes:

49 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Thy ſervants have taken the ſum of the men of war which are under our charge, and there lacketh not one man of us.

50 We have therefore brought an oblation for the Lord, what every man hath gotten, of jewels of gold, chains and bracelets, rings, ear-rings, and tablets, to make an atonement for our ſouls before the Lord.

51 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of them, even all wrought jewels.

52 And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the Lord of the captains of thouſands,

17 Kill every male.) Moſes ordered the male children to be ſlain, that he might thereby extirpate the whole nation, as far as lay in his power, and prevent their revenging the death of their parents, in caſe they were ſuffered to live to men's eſtate. For it is eaſy to conceive how dangerous ſuch a number of ſlaves, conſcious that they were born free, and had loſt their liberty with the maſſacre of their parents, might have proved to a commonwealth every where ſurrounded with enemies. Why he was ſo ſevere againſt the women we need not wonder, if we conſider, that either by proſtituting themſelves or their daughters, they had been the chief inſtruments of drawing the Iſraelites to idolatry.

49 There lacketh not one man of us.) The Iſraelites had here an evident proof, that the hand of Omnipotence fought againſt their enemies, and that they were defended from danger under the ſhadow of his wings. They might therefore well bring an offering to Jehovah, who had ſo viſibly aſſiſted them in the day of battle, and cauſed their enemies to flee before them.

and

and of the captains of hundreds, was ſixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty ſhekels.

53 (For the men of war had taken ſpoil, every man for himſelf.)

54 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of the captains of thouſands, and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Iſrael before the Lord.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Reubenites and Gadites ſue for their inheritance on this ſide Jordan.

NOW the children of Reuben and the children of Gad had a very great multitude of cattle: and when they ſaw the land of Jazar, and the land of Gilead, that behold, the place was a place for cattle;

2 The children of Gad and the children of Reuben came and ſpake unto Moſes, and to Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the princes of the congregation, ſaying,

3 Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon;

4 Even the country which the Lord ſmote before the congregation of Iſrael, is a land for cattle, and thy ſervants have cattle:

5 Wherefore, ſaid they, if we have found grace in thy ſight, let this land be given to thy ſervants for a poſſeſſion, and bring us not over Jordan.

6 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, ſhall your brethren go to the war, and ſhall ye ſit here?

7 And wherefore diſcourage ye the heart of the children of Iſrael from going over into the land which the Lord hath given them?

8 Thus did your fathers, when I ſent them from Kadeſh-barnea to ſee the land.

9 For when they went up unto the valley of Eſhcol, and ſaw the land, they diſcouraged the heart of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould not go into the land which the Lord had given them.

10 And the Lord's anger was kindled the ſame time, and he ſware, ſaying,

11 Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, ſhall ſee the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob; becauſe they have not wholly followed me:

12 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite, and Joſhua the ſon Nun: for they have wholly followed the Lord.

13 And the Lord's anger was kindled againſt Iſrael: and he made them wander in the wilderneſs forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the ſight of the Lord was conſumed.

14 And behold, ye are riſen up in your fathers ſtead, an increaſe of ſinful men, to augment yet the fierce anger of the Lord towards Iſrael.

15 For if ye turn away from after him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderneſs: and ye ſhall deſtroy all this people.

16 And they came near unto him, and ſaid, We will build ſheep-folds here for our cattle, and cities for our little ones.

17 But we ourſelves will go ready armed before the children of Iſrael, until we have brought them unto their place; and our little ones ſhall dwell in the fenced cities, becauſe of the inhabitants of the land.

18 We will not return unto our houſes until the children of Iſrael have inherited every man his inheritance.

19 For we will not inherit with them on yonder ſide Jordan, or forward; becauſe our inheritance is fallen to us on this ſide Jordan eaſtward.

20 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before the Lord to war,

21 And will go all of you armed over Jordan before the Lord, until he hath driven out his enemies from before him.

22 And the land be ſubdued before the Lord; then afterward ye ſhall return, and be guiltleſs before the Lord, and before Iſrael; and this land ſhall be your poſſeſſion before the Lord.

23 But if ye will not do ſo, behold, ye have ſinned againſt the Lord; and be ſure your ſin will find you out:

24 Build ye cities for your little ones, and folds for your ſheep; and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth.

25 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben ſpake unto Moſes ſaying, Thy ſervants will do as my lord commandeth.

26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our cattle ſhall be there in the cities of Gilead:

27 But thy ſervants will paſs over every man armed for war, before the Lord to battle, as my lord ſaith.

28 So concerning them, Moſes commanded Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben will paſs with you over Jordan, every man armed to battle before the Lord, and the land ſhall be ſubdued before you; then ye ſhall give them the land of Gilead for a poſſeſſion.

30 But if they will not paſs over with you armed, they ſhall have poſſeſſion among you in the land of Canaan.

31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben anſwered, ſaying, As the Lord hath ſaid unto thy ſervants, ſo will we do.

32 We will paſs over armed before the Lord into the land of Canaan, that the poſſeſſion of our inheritance on this ſide Jordan may be ours.

33 And Moſes gave unto them, even to the chil-

Commentary on Chap. XXXII.

1 Now the children of Reuben, &c.) The country on this ſide Jordan being now entirely conquered, the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manaſſeh, obſerving that the country was fertile, and ſtored with good paſturage, deſired they might be permitted to ſettle there, as a place very commodious for them, who had large flocks of cattle.

18 We will not return until, &c.) They ſhewed both faith in God, and love to their brethren, thus to go in the front of the battle, and riſque their lives againſt ſuch powerful enemies, without any further advantage to themſelves.

33 And Moſes gave unto them, &c.) The dominions of Sihon and Og, the two vanquiſhed kings of the Amorites, extended from the river Arnon to mount Hermon. Of theſe countries Moſes gave to the tribe of Reuben the ſouthern, or rather the ſouth-weſt part, being bounded on the ſouth by the river Arnon, on the weſt by Jordan, and on the north and eaſt by the tribe of Gad. In this tribe ſtood Heſhbon, the capital city of the kingdom of Sihon, ſituated on the hills over-againſt Jericho, about twenty miles from the river Jordan. The tribe of Gad was bounded by the river Jordan on the weſt, by the half tribe of Manaſſeh on the north, by the kingdom of the Amorites on the eaſt, and by the tribe of Reuben on the ſouth. In this tribe ſtood Aſtaroth the capital of the kingdom of Og, and had probably its name from an idol worſhipped there in ancient times. The part belonging to the half tribe of Manaſſeh was bounded by the tribe of Gad on the ſouth; by the ſea of Chinnereth, afterwards called the lake of Genannaſareth, and the ſea of Galilee, together with part of the river of Jordan from its ſource to the ſaid ſea, on the weſt; by mount Lebanon on the north and north-eaſt; and by the mountains of Gilead on the eaſt.

dren of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, the land with the cities thereof, in the coaſts, even the cities of the country round about.

34 And the children of Gad built Dibon and Ataroth, and Aroer, 35 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jaazer, and Jogbehah.

36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haron, fenced cities: and folds for ſheep.

37 And the children of Reuben built Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim, 38 And Nebo, and Baal-meon, (their names being changed) and Shibmah: and gave other names unto the cities which they builded.

39 And the children of Michir the ſon of Manaſſeh went to Gilead, and took it, and diſpoſſeſſed the Amorite which was in it.

40 And Moſes gave Gilead unto Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh; and he dwelt therein.

41 And Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh went and took the ſmall towns thereof, and called them Havoth-jair.

42 And Nobah went and took Kenath, and the villages thereof, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Two and forty journeys of the Iſraelites. 50 The Canaanites are to be deſtroyed.

THESE are the journeys of the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt, with their armies, under the hand of Moſes and Aaron.

2 And Moſes wrote their goings out according to their journeys, by the commandment of the Lord: and theſe are their journeys according to their goings out.

3 And they departed from Rameſes in the firſt month, on the fifteenth day of the firſt month: on the morrow after the paſſover, the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand in the ſight of all the Egyptians.

4 (For the Egyptians buried all their firſt born, which the Lord had ſmitten among them: upon their gods alſo the Lord executed judgments)

5 And the children of Iſrael removed from Rameſes, and pitched in Succoth.

6 And they departed from Succoth, and pitched in Etham, which is in the edge of the wilderneſs.

7 And they removed from Etham, and turned again unto Pi-hahiroth, which is before Baal-zephon: and they pitched before Migdol.

8 And they departed from before Pi-hahiroth, and paſſed through the midſt of the ſea, into the wilderneſs, and went three days journey in the wilderneſs of Etham, and pitched in Marah.

9 And they removed from Marah, and came unto Elim: and in Elim were twelve fountains of water, and threeſcore and ten palm-trees; and they pitched there.

10 And they removed from Elim, and encamped by the Red-ſea.

11 And they removed from the Red-ſea, and encamped in the wilderneſs of Sin.

12 And they took their journey out of the wilderneſs of Sin, and encamped in Dophkah.

13 And they departed from Dophkak, and encamped in Aluſh.

14 And they removed from Aluſh, and encamped at Rephidim, where was no water for the people to drink.

15 And they departed from Rephidim, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

16 And they removed from the deſert of Sinai, and pitched at Kibroth-hattaavah.

17 And they departed from Kibroth-hattaavah, and encamped at Hazeroth.

18 And they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithmah.

19 And they departed from Rithmah, and pitched at Rimmon-parez.

20 And they departed from Rimmon-parez, and pitched in Libnah.

21 And they removed from Libnah, and pitched at Riſſah.

22 And they journeyed from Riſſah, and pitched in Kehelathah.

23 And they went from Kehelathah, and pitched in mount Shapher.

24 And they removed from mount Shapher, and encamped in Haradah.

25 And they removed from Haradah, and pitched in Makheloth.

26 And they removed from Makheloth, and encamped at Tahath.

27 And they departed from Tahath, and pitched at Tarah.

28 And they removed from Tarah, and pitched in Mithcah.

29 And they went from Mithcah, and pitched in Haſhmonah.

30 And they departed from Haſhmonah, and encamped at Moſeroth.

31 And they departed from Moſeroth, and pitched in Bene-jaakan.

32 And they removed from Bene-jaakan, and encamped at Hor-hagidgad.

33 And they went from Hor-hagidgad, and pitched in Jotbathah.

34 And they removed from Jotbathah, and encamped at Ebronah.

35 And they departed from Ebronah, and encamped at Ezion-gaber.

36 And they removed from Ezion-gaber, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Zin, which is Kadeſh.

37 And they removed from Kadeſh, and pitched in mount Hor, in the edge of the land of Edom.

38 And Aaron the prieſt went up into mount Hor, at the commandment of the Lord, and died there, in the fortieth year, after the children of Iſrael were come out of the land of Egypt, in the firſt day of the

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

1 Theſe are the journeys of the children of Iſrael.) As the peculiar providence of God remarkably appears in the protection and preſervation of the Iſraelites, from the time they departed out of Egypt, till they came to the borders of Canaan; ſo Moſes was particularly commiſſioned to preſerve the hiſtory and narration of them, for the benefit of poſterity: in the execution of which commiſſion, he here recapitulates the principal ſtages of this long journey, and lets them all before the reader in one view, that all who were willing to take the neceſſary pains in examining things, might be ſatisfied by what a train of miracles ſuch a multitude of people were fed every day, for forty years together, in a barren and inhoſpitable deſert. But all theſe miracles were inſufficient to induce that ſtiff-necked people to cleave to the Lord their God, and enquire after the rock of their ſalvation. Neither ſaid they, Where is the Lord that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderneſs; through a land of deſerts, and of pits; through a land of drought and of the ſhadow of death; through a land that no man paſſed through, and where no man dwelt? Jer. ii. 6.

39 And Aaron was an hundred and twenty and three years old when he died in mount Hor.

40 And King Arad the Canaanite (which dwelt in the ſouth in the land of Canaan) heard of the coming of the children of Iſrael.

41 And they departed from mount Hor, and pitched in Zalmonah.

42 And they departed from Zalmonah, and pitched in Punon.

43 And they departed from Punon, and pitched in Oboth.

44 And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Ije-abarim, in the border of Moab.

45 And they departed from Iim, and pitched in Dibon-gad.

46 And they removed from Dibon-gad, and encamped in Almon-diblathaim

47 And they removed from Almon-diblathaim, and pitched in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo.

48 And they departed from the mountains of Abarim, and pitched in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

49 And they pitched by Jordan from Bethjeſimoth, even unto Abel-ſhittim, in the plains of Moab.

50 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, ſaying,

51 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye are paſſed over Jordan, into the land of Canaan;

52 Then ye ſhall drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you, and deſtroy all their pictures, and deſtroy all their molten images, and quite pluck down all their high places.

53 And ye ſhall diſpoſſeſs the inhabitants of the land, and dwell therein: for I have given you the land to poſſeſs it.

54 And ye ſhall divide the land by lot for an inheritance among your families, and to the more ye ſhall give the more inheritance, and to the fewer ye ſhall give the leſs inheritance: every man's inheritance ſhall be in the place where his lot falleth; according to the tribes of your fathers ye ſhall inherit.

55 But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you; then it ſhall come to paſs that thoſe which ye let remain of them ſhall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your ſides, and ſhall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell.

56 Moreover it ſhall come to paſs, that I ſhall do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The borders of the land. 16 The names of the men which ſhall divide it.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land of Canaan; (this is the land that ſhall fall unto you for an inheritance, even the land of Canaan with the coaſts thereof.)

3 Then your ſouth quarter ſhall be from the wilderneſs of Zin, along by the coaſt of Edom, and your ſouth border ſhall be the utmoſt coaſt of the ſalt-ſea eaſtward.

4 And your border ſhall turn from the ſouth to the aſcent of Akrabbim, and paſſon to Zin: and the going forth thereof ſhall be from the ſouth to Kadeſh-barnea, and ſhall go on to Hazar-adar, and paſs on to Azmon.

5 And the border ſhall fetch a compaſs from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and the goings out of it ſhall be at the ſea.

6 And as for the weſtern border, you ſhall even have the great ſea for a border. This ſhall be your weſt border.

7 And this ſhall be your north border; from the great ſea ye ſhall point out for you mount Hor.

8 From mount Hor ye ſhall point out your border unto the entrance of Hamath: and the goings forth of the border ſhall be to Zedad.

9 And the border ſhall go on to Ziphron, and the goings out of it ſhall be at Hazar-enan. This ſhall be your north border.

10 And ye ſhall point out your eaſt border from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

11 And the coaſt ſhall go down from Shepham to Riblah, on the eaſt ſide of Ain: and the border ſhall decend, and ſhall reach unto the ſide of the ſea of Chinnereth eaſtward.

12 And the border ſhall go down to Jordan, and the goings-out of it ſhall be at the ſalt ſea. This ſhall be your land with the coaſts thereof round about.

13 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the land which ye ſhall inherit by lot, which the Lord commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half-tribe.

14 For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the houſe of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to the houſe of their fathers, have received their inheritance, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh have received their inheritance.

15 The two tribes and the half tribe have received their inheritance on this ſide Jordan near Jericho, eaſt-ward toward the ſun-riſing.

16 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Theſe are the names of the men which ſhall divide the land unto you; Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun.

18 And ye ſhall take one prince of every tribe, to divide the land by inheritance.

19 And the names of the men are theſe: of the 51 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, &c.) The Iſraelites being now ſhortly to paſs over Jordan into the promiſed land, God commands Moſes to give them a general but ſtrict command, how they ſhould treat the idolatrous inhabitants of that country, as the inſtruments of his juſt providence, in the puniſhment of their long and incurable courſe of vice and wickedneſs, and for preventing their being tainted, and miſled by their vicious example into any ſuperſtitious practices.

55 Pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your ſides.) Thoſe of them whom you ſuffer to continue in the land, ſhall bring the moſt grievous calamities upon you. The eye is moſt ſenſible of pain of any member of the body: this image therefore pathetically expreſſes the grievous afflictions they were deſtined to ſuffer, if they neglected to fulfil the commands of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIV.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.) A ſtrict charge having been given to the Iſraelites, with regard to the manner in which they were to treat the inhabitants, whoſe country they were now to poſſeſs; the next thing neceſſary was to fix and deſcribe to them the bounds of the land, as God had promiſed it to Abraham, that they might know where to ſtop their conqueſts, and keep them from invading or making any incroachments upon their neighbours, Moſes, therefore, deſcribed to them the ſeveral limits of Canaan.

13 This is the land which ye ſhall inherit by lot.) This is repeated, that they might not extend their deſires beyond the bounds of God's gracious grant to them. And, from the foregoing deſcription, it appears, that they were placed in a very pleaſant country; being bounded on the ſouth by lofty mountains, which ſheltered them from the ſultry air of the Arabian deſerts; on the weſt by the Mediterranean-ſea, which ſent them refreſhing breezes; on the north by mount Lebanon, which kept off the colder blaſts from that quarter; on the eaſt by the delightful plains of Jordan.

tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

20 And the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the ſon of Ammihud.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the ſon of Chiſlon.

22 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the ſon of Jogli.

23 The prince of the children of Joſeph, for the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, Haniel the ſon of Ephod.

24 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the ſon of Shiphtan.

25 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the ſon of Parnach.

26 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, Paltiel the ſon of Azzan.

27 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Aſhur, Ahihud the ſon of Shelomi.

28 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, Pedahel the ſon of Ammihud.

29 Theſe are they whom the Lord commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Iſrael in the land of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Eight and forty cities given to the Levites. 6 Six of them to be cities of refuge. 9 The laws of murder.

AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their poſſeſſion cities to dwell in: and ye ſhall give alſo unto the Levites ſuburbs for the cities round about them.

3 And the cities ſhall they have to dwell in: and the ſuburbs of them ſhall be for their cattle, and for their goods, and for all their beaſts.

4 And the ſuburbs of the cities which ye ſhall give unto the Levites, ſhall reach from the wall of the city and outward, a thouſand cubits round about.

5 And ye ſhall meaſure from without the city on the eaſt ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the ſouth ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the weſt ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the north ſide two thouſand cubits: and the city ſhall be in the midſt: this ſhall be to them the ſuburbs of the cities.

6 ¶ And among the cities which ye ſhall give unto the Levites there ſhall be ſix cities for refuge, which ye ſhall appoint for the man-ſlayer, that he may flee thither; and to them ye ſhall add forty and two cities.

7 So all the cities which ye ſhall give to the Levites ſhall be forty and eight cities: them ſhall ye give with their ſuburbs.

8 And the cities which ye ſhall give ſhall be of the poſſeſſion of the children of Iſrael: from them that have many, ye ſhall give many; but from them that have few, ye ſhall give few: every one ſhall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to his inheritance which he inheriteth.

9 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come over Jordan into the land of Canaan,

11 Then ye ſhall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you: that the ſlayer may flee thither which killeth any perſon at unawares.

12 And they ſhall be unto you cities for refuge from the avenger; that the man-ſlayer die not, until he ſtand before the congregation in judgment.

13 And of theſe cities which ye ſhall give, ſix cities ſhall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye ſhall give three cities on this ſide Jordan, and three cities ſhall ye give in the land of Canaan, which ſhall be cities of refuge.

15 Theſe ſix cities ſhall be a refuge both for the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger, and for the ſojourner among them: that every one that killeth any perſon unawares may flee thither.

16 And if he ſmite him with an inſtrument of iron, ſo that he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death.

17 And if he ſmite him with throwing a ſtone wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death.

18 Or if he ſmite him with an hand-weapon of wood wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death.

19 The revenger of blood himſelf ſhall ſlay the murderer: when he meeteth him, he ſhall ſlay him.

20 But if he thruſt him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die;

21 Or in enmity ſmite him with his hand, that he die: he that ſmote him ſhall ſurely be put to death; for he is a murderer; the revenger of blood ſhall ſlay the murderer, when he meeteth him.

22 But if he thruſt him ſuddenly without enmity, or have caſt upon him any thing without laying of wait:

23 Or with any ſtone wherewith a man may die, ſeeing him not, and caſt it upon him that he die, and was not his enemy, neither ſought his harm:

24 Then the congregation ſhall judge between the ſlayer and the revenger of blood, according to theſe judgments.

25 And the congregation ſhall deliver the ſlayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation ſhall reſtore him to the city of his refuge, whither he was fled; and he ſhall abide in it unto the death of the high prieſt, which was anointed with the holy oil.

26 But if the ſlayer ſhall at any time come without the borders of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled;

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXV.

1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.) The land being deſcribed and ordered to be divided by lot among the tribes of Iſrael, it was reaſonable ſome proviſion ſhould be made for the conſtant reſidence of the prieſts and Levites, who were a diſtinct body from the reſt of the nation, and had no ſhare in the diviſion of the country; Moſes therefore now appoints them ſeveral towns, with ſuch a portion of lands about them, as would ſerve for their commodious ſubſiſtence.

6 Six cities for refuge.) The Levites were to have forty-eight cities, ver. 7, ſix of which were to be cities of refuge, or privileged places, whither any perſon who had the misfortune to kill his neighbour accidentally, might immediately repair and take ſanctuary. The cities of the Levites were made choice of for this purpoſe, becauſe they were a kind of ſacred places, inhabited by perſons dedicated to the offices of religion. Theſe aſylums were very different from thoſe of other nations. They did not ſcreen the guilty from the ſtroke of juſtice; the perſon who flew thither for protection was properly tried; and, if found guilty of having killed his neighbour deſignedly, was put to death; but if it appeared that the action was purely accidental, he was returned to the city of refuge, and dwelt in ſafety.

31 Ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the life of a murderer.) This rigid ſeverity of the law, in ſuffering no compenſation to be accepted for the life of a murderer, ſerved to impreſs the minds of the people with a deep ſenſe of the heinouſneſs of the crime of murder, ſince nothing leſs than the blood of the criminal could expiate that guilt, and cleanſe the land from its pollution.

blood kill the ſlayer; he ſhall not be guilty of blood:

28 Becauſe he ſhould have remained in the city of his refuge, until the death of the high prieſt; but after the death of the high prieſt, the ſlayer ſhall return into the land of his poſſeſſion.

29 So theſe things ſhall be for a ſtatute of judgment unto you, throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

30 Whoſo killeth any perſon, the murderer ſhall be put to death by the mouth of witneſſes: but one witneſs ſhall not teſtify againſt any perſon, to cauſe him to die.

31 Moreover, ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he ſhall be ſurely put to death.

32 And ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he ſhould come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the prieſt.

33 So ye ſhall not pollute the land wherein ye are: for blood it defileth the land; and the land cannot be cleanſed of the blood that is ſhed therein, but by the blood of him that ſhed it.

34 Defile not therefore the land which ye ſhall inhabit, wherein I dwell: for I the Lord dwell among the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The inconvenience of the inheritance of daughters, 5 is remedied by their marrying in their own tribes.

AND the chief fathers of the families of the children of Gilead the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, of the families of the ſons of Joſeph, came near, and ſpake before Moſes, and before the princes the chief fathers of the children of Iſrael:

2 And they ſaid, The Lord commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Iſrael: and my lord was commanded by the Lord to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother unto his daughters.

3 And if they be married to any of the ſons of the other tribes of the children of Iſrael, then ſhall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and ſhall be put to the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: ſo ſhall it be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

4 And when the jubilee of the children of Iſrael ſhall be, then ſhall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: ſo ſhall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

5 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, according to the word of the Lord ſaying, the tribe of the ſons of Joſeph hath ſaid well.

6 This is the thing which the Lord doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad ſaying, Let them marry to whom they think beſt; only to the family of the tribe of their father ſhall they marry.

7 So ſhall not the inheritance of the children of Iſrael remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that poſſeſſeth an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Iſrael, ſhall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father, that the children of Iſrael may enjoy every man the inheritance of his fathers.

9 Neither ſhall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe; but every one of the tribes of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to his own inheritance.

10 Even as the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did the daughters of Zelophehad.

11 For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah the daughters of Zelophehad, were married unto their father's brother's ſons.

12 And they were married into the families of the ſons of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

13 Theſe are the commandments and the judgments which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes, unto the children of Iſrael, in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXVI.

1 And the chief fathers of the families, &c.) The portion that had been given to the daughters of Zelophehad, and the law which ordered the eſtates of thoſe who died without iſſue male ſhould deſcend to their daughters, gave the elders of Iſrael ſome reaſon to fear that, by theſe heireſſes marrying into different tribes, the parts allotted to each would be confounded, as theſe eſtates would of courſe be alienated from their own tribe, and incorporated into another, by the right of their huſband; nor would the year of jubilee rectify this inconvenience, ſince, theſe inheritances would, by the common right of marriage, deſcend at the jubilee to the heirs of thoſe women who married into another tribe. Theſe conſiderations induced them to preſent a petition to Moſes, to deſire him to prevent this inconveniency by a particular law.

8 And every daughter that poſſeſſeth an inheritance, &c.) Here the law is made general, that all women that were heireſſes, as the daughters of Zelophehad were, ſhould do as they are here commanded. But with regard to thoſe women who had no inheritance, they might marry into what tribe they pleaſed.

THE

FIFTH BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

DEUTERONOMY.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book being principally a recapitulation of the ſeveral laws already delivered, the Greek interpreters have named it Deuteronomy, a ſecond law. This repetition was the more neceſſary, as the Iſraelites, who had heard the law delivered, were dead in the wilderneſs; and there was ſprung up another generation of men, who had neither heard the decalogue, nor any other of the laws openly proclaimed. It alſo contains ſome new laws. Nor can the reſt be conſidered as mere repetitions: they are attended with ſeveral additions, explications, and enlargements.

CHAP. I.

1 Moſes in the end of the fortieth year briefly rehearſeth the ſtory 6 of God's promiſe, 34 and his anger for their incredulity, 41 and diſobedience.

THESE be the words which Moſes ſpake unto all Iſrael on this ſide Jordan in the wilderneſs, in the plain over againſt the Red ſea, between Paran, and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Dizahab.

2 (There are eleven days journey from Horeb, by the way of mount Seir, unto Kadeſh-barnea.)

3 And it came to paſs in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the firſt day of the month that Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, according unto all that the Lord had given him in commandment unto them;

4 After he had ſlain Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heſhbon, and Og the king of Baſhan, which dwelt at Aſtaroth in Edrei.

5 On this ſide Jordan, in the land of Moab, began Moſes to declare this law, ſaying,

6 ¶ The Lord our God ſpake unto us in Horeb, ſaying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount:

7 Turn you, and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorites, and unto all the places nigh thereunto, in the plain, in the hills, and in the vale, and in the ſouth, and by the ſea-ſide; to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon, unto the great river the river Euphrates.

8 Behold, I have ſet the land before you: go in and poſſeſs the land which the Lord ſware unto your fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, to give unto them, and to their ſeed after them.

9 And I ſpake unto you at that time ſaying, I am not able to bear you myſelf alone.

10 The Lord your God hath multiplied you, and behold, ye are this day as the ſtars of heaven for multitude.

11 The Lord God of your fathers make you a thouſand times ſo many more as ye are, and bleſs you as he hath promiſed you.

12 How can I myſelf alone bear your cumbrance, and your burden, and your ſtrife?

13 Take ye wiſe men, and underſtanding, and known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you.

14 And ye anſwered me, and ſaid, The thing which thou haſt ſpoken is good for us to do.

15 So I took the chief of your tribes, wiſe men and known, and made them heads over you, captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, and captains over fifties, and captains over tens, and officers among your tribes.

16 And I charged your judges at that time, ſaying, Hear the cauſes between your brethren, and judge righteouſly between every man and his brother, and the ſtranger that is with him.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Theſe be the words, &c.) In the laſt encampment of the Iſraelites in the plains of Moab, there being now but two months before the death of Moſes, and their paſſage into the land of Canaan, Moſes ſpent this laſt part of his time in laying before them the account of their travels, with the many providences, mercies, and judgments attending them; in repeating and enlarging on the ſeveral laws which God had preſcribed, for their civil and religious conduct in the promiſed country, and in the moſt preſſing application, and earneſt perſuaſions, to a grateful and dutiful obedience.

2 There are eleven days journey from Horeb, &c.) This was added to ſhew, that their long journeyings in the wilderneſs could not be owing to their having miſſed their way, ſince it was ſo eaſy to find it in ſo ſhort a ſpace. Yet the providence of God thought proper ſo to order it, that the Iſraelites could not accompliſh it in leſs than eight and thirty years.

17 Ye

17 Ye ſhall not reſpect perſons in judgment, but ye ſhall hear the ſmall as well as the great: ye ſhall not be afraid of the face of man; for the judgment is God's: and the cauſe that is too hard for you, bring it unto me and I will hear it.

18 And I commanded you at that time, all the things which ye ſhould do.

19 And when we departed from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderneſs, which ye ſaw by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us; and we came to Kadeſh-barnea.

20 And I ſaid unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which the Lord our God doth give unto us.

21 Behold, the Lord thy God hath ſet the land before thee: go up and poſſeſs it. As the Lord God of thy fathers hath ſaid unto thee; fear not, neither be diſcouraged.

22 And ye came near unto me every one of you, and ſaid, We will ſend men before us, and they ſhall ſearch us out the land, and bring us word again by what way we muſt go up, and into what cities we ſhall come.

23 And the ſaying pleaſed me well. And I took twelve men of you, one of a tribe:

24 And they turned, and went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley of Eſhcol, and ſ arched it out.

25 And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again, and ſaid, It is a good land, which the Lord our God doth give us.

26 Notwithſtanding ye would not go up, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the Lord your God.

27 And ye murmured in your tents, and ſaid, becauſe the Lord hated us, he hath brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to deſtroy us.

28 Whither ſhall we go up? our brethren have diſcouraged our heart, ſaying, The people is greater and taller than we; the cities are great, and walled up to heaven: and moreover we have ſeen the ſons of the Anakims there.

29 Then I ſaid unto you, Dread not, neither be afraid of them.

30 The Lord your God which goeth before you, he ſhall fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your eyes.

31 And in the wilderneſs where thou haſt ſeen how that the Lord thy God bare thee as a man doth bear his ſon, in all the way that ye went, until ye came into this place.

32 Yet in this thing ye did not believe the Lord your God,

33 Who went in the way before you to ſearch you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night to ſhew you by what way ye ſhall go, and in a cloud by day.

34 ¶ And the Lord heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and ſware, ſaying,

35 Surely there ſhall not one of theſe men of this evil generation ſee that good land, which I ſware to give unto your fathers:

36 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh; he ſhall ſee it, and to him will I give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, becauſe he hath wholly followed the Lord.

37 Alſo the Lord was angry with me for your ſakes, ſaying, Thou alſo ſhalt not go in thither.

38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, which ſtandeth before thee, he ſhall go in thither. Encourage him: for he ſhall cauſe Iſrael to inherit it.

39 Moreover, your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, and your children, which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they ſhall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they ſhall poſſeſs it.

40 But as for you, turn you, and take your journey into the wilderneſs by the way of the Red ſea.

41 ¶ Then ye anſwered, and ſaid unto me, We have ſinned againſt the Lord: we will go up and fight, according to all that the Lord our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war, ye were ready to go up into the hill.

42 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight; for I am not among you; leſt ye be ſmitten before your enemies.

43 So I ſpake unto you; and ye would not hear, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the Lord, and went preſumtuouſly up into the hill.

44 And the Amorites which dwelt in that mountain came out againſt you, and chaſed you as bees do, and deſtroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah.

45 And ye returned and went before the Lord; but the Lord would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear unto you.

46 So ye abode in Kadeſh many days, according to the days that ye abode there.

CHAP. II.

1 The ſtory is continued touching the Edomites, 9 the Moabites, 18 the Amorites, 24 and Sihon the Amorite.

THEN we turned and took our journey into the wilderneſs by the way of the Red-ſea, as the Lord ſpake unto me: and we compaſſed mount Seir many days.

2 And the Lord ſpake unto me, ſaying,

3 Ye have compaſſed this mountain long enough; turn ye north-ward.

4 And command thou the people, ſaying, Ye are to paſs through the coaſt of your brethren the children of Eſau, which dwell in Seir; and they ſhall be afraid of you: take ye good heed unto yourſelves

17 For the judgment is God's.) They were God's miniſters, and acted by his authority, and therefore ought to give judgment with perfect equity, reſolution and impartiality, remembering that they were the repreſentatives of the Almighty, and accountable to him. The expreſſion denotes, that their integrity ought to be in ſome ſort incorruptible, like that of God himſelf, in whoſe place they acted; and, provided they behaved with courage and uprightneſs, they might be aſſured that God would protect them in the diſcharge of their duty. Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the Lord, who is with you in judgment, 2 Chron. xix. 6.

31 The Lord thy God bare thee, as a man doth bear his ſon.) The tender care of Providence towards them was as indulgent, as that of a kind father towards his infant ſon, whom he bears in his arms.

44 And chaſed you as bees do.) Which, though a ſmall body, have great ſpirits, and with obſtinate fury purſue thoſe who diſturb their hives. Hence enemies, fierce and implacable, are compared to bees, Pſalm cxviii. 12.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 Then we turned, &c.) From the borders of Canaan to go ſouthward. Here Moſes proceeded in relating to this new generation of Iſraelites, how their fathers ſpent thirty-ſeven years in tedious marches to and fro, through that deſert country, reaching from Kadeſh to the Red-ſea, till that race of murmurers was quite extinct, when orders were again given to direct their courſe towards Canaan.

therefore.

5 Meddle not with them: for I will not give you of their land, no not ſo much as a foot breadth; becauſe I have given mount Seir unto Eſau for a poſſeſſion.

6 Ye ſhall buy meat of them for money, that ye may eat; and ye ſhall alſo buy water of them for money, that ye may drink.

7 For the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee in all the works of thy hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderneſs: theſe forty years the Lord thy God hath been with thee, thou haſt lacked nothing.

8 And when we paſſed by from our brethren the children of Eſau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, we turned and paſſed by the way of the wilderneſs of Moab.

9 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Diſtreſs not the Moabites, neither contend with them in battle: for I will not give thee of their land for a poſſeſſion, becauſe I have given Ar unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion.

10 The Emims dwelt therein in times paſt, a people great and many, and tall as the Anakims:

11 Which alſo were accounted giants, as the Anakims, but the Moabites call them Emims.

12 The Horims alſo dwelt in Seir before time, but the children of Eſau ſucceeded them when they had deſtroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their ſtead, as Iſrael did unto the land of his poſſeſſion, which the Lord gave unto them.

13 Now riſe up, ſaid I, and get you over the brook Zered: and we went over the brook Zered.

14 And the ſpace in which we came from Kadeſh-barnea, until we came over the brook Zered, was thirty and eight years; until all the generation of the men of war were waſted out from among the hoſt, as the Lord ſware unto them.

15 For indeed the hand of the Lord was againſt them to deſtroy them from among the hoſt, until they were conſumed.

16 ¶ So it came to paſs when all the men of war were conſumed and dead from among the people,

17 That the Lord ſpake unto me, ſaying,

18 Thou art to paſs over through Ar, the coaſt of Moab this day.

19 And when thou comeſt nigh over againſt the children of Ammon, diſtreſs them not, nor meddle with them; for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon, any poſſeſſion, becauſe I have given it unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion.

20 (That alſo was accounted a land of giants, giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Amorites call them Zamzummims.

21 A people great and many, and tall as the Anakims; but the Lord deſtroyed them before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead:

22 As he did to the children of Eſau which dwelt in Seir, when he deſtroyed the Horims from before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead even unto this day:

23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazerim, even unto Azzah the Caphtorims, which came forth out of Caphtor, deſtroyed them, and dwelt in their ſtead.)

24 ¶ Riſe ye up, take your journey, and paſs over the river Arnon: behold I have given into thine hand Sihon the Amorite king of Heſhbon, and his land; begin to poſſeſs it, and contend with him in battle.

25 This day will I begin to put the dread of thee and the fear of thee upon the nations that are under the whole heaven, who ſhall hear report of thee, and ſhall tremble, and be in anguiſh becauſe of thee.

26 And I ſent meſſengers out of the wilderneſs of Kedemoth, unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, with words of peace, ſaying, 27 Let me paſs through thy land: I will go along by the highway, I will neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left.

28 Thou ſhalt ſell me meat for money, that I may eat: and give me water for money, that I may drink: only I will paſs through on my feet;

29 (As the children of Eſau, which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did unto me:) until I ſhall paſs over Jordan, into the land which the Lord our God giveth us.

30 But Sihon king of Heſhbon would not let us paſs by him; for the Lord thy God hardened his ſpirit, and made his heart obſtinate, that he might deliver him into thy hand, as appeareth this day.

31 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee: begin to poſſeſs, that thou mayeſt inherit this land, 32 Then Sihon came out againſt us, he and all his people to fight at Jahaz.

33 And the Lord our God delivered him before us: and we ſmote him, and his ſons, and all his people.

34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly deſtroyed the men, and the women, and the little ones of every city, we left none to remain:

35 Only the cattle we took for a prey unto ourſelves, and the ſpoil of the cities which we took.

36 From Aroer which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city two ſtrong for us: the Lord our God delivered all unto us.

37 Only unto the land of the children of Ammon thou cameſt not, nor unto any place of the river Jabbock, nor unto the cities in the mountains, nor unto whatſoever the Lord our God forbad us.

CHAP. III.

1 Of Og king of Baſhan. 23 Moſes' prayer to enter into the land. 26 He is permitted to ſee it.

THEN we turned and went up the way to Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan came out againſt us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei.

2 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Fear him not: for I will deliver him, and all his people, and his land into thy hand: and thou ſhalt do unto him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon.

3 So the Lord our God delivered into our hands Og alſo the king of Baſhan and all his people: and we ſmote him until none was left to him remaining.

4 And we took all his cities at that time; there was not a city which we took not from them; threeſcore cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

10 The Emims dwelt therein.) Theſe people were probably deſtroyed during the war which Chadalaomer made upon them, with the aſſiſtance of his allies, ſome years before the birth of Moab, the father of the Moabites. Lot, after the deſtruction of Sodom, ſettled in their country, and left it as an inheritance to his deſcendants. The word in the original ſignifies terrible, and was probably given them by the Moabites, from their being remarkably terrible to their neighbours.

23 The Avims which dwelt in Hazerim.) We have here another inſtance of God's diſpoſing of countries unto what people he pleaſes. The Amims are mentioned, Joſhua xiii. 3, as the ancient inhabitants of Paleſtine.

5 All theſe cities were fenced with high walls, gates and bars: beſide unwalled towns a great many.

6 And we utterly deſtroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, utterly deſtroying the men, women, and children of every city.

7 But all the cattle, and the ſpoil of the cities we took for a prey to ourſelves.

8 And we took at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites, the land that was on this ſide Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon;

9 (Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion; and the Amorites call it Shenir;)

10 All the cities on the plain, and all Gilead, and all Baſhan, unto Salcah, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

11 For only Og king of Baſhan remained of the remnant of giants. Behold, his bedſtead was a bedſtead of iron: is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man.

12 And this land which we poſſeſſed at that time from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites and to the Gadites.

13 And the reſt of Gilead, and all Baſhan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manaſſeh; all the region of Argob, with all Baſhan, which was called the land of giants.

14 Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh took all the country of Argob, unto the coaſts of Geſhuri, and Maachathi: and called them after his own name, Baſhan-havoth-jair, unto this day.

15 And I gave Gilead unto Machir.

16 And unto the Reubenites and unto the Gadites, I gave from Gilead even unto the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon:

17 The plain alſo, and Jordan, and the coaſt thereof, from Chinnereth even unto the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt-ſea, under Aſhdoth-piſgah eaſtward.

18 And I commanded you at that time, ſaying, The Lord your God hath given you this land to poſſeſs it, ye ſhall paſs over armed before your brethren the children of Iſrael, all that are meet for the war:

19 But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattle (for I know that ye have much cattle;) ſhall abide in your cities which I have given you;

20 Until the Lord have given reſt unto your brethren, as well as unto you, and until they alſo poſſeſs the land which the Lord your God hath given them, beyond Jordan: and then ſhall ye return every man unto his poſſeſſion which I have given you.

21 And I commanded Joſhua at that time, ſaying, Thine eyes have ſeen all that the Lord your God hath done unto theſe two kings; ſo ſhall the Lord do unto all the kingdoms whither thou paſſeſt.

22 Ye ſhall not fear them: for the Lord your God he ſhall fight for you.

23 ¶ And I beſought the Lord at that time, ſaying,

24 O Lord God, thou haſt begun to ſhew thy ſervant thy greatneſs, and thy mighty hand: for what God is there in heaven or in earth, that can do according to thy works, and according to thy might?

25 I pray thee, let me go over, and ſee the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountain, and Lebanon.

26 ¶ But the Lord was wroth with me for your ſakes, and would not hear me. And the Lord ſaid unto me, Let it ſuffice thee, ſpeak no more unto me of this matter.

27 Get thee up unto the top of Piſgah, and lift up thine eyes weſtward, and northward, and ſouthward, and eaſtward, and behold it with thine eyes: for thou ſhalt not go over this Jordan.

28 But charge Joſhua, and encourage him, and ſtrengthen him: for he ſhall go over before this people, and he ſhall cauſe them to inherit the land which thou ſhalt ſee.

29 So we abode in the valley over againſt Beth-peor.

CHAP. IV.

1 An exhortation to obedience. 41 Moſes appointeth the three cities of refuge on this ſide Jordan.

NOW therefore, hearken, O Iſrael, unto the ſtatutes and unto the judgments which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and poſſeſs the land which the Lord God of your fathers giveth you.

2 Ye ſhall not add unto the word which I command you, neither ſhall ye diminiſh ought from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you.

3 Your eyes have ſeen what the Lord did, becauſe of Baal-peor; for all the men that followed Baal-peor, the Lord thy God hath deſtroyed them from among you.

4 But ye that did cleave unto the Lord your God, are alive every one of you this day.

5 Behold I have taught you ſtatutes and judgments, even as the Lord my God commanded me, that ye ſhould do ſo in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it.

6 Keep therefore and do them: for this is your wiſdom and your underſtanding in the ſight of the nations, which ſhall hear all theſe ſtatutes, and ſay, Surely this great nation is a wiſe and underſtanding people.

7 For what nation is there ſo great, who hath God ſo nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things that we call upon him for?

8 And what nation is there ſo great, that hath ſtatutes and judgments ſo righteous as all this law which I ſet before you this day?

9 Only take heed to thyſelf, and keep thy ſoul diligently, leſt thou forget the things which thine eyes have ſeen, and leſt they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life; but teach them thy ſons and thy ſons ſons;

10 Specially the day that thou ſtoodeſt before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord ſaid unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they ſhall live upon the earth, and that

11 His bed-ſtead was a bed-ſtead of iron.) It was not uncommon, in theſe warm countries, to have bed-ſteads of iron and other metals, as a defence againſt vermin; and therefore it was natural for him to have his of this ſort, that it might the better ſupport his giganſic body.

21 And I commanded Joſhua at that time.) Moſes reminds the Iſraelites, that he had then given Joſhua to underſtand, that he was the man who was to lead them to thoſe conqueſts of the promiſed land; God having, as a juſt puniſhment for his miſbehaviour, denied him that privilege.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 Now therefore hearken, O Iſrael.) Moſes having thus laid before them ſo long a train of divine diſpenſations towards their nation, called upon the whole aſſembly, in the moſt ſerious and earneſt manner, to conſider what influence theſe things ought to have upon their conduct and practice, anſwerable to the deſign of ſuch mercies and judgments; namely to render them punctually obedient to the laws of God, and cautious of offending him; this being the very intent for which they were conducted to the promiſed land, and the abſolute condition of their peaceful and happy enjoyment of it, they may teach their children.

11 And ye came near, and ſtood under the mountain and the mountain burned with fire unto the midſt of heaven, with darkneſs, clouds, and thick darkneſs.

12 And the Lord ſpake unto you out of the midſt of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but ſaw no ſimilitude, only ye heard a voice.

13 And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments: and he wrote them upon two tables of ſtone.

14 And the Lord commanded me at that time, to teach you ſtatutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to poſſeſs it.

15 Take ye therefore good heed unto yourſelves: (for ye ſaw no manner of ſimilitude on the day that the Lord ſpake unto you in Horeb out of the midſt of the fire;)

16 Leſt ye corrupt yourſelves, and make you a graven image, the ſimilitude of any figure, the likeneſs of male or female.

17 The likeneſs of any beaſt that is on the earth, the likeneſs of any winged fowl that flieth in the air.

18 The likeneſs of any thing that creepeth on the ground, the likeneſs of any fiſh that is in the waters beneath the earth;

19 And leſt thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou ſeeſt the ſun, and the moon, and the ſtars, even all the hoſt of heaven, ſhouldeſt be driven to worſhip them, and ſerve them, which the Lord thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven.

20 But the Lord hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day.

21 Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me for your ſakes, and ſware that I ſhould not go over Jordan, and that I ſhould not go in unto that good land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

22 But I muſt die in this land, I muſt not go over Jordan: but ye ſhall go over, and poſſeſs that good land.

23 Take heed unto yourſelves, leſt ye forget the covenant of the Lord your God, which he made with you, and make you a graven image, or the likeneſs of any thing which the Lord thy God hath forbidden thee.

24 For the Lord thy God is a conſuming fire, even a jealous God.

25 When thou ſhalt beget children, and children's children, and ſhalt have remained long in the land, and ſhall corrupt yourſelves, and make a graven image, or the likeneſs of any thing, and ſhall do evil in the ſight of the Lord thy God, to provoke him to anger;

26 I call heaven and earth to witneſs againſt you this day, that ye ſhall ſoon utterly periſh from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to poſſeſs it: ye ſhall not prolong your days upon it, but ſhall utterly be deſtroyed.

27 And the Lord ſhall ſcatter you among the nations, and ye ſhall be left few in number among the heathen, whither the Lord ſhall lead you.

28 And there ye ſhall ſerve gods, the work of men's hands, wood and ſtone, which neither ſee, nor hear, nor eat, nor ſmell.

29 But if from thence thou ſhalt ſeek the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt find him, if thou ſeek him with all thy heart and with all thy ſoul.

30 When thou art in tribulation, and all theſe things are come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turn to the Lord thy God, and ſhalt be obedient unto his voice;

31 (For the Lord thy God is a merciful God;) he will not forſake thee, neither deſtroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers, which he ſware unto them.

32 For aſk now of the days that are paſt, which were before thee, ſince the day that God created man upon the earth, and aſk from the one ſide of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any ſuch thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it.

33 Did ever people hear the voice of God ſpeaking out of the midſt of the fire, as thou haſt heard, and live?

34 Or hath God aſſayed to go and take him a nation from the midſt of another nation, by temptations, by ſigns, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a ſtretched-out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

35 Unto thee it was ſhewed, that thou mighteſt know that the Lord he is God: there is none elſe beſides him.

36 Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might inſtruct thee: and upon earth he ſhewed thee his great fire, and thou heardeſt his words out of the midſt of the fire.

37 And becauſe he loved thy fathers, therefore he choſe their ſeed after them, and brought thee out in his ſight with his mighty power out of Egypt;

38 To drive out nations from before thee, greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

39 Know therefore this day, and conſider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none elſe.

12 But ſaw no ſimilitude.) God would not appear in the figure of a man, or any other object that might ſeem to repreſent him to their ſenſes or imagination as a corporeal object, and ſo tempt them to make any image of him to worſhip it after the manner of the heathens. Moſes therefore puts them in mind of this particular, as a ſtrong and everlaſting argument to keep them clear of all ſuperſtitious or idolatrous worſhip of him, by the uſe of any kind of image, picture, or reſemblance of any created being. We read often of God's diſcovering his glory to the Iſraelites, as at the giving of the law by a prodigious tempeſt of thunder and fire, and in their march through the wilderneſs, by a cloud in the day, and a pillar of fire in the night, which were called the tokens of his preſence, though, in reality, he is equally preſent in all places. The moſt ſubtle æther, or the pureſt light, is no image of his ſpiritual ſubſtance, no more a true repreſentation of God, than the vileſt clod of earth; for the Deity is not reſembled by any ſenſible forms; his nature is eſſentially different from all the properties and qualities of matter, and no part of it make any nearer approach to him than another. By thoſe ſymbols and tokens, the Deity did indeed ſhew himſelf preſent, becauſe ſuch aſtoniſhing things were apt to ſtrike the minds of that groſs people with a ſenſe of his interpoſition in their behalf, and ſhewed his care and power to be employed for them; but ſtill there was no determinate ſhape, whereby they ſhould have the leaſt countenance or occaſion given them to make an image of their God, or change his glory into the likeneſs of any creature. It is true we read ſometimes in the Old Teſtament of divine appearances in a human form: thus God is ſaid to have ſpoken to Moſes face to face, as a man ſpeaking to his friend; but this ſeem to be rightly underſtood by interpreters of the Meſſiah, who was in the form of God before his incarnation. And by comparing ſeveral paſſages of the Old and New Teſtament, it will plainly appear, that he was really with the Iſraelites, conducting them as the divine preſence, and the angel of the covenant, in whom the name of God was.

32 For aſk now of the days that are paſt.) Turn over the annals of the whole world, from one end to the other, and ſearch whether thou canſt find any thing like to that which God hath done for you.

36 Upon earth he ſhewed thee his great fire.) Some rays or glimpſes of that tranſcendent brightneſs with which he is ſaid to clothe himſelf, and which ſhines out in all its glory to the ſaints in heaven.

40 Thou ſhalt keep therefore his ſtatutes, and his commandments which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayeſt prolong thy days upon the earth which the Lord thy God giveth thee, for ever.

41 ¶ Then Moſes ſevered three cities on this ſide Jordan, toward the ſun-riſing;

42 That the ſlayer might flee thither, which ſhould kill his neighbour unawares, and hated him not in times paſt, and that fleeing unto one of theſe cities he might live:

43 Namely, Bezer in the wilderneſs, in the plain country of the Reubenites; and Ramoth in Gilead of the Gadites; and Golan in Baſhan, of the Manaſſites.

44 And this is the law which Moſes ſet before the children of Iſrael.

45 Theſe are the teſtimonies, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments, which Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, after they came forth out of Egypt:

46 On this ſide Jordan in the valley over againſt Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heſhbon, whom Moſes and the children of Iſrael ſmote, after they were come forth out of Egypt:

47 And they poſſeſſed his land, and the land of Og king of Baſhan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this ſide Jordan toward the ſun-riſing;

48 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto mount Sion, which is Hermon, 49 And all the plain on this ſide Jordan, eaſtward, even unto the ſea of the plain, under the ſprings of Piſgah.

CHAP. V.

1 The covenant in Horeb. 6 The ten commandments. 22 At the people's requeſt Moſes receiveth the law from God.

AND Moſes called all Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Hear, O Iſrael, the ſtatutes and judgments which I ſpeak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep and do them:

2 The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.

3 The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us, even us, who are all of us here alive this day.

4 The Lord talked with you face to face in the mount out of the midſt of the fire;

5 (I ſtood between the Lord and you at that time, to ſhew you the word of the Lord: for ye were afraid by reaſon of the fire, and went not up into the mount;) ſaying,

6 ¶ I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

7 Thou ſhalt have none other gods before me.

8 Thou ſhalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeneſs of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth:

9 Thou ſhalt not bow down thyſelf unto them, nor ſerve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generations of them that hate me,

10 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

11 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain.

12 Keep the ſabbath-day to ſanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee.

13 Six days thou ſhalt labour and do all thy work:

14 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work, thou nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thine ox, nor thine aſs, nor any of thy cattle, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates: that thy man-ſervant and thy maid-ſervant may reſt as well as thou.

15 And remember that thou waſt a ſervant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought thee out thence through a mighty hand, and by a ſtretched-out arm: therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the ſabbath-day.

16 Honour thy father and thy mother, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee; that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

17 Thou ſhalt not kill.

18 Neither ſhalt thou commit adultery.

19 Neither ſhalt thou ſteal.

20 Neither ſhalt thou bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour.

21 Neither ſhalt thou deſire thy neighbour's wife, neither ſhalt thou covet thy neighbour's houſe, his field, or his man-ſervant, or his maid-ſervant, his ox, or his aſs, or any thing that is thy neighbour's.

22 ¶ Theſe words the Lord ſpake unto all your aſſembly in the mount out of the midſt of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkneſs, with a great voice: and he added no more. And he wrote them in two tables of ſtone, and delivered them unto me.

23 And it came to paſs, when ye heard the voice out of the midſt of the darkneſs (for the mount did burn with fire) that ye came near unto me, even all the heads of your tribes, and your elders;

24 And ye ſaid, Behold, the Lord our God hath ſhewed us his glory, and his greatneſs, and we have heard his voice out of the midſt of the fire: we have ſeen this day that God doth talk with man, and he liveth.

25 Now therefore why ſhould we die? for this great fire will conſume us: if we hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, then we ſhall die.

26 For who is there of all fleſh that hath heard the voice of the living God, ſpeaking out of the midſt of the fire, as we have, and lived?

27 Go thou near, and hear all that the Lord our God ſhall ſay: and ſpeak thou unto us all that the Lord our God ſhall ſpeak unto thee, and we will hear it and do it.

28 And the Lord heard the voice of your words when ye ſpake unto me; and the Lord ſaid unto me,

Commentary on Chap. V.

4 The Lord talked with you face to face.) You behold a conſpicuous ſymbol of the Divine Preſence, and heard a Divine Voice ſpeaking unto you from thence, clearly and diſtinctly as one man talks with another face to face.

16 That it may go well with thee.) Theſe words are added to what we meet with in Exod. xx. 12. as a farther motive to obedience; and we find the apoſtle taking notice of it, Eph. vi. 3. The amount of the promiſe is this: the neglect of our duty to parents who, under God, have the neareſt and deareſt relation to us, will be an inlet to all thoſe vices; and conſequently the occaſion of all thoſe divine judgments, which muſt end in ſhortening the lives of men, and bringing deſtruction upon the nation. As on the contrary, the careful obſervance of it tends to the growth of all that virtue and regularity, which will ſecure to you the favour of God, and a long and happy enjoyment of all the bleſſings of the Land of Promiſe.

I have heard the voice of the words of this people which they have ſpoken unto thee: they have well ſaid all that they have ſpoken.

29 O that there were ſuch an heart in them that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them and with their children for ever.

30 Go ſay to them, Get ye into your tents again.

31 But as for thee, ſtand thou here by me, and I will ſpeak unto thee all the commandments, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments which thou ſhalt teach them, that they may do them, in the land which I give them to poſſeſs it.

32 Ye ſhall obſerve to do therefore as the Lord your God hath commanded you: ye ſhall not turn aſide to the right hand or to the left.

33 Ye ſhall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you: that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye ſhall poſſeſs.

CHAP. VI.

1 The end of the law is obedience. 3 An exhortation thereto.

NOW theſe are the commandments, the ſtatutes, and the judgments which the Lord your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it:

2 That thou mighteſt fear the Lord thy God, to keep all his ſtatutes, and his commandments which I command thee; thou, and thy ſon, and thy ſon's ſon, all the days of thy life, and that thy days may be prolonged.

3 ¶ Hear, therefore, O Iſrael, and obſerve to do it, that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increaſe mightily, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promiſed thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

4 Hear, O Iſrael, the Lord our God is one Lord.

5 And thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy ſoul, and with all thy might.

6 And theſe words, which I command thee this day, ſhall be in thine heart.

7 And thou ſhalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and ſhalt talk of them when thou ſitteſt in thine houſe, and when thou walkeſt by the way, and when thou lieſt down, and when thou riſeſt up.

8 And thou ſhalt bind them for a ſign upon thine hand, and they ſhall be as frontlets between thine eyes.

9 And thou ſhalt write them upon the poſts of thy houſe, and on thy gates.

10 And it ſhall be when the Lord thy God ſhall have brought thee into the land which he ſware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, to give thee great and goodly cities which thou buildedſt not;

11 And houſes full of all good things which thou filledſt not, and wells digged which thou diggedſt not, vineyards and olive-trees which thou plantedſt not, when thou ſhalt have eaten and be full;

12 Then beware leſt thou forget the Lord which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt; from the houſe of bondage.

13 Thou ſhalt fear the Lord thy God, and ſerve him, and ſhall ſwear by his name.

14 Ye ſhall not go after other gods, of the gods of the people which are round about you;

15 For the Lord thy God is a jealous God among you; leſt the anger of the Lord thy God be kindled againſt thee, and deſtroy thee from off the face of the earth.

16 Ye ſhall not tempt the Lord your God, as ye tempted him in Maſſah.

17 Ye ſhall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes, which he hath commanded thee.

18 And thou ſhalt do that which is right and good in the ſight of the Lord: that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayeſt go in and poſſeſs the good land which the Lord ſware unto thy fathers;

19 To caſt out all thine enemies from before thee, as the Lord hath ſpoken.

20 And when thy ſon aſketh thee in time to come, ſaying, What mean the teſtimonies, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments, which the Lord our God hath commanded you?

21 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto thy ſon, We were Pharaoh's bondmen in Egypt; and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

22 And the Lord ſhewed ſigns and wonders, great and ſore, upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his houſehold, before our eyes:

23 And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in, to give us the land which he ſware unto our fathers.

24 And the Lord commanded us to do all theſe ſtatutes, to fear the Lord our God, for our good always, that he might preſerve us alive, as it is at this day.

25 And it ſhall be our righteouſneſs, if we obſerve to do all theſe commandments before the Lord our God, as he hath commanded us.

CHAP. VII.

1 All communion with the nations forbidden, 4 for fear of idolatry and other reaſons.

WHEN the Lord thy God ſhall bring thee into the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it, and haſt caſt out many nations before thee, the Hittites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, ſeven nations greater and mightier than thou.

2 And when the Lord thy God ſhall deliver them before thee: thou ſhalt ſmite them, and utterly deſtroy them, thou ſhalt make no covenant with them, nor ſhew mercy unto them:

3 Neither ſhalt thou make marriages with them: thy daughter thou ſhalt not give unto his ſon, nor his daugh-

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

9 Thou ſhalt write them upon the poſts of thy houſe, &c.) Some wrote them on little rolls, which they faſtened to their gates; others encloſed them in a caſe, which they faſtened to the gate, or put into a hole in the wall; on this place the devotees laid their hands as often as they went out, and ſaid, The Lord preſerve my going out, and my coming in.

13 Thou---ſhalt ſwear by his name.) The generality of commentators take the ſenſe to be, that, in taking an oath, they were only to ſwear by Jehovah, never by any of the gods of the heathen, which would have been an acknowledgment of their divinity. But by comparing other paſſages, the meaning ſeems rather to be, that they were to be ſtedfaſt in the worſhip of the true God, and in profeſſing that religion which he had inſtituted. Thus, to ſwear to the Lord of hoſts, is to profeſs the true religion, Iſaiah xix. 18. So Pſ. lxiii. 11. every one that ſweareth by him, means every worſhipper of the true God.

ter ſhalt thou take unto thy ſon.

4 ¶ For they will turn away thy ſon from following me, that they may ſerve other gods; ſo will the anger of the Lord be kindled againſt you, and deſtroy thee ſuddenly.

5 But thus ſhall ye deal with them; ye ſhall deſtroy their altars, and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire.

6 For thou art a holy people unto the Lord thy God: the Lord thy God hath choſen thee to be a ſpecial people unto himſelf, above all people that are upon the face of the earth.

7 The Lord did not ſet his love upon you nor chooſe you, becauſe ye were more in number than any people: for ye were the feweſt of all people:

8 But becauſe the Lord loved you, and becauſe he would keep the oath which he had ſworn unto your fathers, hath the Lord brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the houſe of bondmen, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

9 Know therefore that the Lord thy God, he is God the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him, and keep his commandments, to a thouſand generations;

10 And repayeth them that hate him to their face, to deſtroy them: he will not be ſlack to him that hateth him, he will repay him to his face.

11 Thou ſhalt therefore keep the commandments, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments which I command thee this day to do them.

12 Wherefore it ſhall come to paſs, if ye hearken to theſe judgments, and keep and do them; that the Lord thy God ſhall keep unto thee the covenant and the mercy which he ſware unto thy fathers.

13 And he will love thee, and bleſs thee, and multiply thee: he will alſo bleſs the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep, in the land which he ſware unto thy fathers to give thee.

14 Thou ſhalt be bleſſed above all people: there ſhall not be male or female barren among you, or among your cattle.

15 And the Lord will take away from thee all ſickneſs, and will put none of the evil diſeaſes of Egypt, which thou knoweſt, upon thee: but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.

16 And thou ſhalt conſume all the people which the Lord thy God ſhall deliver thee; thine eye ſhall have no pity upon them; neither ſhalt thou ſerve their gods; for that will be a ſnare unto thee.

17 If thou ſhalt ſay in thine heart, Theſe nations are more than I: how can I diſpoſſeſs them?

18 Thou ſhalt not be afraid of them; but ſhalt well remember what the Lord thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt:

19 The great temptations which thine eyes ſaw, and the ſigns, and the wonders, and the mighty hand, and the ſtretched-out arm, whereby the Lord thy God brought thee out; ſo ſhall the Lord thy God do unto all the people of whom thou art afraid.

20 Moreover, the Lord thy God will ſend the hornet among them, until they that are left, and hide themſelves from thee, be deſtroyed.

21 Thou ſhalt not be affrighted at them: for the Lord thy God is among you, a mighty God and terrible.

22 And the Lord thy God will put out thoſe nations before thee by little and little: thou mayeſt not conſume them at once, leſt the beaſts of the field increaſe upon thee.

23 But the Lord thy God ſhall deliver them unto thee, and ſhall deſtroy them with a mighty deſtruction, until they be deſtroyed.

24 And he ſhall deliver their kings into thine hand, and thou ſhalt deſtroy their name from under heaven: there ſhall no man be able to ſtand before thee, until thou have deſtroyed them.

25 The graven images of their gods ſhall ye burn with fire; thou ſhalt not deſire the ſilver or gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, leſt thou be ſnared therein: for it is an abomination to the Lord thy God.

26 Neither ſhalt thou bring an abomination into thy houſe, leſt thou be a curſed thing like it: but thou ſhalt utterly deteſt it, and thou ſhalt utterly abhor it; for it is a curſed thing.

CHAP. VIII.

An exhortation to obedience in regard of God's dealing with them.

ALL the commandments which I command thee this day ſhall ye obſerve to do, that ye may live, and multiply, and go in and poſſeſs the land which the Lord ſware unto your fathers.

2 And thou ſhalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee theſe forty years in the wilderneſs, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldeſt keep his commandments or no.

3 And he humbled thee, and ſuffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou kneweſt not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live.

4 Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee, neither did thy foot ſwell theſe forty years.

5 Thou ſhalt alſo conſider in thine heart, that as a man chaſteneth his ſon, ſo the Lord thy God chaſteneth thee.

6 Therefore thou ſhalt keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to fear him.

7 For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

7 The Lord did not ſet his love upon you, &c.) To preſerve you from pride, and a conceit of your own greatneſs, know, that it is not your numbers, nor your ſtrength, nor your external grandeur, that God now does or ever will regard you for, it was not any qualification of your own, that induced him to confer theſe ſingular privileges upon you; for the promiſe of them was made to your forefathers, Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, when they were a ſmall family, and lived in mean circumſtances. But it was the eminent virtues of thoſe your anceſtors, and the completion of the promiſes made to them, to which you are indebted for all the diſtinguiſhing bleſſings of your nation.

17 If thou ſhalt ſay in thine heart, &c.) If the length and tediouſneſs of the Canaanitiſh war, if the ſtrength of their fortreſſes, the number and valour of their ſoldiery, ſhould damp the courage of any Iſraelite, and make him diffident of ſucceſs, let it for ever baniſh all ſuch fear, to remember the miraculous arm of God, that reſcued you from Egypt; the power that laid flat before you the mightieſt monarch in thoſe parts, and that you are ſtill fighting under the ſame Divine Providence, which nothing can reſiſt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

7 For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, &c.) The land which they were now going to take poſſeſſion of, is here deſcribed to be a very good land; there was every thing in it that was deſirable. It was well watered like Eden, the garden of the Lord. It was a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths, which conthat ſpring out of vallies and hills;

8 A land of wheat and barley, and vines, and fig-trees, and pomegranates, a land of oil-olive, and honey:

9 A land wherein thou ſhalt eat bread without ſcarceneſs, thou ſhalt not lack any thing in it: a land whoſe ſtones are iron, and out of whoſe hills thou mayeſt dig braſs.

10 When thou haſt eaten and art full, then thou ſhalt bleſs the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee.

11 Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his ſtatutes, which I command thee this day:

12 Leſt, when thou haſt eaten and art full, and haſt built goodly houſes, and dwelt therein;

13 And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy ſilver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou haſt is multiplied:

14 Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt from the houſe of bondage:

15 Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderneſs, wherein were fiery ſerpents, and ſcorpions, and drought where there was no water; who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint;

16 Who fed thee in the wilderneſs with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end;

17 And thou ſay in thine heart, My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.

18 But thou ſhalt remember the Lord thy God; for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may eſtabliſh his covenant which he ſware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

19 And it ſhall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and ſerve them, and worſhip them; I teſtify againſt you this day that ye ſhall ſurely periſh.

20 As the nations which the Lord deſtroyeth before your face, ſo ſhall ye periſh, becauſe ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord your God.

CHAP. IX.

Moſes diſſuadeth them from the opinion of their own righteouſneſs, by rehearſing their ſeveral rebellions.

HEAR, O Iſrael: Thou art to paſs over Jordan this day, to go in to poſſeſs nations greater and mightier than thyſelf, cities great, and fenced up to heaven;

2 A people great and tall, the children of the Anakims, whom thou knoweſt, and of whom thou haſt heard ſay, Who can ſtand before the children of Anak?

3 Underſtand, therefore, this day, that the Lord thy God is he which goeth over before thee as a conſuming fire; he ſhall deſtroy them, and he ſhall bring them down before thy face: ſo ſhalt thou drive them out, and deſtroy them quickly, as the Lord hath ſaid unto thee.

4 Speak not thou in thine heart, after that the Lord thy God hath caſt them out from before thee, ſaying, For my righteouſneſs the Lord hath brought me in to poſſeſs this land; but for the wickedneſs of theſe nations the Lord doth drive them out from before thee.

5 Not for thy righteouſneſs, or for the uprightneſs of thine heart, doſt thou go to poſſeſs their land; but for the wickedneſs of theſe nations the Lord thy God doth drive them out from before thee, and that he may perform the word which the Lord ſware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob.

6 Underſtand, therefore, that the Lord thy God giveth thee not this good land to poſſeſs it for thy righteouſneſs; for thou art a ſtiff-necked people.

7 Remember, and forget not, how thou provokedſt the Lord thy God to wrath in the wilderneſs: from the day that thou didſt depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious againſt the Lord.

8 Alſo in Horeb ye provoked the Lord to wrath, ſo that the Lord was angry with you, to have deſtroyed you.

9 When I was gone up into the mount, to receive the tables of ſtone, even the tables of the covenant tributed to the fruitfulneſs of the ſoil. Perhaps there was more plenty of water there now than had been in Abraham's time, the Canaanites having found and digged wells; ſo that Iſrael reaped the fruit of their induſtry as well as of God's bounty. The ground produced great plenty of all good things, not only for the neceſſary ſupport, but for the convenience and comfort of human life. In their father's land they had bread enough; it was corn land, and land of wheat and barley, where, with the common care and labour of the huſbandman, they might eat bread without ſcarceneſs. It was a fruitful land, that was never turned into barrenneſs but for the iniquity of them that dwelt therein. They had not only water enough to quench their thirſt, but vines, the fruit whereof was ordained to make glad the heart. And were they deſirous of dainties, they needed not ſend to far countries for them, when their own was ſo well ſtocked with fig-trees and pomegranates, olives of the beſt kind, and honey or date-trees, as ſome think it ſhould be read. Even the bowels of its earth were very rich, though it ſhould ſeem that ſilver and gold they had none; of theſe the princes of Sheba ſhould bring preſents, Pſ. lxxii. 15. yet they had plenty of thoſe more ſerviceable metals, iron, and braſs. Now theſe things are mentioned, to ſhew the great difference between that wilderneſs through which God had led them, and the good land into which he was bringing them; to ſhew what obligations they lay under to keep God's commaudments, both in gratitude for his favour to them, and in intereſt, that the favours might be continued. The only way to keep poſſeſſion of this good land would be to keep in the way of their duty. To ſhew what a figure it was of good things to come. Whatever others ſaw, it is probable Moſes ſaw in it a type of the better country: The Goſpel-Church is the New-Teſtament Canaan, watered with the Spirit in his gifts and graces, planted with the trees of righteouſneſs, bearing the fruits of righteouſneſs. Heaven is the good land, in which there is nothing wanting, and where there is a fulneſs of joy.

10 When thou haſt eaten and art full, then thou ſhalt bleſs the Lord thy God.) Moſes having mentioned the great plenty they would find in the land of Canaan, finds it neceſſary to caution them againſt the abuſe of that plenty; they are allowed to eat, even to fulneſs, not to ſurfeiting or exceſs: But let them always remember their benefactor, the founder of their feaſt, and never fail to give thanks after meat, Then thou ſhalt bleſs the Lord thy God. They muſt not have any fellowſhip with thoſe that, when they had eaten and were full, bleſſed falſe gods, as the Iſraelites themſelves had done in their worſhip of the golden calf. As our Saviour has taught us to bleſs before we eat, Mat. xiv. 19, 20. ſo we are here taught to bleſs after meat. That is our Hoſannah, God bleſs; this is our Hallelujah, bleſſed be God. In every thing we muſt give thanks.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

1 Hear, O Iſrael, &c.) Moſes having cautioned them againſt that pride and vanity which external bleſſings and privileges are too apt to produce in weak minds; he proceeds to tell them, that this would be one of the firſt miſcarriages they would be in danger of, when they had acquired poſſeſſion of a ſtrong and extenſive country, and became victorious over a people that had long been famous for war, and terrible even to a proverb, for ſtrength and magnitude of body. He therefore exhorts them to ſettle fully in their minds, this important truth, that not they but God was to prove the conqueror of theſe enemies, and to his divine power alone they were to attribute the ſucceſſes of every gradual attempt they made upon them.

which the Lord made with you, then I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights, I neither did eat bread nor drink water:

10 And the Lord delivered unto me two tables of ſtone written with the finger of God, and on them was written according to all the words which the Lord ſpake with you in the mount out of the midſt of the fire, in the day of the aſſembly.

11 And it came to paſs at the end of forty days and forty nights, that the Lord gave me the two tables of ſtone, even the tables of the covenant.

12 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Ariſe, get thee down quickly from hence; for thy people which thou haſt brought forth out of Egypt have corrupted themſelves: they have quickly turned aſide out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten image.

13 Furthermore, the Lord ſpake unto me, ſaying, I have ſeen this people, and behold, it is a ſtiff-necked people:

14 Let me alone that I may deſtroy them, and blot out their name from under heaven; and I will make of thee a nation mightier and greater than they.

15 So I turned and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire: and the two tables of the covenant were in my two hands.

16 And I looked, and behold ye had ſinned againſt the Lord your God, and had made you a molten calf; ye had turned aſide quickly out of the way which the Lord had commanded you.

17 And I took the two tables, and caſt them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes.

18 And I fell down before the Lord, as at the firſt, forty days and forty nights; I did neither eat bread nor drink water, becauſe of all your ſins which ye ſinned, in doing wickedly in the ſight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger.

19 For I was afraid of the anger and hot diſpleaſure wherewith the Lord was wroth againſt you to deſtroy you. But the Lord hearkened unto me at that time alſo.

20 And the Lord was very angry with Aaron to have deſtroyed him. And I prayed for Aaron alſo the ſame time.

21 And I took your ſin, the calf which ye had made, and burned it with fire, and ſtamped it, and ground it very ſmall, even until it was as ſmall as duſt; and I caſt the duſt thereof into the brook that deſcended out of the mount.

22 And at Taberah, and at Maſſah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah, ye provoked the Lord to wrath.

23 Likewiſe when the Lord ſent you from Kadeſh-barnea, ſaying, Go up and poſſeſs the land which I have given you; then ye rebelled againſt the commandment of the Lord your God, and ye believed him not, nor hearkened to his voice.

24 Ye have been rebellious againſt the Lord from the day that I knew you.

25 Thus I fell down before the Lord forty days and forty nights, as I fell down at the firſt; becauſe the Lord had ſaid he would deſtroy you.

26 I prayed therefore unto the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord God, deſtroy not thy people and thine inheritance, which thou haſt redeemed through thy greatneſs, which thou haſt brought forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

27 Remember thy ſervants, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: look not unto the ſtubbornneſs of this people, nor to their wickedneſs, nor to their ſin:

28 Leſt the land whence thou broughteſt us out ſay, Becauſe the Lord was not able to bring them into the land which he promiſed them, and becauſe he hated them, he hath brought them out to ſlay them in the wilderneſs.

29 Yet they are thy people and thine inheritance, which thou broughteſt out by thy mighty power, and by thy ſtretched-out arm.

CHAP. X.

1 God's mercy in reſtoring the two tables. 12 An exhortation to obedience.

AT that time the Lord ſaid unto me, Hew thee two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt, and come up unto me into the mount, and make thee an ark of wood.

2 And I will write on the tables the words that were in the firſt tables which thou brakeſt, and thou ſhalt put them in the ark.

3 And I made an ark of ſhittim-wood, and hewed two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt, and went up into the mount, having the two tables in mine hand.

4 And he wrote on the tables, according to the firſt writing, the ten commandments, which the Lord ſpake unto you in the mount, out of the midſt of the fire, in the day of the aſſembly; and the Lord gave them unto me.

5 And I turned myſelf and came down from the mount, and put the tables in the ark which I had made, and there they be, as the Lord commanded me.

6 ¶ And the children of Iſrael took their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan, to Moſera: there Aaron died, and there he was buried; and Eleazar his ſon miniſtered in the prieſt's office in his ſtead.

7 From thence they journeyed unto Gudgodah; and from Gudgodah to Jotbath, a land of rivers of waters.

8 At that time the Lord ſeparated the tribe of Levi, to bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, to ſtand before the Lord to miniſter unto him, and to bleſs in his name, unto this day.

9 Wherefore Levi hath no part nor inheritance with his brethren: the Lord is his inheritance, according as the Lord thy God promiſed him.

10 And I ſtayed in the mount, according to the firſt time, forty days and forty nights: and the Lord hearkened unto me at that time alſo, and the Lord would not deſtroy thee.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Ariſe, take thy journey before the people, that they may go in and poſſeſs the land which I ſware unto their fathers to give unto them.

12 ¶ And now, Iſrael, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to ſerve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy ſoul, 22 And at Taberah, &c.) Would to God, that even this were all that I could tax you with, though ſurely enough, of itſelf alone, to mortify and humble you! But remember what paſſed at Taberah, Maſſah, Kibroth, and Kadiſh, the three former of which have their names as a memorial either of your ſin or puniſhment. And in fine, what hath been the behaviour of your nation during the whole courſe of your travels! A ſeries of diſcontent, riot and rebellion againſt God and his miniſter.

16 Ye had turned aſide quickly.) He might well ſay quickly, for it was only a few weeks before, that God had commanded them with his own mouth, not to worſhip any graven image, and immediately after commanded Moſes to repeat this precept particularly to them, not to make them gods of ſilver, or gods of gold.

13 To keep the commandments of the Lord, and his ſtatutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?

14 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens is the Lord's thy God, the earth alſo, with all that therein is.

15 Only the Lord had a delight in thy fathers to love them, and he choſe their ſeed after them, even you above all people, as it is this day.

16 Circumciſe therefore the foreſkin of your heart, and be no more ſtiff-necked.

17 For the Lord your God is God of gods, and Lord of lords, a great God, a mighty, and a terrible, which regardeth not perſons, nor taketh reward.

18 He doth execute the judgment of the fatherleſs and widow, and loveth the ſtranger, in giving him food and raiment.

19 Love ye therefore the ſtranger; for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

20 Thou ſhalt fear the Lord thy God; him ſhalt thou ſerve, and to him ſhalt thou cleave, and ſwear by his name.

21 He is thy praiſe, and he is thy God, that hath done for thee theſe great and terrible things which thine eyes have ſeen.

22 Thy fathers went down into Egypt with three-ſcore and ten perſons; and now the Lord thy God hath made thee as the ſtars of heaven for multitude.

CHAP. XI.

1 An exhortation to obedience. 26 A bleſſing and a curſe is ſet before them.

THEREFORE thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God, and keep his charge, and his ſtatutes, and his judgments, and his commandments alway.

2 And know you this day: for I ſpeak not with your children which have not known, and which have not ſeen the chaſtiſement of the Lord your God, his greatneſs, his mighty hand, and his ſtretched-out arm,

3 And his miracles, and his acts, which he did in the midſt of Egypt unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and unto all his land;

4 And what he did unto the army of Egypt, unto their horſes, and to their chariots; how he made the water of the Red ſea to overflow them as they purſued after you, and how the Lord hath deſtroyed them unto this day;

5 And what he did unto you in the wilderneſs, until ye came into this place;

6 And what he did unto Dathan and Abiram, the ſons of Eliab, the ſon of Reuben; how the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, and their houſholds, and their tents, and all the ſubſtance that was in their poſſeſſion in the midſt of all Iſrael.

7 But your eyes have ſeen all the great acts of the Lord which he did.

8 Therefore ſhall ye keep all the commandments which I command you this day, that ye may be ſtrong, and go in and poſſeſs the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it:

9 And that ye may prolong your days in the land which the Lord ſware unto your fathers to give unto them and to their ſeed, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 For the land whither thou goeſt in to poſſeſs it is not as the land of Egypt from whence ye came out, where thou ſowedſt thy ſeed, and wateredſt it with thy foot, as a garden of herbs;

11 But the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it is a land of hills and valleys, and drinketh water of the rain of heaven;

12 A land which the Lord thy God careth for: the eyes of the Lord thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs, if ye ſhall hearken diligently unto my commandments, which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to ſerve him with all your heart and with all your ſoul;

14 That I will give you the rain of your land in his due ſeaſon, the firſt rain and the latter rain, that thou mayeſt gather in thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil.

15 And I will ſend graſs in thy fields for thy cattle, that thou mayeſt eat and be full.

16 Take heed to yourſelves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aſide, and ſerve other gods, and worſhip them:

17 And then the Lord's wrath be kindled againſt you, and he ſhut up the heaven that there be no rain, and that the land yield not her fruit, and leſt ye periſh quickly from off the good land which the Lord giveth you.

18 Therefore ſhall ye lay up theſe my words in your heart, and in your ſoul, and bind them for a ſign upon your hand, that they may be as frontlets between your eyes.

19 And ye ſhall teach them your children, ſpeaking of them when thou ſitteſt in thine houſe, and when thou walkeſt by the way, when thou lieſt down, and when thou riſeſt up.

20 And thou ſhalt write them upon the door-poſts of thine houſe, and upon thy gates.

21 That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the Lord ſware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon the earth:

22 For if ye ſhall diligently keep all theſe commandments which I command you to do them, to love

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

14 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, &c.) The firſt heaven comprehends the atmoſphere, the ſpace illuminated by the ſun, moon, and ſtars, the ſecond, of the heaven of heavens, all the glorious region in which the throne of God is placed. All theſe ſays Moſes, are the work of God and his poſſeſſion, as well as this earth, and all the creatures that are in it.

18 And loveth the ſtranger, in giving him food and raiment.) The providence of God which extends to all, is eſpecially provident for the ſtrangers, by recommending hoſpitality, and bleſſing the earth in ſuch a manner, that the fruits of it are not only ſufficient for the inhabitants, but alſo enough for the maintenance of ſtrangers. Of this their own nation was a ſtanding monument, ſince their forefathers, were ſo many pilgrims and ſtrangers, had been wonderfully preſerved and liberally provided for, by the ſingular care of providence, in all their peregrinations; and, at laſt, the whole body of the nation having fallen under the ſlavery and oppreſſion of an Egyptian tyrant, God avenged their wrongs, and ſet them free; as an illuſtrious teſtmony to all the world, that he is the patron of ſtrangers, and will not ſuffer them to be oppreſſed with impunity.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

10 For the land---is not as the land of Egypt---where thou ſowedſt thy ſeed, and wateredſt it with thy foot, &c.) This is explained by a paſſage out of Philo, who tells us, that the Egyptians, to ſupply the want of rain, uſed to water their gardens by a machine for drawing water, fixed upon the banks of the Nile; which machine was ſo contrived as to be turned by the foot. So the meaning is, that whereas Egypt was watered by human art, Canaan was watered by rain from heaven.

the Lord your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him;

23 Then will the Lord drive out all theſe nations from before you, and ye ſhall poſſeſs greater nations and mightier than yourſelves.

24 Every place whereon the ſoles of your feet ſhall tread ſhall be yours: from the wilderneſs, and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermoſt ſea, ſhall your coaſt be.

25 There ſhall no man be able to ſtand before you: for the Lord your God ſhall lay the fear of you, and the dread of you, upon all the land that ye ſhall tread upon, as he hath ſaid unto you.

26 ¶ Behold, I ſet before you this day a bleſſing and a curſe;

27 A bleſſing, if ye obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day;

28 And a curſe, if ye will not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but turn aſide out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods, which ye have not known.

29 And it ſhall come to paſs when the Lord thy God hath brought thee in unto the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it, that thou ſhalt put the bleſſing upon mount Gerizim, and the curſe upon mount Ebal.

30 Are they not on the other ſide Jordan, by the way where the ſun goeth down in the land of the Canaanites, which dwell in the champaign over againſt Gilgal, beſide the plains of Moreh?

31 For ye ſhall paſs over Jordan, to go in to poſſeſs the land which the Lord your God giveth you, and ye ſhall poſſeſs it, and dwell therein.

32 And ye ſhall obſerve to do all the ſtatutes and judgments which I ſet before you this day.

CHAP. XII.

1 Monuments of idolatry are to be deſtroyed. 5 The place of God's ſervice is to be kept. 16, 23 Blood forbidden.

THESE are the ſtatutes and judgments which ye ſhall obſerve to do in the land which the Lord God of thy fathers giveth thee to poſſeſs it, all the days that ye live upon the earth.

2 Ye ſhall utterly deſtroy all the places wherein the nations which ye ſhall poſſeſs ſerved their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under every green tree:

3 And ye ſhall overthrow their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their groves with fire, and ye ſhall hew down the graven images of their gods, and deſtroy the names of them out of that place.

4 Ye ſhall not do ſo unto the Lord your God.

5 ¶ But unto the place which the Lord your God ſhall chooſe out of all your tribes to put his name there, even unto his habitation ſhall ye ſeek, and thither thou ſhalt come:

6 And thither ye ſhall bring your burnt-offerings, and your ſacrifices, and your tithes, and heave-offerings of your hand, and your vows, and your free-will-offerings, and the firſtlings of your herds, and of your flocks.

7 And there ye ſhall eat before the Lord your God, and ye ſhall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, ye and your houſholds, wherein the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee.

8 Ye ſhall not do after all the things that we do here this day, every man whatſoever is right in his own eyes.

9 For ye are not as yet come to the reſt and to the inheritance which the Lord your God giveth you.

10 But when ye go over Jordan, and dwell in the land which the Lord your God giveth you to inherit, and when he giveth you reſt from all your enemies round about, ſo that ye dwell in ſafety;

11 Then there ſhall be a place which the Lord your God ſhall chooſe to cauſe his name to dwell there; thither ſhall ye bring all that I command you; your burnt-offerings, and your ſacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and all your choice vows which ye vow unto the Lord,

12 And ye ſhall rejoice before the Lord your God, ye, and your ſons, and your daughters, and your men-ſervants, and your maid-ſervants, and the Levite that is within your gates; foraſmuch as he hath no part nor inheritance with you.

13 Take heed to thyſelf, that thou offer not thy burnt-offerings in every place that thou ſeeſt;

14 But in the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe in one of thy tribes, there thou ſhalt offer thy burnt-offerings, and there thou ſhalt do all that I command thee.

15 Notwithſtanding thou mayeſt kill and eat fleſh in all thy gates, whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after, according to the bleſſing of the Lord thy God, which he hath given thee: the unclean and the clean may eat thereof, as of the roe-buck, and as of the hart.

16 ¶ Only ye ſhall not eat the blood; ye ſhall pour it upon the earth as water.

17 Thou mayeſt not eat within thy gates the tithe of thy corn, or of thy wine, or of thy oil, or the firſtlings of thy herds, or of thy flock, nor any of thy vows which thou voweſt, nor thy free-will-offerings, or heave-offering of thine hand:

18 But thou muſt eat them before the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe, thou, and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou ſhalt rejoice before the Lord thy God in all that thou putteſt thine hand unto.

19 Take heed to thyſelf that thou forſake not the Levite, as long as thou liveſt upon the earth.

20 ¶ When the Lord thy God ſhall enlarge thy border, as he hath promiſed thee, and thou ſhalt ſay, I will eat fleſh (becauſe thy ſoul longeth to eat fleſh) thou mayeſt eat fleſh, whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after.

21 If the place which the Lord thy God hath choſen to put his name there be too far from thee; then thou ſhalt kill of thy herd, and of thy flock, which the Lord hath given thee, as I have commanded thee, and thou ſhalt eat in thy gates whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after 29 Thou ſhalt put the bleſſing upon mount Gerizim, and the curſe upon mount Ebal.) In order to make you the more ſenſible upon what terms you enjoy the promiſed land, there ſhall be a ſolemn rendezvous of your ſeveral tribes, ſome at mount Gerizim, and of others at mount Ebal, where, at the one place, the prieſt ſhall, in an audible and ſolemn manner, pronounce the ſeveral bleſſings of God promiſed upon your obedience; and at the other, the curſes conſequent upon the practice of vice, injuſtice and idolatry. Theſe mountains were ſituated in the tribe of Ephraim, and ſeparated only by a valley about one hundred paces wide.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

4 Ye ſhall not do ſo unto the Lord your God.) That is you ſhall not ſet up various altars on mountains, in groves, nor under green trees, as the heathens did to their gods; but ſerve him publicly in one place, which he ſhall chooſe. But notwithſtanding this prohibition, the ſacred hiſtory ſufficiently informs us how very prone the Iſraelites were to chooſe mountains and groves for the place of their worſhip, and fix their images after the example of their idolatrous neighbours.

after.

22 Even as the roe-buck and the hart is eaten, ſo thou ſhalt eat them: the unclean and the clean ſhall eat of them alike:

23 Only be ſure that thou eat not the blood: for the blood is the life, and thou mayeſt not eat the life with the fleſh.

24 Thou ſhalt not eat it; thou ſhalt pour it upon the earth as water.

25 Thou ſhalt not eat it, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, when thou ſhalt do that which is right in the ſight of the Lord.

26 Only the holy things which thou haſt, and thy vows thou ſhalt take, and go unto the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe:

27 And thou ſhalt offer thy burnt-offerings, the fleſh, and the blood, upon the altar of the Lord thy God: and the blood of thy ſacrifices ſhall be poured out upon the altar of the Lord thy God, and thou ſhalt eat the fleſh.

28 Obſerve and hear all theſe words which I command thee, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doeſt that which is good and right in the ſight of the Lord thy God.

29 ¶ When the Lord thy God ſhall cut off the nations from before thee, whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs them, and thou ſucceedeſt them, and dwelleſt in their land:

30 Take heed to thyſelf that thou be not ſnared by following them, after that they be deſtroyed from before thee, and that thou enquire not after their gods, ſaying, How did theſe nations ſerve their gods? even ſo will I do likewiſe.

31 Thou ſhalt not do ſo unto the Lord thy God: for every abomination to the Lord which he hateth, have they done unto their gods: for even their ſons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods.

32 What thing ſoever I command you, obſerve to do it: thou ſhalt not add thereto, nor diminiſh from it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Enticers to idolatry, 6 how near ſoever 9 are to be ſtoned to death. 12 Idolatrous cities are not to be ſpared.

IF there ariſe among you a prophet or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a ſign or a wonder.

2 And the ſign or the wonder come to paſs, whereof he ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Let us go after other gods (which thou haſt not known) and let us ſerve them;

3 Thou ſhalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: for the Lord your God proveth you, to know whether you love the Lord your God, with all your heart, and with all your ſoul.

4 Ye ſhall walk after the Lord your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments and obey his voice, and you ſhall ſerve him, and cleave unto him.

5 And that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams ſhall be put to death (becauſe he hath ſpoken to turn you away from the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you out of the houſe of bondage, to thruſt thee out of the way which the Lord thy God commanded thee to walk in) ſo ſhalt thou put the evil away from the midſt of thee.

6 ¶ If thy brother, the ſon of thy mother, or thy ſon, or thy daughter, or the wife of thy boſom, or thy friend which is as thine own ſoul, entice thee ſecretly, ſaying, Let us go and ſerve other gods (which thou haſt not known, thou, nor thy fathers;

7 Namely, of the gods of the people which are round about you, nigh unto thee, or far off from thee, from the one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth)

8 Thou ſhalt not conſent unto him, nor hearken unto him; neither ſhall thine eye pity him, neither ſhalt thou ſpare, neither ſhalt thou conceal him.

9 But thou ſhalt ſurely kill him; thine hand ſhall be firſt upon him to put him to death, and afterwards the hand of all the people.

10 And thou ſhalt ſtone him with ſtones, that he die: becauſe he hath ſought to thruſt thee away from the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

11 And all Iſrael ſhall hear, and fear, and ſhall do no more any ſuch wickedneſs as this is, among you.

12 ¶ If thou ſhalt hear ſay in one of thy cities, which the Lord thy God hath given thee to dwell there, ſaying,

13 Certain men, the children of Belial, are gone out from among you, and have withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, ſaying, Let us go and ſerve other gods (which ye have not known)

14 Then ſhalt thou enquire and make ſearch, and aſk diligently: and behold, if it be truth, and the thing certain, that ſuch abomination is wrought among you:

15 Thou ſhalt ſurely ſmite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the ſword, deſtroying it utterly, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the ſword.

16 And thou ſhalt gather all the ſpoil of it into the midſt of the ſtreet thereof, and ſhalt burn with fire the city, and all the ſpoil thereof every whit, for the Lord thy God: and it ſhall be an heap for ever, it ſhall not 31 For even their ſons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods.) Their ſuperſtition taught them, that in ſome extraordinary calamities, there was no way to appeaſe the anger of their gods, but by ſacrificing to them their own children. This diabolical rite was notoriouſly practiſed by the Carthaginians, who it is known, derived it from the Phœnicians, the ancient inhabitants of Canaan; and at laſt it overſpread all nations, and even found admittance among the refined Greeks themſelves. Though it muſt be owned, that the accounts of this horrid ſuperſtition have been aggravated by the credulity, ignorance, or miſrepreſentation of authors. But what is moſt ſurpriſing, we find that even the Iſraelites themſelves, notwithſtanding this admonition, were ſeduced to commit this horrid abomination; though they could not be ignorant, that the Canaanitiſh nations were deſtroyed for practiſing it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

1 If there ariſe among you a prophet, &c.) Moſes foreſeeing that the Iſraelites, in after ages, would be expoſed to the ſnares and deluſions of falſe prophets, who under the ſpecious pretence of revelations from God, or communications of divine power, while indeed they were aſſiſted only by wicked and infernal ſpirits, might work ſome ſtrange and unaccountable things, or foretel ſome events, as demonſtrations of their falſe doctrine, and thereby perſuade them to idolatrous worſhip; he lays them down this certain rule and law, whereby to judge of ſuch pretenders to inſpiration, and in what manner to deal with all enticers to apoſtacy from the true religion, namely, That the exiſtence of the one true God, and the authority, goodneſs, and truth of his laws and religion, being already ſo fully demonſtrated by evidences of all kinds, ſo long continued, and beyond all exception; and, on the contrary, the heathen dæmons, and idolatrous cuſtoms of their worſhip, being in the reaſon and nature of things, ſo full of abſurdities, follies, and the worſt of wickedneſſes: it ought not to be thought that a miracle, or the fulfilling of a prediction, ſhould be ſufficient to ſpeak the truth of the one, or gain credit to the other. Hence we ſee, that the true divinity of miracles and ſigns, ought to be judged by the doctrines, intentions, and purpoſes, they are intended to eſtabliſh: and therefore every worker of miracles, who attempts to ſeduce men to embrace falſe and irrational principles of religion, is to be conſidered as an impoſtor.

be built again.

17 And there ſhall cleave nought of the curſed thing to thine hand: that the Lord may turn from the fierceneſs of his anger, and ſhew thee mercy, and have compaſſion upon thee, and multiply thee as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers;

18 When thou ſhalt hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to keep all his commandments which I command thee this day, to do that which is right in the eyes of the Lord thy God.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God's children are not to diſfigure themſelves in mourning. 3 What may be eaten and what not. 22 Of tithes.

YE are the children of the Lord your God; ye ſhall not cut yourſelves, nor make any baldneſs between your eyes for the dead.

2 For thou art an holy people unto the Lord thy God, and the Lord hath choſen thee to be a peculiar people unto himſelf, above all the nations that are upon the earth.

3 ¶ Thou ſhalt not eat any abominable thing.

4 Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat: the ox, the ſheep, and the goat,

5 The hart, and the roe-buck, and the fallow deer, and the wild goat, and the pygarg, and the wild ox, and the chamois.

6 And every beaſt that parteth the hoof, and cleaveth the cleft into two claws, and cheweth the cud among the beaſts, that ſhall ye eat.

7 Nevertheleſs, theſe ye ſhall not eat, of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the cloven hoof: as the camel, and the hare, and the coney: for they chew the cud, but divide not the hoof; therefore they are unclean unto you.

8 And the ſwine, becauſe it divideth the hoof, yet cheweth not the cud, it is unclean unto you: ye ſhall not eat of their fleſh, nor touch their dead carcaſe.

9 Theſe ye ſhall eat of all that are in the waters: all that have fins and ſcales ſhall ye eat:

10 And whatſoever hath not fins and ſcales ye may not eat: it is unclean unto you.

11 Of all clean birds ye ſhall eat.

12 But theſe are they of which ye ſhall not eat: the eagle, and the oſſifrage, and the oſprey,

13 And the glede, and the kite, and the vulture after his kind,

14 And every raven after his kind,

15 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk after his kind,

16 The little owl, and the great owl, and the ſwan,

17 And the pelican, and the gier-eagle, and the cormorant,

18 And the ſtork, and the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat.

19 And every creeping thing that flieth is unclean unto you; they ſhall not be eaten.

20 But of all clean fowls ye may eat.

21 Ye ſhall not eat of any thing that dieth of itſelf: thou ſhalt give it unto the ſtranger that is in thy gates, that he may eat it: or thou mayeſt ſell it unto an alien: for thou art an holy people unto the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.

22 ¶ Thou ſhalt truly tithe all the increaſe of thy ſeed, that the field bringeth forth year by year.

23 And thou ſhalt eat before the Lord thy God, in the place which he ſhall chooſe, to place his name there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oil, and the firſtlings of thy herds, and of thy flocks: that thou mayeſt learn to fear the Lord thy God always.

24 And if the way be too long for thee, ſo that thou art not able to carry it, or if the place be too far from thee which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe to ſet his name there, when the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee;

25 Then ſhalt thou turn it into money, and bind up the money in thine hand, and ſhalt go unto the place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe:

26 And thou ſhalt beſtow that money for whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after, for oxen, or for ſheep, or for wine, or for ſtrong drink, or for whatſoever thy ſoul deſireth: and thou ſhalt eat there before the Lord thy God, and thou ſhalt rejoice, thou and thine houſhold.

27 And the Levite that is within thy gates, thou ſhalt not forſake him: for he hath no part nor inheritance with thee.

28 At the end of three years thou ſhalt bring forth all the tithe of thine increaſe the ſame year, and ſhalt lay it up within thy gates:

29 And the Levite (becauſe he hath no part nor inheritance with thee) and the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow which are within thy gates, ſhall come, and ſhall eat and be ſatisfied: that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doeſt.

CHAP. XV.

1 The ſeventh year a year of releaſe unto the poor. 7 It muſt be no let of lending and giving. 12 Of Hebrew ſervants' freedom.

AT the end of every ſeven years thou ſhalt make a releaſe.

2 And this is the manner of the releaſe: every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour ſhall releaſe it; he ſhall not exact it of his neighbour or of his brother: becauſe it is called the Lord's releaſe.

3 Of a foreigner thou mayeſt exact it again: but that which is thine with thy brother thine hand ſhall releaſe;

4 Save when there ſhall be no poor among you: for the Lord ſhall greatly bleſs thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to poſſeſs it:

5 Only if thou carefully hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to obſerve to do all theſe commandments, which I command thee this day.

6 For the Lord thy God bleſſeth thee, as he promiſed thee; and thou ſhalt lend unto many nations, but thou ſhalt not borrow; and thou ſhalt reign over

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

1 Ye are the children of the Lord your God, &c.) Moſes proceeds to remind this new generation of ſeveral other particular laws, deſigned to keep up the diſtinction between the Iſraelites and other nations, to guard them from every approach to ſuperſtitious practices; exhorting them to the careful obſervance of theſe laws, in conſideration of the honour and happineſs of being the peculiar church and worſhippers of the one true God.

26 And thou ſhalt rejoice, &c.) This is no other than an injunction on the Hebrew nation, to uſe one part of their income in hoſpitality; to rejoice in the goodneſs of God, when they come before his preſence, to acknowlege they owed all their bleſſings to his protection and favour, and to glad the hearts of the poor, the fatherleſs and the widow, with a cheerful entertainment, intimating the goodneſs of God to themſelves by ſuch acts of kindneſs to others; but this was left entirely to the owner, and his good-will, on what to ſpend it, and whom to entertain. The Hebrew writers therefore call it the tithe of feaſts, and the poor man's tithe.

many nations, but they ſhall not reign over thee.

7 ¶ If there be among you a poor man of one of thy brethren within any of thy gates, in thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not harden thy heart, nor ſhut thy hand, from thy poor brother;

8 But thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto him, and ſhalt ſurely lend him ſufficient for his need, in that which he wanteth.

9 Beware that there be not a thought in thy wicked heart, ſaying, The ſeventh year, the year of releaſe, is at hand; and thine eye be evil againſt thy poor brother, and thou giveſt him nought, and he cry unto the Lord againſt thee, and it be ſin unto thee.

10 Thou ſhalt ſurely give him, and thine heart ſhall not be grieved when thou giveſt unto him: becauſe that for this thing the Lord thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all thy works, and in all that thou putteſt thine hand unto.

11 For the poor ſhall never ceaſe out of the land: therefore I command thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land.

12 ¶ And if thy brother, an Hebrew man, or an Hebrew woman, be ſold unto thee, and ſerve thee ſix years; then the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let him go free from thee.

13 And when thou ſendeſt him out free from thee, thou ſhalt not let him go away empty:

14 Thou ſhalt furniſh him liberally out of thy flock, and out of thy floor, and out of thy wine-preſs: of that wherewith the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee thou ſhalt give unto him.

15 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bondman in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God redeemed thee: therefore I command thee this thing today.

16 And it ſhall be, if he ſay unto thee, I will not go away from thee; becauſe he loveth thee and thine houſe, becauſe he is well with thee;

17 Then ſhalt thou take an awl, and thruſt it thro' his ear unto the door, and he ſhall be thy ſervant for ever. And alſo unto thy maid-ſervant thou ſhalt do likewiſe.

18 It ſhall not ſeem hard unto thee, when thou ſendeſt him away free from thee; for he hath been worth a double hired ſervant to thee, in ſerving thee ſix years: and the Lord thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all that thou doeſt.

19 All the firſtling males that come of thy herd, and of thy flock, thou ſhalt ſanctify unto the Lord thy God: thou ſhalt do no work with the firſtling of thy bullock, nor ſhear the firſtling of thy ſheep.

20 Thou ſhalt eat it before the Lord thy God, year by year, in the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe, thou and thy houſhold.

21 And if there be any blemiſh therein, as if it be lame, or blind, or have any ill blemiſh, thou ſhalt not ſacrifice it unto the Lord thy God.

22 Thou ſhalt eat it within thy gates: the unclean and the clean perſon ſhall eat it alike, as the roe-buck, and as the hart.

23 Only thou ſhalt not eat the blood thereof: thou ſhalt pour it upon the ground as water.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The feaſt of the paſſover, 9 of weeks, 13 of tabernacles. 18 Of judges and juſtice. 21 Groves and images are forbidden.

OBSERVE the month of Abib, and keep the paſſover unto the Lord thy God; for in the month of Abib the Lord thy God brought thee forth out of Egypt by night.

2 Thou ſhalt therefore ſacrifice the paſſover unto the Lord thy God, of the flock and the herd, in the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe to place his name there.

3 Thou ſhalt eat no leavened bread with it; ſeven days ſhalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of affliction; for thou cameſt forth out of the land of Egypt in haſte: that thou mayeſt remember the day when thou cameſt forth out of the land of Egypt all the days of thy life.

4 And there ſhall be no leavened bread ſeen with thee in all thy coaſts ſeven days: neither ſhall there any thing of the fleſh which thou ſacrificedſt the firſt day at even remain all night until the morning.

5 Thou mayeſt not ſacrifice the paſſover within any of thy gates which the Lord thy God giveth thee;

6 But at the place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe to place his name in, there thou ſhalt ſacrifice the paſſover at even, at the going down of the ſun, at the ſeaſon that thou cameſt forth out of Egypt.

7 And thou ſhalt roaſt, and eat it in the place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe: and thou ſhalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents.

8 Six days thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread, and on the ſeventh day ſhall be a ſolemn aſſembly to the Lord thy God; thou ſhalt do no work therein.

9 ¶ Seven weeks ſhalt thou number unto thee: begin to number the ſeven weeks from ſuch time as thou beginneſt to put the ſickle to the corn.

10 And thou ſhalt keep the feaſt of weeks unto the Lord thy God with a tribute of a free-will-offering of thine hand, which thou ſhalt give unto the LORD thy God according as the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee.

11 And thou ſhalt rejoice before the Lord thy God, thou, and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow, that are among you, in the place which the Lord thy God hath choſen to place his name there.

12 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bond-

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

7 Thou ſhalt not harden thine heart, &c.) Leſt this law might make people cautious, hard and niggardly in lending to the poor, as being aſſured they ſhould loſe the debt at the ſeventh year, if they were not able to pay it before; or upon this account might make them ſparing in their charities in other matters, Moſes here gives them a charge, that no Iſraelite ſhould be led by ſo mean a principle, but look upon every poor neighbour as a member of the ſame happy ſociety, equally related to God as himſelf, who therefore would be ſure to puniſh all uncharitableneſs to ſuch as were his own, as he would be to bleſs and reward thoſe, who, with a generous and bountiful heart, gratefully depended upon his providence, and obeyed his commands.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

1 Obſerve the month of Abib.) As a further preſervation againſt idolatrous worſhip, Moſes proceeded to acquaint them, that the three great annual feſtivals, appointed by their law to be celebrated at the ſtated place of national worſhip, were deſigned for this very end, to keep their people cloſe and ſteady to the religion of the one true God, and therefore ought to be obſerved with the utmoſt exactneſs and regard. The firſt of which was the paſſover, with that of unleavened bread; comprehending the ſacrifice of the paſchal lamb, with other ſacrifices and oblations preſcribed for each day of the whole week it was ordered to continue. A feſtival to be obſerved in perpetual commemoration of the bondage in Egypt, and the merciful and miraculous deliverance from it; at the punctual time, and with every circumſtance mentioned in the foregoing laws relating to it.

man in Egypt: and thou ſhalt obſerve and do theſe ſtatutes.

13 ¶ Thou ſhalt obſerve the feaſt of tabernacles ſeven days, after that thou haſt gathered in thy corn and thy wine:

14 And thou ſhalt rejoice in thy feaſt, thou and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite, the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow, that are within thy gates.

15 Seven days ſhalt thou keep a ſolemn feaſt unto the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe: becauſe the Lord thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all thine increaſe, and in all the works of thine hands, therefore thou ſhalt ſurely rejoice.

16 Three times in a year ſhall all thy males appear before the Lord thy God in the place which he ſhall chooſe: in the feaſt of unleavened bread, and in the feaſt of weeks, and in the feaſt of tabernacles: and they ſhall not appear before the Lord empty:

17 Every man ſhall give as he is able, according to the bleſſing of the Lord thy God which he hath given thee.

18 ¶ Judges and officers ſhalt thou make thee in all thy gates which the Lord thy God giveth thee throughout thy tribes: and they ſhall judge the people with juſt judgment.

19 Thou ſhalt not wreſt judgment: thou ſhalt not reſpect perſons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wiſe, and pervert the words of the righteous.

20 That which is altogether juſt ſhalt thou follow, that thou mayeſt live, and inherit the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

21 ¶ Thou ſhalt not plant thee a grove of any trees near unto the altar of the Lord thy God, which thou ſhalt make thee.

22 Neither ſhalt thou ſet thee up any image; which the Lord thy God hateth.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Things ſacrificed muſt be ſound. 2 Idolaters muſt be ſlain. 8 Of hard controverſies. 14 The election, 16 and duty of a king.

THOU ſhalt not ſacrifice unto the Lord thy God any bullock or ſheep wherein is blemiſh, or any evil favouredneſs; for that is an abomination unto the Lord thy God.

2 ¶ If there be found among you within any of thy gates which the Lord thy God giveth thee, man or woman, that hath wrought wickedneſs in the ſight of the Lord thy God, in tranſgreſſing his covenant,

3 And hath gone and ſerved other gods, and worſhipped them, either the ſun, or moon, or any of the hoſt of heaven, which I have not commanded;

4 And it be told thee, and thou haſt heard of it, and enquired diligently, and behold it be true, and the thing certain, that ſuch abomination is wrought in Iſrael:

5 Then ſhalt thou bring forth that man or that woman (which hath committed that wicked thing) unto thy gates, even that man or that woman, and ſhalt ſtone them with ſtones till they die.

6 At the mouth of two witneſſes, or three witneſſes, ſhall he that is worthy of death, be put to death; but at the mouth of one witneſs he ſhall not be put to death.

7 The hands of the witneſſes ſhall be firſt upon him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people: ſo thou ſhalt put the evil away from among you.

8 ¶ If there ariſe a matter too hard for thee in judgment, between blood and blood, between plea and plea, and between ſtroke and ſtroke, being matters of controverſy within thy gates: then ſhalt thou ariſe, and get thee up into the place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe:

9 And thou ſhalt come unto the prieſts the Levites, and unto the judge that ſhall be in thoſe days, and enquire; and they ſhall ſhew thee the ſentence of judgment:

10 And thou ſhalt do according to the ſentence which they of that place which the Lord ſhall chooſe ſhall ſhew thee; and thou ſhalt obſerve to do according to all that they inform thee:

11 According to the ſentence of the law which they ſhall teach thee, and according to the judgment which they ſhall tell thee thou ſhalt do: thou ſhalt not decline from the ſentence which they ſhall ſhew thee to the right hand nor to the left.

12 And the man that will do preſumptuouſly, and will not hearken unto the prieſt that ſtandeth to miniſter there before the Lord thy God, or unto the judge, even that man ſhall die: and thou ſhalt put away the evil from Iſrael.

13 And all the people ſhall hear and fear, and do no more preſumptuouſly.

14 ¶ When thou art come unto the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, and ſhalt poſſeſs it, and ſhalt dwell therein, and ſhalt ſay, I will ſet a king over me, like as all the nations that are about me.

15 Thou ſhalt in any wiſe ſet him king over thee, whom the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe: one from among thy brethren ſhalt thou ſet king over thee; thou mayeſt not ſet a ſtranger over thee, which is not thy brother.

16 ¶ But he ſhall not multiply horſes to himſelf, nor cauſe the people to return to Egypt, to the end that he ſhould multiply horſes; foraſmuch as the Lord hath ſaid unto you, Ye ſhall henceforth return no more that way.

17 Neither ſhall he multiply wives to himſelf, that his heart turn not away: neither ſhall he greatly multiply to himſelf ſilver and gold.

18 And it ſhall be when he ſitteth upon the throne of his kingdom, that he ſhall write him a copy of this law in a book, out of that which is before the prieſts the Levites:

19 And it ſhall be with him, and he ſhall read therein all the days of his life; that he may learn to fear the Lord his God, to keep all the words of this law and theſe ſtatutes to do them;

20 That his heart be not lifted up above his brethren, and that he turn not aſide from the commandment to the right hand or to the left; to the end that he may prolong his days in his kingdom, he, and his children, in the midſt of Iſrael.

18 Judges---ſhalt thou make in all thy gates.) Accordingly they had judges appointed, and conſiſtories erected in every city, for determining all differences ariſing out of the law; though not as to the power of life and death, which was ſeldom granted them by their rulers, except in larger cities. The expreſſion, in all thy gates, is thought to refer to the cuſtom of keeping their courts in the gates, or in chambers over the gates of their cities.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

3. Any of the hoſt of heaven.) That is, any of the ſtars, many of which were worſhipped by the neighbouring nations: as the dog-ſtar, by the Egyptians, and the ſeven planets by various other nations. Herodotus particularly informs us, that the ſame Egyptians called the planets gods, and were the firſt, who in honour of them divided the days into weeks, according to the number of the planets.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The prieſts and Levites ſhall have no inheritance. 3 Their portion. 15 Chriſt the prophet is to be heard. 20 The preſumptuous prophet is to die.

THE prieſts the Levites, and all the tribe of Levi, ſhall have no part nor inheritance with Iſrael: they ſhall eat the offerings of the Lord made by fire, and his inheritance.

2 Therefore ſhall they have no inheritance among their brethren: the Lord is their inheritance, as he hath ſaid unto them.

3 ¶ And this ſhall be the prieſts due from the people, from them that offer a ſacrifice, whether it be ox or ſheep; and they ſhall give unto the prieſt the ſhoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw.

4 The firſt fruit alſo of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thy oil, and the firſt of the fleece of thy ſheep ſhalt thou give him.

5 For the Lord thy God hath choſen him out of all thy tribes, to ſtand to miniſter in the name of the Lord, him and his ſons for ever.

6 And if a Levite come from any of thy gates out of all Iſrael, where he ſojourned, and come with all the deſire of his mind unto the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe;

7 Then he ſhall miniſter in the name of the Lord his God, as all his brethren the Levites do, which ſtand there before the Lord.

8 They ſhall have like portions to eat, beſide that which cometh of the ſale of his patrimony.

9 When thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not learn to do after the abominations of thoſe nations.

10 There ſhall not be found among you any one that maketh his ſon or his daughter to paſs through the fire, or that uſeth divination, or an obſerver of times, or an enchanter, or a witch,

11 Or a charmer, or a conſulter with familiar ſpirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer.

12 For all that do theſe things are an abomination unto the Lord: and becauſe of theſe abominations, the Lord thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

13 Thou ſhalt be perfect with the Lord thy God.

14 For theſe nations which thou ſhalt poſſeſs, hearkened unto obſervers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the Lord thy God hath not ſuffered thee ſo to do.

15 ¶ The Lord thy God will raiſe up unto thee a prophet from the midſt of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye ſhall hearken.

16 According to all that thou deſireſt of the Lord thy God in Horeb, in the day of the aſſembly, ſaying, Let me not hear again the voice of the Lord my God; neither let me ſee this great fire any more, that I die not.

17 And the Lord ſaid unto me, They have well ſpoken that which they have ſpoken.

18 I will raiſe them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and will put my words in his mouth, and he ſhall ſpeak unto them all that I ſhall command him.

19 And it ſhall come to paſs, that whoſoever will not hearken unto my words, which he ſhall ſpeak in my name, I will require it of him.

20 But the prophet which ſhall preſume to ſpeak a word in my name, which I have not commanded him to ſpeak, or that ſhall ſpeak in the name of other gods, even that prophet ſhall die.

21 And if thou ſay in thine heart, How ſhall we know the word which the Lord hath not ſpoken?

22 When a prophet ſpeaketh in the name of the Lord, if the thing follow not, nor come to paſs, that is the thing which the Lord hath not ſpoken, but the prophet hath ſpoken it preſumptuouſly: thou ſhalt not be afraid of him.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The cities of refuge. 4 Their privilege. 16 The puniſhment of a falſe witneſs.

WHEN the Lord thy God hath cut off the nations, whoſe land the Lord thy God giveth thee, and thou ſucceedeſt them, and dwelleſt in their cities and in their houſes;

2 Thou ſhalt ſeparate three cities for thee in the midſt of thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to poſſeſs it.

3 Thou ſhalt prepare thee a way, and divide the coaſts of thy land (which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit) into three parts, that every ſlayer may flee thither.

4 ¶ And this is the caſe of the ſlayer which ſhall flee thither, that he may live; whoſo killeth his neighbour ignorantly, whom he hated not in time paſt;

5 As when a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand fetcheth a ſtroke with the ax to cut down the tree, and the head ſlippeth from the helve, and lighteth upon his neighbour, that he die; he ſhall flee unto one of theſe cities, and live:

6 Leſt the avenger of blood purſue the ſlayer while his heart is hot, and overtake him, becauſe the way is long, and ſlay him; whereas he was not worthy of death, inaſmuch as he hated him not in time paſt.

7 Wherefore I command thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſeparate three cities for thee.

8 And if the Lord thy God enlarge thy coaſts, as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers, and give thee all the land which he promiſed to give unto thy fathers;

9 If thou ſhalt keep all theſe commandments to do

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

15 The Lord thy God will raiſe up unto thee a prophet.) You ſhall have no pretence for having recourſe to ſuch unlawful and wicked methods of ſearching into the determinations of heaven; for God will ſupply you with a ſucceſſion of truly inſpired prophets, to whom he will reveal his will and determinations concerning your republic. This is the natural ſenſe of theſe words; but as they point to ſome prophet more eminent than the reſt, they may fairly be underſtood literally of the Meſſiah. For as they may be ſo interpreted as to comprehend all the prophets whom God ſent after Moſes, ſo ſurely the Meſſiah, the moſt eminent of all thoſe prophets, is not to be excluded. The ancient Jews undoubtedly underſtood them as peculiarly applicable to the Meſſiah; ſince St. Peter, who, as the apoſtolic manner was, reaſons with the Jews upon received principles, and accommodates theſe words to Jeſus of Nazareth. Acts iii. 22.

18 I will put my words in his mouth.) That is, he ſhall ſpeak in my name, and communicate my mind and will to the people in a free and familiar manner, without any of thoſe tremendous and aſtoniſhing circumſtances which accompanied the promulgation of the law from mount Sinai. This was remarkably fulfilled in our bleſſed Lord and Saviour, who brought life and immortality to light through the goſpel.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

3 Thou ſhalt prepare thee a way.) Make a plain road to them, and keep it always in good repair, that the man-ſlayer might meet with no difficulty in his flight thither. The Jews tell us, that where two ways parted, they were obliged to ſet up a poſt whereon was engraven in great letters, Miklat, refuge, that he might not miſtake his way.

them,

them, which I command thee this day, to love the Lord thy God, and to walk ever in his ways; then ſhalt thou add three cities more for thee beſides theſe three.

10 That innocent blood be not ſhed in thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and ſo blood be upon thee.

11 But if any man hate his neighbour, and lie in wait for him, and riſe up againſt him, and ſmite him mortally that he die, and fleeth into one of theſe cities;

12 Then the elders of his city ſhall ſend and fetch him thence, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, that he may die.

13 Thine eye ſhall not pity him, but thou ſhalt put away the guilt of innocent blood from Iſrael, that it may go well with thee.

14 ¶ Thou ſhalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have ſet in thine inheritance which thou ſhalt inherit in the land that the Lord thy God giveth thee to poſſeſs it.

15 One witneſs ſhall not riſe up againſt a man for any iniquity, or for any ſin, in any ſin that he ſinneth: at the mouth of two witneſſes, or at the mouth of three witneſſes ſhall the matter be eſtabliſhed.

16 If a falſe witneſs riſe up againſt any man to teſtify againſt him that which is wrong;

17 Then both the men between whom the controverſy is, ſhall ſtand before the Lord, before the prieſts, and the judges which ſhall be in thoſe days;

18 And the judges ſhall make diligent inquiſition; and behold, if the witneſs be a falſe witneſs, and hath teſtified falſly againſt his brother;

19 Then ſhall ye do unto him, as he had thought to have done unto his brother. So ſhalt thou put the evil away from among you.

20 And thoſe which remain ſhall hear, and fear, and ſhall henceforth commit no more any ſuch evil among you.

21 And thine eye ſhall not pity, but life ſhall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

CHAP. XX.

2 The prieſt's exhortation to encourage the people to battle. 10 How to uſe the cities that accept or refuſe the proclamation of peace. 16 What cities muſt be devoted.

WHEN thou goeſt out to battle againſt thine enemies, and ſeeſt horſes and chariots, and a people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the Lord thy God is with thee which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

2 ¶ And it ſhall be when ye are come nigh unto the battle, that the prieſt ſhall approach and ſpeak unto the people,

3 And ſhall ſay unto them, Hear, O Iſrael, ye approach this day unto battle againſt your enemies; let not your hearts faint, fear not, and do not tremble, neither be ye terrified becauſe of them.

4 For the Lord your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you againſt your enemies, to ſave you.

5 And the officers ſhall ſpeak unto the people, ſaying, What man is there that hath built a new houſe, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and return to his houſe, leſt he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

6 And what man is he that hath planted a vineyard, and hath not yet eaten of it? let him alſo go and return unto his houſe, leſt he die in the battle, and another man eat of it.

7 And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, and hath not taken her? let him go and return unto his houſe, leſt he die in battle, and another man take her.

8 And the officers ſhall ſpeak further unto the people, and they ſhall ſay, What man is there that is fearful and faint-hearted? let him go and return unto his houſe, leſt his brethrens heart faint as well as his heart.

9 And it ſhall be, when the officers have made an end of ſpeaking unto the people, that they ſhall make captains of the armies to lead the people.

10 ¶ When thou comeſt nigh unto a city to fight againſt it, then proclaim peace unto it.

11 And it ſhall be, if it make thee anſwer of peace, and open unto thee, then it ſhall be, that all the people that is found therein ſhall be tributaries unto thee, and they ſhall ſerve thee.

12 And if it will make no peace with thee, but will make war againſt thee, then thou ſhalt beſiege it:

13 And when the Lord thy God hath delivered it into thine hands, thou ſhalt ſmite every male thereof with the edge of the ſword.

14 But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the ſpoil thereof, ſhalt thou take unto thyſelf: and thou ſhalt eat the ſpoil of thine enemies which the Lord thy God hath given thee.

15 Thus ſhalt thou do unto all the cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the cities of theſe nations.

16 ¶ But of the cities of theſe people which the Lord thy God doth give thee for an inheritance, thou ſhalt ſave alive nothing that breatheth:

17 But thou ſhalt utterly deſtroy them, namely, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, as the Lord thy 14 Thou ſhalt not remove thy neighbour's land-mark.) Next to the caſe of life, Moſes gave charge for ſecuring every man's right and property in other matters; eſpecially forbidding all encroachments upon the boundaries of lands and eſtates. The Jewiſh doctors confine this prohibition to removing the bounds of the holy-land, which were ſet by Joſhua in the diviſion of the country. But the explication of Joſephus is far more reaſonable; he conſiders it as a general prohibition againſt removing any land-marks, whether of an Iſraelite, or of any of the neighbouring nations, with whom they might be at peace; the breaking in upon thoſe bounds being the cauſe of wars and inſurrections, which ariſe from the covetouſneſs of men, who would thus fraudulently enlarge their territories.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 And ſeeſt horſes and chariots.) The armies of the Iſraelites conſiſted entirely of foot, and their law ſeems to have obliged them to continue ſo, in order to a more entire reliance upon God; the Canaanites, and other nations, having the advantage of chariots and horſes. Thus while other nations truſted ſome in chariots, and ſome in horſemen, the Iſraelites were trained up to remember and truſt in the name of the Lord their God, Pſ. xx. 7.

8 What man is there that is fearful, &c.) This fearfulneſs is to be underſtood not only of a natural timorouſneſs, which is incident to ſome conſtitutions, and makes men quake at every danger, but alſo of the adventitious terrors of a guilty conſcience; for they did not, as in the modern faſhion, take the worſt and vileſt into the wars: on the contrary, if they knew a man to be a notorious villain, they thruſt him out of the army, leſt his example ſhould corrupt and diſcourage the reſt of the ſoldiery. We may obſerve from this paſſage, that though the Iſraelites had a promiſe of a particular interpoſition of providence in their behalf, yet they were all along required to make uſe of the moſt proper human means to compaſs their end. Thus, in the inſtance before us, though they were not abſolutely to rely upon their own ſtrength and valour, and the conduct of their men, for the victory; yet they were to employ only ſuch perſons in their wars as had a mind diſpoſed and qualified for the buſineſs, and were worthy of a bleſſing upon their endeavours.

God

God hath commanded thee:

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations which they have done unto their gods, so should ye sin against the Lord your God.

19 When thou shalt besiege a city a long time in making war against it to take it, thou shalt not destroy the trees thereof by forcing an ax against them: for thou mayest eat of them, and thou shalt not cut them down (for the tree of the field is man's life) to employ them in the siege:

20 Only the trees which thou knowest that they be not trees for meat, thou shalt destroy and cut them down, and thou shalt build bulwarks against the city that maketh war with thee, until it be subdued.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The expiation of an uncertain murder. 15 The first-born is not to be disinherited upon private affection. 18 A stubborn son is to be stoned to death.

IF one be found slain in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it, lying in the field, and it be not known who hath slain him:

2 Then thy elders and thy judges shall come forth, and they shall measure unto the cities which are round about him that is slain.

3 And it shall be that the city which is next unto the slain man, even the elders of that city shall take an heifer which hath not been wrought with, and which hath not drawn in the yoke:

4 And the elders of that city shall bring down the heifer unto a rough valley, which is neither eared nor sown, and shall strike off the heifer's neck there in the valley.

5 And the priests, the sons of Levi, shall come near; for them the Lord thy God hath chosen to minister unto him, and to bless in the name of the Lord: and by their word shall every controversy and every stroke be tried:

6 And all the elders of that city that are next unto the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer that is beheaded in the valley:

7 And they shall answer and say, Our hands have not shed this blood, neither have our eyes seen it.

8 Be merciful, O Lord, unto thy people Israel, whom thou hast redeemed, and lay not innocent blood unto thy people of Israel's charge. And the blood shall be forgiven them.

9 So shalt thou put away the guilt of innocent blood from among you, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the Lord.

10 When thou goest forth to war against thine enemies, and the Lord thy God hath delivered them into thine hands, and thou hast taken them captive,

11 And seest among the captives a beautiful woman, and hast a desire unto her, that thou wouldest have her to thy wife.

12 Then thou shalt bring her home to thine house; and she shall shave her head, and pare her nails.

13 And she shall put the raiment of her captivity from off her, and shall remain in thine house, and bewail her father and her mother a full month: and after that thou shalt go in unto her, and be her husband, and she shall be thy wife.

14 And it shall be if thou have no delight in her, then thou shalt let her go whither she will, but thou shalt not sell her at all for money, thou shalt not make merchandise of her, because thou hast humbled her.

15 ¶ If a man have two wives, one beloved, and another hated, and they have borne him children, both the beloved, and the hated; and if the first-born son be her's that was hated;

16 Then it shall be, when he maketh his sons to inherit that which he hath, that he may not make the son of the beloved first-born before the son of the hated, which is indeed the first-born:

17 But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the first-born, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the first-born is his.

18 ¶ If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father, or the voice of his mother, and that when they have chastened him, will not hearken unto them.

19 Then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him, and bring him out unto the elders of his city, and unto the gate of his place;

20 And they shall say unto the elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton and a drunkard.

21 And all the men of his city shall stone him with stones, that he die: so shalt thou put evil away from among you; and all Israel shall hear and fear.

22 And if a man have committed a sin worthy of death, and he be to be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree:

23 His body shall not remain all night upon the tree, but thou shalt in any wise bury him that day: for he that is hanged is accursed of God: that thy land be not defiled, which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of humanity toward brethren. 5 Divers laws. 22 Of adultery. 25 Of rape. 28 Of fornication. 30 Of incest.

THOU shalt not see thy brother's ox or his sheep go astray, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt in any case bring them again unto thy brother.

2 And if thy brother be not nigh unto thee, or if thou know him not, then thou shalt bring it unto thine own house, and it shall be with thee, until thy brother seek after it, and thou shalt restore it to him again.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

1 If one be found slain in the land, &c.) Moses having given rules for the treatment of enemies in war, proceeds to several other statutes for preserving good order and government among the Israelites themselves. One was the expiation of any murder that was concealed, and where the criminal could not be found by the most diligent inquisition after him; which was to be done with such solemnity, as might shew the heinousness of the fact, and terrify all people from the commission of it.

18 If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, &c.) Moses having already made ample provision for the security of private rights between neighbour and neighbour, he now adds a law for the regulation of families, by giving to parents a well tempered power over extravagant and incorrigible children; which was not to put the lives of children absolutely into their hands, as the laws of some other countries did, but to direct them, when all means of admonition and correction were lost upon any son, and they saw nothing but ruin to the estate and family, by his lewdness and debauchery, to make complaint to the magistracy in court; who, upon sufficient evidence given against him, were to condemn him to death, as a terrible example of disobedience to the laws of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

1 Thou shalt not see thy brother's ox, &c.) Moses here orders the law, mentioned Exod. xxiii. 4. relating to mutual justice, kindness, and humanity, with regard to any lost or strayed cattle, to be strictly observed; ordering the finder to take all due care of them, and use all proper means for restoring them to the right owner, whether he were an Israelite or a Gentile, a friend or an enemy.

3 In like manner ſhalt thou do with his aſs, and ſo ſhalt thou do with his raiment; and with all loſt things of thy brother's which he hath loſt, and thou haſt found, ſhalt thou do likewiſe: thou mayeſt not hide thyſelf.

4 Thou ſhalt not ſee thy brother's aſs or his ox fall down by the way, and hide thyſelf from them; thou ſhalt ſurely help him to lift them up again.

5 ¶ The woman ſhall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither ſhall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do ſo are abomination to the Lord thy God.

6 If a bird's neſt chance to be before thee in the way in any tree, or on the ground, whether they be young ones, or eggs, and the dam ſitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou ſhalt not take the dam with the young:

7 But thou ſhalt in any wiſe let the dam go, and take the young to thee: that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayeſt prolong thy days.

8 When thou buildeſt a new houſe, then thou ſhalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine houſe, if any man fall from thence.

9 Thou ſhalt not ſow thy vineyard with divers ſeeds: leſt the fruit of thy ſeed which thou haſt ſown, and the fruit of thy vineyard be defiled.

10 Thou ſhalt not plow with an ox and an aſs together.

11 Thou ſhalt not wear a garment of divers ſorts, as of woollen and linen together.

12 Thou ſhalt make thee fringes upon the four quarters of thy veſture, wherewith thou covereſt thyſelf.

13 If any man take a wife, and go in unto her, and hate her,

14 And give occaſions of ſpeech againſt her, and bring up an evil name upon her, and ſay, I took this woman, and when I came to her, I found her not a maid.

15 Then ſhall the father of the damſel and her mother take and bring forth the tokens of the damſel's virginity unto the elders of the city in the gate:

16 And the damſel's father ſhall ſay unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, and he hateth her;

17 And lo, he hath given occaſions of ſpeech againſt her, ſaying, I found not thy daughter a maid; and yet theſe are the tokens of my daughter's virginity. And they ſhall ſpread the cloth before the elders of the city.

18 And the elders of that city ſhall take that man and chaſtiſe him.

19 And they ſhall amerce him in an hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and give them unto the father of the damſel; becauſe he hath brought up an evil name upon a virgin of Iſrael; and ſhe ſhall be his wife: he may not put her away all his days.

20 But if this thing be true, and the tokens of virginity be not found for the damſel:

21 Then they ſhall bring out the damſel to the door of her father's houſe, and the men of her city ſhall ſtone her with ſtones that ſhe die, becauſe ſhe hath wrought folly in Iſrael, to play the whore in her father's houſe: ſo ſhalt thou put evil away from among you.

22 ¶ If a man be found lying with a woman married to an huſband, then they ſhall both of them die; both the man that lay with the woman, and the woman: ſo ſhalt thou put away evil from Iſrael.

23 If a damſel that is a virgin be betrothed unto an huſband, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her;

24 Then ye ſhall bring them both out unto the gate of that city, and ye ſhall ſtone them with ſtones that they die; the damſel, becauſe ſhe cried not, being in the city; and the man becauſe he hath humbled his neighbour's wife: ſo thou ſhalt put away evil from among you.

25 ¶ But if a man find a betrothed damſel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her, then the man only that lay with her ſhall die:

26 But unto the damſel thou ſhalt do nothing: there is in the damſel no ſin worthy of death: for as when a man riſeth againſt his neighbour, and ſlayeth him, even ſo is this matter.

27 For he found her in the field, and the betrothed damſel cried, and there was none to ſave her.

28 ¶ If a man find a damſel that is a virgin, which is not betrothed, and lay hold on her, and lie with her, and they be found;

29 Then the man that lay with her ſhall give unto the damſel's father fifty ſhekels of ſilver, and ſhe ſhall be his wife, becauſe he hath humbled her; he may not put her away all his days.

30 ¶ A man ſhall not take his father's wife, nor diſcover his father's ſkirt.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Who may, or may not, enter into the congregation. 9 Uncleanneſs to be avoided in the hoſt. 21 Of vows. 24 Of treſpaſſes.

HE that is wounded in the ſtones, or hath his privy member cut off, ſhall not enter into the congregation of the Lord.

2 A baſtard ſhall not enter into the congregation of the Lord: even to his tenth generation ſhall he not enter into the congregation of the Lord.

3 An Ammonite or Moabite ſhall not enter into the congregation of the Lord: even to their tenth generation ſhall they not enter into the congregation of the Lord for ever:

4 Becauſe they met you not with bread and with water in the way, when ye came forth out of Egypt; and becauſe they hired againſt thee Balaam the ſon Beor of Pethor of Meſopotamia, to curſe thee.

5 Nevertheleſs, the Lord thy God would not hearken unto Balaam: But the Lord thy God turned the curſe into a bleſſing unto thee, becauſe the Lord thy God loved thee.

6 Thou ſhalt not ſeek their peace, nor their proſperity all thy days for ever.

7 ¶ Thou ſhalt not abhor an Edomite for he is thy brother: thou ſhalt not abhor an Egyptian, becauſe thou waſt a ſtranger in his land.

6 Thou ſhalt not take the dam with the young.) This is one of thoſe merciful conſtitutions in the law of Moſes which reſpect the animal creation, and tended to humanize the heart of that people, to breed in them a ſenſe of the divine providence, extending itſelf to all creatures, and to teach them to exerciſe their dominion over them with gentleneſs. The law ſeems alſo to regard poſterity; for by letting the dam go free, the breed may be continued.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

4 Becauſe they met you not with bread and water, &c.) It was a piece of ancient hoſpitality, to give ſtrangers in their travels the refreſhment of bread and water, that is, of meat and drink. And therefore the Iſmelites, who were their kindred people, might ſurely expect to receive this civility from the Ammonites, and Moabites.

9 ¶ When the hoſt goeth forth againſt thine enemies, then keep thee from every wicked thing.

10 ¶ If there be among you, any man that is not clean, by reaſon of uncleanneſs that chanceth him by night, then ſhall he go abroad out of the camp, he ſhall not come within the camp.

11 But it ſhall be when evening cometh on, he ſhall waſh himſelf with water: and when the ſun is down, he ſhall come into the camp again.

12 Thou ſhalt have a place alſo without the camp whither thou ſhalt go forth abroad.

13 And thou ſhalt have a paddle upon thy weapon, and it ſhall be when thou wilt eaſe thyſelf abroad, thou ſhalt dig therewith, and ſhalt turn back and cover that which cometh from thee.

14 For the Lord thy God walketh in the midſt of thy camp, to deliver thee, and to give up thine enemies before thee; therefore ſhall thy camp be holy, that he ſee no unclean thing in thee, and turn away from thee.

15 Thou ſhalt not deliver unto his maſter the ſervant which is eſcaped from his maſter unto thee.

16 He ſhall dwell with thee, even among you, in that place which he ſhall chooſe in one of thy gates where it liketh him beſt: thou ſhalt not oppreſs him.

17 There ſhall be no whore of the daughters of Iſrael, nor a ſodomite of the ſons of Iſrael.

18 Thou ſhalt not bring the hire of a whore, or the price of a dog, into the houſe of the Lord thy God for any vow: for even both theſe are abomination unto the Lord thy God.

19 Thou ſhalt not lend upon uſury to thy brother, uſury of money, uſury of victuals, uſury of any thing that is lent upon uſury.

20 Unto a ſtranger thou mayeſt lend upon uſury; but unto thy brother thou ſhalt not lend upon uſury; that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in all that thou ſetteſt thine hand to, in the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

21 ¶ When thou ſhalt vow a vow unto the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt not ſlack to pay it: for the Lord thy God will ſurely require it of thee; and it would be ſin in thee.

22 But if thou ſhalt forbear to vow, it ſhall be no ſin in thee.

23 That which is gone out of thy lips, thou ſhalt keep and perform, even a free-will-offering, according as thou haſt vowed unto the Lord thy God, which thou haſt promiſed with thy mouth.

24 ¶ When thou comeſt into thy neighbour's vineyard, then thou mayeſt eat grapes thy fill at thine own pleaſure; but thou ſhalt not put any in thy veſſel.

25 When thou comeſt into the ſtanding corn of thy neighbour, then thou mayeſt pluck the ears with thine hand: but thou ſhalt not move a ſickle unto thy neighbour's ſtanding corn.

WHEN a man hath taken a wife, and married her, and it come to paſs that ſhe find no favour in his eyes, becauſe he hath found ſome uncleanneſs in her: then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and ſend her out of his houſe.

2 And when ſhe is departed out of his houſe, ſhe may go and be another man's wife.

3 And if the latter huſband hate her, and write her a bill of divorcement, and giveth it in her hand, and ſendeth her out of his houſe: or if the latter huſband die, which took her to be his wife;

4 Her former huſband which ſent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after that ſhe is defiled; for that is abomination before the Lord: and thou ſhalt not cauſe the land to ſin which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

5 When a man hath taken a new wife, he ſhall not go out to war, neither ſhall he be charged with any buſineſs: but he ſhall be free at home one year, and ſhall cheer up his wife which he hath taken.

6 ¶ No man ſhall take the nether or the upper millſtone to pledge; for he taketh a man's life to pledge.

7 ¶ If a man be found ſtealing any of his brethren of the children of Iſrael, and maketh merchandiſe of him, or ſelleth him: then that thief ſhall die, and thou ſhalt put evil away from among you.

8 ¶ Take heed in the plague of leproſy, that thou obſerve diligently and do according to all that the prieſts the Levites ſhall teach you: as I commanded them, ſo ye ſhall obſerve to do.

9 Remember what the Lord thy God did unto Miriam by the way, after that ye were come forth out of Egypt.

10 ¶ When thou doſt lend thy brother any thing, thou ſhalt not go into his houſe to fetch his pledge.

11 Thou ſhalt ſtand abroad, and the man to whom thou doſt lend ſhall bring out the pledge abroad unto thee.

12 And if the man be poor, thou ſhalt not ſleep with his pledge:

13 In any caſe thou ſhalt deliver him the pledge again when the ſun goeth down, that he may ſleep in his own raiment, and bleſs thee: and it ſhall be righteouſneſs unto thee before the Lord thy God.

24 When thou comeſt into thy neighbour's vineyard, then thou mayeſt eat grapes thy fill.) This law the Hebrew doctors pretend was made in favour of poor labourers, who are hired to work in the vineyards in the time of vintage. For if the very oxen were not to be muzzled whilſt they trod out the corn, how much leſs ought the labourer to be debarred from eating the fruit about which he laboured. But there ſeems no reaſon for reſtraining this indulgence to huſbandry; it may juſtly be enlarged to all travellers in the highway, whether Iſraelites, or others, who had occaſion to paſs by the vineyard, and needed a refreſhment, that it ſhould be always lawful for perſons in ſuch circumſtances, to ſtep into the ſide of a field or a vineyard, and gather ſome of the fruits for their neceſſary refreſhment, provided they carried none away with them, nor did any damage to the owner.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

1 When a man hath taken a wife, &c.) The Hebrew nation having been accuſtomed to the liberty of putting away their wives, upon motives of diſlike and averſion, and Moſes being ſenſible that their hardneſs of heart, and ſeverity of temper, would upon an abſolute reſtraint from ſuch liberty, produce greater inconveniences and diſtractions in families, he now enacted, That when any huſband laboured under an abſolute diſlike to his wife, either upon account of any bodily diſtemper, or of her diſagreeable temper, he ſhould have the privilege of parting with her; but not in a haſty, paſſionate, and violent method, but deliberately, by giving her a diſcharge from any further relation to him, ſigned with his own hand, whereby ſhe acquired a full right to marry any other perſon.

10 Thou ſhalt not go into his houſe to fetch his pledge.) This was a merciful proviſion for the poor, whoſe houſes he would have ſo privileged, that no man might enter into them without their conſent, and there chooſe what he pleaſed for the ſecurity of his debt, and by that means perhaps keep him from the uſe of the moſt valuable thing he had; but the lender was to take what the borrower could beſt ſpare.

poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy ſtrangers that are in thy land within thy gates:

15 At his day thou ſhalt give him his hire, neither ſhall the ſun go down upon it; for he is poor, and ſetteth his heart upon it; leſt he cry againſt thee unto the Lord, and it be ſin unto thee.

16 ¶ The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, neither ſhall the children be put to death for the fathers; every man ſhall be put to death for his own ſin.

17 Thou ſhalt not pervert the judgment of the ſtranger, nor of the fatherleſs; nor take a widow's raiment to pledge:

18 But thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bondman in Egypt, and the Lord thy God redeemed thee thence: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

19 ¶ When thou cutteſt down thine harveſt in thy field, and haſt forgot a ſheaf in the field, thou ſhalt not go again to fetch it: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow: that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in all the work of thine hands.

20 When thou beateſt thine olive-tree, thou ſhalt not go over the boughs again: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow.

21 When thou gathereſt the grapes of thy vineyard, thou ſhalt not glean it afterward: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow.

22 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bondman in the land of Egypt: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

IF there be a controverſy between men, and they come unto judgment, that the judges may judge them: then they ſhall juſtify the righteous, and condemn the wicked.

2 And it ſhall be if the wicked man be worthy to be beaten, that the judge ſhall cauſe him to lie down and to be beaten before his face, according to his fault, by a certain number,

3 Forty ſtripes he may give him, and not exceed, leſt if he ſhould exceed, and beat him above theſe with many ſtripes, then thy brother ſhould ſeem vile unto thee.

4 ¶ Thou ſhalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn.

5 ¶ If brethren dwell together, and one of them die and have no child, the wife of the dead ſhall not marry without unto a ſtranger: her huſband's brother ſhall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an huſband's brother unto her.

6 And it ſhall be that the firſt-born which ſhe beareth ſhall ſucceed in the name of his brother which is dead, that his name be not put out of Iſrael.

7 And if the man like not to take his brother's wife, then let his brother's wife go up to the gate unto the elders, and ſay, My huſband's brother refuſeth to raiſe up unto his brother a name in Iſrael, he will not perform the duty of my huſband's brother.

8 Then the elders of his city ſhall call him, and ſpeak unto him, and if he ſtand to it and ſay, I like not to take her;

12 Then thou ſhalt cut off her hand, thine eye ſhall not pity her.

13 ¶ Thou ſhalt not have in thy bag diverſe weights, a great and a ſmall.

14 Thou ſhalt not have in thine houſe diverſe meaſures, a great and a ſmall.

15 But thou ſhalt have a perfect and juſt weight, a perfect and juſt meaſure ſhalt thou have; that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

16 For all that do ſuch things, and all that do unrighteouſly, are an abomination unto the Lord thy God.

17 ¶ Remember what Amalek did unto thee by the way, when ye were come forth out of Egypt;

18 How he met thee by the way, and ſmote the hindmoſt of thee, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou waſt faint and weary; and he feared not God.

19 Therefore it ſhall be, when the Lord thy God hath given thee reſt from all thine enemies round about, in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to poſſeſs it, that thou ſhalt blot out the remembrance of Amelek from under heaven; thou ſhalt not forget it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

3 Forty ſtripes he may give him, and not exceed.) Moſes wiſely limited the number of ſtrokes, that ſevere judges might not order delinquents to be laſhed to death, as was often done among the Romans.

4 Thou ſhalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn.) It was the cuſtom of thoſe countries to uſe oxen in treading out the corn, either with their feet, or by drawing a cart or other inſtrument over it. Some, while theſe creatures were at work, muzzled their mouths, to hinder them from eating the corn; a practice which Moſes here forbids. And by this ſymbolical precept, he inſtructs his people to be kind to their ſervants and labourers, eſpecially to thoſe who miniſtered to them in holy things.

9 And looſe his ſhoe.) This was a mark of infamy for his want of natural affection, importing, that he deſerved to be degraded into the condition of ſlaves, who uſed to go barefoot.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

1 And it ſhall be when thou art come unto the land, &c.) Every Iſraelite being obliged by law to offer the firſt fruits of his field and vineyard, at the tabernacle, at the proper ſeaſons of the year, Moſes now preſcribes to them the forms of ſolemn proceſſion, and prayer, with which each offerer ſhould preſent them.

the Lord thy God, that I am come unto the country which the Lord ſware unto our fathers for to give us.

4 And the prieſt ſhall take the baſket out of thine hand, and ſet it down before the altar of the Lord thy God.

5 And thou ſhalt ſpeak, and ſay before the Lord thy God, A Syrian ready to periſh was my father, and he went down into Egypt, and ſojourned there with a few, and became there a nation great, mighty, and populous.

6 And the Egyptians evil intreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage.

7 And when we cried unto the Lord God of our fathers, the Lord heard our voice, and looked on our affliction, and our labour, and our oppreſſion.

8 And the Lord brought us forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with an out-ſtretched arm, and with great terribleneſs, and with ſigns and with wonders.

9 And he hath brought us into this place and hath given us this land, even a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 And now, behold, I have brought the firſt-fruits of the land, which thou, O Lord, haſt given me. And thou ſhalt ſet it before the Lord thy God, and worſhip before the Lord thy God.

11 And thou ſhalt rejoice in every good thing which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee, and unto thine houſe, thou, and the Levite, and the ſtranger that is among you.

12 When thou haſt made an end of tithing all the tithes of thine increaſe the third year, which is the year of tithing, and haſt given it unto the Levite, the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, and the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled;

13 Then thou ſhalt ſay before the Lord thy God, I have brought away the hallowed things out of mine houſe, and alſo have given them unto the Levite, and unto the ſtranger, to the fatherleſs, and to the widow, according to all thy commandments which thou haſt commanded me; I have not tranſgreſſed thy commandments, neither have I forgotten them.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, neither have I taken away ought thereof for any unclean uſe, nor given ought thereof for the dead: but I have hearkened to the voice of the Lord my God, and have done according to all that thou haſt commanded me.

15 Look down from thy holy habitation, from heaven, and bleſs thy people Iſrael, and the land which thou haſt given us, as thou ſwareſt unto our fathers, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

16 ¶ This day the Lord thy God hath commanded thee to do theſe ſtatutes and judgments: thou ſhalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul.

17 Thou haſt avouched the Lord this day to be thy God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his ſtatutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and to hearken unto his voice.

18 And the Lord hath avouched thee this day to be his peculiar people: as he hath promiſed thee, and that thou ſhouldeſt keep all his commandments;

19 And to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praiſe, and in name, and in honour, and that thou mayeſt be an holy people unto the Lord thy God, as he hath ſpoken.

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The people are to write the law upon ſtones; 5 and to build an altar of whole ſtones. 14 The curſes on mount Ebal.

AND Moſes with the elders of Iſrael commanded the people, ſaying, Keep all the commandments which I command you this day.

2 And it ſhall be on the day when ye ſhall paſs over Jordan unto the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, that thou ſhalt ſet thee up great ſtones, and plaiſter them with plaiſter;

3 ¶ And thou ſhalt write upon them all the words of this law, when thou art paſſed over, that thou mayeſt go in unto the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey; as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promiſed thee.

4 Therefore it ſhall be when ye be gone over Jordan, that ye ſhall ſet up theſe ſtones which I command you this day, in mount Ebal, and thou ſhalt plaiſter them with plaiſter.

5 ¶ And there ſhalt thou build an altar unto the Lord thy God, an altar of ſtones: thou ſhalt not liſt up any iron tool upon them.

6 Thou ſhalt build the altar of the Lord thy God of whole ſtones: and thou ſhalt offer burnt-offerings thereon unto the Lord thy God.

7 And thou ſhalt offer peace-offerings, and ſhalt eat there, and rejoice before the Lord thy God.

8 And thou ſhalt write upon the ſtones all the words of this law very plainly.

9 And Moſes and the prieſts the Levites ſpake unto all Iſrael, ſaying, Take heed, and hearken, O Iſrael, this day thou art become the people of the Lord thy God.

10 Thou ſhalt therefore obey the voice of the Lord thy God, and do his commandments, and his ſtatutes which I commanded thee this day.

11 And Moſes charged the people the ſame day, ſaying,

12 Theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Gerizim to bleſs the people, when ye are come over Jordan: Simeon, 14 Nor given ought thereof for the dead.) That is, I have not offered any of my fruits to idols, which were only dead men deified; and to ſuch dead idols the Gentiles were wont to conſecrate their firſt fruits. From hence, and from other paſſages in this book, it appears how very careful Moſes was to guard the Jews againſt being infected with the then prevailing idolatry of worſhipping the dead; and had they not been reſtrained by this and other laws it is hardly to be doubted, but they would have deified ſome of their dead heroes, as well as the pagans did theirs.

15 Look down from thy holy habitation, from heaven.) Though God was pleaſed to dwell among them by a glorious ſymbol of his preſence yet Moſes well knew, and hereby teaches the Iſraelites to acknowledge, that he dwelt in a more tranſcendent glory in the heavens, which all nations have conſidered as the throne and peculiar habitation of the omnipreſent God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

1 And Moſes with the elders of Iſrael commanded the people, ſaying, &c.) Moſes having thus in ſeveral diſcourſes, repeated the principal parts of the laws, and made ſeveral neceſſary additions to them, called the council together, and ſummoned the body of the people to attend him at the tabernacle, where after an earneſt exhortation to their obſervance of what he had already ſaid, and was now about to preſcribe to them, he acquaints them that it was their duty, the firſt opportunity they had after their arrival in the land of promiſe, to renew their covenant with God in a ſolemn manner. In order to which they were to write or engrave the chief heads of their law, eſpecially the moral precepts of it, upon large ſquare ſtones, ſmoothly plaſtered over for that purpoſe, to be audibly read over to the whole aſſembly.

12. Theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Gerizim to bleſs.) Gerizim and Ebal (ſays Maundrell) are ſeparated by a narrow valley, not above a furlong broad; and Naploſa, the ancient Sychem, is built at the foot of mount Gerizim, from whence the bleſſings were pronounced; and from Ebal were pronounced thoſe particular curſes, to which the people were to ſay Amen, and then repeated by the Levites in and Levi, and Judah, and Iſſachar, and Joſeph, and Benjamin.

13 And theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Ebal to curſe; Reuben, Gad, and Aſher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

14 ¶ And the Levites ſhall ſpeak, and ſay unto all the men of Iſrael with a loud voice,

15 Curſed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image, an abomination unto the Lord, the work of the hands of the craftſman, and putteth it in a ſecret place: and all the people ſhall anſwer and ſay, Amen.

16 Curſed be he that ſetteth light by his father or his mother: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

17 Curſed be he that removeth his neighbour's land-mark: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

18 Curſed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

19 Curſed be he that perverteth the judgment of the ſtranger, fatherleſs, and widow: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

20 Curſed be he that lieth with his fathers wife; becauſe he uncovereth his fathers ſkirt: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

21 Curſed be he that lieth with any manner of beaſt: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

22 Curſed be he that lieth with his ſiſter, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

23 Curſed be he that lieth with his mother-in-law: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

24 Curſed be he that ſmiteth his neighbour ſecretly: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

25 Curſed be he that taketh reward to ſlay an innocent perſon: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

26 Curſed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them: and all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The bleſſings for obedience. 15 The curſes for diſobedience.

AND it ſhall come to paſs, if thou ſhalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to obſerve and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day, that the Lord thy God will ſet thee on high above all nations of the earth:

2 And all theſe bleſſings ſhall come on thee and overtake thee, if thou ſhalt hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God.

3 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be in the city, and bleſſed ſhalt thou be in the field.

4 Bleſſed ſhall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep.

5 Bleſſed ſhall be thy baſket and thy ſtore.

6 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be when thou comeſt in, and bleſſed ſhalt thou be when thou goeſt out.

7 The Lord ſhall cauſe thine enemies that riſe up againſt thee to be ſmitten before thy face: they ſhall come out againſt thee one way and flee before thee ſeven ways.

8 The Lord ſhall command the bleſſing upon thee in thy ſtore houſes, and in all that thou ſetteſt thine hand unto: and he ſhall bleſs thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

9 The Lord ſhall eſtabliſh thee an holy people unto himſelf, as he hath ſworn unto thee, if thou ſhalt keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways.

10 And all people of the earth ſhall ſee that thou art called by the name of the Lord: and they ſhall be afraid of thee.

11 And the Lord ſhall make thee plenteous in goods, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the Lord ſware unto thy fathers to give thee.

12 The Lord ſhall open unto thee his good treaſure, the heaven to give the rain unto thy land in his ſeaſon, and to bleſs all the work of thine hand: and thou ſhalt lend unto many nations, and thou ſhalt not borrow.

13 And the Lord ſhall make thee the head, and not the tail: and thou ſhalt be above only, and thou ſhalt not be beneath: if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the Lord thy God, which I command thee this day to obſerve and to do them:

14 And thou ſhalt not go aſide from any of the words which I command thee this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to ſerve them.

15 ¶ But it ſhall come to paſs, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to obſerve to do all his commandments and his ſtatutes, which I command thee this day, that all theſe curſes ſhall come upon thee, and overtake thee.

16 Curſed ſhalt thou be in the city, and curſed ſhalt thou be in the field.

21 The Lord ſhall make the peſtilence cleave unto thee, until he hath conſumed thee from off the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

22 The Lord ſhall ſmite thee with a conſumption, and with a fever, and with an inflamation, and with an extreme burning, and with the ſword, and with blaſting, and with mildew: and they ſhall purſue thee until thou periſh.

23 And the heaven that is over thy head ſhall be braſs, and the earth that is under thee ſhall be iron.

24 The Lord ſhall make the rain of thy land powder and duſt: from heaven ſhall it come down upon thee, until thou be deſtroyed.

Commentary on Chap. XXVIII.

1 And it ſhall come to paſs, &c.) The foregoing bleſſings and curſes being appointed to be pronounced in ſo ſolemn a manner, Moſes took occaſion to enlarge upon the particulars of each of them to ſhew them what they and their poſterity were to expect at the hands of God, in proportion to their behaviour, and according to the tenor of the covenant they were under.

12 The Lord ſhall open unto thee his good treaſure, &c.) That is, the Lord ſhall cauſe the rain of heaven to fall upon thy land; thoſe collections or magazines of water which are ſuſpended in the clouds, for the purpoſes of watering and fertilizing the ground, being called God's good treaſure, becauſe rain is ſo beneficial to the earth; and it ſpeaks his goodneſs and benignity to ſhower down his bleſſings in ſuch quantities as he thinks proper for the ſuſtenance of man and beaſt.

27 The Lord will ſmite thee with the botch of Egypt, and with the emerods, and with the ſcab, and with the itch, whereof thou canſt not be healed.

28 The Lord ſhall ſmite thee with madneſs, and blindneſs, and aſtoniſhment of heart:

29 And thou ſhalt grope at noon-day as the blind gropeth in darkneſs, and thou ſhalt not proſper in thy ways; and thou ſhalt be only oppreſſed and ſpoiled evermore, and no man ſhall ſave thee.

30 Thou ſhalt betroth a wife, and another man ſhall lie with her: thou ſhalt build an houſe, and thou ſhalt not dwell therein: thou ſhalt plant a vineyard, and ſhalt not gather the grapes thereof.

31 Thine ox ſhall be ſlain before thine eyes, and thou ſhalt not eat thereof: thine aſs ſhall be violently taken away from before thy face, and ſhall not be reſtored to thee: thy ſheep ſhall be given unto thy enemies, and thou ſhalt have none to reſcue them.

32 Thy ſons and thy daughters ſhall be given unto another people, and thine eyes ſhall look, and fail with longing for them all the day long: and there ſhall be no might in thine hand.

33 The fruit of thy land, and all thy labours, ſhall a nation which thou knoweſt not eat up; and thou ſhalt be only oppreſſed and cruſhed alway:

34 So that thou ſhalt be mad, for the ſight of thine eyes which thou ſhalt ſee.

35 The Lord ſhall ſmite thee in the knees, and in the legs, with a ſore botch that cannot be healed, from the ſole of thy foot unto the top of thy head.

36 The Lord ſhall bring thee, and thy king which thou ſhalt ſet over thee, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known; and there ſhalt thou ſerve other gods, wood and ſtone.

37 And thou ſhalt become an aſtoniſhment, a proverb, and a bye-word among all nations whither the Lord ſhall lead thee.

38 Thou ſhalt carry much ſeed out into the field, and ſhalt gather but little in: for the locuſt ſhall conſume it.

39 Thou ſhalt plant vineyards, and dreſs them, but ſhalt neither drink of the wine, nor gather the grapes: for the worms ſhall eat them.

40 Thou ſhalt have olive trees throughout all thy coaſts, but thou ſhalt not anoint thyſelf with the oil: for thine olive ſhall caſt his fruit.

41 Thou ſhalt beget ſons and daughters, but thou ſhalt not enjoy them: for they ſhall go into captivity.

42 All thy trees and fruit of thy land ſhall the locuſts conſume.

43 The ſtranger that is within thee ſhall get up above thee very high: and thou ſhalt come down very low.

44 He ſhall lend to thee, and thou ſhalt not lend to him: he ſhall be the head, and thou ſhalt be the tail.

45 Moreover all theſe curſes ſhall come upon thee, and ſhall purſue thee, and overtake thee, till thou be deſtroyed; becauſe thou hearkenedſt not unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to keep his commandments and his ſtatutes which he commanded thee.

46 And they ſhall be upon thee for a ſign and for a wonder, and upon thy ſeed for ever.

47 Becauſe thou ſerveſt not the Lord thy God with joyfulneſs and with gladneſs of heart, for the abundance of all things.

48 Therefore ſhalt thou ſerve thine enemies which the Lord ſhall ſend againſt thee, in hunger, and in thirſt, and in nakedneſs, and in want of all things: and he ſhall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have deſtroyed thee.

49 The Lord ſhall bring a nation againſt thee from far, from the end of the earth, as ſwift as the eagle flieth; a nation whoſe tongue thou ſhalt not underſtand.

50 A nation of fierce countenance, which ſhall not regard the perſon of the old, nor ſhew favour to the young:

51 And he ſhall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy land, until thou be deſtroyed; which alſo ſhall not leave thee either corn, wine, or oil, or the increaſe of thy kine, or flocks of thy ſheep, until he have deſtroyed thee.

52 And he ſhall beſiege thee in all thy gates, until thy high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou truſtedſt, throughout all thy land: and he ſhall beſiege thee in all thy gates throughout all thy land which the Lord thy God hath given thee.

53 And thou ſhalt eat the fruit of thine own body, the fleſh of thy ſons and of thy daughters which the Lord thy God hath given thee, in the ſiege and in the ſtraitneſs wherewith thine enemies ſhall diſtreſs thee.

54 So that the man that is tender among you, and very delicate, his eyes ſhall be evil toward his brother, and toward the wife of his boſom, and toward the remnant of his children which he ſhall leave:

55 So that he will not give to any of them of the fleſh of his children whom he ſhall eat: becauſe he hath nothing left him in the ſiege and in the ſtraitneſs wherewith thine enemies ſhall diſtreſs thee in all thy gates.

56 The tender and delicate woman among you, which would not adventure to ſet the ſole of her foot upon the ground for delicateneſs and tenderneſs, her eye ſhall be evil towards the huſband of her boſom, and towards her ſon, and towards her daughter,

57 And towards her young one that cometh out from between her feet, and towards her children which ſhe ſhall bear: for ſhe ſhall eat them for want of all things ſecretly in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs wherewith thine

26 Thy carcaſe ſhall be meat unto the fowls of the air.) Your conquerors ſhall not only tranſplant you into diſtant countries, but make ſuch terrible ſlaughter of you, that the carcaſes of vaſt numbers ſhall be expoſed in the ſtreets, to lie like beaſts without burial. Nothing was accounted a greater calamity among the ancients, than to have their bodies lie expoſed to be devoured by birds and beaſts. This is what Jeremiah calls being buried with the burial of an aſs; and the Pſalmiſt bewails it as one of the ſoreſt judgments that had befallen his nation: The dead bodies of thy ſervants have they given to be meat unto the fowls of heaven; the fleſh of thy ſaints unto the beaſts of the earth, &c. Pſalm lxxix. 2. How far this terrible threatening was fulfilled in the Babyloniſh captivity, will appear by conſulting thoſe pathetic deſcriptions in the book of Lamentations, where it is often declared that thoſe judgments inflicted upon them was a conſequence of the breach of God's covenant.

45 Moreover, all theſe curſes ſhall come upon thee, &c.) Theſe inſtances of divine judgment will fall upon you, one after another, ever keeping pace with, and bearing proportion to your obſtinacy and diſobedience; till, at laſt, the miſeries you undergo in your own and in foreign countries, will render your nation the moſt laſting and dreadful example of divine vengeance and juſt indignation upon a people, uneaſy under the very laws and protection of God himſelf, and ungrateful amidſt the moſt plentiful bleſſings of his providence.

49 The Lord ſhall bring a nation againſt thee from far, &c.) When the experience of the great variety of puniſhments, already mentioned, prove too little to humble and reform you, but you ſtill perſiſt in diſregarding the laws, and neglecting the true deſign of your religion, and at laſt, fill up the meaſure of your iniquity by crucifying your Great Meſſiah, God will bring upon you the arms of a ſtill more warlike, fierce, and invincible people, namely, the Romans.

enemy ſhall diſtreſs thee in thy gates.

58 If thou wilt not obſerve to do all the words of this law, that are written in this book, that thou mayeſt fear this glorious and fearful name, THE LORD THY GOD:

59 Then the Lord will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy ſeed, even great plagues, and of long continuance, and ſore ſickneſſes, and of long continuance.

60 Moreover, he will bring upon thee all the diſeaſes of Egypt, which thou waſt afraid of: and they ſhall cleave unto thee.

61 Alſo every ſickneſs and every plague which is not written in the book of this law, them will the Lord bring upon thee, until thou be deſtroyed.

62 And ye ſhall be left few in number, whereas ye were as the ſtars of heaven for multitude: becauſe thou wouldeſt not obey the voice of the Lord thy God.

63 And it ſhall come to paſs, that as the Lord rejoiced over you to do you good, and to multiply you; ſo the Lord will rejoice over you to deſtroy you, and to bring you to nought: and ye ſhall be plucked from off the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

64 And the Lord ſhall ſcatter thee among all people, from the one end of the earth even unto the other: and there thou ſhalt ſerve other gods which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, even wood and ſtone.

65 And among theſe nations ſhalt thou find no eaſe, neither ſhall the ſole of thy foot have reſt: but the Lord ſhall give thee there a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and ſorrow of mind:

66 And thy life ſhall hang in doubt before thee; and thou ſhalt fear day and night; and ſhalt have none aſſurance of thy life.

67 In the morning thou ſhalt ſay, Would God it were even! and at even thou ſhalt ſay, Would God it were morning! for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou ſhalt fear, and for the ſight of thine eyes which thou ſhalt ſee.

68 And the Lord ſhall bring thee into Egypt again with ſhips, by the way whereof I ſpake unto thee, Thou ſhalt ſee it no more again: and there ye ſhall be ſold unto your enemies for bond-men and bond-women, and no man ſhall buy you.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 An exhortation to obedience. 29 Secret things belong unto God.

THESE are the words of the covenant which the Lord commanded Moſes to make with the children of Iſrael, in the land of Moab, beſide the covenant which he made with them in Horeb.

2 ¶ And Moſes called unto all Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Ye have ſeen all that the Lord did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh, and unto all his ſervants, and unto all his land;

3 The great temptations which thine eyes have ſeen, the ſigns and thoſe great miracles:

4 Yet the Lord hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to ſee, and ears to hear, unto this day.

5 And I have led you forty years in the wilderneſs: your clothes are not waxen old upon you, and thy ſhoe is not waxen old upon thy foot.

6 Ye have not eaten bread, neither have you drunk wine, or ſtrong drink: that ye might know that I am the Lord your God.

7 And when ye came unto this place, Sihon the king of Heſhbon, and Og the king of Baſhan, came out againſt us unto battle, and we ſmote them.

8 And we took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh.

9 Keep therefore the words of this covenant and do them, that ye may proſper in all that ye do.

10 ¶ Ye ſtand this day all of you before the Lord your God; your captains of your tribes, your elders, and your officers, with all the men of Iſrael,

11 Your little ones, your wives, and thy ſtranger that is in thy camp, from the hewer of thy wood, unto the drawer of thy water:

12 That thou ſhouldſt enter into covenant with the Lord thy God, and into his oath which the Lord thy God maketh with thee this day:

13 That he may eſtabliſh thee to-day for a people unto himſelf, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath ſaid unto thee, and as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob.

14 Neither with you only do I make this covenant and this oath;

15 But with him that ſtandeth here with us this day before the Lord our God: and alſo with him that is not here with us this day:

16 (For you know how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we came through the nations which ye paſſed by.

17 And ye have ſeen their abominations, and their idols, wood and ſtone, ſilver and gold, which were among them.)

18 Leſt there ſhould be among you man or woman, or family, or tribe, whoſe heart turneth away this day from the Lord our God, to go and ſerve the gods of theſe nations; leſt there be among you a root that beareth gall and wormwood.

19 And it come to paſs when he heareth the words of this curſe, that he bleſs himſelf in his heart, ſaying, I ſhall have peace, though I walk in the imagination of mine heart, to add drunkenneſs to thirſt:

20 The Lord will not ſpare him, but then the anger of the Lord and his jealouſy ſhall ſmoke againſt that man, and all the curſes that are written in this book ſhall lie upon him, and the Lord ſhall blot out his name from under heaven.

21 And the Lord ſhall ſeparate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Iſrael, according to all the curſes of the covenant that are written in this book of the law:

22 So that the generation to come of your chil-

68 Ye ſhall be ſold, and no man ſhall buy you.) This ſhould have been rendered, Ye ſhall offer yourſelves to ſale, &c. This prophecy, dreadful as it is, was literally fulfilled; when after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus, though ſome Jews were ſent as ſlaves into Egypt, multitudes were reſerved for the ſword and wild beaſts, in the public theatres.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

1 Theſe are the words, &c.) Moſes having denounced the above terrible judgments againſt the Jews, in caſe they forſook the God of their fathers, he next proceeds to the ratification of the ſolemn covenant between the Lord and his people; a covenant which he expreſly declares to have been made in the plains of Moab, and with a generation of men ſucceeding thoſe with whom the former covenant was made in Horeb: and in order to induce the children of Iſrael to enter into it, with ſincere intentions to obſerve and fulfil it, and not to provoke their deliverer, their guide, and their defender, as their fathers had done, he at a ſolemn aſſembly, addreſſed himſelf to them in an oration, wherein the prophet's wiſdom, piety and zeal for the welfare of the children of Iſrael, appear in the ſtrongeſt and moſt amiable light. He repeats the great and numerous favours of God, which he had already beſtowed upon the people; and exhorts them, in the moſt engaging manner, to keep the covenant faithfully.

dren,

dren that ſhall riſe up after you, and the ſtranger that ſhall come from a far land, ſhall ſay, when they ſee the plagues of that land, and the ſickneſſes which the Lord hath laid upon it;

23 And that the whole land thereof is brimſtone and ſalt and burning, that it is not ſown, nor beareth, nor any graſs groweth therein, like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboim, which the Lord overthrew in his anger and in his wrath:

24 Even all nations ſhall ſay, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this land? what meaneth the heat of this great anger?

25 Then men ſhall ſay, becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the Lord God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt;

26 For they went and ſerved other gods, and worſhipped them, gods whom they knew not, and whom he had not given unto them:

27 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt this land, to bring upon it all the curſes that are written in this book:

28 And the Lord rooted them out of their land in anger and in wrath and in great indignation, and caſt them into another land, as it is this day.

29 The ſecret things belong unto the Lord our God: but thoſe things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Great mercies promiſed unto the penitent. 11 The commandment is manifeſt. 15 Death and life are ſet before them.

AND it ſhall come to paſs when all theſe things are come upon thee, the bleſſing and the curſe which I have ſet before thee, and thou ſhalt call them to mind among all the nations whither the Lord thy God hath driven thee.

2 And ſhall return unto the Lord thy God, and ſhalt obey his voice according to all that I command thee this day, thou and thy children, with all thine heart, and with all thy ſoul;

3 That then the Lord thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compaſſion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations whither the Lord thy God hath ſcattered thee.

4 If any of thine be driven out unto thee outmoſt parts of heaven, from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee:

5 And the Lord thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers poſſeſſed, and thou ſhalt poſſeſs it: and he will do thee good, and multiply thee above thy fathers.

6 And the Lord thy God will circumciſe thine heart, and the heart of thy ſeed, to love the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul, that thou mayeſt live.

7 And the Lord thy God will put all theſe curſes upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, which perſecuted thee.

8 And thou ſhalt return and obey the voice of the Lord, and do all his commandments which I command thee this day.

9 And the Lord thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy land, for good: for the Lord will again rejoice over thee for good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers:

10 If thou ſhalt hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God to keep his commandments and his ſtatutes which are written in this book of the law, and if thou turn unto the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul.

11 ¶ For this commandment, which I command thee this day, it is not hidden from thee, neither is it far off:

12 It is not in heaven, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Who ſhall go up for us to heaven and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

13 Neither is it beyond the ſea, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Who ſhall go over the ſea for us and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

14 But the word is very nigh unto thee, in thy mouth, and in thy heart, that thou mayeſt do it.

15 ¶ See, I have ſet before thee this day life and good, and death and evil;

16 In that I command thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his ſtatutes, and his judgments, that thou mayeſt live and multiply: and the Lord thy God ſhall bleſs thee in the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

17 But if thine heart turn away, ſo that thou wilt not hear, but ſhall be drawn away, and worſhip other gods, and ſerve them;

18 I denounce unto you this day that ye ſhall ſurely periſh, and that ye ſhall not prolong your days upon the land whither thou paſſeſt over Jordan to go to poſſeſs it.

19 I call heaven and earth to record this day againſt you, that I have ſet before you life and death, bleſſing and curſing; therefore chooſe life, that both thou and thy ſeed may live:

20 That thou mayeſt love the Lord thy God, and that thou mayeſt obey his voice, and that thou mayeſt cleave unto him; (for he is thy life, and the length of thy days;) that thou mayeſt dwell in the land which the Lord ſware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, to give them.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Moſes encourageth the people and Joſhua. 9 He deliverèth the law unto the prieſts, to read it the ſeventh year to the people. 14 God giveth a charge to Joſhua, 19 and a ſong to teſtify againſt the people.

AND Moſes went, and ſpake theſe words unto all Iſrael.

29 The ſecret things belong unto the Lord.) That is, mortals ſhould not endeavour to ſearch into the ſecrets of Providence, nor labour to diſcover thoſe myſteries which the Almighty Creator hath in his great wiſdom, thought proper to conceal from the ſons of men.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 And it ſhall come to paſs, &c.) The great legiſlator of the Jews continues his pathetic exhortation to the people, in order to induce them to cleave unto the Lord with all their heart, and with all their ſoul. This great prophet increaſed in his zeal, as he approached the period of his diſſolution; and though no part of his life had been ſpent in idleneſs, yet his laſt moments were every one of them employed in that generous action, the recovering ſinful man from the error of his way, and teaching thoughtleſs mortals how they might gain the favour of the Almighty, and live ſecurely under the ſhadow of his wings.

15 See, I have ſet before thee this day life and good, and death and evil.) I have this day explained to thee the duties which thy God requires of thee; have fully informed thee of the many bleſſings that will follow from thy obedience, and the tremendous puniſhments which God will inflict upon thee, if thou neglect to hearken to his voice.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXI.

1 And Moſes went and ſpake theſe words, &c.) Soon after Mo-

2 And

2 And he ſaid unto them, I am an hundred and twenty years old this day: I can no more go out and come in: alſo the Lord hath ſaid unto me, Thou ſhalt not go over this Jordan.

3 The Lord thy God, he will go over before thee, and he will deſtroy theſe nations from before thee, and thou ſhalt poſſeſs them: and Joſhua, he ſhall go over before thee, as the Lord hath ſaid.

4 And the Lord ſhall do unto them as he did to Sihon and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and unto the land of them whom he deſtroyed.

5 And the Lord ſhall give them up before your face, that ye may do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you.

6 Be ſtrong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God, he it is that doth go with thee, he will not fail thee nor forſake thee.

7 And Moſes called unto Joſhua, and ſaid unto him in the ſight of all Iſrael, Be ſtrong and of a good courage: for thou muſt go with this people unto the land which the Lord hath ſworn unto their fathers to give them; and thou ſhalt cauſe them to inherit it.

8 And the Lord, he it is that doth go before thee, he will be with thee, he will not fail thee, neither forſake thee: fear not, neither be diſmayed.

9 ¶ And Moſes wrote this law, and delivered it unto the prieſts, the ſons of Levi, which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and unto all the elders of Iſrael.

10 And Moſes commanded them, ſaying, At the end of every ſeven years, in the ſolemnity of the year of releaſe, in the feaſt of tabernacles.

11 When all Iſrael is come to appear before the Lord thy God in the place which he ſhall chooſe; thou ſhalt read this law before all Iſrael in their hearing.

12 Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy ſtranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn, and fear the Lord your God, and obſerve to do all the words of this law;

13 And that their children, which have not known any thing, may hear, and learn to fear the Lord your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to poſſeſs it.

14 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, thy days approach that thou muſt die: call Joſhua, and preſent yourſelves in the tabernacle of the congregation, that I may give him a charge. And Moſes and Joſhua went, and preſented themſelves in the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the Lord appeared in the tabernacle in a pillar of a cloud: and the pillar of the cloud ſtood over the door of the tabernacle.

16 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, thou ſhalt ſleep with thy fathers, and this people will riſe up and go a whoring after the gods of the ſtrangers of the land whither they go to be among them, and will forſake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them:

17 Then my anger ſhall be kindled againſt them in that day, and I will forſake them, and I will hide my face from them, and they ſhall be devoured, and many evils and troubles ſhall befal them; ſo that they will ſay in that day, Are not theſe evils come upon us becauſe our God is not amongſt us?

18 And I will ſurely hide my face in that day, for all the evils which they ſhall have wrought in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 ¶ Now therefore write ye this ſong for you, and teach it the children of Iſrael: put it in your mouths, that this ſong may be a witneſs for me againſt the children of Iſrael.

20 For when I ſhall have brought them into the land which I ſware unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey; and they ſhall have eaten and filled themſelves, and waxen fat; then will they turn unto other gods, and ſerve them, and provoke me, and break my covenant.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs, when many evils and troubles are befallen them, that this ſong ſhall teſtify againſt them as a witneſs; for it ſhall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their ſeed; for I know their imagination which they go about even now, before I have brought them into the land which I ſware.

22 Moſes, therefore, wrote this ſong the ſame day, and taught it the children of Iſrael.

23 And he gave Joſhua, the ſon of Nun, a charge, and ſaid, Be ſtrong, and of a good courage: for thou ſhalt bring the children of Iſrael into the land which I ſware unto them; and I will be with thee.

24 And it came to paſs, when Moſes had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book, until they where finiſhed,

25 That Moſes commanded the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, ſaying, 26 Take this book of the law, and put it in the ſide of the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a witneſs againſt thee.

27 For I know thy rebellion, and thy ſtiff neck: behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been rebellious againſt the Lord; and how much more after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may ſpeak theſe words in their ears, and call heaven and earth to record againſt them.

29 For I know that after my death ye will utterly corrupt yourſelves, and turn aſide from the way which I have commanded you; and evil will befal you in the latter days; becauſe ye will do evil in the ſight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger through the work of your hands.

30 And Moſes ſpake in the ears of all the congrega-ſes had finiſhed the foregoing diſcourſes, he ſent a new ſummons to the Iſraelites, at leaſt to the chief heads of them, to acquaint them, that the time both of his government and life too were now very ſhort; and though, through the ſpecial providence of God, his ſtrength and faculties were not decayed, even at the great age of an hundred and twenty years; yet it was the decree of heaven, as he had before acquainted them, that he was not the perſon appointed to conduct them into the land of Canaan: that he was now to commit them to the conduct of Joſhua, a faithful and courageous officer; to whom, therefore, he exhorted them to pay all due reſpect, and follow him with a cheerful and undaunted aſſurance in the Divine Power and Providence, which would not fail of giving them the ſame ſucceſs againſt the Canaanites as they had already experienced againſt other nations, and give them a ſettlement in their country.

11 Thou ſhalt read this law before all Iſrael, &c.) The feaſt of tabernacles was the moſt proper ſeaſon that could be choſen for that purpoſe, when they had gathered in all the fruits of the earth, and ſo had entire leiſure to attend to the reading of the law; and being at the end of every ſeventh year, when men's minds were free from cares by the releaſe of their debts, the law was likely to make the greater impreſſion. But notwithſtanding this wiſe order of their great legiſlator, we find no mention of the reading of the law after the time of Joſhua to the reign of Jehoſophat, which is computed to be five hundred and thirty years; nor from that time to the eighteenth year of king Joſiah, which was the ſpace of two hundred and two years; nor from that time to the Babyloniſh captivity. So very negligent were the governors and kings of Iſrael to obſerve this wiſe precaution of their great legiſlator; and therefore it is no wonder that the people, the greateſt part of whom perhaps never heard the law read, ſhould fall into idolatry.

tion of Iſrael the words of this ſong, until they were ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Moſes' ſong, which ſetteth forth God's mercy and vengeance. 46 He exhorteth them to ſet their hearts upon it.

GIVE ear, O ye heavens, and I will ſpeak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth.

2 My doctrine ſhall drop as the rain, my ſpeech ſhall diſtil as the dew, as the ſmall rain upon the tender herb, and as the ſhowers upon the graſs;

3 Becauſe I will publiſh the name of the Lord; aſcribe ye greatneſs unto our God.

4 He is the Rock, his work is perfect; for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth, and without iniquity, juſt and right is he.

5 They have corrupted themſelves, their ſpot is not the ſpot of his children: they are a perverſe and crooked generation.

6 Do ye thus requite the Lord, O fooliſh people and unwiſe? Is not he thy father that hath bought thee? hath he not made thee and eſtabliſhed thee?

7 Remember the days of old, conſider the years of many generations: aſk thy father, and he will ſhew thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee.

8 When the Moſt High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he ſeparated the ſons of Adam, he ſet the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Iſrael.

9 For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.

10 He found him in a deſert land, and in the waſte howling wilderneſs; he led him about, he inſtructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye.

11 As an eagle ſtirreth up her neſt, fluttereth over her young, ſpreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings;

12 So the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no ſtrange god with him.

13 He made him ride on the high places of the earth, that he might eat the increaſe of the fields; and he made him to ſuck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock;

14 Butter of kine, and milk of ſheep, with fat of lambs, and rams of the breed of Baſhan, and goats, with the fat of kidneys of wheat; and thou didſt drink the pure blood of the grape.

15 But Jeſhurun waxed fat, and kicked: Thou art waxen fat, thou art grown thick, thou art covered with fatneſs: then he forſook God which made him, and lightly eſteemed the Rock of his ſalvation.

16 They provoked him to jealouſy with ſtrange gods, with abominations provoked they him to anger.

17 They ſacrificed unto devils, not to God; to gods whom they knew not, to new gods that came newly up, whom your fathers feared not.

18 Of the Rock that begat thee thou art unmindful, and haſt forgotten God that formed thee.

19 And when the Lord ſaw it, he abhorred them, becauſe of the provoking of his ſons and of his daughters.

20 And he ſaid, I will hide my face from them, I will ſee what their end ſhall be: for they are a very froward generation, children in whom is no faith.

21 They have moved me to jealouſy with that which is not God; they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: and I will move them to jealouſy with thoſe which are not a people, I will provoke them to anger with a fooliſh nation.

22 For a fire is kindled in mine anger, and ſhall burn unto the loweſt hell, and ſhall conſume the earth with her increaſe, and ſet on fire the foundations of the mountains.

23 I will heap miſchief upon them, I will ſpend mine arrows upon them.

24 They ſhall be burned with hunger, and devoured with burning heat and with bitter deſtruction: I will alſo ſend the teeth of beaſts upon them, with the poiſon of ſerpents of the duſt.

25 The ſword without, and terror within ſhall deſtroy both the young man and the virgin, the ſuckling alſo with the man of gray hairs.

26 I ſaid, I would ſcatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to ceaſe from among men:

27 Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy, leſt their adverſaries ſhould behave themſelves ſtrangely, and leſt they ſhould ſay, Our hand is high, and the Lord hath not done all this.

28 For they are a nation void of counſel, neither is there any underſtanding in them.

29 O that they were wiſe, that they underſtood this, that they would conſider their latter end!

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXII.

4 He is the rock.) The Jews have remarked, that this is the firſt place where God is ſtyled the Rock in the ſcriptures. Jeſus Chriſt applied this title to himſelf, on occaſion of Peter's confeſſing him to be the Son of the living God, when he ſaid, Upon this Rock I will build my church, Matth. xvi. 16, 17. And we may ſee, from Deut. xxxi. 29, that this ſong of Moſes reſpects the latter days, the days of the Meſſiah; and foretells the evil that ſhould befal the Jews in thoſe days, becauſe of the evil they would do in the ſight of the Lord. And in this ſong, the rejection of the Jews, and the calling and ſalvation of the Gentiles, is plainly foretold. See ver. 21. and 43. with Rom. x. 19. and xv. 10.

6 Do ye thus requite the Lord?) He whom the perverſe and froward generation treated in this manner, is Jehovah. That generation would not underſtand, nor be convinced by the cleareſt evidence, that he whom they took, and crucified and ſlew, was the Rock that begat Iſrael, the God that formed him, that led him of old through the wilderneſs, when Jehovah alone did lead him, and no ſtrange God with him. So Jeſus calls them, a faithleſs and perverſe generation, Luke ix. 41.

That generation had a zeal of God againſt the idols of the nations; but they had forgot the true God of Iſrael; they had loſt the knowledge of his character, or his name that was proclaimed to Moſes. They knew not the righteous Father, whoſe name is declared and manifeſted by his Son Jeſus Chriſt; who told them that they knew not the Father, becauſe they knew not him the Son. They did not know the God of their fathers, of whom they ſaid, that he was their God: and, being ignorant of his name, or his diſtinguiſhing character, they really worſhipped another God for him; a new God, in his place, whom their fathers knew not. Their zeal of God was not according to knowledge; for they were ignorant of the juſt God, and the Saviour: and being ignorant of his juſtice, that will not paſs one ſin unpuniſhed, nor juſtify men without a perfect righteouſneſs, they went about to eſtabliſh their own righteouſneſs, and would not ſubmit to the righteouſneſs of God. So they truſted in another rock, and worſhipped another god than the juſt God and Saviour: a god that cannot have mercy on whom he will, as the true God ſaid to Moſes, nor pardon iniquity, tranſgreſſion, and ſin, by viſiting it upon the promiſed ſeed; a god that had no mercy to ſhew to any but thoſe who are more worthy of his favour, and more fit for his acceptance, than others; nor any grace but what reſpects diſtinguiſhing merits among ſinful men. This was another god than he who made himſelf known to their fathers, in the promiſe of the ſeed that ſhould bleſs all nations; redeeming them from the curſe, by being made a curſe for them. They ſacrificed to this new god, forgetting the inſtruction given them by the ſacrifices, viz. That there is no remiſſion without the ſhedding of blood; and that the blood of all their ſacrifices, which being ſtill repeated, could not take away ſin, referred to the blood of the promiſed ſeed, which being once offered, ſhould for ever take away ſin, and perfect the conſciences of ſinners to draw near to God.

ten thouſand to flight, except their Rock had ſold them, and the Lord had ſhut them up?

31 For their rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies themſelves being judges.

32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their cluſters are bitter:

33 Their wine is the poiſon of dragons, and the cruel venom of aſps.

34 Is not this laid up in ſtore with me, and ſealed up among my treaſures?

35 To me belongeth vengeance, and recompenſe, their foot ſhall ſlide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that ſhall come upon them make haſte.

36 For the Lord ſhall judge his people, and repent himſelf for his ſervants; when he ſeeth that their power is gone, and there is none ſhut up, or left.

37 And he ſhall ſay, Where are their gods, their rock in whom they truſted, 38 Which did eat the fat of their ſacrifices, and drank the wine of their drink-offerings? let them riſe up and help you, and be your protection.

39 See now that I, even I am he, and there is no God with me: I kill, and I make alive; I wound, and I heal: neither is there any that can deliver out of my hand.

40 For I lift up my hand to heaven, and ſay, I live for ever.

41 If I whet my glittering ſword, and mine hand take hold on judgment; I will render vengeance to mine enemies, and will reward them that hate me.

42 I will make mine arrows drunk with blood, and my ſword ſhall devour fleſh; and that with the blood of the ſlain and of the captives, from the beginning of revenges upon the enemy.

43 Rejoice, O ye nations, with his people: for he will avenge the blood of his ſervants, and will render vengeance to his adverſaries, and will be merciful unto his land, and to his people.

44 ¶ And Moſes came and ſpake all the words of this ſong in the ears of the people, he and Hoſhea the ſon of Nun.

45 And Moſes made an end of ſpeaking all theſe words to all Iſrael:

46 And he ſaid unto them, Set your hearts unto all the words which I teſtify among you this day; which ye ſhall command your children to obſerve, to do all the words of this law.

47 For it is not a vain thing for you: becauſe it is your life, and through this thing ye ſhall prolong your days in the land whither ye go over Jordan to poſſeſs it.

48 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes that ſelf-ſame day, ſaying,

49 Get thee up into this mountain Abarim, unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, that is over againſt Jericho; and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Iſrael for a poſſeſſion.

50 And die in the mount whither thou goeſt up, and be gathered unto thy people; as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people.

51 Becauſe ye treſpaſſed againſt me among the children of Iſrael at the waters of Meribah-kadeſh, in the wilderneſs of Zin; becauſe ye ſanctified me not in the midſt of the children of Iſrael.

52 Yet thou ſhalt ſee the land before thee; but thou ſhalt not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The majeſty of God. 6 The bleſſings of the twelve tribes. 26 The excellency of Iſrael.

AND this is the bleſſing wherewith Moſes the man of God bleſſed the children of Iſrael before his death.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord came from Sinai, and roſe up from Seir unto them; he ſhined forth from mount Paran, and he came with ten thouſands of ſaints: from his right hand went a fiery law for them.

3 Yea, he loved the people; all his ſaints are in thy hand: and they ſat down at thy feet: every one ſhall receive of thy words.

4 Moſes commanded us a law: even the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob.

5 And he was king in Jeſhurun, when the heads of the people and the tribes of Iſrael were gathered together.

6 ¶ Let Reuben live, and not die; and let not his men be few.

7 And this is the bleſſing of Judah, and he ſaid, Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people: let his hands be ſufficient for him; and be thou an help to him from his enemies.

8 And of Levi he ſaid, Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy Holy one, whom thou didſt prove at Maſſah, and with whom thou didſt ſtrive at the waters of Meribah;

9 Who ſaid unto his father, and to his mother, I have not ſeen him, neither did he acknowledge his brethren, nor knew his own children: for they have obſerved thy word, and kept thy covenant.

10 They ſhall teach Jacob thy judgments, and Iſrael thy law: they ſhall put incenſe before thee, and whole burnt-ſacrifice upon thine altar.

11 Bleſs, Lord, his ſubſtance, and accept the work of his hands: ſmite through the loins of them that riſe againſt him, and of them that hate him, that they riſe not again.

12 And of Benjamin he ſaid, The beloved of the Lord ſhall dwell in ſafety by him: and the LORD ſhall cover him all the day long, and he ſhall dwell between his ſhoulders.

13 And of Joſeph he ſaid, Bleſſed of the Lord be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath,

Moſes having concluded his prophetic hymn, addreſſed himſelf afreſh to them, in a pathetic exhortation to weigh and remember well the contents of that divine ſpeech, and ſeriouſly to improve it in a hearty and careful obſervance of the laws he had given them, and by training up their children in a habit of the ſame obedience; concluding, that this was the only way to become a great and happy people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIII.

1 And this is the bleſſing, &c.) Moſes having ſeen the children of Iſrael vaſtly increaſed, and ready to enter upon the promiſed land, takes his farewel of them and pronounces a dying bleſſing upon them in general, and upon each tribe in particular.

12 The beloved of the Lord ſhall dwell in ſafety by him.) That is, This Benjamin ſhall be eſtabliſhed about the dwelling of Jehovah, which was accordingly accompliſhed, the temple of Jeruſalem, the place where the Divine Majeſty reſided for the protection of his people, being in the tribe of Benjamin.

15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the laſting hills.

16 And for the precious things of the earth, and fulneſs thereof, and for the good-will of him that dwelt in the buſh: let the bleſſing come upon the head of Joſeph, and upon the top of the head of him that was ſeparated from his brethren.

17 His glory is like the firſtling of his bullock, and his horns are like the horns of unicorns: with them he ſhall puſh the people together to the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thouſands of Ephraim, and they are the thouſands of Manaſſeh.

18 And of Zebulun he ſaid, Rejoice, Zebulun, in thy going out, and Iſſachar, in thy tents.

19 They ſhall call the people unto the mountain, there they ſhall offer ſacrifices of righteouſneſs: for they ſhall ſuck of the abundance of the ſeas, of treaſures hid in the ſand.

20 And of Gad he ſaid, Bleſſed be he that enlargeth Gad: he dwelleth as a lion, and teareth the arms with the crown of the head.

21 And he provided the firſt part for himſelf, becauſe there, in a portion of the law-giver was he ſeated; and he came with the heads of the people, he executed the juſtice of the Lord, and his judgments with Iſrael.

22 And of Dan he ſaid, Dan is a lion's whelp: he ſhall leap from Baſhan.

23 And of Naphtali he ſaid, O Naphtali, ſatisfied with favour, and full with the bleſſing of the Lord: poſſeſs thou the weſt, and the ſouth.

24 And of Aſher he ſaid, Let Aſher be bleſſed with children; Let him be acceptable to his brethren, and let him dip his foot in oil.

25 Thy ſhoes ſhall be iron and braſs; and as thy days, ſo ſhall thy ſtrength be.

26 ¶ There is none like unto the God of Jeſhurun, who rideth upon the heaven in thy help, and in his excellency on the ſky.

27 The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlaſting arms: and he ſhall thruſt out the enemy from before thee, and ſhall ſay, Deſtroy them.

28 Iſrael then ſhall dwell in ſafety alone; the fountain of Jacob ſhall be upon a land of corn and wine, alſo his heavens ſhall drop down dew.

29 Happy art thou, O Iſrael: who is like unto thee, O people ſaved by the Lord, the ſhield of thy help, and who is the ſword of thy excellency! and thine enemies ſhall be found liars unto thee, and thou ſhalt tread upon their high places.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Moſes from mount Nebo vieweth the land. 5 He dieth there. 6 His burial. 7 His age. 8 Thirty days mourning for him. 9 Joſhua ſucceedeth him. 10 The praiſe of Moſes.

AND Moſes went up from the plains of Moab, unto the mountain of Nebo, to the top of Piſgah, that is over againſt Jericho: and the Lord ſhewed him all the land of Gilead unto Dan.

2 And all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, and all the land of Judah unto the utmoſt ſea,

3 And the ſouth, and the plain of the valley of Jericho, the city of palm-trees, unto Zoar.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto him, This is the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, ſaying I will give it unto thy ſeed: I have cauſed thee to ſee it with thine eyes, but thou ſhalt not go over thither.

5 ¶ So Moſes the ſervant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord.

6 ¶ And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over againſt Beth-peor: but no man knoweth of his ſepulchre unto this day.

7 ¶ And Moſes was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated.

8 ¶ And the children of Iſrael wept for Moſes in the plains of Moab thirty days: ſo the days of weeping and mourning for Moſes were ended.

9 ¶ And Joſhua the ſon of Nun was full of the ſpirit of wiſdom; for Moſes had laid his hands upon him; and the children of Iſrael hearkened unto him, and did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

10 ¶ And there aroſe not a prophet ſince in Iſrael like unto Moſes, whom the Lord knew face to face:

11 In all the ſigns and the wonders which the Lord ſent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, and to all his ſervants, and to all his land, 12 And in all that mighty hand, and in all the great terror which Moſes ſhewed in the ſight of all Iſrael.

---

23 O Naphtali, ſatisfied with favour.) This refers to the fruitfulneſs of the country poſſeſſed by this tribe, which was in the upper Galilee, eaſtward to the city of Damaſcus and mount Lebanon. A country celebrated for its pleaſant and fruitful ſoil.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXXIV.

1 And Moſes went up, &c.) Moſes, having given his prophetic bleſſing to all the tribes, obeyed the commands of his God he had ſo long and ſo faithfully ſerved. And from the top of Piſgah, God in a miraculous manner, gave him a ſight of the whole land of Canaan.

6 And he buried him in a valley---but no man knoweth of his ſepulchre, &c.) The reaſon why this great prophet was ſo ſecretly buried, was to prevent the people from paying idolatrous worſhip to his remains. And for the ſame reaſon probably it was, that Moſes himſelf never expreſſed his deſire of having his remains carried into the land of Canaan, to be buried with his anceſtors, as Joſeph did; becauſe his interment in that country might have proved of dangerous conſequence, if, in their diſtreſs, the children of Iſrael ſhould have run to his ſepulchre, and begged of him to pray for them, as they had found that his interceſſions for them, during his life time, had been ſo very prevalent.

Moſt commentators are of opinion, that Ezra was the author of this laſt chapter of Deuteronomy; though ſome think it was written by Joſhua, and others by the ſeventy elders, immediately after the death of Moſes; adding, that the book of Deuteronomy originally ended with the prophetic bleſſing upon the twelve tribes, Happy art thou, O Iſrael! who is like unto thee, &c. and that which now makes the laſt chapter of Deuteronomy was formerly the firſt of Joſhua, but removed from thence, and joined to the other by way of ſupplement. Nor will this opinion appear unnatural, if it be conſidered, that ſections, and other diviſions, as well as points and pauſes, were invented long ſince theſe books were written; for in theſe early ages ſeveral books were connected together, and followed each other upon the ſame roll. The beginning of one book might therefore be eaſily transferred to the end of another, and in proceſs of time, conſidered as its real concluſion, as in the caſe of the book of Deuteronomy; eſpecially as this ſupplemental chapter contains an account of the laſt tranſactions and death of the great author of the Pentateuch.

THE BOOK OF JOSHUA.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book may be divided into three parts, the firſt containing an account of the many ſignal victories obtained by Joſhua over the inhabitants of Canaan: the ſecond, the diviſion of the land among the tribes of Iſrael: and the third, the ſtrict and ſerious charge of Joſhua to the Iſraelites, with an account of the death of that great general, and of Eleazar the high prieſt. It is almoſt entirely hiſtorical, and contains an account of the tranſactions of the Iſraelites for ſomething more than ſeventeen years.

CHAP. I.

1 The Lord appointeth Joſhua to ſucceed Moſes. 3 The borders of the promiſed land. 5 God promiſeth to aſſiſt Joſhua. 8 He giveth him inſtruction.

NOW after the death of Moſes the ſervant of the Lord, it came to paſs, that the Lord ſpake unto Joſhua the ſon of Nun, Moſes' miniſter, ſaying,

2 Moſes my ſervant is dead; now therefore ariſe, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Iſrael.

3 ¶ Every place that the ſole of your foot ſhall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I ſaid unto Moſes.

4 From the wilderneſs and this Lebanon, even unto the great river the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great ſea, toward the going down of the ſun, ſhall be your coaſt.

5 ¶ There ſhall not any man be able to ſtand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moſes, ſo I will be with thee: I will not fail thee nor forſake thee.

6 Be ſtrong and of a good courage: for unto this people ſhall thou divide for an inheritance the land which I ſware unto their fathers to give them.

7 Only be thou ſtrong and very couragious, that thou mayeſt obſerve to do according to all the law which Moſes my ſervant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right-hand or to the left, that thou mayeſt proſper whitherſoever thou goeſt.

8 This book of the law ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou ſhalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayeſt obſerve to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou ſhalt make thy way proſperous, and then thou ſhalt have good ſucceſs.

9 Have not I commanded thee? Be ſtrong and of a good courage, be not afraid, neither be thou diſmayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.

10 Then Joſhua commanded the officers of the people, ſaying,

11 Paſs through the hoſt, and command the people, ſaying, Prepare you victuals; for within three days ye ſhall paſs over this Jordan, to go in to poſſeſs the land which the Lord your God giveth you to poſſeſs it.

12 And to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of Manaſſeh, ſpake Joſhua, ſaying, 13 Remember the word which Moſes the ſervant of the Lord commanded you, ſaying, The Lord your God hath given you reſt, and hath given you this land.

14 Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle ſhall remain in the land which Moſes gave you on this ſide Jordan; but ye ſhall paſs before your brethren armed, all the mighty men of valour, and help them:

15 Until the Lord hath given your brethren reſt, as he hath given you, and they alſo have poſſeſſed the land which the Lord your God giveth them: then ye ſhall return unto the land of your poſſeſſion, and enjoy it, which Moſes the Lord's ſervant gave you on this ſide Jordan toward the ſun-riſing.

16 And they anſwered Joſhua, ſaying, All that thou commandeſt us, we will do, and whitherſoever thou ſendeſt us, we will go.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Now after the death of Moſes.) Joſhua, on the death of Moſes, undertook by the poſitive command of God, the conducting of the children of Iſrael. He had been prime miniſter to Moſes during the greateſt part of the time the Iſraelites wandered in the wilderneſs, had ſeen the wonderful works of God wrought by Moſes; well underſtood the nature and diſpoſition of the people; had been one of the twelve ſpies ſent to ſearch out the promiſed land, one of the two who gave a faithful account of it; and conſequently every way qualified for this important office.

11 Prepare you victuals.) The uſual food of the Iſraelites, during the time they ſojourned in the wilderneſs, was manna; but as they approached the promiſed land, where they might procure proviſions in an ordinary way, that miraculous bread ſeems gradually to have decreaſed; and we find that in a few days after it was totally withdrawn. They were now in the countries of Sihon and Og, which they had lately conquered, and the victuals they were commanded to provide themſelves with, were ſuch as their new conqueſt afforded; for being after three days to remove very early in the morning, they might not perhaps have had time to gather a ſufficient quantity of manna, and to bake it before they were obliged to march.

17 According as we hearkened unto Moſes in all things, ſo will we hearken unto thee: only the Lord thy God be with thee as he was with Moſes.

18 Whoſoever he be that doth rebel againſt thy commandment, and will not hearken unto thy words in all that thou commandeſt him, he ſhall be put to death: only be ſtrong and of a good courage.

CHAP. II.

1 Rahab receiveth and conceaſeth the two ſpies ſent from Shittim. 8 The covenant between her and them. 23 Their return.

AND Joſhua the ſon of Nun ſent out of Shittim two men to ſpy ſecretly, ſaying, Go, view the land, even Jericho: and they went and came into an harlot's houſe, named Rahab, and lodged there.

2 And it was told the king of Jericho, ſaying, Behold, there came men in hither to-night of the children of Iſrael to ſearch out the country.

3 And the king of Jericho ſent unto Rahab, ſaying, Bring forth the men that are come to thee, which are entered into thine houſe: for they be come to ſearch out all the country.

4 And the woman took the two men, and hid them, and ſaid thus, There came men unto me, but I wiſt not whence they were:

5 And it came to paſs about the time of ſhutting of the gate, when it was dark, that the men went out: whither the men went, I wot not; purſue after them quickly: for ye ſhall overtake them.

6 But ſhe had brought them up to the roof of the houſe, and hid them with the ſtalks of flax which ſhe had laid in order upon the roof.

7 And the men purſued after them the way to Jordan, unto the fords: and as ſoon as they which purſued after them were gone out, they ſhut the gate.

8 ¶ And before they were laid down, ſhe came up unto them upon the roof;

9 And ſhe ſaid unto the men, I know that the Lord hath given you the land, and that your terror is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land faint becauſe of you.

10 For we have heard how the Lord dried up the water of the Red-ſea for you, when ye came out of Egypt; and what ye did unto the two kings of the Amorites that were on the other ſide Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom ye utterly deſtroyed.

11 And as ſoon as we had heard theſe things our hearts did melt, neither did there remain any more courage in any man, becauſe of you: for the Lord your God, he is God in heaven above and in earth beneath.

12 Now therefore, I pray you, ſwear unto me by the Lord, ſince I have ſhewed you kindneſs, that ye will alſo ſhew kindneſs unto my father's houſe, and give me a true token:

13 And that ye will ſave alive my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my ſiſters, and all that they have, and deliver our lives from death.

14 And the men anſwered her, Our life for yours, if ye utter not this our buſineſs. And it ſhall be when the Lord hath given us the land, that we will deal kindly and truly with thee.

15 Then ſhe let them down by a cord through the window: for her houſe was upon the town-wall, and ſhe dwelt upon the wall.

16 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Get ye to the mountain, leſt the purſuers meet you: and hide yourſelves three days, until the purſuers be returned; and afterward may ye go your way.

17 And the men ſaid unto her, We will be blameleſs of this thine oath which thou haſt made us ſwear.

18 Behold, when we come into the land, thou ſhalt bind this line of ſcarlet thread in the window which thou didſt let us down by: and thou ſhalt bring thy father, and thy mother, and thy brethren, and all thy father's houſhold home unto thee.

19 And it ſhall be that whoſoever ſhall go out of the doors of thy houſe into the ſtreet, his blood ſhall be upon his head, and we will be guiltleſs: and whoſoever ſhall be with thee in the houſe, his blood ſhall be on our head, if any hand be upon him.

20 And if thou utter this our buſineſs, then we will be quit of thine oath which thou haſt made us to ſwear.

21 And ſhe ſaid, According unto your words, ſo be it. And ſhe ſent them away, and they departed. And ſhe bound the ſcarlet line in the window.

22 And they went and came unto the mountain, and abode there three days, until the purſuers were returned: And the purſuers ſought them throughout all the way, but found them not.

23 ¶ So the two men returned, and deſcended from the mountain, and paſſed over, and came to Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and told him all things that befel them.

24 And they ſaid unto Joſhua, Truly the Lord hath delivered into our hands all the land; for even all the inhabitants of the country do faint becauſe of us.

CHAP. III.

1 Joſhua cometh to Jordan. 7 The Lord encourageth Joſhua. 9 Joſhua encourageth the people. 14 The waters divided.

AND Joſhua roſe early in the morning, and they removed from Shittim, and came to Jordan, he and all the children of Iſrael, and lodged there before they paſſed over.

2 And it came to paſs after three days that the officers went through the hoſt;

3 And they commanded the people, ſaying, When ye ſee the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, and the prieſts the Levites bearing it, then ye ſhall remove from your place, and go after it.

4 Yet there ſhall be a ſpace between you and it, about two thouſand cubits by meaſure: come not near unto it, that ye may know the way by which ye

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 Go view the land, even Jericho.) Jericho was a city of Canaan, which afterwards fell to the lot of the tribe of Benjamin, and lay about ſeven leagues diſtant from Jeruſalem, and two from Jordan. It is called the city of the palm trees, becauſe there were great numbers of them in the plain of Jericho, one of the moſt fertile ſpots in the whole country.

8 She came up unto them upon the roof.) It was the cuſtom among the inhabitants of theſe countries to make the roofs of their houſes flat, having battlements round them; and here the inhabitants uſed to walk.

15 She let them down by a cord through the window.) As ſoon as the king of Jericho was informed that two men, ſpies from the Iſraelites, were in the city, he ordered the gates to be immediately ſhut, ſo that it was impoſſible for them to eſcape that way. But Rahab's houſe was fortunately ſituated on the town-wall, from whence, as ſoon as it was dark, ſhe let them down by a ſcarlet cord from one of her windows which faced the country.

24 Truly the Lord hath delivered into our hands, &c.) They found the people of the land under ſuch a general conſternation, that they were fully perſuaded God would deliver them into their hands, and crown the armies of Iſrael with the deſired ſucceſs.

muſt go; for ye have not paſſed this way heretofore.

5 And Joſhua ſaid unto the people, Sanctify yourſelves: for to-morrow the Lord will do wonders among you.

6 And Joſhua ſpake unto the prieſts, ſaying, Take up the ark of the covenant, and paſs over before the people. And they took up the ark of the covenant, and went before the people.

7 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, this day will I begin to magnify thee in the ſight of all Iſrael, that they may know that as I was with Moſes ſo I will be with thee.

8 And thou ſhalt command the prieſts that bear the ark of the covenant, ſaying when ye are come to the brink of the water of Jordan, ye ſhall ſtand ſtill in Jordan.

9 ¶ And Joſhua ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Come hither, and hear the words of the Lord your God.

10 And Joſhua ſaid, Hereby ye ſhall know that the living God is among you, and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Hivites, and the Perizzites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Amorites, and the Jebuſites.

11 Behold the ark of the covenant, of the Lord of all the earth, paſſeth over before you into Jordan.

12 Now therefore take ye twelve men out of the tribes of Iſrael, out of every tribe a man.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs, as ſoon as the ſoles of the feet of the prieſts that bear the ark of the Lord of all the earth, ſhall reſt in the waters of Jordan, that the waters of Jordan, ſhall be cut off from the waters that come down from above: and they ſhall ſtand upon an heap.

14 And it came to paſs when the people removed from their tents, to paſs over Jordan, and the prieſts bearing the ark of the covenant before the people;

15 And as they that bare the ark were come unto Jordan, and the feet of the prieſts that bare the ark were dipped in the brim of the water, (for Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harveſt)

16 That the waters which came down from above ſtood and roſe up upon an heap very far from the city of Adam, that is beſide Zaretan: and thoſe that came down toward the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt ſea failed, and were cut off: and the people paſſed over right againſt Jericho.

17 And the prieſts that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord ſtood firm on dry ground in the midſt of Jordan, and all the Iſraelites paſſed over on dry ground until all the people were paſſed clean over Jordan.

CHAP. IV.

1 Twelve ſtones taken for a memorial out of Jordan: 9 twelve other ſtones are ſet up in the midſt thereof. 10, 19 The people paſs over. 14 God magnifieth Joſhua.

AND it came to paſs, when all the people were clean paſſed over Jordan, that the Lord ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

2 Take you twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man;

3 And command ye them, ſaying, Take you hence out of the midſt of Jordan, out of the place where the prieſts feet ſtood firm, twelve ſtones; and ye ſhall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging-place where ye ſhall lodge this night.

4 Then Joſhua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared of the children of Iſrael, out of every tribe a man;

5 And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Paſs over before the ark of the Lord your God into the midſt of Jordan, and take ye up every man of you a ſtone upon his ſhoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Iſrael;

6 That this may be a ſign among you, that when your children aſk their fathers in time to come, ſaying, What mean ye by theſe ſtones?

7 Then ye ſhall anſwer them, That the waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the Lord; when it paſſed over Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off: and theſe ſtones ſhall be for a memorial unto the children of Iſrael for ever.

8 And the children of Iſrael did as Joſhua commanded, and took up twelve ſtones out of the midſt of Jordan, as the Lord ſpake unto Joſhua, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Iſrael, and carried them over with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there.

9 ¶ And Joſhua ſet up twelve ſtones in the midſt of Jordan, in the place where the feet of the prieſts which bare the ark of the covenant ſtood: and they are there unto this day.

10 ¶ For the prieſts which bare the ark ſtood in the midſt of Jordan, until every thing was finiſhed that the Lord commanded Joſhua to ſpeak unto the people, according to all that Moſes commanded Joſhua: and the people haſted and paſſed over.

11 And it came to paſs when all the people were clean paſſed over, that the ark of the Lord paſſed over, and the prieſts in the preſence of the people.

12 And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh paſſed over armed before the children of Iſrael, as Moſes ſpake unto them;

13 About forty thouſand prepared for war, paſſed over before the Lord unto battle, to the plains of Jericho.

14 ¶ On that day the Lord magnified Joſhua in the ſight of all Iſrael: and they feared him as they feared Moſes, all the days of his life.

15 And the Lord ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

16 Command the prieſts that bear the ark of the teſtimony, that they come up out of Jordan.

17 Joſhua therefore commanded the prieſts, ſaying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

18 And it came to paſs when the prieſts that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord were come up out of the midſt of Jordan, and the ſoles of the prieſts' feet

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

6 Take up the ark of the covenant, &c.) As the paſſage of Jordan was to be miraculous, the prieſts were ordered to take up the ark of the covenant, that the preſent generation of the Iſraelites might be convinced that the waters of Jordan were ſubject to the Almighty Power, as their fathers had ſeen the waters of the Red-ſea divided, and a paſſage made for the whole army to paſs over.

15 Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harveſt.) The time of harveſt in thoſe hot countries happens early in the ſpring, when, by reaſon of haſty rains, and the melting of the ſnow upon mount Lebanon, the river of Jordan is always full of water, and generally overflows all his banks.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

3 Take you hence out of the midſt of Jordan---twelve ſtones, &c.) It has been a cuſtom among all nations, to erect monuments of ſtone, to preſerve the memory of covenants, victories, and other great tranſactions; and though there was no inſcription on theſe ſtones, yet their number and the ſpot on which they were erected, was ſufficient to ſignify ſome memorable thing, which poſterity would not fail to hand down from one generation to another.

were

were lifted up unto the dry land, that the waters of Jordan returned unto their place, and flowed over all his banks, as they did before.

19 ¶ And the people came up out of Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and encamped in Gilgal, in the east border of Jericho.

20 And those twelve stones which they took out of Jordan did Joshua pitch in Gilgal.

21 And he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, When your children shall ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean these stones?

22 Then ye shall let your children know, saying, Israel came over this Jordan on dry land.

23 For the Lord your God dried up the waters of Jordan from before you, until ye were passed over, as the Lord your God did to the Red-sea, which he dried up from before us, until we were gone over:

24 That all the people of the earth might know the hand of the Lord that it is mighty: that ye might fear the Lord your God for ever.

CHAP. V.

1 The Canaanites are afraid. 2 Circumcision renewed. 10 The passover is kept at Gilgal. 13 An angel appeareth to Joshua.

AND it came to pass, when all the kings of the Amorites which were on the side of Jordan westward, and all the kings of the Canaanites, which were by the sea, heard that the Lord had dried up the waters of Jordan from before the children of Israel until we were passed over, that their heart melted, neither was there spirit in them any more, because of the children of Israel.

2 ¶ At that time the Lord said unto Joshua, Make thee sharp knives, and circumcise again the children of Israel the second time.

3 And Joshua made him sharp knives, and circumcised the children of Israel at the hill of the foreskins.

4 And this is the cause why Joshua did circumcise: All the people that came out of Egypt that were males, even all the men of war died in the wilderness by the way, after they came out of Egypt.

5 Now all the people that came out were circumcised; but all the people that were born in the wilderness by the way as they came forth out of Egypt, them they had not circumcised.

6 For the children of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, till all the people that were men of war which came out of Egypt were consumed, because they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: unto whom the Lord sware, that he would not shew them the land which the Lord sware unto their fathers that he would give us, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

7 And their children, whom he raised up in their stead, them Joshua circumcised; for they were uncircumcised, because they had not circumcised them by the way.

8 And it came to pass when they had done circumcising all the people, that they abode in their places in the camp till they were whole.

9 And the Lord said unto Joshua, This day have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off you. Wherefore the name of the place is called Gilgal unto this day.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel encamped in Gilgal, and kept the passover on the fourteenth day of the month at even, in the plains of Jericho.

11 And they did eat of the old corn of the land on the morrow after the passover, unleavened cakes, and parched corn in the self-same day.

12 And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land; neither had the children of Israel manna any more, but they did eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

13 ¶ And it came to pass, when Joshua was by Jericho that he lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, there stood a man over against him, with his sword drawn in his hand; and Joshua went unto him, and said unto him, Art thou for us, or for our adversaries?

14 And he said, Nay; but as captain of the host of the Lord am I now come. And Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and did worship, and said unto him, What saith my Lord unto his servant?

15 And the captain of the Lord's host said unto Joshua, Loose thy shoe from off thy foot; for the place whereon thou standest is holy. And Joshua did so.

CHAP. VI.

1 Jericho is shut up. 20 the walls fall down. 22 Rahab is saved. 26 The builder of Jericho is cursed.

NOW Jericho was straitly shut up, because of the children of Israel: none went out, and none came in.

2 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, See, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valour.

3 And ye shall compass the city, all ye men of war,

---

19 In Gilgal.) This place had its name from circumcision, which was there renewed. It lay about two miles eastward of Jericho: St. Jerom tells us that it was in his time, held in great veneration by the inhabitants of the country. Here the stones taken out of Jordan were pitched; and the people commanded to inform their children of the reason of their being placed there, that they might not be ignorant of the amazing miracle that God was pleased to work there for his people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 Make thee sharp knives, and circumcise again the children of Israel.) While the Israelites continued in Egypt, we do not read of any neglect of their rite of circumcision among them; but while they sojourned in the wilderness, there are several reasons that might oblige them to omit it, until they arrived in the promised land, when they came to renew the ordinance of the passover, and previous to that were all to be circumcised.

13 There stood a man over against him, with a sword drawn in his hand.) Who this person was that appeared to Joshua, is not agreed upon among commentators. But there are several reasons to think he was a divine, and not a created being. For first, he calls himself the captain of the Lord's host, an appellation by which God himself is frequently called in scripture. Secondly, Joshua's calling him Jehovah or Lord, a name which neither Joshua should have given, nor he accepted, had he been only an angel. Thirdly, his falling down and worshipping him, which he durst not have done, since God alone is to be adored, nor would the other have permitted but rather reproved him, as we find the angel did St. John, Rev. xxii. 10. And therefore it follows, that this appearance was doubtless divine. For instead of reproving him for doing him too much honour, we find him commanding him to loose his shoes from his feet, insisting on the high acknowledgement of a Divine Presence, then in use among the nations of the East: hence it is natural to think, that he was the great Captain of our salvation, the Lion of the tribe of Judah.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 Now Jericho was straitly shut up, because of the children of Israel.) The Israelites having passed the river in a miraculous manner, the inhabitants of the country fled for protection to their fenced cities; and Jericho, being near the camp of Israel, was close shut up, to prevent a surprise. But God, intending to shew the Israelites that the conquest of Canaan was to be ascribed to him, and not to human power, ordered Joshua not to attack the city, but compass it about seven days, when the walls should fall down flat, and open a passage for the Israelites to enter the city.

and go round about the city once. Thus ſhalt thou do ſix days.

4 And ſeven prieſts ſhall bear before the ark ſeven trumpets of rams' horns: and the ſeventh day ye ſhall compaſs the city ſeven times, and the prieſts ſhall blow with the trumpets.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs that when they make a long blaſt with the rams' horns, and when ye hear the ſound of the trumpet, all the people ſhall ſhout with a great ſhout: and the wall of the city ſhall fall down flat, and the people ſhall aſcend up every man ſtraight before him.

6 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun called the prieſts, and ſaid unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant, and let ſeven prieſts bear ſeven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the Lord.

7 And he ſaid unto the people, Paſs on, and compaſs the city, and let him that is armed paſs on before the ark of the Lord.

8 And it came to paſs when Joſhua had ſpoken unto the people, that the ſeven prieſts bearing the ſeven trumpets of rams' horns paſſed on before the Lord, and blew with the trumpets: and the ark of the covenant of the Lord followed them.

9 And the armed men went before the prieſts that blew with the trumpets, and the rear-ward came after the ark, the prieſts going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

10 And Joſhua had commanded the people, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſhout, nor make any noiſe with your voice, neither ſhall any word proceed out of your mouth, until the day I bid you ſhout: then ſhall ye ſhout.

11 So the ark of Lord compaſſed the city, going about it once: and they came into the camp, and lodged in the camp.

12 And Joſhua roſe early in the morning, and the prieſts took up the ark of the Lord.

13 And ſeven prieſts bearing ſeven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the Lord went on continually, and blew with the trumpets: and the armed men went before them; but the rear-ward came after the ark of the Lord, the prieſts going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

14 And the ſecond day they compaſſed the city once, and returned into the camp. So they did ſix days.

15 And it came to paſs on the ſeventh day, that they roſe early about the dawning of the day, and compaſſed the city after the ſame manner ſeven times; only on that day they compaſſed the city ſeven times.

16 And it came to paſs at the ſeventh time, when the prieſts blew with the trumpets, Joſhua, ſaid unto the people, Shout; for the Lord hath given you the city.

17 And the city ſhall be accurſed, even it and all that are therein, to the Lord: only Rahab the harlot ſhall live, ſhe and all that are with her in the houſe, becauſe ſhe hid the meſſengers that we ſent.

18 And ye in any wiſe keep yourſelves from the accurſed thing, leſt ye make yourſelves accurſed when ye take of the accurſed thing, and make the camp of Iſrael a curſe, and trouble it.

19 But all the ſilver and gold, and veſſels of braſs and iron, are conſecrated unto the Lord: they ſhall come into the treaſury of the Lord.

20 ¶ So the people ſhouted when the prieſts blew with the trumpets. And it came to paſs when the people heard the ſound of the trumpet, and the people ſhouted with a great ſhout, that the wall fell down flat, ſo that the people went up into the city, every man ſtraight before him, and they took the city.

21 And they utterly deſtroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and ſheep, and aſs, with the edge of the ſword.

22 ¶ But Joſhua had ſaid unto the two men that had ſpied out the country, Go into the harlot's houſe, and bring out thence the woman, and all that ſhe hath, as ye ſware unto her.

23 And the young men that were ſpies went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that ſhe had; and they brought out all her kindred, and left them without the camp of Iſrael.

24 And they burned the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the ſilver and the gold and the veſſels of braſs and of iron they put into the treaſury of the houſe of the Lord.

25 And Joſhua ſaved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father's houſhold, and all that ſhe had: and ſhe dwelleth in Iſrael even unto this day; becauſe ſhe hid the meſſengers which Joſhua ſent to ſpy out Jericho.

26 ¶ And Joſhua adjured them at that time, ſaying, Curſed be the man before the Lord that riſeth up and buildeth this city Jericho: he ſhall lay the foundation thereof in his firſt-born, and in his youngeſt ſon ſhall he ſet up the gates of it.

27 So the Lord was with Joſhua: and his fame was noiſed throughout all the country.

CHAP. VII.

5 The Iſraelites ſmitten at Ai. 6 Joſhua's complaint. 10 God inſtructeth him what to do. 16 Achan is taken by the lot. 19 His confeſſion. 22 He and all that he hath are deſtroyed in the valley of Achor.

BUT the children of Iſrael committed a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing: for Achan the ſon of Carmi, the ſon of Zabdi, the ſon of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the accurſed thing: and the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt the children of Iſrael.

2 And Joſhua ſent men from Jericho to Ai, which is beſide Beth-aven, on the eaſt ſide of Beth-el, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, Go up and view the country. And the men went up and viewed Ai.

3 And they returned to Joſhua, and ſaid unto him, Let not all the people go up; but let about two or three thouſand men go up and ſmite Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither: for they are but few.

4 So there went up thither of the people about

26 Curſed be the man before the Lord, &c.) This anathema was pronounced that the miracle of the ſubverſion of Jericho might be perpetually remembered. Hiel, however, in the reign of Ahab, either not remembering or not believing this denunciation, was ſo pleaſed with the beauty of its ſituation, that he rebuilt Jericho; and as the ſacred hiſtory informs, laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his firſt-born, and ſet up the gates of it in his youngeſt ſon Segub, 1 Kings xvi. 34. However, after Hiel had ventured to rebuild it, no ſcruple was made of inhabiting it; for it afterwards became famous upon many accounts. Here the prophet Eliſha ſweetened the waters of the ſpring that ſupplied it and the neighbouring country; here Herod built a ſumptuous palace: and here the Redeemer of mankind wrought ſeveral miracles.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 But the children of Iſrael committed a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing, &c.) Before the taking of Jericho, Joſhua had cautioned the people not to ſpare any thing that was in it, but to burn and deſtroy every thing they met with, except the ſilver, gold, braſs, and iron, which were to be conſecrated to the Lord. But notwithſtanding this ſtrict charge againſt reſerving any thing that was either devoted to general deſtruction, or conſecrated to the Lord, Achan took ſome of the rich plunder, and hid it in his tent.

three thouſand men: and they fled before the men of Ai.

5 ¶ And the men of Ai ſmote of them about thirty and ſix men: for they chaſed them from before the gate even unto Shebarim, and ſmote them in the going down. Wherefore the hearts of the people melted and became as water.

6 ¶ And Joſhua rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face, before the ark of the Lord, until the even-tide, he and the elders of Iſrael, and put duſt upon their heads.

7 And Joſhua ſaid, Alas, O Lord God, wherefore haſt thou at all brought this people over Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to deſtroy us? would to God we had been content, and dwelt on the other ſide Jordan.

8 O Lord, what ſhall I ſay, when Iſrael turneth their backs before their enemies?

9 For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall hear of it, and ſhall environ us round, and cut off our name from the earth: and what wilt thou do unto thy great name?

10 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Get thee up, wherefore lieſt thou thus upon thy face?

11 Iſrael hath ſinned, and they have alſo tranſgreſſed my covenant which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the accurſed thing and have alſo ſtolen, and diſſembled alſo, and they have put it even amongſt their own ſtuff.

12 Therefore the children of Iſrael could not ſtand before their enemies, but turned their backs before their enemies, becauſe they were accurſed: neither will I be with you any more, except ye deſtroy the accurſed from amongſt you.

13 Up, ſanctify the people, and ſay, Sanctify yourſelves againſt to-morrow: for thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, There is an accurſed thing in the midſt of thee, O Iſrael: thou canſt not ſtand before thine enemies until ye take away the accurſed thing from among you.

14 In the morning therefore ye ſhall be brought according to your tribes: and it ſhall be that the tribe which the Lord taketh, ſhall come according to the families thereof; and the family which the Lord ſhall take, ſhall come by houſholds; and the houſhold which the Lord ſhall take, ſhall come man by man,

15 And it ſhall be that he that is taken with the accurſed thing, ſhall be burnt with fire, he and all that he hath, becauſe he hath tranſgreſſed the covenant of the Lord, and becauſe he hath wrought folly in Iſrael.

16 ¶ So Joſhua roſe up early in the morning, and brought Iſrael by their tribes; and the tribe of Judah was taken:

17 And he brought the family of Judah; and he took the family of the Zarhites: and he brought the family of the Zarhites man by man; and Zabdi was taken:

18 And he brought his houſhold man by man: and Achan the ſon of Carmi, the ſon of Zabdi, the ſon of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken:

19 And Joſhua ſaid unto Achan, My ſon, give, I pray thee, glory to the Lord God of Iſrael, and make confeſſion unto him; and tell me now what thou haſt done, hide it not from me.

20 And Achan anſwered Joſhua, and ſaid, Indeed I have ſinned againſt the Lord God of Iſrael, and thus and thus have I done.

21 When I ſaw among the ſpoils a goodly Babyloniſh garment, and two hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and a wedge of gold of fifty ſhekels weight, then I coveted them, and took them, and behold they are hid in the earth in the midſt of my tent, and the ſilver under it.

22 ¶ So Joſhua ſent meſſengers, and they ran unto the tent, and behold, it was hid in his tent, and the ſilver under it.

23 And they took them out of the midſt of the tent, and brought them unto Joſhua, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and laid them out before the Lord.

24 And Joſhua and all Iſrael with him, took Achan the ſon of Zerah, and the ſilver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his ſons, and his daughters, and his oxen, and his aſſes, and his ſheep, and his tent, and all that he had: and they brought them unto the valley of Achor.

25 And Joſhua ſaid, Why haſt thou troubled us? the Lord ſhall trouble thee this day. And all Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones, and burned them with fire after they had ſtoned them with ſtones.

26 And they raiſed over him a great heap of ſtones unto this day: ſo the Lord turned from the fierceneſs of his anger: wherefore the name of that place was called, the valley of Achor unto this day.

CHAP. VIII.

1 God encourageth Joſhua. 3 The ſtratagem whereby Ai was taken. 30 Joſhua buildeth an altar, 32 writeth the law on ſtones, 33 propoundeth bleſſings and curſings.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Fear not, neither be thou diſmayed: take all the people of war with thee, and ariſe, go up to Ai: ſee, I have given into thy hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.

2 And thou ſhalt do to Ai and her king as thou didſt unto Jericho and her king: only the ſpoil thereof and the cattle thereof ſhall ye take for a prey unto yourſelves. Lay thee an ambuſh for the city behind it.

3 ¶ So Joſhua aroſe, and all the people of war, to go up againſt Ai: and Joſhua choſe out thirty thouſand mighty men of valour, and ſent them away by night.

4 And he commanded them, ſaying, Behold, ye ſhall lie in wait againſt the city, even behind the city; go not very far from the city, but be ye all ready.

5 And I, and all the people that are with me, will approach unto the city, and it ſhall come to paſs, when they come out againſt us, as at the firſt, that we will flee before them;

6 (For they will come out after us) till we have drawn them from the city: for they will ſay, They flee before us, as at the firſt: therefore we will flee before them.

7 Then ye ſhall riſe up from the ambuſh, and ſeize

24 The valley of Achor.) That is, the valley of trouble.

25 And all Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones.) The puniſhment appointed for thoſe who were guilty of ſacrilege, was to be burnt with fire; but as the text ſays they were previouſly ſtoned, the Jews are of opinion that this was not done judicially, but accidentally by the people; who were ſo highly enraged, that they threw ſtones at him as he was led to the place of execution.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

1 And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua fear not, &c.) The wrath of God being appeaſed by the execution of Achan, Joſhua is encouraged to make a freſh attack upon Ai, and the people allowed to take the plunder of the city and the cattle to themſelves. God would not deſtroy Ai by a miracle, as he had done Jericho, becauſe the people were now to appear formidable to other nations, both on account of their courage and policy.

upon

upon the city: for the Lord your God will deliver it into your hand.

8 And it ſhall be when ye have taken the city, that ye ſhall ſet the city on fire: according to the commandment of the Lord ſhall ye do. See I have commanded you.

9 Joſhua therefore ſent them forth; and they went to lie in ambuſh, and abode between Beth-el, and Ai, on the weſt ſide of Ai: but Joſhua lodged that night among the people.

10 And Joſhua roſe up early in the morning, and numbered the people, and went up, he and the elders of Iſrael, before the people to Ai.

11 And all the people, even the people of war that were with him, went up, and drew nigh, and came before the city, and pitched on the north ſide of Ai: now there was a valley betwixt them and Ai.

12 And he took about five thouſand men, and ſet them to lie in ambuſh between Beth-el and Ai, on the weſt ſide of the city.

13 And when they had ſet the people, even all the hoſt that was on the north of the city, and their liers in wait on the weſt of the city, Joſhua went that night into the midſt of the valley.

14 And it came to paſs when the king of Ai ſaw it, that they haſted and roſe up early, and the men of the city went out againſt Iſrael to battle, he and all his people, at a time appointed, before the plain; but he wiſt not that there were liers in ambuſh againſt him behind the city.

15 And Joſhua and all Iſrael made as if they were beaten before them, and fled by the way of the wilderneſs.

16 And all the people that were in Ai were called together to purſue after them: and they purſued after Joſhua, and were drawn away from the city.

17 And there was not a man left in Ai, or Beth-el, that went not out after Iſrael: and they left the city open, and purſued after Iſrael.

18 And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Stretch out the ſpear that is in thy hand toward Ai: for I will give it into thine hand. And Joſhua ſtretched out the ſpear that he had in his hand toward the city.

19 And the ambuſh aroſe quickly out of their place, and they ran as ſoon as he had ſtretched out his hand: and they entered into the city, and took it, and haſted, and ſet the city on fire.

20 And when the men of Ai looked behind them, they ſaw, and behold, the ſmoke of the city aſcended up to heaven, and they had no power to flee this way or that way: and the people that fled to the wilderneſs turned back upon the purſuers.

21 And when Joſhua and all Iſrael ſaw that the ambuſh had taken the city, and that the ſmoke of the city aſcended, then they turned again and ſlew the men of Ai.

22 And the other iſſued out of the city againſt them; ſo they were in the midſt of Iſrael, ſome on this ſide and ſome on that ſide: and they ſmote them, ſo that they let none of them remain or eſcape.

23 And the king of Ai they took alive, and brought him to Joſhua.

24 And it came to paſs, when Iſrael had made an end of ſlaying all the inhabitants of Ai, in the field, in the wilderneſs wherein they chaſed them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the ſword, until they were conſumed, that all the Iſraelites returned unto Ai, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword.

25 And ſo it was, that all that fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thouſand, even all the men of Ai.

26 For Joſhua drew not his hand back, wherewith he ſtretched out the ſpear, until he had utterly deſtroyed all the inhabitants of Ai.

27 Only the cattle, and the ſpoil of that city, Iſrael took for a prey unto themſelves, according unto the word of the Lord, which he commanded Joſhua.

28 And Joſhua burnt Ai, and made it an heap for ever, even a deſolation unto this day.

29 And the king of Ai he hanged on a tree until even-tide: and as ſoon as the ſun was down, Joſhua commanded that they ſhould take his carcaſe down from the tree, and caſt it at the entering of the gate of the city, and raiſe thereon a great heap of ſtones, that remaineth unto this day.

30 ¶ Then Joſhua built an altar unto the Lord God of Iſrael in mount Ebal;

31 As Moſes, the ſervant of the Lord, commanded the children of Iſrael, as it is written in the book of the law of Moſes, An altar of whole ſtones, over which no man hath lifted up any iron: and they offered thereon burnt-offerings unto the Lord, and ſacrificed peace-offerings.

32 ¶ And he wrote there upon the ſtones a copy of the law of Moſes, which he wrote in the preſence of the children of Iſrael.

33 ¶ And all Iſrael, and their elders, and officers, and their judges, ſtood on this ſide the ark and on that ſide, before the prieſts the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, as well the ſtranger as he that was born among them: half of them over againſt mount Gerizim, and half of them over againſt mount Ebal, as Moſes the ſervant of the Lord had commanded before that they ſhould bleſs the people of Iſrael.

34 And afterward he read all the words of the law, the bleſſings and curſings, according to all that is written in the book of the law.

35 There was not a word of all that Moſes commanded, which Joſhua read not before all the congregation of Iſrael, with the women, and the little ones, and the ſtrangers that were converſant among them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The kings combine againſt Iſrael. 3 The Gibeonites obtaining a league by craft, 16 are condemned to perpetual bondage.

AND it came to paſs, when all the kings which were on this ſide Jordan, in the hills, and in the vallies, and in all the coaſt of the great ſea over againſt Lebanon, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Periazite, the Hivite, and the Jebuſite, heard thereof, 30 Then Joſhua built an altar---in Mount Ebal.) Joſhua being now in the neighbourhood of the mountains Gerizim and Ebal, determined to perform the command of Moſes, with regard to reading the law, with the bleſſings and curſes annexed thereunto, from thoſe mountains. Accordingly he divided the tribes as Moſes had directed, placing ſome on mount Gerizim, and others on mount Ebal, pronouncing the bleſſings and the curſes, and reading the law, according as their great legiſlator had commanded.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

1 It came to paſs, when all the kings, &c.) The great ſucceſs of Joſhua againſt the two towns of Jericho and Ai, and the terrible ſlaughter he had made among their inhabitants, had ſo alarmed the kings on that ſide Jordan, that they entered into a league for their mutual defence, and determined to fight the Iſraelites with their united forces. But the Gibeonites foreſeeing the impending deſtruction, had recourſe to a ſtratagem to make peace with Iſrael; whereby they ſaved their lives, and delivered their country from the miſeries of war.

with Joſhua, and with Iſrael, with one accord.

3 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joſhua had done unto Jericho and to Ai,

4 They did work wilily, and went and made as if they had been ambaſſadors; and took old ſacks upon their aſſes, and wine-bottles, old, and rent, and bound up;

5 And old ſhoes and clouted upon their feet, and old garments upon them; and all the bread of their proviſion was dry and mouldy.

6 And they went to Joſhua unto the camp at Gilgal, and ſaid unto him, and to the men of Iſrael, We be come from a far country: now therefore make ye a league with us.

7 And the men of Iſrael ſaid unto the Hivites, Peradventure ye dwell among us; and how ſhall we make a league with you?

8 And they ſaid unto Joſhua, We are thy ſervants. And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Who are ye? and from whence come ye?

9 And they ſaid unto him, From a very far country thy ſervants are come, becauſe of the name of the Lord thy God: for we have heard the fame of him, and all that he did in Egypt,

10 And all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heſhbon, and to Og king of Baſhan, which was at Aſhtaroth.

11 Wherefore our elders, and all the inhabitants of our country ſpake to us, ſaying, Take victuals with you for the journey, and go to meet them, and ſay unto them, We are your ſervants: therefore now make ye a league with us.

12 This our bread we took hot for our proviſion out of our houſes on the day we came forth to go unto you; but now, behold, it is dry, and it is mouldy.

13 And theſe bottles of wine which we filled were new; and, behold, they be rent: and theſe our garments and our ſhoes are become old by reaſon of the very long journey.

14 And the men took of their victuals and aſked not counſel at the mouth of the Lord.

15 And Joſhua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live: and the princes of the congregation ſware unto them.

16 ¶ And it came to paſs at the end of three days after they had made a league with them, that they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

17 And the children of Iſrael journeyed, and came unto their cities on the third day. Now their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth and Kirjathjearim.

18 And the children of Iſrael ſmote them not becauſe the princes of the congregation had ſworn unto them by the Lord God of Iſrael. And all the congregation murmured againſt the princes.

19 But all the princes ſaid unto all the congregation, We have ſworn unto them by the Lord God of Iſrael: now therefore we may not touch them.

20 This we will do to them: we will even let them live, leſt wrath be upon us, becauſe of the oath which we ſware unto them.

21 And the princes ſaid unto them, Let them live: but let them be hewers of wood and drawers of water unto all the congregation: as the princes had promiſed them.

22 And Joſhua called for them, and he ſpake unto them, ſaying, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, ſaying, We are very far from you; when ye dwell among us?

23 Now therefore ye are curſed, and there ſhall none of you be freed from being bond-men, and hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the houſe of my God.

24 And they anſwered Joſhua, and ſaid, Becauſe it was certainly told thy ſervants, how that the Lord thy God commanded his ſervant Moſes to give you all the land, and to deſtroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you, therefore we were ſore afraid of our lives becauſe of you, and have done this thing.

25 And now, behold, we are in thine hand; as it ſeemeth good and right unto thee to do unto us, do.

26 And ſo did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Iſrael, that they ſlew them not.

27 And Joſhua made them that day hewers of wood and drawers of water for the congregation, and for the altar of the Lord, even unto this day, in the place which he ſhould chooſe.

CHAP. X.

1 Five kings war againſt Gibeon. 6 Joſhua reſcueth it. 12 The ſun and moon ſtand ſtill at the word of Joſhua.

NOW it came to paſs, when Adoni-zedec king of Jeruſalem had heard how Joſhua had taken Ai, and had utterly deſtroyed it; as he had done to Jericho and her king, ſo he had done to Ai and her king; and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Iſrael, and were among them;

2 That they feared greatly, becauſe Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities, and becauſe it was greater than Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty.

3 Wherefore Adoni-zedec king of Jeruſalem ſent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia king of Lachiſh, and unto Debir king of Eglon, ſaying,

4 Come up unto me, and help me that we may ſmite Gibeon, for it hath made peace with Joſhua and with the children of Iſrael.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites, the king

13 Theſe bottles of wine which we filled were new, and behold, they be rent.) Theſe bottles were not made of glaſs or clay, like thoſe in uſe among us, but of leather, in which they then kept their wine.

15 And Joſhua made peace with them, and made a league, &c.) It has been debated whether this league was lawful and obligatory, becauſe it was contrary to a poſitive law of God, by which the Iſraelites were enjoined to make no peace with the inhabitants of Canaan, but utterly to deſtroy them. Yet ſeveral inſtances in ſcripture ſufficiently prove, that though this law was delivered in general terms, becauſe God foreſaw that the Iſraelites would be very prone to err on that head, by ſparing thoſe whom they ſhould deſtroy, yet that it was not to be underſtood without exception: Rahab was ſaved, though an inhabitant of Canaan; and Nineveh, though threatened with abſolute deſtruction by Jonah, was not deſtroyed. With regard to the other part of the queſtion, whether the league was obligatory or not, it muſt certainly be anſwered in the affirmative; and this was the opinion of Joſhua, and all the elders of Iſrael: and we find that God himſelf ſhewed his diſpleaſure in a very eminent manner, when Saul, out of his zeal for the Iſraelites, endeavoured to exterminate the inhabitants of Gibeon, 2 Sam. xxi. 1.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 King of Jeruſalem.) This city in the time of Abraham was called Salem, and ſeems to have held the ſame name till the Iſraelites came into the land of Canaan, when they called it Jeruſalem.

5 The five kings of the Amorites.) It is certain that Hebron belonged to the Hittites, and Jeruſalem to the Jebuſites; but the Amorites, being the moſt powerful people in Canaan, had, it ſeems, reduced them under their power, and placed kings of their own nation over them. And hence the Gibeonites, who were originally Hivites, are ſaid to be of the remnant of the Amorites, 2 Sam. xxi. 2.

of Jeruſalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachiſh, the king of Eglon, gathered themſelves together, and went up, they and all their hoſt, and encamped before Gibeon, and made war againſt it.

6 ¶ And the men of Gibeon ſent unto Joſhua to the camp to Gilgal, ſaying, Slack not thy hand from thy ſervants; come up to us quickly, and ſave us, and help us: for all the kings of the Amorites that dwell in the mountains are gathered together againſt us.

7 So Joſhua aſcended from Gilgal, he, and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valour.

8 And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Fear them not; for I have delivered them into thine hand: there ſhall not a man of them ſtand before thee.

9 Joſhua, therefore, came unto them ſuddenly, and went up from Gilgal all night.

10 And the Lord diſcomfited them before Iſrael, and ſlew them with a great ſlaughter at Gibeon, and chaſed them along the way that goeth up to Beth-horon, and ſmote them to Azekah, and unto Mekkedah.

11 And it came to paſs, as they fled from before Iſrael, and were in the going down to Beth-horon, that the Lord caſt down great ſtones from heaven upon them unto Azekah, and they died: they were more which died with hail-ſtones than they whom the children of Iſrael ſlew with the ſword.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Joſhua to the Lord, in the day when the Lord delivered up the Amorites before the children of Iſrael, and he ſaid in the ſight of Iſrael, Sun, ſtand thou ſtill upon Gibeon; and thou, moon, in the valley of Ajalon.

13 And the ſun ſtood ſtill, and the moon ſtayed, until the people had avenged themſelves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of Jaſher? So the ſun ſtood ſtill in the midſt of heaven, and haſted not to go down about a whole day.

14 And there was no day like that, before it or after it, that the Lord hearkened unto the voice of a man: for the Lord fought for Iſrael.

15 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him, unto the camp to Gilgal

16 But theſe five kings fled, and hid themſelves in a cave at Makkedah.

17 And it was told Joſhua, ſaying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 And Joſhua ſaid, Roll great ſtones upon the mouth of the cave, and ſet men by it for to keep them.

19 And ſtay ye not, but purſue after your enemies, and ſmite the hindmoſt of them; ſuffer them not to enter into their cities: for the Lord your God hath delivered them into your hand.

20 And it came to paſs when Joſhua and the children of Iſrael had made an end of ſlaying them with a very great ſlaughter till they were conſumed, that the reſt which remained of them entered into fenced cities.

21 And all the people returned to the camp to Joſhua at Makkedah in peace: none moved his tongue againſt any of the children of Iſrael.

22 Then ſaid Joſhua, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out thoſe five kings unto me out of the cave.

23 And they did ſo, and brought forth thoſe five kings unto him out of the cave, the king of Jeruſalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachiſh, and the king of Eglon.

24 And it came to paſs when they had brought out thoſe five kings unto Joſhua, that Joſhua called for all the men of Iſrael, and ſaid unto the captains of the men of war, which were with him, Come near, put your feet upon the necks of theſe kings. And they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them.

25 And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Fear not, nor be diſmayed, be ſtrong and of good courage; for thus ſhall the Lord do to all your enemies againſt whom ye fight.

26 And afterwards Joſhua ſmote them, and ſlew them, and hanged them on five trees; and they were hanging upon the trees until the evening.

27 And it came to paſs at the time of the going down of the ſun, that Joſhua commanded, and they took them down off the trees, and caſt them into the cave, wherein they had been hid, and laid great ſtones in the cave's mouth, which remain until this very day.

28 And that day Joſhua took Makkedah, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and the king thereof he utterly deſtroyed, them and all the ſouls that were therein; he let none remain: and he did to the king of Makkedah, as he did unto the king of Jericho.

29 Then Joſhua paſſed from Makkedah, and all Iſrael with him, unto Libnah; and fought againſt Libnah.

30 And the Lord delivered it alſo, and the king thereof, into the hand of Iſrael: and he ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein; he let none remain in it; but did unto the king thereof as he did unto the king of Jericho.

31 And Joſhua paſſed from Libnah, and all Iſrael with him, unto Lachiſh: and encamped againſt it, and fought againſt it,

32 And the Lord delivered Lachiſh into the hand of Iſrael, which took it on the ſecond day, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein, according to all that he had done to Libnah.

33 Then Horam king of Gezer came up to help Lachiſh; and Joſhua ſmote him and his people, until he had left him none remaining.

34 And from Lachiſh Joſhua paſſed unto Eglon, and all Iſrael with him; and they encamped againſt it, and fought againſt it.

35 And they took it on that day, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein he utterly deſtroyed that day, according to all that he had done to Lachiſh.

36 And Joſhua went up from Eglon, and all Iſrael with him, unto Hebron: and they fought againſt it.

37 And they took it, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof, and all the ſouls that were therein; he left none remaining,

12 Sun, ſtand thou ſtill upon Gibeon, and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon, &c.) This is one of the moſt ſtupendous miracles recorded in the ſacred hiſtory. That the Almighty ſhould ſtop the courſe of nature, and ſuſpend the revolution of the earth about its axis (for it is the ſame in effect, whether we ſuppoſe the ſun or earth to move) in order to give the people an opportunity of obtaining a complete victory over their enemies, is really amazing. But it ſhould be remembered, that it was the work of that Omnipotent Being who firſt created theſe grand and beautiful globes which form the ſyſtem of the univerſe, and impreſſed upon them the laws they have conſtantly obſerved, and therefore could eaſily ſtop the rolling motion whenever he thought proper.

14 For the Lord fought for Iſrael.) He attacked them with the artillery of heaven, gave the Iſraelites ſtrength to purſue them, ſtopped the ſun's courſe that they might have light ſufficient to finiſh the conqueſt, and defended them from the ſtorm which fell upon their enemies.

maining, according to all that he had done to Eglon: but deſtroyed it utterly, and all the ſouls that were therein.

38 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him, to Debir; and fought againſt it.

39 And he took it, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof; and they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, and utterly deſtroyed all the ſouls that were therein; he left none remaining: as he had done to Hebron, ſo he did to Debir, and to the king thereof; as he had done alſo to Libnah, and to her king.

40 So Joſhua ſmote all the country of the hills, and of the ſouth, and of the vale, and of the ſprings, and all their kings: he left none remaining, but utterly deſtroyed all that breathed, as the Lord God of Iſrael commanded.

41 And Joſhua ſmote them from Kadeſh-barnea even unto Gaza, and all the country of Goſhen, even unto Gibeon.

42 And all theſe kings and their land did Joſhua take at one time: becauſe the Lord God of Iſrael fought for Iſrael.

43 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him unto the camp to Gilgal.

CHAP. XI.

1 Divers kings overcome at the waters of Merom. 10 Hazor is taken and burnt. 21 The Anakims cut off.

AND it came to paſs, when Jabin king of Hazor had heard thoſe things, that he ſent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achſhaph,

2 And to the kings that were on the north of the mountains, and of plains ſouth of Chinneroth, and in the valley, and in the borders of Dor on the weſt;

3 And to the Canaanite on the eaſt and on the weſt, and to the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebuſite in the mountains, and to the Hivite under Hermon, in the land of Mizpeh.

4 And they went out, they and all their hoſts with them, much people, even as the ſand that is upon the ſea-ſhore in multitude, with horſes and chariots very many.

5 And when all theſe kings were met together, they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom, to fight againſt Iſrael.

6 And the Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Be not afraid becauſe of them; for to-morrow about this time will I deliver them up ſlain before Iſrael: thou ſhalt hough their horſes, and burn their chariots with fire.

7 So Joſhua came, and all the people of war with him, againſt them by the waters of Merom ſuddenly, and they fell upon them.

8 And the Lord delivered them into the hand of Iſrael, who ſmote them, and chaſed them unto great Zidon, and unto Mizrephoth-maim, and unto the valley of Mizpeh eaſtward; and they ſmote them, until they left them none remaining.

9 And Joſhua did unto them as the Lord bade him: he houghed their horſes, and burnt their chariots with fire.

10 ¶ And Joſhua at that time turned back, and took Hazor, and ſmote the king thereof with the ſword; for Hazor before time was the head of all thoſe kingdoms.

11 And they ſmote all the ſouls that were therein with the edge of the ſword, utterly deſtroying them: there was not any left to breathe; and he burnt Hazor with fire.

12 And all the cities of thoſe kings, and all the kings of them did Joſhua take, and ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, and he utterly deſtroyed them, as Moſes the ſervant of the Lord commanded.

13 But as for the cities that ſtood ſtill in their ſtrength, Iſrael burned none of them, ſave Hazor only; that did Joſhua burn.

14 And all the ſpoil of theſe cities, and the cattle, the children of Iſrael took for a prey unto themſelves; but every man they ſmote with the edge of the ſword, until they had deſtroyed them, neither left they any to breathe.

15 ¶ As the Lord commanded Moſes his ſervant, ſo did Moſes command Joſhua, and ſo did Joſhua: he left nothing undone of all that the Lord commanded Moſes.

16 So Joſhua took all that land, the hills, and all the ſouth-country, and all the land of Goſhen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountain of Iſrael, and the valley of the ſame:

17 Even from the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir, even unto Baal-gad, in the valley of Lebanon, under mount Hermon: and all their kings he took, and ſmote them and ſlew them.

18 Joſhua made war a long time with all thoſe kings.

19 There was not a city that made peace with the children of Iſrael ſave the Hivites the inhabitants of Gibeon; all other they took in battle.

20 For it was of the Lord to harden their hearts, that they ſhould come againſt Iſrael in battle, that he might deſtroy them utterly, and that they might have no favour, but that he might deſtroy them as the Lord commanded Moſes.

21 And at that time came Joſhua, and cut off the Anakims from the mountains, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the mountains of Iſrael: Joſhua deſtroyed them utterly with their cities.

22 There was none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Iſrael: only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Aſhdod there remained.

23 So Joſhua took the whole land according to all

41 And all the country of Goſhen.) This country was ſituated in the ſouthern parts of Canaan and called Goſhen from its excellent paſture, being well watered, like the diſtrict in Egypt of the ſame name, and both ſo termed from the Hebrew word Geſhem, large ſhowers, which render the earth fruitful.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 And it came to paſs when Jabin king of Hazor, &c.) Hazor was the metropolis of the northern parts of Canaan, and fell to the ſhare of the tribe of Naphtali. Jabin was the name of the king of the Canaanites in that part of the country in latter times, and reigned in this very city, Judges iv. 2.

4 With horſes and chariots very many.) Theſe chariots made a terrible ſlaughter among an army of foot. The beam to which the horſes were faſtened was armed with ſpikes with iron points, which projected forwards: the yokes of the horſes had two ſharp faulchions of three cubits in length. To the axle-tree were fixed two iron ſpits, with ſcythes at their extremities; the ſpokes of the wheel were armed with javelins, and the very fellows with ſcythes, which tore every thing they met with to pieces. The axle-tree was of a greater length, and the wheels ſtronger than ordinary, that they might be the more able to reſiſt a ſhock, and the chariot leſs liable to be overturned. The charioteer, who was wholly covered with armour, ſat in a kind of tower made of very ſolid wood, about breaſt high; and ſometimes men well armed where put into the chariot, and fought from thence with darts and ſtones. So that theſe machines muſt have made a dreadful ſlaughter among the enemy's troops.

21 And cut off the Anakims from the mountains.) The Anakims were a gigantic people, of a fierce, cruel, and tyrannical diſpoſition. They had fixed their habitation in the mountains, and doubtleſs fortified themſelves there, which probably was the reaſon why Joſhua did not attack them before he had finiſhed his other conqueſts.

that

that the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, and Joſhua gave it for an inheritance unto Iſrael, according to their diviſions by their tribes. And the land reſted from war.

CHAP. XII.

1 The two kings whoſe countries Moſes took and diſpoſed of. 7 The one and thirty kings on the other ſide Jordan which Joſhua ſmote.

NOW theſe are the kings of the land which the children of Iſrael ſmote, and poſſeſſed their land on the other ſide Jordan toward the riſing of the ſun: from the river Arnon unto mount Hermon, and all the plain of the eaſt:

2 Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heſhbon, and ruled from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and from the middle of the river, and from half Gilead, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

3 And from the plain to the ſea of Chinneroth on the eaſt, and unto the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt ſea on the eaſt, the way to Beth-jeſhimoth; and from the ſouth, under Aſhdoth-piſgah:

4 And the coaſt of Og king of Baſhan, which was of the remnant of the giants, that dwelt at Aſtaroth and at Edrei.

5 And reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salcah, and in all Baſhan, unto the border of the Geſhurites, and the Maachathites, and half Gilead, the border of Sihon king of Heſhbon.

6 Them did Moſes the ſervant of the Lord, and the children of Iſrael ſmite: and Moſes the ſervant of the Lord gave it for a poſſeſſion unto the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manaſſeh.

9 The king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai which is beſide Beth-el, one;

10 The king of Jeruſalem, one; the king of Hebron, one;

11 The king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachiſh, one;

12 The king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezar, one;

13 The king of Debir, one; the king of Gedder, one;

14 The king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one;

18 The king of Aphek, one; the king of Laſharon, one;

19 The king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one;

20 The king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achſhaph, one;

21 The king of Taanach, one; the king of Megido, one;

22 The king of Kedeſh, one; the king of Jokneam, of Carmel, one;

23 The king of Dor in the coaſt of Dor, one; the king of the nations of Gilgal, one;

24 The king of Tirzah, one; all the kings thirty and one.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The bounds of the land not yet conquered. 14, 33 The Lord and his ſacrifices are the Levites' inheritance. 22 Balaam is ſlain.

NOW Joſhua was old, and ſtricken in years, and the Lord ſaid unto him, Thou art old, and ſtricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land to be poſſeſſed.

2 ¶ This is the land that yet remaineth; all the borders of the Philiſtines, and all Geſhuri.

3 From Sihor, which is before Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron, northward, which is counted to the Canaanite; five lords of the Philiſtines: the Gazathites, and the Aſhdothites, the Eſhkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites; alſo the Avites:

4 From the ſouth, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that is beſide the Sidonians unto Aphek, to the borders of the Amorites:

5 And the land of the Giblites, and all Lebanon toward the ſun-riſing, from Baal-gad under mount Hermon, unto the entering into Hamath.

6 All the inhabitants of the hill-country from Lebanon unto Miſrephoth-maim, and all the Sidonians, them will I drive out from before the children of Iſ-

---

23 And the land reſted from war.) Neither the Philiſtines, nor any other nation, ventured to give any diſturbance to the Iſraelites, but they enjoyed their poſſeſſions quietly.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

17 The king of Tappuah, one.) There were two cities of this name; one in the tribe of Judah, and the other in the tribe of Ephraim: but it is probable the latter is here meant, becauſe the king of it is mentioned next to the king of Beth-el, which was in the borders of Benjamin and Ephraim:

23 The king of Dor, in the coaſt of Dor, one.) The city of Dor ſtood in the tribe of Manaſſeh, and had a large territory belonging to it, called by the ſame name. It was a royal city, one of the oldeſt in Phœnicia; and ſo ſtrong, that the Iſraelites could not take it, or at leaſt keep poſſeſſion of it, when it fell to the portion of Manaſſeh, Judges i. 27.

24 All the kings thirty and one.) It ſeems ſurpriſing that there ſhould be ſo many kings in ſo ſmall a country; but it ſhould be remembered, that theſe kings were only petty princes, or lords of cities, having a few villages depending on them, the inhabitants of which were, properly ſpeaking, their tenants. This appears from ver. 9, where we read of the king of Beth-el, though his ſubjects, joined to thoſe of the king of Ai, amounted to only twelve thouſand; for kingdoms were, in the earlier ages, very ſmall; and we find that when Cæſar invaded England, there were four kings in the county of Kent only.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

3 Even unto the borders of Ekron north-ward, &c.) Ekron was a famous city of the Philiſtines, where Belzebub was worſhipped, called in the New Teſtament the prince of the devils, becauſe he was the principal god of the people of Paleſtine. This country originally belonged to the offspring of Canaan, the youngeſt ſon of Ham; but taken from them by the Philiſtines, who were deſcended from Miſraim his ſecond ſon.

6 Them will I drive out from before the children of Iſrael.) This promiſe was conditional, and depended upon the Iſraelites obſerving the laws given them by Moſes; but as they did not perſiſt in the true worſhip of God according to the ordinances delivered by their wiſe legiſlator, great part of theſe places were never conquered.

rael: only divide thou it by lot unto the Iſraelites for an inheritance, as I have commanded thee.

7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh:

8 With whom the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance, which Moſes gave them, beyond Jordan eaſtward, even as Moſes the ſervant of the Lord gave them;

9 From Aroer, that is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midſt of the river, and all the plain of Medeba, unto Dibon;

10 And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heſhbon, unto the border of the children of Ammon;

11 And Gilead, and the border of the Geſhurites, and Maachathites, and all mount Hermon, and all Baſhan unto Salcah;

12 All the kingdom of Og in Baſhan, which reigned in Aſhtaroth and in Edrei, who remained of the remnant of the giants. For theſe did Moſes ſmite, and caſt them out.

13 Nevertheleſs, the children of Iſrael expelled not the Geſhurites, nor the Maachathites; but the Geſhurites and the Maachathites dwell among the Iſraelites until this day.

14 ¶ Only unto the tribe of Levi he gave none inheritance: the ſacrifices of the Lord God of Iſrael made by fire are their inheritance, as he ſaid unto them.

15 And Moſes gave unto the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance according to their families.

16 And their coaſt was from Aroer that is on the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midſt of the river, and all the plain by Medeba;

17 Heſhbon and all her cities that are in the plain; Dibon, and Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon,

18 And Jahaza, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath,

19 And Kirjathaim, and Sibmah, and Zareth-ſhahar in the mount of the valley,

20 And Beth-peor, and Aſhdoth-piſgah, and Beth-jeſhimoth,

21 And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heſhbon, whom Moſes ſmote with the princes of Midian, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, which were dukes of Sihon, dwelling in the country.

22 ¶ Balaam alſo the ſon of Beor the ſoothſayer did the children of Iſrael ſlay with the ſword, among them that were ſlain by them.

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan, and the border thereof. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben, after their families, the cities, and villages thereof.

24 And Moſes gave inheritance unto the tribe of Gad, even unto the children of Gad according to their families.

25 And their coaſt was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon, unto Aroer that is before Rabbah;

26 And from Heſhbon unto Ramath-mizpeh, and Betonim; and from Mahanaim unto the border of Debir:

27 And in the valley, Beth-aram, and Beth-nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the reſt of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heſhbon, Jordan and his border, even unto the edge of the ſea of Cinnereth, on the other ſide Jordan, eaſt-ward.

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad after their families, the cities, and their villages.

29 And Moſes gave inheritance to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh: and this was the poſſeſſion of the half-tribe of the children of Manaſſeh by their families:

30 And their coaſt was from Mahanaim, all Baſhan, all the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Baſhan, threeſcore cities:

31 And half Gilead, and Aſhtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Baſhan, were pertaining unto the children of Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh, even to the one half of the children of Machir by their families.

32 Theſe are the countries which Moſes did diſtribute for inheritance in the plains of Moab, on the other ſide Jordan by Jericho eaſt-ward.

33 But unto the tribe of Levi Moſes gave not any inheritance: the Lord God of Iſrael was their inheritance, as he ſaid unto them.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The nine tribes and an half are to have their inheritance by lot. 6 Caleb by privilege obtaineth Hebron.

AND theſe are the countries which the children of Iſrael inherited in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael diſtributed for inheritance to them.

2 By lot was their inheritance, as the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes, for the nine tribes, and for the half-tribe.

3 For Moſes had given the inheritance of two tribes and an half-tribe on the other ſide Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.

4 For the children of Joſeph were two tribes, Manaſſeh and Ephraim: therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, ſave cities to dwell in, with their ſuburbs for their cattle, and for their ſubſtance.

5 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael did, and they divided the land.

6 ¶ Then the children of Judah came unto Joſhua in Gilgal: and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite ſaid unto him, Thou knoweſt the thing that the Lord ſaid unto Moſes the man of God concerning me and thee in Kadeſh-barnea.

7 Forty years old was I when Moſes the ſervant of the Lord ſent me from Kadeſh-barnea, to eſpy out the land: and I brought him word again, as it was in mine heart.

8 Nevertheleſs, my brethren that went up with me, made the heart of the people melt: but I wholly followed the Lord my God.

9 And Moſes ſware on that day, ſaying, Surely the land whereon thy feet have trodden, ſhall be thine inheritance, and thy children's for ever; becauſe thou

6 Divide thou it by lot unto the Iſraelites for an inheritance.) The inhabitants are not yet driven out; yet ſince I have promiſed to expel them, aſſign all the forementioned countries to the children of Iſrael by lot, as the inheritance I have beſtowed upon them.

9 In the midſt of the river.) The Septuagint and vulgate read, in the midſt of the valley; and ſo ver. 18.

7 Forty years old was I when Moſes the ſervant of the Lord ſent me, &c.) He mentions this partly to ſhew, that Moſes took care to ſend perſons of ſome experience, capable of making pertinent obſervations on the country; and at the ſame time in their full ſtrength of body, and able to encounter with the difficulties and hardſhips they were likely to meet with in their journey.

haſt wholly followed the Lord my God.

10 And now behold, the Lord hath kept me alive, as he ſaid, theſe forty and five years, even ſince the Lord ſpake this word unto Moſes, while the children of Iſrael wandered in the wilderneſs: and now, lo, I am this day fourſcore and five years old.

11 As yet I am as ſtrong this day as I was in the day that Moſes ſent me: as my ſtrength was then, even ſo is my ſtrength now, for war, both to go out and to come in.

12 Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord ſpake in that day: for thou heardeſt in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if ſo be the Lord will be with me, then I ſhall be able to drive them out, as the Lord ſaid.

13 And Joſhua bleſſed him, and gave unto Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh Hebron for an inheritance.

14 Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite unto this day: becauſe that he wholly followed the Lord God of Iſrael.

15 And the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba, which Arba was a great man among the Anakims. And the land had reſt from war.

CHAP. XV.

1 The borders of the lot of Judah. 13 Caleb's portion and conqueſt. 16 Othniel's valour and reward. 21 The cities of Judah. 63 The Jebuſites not conquered.

THIS then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah by their families: even to the border of Edom, the wilderneſs of Zin ſouthward was the uttermoſt part of the ſouth coaſt.

2 And their ſouth border was from the ſhore of the ſalt-ſea, from the bay that looketh ſouthward:

3 And it went out to the ſouth ſide to Maaleh-acrabbim, and paſſed along to Zin, and aſcended up on the ſouth ſide unto Kadeſh-barnea, and paſſed along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and fetched a compaſs to Karkaa.

4 From thence it paſſed toward Azmon, and went out unto the river of Egypt; and the goings out of that coaſt were at the ſea. This ſhall be your ſouth coaſt.

5 And the eaſt border was the ſalt-ſea, even unto the end of Jordan. And their border in the north quarter was from the bay of the ſea, at the uttermoſt part of Jordan:

6 And the border went up to Beth-hoglah, and paſſed along by the north of Beth-arabah; and the border went up to the ſtone of Boham the ſon of Reuben.

7 And the border went up toward Debir, from the valley of Achor, and ſo northward looking toward Gilgal, that is before the going up to Adummim, which is on the ſouth ſide of the river: and the border paſſed toward the waters of Enſhemiſh, and the goings out thereof were at En-rogel:

8 And the border went up by the valley of the ſon of Hinnom unto the ſouth ſide of the Jebuſite; the ſame is Jeruſalem: and the border went up to the top of the mountain that lieth before the valley of Hinnom weſtward, which is at the end of the valley of the giants northward:

9 And the border was drawn from the top of the hill unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and went out to the cities of mount Ephron; and the border was drawn to Baalah, which is Kirjath-jearim:

10 And the border compaſſed from Baalah weſtward unto mount Seir, and paſſed along unto the ſide of mount Jearim, which is Cheſalon, on the north ſide and went down to Beth-ſhemeſh, and paſſed on to Timnah:

11 And the border went out unto the ſide of Ekron northward: and the border was drawn to Shicron, and paſſed along to mount Baalah, and went out unto Jabneel, and the goings out of the border were at the ſea.

12 And the weſt border was to the great ſea, and the coaſt thereof. This is the coaſt of the children of Judah, round about according to their families.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, he gave a part among the children of Judah, according to the commandment of the Lord to Joſhua, even the city of Arba the father of Anak, which city is Hebron.

14 And Caleb drove thence the three ſons of Anak, Sheſhai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the children of Anak.

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath-ſepher.

16 ¶ And Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjath-ſepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achſah my daughter to wife.

17 And Othniel the ſon of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, took it: and he gave him Achſah his daughter to wife.

18 And it came to paſs, as ſhe came unto him, that ſhe moved him to aſk of her father a field: and ſhe lighted off her aſs; and Caleb ſaid unto her, What wouldeſt thou?

19 Who anſwered, Give me a bleſſing: for thou haſt given me a ſouth-land; give me alſo ſprings of water. And he gave her the upper ſprings, and the nether ſprings.

20 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah, according to their families.

21 And the uttermoſt cities of the tribe of the children of Judah, toward the coaſt of Edom, ſouthward, were Kabzeel, and Eder, and Jagur,

22 And Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah,

12 Now therefore give me this mountain, &c.) That is, the mountainous country where Hebron lay, which was promiſed him when he returned from ſpying the land, Num. xxiv. 24.

14 Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb.) God rewarded his fidelity by this ſingular gift, which he beſtowed upon him before the land was divided by lot.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 This then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah.) The firſt lot that came up was for the tribe of Judah, that the prophecy of Jacob, with regard to the pre-eminence of that tribe among his brethren, might be kept up.

By their families.) The lot was only a quantity of land for the whole tribe; unto every family of which a portion was aſſigned by Joſhua, and thoſe who were appointed to ſee that none were neglected, and that they had every one a juſt proportion. The lot for each tribe was not, therefore, ſo unalterably fixed and determined, but that it might be enlarged or diminiſhed; by taking from that tribe which had too much, and giving it to that which had too little.

8 By the valley of the ſon of Hinnom.) A famous valley on the eaſt-ſide of Jeruſalem, and ſo delightfully ſhaded, that it invited them to perform their idolatrous worſhip there, for which it became infamous, 2 Kings xxxiii. 10. Hinnom the owner of this valley, was, in all probability, ſome eminent perſon in ancient times; for it is ſometimes called the valley of the children of Hinnom, and conſequently was enjoyed by his poſterity.

19 Give me alſo ſprings of water.) An adjacent field, wherein were ſprings of water; for it was not merely the ſprings ſhe begged, but alſo the ground in which they were: as appears from the foregoing verſe, where it is ſaid, ſhe moved her huſband to aſk of her father a field.

23 And Kedesh, and Hazor, and Ithnan,
24 Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth,
25 And Hazor, Hadattah, and Kerioth, and Hezron, which is Hazar,
26 Aman, and Shema, and Moladah,
27 And Hazar-gaddah, and Heshmon, and Beth-palet,
28 And Hazar-shual, and Beer-sheba, and Bizjothjah,
29 Baalah, and Iim, and Azem,
30 And Eltolad, and Chesil, and Hormah,
31 And Ziklag, and Madmannah, and Sansannah,
32 And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon: all the cities are twenty and nine with their villages.
33 And in the valley, Eshtaol, and Zoreah, and Ashnah.
34 And Zanoah, and En-gannim, Tappua, and Enam,
35 Jarmuth, and Addulam, Socoh, and Azekah.
36 And Sharaim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, and Gederothaim; fourteen cities with their villages.
37 Zenan, and Hadashah, and Migdal-gad,
38 And Dilean, and Mizpeh, and Jocktheel,
39 Lachish, and Bozkath, and Eglon,
40 And Cabbon, and Lahmam, and Kithlish,
41 And Gederoth, Beth-dagon, and Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages.
42 Libnah, and Ether, and Ashan,
43 And Jiphtah, and Ashnah, and Nezib,
44 And Keilah, and Achzib, and Mareshah:
45 Ekron with her towns, and her villages.
46 From Ekron even unto the sea, all that lay near Ashdod, with their villages.
47 Ashdod with her towns and her villages, Gaza with her towns and her villages, unto the river of Egypt, and the great sea, and the border thereof.
48 ¶ And in the mountains, Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh,
49 And Dannah, and Kirjath-sannah, which is Debir,
50 And Anab, and Eshtemoh, and Anim,
51 And Goshen, and Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages.
52 Arab, and Dumah, and Eshean,
53 And Janum, and Beth-tappuah, and Aphekah.
54 And Humtah, and Kirjath-arba, (which is Hebron) and Zior: nine cities with their villages.
55 Maon, Carmel, and Ziph, and Juttah,
56 And Jezreel, and Jokdeam, and Zanoah,
57 Cain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages.
58 Halhul, Beth-zur, and Gedor,
59 And Maarath, and Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.
60 Kirjath-baal (which is Kirjath-jearim) and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.
61 ¶ In the wilderness, Beth-arabah, Middin, and Secacah,
62 And Nibshan, and the city of Salt, and Engedi: six cities with their villages.
63 As for the Jebusites the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the children of Judah could not drive them out: but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Judah at Jerusalem unto this day.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The general borders of the sons of Joseph. 5 The borders of the inheritance of Ephraim. 10 The Canaanites not conquered.

AND the lot of the children of Joseph fell from Jordan by Jericho, unto the water of Jericho on the east, to the wilderness that goeth up from Jericho throughout mount Beth-el,
2 And goeth out from Beth-el to Luz, and passeth along unto the borders of Archi to Ataroth,
3 And goeth down west-ward, to the coast of Japhleti, unto the coast of Beth-horon the nether, and to Gezar: and the goings out thereof are at the sea.
4 So the children of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, took their inheritance.
5 ¶ And the border of the children of Ephraim, according to their families, was thus; even the border of their inheritance on the east side was Ataroth-addar, unto Beth-horon the upper.
6 And the border went out toward the sea, to Michmethah on the north side, and the border went about eastward unto Taanath-shiloh, and passed by it on the east to Janohah:
7 And it went down from Janohah to Ataroth, and to Naarath, and came to Jericho, and went out at Jordan.
8 The border went out from Tappuah westward unto the river Kanah; and the goings out thereof were at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.
9 And the separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh, all the cities with their villages.
10 And they drave not out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer: but the Canaanites dwell among the Ephraimites unto this day, and serve under tribute.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The lot of Manasseh. 7 His coast. 12 The Canaanites not driven out. 14 The children of Joseph obtain another lot.

THERE was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh; for he was the first-born of Joseph; to wit, for Machir the first-born of Manasseh the father of Gilead:

32 All the cities are twenty and nine with their villages.) We were before told, that the cities which fell to the lot of Judah amounted to thirty-eight; but it must be remembered, that nine of these cities, namely Beersheba, Moladah, Hazar-shual, Baalah, Azem, Hormah, Zigly, Ain, and Rimmon, were taken from Judah, and given to the tribe of Simeon: which nine, with the twenty-nine mentioned in the preceding verses, make the sum of thirty-eight.

61 In the wilderness.) The Hebrews called those parts of the country which were but thinly inhabited, by this name; and it appears, that in this whole district there were only six cities.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

1 The lot of the children of Joseph.) That is, of the tribe of Ephraim, and that half of the tribe of Manasseh which had as yet received no inheritance. The Divine Providence is here very remarkable in ordering their lot to fall next to that of Judah; for as he had the prerogative of being made the chief of all Jacob's children, so his descendants are considered before any other tribe, that of Judah alone excepted, from whom the great Messiah was to descend.

2 And goeth out from Beth-el to Luz) Beth-el was the place where Jacob had the divine vision, mentioned Gen. xviii. It was near the city of Luz, but distinct from the city itself, being in the neighbouring fields, where Jacob passed the night under the canopy of heaven; but so very near Luz, that afterwards they became one city.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

1 For he was the first-born of Joseph.) The particle ki, which we here render for, should have been translated though, and then the sense will be, that the lot of Manasseh did not come up till after because becauſe he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Baſhan.

2 There was alſo a lot for the reſt of the children of Manaſſeh by their families; for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Aſriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida; theſe were the male-children of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph by their families.

3 But Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher, the ſon of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, had no ſons, but daughters: and theſe are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

4 And they came near before Eleazar the prieſt, and before Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and before the princes, ſaying, The Lord commanded Moſes to give us an inheritance among our brethren: therefore according to the commandment of the Lord he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fell ten portions to Manaſſeh, beſide the land of Gilead and Baſhan which were on the other ſide Jordan;

6 Becauſe the daughters of Manaſſeh had an inheritance among his ſons: and the reſt of Manaſſeh's ſons had the land of Gilead.

7 ¶ And the coaſt of Manaſſeh was from Aſher to Michmethah, that lieth before Shechem; and the border went along on the right hand unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 Now Manaſſeh had the land of Tappuah: but Tappuah on the border of Manaſſeh belonged to the children of Ephraim.

9 And the coaſt deſcended unto the river Kanah, ſouthward of the river: theſe cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manaſſeh: the coaſt of Manaſſeh alſo was on the north ſide of the river, and the out-goings of it were at the ſea.

10 Southward it was Ephraim's, and northward it was Manaſſeh's, and the ſea is his border: and they met together in Aſher on the north, and in Iſſachar on the eaſt.

11 And Manaſſeh had in Iſſachar and in Aſher, Beth-ſhean and her towns, and Ibleam and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of En-dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of Taanach and her towns, and the inhabitants of Meggido and her towns, even three countries.

12 ¶ Yet the children of Manaſſeh could not drive out the inhabitants of thoſe cities, but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

13 Yet it came to paſs when the children of Iſrael were waxen ſtrong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute: but did not utterly drive them out.

14 ¶ And the children of Joſeph ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying, Why haſt thou given me but one lot and one portion to inherit, ſeeing I am a great people, foraſmuch as the Lord hath bleſſed me hitherto?

15 And Joſhua anſwered them, If thou be a great people, then get thee up to the wood country, and cut down for thyſelf there, in the land of the Perizzites, and of the giants, if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.

16 And the children of Joſeph ſaid, The hill is not enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, both they who are of Beth-ſhean and her towns, and they who are of the valley of Jezreel.

17 And Joſhua ſpake unto the houſe of Joſeph, even to Ephraim, and to Manaſſeh, ſaying, Thou art a great people, and haſt great power; thou ſhalt not have one lot only:

18 But the mountain ſhall be thine; for it is a wood, and thou ſhalt cut it down: and the out-goings of it ſhall be thine: for thou ſhalt drive out the Canaanites, though they have iron chariots, and though they be ſtrong.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The tabernacle is ſet up at Shiloh. 2 The remainder of the land is deſcribed, 10 and divided by lots. 21 The cities of Benjamin.

AND the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael aſſembled together at Shiloh, and ſet up the tabernacle of the congregation there. And the land was ſubdued before them.

2 ¶ And there remained among the children of Iſrael ſeven tribes which had not yet received their inheritance.

3 And Joſhua ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, How long are ye ſlack to go to poſſeſs the land which the Lord God of your fathers hath given you?

4 Give out from among you three men for each tribe; and I will ſend them, and they ſhall riſe and go through the land, and deſcribe it, according to the inheritance of them: and they ſhall come again to me.

5 And they ſhall divide it into ſeven parts: Judah ſhall abide in their coaſt on the ſouth, and the houſe of Joſeph ſhall abide in their coaſts on the north.

6 Ye ſhall therefore deſcribe the land into ſeven parts, and bring the deſcription hither to me, that I may caſt lots for you here before the Lord our God.

7 But the Levites have no part among you: for the prieſthood of the Lord is their inheritance: and Gad, and Reuben, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh, have received their inheritance beyond Jordan on the eaſt, which Moſes, the ſervant of the Lord, gave them.

8 And the men aroſe, and went away: and Joſhua charged them that went to deſcribe the land, ſaying, Go and walk through the land, and deſcribe it, and come again to me, that I may here caſt lots for you before the Lord in Shiloh.

9 And the men went, and paſſed through the land, and deſcribed it by cities into ſeven parts in a book, and came again to Joſhua, to the hoſt at Shiloh.

10 ¶ And Joſhua caſt lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord: and there Joſhua divided the land unto that of Ephraim, though he was the firſt born. Hence we ſee that the words of Jacob were literally fulfilled, that Ephraim ſhould be before Manaſſeh, Gen. xlviii. 19, 20.

15 If mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.) If that noble mount, which was given thee for thy poſſeſſion, be too narrow for thee, enlarge thy borders by taking in thoſe wood-lands or foreſts inhabited by the Jebuſites.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

2 And there remained among the children of Iſrael ſeven tribes, which had not yet received their inheritance.) That is, no lot had been drawn for them in Gilgal. The reaſon perhaps was, becauſe the laſt mentioned tribes of the houſe of Joſeph were not ſatisfied with the diviſion begun there, which induced Joſhua to ſtop his proceedings, till he had made a more accurate ſurvey of the whole country: in order to which God commanded him to remove to Shiloh, which being ſituated near the middle of the country, the taſk might be more eaſily performed.

10 Joſhua caſt lots for them, &c.) It is worthy of remark, that as Jacob and Moſes foretold the very ſoil and ſituation of every particular country, that ſhould fall to each tribe; ſo on this diviſion by lot, it accordingly came to paſs. To Judah fell a country abounding with vines and paſture-grounds, Gen xlix. 11. To Aſhur, one plenteous in oil, iron, and braſs, Deut. xxxiii. 24. To Naphtali, one extending from the weſt to the ſouth of Judea, ibid.

the children of Iſrael, according to their diviſions.

11 And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up according to their families: and the coaſt of their lot came forth between the children of Judah and the children of Joſeph.

12 And their border, on the north ſide, was from Jordan: and the border went up to the ſide of Jericho on the north ſide, and went up through the mountains weſtward; and the goings out thereof were at the wilderneſs of Beth-haven.

13 And the border went over from thence toward Luz, to the ſide of Luz, (which is Beth-el,) ſouthward, and the border deſcended to Ataroth-addar, near the hill that lieth on the ſouth-ſide of the nether Beth-horon.

14 And the border was drawn thence, and compaſſed the corner of the ſea ſouthward, from the hill that lieth before Beth-horon ſouthward; and the goings out thereof were at Kirjath-baal, (which is Kirjath-jearim,) a city of the children of Judah. This was the weſt quarter.

15 And the ſouth quarter was from the end of Kirjath-jearim, and the border went out on the weſt, and went out to the well of waters of Nephtoah;

16 And the border came down to the end of the mountain that lieth before the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, and which is in the valley of the giants on the north, and deſcended to the valley of Hinnom, to the ſide of Jebuſi on the ſouth, and deſcended to En-rogel,

17 And was drawn from the north, and went forth to En-ſhemeſh, and went forth toward Geliloth, which is over againſt the going up of Adummim, and deſcended to the ſtone of Bohan, the ſon of Reuben,

18 And paſſed along toward the ſide over againſt Arabah northward, and went down unto Arabah;

19 And the border paſſed along to the ſide of Beth-hoglah, northward: and the out-goings of the border were at the north bay of the ſalt-ſea, at the ſouth end of Jordan. This was the ſouth coaſt.

20 And Jordan was the border of it on the eaſt ſide. This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, by the coaſts thereof round about, according to their families.

21 ¶ Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, were Jericho, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Keziz,

22 And Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim, and Beth-el,

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

24 And Chephar-haammonai, and Ophni, and Gaba; twelve cities with their villages;

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,

28 And Zelah, Eleph, and Jebuſi, (which is Jeruſalem,) Gibeath, and Kirjaith: fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to their families.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The lot of Simeon, 10 of Zebulun, 17 of Iſſachar, 24 of Aſher, 32 of Naphtali, 40 and of Dan. 49 The children of Iſrael give an inheritance to Joſhua.

AND the ſecond lot came forth to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families: and their inheritance was within the inheritance of the children of Judah.

2 And they had in their inheritance, Beer-ſheba, and Sheba, and Moladah,

3 And Hazar-ſhual, and Balah, and Azem,

4 And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,

5 And Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-ſuſah,

6 And Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen; thirteen cities and their villages:

7 Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Aſhan; four cities and their villages:

8 And all the villages that were round about theſe cities, to Baalath-beer, Ramath of the ſouth. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families.

9 Out of the portion of the children of Judah was the inheritance of the children of Simeon, for the part of the children of Judah was too much for them: therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within the inheritance of them.

10 ¶ And the third lot came up for the children of Zebulun, according to their families: and the border of their inheritance was unto Sarid:

11 And their border went up toward the ſea, and Maralah, and reached to Dabbaſheth, and reached to the river that is before Jokneam;

12 And turned from Sarid eaſtward toward the ſunriſing, unto the border of Chiſloth-tabor, and then goeth out to Daberath, and goeth up to Japhia,

13 And from thence paſſeth on along on the eaſt to Gittah-hepher, to Ittah-kazin, and goeth out to Rimmon-methoar to Neah;

14 And the border compaſſeth it on the north ſide to Hannathon; and the out-goings thereof are in the valley of Jiphthah-el:

15 And Kattah, and Nahallal, and Shimron, and Idalah, and Bethlehem: twelve cities with their villages.

16 This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun, according to their families, theſe cities, with their villages.

17 ¶ And the fourth lot came out to Iſſachar, for the children of Iſſachar, according to their families.

18 And their border was toward Jezreel, and Cheſulloth, and Shunem,

19 And Haphraim, and Shihon, and Anaharath,

20 And Rabbith, and Kiſhion, and Abez,

21 And Remeth, and En-gannim, and En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez:

22 And the coaſt reacheth to Tabor, and Shahazimah, and Beth-ſhemeſh; and the out-goings of their border were at Jordan: ſixteen cities with their villages.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, according to their families, the cities and their villages.

To Benjamin, one, in which the temple was afterwards built. Zebulun and Iſſachar had plenty of ſea-ports. Ephraim and Manaſſeh had a land ſtored with precious fruits. Simeon and Levi had no particular countries; the former having a portion with Judah, and the other being interſperſed among the ſeveral tribes. Hence we cannot but acknowledge the divine inſpiration in theſe predictions, and the divine direction in theſe lots.

24 And Gaba.) This city is often mentioned in ſcripture under the name of Gibeah, and was the birth-place of Saul, and thence called Gibeah of Saul, 1 Sam. x. 26.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 And the ſecond lot came forth to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon.) Both the Septuagint and Vulgate tranſlations omit the latter part of theſe words, which they conſider as ſuperfluous. But this repetition ſeems to indicate, that though their inheritance was included in that of Judah, yet thoſe cities were not the whole that were given to this tribe, but they had another ſhare by lot.

24 ¶ And the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Aſher, according to their families.

25 And their border was Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achſhaph,

26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Miſheal; and reacheth to Carmel weſtward, and to Shihor-libnath,

27 And turneth toward the ſun-riſing to Beth-dagon, and reacheth to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphtath-el, toward the north ſide of Beth-emek, and Neiel, and goeth out to Cabul on the left hand;

28 And Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, even unto great Zidon;

29 And then the coaſt turneth to Ramah, and to the ſtrong city Tyre, and the coaſt turneth to Hoſah; and the outgoings thereof are at the ſea, from the coaſt to Achzib:

30 Ummah alſo, and Aphek, and Rehob: twenty and two cities with their villages.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Aſher, according to their families, theſe cities with their villages.

32 ¶ The ſixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, even for the children of Naphtali, according to their families.

33 And their coaſt was from Heleph, from Allon to Zaanannim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel, unto Lakum; and the outgoings thereof were at Jordan:

34 And then the coaſt turneth weſtward to Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hakkoh, and reacheth to Zebulun on the ſouth ſide, and reacheth to Aſher on the weſt ſide, and to Judah upon Jordan toward the ſun-riſing.

35 And the fenced cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Hammath, Rakkath, and Cinnereth,

36 And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

37 And Kedeſh, and Edrei, and En-hazor,

38 And Iron, and Migdal-el, Horem, and Beth-anath, and Beth-ſhemeſh: nineteen cities with their villages.

39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, according to their families, the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ And the ſeventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families.

41 And the coaſt of their inheritance was Zorah, and Eſh-taol, and Ir-ſhemeſh,

42 And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

43 And Elon, and Thimnathah, and Ekron,

44 And Eltekeh, and Gibbethon, and Baalath,

45 And Jehud, and Bene-berak, and Gath-rimmon,

46 And Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border before Japho.

47 And the coaſt of the children of Dan went out too little for them: therefore the children of Dan went up to fight againſt Leſhem, and took it, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and poſſeſſed it, and dwelt therein, and called Leſhem, Dan, after the name of Dan their father.

48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families, theſe cities with their villages.

49 ¶ When they had made an end of dividing the land for inheritance by their coaſts, the children of Iſrael gave an inheritance to Joſhua the ſon of Nun among them:

50 According to the word of the Lord, they gave him the city which he aſked; even Timnath-ſerah, in mount Ephraim; and he built the city, and dwelt therein.

51 Theſe are the inheritances which Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael divided for an inheritance by lot, in Shiloh, before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. So they made an end of dividing the country.

CHAP. XX.

1 God commandeth, 7 and the Iſraelites appoint, ſix cities of refuge.

THE Lord alſo ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

2 Speak to the children of Iſrael ſaying, Appoint out for you cities of refuge, whereof I ſpake unto you by the hand of Moſes;

3 That the ſlayer that killeth any perſon unawares, and unwittingly, may flee thither: and they ſhall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.

4 And when he that doth flee unto one of thoſe cities ſhall ſtand at the entering of the gate of the city, and ſhall declare his cauſe in the ears of the elders of that city; they ſhall take him into the city unto them, and give him a place, that he may dwell among them.

5 And if the avenger of blood purſue after him, then they ſhall not deliver the ſlayer up into his hand; becauſe he ſmote his neighbour unwittingly, and hated him not before-time.

6 And he ſhall dwell in that city until he ſtand before the congregation for judgment, and until the death of the high-prieſt that ſhall be in thoſe days: then ſhall the ſlayer return, and come unto his own city, and unto his own houſe, unto the city from whence he fled.

7 ¶ And they appointed Kedeſh in Galilee in mount Naphtali, and Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba, (which is Hebron) in the mountain of Judah.

8 And on the other ſide Jordan, by Jericho eaſtward, they aſſigned Bezer in the wilderneſs upon the plain out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Baſhan out of the tribe of Manaſſeh.

9 Theſe were the cities appointed for all the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them, that whoſoever killeth any perſon at unawares might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he ſtood before the congregation.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Eight and forty cities given by lot out of the other tribes unto the Levites. 43 God gives the land and reſt to the inhabitants.

---

29 And to the ſtrong city Tyre.) The original word is Tzor, and ſignifies a rock, either from the city's being founded upon a rock, or from the ſtrength of its fortifications: It was not the Tyre ſo famous afterwards, that city not being then built, but another not far from Sidon; and ſeems to have been one of thoſe cities to which the Canaanites fled, when Joſhua invaded their country.

49 The children of Iſrael gave an inheritance to Joſhua.) How conſpicuous is the modeſty of this great man! He was content to ſtay for his inheritance till all the land was divided, and was then ſatisfied to receive his portion as a gift from thoſe he had before ſettled in the promiſed land.

Commentary on Chap. XX.

7 And they appointed Kadeſh, &c.) Theſe three cities were all ſituated on eminences, ſo that they might be ſeen at a great diſtance; and being diſperſed in ſeveral parts of the country, every one might enjoy the benefit of one or other of them: for Kadeſh was in the north, Hebron in the ſouth, and Shechem in the centre,

THEN came near the heads of the fathers of the Levites unto Eleazar the prieſt, and unto Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and unto the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael;

2 And they ſpake unto them at Shiloh, in the land of Canaan, ſaying, The Lord commanded, by the hand of Moſes, to give us cities to dwell in, with the ſuburbs thereof for our cattle.

3 And the children of Iſrael gave unto the Levites, out of their inheritance, at the commandment of the Lord, theſe cities and their ſuburbs.

4 And the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites: and the children of Aaron the prieſt which were of the Levites, had by lot out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin, thirteen cities.

5 And the reſt of the children of Kohath had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim, and out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, ten cities.

6 And the children of Gerſhon had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Iſſachar, and out of the tribe of Aſher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan, thirteen cities.

7 The children of Merari by their families had out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

8 And the children of Iſrael gave by lot unto the Levites theſe cities with their ſuburbs, as the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes.

9 And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, theſe cities which are here mentioned by name,

10 Which the children of Aaron being of the families of the Kohathites, who were of the children of Levi, had: for their's was the firſt lot.

11 And they gave them the city of Arba the father of Anak, which city is Hebron, in the hill-country of Judah, with the ſuburbs thereof round about it.

12 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof gave they to Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh for his poſſeſſion.

13 Thus they gave to the children of Aaron the prieſt, Hebron with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Libnah with her ſuburbs,

14 And Jattir with her ſuburbs, and Eſhtemoa with her ſuburbs,

15 And Holon with her ſuburbs, and Debir with her ſuburbs,

16 And Ain with her ſuburbs, and Juttah with her ſuburbs, and Beth-ſhemeſh with her ſuburbs; nine cities out of thoſe two tribes.

17 And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with her ſuburbs, Geba with her ſuburbs, 18 Anathoth with her ſuburbs, and Almon with her ſuburbs: four cities.

19 All the cities of the children of Aaron, the prieſts, were thirteen cities with their ſuburbs.

20 And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites, which remained of the children of Kohath, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe of Ephraim.

21 For they gave them Shechem with her ſuburbs in mount Ephraim, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Gezar with her ſuburbs, 22 And Kibzaim with her ſuburbs, and Beth-horon with her ſuburbs; four cities.

23 And out of the tribe of Dan, Eltekeh with her ſuburbs, Gibbethon with her ſuburbs, 24 Aijalon with her ſuburbs, Gath-rimmon with her ſuburbs; four cities.

25 And out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, Tanach with her ſuburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her ſuburbs; two cities;

26 All the cities were ten, with their ſuburbs, for the families of the children of Kohath that remained.

27 And unto the children of Gerſhon, of the families of the Levites, out of the other half-tribe of Manaſſeh, they gave Golan in Baſhan with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Beeſhterah with her ſuburbs: two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Iſſachar, Kiſhon with her ſuburbs, Dabareh with her ſuburbs, 29 Jarmuth with her ſuburbs, En-gannim with her ſuburbs: four cities.

30 And out of the tribe of Aſher, Miſhal with her ſuburbs, Abdon with her ſuburbs, 31 Helkath with her ſuburbs, and Rehob with her ſuburbs: four cities.

32 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedeſh in Galilee with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Hammoth-dor with her ſuburbs, and Kartan with her ſuburbs: three cities.

33 All the cities of the Gerſhonites, according to their families, were thirteen cities with their ſuburbs.

34 And unto the families of the children of Merari, the reſt of the Levites, out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with her ſuburbs, and Kartah with her ſuburbs, 35 Dimnah with her ſuburbs, Nahalal with her ſuburbs; four cities.

36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer with her ſuburbs, and Jahazah with her ſuburbs, 37 Kedemoth with her ſuburbs, and Mephaath with her ſuburbs; four cities.

38 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her ſuburbs; to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Mahanaim with her ſuburbs.

39 Heſhbon with her ſuburbs, Jazer with her ſuburbs; four cities in all.

40 So all the cities for the children of Merari by their families, which were remaining of the families of the Levites, were by their lot, twelve cities.

41 All the cities of the Levites within the poſſeſſion of the children of Iſrael were forty and eight cities with their ſuburbs.

42 Theſe cities were every one with their ſuburbs round about them. Thus were all theſe cities.

43 ¶ And the Lord gave unto Iſrael all the land which he ſware to give unto their fathers: and they poſſeſſed it, and dwelt therein.

44 And the Lord give them reſt round about, according to all that he ſware unto their fathers: and there ſtood not a man of all their enemies before them; the Lord delivered all their enemies into their hand.

45 There failed not ought of any good thing which

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

4 And the lot came out for the family of the Kohathites.) After the cities were appointed for the prieſts and Levites, they were divided by lot among the ſeveral families: and the firſt lot came out for the nobleſt family of the tribe of Levi y for Moſes and Aaron were deſcended from Kohath.

43 And the Lord gave unto Iſrael all the land which he ſware to give unto their fathers.) He gave them a right to the whole country, which was accordingly divided among them by lot, and he put them into the actual poſſeſſion of the greateſt part of it. This was exactly conformable to his promiſe; for they not being numerous enough to people the whole country at their firſt coming into it, he never intended to expel the old inhabitants at once, but by degrees, as is expreſsly ſaid, Exod. xxiii. 29. 30.

the

the Lord had ſpoken unto the houſe of Iſrael; all came to paſs.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The two tribes and half ſent home. 10 They build an altar of teſtimony in their journey. 11 Contention thereupon.

THEN Joſhua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh,

2 And ſaid unto them, Ye have kept all that Moſes the ſervant of the Lord commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you:

3 Ye have not left your brethren theſe many days unto this day, but have kept the charge of the commandment of the Lord your God.

4 And now the Lord your God hath given reſt unto your brethren, as he promiſed them: therefore now return ye and get ye unto your tents, and unto the land of your poſſeſſion, which Moſes the ſervant of the Lord gave you on the other ſide Jordan.

5 But take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law which Moſes the ſervant of the Lord charged you, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to ſerve him with all your heart and with all your ſoul.

6 So Joſhua bleſſed them and ſent them away. And they went unto their tents.

7 Now to the one half of the tribe of Manaſſeh Moſes had given poſſeſſion in Baſhan: but unto the other half thereof gave Joſhua among their brethren on this ſide Jordan weſtward. And when Joſhua ſent them away alſo unto their tents, then he bleſſed them.

8 And he ſpake unto them, ſaying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, with ſilver and with gold, and with braſs, and with iron: and with very much raiment: divide the ſpoil of your enemies with your brethren.

9 And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh returned, and departed from the children of Iſrael out of Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go unto the country of Gilead, to the land of their poſſeſſion, whereof they were poſſeſſed, according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

10 ¶ And when they came unto the borders of Jordan, that are in the land of Canaan, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, built there an altar by Jordan, a great altar to ſee to.

11 ¶ And the children of Iſrael heard ſay, Behold the children of Reuben and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, have built an altar over againſt the land of Canaan, in the borders of Jordan, at the paſſage of the children of Iſrael.

12 And when the children of Iſrael heard of it, the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael gathered themſelves together at Shiloh, to go up to war againſt them.

13 And the children of Iſrael ſent unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, into the land of Gilead, Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt.

14 And with him ten princes, of each chief houſe a prince, throughout all the tribes of Iſrael: and each one was an head of the houſe of their fathers, among the thouſands of Iſrael.

15 And they came unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, unto the land of Gilead, and they ſpake with them, ſaying, 16 Thus ſaith the whole congregation of the Lord, What treſpaſs is this that ye have committed againſt the God of Iſrael, to turn away this day from following the Lord, in that ye have builded you an altar, that ye might rebel this day againſt the Lord?

17 Is the iniquity of Peor too little for us, from which we are not cleanſed until this day, although there was a plague in the congregation of the Lord;

18 But that ye muſt turn away this day from following the Lord? and it will be, ſeeing ye rebel to-day againſt the Lord, that to-morrow he will be wroth with the whole congregation of Iſrael.

19 Notwithſtanding, if the land of your poſſeſſion be unclean, then paſs ye over unto the land of the poſſeſſion of the Lord, wherein the Lord's tabernacle dwelleth, and take poſſeſſion among us: but rebel not againſt the Lord, nor rebel againſt us, in building you an altar, beſide the altar of the Lord our God.

20 Did not Achan, the ſon of Zerah, commit a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Iſrael? and that man periſhed not alone in his iniquity.

21 Then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, anſwered, and ſaid unto the heads of the thouſands of Iſrael,

22 The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods, he knoweth, and Iſrael he ſhall know, if it be in rebellion, or if in tranſgreſſion againſt the Lord, (ſave us not this day,)

23 That we have built us an altar to turn from following the Lord, or if to offer thereon burnt-offering, or meat-offering, or if to offer peace-offerings thereon let the Lord himſelf require it:

24 And if we have not rather done it for fear of this thing, ſaying, In time to come your children might ſpeak unto our children, ſaying, What have ye to do with the Lord God of Iſrael?

25 For the Lord hath made Jordan a border between us and you; ye children of Reuben, and children of Gad, ye have no part in the Lord: ſo ſhall your

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

1 Then Joſhua called the Reubenites, &c.) The war being ended, and the Iſraelites ſettled in the land of Canaan, Joſhua called the two tribes and a half, who had accompanied their brethren as auxiliaries, from their poſſeſſions on the other ſide Jordan, and gave them an honourable diſmiſſion.

8 Return with much riches unto your tents, &c.) Part contentedly with your brethren; and laden with the ſpoils you have gotten in Canaan, return to the land of your inheritance on the other ſide Jordan. And let thoſe who ſtayed behind to defend your wives, your children, and your cattle, ſhare with you in the ſpoil you have taken.

10 A great altar to ſee to.) A large and lofty altar, that might be ſeen at a great diſtance. For being built by a whole body of a numerous people, they rendered it as ſtately and magnificent as poſſible. Perhaps they concluded, that, as it differed ſo eſſentially from that built by Moſes, their brethren on the other ſide Jordan would not ſuſpect that it was intended for ſacrifice.

13 And the children of Iſrael ſent unto the children of Reuben, &c.) Though they determined to chaſtiſe their brethren, in caſe they had really apoſtatiſed from the true religion: yet their zeal did not tranſport them ſo far as to fall upon them, before they were convinced of the truth of this apoſtacy, and therefore previouſly ſent a depudation to know the reaſon for their building ſuch an altar.

19 If the land of your poſſeſſion be unclean.) They imagined the Reubenites, &c. might think their land leſs holy for want of an altar, and ſuch a token of the Divine Preſence as there was in the tabernacle. For an opinion univerſally prevailed among the ancients, that thoſe countries and territories wherein no place was ſet apart for the worſhip of God, were unhallowed and unclean.

your children make our children ceaſe from fearing the Lord.

26 Therefore we ſaid, Let us now prepare to build us an altar: not for burnt-offering, nor for ſacrifice:

27 But that it may be a witneſs between us and you, and our generations after us, that we might do the ſervice of the Lord before him with our burnt-offerings, and with our ſacrifices, and with our peace-offerings; that your children may not ſay to our children in time to come, Ye have no part in the Lord.

28 Therefore ſaid we, that it ſhall be, when they ſhould ſo ſay to us, or to our generations in time to come, that we may ſay again, Behold, the pattern of the altar of the Lord, which our fathers made, not for burnt-offerings, nor for ſacrifices, but it is a witneſs between us and you.

29 God forbid that we ſhould rebel againſt the Lord, and turn this day from following the Lord, to build an altar for burnt-offerings, for meat-offerings, or for ſacrifices, beſides the altar of the Lord our God that is before his tabernacle.

30 And when Phinehas the prieſt, and the princes of the congregation, and heads of the thouſands of Iſrael which were with him, heard the words that the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the children of Manaſſeh ſpake, it pleaſed them.

31 And Phinehas, the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, ſaid unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of Manaſſeh, This day we perceive that the Lord is among us, becauſe ye have not committed this treſpaſs againſt the Lord: now ye have delivered the children of Iſrael out of the hand of the Lord.

32 ¶ And Phinehas, the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, and the princes, returned from the children of Reuben, and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, unto the land of Canaan, to the children of Iſrael and brought them word again.

33 And the thing pleaſed the children of Iſrael; and the children of Iſrael bleſſed God, and did not intend to go up againſt them in battle, to deſtroy the land wherein the children of Reuben and Gad dwelt.

34 And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, called the altar Ed: for it ſhall be a witneſs between us that the Lord is God.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Joſhua's exhortation before his death, 3 by former benefits, 5 by promiſes, 11 and by threatnings.

AND it came to paſs a long time after that the Lord had given reſt unto Iſrael, from all their enemies round about, that Joſhua waxed old, and ſtricken in age.

2 And Joſhua called for all Iſrael, and for their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and ſaid unto them, I am old, and ſtricken in age.

3 ¶ And ye have ſeen all that the Lord your God hath done unto all theſe nations becauſe of you: for the Lord your God is he that hath fought for you.

4 Behold, I have divided unto you by lot theſe nations that remain to be an inheritance for your tribes, from Jordan with all the nations that I have cut off, even unto the great ſea weſtward.

5 ¶ And the Lord your God, he ſhall expel them from before you, and drive them from out of your ſight; and ye ſhall poſſeſs their land, as the Lord your God hath promiſed unto you.

6 Be ye therefore very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moſes, that ye turn not aſide therefrom to the right hand or to the left:

7 That ye come not among theſe nations, theſe that remain among you; neither make mention of the name of their gods, nor cauſe to ſwear by them, neither ſerve them, nor bow yourſelves unto them:

8 But cleave unto the Lord your God, as ye have done unto this day.

9 For the Lord hath driven out from before you great nations and ſtrong: but as for you, no man hath been able to ſtand before you unto this day.

10 One man of you ſhall chaſe a thouſand: for the Lord your God, he it is that fighteth for you, as he hath promiſed you.

11 Take good heed, therefore unto yourſelves, that ye love the Lord your God.

12 Elſe if ye do in any wiſe go back and cleave unto the remnant of theſe nations, even theſe that remain among you, and ſhall make marriages with them, and go in unto them, and they to you;

13 Know for a certainty, that the Lord your God will no more drive out any of theſe nations from before you: but they ſhall be ſnares and traps unto you, and ſcourges in your ſides, and thorns in your eyes, until ye periſh from off this good land which the Lord your God hath given you.

14 And behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth: and ye know in all your hearts, and in all your ſouls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God ſpake concerning you: all are come to paſs unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof.

15 Therefore it ſhall come to paſs, that as all good things are come upon you which the Lord your God promiſed you; ſo ſhall the Lord bring upon you all vil things, until he have deſtroyed you from off this good land which the Lord your God hath given unto you.

16 When ye have tranſgreſſed the covenant of the Lord your God, which he commanded you, and have gone and ſerved other gods, and bowed yourſelves to them; then ſhall the anger of the Lord be kindled againſt you, and ye ſhall periſh from off the good land which he hath given unto you.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Joſhua aſſembling the tribes, 2 relateth God's benefits. 14 He reneweth a covenant between them and God. 29 His death.

AND Joſhua gathered all the tribes of Iſrael to Shechem, and called for the elders of Iſrael, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers; and they preſented themſelves before God.

31 This day we perceive that the Lord is among us, &c.) His heart overflowed with gladneſs when he found that the children of Reuben, &c. had not forſaken the God of their fathers.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

2 Joſhua called for all Iſrael.) This great general, finding the time of his death approaching, called a general aſſembly of the princes and magiſtrates, and as many of the common people as could be got together on this occaſion, and in a very tender and affectionate manner, exhorted them, in gratitude to the Great Diſpoſer of all things, to a faithful obſervance of his laws; promiſing them all the happineſs they could wiſh, in caſe they obeyed the Lord; and denouncing the greateſt evils, if they turned their backs to his precepts.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

1 And Joſhua gathered all the tribes of Iſrael.) It is likely that Joſhua, living longer than he expected when he made the forego-

2 And

2 ¶ And Joshua said unto all the people, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Your fathers dwelt on the other side of the flood in old time, even Terah the father of Abraham and the father of Nahor: and they served other gods.

3 And I took your father Abraham from the other side of the flood, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac.

4 And I gave unto Isaac, Jacob and Esau: and I gave unto Esau mount Seir, to possess it; but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.

5 I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, according to that which I did among them: and afterward I brought you out.

6 And I brought your fathers out of Egypt: and ye came unto the sea; and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the Red sea.

7 And when they cried unto the Lord, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them: and your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt. And ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 And I brought you into the land of the Amorites which dwelt on the other side Jordan; and they fought with you: and I gave them into your hand, that ye might possess their land, and I destroyed them from before you.

9 Then Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab arose and warred against Israel, and sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you:

10 But I would not hearken unto Balaam; therefore he blessed you still: so I delivered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho: and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I delivered them into your hand.

12 And I sent the hornet before you, which drave them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites; but not with thy sword nor with thy bow.

13 And I have given you a land for which ye did not labour, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them: of the vineyards and olive yards which ye planted not, do ye eat.

14 ¶ Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt; and serve ye the Lord.

15 And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served, that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.

16 And the people answered, and said, God forbid that we should forsake the Lord, to serve other gods.

17 For the Lord our God, he it is that brought us up, and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and which did those great signs in our sight, and preserved us in all the way wherein we went, and among all the people through whom we passed:

18 And the Lord drave out from before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the Lord: for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the Lord; for he is an holy God: he is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins.

20 If ye forsake the Lord, and serve strange gods, then he will turn and do you hurt, and consume you, after that he hath done you good.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay; but we will serve the Lord.

22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against yourselves, that ye have chosen you the Lord to serve him. And they said, We are witnesses.

23 Now therefore put away, said he, the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the Lord God of Israel.

24 And the people said unto Joshua, the Lord our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem.

26 And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone, and set it up there under an oak that was by the sanctuary of the Lord.

27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us; for it hath heard all the words of the Lord which he spake unto us: it shall be therefore a witness unto you, lest ye deny your God.

28 So Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-serah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaash.

31 And Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that overlived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the Lord that he had done for Israel.

32 And the bones of Joseph which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem for an hundred pieces of silver: and it became the inheritance of the children of Joseph.

33 And Eleazar the son of Aaron died; and they buried him in a hill that pertained to Phinehas his son, which was given him in mount Ephraim.

ing speech to them, called the people together once more, to give them some farther advice, before his pious soul quited her tabernacle of clay. Perhaps it was his usual custom to call them often together, and put them in mind of their duty; though none of these exhortations are recorded, except the two last, which he delivered in the latter part of his life.

3 And I took your father Abraham from the other side the flood.) From that idolatrous country where he was born and educated. This is mentioned as a singular obligation on the Israelites to adhere unto God, who singled out the father of their families, so many ages since, to be his worshipper.

15 But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.) If all the great and gracious acts of the Lord cannot prevail upon you to serve him and obey his laws, your conduct shall have no effect upon me, or any under my particular care: we will constantly serve the God of Jacob, and under the shadow of his wings will we rejoice.

27 This stone shall be a witness unto us; for it hath heard all the words of the Lord.) That is, all the words of the covenant between God and them; which being renewed before that stone, it is said, by an elegant figure, to have heard what was spoken, because it would remain to testify and declare to all posterity the engagements that lay upon them.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is called by the name of Judges, becauſe it relates to the ſtate of the Iſraelites under the adminiſtration of many illuſtrious perſons, raiſed by God upon ſpecial occaſions, after the death of Joſhua, till the time of making a king. They were to judge, that is to be both the civil and military governors of the people.

The author of this book is abſolutely unknown: ſome aſcribe it to Samuel, ſome to Hezekiah, and others to Ezra. Some conceive that every judge wrote his own memoirs, which were collected by Samuel or Ezra. This book contains an hiſtory of about three hundred years.

CHAP. I.

1 The acts of Judah and Simeon. 6 Adoni-bezek juſtly requited. 8 Jeruſalem, 10 and Hebron taken.

NOW, after the death of Joſhua, it came to paſs, that the children of Iſrael aſked the Lord, ſaying, Who ſhall go up for us againſt the Canaanites firſt, to fight againſt them?

2 And the Lord ſaid, Judah ſhall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Judah ſaid unto Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight againſt the the Canaanites, and I likewiſe will go with thee into thy lot. So Simeon went with him.

4 And Judah went up; and the Lord delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand: and they ſlew of them in Bezek ten thouſand men.

5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek; and they fought againſt him, and they ſlew the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

6 ¶ But Adoni-bezek fled: and they purſued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Adoni-bezek ſaid, Threeſcore and ten kings, having their thumbs and their great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table: as I have done, ſo God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jeruſalem, and there he died.

8 ¶ (Now the children of Judah had fought againſt Jeruſalem, and had taken it, and ſmitten it with the edge of the ſword, and ſet the city on fire.)

9 And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight againſt the Canaanities that dwelt in the mountain, and in the ſouth, and in the valley.

10 ¶ And Judah went againſt the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron, (now the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba) and they ſlew Sheſhai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.

11 And from thence he went againſt the inhabitants of Debir: (and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-ſepher:)

12 And Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjath-ſepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achſah my daughter to wife.

13 And Othniel, the ſon of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took it: and he gave him Achſah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to paſs, when ſhe came to him, that ſhe moved him to aſk of her father a field: and ſhe lighted from off her aſs; and Caleb ſaid unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And ſhe ſaid unto him, Give me a bleſſing: for thou haſt given me a ſouth land, give me alſo ſprings of water. And Caleb gave her the upper ſprings and the nether ſprings.

16 And the children of the Kenite, Moſes' father-in-law, went up out of the city of palm-trees, with the children of Judah, into the wilderneſs of Judah, which lieth in the ſouth of Arad; and they went and dwelt among the people.

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Now after the death of Joſhua.) As we read of no perſon being appointed by Joſhua to ſucceed him in the government, it is probable that every tribe was ruled by their own elders, who were their commanders in the wars they made with the Canaanites; which government laſted about thirty years.

6 And cut off his thumbs and great toes.) That he might be rendered incapable of making war for the future; being unable to handle arms from the loſs of his thumbs, and to run ſwiftly from that of his great toes. For it muſt be remembered, that in thoſe early ages it was one of the noble qualities of a warrior to run ſwiftly.

12 And Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjath-ſepher, &c.) The ſubſtance of this and the following verſes are inſerted in the book of Joſhua, chap. xv. 16, &c. where the portion of Judah being deſcribed, particular mention is made of the inheritance of Caleb, and how he diſpoſed of it; which relation ſeems to have been taken out of this book, and inſerted there by ſome ſacred writer, who reviſed them, probably by Ezra, for the fuller illuſtration of all that belonged to that tribe, whether by lot or peculiar donation, before the diviſion of the land; for it is ſufficiently evident, that the deſcription of Judah's lot is entirely coherent, if all between the twelfth and twentieth verſes had been omitted. And it is abundantly plain, from the whole narration inſerted here, that theſe tranſactions did not happen till after the death of Joſhua.

17 And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they ſlew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly deſtroyed it: (and the name of the city was called Hormah:)

18 Alſo Judah took Gaza with the coaſt thereof, and Aſkelon with the coaſt thereof, and Ekron with the coaſt thereof.

19 And the Lord was with Judah, and he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, becauſe they had chariots of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as Moſes ſaid: and he expelled thence the three ſons of Anak.

21 And the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebuſites that inhabited Jeruſalem: but the Jebuſites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jeruſalem unto this day.

22 And the houſe of Joſeph, they alſo went up againſt Beth-el: and the Lord was with them.

23 And the houſe of Joſeph ſent to deſcry Beth-el. Now the name of the city before was Luz.

24 And the ſpies ſaw a man come forth out of the city, and they ſaid unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city, and we will ſhew thee mercy.

25 And when he ſhewed them the entrance into the city, they ſmote the city with the edge of the ſword: but they let go the man and all his family.

26 And the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a city, and called the name thereof Luz: which is the name thereof unto this day.

27 Neither did Manaſſeh drive out the inhabitants of Beth-ſhean and her towns, nor Taanach and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns: but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

28 And it came to paſs when Iſrael was ſtrong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute, and did not utterly drive them out.

29 Neither did Ephraim drive out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezar; but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezar among them.

30 Neither did Zebulun drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31 Neither did Aſher drive out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob:

32 But the Aſherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them out.

33 Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-ſhemeſh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath: but he dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: nevertheleſs, the inhabitants of Beth-ſhemeſh and of Beth-anath became tributaries unto them.

34 And the Amorites forced the children of Dan into the mountain: for they would not ſuffer them to come down to the valley.

35 But the Amorites would dwell in mount Heres, in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim: yet the hand of the houſe of Joſeph prevailed, ſo that they became tributaries, 36 And the coaſt of the Amorites was from the going up to Akrabbim, from the rock, and upwards.

CHAP. II.

1 An angel rebuketh the people at Bochim. 6 The wickedneſs of the new generation after Joſhua. 14, 20 Their puniſhment.

AND an angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and ſaid, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I ſware unto your fathers: and I ſaid, I will never break my covenant with you.

2 And ye ſhall make no league with the inhabitants of this land: ye ſhall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice; why have ye done this?

3 Wherefore I alſo ſaid, I will not drive them out from before you; but they ſhall be as thorns in your ſides, and their gods ſhall be a ſnare unto you.

4 And it came to paſs, when the angel of the Lord ſpake theſe words unto all the children of Iſrael, that the people lifted up their voice, and wept.

5 And they called the name of that place Bochim: and they ſacrificed there unto the Lord.

6 ¶ And when Joſhua had let the people go, the children of Iſrael went every man unto his inheritance to poſſeſs the land.

7 And the people ſerved the Lord all the days of Joſhua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joſhua, who had ſeen all the great works of the Lord that he did for Iſrael.

8 And Joſhua, the ſon of Nun, the ſervant of the Lord, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

9 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the mount of Ephraim, on the north ſide of the hill Gaaſh.

10 And alſo all that generation were gathered unto their fathers: and there aroſe another generation after them, which knew not the Lord, nor yet the works

24 Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city.) That is, ſhew us the weakeſt part of the city, or where it may be attacked with the greateſt advantage; for they had no reaſon to enquire the way to the gate, that being common and plain enough to be found without any difficulty.

Commentary on Chap. II.

1 And the angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to Bochim, &c.) Bochim was not the name of the place, but given it on this occaſion: probably it was Shiloh; for that was the only place where the Iſraelites then aſſembled. The Jews are generally of opinion, that by this angel we are to underſtand a prophet, who was ſent by God as a meſſenger, which the word often imports: and this meſſenger they commonly ſuppoſe to have been Phinehas, who was employed upon this errand. But I can ſee no reaſon for departing from the uſual ſignification of the word, eſpecially when there is no abſurdity in it, and the ſenſe of the context ſeems to require our retaining it. Nay, there is ſufficient reaſon to ſay, that the perſon who here reproves the Iſraelites was ſomething more that a created angel; for who but God can ſpeak in this ſtile, I made you to go out of Egypt? No prophet, nor any created angel, would have ventered to have uſed ſo bold an expreſſion: and therefore chriſtian interpreters have ſufficient reaſon to conclude, that it was the ſon of God, who is frequently ſtiled in ſcripture the angel of the covenant. And ſurely it was now fit for him to appear as coming from Gilgal, to put them in mind of his illuſtrious appearance near that place once before, of the aſſurance he then gave them of his preſence and protection in the conqueſt of the land, and of the ſolemn covenant he made with them by the renewing of circumciſion. The angel's coming up from Gilgal is therefore mentioned as a very pertinent circumſtance, to upbraid the Iſraelites with their baſe ingratitude to God, and with their ſloth in not endeavouring to expel the Canaanites.

10 All that generation were gathered to their fathers.) By that generation muſt be underſtood not only thoſe who had ſeen the mighty works of God in Egypt, the Red-ſea, and the wilderneſs: but alſo thoſe who had ſeen the waters of Jordan dried up, the walls of Jericho fall down, the ſun ſtand ſtill at the word of Joſhua, and their enemies deſtroyed by the miraculous hail-ſtorm. For theſe aſtoniſhing works had made ſo deep an impreſſion on their hearts, that moſt of them continued in the ſervice of God till death put a period to their exiſtence here, and taught others to be obedient to the mighty God of Jacob.

which he had done for Iſrael.

11 And the children of Iſrael did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and ſerved Baalim.

12 And they forſook the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, of the gods of the people that were round about them; and bowed themſelves unto them, and provoked the Lord to anger.

13 And they forſook the Lord, and ſerved Baal and Aſhtaroth.

14 ¶ And the anger of the Lord was hot againſt Iſrael, and he delivered them into the hands of ſpoilers that ſpoiled them, and he ſold them into the hands of their enemies round about, ſo that they could not any longer ſtand before their enemies.

15 Witherſoever they went out, the hand of the Lord was againſt them for evil, as the Lord had ſaid, and as the Lord had ſworn unto them: and they were greatly diſtreſſed.

16 Nevertheleſs, the Lord raiſed up judges, which delivered them out of the hand of thoſe that ſpoiled them.

17 And yet they would not hearken unto their judges, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themſelves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the Lord; but they did not ſo.

18 And when the Lord raiſed them up judges, then the Lord was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge; for it repented the Lord becauſe of their groanings by reaſon of them that oppreſſed them and vexed them.

19 And it came to paſs when the judge was dead, that they returned, and corrupted themſelves more than their fathers, in following other gods to ſerve them, and to bow down unto them; they ceaſed not from their own doings, nor from their ſtubborn way.

20 ¶ And the anger of the Lord was hot againſt Iſrael: and he ſaid, Becauſe that this people hath tranſgreſſed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto my voice;

21 I alſo will not henceforth drive out any from before them of the nations which Joſhua left when he died:

22 That through them I may prove Iſrael, whether they will keep the way of the Lord, to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not.

23 Therefore the Lord left thoſe nations, without driving them out haſtily: neither delivered he them into the hand of Joſhua.

CHAP. III.

1 The nations left to prove Iſrael. 5 By communion with them they committed idolatry. 8 Of Othniel, 12 Ehud, 31 Shamgar.

NOW theſe are the nations which the Lord left to prove Iſrael by them, even as many of Iſrael as had not known all the wars of Canaan;

2 Only that the generations of the children of Iſrael might know to teach them war, at the leaſt, ſuch as before knew nothing thereof;

3 Namely, five lords of the Philiſtines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites that dwell in mount Lebanon, from mount Baal-hermon unto the entering in of Hamath.

4 And they were to prove Iſrael by them, to know whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the Lord, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moſes.

5 ¶ And the children of Iſrael dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebuſites.

6 And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their ſons, and ſerved their gods.

7 And the children of Iſrael did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and forgat the Lord their God, and ſerved Baalim, and the groves.

8 ¶ Therefore the anger of the Lord was hot againſt Iſrael, and he ſold them into the hand of Cuſhan-riſhathaim king of Meſopotamia; and the children of Iſrael ſerved Cuſhan-riſhathaim eight years.

9 And when the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord, the Lord raiſed up a deliverer unto the children of Iſrael, who delivered them, even Othniel the ſon of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother.

10 And the ſpirit of the Lord came upon him, and he judged Iſrael, and went out to war: and the Lord delivered Cuſhan-riſhathaim king of Meſopatamia into his hand; and his hand prevailed againſt Cuſhan-riſhathaim.

11 And the land had reſt forty years. And Othniel the ſon of Kenaz died.

12 ¶ And the children of Iſrael did evil again in the ſight of the Lord: and the Lord ſtrengthened Eglon king of Moab againſt Iſrael, becauſe they had done evil in the ſight of the Lord.

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon and Amalek, and went and ſmote Iſrael, and poſſeſſed the city of palm-trees.

14 So the children of Iſrael ſerved Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord, the Lord raiſed them up a deliverer, Ehud the ſon of Gera a Benjaminite, a man left-handed: and by him the children of Iſrael ſent a preſent unto Eglon the king of Moab.

16 But Ehud made him a dagger which had two edges, of a cubit length; and he did gird it under his his raiment upon his right thigh.

17 And he brought the preſent unto Eglon king of Moab. And Eglon was a very fat man.

18 And when he had made an end to offer the preſent, he ſent away the people that bare the preſent.

19 But he himſelf turned again from the quarries that were by Gilgal, and ſaid, I have a ſecret errand unto thee, O king: who ſaid, Keep ſilence. And all 14 And he ſold them into the hands of their enemies round about.) Who, after ſtripping them of their goods and cattle, carried away their perſons, and ſold them for ſlaves. This was a juſt puniſhment upon this perverſe and ſtiff-necked people: God had long ſince declared, that if they ſerved the gods of the people that were round about them, they ſhould be ſlaves to thoſe nations whoſe gods they worſhipped.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

2 Only that the generations of the children of Iſrael might know to teach them war.) This is another reaſon why ſome of the ancient inhabitants were ſuffered to remain; and this was indeed ſufficient, had there been no other: for this kept the Iſraelites from growing ſluggiſh and careleſs, having powerful enemies ſurrounding them, to awaken and exerciſe their courage, and make them careful to keep up a martial diſcipline among them: and, at the ſame time, be induced to have frequent recourſe to God for his favour and aſſiſtance, by whoſe power alone their fathers had reduced them.

9 And the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord.) That is, they forſook their idolatrous worſhip, and returned to that of the Lord their God, earneſtly begging pardon for their tranſgreſſions, and imploring his aſſiſtance with fervent prayers, that they might be delivered from this cruel ſervitude, as Jacob their anceſtor was from the bondage of Laban the Syrian.

that ſtood by him went out from him.

20 And Ehud came unto him; and he was ſitting in a ſummer-parlour, which he had for himſelf alone. And Ehud ſaid, I have a meſſage from God unto thee. And he aroſe out of his ſeat.

21 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thruſt it into his belly.

22 And the haft alſo went in after the blade; and the fat cloſed upon the blade, ſo that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly; and the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud went forth through the porch, and ſhut the doors of the parlour upon him, and locked them.

24 When he was gone out, his ſervants came: and when they ſaw that, behold, the doors of the parlour were locked, they ſaid, Surely he covereth his feet in his ſummer chamber.

25 And they tarried till they were aſhamed; and behold, he opened not the doors of the parlour, therefore they took a key, and opened them: and behold, their lord was fallen down dead on the earth.

26 And Ehud eſcaped while they tarried; and paſſed beyond the quarries, and eſcaped unto Seirath.

27 And it came to paſs when he was come, that he blew a trumpet in the mountain of Ephraim, and the children of Iſrael went down with him from the mount and he before them.

28 And he ſaid unto them, Follow after me: for the Lord hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand: and they went down after him, and took the fords of Jordan toward Moab, and ſuffered not a man to paſs over.

29 And they ſlew of Moab at that time about ten thouſand men, all luſty, and all men of valour; and there eſcaped not a man.

30 So Moab was ſubdued that day under the hand of Iſrael. And the land had reſt fourſcore years.

31 ¶ And after him was Shamgar the ſon of Anath, which ſlew of the Philiſtines ſix hundred men with an ox goad; and he alſo delivered Iſrael.

CHAP. IV.

1 Deborah and Barak deliver Iſrael from Jabin and Siſera. 18 Jael killeth Siſera.

AND the children of Iſrael again did evil in the ſight of the Lord, when Ehud was dead.

2 And the Lord ſold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor; the captain of whoſe hoſt was Siſera, which dwelt in Haroſheth of the Gentiles,

3 And the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord: for he had nine hundred chariots of iron: and twenty years he mightily oppreſſed the children of Iſrael.

4 ¶ And Deborah, a propheteſs, the wife of Lapidoth, ſhe judged Iſrael at that time.

5 And ſhe dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el, in mount Ephraim; and the children of Iſrael came up to her for judgment.

6 And ſhe ſent and called Barak, the ſon of Abinoam, out of Kadeſh-naphtali, and ſaid unto him, Hath not the Lord God of Iſrael commanded, ſaying, Go and draw toward mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thouſand men of the children of Naphtali, and of the children of Zebulun?

7 And I will draw unto thee, to the river Kiſhon, Siſera the captain of Jabin's army, with his chariots, and his multitude; and I will deliver him into thine hand.

8 And Barak ſaid unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go.

9 And ſhe ſaid, I will ſurely go with thee: notwithſtanding the journey that thou takeſt ſhall not be for thine honour; for the Lord ſhall ſell Siſera into the hand of a woman. And Deborah aroſe, and went with Barak to Kedeſh.

10 ¶ And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedeſh, and he went up with ten thouſand men at his feet: and Deborah went up with him.

11 Now Heber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab the father-in-law of Moſes, had ſevered himſelf from the Kenites, and pitched his tent unto the plain of Zaanaim, which is by Kedeſh.

12 And they ſhewed Siſera, that Barak the ſon of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

13 And Siſera gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Haroſheth of the Gentiles, unto the river of Kiſhon.

14 And Deborah ſaid unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the Lord hath delivered Siſera into thine hand: is not the Lord gone out before thee? So Barak went down from mount Tabor, and ten thouſand men after him.

15 And the Lord diſcomfited Siſera, and all his chariots, and all his hoſt with the edge of the ſword before Barak; ſo that Siſera lighted down off his chariot, 19 The quarries that were in Gilgal.) Some, by the word quarries, underſtand a place where they digged ſtones; others, the ſtones which Joſhua placed in Gilgal. But the Septuagint and Vulgate render it graven images, which is indeed the meaning of the word Peſil in ſeveral places of ſcripture. Perhaps the Moabites might erect their idols here rather than in any other place, becauſe it had been formerly famous for the preſence of God; and probably it was this affront offered by the Moabites to Jehovah, that inſpired Ehud with the reſolution of revenging the affront, and delivering his people from the ſlavery under which they had long groaned.

28 The Lord hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand.) He was aſſured that God, who had aſſiſted him to perform his enterprize, whereby the Moabites were deprived of their head, would accompliſh what he had began, and give them a perfect deliverance. But it was not enough that he himſelf was ſatisfied of this: it was neceſſary to inſpire the people with the ſame ſentiments; for he well knew that this would give them ſuch courage and reſolution as could not be withſtood.

31 Which ſlew of the Philiſtines ſix hundred men with an ox-goad.) The goads uſed in this country were of an extraordinary ſize. Mr. Maundrel tells us, that he meaſured ſeveral, and found them about eight feet long, and, at the larger end, ſix inches in circumference. "They were, adds he, armed at the leſſer end with a ſharp prickle for driving the oxen, and at the other end with a ſmall ſpade or paddle of iron, ſtrong and maſſy for cleanſing the plough from the clay that encumbers it." Hence we ſee, that the goad uſed by Shamgar, which was doubtleſs of this kind, was far from being an improper inſtrument, as many through ignorance have repreſented it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

4 And Deborah, a propheteſs, the wife of Lapidoth, ſhe judged Iſrael at that time.) The words of prophet and propheteſs are of very ambiguous ſignification in the Old Teſtament: ſometimes they denote perſons extraordinarily inſpired by God, and endued with the power of working miracles, and foretelling things to come; and ſometimes endued with ſpecial, though not miraculous gifts or graces, for the better underſtanding and explaining the word of God; and of this ſort were the ſons of the prophets, or ſuch as were brought up in the ſchools of the prophets. As therefore we read of no miraculous action that Deborah did, ſhe was, perhaps, only a woman of eminent holineſs, prudence, and knowledge of the holy ſcriptures, by which ſhe was ſingularly qualified to judge the people; that is, to determine cauſes and controverſies among them, according to the laws of God. Her name, in Hebrew, ſignifies a bee.

and fled away on his feet.

16 But Barak purſued after the chariots, and after the hoſt, unto Haroſheth of the Gentiles: and all the hoſt of Siſera fell upon the edge of the ſword; and there was not a man left.

17 Howbeit, Siſera fled away on his feet to the tent of Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite: for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the houſe of Heber the Kenite.

18 And Jael went out to meet Siſera, and ſaid unto him, Turn in, my lord, turn in to me; fear not: and when he had turned in unto her into the tent, ſhe covered him with a mantle.

19 And he ſaid unto her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water to drink; for I am thirſty. And ſhe opened a bottle of milk, and gave him drink, and covered him.

20 Again he ſaid unto her, Stand in the door of the tent, and it ſhall be when any man doth come and enquire of thee, and ſay, Is there any man here? that thou ſhalt ſay, No.

21 Then Jael Heber's wife took a nail of the tent, and took an hammer in her hand, and went ſoftly unto him, and ſmote the nail into his temples, and faſtened it into the ground; for he was faſt aſleep and weary. So he died.

22 And behold, as Barak purſued Siſera, Jael came out to meet him, and ſaid unto him, Come and I will ſhew thee the man whom thou ſeekeſt. And when he came into her tent, behold, Siſera lay dead, and the nail was in his temples.

23 So God ſubdued on that day Jabin the king of Canaan before the children of Iſrael.

24 And the hand of the children of Iſrael proſpered and prevailed againſt Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had deſtroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

CHAP. V.

The ſong of Deborah and Barak.

THEN ſang Deborah, and Barak the ſon of Abinoam, on that day, ſaying,

2 Praiſe ye the Lord for the avenging of Iſrael, when the people willingly offered themſelves.

3 Hear, O ye kings, give ear, O ye princes; I, even I, will ſing unto the Lord, I will ſing praiſe to the Lord God of Iſrael.

4 Lord, when thou wenteſt out of Seir, when thou marchedſt out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds alſo dropped water.

5 The mountains melted from before the Lord, even that Sinai, from before the Lord God of Iſrael.

6 In the days of Shamgar the ſon of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were unoccupied, and the travellers walked through bye-ways.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceaſed, they ceaſed in Iſrael, until that I Deborah aroſe, that I aroſe a mother in Iſrael.

8 They choſe new gods; then was war in the gates: was there a ſhield or a ſpear ſeen among forty thouſand in Iſrael?

9 My heart is toward the governors of Iſrael, that offered themſelves willingly among the people: Bleſs ye the Lord.

10 Speak ye that ride on white aſſes, ye that ſit in judgment, and walk by the way.

11 They that are delivered from the noiſe of archers in the places of drawing water; there ſhall they rehearſe the righteous acts of the Lord, even the righteous acts towards the inhabitants of his villages in Iſrael: then ſhall the people of the Lord go down to the gates.

12 Awake, awake, Deborah: awake, awake, utter a ſong: ariſe, Barak, and lead thy captivity captive, thou ſon of Abinoam.

13 Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people: the Lord made me have dominion over the mighty.

14 Out of Ephraim was there a root of them againſt Amelek; after thee, Benjamin, among thy people: out of Machir came down governors, and out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer.

15 And the princes of Iſſachar were with Deborah; even Iſſachar, and alſo Barak: he was ſent on foot into the valley: For the diviſions of Reuben there were great thoughts of heart.

16 Why abodeſt thou among the ſheep-folds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks? for the diviſions of Reuben there were great ſearchings of heart.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan: and why did Dan remain in ſhips? Aſher continued on the ſea-ſhore, and abode in his breaches.

18 Zebulun and Naphtali were a people that jeoparded their lives unto the death in the high places of the field.

19 The kings came and fought, then fought the kings of Canaan in Taanach by the waters of Megiddo: they took no gain of money.

20 They fought from heaven: the ſtars in their courſes fought againſt Siſera.

21 The river of Kiſhon ſwept them away, that ancient river, the river Kiſhon: O my ſoul thou haſt trodden down ſtrength.

22 Then were the horſe hoofs broken by the means of the pranſings, the pranſings of their mighty ones.

23 Curſe ye Meroz, ſaid the angel of the Lord, curſe ye bitterly the inhabitants thereof: becauſe they came not to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord againſt the mighty.

24 Bleſſed above women ſhall Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite be, bleſſed ſhall ſhe be above women

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

1 Then ſang Deborah and Barak.) This ſong was compoſed by Deborah, and commanded to be ſung by Barak; for it muſt not be ſuppoſed that Deborah and Barak performed it alone, but with all the elders of Iſrael, who were called together to ſing it with them.

3 Hear, O ye kings, give ear, O ye princes.) She calls upon the neighbouring potentates to liſten attentively to her ſong, which would teach them what God had done for Iſrael, and admoniſh them how they ventured to oppreſs the Hebrews when it was in their power, leſt the ſame vengeance overtook them as had lately been hurled on the head of Jabin king of Canaan.

10 Ye that ride on white aſſes.) There were no horſes in Judah but what were purchaſed in other countries, ſo that every one rode on aſſes; but thoſe of a whitiſh colour being highly eſteemed, were uſed only by honourable perſons, and upon thoſe ſhe calls to proclaim aloud the praiſes of their God.

11 They are delivered from the noiſe of archers in the places of drawing water.) She calls upon the ſhepherds alſo to join in the praiſes of Jehovah every time they came to water their flocks, as they could now with ſafety lead their thirſty cattle to the ſprings of water, where, before this deliverance, the archers, who lurked in the adjacent woods, ſhot whole quivers of arrows at them.

20 They fought from heaven.) But on the other ſide, God fought for the Iſraelites, by ſending thunder and lightening, and hail-ſtones from heaven upon the Canaanites.

The ſtars in their courſes fought againſt Siſera.) The angels of heaven, who are called ſtars, Job xxxvii. 7.

21 O my ſoul, thou haſt trodden down ſtrength.) This is an elegant apoſtrophe to herſelf; whoſe happineſs ſhe applauds, in beholding the enemies of her country vanquiſhed by the commiſſion ſhe gave Barak from God, and by her prayers for his ſucceſs.

in the tent.

25 He aſked water, and ſhe gave him milk; ſhe brought forth butter in a lordly diſh.

26 She put her hand to the nail, and her right hand to the workman's hammer: and with the hammer ſhe ſmote Siſera; ſhe ſmote off his head, when ſhe had pierced and ſtricken through his temples.

27 At her feet he bowed, he fell, he lay down: at her feet he bowed, he fell: where he bowed, there he fell down dead.

28 The mother of Siſera looked out at a window, and cried through the lattice, Why is his chariot ſo long in coming? why tarry the wheels of his chariots?

29 Her wiſe ladies anſwered her; yea ſhe returned anſwer to herſelf,

30 Have they not ſped? have they not divided the prey, to every man a damſel or two? to Siſera a prey of divers colours, a prey of divers colours of needle-work, of divers colours of needle-work on both ſides, meet for the necks of them that take the ſpoil?

31 So let all thine enemies periſh, O Lord: but let them that love him be as the ſun when he goeth forth in his might. And the land had reſt forty years.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iſraelites for their ſin are oppreſſed by Midian. 7 A prophet rebuketh them. 11 Gideon delivereth them.

AND the children of Iſrael did evil in the ſight of the Lord: and the Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian ſeven years.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed againſt Iſrael: and becauſe of the Midianites the children of Iſrael made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves, and ſtrong holds.

3 And ſo it was, when Iſrael had ſown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the eaſt, even they came up againſt them.

4 And they encamped againſt them, and deſtroyed the increaſe of the earth, until thou come unto Gaza, and left no ſuſtenance for Iſrael, neither ſheep, nor ox, nor aſs.

5 For they came up with their cattle, and their tents, and they came as graſshoppers for multitude; for both they and their camels were without number: and they entered into the land to deſtroy it.

6 And Iſrael was greatly impoveriſhed becauſe of the Midianites: and the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs, when the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord, becauſe of the Midianites,

8 That the Lord ſent a prophet unto the children of Iſrael, which ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the houſe of bondage;

9 And I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppreſſed you, and drave them out from before you, and gave you their land.

10 And I ſaid unto you, I am the Lord your God: fear not the gods of the Amorites in whoſe land ye dwell: but ye have not obeyed my voice.

11 ¶ And there came an angel of the Lord and ſat under an oak, which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joaſh the Abi-ezrite: and his ſon Gideon threſhed wheat by the wine-preſs, to hide it from the Midianites.

12 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him, and ſaid unto him, The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valour.

13 And Gideon ſaid unto him, Oh, my lord! if the Lord be with us, why then is all this befallen us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, ſaying, Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt? but now the Lord hath forſaken us, and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.

14 And the Lord looked upon him, and ſaid, Go in this thy might, and thou ſhalt ſave Iſrael from the hand of the Midianites: have not I ſent thee?

15 And he ſaid unto him, Oh, my Lord, wherewith ſhall I ſave Iſrael? behold, my family is poor in Manaſſeh, and I am the leaſt in my father's houſe.

16 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou ſhalt ſmite the Midianites as one man.

17 And he ſaid unto him, If now I have found grace in thy ſight, then ſhew me a ſign that thou talkeſt with me.

18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my preſent, and ſet it before thee. And he ſaid, I will tarry until thou come again.

19 And Gideon went in, and made ready a kid, and unleavened cakes of an ephah of flour: the fleſh he put in a baſket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and preſented it.

20 And the angel of God ſaid unto him, Take the fleſh and the unleavened cakes, and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did ſo.

21 Then the angel of the Lord put forth the end of the ſtaff that was in his hand, and touched the fleſh and the unleavened cakes; and there roſe up fire out of the rock, and conſumed the fleſh and the unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the Lord departed out of his ſight.

22 And when Gideon perceived that he was an angel of the Lord, Gideon ſaid, Alas, O Lord God! for becauſe I have ſeen an angel of the Lord face to face.

23 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Peace be unto thee; fear not: thou ſhalt not die.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there unto the Lord, and called it Jehovah-ſhalom: unto this day it is yet in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

25 And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the Lord ſaid unto him, Take thy father's young bullock, even the ſecond bullock of ſeven years old, and throw down the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it;

26 And build an altar unto the Lord thy God upon the top of this rock, in the ordered place, and take the ſecond bullock, and offer a burnt-ſacrifice with the wood of the grove which thou ſhalt cut down.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his ſervants, and did as the Lord had ſaid unto him: and ſo it was, becauſe he feared his father's houſehold, and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day, that he did it by night.

30 To Siſera a prey of divers colours, &c.) Theſe were the richeſt part of the ſpoil, and ſo highly valued, that only the moſt honourable perſons were ſuffered to wear them; and hence they ſeem to be appropriated to Siſera, as his part of the ſpoil.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

1 And the Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian.) The Midianites were their old enemies, having joined with the Moabites to ſeduce the people to idolatry, when they encamped in the plains of Moab, and were, in a manner, utterly deſtroyed by the Iſraelites, Numb. xxxi.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there unto the Lord.) Not for ſacrifice: but as a monument of that heavenly viſion, and of the mercy promiſed to him, in that place where he built the altar; that is, where the angel ſtood.

28 And when the men of the city aroſe early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was caſt down, and the grove was cut down that was by it, and the ſecond bullock was offered upon the altar that was built.

29 And they ſaid one to another, Who hath done this thing? And when they enquired and aſked, they ſaid, Gideon, the ſon of Joaſh, hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the city ſaid unto Joaſh, Bring out thy ſon, that he may die: becauſe he hath caſt down the altar of Baal, and becauſe he hath cut down the grove that was by it.

31 And Joaſh ſaid unto all that ſtood againſt him, Will ye plead for Baal? will ye ſave him? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death, whilſt it is yet morning: if he be a god, let him plead for himſelf, becauſe one hath caſt down his altar.

32 Therefore on that day he called him Jerubbaal, ſaying, Let Baal plead againſt him, becauſe he hath thrown down his altar.

33 Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the children of the eaſt were gathered together, and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

34 But the Spirit of the Lord came upon Gideon, and he blew a trumpet; and Abiezer was gathered after him.

35 And he ſent meſſengers throughout all Manaſſeh, who alſo was gathered after him: and he ſent meſſengers unto Aſher, and unto Zebulun, and unto Naphtali; and they came up to meet them.

36 And Gideon ſaid unto God, If thou wilt ſave Iſrael by mine hand, as thou haſt ſaid, 37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the floor: and if the dew be on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the earth beſide, then ſhall I know that thou wilt ſave Iſrael by mine hand, as thou haſt ſaid.

38 And it was ſo: for he roſe up early on the morrow, and thruſt the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece, a bowl full of water.

39 And Gideon ſaid unto God, Let not thine anger be hot againſt me, and I will ſpeak but this once: let me prove, I pray thee, but this once with the fleece: let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew.

40 And God did ſo that night; for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

CHAP. VII.

1 Gideon's army. 9 He is encouraged by the dream and interpretation of the barley cake. 25 Oreb and Zeeb.

THEN Jerubbaal, who is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, roſe up early, and pitched beſide the well of Harod: ſo that the hoſt of the Midianites were on the north ſide of them by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2 And the Lord ſaid unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, leſt Iſrael vaunt themſelves againſt me, ſaying, Mine own hand hath ſaved me.

3 Now therefore, go to, proclaim in the ears of the people, ſaying, Whoſoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and depart early from mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty and two thouſand: and there remained ten thouſand.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto Gideon, The people are yet too many, bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there: and it ſhall be, that of whom I ſay unto thee, This ſhall go with thee, the ſame ſhall go with thee; and of whomſoever I ſay unto thee, This ſhall not go with thee, the ſame ſhall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water: and the Lord ſaid unto Gideon, Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue as a dog lappeth, him ſhalt thou ſet by himſelf: likewiſe every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink.

6 And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, were three hundred men: but all the reſt of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7 And the Lord ſaid unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I ſave you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets: and he ſent all the reſt of Iſrael, every man unto his tent, and retained thoſe three hundred men. And the hoſt of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the Lord ſaid unto him, Ariſe, get thee down unto the hoſt; for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But if thou fear to go down, go thou with Phurah thy ſervant down to the hoſt:

11 And thou ſhalt hear what they ſay; and afterwards ſhall thine hands be ſtrengthened to go down unto the hoſt. Then went he down with Phurah his ſervant, unto the outſide of the armed men that were in the hoſt.

12 And the Midianites and the Amalekites and all the children of the eaſt lay along in the valley like graſshoppers for multitude; and their camels were without number, as the ſand by the ſea-ſide for multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow, and ſaid, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the hoſt of Midian, and came unto a tent and ſmote it that it fell and overturned it, that the tent lay along.

14 And his fellow anſwered and ſaid, This is nothing elſe ſave the ſword of Gideon the ſon of Joaſh, a man of Iſrael: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all the hoſt.

37 If the dew be on the fleece only, &c.) He ſuppoſed that the dew which diſtilled from heaven was a divine gift (as the ſcripture often teſtifies) and therefore deſired of God, that though it commonly falls every where, it might now, by his extraordinary providence, water only his fleece. Some think he choſe a fleece of wool for this purpoſe, not only becauſe it was ready at hand, but the better to expreſs how the earth was ſhorn by the Midianites, as the ſheep had been by him. And when he begged the dew might fall on the fleece, it was to repreſent the kindneſs of God to him: and when he begged it might fall upon the whole ground, it repreſented his favour to all the people. And laſtly, theſe two miracles, oppoſite to each other, diſplay the ſtate of the Jewiſh nation, which was moiſtened with the dew of heaven, the knowledge of the Almighty, when the reſt of the world was dry; and now deprived of this benefit, when the reſt of the earth is filled with the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

5 Every one that lappeth water with his tongue, &c.) Commentators have been greatly perplexed to find a probable reaſon for God's making a diſtinction between the ſoldiers who lapped water with their hands, and thoſe who laid themſelves down to drink. But the true reaſon ſeems to be only this, that God intending to reduce Gideon's army to a very ſmall number, took this method of performing it; for as the ſeaſon of the year was hot, and the generality of the ſoldiers weary, faint, and thirſty, it was probable that moſt of them would lie down, as indeed they did, and refreſhed themſelves with large draughts of water.

15 And it was ſo, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream, and the interpretation thereof, that he worſhipped, and returned into the hoſt of Iſrael, and ſaid, Ariſe, for the Lord hath delivered into your hand the hoſt of Midian.

16 And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put a trumpet in every mans hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers.

17 And he ſaid unto them, Look on me, and do likewiſe: and, behold, when I come to the outſide of the camp, it ſhall be, that as I do, ſo ſhall ye do.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets alſo on every ſide of all the camp, and ſay, The ſword of the Lord, and of Gideon.

19 So Gideon, and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outſide of the camp, in the beginning of the middle watch; and they had but newly ſet the watch: and they blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow withal: and they cried, The ſword of the Lord, and of Gideon.

21 And they ſtood every man in his place round about the camp: and all the hoſt ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew the trumpets, and the Lord ſet every mans ſword againſt his fellow, even throughout all the hoſt: and the hoſt fled to Beth-ſhittah in Zererath, and to the border of Abelmeholah, unto Tabbath.

23 And the men of Iſrael gathered themſelves together out of Naphtali, and out of Aſher, and out of all Manaſſeh, and purſued after the Midianites.

24 And Gideon ſent meſſengers throughout all mount Ephraim, ſaying, Come down againſt the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themſelves together, and took the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan.

25 ¶ And they took two princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb; and they ſlew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeeb they ſlew at the wine-preſs of Zeeb, and they purſued Midian, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other ſide Jordan.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Ephraimites pacified. 4 Zebah and Zalmunna. 33 The Iſraelites' idolatry, and ingratitude.

AND the men of Ephraim ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou ſerved us thus, that thou calledſt us not when thou wenteſt to fight with the Midianites? and they did chide with him ſharply.

2 And he ſaid unto them, What have I done now in compariſon of you? is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abi-ezer?

3 God hath delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb: and what was I able to do in compariſon of you? Then their anger was abated toward him when he had ſaid that.

4 ¶ And Gideon came to Jordan, and paſſed over, he, and the three hundred men that were with him, faint, yet purſuing them.

5 And he ſaid unto the men of Succoth, Give, I I pray you, loaves of bread unto the people that follow me; for they be faint, and I am purſuing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.

6 And the princes of Succoth ſaid, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we ſhould give bread unto thine army?

7 And Gideon ſaid, Therefore, when the Lord hath delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into mine hand, then I will tear your fleſh with the thorns of the wilderneſs, and with briers.

8 And he went up thence to Penuel, and ſpake unto them likewiſe; and the men of Penuel anſwered him as the men of Succoth had anſwered him.

9 And he ſpake alſo unto the men of Penuel, ſaying, When I come again in peace I will break down this tower.

10 Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their hoſts with them, about fifteen thouſand men, all that were left of all the hoſts of the children of the eaſt: for there fell an hundred and twenty thouſand men that drew ſword.

11 And Gideon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents, on the eaſt of Nobah and Jogbehah, and ſmote the hoſt: for the hoſt was ſecure.

12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he purſued after them, and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and diſcomfited all the hoſt.

13 And Gideon, the ſon of Joaſh, returned from battle before the ſun was up,

14 And caught a young man of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: and he deſcribed unto him the princes of Succoth, and the elders thereof, even threeſcore and ſeventeen men.

15 And he came unto the men of Succoth, and ſaid, Behold, Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom ye did upbraid me, ſaying, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we ſhould give bread unto thy men that are weary?

16 And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderneſs, and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth.

17 And he beat down the tower of Penuel, and ſlew the men of the city.

18 Then ſaid he unto Zebah and Zalmunna, What manner of men were they whom ye ſlew at Tabor? And they anſwered, As thou art, ſo were they; each one reſembled the children of a king.

19 And he ſaid, They were my brethren, even the ſons of my mother: as the Lord liveth, if ye had ſaved them alive, I would not ſlay you.

20 And he ſaid unto Jether his firſt-born, Up, and ſlay them. But the youth drew not his ſword: for he feared, becauſe he was yet a youth.

21 Then Zebah and Zalmunna ſaid, Riſe thou, and fall upon us: for as the man is, ſo is his ſtrength. And Gideon aroſe, and ſlew Zebah and Zalmunna, and took away the ornaments that were on their camels' necks.

19 In the beginning of the middle watch, &c.) That is a little before midnight. For the Hebrews, and the other eaſtern nations, divided the night into three parts called watches: but the Romans afterward divided the night into four watches; and hence we read in the goſpel of the fourth watch.

22 And the Lord ſet every man's ſword againſt his fellow.) Being ſuddenly awaked from their ſleep in the middle of the night; and thinking they were attacked by a powerful army, their fears prompted them to conſider every one as an enemy, ſo that they killed one another. So true are the words of the apoſtle, that when they ſhall ſay peace and ſafety, then ſudden deſtruction cometh upon them, as travel upon a woman with child, and they ſhall not eſcape, 1 Th. v. 3.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

2 Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer.) This ſeems to have been a common proverb in theſe days, and uſed in commending the ſmalleſt action of one, as ſuperior to the greateſt of another.

22 Then the men of Iſrael ſaid unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou and thy ſon, and thy ſon's ſon alſo; for thou haſt delivered us from the hand of Midian.

23 And Gideon ſaid unto them, I will not rule over you, neither ſhall my ſon rule over you: the Lord ſhall rule over you.

24 And Gideon ſaid unto them, I would deſire a requeſt of you, that ye would give me every man the ear-rings of his prey. For they had golden ear-rings, becauſe they were Iſhmaelites.

25 And they anſwered, We will willingly give them. And they ſpread a garment, and did caſt therein every man the ear-rings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden ear-rings that he requeſted was a thouſand and ſeven hundred ſhekels of gold, beſide ornaments, and collars, and purple raiment that was on the kings of Midian; and beſide the chains that were about their camels' necks.

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city, even in Ophrah: and all Iſrael went thither a whoring after it: which thing became a ſnare unto Gideon, and to his houſe.

28 Thus was Midian ſubdued before the children of Iſrael, ſo that they lifted up their heads no more. And the country was in quietneſs forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 And Jerubbaal the ſon of Joaſh went and dwelt in his own houſe.

30 And Gideon had threeſcore and ten ſons of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

31 And his concubine that was in Shechem, ſhe alſo bare him a ſon, whoſe name he called Abimelech.

32 And Gideon the ſon of Joaſh died in a good old age, and was buried in the ſepulchre of Joaſh his father, in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

33 ¶ And it came to paſs as ſoon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Iſrael turned again, and went a whoring after Baalim; and made Baal-berith their god.

34 And the children of Iſrael remembered not the Lord their God, who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every ſide.

35 Neither ſhewed they kindneſs to the houſe of Jerubbaal, namely, Gideon, according to all the goodneſs which he had ſhewed unto Iſrael.

CHAP. IX.

1 Abimelech is made king by the Shechemites. 7 Jotham by a parable rebuketh them. 22 Gaal's conſpiracy. 56 Jotham's curſe fulfilled.

AND Abimelech the ſon of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, unto his mother's brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family of the houſe of his mother's father, ſaying,

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you, either that all the ſons of Jerubbaal, which are threeſcore and ten perſons, reign over you, or that one reign over you? remember alſo that I am your bone and your fleſh.

3 And his mother's brethren ſpake of him in the ears of all the men of Shechem all theſe words: and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; for they ſaid, He is our brother.

4 And they gave him threeſcore and ten pieces of ſilver out of the houſe of Baal-berith, wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light perſons, which followed him.

5 And he went unto his father's houſe at Ophrah, and ſlew his brethren the ſons of Jerubbaal, being threeſcore and ten perſons, upon one ſtone: notwithſtanding, yet Jotham the youngeſt ſon of Jerubbaal was left, for he hid himſelf.

6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the houſe of Millo, and went, and made Abimelech king, by the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem.

7 ¶ And when they told it to Jotham, he went and ſtood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice and cried, and ſaid unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they ſaid unto the olive-tree, Reign thou over us.

9 But the olive-tree ſaid unto them, Should I leave my fatneſs, wherewith, by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

10 And the trees ſaid to the fig-tree, Come thou, and reign over us.

11 But the fig-tree ſaid unto them, Should I forſake my ſweetneſs and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

12 Then ſaid the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us.

13 And the vine ſaid unto them, Should I leave my wine, which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

14 Then ſaid all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou, and reign over us.

15 And the bramble ſaid unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your truſt in my ſhadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

16 Now therefore, if ye have done truly and ſincerely, in that ye have made Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his houſe, and have done unto him according to the deſerving of his hands;

17 (For my father fought for you, and adventured his life far, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian:

18 And ye are riſen up againſt my father's houſe this day, and have ſlain his ſons, threeſcore and ten perſons, upon one ſtone, and have made Abimelech

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof.) He was willing to ſhew them that he did not requeſt the ear-rings for his own uſe, but to dedicate them to God, by making a monument of his victory, which he aſcribed wholly to the miraculous interpoſition of Jehovah, for reſtoring his true religion among them.

31 Whoſe name was Abimelech.) That is, my father a king. A name, probably given him by his mother out of pride and arrogance, that ſhe might be conſidered as the wife of a perſon who deſerved a kingom, though he refuſed to accept of it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

4 And they gave him threeſcore and ten pieces of ſilver, out of the houſe of Baal-berith.) That is, out of the public treaſury, which hence appears to have been in the temple of Baal-berith. By pieces of ſilver, commentators, in general, underſtand pounds weight of that metal; for threeſcore ſhekels would have been but a mean preſent to make a man a prince, and threeſcore talents a larger ſum than the men of Shechem could give.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them.) This is the firſt fable we meet with on record; and hence it appears, that ſuch fictions, wherein the moſt ſerious truths are repreſented, were in uſe among the Jews, as they are ſtill in the eaſtern countries, long before the time of Æſop, or any other author we are acquainted with.

And they ſaid unto the olive-tree, Reign thou over us.) By this the Iſraelites well knew that he meant his father Gideon, to whom all the people had offered the kingdom, when he was in a very flouriſhing condition, and lately triumphed over his enemies.

the

the ſon of his maid-ſervant king over the men of Shechem, becauſe he is your brother;)

19 If ye then have dealt truly and ſincerely with Jerubbaal and with his houſe this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him alſo rejoice in you.

20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the houſe of Millo; and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the houſe of Millo, and devour Abimelech.

21 And Jotham ran away, and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22 ¶ When Abimelech had reigned three years over Iſrael,

23 Then God ſent an evil ſpirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem; and the men of Shechem dealt treacherouſly with Abimelech:

24 That the cruelty done to the threeſcore and ten ſons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which ſlew them, and upon the men of Shechem, which aided him in the killing of his brethren.

25 And the men of Shechem ſet liers in wait for him in the top of the mountains, and they robbed all that came along that way by them. And it was told Abimelech.

26 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed came with his brethren, and went over to Shechem: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27 And they went out into the fields, and gathered their vineyards, and trode the grapes, and made merry, and went into the houſe of their god, and did eat and drink, and curſed Abimelech.

28 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed ſaid, Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we ſhould ſerve him? is not he the ſon of Jerubbaal, and Zebul his officer? ſerve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem; for why ſhould we ſerve him?

29 And would to God this people were under my hand, then would I remove Abimelech. And he ſaid to Abimelech, Increaſe thine army, and come out.

30 And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the ſon of Ebed, his anger was kindled.

31 And he ſent meſſengers unto Abimelech privily, ſaying, Behold, Gaal the ſon of Ebed and his brethren be come to Shechem: and behold, they fortify the city againſt thee.

32 Now therefore up by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And it ſhall be that in the morning, as ſoon as the ſun is up, thou ſhalt riſe early, and ſet upon the city: and behold, when he and the people that is with him come out againſt thee, then mayeſt thou do to them as thou ſhalt find occaſion.

34 And Abimelech roſe up, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they laid wait againſt Shechem in four companies.

35 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed went out, and ſtood in the entering of the gate of the city: and Abimelech roſe up, and the people that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal ſaw the people, he ſaid to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul ſaid unto him, Thou ſeeſt the ſhadow of the mountains as if they were men.

37 And Gaal ſpake again, and ſaid, See there come people down by the middle of the land, and another company come along by the plain of Meonenim.

38 Then ſaid Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth, wherewith thou ſaidſt, Who is Abimelech, that we ſhould ſerve him? is not this the people that thou haſt deſpiſed? go out, I pray now, and fight with them.

39 And Gaal went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 And Abimelech chaſed him, and he fled before him, and many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entering of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah; and Zebul thruſt out Gaal and his brethren, that they ſhould not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the people went out into the field; and they told Abimelech.

43 And he took the people, and divided them into three companies, and laid wait in the field, and looked, and behold, the people were come forth out of the city; and he roſe up againſt them, and ſmote them.

44 And Abimelech, and the company that was with him, ruſhed forward, and ſtood in the entering of the gate of the city; and the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and ſlew them.

45 And Abimelech fought againſt the city all that day, and he took the city, and ſlew the people that was therein, and beat down the city, and ſowed it with ſalt.

46 And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard that, they entered into an hold, of the houſe of the god Berith.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him: and Abimelech took an ax in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it, and laid it on his ſhoulder, and ſaid unto the people that were with him, What ye have ſeen me do, make haſte, and do as I have done.

49 And all the people cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and ſet the hold on fire upon them: ſo that all the men of the tower of Shechem died alſo, about a thouſand men and women.

50 Then went Abimelech to Thebez, and encamped againſt Thebez, and took it.

51 But there was a ſtrong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all they of the city, and ſhut it to them, and gat them up to the top of the tower.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower, and fought againſt it, and went hard unto the door of the tower to burn it with fire.

53 And a certain woman caſt a piece of a millſtone upon Abimelech's head, and all to break his ſcull.

54 Then he called haſtily unto the young man his

21 And Jotham---fled---to Beer.) This city ſtood on the northern frontiers of the tribe of Judah, which did not acknowledge the authority of Abimelech, and therefore Jotham knew he ſhould there meet with protection.

45 And ſowed it with ſalt.) It has been remarked by ancient writers, that ſalt renders land barren; and therefore Abimelech intended by this action to ſhew his hatred of the Shechemites, by wiſhing their city might remain for ever one perpetual heap and deſolation.

53 And a certain woman caſt a piece of a millſtone upon Abimelech's head.) Her hand was doubtleſs directed by a ſpecial providence of God: and the death of Abimelech by a ſtone was the more remarkable, becauſe he had himſelf ſlain all his brethren upon one ſtone.

armourarmour-bearer, and ſaid unto him, Draw thy ſword, and ſlay me, that men ſay not of me, A woman ſlew him. And his young man thruſt him through, and he died.

55 And when the men of Iſrael ſaw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his place.

56 ¶ Thus God rendered the wickedneſs of Abimelech which he did unto his father, in ſlaying his ſeventy brethren;

57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem did God render upon their heads: and upon them came the curſe of Jotham the ſon of Jerubbaal.

CHAP. X.

1 Tola judgeth Iſrael, 3 alſo Jair. 7 The Philiſtines and Ammonites oppreſſing Iſrael, 15 upon their repentance God pitieth them.

AND after Abimelech there aroſe to defend Iſrael Tola the ſon of Puah, the ſon of Dodo, a man of Iſſachar; and he dwelt in Shamir in mount Ephraim.

2 And he judged Iſrael twenty and three years, and died, and was buried in Shamir.

3 ¶ And after him aroſe Jair, a Gileadite, and judged Iſrael twenty and two years.

4 And he had thirty ſons that rode on thirty aſscolts, and they had thirty cities, which are called Havoth-jair unto this day, which are in the land of Gilead.

5 And Jair died, and was buried in Camon.

6 And the children of Iſrael did evil again in the ſight of the Lord, and ſerved Baalim, and Aſhtaroth, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philiſtines, and forſook the Lord and ſerved not him.

7 ¶ And the anger of the Lord was hot againſt Iſrael, and he ſold them into the hands of the Philiſtines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon.

8 And that year they vexed and oppreſſed the children of Iſrael: eighteen years, all the children of Iſrael, that were on the other ſide Jordan, in the land of the Amorites, which is in Gilead.

9 Moreover, the children of Ammon paſſed over Jordan to fight alſo againſt Judah, and againſt Benjamin, and againſt the houſe of Ephraim; ſo that Iſrael was ſore diſtreſſed.

10 And the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord, ſaying, We have ſinned againſt thee, both becauſe we have forſaken our God, and alſo ſerved Baalim.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, from the children of Ammon, and from the Philiſtines?

12 The Zidonians alſo, and the Amalekites, and the Maonites did oppreſs you, and ye cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand.

13 Yet ye have forſaken me, and ſerved other gods wherefore I will deliver you no more.

14 Go and cry unto the gods which ye have choſen; let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.

15 ¶ And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto the Lord, We have ſinned; do thou unto us whatſoever ſeemeth good unto thee; deliver us only, we pray thee, this day.

16 And they put away the ſtrange gods from among them, and ſerved the Lord: and his ſoul was grieved for the miſery of Iſrael.

17 Then the children of Ammon were gathered together, and encamped in Gilead: and the children of Iſrael aſſembled themſelves together, and encamped in Mizpeh.

18 And the people and princes of Gilead ſaid one to another, What man is he that will begin to fight againſt the children of Ammon? he ſhall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

CHAP. XI.

1 Jephthah's covenant with the Gileadites. 30 His vow. 34 He performeth it on his daughter.

NOW Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, and he was the ſon of an harlot: and Gilead begat Jephthah.

2 And Gilead's wife bare him ſons: and his wife's ſons grew up, and they thruſt out Jephthah, and ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not inherit in our father's houſe; for thou art the ſon of a ſtrange woman.

3 Then Jephthah fled from his brethren, and dwelt in the land of Tob: and there were gathered vain men to Jephthah, and went out with him.

4 And it came to paſs in proceſs of time that the children of Ammon made war againſt Iſrael.

5 And it was ſo, that when the children of Ammon made war againſt Iſrael, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah out of the land of Tob.

6 And they ſaid Jephthah, Come and be our captain, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

7 And Jephthah ſaid unto the elders of Gilead, Did not ye hate me, and expel me out of my father's houſe? and why are ye come unto me now when ye are in diſtreſs?

8 And the elders of Gilead ſaid unto Jephthah, Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou mayeſt go with us, and fight againſt the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Jephthah ſaid unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight againſt the children of Ammon, and the Lord deliver them before me, ſhall I be your head?

10 And the elders of Gilead ſaid unto Jephthah, The Lord be witneſs between us, if we do not ſo according to thy words.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 And after Abimelech.) Who muſt not be conſidered as a judge, much leſs appointed by God; but an uſurper, who dared to alter the divine government, by making himſelf a king. Probably the ambition of Abimelech and his dreadful end, ſo terrified the Iſraelites, that they did not attempt to elect another king; but wiſely ſubmitted to thoſe judges whom God was pleaſed to appoint over them.

There aroſe to defend Iſrael.) We do not find that the Iſraelites had any enemy that oppreſſed them during the life of this judge: but thoſe perſons may juſtly be ſtiled defenders, who preſerve men's liberties from being invaded. He might alſo be ſaid to defend them by reſtoring the worſhip of the true God, and baniſhing the ſervice of idols from their land; becauſe he by that means procured them the favour of Omnipotence, who became their rock of defence, and under the ſhadow of whoſe wings they dwelt in ſafety.

10 And they put away the ſtrange gods from among them.) This is the moſt remarkable repentance and reformation that we hitherto read of in the hiſtory of the judges; and ſeems to have been ſo ſerious, that they did not relapſe for a long time after into their idolatrous worſhip.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

3 And there were gathered vain men to Jephthah.) That is, men of no eſtates, who had nothing but their labour to ſubſiſt upon, and therefore were glad to join with ſo valiant a man as Jephthah, under whoſe conduct they could make incurſions into the enemy's territory, and enrich themſelves with their ſpoils.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah uttered all his words before the Lord in Mizpeh.

12 And Jephthah ſent meſſengers to the king of the children of Ammon, ſaying, What haſt thou to do with me, that thou art come againſt me to fight in my land?

13 And the king of the children of Ammon anſwered unto the meſſengers of Jephthah, Becauſe Iſrael took away my land when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore, reſtore thoſe lands again peaceably.

14 And Jephthah ſent meſſengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon;

15 And ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Jephthah, Iſrael took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon:

16 But when Iſrael came up from Egypt, and walked through the wilderneſs unto the Red-ſea and came to Kadeſh;

17 Then Iſrael ſent meſſengers unto the king of Edom, ſaying, Let me, I pray thee, paſs through thy land: but the king of Edom would not hearken thereto. And in like manner they ſent unto the king of Moab: but he would not conſent. And Iſrael abode in Kadeſh.

18 Then they went along through the wilderneſs, and compaſſed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the eaſt ſide of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other ſide of Arnon, but came not within the border of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 And Iſrael ſent meſſengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heſhbon: and Iſrael ſaid unto him, Let us paſs, we pray thee, through thy land unto my place.

20 But Sihon truſted not Iſrael to paſs through his coaſt: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought againſt Iſrael.

21 And the Lord God of Iſrael delivered Sihon, and all his people into the hand of Iſrael, and they ſmote them: ſo Iſrael poſſeſſed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country.

22 And they poſſeſſed all the coaſts of the Amorites, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and from the wilderneſs even unto Jordan.

23 So now the Lord God of Iſrael hath diſpoſſeſſed the Amorites from before his people Iſrael, and ſhouldeſt thou poſſeſs it?

24 Wilt not thou poſſeſs that which Chemoſh thy god giveth thee to poſſeſs? ſo whomſoever the Lord our God ſhall drive out from before us, them will we poſſeſs.

25 And now art thou any thing better than Balak the ſon of Zippor king of Moab? did he ever ſtrive againſt Iſrael, or did he ever fight againſt them?

26 While Iſrael dwelt in Heſhbon and her towns, and in Aroer and her towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coaſts of Arnon, three hundred years? why therefore did ye not recover them within that time?

27 Wherefore I have not ſinned againſt thee, but thou doeſt me wrong to war againſt me; the Lord the Judge be judge this day between the children of Iſrael and the children of Ammon.

28 Howbeit, the king of the children of Ammon, hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah which he ſent him.

29 Then the Spirit of the Lord came upon Jephthah, and he paſſed over Gilead, and Manaſſeh, and paſſed over Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he paſſed over unto the children of Ammon.

30 ¶ And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the Lord, and ſaid, If thou ſhalt without fail deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands, 31 Then it ſhall be, that whatſoever cometh forth of the doors of my houſe to meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, ſhall ſurely be the Lord's, and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.

32 So Jephthah paſſed over unto the children of Ammon to fight againſt them; and the Lord delivered them into his hands.

33 And he ſmote them from Aroer, even till thou come to Minnith, even twenty cities, and unto the plain of the vineyards, with a very great ſlaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were ſubdued before the children of Iſrael.

34 ¶ And Jephthah came to Mizpeh unto his houſe, and behold, his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and with dances: and ſhe was his only child; beſide her he had neither ſon nor daughter.

35 And it came to paſs when he ſaw her, that he rent his clothes, and ſaid, Alas, my daughter! thou haſt brought me very low, and thou art one of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and I cannot go back.

36 And ſhe ſaid unto him, My father, if thou haſt opened thy mouth unto the Lord, do to me according to that which hath proceeded out of thy mouth; foraſmuch as the Lord hath taken vengeance for thee of thine enemies, even of the children of Ammon.

37 And ſhe ſaid unto her father, Let this thing be done for me: Let me alone two months, that I may go up and down upon the mountains, and bewail my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he ſaid, Go: and he ſent her away for two months; and ſhe went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And it came to paſs at the end of two months, that ſhe returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed. And ſhe knew no man. And it was a cuſtom in Iſrael, 40 That the daughters of Iſrael went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in a year.

13 And the king of the children of Ammon anſwered---Becauſe Iſrael took away my land when they came up out of Egypt.) This was a mere pretence, the land not belonging to them, but to Sihon king of the Amorites. For, with regard to the country of the Ammonites, God expreſly charged the Iſraelites not to meddle with it, becauſe he had given it to the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion, Deut. ii 19. It is true, indeed, that the land they now claimed had formerly belonged to the Moabites; but Sihon had conquered it, and driven them out, Numb. xxi. 26.

35 Alas, my daughter---for I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and I cannot go back.) That is, I have made a vow, which I cannot retract. Probably he told her what it was, though the ſacred hiſtorian has not mentioned it; or, by his deep ſorrow when he firſt ſaw her, ſhe underſtood it was upon her account. But in this he was groſly miſtaken; for he had neither power to offer her for a burnt-offering, or to devote her to the Lord, and debar her from all ſociety of men.

39 She returned unto her father, who did with her according unto his vow.) This paſſage has given occaſion to a great controverſy among commentators, whether Jephthah really offered his daughter for a burnt-offering, or conſecrated her to the ſervice of God. According to our tranſlation, the former ſeems to have been evidently the caſe; but many have ſhewn, that the words might have been tranſlated in a different manner, and that the daughter of Jephthah was not ſacrificed but devoted to the Lord.

40 The daughters of Iſrael went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah.) The Hebrew word thannoth, which we render lament, ſignifies alſo to talk with; and according to that ingenious critic Lud. de Dieu, to praiſe. If we take it in the former ſenſe, it demonſtrates that ſhe was not ſacrificed; and if in the latter, which

AND the men of Ephraim gathered themſelves together, and went northward, and ſaid unto Jephthah, Wherefore paſſedſt thou over to fight againſt the children of Ammon, and didſt not call us to go with thee? we will burn thine houſe upon thee with fire.

2 And Jephthah ſaid unto them, I and my people were at great ſtrife with the children of Ammon; and when I called you, ye delivered me not out of their hands.

3 And when I ſaw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hands, and paſſed over againſt the children of Ammon, and the Lord delivered them into my hand: wherefore then are ye come up unto me this day to fight againſt me?

4 Then Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim; and the men of Gilead ſmote Ephraim, becauſe they ſaid, Ye Gileadites are fugitives of Ephraim, among the Ephraimites, and among the Manaſſites.

5 And the Gileadites took the paſſages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and it was ſo, that when thoſe Ephraimites which were eſcaped, ſaid, Let me go over, that the men of Gilead ſaid unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? if he ſaid, Nay;

6 Then ſaid they unto him, Say now Shibboleth; and he ſaid, Sibboleth: for he could not frame to pronounce it right. Then they took him, and ſlew him at the paſſages of Jordan. And there fell at that time of the Ephraimites forty and two thouſand.

7 ¶ And Jephthah judged Iſrael ſix years. Then died Jephthah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 And after him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Iſrael.

9 And he had thirty ſons and thirty daughters whom he ſent abroad, and took in thirty daughters from abroad, for his ſons: and he judged Iſrael ſeven years.

10 Then died Ibzan, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11 And after him Elon a Zebulonite judged Iſrael; and he judged Iſrael ten years.

12 And Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon, in the country of Zebulun.

13 And after him Abdon, the ſon of Hillel a Pirathonite, judged Iſrael.

14 And he had forty ſons, and thirty nephews, that rode on threeſcore and ten aſs-colts: and he judged Iſrael eight years.

15 And Abdon, the ſon of Hillel the Pitathonite, died, and was buried in Pirathon, in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iſrael is in the hand of the Philiſtines. 2 An angel appeareth to Manoah's wife. 8 The angel appeareth to Manoah. 15 Manoah's ſacrifice, whereby the angel is diſcovered. 24 Samſon is born.

AND the children of Iſrael did evil again in the ſight of the Lord: and the Lord delivered them into the hand of the Philiſtines forty years.

2 ¶ And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whoſe name was Manoah: and his wife was barren and bare not.

3 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto the woman, and ſaid unto her, Behold now thou art barren, and beareſt not: but thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a ſon.

4 Now therefore, beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine, nor ſtrong drink, and eat not any unclean thing:

5 For lo, thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a ſon; and no razor ſhall come on his head, for the child ſhall be a Nazarite unto God from the womb: and he ſhall begin to deliver Iſrael out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

6 Then the woman came and told her huſband, ſaying, A man of God came unto me, and his countenance was like the countenance of an angel of God, very terrible: but I aſked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name.

7 But he ſaid unto me, Behold, thou ſhalt conceive and bear a ſon; and now drink no wine nor ſtrong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the child ſhall be a Nazarite to God from the womb to the day of his death.

8 ¶ Then Manoah intreated the Lord, and ſaid, O my Lord, let the man of God which thou didſt ſend, come again unto us, and teach us what we ſhall do unto the child that ſhall be born.

9 And God hearkened unto the voice of Manoah: and the angel of God came again unto the woman as ſhe ſat in the field: but Manoah her huſband was not with her.

10 And the woman made haſte, and ran, and ſhewed her huſband, and ſaid unto him, Behold the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me the other day.

11 And Manoah aroſe, and went after his wife, and came to the man, and ſaid unto him, Art thou the man that ſpakeſt unto the woman? and he ſaid, I am.

12 And Manoah ſaid, Now let thy words come to paſs. How ſhall we order the child? and how ſhall we do unto him?

13 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Manoah, Of all that I ſaid unto the woman, let her beware.

14 She may not eat of any thing that cometh of the vine, is derived from the Arabic language, the ſenſe will be, that they went yearly to praiſe the virtue of Jephthah's daughter: and therefore the whole paſſage may be paraphraſed in the following manner. "The daughters of Iſrael went yearly to praiſe the virtue of Jephthah's daughter, who, when her father lamented his miſerable condition, and repented, with the greateſt marks of ſorrow, the vow he had raſhly made, uſed every method in her power to aſſuage his grief; aſſuring him that ſhe was willing to ſubmit, even to the greateſt misfortune that could attend a daughter of Iſrael, that of being condemned to perpetual virginity." If it ſhould be aſked, why the continuing a virgin was conſidered among the Iſraelites as the greateſt of misfortunes? the anſwer is eaſy: they placed their greateſt happineſs in children, and all flattered themſelves that the Meſſiah would come from their ſeed.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

8 And after him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Iſrael.) It is not ſaid on what occaſion he was made judge. Perhaps he was raiſed up by God immediately after the death of Jephthah, in order to preſerve them in the true religion, which was then in ſome meaſure reſtored.

9 He had thirty ſons, and thirty daughters.) A numerous iſſue was conſidered as a peculiar bleſſing of Providence, and ſeems to be mentioned by the ſacred hiſtorian as an evidence that he was highly favoured by God. The ſame is mentioned of Hillel, verſe 14, and probably for the ſame reaſon.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

5 He ſhall begin to deliver Iſrael out of the hand of the Philiſtines.) He did not entirely deliver Iſrael: this was reſerved for Samuel, who afterwards put an end to this forty years tyranny by his famous victory at Ebenezar, 1 Sam. vii. 13.

vine, neither let her drink wine or ſtrong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: all that I commanded her let her obſerve.

15 ¶ And Manoah ſaid unto the angel of the Lord, I pray thee, let us detain thee until we ſhall have made ready a kid for thee.

16 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Manoah, Though thou detain me, I will not eat of thy bread; and if thou wilt offer a burnt-offering, thou muſt offer it unto the Lord: for Manoah knew not that he was an angel of the Lord.

17 And Manoah ſaid unto the angel of the Lord, What is thy name, that, when thy ſayings come to paſs, we may do thee honour?

18 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto him, Why aſkeſt thou thus after my name, ſeeing it is ſecret?

19 So Manoah took a kid, with a meat-offering, and offered it upon a rock unto the Lord: and the angel did wonderouſly; and Manoah and his wife looked on.

20 For it came to paſs, when the flame went up toward heaven from off the altar, that the angel of the Lord aſcended in the flame of the altar: and Manoah and his wife looked on it, and fell on their faces to the ground.

21 (But the angel of the Lord did no more appear to Manoah and to his wife.) Then Manoah knew that he was an angel of the Lord.

22 And Manoah ſaid unto his wife, We ſhall ſurely die, becauſe we have ſeen God.

23 But his wife ſaid unto him, If the Lord were pleaſed to kill us, he would not have received a burnt-offering and a meat-offering at our hands: neither would he have ſhewed us all theſe things, nor would, as at this time, have told us ſuch things as theſe.

25 ¶ And the woman bare a ſon, and called his name Samſon; and the child grew, and the Lord bleſſed him.

25 And the ſpirit of the Lord began to move him at times in the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eſhtaol.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Samſon deſireth a wife of the Philiſtines: 10 his marriage feaſt, 12 and riddle: 19 he ſpoileth thirty Philiſtines.

AND Samſon went down to Timnah, and ſaw a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philiſtines.

2 And he came up, and told his father and his mother, and ſaid, I have ſeen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philiſtines; now, therefore, get her for me to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother ſaid unto him, Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou goeſt to take a wife of the uncircumciſed Philiſtines? And Samſon ſaid unto his father, Get her for me; for ſhe pleaſeth me well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it was of the Lord that he ſought an occaſion againſt the Philiſtines; for at that time the Philiſtines had dominion over Iſrael.

5 Then went Samſon down and his father and his mother, to Timnath, and came to the vineyards of Timnath: and, behold, a young lion roared againſt him.

6 And the ſpirit of the Lord came mightily upon him, and he rent him as he would have rent a kid, and he had nothing in his hand: but he told not his father or his mother what he had done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman; and ſhe pleaſed Samſon well.

8 ¶ And after a time he returned to take her, and he turned aſide to ſee the carcaſe of the lion: and behold, there was a ſwarm of bees and honey in the carcaſe of the lion.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went on eating, and came to his father and mother, and he gave them, and they did eat: but he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the carcaſe of the lion.

10 ¶ So his father went down unto the woman: and Samſon made there a feaſt; for ſo uſed the young men to do.

11 And it came to paſs, when they ſaw him, that they brought thirty companions to be with him.

12 ¶ And Samſon ſaid unto them, I will now put forth a riddle unto you: if ye can certainly declare it me within the ſeven days of the feaſt, and find it out, then I will give you thirty ſheets, and thirty change of garments:

13 But if ye cannot declare it me, then ſhall ye give me thirty ſheets, and thirty change of garments. And they ſaid unto him, Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he ſaid unto them, Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the ſtrong came forth ſweetneſs. And they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And it came to paſs on the ſeventh day, that they ſaid unto Samſon's wife, Entice thy huſband, that he may declare unto us the riddle, leſt we burn thee and thy father's houſe with fire? have ye called us to take that we have? is it not ſo?

16 And Samſon's wife wept before him, and ſaid, Thou doſt but hate me, and loveſt me not: thou haſt put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and haſt not told it me. And he ſaid unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father nor my mother, and ſhall I tell it thee?

17 And ſhe wept before him the ſeven days, while their feaſt laſted: and it came to paſs on the ſeventh day that he told her, becauſe ſhe lay ſore upon him: and ſhe told the riddle to the children of her people.

18 And the men of the city ſaid unto him on the ſeventh day before the ſun went down, What is ſweeter than 18 Why aſkeſt thou thus after my name, ſeeing it is ſecret?) Or rather, it is wonderful. This is a proper title for Jehovah, whoſe eſſence we muſt admire, but cannot comprehend. And hence we learn this was the Meſſiah himſelf, whom the prophet Iſaiah calls Pele, the wonderful, Iſ. ix. 6.

19 And the angel did wonderouſly.) The word angel is not in the Hebrew, and therefore this muſt be referred to Jehovah, who appeared in the form of an angel, and now acted ſuitable to his name, Pele, wonderful; to which the word maphli, did wonderouſly plainly alludes. That is, he brought in all probability, fire out of the rock; for we read of no fire brought by Manoah, and yet there was a flame, in which the angel aſcended up to heaven.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

1 And Samſon went down to Timnath.) A city in his own tribe; but now probably in the hands of the Philiſtines, who at this time oppreſſed the Iſraelites, and made them their tributaries; but this did not hinder a commerce being carried on between them.

11 They brought thirty companions) Her friends out of reſpect to him, brought this great number of bride-men, to honour his nuptials: though ſome think they came by way of guard, if he ſhould attempt any diſturbance; of which they fancy the Philiſtines were afraid, when they ſaw he was a man of ſuch extraordinary ſtrength and valour.

than honey? and what is ſtronger than a lion? and he ſaid unto them, If ye had not plowed with my heifer, ye had not found out my riddle.

19 ¶ And the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he went down to Aſhkelon, and ſlew thirty men of them, and took their ſpoil, and gave change of garments unto them which expounded the riddle. And his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father's houſe.

20 But Samſon's wife was given to his companion, whom he had uſed as his friend.

CHAP. XV.

1 Samſon is denied his wife. 3 He burneth the Philiſtines' corn. 9 He is bound by the men of Judah and delivered to the Philiſtines. 14 He killeth them with a jaw-bone.

BUT it came to paſs within a while after, in the time of wheat harveſt, that Samſon viſited his wife with a kid; and he ſaid, I will go in to my wife into the chamber. But her father would not ſuffer him to go in.

2 And her father ſaid, I verily thought that thou hadſt utterly hated her; therefore I gave her to thy companion; is not her younger ſiſter fairer than ſhe? take her, I pray thee, inſtead of her.

3 ¶ And Samſon ſaid concerning them, Now ſhall I be more blameleſs than the Philiſtines, though I do them a diſpleaſure.

4 And Samſon went and caught three hundred foxes, and took fire-brands, and turned tail to tail, and put a fire-brand in the midſt between two tails.

5 And when he had ſet the brands on fire, he let them go into the ſtanding corn of the Philiſtines, and burned up both the ſhocks, and alſo the ſtanding corn, with the vineyards and olives.

6 ¶ Then the Philiſtines ſaid, Who hath done this? And they anſwered, Samſon, the ſon-in-law of the Timnite, becauſe he had taken his wife, and given her to his companion. And the Philiſtines came up and burnt her and her father with fire.

7 ¶ And Samſon ſaid unto them, Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and after that I will ceaſe.

8 And he ſmote them hip and thigh with a great ſlaughter: and he went down and dwelt in the top of the rock Etam.

9 ¶ Then the Philiſtines went up, and pitched in Judah, and ſpread themſelves in Lehi.

10 And the men of Judah ſaid, Why are ye come up againſt us? And they anſwered, to bind Samſon are we come up, to do to him as he hath done to us.

11 Then three thouſand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Etam, and ſaid to Samſon, Knoweſt thou not that the Philiſtines are rulers over us? what is this that thou haſt done unto us? And he ſaid unto them, As they did unto me, ſo have I done unto them.

12 And they ſaid unto him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may deliver thee into the hand of the Philiſtines. And Samſon ſaid unto them, Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourſelves.

13 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, No; but we will bind thee faſt, and deliver thee into their hand; but ſurely we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him up from the rock.

14 ¶ And when he came unto Lehi, the Philiſtines ſhouted againſt him: and the ſpirit of the Lord came mightily upon him; and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire, and his bands looſed from off his hands.

15 And he found a new jaw-bone of an aſs, and put forth his hand and took it, and ſlew a thouſand men therewith.

16 And Samſon ſaid, With the jaw-bone of an aſs, heaps upon heaps, with the jaw of an aſs have I ſlain a thouſand men.

17 And it came to paſs when he had made an end of ſpeaking, that he caſt away the jaw-bone out of his hand, and called that place Ramath-lehi.

18 And he was ſore athirſt, and called on the Lord, and ſaid, Thou haſt given this great deliverance into the hand of thy ſervant, and now ſhall I die for thirſt, and fall into the hand of the uncircumciſed?

19 But God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, and there came water thereout; and when he had drunk his ſpirit came again, and he revived: wherefore he called the name thereof En-hakkore, which is in Lehi unto this day.

20 And he judged Iſrael in the days of the Philiſtines, twenty years.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Samſon carrieth away the gates of Gaza. 4 Delilah corrupted by the Philiſtines, enticeth him, 15 and overcometh him: 21 the Philiſtines put out his eyes: 26 the manner of his death.

THEN went Samſon to Gaza, and ſaw there an harlot, and went in unto her.

2 And it was told the Gazites, ſaying, Samſon is come hither. And they compaſſed him in, and laid wait for him all night in the gate of the city, and were quiet all the night, ſaying, In the morning, 19 He went down to Aſhkelon.) A city in the land of the Philiſtines, ſituated on the coaſt of the Mediterranean-ſea, about five hundred and twenty furlongs diſtant from the city of Jeruſalem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

4 And Samſon went and caught three hundred foxes.) Some of the enemies to revelation ridicule this paſſage, thinking it highly improbable for Samſon to catch ſo great a number of theſe ſubtile creatures; but they ſhould remember, that foxes were ſo common in Judea, that ſeveral places had their names from them; and that under the general name of foxes was comprehended a creature nearly reſembling that animal, and ſometimes called thoes, which go in large herds, two hundred of them having been ſeen together. Beſides, there is no reaſon to ſuppoſe that he caught theſe animals at one time, or even in a day and a night; a month, or more, may be allowed for the accompliſhment of this deſign; in which probably his ſervants, neighbours, and friends aſſiſted him.

12 Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourſelves.) He does not upbraid them for their baſe cowardice; but conſents to their deſign, provided they would ſolemnly engage not to hurt him themſelves, being unwilling to ſhed the blood of his brethren; which would doubtleſs have happened, had they attempted any thing againſt him.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

2 And it was told the Gazites, ſaying, Samſon is come hither.) Hence it appears that Samſon did not go openly into the city, but in a ſecret manner, and probably in the duſk of the evening; but was betrayed by ſome who happened to ſee him, very likely by the harlot herſelf.

3 And put them upon his ſhoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that is before Hebron.) He ſeems to have carried them ſome diſtance in his hands, and then putting them on his ſhoulders, carried them off in triumph. Hebron was near twenty miles diſtance from Gaza, and therefore it is probable that this hill lay between theſe cities, and within view of both; that the inhabitants of the latter might behold theſe trophies of his ſurpriſing ſtrength to their confuſion, and thoſe of the former to their encouragement, or an earneſt of their future deliverance.

when it is day we ſhall kill him.

3 And Samſon lay till midnight, and aroſe at midnight, and took the doors of the gate of the city, and the two poſts, and went away with them, bar and all, and put them upon his ſhoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that is before Hebron.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs afterward, that he loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whoſe name was Delilah.

5 And the lords of the Philiſtines came up unto her, and ſaid unto her, Entice him, and ſee wherein his great ſtrength lieth, and by what means we may prevail againſt him, that we may bind him to afflict him: and we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of ſilver.

6 And Delilah ſaid to Samſon, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great ſtrength lieth, and wherewith thou mighteſt be bound to afflict thee.

7 And Samſon ſaid unto her, If they bind me with ſeven green withs that were never dried, then ſhall I be weak, and be as another man.

8 Then the lords of the Philiſtines brought up to her ſeven green withs which had not been dried, and ſhe bound him with them.

9 Now there were men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber. And ſhe ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he brake the withs, as a thread of tow is broken when it toucheth the fire. So his ſtrength was not known.

10 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Behold, thou haſt mocked me, and told me lies: now tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mighteſt be bound.

11 And he ſaid unto her, If they bind me faſt with new ropes that never were occupied, then ſhall I be weak, and be as another man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And there were liers in wait abiding in the chamber. And he brake them from off his arms like a thread.

13 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Hitherto thou haſt mocked me, and told me lies; tell me wherewith thou mighteſt be bound. And he ſaid unto her, If thou weaveſt the ſeven locks of my head with the web,

14 And ſhe faſtened it with the pin, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he awaked out of his ſleep, and went away with the pin of the beam and with the web.

15 ¶ And ſhe ſaid unto him, How canſt thou ſay, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou haſt mocked me theſe three times, and haſt not told me wherein thy great ſtrength lieth.

16 And it came to paſs, when ſhe preſſed him daily with her words, and urged him, ſo that his ſoul was vexed unto death:

17 That he told her all his heart, and ſaid unto her, There hath not come a razor upon mine head; for I have been a Nazarite unto God from my mother's womb. If I be ſhaven, then my ſtrength will go from me, and I ſhall become weak, and be like any other man.

18 And when Delilah ſaw that he had told her all his heart, ſhe ſent and called for the lords of the Philiſtines, ſaying, Come up this once; for he hath ſhewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philiſtines came up unto her, and brought money in their hand.

19 And ſhe made him ſleep upon her knees: and ſhe called for a man, and ſhe cauſed him to ſhave off the ſeven locks of his head; and ſhe began to afflict him, and his ſtrength went from him.

20 And ſhe ſaid, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he awoke out of his ſleep, and ſaid, I will go out as at other times before, and ſhake myſelf. And he wiſt not that the Lord was departed from him.

21 ¶ But the Philiſtines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of braſs; and he did grind in the priſon-houſe.

22 Howbeit, the hair of his head began to grow again, after he was ſhaven.

23 ¶ Then the lords of the Philiſtines gathered them together, for to offer a great ſacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoice: for they ſaid, Our god hath delivered Samſon our enemy into our hand.

24 And when the people ſaw him, they praiſed their god: for they ſaid, Our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy, and the deſtroyer of our country, which ſlew many of us.

25 And it came to paſs when their hearts were merry, that they ſaid, Call for Samſon, that he may make us ſport. And they called for Samſon out of the priſon-houſe: and he made them ſport. And they ſet him between the pillars.

26 And Samſon ſaid unto the lad that held him by the hand, Suffer me that I may feel the pillars whereupon the houſe ſtandeth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now the houſe was full of men and women: and all the lords of the Philiſtines were there; and there were upon the roof about three thouſand men and women, that beheld while Samſon made ſport.

28 And Samſon called unto the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord God, remember me, I pray thee, and ſtrengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be at once avenged of the Philiſtines for my two eyes.

29 And Samſon took hold of the two middle pillars upon which the houſe ſtood, and on which it was borne up, of the one with his right-hand, and of the other with his left.

30 And Samſon ſaid, Let me die with the Philiſtines. And he bowed himſelf with all his might; and the houſe fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therein. So the dead which he ſlew at his death were more than they which he ſlew in his life.

31 Then his brethren, and all the houſe of his father, came down, and took him, and brought him up, and buried him between Zorah and Eſhtaol, in the burying-place of Manoah his father. And he judged Iſrael twenty years.

5 And ſaid unto her, Entice him, and ſee wherein his great ſtrength lieth.) He had probably often declared, that the ſource of his great ſtrength was a ſecret, known only to himſelf; and therefore they hoped that ſhe, by her blandiſhments, might prevail upon him to reveal it to her.

14 And went away with the pin of the beam, and the web.) This is a very obſcure paſſage, and various explications have been given of it by commentators; but the moſt ſatisfactory ſeems to be that of Le Clere, who ſuppoſes, that in the room where Samſon ſometimes ſlept, upon a couch, there was a loom, at which Delilah, according to the cuſtom that then prevailed, uſed to divert herſelf at her leiſure hours; and that now, by his permiſſion and connivance, ſhe might take his hair, work it into the web, and to hinder it from being pulled out, ſecure it with an iron pin thruſt into the beam; but that Samſon, when he awoke, took away the loom with him at his hair.

21 He did grind in the priſon-houſe.) Before the invention of wind or water-mills, men made uſe of hand-mills, to grind their corn withal; probably in this priſon where Samſon was confined, there was a public mill for that purpoſe.

31 Then his brethren, and all the houſe of his father came down and took him, &c.) How the people of Gaza came to permit

CHAP. XVII.

1 Micah reſtoring the ſtolen money to his mother, ſhe maketh images. 7 He hireth a Levite to be his prieſt.

AND there was a man of mount Ephraim, whoſe name was Micah.

2 And he ſaid unto his mother, The eleven hundred ſhekels of ſilver, that were taken from thee, about which thou curſedſt, and ſpakeſt of alſo in mine ears, behold, the ſilver is with me; I took it. And his mother ſaid, Bleſſed be thou of the Lord, my ſon.

3 And when he had reſtored the eleven hundred ſhekels of ſilver to his mother, his mother ſaid, I had wholly dedicated the ſilver unto the Lord from my hand, for my ſon to make a graven image, and a molten image; now, therefore, I will reſtore it unto thee.

4 Yet he reſtored the money unto his mother; and his mother took two hundred ſhekels of ſilver and gave them to the founder, who made thereof a graven image, and a molten image; and they were in the houſe of Micah.

5 And the man Micah had an houſe of gods, and made an ephod and teraphim, and conſecrated one of his ſons, who became his prieſt.

6 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

7 ¶ And there was a young man out of Beth-lehem-judah, of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, and he ſojourned there.

8 And the man departed out of the city from Beth-lehem-judah, to ſojourn where he could find a place: and he came to mount Ephraim, to the houſe of Micah, as he journeyed.

9 And Micah ſaid unto him, Whence comeſt thou? And he ſaid unto him, I am a Levite of Beth-lehem-judah, and I go to ſojourn where I may find a place.

10 And Micah ſaid unto him, Dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a prieſt, and I will give thee ten ſhekels of ſilver by the year, and a ſuit of apparel, and thy victuals. So the Levite went in.

11 And the Levite was content to dwell with the man; and the young man was unto him as one of his ſons.

12 And Micah conſecrated the Levite; and the young man became his prieſt, and was in the houſe of Micah.

13 Then ſaid Micah, Now know I that the Lord will do me good, ſeeing I have a Levite to my prieſt.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Danites ſend five men to ſeek out an inheritance: 27 they win Laiſh.

IN thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael: and in thoſe days the tribe of the Danites ſought them an inheritance to dwell in: for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Iſrael.

2 And the children of Dan ſent of their family five men from their coaſts, men of valour, from Zorah, and from Eſhtaol, to ſpy out the land, and to ſearch it; and they ſaid unto them, Go, ſearch the land: who, when they came to mount Ephraim, to the houſe of Micah, they lodged there.

3 When they were by the houſe of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite: and they turned in thither, and ſaid unto him, Who brought thee hither? and what makeſt thou in this place? and what haſt thou here?

4 And he ſaid unto them, Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his prieſt.

5 And they ſaid unto him, Aſk counſel, we pray thee, of God, that we may know whether our way which we go ſhall be proſperous.

6 And the prieſt ſaid unto them, Go in peace: before the Lord is your way wherein ye go.

7 Then the five men departed, and came to Laiſh, and ſaw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careleſs, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and ſecure; and there was no magiſtrate in the land, that might put them to ſhame in any thing, and they were far from the Zidonians, and had no buſineſs with any man.

8 And they came unto their brethren to Zorah and to Eſhtaol: and their brethren ſaid unto them, What ſay ye?

9 And they ſaid, Ariſe, that we may go up againſt them: for we have ſeen the land, and behold, it is very good; and are ye ſtill? be not ſlothful to go, and to enter to poſſeſs the land.

10 When ye go ye ſhall come unto a people ſecure, and to a large land: for God hath given it into your hands; a place where there is no want of any thing that is in the earth.

11 ¶ And there went from thence of the family of the Danites, out of Zorah and out of Eſhtaol, ſix hundred men appointed with weapons of war.

12 And they went up and pitched in Kirjath-jearim in Judah; wherefore they called that place Mahaneh-dan unto this day; behold, it is behind Kirjath-jearim.

13 And they paſſed thence unto mount Ephraim, and came unto the houſe of Micah.

14 Then anſwered the five men that went to ſpy out the country of Laiſh, and ſaid unto their brethren, Do ye know that there is in theſe houſes an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image? now therefore conſider what ye have to do.

Samſon's relations to take away his body, after he had deſtroyed ſo many of their countrymen, is not ſo eaſy to conceive. It ſhould however, be remembered, that there was formerly ſo much humanity among all nations, as not to prohibit enemies from interring their dead; and that the Iſraelites did not join with Samſon in his enterprizes; he ſtood alone in what he did. Beſides, it is very probable, that this laſt act of Samſon had greatly humbled them, and made them dread the power of the God of Iſrael, who had inſpired his hero with ſuch amazing ſtrength in his firſt time, and would not fail of taking ſignal vengeance on them, if they denied the body of Samſon the rites of ſepulchre. And therefore, dreading his very corpſe, they were very glad to find his relations willing to remove ſo formidable an object out of their ſight.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

1 And there was a man of mount Ephraim whoſe name was Micah.) When this tranſaction happened, is not agreed on by commentators; but the moſt probable opinion is that of thoſe who place it between Caleb's death, and Othniel's being choſen judge; but inſerted here by the ſacred hiſtorian, that he might not interrupt the thread of the narrative relating to the tranſactions of the whole nation.

12 And Micah conſecrated the Levite, and the young man became his prieſt.) This was a ſtrange preſumption in them both; in Micah, who could pretend to no authority to conſecrate; and in the Levite, who was incapable of executing the prieſt's office, not being of the ſeed of Aaron. But ſuch was the confuſion of thoſe times, for want of a judge, that Micah's ſuperſtition had no bounds; and the Levite's poverty and ambition induced him to accept of the proffered preferment.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 Sought them an inheritance to dwell in.) Some families of that tribe, being greatly ſtraightened by the old inhabitants of Canaan, ſought for a commodious ſettlement in ſome other part of the country.

15 And

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the house of the young man the Levite, even unto the house of Micah, and saluted him.

16 And the six hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, stood by the entering of the gate.

17 And the five men that went to spy out the land went up and came in thither, and took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image: and the priest stood in the entering of the gate with the six hundred men that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And these went into Micah's house, and fetched the carved image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image. Then said the priest unto them, What do ye?

19 And they said unto him, Hold thy peace, lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and go with us, and be to us a father and a priest: is it better for thee to be a priest unto the house of one man, or that thou be a priest unto a tribe and a family in Israel?

20 And the priest's heart was glad, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went in the midst of the people.

21 So they turned and departed, and put the little ones, and the cattle, and the carriages before them.

22 ¶ And when they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men that were in the houses near to Micah's house were gathered together, and overtook the children of Dan.

23 And they cried unto the children of Dan: and they turned their faces, and said unto Micah, What aileth thee, that thou comest with such a company?

24 And he said ye have taken away my gods which I made, and the priest, and ye are gone away: and what have I more? and what is this that ye say unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the children of Dan said unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows run upon thee, and thou lose thy life, with the lives of thy household.

26 And the children of Dan went their way: and when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned, and went back unto his house.

27 And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and came unto Laish, unto a people that were at quiet and secure: and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the city with fire.

28 And there was no deliverer, because it was far from Zidon, and they had no business with any man; and it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. And they built a city, and dwelt therein.

29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born unto Israel: howbeit, the name of the city was Laish at the first.

30 ¶ And the children of Dan set up the graven image: and Jonathan, the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh, he and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan until the day of the captivity of the land.

31 And they set them up Micah's graven image, which he made, all the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.

CHAP. XIX.

A Levite going to Beth-lehem to fetch his wife, 16 an old man entertaineth him at Gibeah. 22 The Gibeathites abuse his concubine to death.

AND it came to pass in those days, when there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite sojourning on the side of mount Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Beth-lehem-judah.

2 And his concubine played the whore against him, and went away from him unto her father's house to Beth-lehem-judah, and was there four whole months.

3 And her husband arose, and went after her to speak friendly unto her, and to bring her again, having his servant with him, and a couple of asses: and she brought him into her father's house, and when the father of the damsel saw him, he rejoiced to meet him.

4 And his father-in-law, the damsel's father retained him; and he abode with him three days: so they did eat and drink, and lodged there.

5 And it came to pass on the fourth day, when they arose early in the morning that he rose up to depart: and the damsel's father said unto his son-in-law, Comfort thine heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go your way.

6 And they sat down and did eat and drink both of them together: for the damsel's father had said unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thine heart be merry.

7 And when the man rose up to depart, his father-in-law urged him: therefore he lodged there again.

8 And he arose early in the morning on the fifth day to depart: and the damsel's father said, Comfort thine heart, I pray thee. And they tarried until afternoon, and they did eat both of them.

9 And when the man rose up to depart, he and his concubine, and his servant, his father-in-law, the damsel's father, said unto him, Behold, now the day draweth towards evening, I pray you tarry all night: behold, the day groweth to an end, lodge here, that thine heart may be merry; and to-morrow get you early on your way that thou mayest go home.

10 But the man would not tarry that night, but he rose up and departed, and came over against Jebus, (which is Jerusalem,) and there were with him two asses saddled; his concubine also was with him.

11 And when they were by Jebus, the day was far spent; and the servant said unto his master, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn in into this city of the Jebusites, and lodge in it.

12 And his master said unto him, We will not turn aside hither into the city of a stranger, that is not of the children of Israel; we will pass over to Gibeah.

13 And he said unto his servant, Come, and let us draw near to one of these places to lodge all night, in Gibeah, or in Ramah.

14 And they passed on, and went their way, and the sun

29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born unto Israel:) They gave it this name, that it might be remembered they belonged to the people of Israel, though they lived at a very great distance from their own tribe, in the very extremity of the north of Judah; whereas the tribe of Judah had their lot in the south-west: and from thence came the common expression, when they would signify the whole length of the country, from Dan to Beersheba; the former being situate in the northern, and the latter in the southern extremity of the land.

31 All the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.) That is, all the time the judges governed the people; for though they were zealous reformers, their authority, it seems, did not reach this country, where idolatry lurked till the ark of God was taken, and the Divine Schechinah no longer resided in Shiloh.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 A concubine.) That is a wife of a secondary sort, without such solemn espousals, or a dowry as those called wives: and it was adultery for any one to lie with them but those who had married them.

ſun went down upon them when they were by Gibeah which belongeth to Benjamin.

15 And they turned aſide thither, to go in and to lodge in Gibeah. And when he went in, he ſat him down in a ſtreet of the city: for there was no man that took them into his houſe to lodging.

16 ¶ And behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at even, which was alſo of mount Ephraim; and he ſojourned in Gibeah: but the men of the place were Benjamites.

17 And when he lifted up his eyes, he ſaw a wayfaring man in the ſtreet of the city: and the old man ſaid, Whither goeſt thou? and whence comeſt thou?

18 And he ſaid unto him, We are paſſing from Beth-lehem-judah, toward the ſide of mount Ephraim; from thence am I: and I went to Beth-lehem-judah, but I am now going to the houſe of the Lord; and there is no man that receiveth me to houſe.

19 Yet there is both ſtraw and provender for our aſſes; and there is bread and wine alſo for me, and for thy hand-maid, and for the young man which is with thy ſervants; there is no want of any thing.

20 And the old man ſaid, Peace be with thee; howſoever, let all thy wants lie upon me; only lodge not in the ſtreet.

21 So he brought him into his houſe, and gave provender unto the aſſes: and they waſhed their feet, and did eat and drink.

22 ¶ Now as they were making their hearts merry, behold, the men of the city, certain ſons of Belial, beſet the houſe round about, and beat at the door, and ſpake to the maſter of the houſe, the old man, ſaying, Bring forth the man that came into thine houſe, that we may know him.

23 And the man, the maſter of the houſe, went out unto them, and ſaid unto them, Nay, my brethren, nay, I pray you, do not ſo wickedly; ſeeing that this man is come into mine houſe, do not this folly.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine; them I will bring out now, and humble ye them, and do with them what ſeemeth good unto you; but unto this man do not ſo vile a thing.

25 But the men would not hearken to him: ſo the man took his concubine, and brought her forth unto them; and they knew her, and abuſed her all that night until the morning: and when the day began to ſpring, they let her go.

26 Then came the woman in the dawning of the day, and fell down at the door of the man's houſe where her lord was, till it was light.

27 And her lord roſe up in the morning, and opened the doors of the houſe, and went out to go his way: and behold, the woman his concubine was fallen down at the door of the houſe, and her hands were upon the threſhold.

28 And he ſaid unto her, Up, and let us be going: but none anſwered. Then the man took her up upon an aſs, and the man roſe up, and gat him unto his place.

29 And when he was come into his houſe, he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, together with her bones, into twelve pieces, and ſent her into all the coaſts of Iſrael.

30 And it was ſo, that all that ſaw it ſaid, There was no ſuch deed done nor ſeen from the day that the children of Iſrael came up out of the land of Egypt unto this day: conſider of it, take advice, and ſpeak your mind.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Levite, in a general aſſembly, declareth his wrong: 8 their decree. 26 The Benjamites are deſtroyed.

THEN all the children of Iſrael went out, and the congregation was gethered together as one man, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the Lord in Mizpeh.

2 And the chief of all the people, even of all the tribes of Iſrael, preſented themſelves in the aſſembly of the people of God, four hundred thouſand footmen that drew ſword.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Iſrael were gone up to Mizpeh.) Then ſaid the children of Iſrael, Tell us, how was this wickedneſs?

4 And the Levite, the huſband of the woman that was ſlain, anſwered, and ſaid, I came into Gibeah that belongeth to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to lodge:

5 And the men of Gibeah roſe againſt me, and beſet the houſe round about upon me by night, and thought to have ſlain me; and my concubine have they forced, that ſhe is dead.

6 And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and ſent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Iſrael: for they have committed lewdneſs and folly in Iſrael.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Iſrael; give here your advice and counſel.

8 ¶ And all the people aroſe as one man, ſaying, We will not any of us go to his tent, neither will we any of us turn into his houſe;

9 But now, this ſhall be the thing which we will do to Gibeah, we will go up by lot againſt it:

10 And we will take ten men of an hundred throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, and an hundred of a thouſand, and a thouſand out of ten thouſand, to fetch victual for the people, that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the folly that they have wrought in Iſrael.

11 So all the men of Iſrael were gathered againſt the city, knit together as one man.

12 ¶ And the tribes of Iſrael ſent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, ſaying, What wickedneſs is this that is done among you?

13 Now, therefore, deliver us the men, the children of Belial, which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil from Iſrael. But the

---

19 There was no man that took them into his houſe.) The inhabitants of Gibeah had loſt all notions of humanity; even the ancient hoſpitality, or cuſtom of entertaining ſtrangers, was quite aboliſhed. Or, if any perſon had ſo much goodneſs remaining as induced him to perform this generous and humane act, the fear of drawing miſchief on themſelves from their debauched neighbours, hindered them from doing it.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine, &c.) His earneſt deſire of preſerving the laws of hoſpitality from being violated, which in thoſe times were conſidered as ſacred, made him even forget the care he ought to have taken for preſerving his own daughter's purity. Perhaps he thought that their wickedneſs was not yet arrived to that ſhameful height as to offer any injury to a neighbour, though they had loſt all reſpect for the traveller. We have a ſimilar example in Lot, Gen. xix. 8. who like this inhabitant of Gibeah, offered his daughters to the brutal inhabitants of Sodom, to preſerve inviolate the laws of hoſpitality.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

1 And the congregation was gathered together as one man, &c.) That is, all Iſrael, both on this ſide and the other ſide Jordan. But the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead, together with the Benjaminites, muſt be excepted, who ſeem to have had no ſenſe of their wickedneſs. They were doubtleſs ſummoned as well as their brethren, but neglected to join them.

children

children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of their brethren the children of Iſrael.

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themſelves together out of the cities unto Gibeah, to go out to battle againſt the children of Iſrael.

15 And the children of Benjamin were numbered at that time, out of the cities, twenty and ſix thouſand men that drew ſword, beſide the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbered ſeven hundred choſen men.

16 Among all this people there were ſeven hundred choſen men left handed: every one could ſling ſtones at an hair-breadth, and not miſs.

17 And the men of Iſrael, beſide Benjamin, were numbered four hundred thouſand men that drew ſword: all theſe were men of war.

18 And the children of Iſrael aroſe, and went up to the houſe of God, and aſked counſel of God, and ſaid, Which of us ſhall go up firſt to the battle againſt the children of Benjamin? and the Lord ſaid, Judah ſhall go up firſt.

19 And the children of Iſrael roſe up in the morning, and encamped againſt Gibeah.

20 And the men of Iſrael went out to battle againſt Benjamin: and the men of Iſrael put themſelves in array to fight againſt them at Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah, and deſtroyed down to the ground of the Iſraelites that day twenty and two thouſand men.

22 And the people the men of Iſrael encouraged themſelves, and ſet their battle again in array in the place where they put themſelves in array the firſt day.

23 (And the children of Iſrael went up and wept before the Lord until even, and aſked council of the Lord, ſaying, Shall I go up again to battle againſt the children of Benjamin my brother? and the Lord ſaid, Go up againſt him.)

24 And the children of Iſrael came near againſt the children of Benjamin the ſecond day.

25 And Benjamin went forth againſt them out of Gibeah the ſecond day, and deſtroyed down to the ground of the children of Iſrael again eighteen thouſand men: all theſe drew the ſword.

26 ¶ Then all the children of Iſrael and all the people went up, and came unto the houſe of God, and wept, and ſat there before the Lord, and faſted that day until even, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings before the Lord.

27 And the children of Iſrael enquired of the Lord, (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in thoſe days, 28 And Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron, ſtood before it in thoſe days) ſaying, Shall I yet again go out to battle againſt the children of Benjamin my brother, or ſhall I ceaſe? and the Lord ſaid, Go up: for to-morrow I will deliver them into thine hand.

29 And Iſrael ſet liers in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And the children of Iſrael went up againſt the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themſelves in array againſt Gibeah as at other times.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out againſt the people, and were drawn away from the city; and they began to ſmite of the people, and kill as at other times, in the high-ways of which one goeth up to the houſe of God, and the other to Gibeah in the field, about thirty men of Iſrael.

32 And the children of Benjamin ſaid, They are ſmitten down before us as at the firſt. But the children of Iſrael ſaid, Let us flee, and draw them from the city unto the high-ways.

33 And all the men of Iſrael roſe up out of their place, and put themſelves in array at Baal-tamor: and the liers in wait of Iſrael came forth out of their places, even out of the meadows of Gibeah.

34 And there came againſt Gibeah, ten thouſand choſen men out of all Iſrael, and the battle was ſore: but they knew not that evil was near them.

35 And the Lord ſmote Benjamin before Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael deſtroyed of the Benjamites that day twenty and five thouſand and an hundred men: all theſe drew the ſword.

36 So the children of Benjamin ſaw that they were ſmitten: for the men of Iſrael gave place to the Benjamites, becauſe they truſted unto the liers in wait which they had ſet beſide Gibeah.

37 And the liers in wait haſted, and ruſhed upon Gibeah; and the liers in wait drew themſelves along, and ſmote all the city with the edge of the ſword.

38 Now there was an appointed ſign between the men of Iſrael and the liers in wait, that they ſhould make a great flame with ſmoke to riſe up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Iſrael retired in the battle, Benjamin began to ſmite, and kill of the men of Iſrael about thirty perſons: for they ſaid, Surely they are ſmitten down before us as in the firſt battle.

40 But when the flame began to ariſe up out of the city with a pillar of ſmoke, the Benjamites looked behind them, and, behold, the flame of the city aſcended up to heaven.

41 And when the men of Iſrael turned again, the men of Benjamin were amazed: for they ſaw that evil was come upon them.

42 Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Iſrael unto the way of the wilderneſs; but the battle overtook them: and them which came out of the cities they deſtroyed in the midſt of them.

43 Thus they incloſed the Benjamites round about, and chaſed them, and trode them down with eaſe, over againſt Gibeah toward the ſun-riſing.

44 And there fell of Benjamin eighteen thouſand men: all theſe were men of valour.

45 And they turned, and fled toward the wilderneſs unto the rock of Rimmon: and they gleaned of them in the high-ways five thouſand men; and purſued hard after them unto Gidom, and ſlew two thouſand men of them.

46 So that all which fell that day of Benjamin were twenty and five thouſand men that drew the ſword: all theſe were men of valour.

47 But ſix hundred men turned and fled to the wilderneſs unto the rock Rimmon, and abode in the rock Rimmon four months.

48 And the men of Iſrael turned again upon the children of Benjamin, and ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, as well the men of every city, as the beaſt, and all that came to hand: alſo they ſet on fire all the cities that they came to.

13 But the children of Benjamin would not hearken, &c.) They ſeem to have been as unanimous in the defence of this wickedneſs, as the reſt of the tribes were in their endeavours to have it puniſhed: for, quite contrary to all their brethren, who upon hearing of this crime, met together, examined into it, ſent meſſengers to deſire the malefactors might be delivered up, and receive the puniſhment they ſo juſtly deſerved; they perverſely refuſed to come to the aſſembly and deliver up the malefactors, or even make any apology for the crime; but, on the contrary, prepared themſelves to protect ſuch lewd criminals with all their power.

23 And aſked counſel of the Lord.) The phraſe here uſed, upon both theſe conſultations, of aſking counſel of the Lord, often means no more than conſulting their grand council or ſanhedrim, with the high-prieſt at their head.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The people bewailing the deſolation of Benjamin, 16 adviſe them to ſurpriſe the virgins that danced at Shiloh.

NOW the men of Iſrael had ſworn in Mizpeh, ſaying, There ſhall not any of us give his daughter unto Benjamin to wife.

2 And the people came to the houſe of God, and abode there till even before God, and lift up their voices and wept ſore,

3 And ſaid, O Lord God of Iſrael, why is this come to paſs in Iſrael, that there ſhould be to-day one tribe lacking in Iſrael?

4 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the people roſe early, and built there an altar, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings.

5 And the children of Iſrael ſaid, Who is there among all the tribes of Iſrael that came not up with the congregation unto the Lord? for they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the Lord to Mizpeh, ſaying, He ſhall ſurely be put to death.

6 And the children of Iſrael repented them for Benjamin their brother, and ſaid, There is one tribe cut off from Iſrael this day:

7 How ſhall we do for wives for them that remain, ſeeing we have ſworn by the Lord, that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

8 ¶ And they ſaid, What one is there of the tribes of Iſrael that came not up to Mizpeh to the Lord? And, behold, there came none to the camp from Jabeſh-gilead to the aſſembly.

9 For the people were numbered, and, behold, there were none of the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead there.

10 And the congregation ſent thither twelve thouſand men of the valianteſt, and commanded them, ſaying, Go and ſmite the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead with the edge of the ſword, with the women and the children.

11 And this is the thing that ye ſhall do. Ye ſhall utterly deſtroy every male, and every woman that hath lain by man.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead four hundred young virgins, that had known no man by lying with any male: and they brought them into the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 And the whole congregation ſent ſome to ſpeak to the children of Benjamin that were in the rock Rimmon, and to call peaceably unto them.

14 And Benjamin came again at that time; and they gave them wives which they had ſaved alive of the women of Jabeſh-gilead: and yet ſo they ſufficed them not.

15 And the people repented them for Benjamin, becauſe that the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Iſrael.

16 ¶ Then the elders of the congregation ſaid, How ſhall we do for wives for them that remain, ſeeing the women are deſtroyed out of Benjamin?

17 And they ſaid, There muſt be an inheritance for them that be eſcaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not deſtroyed out of Iſrael.

18 Howbeit we may not give them wives of our daughters: for the children of Iſrael have ſworn, ſaying, Curſed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Then they ſaid, Behold, there is a feaſt of the Lord in Shiloh yearly, in a place which is on the north ſide of Beth-el, on the eaſt ſide of the highway that goeth up from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the ſouth of Lebonah.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, ſaying, Go, and lie in wait in the vineyards:

21 And ſee, and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards and catch you every man his wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.

22 And it ſhall be when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, that we will ſay unto them, Be favourable unto them for our ſakes: becauſe we reſerved not to each man his wife in the war: for ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye ſhould be guilty.

23 And the children of Benjamin did ſo, and took them wives according to their number of them that danced, whom they caught. And they went and returned unto their inheritance, and repaired the cities and dwelt in them.

24 And the children of Iſrael departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and they went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael, every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

3 O Lord God of Iſrael, why is this come to paſs in Iſrael, that there ſhould be to-day one tribe lacking in Iſrael?) When the Iſraelites fury againſt Benjamin was abated, and they began to conſider ſeriouſly of what they had done; how they had almoſt totally deſtroyed one of the tribes of Iſrael, and bound themſelves by an oath never to marry their daughters to the poor remains of it, which muſt prove the extirpation of the whole; the joy and triumph of their late victory was turned into mourning and bitter lamentation.

10 Go, and ſmite the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead, &c.) It is not the intent of the ſacred hiſtorian to relate things any otherwiſe than they really happened; not is it any part of the duty of a commentator to apologize for actions which are in themſelves abominable, and admit of no excuſe. The maſſacre of the people of Jabeſh-gilead, without ever ſending to know the reaſon of their abſenting themſelves from the war, was a cruel expedient to extricate the Iſraelites from the difficulty, in which their ſuperſtitious obſervance of an unlawful oath had involved them, and is a ſhocking inſtance of the iniquity and barbarity of thoſe times: for however ſevere the laws of military diſcipline may be, or with what juſtice ſoever recuſants as well as deſerters in war may be deemed guilty, and the Jabeſhites called public enemies, becauſe they did not obey the order of the whole congregation, and, by refuſing to join with them againſt the Benjamites, became themſelves partakers of their crimes; yet, ſurely, to ſlay the innocent with the guilty, and to put the women and children to death, who could have nothing to do with arms, is the very height of injuſtice and barbarity.

19 Behold, there is a feaſt of the Lord in Shiloh yearly.) All the three great feſtivals were to be obſerved at the place where God had ſettled his habitation, which was now at Shiloh, where all the people aſſembled to praiſe God, and to feaſt one with another. But probably the feaſt here meant was that of tabernacles, which was a time of great joy, becauſe they had newly gathered their vintage, and dwelt in booths, behind which the Benjamites might conveniently lurk, and watch their opportunity of carrying away the virgins. The feaſt of tabernacles was alſo the only ſeaſon wherein the Jewiſh virgins were allowed to dance.

25 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael, &c.) The ſacred hiſtorian has here aſſigned the beſt reaſon for all the abuſes committed in this and the preceding chapters. It was owing to this want of authority that men committed many horrid actions which were not publicly allowed. This was the cauſe of Micah's idolatry, of the Benjaminites abominable luſts, and of the enormous things done by the Iſraelites.

THE BOOK OF RUTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is an appendix to that of Judges, and an introduction to thoſe of Samuel, and is therefore properly placed between them. It has its title from the perſon who ſtory is here principally related; and who left her country, kindred, and relations, out of her great affection to her mother-in-law, and her religion, to live with her in the land of Iſrael in a poor and mean condition. It is very probable, that the ſame perſon who wrote the book of Judges, was alſo the author of this; it is generally attributed to Samuel.

CHAP. I.

1 Elimelech driven by famine into Moab dieth there. 6 Naomi returning home, 14 Ruth accompanieth her.

NOW it came to paſs, in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land: and a certain man of Beth-lehem-judah went to ſojourn in the country of Moab, he and his wife and his two ſons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two ſons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah. And they came into the country of Moab, and continued there.

3 And Elimelech Naomi's huſband died; and ſhe was left, and her two ſons.

4 And they took them wives of the women of Moab; the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died alſo both of them: and the woman was left of her two ſons and her huſband.

6 ¶ Then ſhe aroſe with her daughters-in-law, that ſhe might return from the country of Moab: for ſhe had heard in the country of Moab, how that the Lord had viſited his people in giving them bread.

7 Wherefore ſhe went forth out of the place where ſhe was, and her two daughters-in-law with her: and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi ſaid unto her two daughters-in-law, Go, return each to her mother's houſe; the Lord deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.

9 The Lord grant you that ye may find reſt, each of you in the houſe of her huſband. Then ſhe kiſſed them. And they lifted up their voice and wept.

10 And they ſaid unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 And Naomi ſaid, Turn again, my daughters; why will ye go with me? are there yet any more ſons in my womb, that they may be your huſbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way; for I am too old to have an huſband. If I ſhould ſay, I have hope, if I ſhould have an huſband alſo to-night, and ſhould alſo bear ſons;

13 Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye ſtay for them from having huſbands? nay, my daughters, for it grieveth me much for your ſakes, that the hand of the Lord is gone out againſt me.

14 And they lifted up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kiſſed her mother-in-law; but Ruth clave unto her.

15 And ſhe ſaid, Behold, thy ſiſter-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy ſiſter-in-law.

16 And Ruth ſaid, Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goeſt, I will go; and where thou lodgeſt, I will lodge; thy people ſhall be my people, and thy God my God.

17 Where thou dieſt will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do ſo to me, and more alſo, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When ſhe ſaw that ſhe was ſtedfaſtly minded to go with her, then ſhe left ſpeaking unto her.

19 ¶ So they two went until they came to Beth-

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 There was a famine in the land: and a certain man of Beth-lehem judah.) There were two places called by the name of Beth-lehem: one ſituated in the tribe of Judah, and the other in the tribe of Zebulun. They had their name from the remarkable fruitfulneſs of the countries in which they were ſituated; which proves that this was a very dreadful famine, as even theſe places did not afford proviſions ſufficient for the inhabitants.

8 And Naomi ſaid unto her two daughters-in-law, Go, &c.) She was deſirous that they ſhould accompany her no farther, but return to their parents, with whom, it ſeems, it was the cuſtom for widows to dwell.

17 Where thou dieſt, will I die, and there will I be buried, &c.) She determines that death only ſhould ſeparate her from her mother-in-law; and that even the king of terrors himſelf ſhould not, in every reſpect, cauſe a ſeparation; for ſhe would lie in the ſame ſepulchre with her: and this ſhe confirms with an oath, or ſolemn imprecation on herſelf, that worſe might befal her than any thing Naomi could poſſibly ſuffer, if ſhe did not faithfully adhere to her.

lehem.

lehem. And it came to paſs, when they were come to Beth-lehem, that all the city was moved about them; and they ſaid, Is this Naomi?

20 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.

21 I went out full, and the Lord hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, ſeeing the Lord hath teſtified againſt me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabiteſs, her daughter-in-law, with her, which returned out of the country of Moab: and they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of barley-harveſt.

CHAP. II.

1 Ruth gleaneth in the fields of Boaz. 4 He taketh knowledge of her, 8 and ſheweth her favour.

AND Naomi had a kinſman of her huſband's, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimelech: and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabiteſs ſaid unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whoſe ſight I ſhall find grace. And ſhe ſaid unto her, Go my daughter.

3 And ſhe went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.

4 ¶ And behold, Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and ſaid unto the reapers, The Lord be with you: and they anſwered him, The Lord bleſs thee.

5 Then ſaid Boaz unto his ſervant that was ſet over the reapers, Whoſe damſel is this?

6 And the ſervant that was ſet over the reapers anſwered and ſaid, It is the Moabitiſh damſel that came back with Naomi out of the country of Moab:

7 And ſhe ſaid, I pray you, let me glean, and gather after the reapers, amongſt the ſheaves: ſo ſhe came, and hath continued even from the morning until now, that ſhe tarried a little in the houſe.

8 ¶ Then ſaid Boaz unto Ruth, Heareſt thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here faſt by my maidens:

9 Let thine eyes be on the field, that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men that they ſhall not touch thee? and when thou art athirſt, go unto the veſſels, and drink of that which the young men have drawn.

10 Then ſhe fell on her face, and bowed herſelf to the ground, and ſaid unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou ſhouldeſt take knowledge of me, ſeeing I am a ſtranger?

11 And Boaz anſwered, and ſaid unto her, it hath fully been ſhewed me all that thou haſt done unto thy mother-in-law ſince the death of thine huſband: and how thou haſt left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewеſt not heretofore.

12 The Lord recompenſe thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord God of Iſrael, under whoſe wings thou art come to truſt.

13 Then ſhe ſaid, Let me find favour in thy ſight, my lord; for that thou haſt comforted me, and for that thou haſt ſpoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.

14 And Boaz ſaid unto her, At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morſel in the vinegar. And ſhe ſat beſide the reapers: and he reached her parched corn, and ſhe did eat, and was ſufficed, and left.

15 And when ſhe was riſen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, ſaying, Let her glean even among the ſheaves, and reproach her not:

16 And let fall alſo ſome of the handfuls of purpoſe for her, and leave them, that ſhe may glean them, and rebuke her not.

17 So ſhe gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that ſhe had gleaned; and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 ¶ And ſhe took it up, and went into the city: and her mother-in law ſaw what ſhe had gleaned: and ſhe brought forth, and gave to her that ſhe had reſerved after ſhe was ſufficed.

19 And her mother-in-law ſaid unto her, Where haſt thou gleaned to-day? and where wroughteſt thou? bleſſed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And ſhe ſhewed her mother-in-law with whom ſhe had wrought, and ſaid, The man's name with whom I wrought to-day is Boaz.

20 And Naomi ſaid unto her daughter-in-law, Bleſſed be he of the Lord, who hath not left off his kindneſs to the living and to the dead. And Naomi ſaid unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, one of our next kinſmen.

21 And Ruth the Moabiteſs ſaid, He ſaid unto me alſo, Thou ſhalt keep faſt by my young men, until they have ended all my harveſt.

22 And Naomi ſaid unto Ruth her daughter-in-law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they meet thee not in any other field.

23 So ſhe kept faſt by the maidens of Boaz to glean unto the end of barley-harveſt, and of wheat-harveſts; and dwelt with her mother-in-law.

CHAP. III.

1 By Naomi's inſtruction, Ruth lieth at Boaz's feet. 8 Boaz acknowledgeth the right of a kinſman.

THEN Naomi her mother-in-law ſaid unto her, My daughter, ſhall I not ſeek reſt for thee, that it may be well with thee?

2 And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whoſe maidens thou waſt? Behold, he winnoweth barley to-night in the threſhing-floor.

3 Waſh thyſelf, therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor:

---

20 Call me not Naomi, call me Mara.) She was deſirous her name ſhould be conformable to her condition; and therefore deſires them, inſtead of Naomi, which ſignifies pleaſant, to call her Mara, or bitter.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

2 Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn.) Her modeſty and dutiful affection would not ſuffer her to go to the field, without her mother's conſent; though the intention of it was to glean ears of corn for her own and aged parent's ſubſiſtence.

4 And ſaid unto the reapers, The Lord be with you.) This is the firſt time we meet with this religious ſalutation, The Lord be with you, which we afterwards find was familiar, and continued even to the time of our Saviour, when the angel ſaluted the bleſſed Virgin after this manner, Luke i. 28.

12 The Lord recompence thy work, &c.) He conſidered her leaving all that was dear to her in the world, to become a worſhipper of the true God, as a very noble act of faith and virtue; and therefore prays, that Jehovah would pour his choiceſt bleſſings on her head.

14 At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morſel in the vinegar.) Under the word bread is comprehended all the proviſion that was made for the reapers, with which they had vinegar for ſauce, it being very cooling and refreſhing in hot ſeaſons, as the time of harveſt was.

but but make not thyſelf known unto the man until he ſhall have done eating and drinking.

4 And it ſhall be when he lieth down, that thou ſhalt mark the place where he ſhall lie, and thou ſhalt go in, and uncover his feet, and lay thee down; and he will tell thee what thou ſhalt do.

5 And ſhe ſaid unto her, All that thou ſayeſt unto me, I will do.

6 And ſhe went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother-in-law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn; and ſhe came ſoftly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

8 ¶ And it came to paſs at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himſelf: and behold a woman lay at his feet.

9 And he ſaid, Who art thou? and ſhe anſwered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: ſpread therefore thy ſkirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinſman.

10 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be thou of the Lord, my daughter: for thou haſt ſhewed more kindneſs in the latter end than at the beginning, inaſmuch as thou followedſt not young men, whether poor or rich.

11 And now, my daughter fear not; I will do to thee all that thou requireſt: for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman.

12 And now it is true, that I am thy near kinſman: howbeit there is a kinſman nearer than I.

13 Tarry this night, and it ſhall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinſman, well; let him do the kinſman's part: but if he will not do the part of a kinſman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinſman to thee, as the Lord liveth: lie down until the morning.

14 And ſhe lay at his feet until the morning: and ſhe roſe up before one could know another. And he ſaid, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor.

15 Alſo he ſaid, Bring the veil that thou haſt upon thee, and hold it. And when ſhe held it, he meaſured ſix meaſures of barley, and laid it on her; and ſhe went into the city.

16 And when ſhe came to her mother-in-law, ſhe ſaid, Who art thou, my daughter? and ſhe told her all that the man had done to her.

17 And ſhe ſaid, Theſe ſix meaſures of barley gave he me; for he ſaid to me, Go not empty unto thy mother-in-law.

18 Then ſaid ſhe, Sit ſtill, my daughter, until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in reſt, until he have finiſhed the thing this day.

CHAP. IV.

1 Boaz calleth into judgment the next kinſman. 6 He refuſeth the redemption, 10 Boaz marrieth Ruth.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate, and ſat him down there: and behold, the kinſman, of whom Boaz ſpake, came by; unto whom he ſaid, Ho, Such a one, turn aſide, ſit down here. And he turned aſide, and ſat down.

2 And he took ten men of the elders of the city, and ſaid, Sit ye down here, and they ſat down.

3 And he ſaid unto the kinſman, Naomi that is come again out of the country of Moab, ſelleth a parcel of land which was our brother Elimelech's:

4 And I thought to advertiſe thee, ſaying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it beſides thee; and I am after thee. And he ſaid, I will redeem it.

5 Then ſaid Boaz, What day thou buyeſt the field of the hand of Naomi, thou muſt buy it alſo of Ruth the Moabiteſs, the wife of the dead, to raiſe up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.

6 ¶ And the kinſman ſaid, I cannot redeem it for myſelf, leſt I mar mine own inheritance: redeem thou my right to thyſelf; for I cannot redeem it.

7 Now this was the manner in former time in Iſrael concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his ſhoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a teſtimony in Iſrael.

8 Therefore the kinſman ſaid unto Boaz, Buy it for thee: ſo he drew off his ſhoe.

9 And Boaz ſaid unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witneſſes this day that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's, and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.

10 ¶ Moreover, Ruth the Moabiteſs, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchaſed to be my wife, to raiſe up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witneſſes this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders ſaid, We are witneſſes. The Lord make the woman that is come into thine houſe like Rachel, and like Leah, which two did build the houſe of Iſrael: and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Bethlehem:

12 And let thy houſe be like the houſe of Pharez, (whom Tamar bare unto Judah) of the ſeed which

---

7 He went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn.) Such was the ſimplicity of living it theſe early times, that the moſt wealthy perſons looked after their own buſineſs, both at home and in the field. Theſe threſhing-floors were covered at the top, to defend the corn from the rain; but open on all ſides, to give a free paſſage to the wind for winnowing the corn. They ſeem however, to have been ſhut up at night, to prevent robbers from entering them, and ſtealing the corn and inſtruments of huſbandry, which were commonly left there.

10 Bleſſed be thou of the Lord, my daughter, &c.) He was ſo far from being incenſed at her boldneſs, that he wiſhes her all kinds of happineſs, commending her true kindneſs both to her mother and her huſband, which was now more evident than before, by her endeavours to preſerve his name and family.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

3 Naomi that is come again out of the country of Moab ſelleth a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's.) He calls him their brother, becauſe he was a near kinſman; and mentions Naomi's return out of the country of Moab, to intimate, that her poverty obliged her to ſell the inheritance her huſband had left her.

7 A man plucked off his ſhoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a teſtimony in Iſrael.) A ſufficient evidence that he tranſferred all his right unto the perſon to whom he delivered his ſhoe. It is not eaſy to diſcover the original of this cuſtom; but the reaſon is ſufficiently plain, it being a natural indication that he reſigned his intereſt in the land by giving the other his ſhoe, on which he uſed to walk in it, that he might enter and take poſſeſſion of it himſelf. It muſt here be obſerved, that this ceremony was very different from that mentioned Deut. xxv. for Ruth did not looſe his ſhoe, much leſs ſpit in his face, as the law there ordered to do. This ceremony, therefore, wholly belonged to the ſale of lands.

the Lord ſhall give thee of this young woman.

13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth, and ſhe was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the Lord gave her conception, and ſhe bare a ſon.

14 And the women ſaid unto Naomi, Bleſſed be the Lord, which hath not left thee this day without a kinſman, that his name may be famous in Iſrael.

15 And he ſhall be unto thee a reſtorer of thy life, and a nouriſher of thine old age: for thy daughter-in-law which loveth thee, which is better to thee than ſeven ſons, hath born him.

16 And Naomi took the child and laid it in her boſom, and became nurſe unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name, ſaying, There is a ſon born to Naomi: and they called his name Obed: he is the father of Jeſſe, the father of David.

18 ¶ Now theſe are the generations of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron,

19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab,

20 And Amminadab begat Nahſhon, and Nahſhon begat Salmon,

21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,

22 And Obed begat Jeſſe, and Jeſſe begat David.

15 For thy daughter-in-law which loveth thee, which is better to thee than ſeven ſons, hath born him.) They hoped the child would inherit the virtues of its mother, particularly her affection to Naomi; which was ſo very remarkable, that ſhe was a greater bleſſing to her than many ſons of her own body: for they, out of their ſmall fortune, would have been hardly able to maintain themſelves; whereas this child being the ſon of a rich father could afford her a plentiful maintenance.

17 He is the father of Jeſſe, the father of David.) This book ſeems to have been written principally for the ſake of this genealogy, it being neceſſary to trace the family to its origin, as the Meſſiah was to ſpring from it; and accordingly it is traced, in the following verſes, from Pharez, the grandſon of Jacob, to David. It is ſuppoſed that Jeſſe was not, properly ſpeaking, the ſon of Obed, but deſcended from him; his ſon who was an idolater, being omitted here, and in the genealogy of St. Matthew, together with the two following branches: and thus Jeſſe, being of the fourth generation, is mentioned as begotten of Obed, an expreſſion common in the Old Teſtament. Thus it is ſaid of Hezekiah, "That of his ſons which ſhould iſſue from him, whom he ſhould beget, they ſhould take, and they ſhould be carried captives to Babylon," Iſ. xxxix. 7. and yet this was not fulfilled till the time of Zedekiah, between whom were Manaſſes, Amon, and Joſiah. Thus God declares himſelf to be a jealous God, and one who viſits the iniquities of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate him, and make to themſelves a graven image to bow down to it, and worſhip it: and, among other puniſhments, this is one, that their memory ſhall periſh. Thus Zeraiah loſt the high prieſthood from the houſe of Eleazer, in the time of Eli, who was of the houſe of Ithama, another ſon of Aaron; but the office was reſtored again, after three generations, by Zadok, in the time of Solomon.

THE

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL:

OTHERWISE CALLED

The First Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The two Books of Samuel are in the Greek verſion ſtiled Reigns, and in vulgar, the Latin, Kings; but in the Hebrew they are called the Books of Samuel. However as the firſt twenty-four chapters contain all that relates to the hiſtory of Samuel, he is generally thought to be the author of thoſe twenty-four chapters only, and that the prophets Gad and Nathan wrote the remainder.

The Books of Samuel and Kings are a continued hiſtory of the reigns of the kings of Iſrael and Judah; for which reaſon the firſt and ſecond Books of Samuel are ſtiled the firſt and ſecond Books of Kings; and the two Books of Kings are alſo called the third and fourth Books of Kings.

CHAP. I.

1 Elkanah and his two wives. 9 Hannah's prayer. 19 Samuel is born, 24 and preſented to the Lord.

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim, of mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Elihu, the ſon of Tohu, the ſon of Zuph, an Ephrathite.

2 And he had two wives; the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 And this man went up out of his city yearly, to worſhip and to ſacrifice unto the Lord of hoſts in Shiloh. And the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the prieſts of the Lord, were there.

4 And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her ſons and her daughters, portions.

5 But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion: for he loved Hannah; but the Lord had ſhut up her womb.

6 And her adverſary alſo provoked her ſore for to make her fret, becauſe the Lord had ſhut up her womb.

7 And as he did ſo year by year, when ſhe went up to the houſe of the Lord; ſo ſhe provoked her; therefore ſhe wept, and did not eat.

8 Then ſaid Elkanah her huſband to her, Hannah, why weepeſt thou? and why eateſt thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I better to thee than ten ſons?

9 ¶ So Hannah roſe up after they had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drunk. Now Eli the prieſt ſat upon a ſeat by a poſt of the temple of the Lord.

10 And ſhe was in bitterneſs of ſoul, and prayed unto the Lord, and wept ſore.

11 And ſhe vowed a vow, and ſaid, O Lord of hoſts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but wilt give unto thine handmaid a man-child, then I will give him unto the Lord all the days of his life, and there ſhall no raſor come upon his head.

12 ¶ And it came to paſs, as ſhe continued praying before the Lord, that Eli marked her mouth.

13 Now Hannah, ſhe ſpake in her heart, only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard: therefore Eli thought ſhe had been drunken.

14 And Eli ſaid unto her, how long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee.

15 And Hannah anſwered and ſaid, No, my lord, I am a woman of a ſorrowful ſpirit: I have drunk neither wine nor ſtrong drink, but have poured out my ſoul before the Lord.

16 Count not thine handmaid for a daughter of Belial;

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 Now there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim.) Ramah is here called, in the dual number, Ramathaim, becauſe it was built upon two hills, which made it appear like a double city; and the title of Zophim ſeems added to it, becauſe of a watch-tower that was placed upon its eminence.

4 He gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her ſons and her daughters, portions.) That is, parts of the peace-offerings, which belonged to him that offered them, except the fat, and the breaſt and right ſhoulder; whereby they had communion with the Lord, by partaking with him of his ſacrifice.

lial: for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief have I ſpoken hitherto.

17 Then Eli anſwered and ſaid, Go in peace: and the God of Iſrael grant thee thy petition that thou haſt aſked of him.

18 And ſhe ſaid, Let thine handmaid find grace in thy ſight. So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her countenance was no more ſad.

19 ¶ And they roſe up in the morning early, and worſhipped before the Lord, and returned, and came to their houſe to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the Lord remembered her.

20 Wherefore it came to paſs, when the time was come about, after Hannah had conceived, that ſhe bare a ſon, and called his name Samuel, ſaying, Becauſe I have aſked him of the Lord.

21 And the man Elkanah, and all his houſe, went up to offer unto the Lord the yearly ſacrifice, and his vow.

22 But Hannah went not up: for ſhe ſaid unto her huſband, I will not go up until the child be weaned, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the Lord, and there abide for ever.

23 And Elkanah her huſband ſaid unto her, Do what ſeemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him; only the Lord eſtabliſh his word. So the woman abode, and gave her ſon ſuck until ſhe weaned him.

24 And when ſhe had weaned him, ſhe took him up with her, with three bullocks, and one ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the houſe of the Lord in Shiloh. And the child was young.

25 And they ſlew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.

26 And ſhe ſaid, O my Lord, as thy ſoul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that ſtood by thee here praying unto the Lord.

27 For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I aſked of him.

28 Therefore alſo I have lent him to the Lord as long as he liveth; he ſhall be lent to the Lord. And he worſhipped the Lord there.

CHAP. II.

1 Hannah's ſong. 12 The ſin of Eli's ſons. 18 Samuel's miniſtry. 27 A prophecy againſt Eli's houſe.

AND Hannah prayed, and ſaid, My heart rejoiceth in the Lord, mine horn is exalted in the Lord, my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies; becauſe I rejoice in thy ſalvation.

2 There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beſide thee: neither is there any rock like our God.

3 Talk no more ſo exceeding proudly; let not arrogancy come out of your mouth: for the Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.

4 The bows of the mighty men are broken, and they that ſtumbled are girded with ſtrength.

5 They that were full have hired out themſelves for bread: and they that were hungry ceaſed: ſo that the barren hath borne ſeven: and ſhe that hath many children is waxed feeble.

6 The Lord killeth, and maketh alive: he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up.

7 The Lord maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up.

8 He raiſeth up the poor out of the duſt, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghill, to ſet them among princes, and to make them inherit the throne of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the Lord's, and he hath ſet the world upon them.

9 He will keep the feet of his ſaints, and the wicked ſhall be ſilent in darkneſs: for by ſtrength ſhall no man prevail.

10 The adverſaries of the Lord ſhall be broken to pieces: out of heaven ſhall he thunder upon them: the Lord ſhall judge the ends of the earth; and he ſhall give ſtrength unto his king, and exalt the horn of his anointed.

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his houſe: and the child did miniſter unto the Lord before Eli the prieſt.

12 ¶ Now the ſons of Eli were ſons of Belial: they knew not the Lord.

13 And the prieſt's cuſtom with the people was, that when any man offered ſacrifice, the prieſt's ſervant came, while the fleſh was in ſeething, with a fleſh-hook of three teeth in his hand:

14 And he ſtruck it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot: all that the fleſh-hook brought up, the prieſt took for himſelf. So they did in Shiloh unto all the Iſraelites that came thither.

15 Alſo before they burned the fat, the prieſt's ſervant came, and ſaid to the man that ſacrificed, Give fleſh to roaſt for the prieſt: for he will not have ſodden fleſh of thee, but raw.

16 And if any man ſaid unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat preſently, and then take as much as thy ſoul deſireth: then he would anſwer him, Nay; but thou ſhalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.

17 Wherefore the ſin of the young men was very great before the Lord: for men abhorred the offering of the Lord.

18 ¶ But Samuel miniſtered before the Lord, being a child, girded with a linen ephod.

19 Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when ſhe came up with her huſband to offer the yearly ſacrifice.

20 And Eli bleſſed Elkanah and his wife, and ſaid, The Lord give thee ſeed of this woman, for the loan which is lent to the Lord. And they went unto their own home.

21 And the Lord viſited Hannah, ſo that ſhe conceived and bare three ſons and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the Lord.

20 She bare a ſon and called his name Samuel.) The word Samuel is contracted from Saul-meel, aſked of God; a name ſhe choſe to give him, to put him in mind that ſhe had obtained him from God by ardent prayers.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 And Hannah prayed, and ſaid.) It was common among the Hebrews to comprehend hymns under the name of prayers; in the compoſition of which, holy ſouls were ſometimes aſſiſted by divine inſpiration, in their devout meditations on the amazing bounty and goodneſs of the Lord.

4 They that ſtumbled are girt with ſtrength.) Girdles were a principal part of the military habit among ancients, and it here elegantly tranſlated to ſignify ſtrength, or warlike power; and hence the apoſtle, among his ſpiritual armour, exhorts the Epheſians to be girt about with truth.

10 And exalt the horn of his anointed.) This was literally fulfilled in David, who, by the help of his God, triumphed over all his enemies, and was the moſt eminent type of the great king of all, the Lord Chriſt; to whom theſe words in the fulleſt ſenſe belong, whoſe dominion is an everlaſting dominion, and his kingdom that which ſhall not be deſtroyed. It is remarkable that the word Meſſiah, anointed, occurs here for the firſt time in the ſacred writings; ſo that though ſeveral had before propheſied of him, Hannah was the firſt that mentioned him by name.

22 Now Eli was very old, and heard all that his ſons did unto all Iſrael; and how that they lay with the women that aſſembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he ſaid unto them, Why do ye ſuch things? for I hear of your evil dealings by all this people.

24 Nay, my ſons; for it is no good report that I hear; ye make the Lord's people to tranſgreſs.

25 If one man ſin againſt another, the judge ſhall judge him; but if a man ſin againſt the Lord, who ſhall intreat for him? notwithſtanding, they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, becauſe the Lord would ſlay them.

26 And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favour both with the Lord and alſo with men.

27 ¶ And there came a man of God unto Eli, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Did I plainly appear unto the houſe of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's houſe?

28 And did I chooſe him out of all the tribes of Iſrael to be my prieſt, to offer upon mine altar, to burn incenſe, to wear an ephod before me? and did I give unto the houſe of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Iſrael?

29 Wherefore kick ye at my ſacrifice and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation, and honoureſt thy ſons above me, to make yourſelves fat with the chiefeſt of all the offerings of Iſrael my people?

30 Wherefore the Lord God of Iſrael ſaith, I ſaid indeed that thy houſe, and the houſe of thy fathers ſhould walk before me for ever: but now the Lord ſaith, Be it far from me: for them that honour me I will honour, and they that deſpiſe me ſhall be lightly eſteemed.

31 Behold, the days come that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's houſe, that there ſhall not be an old man in thine houſe.

32 And thou ſhalt ſee an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God ſhall give Iſrael: and there ſhall not be an old man in thine houſe for ever.

33 And the man of thine, whom I ſhall not cut off from mine altar, ſhall be to conſume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart: and all the increaſe of thine houſe ſhall die in the flower of their age.

34 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee that ſhall come upon thy two ſons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they ſhall die both of them.

35 And I will raiſe me up a faithful prieſt that ſhall do according to that which is in mine heart, and in my mind; and I will build him a ſure houſe; and he ſhall walk before mine Anointed for ever.

36 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is left in thine houſe ſhall come and crouch to him for a piece of ſilver and a morſel of bread, and ſhall ſay, Put me, I pray thee, into one of the prieſt's offices, that I may eat a piece of bread.

CHAP. III.

1 How the word of the LORD was firſt revealed to Samuel. 11 God telleth Samuel the deſtruction of Eli's houſe.

AND the child Samuel miniſtered unto the Lord before Eli. And the word of the Lord was precious in thoſe days; there was no open viſion.

2 And it came to paſs at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not ſee;

3 And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to ſleep;

4 That the Lord called Samuel. And he anſwered, Here am I.

5 And he ran unto Eli, and ſaid, Here am I: for thou calledſt me. And he ſaid, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

6 And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel aroſe, and went to Eli, and ſaid, Here am I: for thou didſt call me. And he anſwered, I called not, my ſon; lie down again.

7 Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet revealed unto him.

8 And the Lord called Samuel again the third time. And he aroſe and went to Eli, and ſaid, Here am I: for thou didſt call me. And Eli perceived that the Lord had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli ſaid unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it ſhall be, if he call thee, that thou ſhalt ſay, Speak, Lord: for thy ſervant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 And the Lord came, and ſtood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel anſwered, Speak; for thy ſervant heareth.

11 ¶ And the Lord ſaid to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Iſrael, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it ſhall tingle.

12 In that day I will perform againſt Eli all things which I have ſpoken concerning his houſe: when I begin I will alſo make an end.

13 For I have told him, that I will judge his houſe for ever, for the iniquity which he knoweth: becauſe his ſons made themſelves vile, and he reſtrained them not.

14 And therefore I have ſworn unto the houſe of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's houſe ſhall not be purged with ſacrifice nor offering for ever.

15 And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the houſe of the Lord. And Samuel feared to ſhew Eli the viſion.

16 Then Eli called Samuel, and ſaid, Samuel, my ſon. And he anſwered, Here am I.

17 And he ſaid, What is the thing that the LORD hath ſaid unto thee? I pray thee hide it not from me: God do ſo to thee, and more alſo, if thou hide any thing from me of all the things that he ſaid unto thee.

18 And Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he ſaid, It is the Lord: let him do what ſeemeth him good.

19 And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with 32 And thou ſhalt ſee an enemy in my habitation.) Or rather, thou ſhalt ſee the affliction of the tabernacle, which he did; for he lived to ſee the tabernacle deprived of its glory, the ark of the Lord, and to hear that it was taken by the Philiſtines.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 And the word of the Lord was precious in thoſe days, there was no open viſion.) Whatever revelations God might think proper to impart to ſome pious perſons privately, there was at this time, none publicly acknowledged for a prophet, unto whom the people might reſort to know the mind of God. Nay, ſo little acquainted were theſe ages with the prophetic ſpirit, that we read only of two prophets in all the days of the Judges.

7 Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, &c.) That is, he was ignorant of the manner in which God revealed his mind unto the prophets, having never ſpoken to him before.

12 When I begin, I will alſo make an end.) That is, when I begin, I will not deſiſt till all my threatnings are fulfilled. For the whole was not accompliſhed till Abiathar was deprived of the prieſthood, when the family of Eli loſt its dignity and honour.

18 It is the Lord: let him do what ſeemeth him good.) The fore-him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.

20 And all Iſrael from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, knew that Samuel was eſtabliſhed to be a prophet of the Lord.

21 And the Lord appeared again in Shiloh: for the Lord revealed himſelf to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Iſraelites are overcome by the Philiſtines. 10 The ark is taken, and Eli's ſons ſlain. 12 Eli hearing the news, breaketh his neck.

AND the word of Samuel came to all Iſrael. Now Iſrael went out againſt the Philiſtines to battle, and pitched before Eben-ezer: and the Philiſtines pitched in Aphek,

2 And the Philiſtines put themſelves in array againſt Iſrael: and when they joined battle, Iſrael was ſmitten before the Philiſtines: and they ſlew of the army in the field about four thouſand men.

3 And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Iſrael ſaid, Wherefore hath the Lord ſmitten us to-day before the Philiſtines? Let us fetch the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of Shiloh unto us, that when it cometh among us, it may ſave us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 So the people ſent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark of the covenant of the Lord of hoſts, which dwelleth between the cherubims: and the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord came into the camp, all Iſrael ſhouted with a great ſhout, ſo that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philiſtines heard the noiſe of the ſhout, they ſaid, What meaneth the noiſe of this great ſhout in the camp of the Hebrews? and they underſtood that the ark of the Lord was come into the camp.

7 And the Philiſtines were afraid: for they ſaid, God is come into the camp. And they ſaid, Wo unto us! for there hath not been ſuch a thing heretofore.

8 Wo unto us! who ſhall deliver us out of the hand of theſe mighty gods? theſe are the gods that ſmote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderneſs.

9 Be ſtrong, and quit yourſelves like men, O ye Philiſtines, that ye be not ſervants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you: quit yourſelves like men, and fight.

10 ¶ And the Philiſtines fought, and Iſrael was ſmitten, and they fled every man into his tent; and there was a very great ſlaughter; for there fell of Iſrael thirty thouſand footmen.

11 And the ark of God was taken; and the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were ſlain.

12 ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the ſame day with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli ſat upon a ſeat by the way-ſide, watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city and told it, all the city cried out.

14 And when Eli heard the noiſe of the crying, he ſaid, What meaneth the noiſe of this tumult? and the man came in haſtily, and told Eli.

15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old; and his eyes were dim, that he could not ſee.

16 And the man ſaid unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army, and I fled to-day out of the army. And he ſaid, What is there done, my ſon?

17 And the meſſenger anſwered and ſaid, Iſrael is fled before the Philiſtines; and there hath been alſo a great ſlaughter among the people; and thy two ſons alſo, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead; and the ark of God is taken.

18 And it came to paſs, when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the ſeat backward, by the ſide of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died; for he was an old man, and heavy: and he had judged Iſrael forty years.

19 And his daughter-in-law Phinehas' wife, was with child, near to be delivered: and when ſhe heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father-in-law, and her huſband were dead, ſhe bowed herſelf and travailed; for her pains came upon her.

20 And about the time of her death, the women that ſtood by her ſaid unto her, Fear not, for thou haſt born a ſon. But ſhe anſwered not, neither did ſhe regard it.

21 And ſhe named the child I-chabod, ſaying, The glory is departed from Iſrael: (becauſe the ark of God was taken, and becauſe of her father-in-law, and her huſband:)

22 And ſhe ſaid, The glory is departed from Iſrael; for the ark of God is taken.

CHAP. V.

1 The Philiſtines bring the ark into the houſe of Dagon. 3 Dagon falleth down. 6, 9, 12 They are ſmitten with emerods.

AND the Philiſtines took the ark of God, and brought it from Eben-ezer unto Aſhdod.

2 When the Philiſtines took the ark of God, they brought it into the houſe of Dagon, and ſet it by Dagon.

3 ¶ And when they of Aſhdod aroſe early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the Lord. And they took Dagon, and ſet him in his place again.

4 And when they aroſe early on the morrow morning going ſentence, pronounced by an artleſs child, who did not know the voice of the Lord from the voice of his tutor, till he inſtructed him, was much more terrible to Eli than the meſſage before delivered by the prophet, and deeply affected him; for he here humbly acknowledges the juſtice of God, and ſubmits to his ſentence with a truly penitent heart.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

1 Pitched beſide Eben-ezer.) This place is here mentioned prophetically; for it had not this name till about twenty years after, when Samuel totally defeated the Philiſtines here. It lay on the north borders of Judah, not far from Mizpeh.

9 That ye be not ſervants to the Hebrews, as they have been to you.) The Iſraelites had been kept in ſlavery by the Philiſtines all the time of Eli, and of Samſon, who ſeems to have been in the time of Eli, Judges xiii 1.

18 And his neck brake, and he died.) Eli, though too indulgent a father, was not ſo affected at hearing of the death of his ſons, and the ſlaughter of his people, as at hearing that the ark of God was taken. This was a ſtroke too heavy for him to bear: he ſunk under it, dropped from his ſeat, and expired.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 The Philiſtines---brought it into the houſe of Dagon.) It was a cuſtom among the ancient heathens to carry in triumph the gods of ſuch nations as they had vanquiſhed. Thus Iſaiah propheſies, that Cyrus would treat in this manner the gods of Babylon: Bell boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth; their idols were upon the beaſts and upon the cattle,---and themſelves are gone into captivity, Iſ. xlvi. 1, 2,

ing

ing, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the Lord: and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off upon the threſhold: only the ſtump of Dagon was left to him.

5 Therefore neither the prieſts of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's houſe, tread on the threſhold of Dagon in Aſhdod unto this day.

6 ¶ But the hand of the Lord was heavy upon them of Aſhdod, and he deſtroyed them, and ſmote them with emerods, even Aſhdod and the coaſts thereof.

7 And when the men of Aſhdod ſaw that it was ſo, they ſaid, The ark of the God of Iſrael ſhall not abide with us: for his hand is ſore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.

8 They ſent therefore, and gathered all the lords of the Philiſtines unto them, and ſaid, What ſhall we do with the ark of the God of Iſrael? and they anſwered, Let the ark of the God of Iſrael be carried about unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Iſrael about thither.

9 And it was ſo, that, after they had carried it about, the hand of the Lord was againſt the city with a very great deſtruction: and he ſmote the men of the city, both ſmall and great, and they had emerods in their ſecret parts.

10 Therefore they ſent the ark of God to Ekron. And it came to paſs, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, ſaying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Iſrael to us, to ſlay us and our people.

11 So they ſent and gathered together all the lords of the Philiſtines, and ſaid, Send away the ark of the God of Iſrael, and let it go again to his own place, that it ſlay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly deſtruction throughout all the city; the hand of God was very heavy there.

12 And the men that died not were ſmitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Philiſtines counſel how to ſend back the ark. 10 They bring it on a new cart to Beth-ſhemeſh. 19 The people ſmitten.

AND the ark of the Lord was in the country of the Philiſtines ſeven months.

2 And the Philiſtines called for the prieſts and the diviners, ſaying, What ſhall we do to the ark of the Lord? tell us wherewith we ſhall ſend it to his place.

3 And they ſaid, If ye ſend away the ark of the God of Iſrael, ſend it not empty; but in any wiſe return him a treſpaſs-offering: then ye ſhall be healed, and it ſhall be known to you why his hand is not removed from you.

4 Then ſaid they, What ſhall be the treſpaſs-offering which we ſhall return to him? They anſwered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the Lords of the Philiſtines: for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.

5 Wherefore ye ſhall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice that mar the land; and ye ſhall give glory unto the God of Iſrael: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.

6 Wherefore then do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? When he had wrought wonderfully among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed?

7 Now, therefore, make a new cart, and take two milch-kine, on which there hath come no yoke, and tye the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them.

8 And take the ark of the Lord, and lay it upon the cart; and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a treſpaſs-offering, in a coffer by the ſide thereof; and ſend it away, that it may go.

9 And ſee, if it goeth up by the way of his own coaſt to Beth-ſhemeſh, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, then we ſhall know that it is not his hand that ſmote us; it was a chance that happened to us.

10 ¶ And the men did ſo: and took two milch-kine, and tied them to the cart, and ſhut up their calves at home:

11 And they laid the ark of the Lord upon the cart, and the coffer, with the mice of gold, and the images of their emerods.

12 And the kine took the ſtraight way to the way of Beth-ſhemeſh, and went along the high-way, lowing as they went, and turned not aſide to the right hand, or to the left: and the lords of the Philiſtines went after them unto the border of Beth-ſhemeſh.

13 And they of Beth-ſhemeſh were reaping their wheat-harveſt in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and ſaw the ark, and rejoiced to ſee it.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joſhua a Beth-ſhemite, and ſtood there, where there was a great ſtone: and they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine a burnt-offering unto the Lord.

15 And the Levites took down the ark of the Lord, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great ſtone: and the men of Beth-ſhemeſh offered burnt-offerings and ſacrificed ſacrifices the ſame day unto the Lord.

16 And when the five lords of the Philiſtines had ſeen it, they returned to Ekron the ſame day.

17 And theſe are the golden emerods which the Philiſtines returned for a treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord; for Aſhdod one, for Gaza one, for Aſkelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one:

18 And the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philiſtines belonging to the five lords

4 And the head of Dagon, &c.) Probably Dagon was placed on ſome pedeſtal or altar, from whence he was now thrown down, his head and hands cut off on the threſhold, and thrown out of the temple with the greateſt contempt. Thus Jehovah ſufficiently ſhewed that there was no God beſides him. Their idols could not ſtand before the ark, though it had been taken captive, and carried into a ſtrange land; demonſtrating, that the Iſraelites were not vanquiſhed for want of power in their God, but for the iniquity of thoſe who worſhipped him. The Philiſtines, however, were ſo bigotted to their fooliſh deity, that, inſtead of deſpiſing him for not being able to defend himſelf, they even reverenced his threſhold, conſidering it as conſecrated by having touched the idol.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

4 Five golden emerods, and five golden mice.) All nations were formerly of opinion, that the gods, when angry, could only be appeaſed with honorary gifts; and it was alſo cuſtomary among them to conſecrate ſuch monuments of their deliverance to them, as repreſented the evils from which they had been delivered.

12 And the kine took the ſtraight way to the way of Beth-ſhemeſh.) Though they had neither driver nor viſible director, they took the ſtraight road to Beth-ſhemeſh without the leaſt deviation, lowing all the way they went after their calves that had been taken from them, and to whom they would doubtleſs have returned, had not they been under the guidance of an higher power, which directed them forward to the land of Judah.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joſhua a Beth-ſhemite, &c.) This was another miraculous particular, that the kine, as ſoon as they came to Beth-ſhemeſh, which was a city of the prieſts, ſhould ſtop, and refuſe to go any farther.

both

both of fenced cities, and of country villages, even unto the great ſtone of Abel, whereon they ſet down the ark of the Lord; which ſtone remaineth unto this day in the field of Joſhua the Beth-ſhemite.

19 ¶ And he ſmote the men of Beth-ſhemeſh, becauſe they had looked into the ark of the Lord, even he ſmote of the people fifty thouſand and threeſcore and ten men. And the people lamented, becauſe the Lord had ſmitten many of the people with a great ſlaughter.

20 And the men of Beth-ſhemeſh ſaid, Who is able to ſtand before this holy Lord God? and to whom ſhall he go up from us?

21 And they ſent meſſengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, ſaying, The Philiſtines have brought again the ark of the Lord; come ye down and fetch it up to you.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Iſraelites, by Samuel's means, ſolemnly repent at Mizpeh. 9 Samuel praying, the Philiſtines are diſcomfited.

AND the men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the Lord, and brought it into the houſe of Abinadab in the hill, and ſanctified Eleazar his ſon to keep the ark of the Lord.

2 And it came to paſs, while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim, that the time was long; for it was twenty years: and all the houſe of Iſrael lamented after the Lord.

3 ¶ And Samuel ſpake unto all the houſe of Iſrael, ſaying, If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts, then put away the ſtrange gods and Aſhtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and ſerve him only; and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

4 Then the children of Iſrael did put away Baalim and Aſhtaroth, and ſerved the Lord only.

5 And Samuel ſaid, Gather all Iſrael to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the Lord.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the Lord, and faſted on that day, and ſaid there, We have ſinned againſt the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Iſrael in Mizpeh.

7 ¶ And when the Philiſtines heard that the children of Iſrael were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philiſtines went up againſt Iſrael. And when the children of Iſrael heard it, they were afraid of the Philiſtines.

8 And the children of Iſrael ſaid to Samuel, Ceaſe not to cry unto the Lord our God for us, that he will ſave us out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a ſucking lamb, and offered it for a burnt-offering wholly unto the Lord: and Samuel cried unto the Lord for Iſrael; and the Lord heard him.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philiſtines drew near to battle againſt Iſrael: but the Lord thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philiſtines, and diſcomfited them, and they were ſmitten before Iſrael.

11 And the men of Iſrael went out of Mizpeh, and purſued the Philiſtines, and ſmote them, until they came under Beth-car.

12 Then Samuel took a ſtone, and ſet it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Eben-ezer, ſaying, Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.

13 So the Philiſtines were ſubdued, and they came no more into the coaſt of Iſrael, and the hand of the Lord was againſt the Philiſtines all the days of Samuel.

14 And the cities which the Philiſtines had taken from Iſrael were reſtored to Iſrael, from Ekron even unto Gath; and the coaſts thereof did Iſrael deliver out of the hands of the Philiſtines. And there was peace between Iſrael and the Amorites.

15 And Samuel judged Iſrael all the days of his life.

16 And he went from year to year in circuit to Bethel, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Iſrael in all thoſe places.

17 And his return was to Ramah; for there was his houſe; and there he judged Iſrael; and there he built an altar unto the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 By the occaſion of the ill government of Samuel's ſons, the Iſraelites aſk a king. 10 The manner of their king.

AND it came to paſs, when Samuel was old, that he made his ſons judges over Iſrael.

2 Now the name of his firſt-born was Joel, and the name of his ſecond, Abiah: they were judges in Beer-ſheba.

3 And his ſons walked not in his ways, but turned aſide after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment.

4 Then all the elders of Iſrael gathered themſelves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah.

5 And ſaid unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy ſons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.

6 ¶ But the thing diſpleaſed Samuel, when they ſaid, Give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed unto the Lord.

7 And the Lord ſaid unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they ſay unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I ſhould not reign over them.

8 According to all the works which they have done, ſince the day that I brought them up out of Egypt even unto this day, wherewith they have forſaken me, and ſerved other gods: ſo do they alſo unto thee.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 And the men of Kirjath-jearim came and fetch'd up the ark of the Lord.) They cheerfully received the meſſage, and were ſo far from thinking themſelves in danger by entertaining it, that they conſidered it as the greateſt bleſſing, and kept it with them till the reign of David. If it ſhould be aſked, why they did not carry the ark of the Lord to Shiloh, its ancient ſeat? it may be anſwered, that the Philiſtines had deſtroyed that place; and the tabernacle, on the death of Eli, was removed to Nob, where it remained till the death of Samuel.

10 The Lord thundered with a great thunder, &c.) The Philiſtines propoſed to fall upon the Iſraelites at a time they were gathered together before the Lord, and probably deſtitute of arms. But God ſoon convinced the uncircumciſed army, that in his hands are the iſſues of life and death, by attacking them with that artillery which it is impoſſible to reſiſt, or avoid.

12 And called the name of it Eben-ezer.) That is, the ſtone of help. This total overthrow of the Philiſtines put an end to the forty years tyranny, mentioned in Judges xiii. 1. and xv. 1.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

11 This will be the manner of the king, &c.) Samuel does not in this and the following verſes define what are the juſt rights of kings, but deſcribes only ſuch practices, as the deſpotic princes of the Eaſt, who looked upon their ſubjects as ſo many ſlaves, were generally accuſtomed to: and his reaſon for drawing a king in theſe black colours ſeems to be, becauſe the Iſraelites deſired ſuch a one as their neighbours had, who were all under the abſolute dominion of the princes.

9 Now, therefore, hearken unto their voice: howbeit, yet proteſt ſolemnly unto them, and ſhew them the manner of the king that ſhall reign over them.

10 ¶ And Samuel told all the words of the Lord unto the people that aſked of him a king.

11 And he ſaid, This will be the manner of the king that ſhall reign over you: he will take your ſons, and appoint them for himſelf, for his chariots, and to be his horſemen; and ſome ſhall run before his chariots.

12 And he will appoint him captains over thouſands, and captains over fifties, and will ſet them to ear his ground, and to reap his harveſt, and to make his inſtruments of war, and inſtruments of his chariots.

13 And he will take your daughters to be confectionaries, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.

14 And he will take your fields and your vineyards, and your olive-yards, even the beſt of them, and give them to his ſervants.

15 And he will take the tenth of your ſeed, and of your vineyards, and give to his officers, and to his ſervants.

16 And he will take your men-ſervants, and your maid-ſervants, and your goodlieſt young men, and your aſſes, and put them to his work.

17 He will take the tenth of your ſheep: and ye ſhall be his ſervants.

18 And ye ſhall cry out in that day becauſe of your king which ye ſhall have choſen you: and the Lord will not hear you in that day.

19 Nevertheleſs, the people refuſed to obey the voice of Samuel; and they ſaid, Nay; but we will have a king over us;

20 That we alſo may be like all the nations: and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.

21 And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he rehearſed them in the ears of the Lord.

22 And the Lord ſaid to Samuel, Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel ſaid unto the men of Iſrael, Go ye every man unto his city.

CHAP. IX.

1 Saul deſpairing to find his father's aſſes, 6 by the counſel of his ſervant, 11 and direction of young maidens, 15 according to God's revelation, 18 cometh to Samuel. 19 Samuel entertaineth Saul.

NOW there was a man of Benjamin, whoſe name was Kiſh, the ſon of Abiel, the ſon of Zeror, the ſon of Bechorath, the ſon of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of power.

2 And he had a ſon whoſe name was Saul, a choice young man and a goodly: and there was not among the children of Iſrael a goodlier perſon than he: from his ſhoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people.

3 And the aſſes of Kiſh, Saul's father, were loſt. And Kiſh ſaid to Saul his ſon, Take now one of the ſervants with thee, and ariſe, go ſeek the aſſes.

4 And he paſſed through mount Ephraim, and paſſed through the land of Shaliſha, but they found them not: then they paſſed through the land of Shalim, and there they were not; and he paſſed through the land of the Benjamites, but they found them not.

5 And when they were come to the land of Zuph, Saul ſaid to his ſervant that was with him, Come and let us return; leſt my father leave caring for the aſſes, and take thought for us.

6 ¶ And he ſaid unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God, and he is an honourable man; all that he ſaith cometh ſurely to paſs: now let us go thither; peradventure he can ſhew us our way that we ſhould go.

7 Then ſaid Saul to his ſervant, But behold, if we go, what ſhall we bring the man? for the bread is ſpent in our veſſels, and there is not a preſent to bring to the man of God: what have we?

8 And the ſervant anſwered Saul again, and ſaid, Behold, I have here at hand the fourth part of a ſhekel of ſilver: that will I give to the man of God, to tell us our way.

9 (Before-time in Iſrael, when a man went to enquire of God, thus he ſpake, Come, and let us go to the ſeer: for he that is now called a Prophet, was before-time called a Seer:)

10 Then ſaid Saul to his ſervant, Well ſaid: Come let us go. So they went unto the city where the man of God was.

11 ¶ And as they went up the hill to the city, they found young maidens going out to draw water; and ſaid unto them, Is the ſeer here?

12 And they anſwered them, and ſaid, He is, Behold he is before you: make haſte now: for he came to-day to the city; for there is a ſacrifice of the people to-day in the high place.

13 As ſoon as ye be come into the city ye ſhall ſtraightway find him, before he go up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, becauſe he doth bleſs the ſacrifice, and afterwards they eat that be bidden. Now therefore get ye up; for about this time ye ſhall find him.

14 And they went up into the city: and when they were come into the city, behold, Samuel came out againſt them for to go up to the high place.

15 ¶ Now, the Lord had told Samuel in his ear a day before Saul came, ſaying, 16 To-morrow about this time, I will ſend thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou ſhalt anoint him to be captain over my people Iſrael, that he may ſave my people out of the hand of the Philiſtines: for I have looked upon my people, becauſe their cry is come unto me.

17 And when Samuel ſaw Saul, the Lord ſaid unto him, Behold the man whom I ſpake to thee of: this ſame ſhall reign over my people.

18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and ſaid, Tell me, I pray thee, where the ſeers houſe is.

19 And Samuel anſwered Saul, and ſaid, I am the ſeer; go up before me unto the high place; for ye 20 That we alſo may be like all the nations.) Stupid people! They did not conſider, that it was their ſingular felicity that they were not like other nations; but had the Almighty himſelf for their governor, who never failed, in their neceſſity, to raiſe them up perſons who delivered them from their enemies on every ſide. But their blind ambition induced them to think they were inferior to other nations, becauſe they had not a prince ſet over them, ſhining in gold and jewels, living in a ſumptuous palace, and attended with guards richly dreſſed, which they vainly conſidered as the glory of a kingdom.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

1 A mighty man of power.) This ſeems not to be meant of his wealth or intereſt in the country, but of his great ſtrength and courage.

12 In the high place.) All ſacrifices were regularly to be offered before the ark, in the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe. But while this choice ſtood ſuſpended, Shiloh being laid waſte, and no other place appointed, they ſacrificed in other places, where neither the ark nor the tabernacle were; and no places could be more commodious than the cities where the prieſts and Levites dwelt, and whither the people reſorted for inſtruction. This is the firſt inſtance we find of ſacrifices being offered to God in high places, and is thought to have given riſe to the ſynagogues and oratories, which were afterwards built in ſo many places of the kingdom, ſhall eat with me to-day: and to-morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.

20 And as for thine aſſes, that were loſt three days ago, ſet not thy mind on them; for they are found. And on whom is all the deſire of Iſrael? is it not on thee, and on all thy father's houſe?

21 And Saul anſwered and ſaid, Am not I a Benjamite, of the ſmalleſt of the tribes of Iſrael? and my family the leaſt of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? wherefore then ſpeakeſt thou ſo to me?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his ſervant, and brought them into the parlour, and made them ſit in the chiefeſt place among them that were bidden, which were about thirty perſons.

23 And Samuel ſaid unto the cook, Bring the portion which I gave thee, of which I ſaid unto thee, Set it by thee.

24 And the cook took up the ſhoulder, and that which was upon it, and ſet it before Saul. And Samuel ſaid, Behold that which is left! ſet it before thee, and eat: for unto this time hath it been kept for thee, ſince I ſaid, I have invited the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

25 And when they were come down from the high place into the city, Samuel communed with Saul upon the top of the houſe.

26 And they aroſe early: and it came to paſs, about the ſpring of the day, that Samuel called Saul to the top of the houſe, ſaying, Up, that I may ſend thee away. And Saul aroſe, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel, abroad.

27 And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel ſaid unto Saul, Bid the ſervant paſs on before us, and he paſſed on, but ſtand thou ſtill a while, that I may ſhew thee the word of God.

CHAP. X.

1 Samuel anointeth Saul. 2 He confirmeth him by prediction of three ſigns. 9 Saul's heart is changed, and he propheſieth.

THEN Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kiſſed him, and ſaid, Is it not becauſe the Lord hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance?

2 ¶ When thou art departed from me to-day, then thou ſhalt find two men by Rachel's ſepulchre, in the border of Benjamin, at Zelzah, and they will ſay unto thee, The aſſes which thou wenteſt to ſeek, are found: and lo, thy father hath left the care of the aſſes, and ſorroweth for you, ſaying, What ſhall I do for my ſon?

3 Then ſhalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou ſhalt come to the plain of Tabor, and there ſhall meet thee three men going up to God to Beth-el, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine:

4 And they will ſalute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread: which thou ſhalt receive of their hands.

5 After that thou ſhalt come to the hill of God, where is the garriſon of the Philiſtines: and it ſhall come to paſs when thou art come thither to the city, that thou ſhalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place, with a pſaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp before them, and they ſhall propheſy.

6 And the Spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, and thou ſhalt propheſy with them, and ſhalt be turned into another man.

7 And let it be when theſe ſigns are come unto thee, that thou do as occaſion ſhall ſerve thee: for God is with thee.

8 And thou ſhalt go down before me to Gilgal, and behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt-offerings, and to ſacrifice ſacrifices of peace-offerings: ſeven days ſhalt thou tarry, till I come to thee, and ſhew thee what thou ſhalt do.

9 ¶ And it was ſo, that when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart: and all thoſe ſigns came to paſs that day.

10 And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him: and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he propheſied among them.

11 And it came to paſs when all that knew him before-time ſaw, that behold, he propheſied among the prophets, then the people ſaid one to another, What is this that is come unto the ſon of Kiſh? Is Saul alſo among the prophets?

12 And one of the ſame place anſwered, and ſaid, But who is their father? therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul alſo among the prophets?

13 And when he had made an end of propheſying, he came to the high place.

14 And Saul's uncle ſaid unto him and to his ſervant, Whither went ye? And he ſaid, To ſeek the aſſes: and when we ſaw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

15 And Saul's uncle ſaid, Tell me I pray thee, what Samuel ſaid unto you.

16 And Saul ſaid unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the aſſes were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel ſpake, he told him not.

17 And Samuel called the people together unto the Lord to Mizpeh;

18 And ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I brought up Iſrael out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms, and of them that oppreſſed you:

19 And ye have this day rejected your God, who himſelf ſaved you out of all your adverſities and your tribulations; and ye have ſaid unto him, Nay, but ſet a king over us. Now, therefore, preſent yourſelves before the Lord by your tribes, and by your thouſands.

20 And when Samuel had cauſed all the tribes of Iſrael to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

25 On the top of the houſe.) The tops of their houſes were flat, and covered with a ſtrong plaiſter of terrace, which was always guarded with a parapet wall, battlements, or baluſtrades; here ſeveral offices were performed, ſuch as drying linen and flax, preparing figs and raiſins; here likewiſe they enjoyed the refreſhing breezes of the evening, converſed with their friends, and offered up their devotions.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 Then Samuel took a vial of oil.) This unction ſeems to have been made in the open fields; but it cannot from hence be proved that it was performed at a fountain, becauſe Solomon was there anointed, which ſingle inſtance is not ſufficient to eſtabliſh a general rule: nor does this ſeem to have been ſacred oil taken from the tabernacle, but common; for Samuel was not a prieſt, and therefore could not touch what was reſerved in the ſacred place, which was now at a great diſtance from Ramah.

5 Thou ſhalt meet a company of prophets.) There ſeems to have been here a college of prophets, or a ſchool where youth was inſtructed in the knowledge of the law, and the precepts of religion, and thence called the ſons of the prophets. And it ſhould be obſerved, that though the Philiſtines had a garriſon there, they ſpared thoſe places that were ſet apart for the ſtudy of religion.

11 Is Saul alſo among the prophets?) They were aſtoniſhed at this ſudden change in him, well knowing that his education gave them no reaſon to expect any ſuch thing; for inſtead of ſtudying in the ſchools of the prophets, his whole attention had been engroſſed by the care of his herd and flocks.

21 When he had cauſed the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri, and Saul, the ſon of Kiſh, was taken: and when they ſought him he could not be found.

22 Therefore they enquired of the Lord further, if the man ſhould yet come thither: And the Lord anſwered, Behold, he hath hid himſelf among the ſtuff.

23 And they ran and fetched him thence: and when he ſtood among the people, he was higher than any of the people, from his ſhoulders and upward.

24 And Samuel ſaid to all the people, See ye him whom the Lord hath choſen, that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people ſhouted, and ſaid, God ſave the king.

25 Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the Lord. And Samuel ſent all the people away, every man to his houſe.

26 And Saul alſo went home to Gibeah; and there went with him a band of men whoſe hearts God had touched.

27 But the children of Belial ſaid, How ſhall this man ſave us? and they deſpiſed him, and brought him no preſents. But he held his peace.

CHAP. XI.

1 Nahaſh offereth them of Jabeſh-gilead a reproachful condition. 4 They ſend to Saul, and are delivered. 12 Saul confirmed king.

THEN Nahaſh the Ammonite came up, and encamped againſt Jabeſh-gilead: and all the men of Jabeſh ſaid unto Nahaſh, Make a covenant with us, and we will ſerve thee.

2 And Nahaſh the Ammonite anſwered them, On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thruſt out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Iſrael.

3 And the elders of Jabeſh ſaid unto him, Give us ſeven days reſpite, that we may ſend meſſengers unto all the coaſts of Iſrael: and then, if there be no man to ſave us, we will come out to thee.

4 ¶ Then came the meſſengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lift up their voices, and wept.

5 And behold Saul came after the herd out of the field; and Saul ſaid, What aileth the people that they weep? and they told him the tidings of the men of Jabeſh.

6 And the Spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard thoſe tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly.

7 And he took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and ſent them throughout all the coaſts of Iſrael by the hands of meſſengers, ſaying, Whoſoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, ſo ſhall it be done unto his oxen. And the fear of the Lord fell on the people: and they came out with one conſent.

8 And when he numbered them in Bezek, the children of Iſrael were three hundred thouſand, and the men of Judah thirty thouſand.

9 And they ſaid unto the meſſengers that came, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto the men of Jabeſh-gilead, To-morrow by that time the ſun be hot, ye ſhall have help. And the meſſengers came and ſhewed it to the men of Jabeſh; and they were glad.

10 Therefore the men of Jabeſh ſaid, To-morrow we will come out unto you, and ye ſhall do with us all that ſeemeth good unto you.

11 And it was ſo on the morrow, that Saul put the people in three companies, and they came into the midſt of the hoſt in the morning watch, and ſlew the Ammonites until the heat of the day; and it came to paſs, that they which remained were ſcattered, ſo that two of them were not left together.

12 ¶ And the people ſaid unto Samuel, Who is he that ſaid, Shall Saul reign over us? bring the men, that we may put them to death.

13 And Saul ſaid, There ſhall not a man be put to death this day: for to-day the Lord hath wrought ſalvation in Iſrael.

14 Then ſaid Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.

15 And all the people went to Gilgal; and there they made Saul king before the Lord in Gilgal; and there they ſacrificed ſacrifices of peace-offerings before the Lord; and there Saul and all the men of Iſrael rejoiced greatly.

CHAP. XII.

1 Samuel teſtifieth his integrity. 6 He reproveth the people of ingratitude. 16 He terrifieth them with thunder in harveſt-time; 20 and comforteth them in God's mercy.

AND Samuel ſaid unto all Iſrael, Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice in all that ye ſaid unto me, and have made a king over you.

2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you: and I am old and grey-headed: and, behold, my ſons are with you: and I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.

---

27 The children of Belial---brought no preſents.) It was cuſtomary among the Eaſtern nations, and is even to this day, to accompany their firſt ſalutation of a new king with preſents; which were received as tokens of peace, joy, friendſhip, ſubjection, and obedience. Theſe children of Belial were probably perſons of conſequence, and deſpiſed Saul, becauſe he was of a ſmall tribe, and obſcure family; he acted therefore a very prudent part in holding his peace, being unwilling to create any diſorder or tumult in the beginning of his reign.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

1 Then Nahaſh the Ammonite.) He was either the king or general of the Ammonites, who, according to Joſephus, laid ſiege to Jabeſh-gilead about a month after Saul was choſen king; but had before made war againſt Iſrael, which was the reaſon for their deſiring a king.

2 On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thruſt out all your right eyes.) He was deſirous of effectually diſabling them from ſerving for the future in war; for as the manner of fighting in thoſe days was chiefly with bow and arrow, ſword and ſhield, the loſs of the right eye rendered them incapable of either; becauſe the left eye is covered with the ſhield, and in ſhooting with the bow it is uſual to wink with it; ſo that depriving them of their right eyes made them uſeleſs in war. Nor did this barbarous man think proper to put out both their eyes, becauſe they would then have been utterly incapable of rendering him any ſervice, or paying him tribute.

12 The people ſaid unto Samuel.) Elevated with this ſignal victory, they were for putting to death all that refuſed to acknowledge Saul for their king; but he generouſly withſtood it, alledging that it was not fit to ſtain the beginning of his reign with the ſlaughter of his ſubjects, after God had wrought ſo great ſalvation in Iſrael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

1 Samuel ſaid unto all Iſrael.) Being about to reſign the government to Saul, in a very pathetic ſpeech to the people, he takes occaſion firſt to vindicate his own adminiſtration; then he reminds them of their great tranſgreſſions againſt God, particulatly in rejecting his government, and deſiring another king; however as God had granted their requeſt, he exhorts them, out of regard to their own intereſt, to fear the Lord, and obey their king: and to convince them that he ſpake not without a divine direction, he gave them a miraculous ſign.

3 Behold, here I am: witneſs againſt me before the Lord, and before his anointed; whoſe ox have I taken? or whoſe aſs have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppreſſed? or of whoſe hand have I received any bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? and I will reſtore it to you.

4 And they ſaid, thou haſt not defrauded us, nor oppreſſed us, neither haſt thou taken ought of any man's hand.

5 And he ſaid unto them, The Lord is witneſs againſt you, and his anointed is witneſs this day, that ye have not found ought in my hand. And they anſwered, He is witneſs.

6 ¶ And Samuel ſaid unto the people, It is the Lord that advanced Moſes and Aaron, and that brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.

7 Now therefore ſtand ſtill, that I may reaſon with you before the Lord of all the righteous acts of the Lord which he did to you and to your fathers.

8 When Jacob was come into Egypt, and your fathers cried unto the Lord, then the Lord ſent Moſes and Aaron, which brought forth your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place.

9 And when they forgat the Lord their God, he ſold them into the hand of Siſera captain of the hoſt of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philiſtines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought againſt them.

10 And they cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, We have ſinned, becauſe we have forſaken the Lord, and have ſerved Baalim, and Aſhtaroth: but now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will ſerve thee.

11 And the Lord ſent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every ſide, and ye dwelled ſafe.

12 And when ye ſaw that Nahaſh the king of the children of Ammon came againſt you, ye ſaid unto me, Nay; but a king ſhall reign over us: when the Lord your God was your king.

13 Now therefore, behold the king whom ye have choſen, and whom ye have deſired: and behold, the Lord hath ſet a king over you.

14 If ye will fear the Lord and ſerve him, and obey his voice, and not rebel againſt the commandment of the Lord, then ſhall both ye, and alſo the king that reigneth over you, continue following the Lord your God.

15 But if ye will not obey the voice of the Lord but rebel againſt the commandment of the Lord, then ſhall the hand of the Lord be againſt you, as it was againſt your fathers.

16 ¶ Now, therefore, ſtand and ſee this great thing, which the Lord will do before your eyes.

17 Is it not wheat-harveſt to-day? I will call unto the Lord, and he ſhall ſend thunder and rain; that ye may perceive and ſee that your wickedneſs is great, which ye have done in the ſight of the Lord, in aſking you a king.

18 So Samuel called unto the Lord; and the Lord ſent thunder and rain that day: and all the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel.

19 And all the people ſaid unto Samuel, Pray for thy ſervants unto the Lord thy God, that we die not: for we have added unto all our ſins this evil, to aſk us a king.

20 ¶ And Samuel ſaid unto the people, Fear not: (ye have done all this wickedneſs; yet turn not aſide from following the Lord, but ſerve the Lord with all your heart;

21 And turn ye not aſide: for then ſhould ye go after vain things, which cannot profit nor deliver; for they are vain:)

22 For the Lord will not forſake his people for his great name's ſake; becauſe it hath pleaſed the Lord to make you his people.

23 Moreover, as for me, God forbid that I ſhould ſin againſt the Lord in ceaſing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way.

24 Only fear the Lord, and ſerve him in truth with all your heart; for conſider how great things he hath done for you.

25 But if ye ſhall ſtill do wickedly, ye ſhall be conſumed, both ye and your king.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Saul's ſelected band. 5 The Philiſtines' great hoſt. 6 The Iſraelites' diſtreſs. 8 Saul weary of ſtaying for Samuel, ſacrificeth. 11 Samuel reproveth him.

SAUL reigned one year: and when he had reigned two years over Iſrael,

2 Saul choſe him three thouſand men of Iſrael; whereof two thouſand were with Saul in Michmaſh, and in mount Beth-el, and a thouſand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the reſt of the people he ſent every man to his tent.

3 And Jonathan ſmote the garriſon of the Philiſtines that was in Geba: and the Philiſtines heard of it. And Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, ſaying, Let the Hebrews hear.

4 And all Iſrael heard ſay that Saul had ſmitten a garriſon of the Philiſtines, and that Iſrael alſo was had in abomination with the Philiſtines. And the people were called together after Saul to Gilgal.

5 ¶ And the Philiſtines gathered themſelves together to fight with Iſrael, thirty thouſand chariots, and ſix thouſand horſemen, and people as the ſand which is on the ſea-ſhore in multitude; and they came up and pitched in Michmaſh, eaſtward from Beth-aven.

6 When the men of Iſrael ſaw that they were in a ſtrait, (for the people were diſtreſſed) then the people did hide themſelves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.

7 And ſome of the Hebrews went over Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead: as for Saul, he was yet in Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.

8 ¶ And he tarried ſeven days according to the ſet time that Samuel had appointed; but Samuel came not to Gilgal; and the people were ſcattered from him.

17 Is it not wheat-harveſt to-day?) St. Jerom obſerves, that the wheat-harveſt began in Judea about the end of June, or beginning of July; in which ſeaſon thunder and rain were never known, but only in the Spring and Autumn, the one called the former, and the other the latter rain; and therefore Samuel, by this preamble is it not wheat-harveſt to-day? intended to ſignify the greatneſs of the miracle God was going to work; that he could in an inſtant and at a time when they leaſt of all expected it, deprive them of all the comforts of life, as they juſtly deſerved, for rejecting him and his prophet; who was ſo powerful with him, that by his prayers he could produce ſuch wonders.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

5 Thirty thouſand chariots, and ſix thouſand horſemen.) It muſt not be ſuppoſed, that all theſe chariots were chariots of war; for none, even of the moſt powerful nations, ever had ſo prodigious a number: the greateſt part of them ſeems only to have been carriages neceſſary for ſuch prodigious multitudes of people. Perhaps ſome of them were brought to carry away the plunder, which the Philiſtines ſeemed ſure of taking.

9 And Saul ſaid, Bring hither a burnt-offering to me, and peace-offerings. And he offered the burnt-offering.

10 And it came to paſs, that, as ſoon as he had made an end of offering the burnt-offering, behold, Samuel came; and Saul went out to meet him, that he might ſalute him.

11 ¶ And Samuel ſaid, What haſt thou done? and Saul ſaid, Becauſe I ſaw that the people were ſcattered from me, and that thou cameſt not within the days appointed, and that the Philiſtines gathered themſelves together at Michmaſh;

12 Therefore ſaid I the Philiſtines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made ſupplication unto the Lord: I forced myſelf therefore, and offered a burnt-offering.

13 And Samuel ſaid to Saul, Thou haſt done fooliſhly: thou haſt not kept the commandment of the Lord thy God which he commanded thee: for now would the Lord have eſtabliſhed thy kingdom upon Iſrael for ever.

14 But now thy kingdom ſhall not continue: the Lord hath ſought him a man after his own heart, and the Lord hath commanded him to be captain over his people, becauſe thou haſt not kept that which the Lord commanded thee.

15 And Samuel aroſe, and gat him up from Gilgal unto Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people that were preſent with him, about ſix hundred men.

16 And Saul and Jonathan his ſon, and the people that were preſent with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin: but the Philiſtines encamped in Michmaſh.

17 And the ſpoilers came out of the camp of the Philiſtines in three companies: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah, unto the land of Shual:

18 And another company turned the way to Bethhoron; and another company turned to the way of the border that looketh to the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderneſs.

19 Now there was no ſmith found throughout all the land of Iſrael: for the Philiſtines ſaid, Leſt the Hebrews make them ſwords or ſpears:

20 But all the Iſraelites went down to the Philiſtines to ſharpen every man his ſhare, and his coulter, and his ax, and his mattock.

21 Yet they had a file for the mattocks, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes, and to ſharpen the goads.

22 So it came to paſs in the day of battle, that there was neither ſword nor ſpear found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathan: but with Saul and with Jonathan his ſon was there found.

23 And the garriſon of the Philiſtines went out to the paſſage of Michmaſh.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Jonathan miraculouſly ſmiteth the Philiſtines' garriſon. 15 A divine terror maketh them beat themſelves. 24 Saul's unadviſed adjuration hindereth the victory.

NOW it came to paſs upon a day, that Jonathan the ſon of Saul ſaid unto the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over to the Philiſtines' garriſon, that is on the other ſide. But he told not his father.

2 And Saul tarried in the uttermoſt part of Gibeah, under a pomegranate-tree which is in Migron: and the people that were with him were about ſix hundred men;

3 And Ahiah the ſon of Ahitub, I-chabod's brother, the ſon of Phinehas, the ſon of Eli, the Lord's prieſt in Shiloh, wearing an ephod. And the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.

4 And between the paſſages by which Jonathan ſought to go over unto the Philiſtines' garriſon, there was a ſharp rock on the one ſide, and a ſharp rock on the other ſide: and the name of the one was Bozez, and name of the other Seneh.

5 The fore-front of the one was ſituate northward over againſt Michmaſh, and the other ſouthward over againſt Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan ſaid to the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over unto the garriſon of theſe uncircumciſed; it may be that the Lord will work for us: for there is no reſtraint to the Lord to ſave by many or by few.

7 And his armour-bearer ſaid unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: turn thee; behold, I am with thee according to thy heart.

8 Then ſaid Jonathan, Behold, we will paſs over unto theſe men, and we will diſcover ourſelves unto them.

9 If they ſay thus unto us, Tarry until we come to you; then we will ſtand ſtill in our place, and will not go up unto them.

10 But if they ſay thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the Lord hath delivered them into our hand: and this ſhall be a ſign unto us.

11 And both of them diſcovered themſelves unto the garriſon of the Philiſtines: and the Philiſtines ſaid, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes where they had hid themſelves.

12 And the men of the garriſon anſwered Jonathan and his armour-bearer, and ſaid, Come up to us, and we will ſhew you a thing. And Jonathan ſaid unto his armour-bearer, Come up after me: for the Lord hath delivered them into the hand of Iſrael.

13 And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands and upon his feet, and his armour-bearer after him. And they fell before Jonathan; and his armour-bearer ſlew after him.

14 And that firſt ſlaughter which Jonathan and his armour-

14 The Lord hath ſought him a man after his own heart.) God had not yet commanded David to lead his people; but he fully intended to do ſo if Saul did not repent, and obtain a pardon of him for his offence. And hence it ſeems to follow, that he had not yet provoked God ſo far as to paſs an irreverſible ſentence upon him; but ſuch only as might have been revoked, if he had not perſiſted in his folly, and committed a much greater offence againſt the Divine Majeſty in the war with Amalek.

19 Now there was no ſmith found throughout all the land of Iſrael, &c.) The Philiſtines during the forty years tyranny they had exerciſed over the Iſraelites, had taken care to carry away all the ſmiths out of the country, to prevent them from making themſelves weapons of war; but it ſeems ſtrange, that after the total overthrow of the Philiſtines at Eben-ezer, the Iſraelites ſhould neglect to reſtore thoſe artificers, to furniſh themſelves with proper weapons againſt the next occaſion. But it ſhould be remembered, that thoſe trades when once loſt, are not ſo eaſily recovered; eſpecially among a people extremely addicted to ſloth and negligence, deſtitute of iron mines, and ſo wholly intent upon the feeding of cattle, that they ſet no value on any mechanic art.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

2 Under a pomegranate-tree.) As the pomegranate-tree is but low of growth, and very unfit to pitch a tent under, commentators ſuppoſe the original word to ſtand for the name of a place, or the rock Rimmon, or Pomegranate; ſo named from pomegranates growing there, and which many think to have been the ſame place mentioned, Judges xx. 45.

armour-bearer made, was about twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow.

15 ¶ And there was trembling in the hoſt, in the field, and among all the people: the garriſon and the ſpoilers, they alſo trembled; and the earth quaked: ſo it was a very great trembling.

16 And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked; and, behold, the multitude melted away, and they went on beating down one another.

17 Then ſaid Saul unto the people that were with him, Number now, and ſee who is gone from us. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armour-bearer were not there.

18 And Saul ſaid unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God. For the ark of God was at that time with the children of Iſrael.

19 And it came paſs, while Saul talked unto the prieſt, that the noiſe that was in the hoſt of the Philiſtines went on and increaſed: and Saul ſaid unto the prieſt, Withdraw thine hand.

20 And Saul and all the people that were with him aſſembled themſelves, and they came to the battle: and behold, every man's ſword was againſt his fellow, and there was a very great diſcomfiture.

21 Moreover the Hebrews that were with the Philiſtines before that time, which went up with them into the camp from the country round about, even they alſo turned to be with the Iſraelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 Likewiſe all the men of Iſrael which had hid themſelves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philiſtines fled, even they alſo followed hard after them in the battle.

23 So the Lord ſaved Iſrael that day: and the battle paſſed over unto Beth-aven.

24 ¶ And the men of Iſrael were diſtreſſed that day: for Saul had adjured the people, ſaying, Curſed be the man that eateth any food until evening, that I may be avenged on mine enemies. So none of the people taſted any food.

25 And all they of the land came to a wood; and there was honey upon the ground.

26 And when the people were come into the wood, behold, the honey dropped; but no man put his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipped it in an honey-comb, and put his hand to his mouth; and his eyes were enlightened.

28 Then anſwered one of the people, and ſaid, Thy father ſtraitly charged the people with an oath, ſaying, Curſed be the man that eateth any food this day. And the people were faint.

29 Then ſaid Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: ſee, I pray you, how mine eyes have been enlightened, becauſe I taſted a little of this honey;

30 How much more, if haply the people had eaten freely to-day of the ſpoil of their enemies which they found: for had there not been now a much greater ſlaughter among the Philiſtines?

31 And they ſmote the Philiſtines that day from Michmaſh to Aijalon: and the people were very faint.

32 And the people flew upon the ſpoil, and took ſheep, and oxen, and calves, and ſlew them on the ground: and the people did eat them with the blood.

33 Then they told Saul, ſaying, Behold, the people ſin againſt the Lord, in that they eat with the blood. And he ſaid, Ye have tranſgreſſed: roll a great ſtone unto me this day.

34 And Saul ſaid, Diſperſe yourſelves among the people, and ſay unto them, Bring me hither every man his ox, and every man his ſheep, and ſlay them here, and eat; and ſin not againſt the Lord in eating with the blood. And all the people brought every man his ox with him that night, and ſlew them there.

35 And Saul built an altar unto the Lord. The ſame was the firſt altar that he built unto the Lord.

36 And Saul ſaid, Let us go down after the Philiſtines by night, and ſpoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And they ſaid, Do whatſoever ſeemeth good unto thee. Then ſaid the prieſt, Let us draw near hither unto God.

37 And Saul aſked counſel of God, Shall I go down after the Philiſtines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Iſrael? But he anſwered him not that day;

38 And Saul ſaid, Draw ye near hither all the chief of the people: and know and ſee wherein this ſin hath been this day:

39 For, as the Lord liveth, which ſaveth Iſrael, though it be in Jonathan my ſon, he ſhall ſurely die. But there was not a man among all the people that anſwered him.

40 Then ſaid he unto all Iſrael, Be ye on one ſide, and I and Jonathan my ſon will be on the other ſide. And the people ſaid unto Saul, Do, what ſeemeth good unto thee.

41 Therefore Saul ſaid unto the Lord God of Iſrael, Give a perfect lot. And Saul and Jonathan were taken: but the people eſcaped.

42 And Saul ſaid, Caſt lots between me and Jonathan my ſon. And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul ſaid to Jonathan, Tell me what thou haſt done. And Jonathan told him, and ſaid, I did but taſte a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and, lo, I muſt die.

44 And Saul anſwered, God do ſo, and more alſo: for thou ſhalt ſurely die, Jonathan.

45 And the people ſaid unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great ſalvation in Iſrael? God forbid: as the Lord liveth, there ſhall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people reſcued Jonathan that he died not.

46 Then Saul went up from following the Philiſtines: and the Philiſtines went to their own place.

47 So Saul took the kingdom over Iſrael, and fought againſt all his enemies on every ſide, againſt Moab, and againſt the children of Ammon and againſt Edom, and againſt the kings of Zobah, and againſt the Philiſtines: and whitherſoever he turned himſelf he vexed them.

15 And there was trembling in the hoſt, in the field, and among all the people, &c.) It ſeems from hence, that this great hoſt had not a mutual confidence in each other, but dreaded that the enemy had prevailed upon part of the army to act in a treacherous manner. The bare mention of an attack being made by two perſons only, could never of itſelf, have occaſioned ſo wild an uproar in ſo huge an army; ſomething muſt at the ſame time have been added thereto, which enraged them againſt each other, and fired them with the utmoſt fury and indignation. Nor does this in the leaſt derogate from the concern the Almighty had in this miraculous deliverance of his people, ſince, in caſes of this kind, he has ſo often made uſe of ſecond cauſes.

27 And his eyes were enlightened.) That is, his ſpirits and ſtrength, which were quite ſpent with long abſtinence from food, ſo that he could ſcarce ſee, were reſtored, and he was enabled to proceed with freſh vigour in the purſuit of the enemy.

45 And the people ſaid unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, &c.) The people were ſo highly pleaſed with the heroic action of Jonathan, that they would not ſuffer his father to put him to death, in conſequence of his raſh oath.

48 And he gathered an hoſt, and ſmote the Amalekites, and delivered Iſrael out of the hands of them that ſpoiled them.

49 Now the ſons of Saul were Jonathan, and Iſhui, and Malchi-ſhua: and the names of his two daughters were theſe; the name of the firſt-born Merab, and the name of the younger Michal:

50 And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of the captain of his hoſt was Abner the ſon of Ner, Saul's uncle.

51 And Kiſh was the father of Saul; and Ner the father of Abner was the ſon of Abiel.

52 And there was ſore war againſt the Philiſtines all the days of Saul: and when Saul ſaw any ſtrong man, or any valiant man, he took him unto him.

CHAP. XV.

1 Samuel ſendeth Saul to deſtroy Amalek. 8 He ſpareth Agag and the beſt of the ſpoil. 32 Samuel killeth Agag.

SAMUEL alſo ſaid unto Saul, The Lord ſent me to anoint thee to be king over his people, over Iſrael: now, therefore, hearken thou unto the voice of the words of the Lord.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I remember that which Amalek did to Iſrael, how he laid wait for him in the way when he came up from Egypt.

3 Now go, and ſmite Amalek, and utterly deſtroy all that they have, and ſpare them not; but ſlay both man and woman, infant and ſuckling, ox and ſheep, camel and aſs.

4 And Saul gathered the people together, and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thouſand footmen, and ten thouſand men of Judah.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek and laid wait in the valley.

6 ¶ And Saul ſaid unto the Kenites, Go, depart, get you down from among the Amalekites, leſt I deſtroy you with them: for ye ſhewed kindneſs to all the children of Iſrael when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 And Saul ſmote the Amalekites from Havilah, until thou comeſt to Shur, that is over againſt Egypt.

8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and utterly deſtroyed all the people with the edge of the ſword.

9 But Saul and the people ſpared Agag, and the beſt of the ſheep, and of the oxen, and of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly deſtroy them: but every thing that was vile and refuſe that they deſtroyed utterly.

10 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Samuel, ſaying,

11 It repenteth me that I have ſet up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel; and he cried unto the Lord all night.

12 ¶ And when Samuel roſe early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, ſaying, Saul came to Carmel, and, behold, he ſet him up a place, and is gone about, and paſſed on, and gone down to Gilgal.

13 And Samuel came to Saul; and Saul ſaid unto him, Bleſſed be thou of the Lord; I have performed the commandment of the Lord.

14 ¶ And Samuel ſaid, What meaneth then this bleating of the ſheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15 And Saul ſaid, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people ſpared the beſt of the ſheep and of the oxen to ſacrifice unto the Lord thy God; and the reſt we have utterly deſtroyed.

16 Then Samuel ſaid unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the Lord hath ſaid to me this night. And he ſaid unto him, Say on.

17 And Samuel ſaid, When thou waſt little in thine own ſight, waſt thou not made the head of the tribes of Iſrael, and the Lord anointed thee king over Iſrael?

18 And the Lord ſent thee on a journey, and ſaid, Go and utterly deſtroy the ſinners the Amalekites, and fight againſt them until they be conſumed.

19 Wherefore then didſt thou not obey the voice of the Lord, but didſt fly upon the ſpoil, and didſt evil in the ſight of the Lord?

20 And Saul ſaid unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord ſent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly deſtroyed the Amalekites.

21 But the people took of the ſpoil, ſheep and oxen, the chief of the things which ſhould have been utterly deſtroyed, to ſacrifice unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuel ſaid, Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt-offerings and ſacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord: Behold, to obey is better than ſacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.

23 For rebellion is as the ſin of witchcraft, and ſtubbornneſs is as iniquity and idolatry. Becauſe thou haſt rejected the word of the Lord, he hath alſo rejected thee from being king.

24 ¶ And Saul ſaid unto Samuel, I have ſinned: for I have tranſgreſſed the commandment of the Lord, and thy words; becauſe I feared the people, and obeyed their voice.

25 Now, therefore, I pray thee, pardon my ſin, and turn again with me, that I may worſhip the Lord.

26 And Samuel ſaid unto Saul, I will not return with thee; for thou haſt rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath rejected thee from being king over Iſrael.

27 And as Samuel turned about to go away, he laid hold upon the ſkirt of his mantle, and it rent.

28 And Samuel ſaid unto him, The Lord hath rent the kingdom of Iſrael from thee this day, and hath given it to a neighbour of thine, that is better than thou.

29 And alſo the Strength of Iſrael will not lye, nor repent: for he is not a man that he ſhould repent.

30 Then he ſaid, I have ſinned; yet honour me now, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Iſrael, and turn again with me, that I may worſhip the Lord thy God.

31 So Samuel turned again after Saul: and Saul worſhipped the Lord.

32 ¶ Then ſaid Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king of the Amalekites. And Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag ſaid, Surely the bitterneſs of death is paſt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

3 Go, and ſmite Amalek, &c.) This heavy ſentence was long before pronounced, Exod. xvii. 14, renewed at the Iſraelites entrance into Canaan, Deut. xxv. 19, and now ordered to be put in execution.

6 Saul ſaid to the Kenites.) They were of the poſterity of Jethro; and dwelt among the Amalekites in the rocky part of the country.

29 And alſo the ſtrength of Iſrael.) The word in the original, which we tranſlate ſtrength, imports victory; and therefore the words ſhould have been rendered, he that giveth victory, or the triumphant king of Iſrael.

33 And Samuel ſaid, As thy ſword hath made women childleſs, ſo ſhall thy mother be childleſs among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord in Gilgal.

34 Then Samuel went to Ramah: and Saul went up to his houſe to Gibeah of Saul.

35 And Samuel came no more to ſee Saul until the day of his death: nevertheleſs, Samuel mourned for Saul: and the Lord repented that he had made Saul king over Iſrael.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Samuel ſent by God under pretence of a ſacrifice, cometh to Beth-lehem. 6 His human judgment reproved. 11 He anointeth David.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, ſeeing I have rejected him from reigning over Iſrael? Fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will ſend thee to Jeſſe the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his ſons.

2 And Samuel ſaid how can I go? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the Lord ſaid, Take an heifer with thee, and ſay, I am come to ſacrifice to the Lord.

3 And call Jeſſe to the ſacrifice, and I will ſhew thee what thou ſhalt do: and thou ſhalt anoint unto me him whom I name unto thee.

4 And Samuel did that which the Lord ſpake, and came to Beth-lehem: and the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and ſaid, Comeſt thou peaceably?

5 And he ſaid, Peaceably: I am come to ſacrifice unto the Lord; ſanctify yourſelves, and come with me to the ſacrifice. And he ſanctified Jeſſe and his ſons, and called them to the ſacrifice.

6 ¶ And it came paſs when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and ſaid, Surely the Lord's anointed is before him.

7 But the Lord ſaid unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his ſtature; becauſe I have refuſed him: for the LORD ſeeth not as man ſeeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.

8 Then Jeſſe called Abinadab, and made him paſs before Samuel. And he ſaid, Neither hath the Lord choſen this.

9 Then Jeſſe made Shammah to paſs by. And he ſaid, Neither hath the Lord choſen this.

10 Again Jeſſe made ſeven of his ſons to paſs before Samuel. And Samuel ſaid unto Jeſſe, The Lord hath not choſen theſe.

11 ¶ And Samuel ſaid unto Jeſſe, Are here all thy children? and he ſaid, There remaineth yet the youngeſt, and behold, he keepeth the ſheep. And Samuel ſaid unto Jeſſe, Send and fetch him: for we will not ſit down till he come hither.

12 And he ſent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance and goodly to look to. And the Lord ſaid, Ariſe, anoint him: for this is he.

13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midſt of his brethren, and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel roſe up, and went to Ramah.

14 ¶ But the ſpirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil ſpirit from the Lord troubled him.

15 And Saul's ſervants ſaid unto him, Behold now, an evil ſpirit from God troubleth thee.

16 Let our Lord now command thy ſervants, which are before thee, to ſeek out a man who is a cunning player on an harp: and it ſhall come to paſs, when the evil ſpirit from God is upon thee, that he ſhall play with his hand, and thou ſhalt be well.

17 And Saul ſaid unto his ſervants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then anſwered one of the ſervants, and ſaid, Behold, I have ſeen a ſon of Jeſſe the Beth-lehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in matters, and a comely perſon, and the Lord is with him.

19 Wherefore Saul ſent meſſengers unto Jeſſe, and ſaid, Send me David thy ſon, which is with the ſheep.

20 And Jeſſe took an aſs laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and ſent them by David his ſon unto Saul.

21 And David came to Saul and ſtood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armour bearer.

22 And Saul ſent to Jeſſe, ſaying, let David, I pray thee, ſtand before me; for he hath found favour in my ſight.

23 And it came to paſs, when the evil ſpirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: So Saul was refreſhed and was well, and the evil ſpirit departed from him.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The armies of the Iſraelites and Philiſtines being ready to battle. 4 Goliah cometh proudly forth to challenge a combat. 12 David accepteth the challenge; 38 and ſlayeth the giant.

NOW the Philiſtines gathered together their armies to battle, and were gathered together at Shochoh, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shochoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim.

2 And Saul and the men of Iſrael were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and ſet the battle in array againſt the Philiſtines.

3 And the Philiſtines ſtood on a mountain on the one ſide, and Iſrael ſtood on a mountain on the other ſide: and there was a valley between them.

4 ¶ And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philiſtines, named Goliath, of Gath,

---

33 Samuel hewed Agag in pieces.) It has been matter of wonder to many how Samuel could thus ſlay a captive prince, even in the preſence of Saul, who out of his clemency had ſpared him: but it muſt be remembered, that the death of this prince had been predicted above four hundred years ago; that he had been a very bloody tyrant, and therefore was cut off for his own mercileſs cruelties; and that it does not follow, that Samuel ſlew Agag himſelf, becauſe what he commanded might be called his own act, tho' it were done by the public executioner.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

3 And call Jeſſe to the ſacrifice.) To an Euchariſtical feaſt after the ſacrifice, unto which it was common to invite their neighbours and friends.

13 And the ſpirit of the Lord came upon David, &c.) A ſpirit of prudence, to behave himſelf wiſely upon all occaſions; with a ſpirit of courage, ſo that he dared attack a lion and a bear; and a ſpirit of prophecy, in which he was very eminent afterwards. In ſhort, a ſpirit fit for a prince.

14 But the ſpirit of the Lord departed from Saul.) Which came upon him when Samuel anointed him king, and had continued with him till this inſtant. He did not, however, loſe his courage, but his prudence and ſkill in government.

And an evil ſpirit from the Lord troubled him.) He was melancholy, timorous, and ſuſpicious; ſo that he ſtarted where there was no danger, as the Hebrew word ſeems to import; and thence became very unfit for buſineſs, being ſometimes furious and diſtracted, and always full of anxiety and ſolicitude of mind.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

4 And there went out a champion,---named Goliath, of Gath.) When Joſhua drove the Anakims out of the land of Canaan, they whoſe whoſe height was ſix cubits and a ſpan.

5 And he had an helmet of braſs upon his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail; and the weight of the coat was five thouſand ſhekels of braſs.

6 And he had greaves of braſs upon his legs, and a target of braſs between his ſhoulders.

7 And the ſtaff of his ſpear was like a weaver's beam; and his ſpear's head weighed ſix hundred ſhekels of iron: and one bearing a ſhield went before him.

8 And he ſtood and cried unto the armies of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Why are ye come out to ſet your battle in array? am not I a Philiſtine, and ye ſervants to Saul? chooſe you a man for you, and let him come down to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your ſervants; but if I prevail againſt him, and kill him, then ſhall ye be our ſervants, and ſerve us.

10 And the Philiſtine ſaid, I defy the armies of Iſrael this day: give me a man that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and all Iſrael heard thoſe words of the Philiſtine, they were diſmayed and greatly afraid.

12 ¶ Now David was the ſon of that Ephrathite of Beth-lehem-judah, whoſe name was Jeſſe, and he had eight ſons; and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.

13 And the three elder ſons of Jeſſe went and followed Saul to the battle: and the names of his three ſons that went to the battle, were Eliab the firſt-born, and next unto him, Abinadab: and the third Shammah.

14 And David was the youngeſt: and the three eldeſt followed Saul.

15 But David went and returned from Saul, to feed his father's ſheep at Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philiſtine drew near morning and evening, and preſented himſelf forty days.

17 And Jeſſe ſaid unto David his ſon, Take now for thy brethren an ephah of this parched corn, and theſe ten loaves, and run to the camp to thy brethren;

18 And carry theſe ten cheeſes unto the captain of their thouſand, and look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge.

19 Now Saul, and they, and all the men of Iſrael were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philiſtines.

20 And David roſe up early in the morning, and left the ſheep with a keeper, and took, and went as Jeſſe had commanded him; and he came to the trench as the hoſt was going forth to the fight, and ſhouted for the battle.

21 For Iſrael and the Philiſtines had put the battle in array, army againſt army.

22 And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came, and ſaluted his brethren.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, there came up the champion, the Philiſtine of Gath, Goliath by name, out of the armies of the Philiſtines, and ſpake according to the ſame words: and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Iſrael, when they ſaw the man, fled from him, and were ſore afraid.

25 And the men of Iſrael ſaid, Have ye ſeen this man that is come up? ſurely to defy Iſrael is he come up: and it ſhall be, that the man who killeth him, the king will enrich him with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and make his father's houſe free in Iſrael.

26 And David ſpake to the men that ſtood by him, ſaying, What ſhall be done to the man that killeth this Philiſtine, and taketh away the reproach from Iſrael? for who is this uncircumciſed Philiſtine, that he ſhould defy the armies of the living God?

27 And the people anſwered him after this manner, ſaying, So ſhall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliab, his eldeſt brother, heard when he ſpake unto the men; and Eliab's anger was kindled againſt David, and he ſaid, Why cameſt thou down hither? and with whom haſt thou left thoſe few ſheep in the wilderneſs? I know thy pride, and the naughtineſs of thine heart; for thou art come down that thou mighteſt ſee the battle.

29 And David ſaid, What have I now done? Is there not a cauſe?

30 And he turned from him towards another, and ſpake after the ſame manner. And the people anſwered him again after the former manner.

31 And when the words were heard which David ſpake, they rehearſed them before Saul. And he ſent for him.

32 And David ſaid to Saul, Let no man's heart fail becauſe of him; thy ſervant will go and fight with this Philiſtine.

33 And Saul ſaid to David, Thou art not able to go againſt this Philiſtine, to fight with him; for thou art but a youth, and he a man of war from his youth.

34 And David ſaid unto Saul, Thy ſervant kept his father's ſheep, and there came a lion, and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock:

35 And I went out after him, and ſmote him, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he aroſe againſt me, I caught him by his beard, and ſmote him, and ſlew him.

36 Thy ſervant ſlew both the lion, and the bear: and this uncircumciſed Philiſtine ſhall be as one of them, ſeeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.

37 David ſaid moreover, The Lord that delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philiſtine. And Saul ſaid unto David, Go, and the Lord be with thee.

38 ¶ And Saul armed David with his armour, and he put an helmet of braſs upon his head, alſo he armed him with a coat of mail.

39 And David girded his ſword upon his armour, and he aſſayed to go; for he had not proved it. And David ſaid unto Saul, I cannot go with theſe: for I have not proved them. And David put them off retired to Gath, and there propagated a race of giants, of which Goliath was one.

Whoſe height was ſix cubits and a ſpan.) If we ſuppoſe the cubit according to the common meaſure, and the ſpan to be little more than three inches, the height of this champion will be twelve feet and a half; and at the very loweſt method of computation, his height will be near ten feet.

8 And he ſtood and cried unto the armies of Iſrael.) They were, it ſeems divided into ſeveral bodies, called here armies; and they were ſo near each other that they could hear one another, from the mountains on which they were encamped; and Goliath came down into the valley, and there gave a general challenge to any one among the Iſraelitiſh forces, to come and fight with him in ſight of both armies.

22 And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper, &c.) He left the proviſions, which his father had ſent to his brethren, with his ſervant: it not being a proper time to preſent it to them, as they were juſt going to engage.

37 The Lord---will deliver me out of the hand of this Philiſtine.) To ſilence all objections againſt his being able to fight with the Philiſtine, he declares he was poſſeſſed with a full perſuaſion, that God would deliver Goliath into his hand, as he had before done the lion and the bear; for he felt himſelf animated by that ſpirit which then aſſiſted him.

40 And he took his ſtaff in his hand, and chooſe him five ſmooth ſtones out of the brook, and put them in a ſhepherd's bag which he had, even in a ſcrip; and his ſling was in his hand: and he drew near to the Philiſtine.

41 And the Philiſtine came on and drew near unto David; and the man that bare the ſhield went before him.

42 And when the Philiſtine looked about and ſaw David, he diſdained him: for he was but a youth and ruddy, and of a fair countenance.

43 And the Philiſtine ſaid unto David, Am I a dog that thou comeſt to me with ſtaves? and the Philiſtine curſed David by his gods.

44 And the Philiſtine ſaid to David, Come to me, and I will give thy fleſh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beaſts of the field.

45 Then ſaid David unto the Philiſtine, Thou comeſt to me with a ſword, and with a ſpear, and with a ſhield: but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hoſts, the God of the armies of Iſrael, whom thou haſt defied.

46 This day will the Lord deliver thee into mine hand, and I will ſmite thee, and take thine head from thee: and I will give the carcaſes of the hoſt of the Philiſtines this day unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beaſts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Iſrael.

47 And all this aſſembly ſhall know that the Lord ſaveth not with ſword and ſpear: for the battle is the Lord's, and he will give you into our hands.

48 And it came to paſs, when the Philiſtine aroſe, and came and drew nigh to meet David, that David haſted, and ran toward the army to meet the Philiſtine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a ſtone, and ſlang it, and ſmote the Philiſtine in his forehead, that the ſtone ſunk into his forehead; and he fell upon his face to the earth.

50 So David prevailed over the Philiſtine with a ſling and with a ſtone, and ſmote the Philiſtine, and ſlew him; but there was no ſword in the hand of David.

51 Therefore David ran and ſtood upon the Philiſtine, and took his ſword, and drew it out of the ſheath thereof, and ſlew him, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philiſtines ſaw their champion was dead, they fled.

52 And the men of Iſrael and of Judah aroſe, and ſhouted, and purſued the Philiſtines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philiſtines fell down by the way to Shaaraim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.

53 And the children of Iſrael returned from chaſing after the Philiſtines, and they ſpoiled their tents.

54 And David took the head of the Philiſtine, and brought it to Jeruſalem; but he put his armour in his tent.

55 And when Saul ſaw David go forth againſt the Philiſtine, he ſaid unto Abner the captain of his hoſt, Abner, whoſe ſon is this youth? and Abner ſaid, As thy ſoul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.

56 And the king ſaid, Enquire thou whoſe ſon the ſtripling is.

57 And as David returned from the ſlaughter of the Philiſtine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philiſtine in his hand.

58 And Saul ſaid to him, Whoſe ſon art thou, thou young man? And David anſwered, I am the ſon of thy ſervant Jeſſe the Beth-lehemite.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jonathan loveth David: 5 Saul envieth his praiſe, 10 ſeeketh to kill him in his fury, 12 feareth him for his good ſucceſs. 17 He offereth him his daughter for a ſnare.

AND it came to paſs, when he had made an end of ſpeaking unto Saul, that the ſoul of Jonathan was knit with the ſoul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own ſoul.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his father's houſe.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, becauſe he loved him as his own ſoul.

4 And Jonathan ſtripped himſelf of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his ſword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

5 ¶ And David went out whitherſoever Saul ſent him, and behaved himſelf wiſely: and Saul ſet him over the men of war; and he was accepted in the ſight of all the people, and alſo in the ſight of Saul's ſervants.

6 And it came to paſs, as they came, when David was returned from the ſlaughter of the Philiſtine, that the women came out of all the cities of Iſrael, ſinging and dancing, to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with inſtruments of muſic.

7 And the women anſwered one another as they played, and ſaid, Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands.

8 And Saul was very wroth, and the ſaying diſpleaſed him; and he ſaid, They have aſcribed unto David ten thouſands, and to me they have aſcribed but thouſands; and what can he have more but the kingdom?

9 And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.

10 ¶ And it came to paſs, on the morrow, that the evil ſpirit from God came upon Saul, and he propheſied in the midſt of the houſe; and David played with his hand, as at other times: and there was a javelin in Saul's hand.

11 And Saul caſt the javelin; for he ſaid, I will ſmite David even to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his preſence twice.

12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David, becauſe the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul.

47 For the battle is the Lord's, and he will give you into our hands.) The battle againſt the ſeven nations of Canaan was properly the Lord's, becauſe he had commanded them to be extirpated; and in all other battles he diſpoſes of the victory as he pleaſes.

54 And David took the head of the Philiſtine, and brought it to Jeruſalem.) After he had ſhewn it to Saul, and all the hoſt of Iſrael. Jeruſalem, ſeems, from hence, to have been a famous city at this time, becauſe David brought the head of Goliath thither; though in all probability, it was not left there, but only ſhewn as a ſpectacle.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 The ſoul of Jonathan was knit with the ſoul of David.) Such was the prudence and modeſty of David's diſcourſe and behaviour, after ſuch an heroic action, that he entirely gained Jonathan's affection.

3 Becauſe he loved him as his own ſoul.) We have many examples of ſincere friendſhip in prophane authors, but none equal to that contracted between Jonathan and David. And, indeed, this bond of friendſhip ſeems to have been concluded by a particular providence, as it preſerved David in that ſharp perſecution which ſoon after followed.

9 And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.) That is, he narrowly obſerved him, whether he ſhewed any deſire of gaining the kingdom; or, as it is commonly interpreted, he looked on him, with envy and hatred.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him his captain over a thouſand; and he went out and came in before the people.

14 And David behaved himſelf wiſely in all his ways; and the Lord was with him.

15 Wherefore, when Saul ſaw that he behaved himſelf very wiſely, he was afraid of him.

16 But all Iſrael and Judah loved David, becauſe he went out and came in before them.

17 ¶ And Saul ſaid to David, behold, my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife: only be thou valiant for me, and fight the Lord's battles. For Saul ſaid, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philiſtines be upon him.

18 And David ſaid unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life, or my father's family in Iſrael, that I ſhould be ſon-in-law to the king?

19 But it came to paſs at the time when Merab Saul's daughter ſhould have been given to David, that ſhe was given unto Adriel the Meholathite to wife.

20 And Michal Saul's daughter loved David; and they told Saul, and the thing pleaſed him.

21 And Saul ſaid, I will give him her, that ſhe may be a ſnare to him, and that the hand of the Philiſtines may be againſt him. Wherefore Saul ſaid to David, Thou ſhalt this day be my ſon-in-law in the one of the twain.

22 And Saul commanded his ſervants, ſaying, Commune with David ſecretly, and ſay, Behold the king hath delight in thee, and all his ſervants love thee: now therefore be the king's ſon-in-law.

23 And Saul's ſervants ſpake thoſe words in the ears of David. And David ſaid, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a king's ſon-in-law, ſeeing that I am a poor man, and lightly eſteemed?

24 And the ſervants of Saul told him, ſaying, On this manner ſpake David.

25 And Saul ſaid, Thus ſhall ye ſay to David, The king deſireth not any dowry, but an hundred foreſkins of the Philiſtines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philiſtines.

26 And when his ſervants told David theſe words, it pleaſed David well to be the king's ſon-in-law: and the days were not expired.

27 Wherefore David aroſe and went, he and his men, and ſlew of the Philiſtines two hundred men; and David brought their foreſkins and they gave them in full tale to the king, that he might be the king's ſon-in-law. And Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

28 And Saul ſaw and knew that the Lord was with David, and that Michal Saul's daughter loved him.

29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David: and Saul became David's enemy continually.

30 Then the princes of the Philiſtines went forth: and it came to paſs, after they went forth, that David behaved himſelf more wiſely than all the ſervants of Saul; ſo that his name was much ſet by.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Jonathan diſcloſeth his father's purpoſe to kill David. 4 He perſuadeth his father to reconciliation. 8 By reaſon of David's good ſucceſs, in a new war, Saul's malicious rage breaketh out againſt him.

AND Saul ſpake to Jonathan his ſon, and to all his ſervants, that they ſhould kill David.

2 But Jonathan, Saul's ſon, delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, ſaying, Saul my father ſeeketh to kill thee. Now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyſelf until the morning, and abide in a ſecret place, and hide thyſelf:

3 And I will go out and ſtand beſide my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and what I ſee that I will tell thee.

4 ¶ And Jonathan ſpake good of David unto Saul his father, and ſaid unto him, Let not the king ſin againſt his ſervant, againſt David; becauſe he hath not ſinned againſt thee, and becauſe his works have been to thee-ward very good.

5 For he did put his life in his hand, and ſlew the Philiſtine, and the Lord wrought a great ſalvation for all Iſrael: thou ſaweſt it, and didſt rejoice; wherefore then wilt thou ſin againſt innocent blood, to ſlay David without a cauſe?

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul ſware, As the Lord liveth, he ſhall not be ſlain.

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan ſhewed him all thoſe things: and Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his preſence as in times paſt.

8 ¶ And there was war again: and David went out and fought with the Philiſtines, and ſlew them with a great ſlaughter; and they fled from him.

9 And the evil ſpirit from the Lord was upon Saul, as he ſat in his houſe with his javelin in his hand: and David played with his hand.

10 And Saul ſought to ſmite David even to the wall, with the javelin: but he ſlipped away out of Saul's preſence, and he ſmote the javelin into the wall; and David fled, and eſcaped that night.

11 Saul alſo ſent meſſengers unto David's houſe, to watch him, and to ſlay him in the morning: and Michal David's wife told him, ſaying, If thou ſave not thy life to-night, to-morrow thou ſhalt be ſlain.

12 ¶ So Michal let David down through a window: and he went and fled, and eſcaped.

13 And Michal took an image, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats hair for his bolſter, and covered it with a cloth.

13 Saul removed him from him, &c.) Saul being diſappointed in his intent to kill David, determined to remove him from the court; and inſtead of commanding in the guards, as he had done before, made him a captain of another troop, where he hoped he might be ſlain in ſome expedition, or he himſelf have an opportunity of taking away his life.

25 The king deſireth not any dowry; but an hundred foreſkins of the Philiſtines.) The reaſon why he exacted the foreſkins, was to prevent all cheat and colluſion, and that he might be ſure they were only Philiſtines whom he killed. Had he demanded the heads of ſo many men, David might, he thought, cut off thoſe of his own ſubjects, and bring them inſtead of the Philiſtines. But theſe being the only neighbouring people who were uncircumciſed, (for the Arabians, as deſcended from Iſhmael, and all the other nations which ſprung from Eſau, were circumciſed as well as the Hebrews) on producing their foreſkins there could be no deception. Beſides, this would be a groſs inſult upon the Philiſtines in general, to whom Saul was deſirous of rendering David as odious as poſſible, in hopes that onetime or other he might fall into their hands.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIX.

1 And Saul ſpake to Jonathan his ſon, and to all his ſervants, that they ſhould kill David.) When he found that none of his ſecret ſtratagems had any effect, he openly declared his intention and gave a general command to his ſon and ſervants to kill him; ſome of whom he preſumed, would venture to obey him. The hand of Providence was viſible in Saul's diſcloſing his mind to his ſon, as David was by that means informed of the whole affair, and induced to take proper means for his ſafety.

13 And Michal took an image.) The original word, which we render an image, is teraphim. But it does not imply an idol made for a ſuperſtitious uſe, but a ſimple buſt of a man.

14 And

14 And when Saul ſent meſſengers to take David, ſhe ſaid, He is ſick.

15 And Saul ſent the meſſengers again to ſee David, ſaying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may ſlay him.

16 And when the meſſengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goat's hair for his bolſter.

17 And Saul ſaid unto Michal, Why haſt thou deceived me ſo, and ſent away mine enemy, that he is eſcaped? and Michael anſwered Saul, He ſaid unto me, Let me go; why ſhould I kill thee?

18 So David fled, and eſcaped, and came to Samuel at Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.

19 And it was told Saul, ſaying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah.

20 And Saul ſent meſſengers to take David: and when they ſaw the company of the prophets propheſying, and Samuel ſtanding, as appointed over them, the Spirit of God was upon the meſſengers of Saul, and they alſo propheſied.

21 And when it was told Saul, he ſent other meſſengers, and they propheſied likewiſe. And Saul ſent meſſengers again the third time, and they propheſied alſo.

22 Then went he alſo to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he aſked and ſaid, Where are Samuel and David? And one ſaid, Behold they be at Naioth in Ramah.

23 And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah: and the Spirit of God was upon him alſo, and he went on and propheſied, until he came to Naioth in Ramah.

24 And he ſtripped off his clothes alſo, and propheſied before Samuel in like manner, and lay down naked all that day and all that night. Wherefore they ſay, is Saul alſo among the prophets?

CHAP. XX.

1 David conſulteth with Jonathan for his ſafety. 11 Their covenant renewed by oath. 24 Saul miſſing David, ſeeketh to kill Jonathan.

AND David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and ſaid before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what is my ſin before thy father, that he ſeeketh my life?

2 And he ſaid unto him, God forbid; thou ſhalt not die: behold, my father will do nothing either great or ſmall, but that he will ſhew it me: and why ſhould my father hide this thing from me? it is not ſo.

3 And David ſware moreover, and ſaid, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he ſaith, Let not Jonathan know this, leſt he be grieved. But truly as the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, there is but a ſtep between me and death.

4 Then ſaid Jonathan unto David, Whatſoever thy ſoul deſireth, I will even do it for thee.

5 And David ſaid unto Jonathan, Behold, to-morrow is the new-moon, and I ſhould not fail to ſit with the king at meat: but let me go, that I may hide myſelf in the field unto the third day at even.

6 If thy father at all miſs me, then ſay, David earneſtly aſked leave of me that he might run to Beth-lehem his city: for there is a yearly ſacrifice there for all the family.

7 If he ſay thus, It is well; thy ſervant ſhall have peace: but if he be very wroth, then be ſure that evil is determined by him.

8 Therefore thou ſhalt deal kindly with thy ſervant; for thou haſt brought thy ſervant into a covenant of the Lord with thee: notwithſtanding, if there be in me iniquity, ſlay me thyſelf: for why ſhouldeſt thou bring me to thy father?

9 And Jonathan ſaid, Far be it from thee: for if I knew certainly that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?

10 Then ſaid David to Jonathan, Who ſhall tell me? or what if thy father anſwer thee roughly?

11 ¶ And Jonathan ſaid unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field. And they went out both of them into the field.

12 And Jonathan ſaid unto David, O Lord God of Iſrael, when I have ſounded my father about to-morrow any time, or the third day, and, behold, if there be good toward David, and I then ſend not unto thee, and ſhew it thee:

13 The Lord do ſo, and much more to Jonathan: but if it pleaſe my father to do thee evil, then I will ſhew it thee, and ſend thee away, that thou mayeſt go in peace; and the Lord be with thee, as he hath been with my father.

14 And thou ſhalt not only, while yet I live, ſhew me the kindneſs of the Lord, that I die not;

15 But alſo thou ſhalt not cut off thy kindneſs from my houſe for ever; no not when the Lord hath cut off the enemies of David every one from the face of the earth.

16 So Jonathan made a covenant with the houſe of David, ſaying, Let the Lord even require it at the hand of David's enemies.

17 And Jonathan cauſed David to ſwear again, becauſe he loved him: for he loved him as he loved his own ſoul.

18 Then Jonathan ſaid to David, To-morrow is the new-moon; and thou ſhalt be miſſed, becauſe thy ſeat will be empty.

19 And when thou haſt ſtayed three days, then thou ſhalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou didſt hide thyſelf when the buſineſs was in hand, and ſhalt remain by the ſtone Ezel.

20 And I will ſhoot three arrows on the ſide thereof, as though I ſhot at a mark.

21 And, behold, I will ſend a lad, ſaying, Go, find out the arrows. If I expreſsly ſay unto the lad, Behold, the arrows are on this ſide of thee, take them; then come thou: for there is peace to thee, and no hurt, as the Lord liveth.

22 But if I ſay thus unto the young man, Behold, the arrows are beyond thee: go thy way: for the Lord hath ſent thee away.

23 And, as touching the matter which thou and I have ſpoken of, behold, the Lord be between thee and me for ever.

20 And Saul ſent meſſengers to take David.) His implacable hatred had obliterated all reſpect and reverence for Samuel, under whoſe protection David now was, and for the college of the prophets, which was conſidered as a kind of aſylum for thoſe who fled to it.

23 And the ſpirit of God was upon him alſo, &c.) His ſervants did not propheſy till they reached Ramah; but God inſpired Saul as he was on the way, to convince him that his purſuit after David was fruitleſs and vain, ſince the ſpirit of God ſo powerfully defended him.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

5 To-morrow is the new-moon and I ſhould not fail to ſit with the king at meat.) The Iſraelites performed ſolemn ſacrifices every new moon and after the ſacrifices feaſted together; and David being one of the king's family, by marrying his daughter, uſed to eat with him on theſe occaſions; and he thought that Saul, by being inſpired with the ſpirit of God at Naioth, might poſſibly have forgot his anger, and make a favourable enquiry after him.

24 ¶ So David hid himſelf in the field: and when the new-moon was come the king ſat him down to eat meat.

25 And the king ſat upon his ſeat, as at other times, even upon a ſeat by the wall: and Jonathan aroſe, and Abner ſat by Saul's ſide, and David's place was empty.

26 Nevertheleſs, Saul ſpake not any thing that day: for he thought, Something hath befallen him, he is not clean; ſurely he is not clean.

27 And it came to paſs on the morrow, which was the ſecond day of the month, that David's place was empty; and Saul ſaid unto Jonathan his ſon, Wherefore cometh not the ſon of Jeſſe to meat, neither yeſterday nor to-day?

28 And Jonathan anſwered Saul, David earneſtly aſked leave of me to go to Beth-lehem:

29 And he ſaid, Let me go, I pray thee: for our family hath a ſacrifice in the city, and my brother he hath commanded me to be there; and now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me get away I pray thee, and ſee my brethren: therefore he cometh not unto the king's table.

30 Then Saul's anger was kindled againſt Jonathan, and he ſaid unto him, Thou ſon of the perverſe rebellious woman, do not I know that thou haſt choſen the ſon of Jeſſe to thine own confuſion, and unto the confuſion of thy mother's nakedneſs?

31 For as long as the ſon of Jeſſe liveth upon the ground, thou ſhalt not be eſtabliſhed, nor thy kingdom. Wherefore now ſend and fetch him unto me; for he ſhall ſurely die.

32 And Jonathan anſwered Saul his father, and ſaid unto him, Wherefore ſhall he be ſlain? what hath he done?

33 And Saul caſt a javelin at him to ſmite him; whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to ſlay David.

34 So Jonathan aroſe from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no meat the ſecond day of the month: for he was grieved for David, becauſe his father had done him ſhame.

35 ¶ And it came to paſs in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him.

36 And he ſaid unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I ſhoot. And as the lad ran, he ſhot an arrow beyond him.

37 And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had ſhot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and ſaid, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make ſpeed, haſte, ſtay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his maſter.

39 But the lad knew not any thing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 And Jonathan gave his artillery unto his lad, and ſaid unto him, Go, carry them to the city.

41 And as ſoon as the lad was gone, David aroſe out of a place toward the ſouth, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himſelf three times; and they kiſſed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded.

42 And Jonathan ſaid to David, Go in peace, foraſmuch as we have ſworn both of us in the name of the Lord, ſaying, The Lord be between me and thee, and between my ſeed and thy ſeed for ever. And he aroſe and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

CHAP. XXI.

1 David at Nob, obtaineth of Ahimelech hallowed bread. 8 He taketh Goliath's ſword; 13 and at Gath feigneth himſelf mad.

THEN came David to Nob, to Ahimelech the prieſt: and Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David, and ſaid unto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee?

2 And David ſaid unto Ahimelech the prieſt, The king hath commanded me a buſineſs, and hath ſaid unto me, Let no man know any thing of the buſineſs whereabout I ſend thee, and what I have commanded thee; and I have appointed my ſervants to ſuch and ſuch a place.

3 Now, therefore, what is under thine hand? give me five loaves of bread in mine hand, or what there is preſent.

4 And the prieſt anſwered David, and ſaid, There is no common bread under mine hand; but there is hallowed bread, if the young men have kept themſelves at leaſt from women.

5 And David anſwered the prieſt, and ſaid unto him, Of a truth, women have been kept from us about theſe three days ſince I came out, and the veſſels of the young men are holy, and the bread is in a manner common, yea, though it were ſanctified this day in the veſſel.

6 So the prieſt gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there but the ſhew-bread that was taken from before the Lord, to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away.

7 Now, a certain man of the ſervants of Saul was there that day detained before the Lord; and his name was Doeg an Edomite, the chiefeſt of the herdmen that belonged to Saul.

8 ¶ And David ſaid unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand ſpear or ſword? for I have neither brought my ſword nor my weapons with me, becauſe the king's buſineſs required haſte.

27 Wherefore cometh not the ſon of Jeſſe to meat, neither yeſterday nor to-day?) The Jewiſh months were lunar, and never began before the moon appeared above the horizon: for which purpoſe there were certain perſons placed on the mountains, ſome time before the new moon was expected, to give notice by the ſound of a horn when it firſt appeared, that the news thereof might immediately be carried to all places of the kingdom. But leſt there ſhould be any miſtake in this method of making their obſervations, they celebrated this feſtival for two days together; and this alſo gave an opportunity to thoſe who were unclean the firſt day, to partake of it the next, as this ſort of uncleanneſs laſted only one day.

33 And Saul caſt a javelin at him to ſmite him.) Saul's fury was ſo great, that he attempted to ſlay his own ſon, merely becauſe he declined his command, by deſiring to know what crime David had committed. If it ſhould be aſked, how it happened that Saul had always a javelin or ſpear at hand to execute his evil purpoſes? it may be anſwered, that ſpears were the ſceptres of thoſe ages, which kings always carried in their hands.

41 And they kiſſed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded.) There was reaſon for David to exceed, as he was now to become an exile from his friends, from his wife, from his parents, from his kindred, from the people of God, and from all ſacred ſolemnities.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

8 I have neither brought my ſword nor my weapons with me, for the king's buſineſs required haſte.) It muſt be owned, that David in this pretence, did not abſolutely ſpeak the truth; but we are not to conſider this as a precedent for uttering falſhood: for it ſhould be remembered that David, though a great and good man, was ſtill human, and conſequently ſubject to failings. One thing may, indeed be ſaid in his excuſe; that as he ſaw Doeg there, who he well knew would inform Saul of all that paſſed between him and Ahimelech, he pretended buſineſs, purpoſely to furniſh the prieſt with an apology for his kind reception of David, ſince he really thought he came expreſs from the king.

9 And the prieſt ſaid, The ſword of Goliath the Philiſtine, whom thou ſleweſt in the valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod: if thou wilt take that, take it; for there is no other ſave that here. And David ſaid, There is none like that; give it me.

10 ¶ And David aroſe, and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to Achiſh the king of Gath.

11 And the ſervants of Achiſh ſaid unto him, Is not this David the king of the land? did they not ſing one to another of him in dances, ſaying, Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands?

12 And David laid up theſe words in his heart, and was ſore afraid of Achiſh the king of Gath.

13 And he changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himſelf mad in their hands, and ſcrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his ſpittle fall down upon his beard.

14 Then ſaid Achiſh unto his ſervants, Lo, ye ſee the man is mad: wherefore then have ye brought him to me?

15 Have I need of mad men, that ye have brought this fellow to play the mad man in my preſence? ſhall this fellow come into my houſe?

CHAP. XXII.

1 Men reſort to David at Adullam. 9 Doeg accuſeth Ahimelech. 17 Saul commandeth to kill the prieſts. 20 Abiathar eſcapeth to David.

DAVID therefore departed thence, and eſcaped to the cave Adullam: and when his brethren and all his father's houſe heard it, they went down thither to him.

2 And every one that was in diſtreſs, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was diſcontented gathered themſelves unto him; and he became a captain over them: and there were with him about four hundred men.

3 And David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab; and he ſaid unto the king of Moab, Let my father and my mother, I pray thee, come forth, and be with you, till I know what God will do for me.

4 And he brought them before the king of Moab; and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in the hold.

5 And the prophet Gad ſaid unto David, Abide not in the hold; depart, and get thee into the land of Judah. Then David departed, and came into the foreſt of Hareth.

6 When Saul heard that David was diſcovered, and the men that were with him, now (Saul abode in Gibeah under a tree in Ramah, having his ſpear in his hand, and all his ſervants were ſtanding about him;)

7 Then Saul ſaid unto his ſervants that ſtood about him, Hear now, ye Benjamites, will the ſon of Jeſſe give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds;

8 That all of you have conſpired againſt me, and there is none that ſheweth me that my ſon hath made a league with the ſon of Jeſſe, and there is none of you that is ſorry for me, or ſheweth unto me that my ſon hath ſtirred up my ſervant againſt me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

9 ¶ Then anſwered Doeg the Edomite, which was ſet over the ſervants of Saul, and ſaid, I ſaw the ſon of Jeſſe coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the ſon of Ahitub.

10 And he enquired of the Lord for him, and gave him victuals, and gave him the ſword of Goliath the Philiſtine.

11 Then the king ſent to call Ahimelech the prieſt, the ſon of Ahitub, and all his father's houſe, the prieſts that were in Nob. And they came all of them to the king.

12 And Saul ſaid, Hear now, thou ſon of Ahitub. And he anſwered, Here I am, my lord.

13 And Saul ſaid unto him, Why have ye conſpired againſt me, thou and the ſon of Jeſſe, in that thou haſt given him bread, and a ſword, and haſt enquired of God for him, that he ſhould riſe againſt me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

14 Then Ahimelech anſwered the king, and ſaid, And who is ſo faithful among all thy ſervants as David, which is the king's ſon-in-law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine houſe?

15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? be it far from me. Let not the king impute any thing unto his ſervant, nor to all the houſe of my father: for thy ſervant knew nothing of all this, leſs or more.

16 And the king ſaid, Thou ſhalt ſurely die, Ahimelech, thou and all thy father's houſe.

17 And the king ſaid unto the footmen that ſtood about him, Turn, and ſlay the prieſts of the Lord; becauſe their hand alſo is with David, and becauſe they knew when he fled, and did not ſhew it to me. But the ſervants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the prieſts of the Lord.

18 And the king ſaid unto Doeg, Turn thou and fall upon the prieſts. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and he fell upon the prieſts, and ſlew on that day fourſcore and five perſons that did wear a linen ephod.

19 And Nob, the city of the prieſts, ſmote he with the edge of the ſword, both men and women, children and ſucklings, and oxen, and aſſes, and ſheep, with the edge of the ſword.

20 ¶ And one of the ſons of Ahimelech the ſon of Ahitub, named Abiathar, eſcaped and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar ſhewed David that Saul had ſlain the Lord's prieſts.

22 And David ſaid unto Abiathar, I knew it that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would ſurely tell Saul. I have occaſioned the death of all the perſons of thy father's houſe.

23 Abide thou with me, fear not; for he that ſeeketh my life, ſeeketh thy life; but with me thou ſhalt be in ſafeguard.

---

9 The ſword of Goliath the Philiſtine, whom thou ſleweſt in the valley of Elah, behold it is here wrapt in a cloth behind the ephod.) That is behind the place where the prieſt's garments were laid up, of which the ephod was the chief. It was cuſtomary, not only among the Jews, but the Heathens alſo, to hang up the arms taken from the enemy in their temples; and in conformity with this cuſtom, the ſword wherewith he cut off Goliath's head, he dedicated to the Lord, and delivered to the prieſt, to be kept as a monument of his victory, and the deliverance of the Iſraelites.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

2 There were with him about four hundred men.) Theſe had liſted themſelves under him as their commander; but though he had this little army under him, he was ſo far from aſſaulting an city, or ſeeking occaſion to fight with the troops of Saul, that he took every method in his power to avoid both, by ſearching out ſecret places, ſometimes in the deſerts, and ſometimes among ſtrange people, always taking care not to hurt his countrymen.

16 Thou ſhalt ſurely die, Ahimelech, thou, and all thy father's houſe.) A mad reſolution; for ſurely the reſt of the prieſts had done nothing to deſerve ſo bloody a ſentence. And even Ahimelech himſelf could not be conſidered as guilty, ſince he did not know that David was flying from the king: this Doeg well knew, for he had heard David tell Ahimelech, that he was going on urgent buſineſs from the king; but he thought proper to conceal this, and to repreſent the good offices he had done David, in the moſt odious light.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 David enquiring of the Lord, reſcueth Keilah. 7 God ſheweth him Saul's coming, and the treachery of the Keilites. 13 He eſcapeth from Keilah.

THEN they told David, ſaying, Behold, the Philiſtines fight againſt Keilah, and they rob the threſhing-floors.

2 Therefore David enquired of the Lord, ſaying, Shall I go and ſmite theſe Philiſtines? And the Lord ſaid unto David, Go, and ſmite the Philiſtines, and ſave Keilah.

3 And David's men ſaid unto him, Behold, we be afraid here in Judah, how much more then if we come to Keilah againſt the armies of the Philiſtines.

4 Then David enquired of the Lord yet again. And the Lord anſwered him, and ſaid, Ariſe, go down to Keilah; for I will deliver the Philiſtines into thine hand.

5 So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philiſtines, and brought away their cattle, and ſmote them with a great ſlaughter. So David ſaved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 And it came to paſs, when Abiathar, the ſon of Ahimelech, fled to David to Keilah, that he came down with an ephod in his hand.

7 ¶ And it was told Saul that David was come to Keilah. And Saul ſaid, God hath delivered him into mine hand; for he is ſhut in, by entering into a town that hath gates and bars.

8 And Saul called all the people together to war, to go down to Keilah, to beſiege David and his men.

9 ¶ And David knew that Saul ſecretly practiſed miſchief againſt him: and he ſaid to Abiathar the prieſt, Bring hither the ephod.

10 Then ſaid David, O Lord God of Iſrael, thy ſervant hath certainly heard that Saul ſeeketh to come to Keilah, to deſtroy the city for my ſake.

11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand? will Saul come down, as thy ſervant hath heard? O Lord God of Iſrael, I beſeech thee tell thy ſervant. And the Lord ſaid, He will come down.

12 Then ſaid David, Will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? and the Lord ſaid, They will deliver thee up.

13 ¶ Then David and his men, which were about ſix hundred, aroſe and departed out of Keilah, and went whitherſoever they could go. And it was told Saul that David was eſcaped from Keilah: and he forbare to go forth.

14 And David abode in the wilderneſs in ſtrong holds, and remained in a mountain in the wilderneſs of Ziph: and Saul ſought him every day; but God delivered him not into his hand.

15 And David ſaw that Saul was come out to ſeek his life. And David was in the wilderneſs of Ziph in a wood.

16 And Jonathan Saul's ſon aroſe, and went to David into the wood, and ſtrengthened his hand in God.

17 And he ſaid unto him, Fear not: for the hand of Saul my father ſhall not find thee: and thou ſhalt be king over Iſrael, and I ſhall be next unto thee: and that alſo Saul my father knoweth.

18 And they two made a covenant before the Lord. And David abode in the wood, and Jonathan went to his houſe.

19 Then came up the Ziphites to Saul to Gibeah, ſaying, Doth not David hide himſelf with us in ſtrong holds in the wood, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the ſouth of Jeſhimon?

20 Now therefore, O king, come down according to all the deſire of thy ſoul to come down; and our part ſhall be to deliver him into the king's hand.

21 And Saul ſaid, Bleſſed be ye of the Lord; for ye have compaſſion on me.

22 Go, I pray you, prepare yet, and know and ſee his place where his haunt is, and who hath ſeen him there for it is told me, that he dealeth very ſubtilely.

23 See therefore and take knowledge of all the lurking places where he hideth himſelf, and come ye again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you: and it ſhall come to paſs, if he be in the land, that I will ſearch him out throughout all the thouſands of Judah.

24 And they aroſe and went to Ziph before Saul: but David and his men were in the wilderneſs of Maon, in the plain on the ſouth of Jeſhimon.

25 Saul alſo and his men went to ſeek him. And they told David; wherefore he came down into a rock, and abode in the wilderneſs of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he purſued after David in the wilderneſs of Maon.

26 And Saul went on this ſide of the mountain, and David and his men on that ſide of the mountain: and David made haſte to get away for fear of Saul: for Saul and his men compaſſed David and his men round about to take them.

27 But there came a meſſenger unto Saul, ſaying, Haſte thee, and come; for the Philiſtines have invaded the land.

28 Wherefore Saul returned from purſuing after David, and went againſt the Philiſtines: therefore they called that place Selah-hammalekoth.

29 And David went up from thence, and dwelt in ſtrong holds at En-gedi.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 David in a cave at En-gedi ſpareth Saul's life. 8 He pleadeth his innocency. 16 Saul acknowledgeth his fault.

AND it came to paſs when Saul was returned from following the Philiſtines, that it was told him, ſaying, Behold, David is in the wilderneſs of En-gedi.

2 Then Saul took three thouſand choſen men out of all Iſrael, and went to ſeek David and his men upon the rocks of the wild goats.

3 And he came to the ſheep cotes by the way, where was a cave; and Saul went in to cover his feet: and David and his men remained in the ſides of the cave.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

1 Then they told David, ſaying, Behold the Philiſtines fight againſt Keilah.) We do not read of any embaſſy that the people of Keilah ſent to David to deſire his aſſiſtance, nor of any particular affection they had for him; and therefore it is natural to ſuppoſe, that David undertook this expedition purely to ſhew the value he had for his countrymen, and convince the Iſraelites how ſerviceable he could be to them, provided he was again reſtored to his dignity; and that whatever ill treatment he might meet with from Saul, nothing ſhould provoke him to abandon his love for his country.

19 Then came up the Ziphites to Saul to Gibeah, &c.) Theſe people were of the tribe of Judah, and therefore David might poſſibly think himſelf more ſecure among them, as he was of the ſame tribe. The city of Ziph, lay in the ſouthern part of the tribe of Judah, and about eight miles eaſt of Hebron.

27 But there came a meſſenger unto Saul, &c.) This was a very remarkable providence of God, who ſtirred up the Philiſtines at this time to make an irruption into the territories of Iſrael, for the preſervation of David.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

3 And David and his men remained in the ſides of the cave.) David and his men could eaſily ſee every action of Saul, by the light which entered at the mouth of the cave, but he could not ſee them,

4 And

4 And the men of David said unto him, Behold the day of which the Lord said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayest do to him as it shall seem good unto thee. Then David arose and cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily.

5 And it came to pass afterward that David's heart smote him, because he had cut off Saul's skirt.

6 And he said unto his men, The Lord forbid that I should do this thing unto my master, the Lord's anointed, to stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is the anointed of the Lord.

7 So David stayed his servants with these words, and suffered them not to arise against Saul. But Saul rose up out of the cave, and went on his way.

8 David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

9 And David said to Saul, Wherefore hearest thou men's words, saying, Behold, David seeketh thy hurt?

10 Behold, this day thine eyes have seen how that the Lord had delivered thee to-day into mine hand in the cave: and some bade me kill thee; but mine eye spared thee: and I said, I will not put forth mine hand against my lord: for he is the Lord's anointed.

11 Moreover, my father, see; yea, see the skirt of thy robe in my hand: for in that I cut off the skirt of thy robe, and killed thee not, know thou and see, that there is neither evil nor transgression in mine hand, and I have not sinned against thee; yet thou huntest my soul to take it.

12 The Lord judge between me and thee, and the Lord avenge me of thee: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

13 As saith the proverb of the ancients, Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked; but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

14 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, after a flea.

15 The Lord therefore be judge, and judge between me and thee, and see, and plead my cause, and deliver me out of thine hand.

16 ¶ And it came to pass when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul, that Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? and Saul lifted up his voice and wept.

17 And he said to David, Thou art more righteous than I; for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil.

18 And thou hast shewed this day how that thou hast dealt well with me: forasmuch as when the Lord had delivered me into thine hand thou killedst me not.

19 For if a man find his enemy, will he let him go well away? wherefore the Lord reward thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.

20 And now behold, I know well that thou shalt surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in thine hand.

21 Swear now therefore unto me by the Lord, that thou wilt not cut off my seed after me, and that thou wilt not destroy my name out of my father's house.

22 And David sware unto Saul. And Saul went home: but David and his men gat them up unto the hold.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Samuel dieth. 10 David provoked to destroy Nabal. 14 Abigail by her wisdom preventeth him. 36 Nabal dieth. 39 David taketh Abigail and Ahinoam to be his wives.

AND Samuel died: and all the Israelites were gathered together and lamented him, and buried him in his house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran.

2 And there was a man in Maon, whose possessions were in Carmel: and the man was very great, and he had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats; and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3 Now the name of the man was Nabal; and the name of his wife Abigail; and she was a woman of good understanding, and of a beautiful countenance: but the man was churlish and evil in his doings; and he was of the house of Caleb.

4 And David heard in the wilderness, that Nabal did shear his sheep.

5 And David sent out ten young men, and David said unto the young men, Get you up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name:

6 And thus shall ye say to him that liveth in prosperity, Peace be both to thee, and peace be to thine house, and peace be unto all that thou hast.

7 And now I have heard that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds which were with us, we hurt them not, neither was there ought missing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel.

8 Ask thy young men, and they will shew thee: wherefore, let the young men find favour in thine eyes; (for we come in a good day) give, I pray thee, whatsoever cometh to thine hand unto thy servants, and to thy son David.

9 And when David's young men came, they spake to Nabal according to all those words, in the name of David, and ceased.

10 ¶ And Nabal answered David's servants, and said, Who is David? and who is the son of Jesse? there be many servants now a days that break away every man from his master.

11 Shall I then take my bread and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men whom I know not whence they be?

---

as it was dark in the remoter parts of it. Some of these caves are exceeding large: and Dr. Pocock tells us, that he visited one in which David and his men might with great ease be hid there, and not be seen by Saul; and hence he conjectures that this is one of the strong holds of En-gedi, and possibly the same mentioned by the sacred writer.

8 David---cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king.) This was indeed, a bold attempt, to venture into the presence of so enraged an enemy; but his innocence and confidence in God animated him, especially as he had now in his hand so strong an evidence of his integrity.

14 Dost thou pursue a dead dog, or a flea? He represents himself as contemptible as possible, that he might convince Saul it was not for his honour to kill him. Shall a king triumph over a dog, or a lion hunt a flea?

17 Thou art more righteous than I.) Saul was confounded at this generous behaviour of David; and his pathetic speech forced him to acknowledge, that he had acted in a very unjust manner.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXV.

1 And Samuel died, &c.) The Jews are of opinion, that Samuel died only four months before Saul; but the generality of christian chronologers suppose, that he died two years before that prince, and in the ninety-eight year of his age; twenty of which he had spent in the government of Israel, before Saul was made king, after which he lived about eighteen years. He was an excellent governor, and during his whole administration, above vanity, corruption, or any private views. The Israelites might therefore well lament the loss of so good a man, especially when they saw the disorders of Saul's government.

12 So David's young men turned their way and went again, and came and told him all thoſe ſayings.

13 And David ſaid unto his men, Gird ye on every man his ſword. And they girded on every man his ſword; and David alſo girded on his ſword: and there went up after David about four hundred men; and two hundred abode by the ſtuff.

14 ¶ But one of the young men told Abigail Nabal's wife, ſaying, Behold, David ſent meſſengers out of the wilderneſs to ſalute our maſter; and he railed on them.

15 But the men were very good unto us, and we were not hurt, neither miſſed we any thing as long as we were converſant with them when we were in the fields;

16 They were a wall unto us both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the ſheep.

17 Now therefore know and conſider what thou wilt do: for evil is determined againſt our maſter, and againſt all his houſhold: for he is ſuch a ſon of Belial, that a man cannot ſpeak to him.

18 Then Abigail made haſte, and took two hundred loaves, and two bottles of wine, and five ſheep ready dreſſed, and five meaſures of parched corn, and an hundred cluſters of raiſins, and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on aſſes.

19 And ſhe ſaid unto her ſervants, Go on before me: behold, I come after you. But ſhe told not her huſband Nabal.

20 And it was ſo, as ſhe rode on the aſs, that ſhe came down by the covert of the hill, and behold David and his men came down againſt her: and ſhe met them.

21 Now David had ſaid, Surely in vain have I kept all that this fellow hath in the wilderneſs, ſo that nothing was miſſed of all that pertained unto him; and he hath requited me evil for good,

22 So and more alſo do God unto the enemies of David, if I leave of all that pertain to him by the morning light, any that piſſeth againſt the wall.

23 And when Abigail ſaw David, ſhe haſted and lighted off the aſs, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herſelf to the ground, 24 And fell at his feet and ſaid, Upon me, my lord, upon me, let this iniquity be: and let thine handmaid, I pray thee, ſpeak in thine audience, and hear the words of thine handmaid.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, regard this man of Belial, even Nabal: for as his name is, ſo is he: Nabal is his name, and folly is with him; but I thine handmaid ſaw not the young men of my lord, whom thou didſt ſend.

26 Now therefore, my lord, as the Lord liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, ſeeing the Lord hath with-holden thee from coming to ſhed blood, and from avenging thyſelf with thine own hand, now let thine enemies, and they that ſeek evil to my lord, be as Nabal,

27 And now this bleſſing, which thine handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it even be given unto the young men that follow my lord.

28 I pray thee, forgive the treſpaſs of thine handmaid. For the Lord will certainly make my lord a ſure houſe: becauſe my lord fighteth the battles of the Lord, and evil hath not been found in thee all thy days.

29 Yet a man is riſen to purſue thee, and to ſeek thy ſoul: but the ſoul of my lord ſhall be bound in the bundle of life with the Lord thy God; and the ſouls of thine enemies, them ſhall he ſling out, as out of the middle of a ſling.

30 And it ſhall come to paſs when the Lord ſhall have done to my lord according to all the good that he hath ſpoken concerning thee, and ſhall have appointed thee ruler over Iſrael;

31 That this ſhall be no grief unto thee, nor offence of heart unto my lord, either that thou haſt ſhed blood cauſeleſs, or that my lord hath avenged himſelf; but when the Lord ſhall have dealt well with my lord, then remember thine handmaid.

32 And David ſaid to Abigail, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, which ſent thee this day to meet me:

33 And bleſſed be thy advice, and bleſſed be thou, which haſt kept me this day from coming to ſhed blood, and from avenging myſelf with mine own hand.

34 For in very deed, as the Lord God of Iſrael liveth, which hath kept me back from hunting thee, except thou hadſt haſted and come to meet me, ſurely there had not been left unto Nabal, by the morning light, any that piſſeth againſt the wall.

35 So David received of her hand that which ſhe had brought him, and ſaid unto her, Go up in peace to thine houſe; ſee, I have hearkened to thy voice: and have accepted thy perſon.

36 ¶ And Abigail came to Nabal, and behold, he held a feaſt in his houſe like the feaſt of a king: and Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore ſhe told him nothing, leſs or more, until the morning light.

37 But it came to paſs in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, and his wife had told him theſe things, that his heart died within him, and he became as a ſtone.

38 And it came to paſs about ten days after, that the Lord ſmote Nabal, that he died.

39 ¶ And when David heard that Nabal was dead, he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord, that hath pleaded the cauſe of my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his ſervant from evil: for the Lord hath returned the wickedneſs of Nabal upon his own head. And David ſent and communed with Abigail, to take her to him to wife.

40 And when the ſervants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they ſpake unto her, ſaying, David ſent us unto thee, to take thee to him to wife.

41 And ſhe aroſe, and bowed herſelf on her face to the earth, and ſaid, Behold, let thine handmaid be a ſervant to waſh the feet of the ſervants of my lord.

42 And Abigail haſted, and aroſe, and rode upon an aſs with five damſels of hers that went after her: and ſhe went after the meſſengers of David, and became his wife.

43 David alſo took Ahinoam of Jezreel; and they were alſo both of them his wives.

44 But Saul had given Michal his daughter, David's wife,

18 And two bottles of wine.) It muſt be obvious to every reader, that two bottles of wine would bear no proportion to the other parts of the preſent, nor anſwer the exigences of David's army, if we underſtand them of ſuch bottles as are now generally in uſe with us: but in thoſe eaſtern countries they uſed to carry and keep their wine in leather bags, made on purpoſe to hold liquid things; and theſe veſſels they called, or at leaſt we tranſlate, bottles. And it is natural to ſuppoſe, that two ſuch veſſels would hold a quantity of wine proportionate to the reſt of the preſent.

32 And David ſaid to Abigal, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, which ſent thee this day to meet me.) He was go greatly affected with her pathetic ſpeech, that he in the firſt place, acknowledges the good providence of God, which directed her to come ſo ſeaſonably to prevent the effects of his anger; whereby he was abſolved from his oath, which he had ſworn to cut off Nabal's family.

37 His heart died within him, and he became as a ſtone.) He was ſo aſtoniſhed at the danger he had eſcaped, that he was ſeized with a numbneſs, or palſy, and became cold as a ſtone; and in the ſpace of ten days after expired, as we are told in the following verſe.

wife, to Phalti the ſon of Laiſh, which was of Gallim.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Saul cometh to Hachilah againſt David. 5 David in the trench ſlayeth Abiſhai from killing Saul, but taketh his ſpear and cruſe.

AND the Ziphites came unto Saul to Gibeah, ſaying, Doth not David hide himſelf in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeſhimon?

2 Then Saul aroſe, and went down to the wilderneſs of Ziph, having three thouſand choſen men of Iſrael with him, to ſeek David in the wilderneſs of Ziph.

3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeſhimon, by the way. But David abode in the wilderneſs, and he ſaw that Saul came after him into the wilderneſs.

4 David therefore ſent out ſpies, and underſtood that Saul was come in very deed.

5 ¶ And David aroſe, and came to the place where Saul had pitched: and David beheld the place where Saul lay, and Abner the ſon Ner, the captain of his hoſt. And Saul lay in the trench, and the people pitched round about him.

6 Then anſwered David and ſaid to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah, brother to Joab, ſaying, Who will go down with me to Saul to the camp? and Abiſhai ſaid, I will go down with thee.

7 So David and Abiſhai came to the people by night. And behold Saul lay ſleeping within the trench, and his ſpear ſtuck in the ground at his bolſter; and Abner and the people lay round about him.

8 Then ſaid Abiſhai to David, God hath delivered thine enemy into thine hand this day: now therefore let me ſmite him, I pray thee, with the ſpear even to the earth at once, and I will not ſmite him the ſecond time.

9 And David ſaid to Abiſhai, Deſtroy him not: for who can ſtretch forth his hand againſt the Lord's anoined and be guiltleſs?

10 David ſaid furthermore, As the Lord liveth, the Lord ſhall ſmite him: or his day ſhall come to die; or he ſhall deſcend into battle, and periſh:

11 The Lord forbid that I ſhould ſtretch forth mine hand againſt the Lord's anointed: but I pray thee, take thou now the ſpear that is at his bolſter, and the cruſe of water, and let us go.

12 So David took the ſpear, and the cruſe of water from Saul's bolſter; and they gat them away, and no man ſaw it, nor knew it, neither awaked: for they were all aſleep; becauſe a deep ſleep from the Lord was fallen upon them.

13 Then David went over to the other ſide, and ſtood on the top of an hill afar off; a great ſpace being between them:

14 And David cried to the people, and to Abner the ſon of Ner, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou not, Abner? then Abner anſwered and ſaid, Who art thou that crieſt to the king?

15 And David ſaid to Abner, Art not thou a valiant man? and who is like to thee in Iſrael? wherefore then haſt thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the people in to deſtroy the king thy lord.

16 This thing is not good that thou haſt done. As the Lord liveth, ye are worthy to die, becauſe ye have not kept your maſter, the Lord's anointed. And now ſee where the king's ſpear is, and the cruſe of water that was at his bolſter.

17 And Saul knew David's voice, and ſaid, is this thy voice, my ſon David? and David ſaid, It is my voice, my lord, O king.

18 And he ſaid, Wherefore doth my lord thus purſue after his ſervant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand?

19 Now therefore I pray thee, let my lord the king hear the words of his ſervant. If the Lord have ſtirred thee up againſt me, let him accept an offering; but if they be the children of men, curſed be they before the Lord; for they have driven me out this day from abiding in the inheritance of the Lord, ſaying, Go, ſerve other gods.

20 Now therefore let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the Lord; for the king of Iſrael is come out to ſeek a flea, as when one doth hunt a partridge in the mountains.

21 Then ſaid Saul, I have ſinned: return, my ſon David, for I will no more do thee harm, becauſe my ſoul was precious in thine eyes this day: Behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly.

22 And David anſwered and ſaid, Behold the king's ſpear! and let one of the young men come over and fetch it.

23 The Lord render to every man his righteouſneſs and his faithfulneſs: for the Lord delivered thee into my hand to-day, but I would not ſtretch forth mine hand againſt the Lord's anointed.

24 And behold, as thy life was much ſet by this day in mine eyes, ſo let my life be much ſet by in the eyes of the Lord, and let him deliver me out of all tribulation.

25 Then Saul ſaid to David, Bleſſed be thou, my ſon David: thou ſhalt both do great things, and alſo ſhalt ſtill prevail. So David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Saul, hearing David to be in Gath, ſeeketh no more for him. 5 David beggeth Ziklag of Achiſh.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVI.

1 And the Ziphites came to Saul, &c.) It was natural to think, after David's kindneſs to Saul, and the declaration that prince had made in his favour, that the Ziphites would not have done any more to the prejudice of David; but the very contrary happened. Probably they were afraid that if he came to be king, he would remember and revenge the attempt they had made to deliver him into the hand of Saul.

7 So David and Abiſhai came to the people by night.) This may ſeem a bold and ſtrange attempt, for two perſons to go into the midſt of an army of three thouſand choſen men; but it ſhould be remembered, that according to many credible hiſtorians, ſeveral gallant men have attempted things of equal danger and difficulty with this; that David had all along aſſurances that God would preſerve him in all dangers, and at laſt place him on the throne of Iſrael.

19 If the Lord have ſtirred thee up againſt me, let him accept an offering.) If for any offence againſt God, there be juſt cauſe for this anger, I refuſe not to die, and expiate the crime with my blood. Or the words may refer to Saul, and imply the ſame as if he had ſaid, Offer to God ſome ſacrifice, that he may be appeaſed, and free thee from this pernicious melancholy.

25 Bleſſed be thou, my ſon David, &c.) He perceived it was in vain to contend any longer againſt David, whom he was convinced, from his gallant and generous actions, God deſigned for great atchievements, and would ſtill have the better of him, till he was placed on the throne of Iſrael. For he poſſibly conſidered the taking away his ſpear, which I have already obſerved, was the ſceptre in thoſe days, as an omen that the royal authority ſhould be tranſlated to David.

AND

Saul and the Witch of Endor.
I. Sam. C. 28 V. 11.

AND David ſaid in his heart, I ſhall now periſh one day by the hand of Saul; there is nothing better for me than that I ſhould ſpeedily eſcape into the land of the Philiſtines; and Saul ſhall deſpair of me, to ſeek me any more in any coaſt of Iſrael: ſo ſhall I eſcape out of his hand.

2 And David aroſe, and he paſſed over with the ſix hundred men that were with him, unto Achiſh the ſon of Maoch king of Gath.

3 And David dwelt with Achiſh at Gath, he and his men, every man with his houſhold, even David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitеſs, and Abigail the Carmelitеſs, Nabal's wife.

4 And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath: and he ſought no more again for him.

5 ¶ And David ſaid unto Achiſh, If I have now found grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in ſome town in the country, that I may dwell there: for why ſhould thy ſervant dwell in the royal city with thee?

6 Then Achiſh gave him Ziklag that day; wherefore Ziklag pertaineth unto the kings of Judah unto this day.

7 And the time that David dwelt in the country of the Philiſtines was a full year and four months.

8 And David and his men went up and invaded the Geſhurites, and the Gezrites, and the Amalekites: for thoſe nations were of old the inhabitants of the land, as thou goeſt to Shur, even unto the land of Egypt.

9 And David ſmote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive, and took away the ſheep, and the oxen, and the aſſes, and the camels, and the apparel, and returned, and came to Achiſh.

10 And Achiſh ſaid, Whither have ye made a road to-day? and David ſaid, Againſt the ſouth of Judah, and againſt the ſouth of the Jerahmeelites, and againſt the ſouth of the Kenites.

11 And David ſaved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath, ſaying, Leſt they ſhould tell on us, ſaying, So did David, and ſo will be his manner all the while he dwelleth in the country of the Philiſtines.

12 And Achiſh believed David, ſaying, He hath made his people Iſrael utterly to abhor him: therefore he ſhall be my ſervant for ever.

CHAP. XXVIII.

3 Saul having deſtroyed the witches, 7 afterwards ſeeketh to one; who being encouraged by him, raiſeth up Samuel. 15 Saul's ruin foreſhewed.

AND it came to paſs in thoſe days that the Philiſtines gathered their armies together for warfare to fight with Iſrael, and Achiſh ſaid unto David, Know thou aſſuredly, that thou ſhalt go out with me to battle, thou and thy men.

2 And David ſaid to Achiſh, Surely thou ſhalt know what thy ſervant can do. And Achiſh ſaid to David, therefore will I make thee keeper of mine head for ever.

3 ¶ Now Samuel was dead, and all Iſrael had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city. And Saul had put away thoſe that had familiar ſpirits, and the wizards out of the land.

4 And the Philiſtines gathered themſelves together, and came and pitched in Shunem: and Saul gathered all Iſrael together, and they pitched in Gilboa.

5 And when Saul ſaw the hoſt of the Philiſtines, he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled.

6 And when Saul enquired of the Lord, the Lord anſwered him not, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets.

7 ¶ Then ſaid Saul unto his ſervants, Seek me a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit, that I may go to her and enquire of her. And his ſervants ſaid to him, Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit at En-dor.

8 And Saul diſguiſed himſelf, and put on other raiment, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night. And he ſaid, I pray thee, divine unto me by the familiar ſpirit, and bring me him up whom I ſhall name unto thee.

9 ¶ And the woman ſaid unto him, Behold, thou knoweſt what Saul hath done, how he has cut off thoſe that have familiar ſpirits, and the wizards, out of the land: wherefore then layeſt thou a ſnare for my life, to cauſe me to die?

10 And Saul ſware to her by the Lord, ſaying, As the Lord liveth, there ſhall no puniſhment happen to thee for this thing.

11 Then ſaid the woman, Whom ſhall I bring up unto thee? and he ſaid, Bring me up Samuel.

12 And when the woman ſaw Samuel, ſhe cried with a loud voice: and the woman ſpake to Saul, ſaying, Why haſt thou deceived me? for thou art Saul.

13 And the king ſaid unto her, Be not afraid: for what ſaweſt thou? and the woman ſaid unto Saul, I ſaw gods aſcending out of the earth.

14 And he ſaid unto her, What form is he of? and ſhe ſaid, An old man cometh up; and he is covered with a mantle. And Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and he ſtooped with his face to the ground, and bowed himſelf.

15 ¶ And Samuel ſaid to Saul, why haſt thou diſquieted me, to bring me up? and Saul anſwered, I am ſore diſtreſſed: for the Philiſtines make war

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVII.

1 And David ſaid in his heart, I ſhall now periſh one day by the hand of Saul.) He was fully perſuaded, that Saul ſtill entertained the ſame intention of killing him, notwithſtanding his late promiſe to the contrary. But theſe words were doubtleſs ſpoken by David under ſome great depreſſion of ſpirit; for though he might naturally conclude that Saul would not ceaſe his perſecution, yet he had the promiſe of Omnipotence himſelf, that he ſhould never be able to compaſs his deſign; and conſequently, he had not the leaſt reaſon for thinking he ſhould ever periſh by the hand of Saul.

6 Then Achiſh gave him Ziklag.) This place was ſituated in the extreme parts of the tribe of Judah, near Hormah, where the Iſraelites were defeated when they ſojourned in the wilderneſs. In the diviſion of the land of Canaan it was firſt given to Judah, and then to Simeon; but the Philiſtines ſeem to have kept poſſeſſion of it, till it was by the gift of Achiſh made the peculiar inheritance of David and his ſucceſſors. David, doubtleſs, deſired leave to retire to this place, that he might avoid the envy which the number of his attendants might poſſibly occaſion, to ſecure his people from being tainted with idolatry, to enjoy the free exerciſe of his own religion, and to have an opportunity of undertaking ſomething againſt the enemies of God, without the knowledge or obſervation of the Philiſtines.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXVIII.

6 The Lord anſwered him not.) Becauſe he had killed his prieſts: and the Urim was with Abiathar who attended on David among the Philiſtines. In this verſe are three ways of enquiring of God, viz. by dreams, Urim, and prophets.

7 Seek me a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit.) A ſtrange infatuation of Saul! He had baniſhed all wizards and ſorcerers out of his kingdom, as a dangerous ſort of people, who made profeſſion of a wicked and unwarrantable art; and yet he here enquires after one, and puts his whole confidence in what he had ſo wiſely exploded before: as if a witch, with her incantations, and other diabolical arts, was capable of allaying the uneaſineſs of his mind, or ſecuring him from the apprehenſions of danger.

againſt me, and God is departed from me, and anſwereth me no more, neither by prophets, nor by dreams: therefore I have called thee, that thou mayeſt make known unto me, what I ſhall do.

16 Then ſaid Samuel, Wherefore then doſt thou aſk of me, ſeeing the Lord is departed from thee, and is become thine enemy?

17 And the Lord hath done to him, as he ſpake by me: for the Lord hath rent the kingdom out of thine hand, and given it to thy neighbour, even to David:

18 Becauſe thou obeyedſt not the voice of the Lord, nor executedſt his fierce wrath upon Amalek, therefore hath the Lord done this thing unto thee this day.

19 Moreover, the Lord will alſo deliver Iſrael with thee into the hand of the Philiſtines: and to-morrow ſhalt thou and thy ſons be with me: the Lord alſo ſhall deliver the hoſt of Iſrael into the hand of the Philiſtines.

20 Then Saul fell ſtraightway all along on the earth, and was ſore afraid becauſe of the words of Samuel: and there was no ſtrength in him; for he had eaten no bread all the day nor all the night.

21 And the woman came unto Saul, and ſaw that he was ſore troubled, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I have put my life in my hand, and have hearkened unto thy words which thou ſpakeſt unto me.

22 Now therefore, I pray thee hearken thou alſo unto the voice of thine handmaid, and let me ſet a morſel of bread before thee, and eat, that thou mayeſt have ſtrength, when thou goeſt on thy way.

23 But he refuſed and ſaid, I will not eat. But his ſervants, together with the woman, compelled him; and he hearkened unto their voice. So he aroſe from the earth, and ſat upon the bed.

24 And the woman had a fat calf in the houſe, and ſhe haſted, and killed it, and took flour, and kneaded it, and did bake unleavened bread thereof:

25 And ſhe brought it before Saul, and before his ſervants; and they did eat. Then they roſe up, and went away that night.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 David, marching with the Philiſtines, 3 is diſallowed by their princes: 6 Achiſh diſmiſſeth him with commendations of his fidelity.

NOW the Philiſtines gathered together all their armies to Aphek; and the Iſraelites pitched by a fountain which is in Jezreel.

2 And the lords of the Philiſtines paſſed on by hundreds and by thouſands: but David and his men paſſed on in the rere-ward with Achiſh.

3 ¶ Then ſaid the princes of the Philiſtines, What do theſe Hebrews here? and Achiſh ſaid unto the princes of the Philiſtines, Is not this David the ſervant of Saul the king of Iſrael, which hath been with me theſe days, or theſe years, and I have found no fault in him ſince he fell unto me unto this day?

4 And the princes of the Philiſtines were wroth with him: and the princes of the Philiſtines ſaid unto him, Make this fellow return, that he may go again to his place which thou haſt appointed him, and let him not go down with us to battle, leſt in the battle he be an adverſary to us: for wherewith ſhould he reconcile himſelf unto his maſter? ſhould it not be with the heads of theſe men?

5 Is not this David of whom they ſang one to another in dances, ſaying, Saul ſlew his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands?

6 ¶ Then Achiſh called David, and ſaid unto him, Surely, as the Lord liveth, thou haſt been upright, and thy going out and thy coming in with me in the hoſt is good in my ſight: for I have not found evil in thee, ſince the day of thy coming unto me unto this day: nevertheleſs, the lords favour thee not.

7 Wherefore now return, and go in peace, that thou diſpleaſe not the Lords of the Philiſtines.

8 And David ſaid unto Achiſh, But what have I done? and what haſt thou found in thy ſervant, ſo long as I have been with thee unto this day, that I may not go fight againſt the enemies of my lord the king?

9 And Achiſh anſwered and ſaid to David, I know that thou art good in my ſight, as an angel of God; notwithſtanding the princes of the Philiſtines have ſaid, He ſhall not go up with us to the battle.

10 Wherefore now riſe up early in the morning with thy maſter's ſervants that are come with thee; and as ſoon as ye be up early in the morning, and have light, depart.

11 So David and his men roſe up early to depart in the morning, to return into the land of the Philiſtines. And the Philiſtines went up to Jezreel.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Amalekites ſpoil Ziklag: 7 David encouraged by God, purſueth them, 11 and, overtaking them, recovereth all the ſpoil:

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIX.

1 Now the Philiſtines gathered together their armies to Aphek.) There were three places of this name; one in the tribe of Judah, another in Manaſſeh, and a third in the tribe of Aſhur: but the laſt is here meant, and is the ſame place where the ſons of Eli were ſlain.

8 And David ſaid unto Achiſh, &c.) What David's intentions really were in caſe he had continued in the Philiſtine army, is hard to determine. He ſurely could not think of revenging himſelf on his countrymen for their ingratitude to him, becauſe he had ſhewn ſo many marks of his eſteem for them, when he was obliged to ſeek his ſafety on the deſolate rocks, and in the lonely caverns of the mountains. Nor is it reaſonable to think that he would have ſtood a tame ſpectator of the fight, or turned againſt the Philiſtines in the day of battle; becauſe he would have given a conſpicuous proof of his perfidy and ingratitude to Achiſh, who had ſo generouſly received him, and given him a city for his reſidence. In ſhort, which party ſo ever he had taken, he muſt have been culpable; and one party he muſt have taken, had not providence ſo timely interpoſed to preſerve his honour, without injuring his conſcience.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXX.

1 The Amalekites had---ſmitten Ziklag, and burnt it with fire.) This was doubtleſs done in revenge for the incurſion David had lately made into their country. Hence we may learn the many misfortunes that attend this tranſitory ſcene of things, and be induced to fix our deſires on that permanent ſtate of happineſs and bliſs which the righteous enjoy in the happy manſions of Jehovah's kingdom. David was but lately delivered from a ſituation which muſt have given his generous mind the moſt uneaſy ſenſations, and was returning to his city, with a mind filled with the pleaſing ideas of ſpending ſome time with his family; but no ſooner was he arrived near the ſpot where he promiſed himſelf this happineſs, than, inſtead of the fond careſſes of wives and children, and congratulatory welcomes of his friends, he found the city reduced to aſhes, and his wives, his children, and his friends taken captives by an enraged and cruel enemy.

carried them away, and went on their way.

3 ¶ So David and his men came to the city, and behold it was burnt with fire, and their wives, and their ſons, and their daughters, were taken captives.

4 Then David and the people that were with him, lift up their voice and wept, until they had no more power to weep.

5 And David's two wives were taken captives, Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs, and Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.

6 And David was greatly diſtreſſed; for the people ſpake of ſtoning him, becauſe the ſoul of all the people was grieved, every man for his ſons, and for his daughters: but David encouraged himſelf in the Lord his God.

7 And David ſaid to Abiathar the prieſt, Ahimelech's ſon, I pray thee, bring me hither the ephod: and Abiathar brought thither the ephod to David.

8 And David enquired at the Lord, ſaying, ſhall I purſue after this troop? ſhall I overtake them? And he anſwered him, Purſue; for thou ſhalt ſurely overtake them, and without fail recover all.

9 So David went, he and the ſix hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Beſor, where thoſe that were left behind, ſtayed.

10 But David purſued, he and four hundred men: (for two hundred abode behind, which were ſo faint, that they could not go over the brook Beſor.)

11 ¶ And they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David, and gave him bread, and he did eat, and they made him drink water.

12 And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs, and two cluſters of raiſins: and when he had eaten, his ſpirit came again to him; for he had eaten no bread, nor drunk any water, three days and three nights.

13 And David ſaid unto him, To whom belongeſt thou? and whence art thou? And he ſaid, I am a young man of Egypt, ſervant to an Amalekite, and my maſter left me, becauſe three days agone I fell ſick.

14 We made an invaſion upon the ſouth of the Cherethites, and upon the coaſt which belongeth to Judah, and upon the ſouth of Caleb, and we burnt Ziklag with fire.

15 And David ſaid to him, Canſt thou bring me down to this company? And he ſaid, Swear unto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my maſter, and I will bring thee down to this company.

16 ¶ And when he had brought him down, behold, they were ſpread abroad upon all the earth, eating and drinking, and dancing, becauſe of all the great ſpoil that they had taken out of the land of the Philiſtines, and out of the land of Judah.

17 And David ſmote them from the twilight, even unto the evening of the next day: and there eſcaped not a man of them, ſave four hundred young men which rode upon camels and fled.

18 And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away: and David reſcued his two wives.

19 And there was nothing lacking to them, neither ſmall nor great, neither ſons nor daughters, neither ſpoil nor any thing that they had taken to them: David recovered all.

20 And David took all the flocks, and the herds: which they drave before thoſe other cattle, and ſaid, This is David's ſpoil.

21 ¶ And David came to the two hundred men, which were ſo faint that they could not follow David, whom they had made alſo to abide at the brook Beſor: and they went forth to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him; and when David came near to the people he ſaluted them.

22 Then anſwered all the wicked men, and men of Belial, of thoſe that went with David, and ſaid, Becauſe they went not with us, we will not give them ought of the ſpoil that we have recovered, ſave to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away, and depart.

23 Then ſaid David, ye ſhall not do ſo, my brethren, with that which the Lord hath given us, and hath preſerved us, and delivered the company that came againſt us into our hand.

24 For who will hearken unto you in this matter? but as his part is that goeth down to the battle, ſo ſhall his part be that tarrieth by the ſtuff: they ſhall part alike.

25 And it was ſo from that day forward, that he made it a ſtatute and an ordinance for Iſrael unto this day.

26 And when David came to Ziklag, he ſent of the ſpoil unto the elders of Judah, even to his friends, (ſaying, Behold, a preſent for you, of the ſpoil of the enemies of the Lord.)

27 To them which were in Beth-el, and to them which were in South-Ramoth, and to them which were in Jattir.

28 And to them which were in Aroer, and to them which were in Siphmoth, and to them which were in Eſhtemoa.

29 And to them which were in Rachal, and to them which were in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them which were in the cities of the Kenites.

30 And to them which were in Hormah, and to them which were in Chor-aſhan, and to them which were in Athach.

31 And to them which were in Hebron, and to all the places where David himſelf, and his men were wont to haunt.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Saul having loſt his army, and his ſons being ſlain, he and his armour-bearer kill themſelves. 8 The Philiſtines triumph over the dead carcaſes.

NOW the Philiſtines fought againſt Iſrael: and the men of Iſrael fled from before the Philiſtines, and fell down ſlain in Gilboa.

2 And the Philiſtines followed hard upon Saul and upon his ſons; and the Philiſtines ſlew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchiſhua, Saul's ſons.

3 And the battle went ſore againſt Saul, and the archers

2 They ſlew not any, &c.) It may ſeem ſtrange, that David having killed all he could meet with, and ſpared none, they ſhould not ſerve his people in the ſame kind: but though they ſought revenge, yet they wanted booty much more; for probably they intended to ſell them for ſlaves, and make money of them.

6 The people ſpake of ſtoning him.) As the cauſe of this calamity, in leaving the city unguarded; or in provoking the Amalekites ſo grievouſly as he had done, in the ſlaughter of all that he could find.

17 And David ſmote them from the twilight, even unto the evening of the next day.) He came upon them in the evening, when they were refreſhing themſelves, and ſhewing the greateſt marks of joy for their late ſucceſs; little dreaming that David was ſo near, and vengeance ready to burſt upon their heads.

22 We will not give them ought of the ſpoil.) A very unjuſt reſolution; ſince it was not the choice of their brethren to ſtay behind, but mere neceſſity, and inability to travel further.

chers hit him; and he was ſore wounded of the archers.

4 Then ſaid Saul unto his armour-bearer, draw thy ſword, and thruſt me through therewith; leſt theſe uncircumciſed come and thruſt me through, and abuſe me. But his armour-bearer would not; for he was ſore afraid. Therefore Saul took a ſword and fell upon it.

5 And when his armour-bearer ſaw that Saul was dead, he fell likewiſe upon his ſword, and died with him.

6 So Saul died, and his three ſons, and his armour-bearer, and all his men that ſame day together.

7 And when the men of Iſrael that were on the other ſide of the valley, and they that were on the other ſide Jordan, ſaw that the men of Iſrael fled, and that Saul and his ſons were dead, they forſook the cities and fled; and the Philiſtines came and dwelt in them.

8 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, when the Philiſtines came to ſtrip the ſlain, that they found Saul and his three ſons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And they cut off his head, and ſtripped off his armour, and ſent into the land of the Philiſtines round about, to publiſh it in the houſe of their idols, and among the people.

10 And they put his armour in the houſe of Aſhtaroth; and they faſtened his body to the wall of Beth-ſhan.

11 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead heard of that which the Philiſtines had done to Saul;

12 All the valiant men aroſe, and went all night, and took the body of Saul, and the bodies of his ſons from the wall of Beth-ſhan, and came to Jabeſh, and burnt them there.

13 And they took their bones, and buried them under a tree at Jabeſh, and faſted ſeven days.

Commentary on Chap. XXXI.

3 And the battle was ſore againſt Saul and the archers hit him.) This is the firſt time we find any mention of archers in the Philiſtine army, which were doubtleſs of the greateſt uſe to them in making their attacks; as the aſſault by this kind of weapon was new and ſurpriſing, and therefore generally ſucceſsful, the arrows deſtroying the Iſraelites at a diſtance, which naturally threw them into terror and confuſion. And for this reaſon many think, that when David came to the throne, he taught the Iſraelites the uſe of the bow, (2 Sam. i. 18.) that they might not be inferior to the Philiſtines in this particular.

12 All the valiant men aroſe, &c.) The inhabitants of Jabeſh had been delivered by Saul, at the beginning of his reign, from the cruelty of the Ammonites; and now in gratitude to their deliverer, they took his body with thoſe of his ſons, from the wall where the Egyptians had hanged them, that they might not want the honour of burial.

And came to Jabeſh and burnt them there.) It is certain, that it was not the cuſtom of the Hebrews to burn, but to embalm the bodies of their dead with aromatic ſpices. Perhaps the bodies of Saul and his ſons were by this time ſo far corrupted, that they were not fit to be embalmed; or they were apprehenſive that the inhabitants of Beth-ſhan might, in caſe they were embalmed, find an opportunity of taking them away, and faſten them again to their walls.

THE SECOND BOOK OF SAMUEL:
OTHERWISE CALLED
The Second Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book contains the hiſtory of about forty years, and is wholly ſpent in relating the tranſactions of the reign of David, the military exploits of that prince, and his adminiſtration both of the church and ſtate. With theſe are mixed the failings and miſcarriages of this great ſovereign, and, in conſequence thereof, the many diſtreſſes he met with, and the various judgments and plagues which God inflicted upon him, and upon his people.

CHAP. I.

1 The Amalekite bringing tidings of the overthrow, and accuſing himſelf of Saul's death, is ſlain. 17 David lamenteth Saul and Jonathan with a ſong.

NOW it came to paſs after the death of Saul, when David was returned from the ſlaughter of the Amalekites, and David had abode two days in Ziklag;

2 It came even to paſs on the third day, that behold, a man came out of the camp from Saul, with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head: and ſo it was, when he came to David, that he fell to the earth, and did obeiſance.

3 And David ſaid unto him, From whence comeſt thou? And he ſaid unto him, Out of the camp of Iſrael am I eſcaped.

4 And David ſaid unto him, How went the matter? I pray thee tell me. And he anſwered, That the people are fled from the battle, and many of the people alſo are fallen and dead, and Saul and Jonathan his ſon are dead alſo.

5 And David ſaid unto the young man that told him, How knoweſt thou that Saul and Jonathan his ſon be dead?

6 And the young man that told him, ſaid, As I happened by chance upon mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his ſpear: and lo, the chariots and horſemen followed hard after him.

7 And when he looked behind him, he ſaw me, and called unto me. And I anſwered, Here am I.

8 And he ſaid unto me, Who art thou? and I anſwered him, I am an Amalekite.

9 He ſaid unto me again, Stand, I pray thee, upon me, and ſlay me: for anguiſh is come upon me, becauſe my life is yet whole in me.

10 So I ſtood upon him, and ſlew him, becauſe I was ſure that he could not live after that he was fallen: and I took the crown that was upon his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them hither unto my lord.

11 Then David took hold on his clothes, and rent them; and likewiſe all the men that were with him:

12 And they mourned and wept, and faſted until even, for Saul and for Jonathan his ſon, and for the people of the Lord, and for the houſe of Iſrael: becauſe they were fallen by the ſword.

13 And David ſaid unto the young man that told him, Whence art thou? and he anſwered, I am the ſon of a ſtranger, an Amalekite.

14 And David ſaid unto him, How waſt thou not afraid to ſtretch forth thine hand to deſtroy the Lord's anointed?

15 And David called one of the young men, and ſaid, Go near, and fall upon him. And he ſmote him that he died.

16 And David ſaid unto him, thy blood be upon thy head; for thy mouth hath teſtified againſt thee, ſaying, I have ſlain the Lord's anointed.

17 ¶ And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his ſon:

18 (Alſo he bade them teach the children of Judah

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

10 So I ſtood upon him, and ſlew him, &c.) By the account we have of Saul's death in the concluſion of the foregoing book, it ſeems evident, that the whole ſtory of this Amalekite was a fiction of his own inventing, on purpoſe to ingratiate himſelf with David, the preſumptive ſucceſſor to the throne. But then it may be aſked how he came by Saul's crown and bracelet? It is incongruous to think that he would wear them in the time of action, ſince that would have expoſed him to the archers of the Philiſtines. In anſwer to this it may be ſaid, that they were carried to the battle by ſome of his ſervants, probably for him to have put them on, in caſe he had obtained the victory, and returned in triumph; but the Iſraelites being defeated, and Saul himſelf ſlain, they fell by ſome accident into the hands of this Amalekite, the uſe of the bow: Behold, it is written in the book of Jaſher.)

the

19 The beauty of Iſrael is ſlain upon thy high places: how are the mighty fallen!

20 Tell it not in Gath, publiſh it not in the ſtreets of Aſkelon: leſt the daughters of the Philiſtines rejoice, leſt the daughters of the uncircumciſed triumph.

21 Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain upon you, nor fields of offerings: for there the ſhield of the mighty is vilely caſt away, the ſhield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil.

22 From the blood of the ſlain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back, and the ſword of Saul returned not empty.

23 Saul and Jonathan were lovely, and pleaſant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided: they were ſwifter than eagles, they were ſtronger than lions.

24 Ye daughters of Iſrael, weep over Saul, who clothed you in ſcarlet, with other delights, who put on ornaments of gold upon your apparel.

25 How are the mighty fallen in the midſt of the battle! O Jonathan, thou waſt ſlain in thine high places!

26 I am diſtreſſed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleaſant haſt thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, paſſing the love of women.

27 How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war periſhed!

CHAP. II.

1 David, by God's direction going up to Hebron, is made king of Judah. 8 Abner maketh Iſh-boſheth king of Iſrael. 18 Aſahel ſlain.

AND it came to paſs after this that David enquired of the Lord, ſaying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? and the Lord ſaid unto him, Go up. And David ſaid, Whither ſhall I go up? and he ſaid, Unto Hebron.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives alſo, Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs, and Abigail Nabal's wife the Carmelite.

3 And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his houſehold: and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

4 And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the houſe of Judah. And they told David, ſaying, That the men of Jabeſh-gilead were they that buried Saul.

5 And David ſent meſſengers unto the men of Jabeſh-gilead, and ſaid unto them, Bleſſed be ye of the Lord, that ye have ſhewed this kindneſs unto your lord, even unto Saul, and have buried him.

6 And now the Lord ſhew kindneſs and truth unto you: and I alſo will requite you this kindneſs, becauſe ye have done this thing.

7 Therefore now let your hands be ſtrengthened, and be ye valiant: for your maſter Saul is dead, and alſo the houſe of Judah have anointed me king over them.

8 ¶ But Abner the ſon Ner, captain of Saul's hoſt, took Iſh-boſheth the ſon Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim.

9 And he made him king over Gilead, and over the Aſhurites, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all Iſrael.

10 Iſh-boſheth Saul's ſon was forty years old when he began to reign over Iſrael, and reigned two years. But the houſe of Judah followed David.

11 And the time that David was king in Hebron over the houſe of Judah, was ſeven years and ſix months.

12 And Abner the ſon of Ner, and the ſervants of Iſh-boſheth the ſon of Saul went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon.

13 And Joab the ſon of Zeruiah and the ſervants of David went out and met together by the pool of Gibeon; and they ſat down the one on the one ſide of the pool, and the other on the other ſide of the pool.

14 And Abner ſaid to Joab, Let the young men now ariſe, and play before us. And Joab ſaid, Let them ariſe.

15 Then there aroſe, and went over by number twelve of Benjamin, which pertained to Iſh-boſheth the ſon of Saul, and twelve of the ſervants of David.

16 And they caught every one his fellow by the head, and thruſt his ſword in his fellow's ſide: ſo they fell down together: wherefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.

17 And there was a very ſore battle that day; and Abner was beaten, and the men of Iſrael, before the ſervants of David.

18 ¶ And there were three ſons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abiſhai, and Aſahel. And Aſahel was as light of foot as a wild roe.

19 And Aſahel purſued after Abner, and in going he turned not to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and ſaid, Art thou Aſahel? and he anſwered, I am.

21 And Abner ſaid to him, Turn thee aſide to thy right hand or to thy left, and lay thee hold on one of the young men, and take thee his armour. But Aſahel would not turn aſide from following of him.

22 And Abner ſaid again to Aſahel, Turn thee aſide from following me: wherefore ſhould I ſmite thee to the ground? how then ſhould I hold up my face to Joab thy brother?

23 Howbeit, he refuſed to turn aſide: wherefore Abner with the hinder end of the ſpear, ſmote him

19 The beauty of Iſrael is ſlain upon the high places.) The flower of the nation, their choice young men, together with Saul and his ſons. This lamentation has ever been admired as a picture of diſtreſs the moſt tender and the moſt ſtriking; unequally divided by grief into longer and ſhorter breaks, as nature could pour them forth from a mind much interrupted, and filled with the moſt lively images of love and greatneſs.

21 The ſhield of the mighty is vilely caſt away.) It was a great diſgrace to a warrior to loſe his ſhield; but in this total defeat they were obliged to throw them away, that they might fly with greater ſwiftneſs from the victors.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

1 And it came to paſs---that David enquired of the Lord.) Tho' David after the death of Saul, had a right to the kingdom, by virtue of God's own appointment; yet as Jehovah had no where declared what time he was to make uſe of this right he would not attempt the adminiſtration of public affairs, without firſt conſulting his God.

10 Iſh-boſheth reigned two years.) That is, he reigned two years before there was any war between him and David. But Iſh-boſheth, being an unactive prince, Abner, when the war broke out with Judah, took the government upon himſelf; ſo that the other five years, which paſſed before David aſcended the throne of Iſrael, is not reckoned as part of Iſh-boſheth's reign, becauſe he was only a nominal king, without the leaſt authority.

14 Let the young men now ariſe, and play before us.) Abner does not here ſeem to mean, that they ſhould deſtroy one another, but only that they ſhould practice their military exerciſes, as the gladiators at Rome were afterwards wont to do, to divert the ſpectators.

under under the fifth rib, that the ſpear came out behind him, and he fell down there, and died in the ſame place: and it came to paſs, that as many as came to the place where Aſahel fell down and died, ſtood ſtill.

24 Joab alſo and Abiſhai purſued after Abner: and the ſun went down when they were come to the hill of Ammah, that lieth before Giah, by the way of the wilderneſs of Gibeon.

25 And the children of Benjamin gathered themſelves together after Abner, and became one troop, and ſtood on the top of an hill.

26 Then Abner called to Joab, and ſaid, Shall the ſword devour for ever? knoweſt thou not that it will be bitterneſs in the latter end? how long ſhall it be then ere thou bid the people return from following their brethren?

27 And Joab ſaid, As God liveth, unleſs thou hadſt ſpoken, ſurely then in the morning the people had gone up every one from following his brother.

28 So Joab blew a trumpet, and all the people ſtood ſtill, and purſued after Iſrael no more, neither fought they any more.

29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the plain, and paſſed over Jordan, and went through all Bithron, and they came to Mahanaim.

30 And Joab returned from following Abner: and when he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of David's ſervants nineteen men, and Aſahel.

31 But the ſervants of David had ſmitten of Benjamin and of Abner's men, ſo that three hundred and threeſcore men died.

32 And they took up Aſahel, and buried him in the ſepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-lehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at break of day.

CHAP. III.

1 During the war David ſtill waxeth ſtronger. 6 Abner diſpleaſed with Iſh-boſheth, 12 revolteth to David. 22 Joab killeth Abner. 28 David curſeth Joab, 31 And mourneth for Abner.

NOW there was a long war between the houſe of Saul and the houſe of David; but David waxed ſtronger and ſtronger, and the houſe of Saul waxed weaker and weaker.

2 And unto David were ſons born in Hebron; and his firſt-born, was Ammon of Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs:

3 And his ſecond, Chileab, of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite; and the third Abſalom the ſon of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai king of Geſhur;

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the ſon of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the ſon of Abital;

5 And the ſixth, Ithream, by Eglah David's wife. Theſe were born to David in Hebron.

6 ¶ And it came to paſs while there was war between the houſe of Saul and the houſe of David, that Abner made himſelf ſtrong for the houſe of Saul.

7 And Saul had a concubine whoſe name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah; and Iſh-boſheth ſaid to Abner, Wherefore haſt thou gone in unto my father's concubine?

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Iſh-boſheth, and ſaid, Am I a dog's head, which againſt Judah do ſhew kindneſs this day unto the houſe of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his friends, and have not delivered thee into the hand of David, that thou chargeſt me to-day with a fault concerning this woman?

9 So do God to Abner, and more alſo, except, as the Lord hath ſworn to David, even ſo I do to him:

10 To tranſlate the kingdom from the houſe of Saul, and to ſet up the throne of David over Iſrael and over Judah, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba.

11 And he could not anſwer Abner a word again, becauſe he feared him.

12 ¶ And Abner ſent meſſengers to David on his behalf, ſaying, Whoſe is the land? ſaying alſo, make thy league with me, and behold, my hand ſhall be with thee, to bring about all Iſrael unto thee.

13 And he ſaid, Well; I will make a league with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, Thou ſhalt not ſee my face, except thou firſt bring Michal Saul's daughter when thou comeſt to ſee my face.

14 And David ſent meſſengers to Iſh-boſheth Saul's ſon, ſaying, Deliver me my wife Michal, which I eſpouſed to me for an hundred foreſkins of the Philiſtines.

15 And Iſh-boſheth ſent, and took her from her huſband, even from Phaltiel the ſon of Laiſh.

16 And her huſband went with her along weeping behind her to Bahurim. Then ſaid Abner unto him, Go, return. And he returned.

17 And Abner had communication with the elders of Iſrael, ſaying, ye ſought for David in times paſt to be king over you:

18 Now then do it: for the Lord hath ſpoken of David, ſaying, by the hand of my ſervant David I will ſave my people Iſrael out of the hand of the Philiſtines, and out of the hand of all their enemies.

19 And Abner alſo ſpake in the ears of Benjamin. And Abner went alſo to ſpeak in the ears of David in Hebron, all that ſeemed good to Iſrael, and that ſeemed good to the whole houſe of Benjamin.

20 So Abner came to David to Hebron, and twenty men with him. And David made Abner and the men that were with him a feaſt.

21 And Abner ſaid unto David, I will ariſe, and go, and will gather all Iſrael unto my lord the king, that they may make a league with thee, and that thou mayeſt reign over all that thine heart deſireth. And David ſent Abner away; and he went in peace.

22 ¶ And behold, the ſervants of David and Joab came from purſuing a troop, and brought in a great ſpoil with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron; for he had ſent him away, and he was gone in peace.

23 When Joab and all the hoſt that was with him, were come, they told Joab, ſaying, Abner the ſon of Ner came to the king, and he hath ſent him away, and he is gone in peace.

---

26 It will be bitterneſs in the latter end.) Victory, in a civil war, is the greateſt of evils; and therefore proper bounds ſhould, in ſuch caſes, be ſet to our anger; or as the apoſtle juſtly obſerves we ſhould not let the ſun go down upon our wrath.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

7 Wherefore haſt thou gone in unto my father's concubine?) It was a general rule, not only among the Jews, but among other nations alſo, that no private perſon ſhould preſume to marry the widow of the king; as this action made him appear as a rival, and competitor for the crown.

9 So do God to Abner, &c.) We have here an inſtance, in Abner, what a ſtrange alteration the ſtudy of revenge will produce in the human breaſt, and therefore we ſhould be remarkably careful to watch the firſt workings of that deſtructive paſſion. Abner, before he was inſtigated by revenge, was indefatigable to ſupport the crown he had placed on the head of Iſh-boſheth; and, in order to that, viſited every part of the country, to confirm the attachment of the Iſraelites to the houſe of Saul; but now he threatens to deſert himſelf, and at the ſame time to carry over all the troops his intereſt could procure to the oppoſite party.

24 Then Joab came to the King, and ſaid, What haſt thou done? behold Abner came unto thee; why is it that thou haſt ſent him away, and he is quite gone?

25 Thou knoweſt Abner the ſon of Ner, that he came to deceive thee, and to know thy going out and thy coming in, and to know all that thou doeſt.

26 And when Joab was come out from David, he ſent meſſengers after Abner which brought him again from the well of Sirah. But David knew it not.

27 And when Abner was returned to Hebron, Joab took him aſide in the gate to ſpeak with him quietly; and ſmote him there under the fifth rib, that he died, for the blood of Aſahel his brother.

28 ¶ And afterward when David heard it, he ſaid, I and my kingdom are guiltleſs before the Lord for ever from the blood of Abner the ſon of Ner:

29 Let it reſt on the head of Joab, and on all his father's houſe; and let there not fail from the houſe of Joab one that hath an iſſue, or that is a leper, or that leaneth on a ſtaff, or that falleth on the ſword, or that lacketh bread.

30 So Joab and Abiſhai his brother ſlew Abner, becauſe he had ſlain their brother Aſahel at Gibeon in the battle.

31 ¶ And David ſaid to Joab, and to all the people that were with him, Rend your clothes, and gird you with ſackcloth, and mourn before Abner. And king David himſelf followed the bier.

32 And they buried Abner in Hebron. And the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner; and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented over Abner, and ſaid, Died Abner as a fool dieth?

34 Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet put into fetters: as a man falleth before wicked men, ſo felleſt thou. And all the people wept again over him.

35 And when all the people came to cauſe David to eat meat while it was yet day, David ſware, ſaying, So do God to me, and more alſo, if I taſte bread or ought elſe till the ſun be down.

36 And all the people took notice of it, and it pleaſed them: as whatſoever the king did, pleaſed all the people.

37 For all the people and all Iſrael underſtood that day, that it was not of the king to ſlay Abner the ſon of Ner.

38 And the king ſaid unto his ſervants, Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Iſrael?

39 And I am this day weak, though anointed king; and theſe men the ſons of Zeruiah be too hard for me. The Lord ſhall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedneſs.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Iſraelites being troubled at the death of Abner, 2 Baanah and Rechab ſlay Iſh-boſheth, and bring his head to Hebron. 9 David cauſeth them to be ſlain, and Iſh-boſheth's head to be buried.

AND when Saul's ſon heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, his hands were feeble, and all the Iſraelites were troubled.

2 ¶ And Saul's ſon had two men that were captains of bands: the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab, the ſons of Rimmon a Beerothite of the children of Benjamin. For Beeroth alſo was reckoned to Benjamin.

3 And the Beerothites fled to Gittaim, and were ſojourners there until this day.

4 And Jonathan Saul's ſon had a ſon that was lame of his feet. He was five years old when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan out of Jezreel, and his nurſe took him up, and fled: and it came to paſs as ſhe made haſte to flee, that he fell, and became lame. And his name was Mephiboſheth.

5 And the ſons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went, and came about the heat of the day to the houſe of Iſh-boſheth, who lay on a bed at noon.

6 And they came thither into the midſt of the houſe as though they would have fetched wheat: and they ſmote him under the fifth rib: and Rechab and Baanah his brother eſcaped.

7 For when they came into the houſe, he lay on his bed in his bed-chamber, and they ſmote him, and ſlew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plain all night.

8 And they brought the head of Iſh-boſheth unto David to Hebron, and ſaid to the king, Behold the head of Iſh-boſheth the ſon of Saul thine enemy, which ſought thy life: and the Lord hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul, and of his ſeed.

9 ¶ And David anſwered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the ſons of Rimmon, the Beerothite, and ſaid unto them, As the Lord liveth, who hath redeemed my ſoul out of all adverſity,

10 When one told me, ſaying, Behold, Saul is dead, thinking to have brought good tidings, I took hold of him and ſlew him in Ziklag, who thought that I would have given him a reward for his tidings:

11 How much more, when wicked men have ſlain a righteous perſon in his own houſe upon his bed? ſhall I not therefore now require his blood of your hand, and take you away from the earth?

12 And David commanded his young men, and they ſlew them, and cut off their hands and their feet, and hanged them up over the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Iſh-boſheth, and buried it in the ſepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

27 And ſmote him there under the fifth rib, that he died.) This was a very treacherous action of Joab, and for which providence would not ſuffer him to go down to the grave in peace. The true reaſon for ſtriking this treacherous blow was jealouſy: he was perſuaded, that if Abner was once taken into favour, his great experience both in war and the nature of government, would ſoon gain him the aſcendant over him, and therefore took this wicked method to prevent it. For what will not men dare to do, who are coveteous, ambitious, and diſdain to be inferior to any? They preſs forward to the end, without ever conſidering the means, and will commit a thouſand crimes in purſuit of what they deſire. Nor are they leſs bold in maintaining, than they were in acquiring their places and preferments by unjuſt practices; ſo that rather than ſuffer the diſgrace of loſing what they had unjuſtly gotten, they will plunge themſelves ſtill deeper and deeper in wickedneſs to retain it.

34 Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet put into fetters.) He was no priſoner, and had both his hands and feet at liberty, though he could not uſe them in his own defence: the ſtroke was treacherouſly given by a pretended friend.

COMMENTARY on Chap. IV.

4 He fell and became lame.) This ſeems to be related to ſhow, what it was that emboldened theſe captains to do what follows: becauſe he who was the next avenger of blood, was very young, lame, and unable to purſue them.

6 And they came thither---as though they would have fetched wheat.) In the Hebrew it is carrying wheat, which they either brought into the king's granaries for the uſe of his houſhold, or carried out for the ſupply of his ſoldiers, who were maintained at the king's expence.

CHAP. V.

1 The tribes come to Hebron to anoint David king over Iſrael. 6 He taketh Zion from the Jebuſites. 11 Hiram ſendeth to David. 13 Eleven ſons born to David at Jeruſalem.

THEN came all the tribes of Iſrael to David unto Hebron, and ſpake, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy fleſh.

2 Alſo in time paſt, when Saul was king over us, thou waſt he that leddeſt out and broughteſt in Iſrael: and the Lord ſaid to thee, Thou ſhalt feed my people Iſrael, and thou ſhalt be a captain over Iſrael.

3 So all the elders of Iſrael came to the king to Hebron; and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the Lord: and they anointed David king over Iſrael.

4 David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years.

5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah ſeven years and ſix months: and in Jeruſalem he reigned thirty and three years over all Iſrael and Judah.

6 ¶ And the king and his men went to Jeruſalem, unto the Jebuſites, the inhabitants of the land: which ſpake unto David, ſaying, Except thou take away the blind and the lame, thou ſhalt not come in hither: thinking, David cannot come in hither.

7 Nevertheleſs, David took the ſtrong hold of Zion: the ſame is the city of David.

8 And David ſaid on that day, Whoſoever getteth up to the gutter, and ſmiteth the Jebuſites, and the lame, and the blind, that are hated of David's Saul, he ſhall be chief and captain. Wherefore they ſaid, The blind and the lame ſhall not come into the houſe.

9 So David dwelt in the fort, and called it, The city of David. And David built round about, from Millo and inward.

10 And David went on, and grew great, and the Lord God of hoſts was with him.

11 ¶ And Hiram king of Tyre ſent meſſengers to David, and cedar-trees, and carpenters, and maſons: and they built David an houſe.

12 And David perceived that the Lord had eſtabliſhed him king over Iſrael; and that he had exalted his kingdom for his people Iſrael's ſake.

13 ¶ And David took him more concubines and wives out of Jeruſalem, after he was come from Hebron: and there were yet ſons and daughters born to David.

14 And theſe be the names of thoſe that were born unto him in Jeruſalem; Shammuah, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon,

15 Ibhar alſo, and Eliſhua, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

16 And Eliſhama, and Eliada, and Eliphalet.

17 But when the Philiſtines heard that they had anointed David king over Iſrael, all the Philiſtines came up to ſeek David; and David heard of it, and went down to the hold.

18 The Philiſtines alſo came and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim.

19 And David enquired of the Lord, ſaying, Shall I go up to the Philiſtines? wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? and the Lord ſaid unto David, Go up: for I will doubtleſs deliver the Philiſtines into thine hand.

20 And David came to Baal-perazim, and David ſmote them there, and ſaid, The Lord hath broken forth upon mine enemies before me, as the breach of waters. Therefore he called the name of that place Baal-perazim.

21 And there they left their images, and David and his men burned them.

22 And the Philiſtines came up yet again and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim.

23 And when David enquired of the Lord, he ſaid, Thou ſhalt not up; but fetch a compaſs behind them, and come upon them over againſt the mulberry-trees.

24 And let it be when thou heareſt the ſound of a going in the tops of the mulberry-trees, that then thou ſhalt beſtir thyſelf: for then ſhall the Lord go out before thee to ſmite the hoſt of the Philiſtines.

25 And David did ſo as the Lord had commanded him; and ſmote the Philiſtines from Geba until thou come to Gazer.

CHAP. VI.

1 David fetcheth the ark from Kirjath-jearim on a new cart. 6 Uzzah is ſmitten. 12 David danceth before the ark. 20 Michal's barrenneſs.

AGAIN David gathered together all the choſen men of Iſrael, thirty thouſand.

2 And David aroſe, and went with all the people that were with him from Baale of Judah, to bring up from thence the ark of God, whoſe name is called by the name of the Lord of hoſts, that dwelleth between the cherubims.

3 And they ſet the ark of God upon a new cart and brought it out of the houſe of Abinadab that was in Gibeah: and Uzzah and Ahio, the ſons of Abinadab, drave the new cart.

4 And they brought it out of the houſe of Abinadab, which was at Gibeah, accompanying the ark of God; and Ahio went before the ark.

5 And David, and all the houſe of Iſrael, played before the Lord on all manner of inſtruments made of fir-wood, even on harps, and on pſalteries, and on timbrels, and on cornets, and on cymbals.

6 ¶ And when they came to Nachon's threſhing-floor, Uzzah put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it; for the oxen ſhook it.

7 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Uzzah, and God ſmote him there for his error; and there he died by the ark of God.

COMMENTARY on Chap. V.

2 The Lord ſaid to thee, thou ſhalt feed my people Iſrael.) This is the firſt time we find theſe words recorded in the ſacred writings; though it is natural to ſuppoſe, that Samuel frequently repreſented his office by the name of the paſtor of the people; hence the prophets uſed it frequently to expreſs a king or ruler, and our great Redeemer himſelf is called the good ſhepherd, and the great ſhepherd, that is, the ruler of his people.

6 And the king and his men went to Jeruſalem.) His firſt warlike expedition, after he aſcended the throne of Iſrael, was againſt the Jebuſites, who had hitherto poſſeſſed the nobleſt part of Jeruſalem, namely, mount Zion.

11 And Hiram king of Tyre ſent meſſengers to David.) To compliment him upon his ſucceſſion to the throne, and upon his taking of Jeruſalem. The name of this prince, before he entered into a league of amity with David, was Abibalus; but he now changed his name to Hiram, which ſignifies he lives who is exalted.

21 And they left their images.) Which they had brought with them into the field, to be carried before their hoſt, as a token of the preſence of their gods.

7 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Uzzah.) Some think he was puniſhed for touching the ark, as he was not a Levite: but it ſeems plain that he was a Levite, being the brother of Eleazar, who was conſecrated to look after the ark. But it ſhould be remembered, that the Levites were not allowed to touch the ark; for the prieſts were to cover it, and the Levites to take hold of the ſtaves and carry it.

8 And David was diſpleaſed becauſe the Lord had made a breach upon Uzzah: and he called the name of the place Perez-uzzah to this day.

9 And David was afraid of the Lord that day, and ſaid, How ſhall the ark of the Lord come to me?

10 So David would not remove the ark of the Lord unto him into the city of David; but David carried it aſide into the houſe of Obed-edom the Gittite.

11 And the ark of the Lord continued in the houſe of Obed-edom the Gitite three months: and the Lord bleſſed Obed-edom and all his houſehold.

12 ¶ And it was told king David, ſaying, The Lord hath bleſſed the houſe of Obed-edom and all that pertaineth unto him, becauſe of the ark of God. So David went and brought up the ark of God from the houſe of Obed-edom into the city of David with gladneſs.

13 And it was ſo, that when they that bare the ark of the Lord had gone ſix paces, he ſacrificed oxen and fatlings.

14 And David danced before the Lord with all his might; and David was girded with a linen ephod.

15 So David and all the houſe Iſrael brought up the ark of the Lord with ſhouting and with the ſound of the trumpet.

16 And as the ark of the Lord came into the city of David, Michal Saul's daughter looked through a window, and ſaw king David leaping and dancing before the Lord: and ſhe deſpiſed him in her heart.

17 And they brought in the ark of the Lord, and ſet it in his place, in the midſt of the tabernacle that David had pitched for it: and David offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings before the Lord.

18 And as ſoon as David had made an end of offering burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, he bleſſed the people in the name of the Lord of hoſts.

19 And he dealt among all the people, even among the whole multitude of Iſrael, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a good piece of fleſh, and a flagon of wine. So all the people departed every one to his houſe.

20 ¶ Then David returned to bleſs his houſehold. And Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and ſaid, How glorious was the king of Iſrael to-day, who uncovered himſelf to-day in the eyes of the handmaids of his ſervants, as one of the vain fellows ſhameleſsly uncovereth himſelf!

21 And David ſaid unto Michal, it was before the Lord, which choſe me before thy father, and before all his houſe, to appoint me ruler over the people of the Lord, over Iſrael: therefore will I play before the Lord.

22 And I will yet be more vile than thus, and will be baſe in mine own ſight: and of the maid-ſervants which thou haſt ſpoken of, of them ſhall I be had in honour.

23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no child until the day of her death.

CHAP. VII.

1 Nathan at firſt approveth the purpoſe of David to build God an houſe. 4 God forbiddeth David to build the houſe. 18 David's prayer and thankſgiving.

AND it came to paſs when the king ſat in his houſe, and the Lord had given him reſt round about from all his enemies.

2 That the king ſaid unto Nathan the prophet, See now, I dwell in an houſe of cedar, but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains.

3 And Nathan ſaid to the king, Go do all that is in thine heart; for the Lord is with thee.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs that night, that the word of the Lord came unto Nathan, ſaying,

5 Go and tell my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the Lord, Shalt thou build me an houſe for me to dwell in?

6 Whereas I have not dwelt in any houſe, ſince the time that I brought up the children of Iſrael out of Egypt, even to this day, but have walked in a tent and in a tabernacle.

7 In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Iſrael, ſpake I a word with any of the tribes of Iſrael, whom I commanded to feed my people Iſrael, ſaying, Why build ye not me an houſe of cedar?

8 Now, therefore, ſo ſhalt thou ſay unto my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I took thee from the ſheep-cote, from following the ſheep, to be ruler over my people, over Iſrael.

9 And I was with thee whitherſoever thou wenteſt, and have cut off all thine enemies out of thy ſight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.

10 (Moreover, I will appoint a place for my people Iſrael, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more; neither ſhall the children of wickedneſs afflict them any more as before-time, 11 And as ſince the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Iſrael, and have cauſed thee to reſt from all thine enemies.) Alſo the Lord telleth thee, that he will make thee an houſe.

12 ¶ And when thy days be fulfilled, and thou ſhalt ſleep with thy fathers, I will ſet up thy ſeed after thee, which ſhall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will eſtabliſh his kingdom.

13 He ſhall build an houſe for my name, and I will eſtabliſh the throne of his kingdom for ever.

14 I will be his father, and he ſhall be my ſon: if he commit iniquity, I will chaſten him with the rod of men, and with the ſtripes of the children of men;

15 But my mercy ſhall not depart away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away before thee.

16 And thine houſe and thy kingdom ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever before thee: thy throne ſhall be eſta-

14 David danced before the Lord, &c.) He had laid aſide his royal ornaments, and was girded with a ſimple ephod; which was uſed by thoſe who were not prieſts. His moving in certain ſolemn meaſures, ſuited to muſic of the ſame character and tendency, was highly conducive to the purpoſes of piety; and his mixing with the public feſtivities of the people was a condeſcenſion not unbecoming the greateſt monarch.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

3 And Nathan ſaid to the king, &c.) He ſpake this as a prudent man, not as a prophet: for the prophets did not ſee all things, but thoſe only which the Divine Grace revealed unto them. Thus Samuel was ignorant which of Jeſſe's ſons was to be anointed, till God informed him. But Nathan had great reaſon for what he ſaid, becauſe he knew that the Lord had an extraordinary kindneſs for David, and proſpered him in all his undertakings. And David being alſo himſelf a prophet, he might preſume his intention was ſuggeſted to him from God.

13 I will eſtabliſh the throne of his kingdom for ever.) Theſe words in their primative ſenſe, relate to the terreſtrial kingdom of David's family, and the long duration of it, which was ſufficient to juſtify it in a leſs ſtrict ſignification: but if we take it in a more ſublime and abſolute ſenſe, it can belong to none but the ſon of David, to whom God the Father gave an eternal kingdom, properly ſo called, over all things both in heaven and earth; which, tho' in was not ſo well known in the times when this propheſy was uttered, was by the event afterwards rendered plain and evident.

bliſhed for ever.

17 According to all theſe words, and according to all this viſion, ſo did Nathan ſpeak unto David.

18 Then went king David in, and ſat before the Lord, and he ſaid, Who am I, O Lord God? and what is my houſe, that thou haſt brought me hitherto?

19 And this was yet a ſmall thing in thy ſight, O Lord God; but thou haſt ſpoken alſo of thy ſervant's houſe for a great while to come. And is this the manner of man, O Lord God?

20 And what can David ſay more unto thee? for Lord God, knoweſt thy ſervant.

21 For thy word's ſake, and according to thine own heart, haſt thou done all theſe great things, to make thy ſervant know them.

22 Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God beſide thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

23 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Iſrael, whom God went to redeem for a people to himſelf, and to make him a name, and to do for you great things, and terrible, for thy land, before thy people, which thou redeemedſt to thee from Egypt, from the nations and their gods?

24 For thou haſt confirmed to thyſelf thy people Iſrael, to be a people unto thee for ever: and thou, Lord, art become their God.

25 And now, O Lord God, the word that thou haſt ſpoken concerning thy ſervant, and concerning his houſe, eſtabliſh it for ever, and do as thou haſt ſaid.

26 And let thy name be magnified for ever, ſaying, The Lord of hoſts is the God over Iſrael: and let the houſe of thy ſervant David be eſtabliſhed before thee.

27 For thou, O Lord of hoſts, God of Iſrael, haſt revealed to thy ſervant, ſaying, I will build thee an houſe; therefore haſt thy ſervant found in his heart to pray this prayer unto thee.

28 And now, O Lord God, thou art that God, and thy words be true, and thou haſt promiſed this goodneſs unto thy ſervant.

29 Therefore now let it pleaſe thee to bleſs the houſe of thy ſervant, that it may continue for ever before thee: for thou, O Lord God, haſt ſpoken it, and with thy bleſſing let the houſe of thy ſervant be bleſſed for ever.

CHAP. VIII.

1 David ſubdueth the Philiſtines, and the Moabites. 3 He ſmiteth Hadadezer and the Syrians. 16 His Officers.

AND after this it came to paſs that David ſmote the Philiſtines, and ſubdued them: and David took Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

2 And he ſmote Moab, and meaſured them with a line, caſting them down to the ground; even with two lines meaſured he to put to death, and with one full line to keep alive. And ſo the Moabites became David's ſervants, and brought gifts.

3 ¶ David ſmote alſo Hadadezer the ſon of Rehob king of Zobah, as he went to recover his border at the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thouſand chariots, and ſeven hundred horſemen, and twenty thouſand footmen: and David houghed all the chariots-horſes, but reſerved of them for an hundred chariots.

5 And when the Syrians of Damaſcus came to ſuccour Hadadezer king of Zobah, David ſlew of the Syrians two and twenty thouſand men.

6 Then David put garriſons in Syria of Damaſcus; and the Syrians became ſervants to David, and brought gifts. And the Lord preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

7 And David took the ſhields of gold that were on the ſervants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jeruſalem.

8 And from Betah, and from Berothai cities of Hadadezer, king David took exceeding much braſs.

9 When Toi king Hamath heard that David had ſmitten all the hoſt of Hadadezer.

10 Then Toi ſent Joram his ſon unto king David, to ſalute him, and to bleſs him, becauſe he had fought againſt Hadadezer, and ſmitten him: (for Hadadezer had wars with Toi:) and Joram brought with him veſſels of ſilver, and veſſels of gold, and veſſels of braſs:

11 Which alſo king David did dedicate unto the Lord, with the ſilver and gold that he had dedicated of all nations which he ſubdued;

12 Of Syria, and of Moab, and of the children of Ammon, and of the Philiſtines, and of Amalek and of the ſpoil of Hadadezer ſon of Rehob king of Zobah.

13 And David gat him a name when he returned from ſmiting of the Syrians in the valley of ſalt, being eighteen thouſand men.

14 And he put garriſons in Edom; throughout all Edom put he garriſons, and all they of Edom became David's ſervants, and the Lord preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

15 And David reigned over all Iſrael, and David executed judgment and juſtice unto all his people.

16 ¶ And Joab the ſon of Zeruiah was over the hoſt; and Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Ahilud was recorder;

17 And Zadok the ſon of Ahitub, and Ahimelech the ſon of Abiathar, were the prieſts; and Seraiah was the ſcribe;

18 And Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites, and the Pelethites; and David's ſons were chief rulers.

CHAP. IX.

1 David, by Ziba, ſendeth for Mephiboſheth, 7 and for 16 Thy throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever.) The family of David continued to reign over the houſe of Judah between four and five hundred years; but the paſſage ultimately relates to the kingdom of Chriſt: and hence the Jews ſaid to our bleſſed Lord, We have heard out of the law, that Chriſt abideth for ever, John xii, 34.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

2 And he ſmote Moab and meaſured them with a line, &c.) This paſſage is very obſcure; but ſeems to allude to a cuſtom among the monarchs of the Eaſt, when they were thoroughly incenſed againſt any nation, namely, to make all the captives aſſemble in one place, and proſtrate themſelves upon the ground; that being divided into two parts, as it were with a line, their conqueror might appoint which part he pleaſed either for life or death. Some are of opinion, that David divided the Moabites into three parts, two of which he ordered to be ſlain, and one part only to be kept alive.

13 In the valley of ſalt.) This place is by many thought to lie near the Dead or Salt-ſea: but as the country of the Edomites, whom David ſubdued in his return from his expedition into Syria, muſt neceſſarily lie on the coaſt of Canaan, we muſt look for ſome other valley of ſalt in the confines of that country. Now about a league to the ſouthward of the city of Palmyra, or Tadmor, in the road to Edom, we find a large plain abounding with ſalt pits, whence a great part of Syria is furniſhed with that commodity; and therefore it is very probable, that the battle between David's generals and the Edomites was fought in this plain, which is about two days journey from Bozcah, the capital of the ancient Edom.

ah her huſband was dead, ſhe mourned for her huſband.

27 And when the mourning was paſt, David ſent and fetched her to his houſe, and ſhe became his wife, and bare him a ſon: but the thing that David had done diſpleaſed the Lord.

CHAP. XII.

1 Nathan's parable. 13 David confeſſeth his ſin, and is pardoned. 24 Solomon is born. 26 Rabbah is taken.

AND the Lord ſent Nathan unto David: and he came unto him, and ſaid unto him, There were two men in one city; the one rich, and the other poor.

2 The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds;

3 But the poor man had nothing ſave one little ewe-lamb, which he had bought, and nouriſhed up; and it grew up together with him, and with his children: it did eat of his own meat, and drank of his own cup, and lay in his boſom, and was unto him as a daughter.

4 And there came a traveller unto the rich man, and he ſpared to take of his own flock and of his own herd to dreſs for the wayfaring man that was come unto him, but took the poor man's lamb, and dreſſed it for the man that was come to him.

5 And David's anger was greatly kindled againſt the man; and he ſaid to Nathan, As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this thing ſhall ſurely die.

6 And he ſhall reſtore the lamb four-fold, becauſe he did this thing, and becauſe he had no pity.

7 ¶ And Nathan ſaid to David, Thou art the man. Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I anointed thee king over Iſrael, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul:

8 And I gave thee thy maſter's houſe, and thy maſter's wives into thy boſom, and gave thee the houſe of Iſrael, and of Judah: and if that had been too little, I would moreover have given unto thee ſuch and ſuch things.

9 Wherefore haſt thou deſpiſed the commandment of the Lord to do evil in his ſight? thou haſt killed Uriah the Hittite with the ſword, and haſt taken his wife to be thy wife, and haſt ſlain him with the ſword of the children of Ammon.

10 Now therefore the ſword ſhall never depart from thine houſe; becauſe thou haſt deſpiſed me, and haſt taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will raiſe up evil againſt thee out of thine own houſe, and I will take thy wives before thine eyes, and give them unto thy neighbour, and he ſhall lie with thy wives in the ſight of this ſun.

12 For thou didſt it ſecretly: but I will do this thing before all Iſrael, and before the ſun.

13 And David ſaid unto Nathan, I have ſinned againſt the Lord. And Nathan ſaid unto David, The Lord alſo hath put away thy ſin; thou ſhalt not die.

14 Howbeit, becauſe by this deed thou haſt given great occaſion to the enemies of the Lord to blaſpheme, the child alſo that is born unto thee ſhall ſurely die.

15 And Nathan departed unto his houſe: and the Lord ſtruck the child that Uriah's wife bare unto David, and it was very ſick.

16 David, therefore, beſought God for the child; and David faſted, and went in, and lay all night upon the earth.

17 And the elders of his houſe aroſe, and went to him, to raiſe him up from the earth: but he would not, neither did he eat bread with them.

18 And it came to paſs on the ſeventh day that the child died. And the ſervants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead; for they ſaid, Behold, while the child was yet alive we ſpake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then vex himſelf if we tell him that the child is dead?

19 But when David ſaw that his ſervants whiſpered, David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David ſaid unto his ſervants, Is the child dead? And they ſaid, He is dead.

20 Then David aroſe from the earth, and waſhed and anointed himſelf, and changed his apparel, and came into the houſe of the Lord, and worſhipped: then he came to his own houſe; and when he required, they ſet bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then ſaid his ſervants unto him, What thing is this that thou haſt done? thou didſt faſt and weep for the child while it was alive; but when the child was dead thou didſt riſe and eat bread.

22 And he ſaid, While the child was yet alive, I faſted and wept: for I ſaid, Who can tell whether God will be gracious unto me, that the child may live?

23 But now he his dead, Wherefore ſhould I faſt? can I bring him back again? I ſhall go to him, but he ſhall not return to me.

24 ¶ And David comforted Bath-ſheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her: and ſhe bare a ſon, and he called his name Solomon: and the Lord loved him.

25 And he ſent by the hand of Nathan the prophet; and he called his name Jedidiah, becauſe of the Lord.

26 ¶ And Joab fought againſt Ribbah of the children of Ammon, and took the royal city.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

4 And he ſpared to take of his own flock—but took the poor man's lamb, &c.) The prophet in this parable, does not mention the murder of Uriah, as that was committed to conceal the adultery. There is alſo another reaſon why this was not related in the parable: the rich man plainly ſignifies David; his flocks and herds, David's wives and concubines: the poor man repreſents Uriah, who according to the Jews, was a widower, with ſeveral children, when he married Bath-ſheba, whom the prophet compares to a lamb, becauſe he had ſolemnly eſpouſed her, and cheriſhed her with ſuch tender affection, that ſhe grew up with him and with his children. This lamb being taken by the rich man from the poor man, to gratify a wanton appetite, ſignifies David's taking Bath-ſheba and lying with her. And it would have made the reſemblance more complete if he had added, that the rich man killed the poor man from whom he had taken the lamb: but it is reaſonable to think, that, if this had been done, David would have readily apprehended Nathan's meaning, and conſequently not have pronounced a ſentence of condemnation upon himſelf. Beſides, by inducing David to denounce death againſt the perſon who had only taken the poor man's lamb, Nathan had a proper opportunity to ſhew, that if the rich man deſerved death for this unjuſt action only, how much more he deſerved it, who had not only taken another man's wife, but alſo cauſed him to be ſlain by the enemies of Iſrael.

7 And Nathan ſaid to David, Thou art the man.) Thou art thyſelf the perſon againſt whom thou haſt pronounced ſo dreadful a ſentence. Here we may learn, that though we ſhould uſe the ſofteſt and moſt pathetic language in reproving princes and men in authority, yet we ſhould not be afraid to ſpeak plainly, that they may be thoroughly ſenſible of their guilt, and induced to implore pardon of their offended Creator.

14 Howbeit, becauſe by this deed thou haſt given great occaſion to the enemies of the Lord to blaſpheme, &c.) As his ſin was highly aggravated, the neighbouring nations might be tempted to look upon the law of God with contempt, and conſider him as a reſpecter of perſons, for having rejected Saul, and continued David on the throne, though he had been guilty of greater crimes. It cannot here help obſerving, how bewitching ſenſual pleaſures are; for David continued many months inſenſible of the crimes he had been guilty of, the child begotten in adultery being born before Nathan came to rouze him from his lethargy.

27 And Joab ſent meſſengers to David, and ſaid, I have fought againſt Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters.

28 Now therefore gather the reſt of the people together, and encamp againſt the city, and take it: leſt I take the city, and it be called after my name.

29 And David gathered all the people together, and went to Rabbah, and fought againſt it and took it.

30 And he took their king's crown from off his head; the weight whereof was a talent of gold, with the precious ſtones: and it was ſet on David's head. And he brought forth the ſpoil of the city in great abundance.

31 And he brought forth the people that were therein, and put them under ſaws, and under harrows of iron, and under axes of iron, and made them paſs through the brick-kiln: and thus did he unto all the cities of the children of Ammon. So David and all the people returned unto Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Amnon loving Tamar, raviſheth her. 15 He hateth her, and turneth her away. 25 Abſalom killeth Amnon, 37 and fleeth.

AND it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom the ſon of David had a fair ſiſter, whoſe name was Tamar; and Amnon the ſon of David loved her.

2 And Amnon was ſo vexed that he fell ſick for his ſiſter Tamar; for ſhe was a virgin: and Amnon thought it hard for him to do any thing to her.

3 But Amnon had a friend whoſe name was Jonadab, the ſon of Shimeah David's brother: and Jonadab was a very ſubtil man.

4 And he ſaid unto him, Why art thou, being the king's ſon, lean from day to day? wilt thou not tell me? and Amnon ſaid unto him, I love Tamar, my brother Abſalom's ſiſter.

5 And Jonadab ſaid unto him, Lay thee down on thy bed, and make thyſelf ſick: and when thy father cometh to ſee thee, ſay unto him, I pray thee, let my ſiſter Tamar come, and give me meat, and dreſs the meat in my ſight, that I may ſee it, and eat it at her hand.

6 So Amnon lay down, and made himſelf ſick: and when the king was come to ſee him, Amnon ſaid unto the king, I pray thee, let Tamar my ſiſter come, and make me a couple of cakes in my ſight, that I may eat at her hand.

7 Then David ſent home to Tamar, ſaying, Go now to thy brother Amnon's houſe, and dreſs him meat.

8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's houſe, and he was laid down. And ſhe took flour, and kneaded it, and made cakes in his ſight, and did bake the cakes.

9 And ſhe took a pan, and poured them out before him; but he refuſed to eat. And Amnon ſaid, Have out all men from me. And they went out every man from him.

10 And Amnon ſaid unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar took the cakes which ſhe had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

11 And when ſhe had brought them unto him to eat, he took hold of her, and ſaid unto her, Come, lie with me, my ſiſter.

12 And ſhe anſwered him, Nay, my brother, do not force me; for no ſuch thing ought to be done in Iſrael: do not thou this folly.

13 And I, whither ſhall I cauſe my ſhame to go? and as for thee, thou ſhalt be as one of the fools in Iſrael. Now, therefore, I pray thee, ſpeak unto the king: for he will not with-hold me from thee.

14 Howbeit he would not hearken unto her voice: but being ſtronger than ſhe, forced her, and lay with her.

15 ¶ Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, ſo that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her. And Amnon ſaid unto her, Ariſe, be gone.

16 And ſhe ſaid unto him, There is no cauſe: this evil in ſending me away is greater than the other that thou didſt unto me. But he would not hearken unto her.

17 Then he called his ſervant that miniſtered unto him, and ſaid, Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.

18 And ſhe had a garment of divers colours upon her: for with ſuch robes were the king's daughters that were virgins apparelled. Then his ſervant brought her out, and bolted the door after her.

19 And Tamar put aſhes on her head, and rent her garment of divers colours that was on her, and laid her hand on her head, and went on crying.

20 And Abſalom her brother ſaid unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee? but hold now thy peace, my ſiſter: he is thy brother: regard not this thing. So Tamar remained deſolate in her brother Abſalom's houſe.

21 But when King David heard of all theſe things he was very wroth.

22 And Abſalom ſpake unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad: for Abſalom hated Amnon, becauſe he had forced his ſiſter Tamar.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs after two full years, that Abſalom had ſheep-ſhearers in Baal-hazor, which is beſide Ephraim: and Abſalom invited all the king's ſons.

24 And Abſalom came to the king, and ſaid, Behold now, thy ſervant hath ſheep-ſhearers; let the king, I beſeech thee, and his ſervants, go with thy ſervant.

31 And he brought forth the people---and put them under ſaws, &c.) This cruelty of David to the Ammonites has been ſeverely cenſured: but it ſhould be remembered, that theſe were the puniſhments which the Ammonites inflicted upon the Hebrews, whenever they took them priſoners; and therefore David, when he conquered their country, and reduced their capital city, uſed them with the like cruelty: not every one of them indiſcriminately, but ſuch only as appeared in arms againſt him, and had either adviſed or approved the advice of putting ſuch a diſgrace upon his meſſengers.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

2 For ſhe was a virgin.) Virgins of the blood-royal were kept in private apartments, ſeparate from the commerce of men: and though on ſome ceremonial occaſions they were permitted to ſhew themſelves, yet conſidering their cloſe confinement, it was hardly poſſible for Ammon to find an opportunity of declaring, much leſs of gratifying his paſſion: ſo that he might well think it hard to do any thing to her, i. e. difficult to compaſs his ends.

12 Nay; my brother, do not force me.) Tamar's ſpeech was wonderfully pathetic; Nay, my brother, &c. She reminds him of his relation to her, which ſhe hoped would influence him not to touch her, much leſs to offer violence to her, which was abominable even to a ſtranger. Do not this folly: ſhe prays him to recollect the heinouſneſs of the crime, and how highly offenſive it would be to God. Whither ſhall I go? Beſides the ſin againſt God, ſhe begs that he would conſider what diſgrace it would bring upon her. Thou ſhalt be as one of the fools in Iſrael. Such a vile action, ſhe concludes, would tarniſh his fame for ever, and make him looked upon as a man void of ſenſe, religion, honour, and even humanity.

25 And the king ſaid to Abſalom, Nay, my ſon, let us not all now go, leſt we be chargeable unto thee. And he preſſed him; howbeit, he would not go, but bleſſed him.

26 Then ſaid Abſalom, If not, I pray thee, let my brother Amnon go with us. And the king ſaid unto him, Why ſhould he go with thee?

27 But Abſalom preſſed him, that he let Amnon and all the king's ſons go with him.

28 Now Abſalom had commanded his ſervants, ſaying, Mark ye now when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I ſay unto you, Smite Amnon: then kill him, fear not: have not I commanded you? be courageous, and be valiant.

29 And the ſervants of Abſalom did unto Amnon as Abſalom had commanded. Then all the king's ſons aroſe, and every man gat him up upon his mule and fled.

30 And it came to paſs while they were in the way, that tidings came to David, ſaying, Abſalom hath ſlain all the king's ſons, and there is not one of them left.

31 Then the king aroſe, and tare his garments, and lay on the earth; and all his ſervants ſtood by with their clothes rent.

32 And Jonadab, the ſon of Shimeah David's brother anſwered and ſaid, Let not my lord ſuppoſe that they have ſlain all the young men the king's ſons; for Amnon only is dead, for by the appointment of Abſalom this hath been determined from the day that he forced his ſiſter Tamar.

33 Now, therefore, let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's ſons are dead: for Amnon only is dead.

34 But Abſalom fled. And the young man that kept the watch lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, there came much people by the way of the hill-ſide behind him.

35 And Jonadab ſaid unto the king, Behold, the king's ſons come; as thy ſervant ſaid, ſo it is.

36 And it came to paſs as ſoon as he had made an end of ſpeaking, that behold, the king's ſons came, and lifted up their voice, and wept. And the king alſo, and all his ſervants wept very ſore.

37 ¶ But Abſalom fled, and went to Talmai the ſon of Ammihud king of Geſhur. And David mourned for his ſon every day.

38 So Abſalom fled, and went to Geſhur, and was there three years.

39 And the ſoul of king David longed to go forth unto Abſalom: for he was comforted concerning Amnon, ſeeing he was dead.

CHAP. XIV.

2 Joab ſuborning a widow of Tekoah to incline the king's heart to fetch home Abſalom, 21 bringeth him to Jeruſalem.

NOW Joab the ſon of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was toward Abſalom.

2 And Joab ſent to Tekoah, and fetched thence a wiſe woman, and ſaid unto her, I pray thee, feign thyſelf to be a mourner, and put on now mourning apparel, and anoint not thyſelf with oil, but be as a woman that had a long time mourned for the dead:

3 And come to the king, and ſpeak on this manner unto him. So Joab put the words in her mouth.

4 And when the woman of Tekoah ſpake to the king, ſhe fell on her face to the ground, and did obeiſance, and ſaid, Help, O king.

5 And the king ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? and ſhe anſwered, I am indeed a widow woman, and mine huſband is dead.

6 And thy handmaid had two ſons, and they two ſtrove together in the field, and there was none to part them, but the one ſmote the other, and ſlew him.

7 And behold the whole family is riſen againſt thine handmaid, and they ſaid, Deliver him that ſmote his brother, that we may kill him for the life of his brother whom he ſlew; and we will deſtroy the heir alſo: and ſo they ſhall quench my coal which is left, and ſhall not leave to my huſband neither name nor remainder upon the earth.

8 And the king ſaid unto the woman, Go to thine houſe, and I will give charge concerning thee.

9 And the woman of Tekoah ſaid unto the king, My Lord, O king, the iniquity be on me, and on my father's houſe: and the king and his throne be guiltleſs.

10 And the king ſaid, Whoſoever ſaith ought unto thee, bring him to me, and he ſhall not touch thee any more.

11 Then ſaid ſhe, I pray thee, let the king remember the Lord thy God, that thou wouldeſt not ſuffer the revengers of blood to deſtroy any more, leſt they deſtroy my ſon. And he ſaid, As the Lord liveth, there ſhall not one hair of thy ſon fall to the earth.

12 Then the woman ſaid, Let thine handmaid, I pray thee, ſpeak one word unto my lord the king. And he ſaid, Say on.

13 And the woman ſaid, Wherefore then haſt thou thought ſuch a thing againſt the people of God? for the king doth ſpeak this thing as one which is faulty, in that the king doth not fetch home again his baniſhed.

14 For we muſt needs die, and are as water ſpilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again, neither doth God reſpect any perſon: yet doth he deviſe means that his baniſhed be not expelled from him.

15 Now therefore that I am come to ſpeak of this thing unto the lord my king, it is becauſe the people have made me afraid: and thy handmaid ſaid, I will now ſpeak unto the king: it may be that the king will perform the requeſt of his handmaid.

16 For the king will hear, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would deſtroy me and my ſon together out of the inheritance of God.

17 Then thine handmaid ſaid, the word of my lord the king ſhall now be comfortable: for as an angel of God, ſo is my lord the king to diſcern good and bad:

37 Abſalom fled and went to Talmai. He could have no city of refuge in his own country, becauſe he had committed a wilful murder, and therefore he fled out of the kingdom to his mother's father.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

2 And Joab ſent to Tekoah.) Tekoah was a city of the tribe of Judah, and lay about twelve miles ſouth of Jeruſalem. Joab's conduct in this afair was remarkably artful: he choſe a widow, becauſe her condition in life was more proper to move compaſſion, and one who lived at ſome diſtance from Jeruſalem, as her caſe might not be ſo readily enquired into: The whole intention of her ſpeech, recorded in the following verſes, was to frame a caſe ſimilar to that of David; in order, by prevailing with him to determine in her favour, that he might be convinced how much more reaſonable it was to preſerve Abſalom.

24 Let him turn to his own houſe, and let him not ſee my face.) This ſeverity, though very ſmall, in compariſon of the heinouſneſs of the offence, David thought proper to inflict upon his ſon, not only to make him humble and ſorry for what he had done, but alſo to convince the people how deteſtable his crime was in his ſight, and how averſe he would be to pardon murderers, ſince he could not endure the ſight of a ſon, whoſe hand was defiled with a brother's blood.

therefore the Lord thy God will be with thee.

18 Then the king anſwered and ſaid unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I ſhall aſk thee. And the woman ſaid, Let my lord the king now ſpeak.

19 And the king ſaid, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this? and the woman anſwered and ſaid, As thy ſoul liveth, my lord, the king, none can turn to the right hand or to the left from ought that my lord the king hath ſpoken; for thy ſervant Joab he bade me, and he put all theſe words in the mouth of thine handmaid:

20 To fetch about this form of ſpeech hath thy ſervant Joab done this thing; and my lord is wiſe, according to the wiſdom of an angel of God, to know all things that are in the earth.

21 ¶ And the king ſaid unto Joab, Behold now, I have done this thing: go therefore, bring the young man Abſalom again.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himſelf, and thanked the king And Joab ſaid, To-day thy ſervant knoweth that I have found grace in thy ſight, my lord, O king, in that the king hath fulfilled the requeſt of his ſervant.

23 So Joab aroſe and went to Geſhur, and brought Abſalom to Jeruſalem.

24 And the king ſaid, Let him turn to his own houſe, and let him not ſee my face. So Abſalom returned to his own houſe, and ſaw not the king's face.

25 But in all Iſrael there was none to be ſo much praiſed as Abſalom for his beauty: from the ſole of his foot even to the crown of his head there was no blemiſh in him.

26 And when he polled his head, (for it was at every year's end that he polled it: becauſe the hair was heavy on him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred ſhekels after the king's weight.

27 And unto Abſalom there were born three ſons, and one daughter, whoſe name was Tamar: ſhe was a woman of a fair countenance.

28 So Abſalom dwelt two full years in Jeruſalem, and ſaw not the king's face.

29 Therefore Abſalom ſent for Joab, to have ſent him to the king; but he would not come to him: and when he ſent again the ſecond time, he would not come.

30 Therefore he ſaid unto his ſervants, See, Joab's field is neat mine, and he hath barley there; go, and ſet it on fire. And Abſalom's ſervants ſet the field on fire.

31 Then Joab aroſe, and came to Abſalom unto his houſe, and ſaid unto him, Wherefore have thy ſervants ſet my field on fire?

32 And Abſalom anſwered Joab, Behold, I ſent unto thee, ſaying, Come hither, that I may ſend thee to the king, to ſay, Wherefore am I come from Geſhur? it had been good for me to have been there ſtill: now therefore let me ſee the king's face; and if there be any iniquity in me, let him kill me.

33 So Joab came to the king, and told him. And when he had called for Abſalom, he came to the king, and bowed himſelf on his face to the ground before the king. And the king kiſſed Abſalom.

CHAP. XV.

1 Abſalom ſtealeth the hearts of Iſrael. 10 He maketh a conſpiracy. 13 David fleeth from Jeruſalem.

AND it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom prepared him chariots and horſes, and fifty men to run before him.

2 And Abſalom roſe up early, and ſtood beſide the way of the gate; and it was ſo, that when any man that had a controverſy came to the king for judgment, then Abſalom called unto him, and ſaid, Of what city art thou? and he ſaid, Thy ſervant is of one of the tribes of Iſrael.

3 And Abſalom ſaid unto him, See, thy matters are good and right; but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.

4 Abſalom ſaid moreover, Oh, that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any ſuit or cauſe might come unto me, and I would do him juſtice!

5 And it was ſo, that when any man came nigh to him to do him obeiſance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kiſſed him.

6 And on this manner did Abſalom to all Iſrael that came to the king for judgment. So Abſalom ſtole the hearts of the men of Iſrael.

7 And it came to paſs after forty years, that Abſalom ſaid unto the king, I pray thee let me go and pay my vow which I have vowed unto the Lord in Hebron.

8 For thy ſervant vowed a vow while I abode at Geſhur in Syria, ſaying, If the Lord ſhall bring me again indeed to Jeruſalem, then I will ſerve the Lord.

9 And the king ſaid unto him, Go in peace. So he aroſe and went to Hebron.

10 ¶ But Abſalom ſent ſpies throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſaying, Aſſoon as ye hear the ſound of the trumpet, then ye ſhall ſay, Abſalom reigneth in Hebron.

11 And with Abſalom went two hundred men out of Jeruſalem, that were called; and they went in their ſimplicity, and they knew not any thing.

12 And Abſalom ſent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counſeller, from his city, even from Giloh, while he offered ſacrifices: and the conſpiracy was ſtrong; for the people increaſed continually with Abſalom.

13 ¶ And there came a meſſenger to David, ſaying, The hearts of the men of Iſrael are after Abſalom.

14 And David ſaid unto all his ſervants that were with him at Jeruſalem, Ariſe, and let us flee: for we ſhall not elſe eſcape from Abſalom; make ſpeed to depart, leſt he overtake us ſuddenly, and bring evil upon us, and ſmite the city with the edge of the ſword.

15 And the king's ſervants ſaid unto the king, Behold, thy ſervants are ready to do whatſoever my lord the king ſhall appoint.

16 And the king went forth, and all his houſehold

Commentary on Chap. XV.

1 And it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom prepared him chariots and horſes, &c.) Being again reſtored to favour, and, as he thought, re-eſtabliſhed in the king's affections, he prepared himſelf a ſplendid equipage, in order to attract the eyes of the people, and pave his way to the unjuſt uſurpation of his father's throne.

10 As ſoon as ye hear the ſound of the trumpet.) It ſeems natural to conclude from hence, that Abſalom had placed trumpeters at proper diſtances to take the ſound from one another, and diſperſe it over all the kingdom, ſo that they, who were lovers of his cauſe, might inſtantly reſort to his aſſiſtance and ſupport; to which they were, without doubt, encouraged by the ſuggeſtions of his emiſſaries, who ſeem to have perſuaded the people that all was done with the king's conſent and approbation, he being willing to reſign his kingdom to his eldeſt ſon, who was deſcended from a king by both parents.

after

after him. And the king left ten women, which were concubines, to keep the houſe.

17 And the king went forth, and all the people after him, and tarried in a place that was far off.

18 And all his ſervants paſſed on beſide him: and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, ſix hundred men which came after him from Gath, paſſed on before the king.

19 Then ſaid the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore goeſt thou alſo with us? return to thy place, and abide with the king: for thou art a ſtranger, and alſo an exile.

20 Whereas thou cameſt but yeſterday, ſhould I this day make thee go up and down with us? ſeeing I go whither I may; return thou, and take back thy brethren: mercy and truth be with thee.

21 And Ittai anſwered the king, and ſaid, As the Lord liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, ſurely in what place my lord the king ſhall be, whether in death or life, even there alſo will thy ſervant be.

22 And David ſaid to Ittai, Go, and paſs over. And Ittai the Gittite paſſed over, and all his men, and all the little ones that were with him.

23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people paſſed over, the king alſo himſelf paſſed over the brook Kidron, and all the people paſſed over, toward the way of the wilderneſs.

24 And lo Zadok alſo, and all the Levites were with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God: and they ſet down the ark of God: and Abiathar went up, until all the people had done paſſing out of the city.

25 And the king ſaid unto Zadok, Carry back the ark of God into the city: if I ſhall find favour in the eyes of the Lord, he will bring me again, and ſhew me both it, and his habitation.

26 But if he thus ſay, I have no delight in thee: behold, here am I; let him do to me as ſeemeth good unto him.

27 The king ſaid alſo unto Zadok the prieſt, Art not thou a ſeer? return into the city in peace, and your two ſons with you, Ahimaaz thy ſon, and Jonathan the ſon of Abiathar.

28 See, I will tarry in the plain of the wilderneſs, until there come word from you to certify me.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jeruſalem; and they tarried there.

30 And David went up by the aſcent of mount Olivet, and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went barefoot: and all the people that was with him covered every man his head, and they went up, weeping as they went up.

31 And one told David, ſaying, Ahithophel is among the conſpirators with Abſalom: and David ſaid, O Lord, I pray thee, turn the counſel of Ahithophel into fooliſhneſs.

32 And it came paſs that when David was come to the top of the mount, where he worſhipped God, behold, Huſhai the Archite came to meet him, with his coat rent, and earth upon his head:

33 Unto whom David ſaid, If thou paſſeſt on with me, then thou ſhalt be a burden unto me.

34 But if thou return to the city, and ſay unto Abſalom, I will be thy ſervant, O king; as I have been thy father's ſervant hitherto, ſo will I now alſo be thy ſervant: then mayeſt thou for me defeat the counſel of Ahithophel.

35 And haſt thou not there with thee Zadok and Abiathar the prieſts? therefore it ſhall be, that what thing ſoever thou ſhalt hear out of the king's houſe, thou ſhalt tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the prieſts.

36 Behold, they have there with them their two ſons, Ahimaas Zadock's ſon, and Jonathan Abiathar's ſon; and by them ye ſhall ſend unto me every thing that ye can hear.

37 So Huſhai David's friend came into the city, and Abſolam came into Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Ziba, by falſe ſuggeſtions, obtaineth his maſter's inheritance. 5 Shimei curſeth David. 9 David abſtaineth, and reſtraineth others from revenge. 20 Ahithophel's counſel.

AND when David was a little paſt the top of the hill, behold, Ziba the ſervant of Mephibosheth met him with a couple of aſſes ſaddled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and an hundred bunches of raiſins, and an hundred of ſummer-fruits, and a bottle of wine.

2 And the king ſaid unto Ziba, What meaneſt thou by theſe? and Ziba ſaid, The aſſes be for the king's houſehold to ride on; and the bread and ſummer-fruit for the young men to eat; and the wine, that ſuch as be faint in the wilderneſs may drink.

3 And the king ſaid, And where is thy maſter's ſon? and Ziba ſaid unto the king, Behold, he abideth at Jeruſalem; for he ſaid, To-day ſhall the houſe of Iſrael reſtore me the kingdom of my father.

4 Then ſaid the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained unto Mephibosheth. And Ziba ſaid, I humbly beſeech thee, that I may find grace in thy ſight, my lord, O king.

5 ¶ And when king David came to Bahurim, behold, thence came out a man of the family of the houſe of Saul, whoſe name was Shimei, the ſon of Gera: he came forth and curſed ſtill as he came.

6 And he caſt ſtones at David, and at all the ſervants of king David: and all the people and all the mighty men were on his right-hand and on his left.

7 And thus ſaid Shimei when he curſed, Come out, come out, thou bloody man, and thou man of Belial.

8 The Lord hath returned upon thee all the blood of the houſe of Saul, in whoſe ſtead thou haſt reigned; and the Lord hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Abſalom thy ſon: and behold, thou art ta-

25 Carry back the ark of God into the city.) This order was given for ſeveral reaſons; for either he might think it not decent to have the ark wander about with him he knew not whither, and to expoſe it to all the hazards and inconveniences which he himſelf was like to undergo; or he might ſuppoſe, that this might be a means of expoſing the prieſts to the violence of Abſalom's rage, (as he had before, on another occaſion, expoſed them to the fury of Saul) if God ſhould think proper to permit him to prevail; or this might look as a diſtruſt of the Divine Goodneſs, and that he had placed more confidence in the token of God's Preſence than he did in God himſelf, who had ſo wonderfully preſerved him during the long perſecution of Saul, when he had no ark with him. But his principal reaſon ſeems to have been, that the prieſts and Levites, whoſe fidelity he well knew, by giving his intelligence of his enemies, might do him more ſervice in Jeruſalem than they could in the camp.

32 Huſhai the Archite came to meet him.) There was a place on the frontiers of Benjamin and Ephraim, on the weſt of Bethel, called Archi, Joſh. xvi. 2, where, in all probability, this perſon was born; and, being famous for wiſdom, he was made one of David's counſellors.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

5 He curſed ſtill as he came.) It ſeems as if the king was fallen into the utmoſt contempt, when one private man durſt vent his malice againſt him in ſo groſs a manner, with impunity.

ken in thy miſchief, becauſe thou art a bloody man.

9 ¶ Then ſaid Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah unto the king, Why ſhould this dead dog curſe my lord the king? let me go over, I pray thee, and take off his head.

10 And the king ſaid, What have I to do with you ye ſons of Zeruiah? ſo let him curſe becauſe the Lord hath ſaid unto him, Curſe David. Who ſhall then ſay, Wherefore haſt thou done ſo?

11 And David ſaid to Abiſhai, and to all his ſervants, Behold, my ſon, which came forth of my bowels, ſeeketh my life: how much more now may this Benjamite do it? let him alone, and let him curſe: for the Lord hath bidden him.

12 It may be that the Lord will look on mine affliction, and that the Lord will requite me good for his curſing this day.

13 And as David and his men went by the way, Shimei went along on the hill's ſide over againſt him, and curſed as he went, and threw ſtones at him, and caſt duſt.

14 And the king and all the people that were with him, came weary, and refreſhed themſelves there.

15 And Abſalom and all the people the men of Iſrael came to Jeruſalem, and Ahithophel with him.

16 And it came to paſs when Huſhai the Archite, David's friend, was come unto Abſalom, that Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, God ſave the king, God ſave the king.

17 And Abſalom ſaid to Huſhai, Is this thy kindneſs to thy friend? why wenteſt thou not with thy friend?

18 And Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, Nay; but whom the Lord and this people and all the men of Iſrael chooſe, his will I be, and with him will I abide.

19 And again, whom ſhould I ſerve? ſhould I not ſerve in the preſence of his ſon? as I have ſerved in thy father's preſence, ſo will I be in thy preſence.

20 Then ſaid Abſalom to Ahithophel, Give counſel among you what we ſhall do.

21 And Ahithophel ſaid unto Abſalom, Go in unto thy father's concubines, which he hath left to keep the houſe: and all Iſrael ſhall hear that thou art abhorred of thy father: then ſhall the hands of all that are with thee be ſtrong.

22 So they ſpread Abſalom a tent upon the top of the houſe; and Abſalom went in unto his father's concubines, in the ſight of all Iſrael.

23 And the counſel of Ahithophel which he counſelled in thoſe days, was as if a man had enquired at the oracle of God: ſo was all the counſel of Ahithophel both with David and with Abſalom.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Ahithophel's counſel is overthrown by Huſhai's, according to God's appointment. 15 Secret intelligence is ſent to David. 23 Ahithophel hangeth himſelf.

MOREOVER, Ahithophel ſaid unto Abſalom, Let me now chuſe out twelve thouſand men, and I will ariſe and purſue after David this night.

2 And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak-handed, and will make him afraid; and all the people that are with him ſhall flee; and I will ſmite the king only:

3 And I will bring back all the people unto thee: the man whom thou ſeekeſt is as if all returned: ſo all the people ſhall be in peace.

4 And the ſaying pleaſed Abſalom well, and all the elders of Iſrael.

5 Then ſaid Abſalom, call now Huſhai the Archite alſo, and let us hear likewiſe what he ſaith.

6 And when Huſhai was come to Abſalom, Abſalom ſpake unto him, ſaying, Ahithophel hath ſpoken after this manner: ſhall we do after his ſaying? If not; ſpeak thou.

7 And Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, The counſel that Ahithophel hath given is not good at this time.

8 For, ſaid Huſhai, thou knoweſt thy father and his men, that they be mighty men, and they be chafed in their minds, as a bear robbed of her whelps in the field: and thy father is a man of war, and will not lodge with the people.

9 Behold, he is hid now in ſome pit, or in ſome other place: and it will come to paſs, when ſome of them be overthrown at the firſt, that whoſoever heareth it, will ſay, There is a ſlaughter among the people that follow Abſalom.

10 And he alſo that is valiant, whoſe heart is as the heart of a lion, ſhall utterly melt; for all Iſrael knoweth that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are valiant men.

11 Therefore I counſel that all Iſrael be generally gathered unto thee, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, as the ſand that is by the ſea for multitude: and that thou go to battle in thine own perſon.

12 So ſhall we come upon him in ſome place where he ſhall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of him and of all the men that are with him there ſhall not be left ſo much as one.

13 Moreover, if he be gotten into a city, then ſhall all Iſrael bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one ſmall ſtone found there.

14 And Abſalom and all the men of Iſrael ſaid, the the counſel of Huſhai the Archite is better than the counſel of Ahithophel. For the Lord had appointed to defeat the good counſel of Ahithophel, to the intent that the Lord might bring evil upon Abſalom.

15 ¶ Then ſaid Huſhai unto Zadok and unto Abiathar the prieſts, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counſel Abſalom and the elders of Iſrael; and thus and thus have I counſelled.

10 Let him curſe, becauſe the Lord hath ſaid unto him, Curſe David.) Not that God commanded it by his word, for that ſeverely forbids curſing: nor moved him to it by his example, for God tempteth no man, James i. 13. But the true meaning is, that the ſacred providence of God left him to his own wickedneſs; took away the common prudence that ſhould have reſtrained him from ſo dangerous an action; directed his malice that it ſhould be exerciſed againſt David, rather than any other man; and brought that prince into ſo diſtreſſed a condition, that he might ſeem a proper object of his ſcorn and contempt. In ſhort, David conſidered Shimei as an inſtrument in the hand of Omnipotence, and therefore took all his abuſes patiently; being conſcious that his crimes deſerved the inſults of this vile Benjamite.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

5 Then ſaid Abſalom, call now Huſhai the Archite, &c.) It ſeems to have been a proverb before the time of Solomon, that in a multitude of counſellors there is ſafety; and by this Abſalom determined to govern himſelf. But the providence of God is here very remarkable, as it was owing to this that Abſalom was irreſolute and doubtful, even in that counſel which was approved by all the elders of Iſrael, and was evidently the wiſeſt that could be given.

13 Then ſhall all Iſrael bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river.) That is, ſhould David quit the open field and betake himſelf to the ſtrongeſt of their cities, compaſſed with high walls and deep ditches, ſuch a numerous army as he propoſed would be ſufficient to compaſs it round about, and by ropes put round the walls to draw them down, with all the houſes of the city, into the ditch that ran about it; not that ſuch practices were ever uſed in war, the expreſſion being hyperbolical, and calculated to pleaſe the genius of the aſpiring and inſolent Abſalom.

16 Now therefore, ſend quickly, and tell David, ſaying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderneſs, but ſpeedily paſs over: leſt the king be ſwallowed up, and all the people that are with him.

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaas ſtayed by Enrogel: for they might not be ſeen to come into the city: and a wench went and told them; and they went and told king David.

18 Nevertheleſs, a lad ſaw them, and told Abſalom; but they went both of them away quickly, and came to a man's houſe in Bahurim, which had a well in his court, whither they went down.

19 And the woman took and ſpread a covering over the well's mouth, and ſpread ground corn thereon; and the thing was not known.

20 And when Abſalom's ſervants came to the woman to the houſe, they ſaid, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? and the woman ſaid unto them, They be gone over the brook of water. And when they had ſought and could not find them they returned to Jeruſalem.

21 And it came to paſs after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and ſaid unto David, Ariſe and paſs, quickly over the water; for thus hath Ahithophel counſelled againſt you.

22 Then David aroſe, and all the people that were with him, and they paſſed over Jordan: by the morning light there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.

23 And when Ahithophel ſaw that his counſel was not followed, he ſaddled his aſs, and aroſe, and gat him home to his houſe, to his city, and put his houſehold in order, and hanged himſelf, and died, and was buried in the ſepulchre of his father.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim. And Abſalom paſſed over Jordan, he and all the men of Iſrael with him.

25 And Abſalom made Amaſa captain of the hoſt inſtead of Joab. Which Amaſa was a man's ſon whoſe name was Ithra, an Iſraelite, that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahaſh, ſiſter to Zeruiah Joab's mother.

26 So Iſrael and Abſalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 And it came to paſs when David was come to Mahanaim, that Shobi the ſon of Nahaſh of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the ſon of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite of Rogelim,

28 Brought beds, and baſons, and earthen veſſels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulſe,

29 And honey and butter, and ſheep, and cheeſe of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they ſaid, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirſty, in the wilderneſs.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 David viewing the armies, 5 giveth them charge of Abſalom. 9 Abſalom is ſlain by Joab. 33 David lamenteth for him.

AND David numbered the people that were with him, and ſet captains of thouſands and captains of hundreds over them.

2 And David ſent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abiſhai, the ſon of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king ſaid unto the people, I will ſurely go forth with you myſelf alſo.

3 But the people anſwered, Thou ſhalt not go forth, for if we flee away they will not care for us; neither if half of us die will they care for us: but now thou art worth ten thouſand of us: therefore now it is better that thou ſuccour us out of the city.

4 And the king ſaid unto them, What ſeemeth you beſt I will do. And the king ſtood by the gate-ſide, and all the people came out by hundreds and by thouſands.

5 ¶ And the king commanded Joab, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, Deal gently for my ſake with the young man, even with Abſalom. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Abſalom.

6 So the people went out into the field againſt Iſrael: and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim:

7 Where the people of Iſrael were ſlain before the ſervants of David. And there was there a great ſlaughter that day of twenty thouſand men.

8 For the battle was there ſcattered over the face of all the country; and the wood devoured more people that day than the ſword devoured.

9 ¶ And Abſalom met the ſervants of David. And Abſalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth: and the mule that was under him went away.

10 And a certain man ſaw it, and told Joab, and ſaid, Behold, I ſaw Abſalom hanged in an oak.

11 And Joab ſaid unto the man that told him, And behold, thou ſaweſt him, and why didſt thou not ſmite him there to the ground? and I would have given thee ten ſhekels of ſilver, and a girdle.

12 And the man ſaid unto Joab, Though I ſhould receive a thouſand ſhekels of ſilver in mine hand, yet would I not put forth mine hand againſt the king's ſon: for in our hearing the king charged thee, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, Beware that none touch the young man Abſalom.

13 Otherwiſe I ſhould have wrought falſehood againſt mine own life: for there is no matter hid from the king, and thou thyſelf wouldeſt have ſet thyſelf againſt me.

14 Then ſaid Joab, I may not tarry thus with thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thruſt them through the heart of Abſalom, while he was yet alive in the midſt of the oak.

15 And ten young men that bare Joab's armour

23 And when Ahithophel ſaw that his counſel was not followed.) He was conviaced, that the methods Abſalom was going to purſue, that David would get the better of him; and in that caſe he well knew he ſhould be put to death for his treaſon, and therefore choſe to be his own executioner.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

8 The wood devoured more people that day than the ſword devoured) This, ſome think, was occaſioned by their falling into pits, and preſſing one another to death; creeping into lurking holes, and then periſhing by famine, or were devoured by wild beaſts. But the moſt ſimple meaning is, that there were more ſlain in the wood than in the field of battle.

9 And Abſalom met the ſervants of David.) In his flight thro' the wood, he happened to meet ſome of the ſervants of David, who refuſed to ſtop, much leſs to ſeize or kill him; for it ſeems they underſtood David's command to extend even to their touching him.

compaſſed about, and ſmote Abſalom and ſlew him.

16 And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from purſuing after Iſrael: for Joab held back the people.

17 And they took Abſalom, and caſt him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a very great heap of ſtones upon him: and all Iſrael fled every one to his tent.

18 ¶ Now Abſalom in his life-time had taken and reared up for himſelf a pillar, which is in the king's dale: for he ſaid, I have no ſon to keep my name in remembrance: and he called the pillar after his own name: and it is called unto this day Abſalom's Place.

19 ¶ Then ſaid Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok, Let me now run and bear the king tidings, how that the Lord hath avenged him of his enemies.

20 And Joab ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not bear tidings this day, but thou ſhalt bear tidings another day; but this day thou ſhalt bear no tidings, becauſe the king's ſon is dead.

21 Then ſaid Joab to Cuſhi, go tell the king what thou haſt ſeen. And Cuſhi bowed himſelf unto Joab, and ran.

22 Then ſaid Ahimaaz, the ſon of Zadok, yet again to Joab, But, howſoever, let me, I pray thee, alſo run after Cuſhi. And Joab ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou run, my ſon, ſeeing that thou haſt no tidings ready?

23 But howſoever, ſaid he, let me run. And he ſaid unto him, Run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and over-ran Cuſhi.

24 And David ſat between the two gates: and the watchman went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall, and lifted up his eyes, and looked, and, behold, a man running alone.

25 And the watchman cried, and told the king. And the king ſaid, If he be alone, there is tidings in his mouth. And he came apace, and drew near.

26 And the watchman ſaw another man running, and the watchman called unto the porter, and ſaid, Behold, another man running alone. And the king ſaid, He alſo bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman ſaid, Me thinketh the running of the foremoſt is like the running of Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok. And the king ſaid, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings.

28 And Ahimaaz called, and ſaid unto the king, All is well. And he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord thy God, which hath delivered up the men that lifted up their hand againſt my lord the king.

29 And the king ſaid, Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? and Ahimaaz anſwered, When Joab ſent the king's ſervant, and me thy ſervant, I ſaw a great tumult, but I knew not what it was.

30 And the king ſaid unto him, Turn aſide, and ſtand here. And he turned aſide, and ſtood ſtill.

31 And behold, Cuſhi came, and Cuſhi ſaid, Tidings, my lord the king: for the Lord hath avenged thee this day of all them that roſe up againſt thee.

32 And the king ſaid unto Cuſhi, Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? and Cuſhi anſwered, The enemies of my lord the king, and all that riſe againſt thee to do thee hurt, be as that young man is.

33 ¶ And the king was much moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept: and as he went, thus he ſaid, O my ſon Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon Abſalom! would God I had died for thee, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon!

CHAP. XIX.

1 Joab cauſeth the King to ceaſe his mourning. 9 The Iſraelites bring the king back. 11 David ſendeth to the prieſts to incite them of Judah. 16 Shimei is pardoned.

AND it was told Joab, Behold the king weepeth and mourneth for Abſalom.

2 And the victory that day was turned into mourning unto all the people; for the people heard ſay that day how the king was grieved for his ſon.

3 And the people gat them by ſtealth that day into the city, as people being aſhamed ſteal away when they flee in battle.

4 But the king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, O my ſon Abſalom, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon!

5 And Joab came into the houſe to the king, and ſaid, Thou haſt ſhamed this day the faces of all thy ſervants, which this day have ſaved thy life, and the lives of thy ſons, and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines:

6 In that thou loveſt thine enemies, and hateſt thy friends. For thou haſt declared this day that thou regardeſt neither princes nor ſervants; for this day I perceive that if Abſalom had lived, and all we had died this day, then it had pleaſed thee well.

7 Now therefore ariſe, go forth, and ſpeak comfortably unto thy ſervants: for I ſwear by the Lord, if thou go not forth, there will not tarry one with thee this night: and that will be worſe unto thee than all the evil that befel thee from thy youth until now.

8 Then the king aroſe, and ſat in the gate. And they told unto all the people, ſaying, Behold the king doth ſit in the gate. And all the people came before the king: for Iſrael had fled every man to his tent.

9 ¶ And all the people were at ſtrife throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſaying, The king ſaved us out of the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philiſtines; and now he is fled out of the land for Abſalom.

10 And Abſalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle: now, therefore, why ſpeak ye not a word of bringing the king back?

11 ¶ And king David ſent to Zadok and to Abiathar the prieſts, ſaying, Speak unto the elders of Judah, ſaying, Why are ye the laſt to bring the king back to his houſe, ſeeing the ſpeech of all Iſrael is come to the king, even to his houſe?

12 Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my fleſh: wherefore then are ye the laſt to bring back the king?

13 And ſay ye to Amaſa, Art thou not of my bone and of my fleſh? God do ſo to me and more alſo, if thou be not captain of the hoſt before me continually in the room of Joab.

14 And he bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, even as the heart of one man; ſo that they ſent

17 And laid a very great heap of ſtones upon him.) Thus Abſalom was in ſome ſort ſtoned, being the puniſhment preſcribed by the law for a ſtubborn and rebellious ſon. And ſome travellers tell us, that even when they viſited the Holy Land, it was a cuſtom for all paſſengers to throw a ſtone to the heap, in deteſtation of his rebellion againſt his father.

33 O my ſon Abſalom, &c.) Nothing certainly can be more moving and pathetic, than the words uttered by David on this ſolemn occaſion; but whether it was David's deliberate wiſh, that he had died in Abſalom's ſtead, or only the effect of his exceſſive love and grief for him, is not ſo eaſy to determine: but whether it might be, his grief was doubtleſs increaſed, from reflecting that himſelf, by his own ſin in the caſe of Uriah, had been the unhappy inſtrument and occaſion of his ſon's death.

this word unto the king, Return thou, and all thy servants.

15 So the king returned, and came to Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan.

16 ¶ And Shimei, the son of Gera, a Benjamite, which was of Bahurim, hasted, and came down with the men of Judah, to meet king David.

17 And there were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba, the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they went over Jordan before the king.

18 And there went over a ferry-boat to carry over the king's household, and to do what he thought good. And Shimei, the son of Gera, fell down before the king, as he was come over Jordan:

19 And said unto the king, let not my lord impute iniquity unto me, neither do thou remember that which thy servant did perversely the day that my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

20 For thy servant doth know that I have sinned; therefore, behold I am come the first this day of all the house of Joseph, to go down to meet my lord the king.

21 But Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, answered and said, Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the Lord's anointed?

22 And David said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah, that ye should this day be adversaries unto me? shall there any man be put to death this day in Israel? for do not I know that I am this day king over Israel?

23 Therefore the king said unto Shimei, Thou shalt not die: and the king sware unto him.

24 ¶ And Mephibosheth, the son of Saul, came down to meet the king, and had neither dressed his feet, nor trimmed his beard, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed, until the day he came again in peace.

25 And it came to pass, when he was come to Jerusalem to meet the king, that the king said unto him, Wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibosheth?

26 And he answered, My Lord, O king, my servant deceived me: for thy servant said, I will saddle me an ass, that I may ride thereon, and go to the king; because thy servant is lame.

27 And he hath slandered thy servant unto my lord the king: but my lord the king is as an angel of God; do therefore, what is good in thine eyes.

28 For all of my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king: yet didst thou set thy servant among them that did eat at thine own table: what right, therefore, have I yet to cry any more unto the king?

29 And the king said unto him, Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I have said, Thou and Ziba divide the land.

30 And Mephibosheth said unto the king, Yea, let him take all, forasmuch as my lord the king is come again in peace unto his own house.

31 And Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim, and went over Jordan with the king, to conduct him over Jordan.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourscore years old: and he had provided the king of sustenance while he lay at Mahanaim: for he was a very great man.

33 And the king said unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jerusalem.

34 And Barzillai said unto the king, How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king unto Jerusalem?

35 I am this day fourscore years old: and can I discern between good and evil? can thy servant taste what I eat or what I drink? can I hear any more the voice of singing men and singing women? wherefore then should thy servant be yet a burden unto my lord the king?

36 Thy servant will go a little way over Jordan with the king: and why should the king recompense it me with such a reward?

37 Let thy servant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, and be buried by the grave of my father and of my mother. But behold thy servant Chimham; let him go over with my lord the king, and do to him what shall seem good unto thee:

38 And the king answered, Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do to him that which shall seem good unto thee: and whatsoever thou shalt require of me, that will I do for thee.

39 And all the people went over Jordan. And when the king was come over, the king kissed Barzillai, and blessed him; and he returned unto his own place.

40 Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him: and all the people of Judah conducted the king, and also half the people of Israel.

41 ¶ And, behold, all the men of Israel came to the king, and said unto the king, Why have our brethren, the men of Judah, stolen thee away, and have brought the king and his household, and all David's men with him, over Jordan?

42 And all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, Because the king is near of kin to us; wherefore then be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten at all of the king's cost? or hath he given us any gift?

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, We have ten parts in the king, and we

Commentary on Chap. XIX.

17 And there were a thousand men of Benjamin with him.) The reason why Shimei came with so large a retinue, was to let David see that he was a man of some consequence, and capable of doing him great service among the people, which might be some inducement to the king to grant him his pardon; or perhaps he was one of the captains of a thousand in his own tribe, and might carry them all with him, to make the stronger intercession for his pardon.

24 And Mephibosheth---came down to meet the king, &c.) He was determined to convince the king of the baseness of Ziba; and therefore came to meet him with all the marks of mourning, since no man who neglected himself to this degree, could be supposed ambitious of a crown.

29 I have said, Thou and Ziba divide the land.) That is, My first grant shall stand; thou shalt be owner of the land, and Ziba manage it for thee.

37 That I may die in mine own city, &c.) This whole little episode is extremely beautiful: Barzillai finishes his address to the king with this request, That he would suffer him to enjoy what old men naturally desire; "to die in the place where they had lived, "and to be buried with their ancestors."

38 Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do to him that which shall seem good unto thee.) He would not have it left to his own choice; but desires the good old man to say what he would have him do for him, and it should be done. We do not, however, read what Barzillai asked, or what David did for him. But as we find mention of the habitation of Chimham, Jerem. xli. 17, near Beth-lehem, it is natural to think that David bestowed his own patrimony on Barzillai's son, and from thence the place took the name of Chimham, which it retained till the days of Jeremiah.

43 We have ten parts in the king.) That is, the kingdom: ten parts of which they say were theirs, because Simeon, being intermixed with Judah, probably now came along with them.

have have alſo more right in David than ye; why then did ye deſpiſe us, that our advice ſhould not be firſt had in bringing back our king? and the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Iſrael.

CHAP. XX.

1 Sheba maketh a party in Iſrael. 4 Amaſa is ſlain. 14 Joab purſueth Sheba unto Abel. 16 A wiſe woman ſaveth the city by Sheba's head. 23 David's officers.

AND there happened to be there a man of Belial, whoſe name was Sheba, the ſon of Bichri, a Benjamite: and he blew a trumpet, and ſaid, We have no part in David, neither have we inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe: every man to his tents, O Iſrael.

2 So every man of Iſrael went up from after David, and followed Sheba the ſon of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave unto their king, from Jordan even to Jeruſalem.

3 And David came to his houſe at Jeruſalem; and the king took the ten women his concubines, whom he had left to keep the houſe, and put them in ward, and fed them, but went not in unto them: ſo they were ſhut up unto the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 ¶ Then ſaid the king to Amaſa, Aſſemble me the men of Judah within three days, and be thou here preſent.

5 So Amaſa went to aſſemble the men of Judah; but he tarried longer than the ſet time which he had appointed him.

6 And David ſaid to Abiſhai, Now ſhall Sheba, the ſon of Bichri, do us more harm than did Abſalom: take thou thy lord's ſervants, and purſue after him, leſt he get him fenced cities, and eſcape us.

7 And there went out after him Joab's men, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men; and they went out of Jeruſalem to purſue after Sheba, the ſon of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great ſtone which is in Gibeon, Amaſa went before them, and Joab's garment that he had put on was girded unto him, and upon it a girdle with a ſword faſtened upon his loins in the ſheath thereof: and as he went forth it fell out.

9 And Joab ſaid to Amaſa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amaſa by the beard with the right-hand to kiſs him.

10 ¶ But Amaſa took no heed to the ſword that was in Joab's hand: ſo he ſmote him therewith in the fifth rib, and ſhed out his bowels to the ground, and ſtruck him not again, and he died. So Joab and Abiſhai his brother purſued after Sheba, the ſon of Bichri.

11 And one of Joab's men ſtood by him and ſaid, He that favoureth Joab, and he that is for David, let him go after Joab.

12 And Amaſa wallowed in blood in the midſt of the high-way: and when the man ſaw that all the people ſtood ſtill, he removed Amaſa out of the high-way into the field, and caſt a cloth upon him, when he ſaw that every one that came by him ſtood ſtill.

13 When he was removed out of the high-way, all the people went on after Joab, to purſue after Sheba, the ſon of Bichri.

14 ¶ And he went through all the tribes of Iſrael unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah, and all the Berites: and they were gathered together, and went alſo after him.

15 And they came and beſieged him in Abel of Beth-maachah, and they caſt up a bank againſt the city, and it ſtood in the trench: and all the people that were with Joab battered the wall, to throw it down.

16 ¶ Then cried a wiſe woman out of the city, Hear, hear: ſay, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may ſpeak with thee.

17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman ſaid, Art thou Joab? And he anſwered, I am he. Then ſhe ſaid unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he anſwered, I do hear.

18 Then ſhe ſpake, ſaying, They were wont to ſpeak in old time, ſaying, They ſhall ſurely aſk counſel at Abel: and ſo they ended the matter.

19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Iſrael: thou ſeekeſt to deſtroy a city and a mother in Iſrael: why wilt thou ſwallow up the inheritance of the Lord?

20 And Joab anſwered and ſaid, Far be it, far be it from me that I ſhould ſwallow up or deſtroy.

21 The matter is not ſo: but a man of mount Ephraim, Sheba the ſon of Bichri by name, hath lifted up his hand againſt the king, even againſt David. Deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman ſaid unto Joab, Behold, his head ſhall be thrown to thee over the wall.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people in her wiſdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the ſon of Bichri, and caſt it out to Joab. And he blew a trumpet, and they retired from the city, every man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jeruſalem unto the king.

23 ¶ Now Joab was over all the hoſt of Iſrael; and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites, and over the Pelethites:

24 And Adoram was over the tribute: and Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Ahilud was recorder:

25 And Sheva was ſcribe: and Zadok and Abiathar were the prieſts:

26 And Ira alſo the Jairite was a chief ruler about David.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The three years famine for the Gibeonites ceaſe by the hanging ſeven of Saul's ſons. 10 Rizpah's kindneſs unto the dead. 12 David burieth the bones of Saul and Jonathan.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XX.

5 So Amaſa went to aſſemble the men of Judah, &c.) The people had been ſo harraſſed in the late civil war, that they were not ſo forward to engage in another. And, perhaps, ſome might be unwilling to ſerve under a perſon who had lately headed a rebellious army againſt the king; and others had probably conceived ſo high an opinion of Joab, that it was not eaſy to prevail on them to ſerve under any other general. Either of theſe particulars might retard Amaſa's recruiting his army in the time appointed, though he might be unwilling to inform the king of it, leſt it might diminiſh his authority, and make him appear but ill qualified for the office wherein he had placed him.

16 Then cried a wiſe woman out of the city.) It is not improbable but this woman was governeſs of the city; for though that office was generally filled by men, yet there are not wanting inſtances of women being employed in the adminiſtration of civil affairs. But be this as it may, ſhe had ſufficient reaſon for making this application to Joab; for ſhe well knew that the inhabitants would willingly make peace, being friends to their prince, and that the oppoſition wholly proceeded from the power and authority of Sheba.

THEN there was a famine in the days of David three years, year after year: and David enquired of the Lord. And the Lord anſwered, It is for Saul and for his bloody houſe, becauſe he ſlew the Gibeonites.

2 And the king called the Gibeonites, and ſaid unto them, (now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Iſrael, but of the remnant of the Amorites: and the children of Iſrael had ſworn unto them: and Saul ſought to ſlay them in his zeal to the children of Iſrael and Judah)

3 Wherefore David ſaid unto the Gibeonites, What ſhall I do for you? and wherewith ſhall I make the atonement, that ye may bleſs the inheritance of the Lord?

4 And the Gibeonites ſaid unto him, We will have no ſilver nor gold of Saul, nor of his houſe; neither for us ſhalt thou kill any man in Iſrael. And he ſaid, What ye ſhall ſay, that will I do for you.

5 And they anſwered the king, The man that conſumed us and that deviſed againſt us that we ſhould be deſtroyed from remaining in any of the coaſts of Iſrael,

6 Let ſeven men of his ſons be delivered unto us, and we will hang them up unto the Lord in Gibea of Saul, whom the Lord did chooſe. And the king ſaid, I will give them.

7 But the king ſpared Mephibоſheth the ſon of Jonathan the ſon of Saul, becauſe of the Lord's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the ſon of Saul.

8 But the king took the two ſons of Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah, whom ſhe bare unto Saul, Armoni and Mephibоſheth; and the five ſons of Michal the daughter of Saul, whom ſhe brought up for Adriel, the ſon of Barzillai, the Meholathite:

9 And he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites; and they hanged them in the hill before the Lord: and they fell all ſeven together, and were put to death in the days of harveſt, in the firſt days, in the beginning of barley-harveſt.

10 ¶ And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took ſackcloth, and ſpread it for her upon the rock, from the beginning of harveſt until water dropped upon them out of heaven, and ſuffered neither the birds of the air to reſt on them by day, nor the beaſts of the field by night.

11 And it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done.

12 ¶ And David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his ſon from the men of Jabeſh-gilead, which had ſtolen them from the ſtreet of Beth-ſhan, where the Philiſtines had hanged them, when the Philiſtines had ſlain Saul in Gilboa:

13 And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his ſon: and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.

14 And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his ſon buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the ſepulchre of Kiſh his father: and they performed all that the king commanded. And after that, God was intreated for the land.

15 Moreover, the Philiſtines had yet war again with Iſrael: and David went down, and his ſervants with him, and fought againſt the Philiſtines. And David waxed faint.

16 And Iſhbi-benob, which was of the ſons of the giant, the weight of whoſe ſpear weighed three hundred ſhekels of braſs in weight, he being girded with a new ſword, thought to have ſlain David.

17 But Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah ſuccoured him, and ſmote the Philiſtine, and killed him. Then the men of David ſware unto him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt go no more out with us to battle, that thou quench not the light of Iſrael.

18 And it came to paſs after this, that there was again a battle with the Philiſtines at Gob: then Sibbechai the Huſhathite ſlew Saph, which was of the ſons of the giant.

19 And there was again a battle in Gob with the Philiſtines, where Elhanan the ſon of Jaare-oregim a Beth-lehemite, ſlew the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the ſtaff of whoſe ſpear was like a weaver's beam.

20 And there was yet a battle in Gath, where was a man of great ſtature, that had on every hand ſix fingers, and on every foot ſix toes, four and twenty in number: and he alſo was born to the giant.

21 And when he defied Iſrael, Jonathan the ſon of Shimea the brother of David ſlew him.

22 Theſe four were born to the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his ſervants.

CHAP. XXII.

David's pſalm of thankſgiving for God's powerful deliverance, and manifold bleſſings.

AND David ſpake unto the Lord the words of this ſong in the day that the Lord had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord is my rock and my fortreſs, and my deliverer;

3 The God of my rock; in him will I truſt: he is my ſhield, and the horn of my ſalvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my ſaviour; thou ſaveſt me from violence.

4 I will call on the Lord, who is worthy to be praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſaved from mine enemies.

5 When the waves of death compaſſed me; the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.

6 The ſorrows of hell compaſſed me about, the ſnares of death prevented me.

7 In my diſtreſs I called upon the Lord, and cried

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXI.

1 And the Lord anſwered it is for Saul and for his bloody houſe, becauſe he ſlew the Gibeonites.) Why this judgment was ſo long delayed, eſpecially as Saul and his ſons had before felt the weight of divine vengeance, may ſeem ſtrange. But it ſhould be remembered, that the counſels of God are paſt finding out; and that he hath excellent reaſons why he puniſhes ſinners not now, but hereafter; and knows which of their children are moſt worthy to be puniſhed, and bear the iniquity of their fathers: and the longer he defers the ſtroke, the more evident it is that he doth not forget the evil men have done, though he doth not preſently make his anger conſpicuous to the eyes of mortals.

8 And the five ſons of Michal the daughter of Saul.) Michal was not the mother of thoſe children, but had brought them up; whence they are here called her children. They were the ſons of Merab her eldeſt ſiſter, who was married to Adriel.

17 That thou quench not the light of Iſrael.) This expreſſion is equally beautiful and ſignificant, for good kings are in ſcripture juſtly ſtiled the light of the people, becauſe the beauty and glory, the conduct and direction, the comfort and ſafety, the welfare and happineſs of a people greatly depend upon them, and are chiefly derived from them.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXII.

1 And out of the hand of Saul.) It is natural to think that David might have ranked Saul among his enemies, and comprehended them all under that general name: but though Saul cruelly perſecuted him, he would not place him among his enemies, becauſe he loved him, was an Iſraelite, and the Lord's anointed.

to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.

8 Then the earth ſhook and trembled: the foundations of heaven moved and ſhook, becauſe he was wroth.

9 There went up a ſmoke out of his noſtrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.

10 He bowed the heavens alſo and came down; and darkneſs was under his feet.

11 And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: and he was ſeen upon the wings of the wind.

12 And he made darkneſs pavilions round about him, dark waters, and thick clouds of the ſkies.

13 Through the brightneſs before him were coals of fire kindled.

14 The Lord thundered from heaven, and the Moſt High uttered his voice.

15 And he ſent out arrows, and ſcattered them; lightning, and diſcomfited them.

16 And the channels of the ſea appeared, the foundations of the world were diſcovered, at the rebuking of the Lord, at the blaſt of the breath of his noſtrils.

17 He ſent from above he took me; he drew me out of many waters;

18 He delivered me from my ſtrong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too ſtrong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my ſtay.

20 He brought me forth alſo into a large place; he delivered me, becauſe he delighted in me.

21 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteouſneſs; according to the cleanneſs of my hands hath he recompenſed me.

22 For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

23 For all his judgments were before me: and as for his ſtatutes, I did not depart from them.

24 I was alſo upright before him, and have kept myſelf from mine iniquity.

25 Therefore the Lord hath recompenſed me according to my righteouſneſs; according to my cleanneſs in his eye-ſight.

26 With the merciful thou wilt ſhew thyſelf merciful, and with the upright man thou wilt ſhew thyſelf upright.

27 With the pure thou wilt ſhew thyſelf pure; and with the froward thou wilt ſhew thyſelf unſavoury.

28 And the afflicted people thou wilt ſave; but thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayeſt bring them down.

29 For thou art my lamp, O Lord; and the Lord will lighten my darkneſs.

30 For by thee I have run through a troop: by my God have I leaped over a wall.

31 As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all them that truſt in him.

32 For who is God, ſave the Lord? and who is a rock, ſave our God?

33 God is my ſtrength and power: and he maketh my way perfect.

34 He maketh my feet like hinds feet; and ſetteth me upon my high places.

35 He teacheth my hands to war; ſo that a bow of ſteel is broken by mine arms.

36 Thou haſt alſo given me the ſhield of thy ſalvation; and thy gentleneſs hath made me great.

37 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me; ſo that my feet did not ſlip.

38 I have purſued mine enemies, and deſtroyed them; and turned not again until I had conſumed them.

39 And I have conſumed them, and wounded them, that they could not ariſe; yea, they are fallen under my feet.

40 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength to battle; them that roſe up againſt me haſt thou ſubdued under me.

41 Thou haſt alſo given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might deſtroy them that hate me.

42 They looked, but there was none to ſave; even unto the Lord, but he anſwered them not.

43 Then did I beat them as ſmall as the duſt of the earth, I did ſtamp them as the mire of the ſtreet, and did ſpread them abroad.

44 Thou alſo haſt delivered me from the ſtrivings of my people, thou haſt kept me to be head of the heathen: a people which I knew not, ſhall ſerve me.

45 Strangers ſhall ſubmit themſelves unto me: as ſoon as they hear, they ſhall be obedient unto me.

46 Strangers ſhall fade away, and they ſhall be afraid out of their cloſe places.

47 The Lord liveth, and bleſſed be my rock, and exalted be the God of the rock of my ſalvation.

48 It is God that avengeth me, and that bringeth down the people under me.

49 And that bringeth me forth from mine enemies: thou alſo haſt lifted me up on high above them that roſe up againſt me: thou haſt delivered me from the violent man.

50 Therefore, I will give thanks unto thee, O Lord, among the heathen, and I will ſing praiſes unto thy name.

51 He is the tower of ſalvation for his king; and ſheweth mercy to his anointed, unto David and to his ſeed for evermore.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 David profeſſeth his faith in God's promiſes: 8 a catalogue of his mighty men.

NOW theſe be the laſt words of David. David, the ſon of Jeſſe, ſaid, and the man who was raiſed up on high, the anointed of the God of Jacob, and the ſweet pſalmiſt of Iſrael, ſaid,

2 The Spirit of the Lord ſpake by me, and his word was in my tongue.

3 The God of Iſrael ſaid, The Rock of Iſrael ſpake

11 He rode upon a cherub.) To ride, in the Hebrew language, ſignifies to rule, to govern, to manage with an abſolute authority that on which the perſon is ſaid to ride; and therefore the ſenſe is, that he ſent his heavenly miniſters to execute his pleaſure.

16 The channels of the ſea appeared, &c.) This is a deſcription of a terrible earthquake, which made ſuch breaches in the earth, that the very bottom of it was diſcovered.

34 Like hinds feet.) With reſpect to the firmneſs of their treading, which is very remarkable.

50 Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O Lord, &c.) He was not ſatisfied with praiſing and extolling the power, the goodneſs, and the juſtice of the Lord in the midſt of his own people, but alſo among the heathen whom he had ſubdued, that they might know all his victories were wrought by the hand of Omnipotence, and thence be inſpired to worſhip the great Jehovah, and put their truſt under the ſhadow of his wings.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIII.

2 The ſpirit of the Lord ſpake by me, &c.) He would not have thoſe hymns, nor the prophecy he now uttered, to be conſidered as mere human compoſitions; but as flowing from a divine influence, conferred on him by the Holy Ghoſt.

to

to me, He that ruleth over men muſt be juſt, ruling in the fear of God:

4 And he ſhall be as the light of the morning, when the ſun riſeth, even a morning without clouds: as the tender graſs ſpringing out of the earth by clear ſhining after rain.

5 Although my houſe be not ſo with God: yet he hath made with me an everlaſting covenant, ordered in all things and ſure: for this is all my ſalvation and all my deſire, although he make it not to grow.

6 But the ſons of Belial ſhall be all of them as thorns thruſt away, becauſe they cannot be taken with hand.

7 But the man that ſhall touch them muſt be fenced with iron and the ſtaff of a ſpear: and they ſhall be utterly burned with fire in the ſame place.

8 ¶ Theſe be the names of the mighty men whom David had. The Tachmonite that ſat in the ſeat, chief among the captains; the ſame was Adino the Eznite; he lifted up his ſpear againſt eight hundred, whom he ſlew at one time.

9 And after him was Eleazar, the ſon of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David, when they defied the Philiſtines that were there gathered together to battle, and the men of Iſrael were gone away;

10 He aroſe, and ſmote the Philiſtines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto the ſword: and the Lord wrought a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to ſpoil.

11 And after him was Shammah, the ſon of Agee the Hararite: and the Philiſtines were gathered together into a troop, where was a piece of ground full of lentiles; and the people fled from the Philiſtines.

12 But he ſtood in the midſt of the ground, and defended it, and ſlew the Philiſtines: and the Lord wrought a great victory.

13 And three of the thirty chief went down, and came to David in the harveſt-time, unto the cave of Adullam: and the troop of the Philiſtines pitched in the valley of Rephaim.

14 And David was then in an hold, and the garriſon of the Philiſtines was then in Beth-lehem.

15 And David longed, and ſaid, Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, which is by the gate!

16 And the three mighty men brake through the hoſt of the Philiſtines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: nevertheleſs he would not drink thereof, but poured it out unto the Lord;

17 And he ſaid, Be it far from me, O Lord, that I ſhould do this; is not this the blood of the men that went in jeopardy of their lives? therefore he would not drink it. Theſe things did theſe three mighty men.

18 And Abiſhai, the brother of Joab, the ſon of Zeruiah, was chief among three: and he lifted up his ſpear againſt three hundred, and ſlew them, and had the name among three.

19 Was he not moſt honourable of three? therefore he was their captain: howbeit he attained not unto the firſt three.

20 And Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, the ſon of a valiant man of Kabzeel, who had done many acts, he ſlew two lion-like men of Moab: he went down alſo and ſlew a lion in the midſt of a pit in time of ſnow.

21 And he ſlew an Egyptian, a goodly man: and the Egyptian had a ſpear in his hand; but he went down to him with a ſtaff, and plucked the ſpear out of the Egyptian's hand, and ſlew him with his own ſpear.

22 Theſe things did Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, and had the name among three mighty men.

23 He was more honourable than the thirty, but he attained not to the firſt three: and David ſet him over his guard.

24 Aſahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty: Elhanan the ſon of Dodo of Beth-lehem.

25 Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite.

26 Helez the Paltite, Ira, the ſon of Ikkeſh the Tekoite,

27 Abiezer the Anethothite, Mebunnai the Huſhathite,

28 Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite,

29 Heleb the ſon of Baanah, a Netophathite, Ittai the ſon of Ribai out of Gibeah of the children of Benjamin.

30 Benaiah the Pirathonite, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaaſh,

31 Abi-albon the Arbothite, Azmaveth, the Barhumite.

32 Eliahba the Shaalbonite, of the ſons of Jaſhen, Jonathan,

33 Shamma the Hararite, Ahiam the ſon of Sharar the Hararite,

34 Eliphelet the ſon of Ahaſbai the ſon of the Maachirite, Eliam the ſon of Ahithophel the Gilonite,

35 Hezrai the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite,

36 Igal the ſon of Nathan of Zobab, Bani the Gadite,

37 Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite, armour-bearer to Joab the ſon of Zeruiah,

38 Ira an Ithrite, Gareb an Ithrite,

39 Uriah the Hittite: thirty and ſeven in all.

8 Theſe be the names of the mighty men whom David had.) There is alſo a liſt of David's worthies in 1 Chron. xi. which originally contained the ſame ſenſe: where it is now contradictory, one of the two places muſt be corrupted. The reader is to obſerve that this liſt conſiſts of 37 warriors, the firſt of which is Joab, who, though not expreſly mentioned here (becauſe he has been celebrated through this whole book of Samuel) yet he muſt be here included, to complete the number ſpecified at the 39th verſe: the author of Chronicles enumerates Joab at the beginning of his catalogue: he therefore is to be reckoned the captain-general; next comes a double ſeries of three generals, (the three moſt honourable next to Joab making the firſt ſeries, viz. Jaſhobeam, Eleazar, and Shammah; and the three more honourable than the thirty, but leſs honourable than the firſt three, making the ſecond ſeries, viz. Abiſhai, Benaihu, and Aſahel) and then the body of thirty. This verſe is miſerably corrupted; but Mr. Kennicott has, with great ingenuity and induſtry, corrected the original, and given us this tranſlation: Theſe are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Jaſhobeam the Hachmonite, chief of three; he liſted up his ſpear againſt three hundred ſoldiers at one time.

15 Oh that one would give me drink of the waters of the well of Beth-lehem, &c.) The Jewiſh commentators obſerve, that though David expreſſed a deſire for ſome of the water of Beth-lehem, becauſe it was the place of his nativity, and the water probably excellent in its kind; yet he did not do this with an intent that any one ſhould make ſo deſperate an attempt. In this action, however, they remark three wonderful things, namely, that three men ſhould break through the hoſt of the Philiſtines, ſtay to draw water out of the well, and carry it away with an high hand through the ſame hoſt to David. They might alſo have added a fourth remark, namely, that they attempted this at the gate of Beth-lehem, where the garriſon of the Philiſtines kept a ſtrong guard.

17 Is not this the blood of the men, &c.) He no longer conſidered it as mere water, but the blood of the men who had fetched it at the utmoſt peril of their lives, and the blood was to be offered to the Lord. Some think that David, when he expreſſed his deſire for the waters of Beth-lehem, did not mean material water, but the great Meſſiah, who had the water of life; knowing, by inſpiration, that he was to be born in Beth-lehem, which therefore the Philiſtines would not be able to deſtroy.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 David numbereth the people. 10 He, having three plagues propounded by Gad, repenteth, and chooſeth the three days peſtilence. 17 His interceſſion to God.

AND again the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Iſrael; and he moved David againſt them, to ſay, Go, number Iſrael and Judah.

2 For the king ſaid to Joab the captain of the hoſt, which was with him, Go now through all the tribes of Iſrael, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people.

3 And Joab ſaid unto the king, Now the Lord thy God add unto the people, how many ſoever they be, an hundred-fold, and that the eyes of my lord the king may ſee it: but why doth my lord the king delight in this thing?

4 Notwithſtanding, the king's word prevailed againſt Joab, and againſt the captains of the hoſt: and Joab and the captains of the hoſt went out from the preſence of the king, to number the people of Iſrael.

5 And they paſſed over Jordan, and pitched in Aroer, on the right ſide of the city that lieth in the midſt of the river of Gad, and toward Jazer.

6 Then they came to Gilead, and to the land of Tahtim-hodſhi: and they came to Danjaan and about to Zidon.

7 And came to the ſtrong hold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites: and they went out to the ſouth of Judah, even to Beer-ſheba.

8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jeruſalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9 And Joab gave up the ſum of the number of the people unto the king: and there were in Iſrael eight hundred thouſand valiant men that drew the ſword: and the men of Judah were five hundred thouſand men.

10 ¶ And David's heart ſmote him, after that he had numbered the people. And David ſaid unto the Lord, I have ſinned greatly in that I have done: and now I beſeech thee, O Lord, take away the iniquity of thy ſervant, for I have done very fooliſhly.

11 For when David was up in the morning, the word of the Lord came unto the prophet Gad, David's ſeer, ſaying, 12 Go and ſay unto David, Thus ſaith the Lord, I offer thee three things: choſe thee one of them that I may do it unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and told him, and ſaid unto him, Shall ſeven years of famine come unto thee in thy land? or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, while they purſue thee? or that there be three days peſtilence in thy land? now adviſe, and ſee what anſwer I ſhall return to him that ſent me.

14 And David ſaid unto Gad, I am in a great ſtrait: let us fall now into the hand of the Lord, (for his mercies are great,) and let me not fall into the hand of man.

15 ¶ So the Lord ſent a peſtilence upon Iſrael, from the morning even to the time appointed: and there died of the people, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, ſeventy thouſand men,

16 And when the angel ſtretched out his hand upon Jeruſalem to deſtroy it, the Lord repented him of the evil, and ſaid to the angel that deſtroyed the people, It is enough; ſtay now thine hand. And the angel of the Lord was by the threſhing-place of Araunah the Jebuſite.

17 And David ſpake unto the Lord, when he ſaw the angel that ſmote the people, and ſaid, Lo, I have ſinned, and I have done wickedly: but theſe ſheep, what have they done? Let thine hand I pray thee, be againſt me, and againſt my father's houſe.

18 ¶ And Gad came that day to David, and ſaid unto him, Go up, rear an altar unto the Lord in the threſhing-floor of Araunah the Jebuſite.

19 And David, according to the ſaying of Gad, went up, as the Lord commanded.

20 And Araunah looked, and ſaw the king and his ſervants coming on toward him. And Araunah went out and bowed himſelf before the king on his face upon the ground.

21 And Araunah ſaid, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his ſervant? And David ſaid, To buy the threſhing-floor of thee, to build an altar unto the Lord, that the plague may be ſtayed from the people.

22 And Araunah ſaid unto David, Let my Lord the king take and offer up what ſeemeth good unto him: behold, here be oxen for burnt-ſacriſice, and threſhing inſtruments, and other inſtruments of the oxen, for wood.

23 All theſe things did Araunah, as a king, give unto the king: and Araunah ſaid unto the king, The Lord thy God accept thee.

24 And the king ſaid unto Araunah, Nay; but I will ſurely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the Lord my God of that which doth coſt me nothing. So David bought the threſhing-floor and the oxen for fifty ſhekels of ſilver.

25 And David built there an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings. So the Lord was entreated for the land, and the plague was ſtayed from Iſrael.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XXIV.

9 And Joab gave up the ſum of the number of the people unto the king, &c.) If we compare this account with what we meet in 1 Chron. xxi. 5, we ſhall find a great difference; for there the men of Iſrael are ſaid to be three hundred thouſand more than here; and on the other hand, the men of Judah are ſaid to be thirty thouſand leſs. It is however only ſuppoſing, that in the account recorded in this chapter, the ſtanding legions, which amounted in all to two hundred and eighty-eight thouſand, are not here mentioned, though they are in the Chronicles: and as for the latter difference, it is only adding twenty-four legionary ſoldiers, and the whole difficulty is removed.

18 Rear an altar unto the Lord in the threſhing-floor of Araunah the Jebuſite.) This threſhing-floor was on mount Moriah, the place where Abraham attempted to offer his ſon, and where the temple was afterwards built by Solomon.

24 David bought the threſhing-floor, and the oxen, for fifty ſhekels of ſilver.) In the Chronicles it is ſaid, that David bought the threſhing-floor, &c. for ſix hundred ſhekels of gold: Now a ſhekel of gold being of twenty times more value than a ſhekel of ſilver, it makes the diſparity very large; and therefore it is generally ſuppoſed that David made two purchaſes. He firſt bought the threſhing-floor and oxen for fifty ſhekels of ſilver, and afterwards all the adjacent ground, occupied by the courts of the temple, for ſix hundred ſhekels of gold.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE K I N G S:

COMMONLY CALLED,

The Third Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Theſe Books are called the Kings, becauſe they contain the hiſtory of the kings of Iſrael and Judah, from the beginning of the reign of Solomon down to the Babyloniſh captivity, for the ſpace of near ſix hundred years, if we take into the account the hiſtory of the two foregoing books. They were probably compoſed by Ezra, who extracted them from the public records of the Jewiſh nation.

The firſt Book of the Kings contains the latter part of the life of David, and the death of that prince; the flouriſhing ſtate of the Iſraelites under Solomon; his building and dedicating the temple of Jeruſalem; his ſhameful defection from the true religion; and the ſudden decay of the Jewiſh nation after his death, when it was divided into two kingdoms. The reſt of the book is ſpent in relating the acts of four kings of Judah, and eight of Iſrael.

CHAP. I.

1 Abiſhag cheriſheth David in his extreme age. 5 Adonijah, David's darling, uſurpeth the kingdom. 32 Solomon, by David's appointment, is anointed king by Zadok and Nathan. 50 Adonijah fleeing to the horns of the altar, 53 is diſmiſſed by Solomon.

NOW king David was old, and ſtricken in years: and they covered him with clothes, but he gat no heat.

2 Wherefore his ſervants ſaid unto him, Let there be ſought for my lord the king a young virgin; and let her ſtand before the king, and let her cheriſh him, and let her lie in thy boſom, that my lord the king may get heat.

3 So they ſought for a fair damſel throughout all the coaſts of Iſrael, and found Abiſhag a Shunammite, and brought her to the king.

4 And the damſel was very fair, and cheriſhed the king, and miniſtered to him: but the king knew her not.

5 ¶ Then Adonijah the ſon of Haggith exalted himſelf, ſaying, I will be king: and he prepared him chariots and horſemen, and fifty men to run before him.

6 And his father had not diſpleaſed him at any time in ſaying, Why haſt thou done ſo? and he alſo was a very goodly man; and his mother bare him after Abſalom.

7 And he conferred with Joab the ſon of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the prieſt: and they following Adonijah, helped him.

8 But Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the mighty men which belonged to David, were not with Adonijah.

9 And Adonijah ſlew ſheep, and oxen, and fat cattle by the ſtone of Zoheleth, which is by En-rogel, and called all his brethren the king's ſons, and all the men of Judah the king's ſervants:

10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men, and Solomon his brother he called not.

11 Wherefore Nathan ſpake unto Bath-ſheba the mother of Solomon, ſaying, Haſt thou not heard that Adonijah the ſon of Haggith doth reign, and David our lord knoweth it not?

12 Now therefore come, let me, I pray thee, give thee counſel, that thou maneſt ſave thine own life, and the life of thy ſon Solomon.

13 Go, and get thee in unto king David, and ſay unto him, Didſt not thou, my lord, O king, ſwear unto thine handmaid, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne? why then doth Adonijah reign?

14 Behold, while thou yet talkeſt there with the

COMMENTARY on Chap. I.

1 They covered him with clothes, but he gat no heat.) He ſeems to have been ſtricken with a dead palſy, or ſome other diſtemper that chilled his blood, ſo that he could find no warmth in his bed.

6 His father had not diſpleaſed him at any time.) It is remarked of David, that one of his greateſt faults, and the ſource from whence many of his misfortunes flowed, was his exceſſive indulgence to his children; of whom he was ſo remarkably fond, that he overlooked their faults: though he could not be ignorant, that this was a breach of a poſitive law, and that Eli the high-prieſt was ſeverely puniſhed for this neglect.

king,

king, I alſo will come in after thee, and confirm thy words.

15 And Bath-ſheba went in unto the king, into the chamber; and the king was very old; and Abiſhag the Shunammite miniſtered unto the king.

16 And Bath-ſheba bowed and did obeiſance unto the king. And the king ſaid, What wouldeſt thou?

17 And ſhe ſaid unto him, My lord, thou ſwareſt by the Lord thy God unto thine handmaid, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne:

18 And now, behold, Adonijah reigneth; and now, my lord the king, thou knoweſt it not.

19 And he hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattle, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the ſons of the king, and Abiathar the prieſt, and Joab the captain of the hoſt: but Solomon thy ſervant hath he not called.

20 And thou, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Iſrael are upon thee, that thou ſhouldeſt tell them who ſhall ſit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

21 Otherwiſe it ſhall come to paſs, when my lord the king ſhall ſleep with his fathers, that I and my ſon Solomon ſhall be counted offenders.

22 And lo, while ſhe yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet alſo came in.

23 And they told the king, ſaying, Behold, Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in before the king, he bowed himſelf before the king with his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan ſaid, My lord, O king, haſt thou ſaid, Adonijah ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne?

25 For he is gone down this day, and hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattle, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the king's ſons, and the captains of the hoſt, and Abiathar the prieſt: and behold, they eat and drink before him, and ſay, God ſave king Adonijah.

26 But me, even me thy ſervant, and Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and thy ſervant Solomon hath he not called.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou haſt not ſhewed it unto thy ſervant who ſhould ſit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

28 Then king David anſwered and ſaid, Call me Bath-ſheba: and ſhe came into the king's preſence, and ſtood before the king.

29 And the king ſware, and ſaid, As the lord liveth, that hath redeemed my ſoul out of all diſtreſs,

30 Even as I ſware unto thee by the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne in my ſtead; even ſo will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bath-ſheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and ſaid, let my lord king David live for ever.

32 ¶ And king David ſaid, Call me Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 The king alſo ſaid unto them, Take with you the ſervants of your lord, and cauſe Solomon my ſon, to ride upon mine own mule, and bring him down to Gihon.

34 And let Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Iſrael; and blow ye with the trumpet, and ſay, God ſave king Solomon.

35 Then ye ſhall come up after him, that he may come and ſit upon my throne; for he ſhall be king in my ſtead: and I have appointed him to be ruler over Iſrael and over Judah.

36 And Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada anſwered the king, and ſaid, Amen: the Lord God of my lord the king ſay ſo too.

37 As the Lord hath been with my lord the king, even ſo be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David.

38 So Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down, and cauſed Solomon to ride upon king David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.

39 And Zadok the prieſt, took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon. And they blew the trumpet; and all the people ſaid, God ſave king Solomon.

40 And all the people came up after him, and the people piped with pipes, and rejoiced with great joy, ſo that the earth rent with the ſound of them.

41 And Adonijah and all the gueſts that were with him, heard it as they had made an end of eating. And when Joab heard the ſound of the trumpet, he ſaid, Wherefore is this noiſe of the city being in an uproar?

42 And while he yet ſpake, behold, Jonathan the ſon of Abiathar the prieſt came. And Adonijah ſaid unto him, Come in; for thou art a valiant man, and bringeſt good tidings.

43 And Jonathan anſwered and ſaid to Adonijah, Verily our lord king David hath made Solomon king.

44 And the king hath ſent with him Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have cauſed him to ride upon the king's mule.

45 And Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are come up from thence rejoicing, ſo that the city rang again. This is the noiſe that ye have heard.

46 And alſo Solomon ſitteth on the throne of the kingdom.

47 And moreover, the king's ſervants came to bleſs our lord king David, ſaying, God make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne. And the king bowed himſelf upon the bed.

48 And alſo thus ſaid the king, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, which hath given one to ſit on my throne this day, mine eyes even ſeeing it.

49 And all the gueſts that were with Adonijah were afraid, and roſe up, and went every man his way.

50 ¶ And Adonijah feared becauſe of Solomon,

24 And Nathan ſaid, My lord, O king, haſt thou ſaid, Adonijah ſhall reign after me, &c.) God had before promiſed David, by Nathan, that he would ſet upon his throne a ſon that ſhould proceed from him; which plainly ſignified, that none of his ſons already born were to be the perſon. And in 1 Chron. xxii. 8, he declared, by the ſame prophet, that, after his father, Solomon ſhould reign and build him an houſe. This Adonijah muſt know; and therefore his ſetting himſelf againſt the decrees of Omnipotence greatly augmented his ſin in uſurping the throne of Iſrael.

30 Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me.) The power of naming a ſucceſſor was firſt aſſumed by David, and was for ſome time after confirmed in the Jewiſh ſtate. This privilege was in after-ages, granted to ſeveral good princes; but among the Iſraelites it did not prevail long; becauſe the conſtitution of other nations, to which the Iſraelites affected to conform themſelves, was different.

38 Cauſed Solomon to ride upon the king's mule.) All the ſons of David rode upon mules when they went abroad; but David had a mule peculiar to himſelf, and therefore the ſetting Solomon upon it was a ſufficient declaration in his favour; it being a capital offence to ride upon the king's mule, ſit on his throne, or handle his ſceptre, without his order: and, on the contrary, to have the honour of riding on the king's beaſt, by his appointment, was accounted the higheſt dignity among the Perſians, as appears from the ſtory of Mordecai in the book of Eſther.

and aroſe, and went and caught hold on the horns of the altar.

51 And it was told Solomon, ſaying, Behold, Adonijah feareth king Solomon; for lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, ſaying, Let king Solomon ſwear unto me to-day that he will not ſlay his ſervant with the ſword.

52 And Solomon ſaid, If he will ſhew himſelf a worthy man, there ſhall not an hair of him fall to the earth; but if wickedneſs ſhall be found in him, he ſhall die.

53 So king Solomon ſent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and bowed himſelf to king Solomon. And Solomon ſaid unto him, Go to thine houſe.

CHAP. II.

1 David, having given a charge to Solomon, 10 dieth.
12 Solomon ſucceedeth. 23 Adonijah is put to death.
28 Joab is ſlain. 36 Shimei's death.

NOW the days of David drew nigh that he ſhould die; and he charged Solomon his ſon, ſaying,

2 I go the way of all the earth: be thou ſtrong therefore and ſhew thyſelf a man;

3 And keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, to keep his ſtatutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his teſtimonies, as it is written in the law of Moſes, that thou mayeſt proſper in all that thou doeſt, and whitherſoever thou turneſt thyſelf.

4 That the Lord may continue his word, which he ſpake concerning me, ſaying, If thy children take heed to their way, to walk before me in truth with all their heart and with all their ſoul; there ſhall not fail thee (ſaid he) a man on the throne of Iſrael.

5 Moreover, thou knoweſt alſo what Joab the ſon of Zeruiah, did to me, and what he did to the two captains of the hoſts of Iſrael, unto Abner the ſon of Ner, and unto Amaſa, the ſon of Jether, whom he ſlew, and ſhed the blood of war in peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins, and in his ſhoes that were on his feet.

6 Do therefore according to thy wiſdom, and let not his hoar head go down to the grave in peace.

7 But ſhew kindneſs unto the ſons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be of thoſe that eat at thy table: for ſo they came to me when I fled becauſe of Abſalom thy brother.

8 And behold, thou haſt with thee Shimei the ſon of Gera, a Benjamite of Bahurim, which curſed me with a grievous curſe in the day when I went to Mahanaim: but he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I ſware to him by the Lord, ſaying, I will not put thee to death with the ſword.

9 Now, therefore, hold him not guiltleſs; for thou art a wiſe man, and knoweſt what thou oughteſt to do unto him: but his hoar head bring thou down to the grave with blood.

10 So David ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.

11 And the days that David reigned over Iſrael were forty years: ſeven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jeruſalem.

12 Then ſat Solomon upon the throne of David his father; and his kingdom was eſtabliſhed greatly.

13 ¶ And Adonijah the ſon of Haggith, came to Bath-ſheba, the mother of Solomon. And ſhe ſaid, Comeſt thou peaceably? And he he ſaid, Peaceably.

14 He ſaid, moreover, I have ſomewhat to ſay unto thee. And ſhe ſaid, Say on,

15 And he ſaid, Thou knoweſt that the kingdom was mine, and that all Iſrael ſet their faces on me, that I ſhould reign; howbeit, the kingdom is turned about, and is become my brother's; for it was his from the Lord.

16 And now I aſk one petition of thee, deny me not. And ſhe ſaid unto him, Say on.

17 And he ſaid, Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king, (for he will not ſay thee nay) that he give me Abiſhag the Shunammite to wife.

18 And Bath-ſheba ſaid, Well; I will ſpeak for thee unto the king.

19 Bath-ſheba therefore went unto king Solomon to ſpeak unto him for Adonijah. And the king roſe up to meet her, and bowed himſelf unto her, and ſat down on his throne, and cauſed a ſeat to be ſet for the king's mother; and ſhe ſat on his right hand.

20 Then ſhe ſaid, I deſire one ſmall petition of thee: I pray thee, ſay me not nay. And the king ſaid unto her, Aſk on, my mother; for I will not ſay thee nay.

21 And ſhe ſaid, Let Abiſhag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah thy brother to wife.

---

50 And Adonijah feared---and went and caught hold on the horns of the altar.) There is no precept in the law that makes the altar a privileged place: but the Jews, in conformity to the cuſtom of other nations, ſeem to have conſidered it as ſuch. And it ſeems very probable, that as the people had, when they came into the land of Canaan, cities of refuge appointed by God himſelf, whither the man-ſlayer might flee and be ſafe; ſo while they continued in the wilderneſs, the camp of the Levites was ſet apart for the ſame purpoſe: nay, from the words in Exodus xxi. 14, where God orders the wilful murderer to be taken from his altar, that he may die, it is ſufficiently evident, that, even in the land of Canaan, that the altar continued a ſanctuary for thoſe who fled to it.

COMMENTARY on Chap. II.

3 Keep the charge of the Lord thy God, &c.) In this ſummary all the laws of Moſes are comprehended. Statutes were ſuch conſtitutions as had their foundation not in reaſon, but in the will and pleaſure of God; ſuch as the prohibition of ſowing mingled ſeeds, &c. Commandments were moral duties, founded in the nature of things, and carried their reaſon with them; as not to kill, ſteal, &c. Judgments were the law relating to civil government, and the dealings of one man with another: ſuch as all thoſe laws recorded in the twenty-firſt and following chapters of Exodus. And teſtimonies were ſuch laws as preſerved the remembrance of ſome events, and teſtified to men the loving kindneſs of the Lord; ſuch as the ſabbath, the paſſover, and the reſt of the feaſts.

10 So David ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.) It is ſomething unaccountable, that this prince's ſepulchre, which both the Chaldeans and Romans thought proper to ſpare, ſhould now be ſo entirely loſt, that the leaſt remains of it cannot be diſcovered. But though Providence has thought proper to ſuffer the ſepulchre of David to be loſt in oblivion, there is ſtill remaining, an eternal monument of his genius and piety: I mean the book of Pſalms, the greateſt part of which was compoſed by him, and which publiſhes the glory of its author far beyond the moſt pompous elegies: and the author of Eccleſiaſticus has conſecrated to his memory the following epitaph, which will remain when the pureſt braſs and adamantine marble are mouldered into duſt: "As the fat is taken away from the peace-offerings, ſo was David choſen from the people of Iſrael. He played with lions as with kids, and with bears as with lambs. Slew he not a giant when he was young? and did not he take away the reproach from the people? For he called upon the moſt high Lord, and he gave ſtrength to his right-hand to ſlay the mighty warrior, and to ſet up the horn of his people. So the people honoured him with ten thouſands, and praiſed him in bleſſings of the Lord: for he deſtroyed the enemies on every ſide, and brought to nought the Philiſtines, his adverſaries.---In all his works he praiſed the Holy One moſt high with words of glory.---He ſet ſingers alſo before the altar, that by their voices they might make ſweet melody, and daily ſing praiſes in their ſongs. He beautified their feaſts, and ſet in order their ſolemn times.---The Lord took away his ſins, and exalted his horn for ever: he gave him a covenant of kings, and a throne of glory in Iſrael." Eccleſ. xlvii.

22 And king Solomon anſwered and ſaid unto his mother, And why doſt thou aſk Abiſhag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Aſk for him the kingdom alſo: for he is mine elder brother; even for him, and for Abiathar the prieſt, and for Joab the ſon of Zeruiah.

23 Then king Solomon ſware by the Lord, ſaying, God do ſo to me, and more alſo, if Adonijah have not ſpoken this word againſt his own life.

24 Now therefore, as the Lord liveth, which hath eſtabliſhed me, and ſet me on the throne of David my father, and who hath made me an houſe as he promiſed, Adonijah ſhall be put to death this day.

25 And king Solomon ſent by the hand of Benaiah the ſon of Jahoiada; and he fell upon him that he died.

26 And unto Abiathar the prieſt ſaid the king, Get thee to Anathoth, unto thine own fields; for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time put thee to death, becauſe thou bareſt the ark of the Lord God before David my father, and becauſe thou haſt been afflicted in all wherein my father was afflicted.

27 So Solomon thruſt out Abiathar from being prieſt unto the Lord, that he might fulfil the word of the Lord which he ſpake concerning the houſe of Eli in Shiloh.

28 Then tidings came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he turned not after Abſalom. And Joab fled unto the tabernacle of the Lord, and caught hold on the horns of the altar.

29 And it was told king Solomon that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the Lord, and behold, he is by the altar. Then Solomon ſent Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, ſaying, Go, fall upon him.

30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the Lord, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the king, Come forth. And he ſaid, Nay: but I will die here. And Benaiah brought the king word again, ſaying, Thus ſaid Joab, and thus he anſwered me.

31 And the king ſaid unto him, Do as he hath ſaid, and fall upon him, and bury him: that thou mayeſt take away the innocent blood which Joab ſhed, from me, and from the houſe of my father.

32 And the Lord ſhall return his blood upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he, and ſlew them with the ſword, my father David not knowing thereof, to wit, Abner the ſon of Ner, captain of the hoſt of Iſrael, and Amaſa the ſon of Jether, captain of the hoſt of Judah.

33 Their blood ſhall therefore return upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his ſeed for ever: but upon David, and upon his ſeed, and upon his houſe, and upon his throne ſhall there be peace for ever from the Lord.

34 So Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and ſlew him. And he was buried in his own houſe in the wilderneſs.

35 And the king put Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada in his room over the hoſt. And Zadok the prieſt did the king put in the room of Abiathar.

36 ¶ And the king ſent and called for Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Build thee an houſe in Jeruſalem, and dwell there, and go not forth thence any whither.

37 For it ſhall be that on the day thou goeſt out and paſſeſt over the brook Kidron, thou ſhalt know for certain that thou ſhalt ſurely die; thy blood ſhall be upon thine own head.

38 And Shimei ſaid unto the king, The ſaying is good; as my lord the king hath ſaid, ſo will thy ſervant do. And Shimei dwelt in Jeruſalem many days.

39 And it came to paſs at the end of three years, that two of the ſervants of Shimei ran away unto Achiſh ſon of Maachah king of Gath. And they told Shimei, ſaying, Behold, thy ſervants be in Gath.

40 And Shimei aroſe, and ſaddled his aſs, and went to Gath to Achiſh to ſeek his ſervants: and Shemei went and brought his ſervants from Gath.

41 And it was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jeruſalem to Gath, and was come again.

42 And the king ſent and called for Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Did I not make thee to ſwear by the Lord, and proteſted unto thee, ſaying, Know for a certain, that on the day thou goeſt out, and walkeſt abroad any whither, that thou ſhalt ſurely die? and thou ſaidſt unto me, The word that I have heard is good.

43 Why then haſt thou not kept the oath of the Lord, and the commandment that I have charged thee with?

44 The king ſaid moreover to Shimei, Thou knoweſt all the wickedneſs which thine heart is privy to, that thou didſt to David my father: therefore the Lord ſhall return thy wickedneſs upon thine own head;

45 And king Solomon ſhall be bleſſed, and the throne of David ſhall be eſtabliſhed before the Lord for ever.

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada; which went out and fell upon him, that he died. And the kingdom was eſtabliſhed in the hand of Solomon.

CHAP. III.

1 Solomon marrieth Pharaoh's daughter. 5 His choice. 16 His judgment between the two harlots.

AND Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and took Pharaoh's daughter, and brought her into the city of David, until he had made an end of building his own houſe, and the houſe of the Lord, and the wall of Jeruſalem round about.

2 Only the people ſacrificed in high places, becauſe there was no houſe built unto the name of the Lord until thoſe days.

3 And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the ſtatutes of David his father: only he ſacrificed and burned incenſe in high places.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to ſacrifice there; for that was the great high place. A thouſand burnt-offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar.

5 ¶ In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God ſaid, Aſk what I ſhall give thee.

6 And Solomon ſaid, thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant David my father great mercy, according as he

---

22. Aſk for him the kingdom alſo.) Solomon here gently reproves his mother for aſking a favour, which, if granted, muſt prove of the moſt fatal conſequence. For Adonijah, by aſking Abiſhag, David's wife, did in fact, aſk the kingdom alſo, ſince the wives of the deceaſed monarch could only belong to the perſon who ſucceeded to the throne.

COMMENTARY on Chap. III.

1 And Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt.) It may ſeem ſtrange, that in all the hiſtory of the Jews, from the time of Moſes to this of Solomon, no mention ſhould be made of the kings of Egypt, as if they had no concern in the affairs of Canaan, but were wholly diverted ſome other way: but for this their own hiſtorians account; for they tell us, that during this ſpace of time, the Egyptian kings did nothing worth recording.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to ſacrifice there; for that was the great high-place.) The tabernacle and brazen altar were both at Gibeon: for, after Shiloh was deſtroyed, it was carried to Nob; and the prieſts being there ſlain by Saul, it was removed to Gibeon (2 Chron. i. 3) where the Jews tell us there was the greateſt ſynagogue in the world.

walked before thee in truth, and in righteouſneſs, and in uprightneſs of heart with thee; and thou haſt kept for him this great kindneſs, that thou haſt given him a ſon to ſit on his throne, as it is this day.

7 And now, O Lord my God, thou haſt made thy ſervant king inſtead of David my father: and I am but a little child: I know not how to go out or come in.

8 And thy ſervant is in the midſt of thy people, which thou haſt choſen, a great people that cannot be numbered, nor counted for multitude.

9 Give therefore thy ſervant an underſtanding heart to judge thy people, that I may diſcern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy ſo great a people?

10 And the ſpeech pleaſed the Lord, that Solomon had aſked this thing.

11 And God ſaid unto him, Becauſe thou haſt aſked this thing, and haſt not aſked for thyſelf long life, neither haſt aſked riches for thyſelf, nor haſt aſked the life of thine enemies, but haſt aſked for thyſelf underſtanding, to diſcern judgment;

12 Behold I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wiſe and an underſtanding heart: ſo that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee ſhall any ariſe like unto thee.

13 And I have alſo given thee that which thou haſt not aſked, both riches and honour: ſo that there ſhall not be any among the kings like unto thee all thy days.

14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep my ſtatutes, and my commandments, as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.

15 And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream. And he came to Jeruſalem, and ſtood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up burnt-offerings, and offered peace-offerings, and made a feaſt to all his ſervants.

16 ¶ Then came there two women that were harlots, unto the king, and ſtood before him.

17 And the one woman ſaid, O my lord, I and this woman dwell in one houſe: and I was delivered of a child with her in the houſe.

18 And it came to paſs the third day after that I was delivered, that this woman was delivered alſo: and we were together; there was no ſtranger with us in the houſe, ſave we two in the houſe.

19 And this woman's child died in the night; becauſe ſhe overlaid it.

20 And ſhe aroſe at midnight, and took my ſon from beſide me, while thine handmaid ſlept, and laid it in her boſom; and laid her dead child in my boſom.

21 And when I aroſe in the morning to give my child ſuck, behold, it was dead: but when I had conſidered it in the morning, Behold, it was not my ſon which I did bear.

22 And the other woman ſaid, Nay; but the living is my ſon, and the dead is thy ſon. And this ſaid, No; but the dead is thy ſon, and the living is my ſon. Thus they ſpake before the king.

23 Then ſaid the king, The one ſaith, This is my ſon that liveth, and thy ſon is the dead: and the other ſaith, Nay; but thy ſon is the dead, and my ſon is the living.

24 And the king ſaid, Bring me a ſword. And they brought a ſword before the king.

25 And the king ſaid, Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other.

26 Then ſpake the woman, whoſe the living child was, unto the king, (for her bowels yearned upon her ſon) and ſhe ſaid, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it. But the other ſaid, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it.

27 Then the king anſwered, and ſaid, Give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it: ſhe is the mother thereof.

28 And all Iſrael heard of the judgment which the king had judged; and they feared the king: for they ſaw that the wiſdom of God was in him to do judgment.

CHAP. IV.

1 Solomon's princes. 7 His twelve officers. 24 The peace and largeneſs of his kingdom. 29 His wiſdom.

SO king Solomon was king over all Iſrael.

2 And theſe were the princes which he had: Azariah the ſon of Zadok, the prieſt;

3 Elihoreph and Ahiah, the ſons of Shiſha, ſcribes; Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Ahilud, the recorder.

4 And Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada, was over the hoſt; and Zadok and Abiathar were the prieſts.

5 And Azariah, the ſon of Nathan, was over the officers: and Zabud, the ſon of Nathan, was principal officer, and the king's friend.

6 And Ahiſhar was over the houſhold; and Adoniram, the ſon of Abdah was over the tribute.

7 ¶ And Solomon had twelve officers over all Iſrael, which provided victuals for the king and his houſhold; each man his month in a year made proviſion.

8 And theſe are their names. The ſon of Hur, in mount Ephraim.

9 The ſon of Dekar in Makaz, and in Shaalbim, and Beth-ſhemeſh, and Elon-beth-hanan.

10 The ſon of Heſed, in Aruboth; to him pertained Sochoh, and all the land of Hepher.

11 The ſon of Abinadab in all the region of Dor; which had Taphath the daughter of Solomon to wife.

12 Baana the ſon of Ahilud: to him pertained Taanach and Migiddo, and all Beth-ſhean, which is by Zartanah beneath Jezreel, from Beth-ſhean to Abelmeholah, even unto the place that is beyond Jokneam.

13 The ſon of Geber, in Ramoth-gilead; to him pertained the towns of Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh, which are in Gilead: to him alſo pertained the region of Argob, which is in Baſhan, threeſcore great cities with walls and brazen bars.

14 Ahinadab the ſon of Iddo had Mahanaim.

15 Ahimaaz was in Naphtali; he alſo took Baſmath the daughter of Solomon to wife:

16 Baanah, the ſon of Huſhai, was in Aſher and in Aloth:

17 Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Paruah, in Iſſachar:

18 Shimei, the ſon of Elah, in Benjamin;

12 I have given thee a wiſe and an underſtanding heart.) Other wiſe men accumulate their knowledge by ſtudy and obſervation: the common road to wiſdom is full of difficulties; but Solomon had his by inſpiration, without undergoing the tedious and fatiguing toil of other mortals. He laid down on his bed covered with the veil of human ignorance, but awoke in the morning adorned in all the robes of wiſdom like an angel of God.

25 And the king ſaid, Divide the living child in two.) As no evidence appeared to prove which of theſe women was the true mother of the child, he was convinced that the only method of diſcovering the truth would be by the affection, compaſſion, and tenderneſs the true mother would ſhew for her infant. And if we ſuppoſe when he commanded the child to be divided, he ſpake with a ſedate countenance, not only the two women, but all the people preſent were ſtruck with horror, expecting his order would be immediately executed; but when it ended in ſo juſt a deciſion, quite contrary to what they looked for, it raiſed joy in every breaſt, and gave a more advantageous commendation to the judge.

19 Geber, the son of Uri, was in the country of Gilead, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Bashan: and he was the only officer which was in the land.

20 Judah and Israel were many, as the sand which is by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking, and making merry.

21 And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms, from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt; they brought presents, and served Solomon all the days of his life.

22 And Solomon's provision for one day was thirty measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of meal.

23 Ten fat oxen, and twenty oxen out of the pastures, and an hundred sheep, beside harts, and roebucks, and fallow deer, and fatted fowl.

24 ¶ For he had dominion over all the region on this side the river, from Tiphsah, even to Azzah, over all the king's on this side the river: and he had peace on all sides round about him.

25 And Judah and Israel dwelt safely every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, all the days of Solomon.

26 And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen.

27 And those officers provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomon's table, every man in his month: they lacked nothing.

28 Barley also and straw for the horses and dromedaries brought they unto the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.

29 ¶ And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore,

30 And Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the east country, and all the wisdom of Egypt.

31 For he was wiser than all men: than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol: and his fame was in all nations round about.

32 And he spake three thousand proverbs: and his songs were a thousand and five.

33 And he spake of trees from the cedar-tree that is in Lebanon, even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall: he spake also of beasts, and of fowls, and of creeping things, and of fishes.

34 And there came of all people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom.

CHAP. V.

1 Hiram sendeth to congratulate Solomon: and furnisheth timber to build the temple. 13 Solomon's workmen and labourers.

AND Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon: (for he had heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father) for Hiram was ever a lover of David.

2 And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,

3 Thou knowest how that David my father could not build an house unto the name of the Lord his God, for the wars which were about him on every side, until the Lord put them under the soles of his feet.

4 But now the Lord my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor evil occurrent.

5 And behold, I purpose to build an house unto the name of the Lord my God, as the Lord spake unto David my father, saying, Thy son, whom I will set upon thy throne in thy room, he shall build an house unto my name.

6 Now therefore command thou that they hew me cedar-trees out of Lebanon, and my servants shall be with thy servants: and unto thee will I give hire for thy servants, according to all that thou shalt appoint: for thou knowest that there is not among us any that can skill to hew timber like unto the Sidonians.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoiced greatly, and said, Blessed be the Lord this day, which hath given unto David a wise son over this great people.

8 And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, I have considered the things which thou sentest to me for: and I will do all thy desire concerning timber of cedar, and concerning timber of fir.

9 My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon unto the sea: and I will convey them by sea in floats unto the place that thou shalt appoint me, and will cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receive them: and thou shalt accomplish my desire in giving food for my household.

10 So Hiram gave Solomon cedar-trees and fir-trees according to all his desire.

11 And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat for food to his household, and twenty measures of pure oil: thus gave Solomon to Hiram year by year.

12 And the Lord gave Solomon wisdom, as he promised him: and there was peace between Hiram and

Commentary on Chap. IV.

21 And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms, from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt.) That is, the kingdom of Solomon was bounded on the east by the river Euphrates, often called the river by way of excellency; on the west by the land of the Philistines which bordered on the Mediterranean-sea; and on the south by Egypt. So that the kings of Syria, Damascus, Moab, and Ammon, which lay between the Euphrates and the Mediterranean, were tributaries to Solomon: and indeed, without such a number of tributary kingdoms, it would be difficult to conceive how the country of Israel could have furnished so constant supply of provisions, and other things necessary for the support of this prince's grandeur. It must also be observed, that God had now performed the promise he made to Abraham, that his seed should possess the land, from the river of Egypt, to the great river, the river Euphrates, Gen. xviii. 18. For David had conquered all these countries, and his son Solomon maintained his conquests.

26 And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots.) In the Chronicles it is said he had only four thousand; and this some commentators consider as no disagreement at all: for, say they, the author of the book of Kings speaks of the horses; but the author of the Chronicles of the stalls or stables, which, supposing every one to contain ten horses, amount exactly to the number.

30 And Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the East country.) There were three oriental nations famous for their wisdom and erudition: the Chaldeans, beyond the Euphrates; the Persians beyond the Tigris; and the Arabians, a little to the south of the Euphrates: but whether the Persians were famous for their learning in Solomon's time, is not agreed on by commentators. That the Arabians were remarkable for their wisdom in ancient times is sufficiently evident from the book of Job, who was himself one of that people: and it is very natural to suppose, that as the sons of Noah first settled in Chaldea, the arts and sciences were first propagated there.

32 And his songs were a thousand and five.) None of these compositions were however thought to be divinely inspired, except the Song of Songs, and is therefore the only one joined to the sacred books.

Commentary on Chap. V.

1 And Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon.) That is he sent ambassadors to condole with king Solomon the death of his father, and to congratulate his accession to the throne.

Solomon;

Solomon; and they two made a league together.

13 ¶ And king Solomon raiſed a levy out of all Iſrael: and the levy was thirty thouſand men.

14 And he ſent them to Lebanon, ten thouſand a month, by courſes: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home. And Adoniram was over the levy.

15 And Solomon had threeſcore and ten thouſand that bare burdens, and fourſcore thouſand hewers in the mountains;

16 Beſides the chief of Solomon's officers which were over the work, three thouſand and three hundred, which ruled over the people that wrought in the work.

17 And the king commanded, and they brought great ſtones, coſtly ſtones, and hewed ſtones, to lay the foundation of the houſe.

18 And Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders did hew them, and the ſtone-ſquarers: ſo they prepared timber and ſtones to build the houſe.

CHAP. VI.

1 The building of Solomon's temple. 11 God's promiſe unto it. 37 The time of building it.

AND it came to paſs in the four hundred and fourſcore year after the children of Iſrael were come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Iſrael, in the month Zif, which is the ſecond month, that he began to built the houſe of the Lord.

2 And the houſe which king Solomon built for the Lord, the length thereof was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits.

3 And the porch before the temple of the houſe, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the houſe; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the houſe.

4 And for the houſe he made windows of narrow lights.

5 And againſt the wall of the houſe he built chambers round about, againſt the walls of the houſe round about, both of the temple and of the oracle: and he made chambers round about.

6 The nethermoſt chamber was five cubits broad, and the middle was ſix cubits broad, and the third was ſeven cubits broad: for without in the wall of the houſe he made narrowed reſts round about, that the beams ſhould not be faſtened in the walls of the houſe.

7 And the houſe, when it was in building, was built of ſtone made ready before it was brought thither: ſo that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the houſe while it was in building.

8 The door for the middle chamber was in the right ſide of the houſe: and they went up with winding ſtairs into the middle chamber, and out of the middle into the third.

9 So he built the houſe, and finiſhed it; and covered the houſe with beams and boards of cedar.

10 And then he built chambers againſt all the houſe five cubits high; and they reſted on the houſe with timber of cedar.

11 ¶ And the word of the Lord came to Solomon, ſaying,

12 Concerning this houſe which thou art in building, if thou wilt walk in my ſtatutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandents to walk in them: then will I perform my word with thee which I ſpake unto David thy father:

13 And I will dwell among the children of Iſrael, and will not forſake my people Iſrael.

14 So Solomon built the houſe and finiſhed it.

15 And he built the walls of the houſe within with boards of cedar, both the floor of the houſe, and the walls of the cieling: and he covered them on the inſide with wood, and covered the floor of the houſe with planks of fir.

16 And he built twenty cubits on the ſides of the houſe, both the floor and the walls with boards of cedar: he even built them for it within, even for the oracle, even for the moſt holy place.

17 And the houſe, that is the temple before it, was forty cubits long.

18 And the cedar of the houſe within was carved with knops and open flowers: all was cedar; there was no ſtone ſeen.

19 And the oracle he prepared in the houſe within to ſet there the ark of the covenant of the Lord.

20 And the oracle in the forepart was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in the height thereof: and he overlaid it with pure gold; and ſo covered the altar which was of cedar.

21 So Solomon overlaid the houſe within with pure gold: and he made a partition by the chains of gold before the oracle; and he overlaid it with gold.

22 And the whole houſe he overlaid with gold, until he had finiſhed all the houſe: alſo the whole altar that was by the oracle he overlaid with gold.

23 And within the oracle he made two cherubims of olive-tree, each ten cubits high.

24 And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub; and five cubits the other wing of the cherub; from the uttermoſt part of the one wing, unto the uttermoſt part of the other were ten cubits.

25 And the other cherub was ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one meaſure and one ſize.

26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and ſo was it of the other cherub.

27 And he ſet the cherubims within the inner houſe: and they ſtretched forth the wings of the cherubims: ſo that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall: and their wings touched one another in the midſt of the houſe.

28 And he overlaid the cherubims with gold.

29 And he carved all the walls of the houſe round about with carved figures of cherubims and palm-trees and open flowers, within and without.

30 And the floor of the houſe he overlaid with gold, within and without.

15 Fourſcore thouſand hewers in the mountains.) That is, hewers of ſtones; for the timber was hewed by Hiram's ſervants. It may ſeem ſtrange, that ſo many men ſhould be employed in building ſo ſmall a place as the temple: but we muſt conſider, there were many other works which Solomon finiſhed (ix. 15.) the materials of which were probably prepared here.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VI.

4 And for the houſe he made windows of narrow lights.) Or, as it is in the margin, broad within and narrow without; by which means the houſe was better ſecured from the weather, and at the ſame time had ſufficient light.

12 Concerning this houſe, which thou art in building, &c.) The Jews tell us, that theſe words were ſpoken to Solomon by the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite, to forewarn him, that notwithſtanding the ſtrength of the foundation of the temple, it ſhould ſoon be deſtroyed, unleſs he and the people of Iſrael took care to obſerve the commandments of the Lord, and walk in his ways.

16 Even for the oracle, even for the moſt holy place.) We have here an explanation of what is meant by the houſe in the preceeding verſes: and ſurely this part beſt deſerved to be ſtiled the houſe, as the Divine Glory dwelt there, and from whence God gave anſwers when he was conſulted.

31 And for the entering of the oracle he made doors of olive-tree: the lintel and ſide-poſts were a fifth part of the wall,

32 The two doors alſo were of olive-tree; and he carved upon them carvings of cherubims and palm-trees and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold, and ſpread gold upon the cherubims, and upon the palm-trees.

33 So alſo made he for the door of the temple, poſts of olive-tree a fourth part of the wall.

34 And the two doors were of fir-tree: the two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding.

35 And he carved thereon cherubims and palm-trees and open flowers; and covered them with gold fitted upon the carved work.

36 And he built the inner court with three rows of hewed ſtone, and a row of cedar beams.

37 ¶ In the fourth year was the foundation of the houſe of the Lord laid, in the month Zif.

38 And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, was the houſe finiſhed throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the faſhion of it. So was he ſeven years in building it.

CHAP. VII.

1 The building of Solomon's houſe, 2 of the houſe of Lebanon, 8 of the houſe for Pharaoh's daughter. 13 Hiram's works.

BUT Solomon was building his own houſe thirteen years, and he finiſhed all his houſe.

2 ¶ He built alſo the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon: the length thereof was an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar-pillars, with cedar beams upon the pillars.

3 And it was covered with cedar above upon the beams, that lay on forty-five pillars, fifteen in a row.

4 And there were windows in three rows, and light was againſt light in three ranks.

5 And all the doors and poſts were ſquare with the windows: and light was againſt light in three ranks.

6 And he made a porch of pillars; the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth thereof thirty cubits: and the porch was before them; and the other pillars and the thick beam were before them.

7 Then he made a porch for the throne where he might judge, even the porch of judgment; and it was covered with cedar from one ſide of the floor to the other.

8 ¶ And his houſe where he dwelt had another court within the porch which was of the like work. Solomon made alſo an houſe for Pharaoh's daughter, whom he had taken to wife, like unto this porch.

9 All theſe were of coſtly ſtones, according to the meaſures of hewed ſtones, ſawed with ſaws within and without, even from the foundation unto the coping, and ſo on the outſide toward the great court.

10 And the foundation was of coſtly ſtones, even great ſtones, ſtones of ten cubits, and ſtones of eight cubits.

11 And above were coſtly ſtones, after the meaſures of hewed ſtone, and cedars.

12 And the great court round about was with three rows of hewed ſtones, and a row of cedar beams, both for the inner court of the houſe of the Lord, and for the porch of the houſe.

13 ¶ And king Solomon ſent and fetched Hiram out of Tyre.

14 He was a widow's ſon of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in braſs: and he was filled with wiſdom and underſtanding, and cunning to work all works in braſs. And he came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.

15 For he caſt two pillars of braſs, of eighteen cubits high apiece; and a line of twelve cubits did compaſs either of them about.

16 And he made two chapiters of molten braſs to ſet upon the tops of the pillars: the height of the one chapiter was five cubits, and the height of the other chapiter was five cubits.

17 And nets of checker-work, and wreaths of chain-work, for the chapiters which were upon the top of the pillars; ſeven for the one chapiter, and ſeven for the other chapiter.

18 And he made the pillars, and two rows round about upon the one net-work to cover the chapiters that were upon the top with pomegranates; and ſo did he for the other chapiter.

19 And the chapiters that were upon the top of the pillars were of lily-work in the porch, four cubits.

20 And the chapiters upon the two pillars had pomegranates alſo above, over againſt the belly which was by the net-work; and the pomegranates were two hundred, in rows round about upon the other chapiter.

21 And he ſet up the pillars in the porch of the temple: and he ſet up the right pillar, and called the name thereof Jachin: and he ſet up the left pillar, and called the name thereof Boaz.

22 And upon the top of the pillars was lily-work. So was the work of the pillars finiſhed.

23 And he made a molten ſea ten cubits from the one brim to the other: it was round all about, and his height was five cubits; and a line of thirty cubits did compaſs it round about.

24 And under the brim of it round about there were knops compaſſing it ten in a cubit, compaſſing the ſea round about; the knops were caſt in two rows when it was caſt.

25 It ſtood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the weſt, and three looking toward the ſouth, and three looking toward the 38 So he was ſeven years in building it.) He was ſeven years and a half; but the leſſer number is omitted, as is uſual in the ſacred writings. And it muſt be owned, when all things are conſidered, that Solomon made extraordinary diſpatch; for though the temple itſelf was but a ſmall edifice, yet the ſeveral courts and offices that were about it, rendered the whole a vaſt pile of building. The temple of Diana at Epheſus is ſaid to have employed all Aſia two hundred years: and Pliny affirms, that one of the Egyptian pyramids employed no leſs than three hundred and ſixty thouſand men for twenty years together; and ſurely no reaſonable man can wonder that this temple was ſeven years and a half in building.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VII.

1 But Solomon was building his own houſe thirteen years.) He did not begin to build his own houſe, till he had finiſhed the temple of God, that nothing might delay that holy work: this appears from chap. ix. 10, where it is ſaid he was twenty years in finiſhing both theſe ſtructures.

15 For he caſt two pillars of braſs eighteen cubits high a piece.) In the Chronicles it is ſaid, that theſe pillars were thirty-five cubits high; but this relates to the height of them both together, without their pedeſtals; whereas the height of each is given here with its pedeſtal.

21 And he ſet up the pillars in the porch of the temple, &c.) It is generally thought that theſe pillars were made and erected for ornament only, becauſe they ſupported no building; but others are of opinion, that Solomon placed them here as ſymbols of the pillar of the cloud, and the pillar of fire that conducted the Iſraelites through the wilderneſs.

eaſt: and the ſea was ſet above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

26 And it was a hand-breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies; it contained two thouſand baths.

27 And he made ten baſes of braſs; four cubits was the length of one baſe, and four cubits the breadth thereof, and three cubits the height of it.

28 And the work of the baſes was on this manner: they had borders, and the borders were between the ledges:

29 And on the borders that were between the ledges were lions, oxen, and cherubims: and upon the ledges there was a baſe above: and beneath the lions and oxen were certain additions made of thin work.

30 And every baſe had four braſen wheels, and plates of braſs; and the four corners thereof had underſetters: under the laver were underſetters molten, at the ſide of every addition.

31 And the mouth of it within the chapiter and above was a cubit: but the mouth thereof was round after the work of the baſe, a cubit and an half; and alſo upon the mouth of it were gravings with their borders four-ſquare, not round.

32 And under the borders were four wheels; and the axle-trees of the wheels were joined to the baſe, and the height of a wheel was a cubit and half a cubit.

33 And the work of the wheels was like the work of a chariot-wheel; their axle-trees and their naves and their felloes and their ſpokes were all molten.

34 And there were four underſetters to the four corners of one baſe: and the underſetters were of the very baſe itſelf.

35 And in the top of the baſe was there a round compaſs of half a cubit high: and on the top of the baſe the ledges thereof and the borders thereof were of the ſame.

36 For on the plates of the ledges thereof and on the borders thereof he graved cherubims, lions, and palm-trees according to the proportion of every one, and additions round about.

37 After this manner he made the ten baſes: all of them had one caſting, one meaſure, and one ſize.

38 Then made he ten lavers of braſs: one laver contained forty baths; and every laver was four cubits: and upon every one of the ten baſes one laver.

39 And he put five baſes on the right ſide of the houſe, and five on the left ſide of the houſe; and he ſet the ſea on the right ſide of the houſe eaſtward, over againſt the ſouth.

40 ¶ And Hiram made the lavers, and the ſhovels, and the baſons: ſo Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he made king Solomon for the houſe of the Lord;

41 The two pillars, and the two bowls of the chapiters that were on the top of the two pillars; and the two net-works, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters which were upon the top of the pillars;

42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two net-works, even two rows of pomegranates for one net-work, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters that were upon the pillars;

43 And the ten baſes, and ten lavers on the baſes;

44 And one ſea, and twelve oxen under the ſea:

45 And the pots, and the ſhovels, and the baſons: and all theſe veſſels, which Hiram made to king Solomon for the houſe of the Lord, were of bright braſs.

46 In the plain of Jordan did the king caſt them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zarthan.

47 And Solomon left all the veſſels unweighed, becauſe they were exceeding many: neither was the weight of the braſs found out.

48 And Solomon made all the veſſels that pertained unto the houſe of the Lord; the altar of gold, and the table of gold, whereupon the ſhew-bread was.

49 And the candleſticks of pure gold, five on the right ſide, and five on the left, before the oracle, with the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs of gold,

50 And the bowls, and the ſnuffers, and the baſons, and the ſpoons, and the cenſers, of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner houſe, the moſt holy place, and for the doors of the houſe, to wit, of the temple.

51 So was ended all the work that king Solomon made for the houſe of the Lord. And Solomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated; even the ſilver, and the gold, and the veſſels did he put among the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The dedication of the temple. 12, 15 Solomon's bleſſing. 22 His prayer. 62 His ſacrifice of peace offerings.

THEN Solomon aſſembled the elders of Iſrael, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Iſrael, unto king Solomon in Jeruſalem, that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Zion.

2 And all the men of Iſrael aſſembled themſelves unto king Solomon, at the feaſt in the month Ethanim, which is the ſeventh month.

3 And all the elders of Iſrael came, and the prieſts took up the ark.

4 And they brought up the ark of the Lord, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy veſſels that were in the tabernacle, even thoſe did the prieſts and the Levites bring up.

5 And king Solomon, and all the congregation of Iſrael, that were aſſembled unto him, were with him before the ark, ſacrificing ſheep and oxen, that could not be told nor numbered for multitude.

6 And the prieſts brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, into the oracle of the houſe, to the moſt holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims.

7 For the cherubims ſpread forth their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark, and the ſtaves thereof, above.

8 And they drew out the ſtaves, that the ends of the ſtaves were ſeen out in the holy place before the oracle, and they were not ſeen without: and there they are unto this day.

---

26 It contained two thouſand baths.) A bath was the ſame with the ephah, and contained eight gallons; ſo that this molten ſea held ſixteen thouſand gallons.

COMMENTARY on Chap. VIII.

2 All the men of Iſrael aſſembled themſelves unto king Solomon---in the month Ethanim.) This happened at the feaſt of tabernacles, which was appointed in commemoration of the children of Iſrael's dwelling in tents, while they wandered in the wilderneſs, and of the tabernacle, which at that time was built, where God promiſed to meet them, to dwell among them, and to ſanctify the place with his glory; and conſequently, might be well thought a very proper ſeaſon for the dedication of the temple, which was to ſucceed in the tabernacle's place.

9 There was nothing in the ark ſave the two tables of ſtone, which Moſes put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Iſrael, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10 ¶ And it came to paſs, when the prieſts were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the houſe of the Lord,

11 So that the prieſts could not ſtand to miniſter becauſe of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the houſe of the Lord.

12 Then ſpake Solomon, The Lord ſaid that he would dwell in the thick darkneſs.

13 I have ſurely built thee an houſe to dwell in, a ſettled place for thee to abide in for ever.

14 And the king turned his face about, and bleſſed all the congregation of Iſrael: (and all the congregation of Iſrael ſtood;)

15 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, which ſpake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, ſaying,

16 Since the day that I brought forth my people Iſrael out of Egypt, I choſe no city out of all the tribes of Iſrael to build an houſe, that my name might be therein: but I choſe David to be over my people Iſrael.

17 And it was in the heart of David my father to build an houſe for the name of the Lord God of Iſrael.

18 And the Lord ſaid unto David my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an houſe unto my name, thou didſt well that it was in thine heart.

19 Nevertheleſs, thou ſhalt not build the houſe: but thy ſon that ſhall come forth out of thy loins, he ſhall build the houſe unto my name.

20 And the Lord hath performed his word that he ſpake, and I am riſen up in the room of David my father, and ſit on the throne of Iſrael, as the Lord promiſed, and have built an houſe for the name of the Lord God of Iſrael.

21 And I have ſet there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And Solomon ſtood before the altar of the Lord in the preſence of all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands toward heaven:

23 And he ſaid, Lord God of Iſrael, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepeſt covenant and mercy with thy ſervants that walk before thee with all their heart;

24 Who haſt kept with thy ſervant David my father that thou promiſedſt him: thou ſpakeſt alſo with thy mouth, and haſt fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

25 Therefore now, Lord God of Iſrael, keep with thy ſervant David my father that thou promiſedſt him, ſaying, There ſhall not fail thee a man in my ſight to ſit on the throne of Iſrael; ſo that thy children take heed to their way, that they walk before me, as thou haſt walked before me.

26 And now, O God of Iſrael, let thy word, I pray thee, be verified, which thou ſpakeſt unto thy ſervant David my father.

27 But will God indeed dwell on the earth! Behold, the heaven, and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much leſs this houſe that I have builded?

28 Yet have thou reſpect unto the prayer of thy ſervant, and to his ſupplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and to the prayer which thy ſervant prayeth before thee to-day:

29 That thine eyes may be open toward this houſe night and day, even toward the place of which thou haſt ſaid, My name ſhall be there; that thou mayeſt hearken unto the prayer which thy ſervant ſhall make toward this place.

30 And hearken thou to the ſupplication of thy ſervant, and of thy people Iſrael, when they ſhall pray toward this place; and hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place; and when thou heareſt, forgive.

31 If any man treſpaſs againſt his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to cauſe him to ſwear, and the oath come before thine altar in this houſe:

32 Then hear thou in heaven, and do, and judge thy ſervants, condemning the wicked, to bring his way upon his head; and juſtifying the righteous, to give him according to his righteouſneſs.

33 When thy people Iſrael be ſmitten down before the enemy, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee, and ſhall turn again to thee, and confeſs thy name, and pray, and make ſupplication unto thee in this houſe:

34 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy people Iſrael, and bring them again unto the land which thou gaveſt unto their fathers

35 When heaven is ſhut up, and there is no rain, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee; if they pray to-

10 The cloud filled the houſe of the Lord.) By this ſign God declared his acceptance of the building, and the furniſhing of the temple as a ſervice done to his name; at the ſame time declaring, that as the glory of the ark, that ſacred ſymbol of his preſence, had been long eclipſed by its frequent removals and mean habitations, ſo now his pleaſure was, that it ſhould be looked upon with the ſame eſteem and veneration as when Moſes firſt conducted it into the tabernacle: For this cloud was not a heavy, thick, opaque body, ſuch as is engendered in the air, and ariſes from vapours and exhalations; but a cloud that was dark and luminous at the ſame time, whoſe darkneſs was aweful and majeſtic, and whoſe internal part was bright and refulgent, darting its rays and exhibiting its light through its obſcurity: ſo that according to its different phaſis or poſition, it became to the Iſraelites, a pillar of a cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night, to direct them in their journey, and enlighten their paths. Whatever it was that conſtituted this ſtrange appearance, it is certain that this mixture of light and darkneſs was conſidered as a ſymbol of the Divine Preſence; for the holy Pſalmiſt informs us, that He, who dwelleth in light that is inacceſſible, made darkneſs his ſecret place, his pavilion round about him, with dark water and thick clouds to cover him, Pſ. xviii. 11.

27 Behold! the heaven, and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee, how much leſs this houſe that I have builded?) Behold! the heaven: the ſpacious concave of the firmament: that wide-extended azure circumference, in which worlds unnumbered perform their revolutions; is too ſcanty an apartment for the Godhead---Nay, the heaven of heavens: thoſe vaſtly higher tracts which lie far beyond the limits of human ſurvey, to which our very thoughts can hardly ſoar; even theſe, unbounded as they are, cannot afford an adequate habitation for Jehovah; even theſe dwindle into a point, when compared with the infinity of his eſſence; even theſe are as nothing before him: How much leſs the houſe I have builded? How poorly diminutive is the ſpeck I have erected, and how far beneath ſo auguſt a preſence, ſo immenſe a majeſty!

33 When thy people Iſrael---pray and make ſupplication unto thee in this houſe.) It is doubtleſs the ſame thing to God in whatever place we pray, provided we pray with a pious mind and a devout heart, and make the ſubject of our prayers ſuch things as he hath permitted us to aſk; but it was not conſiſtent with the preſervation of the Jewiſh ſtate and religion, that God ſhould be publickly worſhipped in every place: for as the Jews were on every ſide ſurrounded with idolaters, led away with divers ſuperſtitions, and all ignorant of the true God, it was highly neceſſary, that in all divine matters there ſhould be a ſtrict union between them all, both in heart and voice; and conſequently, that they ſhould all meet together in one place to worſhip God, leſt they ſhould run into parties, and fall into idolatry, as was really the caſe when the kingdom was divided. And, therefore, tho' Solomon well knew that in every place God was ready to hear the prayers of every devout ſupplicant, yet, for the preſervation of peace and unity, he was deſirous of inſpiring the people that God would be found more propitious to the prayers that were offered in the temple at Jeruſalem, and thereby excite them to frequent that rather than any other place.

ward this place, and confeſs thy name, and turn from their ſin, when thou afflicteſt them:

36 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy ſervants, and of thy people Iſrael, that thou teach them the good way wherein they ſhould walk, and give rain upon thy land which thou haſt given to thy people for an inheritance.

37 If there be in the land famine, if there be peſtilence, blaſting, mildew, locuſt, or if there be caterpiller; if their enemy beſiege them in the land of their cities, whatſoever plague, whatſoever ſickneſs there be:

38 What prayer and ſupplication ſoever be made by any man, or by all thy people Iſrael, which ſhall know every man the plague of his own heart, and ſpread forth his hands toward this houſe:

39 Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways, whoſe heart thou knoweſt; (for thou, even thou only, knoweſt the hearts of all the children of men;)

40 That they may fear thee all the days that they live in the land which thou gaveſt unto our fathers.

41 Moreover, concerning a ſtranger, that is not of thy people Iſrael, but cometh out of a far country for thy name's ſake;

42 (For they ſhall hear of thy great name, and of thy ſtrong hand, and of thy ſtretched out arm;) when he ſhall come and pray toward this houſe:

43 Hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and do according to all that the ſtranger calleth to thee for: that all people of the earth may know thy name, to fear thee, as do thy people Iſrael; and that they may know that this houſe which I have builded is called by thy name.

44 If thy people go out to battle againſt their enemy, whitherſoever thou ſhalt ſend them, and ſhall pray unto the Lord toward the city which thou haſt choſen, and toward the houſe that I have built for thy name;

45 Then hear thou in heaven their prayer and their ſupplication, and maintain their cauſe.

46 If they ſin againſt thee, (for there is no man that ſinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, ſo that they carry them away captives unto the land of the enemy far or near:

47 Yet if they ſhall bethink themſelves in the land whither they were carried captives, and repent, and make ſupplication unto thee in the land of them that carried them captives, ſaying, We have ſinned, and have done perverſely, we have committed wickedneſs:

48 And ſo return unto thee with all their heart, and with all their ſoul, in the land of their enemies which led them away captive, and pray unto thee toward their land which thou gaveſt unto their fathers, the city which thou haſt choſen, and the houſe that I have built for thy name:

49 Then hear thou their prayer and their ſupplication in heaven thy dwelling-place, and maintain their cauſe,

50 And forgive thy people that have ſinned againſt thee, and all their tranſgreſſions wherein they have tranſgreſſed againſt thee, and give them compaſſion before them who carried them captive, that they may may have compaſſion on them:

51 For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughteſt forth out of Egypt, from the midſt of the furnace of iron:

52 That thine eyes may be open unto the ſupplication of thy ſervant, and unto the ſupplication of thy people Iſrael, to hearken unto them in all that they call for unto thee.

53 For thou didſt ſeparate them from among all the people of the earth, to be thine inheritance, as thou ſpakeſt by the hand of Moſes thy ſervant, when thou broughteſt our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.

54 ¶ And it was ſo, that when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and ſupplication unto the Lord, he aroſe from before the altar of the Lord, from kneeling on his knees with his hands ſpread up to heaven.

55 And he ſtood and bleſſed all the congregation of Iſrael with a loud voice, ſaying, 56 Bleſſed be the Lord, that hath given reſt unto his people Iſrael, according to all that he promiſed: there hath not failed one word of all his good promiſe, which he promiſed by the hand of Moſes his ſervant.

57 The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us nor forſake us:

58 That he may incline our hearts unto him, to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his ſtatutes, and his judgments, which he commanded our fathers.

59 And let theſe my words wherewith I have made ſupplication before the Lord, be nigh unto the Lord our God day and night, that he maintain the cauſe of his ſervant, and the cauſe of his people Iſrael at all times, as the matter ſhall require:

60 That all the people of the earth may know that the Lord is God, and that there is none elſe.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfect with the Lord our God, to walk in his ſtatutes, and to keep his commandments, as at this day.

62 And the king, and all Iſrael with him, offered ſacrifice before the Lord.

63 And Solomon offered a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which he offered unto the Lord, two and twenty thouſand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thouſand ſheep. So the king and all the children of Iſrael dedicated the houſe of the Lord.

64 The ſame day did the king hallow the middle of the court that was before the houſe of the Lord: for there he offered burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings: becauſe the braſen altar that was before the Lord was too little to receive the burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings.

65 And at that time Solomon held a feaſt, and all Iſrael with him, a great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt, before the Lord our God, ſeven days and ſeven days, even fourteen days.

66 On the eight day he ſent the people away; and they bleſſed the king, and went unto their tents, joyful and glad of heart, for all the goodneſs that the Lord had done for David his ſervant, and for Iſrael his people.

48 And ſo return to thee with all their heart, and all their ſoul. In theſe and the foregoing words, he gives a full deſcription of true repentance: which begins in the ſerious reflection which men make upon their paſt lives, and the preſent miſeries into which their ſins have brought them: which begets an unfeigned ſorrow and reſolution of amendment, with earneſt ſupplication for mercy and grace; confeſſing their unworthineſs, and condemning themſelves for their ſins, which they relinquiſh with joy, and become ſincere converts to the ſervice of God.

63 Two and twenty thouſand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thouſand ſheep.) We are not to ſuppoſe that all theſe were offered in one day, much leſs on one altar. The continuance of this meeting was fourteen days, ſeven in the feaſt of tabernacles, and ſeven in that of the dedication; and becauſe the braſen altar before the door of the temple was not ſufficient to receive all theſe ſacrifices, Solomon, as we find in the following verſes, erected others on this occaſion in the court of the prieſts, having doubtleſs received a ſpecial licence from God for that purpoſe.

CHAP.

1 Kings C.X.
V. 1. & 2.
SOLOMON and the QUEEN of SHEBA

CHAP. IX.

1 God's covenant in a vision with Solomon. 10 The mutual presents of Solomon and Hiram. 25 Solomon's yearly sacrifices.

AND it came to pass when Solomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all Solomon's desire which he was pleased to do.

2 That the Lord appeared to Solomon the second time, as he had appeared unto him at Gibeon.

3 And the Lord said unto him, I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication that thou hast made before me, I have hallowed this house which thou hast built, to put my name there for ever; and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

4 And if thou wilt walk before me as David thy father walked, in integrity of heart and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded thee, and wilt keep my statutes and my judgments:

5 Then I will establish the throne of thy kingdom upon Israel for ever, as I promised unto David thy father, saying, There shall not fail thee a man upon the throne of Israel.

6 But if ye shall at all turn from following me, ye or your children, and will not keep my commandments and my statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them:

7 Then will I cut off Israel out of the land which I have given them: and this house which I have hallowed for my name will I cast out of my sight; and Israel shall be a proverb and a by-word among all people:

8 And at this house which is high, every one that passeth by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss: and they shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus unto this land, and to this house?

9 And they shall answer, Because they forsook the Lord their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them; therefore hath the Lord brought upon them all this evil.

10 ¶ And it came to pass at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the two houses the house of the Lord, and the king's house,

11 (Now Hiram the king of Tyre had furnished Solomon with cedar-trees, and fir-trees, and with gold, according to all his desire,) that then king Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him; and they pleased him not.

13 And he said, What cities are these which thou hast given me my brother? And he called them the land of Cabul unto this day.

14 And Hiram sent to the king fixscore talents of gold.

15 ¶ And this is the reason of the levy which king Solomon raised, for to build the house of the Lord, and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer.

16 For Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up and taken Gezer, and burnt it with fire, and slain the Canaanites that dwelt in the city, and given it for a present unto his daughter, Solomon's wife.

17 And Solomon built Gezer, and Beth-horon the nether,

18 And Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land,

19 And all the cities of store that Solomon had, and cities for his chariots, and cities for his horsemen, and that which Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

20 ¶ And all the people that were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Israel, 21 Their children that were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel also were not able utterly to destroy, upon those did Solomon levy a tribute of bond-service unto this day.

22 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no bondmen; but they were men of war, and his servants, and his princes, and his captains, and rulers of his chariots, and his horsemen.

23 These were the chief of the officers that were over Solomon's work, five hundred and fifty, which bare rule over the people that wrought in the work.

24 But Pharaoh's daughter came up out of the city of David unto her house which Solomon had built for her: then did he build Millo.

25 ¶ And three times in a year did Solomon offer burnt-offerings and peace-offerings upon the altar which he built unto the Lord, and he burnt incense upon the altar that was before the Lord: so he finished the house.

26 And king Solomon made a navy of ships in Ezion-geber, which is beside Eloth, on the shore of the Red-sea, in the land of Edom.

27 And Hiram sent in the navy his servants, shipmen that had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon.

28 And they came to Ophir, and fetched from thence gold, four hundred and twenty talents, and brought it to king Solomon.

AND when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord,

COMMENTARY on Chap. IX.

3 Mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.) By his eyes and his heart he means his gracious providence, and his tender love and affection should always have a regard to what was done there.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities---and they pleased him not.) The reason was, because the Tyrians were wholly addicted to trade and merchandise, and therefore would not remove from the sea-shore, where they were so commodiously situated for that purpose, to live in a soil which was fat and deep and consequently required a great deal of labour to cultivate it, which was a business they were little accustomed to. But though Hiram did not approve of these cities, the friendship was not in the least impaired between him and Solomon, who doubtless satisfied him some other way.

18 And Tadmor in the wilderness.) This city was by the Greeks called Palmyra, and stood in the wilderness of Syria, upon the borders of Arabia Deserta, inclining towards the Euphrates. The ruins which still remain of this city abundantly demonstrate, that it was one of the fairest and most magnificent in the East; and it is something surprising, that history should give us no account either when or by whom this city was reduced to that deplorable condition wherein it lies at this day.

COMMENTARY on Chap. X.

1 And when the queen of Sheba.) Some are of opinion that this queen came from Aljemin, which lay on the borders of the Red-sea, in the southern part of Arabia Felix: And hence our Saviour calls her the queen of the south. And this seems probable, because it abounded in precious stones, spices, and gold, which they fetched from Ophir, the presents she brought to Solomon. This place ſhe came to prove him with hard queſtions.

2 And ſhe came to Jeruſalem with a very great train, with camels that bare ſpices, and very much gold, and precious ſtones: and when ſhe was come to Solomon, ſhe communed with him of all that was in her heart.

3 And Solomon told her all her queſtions: there was not any thing hid from the king, which he told her not.

4 And when the queen of Sheba had ſeen all Solomon's wiſdom, and the houſe that he had built,

5 And the meat of his table, and the ſetting of his ſervants, and the attendance of his miniſters, and their apparel, and his cup-bearers, and his aſcent by which he went up unto the houſe of the Lord, there was no more ſpirit in her.

6 And ſhe ſaid to the king, It was a true report that I heard in mine own land of thy acts and of thy wiſdom.

7 Howbeit I believed not the words, until I came, and mine eyes had ſeen it: and behold the half was not told me: thy wiſdom and proſperity exceedeth the fame which I heard.

8 Happy are thy men, happy are theſe thy ſervants, which ſtand continually before thee, and that hear thy wiſdom.

9 Bleſſed be the Lord thy God, which delighted in thee, to ſet thee on the throne of Iſrael: becauſe the Lord loved Iſrael for ever, therefore made he thee king, to do judgment and juſtice.

10 And ſhe gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of ſpices very great ſtore, and precious ſtones. There came no more ſuch abundance of ſpices as theſe which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.

11 And the navy alſo of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great plenty of almug-trees, and precious ſtones.

12 And the king made of the almug-trees pillars for the houſe of the Lord, and for the king's houſe, harps alſo and pſalteries for ſingers. There came no ſuch almug-trees, nor were ſeen unto this day.

13 And king Solmon gave unto the queen of Sheba all her deſire whatſoever ſhe aſked, beſides that which Solomon gave her of his royal bounty. So ſhe turned and went to her own country, ſhe and her ſervants.

14 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was ſix hundred threeſcore and ſix talents of gold.

15 Beſide that he had of the merchantmen, and of the traffick of the ſpice merchants, and of all the kings of Arabia, and of all the governors of the country.

16 And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: ſix hundred ſhekels of gold went to one target.

17 And he made three hundred ſhields of beaten gold: three pound of gold went to one ſhield. And the king put them in the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon.

18 Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with the beſt gold.

19 The throne had ſix ſteps, and the top of the throne was round behind: and there were ſtays on either ſide on the place of the ſeat, and two lions ſtood beſide the ſtays.

20 And twelve lions ſtood there on the one ſide and on the other upon the ſix ſteps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.

21 And all king Solomon's drinking veſſels were of gold, and all the veſſels of the houſe of the foreſt of Labanon were of pure gold; none were of ſilver: it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

22 For the king had at ſea a navy of Tharſhiſh, with the navy of Hiram. Once in three years came the navy of Tharſhiſh, bringing gold, and ſilver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

23 So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth for riches and for wiſdom.

24 And all the earth ſought to Solomon, to hear his wiſdom, which God had put in his heart.

25 And they brought every man his preſent, veſſels of ſilver, and veſſels of gold, and garments, and armour, and ſpices, horſes, and mules, a rate year by year.

26 And Solomon gathered together chariots, and horſemen: and he had a thouſand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thouſand horſemen, whom he beſtowed in the cities for chariots, and with the king at Jeruſalem.

27 And the king made ſilver to be in Jeruſalem as ſtones, and cedars made he to be as the ſycamore trees that are in the vale for abundance.

28 And Solomon had horſes brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.

29 And a chariot came up and went out of Egypt for ſix hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and an horſe for an hundred and fifty; and ſo for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, did they bring them out by their means.

CHAP. XI.

1 Solomon's wives and concubines, 4 in his old age, draw him to adultery. 9 God threatneth him.

BUT king Solomon loved many ſtrange women, (together with the daughter of Pharaoh,) women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites; will alſo agree with what our Saviour ſays, that ſhe came from the ends of the earth; as there is no land beyond the Sabæans in Arabia, their country being on one ſide bounded by the Indian ocean.

9 Bleſſed be the Lord thy God, &c.) This verſe contains an excellent admonition both to the people and to the king: ſhe directs the former to think themſelves highly obliged to God, who had given them ſuch a king; and the latter, to think that God made him king, in order to govern his people juſtly.

18 The king made a great throne of ivory.) We never read of ivory till about the time of Solomon, who either brought elephants from India, or imported great quantities of ivory from thence; for in after-ages we read of ivory beds, and ivory palaces, &c. It was however, as precious as gold in his time.

29 And a chariot came up, &c.) In order to underſtand the ſenſe of this verſe, it muſt be obſerved, that a toll or cuſtom was anciently paid to the kings of Egypt, for all horſes and chariots that were brought out of that kingdom; namely ſix hundred ſhekels of ſilver for a chariot, and an hundred and fifty for a horſe. But Solomon prevailed on his father-in law, the king of Egypt, not to demand this tribute of the Iſraelites, and accept a yearly tax inſtead of it. By this means they were enabled to ſell the horſes and chariots they brought out of Egypt to the Hittites and Syrians, much cheaper than they could purchaſe them in Egypt.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XI.

7 But king Solomon loved many ſtrange women.) Hitherto we have ſeen nothing in Solomon but what was truly great; but the latter actions of his life ſadly tarniſh his character. For he gave himſelf up to the love of ſtrange women, who were deſcended from idolatrous nations, and not proſelyted to the Jewiſh religion. By this means Solomon committed two ſins againſt the law; one in multiplying wives, and another in marrying thoſe of ſtrange nations who ſtill retained their idolatry.

ſhall they come in unto you: for ſurely they will turn away your heart after their gods. Solomon clave unto theſe in love.

3 And he had ſeven hundred wives, princeſſes, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.

4 ¶ For it came to paſs, when Solomon was old, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.

5 For Solomon went after Aſhtoreth, the goddeſs of the Zidonians, and after Milcom, the abomination of the Ammonites.

6 And Solomon did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and went not fully after the Lord, as did David his father.

7 Then did Solomon build an high-place for Chemoſh, the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Jeruſalem; and for Molech, the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8 And likewiſe did he for all his ſtrange wives, which burnt incenſe and ſacrificed unto their gods.

9 ¶ And the Lord was angry with Solomon, becauſe his heart was turned from the Lord God of Iſrael, which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he ſhould not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the Lord commanded.

11 Wherefore the Lord ſaid unto Solomon, Foraſmuch as this is done of thee, and thou haſt not kept my covenant, and my ſtatutes, which I have commanded thee, I will ſurely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy ſervant.

12 Notwithſtanding, in thy days I will not do it, for David thy father's ſake: but I will rend it out of the hand of thy ſon.

13 Howbeit, I will not rend away all the kingdom; but will give one tribe to thy ſon for David my ſervant's ſake, and for Jeruſalem's ſake, which I have choſen.

14 And the Lord ſtirred up an adverſary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite: he was of the king's ſeed in Edom.

15 For it came to paſs, when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the hoſt, was gone up to bury the ſlain, after he had ſmitten every male in Edom,

16 (For ſix months did Joab remain there with all Iſrael, until he had cut off every male in Edom,)

17 That Hadad fled, he, and certain Edomites of his father's ſervants with him, to go into Egypt; Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they aroſe out of Midian, and came to Paran: and they took men with them out of Paran, and they came to Egypt, unto Pharaoh king of Egypt; which gave him an houſe, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land.

19 And Hadad found great favour in the ſight of Pharaoh, ſo that he gave him to wife the ſiſter of his own wife, the ſiſter of Tahpenes the queen.

20 And the ſiſter of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his ſon, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's houſe: and Genubath was in Pharaoh's houſhold among the ſons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David ſlept with his fathers, and that Joab, the captain of the hoſt, was dead, Hadad ſaid to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country.

22 Then Pharaoh ſaid unto him, But what haſt thou lacked with me, that behold, thou ſeekeſt to go to thine own country? And he anſwered, Nothing: howbeit, let me go in any wiſe.

23 And God ſtirred him up another adverſary, Rezon, the ſon of Eliadah, which fled from his lord Hadadezer, king of Zobah.

24 And he gathered men unto him, and became captain over a band, when David ſlew them of Zobah. And they went to Damaſcus, and dwelt therein, and reigned in Damaſcus.

25 And he was an adverſary to Iſrael all the days of Solomon, beſide the miſchief that Hadad did: and he abhorred Iſrael, and reigned over Syria.

26 And Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, an Ephrathite of Zereda, Solomon's ſervant, whoſe mother's name was Zeruah, a widow woman, even he lifted up his hand againſt the king.

27 And this was the cauſe that he lifted up his hand againſt the king: Solomon built Millo, and repaired the breaches of the city of David his father.

28 And the man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valour: and Solomon ſeeing the young man that he was induſtrious, he made him ruler over all the charge of the houſe of Joſeph.

29 And it came to paſs at that time when Jeroboam went out of Jeruſalem, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him in the way: and he had clad himſelf with a new garment: and they two were alone in the field.

30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was on him, and rent it in twelve pieces.

31 And he ſaid to Jeroboam, Take thee ten pieces: for thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee:

32 (But he ſhall have one tribe for my ſervant David's ſake, and for Jeruſalem's ſake, the city which I have choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael:)

33 Becauſe that they have forſaken me, and have worſhipped Aſhtoreth, the goddeſs of the Zidonians, Chemoſh, the god of the Moabites, and Milcom, the god of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in my ways, to do that which is right in mine eyes, and to

---

4 When Solomon was old---his wives turned away his heart after other gods.) He had indulged himſelf in pleaſures of every kind, whereby he had weakened both his body and mind: and age now coming on him, he began to incline to other gods, which he ſuffered his wives to worſhip at firſt privately, but at laſt to exerciſe openly the rites of their own country. It is aſtoniſhing that a perſon of Solomon's wiſdom, who had twice converſed with the Almighty himſelf, ſhould be perſuaded by his wives to forſake the religion in which he had been ſo well inſtructed, and which he was ſo fully convinced to have been delivered to Moſes by that Omnipotent Being who had brought the Iſraelites from a land of bondage, placed him on the throne of David, and inſpired him with that wiſdom which rendered him famous in every corner of the earth.

27 Solomon built Millo.) It is ſaid to be one reaſon, why the Iſraelites revolted from Rehoboam, that his father had built Millo, that is, Solomon had laid very heavy taxes upon the people, to enable him to defray the expences of his great works, and of this of Millo among the reſt.

30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was on him, and rent it in twelve pieces.) This is the firſt ſymbolical action we meet with in any prophet; but in after-ages inſtances of this kind became more frequent. Thus Jeremiah made himſelf bonds and yokes, and put them upon his neck, to ſignify the near approaching captivity of Jeruſalem, Jer. xxvii. 2. Iſaiah, to denote the captivity of Egypt and Ethiopia, walked naked, that is, without his upper garment, and bare-foot for three years, in the ſtreets, Iſaiah xx. 2, 3. Ezekiel, to make the people ſenſible that they were to be carried away into a ſtrange land, was ordered to make a breach in the wall of his houſe, and through that to remove his houſhold goods in the day time, Ezek. xii. 2, 3. And the like practice continued under the goſpel; for Agabus having bound his hands and feet with Paul's girdle, told the company, that ſo ſhould the Jews at Jeruſalem bind the man to whom it belonged, Acts xxi. 11.

keep my ſtatutes and my judgments, as did David his father.

34 Howbeit, I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand; but I will make him prince all the days of his life, for David my ſervant's ſake, whom I choſe, becauſe he kept my commandments and my ſtatutes.

35 But I will take the kingdom out of his ſon's hand, and will give it unto thee, even ten tribes.

36 And unto his ſon will I give one tribe, that David my ſervant may have a light alway before me in Jeruſalem, the city which I have choſen me to put my name there.

37 And I will take thee, and thou ſhalt reign according to all that thy ſoul deſireth, and ſhalt be king over Iſrael.

38 And it ſhall be, if thou wilt hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do that is right in my ſight, to keep my ſtatutes and my commandments, as David my ſervant did: that I will be with thee, and build thee a ſure houſe, as I built for David, and will give Iſrael unto thee.

39 And I will for this afflict the ſeed of David, but not for ever.

40 Solomon ſought therefore to kill Jeroboam. And Jeroboam aroſe, and fled into Egypt, unto Shiſhak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

41 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wiſdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon?

42 And the time that Solomon reigned in Jeruſalem over all Iſrael was forty years.

43 ¶ And Solomon ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XII.

1 Rehoboam refuſing the old men's counſel, 16 ten tribes revolt.

AND Rehoboam went to Shechem: for all Iſrael were come to Shechem to make him king.

2 And it came to paſs, when Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, who was yet in Egypt, heard of it, (for he was fled from the preſence of king Solomon, and Jeroboam dwelt in Egypt,)

3 That they ſent and called him: and Jeroboam and all the congregation of Iſrael came and ſpake unto Rehoboam, ſaying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous: now, therefore, make thou the grievous ſervice of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will ſerve thee.

5 And he ſaid unto them, Depart yet for three days, then come again to me. And the people departed.

6 ¶ And king Rehoboam conſulted with the old men that ſtood before Solomon his father, while he yet lived, and ſaid, How do ye adviſe? that I may anſwer this people.

7 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, If thou wilt be a ſervant unto this people, this day, and wilt ſerve them, and anſwer them, and ſpeak good words to them, then they will be thy ſervants for ever.

8 But he forſook the counſel of the old men, which they had given him, and conſulted with the young men that were grown up with him, and which ſtood before him;

9 And he ſaid unto them, What counſel give ye? that we may anſwer this people who have ſpoken to me, ſaying, Make the yoke which thy father did put upon us lighter.

10 And the young men that were grown up with him ſpake unto him, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou ſpeak unto this people that ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us: thus ſhalt thou ſay unto them, My little finger ſhall be thicker than my father's loins.

11 And now, whereas my father did lade you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke: my father hath chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, ſaying, Come to me again the third day.

13 And the king anſwered the people roughly, and forſook the old men's counſel that they gave him:

14 And ſpake to them after the counſel of the young men, ſaying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke: my father alſo chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

15 Wherefore the king hearkened not unto the people. For the cauſe was from the Lord, that he might perform his ſaying which the Lord ſpake by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat.

16 ¶ So when all Iſrael ſaw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people anſwered the king, ſaying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe: to your tents, O Iſrael: now ſee to thine houſe, David. So Iſrael departed unto their tents.

17 But as for the children of Iſrael which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then king Rehoboam ſent Adoram, who was over the tribute; and all Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones, that he died. Therefore king Rehoboam made ſpeed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jeruſalem.

19 So Iſrael rebelled againſt the houſe of David unto this day.

20 And it came to paſs when all Iſrael heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they ſent and called him unto the congregation, and made him king over all Iſrael: there was none that followed the houſe of David but the tribe of Judah only.

21 And when Rehoboam was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſembled all the houſe of Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin, an hundred and fourſcore thouſand choſen men, 33 The goddeſs of the Zidonians.) The diſtinction of ſex among the Pagan gods could not be introduced till the deification of mortals. It was therefore wrong to bring into the tranſlation of the Bible a notion, which was at that time a ſtranger to Paganiſm itſelf; and for which there is no foundation in the Hebrew text.

40 Solomon ſought therefore to kill Jeroboam.) It has been aſked, how Solomon knew this ſecret tranſaction between Ahijah and Jeroboam? But it is very natural to think, that the prophet himſelf made no ſcruple of reporting what he had delivered in the name of the Lord. Perhaps Jeroboam, puffed up with this aſſurance, divulged it to ſome of his friends, who ſpread the report in Jeruſalem.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XII.

1 Rehoboam went to Shechem.) Among the Iſraelites a multitude of children was accounted the greateſt bleſſing: but Solomon, if he had many more, beſides this ſon and two daughters, the ſacred hiſtorian would not do him the honour to mention them: nor has he even here acquainted us with the woman from whom Rehoboam was deſcended; but in the concluſion of his reign, he tells us, that her name was Naamah, and that ſhe was an Ammoniteſs.

8 Conſulted with the young men that were grown up with him.) It was a common cuſtom among the kings of the Eaſt to have their ſons educated among other young lords of the ſame age, which as it created a generous ſpirit of emulation, and both endeared the prince to the nobles, and the nobles to the prince, muſt greatly tend to the benefit of the public. So that Solomon's method and deſign in the education of his ſon were wiſe and well-concerted, though they failed of ſucceſs.

men, which were warriors, to fight againſt the houſe of Iſrael, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon.

22 But the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God, ſaying.

23 Speak unto Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon king of Judah, and unto all the houſe of Judah and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, ſaying,

24 Thus ſaith the Lord, Ye ſhall not go up, nor fight againſt your brethren, the children of Iſrael: return every man to his houſe: for this thing is from me. They hearkened therefore to the word of the Lord, and returned to depart, according to the word of the Lord.

25 Then Jeroboam built Shechem in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein: and went out from thence and built Penuel.

26 And Jeroboam ſaid in his heart, Now ſhall the kingdom return to the houſe of David:

27 If this people go up to do ſacrifice in the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, then ſhall the heart of this people turn again unto their lord, even unto Rehoboam king of Judah, and they ſhall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah.

28 Whereupon the king took counſel and made two calves of gold, and ſaid unto them, It is too much for you to go up to Jeruſalem: behold thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

29 And he ſet the one in Beth-el, and the other put he in Dan.

30 And this thing became a ſin: for the people went to worſhip before the one, even unto Dan.

31 And he made an houſe of high-places, and made prieſts of the loweſt of the people, which were not of the ſons of Levi.

32 And Jeroboam ordained a feaſt in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like unto the feaſt that is in Judah, and he offered upon the altar, (ſo did he in Beth-el,) ſacrificing unto the calves that he had made: and he placed in Beth-el the prieſts of the high-places which he had made.

33 So he offered upon the altar which he had made in Beth-el, the fifteenth day of the eighth month, even in the month which he had deviſed of his own heart; and ordained a feaſt unto the children of Iſrael; and he offered upon the altar, and burned incenſe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Jeroboam's hand withereth, 6 and at the prayer of the prophet is reſtored. 23 The diſobedient prophet is ſlain by a lion. 33 Jeroboam's obſtinacy.

AND behold, there came a man of God out of Judah by the word of the Lord unto Beth-el: and Jeroboam ſtood by the altar to burn incenſe.

2 And he cried againſt the altar in the word of the Lord, and ſaid, O altar, altar, thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, a child ſhall be born unto the houſe of David, Joſiah by name; and upon thee ſhall he offer the prieſts of the high places that burn incenſe upon thee, and men's bones ſhall be burned upon thee.

3 And he gave a ſign the ſame day, ſaying, This is the ſign which the Lord hath ſpoken: Behold, the altar ſhall be rent, and the aſhes that are upon it ſhall be poured out.

4 And it came to paſs, when king Jeroboam heard the ſaying of the man of God, which had cried againſt the altar in Beth-el, that he put forth his hand from the altar, ſaying, Lay hold on him. And his hand which he put forth againſt him dried up, ſo that he could not pull it in again to him.

5 The altar alſo was rent, and the aſhes poured out from the altar, according to the ſign which the man of God had given by the word of the Lord.

6 ¶ And the king anſwered and ſaid unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the Lord thy God, and pray for me, that my hand may be reſtored me again. And the man of God beſought the Lord, and the king's hand was reſtored him again, and became as it was before.

7 And the king ſaid unto the man of God, Come home with me, and refreſh thyſelf, and I will give thee a reward.

8 And the man of God ſaid unto the king, If thou wilt give me half thine houſe, I will not go in with thee, neither will I eat bread nor drink water in this place:

9 For ſo was it charged me by the word of the Lord, ſaying, Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the ſame way that thou cameſt.

10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Beth-el.

11 Now there dwelt an old prophet in Beth-el, and his ſons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Beth-el: the words which he had ſpoken unto the king, them they told alſo to their father.

12 And their father ſaid unto them, What way went he? for his ſons had ſeen what way the man of God went which came from Judah.

13 And he ſaid unto his ſons, Saddle me the aſs. So they ſaddled him the aſs; and he rode thereon,

14 And went after the man of God, and found him ſitting under an oak: and he ſaid unto him, Art thou the man of God that cameſt from Judah? and he ſaid, I am.

15 Then he ſaid unto him, Come home with me and eat bread.

16 And he ſaid, I may not return with thee, nor go in with thee; neither will I eat bread nor drink water with thee in this place.

17 For it was ſaid to me by the word of the Lord, Thou ſhalt eat no bread nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou cameſt.

18 He ſaid unto him, I am a prophet alſo as thou art and an angel ſpake unto me by the word of the Lord,

31 And made prieſts of the loweſt of the people, which were not of the ſons of Levi.) The words properly ſignify out of all people; that is, he made all that were willing prieſts, be their tribe and family what it would: indeed the Levites refuſed to act in theſe idolatrous practices, as we learn from 2 Chron. xi. 14, and therefore he was obliged to have recourſe to others. But as they refuſed to ſerve as prieſts in the high places, ſo he expelled them his kingdom, and ſeized on their cities and lands. Thus he eaſed his people from paying tythes, there being none to demand them; and not only transferred the kingdom from the houſe of David, but alſo the prieſthood from the houſe of Aaron.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIII.

2 Behold, a child ſhall be born unto the houſe of David, Joſiah by name.) The prophet ſaw the future tranſactions of the deſcendants of Jacob as if they were preſent; and though this prophecy was not fulfilled till above three hundred and ſixty years after, yet this man of God foretells it with all its circumſtances, points out the family, and even the very name of the perſon who was to perform it.

9 Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the ſame way that thou cameſt.) The reaſon why this prophet was forbidden to eat or drink with the people of Bethel is obvious, becauſe he was to have no familiarity with idolaters; but why he was not to return by the ſame way he came, is not ſo evident: Some think that the reaſon for this command, was to prevent the prophet's receiving any harm from the inhabitants of Bethel, who, in revenge for his ſevere denunciations againſt their altar and worſhip, might lay wait for him on the road, had he taken that by which he came.

Lord, ſaying, Bring him back with thee into thine houſe, that he may eat bread, and drink water. But he lyed unto him.

19 So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his houſe, and drank water.

20 ¶ And it came to paſs as they ſat at the table, that the word of the Lord came unto the prophet that brought him back:

21 And he cried unto the man of God that came from Judah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Foraſmuch as thou haſt diſobeyed the mouth of the Lord, and haſt not kept the commandment which the Lord thy God commanded thee,

22 But cameſt back, and haſt eaten bread and drunk water in the place of the which the LORD did ſay to thee, Eat no bread, and drink no water; thy carcaſe ſhall not come unto the ſepulchre of thy fathers.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he ſaddled for him the aſs, to wit, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

24 And when he was gone, a lion met him by the way, and ſlew him; and his carcaſe was caſt in the way, and the aſs ſtood by it, the lion alſo ſtood by the carcaſe.

25 And, behold, men paſſed by, and ſaw the carcaſe caſt in the way, and the lion ſtanding by the carcaſe: and they came and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

26 And when the prophet that brought him back from the way heard thereof, he ſaid, It is the man of God, who was diſobedient unto the word of the Lord: therefore the Lord hath delivered him unto the lion, which hath torn him, and ſlain him according to the word of the Lord, which he ſpake unto him.

27 And he ſpake to his ſons, ſaying, Saddle me the aſs. And they ſaddled him.

28 And he went and found his carcaſe caſt in the way, and the aſs and the lion ſtanding by the carcaſe: the lion had not eaten the carcaſe, nor torn the aſs.

29 And the prophet took up the carcaſe of the man of God, and laid it upon the aſs, and brought it back. And the old prophet came to the city, to mourn, and to bury him.

30 And he laid his carcaſe in his own grave: and they mourned over him, ſaying, Alas, my brother!

31 And it came to paſs after he had buried him, that he ſpake to his ſons, ſaying, When I am dead, then bury me in the ſepulchre wherein the man of God is buried; and lay my bones beſide his bones:

32 For the ſaying which he cried by the word of the Lord againſt the altar in Beth-el, and againſt all the houſes of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria, ſhall ſurely come to paſs.

33 ¶ After this thing Jeroboam returned not from his evil way, but made again of the loweſt of the people prieſts of the high places; whoſoever would, he conſecrated him, and he became one of the prieſts of the high places.

34 And this thing became ſin unto the houſe of Jeroboam, even to cut it off, and to deſtroy it from off the face of the earth.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Abijah being ſick, Jeroboam ſendeth his wife diſguiſed with preſents to the prophet Ahijah at Shiloh. 5 Ahijah forewarned, denounceth God's judgments.

AT that time Abijah the ſon of Jeroboam fell ſick.

2 And Jeroboam ſaid to his wife, Ariſe, I pray thee, and diſguiſe thyſelf, that thou be not known to be the wife of Jeroboam; and get thee to Shiloh: behold, there is Ahijah the prophet, which told me that I ſhould be king over this people.

3 And take with thee ten loaves, and cracknels, and a cruſe of honey, and go to him: he ſhall tell thee what ſhall become of the child.

4 And Jeroboam's wife did ſo, and aroſe, and went to Shiloh; and came to the houſe of Ahijah: but Ahijah could not ſee, for his eyes were ſet by reaſon of his age.

5 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Ahijah, Behold, the wife of Jeroboam cometh to aſk a thing of thee for her ſon, for he is ſick: thus and thus ſhalt thou ſay unto her; for it ſhall be when ſhe cometh in, that ſhe ſhall feign herſelf to be another woman.

6 And it was ſo, when Ahijah heard the ſound of her feet as ſhe came in at the door, that he ſaid, Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam; why feigneſt thou thyſelf to be another? for I am ſent to thee with heavy tidings.

7 Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Foraſmuch as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people Iſrael,

8 And rent the kingdom away from the houſe of David, and gave it thee; and yet thou haſt not been as my ſervant David, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart, to do that only which was right in mine eyes;

9 But haſt done evil above all that were before thee: for thou haſt gone and made thee other gods, and molten images, to provoke me to anger, and haſt caſt

28 And he went and found his carcaſe caſt in the way, and the aſs and the lion ſtanding by the carcaſe, &c.) We have here a cluſter of miracles: the lion, contrary to his nature, neither eats the carcaſe, tears the aſs, meddles with the travellers that paſs by, nor hurts the old prophet and his aſs. Nor is this all: the aſs on which the man of God rode remains quietly, without ſeeming to regard the lion, which ſtands to guard the body, till this ſtrange account is carried into the city, and the old prophet arrives at the ſpot. All this was doubtleſs done to convince the people, that the man of God was not ſlain by accident, but that the lion had been directed by a ſupernatural power.

31 Lay my bones beſide his bones.) The reaſon of this requeſt of the prophet ſeems to be, that hearing what the prophet from Judah had foretold againſt the altar in Beth-el, viz. that men's bones ſhould be burnt upon it, he was deſirous that his bones ſhould be unmoleſted, and therefore requeſted to be buried in the ſame ſepulchre; accordingly we read, 2 Kings, chap. xxiii. 16, 17, that Joſiah burnt the bones out of the ſepulchres, but when he came to the grave of the man of God from Judah, he ſaid, Let him alone, let no man move his bones---ſo they let him alone, &c. And thus the LXX underſtood it, for they add at the end of the verſe, That my bones may be ſafe with his bones.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XIV.

6 Why feigneſt thou thyſelf to be another?) The reaſon why Jeroboam ſent his own wife to conſult the prophet at Shiloh, was to keep the whole tranſaction an inviolable ſecret; for had it been divulged, his whole government might have been in danger: becauſe it is natural to think, if his ſubjects came to underſtand that he put no confidence in the golden calves he had ſet up, but on the contrary, had in any matter of importance, recourſe to the worſhippers of Jehovah, they would forſake theſe ſenſeleſs idols, and return to the true worſhip of the God of Iſrael, whom they had ſo imprudently forſaken. The queen then was the only perſon he could place this confidence in; as a mother, he knew ſhe would be diligent in her enquiry; and as a wife, faithful in her report; but there are many reaſons why he might deſire her to diſguiſe herſelf: he knew that the prophet Ahijah was greatly offended at him for the groſs idolatry he had introduced; and therefore he thought, as he juſtly might, that, if the prophet had perceived her to be his wife, he would either tell her nothing, or make things worſe than they really were: but it is ſurprizing that he could be ſo far infatuated as to think, that the perſon who was capable of foretelling the fate of his me behind thy back;

10 Therefore, behold, I will bring evil upon the houſe of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam him that piſſeth againſt the wall, and him that is ſhut up and left in Iſrael, and will take away the remnant of the houſe of Jeroboam, as a man taketh away dung, till it be all gone.

11 Him that dieth of Jeroboam in the city ſhall the dogs eat; and him that dieth in the field ſhall the fowls of the air eat: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

12 Ariſe thou therefore, get thee to thine own houſe; and when thy feet enter into the city the child ſhall die.

13 And all Iſrael ſhall mourn for him, and bury him; for he only of Jeroboam ſhall come to the grave, becauſe in him there is found ſome good thing toward the Lord God of Iſrael in the houſe of Jeroboam.

14 Moreover, the Lord ſhall raiſe him up a king over Iſrael, who ſhall cut off the houſe of Jeroboam that day: but what? even now.

15 For the Lord ſhall ſmite Iſrael as a reed is ſhaken in the water, and he ſhall root up Iſrael out of this good land which he gave to their fathers, and ſhall ſcatter them beyond the river, becauſe they have made their groves, provoking the Lord to anger.

16 And he ſhall give Iſrael up, becauſe of the ſins of Jeroboam, who did ſin, and who made Iſrael to ſin.

17 And Jeroboam's wife aroſe and departed, and came to Tirzah: and when ſhe came to the threſhold of the door, the child died;

18 And they buried him, and all Iſrael mourned for him, according to the word of the Lord which he ſpake by the hand of his ſervant Ahijah the prophet.

19 And the reſt of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned were two and twenty years: and he ſlept with his fathers, and Nadab his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

21 And Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned ſeventeen years in Jeruſalem, the city which the Lord did chooſe out of all the tribes of Iſrael to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammoniteſs.

22 And Judah did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and they provoked him to jealouſy with their ſins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done.

23 For they alſo built them high places, and images, and groves on every high hill, and under every green tree.

24 And there were alſo ſodomites in the land: and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the Lord caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

25 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of king Rehoboam that Shiſhak king of Egypt came up againſt Jeruſalem:

26 And he took away the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and the treaſures of the king's houſe; he even took away all: and he took away all the ſhields of gold which Solomon had made.

27 And king Rehoboam made in their ſtead braſen ſhields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the guard, which kept the door of the king's houſe.

28 And it was ſo, when the king went into the houſe of the Lord, that the guard bare them, and brought them back into the guard chamber.

29 Now the reſt of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

30 But there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days.

31 And Rehoboam ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammoniteſs. And Abijam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XV.

1 Abijam's wicked reign. 8 Aſa ſucceedeth him. 24 He dying, Jehoſhaphat ſucceedeth. 33 Baaſha's wicked reign.

NOW in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, reigned Abijam over Judah.

2 Three years reigned he in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abiſhalom.

3 And he walked in all the ſins of his father, which he had done before him: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as the heart of David his father.

4 Nevertheleſs, for David's ſake did the Lord his God give him a lamp in Jeruſalem, to ſet up his ſon after him, and to eſtabliſh Jeruſalem;

5 Becauſe David did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, and turned not aſide from any thing that he commanded him all the days of his life, ſave only in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.

6 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.

7 Now the reſt of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

8 And Abijam ſlept with his fathers; and they buried him in the city of David; and Aſa his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

9 ¶ And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Iſrael reigned Aſa over Judah.

10 And forty and one years reigned he in Jeruſalem: and his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abiſhalom.

ſon, ſhould not at the ſame time be able to ſee through this fraud and diſguiſe. The prophet, however, does not wait for her to deliver the meſſage with which ſhe was charged, but cried out, on her entering the houſe, Come in thou wife of Jeroboam, &c.

19 Behold they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael.) We are not to underſtand here the book in our Bibles called Chronicles; but a large book kept for recording all the tranſactions of each reign, and from whence the ſacred hiſtorian extracted the account we have of Jeroboam's reign.

26 And he took away the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, &c.) Theſe prodigious treaſures, in all probability, were a great incitement to Shiſhak to undertake this expedition: and hence we may learn what little dependence can be laid on riches. Theſe treaſures, which David and Solomon had amaſſed, were, in five years after Solomon's death, carried into Egypt. So true is the obſervation of the wiſe man, that riches make themſelves wings, and fly away, as an eagle towards heaven.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XV.

1 Now in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam---reigned Abijam over Judah.) This ſeems to diſagree with what is ſaid, ver. 9, concerning Aſa, who, we are told, began his reign in the twentieth year of Jeroboam, and reigned three years. But it ſhould be remembered, that it is common, both in ſcripture and other authors, to reckon part for a whole year. So Abijam began to reign in ſome part of Jeroboam's eighteenth year, continued his reign the whole nineteenth, and died in the twentieth, and was thence reckoned to have reigned three years.

11 And Aſa did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, as did David his father.

12 And he took away the Sodomites out of the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.

13 And alſo Maachah his mother, even her he removed from being queen, becauſe ſhe had made an idol in a grove: and Aſa deſtroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brook Kidron.

14 But the high places were not removed: nevertheleſs, Aſa his heart was perfect with the Lord all his days.

15 And he brought in the things which his father had dedicated, and the things which himſelf had dedicated, into the houſe of the Lord, ſilver, and gold, and veſſels.

16 And there was war between Aſa and Baaſha king of Iſrael all their days.

17 And Baaſha king of Iſrael went up againſt Judah, and built Ramah, that he might not ſuffer any to go out or come in to Aſa king of Judah.

18 Then Aſa took all the ſilver and the gold that were left in the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and the treaſures of the king's houſe, and delivered them into the hand of his ſervants: and king Aſa ſent them to Ben-hadad, the ſon of Tabrimon, the ſon of Hezion, king of Syria, that dwelt at Damaſcus, ſaying,

19 There is a league between me and thee, and between my father and thy father: behold, I have ſent unto thee a preſent of ſilver and gold: come, and break thy league with Baaſha king of Iſrael, that he may depart from me.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Aſa, and ſent the captains of the hoſts which he had againſt the cities of Iſrael, and ſmote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-beth-maacha, and all Cinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.

21 And it came to paſs, when Baaſha heard thereof, that he left off building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.

22 Then king Aſa made a proclamation throughout all Judah; none was exempted; and they took away the ſtones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baaſha had builded; and king Aſa built with them Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.

23 The reſt of all the acts of Aſa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built; are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? nevertheleſs, in the time of his old age he was diſeaſed in his feet.

24 And Aſa ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Jehoſhaphat his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

25 ¶ And Nadab the ſon of Jeroboam, began to reign over Iſrael in the ſecond year of Aſa king of Judah, and reigned over Iſrael two years.

26 And he did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, and in his ſin wherewith he made Iſrael to ſin.

27 ¶ And Baaſha, the ſon of Ahijah, of the houſe of Iſſachar, conſpired againſt him: and Baaſha ſmote him at Gibbethon, which belongeth to the Philiſtines; (for Nadab and all Iſrael laid ſiege to Gibbethon;)

28 Even in the third year of Aſa king of Judah did Baaſha ſlay him, and reigned in his ſtead.

29 And it came to paſs, when he reigned, that he ſmote all the houſe of Jeroboam; he left not to Jeroboam any that breathed, until he had deſtroyed him, according unto the ſaying of the Lord, which he ſpake by his ſervant Ahijah the Shilonite:

30 Becauſe of the ſins of Jeroboam which he ſinned, and which he made Iſrael ſin, by his provocation wherewith he provoked the Lord God of Iſrael to anger.

31 Now the reſt of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

32 And there was war between Aſa and Baaſha king of Iſrael all their days.

33 In the third year of Aſa king of Judah, began Baaſha, the ſon of Ahijah, to reign over all Iſrael in Tirzah, twenty and four years.

34 And he did evil in the ſight of the Lord, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his ſin wherewith he made Iſrael to ſin.

CHAP XVI.

1 Jehu's prophecy againſt Baaſha. 8 Zimri's conſpiracy. 29 Ahab's wicked reign. 34 Joſhua's curſe upon Hiel the rebuilder of Jericho fulfilled.

THEN the word of the Lord came to Jehu, the ſon of Hanani, againſt Baaſha, ſaying,

2 Foraſmuch as I exalted thee out of the duſt, and made thee prince over my people Iſrael, and thou haſt walked in the way of Jeroboam, and haſt made my people Iſrael to ſin, to provoke me to anger with their ſins:

3 Behold, I will take away the poſterity of Baaſha, and the poſterity of his houſe; and will make thy houſe like the houſe of Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat.

4 Him that dieth of Baaſha in the city ſhall the dogs eat; and him that dieth of his in the fields ſhall the fowls of the air eat.

5 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Baaſha, and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

6 So Baaſha ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah. And Elah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

7 And alſo by the hand of the prophet Jehu the ſon of Hanani came the word of the Lord againſt Baaſha, and againſt his houſe, even for all the evil that he did in the ſight of the Lord, in provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the houſe of Jeroboam; and becauſe he killed him.

8 ¶ In the twenty and ſixth year of Aſa king of Judah began Elah, the ſon of Baaſha, to reign over Iſrael in Tirzah, two years.

9 And his ſervant Zimri (captain of half his chariots) conſpired againſt him as he was in Tirzah, drinking himſelf drunk in the houſe of Arza, ſteward of his houſe in Tirzah.

18 Then Aſa took all the ſilver and the gold, &c.) In caſes of extreme danger, it was always held lawful to employ ſacred things in the defence of one's country; but there was no neceſſity here. God had appeared wonderfully againſt a much more powerful enemy than Baaſha, and therefore he ought to have confided in him for help, as the prophet Hanani told him, 2 Chron. xvi. 7, &c.

28 Even in the third year of Aſa king of Judah, did Baaſha ſlay him, and reigned in his ſtead.) What was the pretence for this conſpiracy we are no where told; but it is probable he had many aſſiſtants in it: for otherwiſe we cannot well conceive how he could ſlay him, when he was in the midſt of his army at Gibbethon.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVI.

2 Foraſmuch as I exalted thee out of the duſt, &c. His acceſſion to the kingdom was from a divine decree, but the form and manner of it was from himſelf, from his own ambition and coveteouſneſs; and as it was wicked and cruel, is therefore charged upon him as a wilful murder, ver. 7.

10 And

I. Kings XVII
V. 6.
ELIJAH fed by y.e Ravens.

10 And Zimri went in and ſmote him, and killed him, in the twenty and ſeventh year of Aſa king of Judah, and reigned in his ſtead.

11 And it came to paſs when he began to reign, as ſoon as he ſat on his throne, that he ſlew all the houſe of Baaſha: he left him not one that piſſeth againſt a wall, neither of his kinſfolks nor of his friends.

12 Thus did Zimri deſtroy all the houſe of Baaſha, according to the word of the Lord which he ſpake againſt Baaſha by Jehu the prophet;

13 For all the ſins of Baaſha, and the ſins of Elah his ſon, by which they ſinned, and by which they made Iſrael to ſin, in provoking the Lord God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities.

14 Now the reſt of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

15 In the twenty and ſeventh year of Aſa king of Judah, did Zimri reign ſeven days in Tirzah. And the people were encamped againſt Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philiſtines.

16 And the people that were encamped heard ſay, Zimri hath conſpired and hath alſo ſlain the king: wherefore all Iſrael made Omri, the captain of the hoſt, king over Iſrael that day in the camp.

17 And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Iſrael with him, and they beſieged Tirzah.

18 And it came to paſs when Zimri ſaw that the city was taken, that he went into the palace of the king's houſe and burnt the king's houſe over him with fire, and died,

19 For his ſins which he ſinned in doing evil in the ſight of the Lord in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his ſin which he did to make Iſrael ſin.

20 Now the reſt of the acts of Zimri, and his treaſon that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

21 Then were the people of Iſrael divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath, to make him king; and half followed Omri.

22 But the people that followed Omri prevailed againſt the people that followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath. So Tibni died, and Omri reigned.

23 In the thirty and firſt year of Aſa king of Judah began Omri to reign over Iſrael twelve years: ſix years reigned he in Tirzah.

24 And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer for two talents of ſilver, and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill, Samaria.

25 But Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the Lord, and did worſe than all that were before him.

26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, and in his ſin wherewith he made Iſrael to ſin, to provoke the Lord God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities.

27 Now the reſt of the acts of Omri, which he did, and his might that he ſhewed are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

28 So Omri ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria: and Ahab his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

29 ¶ And in the thirty and eighth year of Aſa king of Judah, began Ahab, the ſon of Omri to reign over Iſrael: and Ahab the ſon of Omri, reigned over Iſrael in Samaria twenty and two years.

30 And Ahab the ſon of Omri did evil in the ſight of the Lord above all that were before him.

31 And it came to paſs, as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the ſins of Jeroboam, the ſon of Nebat, that he took to wife Jezebel, the daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Zidonians, and went and ſerved Baal, and worſhipped him.

32 And he reared up an altar for Baal in the houſe of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a grove; and Ahab did more to provoke the Lord God of Iſrael to anger than all the kings of Iſrael that were before him.

34 ¶ In his days did Hiel the Beth-elite build Jericho: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his firſt-born, and ſet up the gates thereof in his youngeſt ſon Segub, according to the word of the Lord which he ſpake by Joſhua, the ſon of Nun.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Elijah propheſying againſt Ahab, is ſent to Cherith, where the ravens feed him. 8 He is ſent to the widow of Zarephath. 17 He raiſeth the widow's ſon.

AND Elijah the Tiſhbite, who was of the inhabitants of Gilead, ſaid unto Ahab, As the Lord God of Iſrael liveth, before whom I ſtand, there ſhall not be dew nor rain theſe years, but according to my word.

2 And the word of the Lord came unto him, ſaying,

3 Get the hence, and turn thee eaſtward, and hide thyſelf by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.

4 And it ſhall be, that thou ſhalt drink of the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.

5 So he went, and did according unto the word of the Lord: for he went and dwelt by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.

6 And the ravens brought him bread and fleſh in the morning, and bread and fleſh in the evening; and

10 And Zimri went in and ſmote him, &c.) Thus was the vengeance threatened againſt him executed ſpeedily; his houſe being ſoon made, according to the word of the Lord, like the houſe of Jeroboam. For as Nadab the ſon of Jeroboam reigned only two years, ſo Elah the ſon of Baaſha reigned no more; and as Nadab was killed with the ſword, ſo alſo was Elah: Thus was there a remarkable ſimilarity between Jeroboam and Baaſha, in their lives and in their deaths, in their ſons and in their family.

26 He walked in all the way of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, &c.) Though he had ſeen Elah and the whole houſe of Baaſha deſtroyed by his predeceſſor for their idolatry, and Zimri himſelf periſhed in the ſame ſin, yet he perſiſted in their iniquity, and brought down the wrath of God upon him, and upon his family, as the foregoing kings had done.

34 In his days did Hiel the Beth-elite build Jericho, &c.) He was either ignorant that Jericho was devoted to God, as the firſt fruits of the conqueſt of Canaan, and therefore never to be rebuilt; or ſo impious as not to regard the words of Joſhua: but he found, to his coſt, that the ſentence that great general pronounced on the rebuilder of Jericho proved true; for his eldeſt ſon died when he laid the firſt ſtone of it, and ſo all the reſt of his children, one after another, as the building advanced, till at laſt his youngeſt ſon died when it was finiſhed. A moſt remarkable inſtance of the certainty of divine threatnings, and that God never forgets what he hath ſaid, but continues always the ſame. This ſentence was pronounced above four hundred and forty years before, but was now executed in all its circumſtances; which might have been a warning to the whole nation, not to deſpiſe the long ſuffering and patience of God, who, though he had not yet carried them out of their good land, according to the word of Ahijah, would certainly do it, if they continued in their impenitence.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVII.

1 And Elijah the Tiſhbite.) The great care God ſtill ſhewed for his people, notwithſtanding the many ſins they had committed to provoke him to anger, was ſo remarkable, that in every king's reign, form the firſt to the laſt, there was one prophet at leaſt to inſtruct, admoniſh, and correct them. And now, in the reign of Ahab, when idolatry was carried to its higheſt pitch, God raiſed up an extraordinary prophet to call the Iſraelites to repentance. He is called the Tiſhbite, from Thiſbe, a town on the other ſide of Jordan, in the tribe of Gad, where he was born.

he drank of the brook.

7 And it came to paſs after a while, that the brook dried up, becauſe there had been no rain in the land.

8 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto him, ſaying.

9 Ariſe, get thee to Zarephath, which belongeth to Zidon, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded a widow woman there to ſuſtain thee.

10 So he aroſe, and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of ſticks; and he called to her, and ſaid, Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a veſſel, that I may drink.

11 And as ſhe was going to fetch it, he called to her, and ſaid, Bring me, I pray thee, a morſel of bread in thine hand.

12 And ſhe ſaid, As the Lord thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruiſe; and, behold, I am gathering two ſticks, that I may go in, and dreſs it for me and my ſon, that we may eat it, and die.

13 And Elijah ſaid unto her, Fear not: go, and do as thou haſt ſaid: but make me thereof a little cake firſt, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy ſon.

14 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, The barrel of meal ſhall not waſte, neither ſhall the cruiſe of oil fail, until the day that the Lord ſendeth rain upon the earth.

15 And ſhe went, and did according to the ſaying of Elijah: and ſhe, and he, and her houſe did eat many days.

16 And the barrel of meal waſted not, neither did the cruiſe of oil fail, according to the word of the Lord which he ſpake by Elijah.

17 And it came to paſs after theſe things, that the ſon of the woman, the miſtreſs of the houſe, fell ſick: and his ſickneſs was ſo ſore that there was no breath left in him.

18 And ſhe ſaid unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my ſin to remembrance, and to ſlay my ſon?

19 And he ſaid unto her, Give me thy ſon. And he took him out of her boſom, and carried him up into a loft where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed.

20 And he cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord my God, haſt thou alſo brought evil upon the widow with whom I ſojourn, by ſlaying her ſon?

21 And he ſtretched himſelf upon the child three times, and cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord my God, I pray thee, let this child's ſoul come into him again.

22 And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the ſoul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the houſe, and delivered him unto his mother: and Elijah ſaid, See, thy ſon liveth.

24 And the woman ſaid to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is truth.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Elijah meeteth Obadiah. 17 He reproveth Ahab, and convinceth Baal's prophets. 41 He obtaineth rain.

AND it came to paſs, after many days, that the word of the Lord came to Elijah in the third year, ſaying, Go ſhew thyſelf unto Ahab, and I will ſend rain upon the earth.

2 And Elijah went to ſhew himſelf unto Ahab. And there was a ſore famine in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah, which was the governor of his houſe. Now Obadiah feared the Lord greatly:

4 For it was ſo when Jezebel cut off the prophets of the Lord, that Obadiah took an hundred prophets, and hid them by fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab ſaid unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto all fountains of water, and unto all brooks peradventure we may find graſs to ſave the horſes, and mules alive, that we loſe not all the beaſts.

6 So they divided the land between them to paſs throughout it; Ahab went one way by himſelf, and Obadiah went another way by himſelf.

7 And as Obadiah was in the way, behold Elijah met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face, and ſaid, Art thou that my lord Elijah?

8 And he anſwered him, I am: go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

9 And he ſaid, What have I ſinned, that thou wouldeſt deliver thy ſervant into the hand of Ahab, to ſlay me?

10 As the Lord thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom whither my lord hath not ſent to ſeek thee: and when they ſaid, He is not there, he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not.

11 And now thou ſayeſt, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs, as ſoon as I am gone from thee, that the Spirit of the Lord ſhall carry thee whither I know not; and ſo, when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee, he ſhall ſlay me; but I thy ſervant fear the Lord from my youth.

13 Was it not told my lord what I did, when Jezebel ſlew the prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundred men of the Lord's prophets, by fifty in a cave, and

6 And the ravens brought him bread and fleſh in the morning, &c.) We have here an evident demonſtration of the power God ſometimes exerts for the ſupport of his ſervants. The ravens are obſerved to be very cruel to their young, forſaking them before they are fledged, and therefore it was truly wonderful that they ſhould feed the prophet. But what cannot omnipotence effect? He gave life to every creature, and therefore can command them to do whatever he pleaſes. Thoſe who object that theſe birds are unclean, and therefore polluted every thing they touched, would do well to remember, that this was done by an extraordinary diſpenſation.

24 Now by this I know that thou art a man of God.) The woman had before ſufficient reaſon to believe that Elijah was a prophet of the Lord, by the miraculous increaſe of the meal and oil; but upon his not curing her ſon when he lay ſick, but rather ſuffering him to die, her faith began to fail. But upon ſeeing him raiſed from the dead, her faith revived with her ſon; and, through the joy of having him reſtored, ſhe conſidered this laſt miracle as much greater than the former.

COMMENTARY on Chap. XVIII.

1 The word of the Lord came to Elijah in the third year.) Both our bleſſed Saviour and St. James tell us, that there was no rain for three years and ſix months. But this difference is eaſily reconciled; for the land of Canaan had rain only twice a year, called the former and the latter rain. It is therefore natural to think, that Ahab imputed the beginning of the draught to natural cauſes; but after waiting ſix months longer, without perceiving any ſigns of rain, and at the ſame time perceiving that the refreſhing dews did not fall as uſual, he began to be enraged at Elijah, as the cauſe of this national judgment: and from this time the years are to be computed: though from the firſt notice that Elijah gave Ahab of his approaching calamity to the concluſion of it, were certainly three years and a half.

fed

fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou ſayeſt, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here: and he ſhall ſlay me.

15 And Elijah ſaid, As the Lord of Hoſts liveth, before whom I ſtand, I will ſurely ſhew myſelf unto him to-day.

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 ¶ And it came to paſs, when Ahab ſaw Elijah, that Ahab ſaid unto him, Art thou he that troubleth Iſrael?

18 And he anſwered, I have not troubled Iſrael, but thou and thy father's houſe, in that ye have forſaken the commandments of the Lord, and thou haſt followed Baalim.

19 Now, therefore, ſend, and gather to me all Iſrael unto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves four hundred, which eat at Jezebel's table.

20 So Ahab ſent unto all the children of Iſrael, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

21 ¶ And Elijah came unto all the people and ſaid, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal then follow him. And the people anſwered him not a word.

22 Then ſaid Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

23 Let them, therefore, give us two bullocks; and let them chooſe one bullock for themſelves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under; and I will dreſs the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under:

24 And call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call upon the name of the Lord: and the god that anſwereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people anſwered and ſaid, It is well ſpoken.

25 And Elijah ſaid unto the prophets of Baal, Chooſe you one bullock for yourſelves, and dreſs it firſt: for ye are many: and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.

26 And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dreſſed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, ſaying, O Baal hear us! But there was no voice, nor any that anſwered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made.

27 And it came to paſs at noon, that Elijah mocked them, and ſaid, Cry aloud: for he is a god; either he is talking, or he is purſuing, or he is in a journey; or peradventure he ſleepeth, and muſt be awaked.

28 And they cried aloud, and cut themſelves after their manner with knives and lancets, till the blood guſhed out upon them.

29 And it came to paſs, when mid-day was paſt, and they propheſied until the time of the offering of the evening ſacrifice, that there was neither voice, nor any to anſwer, nor any that regarded.

30 And Elijah ſaid unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down.

31 And Eliſha took twelve ſtones, according to the number of the tribes of the ſons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the Lord came, ſaying, Iſrael ſhall be thy name:

32 And with the ſtones he built an altar in the name of the Lord: and he made a trench about the altar as great as would contain two meaſures of ſeed,

33 And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and ſaid, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt-ſacrifice, and on the wood.

34 And he ſaid, Do it the ſecond time. And they did it the ſecond time. And he ſaid, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ran round about the altar; and he filled the trench alſo with water.

36 And it came to paſs at the time of the offering of the evening ſacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and ſaid, Lord God of Abraham, Iſaac, and of Iſrael, let it be known this day that thou art God in Iſrael, and that I am thy ſervant, and that I have done all theſe things at thy word.

37 Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the Lord God, and that thou haſt turned their heart back again.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and conſumed the burnt-ſacrifice, and the wood, and the ſtones, and the duſt, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

39 And when all the people ſaw it, they fell on their faces: and they ſaid, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God.

40 And Elijah ſaid unto them, Take the prophets of Baal: let not one of them eſcape. And they took them. And Elijah brought them down to the brook Kiſhon, and ſlew them there.

41 ¶ And Elijah ſaid unto Ahab, Get thee up, eat and drink; for there is a ſound of abundance of rain.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; and he caſt himſelf down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees,

43 And ſaid to his ſervant, Go up now, look toward the ſea. And he went up, and looked, and ſaid, There is nothing. And he ſaid, Go again ſeven times.

44 And it came to paſs, at the ſeventh time, that he ſaid, Behold, there ariſeth a little cloud out of the ſea like a man's hand. And he ſaid, Go up, ſay unto Ahab, Prepare thy chariot and get thee down, that the rain ſtop thee not.

45 And it came to paſs, in the mean while, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode, and went to Jezreel.

46 And the hand of the Lord was on Elijah; and he girded up his loins, and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

13 I hid an hundred men of the Lord's prophets, &c.) Elijah, in his appeal to the people, tells them, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord, ver. 22; and therefore we can hardly imagine, that the hundred perſons preſerved by Obadiah were men actually inſpired, and inveſted with a prophetic character, but ſuch only, as were the diſciples of the prophets, and candidates for that high office. For it is not improbable, that, even in Jezebel's time, there were remaining in Iſrael, ſchools of the prophets, which ſhe endeavoured to deſtroy, together with thoſe who were educated in them, that there might be none remaining to inſtruct the people in the true religion, and manner of worſhipping the God of their fathers.

27 Cry aloud: for he is a god, either he is talking, &c.) There is ſomething very keen and ſarcaſtical in theſe expreſſions of the prophet, which could not fail of highly provoking the idolatrous prieſts, at a time when they began to deſpair of any anſwer from their God, and, in conſequence of that, branded as the miniſters and propagators of a falſe religion.

33 Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt-ſacrifice and on the wood.) This was done by the prophet to render the miracle more conſpicuous and convincing; for it evidently ſhewed there could be no fallacy in in, no fire concealed in or about the altar, but that the lightening which was to conſume the ſacrifice came from heaven, and came at his invocation.

46 He girded up his loins.) They wore long and looſe garments in this country, and therefore girded them up, when they had occaſion to make expedition.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Elijah threatned by Jezebel, 4 is comforted by an angel. 9 God ſendeth him to anoint Hazael, Jehu, and Eliſha. 19 Eliſha followeth Elijah.

AND Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and withal, how he had ſlain all the prophets with the ſword.

2 Then Jezebel ſent a meſſenger unto Elijah, ſaying, So let the gods do to me, and more alſo, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them, by to-morrow about this time.

3 And when he ſaw that he aroſe, and went for his life, and came to Beer-ſheba, which belongeth to Judah, and left his ſervant there.

4 ¶ But he himſelf went a day's journey into the wilderneſs, and came and ſat down under a juniper-tree: and he requeſted that he might die; and ſaid, It is enough; now, O Lord, take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers.
